McGrath May Holdout On His Questionnaire

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP) — A transcript of Attorney General McGrath's statement that he didn't know whether he would answer a questionnaire about his personal income was turned over to the White House today.

Rep. Chelf (D-Ky) said the White House had asked for it.

McGrath told the House Judiciary Subcommittee, which Chelf heads, yesterday he wasn't sure whether he would answer the questionnaire submitted by Newbold Morris.

Morris is the man President Truman named to investigate corruption in Washington. He was named on McGrath's recommendation.

But McGrath in his testimony yesterday said if he had to do it all over again he wouldn't chose Morris.

Chelf said The White House request was telephoned to him by President Truman's counsel, Charles Murphy.

The committee chairman said after conferring with Truman and Murphy that he now is hopeful the President will allow his subcommittee to examine the files of all justice department cases which his group regards as showing evidence of a failure to prosecute.

Today is the deadline for the Justice Department to tell Morris the names and home addresses of its top officials receiving forms for reporting to him their out-of-government sources of income.

McGrath told the House judiciary subcommittee yesterday he has not filled out his own questionnaire and is not sure whether he will. He said he had not even distributed the forms delivered to his office to anyone else in the department.

McGrath openly questioned the propriety of the questions which Morris sent to 350 justice officials about outside business, gambling activity, if any, and how many fur coats there are in the family compared with five years ago.

President Truman gave Morris the government cleanup job two months ago with the title "special assistant to the attorney general" and McGrath still is, technically at least, Morris' immediate superior.

But the attorney general told the subcommittee, which is conducting a separate investigation of his department, that if he could backtrack a little, he wouldn't appoint Morris to the cleanup job in the light of developments.

Rep. Keating (R-NY), a member of the House inquiry committee, said in a radio broadcast last night that "somebody will have to yield to one side or the other—there may be some resignations in the offing."

Shivers Called Secret Dixiecrat Candidate In Contest For President

AUSTIN, April 1 (AP). — Fagan Dickson, executive Secretary of the Democratic organization formed to back Gov. Shivers the "secret" candidate of the Dixiecrats for President.

Dickson issued a written statement saying that Shivers' comment on President Truman's withdrawal as the Democratic candidate "conceals a treacherous design to betray" the party.

Dickson said he was joined in the statement by Walter G. Hall of League City, Chairman of the "loyal Democrat" group which was organized for the avowed purpose of making sure the party in Texas supports the national convention's nominees.

The statement said the Texas Governor has never answered the question of whether or not he will support the national party's nominees, adding:

"The reason he won't answer this is because he wants to leave the door open so that he can walk out of the Democratic National Convention and become the Dixiecrat candidate for President. The reason he wants an uninstructed delegation is because he does not want to have to stay in the Democratic National Convention and vote for any candidate. When the platform is brought in he wants to be free to leave and later vote for himself."

Amplifying this portion of his statement, Dickson told reporters it meant that the Texas Governor is actually "The secret candidate of the States Righters.

Shivers had said yesterday Mr. Truman's withdrawal would not pacify Texas and Southern Democrats who are fighting the national party leadership on questions of principle.

The governor repeated that he wanted to see who the national convention would nominate and to see what the platform is before making a statement on the party loyalty pledge question. He said he would come home for further instructions from Democratic voters, after the national convention.

Shivers laughed off questions as to his interest in becoming a candidate for Vice-President or President as "Silly." He said he was more interested in "getting good candidates" than in becoming one himself.

Liquor Race Is Getting Hotter As Vote Nears

The wet and dry forces in Scurry County squared off in earnest today in preparation of the local option election Saturday.

The wets, who have been noticeably silent for the last week, opened their campaign against prohibition today with newspaper and radio advertising. The drys are continuing their daily blasts against the legalization of alcoholic beverages here.

The scurry County Drys, who have scheduled a county - wide rally for 8 o'clock Friday night at the First Baptist Church, learned last week that Sam Morris, of the National Temperance League who was to be main speaker, could not be here because of injuries he suffered last week on his San Antonio estate. H. L. Wren, president of the organization, said that no other out-of-town speaker has definitely been scheduled for the rally.

Three rallies have already been held by persons who are fighting legalization. The first was last week when about 500 persons met at Ira to hear the Rev. Dick O'Brien of the First Baptist Church in Big Spring speak. Another was held Sunday night when ministers and members of eight congregations met at the First Baptist Church to hear A. D. Tucker of the United Texas Drys. Tucker spoke again last night at an interdenominational youth dry rally, held at the First Methodist Church.

The Galvary Baptist Church is scheduling a special temperance service tomorrow night.

Those favoring legalization of the sale of alcoholics here are organized under the name of the Scurry County Business Men's Association.

Slow Balloting In City Race

Seventy - five persons had voted in the city general election by noon today, election officials said.

Several voters, after casting their ballots, voluntarily reported witnessing a form of electioneering at the polls during voting hours. All reports were consistent that a campaign for a write-in candidate was mentioned by at least one election official or helper. Those reporting the electioneering said they heard the fact mentioned by one working at the polls. One person said he heard it mentioned three times while he was voting. Texas election laws forbid electioneering within 100 feet of any polling place during the time the polls are open for voting.

Only one man is named on the ballot for each of the five elective offices being voted upon.

Interest in the election was heightened with the announcement last week of a write - in candidate for councilman of ward No. 2, Southwest Snyder.

The write - in candidate is Fred Davis, hardware dealer. The candidate on the ballot for that office is N. R. Clements, real estate manager.

Other candidates, all unopposed, are: for mayor, Forest G. Sears, incumbent; for city recorder, A. M. McPherson, incumbent; for councilman of ward No. 1, Robert H. Hargrove, dentist; and for councilman, ward No. 3, J. Elmo Crowder, incumbent.

Stalin Assures Newsmen War No Nearer Than 3 Years Ago

NEW YORK, April 1 (AP) — Premier Stalin sent a message today to a group of American newspaper and radio editors saying a third world war was no nearer than it was two or three years ago.

The message suggested a meeting of the heads of great powers might be helpful.

It also declared the present moment opportune for the unification of Germany.

James L. Wick, Chairman of the Board of the Niles, Ohio, Daily Times, said two Russians delivered the message to him here today. He said it appeared to be a reply to four questions the editors had sent to Stalin.

Wick said the questions, and the replies were:

"1. Is a third World War closer now than two or three years ago?"

Reply: "No, it is not."

"2. Would a meeting of the heads of the great powers be useful?"

Reply: "Possibly it would be useful."

"3. Do you consider the present moment opportune for the unification of Germany?"

Reply: "Yes, I do."

"4. On what basis is co-existence of Capitalism and Communism possible?"

Reply: "Peaceful co-existence of Capitalism and Communism is quite possible if there is a mutual desire for cooperation, if there is a readiness to fulfill the undertaken obligation, if there is observance of the principle of equality and not interference in the internal affairs of the others states."

Wick was one of 19 editors who returned by plane today from a one-month fact-finding tour of Europe. He said the editors telegraphed the questions to Stalin from Rome several weeks ago.

Wick said the Russians came to his home here and identified themselves as S. K. Tsarapkin, alternative Soviet representative to the United Nations, and A. K. Startsev, second secretary to the delegation.

Tsarapkin delivered the message, written in Russian, and translated it orally, Wick said.

Arnall Fears Steel Strike

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP)—Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall said today, after conferring with U. S. Steel President Benjamin Fairless, that he fears a steel strike may hit the country April 8.

"I hope for the best, but I fear the worst," Arnall said.

The 650,000 CIO steelworkers have a strike set for a week from today and Fairless had come to see Arnall, presumably about prospects of the government allowing some price ceiling boosts to offset wage raises recommended by the Wage Stabilization Board.

Arnall gave reporters the impression that he is sticking by his guns against giving the steel industry any special price aid to encourage the industry to accept the WSB recommendations.

Arnall talked with Fairless for about 2½ hours in Arnell's office.

Arnall indicated he may have another talk with Fairless or some other steel spokesman later in the day. The price boss said the industry is submitting new cost data seeking to justify price boosts.

Asked whether Fairless repeated his previous statement that a price increase is necessary to cover a wage increase, Arnall replied: "Well, he says they're in awfully bad shape."

Heavy Voting In Primary

MILWAUKEE, April 1 (AP) — Wisconsin voters, by the thousands, thronged to the polls today in the state's primary election, and indications multiplied that a record-breaking total vote may be in the making.

At several points, waiting queues of people caused officials to open the polls before the scheduled hour.

Politicians said the big early balloting probably indicates an unusually large number of independent votes. The three main Republican candidates, especially, all made special appeals, during their campaigns, to the independents.

On the GOP section of the ballot, Sen. Robert A. Taft, Gov. Earl Warren of Calif., and Harold E. Stassen are competing for the state's 30 delegates.

Taft was the indicated favorite. Two surveys by Wisconsin newspapers, each polling its own county, put him ahead of the other two. The second survey, late last week, indicated that Warren was gaining, however.

Pilots Claim 10 Migs Today

SEOUL, April 1 (AP) — U. S. Sabre pilots today shot down 10 Communist MIG-15 fighter planes, the second highest bag for any day in the Korean war.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force said they also probably destroyed three other MIGs and damaged 10.

The greatest number of MIGs destroyed in one day in the Korean War was 13 last Dec. 13.

In one of Tuesday's eight separate battles, Col. Francis S. Gabreski of Oil City, Pa., commander of the 51st Fighter Interceptor Wing, became the eighth U. S. jet ace by shooting down a MIG in an ambush. It raised his total for the Korean fighting to five and one-half MIGs. Five kills make an ace.

Twenty-six Sabres ambushed 16 MIGs in the action south of the Yalu River, Manchurian-Korean boundary.

Still Buying License Tags

About 400 sets of license plates were issued to vehicle owners yesterday, bringing the total to more than 8,700 before the deadline last night.

Large numbers of motorists are still flocking into the tax assessor-collector's office in the courthouse for tags today, but there are fewer registrations than yesterday, the office reported. A penalty of 20 per cent of the registration fee is assessed when a vehicle is registered after the deadline, provided it has been driven since the final date for registering without penalty.

Exact figures on the registrations will not be completed until the rush has ceased, Jim Ikard, assessor - collector, said the rush was much lighter this year than last because of more clerks working with registrations.

Governor Shivers Gives Condemned Man Stay

AUSTIN, April 1 (AP) — Gov. Shivers today granted Booker T. Reed a 30-day stay of execution to give him time to appeal his death sentence and conviction for murder to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Reed was to die in the electric chair at Huntsville tomorrow. The new date is May 2.

Reed was sentenced to death in Dallas Jan. 29, 1952, for murder in the axe-slaying of Boyd Adron Lovelace, a 42-year-old cabinet maker in Reed's North Dallas cabin.

The pardon board recommended the stay on application of Milton K. Norton of Dallas and Charles Tesmer, attorneys for Reed.

No Wind, No Dust, Must Be April Fool

By The Associated Press

"No wind, no rain, no dust . . . no foolin'."

That was the weather bureau talking before dawn Tuesday as another day of summery weather started April on its way.

There was fog and low clouds along the Texas gulf coast, a little drizzle at Houston, and mostly clear skies elsewhere.

Today's mildness followed drenching rains in some South Texas points yesterday. Galveston had almost 4 inches of rain. Victoria had 2.27 inches, Beaumont 1.68, Palacios .88, Houston .64, and Taylor almost two inches.

Hail accompanied a lashing, three-inch rain at Three Rivers but ranchers said any damage from erosion and the hail was offset by the moisture.

San Antonio and Corpus Christi reported light rains.

Texarkana also had .13 of an inch.

A low pressure system centering over the Great Lakes region and extending into North Texas will bring slightly cooler temperatures to most of the state tonight and tomorrow, the weather bureau said. The cool air was clearing skies of clouds as it moved across the state. Dalhart, in the upper Panhandle, had the state's lowest temperature at 32 this morning.

Fort Worth and Mineral Wells had thermometer readings of 92 degrees yesterday while the mercury hit 73 at rain-swept Galveston for the state's lowest maximum.

Four Die In Hotel Blaze

SAN FRANCISCO, April 1 (AP) — Flames roared through a four-story residential hotel in one of San Francisco's older districts today.

Four died. Upwards of a dozen, mostly old age pensioners, were injured.

Firemen answering the alarm found flames pouring from the roof of the old building in the north-central section of the city.

Many residents, including a 10-month old baby, were carried down ladders. Minutes after several were rescued, flames lashed through a room, charring the end of the ladder which was still in place. The blaze was under control in 50 minutes.

Manager Jack Bush said 39 of the 49 rooms were occupied. He estimated there were 55 tenants.

Fire Chief Edward P. Walsh estimated damage at $60,000.

Baseball Blow On Head Fatal To 13-Year-Old

NEW YORK (AP)—Two 13-year-old boys were playing in the Bronx yesterday.

One, Howard Prince, watched while the other, George Schluderman, tossed a baseball around with some other youths. One of Schluderman's throws missed its mark and hit Prince in the head.

Prince was dead on arrival at a hospital. Said Schluderman tearfully: "He was one of my best friends."

The Superior Oil Co. No. 6-597 C. D. Jones has been plugged back to total depth of 7,980 feet in lime and is reported to be testing for completion. No gauges have been reported.

North of the No. 6-597 Jones and in Garza County, Husky Oil No. 1 Nance is drilling in shale below 7,365 feet. Operator is said to be expecting the pay section within about another 100 feet.

In Southeast Scurry County, Humble Oil & Refining No. 1 James Davidson is drilling below 6,409 feet in shale.

Atomic Bomb Set Off Today At Nevada Testing Grounds

By BILL BECKER

LAS VEGAS, Nev., April 1 (AP) — From a box seat in a small plane only 16 miles away, I watched the start today of the latest series of atomic tests.

The small but brilliant burst lit up the right side of our plane as we were coming out of a turn and swinging almost directly over Camp Desert Rock. The drop was made over Frenchman Flat, scene of the first atomic experiments here last year.

The flash lasted perhaps a second and a half and then the familiar greyish brown column of smoke and desert dust rose into the air.

In two minutes the rust-colored semi-mushroom cloud had formed at an elevation just about at our level, 11,000 feet.

The Atomic Energy Commission said the bomb was dropped from a U. S. Air Force plane, presumably a B-29 from Kirtland Air Force Base, Albuquerque. A B-29 was visible from our plane about 20 minutes earlier, flying at perhaps 12,000 feet. However, we did not see the plane at the moment when it made its bomb run.

The explosion came right at 11 o'clock (CST) after we had circled over so-called Atom Watchers Valley, which runs from Las Vegas up to the test site, some 80 miles to the northwest.

The detonation apparently occurred at low elevation, perhaps 1,000 feet. It did not appear as large as most of the seven weapons which were tested here last fall.

The only distinguishing features of this explosion were several dark grey streaks which appeared in the rising column. There was very little wind and the cloud twisted slowly into the shape of a figure 7.

It was the first time the AEC had used Frenchman Flat since the operation ranger series of January-February, 1951. Later tests were conducted at Yucca Flat, further north.

By the time we landed at 11:30 a.m. the cloud was no longer visible. It began to thin out within 20 minutes. The top of it was just barely perceptible over the snow-covered Charleston range.

The most surprising thing about the entire flight was the total absence of any shock after the explosion. No sound was heard, either.

Panel Gives Up On Truce Issue

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—Staff officers gave up today on the Russian question and handed it to top Korean truce negotiators to settle.

An armistice subcommittee meeting was scheduled for Thursday to take up the argument on whether Russia should be named a "neutral nation" to help police a truce in Korea.

Communists, who first raised the [illegible] ago, insisted on the switch to the higher level. The Russian issue is one of three major stumbling blocks to an armistice.

Despite the triple block, informed sources said Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy hopes to have "a truce in his pocket" when he quits as chief Allied negotiator to become superintendent of the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis. Vice Adm. Robert P. Briscoe will relieve Joy as commander of naval forces in the Far East early this summer.

The subcommittee meeting Thursday may also tackle a second key issue—whether the Reds will be allowed to repair and build airfields.

Absentee Voting In Liquor Election Up

Absentee ballots cast for the liquor election in Snyder were counted Saturday, totaling 49 by close of business that day. If the general rate of voting throughout the day Saturday was the same as that before the deadline, Mrs. Lois Smith, Scurry County clerk, said.

Jury Returns Verdict Against Willie (Actor) Sutton Today

NEW YORK (AP)—An all - male jury today found Willie (The Actor) Sutton and Thomas (Seup) Kling guilty of $64,000 bank robbery two years ago.

The jury returned its verdict at 5:45 a. m. after having the case more than 10 hours.

Kling and Sutton, a notorious bank robber and jail breaker, were found guilty on counts of robbery, burglary, assault, and grand larceny.

Sutton, 51, and Kling, 45, were charged with holding up a branch of the Manufacturers Trust Company in Queens in 1950.

The robbery was a slick, precision job typical of previous robberies pulled off by Sutton.

Each of the defendants faces up to 30 years in prison. Taking into account their previous records, the penalty could be considerably stiffer.

Jurors interrupted their all-night huddle at 1 a.m. and filed back into the Queens County Court room for a hearing of testimony by two state witnesses. Three hours later they went back into the jury room.

The panel started its deliberations about 8:30 last night.

Sutton was serene as he waited for the jurors' verdict. His attorney, George Washington Hiers, said his client had told him.

"I think the judge's charge and all that this is the fairest trial I ever had."

Sutton and Kling were accused of pulling off the Queens bank robbery with John de Venuta, 37.

De Venuta, on a separate trial at a later date, by turning state evidence and testifying against Sutton and Kling.

De Venuta's testimony was the high spot in the trial, which started just two weeks ago today.

Other prosecution witnesses included bank employes who identified Sutton, Kling and De Venuta as the three bandits. The defense in cross-examination and in its direct testimony sought to shake these identifications.

Both Sutton and Kling maintained their innocence. On the assumption that they knew nothing of the robbery, their attorneys did not call them as witnesses.

Sutton, for five years the nation's most sought bank robber and jail breaker, was arrested in Brooklyn last Feb. 19 after a running pistol battle with police. He was charged with slugging a subway train and guard in that city in 1950.

HUNGRY AND FIRED

Rioting Inmates In State Pen Of New Jersey Quieted

TRENTON, N. J. (AP)—Twenty-three of the meanest convicts in New Jersey State Prison surrendered to their keepers last night after a 45-hour display of defiance and violence.

Sullen, hungry and cold, the 23 trooped singly from a three-story segregation building they had all but gutted in a desperate bid for privileges they said were denied them.

Killers, thugs and sex offenders, the cons had been placed in the building with 22 others to keep them all from mingling with the prison's 1,300 other inmates.

Early Sunday morning, a riot broke out in the building. Somehow yet unexplained, the men attacked steel doors, ripped out plumbing, set mattresses afire, broke up beds and demanded to see superintendent.

His commander, assistant Deputy Warden Harry Cuttley, was hailed by the cons as he walked into the building, but he had no officers in sight. A shower of chairs and beds followed him and the ring of heavy doors clanged shut behind him.

The other men [illegible] They kept [illegible] the trusty group prisoner. They threw plumbing equipment into an exercise yard. They fashioned weapons out of lead pipe and electric cables. They defied prison guards to come in and get them.

The gang jibed their keepers who stood in the yard and shouted complaints about food and medical treatment. Warden William Curtz refused to talk to them until they named a spokesman. The spokesman asked that someone from outside the prison arbitrate the convicts' demands. Curtz turned a deaf ear.

Two Trenton fire trucks pumped hose streams of water into the building for two hours. The cons were huddled against walls to avoid the water.

By nightfall, the convicts were battering with Curtz. They refused new demands. Curtz gave no ground. Finally, the convicts gave up.

There will be [illegible] dealt with after they are checked through the records and a prison official who asked that he not be named said that no one was injured.

DEMOCRATS CONFER

Senator Richard B. Russell of Georgia (right) has something to say to Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois as they meet at the reception given in Washington by Democratic national committeewoman and Mrs. McKeever. Russell is an avowed candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. Stevenson is regarded by some as a potential candidate although he said so at a televised broadcast that he will not seek the nomination.

City Financial Policies Are Studied By Commission Here

The commission designing a city charter adopted several provisions last night concerning the handling of finance and the preparing of the city budget.

The dates for beginning and ending of the city government's fiscal year will remain unchanged if the tentative charter is adopted; the year beginning April 1 and ending March 31.

The charter will provide that the city manager must present a proposed budget to the city council at least 60 days prior to the beginning of each fiscal year. After the budget is presented, the council will set a date for a public hearing on the budget and publish its intention to hold the hearing. After completion of the public hearing, the council is required to adopt the budget as presented or as the council may amend it, and its final adoption must be made not later than March 27. Final adoption may be only by vote of the majority of the council members.

In the event the council fails to adopt the budget by that date, the proposed budget presened by the manager shall be automatically adopted.

Rendition of real and personal property in the city is to be made each year between Jan. 1 and March 31. In rendering the property, each owner of taxable property in the city shall be required during this period to present the city tax assessor - collector a sworn inventory of his property according to what the owner believes to be the true market value. The assessor - collector may assess any property for which a rendition inventory has not been submitted by the end of this period.

The tax assessment roll will then be made by the assessor in time for payment of taxes to begin Oct. 1. Tax paying periods shall be the same as they are now, beginning Oct. 1, and continuing through January without penalty, after which they shall be declared delinquent, and penalties may be fixed by ordinance.

A board of equalization is to be appointed by the city council each year by July 1. The board is to consist of three taxpaying qualified voters who are residents of the city. No members of the city council may serve on the board.

To Start New Well In Kent County; Potential On Another Reported

General Crude Oil Co. and Percy Jones have filed application to begin dilling immediately on the No. 12-6 Percy Jones in the Salt Creek field of Kent County.

It is located 2,340 feet from south and 467 feet from east lines of section 12-1-H&GN on a 15,418-acre lease. That is about 11 miles northwest of Clairemont. Contract depth is 6,850 feet.

Sun Oil Co. reported an official potential of 118.52 barrels of 40.2 gravity oil for the No. 2-C Bilby Wallace. It flowed 24 hours on the potential after open hole between 6,747-758 feet was washed with 1,000 gallons of acid. Elevation is 2,149 feet.

Drillsite is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 9-98-H&TC.

Basket Saves Man Under Streetcar

CLEVELAND, April 1 (AP) — A 52-year-old electrician, scoped up by a basket attachment under a streetcar, was in fair condition today with a possible skull fracture.

Harry Streitberger said he was running for a bus yesterday when the streetcar knocked him down and flipped him beneath it.

The basket, especially designed for just such accidents, prevented him from going under the front wheels.

The basket automatically brakes the streetcar.

Attlee Thinks We Can Still Preserve Peace

PHILADELPHIA, April 1 (AP) — Clement R. Attlee, former British prime minister, says he believes the faith of free nations will prevail against Russian communism provided "We can prevent another World War."

Britain's Labor party leader, here for a two-day visit, told a meeting of the Philadelphia Fellowship Commission last night: "I do not think that if we can avoid war the iron curtain will remain impermeable. Time is on our side, for I think that, fundamentally, Russian communism is a creed that runs counter to human nature."

Final Rites Today For Mrs. T. M. Deffebach

Services were to have been held at 2:30 o'clock this afternon for Mrs. T. M. Deffebach, 36, who died early yesterday morning at Big Spring.

Mrs. Deffebach, the wife of a Snyder insurance man, had been a Snyder resident five years, living at 900 Twenty - sixth Street.

She was born at Doniphan, Mo.

Services were to be at the First Methodist Church with the Rev. W. W. Adcock officiating. Burial was to be in the Snyder Cemetery under the direction of Bolger-Barnes Funeral Home.

Two Fined In Drunk Driving Cases Here

Two men pleaded guilty in county court yesterday and paid fines totaling $197, including costs, on charges of driving while intoxicated.

Alvie Daniel Smith, 32, of Big Spring, was fined $50 and T. O. Shields, 40, of Carrollton, was fined $100. Cost in each case was $23.50. Their driving privileges were suspended for six months.

The U. S. Marine Corps will celebrate its 177th anniversary Nov. 10, 1952.

John Ben Shepperd

Shepperd Will Be Speaker At Legion Meet

John Ben Shepperd of Gladewater, who resigned as Texas secretary of state last week to campaign for the office of attorney general, is scheduled as main speaker at the American Legion's District 19 convention here this week end.

Shepperd will speak Sunday morning after the dedication of the new Legion - VFW clubhouse by Charlie Gibson of Amarillo, state Legion commander.

Other Legion officials expected at the convention are Burton Hackney of Brownfield, fifth division commander, Bob Kirk of Littlefield, district commander, and representatives of 24 counties in the district.

George Killam, adjutant of the Snyder post, said the district is made up of 45 posts, including those of Big Spring, Sweetwater, Colorado City, Lamesa, Levelland, Lubbock, Muleshoe, Plainview, and Haskell.

Counties in the district are Andrews, Borden, Bailey, Crosby, Dawson, Dickens, Floyd, Gaines, Garza, Hale, Haskell, Hockley, Howard, Kent, King, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Martin, Mitchell, Scurry, Stonewall, Terry, and Yoakum.

The new veterans' clubhouse was built to replace the one which was destroyed by fire last year, and it is scheduled to be completed this week.

Shepperd, who has been secretary of state since he was appointed by Governor Allan Shivers in February, 1950, was a practicing East Texas attorney and president of the Gregg County Bar Association before his appointment.

A World War II veteran, he has been an active Legion member for several years.

Felony Case In Borden County

The Borden County grand jury for the 132nd Judicial District returned a felony indictment yesterday against a 20-year-old man who pleaded guilty shortly afterward and was given a suspended sentence.

Jim Conner of Walsenburg, Col., and Drexel, Mo. waived his right for time to prepare his defense and entered a plea of guilty to the charge of stealing a revolver pistol, according to Bob Davis, district attorney. Conner was sentenced by Ben F. Thorpe, district judge, to three years in the penitentiary, and the judge then ordered the sentence suspended.

Conner's was the only felony charge considered by the grand jury and the only indictment returned. The theft was at a ranch where Conner had been employed, Davis said.

R. Clyde Miller was foreman of the grand jury of 12 men, and A. R. Dennis was secretary.

Search Started For Plane Reported Down

CORPUS CHRISTI, April 1 (AP) — A Coast Guard patrol plane left the Naval Air Station today in search of a plane reported down in the Gulf of Mexico, 223 miles east of here.

The search followed a message from the ship Esso Bermuda that a plane was down.

A Navy spokesman said a PBM Mariner seaplane will assist in the hunt. Navigation training flights in the Gulf also have been diverted to the area. No plane from here has been reported missing.

Freight Car Burned North Of Here During Night; Cotton Lost

A fire last night destroyed a freight cas and more than 100 bales of long - staple cotton, Santa Fe Railroad officials said.

Ivan Gatlin, fire marhsal, said that a fire truck from Snyder stayed at Fullerville, a Santa Fe siding, 18 miles north of here from 10 o'clock last night until 6 o'clock this morning unsuccessfully fighting the blaze.

Gatlin quoted H. E. Cooley, traffic inspector for the rail line, of Slayton, as saying that the box car contained more than 100 bales of long - staple cotton from Arizona. The rail official said the damages totaled approximately $30,000.

The fire was first noticed while the freight car was parked on the siding. A string of gasoline tank cars parked alongside the burning car were moved quickly.

Narcotics Court

NEW YORK (AP)—A special narcotics court, believed to be the first of its kind in the country, will start handling cases of young men and women addicts here on May 1.

Man Added To Give Licenses

An additional driver's license examiner began work here this morning to assist the regular examiner, Billy N. Davis, in giving examinations to applicants, Davis said.

Davis said the assisting officer, was W. C. Stewart of Harlingen, working with him on the Sweetwater schedule out of the San Angelo district. An increase in number of applicants made the assignment necessary, Davis said. He added that he had been giving examinations to an average of 30 each day he worked in Snyder but that the two could now handle about 80 applicants each working day here.

The schedule will remain the same, Davis said, being Tuesdays and Fridays. Both written and driving tests are given both days. He said there was possibility some road blocks would be conducted here soon to determine the number of drivers operating cars without driver's licenses.

'Rainmaker' To Give Talk Here Tonight

Ken Milyard, special representative of the Krick Water Resources Development Corp. of Denver and Raymond Anderson of the Dawson County Farm Bureau will meet with farmers tonight in the district courtroom to discuss Krick's rain increasing methods.

Milyard asked for the meeting so that he could explain Krick's work with the West Texas Weather Improvement District, an area composed of 11 counties south and west of Scurry which have Krick under contract now.

Meeting with Milyard and Anderson will be Leon Huff, Jr., manager of the Chamber of Commerce, and the Chamber agriculutral committee.

Salvation Army Will Start Funds Drive

A quota of $3,500 was set this morning by a committee for the Salvation Army drive in the county.

Bob Davie, campaign chairman, said the campaign begins this week and that the general drive will start Tuesday.

Those attending this morning's planning meeting were C. E. McGaw, general chairman; Mrs. Mollie Pinkerton, treasurer; Mrs. Raymond Williams, secretary; and Ray Keenan, Verina Gartman, Forrest Beavers, and Ed Chapman, board members.

Graveside Services For Preston Infant

Graveside services were held yesterday afternoon at the Snyder Cemetery for the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Preston, 2003 Avenue E, who died at birth yesterday morning at the Snyder Hospital.

The Rev. G. W. Niedecken officiated in services.

Survivors are the parents, paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Preston of Snyder, and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Estell Singleton of Ira.

Joe Nail Brooks of Snyder was taken to Root Memorial Hospital in Colorado City yesterday where he is ill with pneumonia. His condition was described as fair today.

Two Failures Reported

Robert L. Wood of Midland has reported a wildcat failure in Borden County at his No. 1 W. Ed Murphy.

The project was drilled to total depth of 7,010 feet, where it was dry. Drillsite was in section 82-25-H&TC.

Wood also reported a failure at his No. 1 Ben Weathers in the Diamond M-Canyon field of Scurry County. Drilled in section 95-25-H&TC, it was taken to total depth of 6,796 feet.

Duck Waddles Home

LOS ANGELES, April 1 (AP) — Snooky, a dog, and Donaldina, a duck, had been pals for two years.

Two weeks ago when their owner, Deg F. Peffley, moved to a new home he took Snooky along but left Donaldina with a friend, who lived 10 miles from Peffley's old residence.

Sunday, Peffley said, Donaldina began quacking for Snooky. How the duck got there nobody knows.

Tommy Prior, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McCrary, 2605 Avenue O, visited here in his parents home over the week end. He is a student in Texas Tech.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Smothers, 1504 Twenty - sixth Street, spent the week end in Mineral Wells where they visited Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Smothers.

Miss Nellie Smith, teacher of exceptional children in Snyder schools, persons know about, is shown in the classroom where children have made Easter decorations. Mrs. Smith hopes to hear of other children who are eligible for her classes, a part of the Snyder public school system. (Sue Holmes photograph.)

TALK OF THE TOWN

By SUE HOLMES

Sometimes sad things happen. Some children are born without arms and legs, and still others are born with sound bodies. But the bodies house minds that can never develop. What to do with these little children is a problem.

Three years ago FORREST BEAVERS, county superintendent of schools, felt that a certain percentage of the county's children were not receiving the proper care. These were the children, who because of some birth injury or freak of heredity, had a bare 70 IQ and could never compete with their normal brothers and sisters.

At that time, in 1949, there were some nine schools for execptional children in the entire state. Alva O'Neil came here in that year and started a school in the Assembly of God Church. The school was under the jurisdiction of the county and was later moved to both the Presbyterian and Methodist churches. After the initial year, the city school system took over the exceptional school and it was moved to a separate building on the North Ward School campus.

The first teacher soon moved on, and the county superintendent sought out Mrs. NELLIE SMITH, a former school teacher in Fluvanna whose husband had recently died. She agreed to take over the school and later enrolled for a summer course at Texas Tech to further her knowledge of how to deal with exceptional children.

Most of all the job takes patience the silver haired teacher says. The children have to be prodded, since seldom do they have an initiative. Keeping them amused is part of the problem, since any learning process for them has to be a game.

Parent - child relationships are very good, Mrs. Smith says. Since amusement is the main thing, the children take any excuse to have a party. Birthdays are always occasions. And just this week the children celebrated one girl's seventeenth birthday, which, sadly enough, means she will soon be leaving since the school isn't quite sure whether the state aid will extend until the child's twenty-first birthday.

As to the classifications of children included, they are: speech defective children, children with lowered vitality, children with orthopedic or hearing difficulties, children with partially impaired eyesight and children suffering from nervous disorders. One boy enrolled is a cripple from the waist down, but is sharp minded and keen in math. He showed an interest in music and the Kiwanis Club is sponsoring music lessons for him.

Part of Mrs. Smith's trouble comes in convincing the children they can do things if they just want to badly enough. Many well-meaning parents have inadvertently spoiled and pampered the children in their efforts not to neglect or be overly partial to other children in the family. This leaves the child with an attitude that the world is at his feet. And the children are not without their mischievous side, their teacher laughs.

One little pig-tailed girl has never been able to say a word, yet she is affectionate and sweet. She hovered close to her teacher, giving little squeezes, and trying to whistle to the music as the other children sang.

Aptitude tests are given the children. Usually they can be taught needle work or manual skills which take little thought. If they show signs of never learning or accomplishing, they are dismissed since they retard the development of the other children. Close grading is near impossible, but the children are taken as far as the fourth grade.

Whereas the parents used to hide mentally retarded children, the school system is urging the children to be brought out in the light and given the advantage of the training. While the children will likely never be useful citizens, they can at least be taught to be self-reliant individuals not wholly dependent on state institutions and family members.

The children laugh and enjoy a joke, Mrs. Smith says. She says the work is very rewarding, although it has its trying moments.

The state recommends one teacher for seven students, but this school has had as many as 11 at one time. The children have an abundance of books and handcraft materials and a phonograph and piano. Number charts are of soldiers in full color.

Advances in science may mean help for these children, but until medical advances are made, the work of such humanitarians as Mrs. Smith will come as near to being the perfect answer as anything.

TODAY'S WOMEN

Female Stockholders Move In On Corporation Boards

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Staff

Women stockholders are raising demands of late to have a part in managing corporations whose stock they own.

The girls are beginning to read the proxy statements and annual reports they get in the mail and to take an active interest in what makes big business tick.

An evidence of this new feminine voice can be expected at the forthcoming annual meeting of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in New York on April 16. A solid majority of this vast company's more than a million stockholders are women, and some of them feel that a woman member should be added to the Board of Directors.

Representing the Federation of Women Shareholders in American Business at the meeting will be a small but determined lady named Ella H. Aronstam, a retired New York school teacher who supplements her teachers's pension with judicious stock investments.

Her resolution, last on the list to be voted on at the annual meeting, reads as follows:

"Resolved: The stockholders request our Board of Directors to augment the board to the full number (19) authorized under our by-laws, including at least one woman on the Board of Directors."

Miss Aronstam owns 100 shares of A. T. & T. stock, accumulated over a long period beginning in her girlhood when her mother used to give her a share from time to time as a birthday or Christmas present. Recently she started attending meetings of the Federation of Women Shareholders, and was pleased to discover that even a small stockholder is a pretty important cog in American business. Says she:

"Where would A. T. & T. be without women stockholders and customers, to say nothing of employes? Why, just imagine the women who spend half their time talking on the telephone, and the operators who place their calls. If any company needs a feminine voice in management, this is it."

The federation has been doing a lot of spadework in the last few years to gain recognition for the vast body of women stockholders, and also to educate women themselves as to their rights and duties. Says Mrs. Wilma Soss, president of the organization:

"We have our foot in the door. It takes time, but slowly corporations are realizing that competent women belong in management."

THE STARS

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Danny Kaye is a fellow who refuses to fit into the usual pattern of topflight comedians.

While all other comics are stampeding into television, Kaye remains aloof from the new medium. His colleagues make upwards to three movies a year; Kaye averages less than one a year. Other funnymen would break their necks to land a radio show, Kaye displays no interest. He tried radio and discovered it wasn't for him.

Now the Brooklyn-born redhead is going far out on a limb to play a relatively straight role in "Hans Christian Andersen." While he has comic moments in the film and sings 10 numbers, the film will display nothing of tricks usually associated with Kaye. No git-gat-gittle or anything.

"Aren't you taking a chance?" I inquired.

"Mr. (Sam) Goldwyn's taking the chance," he replied. "It's his four million bucks, not mine.' Thats what the picture will reputedly cost, but you know how things get exaggerated out here."

Unlike some comedians, who are supposed to yearn for the role of "Hamlet,' Kaye doesn't think playing straight roles will become a habit for him.

"I thought it would be interesting to play a warm, simple character for a change," he observed. "But for my next picture, I want to go back to a real comedy."

What about TV?

"I suppose I will get into it eventually," he replied. "It's too big a medium to overlook.

"But I'm not going to rush into anything. I haven't even started thinking about a format yet. But one thing is certain—I wouldn't do a weekly show. That's too much."

Kaye's other plans? He doesn't expect to return to Londons Palladium, where he scored a big hit with the British people. "I was lucky to be so well received the third time I went back," he said.

The Kaye role as Hans Christian Andersen is unique in movie history in that it has already been criticized—before the picture has even been finished. The Danish Foreign Office indicated it was planning a strong protest over the casting of Kaye, previously known as a clown, in the role of the Danish writer.

Kaye has remained calm throughout the controversy.

"I don't know what they're complaining about—since they haven't even seen the picture," he commented. "We're not attempting to show the life of Andersen. We're just presenting an incident which could have happened during his life."

"It is the same sort of complaint we had when we made 'Walter Mitty.' A small group of devotees did not like the way we handled the story. Luckily, they are not the ones who make up the vast movie audience."

Ask Mildred

Send your questions to Mrs. Mildred Sparks, county home demonstration agent, the courthouse, or to the Snyder Daily News.

I have often wondered what O. N. T. stands for on thread. Could you tell me? A. C.

Yes, the letters O. N. T. which are used as the trade-mark on spools of thread, are the initials of Our New Thread. About the time of the Civil War sewing machines began to come into general use. Their introduction made it desirable for manufacturers to produce a thread that would be suitable for machine as well as for hand sewing. Clark Thread Company developed such a thread and marketed it as Our New Thread. Later it was decided to abbreviate the phrase to O. N. T. The thread was then advertised as Clark's O. N. T. and goes as such today.

The women in our community have had several discussions lately about what tapioca is made from. Could you tell us? Mrs. D. S.

Tapioca, a word of South American Indian origin, is the name applied to a vegetable food obtained from the starch in the roots of the poisonous plant known as bitter cassava. The juice is squeezed from the roots and placed to vessels where the starch deposits on the bottom. The moist starch is then spread on iron plates and exposed to heat. With constant stirring the granules break into irregular pellets, which when cooked, become the hard, translucent tapioca used in puddings and soups.

Dear Mrs. Sparks: I have some white curtains that I would like to dye blue and I have been told that I could do this job much quicker by putting the dye in my washing machine. Do ou think that would work all right? G. M.

Textile specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture say that for permanent color most dyes call for boiling the fabric in the dye solution, which is not possible in your washing machine. The machine can be used for tinting—that is, giving a temporary color. Here the machine may be of advantage because the mechanical agitation may help give an even color. The best utensil for home dyeing, specialists believe, is the big old-fashioned wash boiler, which is large enough to keep clothes moving in the dye bath and is made for boiling.

Sweeping wouldn't be so bad if I could just push it all behind a door or under the rug, but I never am able to clean completely with a broom and dust pan. And I don't have a vacuum cleaner. Have you a solution? Mrs. R. H.

You will find a large paint brush handy. You can sweep the last bit of dust onto it without having to use the broom repeatedly. A moist paper towel is also a help in getting the last bit of dust.

Navy Man Tells Of Far North Crack-up And Daring Rescue

BARROW, Alaska (AP)—Two narrow brushes with death marked the rescue of nine men from an Arctic ice floe last weekend—each because of a cracked landing ski—but the Navy wrote a happy "well done" to the finish.

The full story of how the nine were marooned four days on the ice pack near the North pole and were snatched to safety in a daring aerial rescue came out today.

Seven Navy airmen and two civilian scientists, engaged in polar ocean research in the Navy's "operation ski jump," were stranded 525 miles from the Pole last Thursday when a ski of their R4D "Flying Laboratory" buckled on a takeoff. Almost miraculously, no one was hurt.

Then Sunday the operation's leader, Cmdr. V. J. Coley of Oakland, Calif., and seven crewmen came within 10 feet of disaster in landing their P2V rescue plane on the rough ice.

A cracked ski sent the 30-ton, twin-engined Neptune swerving to the side at the end of the too-short icy runway and almost into an eight-foot ice pressure ridge. The plane came to rest a scant 10 feet from the frozen wall.

The rest was anti-climactic. The weakened ski held on the return takeoff and the rescue of the marooned party along with 1,000 pounds of scientific equipment was completed without incident.

Cmdr. E. M. Ward, Philadelphia, Pa., who headed the nine-man research expedition in its work 800 miles beyond this northern rim of the continent told today of the Thursday crack-up and the four days awaiting rescue.

"The first intimation we had that something was wrong on the takeoff was when a propeller walked across the snow in front of the plane," he said.

"We were about 100 yards down the runway when the co-pilot, Lt. R. B. Morgan, Murray, Ky., told me the prop had cartwheeled across our nose. I didn't quite believe him until the wing went down and we slid into a snow-covered hummock.

"A strut had given way on the landing gear, dropping the propeller into the snow and shearing it off.

"The crew dove out as smoke began coming from the damaged engine. Survival gear was handed through escape hatches. Fire extinguishers were readied but there was no fire."

Ward said the nine men suffered no hardship, had plenty of food and kept warm from auxiliary heaters in the plane's cabin.

"We led regular Navy lives, with watches and reveille at 6:30 each morning. Two shifts were used between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. each day clearing off snow drifts from the rescue flight strip.

"We slept well and were warm and comfortable.

"We almost felt guilty when we heard commercial radio broadcasts expressing great concern over our plight."

Ward said the "Flying Lab" left a week ago today to establish an ocean research camp. They put down part way to "station Vermouth" when an escort plane, following with more fuel, reported engine trouble and was forced to turn back.

They found a good spot and made a landing, Ward said, and Wednesday morning rendezvoused with Cmdr. Coley in the P2V and headed again for Vermouth.

"All the ice we could find below us was poor for landing. It was old ice with the surface very bumpy and covered with drifted snow.

"We had previously landed on frozen leads of new ice where we knew the ice was relatively solid. This time we were low on gas and were getting to the point where we had to land and get fuel. The landing was okay and the P2V came in and refueled.

"Early Thursday morning we decided to take off and after checking the runway, we made a trial run parallel with the show drifts. It was pretty rough."

The plane knocked down the tops of a few of the drifts while attempting to take off in the old P2V tracks, Ward said, and it was then Morgan told him a propeller had "walked" across the front of the plane.

"It was tough to lose the fat bucket that way," he said. "It had taken us through last year's operations without a scratch."

"We just ran out of luck."

Super-Salesman From Colorado Starts First Of Many Trials

DENVER (AP)—Genial Fred Ward, ex-convict who parlayed a used car lot into a multimillion-dollar boom-and-bust auto empire, goes on trial in Denver District Court today.

Creditors claim $2,472,610 from Ward's bankrupt domain. Ward, already trying to carve a new career as super-salesman, has offered to pay it all off from future earnings.

His trial today is the first scheduled in a lengthy series involving 36 criminal counts including forgery, fraud, perjury, larceny and embezzlement. It involves charges of false representation, false pretences and confidence game in a $2,500 stock sale.

The roly-poly Ward, an orphan and onetime peddler, now in his 40s, was a lavish entertainer and a spectacular promoter. He and his devoted wife Iva richly entertained Denver society at their luxurious suburban ranch home with its stables and swimming pool.

Now, his seven-state Hudson distributorship has been liquidated, his home sold. The federal government seeks $256,131 in claimed unpaid income taxes. A trustee in bankruptcy has salvaged only $576,000 and paid only $174,000 to creditors. Others must wait prolonged court proceedings.

Ward, who peddled blankets and household utensils in the mid-30s, went to the Colorado State Penitentiary for nine months for forging a signature to a $27.50 check at Alamosa, Col.

Later, a Denver auto dealer hired him. In two years, he was a leading car salesman in the region and later opened his own used car business. This led to his Hudson distributorship.

His promotions, his driving energy, pyramided sales—and earnings. But last July 31, creditors began filing claims against Fred Ward, Inc., and Ward himself. The U. S. National bank of Denver asked $474,982. Continental Illinois Bank and Trust Company of Chicago sought $259,296. Associates Discount Corp. of South Bend, Ind., claimed $385,062.

A Denver auto dealer charged Ward with obtaining $10,800 for new cars he couldn't deliver. Gov. Dan Thornton, wealthy cattleman, said Ward gave him a worthless $12,500 check in a business transaction.

Mrs. Bill Hollowell of Carlsbad, N.M., Johnny Walker of Los Angeles, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. Allen King and Dale of Odessa were the week - end guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Moffett, 1608 Twenty - seventh Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Long, 2233 Sunset Avenue, returned recently from Fort Worth and Abilene where they visited friends and relatives. Mr. Long also made a trip to several places in Oklahoma and Arkansas.

Wilson Ends Career As Federal Stabilizer With News Confab

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nobody gets out of date so fast as the man who used to be a government official. Charles E. Wilson was reminded of that yesterday at 5:02 p.m. He's ex-mobilizer of defense. He became "ex" at 5 p.m.

Washington inhabitants have seen so many men follow one another in big jobs so fast that it is not unnatural if they have developed an attitude of "what are you waiting around for, Jack?" toward an "ex" who lingers.

Not that Wilson intended to linger. On the contrary, he seemed glad to be going. He hadn't been fired. He quit. This robust, red-faced 66-year-old with hair still brown and plentiful was not at all mournful.

He called a news conference at 4 p.m., he said, to sing his swan song and tell the newsmen how much he enjoyed working with them since he came here in the fall of 1951, after the Korean outbreak, to head defense production.

It wasn't an easy job, and wouldn't be for anyone.

When the labor representatives on the Wage Stabilization Board, which is part of Wilson's anti-inflation set-up, didn't like his attitude toward labor they walked out and blasted him.

This was patched up, the WSB was reorganized, and the labor representatives returned. This was Wilson's biggest public squabble, until the last one, which was when he figured he had had enough.

This resulted from the steel dispute, when the WSB recommended a healthy raise for the CIO steelworkers, a raise which the industry said it couldn't grant unless the government let it raise prices.

Wilson thought the raise was too much and appeared afraid that if the union got the increase recommended by WSB the government would have to let the steel companies get a price increase, thus building a new fire under inflation.

Apparently President Truman didn't agree with him and Wilson resigned. And yesterday he called his last news conference to thank the boys and give them a few final figures on defense progress under his regime.

Some of the newsmen tried to needle him into talking about the steel dispute. He didn't want any part of that. What's finished is finished, he said. He wanted to stick to talk about production.

And at one point he reminded his audience that as of 5 p.m. he would be off the government payroll. The news conference dragged on, getting duller by the moment as the big hands on the wall-clock moved toward 5 p.m.

Wilson talked. Newsmen asked questions; feet shuffled in anxiety to be up and away. At two minutes past five a newsman said: "Mr. Wilson, you're now talking on your own time."

Everybody laughed, including Wilson, and that was the end of the conference and of Wilson as mobilizer.

National Election Picture In Texas Is More Confused Now

Associated Press Staff

Here it is April Fools Day and instead of the year's first quarter clearing the political air a bit, Texans were still as mixed-up, confused, confounded and befuddled as a New Year's Day hangover.

Not one of the state's nearly two million qualified voters, Republican or Democrat, had any idea for whom he would cast his vote for President.

Not since pre-Roosevelt days had the Democratic and Republican candidates been less obvious so late in the election year. Some Texans knew whom they preferred for President. None knew if they would get to vote for their favorite.

Harry S. Truman, in his most capricious mood, couldn't have had Texas voters more confused if he tried.

TRIED AND DID?

There were those who said he did try. . .and succeeded.

A whimsical calendar twist put April Fool's Day and city election day in scores of Texas cities on the same date. And interest mounted in four towns because of plans to give voters unofficial ballots to show their preference for President.

But the ballots didn't mean a thing, actually, except to show that Eisenhower or Taft was more popular than Russell or Truman or Kefauver. . .or the other way 'round. However, the straw vote was to be taken in Waco, Liberty, Dayton and Kountze. Results will be interesting, and that's all.

In Beaumont last night, the Jefferson County Democratic Executive Committee urged a special session of the Texas Legislature to set up machinery for a statewide presidential preference primary.

SOME NOT PACIFIED

Governor Shivers, who has been outspoken in his criticism of President Truman, said the President's decision not to seek renomination will not pacify Texas and Southern Democrats.

But W. H. (Bill) Kittrell administration stalwart, said the President's announcement leaves the "Republican Aid Societies" in a jam.

A former Democratic congressional aide, Zeno Phillips of West Columbia, said Truman was asking for the same "clear cut call" that General Dwight Eisenhower asked weeks ago.

Kittrell said "it was a bitter blow to the reactionary Democrats calling themselves Southern Democrats and otherwise they are really Republican Aid Societies. It leaves them in an awkward position."

As Truman removed himself from contention, if that is what he did, names of other candidates for the Democratic nomination flew like chaff from a threshing machine.

RAYBURN MENTIONED

There were the perenial backers of Texas' Sam Rayburn who said the Bonham congressman, Speaker of the House for more years than any other man, would be a "compromise" candidate. Rayburn disagreed. He's steadily disclaimed presidential ambitions for at least 12 years.

Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn.), Senator Kerr (D-Okla.), Senator Russell (D-Ga.), Vice President Barkley, Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, Rayburn and Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, were getting a lot of backing. Heads whirled as the voters heard the names.

Some voters had made up their minds to vote Republican for the first time this year. Truman's withdrawal left them undecided.

Backers of Senator Kefauver said Governor Shivers was trying to stop the Tennessee senator's nomination and to retain for local politicians the power to sell their votes to the highest bidder.

Shivers emphasized his view that Southern Democrats should not relax their fight. "I hope the national convention will be free and open," he said, "and not dominated by Senator Humphrey and others in that wing of the party—call it Trumanism or Humphreyism, we're not for it."

DIVISION CHARGED

The governor said he didn't know what the "so-called Loyalists in Texas will be loyal to now." He called them "Trumanerats" once and they denied the appellation. Now, he said, "it looks as if they are going to use Senator Kefauver to further divide the party."

Shivers has said he would back Senator Russell for the Democratic nomination. Donald Lewis, Dallas Kefauver club head who leveled the "highest bidder" charge said "Senator Russell is just as much a Trumanerat as Kefauver."

Republican forces in Texas felt the Truman decision, too, and their reactions failed to make anything clearer for the voter.

Jack Porter, Houston oilman who is leading the fight for Eisenhower in Texas, said any Democratic nominee would be harder to beat than Truman. Henry Zweifel, GOP national committeeman and chief backer of Senator Taft for the Republican nomination, said it looked like a "free-for-all" in Democratic ranks now to him.

PREFERENCE UNKNOWN

The Texans had seen Taft in a quick tour of the state. They had seen Truman in other years and in another campaign. They had idolized Eisenhower as he led doughboys into Normandy. They had discussed Stevenson and read much of Kefauver. They had heard Bob Kerr on the radio and heard Senator Russell praised by state leaders.

But their preference, now that Truman apparently was out, was hard to ascertain. Today's preferential votes in four Texas cities might clear the picture some, at least in the localities where the votes were taken.

The real story will be told on General Election Day, Nov. 4, and not before.

Democrats Look For Barkley To Get In Presidential Race

WASHINGTON (AP)— Friends of Vice President Alben Barkley needed only an expected nod from him today to push him into the scramble for the Democratic presidential nomination.

They looked for him to be in the race within a few days.

"Now that President Truman has stepped aside, Mr. Barkley is the only man who can unite the various wings of the Democratic party this fall," Sen. Gillette (D-Ia) told a reporter.

"He's the best vote-getter in the Democratic party and he owes it to the party and to himself to make a formal announcement immediately," Gillette said.

Two veteran Democratic senators, Hoey of North Carolina and George of Georgia, predicted in separate interviews the 74-year-old Barkley will be in the presidential derby before the week ends.

And Rep. Underwood from Barkley's home state of Kentucky said Barkley would "carry all the doubtful states" and assure continued Democratic control of the House and Senate.

Hoey said he has no inside information but is confident that Barkley will "announce his candidacy this week."

George, who is backing his Georgia colleague Sen. Russell for the nomination, said Barkley must seek the presidential nomination even if he is only shooting for another term as vice president.

All congressmen and party leaders apparently have accepted at face value Truman's dramatic week-end announcement that he will not run for re-election.

Most of them also appeared confident that Truman would not attempt to name his successor, leaving that to the Democratic National Convention in July.

Some senators thought Underwood was launching a Barkley-for-President boom on the Senate floor yesterday.

The Kentuckian said Barkley had "electrified the audience" with his speech at Saturday night's Democratic dinner, at which President Truman declared himself out of the race. And if the nation needs wise leadership, Underwood said, Kentucky offers the seasoned Barkley.

Off the floor, Underwood said the decision to announce for the Presidency was up to Barkley and added:

"I know he has had a strong demand on him to do so."

Barkley presided over the Senate yesterday but had no news for Capitol reporters about his plans.

Boy Kills Man To Get Out Of Armed Forces

LAMPASAS, Tex. (AP)—A 19-year old private shot a young officer to death as a way out of the Army yesterday while bewildered onlookers sat motionless.

Officials today were attempting to decide whether military or civilian authorities should make charges in the case.

District Atty. James K. Evetts of Belton, Tex., quoted Pvt. Michael F. Kunak of Baltimore, Md., as saying, "I decided the best way to get out of the Army was to kill a man."

Evetts said Kunak made an oral statement to him, other officers and in the presence of a newspaper reporter regarding the fatal shooting of 2nd Lt. Howard Williamson, about 22, of Washington, N.C. around noon yesterday.

Williamson was shot in a Long Horn maneuvers bivouac. Witnesses said a young soldier walked into the officers' mess tent of the 82nd Airborne Division signal company, leveled a .30-caliber carbine at Williamson and fired.

Then the soldier told startled officers, "I don't have any more ammunition."

Evetts said Kunak told of numerous attempts to get an Army discharge. "I had nothing against the man," Evetts quoted Kunak as saying. "There's nothing straight in my mind. I know I was wrong."

Chicago Man Attending Trade Meet In Moscow

NEW YORK (AP)—A Chicago corporation president was on his way to Moscow today to attend an economic conference with Russian promises that he can travel at will and bring a camera.

The executive, Edmund J. von Henke, president of the American Electric Fusion Corp., left here by plane yesterday with his wife for the April 3-10 meeting.

Von Henke, who said he was born in Russia but now is an American citizen, asserted that the Russian Embassy told him he was the only American applying for a visa to the meeting.

Groom Half An Hour Late, But Makes It

NEW YORK (AP) — Metropolitan Opera stars Robert Merrill, 34, and Roberta Peters, 21, were married here yesterday—after the groom showed up half an hour late.

Merrill was delayed by a Greek Independence Day parade crowd and most of the 1,000 guests were already at the Park Avenue Synagogue when he arrived.

Merrill pushed through the crowd, almost losing his top hat. But, otherwise, everything went off as planned.

Ammunition Blows Up

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—A cave full of Egyptian Army munitions at Wadi Hoff, a desert gulch ammunition dump 30 miles south of Cairo blew up and burned fiercely last night.

No one was reported killed. There was no immediate explanation of the explosion.

BATTLE HALF WON

Full of pep despite a crippling polio attack that struck him before he learned how to walk, 18-month-old Robert Dusseau demonstrates his mastery over crutches at a Detroit, Mich., hospital. The youngster, a polio victim at the age of 12 months, "flies on one wing" as he takes his first solo steps on crutches after only two weeks' instruction. Doctors hope to effect a full cure of Robert's afflicted leg. Full use has already been restored to an arm, struck at the same time.

ASTONISHINGLY FRANK

Hungarian Communist Gives Details Of How To Take Over

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—Hungary's top Communist, Matyas Rakosi, has written an astonishingly frank article for the party's magazine disclosing how the Communists seized power here.

Western diplomats have studied the article carefully and conclude that it shows the tactics used by international communism all over the world.

The article—"The Road of Our People's Democracy"—says the fundamental Communist move in seizing power is to split the opposition and keep them "perplexed and hesitating."

The best way to do this is to join with non-Communists in a coalition and then proceed, by various methods, to take over, he writes.

Rakosi, secretary-general of the Communist party in Hungary, tells in the article published in "Social Survey" how the party used "salami tactics"—demanding a little more each day like cutting up a salami thin slice after thin slice.

Thus, he says, "regarding the banks, for instance, first we requested only state control. Later the nationalization of only three big banks. In industry, in a similar way, first the state management of mines was demanded. We gradually expanded this request to the biggest machinery and smelting plants and, finally, we shifted to nationalization."

In agriculture, at first, farms under 200 acres were not touched. That meant that the majority of peasants were not affected.

As for the churches, Rakosi tells how "we destroyed . . . this reactionary front of unity" by splitting Catholics and Protestants and taking them on separately. The Catholic church was not touched until after the Protestants had been taken care of.

On the other hand, Rakosi writes, "there was one single spot where our party demanded the leadership and tolerated neither division nor respect of coalition-proportion whatsoever. This was the State Security Bureau. We held this organization thoroughly in our hands since the first day of its existence and saw that it remained the reliable and sharp weapon of the fight for the people's democracy."

The State Security Bureau controls the police.

It is obvious a veteran politician like Rakosi would not reveal his technique until he considered the battle fought and won. Western diplomats say there is little doubt the technique is basically the same with Communist parties in other countries.

BOXERS MEET TONIGHT

Mixing it up in practice are Paul Hailey, 17, a 140-pounder and Richard Warnake, 16, weighing in at 165. Both high school juniors, they will be matched with boys from Paducah and Munday in bouts tonight. Sponsored by the Optimist Club, the 15-match program begins at 8 o'clock tonight.

Boys' Club Boxing Tonight In Snyder High School Gym

About three hours of sports entertainment will be presented in the high school gym at 8 o'clock tonight by the Optimist Club, when a group of lads in their boys' club meet boys from Paducah and Munday.

The three-round bouts will climax more than six weeks of workouts for the Snyder lads, who will be matched with well - experienced sluggers.

Tickets were selling fast today, according to Optimists. Admission is $1 for adults and 40 cents for students, and funds will go into the Optimist Boy Scout troop and Little Baseball League team.

Feature attraction of the night will be a match between two 135-pounders, Mon Biddy of Paducah and George Spann of Munday both with Golden Glovers experience behind them.

Weights in the matches will run from 50 to 163 pounds, and very few of the Snyder boys have more boxing experience than the practice given them at the club under Coach J. C. Morgan.

Jackie Colvin, 50 pounds, and Don Colvin, 75, have not yet been matched. Paul Hailey and Buster Moss, both weighing about 140, may have to toss for a match with a boy near their weight. Johnnie Jetton, 85, and Wayne Cain, 123, will serve as alternates.

On the staff of referees and judges are Speedy Moffett, Mule Kayser, Horace Bostick, and Kenneth Pitner.

Those matched and their weights are as follows:

Arnold Dorman, Snyder 84, vs. James Goodwin, Munday, 85.

Bud Morgan, Snyder, 85, vs. Wayne Lawrence, Munday, 85.

Bobby Brown, Snyder, 96, vs. Billy Kirk, Paducah, 95.

Larry Ainsworth, Snyder, 96, vs. Bill Black, Paducah, 95.

Joe Reeves, Snyder 97, vs. Ned Bearden, Paducah, 95.

Jimmie Hoover, Snyder, 102, vs. Tommy Hensley, Snyder, 106.

Randal DeChan, Snyder, 106 vs. Leslie Ford, Paducah, 108.

Wayland Caldwell, Snyder 118, vs. Pete Coody, Munday, 118.

Billy Way, Snyder, 123, vs. Cleburn Fields, Munday, 126.

Charlie Kemp, Snyder, 128, vs. George Bolling, Paducah, 126.

Kenneth Brotherton, Snyder 132, vs. Tom Campbell, Paducah, 135.

Richard Warneke, Snyder, 163, vs. Ray Powell, Paducah, 160.

Ralph Hargroves, Munday, 114, vs. Ray Lang, Paducah, 114.

Mon Biddy, Paducah, 135, vs. George Spann, Munday, 135 (main event).

Girl Volleyballers Take Victory Over Roby

High Schol girl B team volleyballers won another set last night, a 52 - 23 victory over Roby.

In the B squad win, Doris Hataway was server for 14 points, while Cynthia Smith and Cloma Jackson each made 12.

The A team lost its game 34-28, with Gwen Swan picking up 7 points and Nancy Dorman and Louise Evans each making 6.

The group will meet the Hermleigh squads at the Snyder gym at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Cobb Has Stirred Up Storm In Dressing Rooms Across Nation

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Whatever else may be said for Ty Cobb's recent magazine flogging of modern baseball players, it at least may be said for certain that the old Georgia Peach's outburst has supplied the principal topic of conversation within the fraternity for the past couple of weeks.

We've heard him blasted as a soured eccentric whom the world has passed by and we've heard some smart baseball men, both of Ty's generation and the present one, warmly support his contention that the game and its players have gone plumb to the dogs.

Those who played with or against Cobb appear still to be fascinated by the memory. They love to talk about him and to recall incidents from his fiery career.

Ever hear about the time he came into the clubhouse bleeding about the face and ears and with his shirt half ripped off? He began to change into his uniform and one of his teammates asked him what had happened, possibly hoping for the worst.

"Nothing much," Ty replied. "I just got tired waiting to get into the phone booth outside and so I reached in and yanked this fellow out by the collar. Turned out he had done a lot of professional fighting. He was real good."

Whether they liked him or not, they concede that Cobb was a fearless man, either on or off the field, and that he would fight any man who crossed him. At one gathering, a former player expressed some doubt about this and said he had heard of Cobb backing down, but he was heavily outvoted by the other oldtimers present.

As near as it is possible to generalize, most of those who played in Cobb's day agree, perhaps naturally, that there were more great players among the old bunch than there are today and that "inside" baseball as they played it is a thing of the past. They are not sure, though, that Ty was wise to come out punching quite the way he did.

"It's too bad," one of them said. "This would cost Ty a lot of friends if he had them to lose."

The present day players and the younger managers such as Al Lopez of Clevsland and Leo Durocher of the New York Giants haven't a good word to say for any of Cobb's remarks. Lopez says flatly that Ty could not have run the bases the way he did in the old days against him or any other of today's better catcher.

Snow Suffocates Baby

EPPING, England (AP)—Melting snow killed 10-month-old Jack Watling yesterday as he lay in his baby buggy outside his home here. His mother found the child suffocated under a pile of snow which had been eased from the house roof by the warm afternoon sun.

Track Meet Here Saturday To See Top Talent In District

Indications are that a large number of records in District 7-A will be broken Saturday in a track meet at the Tiger Cinder.

The district, which was formed only last year, is made up of Snyder, Hamlin, Roby, Colorado City, Roscoe, Merkel, and Rotan. Last year's winners set the record for the district, and many cindermen have shown they can do much better this year.

The meet, which was held here last year, was won by Hamlin with 54 points, compared to Merkel's 23½, Colorado City's 19, Snyder's 18, Roscoe's 17, and Roby's 10½.

N. J. Harrison, Snyder sprinter, won the 100 yard dash last year in 10.5. Chief contenders this year are Doyle Jones of Merkel, who ran a first at a Merkel meet in 10 flat; Don Maynard, of Colorado City, who won first at a home meet in 10.6; and Gerald Crawford of Snyder, who has been running near the 10.6 mark this year. At the Colorado City meet, Crawford took second in 10.6.5.

James Burkhart of Hamlin and Cliff Burnett of Roscoe have been clocked at about 25.0 on the 220 this year, compared to the 24.0 record set by Jones of Merkel last year.

Bucky Nix of Roscoe, who can place in almost any event, took the 440 at Colorado City in 56.8, while Green of Hamlin won the district race last year in 54.2. Nix won the pole vault here last year with a 10-8 lift and has been vaulting close to that this year, but Merkel McCoy of Merkel has shown plenty of skill along that line. In the 120-yard high hurdles, which was taken by Goodgame of Hamlin in 24.5 last year, Nix is showing with about 16.

Terry Elwood of Colorado City ran a first in the 880 in 2:23, while John Gary of Snyder has been coming in fast in the same event. Last year's record, which was set by Gary, was 2:11.6. In the Big Spring relays, Gary tied for third in that event.

Eddie Breaux of Merkel, holder of the 5:12 mile record, may break his own record this year. His fastest this season has been a 5:1.8, which gave him a first in a Merkel meet. Manuel Hererra of Roscoe, and Miles Davis of Snyder are Breaux's chief competitors.

In the 180-yard low hurdles, Goodgame of Hamlin took last year's honors with a 24.5, while Don Maynard of Colorado City took a first at a hometown meet in 22:3.

A 48-3½ shot put heave by Berman Corbell of Colorado City this year shows he can beat the record, set by Stapler of Hamlin with a 40-10 in last year's district meet. W. G. Birt of Snyder will be a runner in the shot and discus. Roscoe's Burnett will compete on the discus in an attempt to beat the record of 123 feet, tossed by Carney of Colorado City last year.

The high jump will probably be the most sought title. The record, a 5-7 jump set by a tie between Goodgame of Hamlin and Teaff of Merkel last year, is a short jump compared to what some have been leaping this year. Both Don Maynard and Don Williams of Colorado City have jumped 5-8 this year, and Bobby Campbell of Merkel has moved up to 6 feet. Willians tied for third at the Big Spring Relays, and Maynard tied for second at Brady.

Weems of Rotan set the broad jump record last year with 19-4, and Corbell has jumped 19-2½ this year.

Merkel took first in the 440-yard relay at its own meet in 46:3, and a Colorado quad has run 48.6. The Snyder team, which is now, is made up of Gary, Crawford, Charles Osborne, and Jackie Grimmit. In the mile, the Snyder squad— Gary, Reagan White, Nixie Davis, and Keith Pitner, ran a first in 3:54.3 at Colorado City; Roscoe and Hamlin have good mile relay teams. In last year's meet, Hamlin took both relays.

Kansas And Peoria In Olympic Finals

NEW YORK (AP)—LaSalle's gritty Explorers had no formula for stopping big Clyde Lovellette, and as a result Kansas will meet the Peoria Caterpillars in the finals of the Olympic basketball trials tonight at Madison Square Garden, a scoring robot, stuffed 40 points through the cords last night as Kansas overcame LaSalle, 70-65, in perhaps the most thrilling game seen here this season.

Lovellette, the nearest thing to a scoring robot, stuffed 40 points through the cords last night as Kansas overcame LaSalle, 70-65, in perhaps the most thrilling game seen here this season.

In the opener, Peoria repeated its AAU title win over the Phillips Oilers by whipping the Bartlesville, Okla., club, 64-50, with surprising ease.

By winning last night, Kansas and Peoria qualified seven players each for the U.S. Olympic team, which will journey to Helsinki this summer.

The fans in Madison Square Garden, who claim they've seen just about everything, were given a performance by Lovellette they won't soon forget.

At times, the Explorers, who were forced to play without their great rebounder, Jack Moore, would double and even triple team the All-America center from Terre Haute, Ind. But almost every time Lovellette got his hands on the ball, it either cut the cords or danced around the rim and teetered out.

In all, Clyde dropped in 18 field goals and four fouls.

LaSalle, a fine shooting team, got away fast and zoomed to a 24-12 lead just before the first quarter ended. But the older, more experienced Kansans continued to play their regular game (try to pass into Lovellette, or shoot from the outside) and by halftime cut LaSalle's margin to 40-35.

The third quarter was touch and go, with Kansas, slowly but surely, coming closer, closer, closer. Then with a little more than six minutes left, Lovellette found the basket with a hook shot and the Jayhawkers had a 57-56 edge.

It was during this stretch that Lovellette scored 15 straight points for his team to give them a 65-59 lead. Despite a fast-ditch effort by the Explorers, Kansas held on in the closing minutes to rack up their biggest win of the season.

Giants Could Repeat Again This Season

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Barring bad luck, the New York Giants may well score a repeat victory in the National League—without slicing it so thin this year with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Manager Leo Durocher is not disposed to junk his policy of making no outright pre-season predictions, but the experts do feel that the club is potentially stronger than last season.

The Giants are homeward bound today, playing before a sellout crowd in Denver, but here are the facts as they appeared when the club broke camp here last week end:

Giant pitching should be solid, the batting excellent, and defensively, the prospects are good.

The major question all spring was the replacement of Eddie Stanky at second base. Durocher has finally given the nod to Davey Williams, a $65,000 purchase from Atlanta three years ago. The youngster from Dallas has had good seasoning with Minneapolis and came up last fall for a final polishing with the varsity. He merely handled 85 fielding chances without an error.

Still to be decided is the fate of Army - eligible outfielder Willie Mays, the league's "Rookie of the Year" in 1951.

Giant admirers look to the pitching staff as the brightest part of a well-balanced club. Two 23-game winners, artistic Larry Jansen and Sal Maglie, head the roster.

Big Jim Hearn, Max Lanier, Dave Koslo, Sheldon Jones, Al Corwin, Montia Kennedy, relief specialist George Spencer, and perhaps a rookie or two, say Roger Bowman or Hoyt Wilhelm from Minneapolis, round out the array.

Monte Irvin, who batted .312 and led the league in runs knocked in with 121, heads up the batting power.

Already off to a good start is the man who wound up in such spectacular fashion with his dramatic home run in the playoff game with the Dodgers, Bobby Thomson. Whitey Lockman, Capt. Alvin Dark, Mays, Don Mueller, Chuck Diering from the Cardinals, all should have as good or better years. Handyman Bill Rigney can be counted on too, for emergency help. Rookie Gail Henley may well blossom into importance.

Defensively the club appears sound, with the same infield afield with the exception of newcomer Williams—Lockman at first Dark at short and Thomson at third.

The catching is solid, too, with Wes Westrum, Ray Noble and Sal Yvars on deck.

SOME GOOD REASONS FOR VOTING AGAINST
LEGALIZING LIQUOR SATURDAY

THE STATE OF TEXAS
IN ACCOUNT WITH THE LIQUOR
BUSINESS

DURING 1951 TEXANS DRANK:
7,549,973 Gallons Distilled Spirits
3,639,931 Gallons Wine
813,008 Gallons Malt Liquor (Strong Beer)
125,617,092 Gallons Beer (4% Alcoholic Content)
137,620,004 Gallons all Alcoholic Beverages!
17.8467 Gallons Per Capita (1950 Census)
—Seventeenth Annual Report, Texas Liquor Control Board

TEXAS SPENT FOR ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES
IN 1951—$353,683,410
AN INCREASE OF $22,667,823.50 OVER 1950
(Conservatively estimated on basis of formula used by U. S. Dept. of Commerce to figure National Expenditures for Alcoholic Beverages)

The State of Texas received in 1951 in net revenue from the sale of Alcoholic Beverages a total of $17,106,243.82.
—Seventeenth Annual Report, Texas Liquor Control Board

For every dollar the state received in net revenue from the sale of Alcoholic Beverages, purchasers of Alcoholic Beverages had to pay $20. Spending $20 to get $1 does not seem to be a good business proposition. What do You Think? How do You Vote?

THIS IS ONLY A SMALL PART OF THE COST OF LIQUOR

The Economic Loss For Traffic Accidents in Texas Alone in 1950 was $96,277,163
AND
DRUNK DRIVING HAS BECOME A STATE-WIDE SCOURGE!
Of the 2,410 traffic deaths in Texas in 1950 (an all-time high) 49% — rural accidents only—involved drinking drivers.
—From the Alcohol Statistics Letters, NTL-51-5

An estimated 300,000 Texans are alcoholics or potential alcoholics.
