LEWIS BURNS

Burns Is Hired As Code Enforcement Officer

Lewis Burns has been hired by the City of Cisco as Code Enforcement Officer, according to a report from City Manager Michael Moore.

Burns assumed his duties Oct. 3.

In his job as the full-time code enforcement officer, he will enforce all city codes. He will also be the plumbing and building inspector.

Burns primary duties will be animal control, public nuisances, and health and sanitation violations.

Moore said that Burns' first priorities will be problems with junk cars, trash and debris in yards, and vacant condemnable houses. During the growing season, he will also deal with the weed problems.

City Manager Moore said, "We are pleased to have Mr. Burns on staff full time to fulfill a function as code enforcement officer to help correct problems that have held Cisco back. We expect Mr. Burns to spend a couple of months getting familiar with the ordinances. He will try to correct the worst offenders right away. While it will take a while before there will be any real impact, in a year the citizens of Cisco will see a dramatic change in the way our town looks."

Mr. Burns and his wife, Mary Alice, recently returned to Cisco. They lived here from 1975-79. He was employed as a city police officer and worked for the city in the water department, and was city secretary and acting city manager for a short time. After leaving Cisco, they lived in Arkansas and Arizona.

Mrs. Burns is Director of Nurses at E.L. Graham Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Burns said, "We are happy to be back in Cisco. We have traveled around the world with the Air Force, and we like Cisco people best. That is one of the reasons we returned and we are here to stay."

Their son, Doug Burns, lives in Cisco.

Bills And Indigent Health Care Claims Occupy Commissioners

Eastland County Commissioners held a called meeting on Monday, Oct. 17 to consider appeals by Eastland Memorial Hospital on three Indigent Health Care claims. All Commissioners were present, with County Judge Scott Bailey presiding.

Communication, procedure, responsibility and eligibility were some of the main issues raised. Marcia Carr, Administrator of Eastland Memorial, and Attorney Wm. Hoffmann, a Hospital Board members, spoke to the Commissioners at length. Other Board members also contributed to the discussion.

During the meeting the question of County Indigent payments led to why the Hospital hadn't been able to collect on bills for medical care of jail prisoners. Sheriff Don Underwood was called in for clarification of the matter.

Marcia Carr first asked for consideration of three Indigent Health Care claims that the Commissioners Court had not approved.

Judge Bailey replied that basically none of the claimants had met the eligibility required by state law before claims could be paid.

"We've had a hard time tracing down information," the Judge said. "Some of the applicants just have box numbers - or more than one address. A home address needed to be listed so official would know which county hospital was responsible."

"According to Indigent Health rules, if a person lives in a cardboard box with some possessions that's their residence," said Richard Robinson, Comm. of Pct. 1.

"Yes, but we need to know where that cardboard box is sitting," said Billy Bacon, Comm. of Pct. 4.

Mrs. Carr said that most of the people who need indigent care do not have telephones, and many cannot read or fill out the complicated forms. "They are in dire need of not only medical assistance, but all the other assistance they can get," she added.

One of the claims was said to concern a person who was found living in a box back of Thrift Mart. He was found there with pneumonia, and was carried to Eastland Memorial Hospital for treatment.

Richard Robinson, Pct. 1 Commissioner, said that he had no problem with this particular claim, since he had seen the man around and felt certain he was a resident of Eastland.

Commissioners then discussed another claimant, a car accident patient with no insurance on the vehicle, and none on the other vehicle involved in the accident.

Billy Bacon said: "That's against the law. Its (the medical expenses are) are legal responsibility of the owner of the pickup the man was driving."

"He came to the Hospital, injured, and we provided care," Mrs. Carr said.

"The County mailed a request for information on that patient and got no response," Judge Bailey said.

"There are numerous ways you can justify not paying," Mrs. Carr replied. "But you expect us, as a Hospital, to be prepared to take care of patients no matter what the monetary situation." She listed the amount of charity care during the past three years, and told the Commissioners that the Hospital needed help to survive.

Attorney Bill Hoffmann said, "We can look for ways to get out of paying. What we're asking is for you to be a little more liberal - to give a little more leeway."

The Commissioners were reminded that they had voted to make Eastland Memorial Hospital a mandated provider of Indigent Health Care in the Hospital District and in all parts of the County outside the Eastland, Ranger and Cisco Hospital Districts.

R.P. Haun also asked for more liberality from the Commissioners. "We (speaking apparently in general terms) are about to die from the strict interpretation of the laws," he said.

Judge Bailey said again that a place of residence is required by state law on Indigent Health Care claims.

"If the County has to go far above its tax-based ratio for Indigent Health Care, the State will help out. But only if the laws are property followed," the Judge stated.

"If even one Indigent AIDS case showed up in the County, treatment for that patient could run as high as $30,000," the Judge also said.

L.T. Owen said: "I'm not going to stick my neck out for false addresses. I think he (Judge Scott Bailey) is doing a good job on handling this thing."

The Commissioners were asked if a jail residency qualified for indigent care. "It's like pulling teeth to get payment from over there. I see you paid an Abilene Hospital for the care of a jail patient."

Richard Robinson replied that he had checked out that situation and the reason the man was sent to Abilene was that a local Doctor referred him there.

Attorney Hoffmann told the Commissioners that five bills "four or five months old" had not been paid from the jail.

The Commissioners replied they hadn't turned down those bills - they just hadn't been presented.

Sheriff Don Underwood was called in to explain the delay on presenting Health Care bills from his Department to the County Auditor.

The Sheriff told the Court that he was not familiar with the bills, since Jail Administator John Blair handles the paperwork concerning inmates. Delays on payments might be because of attempts to have inmates approved as indigents, he said.

"If we pay the bills first, there is no reimbursement to the Sheriff's Dept. from Indigent Health Care, he said.

"If someone tells me what to do, I'll do it," the Sheriff added. "We have only X number of dollars to go by in the budget."

Mrs. Carr and Hoffmann told the Commissioners that when a Sheriff's official signs responsibility for a prisoner's account, the bill should be paid in full.

The Commissioners decided to direct the Sheriff to pay the five pending bills, and they would reimburse his medical budget. In the future he will submit P.O.'s promptly to the County auditor.

On Indigent Health Care patients, the Hospital was requested to get the physical address (location) and Social Security no. of all who make application.

Judge Bailey asked Mrs. Carr if the Hospital hadn't agreed to take all Indigent patients at indigent rates - generally 60 percent of actual charges.

Mrs. Carr told the Judge that after full payment is made, if the patient is found to be indigent, Eastland Memorial Hospital will reimburse the county.

Some of the Board members told the Commissioners that without cooperation from everyone, neither Eastland, Ranger or Cisco would have a Hospital much longer - and then medical care would be a lot more difficult and expensive for everyone.

The Commissioners gave tentative agreement to pay the three Indigent Cases appealed, and indicated this payment would be made at the next regular meeting Monday, Oct. 24. No motion was finalized on this, however.

Board Of Regents Award Bid For Demonstration Farm

The Cisco Junior College Board of Regents at its October meeting awarded the bid on the clearing of the 80 acres of land on the B.B. Owen Demonstration Farm to Wagley Dozers & Welders, Inc. who was the low bidder.

The B.B. Owen Foundation of Richardson had recently given CJC a grant of $16,500 for phase one of the farm development project. The land clearing is a part of phase one.

The bid for travel arrangements on the Band and Belle trip to Washington was awarded to National Events of Salt Lake City, Utah, who was the low bidder. The CJC performers have been asked to appear in the Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival in Winchester, Virginia. This will make the third time CJC has been awarded this appearance honor.

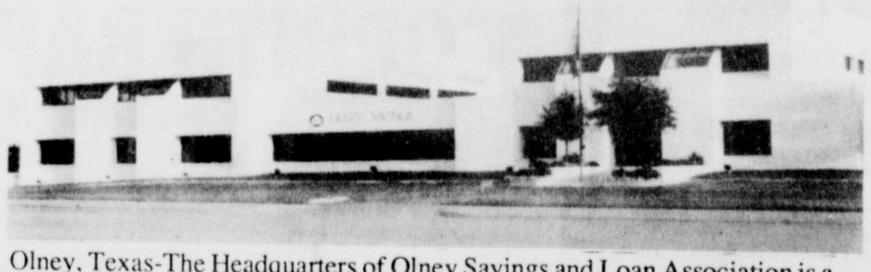

The fall schedule of Community Service courses consisted of thirteen classes ranging from CPR to Jazz Dance. Clois Purvis, CJC Dean of Instruction, said that "such courses are a part of the community college philosophy of offering educational opportunities for everyone."

The board was reminded that Parents Day and Homecoming will be Saturday, October 22, with pregame activities beginning at 2:40 p.m. CJC will be playing Navarro College.

Sixty two part time instructors were employed for the Fall semester at Cisco and the Clyde and Abilene centers.

The next regular meeting of the board will be November 14.

Olney, Texas-The Headquarters of Olney Savings and Loan Association is a 60,000 square foot building which houses the Olney Branch and the Corporate departments serving the entire Olney Savings branch network. Those departments include, among others: Savings, Lending, Mortgage Loan Processing, Data Processing and Personnel. Buildings adjacent to the main office handle Accounting and Bookkeeping.

No Changes Are Seen In Local Olney Savings Operations

The three Olney Savings and Loan Association offices operating in Eastland County will operate normally as in the past, with no major changes anticipated, an official of the firm reports.

A county native has been elevated in responsibility for operations of the units through this area.

Ron Butler, 28, has been named division manager branches in Abilene, Clyde, Cisco, Eastland and Ranger.

Butler's appointment was part of the $1.3 billion rescue plan announced by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board.

Jeff McClatchy of Fort Worth, executive vice president of Olney, said Monday all locations will continue to operate normally.

The merger included seven Abilene thrift locations - two Olney and five Southwest Savings & Loan. They employee about 100 people, Mcclatchy estimated.

Butler was serving as an Olney vice president in Abilene prior to the merger.

Butler, a native of Ranger, has a bachelor's degree from Texas Tech University and a Master's from Tarleton State University. He joined Olney Savings after graduation.

Under the plan, 11 thirft firms in Texas were merged under the Olney Savings name, acquired by the Adam Corp./Group of Bryan. It is investing $80 million to acquire 11 insolvent Texas thrifts, the Federal Home Loan Bank Board said.

The federal bank board also said the Federal Savings & Loan Insurance Corp. will contribute a $303 million note to the new Olney Savings to restore the combined institutions' net worth.

The bank board profile said Olney reported insolvency on Sept. 30 after it experienced asset problems from the downturn in the Texas economy and inadequate loan underwriting practices.

Olney Savings was formed in 1935.

The board's profile on Southwest Savings showed it was incorporated in 1952.

Since 1983 Southwest had "embarked on a rapid growth and high-risk business plan that included making acquisition, development and construction loans and commercial loans. Within two years of the change of control, high-risk loans increased more than 800 percent," the profile said.

The profile also stated: "Southwest first reported insolvency in June 1987. In addition to losses incurred by risky lending strategies, Southwest committed numerous regulatory violations and other unsafe practices, including violations of rules governing loans-to-one borrower, direct investment and transactions with affiliates."

Wrangler Belles Kick-Off Souvenir Calendar Sales

The Cisco Junior College Wrangler Belles kicked off their 1989 souvenir calendar sales by selling the first two calendars to CJC President Roger Schustereit during the game against Tyler last Saturday. During this week of Homecoming preparations and activities the sale of calendars will be a major project for the Belles. Last year was the first time such a calendar was offered by the group. It was a successful project both for fund raising and recruiting.

The calendars may be purchased from any Wrangler Belle and will also be available at the Chamber of Commerce office in the Hilton. Cost of the calendars is $5.00. Funds raised from the sale of the calendars will go toward covering the cost of printing. Any profits will go into the Wrangler Belles activity fund. Your support is greatly appreciated.

Looking Back At CHS And CJC By Graduate Of '36

By LELA LATCH LLOYD

(NOTE: During last summer's writing contest, Mrs. Lela Lloyd wrote a historical article about Mrs. Maud Arnold Bailey who received her high school diploma 26 years late at the Cisco High School graduation of her oldest son and daughter, the late M.D. Bailey, Jr., and Mrs. Carolyn Bailey Baher, of Oregon, Missouri.

There were only three entries in last summer's historical division and the contest and the story were not judged because four entries were required per contest.

In her research, one of the ones interviewed was Carolyn Bailey Baher who graduated with her mother without knowing that her mother would that night become a Cisco High School diploma recipient.

The story was unique and Mrs. Lloyd asked daughter Carolyn to write the happening as she remembered it. Because the letter contains so much history of the depression, Cisco High School during the Texas Centennial, and Cisco Junior College (Randolphs College at that time) it is being reprinted.

Mrs. Lloyd explained that she is hoping to have her story of Mrs. Bailey in an educational magazine before it is used in Cisco.

The letter reads:)

Dear Ms. Latch,

I believe you wanted a few facts regarding the class of Cisco High 1936. After 52 years this is asking! reaching! way back. The Centennial of Texas was celebrated that year. To my knowledge this was the first class to reach 100 graduates, in fact 106 was our class population including the class of 14 students who finished at mid-term that year.

Mother, Maud Arnold Bailey, and Dad were seen in and out of the principal's office that spring a number of times. When questioned their reply was school business as Mother was teaching Foods and Nutrition for the American Red Cross to disadvantaged families.

Well, came the night of graduation and as we lined up in the typing room. They kept lounging around. Mother carrying around a big box (containing cap and gown). The music started down in the auditorium, students sped in all directions scrambling for places, the class sponsors, Mrs. Elizabeth Daniels and Mr. C. C. Huff lead the procession. Mother stopped behind the open door, donned her robe and cap and stepped between my brother, M.D. Jr. and me. (No talking in line.) And away! we marched. Also in the class were two sets of twins, Thomas and Theron Graves and the Wagley brother and sister act, and several brother and sister pairs. What was Mother doing there between us? I'm going to graduate! How? When? Why? all answered in due time.

Mr. Robert Cluck congratulated her on her two fine sons (leaving me to feel like 2 cents waiting for change).

After diplomas were handed out awards were given among them. My name was called and I was presented the Home Economics Award for 1936 for the student making the most progress by Miss Juanita Bounds. This was a big surprise since I had started Home Economics my sophomore year and it was usually given to those continuing three years starting as freshman.

After graduation we were given a nice party at a pavillion in Humbletown by the Federated Clubs of Cisco. Mother and Dad both attended with most of the huge class and escorts and parents.

We also enjoyed several affairs given in our honor: the Junior-Senior banquet on the roof garden of the Laguna Hotel, the Baptist banquet in the hospitality rooms of the church and I vaguely remember a reception by the Christian Church and a breakfast by the Methodist. We were addressed by college recruiters from Ft. Worth, Dallas and Abilene colleges.

There were about 45 students enrolled that fall at Randolph Junior College freshman class and about 35 sophomores, transfer students, etc. I walked from 208 East 23rd out to College Hill that year. My student teaching was supervised by Miss Lucy Kitrell in the 2nd grade room at East Ward. English was taught by Dr. Bruce, Mrs. Lee Clark taught public school music. Bible was one of my favorites; chapel every morning was an inspiration.

The men's dorm was a brick building on the west, a huge wooden building in the center was the administration and classroom and lab building. The women's dorm was third in line, 3-story facing south like the other two. Ah! but that's another story.

To get back to Mother's story. She had been unable to take the finals upon completing high school at Rising Star because of illness - mumps. She attended Hankins Normal College at Gorman, Texas, and taught school, attended North Texas Normal and taught school and went back to North Texas where she and Dad were married at the end of her junior year, May 30, 1917. Melvin D. Bailey was required to register for the draft in his home county, Butler County, Kentucky. They made their home there until 1926 when they moved, by train, back to Texas.

I remember being told that Mother had taken four exams, English, History, Math and Home Economics, passed all with A's and awarded a diploma in the class of 1936. Pictures in the Cisco, Ft. Worth Star Telegram and Abilene Reporter newspapers also told the story. Mother may have clippings. I do not.

Sincerely,
J. Carolyn (Bailey) Bahler

CISCO

The Cisco City Council has approved a resolution for the City to participate in a regional water planning study to be conducted by the West Central Texas Municipal Water District. The study will address all the alternate sources and costs of water for this area, City Manakger Mike Moore said. Plans are for an engineer to be working on the study by April 1, 1989, and the study should be completed by Oct. 1, 1989. Moore said that at the present time it seems the best alternate source of water is Lake Hubbard near Breckenridge, and that with this study the City of Cisco can find out what can be done. "Water is a very precious commodity," Moore said. "Attaining the right of water will be the hardest part of the battle." He said that he is pleased to see the city take a positive step to find alternate sources.

BAIRD

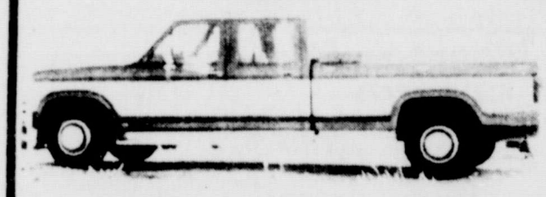

Mrs. Claire (Mamie) Estes had her 89th birthday on Oct. 8, 1988. Six special little girls made this day very happy for her. The girls, Carrie Bailey, Misty and Mandy Jones, Amanda and Brandy Paske and Angela Carroll are frequent visitors of Mrs. Estes. But on Saturday when they came to visit they got her out to the porch, and each took turns going into the house on made-up errands. Soon they suggested that they all go inside, and when Mrs. Estes entered she found that the girls had decorated the house with streamers and balloons and had placed a birthday cake and presents inside! Mrs. Estes said she was overwhelmed with their caring. "God bless those children," she said. Mamie Estes has lived in Baird in 1904, when she moved here with her parents. She married Frank Estes in May of 1916.

Canterbury Villa News

By MAE GREEN
Social Actitivities Director

Canterbury Villa hosted a cookout for its volunteers Tuesday evening, Oct. 11, at 5 p.m. There were approximately 60 volunteers who came out. The volunteers along with residents and staff enjoyed grilled burgers with all the fix'ns. It was a very enjoyable afternoon. The weather was perfect; one of the residents stated that she was along so many friends that it seemed like a family reunion to her. I agree it was a wonderful gathering. Just a way of saying thanks from the staff at the Villa to our gracious volunteers.

On the cookline we thank Benny Thompson and Bruce Smith for the tasty patties and on the fix'n line we thank you for a job well done the Department Heads: Mae Green, social activity director; LaFerne Terrell, administrator; Robin Wylie, LVN director of nursing; Shirley Gary, office manager; Mildred Pharr, food service supervisor; and Bill Hitt, maintenance supervisor.

Many of the residents who were unable to get outside were served inside while others who came out and were unable to get into the serving line were assisted by others who volunteered to help.

Special thanks to Brad Kimbrough for the use of his barbecue pit; Red Jacobs for supplying the firewood; Calvary Baptist for the use of tables and chairs; Roy Cozart for the loan of his pickup for hauling tables and chairs to and from the party; and our own Bill Hitt and Larry Green for the beautiful entertainment of country and western songs and some hymns of faith. Everyone enjoyed the evening along with the clean up afterwards; that's what you call Family Team-Work.

Just a quick look at the activities at the Villa for the week of October 11, 1988.

Sunday morning the Church of Christ held Bible study and in the evening Jim Manning held church services.

Monday morning the residents gathered in the back lobby to start the week out right with exercise to get the body working right and afterwards Betty Hastings held a sing-a-long and Bible study. In the afternoon about 15 residents participated in a bingo game for prizes and the Monday night Gospel Singers concluded the day by singing many of the residents inspirational gospel and hymns of faith.

On Tuesday along with the usual activities everyone was helping get ready for our cook-out honoring the volunteers, which was a great success.

Wednesday morning the ladies were in the beauty shop early waiting for Shirley Fischer to style their hair. Table games were played in the back lobby in the afternoon, hosted by Ethel Heagler, along with others from the Senior Citizen Center. Wednesday, being letter writing day, several residents got letters written to relatives. Pastor Urban brought the Wednesday devotion.

Thursday morning the residents were ready for exercises to help keep the body going and the mind working. After which Cecil Deadman, along with members of the congregation conducted a sing-a-long and our continued study of the Book of Matthew. In the evening Corinth Baptist Church entertained the residents with music and songs conducted by Marie Kurklin and Benny Thompson along with other members of the congregation.

Friday morning after exercise class, shopping in town is a very special time for needed items for the residents. Happy Hour is a special event on Friday afternoon for fellowship and just getting to know one another better. Bingo for prizes climaxed the day.

Saturdays the residents look forward to visits and outings with family and friends.

Remember to mark your calendars for SPOOK DAY October 31st. Come and join us and dress for the occasion, be prepared for the Spook Day party in the afternoon.

Until next week, same time, same place, we will be seeing you with our big smiles at the Villa.

Major Museum Has Permanent Home In Eastland

The Eastland County Historical Society now has a permanent home for a major museum as the result of action by Eastland City Commission meeting in session Monday evening.

The City of Eastland recently purchased a residence on S. Seaman St., immediately north of the Fire Station, and Monday evening officially turned it over to the Historical Society for its use as a museum.

Society President Roy Lee Smith in accepting the building's use, expressed appreciation to the city for its cooperation, and announced that work will begin immediately in refurbishing the residence into a usable and tourist-attracting museum.

"Our goal is to preserve and record this county's exciting history, and present it in a manner that will please locals and attract visitors to our area," Mr. Smith said.

Preliminary plans call for designing the building into an antique-looking facility that will house and protect artifacts and material which will reflect the history of this area, he said.

"I see in my mind's eye, a western-type front which will blend with the design of the era, and a board-walk around the building with perhaps displays in the back of early farm machinery, and other items."

Right now, we're going to need volunteers who will help us convert the building from a single-family residence into a public museum, he emphasized. We're going to need workers, and certainly we're going to need items of historical significance which will help tell the county's history.

We plan to be very methodical in putting the museum together so that it will be a credit not only to the area, but also accurately reflect our history in displays and informative materials.

The Society is an established organization and is expanding with memberships, and invites and encourages one and all to participate in these exciting plans, Smith said.

It is possible that Green Thumb workers might be provided by the city to help with the renovation, and to help maintain the property once it's established as a major museum.

These developments come as the result of recent grassroot brain-storming on renovation ideas for the city, when it was established that the development of a major museum would be one of the best ways to quickly attract visitors to this area.

And the concept will be county-wide to accurately demonstrate the inter-relationship between the developments of the various parts of the county.

Among the plans are ideas for display area for various early-day businesses and homes with their appropriate furnishings.

"There are a million possibilities," Mr. Smith said, "and we're eagerly seeking the help and input of as many citizens as possible to make it happen."

"The county's history, properly presented, has got to be one exciting attraction," he said.

Officially, the building has been loaned by the City of Eastland to the Eastland Fine Arts Association, a non-profit organization, for the use of the Eastland Historical Society as a museum.

Adult Class Of Corinth Baptist To Hold Discussions

The Single Adult Class of Corinth Baptist Church is about to embark on an exciting adventure with a group of fellow enablers. The term "enabler" describes what you will be to the others in this group and symbolizes the quality of concern and care you will receive from them. Together you will be partners with the present, powerful Christ in helping each other grow.

The subject of the discusssions will be "Making Stress Work for You" by Lloyd Ogilvie. In ten vital and creative sessions, you will study the Epistle of James as a biblically based antidote to the problem of stress. The group's discussions will be biblical, practical and applicable to your personal relationships and responsibilities.

Each session has been carefully planned by the Rev. Benny Hagan. Some of the topics discussed are, How to be Good And Angry, The Secret of Managing Stress, Resigning from the Kingdom of Thingdom, How to Really Relax, Don't Take It Alone and more.

Benny Hagan says, "as His people we will discover and claim His power to help us make stress work for us."

Corinth is located halfway between Eastland and Cisco, you can turn where the Corinth Cemetery sign is on Highway 80. The church is half a mile down on the left. For more information call 442-4841 or 442-2126.

Friends And Fellowship Ministry Makes Trip To Lueders Oct. 4

The Friends and Fellowship Ministry of East Cisco Baptist Church met at the church Oct. 4, 1988, about 7:15 a.m and got aboard vans to go to Lueders.

They arrived at Big Country Baptist Assembly grounds, Lueders, early enough for their music director, David Diggs, to get the special music and hymnals distributed to each chair in the choir loft before starting time for the program.

Last spring at the close of Senior Adult Day, the officials asked the Cisco Baptist Association to be responsible for the program on Oct. 4; also they asked Marshall Ivie to be in charge of Senior Adult Day activities. He asked for volunteers to make up the choir. When the response was not entirely positive from the Association, he asked the Friends and Fellowship Ministry as a whole to make up the choir although not all were choir members. Almost all responded positively and practiced faithfully each Sunday afternoon after they were organized.

The theme of the Senior Adult Day was "Share Jesus Now." To carry out the theme the choir sang the chorus "Share Jesus Now;" also "To The Work"/"We'll Work," "Others," etc.

Cecil Deadman gave a sermonette urging retirees to "Get on the Road, Again" trying to reach the lost for Christ. He pointed out that every Christian has a testimony; that their duty is to give it and offer the plan of salvation to the lost. The lost can accept or deny the offer. He pointed out that older adults are an untouched reserve needing to be activated to reach the lost.

During both the morning and the afternoon sessions, David Diggs sang special solos and did a great job.

Marshall Ivie led in prayer at different times; made announcements and introduced speakers (as well as having planned the whole thing).

Olin Miles, a very energetic lay preacher from Austin, brought two sermons (both in the morning and afternoon sessions) bringing messages to encourage senior adults in all churches to use their remaining years to "spread the good news" and help others.

Lloyd Conner and Jim Brinkley both gave reports on activities at the Big Country Baptist Retreat, such as building reports, amount of new space needed and other expenses.

The choir was very blessed to have Lois Holder as their pianist. She played during practice sessions each Sunday as well as playing for her own church. The choir and music director, David Diggs, are grateful to Lois for her assistance. Also, they are grateful to the ones from other associations who helped make up the choir.

The assembly was dismissed about 3:30 p.m. The Cisco group stopped in Albany at the Dairy Queen for refreshments.

In summary, it was a day of great food, fellowship, preaching and music.

Those who usually attend, but were unable to go, were greatly missed.

Those who attended the Big Country Assembly Senior Adult Day at Lueders were: Ruth Carey, Thelma Bosworth, Lois Holder, A. V. Payne, Jewel Kinard, Marshall Ivie, Marie and Paul Ivie, Eva Kinard, Bill Howell, Mary Lou Williams, Dorothy Thomas (who also registered the East Cisco group), Joye Deadman, Cecil Deadman, David Diggs, Ralph T. and Leona Morton, Verna Wilson, Earline Gilmore, and Shelia Diggs.

WHERE CAN SENIOR CITIZENS GET HELPFUL INFORMATION?
We have been asked often for information and literature about services available to our community's senior citizens. We've had to seek out material about Social Security, old age and survivor's benefits, VA claims, insurance-processing, wills, retirement-planning, etc.
We've become a kind of Information Center from which senior citizens (or anyone else for that matter) may receive pamphlets, reading lists, and even free advice on "where to find it" for all manner of important data.
We sometimes speak before adult and school groups on these subjects and others pertaining to funerals. We'd be glad to speak to your group.
If you have questions on some of these topics, we'll try to help you get the answers. There's a wide range of source material, some of which we have and others we can help you locate.

Radon Gas Testing Program Announced By American Lung Assoc.

A low-cost radon gas testing device that may prevent an increased risk in lung cancer is now available through the American Lung Association of Texas.

"Radon poses a potentially significant health risk," Wade Tomason, environmental health specialist for the American Lung Association of Texas, said. "Radon testing has not been done in Texas on a wide-scale basis. Therefore, we wanted to offer a testing service the average homeowner could afford."

According to the Environmental Protection Agency, "Exposure to high levels of radon gas over a long period of time is associated with an increased risk of lung cancer." The EPA estimates 5,000 to 15,000 annual lung cancer deaths result from exposure to excessive levels of radon gas.

Radioactive radon gas occurs naturally in the ground and seeps into homes through cracks in foundation or basement walls and through other openings.

The Lung Association of Texas, in cooperation with Glenwood Laboratories, Glenwood, Ill., is offering an alpha-track detector to residents of Texas at a discounted price of $24.95.

After the homeowner has had the detector in place for a period of two weeks to three months, it is then sent back to Glenwood Laboratories in a postage-paid container provided in the kit. They will analyze the detector, determine the level of radon gas present, and send a confidential report back to the homeowner.

If radon levels in excess of EPA guidelines for safety are found, Glenwood Laboratories will also include the EPA booklet "Radon Reduction Methods" with the report. "In most cases, inexpensive remedial action can be taken," Thomason said.

The two-week to three month monitoring period was selected because the level of radon gas in a home can vary substantially from day to day, Thomason explained. The longer period is necessary to insure that a false low-or-high reading is not obtained from a sampling. The longer the detector is in place the more accurate the reading.

Requests for the kit must be submitted by mail to the American Lung Association of Texas, c/o Radon, P.O. Box 26460, Austin, Texas 78755. A check for $24.95 payable to the American Lung Association of Texas should be included along with name and mailing address with each order. No telephone requests will be accepted. Allow four weeks for delivery.

The radon testing identification contains the alpha-track monitor, monitor seals, identification control cards, monitor hanger strips, return container and an easy-to-read instruction booklet.

Community Colleges Get Results

Job placement rates of graduates of community and junior colleges have increased despite the state's economic condition, according to a statewide report released recently.

Jim F. Reed, director of Student Information Systems (Tex-SIS) says this is just one of the trends found in the recent survey which supports the belief that education will become even more important to employees of the future.

"Employment opportunities of the future will require much higher skill levels," said Reed. "This trend signals the beginning of an era in which many employees must have formal postsecondary training to be successful in the workplace."

Surveys were conducted at 44 community and technical colleges in Texas, including Cisco Junior College.

Over 20,000 former students and employers annually take part in the surveys, which span all regions of the state to gather information on salaries and placements, labor market trends, and student demographics.

"Even in our current economic times, students who complete occupational programs at community and junior colleges are very successful in finding good jobs in their fields of study," Reed said. "Students without postsecondary education will find it increasingly difficult to secure and hold the type of jobs that have a future."

Students who complete two-year occupational Associate Degrees can expect higher starting salaries.

"Completing a full two years is well worth the money," said Reed. "After program completion, one-year occupational Certificate completers reported an average annual salary of $13,512; for competers of two-year occupational Associate Degrees, the salary was $18,048.

Students who complete community and junior college programs also help contribute to the economic development of the region. The study found that over 96% of the occupational students stay within Texas to practice their skills.

Students Information Systems, headquartered in Corsicana, Texas, processes and analyzes data for colleges, associations, and agencies in Texas and other states. Reed recently authored a booklet on accountability in community and technical colleges.

No Anterless Deer Permits Required For Eastland County

Landowners and hunters are reminded that no antlerless deer permits issued by the Texas Parks & Wildlife Department will be required for taking antlerless deer in Eastland County for the regular deer season for 1988-89. Antlerless deer taken in Eastland County will only require being tagged with the appropriate tag from the hunter's valid hunting license. Please refer to the 1988-89 Texas Hunting Guide for all season's, bag limits, and means and methods of taking animals. The regular gun season for white-tailed deer is November 5 through January 1, 1989, with a bag limit of 4 deer; no more than 1 buck in Eastland County.

A total of 138 counties statewide have been placed under the either-sex harvest regulation during the last two years, including Eastland County. Deer populations vary from area to area and ranch to ranch. The either-sex regulation allows for flexibility of the landowner and hunter to harvest deer on his property at the proper rate. It does not automatically mean that a heavy harvest of antlerless deer is needed. Recommended buck and antlerless deer harvest rates provided by the Department should be used as a guideline for landowners and hunters for harvesting deer in Eastland County.

Recommended harvest rates for bucks and antlerless deer, based on recently completed population surveys in Eastland County, is indicated on the county map (see map).

.....to a clear conscience and a good night's sleep is the feeling of security in owning your own home with with a clear title. Peculiar to the real estate field, values are based on land and the improvements thereon, if any. But values on these are based on the title. The title then becomes the most important item to be considered when purchase of real property is contemplated. So be careful to buy good title based on an abstract of title or a policy of title insurance.

Letter To The Editor:

Editor,

Thank you for the wonderful publicity for National 4-H Club Week which was October 2-8. The four (4) page special 4-H edition in your October 2 Sunday edition was tremendous! The 4-H families and myself are very appreciative of your fine support to our local 4-H clubs and all their activities.

4-H is a very positive youth organization which teaches children life skills, self esteem, leadership, and much more. The success of our Eastland County 4-H youth program is the direct result of the positive support we receive from the communities and people like you.

Thank you for helping Eastland County 4-H youth "Make the Best Better"!

Sincerely,
Mrs. Janet Thomas

Pharmacy Topics

By Bob Mueller

There's been another study of whether aspirin can prevent heart attacks, this one last winter by researchers from Brigham Hospital and Harvard Medical School in Boston. The study of 22,000 doctors concluded that taking one aspirin tablet (325 mg.) every other day cuts heart attack risk by 47 percent. However, Julie Burning, a lead researcher, warns against taking aspirin without a doctor's guidance because of possible adverse side effects.

Anti-cancer treatment devised from algae has had good results in laboratory tests at Harvard. It contains high levels of natural Vitamin E and carotenoids.

Better results after glaucoma surgery are reported from the University of California at San Diego Medical Center. Doctors there are using small doses of 5-fluoruracil, a cancer drug, to slow the formation of scar tissue and let the eye drain.

Reminder: booster shots against tetanus and diptheria should be scheduled every 10 years or so. It's easy insurance against a painful and dangerous disease.

New infant formula to be introduced is made of whey that's been treated with enzymes so it's easier to digest. The manufacturer says it will relieve the symptoms of milk allergy in babies.

If it's better for baby, you'll find it at Wal-Mart Pharmacy, Hwy. 80 East, Eastland, 629-3347. We're proud of our wide selection of baby needs.

Thrift Mart Has Begun Charitable Program

Thrift Mart Food Stores has begun a new charitable program to help the needy and hungry in the community that it serves. Each of the Thrift Mart stores now has a large red barrel with a "STOP" sign proclaiming "HELP STOP HUNGER." These barrels are being used to collect non-perishable food items for local charities. The staff of each Thrift Mart is encouraging customers to donate items to the needy by placing them in the "HELP STOP HUNGER" barrels.

TAKE THE CHILL OUT OF WINTER HEATING BILLS.

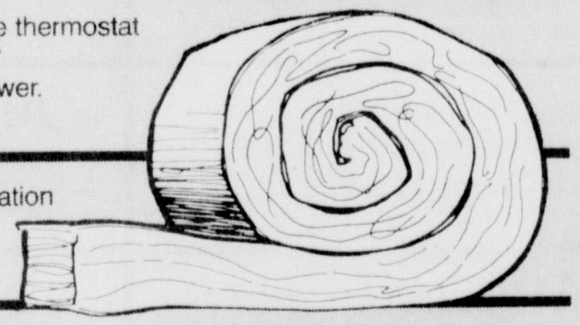

With winter just around the corner, WTU has these suggestions for lower energy bills.

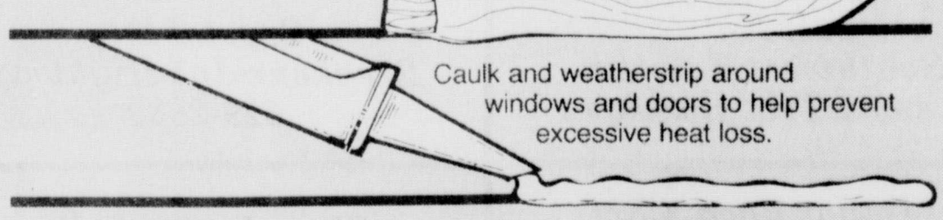

Have heating equipment checked seasonally by a qualified serviceman and check the filter once a month.

Set the thermostat at 68° or lower.

Check for adequate insulation in the attic. R-30 is recommended.

Caulk and weatherstrip around windows and doors to help prevent excessive heat loss.

Tightly close the damper in the fireplace when not in use.

Open drapes and blinds during the day to let in sunlight and close them at night to hold in warm air.

For a more comfortable home and an electric bill that won't give you a chill this winter, contact your local WTU office for more conservation tips.
