City Delays Action On Request for Phone Hike

The City Council Monday night voted to table action until its next meeting on a request by Southwestern Bell Telephone Company for a rate increase for phone service in the Rockport area.

R.G. Maples, Corpus Christi district manager of Southwestern Bell, had asked for rate increases that would produce approximately $70,000 per year more in revenue than the present rate structure.

Typical rate increases proposed by Maples were: Business one party--$1.50 per month increase.

Residential one party--75 cents per month increase. Residential two party--10 cents per month increase.

Maples presented the following communication to the City Council:

"The level of earnings on Southwestern Bell Telephone Company's exchange operations at Rockport, Texas has deteriorated to a point where corrective action is needed by your Honorable Body.

"The present rates for local telephone service, which were approved by the City Council effective April 11, 1972, are no longer adequate to offset the rising costs of furnishing the service.

"We of the Telephone Company are doing everything we can to reduce costs. Despite these efforts, however, the attached statement of operating results for the twelve months ended December 31, 1974, indicates that revenues are insufficient and an adjustment in rates is necessary.

"We ask, therefore, that you give prompt consideration to this earnings problem and authorize a new schedule of rates which will improve the Company's earnings position."

Other actions at the Council meeting included:

--Approved annual payment of $2,000 to Rockport Volunteer Fire Department.

--Reset Veterans Day holiday from Oct. 27 to Nov. 11.

--Voted to paint Bicentennial symbol on "City Limits" signs.

--After considering a request from Mrs. Libby Roe, Council agreed to repair holes in street south of her property now, and pave the street next summer when other paving is done during hot weather.

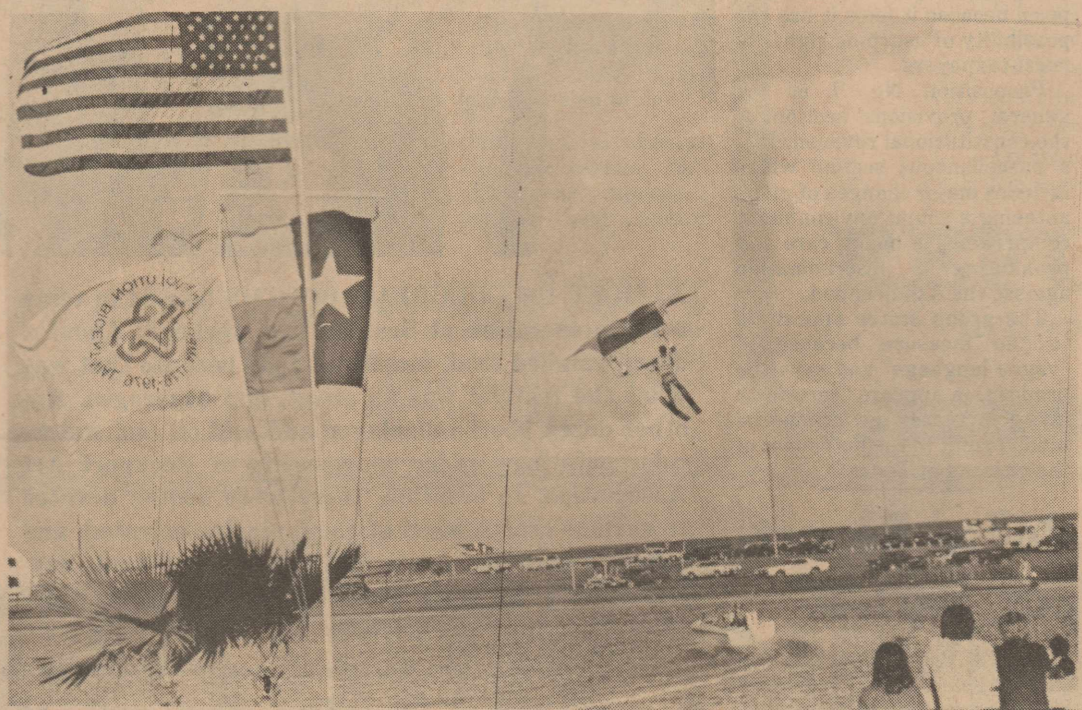

GARDEN WEEK — In observance of Texas Garden Club Week, Rockport Home and Garden Club this week is displaying potted plants raised by members of the local club. The display is in the lobby of First National Bank. Also on display are several flower arrangements by members of the club.

The club, which has 33 members, awards a Yard of the Month citation each month after its selection committee inspects lawns nominated for the honor by the public. The club also is responsible for planting and maintaining trees and shrubs at the south end of the Ski Basin.

Admiral Burton Shephard, commanding officer of Corpus Christi Naval Air Station, was first speaker at the SeaFair ceremonies incident to presentation and raising of Rockport's Bicentennial flag on the Ski Basin waterfront. He congratulated the community on achieving recognition as a Bicentennial community, adding that the U.S. Navy was celebrating its 200th anniversary October 13. — Photo by Winthrop.

Jan Wendell Resigns from School Board

The Board of Trustees meeting in regular session Monday night accepted with regret the resignation of Mrs. Jan Wendell, and expressed its gratitude and appreciation for her many hours of service as a board member.

A report from the Board of Equalization was received and accepted. The 1975 assessed valuation was set at $100,016,029.00.

The School Board authorized the Superintendent to place an order with the State Board of Control for a new seventy-two passenger bus.

A Vocational Education Advisory Committee as required was appointed by the Board.

Ottie Mundine reported on the Texas Association School Board meeting held recently in San Antonio.

The Superintendent reported on various school activities and recent legislation affecting schools. It was reported that the total school enrollment as of October 3rd as 2213 as compared to last year's enrollment of 2198.

Commissioners Hold Session

On October 8 there was a special meeting of the Commissioners Court with the following members present: John D. Wendell, County Judge; Eric Eller, Commissioner Precinct No. 1; Ray Longino, Commissioner Precinct No. 2; Raymond Owens, Commissioner Precinct No. 3 and C.L. Hale, Commissioner Precinct No. 4, and Ruby Hart, County Clerk.

Monthly reports of County officials were read and approved as follows: Agnes A. "Tony" Harden - District Clerk; Ruby Hart - County Clerk; Lawrence Miller - Justice of the Peace, Precincts 1 and 4; Robert E. Hewes - Sheriff.

The County Judge read to the Court a letter from K.F. Hunt Construction Co. offering caliche at $4.15 per yard.

Monthly bills were read and approved.

C of C Women Seek Voters Referendum

Encouraged by what they believe is widespread and growing public interest in some sort of emergency medical service for this area, members of the Chamber of Commerce Women's committee are planning to sponsor a voters' petition to Aransas County commissioners asking for a referendum to provide funds for this purpose.

If the petition is approved by the commissioners the referendum to be submitted to voters would call for use of the county's taxing authority to raise necessary funds for emergency medical service.

It was pointed out that plans of the Chamber of Commerce committee do not envision a hospital for this area but merely a two or three-bed facility where emergency patients could be accommodated briefly until transferred to hospitals in Corpus Christi or other cities.

It has been estimated that approximately $100,000 might be needed for either plan. The Women's committee already has set a goal of $50,000 to be raised through a number of money-making projects, including the Hospital Benefit tennis tournament staged recently. A total of $470.00 was made on this one tournament. The women also operated a money-making booth at the SeaFair making over $500.00 and will have a Christmas bazaar. Another promising money-raising project is the expected gift of an interest in an oil lease.

Other fund-raising projects are in the planning stage, including a craft production workshop in the former Rockcrete Product building on By-pass Hwy. 35 owned by Dudley Prophet who offered the use of the building for this cause. Beginning October 20th work will get under way in the building on Hwy. 35 for the November 29 bazaar to be held in the Paws and Taws building in Fulton.

As soon as petitions for the tax referendum can be prepared, they will be circulated to obtain the necessary voter signatures.

First SeaFair Festival Is Tremendous Success

By David H. Crooks

Like a county fair; like a circus; like a family reunion all rolled together. That's what Rockport's first annual SeaFair last Saturday and Sunday was like.

Thousands, many thousand, perhaps ten thousand or more, were on hand from noon until dark the two days to take part in a community celebration which reached out to attract neighbors and friends from the entire Coastal Bend area and from scores of communities for hundreds of miles inland, even from neighboring states.

Throughout the festival there was good food - seafood, that is, good entertainment and good fellowship. Huge quantities of food and gallons of drinks were consumed at a dozen booths operated by various local civic and social organizations and manned by their members.

Not since the week-long Aransas County-Rockport Centennial celebration in 1970 has there been such an enthusiastic outpouring of community cooperation. And for the SeaFair it was all compressed into just two days of activity. Literally hundreds of local residents did their level best to make sure the first SeaFair was an outstanding success, and it was beyond their fondest dreams.

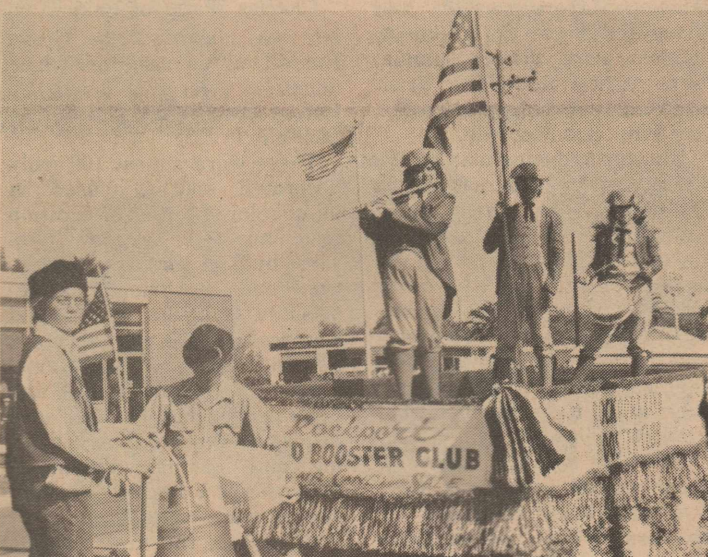

Hundreds of visitors were on hand at the festival grounds in Navigation Park south of the Ski Basin Saturday before many of the booths were open and ready for business, and they stayed and ate seafood until dark that night. Meanwhile supplies were exhausted and replenished time after time during the day. Hundreds of festival-goers remained for the street dance Saturday night.

It all started with a street parade Saturday morning, and, wonder of wonders, the parade through downtown Rockport started on time! Throughout the parade route, starting at the post office, both sides of the streets were crowded with spectators. Participants in the parade and the SeaFair itself emphasized the Bicentennial theme because the festival had been designated a major Bicentennial event. This was emphasized at the first official ceremony of the day when a Bicentennial flag and certificate were presented by Jim Phillips, vice chairman of the Texas Bicentennial Commission to Dr. Jerry Shaw, chairman of the Rockport Bicentennial Commission.

The SeaFair itself was officially opened when Bill Christian smashed a traditional

LION CLUB CLINIC SUCCESS

"Among some of the first people who took advantage of the glaucoma and blood pressure clinic conducted by Rockport Lions Club last week, October 8, 3 cases of glaucoma needing medical attention were discovered," reports the club president, William J. Ratliff, Rockport Elementary School principal.

49 citizens went through the clinic, twice as many as last year, according to records. This year, 20 or 41% were found to need eye medication or sight correction, and 18 or 37% were found to have elevated blood pressure that could need medical control.

With the cooperation of 15 members of the Lions Club and Dr. J. Martin Shaw, local optometrist, and Mrs. Janet Moss, school nurse, the clinic was held from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the VFW Building on Market Street.

SHERIFF COMMENDS HALLOWEEN PLANS

"It is not surprising that the Halloween Party held for the children of the area the past two Halloweens has become too much for the Fulton Lions Club to handle alone," commented Sheriff Bob Hewes recently. "Moving from Paws and Taws to the recreation hall out at the airport will give more space for the various games and the teen-dance and particularly for all of the children and parents. Our department will help in any way that we can."

As previously announced, the 1975 Halloween Party will be moved to the airport facilities and ten other clubs and organizations are helping sponsoring Fulton Lions Club with their project this year.

The party time is from 7:00 till 9:00 p.m. on Friday, October 31.

State Realtors Meet Here

The Aransas-San Patricio Board of Realtors was host to the Texas Association of Realtors annual Region VII meeting on October 9 at the Sandollar. There were approximately 150 members from area boards represented, coming from as far as Houston and Brownsville.

Julio LaGuarta of Houston, TAR president; Frank Nix of Waco, TAR president-elect, and Jo Barkley of Portland, Aransas-San Patricio Board president, were among attending officials. Guest speaker was John Grogan, who spoke on success.

TAR and Aransas-San Patricio Board announced formal opposition to propositions for revision of the Texas Constitution.

The board outlined objections to five of the eight propositions on the Nov. 4 ballot.

Proposition No. 1 calls for a special veto session of the legislature, provides for annual sessions and includes a proposal which calls for "self-destruction" of every state agency every 10 years.

The group opposes the proposition because it feels the measure would further weaken the powers of the executive branch, would increase the cost of government and the tax burden on citizens of the state, and would mean an increased amount of pressure by special interest groups.

Proposition No. 4 retains a 10-cent state ad valorem tax and gives the legislature power to establish statewide assessment ratios. It also calls for the public education system to provide "equal educational opportunity" as a constitutional guarantee.

The Realtors say under this provision taxes could be increased by the legislature at any time and that the education clause "which automatically involves the courts in the bottle of champagne on the bumper of his own golf cart which had been pilfered from Live Oak County Club for the purpose. Bill was lauded as the originator of the SeaFair idea and the low key human dynamo who planned and directed the entire operation with the enthusiastic and dedicated cooperation of a dozen committee chairmen and scores of committee members.

Throughout the celebration Bill could be seen walking about the grounds with a half-smile of satisfaction on his face for all the world like a proud grandfather at a family reunion. "I am very proud of all the men and women who worked so hard and so intelligently to make the SeaFair possible," he said. "Whenever a problem arose, no matter how difficult, there was always someone willing, even eager, to solve it, and there were many problems during the weeks and months of planning and execution," he added. "The whole community owes a debt of gratitude to these public spirited folks."

Two "first ever anywhere" events were features of Saturday's program. One was the World's Championship Gumbo Cook-off, which occupied the entire afternoon and attracted 26 experts in the art of Cajun cookery from the Rockport area and nine other Texas cities.

The aroma of cooking gumbo, much of it concocted from long-secret family heirloom recipes, filled the air most of the afternoon, probably stimulating a land office business at nearby food booths. End product of the gumbo cook-off was not available for public sampling until late in the day, and the supply did not last long.

Peggy and Helen Ratliff, Rockport mother and daughter team, were top winners in the culinary contest. Steve Richardson of Houston took second place and John Franklin of Rockport was third. All received trophies. The trophy for showmanship went to Heybear LaReaux of Missouri City, Texas, and his supporting troupe of helpers, singers, musicians and dancers. Throughout the afternoon they regaled spectators with bagpipe, drum and ukelele music and group singing and dancing. Looked, sounded and smelled as though cooking was fun.

The second feature event was the first International Blue Crab race in which 30 side-winder crustaceans scrambled to win, egged on by the shouts of owners and spectators. Because of the number of entries, it was necessary to run seven heats to determine the finalists. Each crab was trained and entered by a local business firm or individual. Most crabs were decorated.

Top winner was "Silver Streaker", trained, decorated and entered by Silver and Sand Jewelry Shop. Second place went to "Pete", a Harper Real Estate racer, while "Sandy Claws", under the joint ownership of Martha Christian and Kathryn Picton, took third. Prize for the best decorated crab was awarded "Sexytariat" entered by Betty Corbett and Kathy Hicks.

Heat winners in addition to the crabs that took final honors were "Buford," entered by Palm Harbor; "Century 21," owned by Itschner Real Estate; "HiCup," entered by Shep's Package Store and "10 Per Cent," owned by United Savings Association.

Watching the Bicentennial flag presentation and flag raising ceremonies from an elevated stand at the south end of the Ski Basin were local and visiting special guests who were introduced by Joe Hugenberg. He continued to serve as master of ceremonies throughout the festival.

Admiral Burton Shephard, commanding officer of Corpus Christi Naval Air Station, complimented the Rockport community for its Bicentennial activities and noted that the U.S. Navy was celebrating its 200th birthday October 13. Col. John Campbell, Army Repair Depot Commander, pointed out that he felt a strong affinity for Rockport because many of the depot's employees are Rockport residents.

Senator A.R. "Babe" Schwartz expressed his appreciation for having been invited to participate in SeaFair, and Representative Leroy Wieting said he saluted the people of this area for their efforts in staging the community and regional festival.

Also introduced were Mayor James M. Attaway of Aransas Pass, Mayor W.C. Krumm of Taft and Mayor Bill Carper of Sinton. Rockport city councilmen and Aransas County commissioners also were recognized.

American, Texas and Bicentennial flags were raised by local Boy Scouts as U.S. Coast Guard and VFW color guards stood by while Rockport-Fulton High School and the Navy's Southwest Armada bands played.

The two bands participated in SeaFair with enthusiasm. For the parade they played stirring marches, at the flag raising patriotic airs and later on the bandstand they played concert selections. Someone remarked that they were not just doubling in brass but trebling in brass. Actually, the Navy's concert musicians are called the Sonora del Mar Latin Rock Group.

Ribbons and plaques were awarded organizations and individuals who took part in the parade Saturday morning. A plaque went to Rockport-Fulton High School Band Boosters Club for the best combination of Bicentennial theme and decorations. In the decorations category, first, second and third place ribbons went to floats representing Sea Food Producers Association, Louisiana Gumbo, and Marineland, respectively. Bicentennial theme awards were won by Louisiana Gumbo, Marineland and Cub Scouts.

A plaque went to Ingleside Chamber of Commerce float for the best combination of uniqueness and decorations. In the decorations category ribbons were awarded VFW Ladies Auxiliary, A.A.R.P. and Rockport Chamber of Commerce. For uniqueness Central Power and Light Co., Rockport Business and Professional Womens Club and Bill's Barbecue won first, second and third.

Of course, Aransas County Riding Association was awarded the riding group plaque. The Girl Scouts won a walking group plaque, and Rockport-Fulton High School Band was awarded the appreciation plaque.

The Judges' award for the outstanding float in the parade went to Central Power and Light Co. First, second and third ribbons in the boys' bicycle department went to Clyde Barre, Jerry Longino and Tim Arthur, respectively. Girls' bicycle ribbons were awarded to Morena Solis, first; Allison Mayer, second; and Mary Bradshaw, third. Parade judges were Boyce Laqua, Gene Garcia and John Bradshaw. Bicycle judges were Mr. and Mrs. Bob McBride.

The daring young man on the flying trapeze had nothing on the daring young skier on the soaring kite which was one of the more sensational acts of the ski show staged twice each day by the Galveston Sea-Arama. And the girl skiers were pretty and quite as skilled as the best they have at Cypress Gardens, judging from the applause that greeted their acts.

Stars of another waterside show staged both days were two coal black Labrador retrievers whose performance must have thrilled local hunters who are anxiously awaiting opening of the duck hunting season Nov. 1. And they weren't the only ones who admired the perfection of these two well-trained bird dogs. The retriever demonstration was put on by the South Texas Retriever Association.

Contestants in the Gumbo Cook-off, in addition to the winners, were Judge John Wendell, Ed Harper, Kathryn Picton and Mary Beth Caspary. Daria Jackson, George Pfeiffer, Jean Johnson, Bruce Hancock, Bob and Billie Boone and Darlene Sawyer, all of Rockport, and Billy Cage and Virginia Chermosky and Curt Wiggins of Rockport and Alvin, Texas, respectively.

Also Lela Johnson and Gwen Ladd, L.M. Dyson, both of Fulton, Cindy Tilden of Houston, Mrs. Frank Angona of Dallas, Mrs. James C. Frey of Austin, Billy Wayne Mahaffey of Katy, Texas, Mrs. Peggy Lewis of Corpus Christi, Phil Nickel of Portland, Col. Bob Andrews of Corpus Christi, Mac Price of Portland and Mike Fontenot of Aransas Pass.

Cook-off judges were Iris Ann Jenkins, originally of Louisiana and now of Rockport; Betty Kepp of Corpus Christi, who is chairman of the Fiesta cook book committee which produces "Favorite Recipes of South Texas"; Ken McCaleb, veteran newspaper man who lives in Aransas Pass but was born in New Orleans; Michael T. Counihan who is a member of the faculty of Del Mar College in Corpus Christi; and Buster C. Shely of Rockport and Corpus Christi.

Added features of the program Sunday included a colorful power boat parade of some 25 craft from a 13-foot outboard motor powered fishing boat to a 56-foot ocean going air conditioned cabin cruiser.

Also there was an air-sea rescue operation demonstration by a Coast Guard helicopter which performed intricate maneuvers only a few feet above and later on the surface of the Ski Basin. The huge machine moved forward, backward, up and down with the grace and precision of a dancer. The crew dropped a line to a small boat and towed it across the basin to simulate a rescue operation. It also dropped a basket to simulate pick-up of someone in the water.

Sunday afternoon also saw final competition in a two-day sailboat regatta on Aransas Bay in full view of the SeaFair grounds. All the boats were sloops and competition was under the Portsmouth handicap system because size of competing boats varied. First place winner on a cumulative score basis was the "Francye," Travis Bailey skipper. Second place went to the "Teal," skippered by Walt Foster, while "Tabasco," with Dick Harrington skippering, took third place. Nine sailboats competed.

Although somewhat removed from SeaFair grounds, three ocean-going marine research ships docked in Rockport turning basin throughout the festival, attracted hundreds of visitors. The ships were "Longhorn" operated by the University of Texas Marine Science Institute at Port Aransas, "Western Gulf" which is operated by Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, and the "Egret" operated jointly by Texas Water Development Board and U.S. Geological Survey. Throughout the festival Sea Gun Resort's "Whooping Crane" operated free sight-seeing trips for SeaFair visitors from Rockport Turning Basin.

One of the unusual booths operated at the festival was devoted to children's activities including painting, drawing, pots, plants, wind chimes and hobbies. The youngsters brought their products to the booth where they were displayed and judged.

Trophies were awarded in five divisions to Patricia Springs, Wade Taggart, Reed Calder, Christie Canterbury and Helen Jenkins. Ribbon winners were Aaron Commander, Mike Smith, David Peirce, Sabrina Wise, Jennifer Wright and Jill Wendell.

Charles Watts of Palm Harbor was awarded the Steve Russell oil painting on which donations were received by Rotary Club before and during SeaFair.

There were almost 100 gaily decorated booths housed in multi-colored tents. In addition to an impressive art show sponsored by Rockport Art Association and featuring marine-oriented subjects in oil and watercolor there were displays of handicraft and educational exhibits provided by state and federal agencies, as well as a display of mounted fish, boating and fishing equipment. Nearby was a display of fishing and pleasure boats.

Of course, the first SeaFair suffered some shortcomings as to facilities and supplies, largely because no one anticipated a crowd that was two or three times as large as was expected. Also, it was a big and complicated operation handled entirely by local people whose drive and enthusiasm more than made up for lack of experience.

It was recalled that a corps of veteran professional festival promoters was brought in to handle the more complicated elements of the 1970 Centennial celebration. Not so with the SeaFair. It was an entirely home made production.

So, by any reasonable standards the first annual SeaFair was an outstanding success. It accomplished all its announced goals. It brought people together in a community effort. It helped to bridge the gap between the summer and winter tourist seasons. It contributed to the local business economy.

It sold the advantages of the Rockport area as a sports and recreational resort to a lot of folks from other parts of Texas, and also as location for a permanent home.

determination of equal education" would invite financial disaster.

Proposition No. 5 retains the state property tax; provides for removal of an $80 million limitation on state welfare funds; allows agricultural and ranch lands to be taxed at productive value "rather than true market value;" makes timberland eligible for productive tax base and allows the legislature to exempt from property taxed persons in need because of age, disability and economic circumstance.

The Realtors feel this provision takes taxation from the local government level and says two of the provisions—the welfare ceiling removal and the clause dealing with taxes on agricultural and ranch lands both have been previously rejected by voters in the state.

The organization says the exemption of certain persons from paying property taxes "will create a bureaucratic nightmare and will inevitably result in court intervention."

Proposition No. 6 removes debt service from tax rate restrictions for cities and towns and enables voters of a county to grant authority to county commissioners to adopt ordinances.

The group says this provision could create the possibility of higher taxes for the individual citizen and adds a similar provision was defeated by voters two years ago. Additionally, the group objects to the proposal because it feels it has the possibility of usurping rights of rural taxpayers.

Proposition No. 7 is the general provisions section of the constitutional revision. It is a miscellaneous section which includes major changes of guaranteeing a sound environment, comprehensive health care and prohibiting discrimination against the handicapped.

The group states opposition to the measure because of "vague language" and says the proposition appears "certain to invite increased governmental involvement to the detriment of the citizens of Texas."

Sinton Beats 8th Graders

The Sinton Pirates 8th grade team defeated the Rockport-Fulton 8th grade Bucs by a score of 8-0. The Bucs, on their first possession of the ball, moved the ball to the Sinton 9-yard line. On the second play from the 9, tailback Alvin Bardwell suffered a broken wrist. Two plays later a Buc pass fell short and Sinton took over on downs.

The only score in the game came in the second half when a Sinton runner seemed to be stopped for a loss, but managed to surprise the Buc defenders by running 45 yards for a touchdown. The 2-point conversion came on a quarterback sweep around the Bucs' left side.

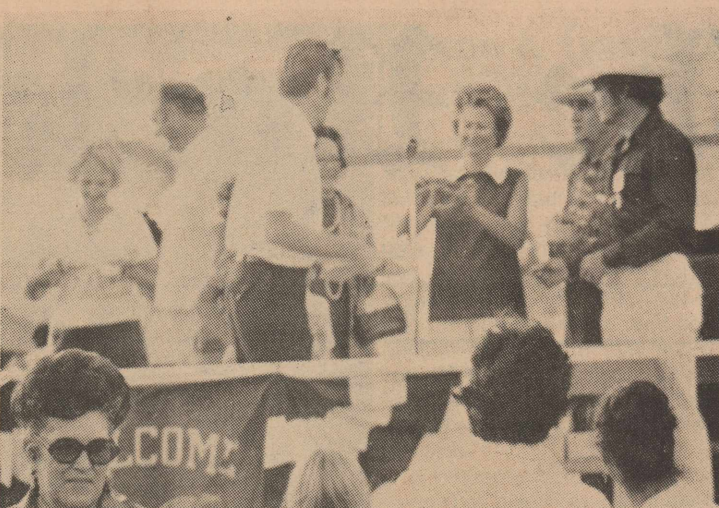

Outstanding players on offense for the Bucs were Esquiel Hernandez, James Kleine, Bruce Bardwell, Bill Schendel and James Stevens. Outstanding efforts by Miguel Contreras and Bruce Bardwell led the Buc defense.

Due to the loss of tailback Alvin Bardwell, the Bucs spent a great deal of time the following week trying to re-group their offense for the game with Aransas Pass.

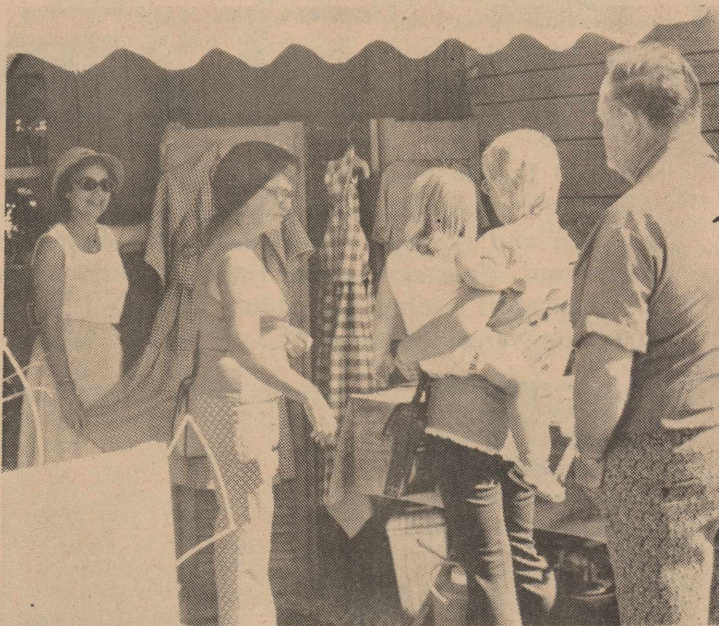

The next home game will be against the Bishop Badgers on October 17.

In addition, there were booths devoted to various crafts, most of them marine-oriented, and others displaying sports and resort equipment. Speaks on Play Group

What and who are the Alpha-Omega Players?

That question, asked by many Rockport people in the months since the organization established its national headquarters in this city on Austin Street was answered for members of Rotary Club by Drexel H. Riley, director of the group, at a luncheon meeting of the club Oct. 8 at Sandollar Restaurant.

He explained that it is a repertory theater group which presents live theater throughout the country for colleges, schools, churches, military bases and resorts.

Actually, there are two such groups at present and a third will be formed soon to play on the west coast, according to Riley. Each group has a repertory of four plays which they are always ready to present. The plays may be condensations or adaptations of widely known plays or original plays. Most of the plays have a running time of an hour to an hour and 40 minutes with no intermission.

Usually the groups are on the road 10 months and will be spending two months each summer at headquarters in Rockport rehearsing and preparing for the next season.

There are only four actors in each group, two men and two women, but each may play two or more parts. Also, the actors handle all other business in connection with the presentation, including lighting, properties and stage settings. They travel in vans and take all necessary equipment with them, Riley explained. Often they will present a play in one community, pack and leave to perform another play next night in another town.

Basic objective of the enterprise is to present live theater in areas where it is not otherwise available. Another goal is to provide training opportunities for young people who have finished their formal schooling in theater. Riley said he auditions hundreds of aspiring young actors each year to select players for his casts.

Dinner-theater settings are preferred for Alpha-Omega groups but they have performed in all sorts of places from conventional theaters to sports arenas, rodeo grounds and even in a cemetery, according to Riley.

As to Director Riley, most of his theater-related activities have been in Texas. He has a

Freshmen Beat Aransas Pass

Algie Simmons exploded to score on a 51-yard run and then added the two extra points to put the Pirates out front 8-0 in their game with Aransas Pass last week. The Pirates added a safety and held on to score a 10-8 victory. This win keeps the Pirate Freshmen unbeaten in district play.

The Pirates took over the ball on the drive which led to the touchdown by Simmons on an interception by Charlie McLead.

In the second period the Pirates were stopped on the one-yard line, and on the next play the Pirate defenders tackled the Panther runner in the end zone for a safety. The Pirates led 10-0.

The Pirates returned the favor by letting the Panthers block a punt out of the end zone for a safety, and the Pirates' lead was cut to 10-2.

Near the end of the fourth period Aransas Pass moved the ball into Pirate territory and scored on a pass play. The Pirates stiffened their backs and held the Panthers out of scoring territory on the two point extra points try, securing the win at 10-8.

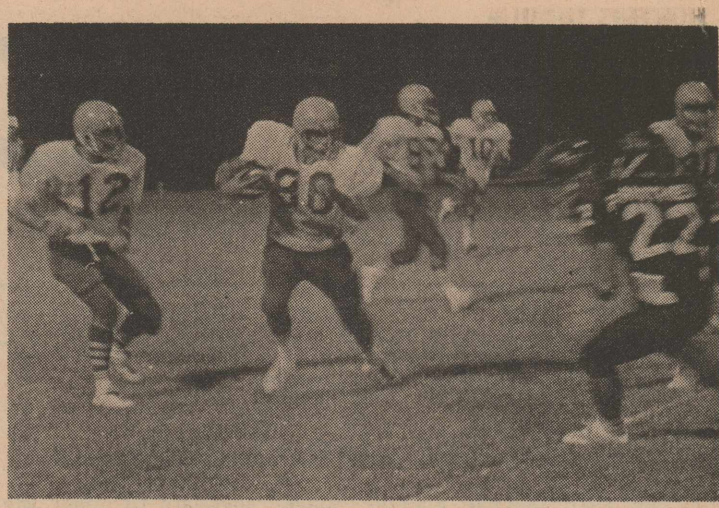

Linebacker Joe Brooks was again the leading tackler for the Pirates with 18 tackles. Rudy Samora was runner-up with 10 contacts. In addition to the interception, McLead added a fumble recovery to the defensive stats for the Pirates.

Simmons was the game's leading ball carrier with 109 yards in 21 attempts. At key times in the game the ball popped loose from Pirate runners, but on three of those occasions, Tony Smyrson, Lawrence Miculka and Louis Solis made offensive recoveries to keep the Pirates out of trouble.

The Pirates travel to Bishop this week for their ball game.

Bachelor's degree in drama from Southwestern University and a Master's degree from Baylor. Before starting his own company in 1967 he was a Dallas Theater artist in residence, and as assistant professor of drama at Southwestern, he taught acting, directing and playwrighting for several years.

He said he was happy to be a part of the Rockport community and hopes some day there will be a dinner theater here. He added that some sort of continuing historical pageant probably could be developed for Rockport, possibly staged on the beach or in a live oak grove near the water.

Panthers Beat Pirates 42-26

It was the same song fourth verse last Friday night as the Rockport-Fulton Pirates allowed the Aransas Pass Panthers to score four times as results of Pirate errors to whip the Pirates 42-26 in Aransas Pass.

It took the Panthers only two plays on their first possession to score as halfback Lonzell Rector skirted the right side, broke some shoddy tackling attempts, and breezed to a 94-yard touchdown.

The Panthers used a Pirate fumble to take over on the Pirate 17, and from there they punched the ball over to lead 14-0.

The Pirates roared back on a seventy yard drive with quarterback Scott Gillis ploughing over behind the center of the Pirate front wall from one yard out. Dicky Ballou's PAT was blocked leaving the score 14-6.

Aransas scored another first half TD with quarterback Jerry Moore scoring on a 20-yard keeper. The score at the half was 21-6.

The Pirates were victimized again as a punt was blocked by sophomore Caleb Brown who picked up the ball and carried it in for the score.

Once again the Pirates answered with a long drive for a score. Tailback Dickie Ballou bulldozed over from the one-yard line after the Pirates had moved 60 yards in 10 plays. Ballou kicked the point after to make the score 28-13.

The Pirates marched again for a score with Gillis picking up a 4-yard touchdown, and again Ballou converted, making the score 28-20.

Jerry Moore put the game on ice for the Panthers as he scored on a quarterback rollout from 48 yards away to move the score to 35-20.

Aransas used another Pirate fumble to score again, making their total of 42 points.

The Pirates used a long pass from Gillis to Jay Watkins and a 20-yard run by Gillis to gain their final score. The Pirates were marching at the game's end, but an interception ended that drive.

The Pirate defense was led by John Picton who had seven individual and seven assist tackles. Ronnie Ormand was a close second with five individual. Jerry Hutson, Ray Gause, Daryl Green and Bruce Barre ended up with four each.

Over-all, the Pirate defense gave up 313 yards - 94 yards coming on one run Lonzell Rector - Pirate mistakes, 5 lost fumbles and 1 blocked punt, all inside the Pirate 30-yard line, resulted in four Panther touchdowns.

HUNTERS SHOULD PREPARE FOR TRIPS AFIELD

Uvalde--With the approach of fall hunting seasons, Texas sportsmen should begin making preparations for their trips afield.

"This not only means marking hunting dates on a calendar and contacting landowners about hunting leases but getting field gear and 'desk chair physiques' ready for the hunting adventures ahead," says a wildlife specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Firearms which have been stored since the last hunting season should be cleaned and checked. In fact, stored guns should be checked every month or so for signs of rust or dust accumulation, particularly if they are kept where temperature and humidity conditions are variable. Special attention should be given to cleaning the bore and making sure the action works smoothly, emphasizes Dr. Milo Shult, who is located at the Texas A&M Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Uvalde.

He also advocates carefully sighting in rifles and handguns. "Even if the hunter feels sure that a gun has not been bumped or jarred since the last firing, it is a good policy to double check. This will not only prevent disappointment over a missed shot but will also get the shooter used to the 'feel' of his weapon again."

Center-fire rifles should be sighted in using the bullet weights and powder charges which the hunter expects to use in the field. Sighting distances are determined by the type of game to be hunted and the terrain where the hunt takes place. As a rule of thumb, shot groupings from 50, 100 and 200 yards will prepare the hunter for most situations, notes Shult.

"The good hunter does not fire one or two rounds and decide that he and his rifle are ready to go. The expense of firing a box or two of ammunition while sighting a rifle in is easily justified by the confidence the hunter will gain in his weapon and his shooting ability."

Handgun buffs should also spend some time "burning powder" on the range before taking to the field. Generally speaking, handguns should be sighted in for distances up to 60 yards. It takes a dedicated pistol shot to be consistently accurate at greater distances. Remember, range safety is of critical importance with all firearms but especially so with handguns, cautions the specialist.

For shotgun enthusiasts, Shult advises a little trap or skeet shooting and "patterning" the shotgun. This is easily accomplished by firing at large sheets of paper or cardboard at distances of 15, 25 and 50 yards. The grouping of pellet holes on the paper lets the hunter know how his weapon performs at those distances with whatever load he is using. Another good plan with double barrel, slide-action and semi-automatic shotguns is to fire more than one round to get used to getting off a second or even a third shot, Shult points out.

Archers should be getting ready to hunt by carefully checking their equipment, sharpening broadheads and practicing with silhouette field targets. These targets, especially those which are life size, get the archer accustomed to firing at "vital spots" rather than just "at the deer."

"Most hunters carry some type of a cutting tool for dressing game. These knives, hand axes or bone saws should be examined carefully and sharpened. A dull knife in the field is not only frustrating but also is more dangerous than a properly honed one," notes the wildlife specialist.

Checking wearing apparel well in advance of the day it is needed will also add to the comfort of the hunt. Clothing with snags or tears from last season needs repair. Footwear is especially important as a painful blister can ruin an otherwise enjoyable hunting experience. Boot stitching should be checked, and the leather should be oiled or treated for comfort and protection. Break in new boots around the house before starting out on a long day's hunt.

"In addition to checking his gear, the smart hunter prepares himself physically for the field. Many of us work at jobs which don't allow us to stay in shape for our once-a-year hunting trips. Perhaps the best solution is to start early with sensible exercise. This may mean just walking every day or it may include jogging and dieting off a few pounds for the hunter who will pursue game which requires strenuous effort."

"Remember, more hunters die from heart attacks brought on by over-exertion than from firearm mishaps," says Shult.

"The sportsman who begins preparing his gear and his body now will have a much more rewarding experience in the outdoors this hunting season," contends the specialist.

EDITORIAL Refugee Disaster

The idealistic nonsense of trying to bring South Vietnamese citizens en masse to this country is now an admitted disaster among congressional investigators.

Aside from the relatively few whose lives were endangered, and who would have been more easily and appropriately resettled in Asian countries, there was no logic in the emotional binge which rushed 131,000 into U.S. camps by air.

Today most of these camp refugees have no jobs, no prospect for a job and are highly dissatisfied, many wishing to return to South Vietnam. Meanwhile, the U.S. taxpayer finances the fiasco.

Consumer Food News

College Station -- Pork supplies are at a 40-year low--with "features" for the consumer practically "non-existent with the exception of bacon and sausage, according to Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt.

Mrs. Clyatt is consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

At other meat sections in Texas grocery stores this week, she advised consumers to check poultry prices.

"Fryer chicken supplies are adequate--priced and taste-wise, they are an excellent buy. Chicken hens are good values, and turkeys are featured in some markets this week."

"Also, as large-size eggs become more abundant, their prices will drop."

"Currently, best beef values are found on corned beef, ground beef, liver, stew meat and chuck roasts--and there may be a slight increase in beef supplies, which could result in slightly lower prices," she added.

At fruit counters, grapes are in good supply with several varieties now available. The specialist said quality choices depend on freshness and brightness--with most quality grapes having a powdery or cloudy appearance to the skin, called "bloom."

Vegetable economy includes broccoli, cauliflower, eggplant, rutabagas and hard-shell squash, along with sweet potatoes and pumpkins--all of which Mrs. Clyatt termed "good quality at reasonable prices."

Other economical choices include cabbage, carrots, turnips and greens, mustard, green peppers and collard greens.

Consumer Watchwords: Although Texas grapefruit is now available by the pound or by the bag, its quality will improve--and prices will trend downward--as the season progresses.

Health Tips

One in seven adults has high blood pressure, also known as hypertension, and if you have it, the odds are even that you don't know it.

Hypertension is a national health problem affecting 23 million Americans. If uncontrolled, it stresses the heart, blood vessels and kidneys, eventually damaging these organs. High blood pressure is the primary cause of about 60,000 deaths each year in the U.S. It also plays a role in the more than 1,500,000 heart attacks and strokes suffered by Americans each year.

Generally speaking, a person is considered to have high blood pressure if his reading is persistently higher than 150/90. The first figure in this reading is the systolic pressure which occurs when the heart is at the peak of its contraction; the second is the diastolic pressure, when the contraction has subsided.

What can you do about high blood pressure? First, have your blood pressure checked regularly to find whether you are one of the 23 million. If you are, check with your doctor on what to do about it.

Fortunately, there are ways of bringing high blood pressure under control in almost all cases. These include drugs, diet, exercise, and rest and relaxation. No one method works for all; individual treatment is necessary for each patient. Treatment may have to be continued over a period of time. Proper treatment definitely reduces risk of disease and death and increases the potential for health and long life expectancy.

The American Medical Association has listed the following facts about high blood pressure that if learned and heeded could do much to guard against the serious effects of untreated hypertension.

1. Hypertension is a common "silent" health problem; many people are unaware that they have high blood pressure because they feel perfectly well.

2. Hypertension is a major cause of stroke, heart failure and kidney failure, but these complications can be prevented with control of blood pressure.

3. Hypertension usually cannot be cured and requires lifetime medical care. It can be controlled by taking medications daily as directed.

4. Those being treated for hypertension should take their medicine every day if they feel well. If they feel sick, they should check with their physician.

If you have not had your blood pressure checked recently, you should do so right away. Hypertension is a killer, but it can be controlled.

Fall Lawn Care Important

College Station -- After six months of mowing and watering lawns, most homeowners will be glad to see their lawns turn brown after the first hard frost. But, to insure weed-free winter lawns and complete recovery of the grass next spring, a few chores remain.

"Fall fertilization is the key to prolonging green color and promoting early spring recovery of turfgrasses," says Dr. Richard L. Doble, turfgrass specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "It also helps to produce a dense turf which discourages the invasion of winter weeds."

Doble recommends applying a balanced fertilizer (one which contains nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium in equal proportions, such as 12-12-12 or 8-8-8) at a rate of one pound of nitrogen per 1,000 square feet. This means 8 pounds of 12-12-12 fertilizer or 12 pounds of an 8-8-8 fertilizer per 1,000 square feet. High nitrogen fertilizers should not be applied to St. Augustine lawns in the fall since they increase the susceptibility of the grass to brownpatch, a fungus disease.

"If winter weeds have been a problem in past years, apply a preemergence herbicide for additional protection against weeds," suggests the Texas A&M University System specialist. Materials containing atrazine, benefin, bensulfide and dacthal provide preemergence control of many winter annual weeds. Some preemergence herbicides are available in formulations with fertilizers, which simplifies the application procedure.

"Be sure to follow label instructions in regard to grass species and rates of application when using herbicides," cautions Doble. "Materials containing atrazine should not be used around trees and shrubs." The turfgrass specialist advises applying a fungicide on St. Augustine lawns to prevent damage from brownpatch. Not only is brownpatch unsightly, but weeds generally emerge where the disease has weakened the grass. Also, spring recovery is delayed in areas damaged by brownpatch.

Fungicides containing PCNB (Terraclor, Ortho Lawn Fungicide), benomyl (Benlate, Ter-san 1991) or chlorothalonil (Daconil) provide control of brownpatch when applied according to label instructions.

"Another fall task for homeowners is to remove excess accumulations of grass clippings or tree leaves from the lawn. The excess debris from these sources increase thatch accumulation and create a favorable habitat for insects and disease organisms," points out Doble.

So, for the homeowner to maintain an attractive lawn in the fall and to insure good spring recovery, there are still a few tasks at hand. Fertilization and the use of preventative pesticides together with weekly mowing will help assure a beautiful lawn next spring.

The 4th grade class at Fulton Elementary practice on their new music recorders. The students will learn to play the instruments and eventually perform a program. The class is led by Dona Acklin, music teacher at Fulton Elementary and Live Oak Elementary.

SALES TAX RETURN DEADLINE OCT. 31

Austin -- Comptroller Bob Bullock has reminded the 230,000 retail businesses in Texas that October 31 is the deadline for filing their quarterly sales tax returns.

"It's only a few days away and any return filed after that time means nothing but problems for us and for the taxpayer," Bullock said, noting that tardy reports can carry financial penalties.

Reports due October 31 cover the July-August-September quarter. Forms for the reports were sent to all sales tax permit holders by Bullock's office in September.

"Late reports are usually nothing more than oversights but that doesn't keep them from being a problem anyhow," said Bullock.

Any retail merchant with questions should contact the nearest field office of the Comptroller's Department, Bullock said.

DRUG INFORMATION LINE IS LISTED

Make a note of that number. It is access to a telephone line that enables you to assist law enforcement officers. Assistance is something about which private citizens are becoming resolute.

The number is that of a drug information line. It feeds directly into the office of the narcotic squad of the Corpus Christi Police Department. With a flip of a switch, narcotics officers can reroute incoming calls to their homes so that the phone will always be answered. They accept collect calls from anywhere in the Coastal Bend region. The Corpus Christi narcotic officers have the name and number of a responsible lawman in each city and county of the region. If the call coming in provides information that would be helpful outside Corpus Christi, it is passed on.

The Council of Governments installed the lines with $2,000 of a $15,000 grant from the State Program on Drug Abuse earmarked for drug abuse prevention. The remainder of the funds are being used by drug abuse agencies in the region, providing educational programs or training workers in the field.

The telephone line is multipurpose. One purpose is to encourage private citizens to pass on information of any type about illegal drug transactions. Another is to provide answers to anyone who needs to know facts about narcotics laws. Calls will be accepted from anyone who has taken an overdose or needs any help with drug-related problems. If the help of another agency is needed to assist the caller, that will be obtained through the Crisis Intervention Service 24-hour line.

Anyone calling in on the drug information line will be asked to identify himself or herself, but is not required to do so. The caller may remain anonymous, and the information passed on is confidential.

STATE PARKS SET 14-DAY CAMPING LIMIT

Austin -- Increasing popularity of fall and winter camping in state parks has led the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission to decree a fairer apportionment of occupancy time. At its August 29 meeting the commission adopted a new regulation making the summer occupancy limit of 14 days applicable year-round.

In order to insure more equitable use of the parks, the TP&W Commission now rules that campers must vacate overnight facilities after 14 days for at least a minimum weekend period before being able to return providing all facilities are occupied and an incoming visitor requires a facility.

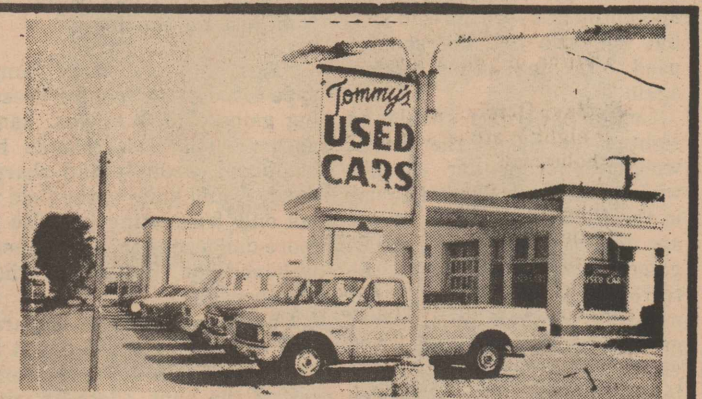

Until now the 14-day limit has applied from May 1 to September 15, with a flexible 28-day limit during the rest of the year, depending on demand.

State parks have been experiencing a significant increase in trailers and other camper vehicles, many people using the parks as a winter home, especially in the southern part of the state. This has led to complaints by working residents in adjacent regions, who are only able to camp on weekends, that there has not been room for them.

The Kinsey Report

A salute to all the folks who worked hard before and during the SeaFair Festival to make it a tremendous success. The news story which starts on page one, and the accompanying photos, give you details on just how successful the SeaFair Festival was.

For years local community leaders have tried to come up with an idea for an annual event that would attract thousands of people to our area, stimulate the economy immediately and in the future, and also provide lots of fun for lots of people.

Those who attended SeaFair last Saturday and Sunday saw that the right format has been created for an event that undoubtedly will become a permanent once-a-year affair to which thousands of people will look forward and which will be of great benefit to the Rockport-Fulton-Lamar area for many years to come.

The Pilot says to all who helped plan and carry out this great event: "Congratulations and thank you in behalf of everyone who lives in this area."

HOUSEHOLD WORKERS REPORTS DUE BY OCTOBER 31st

Quarterly wage reports and social security contributions for household workers are due by October 31, according to A.L. Finck, Jr., social security district manager in Corpus Christi.

"If you pay a household worker $50 or more in cash wages in any 3-month calendar quarter for work around your house, you must send a report of the wages and the social security contribution to the Internal Revenue Service within one month after the end of the quarter," Finck said.

Quarters are January-February-March, April-May-June, July-August-September, and October-November-December. Wage reports and social security contributions for the third quarter of 1975 are due by October 31.

The reports may be filed on a form available at any Internal Revenue Service office - "Employer's Quarterly Tax Return for Household Employees (for Social Security)."

Under the current social security contribution rate, the employer and the employee each pay 5.85 percent of covered wages.

Social security contributions help build retirement, disability, survivors, and Medicare protection for 1 1/2 million household workers, including maids, cooks, cleaning women, gardeners, handymen, and babysitters, according to Finck.

People who employ household workers can get a free copy of the leaflet, "Social Security and Your Household Employee," at the local social security office, or at the Brownsville and McAllen district offices.

Overeaters Anonymous

Are you addicted to food? Do you eat when you are not hungry? Do you go on eating binges for no apparent reason? Is your weight affecting the way you live your life?

If your answer to these questions is "Yes," you may be a compulsive overeater. Compulsive overeating is a progressive disease. Overeaters Anonymous is a fellowship of people sharing this common problem and working toward overcoming the problem.

There are no dues or fees for Overeaters Anonymous, nor are there weigh-ins. The only requirement for membership is the desire to stop eating compulsively.

There are currently three groups in the Rockport area. For information on meeting places and times call 729-0248, 729-7217, or 729-7230.

HYPNOSIS SHOULD BE USED WITH CAUTION

Does hypnosis have a place in medical care?

Yes, but with sharp reservations, says the Texas Medical Association.

The most common medical use of hypnosis is as an anesthetic. Patients have been hypnotized for childbirth, for dental surgery and during the setting of a fracture. It has been used to ease anxiety and to relieve headaches. Obese patients have lost weight from hypnotic suggestion and smokers have cut down or quit.

However, it is important to know that dangerous complications can result from the indiscriminate use of hypnosis for entertainment purposes, because of severe effects that sometimes follow.

One big problem in hypnotic treatment is that it sometimes treats the symptoms without getting at the cause. One woman went to a hypnotist because she was a chain smoker. She stopped smoking, but because a compulsive eater and gained 40 pounds. Another hypnotist cured the over-eating problem, but the woman became an alcoholic. Finally, she was treated psychiatrically.

Hypnosis has been tried in sports in an effort to improve performance. It didn't work. A big league baseball team once engaged a hypnotist to pep up the spirits of the team. They finished in seventh place.

About one-fourth of the population can be deeply hypnotized in a relatively short time period. Most people can be hypnotized to some degree. It's relatively easy to learn hypnosis, but it can be dangerous.

Hypnosis is not a toy. Unwise use may seriously affect an individual's physical and emotional health.

Engagement Announced

ENGAGED — Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Hill, Sr. announce the engagement of their daughter, Pamela Ann, to James Clay Gillis, son of Mr. and Mrs. James "Buster" Gillis of Rockport. Pam is a senior at the University of Houston and Clay is a senior at Rice University. Both are 1972 graduates of Rockport-Fulton High School. They plan to be married December 27, in the First Baptist Church, Rockport.

Council on Aging Meets

The Aransas County Council on Aging met on Oct. 13 at First Presbyterian Church with Neal Gage, director, presiding in the absence of Mr. McNickle, who is recuperating from surgery.

The following were present: Evelyn Townsend, Zolzie Glass, Neal Gage, Jim Bibbs, Neva Sorenson, John Leslie, Tom McClung and John Bradshaw.

Considerable discussion was given to securing new and additional members to be added to the Board. The Chamber of Commerce, Rotary Club, two Lions Clubs, LULAC, VFW and the churches will be asked to appoint a member to this Board, so that it will be representative of the community. Members of the Board will visit each of the local organizations in the near future.

Plans are under way to incorporate this organization into a non-profit tax-free organization so that donations to it will be tax deductible.

Neal Gage reports that 26 patients have been taken during the past month to Corpus Christi doctors and that he personally was handling the needs of three families in Rockport, transporting them to grocery stores, to pay their bills, etc. Greater stress on this phase of the activity is in the mill for 1976, especially in view of the fact that United Fund has seen fit to include the Council in their recent budget.

CONGRATULATIONS

Mr. and Mrs. William David Parr of Rockport are the proud parents of a 6 pound 10 ounce boy born Oct. 8 and named David Allen. Maternal grandparents are Charles McLester of Rockport and Mrs. Mildred Strom of Corpus Christi. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William Parr of Rockport. Great-grandmother is Mrs. Ruby McLester of Rockport.

A.A.R.P. Meeting

The regular meeting of the American Association of Retired Persons was held at the airport on October 8. Cookies and coffee were served at the social hour preceding the meeting.

A total of 62 members and 8 guests were present. Mr. and Mrs. Lehmborg from Beeville were introduced. He is incoming president of their group which is similar to A.A.R.P. Also new members were introduced.

Dorothy Kaptor, program chairman, introduced the speaker, Grady Rhodes, who is with the State Dept. of Public Welfare and who gave a program on child abuse using slides.

"We were astounded at some of his comments and to know there was so much of this kind of thing going on -- either neglect or deliberate beating of a child," an A.A.R.P. spokesman said.

He said it was our duty to report any child abuse cases and told us to call toll free to Austin office 1-800-292-5400 or our local police authorities could take the information.

"He said there were 5 workers in this area besides himself and several cases right here in Rockport. If these children are not helped they will become maladjusted for the rest of their lives in many cases. Foster homes are also needed for temporary cases where the children are taken from their parents and also for some that would be permanent."

Reports of various committees were made. A.A.R.P. sold $585.70 worth of tickets on the quilt so far. Various things are needed for the people working on crafts for the Country Fair in Dec.

The A.A.R.P. has been asked to help in the community Halloween party which will be at the Airport Recreational Building. They will have charge of the bowling alley. Volunteer names were taken.

The report of the nominating committee was made by Paul Hoover and nominations called for from the floor. These people will be elected at the November 12 meeting. Nominated for one year terms were:

President - John L. Leslie; 1st vice president - John Gore and Esther Decker; 3rd vice president - Austin Copeland and Evelyn Horton; secretary - Mrs. Gladys Thomson; treasurer - Mrs. Agnes Reasor; executive board - Mrs. Estelle Turner and Mrs. Neva Sorenson. Nominating committee members are Larry Reasor, Charles Chrissman and Mrs. Irene Hopper.

The next meeting will be a covered dish affair on Oct. 22 and they have been asked to bag candy for the Halloween party. Those who can come a little early or stay a little after the dinner are asked to help. Around 2000 bags will be needed.

Announcement was made that the card parties are continuing each Thursday afternoon at 1:30 at the Recreational Building.

Taxes are high but we sometimes forget we're lucky to have the money to pay them!

Nursing Home Activities Given

Last week at the Aransas Pass Nursing and Convalescent Center was again a busy and enjoyable one.

Monday mornings through Friday mornings are exercise class. We all have fun there as well as being very good for our physical fitness.

Then on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Lois Kinney, our very dedicated beautician, is on hand to make our ladies more beautiful. Thanks, Lois, for helping out Friday with several of our gentlemen who needed a trim.

Tuesday afternoon the Ingleside Rebekahs were over for their game day.

Tuesday evening we had the Ingleside Community 4H Club. They came over and put on a skit, sang songs, briefly told us just what their organization did. Also, one girl modeled a dress she had made and two girls had potted a very pretty airplane plant which they gave to us as a token of their love. After their program they visited with each resident. Our residents enjoyed this very much.

Wednesday morning Bonnie Fletcher was to instruct her paint class which those who participate can hardly wait for her to get there.

Wednesday evening the Acteens of First Baptist Church of Ingleside came over along with their sponsors, Mrs. Suzy Morris and Janet Blasingame, to present their monthly program. They sang hymns, read Scripture and then served refreshments to all. Some of our new residents said they sure did enjoy the program.

Thursday morning the Pentecostal Church of Aransas Pass were out for their weekly program.

Thursday afternoon the Aransas Pass Rebekahs were out for their game day. I want to thank Mrs. Jean Windham and Mrs. Ethel Schnabel for coming out to help these ladies with their game.

Friday evening Bro. Wayne Jones of the Aransas Pass Church of Christ was out to show "Films of the Bible."

Also, Friday evening, Edwin Beyer, Bob Winchester, Henry Garcia, Bill Singler, and Ray Grathouse went to see the football game. They went as guests of the Aransas Pass Public Schools. We thank you very much for this gesture of caring. Thanks also, to Ann and Rick Bishop for being nice enough to be their chaperons for this occasion.

Saturday morning Father Hamilton came out and gave Holy Communion to our Catholic residents. We are glad to have Father Hamilton back after his vacation.

Saturday afternoon during our stereo time Mrs. Abby Coopender along with the help of staff and residents came out and surprised Mr. Coopender with a big birthday party. His birthday was on Monday but we didn't have any other time to surprise him. Everyone enjoyed cake and punch and our diabetics were served orange sherbet and rootbeer floats. Any of you that are a diabetic and would like the recipe for this drink, just call the social director.

Sunday morning Rev. Al Bankert was out for our morning church service.

Well, don't you think we had quite an enjoyable week? We have another one this week.

Oh! yes, our Halloween dance will be next Saturday evening with live music. Friends and relatives are always welcome to all of our activities and are urged to visit our Nursing Center at any time.

Let me take this time again to thank each and every person who does volunteer their services by coming out for their programs and to let you know just how much all of us appreciate you.

"Why's your car painted blue on one side and red on the other?"

"It's a terrific scheme. You should hear the witnesses contradict each other."

FIRE DEPT. MEETS

Rockport Volunteer Fire Department met Oct. 2 with Chief Edward Truelove in charge and 28 members present.

In connection with committee reports, it was reported that the SeaFair committee had completed its plans. Cokie Lee was voted in as a new member.

The Fire Department expressed appreciation to W.D. Heasley for helping with his winch truck to tow a Fire Department truck in from the fire.

Cakes for refreshments were furnished by Julie Gray and Peggy Hunt.

Presbyterian Circle 1 Meets

Circle #1, Women of First Presbyterian Church, met in the church Memorial Room October 9 with Mrs. Ned Hallech as hostess. Refreshments were enjoyed during social hour by twelve members.

Mrs. J.H. Schleider, chairman, opened the meeting with prayer and presided over the business session. Service projects were discussed and announcement made of forthcoming church events.

'n things

by

Texans are learning that many things they once thought were not fit for food are really good to eat.

This has always been a land of plenty where people could eat only the most desirable of foods and reject anything that didn't exactly suit their fancy. Food has always been readily available and relatively cheap. Things are changing now, however, and the choice cuts of beef, the most delicately flavored fish and the easier to prepare foods are often priced out of the reach of many people.

A good example of a food that was once rejected by Texans, and still is by some, is the black-tipped shark.

Annette Reddell, seafood consumer specialist for the Parks and Wildlife Department, manned a booth at the Rockport SeaFair last weekend. She served little bites of a delicious seafood salad on little crisp crackers to hundreds of people who gathered around her booth. As she served them she explained that the salad was made with the firm, white, tasty flesh of the black-tipped shark. As I watched, a few ladies refused to taste it, but the vast majority did try it and pronounced it excellent.

Annette really had only two problems. She didn't bring nearly enough shark meat to serve all the thousands of people who stopped by her booth to discuss seafood and its preparation, and she had to keep a sharp watch for little boys who would try to come back for seconds, thirds and more of the spicy shark salad.

In discussing the use of shark as a food fish Annette explained that shark flesh was now available in many seafood markets, and at $1.29 a pound the boneless, high-protein meat was an excellent buy.

In a country where thousand-pound buffalo were once slain and only the tongue was used for food, hunters are now using all the edible wildlife they harvest to supplement their larder. Hunters who once killed a deer only if it was carrying trophy antlers have learned that venison, if properly cared for, can be delicious food. Kingfish were once thrown away by the thousands, yet now the fishermen are few and far between who do not prize this fine food fish as table fare. Many big game fishermen are sausage from the sailfish she catches.

The Parks and Wildlife Department, through the seafood marketing division, is trying to teach Texans to utilize all seafood in taste-tempting dishes that are inexpensive, pretty to look at, easy to prepare and high in valuable nutrition.

They're doing a pretty good job of it, too.

'Lesse and Worse'

Captain John Smith wrote that Virginia Indians grew a "fruit like unto a Muske Million, but lesse and worse." The intrepid leader apparently made the mistake of sampling a raw pumpkin. American colonists soon found that cooked pumpkin was a tasty, nourishing food.

PUBLIC NOTICES

BECAUSE THE PEOPLE MUST KNOW

Editor's Note: Public Notice advertising plays a unique role both in American history and in the process by which this country's democracy is preserved. Its one premise is that people must be informed if they are to govern themselves competently. Public Notice advertising first came into being with the Congress of 1792. That body, recognizing its responsibility to the people, required that Postmaster General to advertise for bids for the construction of new post offices. From that auspicious beginning to the complex publication requirements of federal, state and local laws today, government officials have come more and more to understand their obligations to inform the public through Public Notice advertising. Newspapers over the years have been the vehicle by which these obligations have been fulfilled. They will continue to be as long as the public demands that it be informed frequently and by the best means possible.

IN MEMORIAM

George Milton Underwood, age 51, died after a long illness on Saturday, Aug. 16, at Beeville Memorial Hospital, Beeville, Texas. At once expressions of sympathy reached his bereaved, his mother, Mrs. Mattie Underwood, Refugio; his sisters, Mrs. Dorothy Sammons of Rockport, and Mrs. Joe C. Penney Jr. of Beeville. For many years the deceased has suffered complete blindness and confinement to a wheel chair.

Milton bore his agonies with exemplary patience. He was sustained in mind and spirit by the uninterrupted attendance and loving care of his mother, and by the care and concern of his sisters and relatives. During his active years he worked devotedly in the parish activities of Our Lady of Refuge Church, Refugio. He served in meeting the needs and undertakings of the community at large. Most especially was he interested in projects which were dedicated to the welfare of the youth.

Now that Milton has been called to his eternal reward it is his joy to view with new eyes those glories of heaven which are hidden from our earthly vision. He can now walk again as one re-born. Seeing our Lord face-to-face, he journeys along the brilliant avenues of Paradise.

Milton is remembered as a pleasant and genial person. He will be always recognized as one who loved his God, his family, and his neighbor!

Mrs. William H. Oberste c31

A.J. DERVAGE DIES

Alva Francis Dervage, 82, died Oct. 9 in an Aransas Pass nursing home after a long illness.

He was a resident of Fulton since 1938 and a retired motel owner. He was a deacon of the First Baptist Church in Rockport, a 32nd degree Mason, and formerly served on the Aransas County School Board.

He is survived by his wife, Clarinda; one son, Victor Dervage, Rockport; one daughter, Mrs. Mary Ruth Blackwell, Houston; one grandson, Calvin Blackwell, Houston.

Funeral services were held October 11 in the Marshall Funeral Home Chapel. Burial was in the Cedar Cemetery in Bay City.

R.F.H.S. JV Lose 21-0

Rockport-Fulton's JV could mount very little offense and as a result came out on the short end of a 21-0 score against Aransas Pass last week.

The Panthers scored on the first play of the second period and scored again as a result of a Pirate bobble and led 15-0 at the half. The Pirates mounted one serious threat moving the ball to the Panther 10-yard line, but fell short as the ball was fumbled away.

A blocked punt gave the Panthers their last score and the score was 21-0.

One of the few bright spots for the Pirates on offense was the passing game which used completions by Bob Smith and Charlie Edler to gain 55 yards through the air.

Bill Adams, Roland Flores and Bob Smith were the leaders in tackles on the defensive side of things.

A VERITABLE SEA OF HUMANITY — Thousands and thousands of people engulfed the first annual Rockport SeaFair last Saturday and Sunday in Navigation Park adjacent to the Ski Basin. They came early and stayed late. They consumed huge quantities of seafood and beverages while enjoying almost continuous entertainment, most of it staged in and on the Ski Basin. It is believed to have been the largest crowd ever assembled in one spot in the history of Rockport. — Photo by Winthrop.

NEEDS HELP FOR HALLOWEEN PARTY

Cass Hamon, Fulton Lions, 11 Timberlane, Fulton, reports the following:

"This year our Halloween Party should be the greatest ever."

"Several other organizations have joined with the Fulton Lions to help put this over."

"We hope to have plenty of candy, Coke and prizes for everyone."

"We are still in need of donations as costs have skyrocketed. What a great feeling to know your kiddies are getting safe goodies and guidance. We offer good music and a dance area for those interested."

"This year our party will be held at the Community Center, Aransas County Airport, Oct. 31, Friday night, 7 p.m. Don't miss it."

"Please send donations to: Cass Hamon, Fulton Lions, 11 Timberlane, Fulton, Texas."

Library News

New books added to the collection include "The Gentle Tasaday," by John Nance. This is the first book that tells the full story of these gentle people discovered by the outside world in 1971. Mr. Nance details their first years of contact with modern society, from their terrified first encounter with a helicopter, which they thought was a giant insect, to their venturing outside their mountain sanctuary. The late Charles A. Lindbergh says in his foreword: "I felt like I had been on a visit to my ancestors a hundred thousand years ago."

Mrs. A.C. Hamon, librarian, will attend a Texas State Library meeting in Corpus Christi, Friday, Oct. 17. The meeting is for the purpose of explaining the new structure of the Interlibrary Loan Network and its effect on the systems' members.

The Aransas County Public Library gratefully acknowledges donations of books and memorials from the following: Col. and Mrs. Thomas L. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Province Windler, Mrs. Matt Scott, Mrs. Alex Scott, Mrs. Florence A. Kirk and Mr. and Mrs. James S. King.

Europe's largest collection of American Indian artifacts is in West Germany. The costumes, weapons and implements have been displayed since 1928 in a museum at Radebul dedicated to German author Karl May, who wrote his frontier novels before ever visiting the United States.

It was a time of anxious waiting at Fulton Elementary last week. Seems like report cards were handed out, some smiled, others were surprised yet others thought of home and parents waiting anxiously.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Rockport welcomes visitor -- A Wyoming visitor in Rockport was arrested last night about 9:15 p.m. for disorderly conduct.

Mr. John Kerns, a Casper, Wyoming geologist was out walking alone for exercise on North Austin Street near Wharf St. when city Sgt. Langston decided that Kerns looked suspicious.

According to Kerns the officer wanted to know if he was waiting for a bus (he was walking). When Kerns answered no and was asked to show I.D. he responded to have none, but after Langston advised that it was Texas law to have I.D., he offered his driver's license with the phrase "You're a big man."

This was enough for booking.

fingerprinting and spending 2 1/2 hours in a jail cell. Kerns was advised by sheriff's officers that he must spend the night in jail, but Harbor Lodge owner, Joe Queen and Wyoming friends were able to post bond about midnight after contact with city police chief.

Kerns has since returned to Wyoming with little intention of again vacationing in Rockport and he refused to speculate what the scenario might have been had he been jogging rather than walking.

He did invite local residents to visit Wyoming and walk the streets of any city or town without fear of intimidation. Judge Rogers dismissed the charges on Oct. 10th.

Home & Garden Club Meets

The Rockport Home & Garden Club met in the B.F. Street home on October 9. Mrs. Patty McArdle was co-hostess with Mrs. Vi Street. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Connie Garcia, and the minutes were read and approved from the last meeting. Mrs. Mamie Ruth Caton introduced her guest, Mrs. Elizabeth Krueger from San Antonio.

A recommendation from the executive board to participate in the Yearbook Award and Arbor Day Celebration was read and approved. Mrs. Garcia showed the club members the vase-like container the National Council of Garden Clubs was selling for $15.00.

Mrs. Garcia announced that the Methodist Church was having a bazaar November 11. All members were asked to donate one plant to the bazaar and have it there by 9 a.m. The Bicentennial and SeaFair were discussed. A work schedule for the Garden Club's booth at SeaFair was passed out. A letter was read from the Rotary Club thanking the Club for maintaining the triangle area on Highway 35 as you enter Rockport.

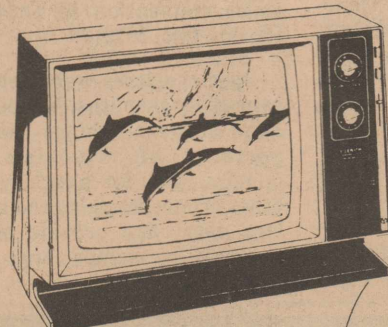

Mrs. Eunice Hamon, Mrs. Betty Adams and Mrs. Lenora Beck presented the program on flower arrangements. Mrs. Adams showed her arrangement of "mass" flower arrangement. Mrs. Beck presented a display using the "Hogarth line." Mrs. Hamon showed an arrangement using the "line" flower arrangement. After a discussion on flower show arrangements, a workshop was conducted for the members. The November meeting will be held in the Bob Evers' home.

ACCENT ON HEALTH

J.E. PEAVY, M.D.
Commissioner of Health

Children in Texas have every right to expect freedom from immunizable diseases, and the Texas Department of Health Resources is leading the fight for this new freedom.

During October—designated as Immunization Action Month on a nationwide basis—the Department of Health Resources and the First Lady's Volunteer Program of the Office of the Governor will join forces to promote immunizations in pre-school children.

The pre-schoolers, from newborns to first graders, are the most susceptible children to the diseases which are preventable through immunizations.

The threats of rubella, measles, polio, diphtheria, whooping cough, mumps, and tetanus are still with us despite the great success the state has had in preventive efforts.

Dr. Fratis L. Duff, new director of the Department of Health Resources, emphasizes the need to meet the continuing challenge of preventive immunizations in young children. Approximately a quarter of a million babies are born in Texas each year, and these children will enter a large reservoir of susceptibles unless they are immunized. Epidemics are still a possibility in Texas if all children aren't protected.

Mrs. Dolph Briscoe recently hosted the organizational meeting of the Texas Immunization Action program. Noting the possibility of infection, she asked: "Wouldn't it be wonderful if no child was afflicted with these diseases which can be prevented with immunizations?"

Commenting on the state's first case of polio in more than 2 1/2 years, she said, "It's a waste today to have a single case of paralytic polio in the state of Texas. We don't have to have it."

One of the biggest inroads into disease—outside of the emergence of the vaccines—has been the compulsory school immunization law passed by the Texas Legislature. This law also applies to children attending day care centers.

Armed with immunizing agents and legislation, private physicians, public health officials and an educated public have done much to drastically cut the incidence of disease in Texas.

Statistics show just how well the job is being done in Texas, but health authorities say that the country is still vulnerable to local epidemics. The percentages of the younger vaccinated children are still low enough to allow the quick spread of these diseases once they get started.

Dr. M.S. Dickerson, chief of the Communicable Disease Services Section of the Department of Health Resources, puts it simply. He says, "Not enough children are being vaccinated."

At one time, he explains, parents were very careful to make sure that their children were protected. The vaccines were new and the diseases were fresh in people's minds. But time dulls the memory. The fears subsided and fewer and fewer children were vaccinated.

While 84 per cent of the nation's preschool children had been fully vaccinated for polio in 1963, the percentage dropped to only 60 per cent in 1973.

And, on a nationwide basis, says Dr. Dickerson, protection against other diseases has followed the same pattern.

In Texas, immunization of preschoolers has been given a high priority by the Department of Health Resources. Great success has been seen in raising immunization levels in the preschool target area.

While Texas last year had the lowest number of cases ever reported for diphtheria, measles, pertussis, polio, tetanus and rubella, the Department of Health Resources is aware of the possibilities of outbreaks occurring among the unimmunized children. It hopes that the publicity surrounding Immunization Action Month will substantially increase the number of protected children.

Fishing Success

For a great many people fishing isn't the sport and the excellent recreation that it's supposed to be. If fishing requires the same mad pace that our daily routine requires it provides little recreational value.

The best example of successful fishing is the small boy or the man who sits happily dangling a hook from a bank—just taking it easy.

FRESHWATER REDFISH BECOMING A REALITY

Austin-A longtime dream of fisheries biologists with stunning possibilities for Texas fishermen-the artificial rearing of saltwater redfish for stocking in freshwater reservoirs-is now in the realm of reality.

Some 25,000 baby redfish spawned under artificial light and temperature conditions were released this month in Long (Decker) Lake near Austin and Tradinghouse Creek Reservoir near Waco.

Production of redfish has reached staggering proportions during a six-week period since Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists achieved the first artificial spawning at the National Marine Fisheries Service laboratory in Port Aransas.

-Four male and three female redfish have spawned some 30 times.

-More than 50 million fertilized eggs have been produced.

-Unknown thousands of surviving baby redfish are now being reared in hatchery ponds filled with Gulf of Mexico water at the P&WD Palacios Marine Fishery Research Station.

In three releases of young redfish, some 4,000 were stocked at Long on Sept. 17; another 14,000 were added at Long on Sept. 22; and the surviving 7,000 of that second trip were released at the Waco lake.

One more release is scheduled at Long, where Fisheries Division biologists at the Austin headquarters can monitor survival and growth. Access to Long Lake is through one road to a concession building and launching ramp, so that any redfish caught by sportsmen can be reported. The 1,269-acre lake at the edge of the city receives heavy fishing pressure.

In late August, several flounder including a 13-inch had been caught from some 12,000 stocked as newly hatched fingerlings last February. Long also received some 12,000 speckled trout this year.

As redfish production soared, some 1.2 million 10-day-old fry were stocked in the Redfish Bay complex near Harbor Island on the Gulf of Mexico.

For freshwater stocking, a portion of the hatched fry are held for 30 days at the Palacios ponds which are then drained when the baby reds are about 1 1/4 inches and moved by P&WD hatchery tank trucks to the reservoirs.

There they are tempered by the gradual addition of fresh lakewater to the saline waters of the hatchery ponds in which they traveled. Within two to three hours, the tiny fish are acclimated to the fresh water and can be released into the lake.

All of the steps were accomplished successfully in the Long stocking, but biologists found that too long a transition period can be fatal in the delicate process. Of some 24,000 transported further to Tradinghouse after delays at Long and en route, only 7,000 were able to swim away when released in the lake.

The final release at Long Lake this month will include a 24-hour acclimating study to determine how long a tempering period is required for the greatest survival.

As fresh water is added to the saline water in the delivery truck, groups of about 100 redfish will be removed at half-hour intervals during the 24 hours and placed in plastic mesh containers in the lake where biologists can observe mortality.

In reaching this level of success, P&WD officials credited Dr. Connie Arnold of the National Marine Fisheries Service at Port Aransas with development of the light-temperature technique which provided this first such hatching of redfish under totally artificial conditions.

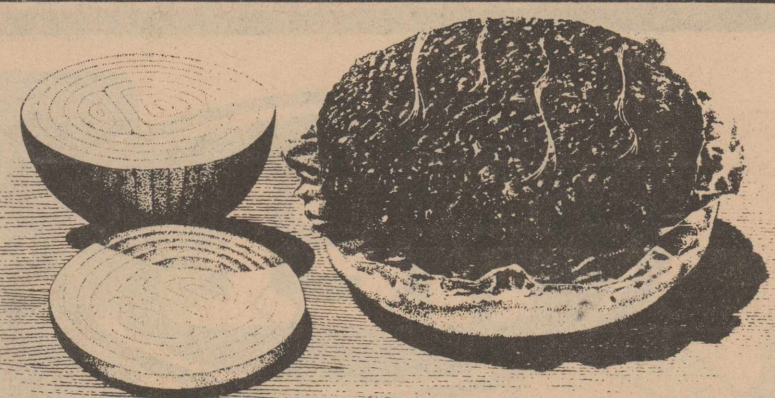

Basically, the adult redfish which were captured from the Gulf of Mexico are conditioned biologically to the length of the artificial daylight and climate of the water as exactly right for spawning.

In the wild, it is presumed that redfish may spawn only three or four times at most, further emphasizing the tremendous success of the artificial methods which toward the end of September were still producing spawns.

In order to determine the most suitable habitat for the freshwater variety of redfish (properly the red drum but also known as channel bass) a virtual circle of medium-size impoundments around the state will be stocked with the current production of fry.

Being considered for the study are Lakes Wichita, White River, Brady, White Rock, Cypress Springs, Athens, Striker Creek, Jacksonville, Casa Blanca and Corpus Christi.

While eggs in the millions are being obtained, both rearing facilities and pond culture experience with redfish are limited. Nevertheless, the several hundred thousand fish expected from the rearing ponds are considered a high survival rate.

Small redfish under 14 inches are easily caught, and none under that size may be legally kept under a law which now applies to the Texas coastal waters.

Most saltwater catches include three- and four-pound redfish, but 10- to 40-pounders are not uncommon when coastal fishing conditions are right.

Redfish are caught on live and cut bait but will also readily take spoons, lures and jigs. The Texas record redfish weighed 51½ pounds and was taken off the Padre Island surf in 1967.

While redfish have thrived when previously transplanted to inland waters, they are not expected to spawn, so a sports fishery would be dependent on a put-grow-and-take basis -- a feasible concept with recent monumental reproduction.
