The Gay Philosopher

By J. W. S.

EVERY ONCE IN a while the Fort Worth Star-Telegram devotes some space to fishing and recreation spots in West Texas, and the other day it ran a picture and told of Lake Cisco's possibilities as a weekend outing place. And it's good reading for the home folks — who sometimes are apt to overlook things in their backyard.

The picture was of the dam and the water nearby with the notation: Good fishing hole with plenty of bass and channel cat. The story calls attention to Lake Birnie, as well as to the big lake. The story reads, in part, as follows:

"An inviting trip takes one first to Lake Cisco, at one time the home of bream that drew anglers from all over Texas as well as bass that set records for numbers if not for size. Those interested in architecture will find the Cisco dam well worth investigating as it for many years was the longest hollow concrete dam in the world. Just below the dam, and open to the public, is a park with the biggest artificial swimming pool in the state. "Ray Judia is custodian of Lake Cisco and looks after the comfort of visitors there. The city has provided 12 cabins, all with housekeeping facilities, at the rather low cost of $3.50 to $5 a day for four people. Some of the cabins have beautiful views of the lake. Others are in the park below the dam where many trees lend their shade to make life worth living.

"Nearby is a nine-hole golf course where the visitor may play, or he may rent a boat and fish to his heart's content. If he finds Lake Cisco too windy, the angler may drive in a few minutes to Lake Birnie, the old Cisco water supply, where crappie are so plentiful he hardly can fail to take his limit."

WAS OUT TO the lakes the other day, looking around. They are both very low, but there's still a lot of water there. Cisco shouldn't have any water worries this year, anyway. The demand for water is less than last year, for the T&P Railroad has stopped taking water. And the fish hatchery has shut down.

Besides, it's supposed to rain and keep the level of the water up. It always has.

Our Spang fishing calendar, by the way, says you can't miss this week — and you can pick any day you want.

AN AMUSING part of the strange object (maybe a flying saucer) being in the sky the other afternoon was the people looking at it. Norman Huston spotted it and the people at West Texas Utilities office came to see. The fellows at A-G Motor Company saw them looking, so they went out to see, too. Within a matter of minutes, virtually everybody on Avenue D was out looking. Cars were stopping to have a look. And everybody enjoyed it.

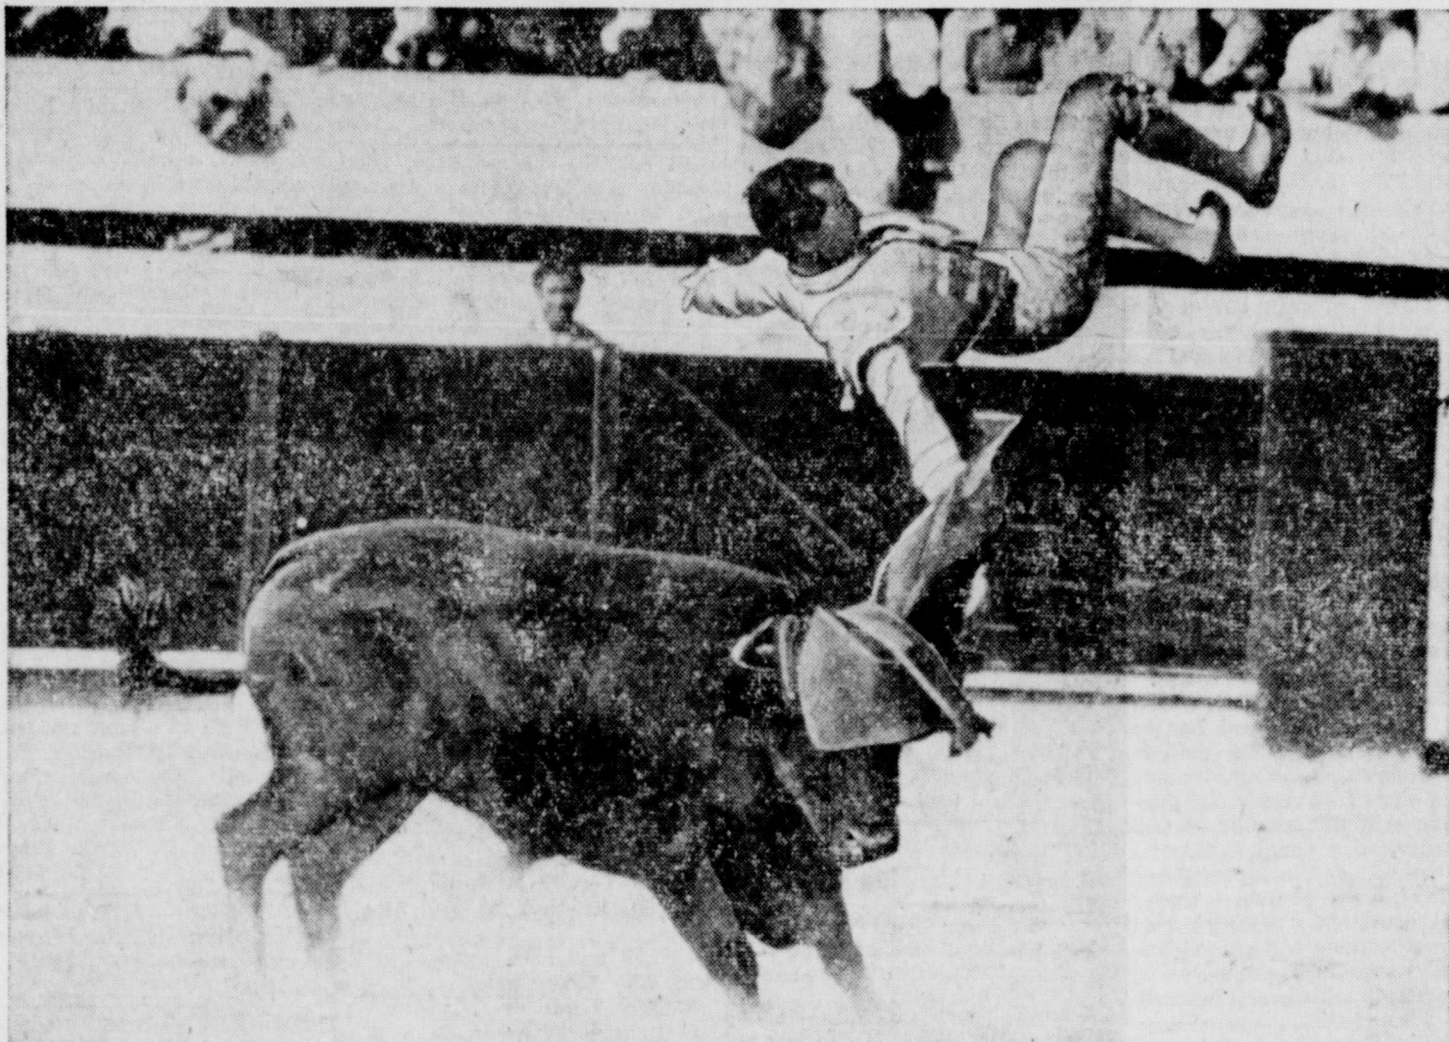

RAN INTO MR. Jackie Milner, who won both the city and the Cisco invitation golf tournaments here last year, and he's in town for the weekend. Jackie's a member of the golf team this year at North Texas State College, although he says he hasn't beaten such teammates as Billy Maxwell. Jackie is breaking in a new set of clubs. Says he hopes to defend both of his local titles this year. The city tourney, we understand, will be played around April 1, with qualifying to begin late this month. Will have the dope soon.

THERE'S A SET of keys that somebody lost up at the First National Bank. Ask Paul Farrow about them. Mrs. Peggy Gallagher reports that the sale of auto license plates at the C of C is picking up.

A SOLDIER JUST back from the war zones arrived in San Francisco recently, we're told. And he wanted: (1) milk, (2) ice, (3) lettuce and other green salad ingredients. He reflected that all the first things he wanted were the things every American takes for granted. In short, we are living in a country where the good things are available to every citizen.

Anyway you look at it, he says, we never had it so good.

OVER HE GOES!—Bullfighter Miguel Dominguin has just been tossed into the air by an angry animal in Bogota, Colombia. Attend- ants distracted the bull and Dominguin got to his feet to dispatch the animal after a few graceful passes. Banquet Planned On Tuesday Night By Girl Scouts

In celebration of the 40th birthday of Girl Scouting which is on Wednesday, March 12, local scouts, leaders and workers will have a banquet Tuesday night at the First Christian Church.

All Girl Scouts, their leaders and assistant leaders, troop committee members and members of the scout council were invited to the affair. Parents of the scouts and families of the leaders and workers were also invited to the banquet which is expected to attract 200 persons.

The banquet will be a covered dish affair with the mothers of scouts and the leaders bringing the food. The council will furnish the meat, rolls, plates and decorations. At a meeting Friday morning at the home of Mrs. Don Choate, president of the council, final plans were made and food and arrangement assignments were made.

Banquet time has been set at 7 p. m. and a program on scouting has been planned. Each troop represented will have a part on the program and the area president will make a short talk. Arrangements were being made for the showing of a film.

The five Ciscoans were Arlin Birt, superintendent of schools, Harry Donica of the Cisco Post

Charles L. Moad In Council Race

Chas. L. Moad, a resident of Cisco for the past 15 years, Saturday authorized The Press to announce that he had filed for a place on the city council subject to elections to be held on April 1.

Mr. Moad has been active in civic affairs since moving to Cisco. At the present time he is operating a transport truck and at one time he operated a grocery store here. He said that he would issue a statement as to his qualifications and reasons for making the race at a later date.

Livestock Sale Barn Is Expected To Reopen For Weekly Auction

Reopening of the livestock sales barn here for every Monday auction sales appeared assured Saturday with the announcement that W. C. Cravy, veteran Breckenridge sales barn operator, had contracted to buy the local property from E. E. Wood.

The announcement followed a meeting Friday afternoon at the First National Bank of a Merchants Credit Association committee with Mr. Cravy and Mr. Wood. The sales barn has been closed for several months. Mr. Wood, the owner, had never operated it himself, but had leased it out to others to operate.

At the merchants meeting, Mr.

Cravy was assured the backing and cooperation of Cisco business men in undertaking the project. President Homer Ferguson said the merchants would meet again in the next few days to plan their part in helping Mr. Cravy make a success of the project.

Standlee McCracken, vice-chairman of the association's trade extension committee, presided over the meeting. He told the group that a survey had convinced the committee that residents of the Cisco area definitely wanted the sales barn re-opened and that Mr. Cravy had been contacted.

Mr. Cravy, who operated a sales barn for four years at Breckenridge, selling it last summer, told the meeting that he believed the barn could be made a success. He said he was willing to put considerable money into it and try it for a year.

He contracted to buy the buildings and pens at the Rising Star highway location with some four acres of land. He said he planned extensive repairs to buildings and pens and other improvements.

"Cisco people can be sure that the auction will be run in a business-like way," Mr. Cravy said. He added that he would try to be ready to hold the first sale on Monday, March 24.

C of C Committees To Work On Plan For Coming Clinic

A joint meeting of the plan of work and program committees of the Cisco Chamber of Commerce has been called for 10 a. m. Tuesday to begin preliminary work on a Community Clinic project, Chairman James S. Duff reported Saturday.

Representatives of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will be here to help the local workers set up plans for the clinic, Mr. Duff said. All members of the two committees were asked to be present.

The success of the clinic, which will be climaxed by the annual banquet of the Chamber of Commerce, will depend largely on the cooperation of all Cisco citizens, Mr. Duff said. Building the community, he added, is everybody's job.

A-G Motor Is Now Official Auto Inspection Station

The A-G Motor Company has received authorization from the Texas Department of Public Safety to operate as an official auto inspection station under the recently enacted inspection law and is now in the process of making the required inspections, it was announced Saturday.

Much new equipment required for the inspection has been installed and all the forms have been received, it was reported. It was estimated that from 15 minutes to 30 minutes would be required to make the inspection, depending on the condition of the car.

Some 85 persons were expected to be in attendance Saturday night at a meeting of the 17th District Postmasters Association in Breckenridge. Postmaster and Mrs. L. H. McCrea, Jr., of Cisco planned to attend the event.

Fort Worth Man Will Be Speaker At District Meet

Dr. E. Gaston Foote, recently appointed pastor of First Methodist Church in Fort Worth, will be the conference preacher for the Cisco district meeting to be held in Breckenridge next Wednesday under sponsorship of the Woman's Society of Christian Service for the district.

The program of the day will begin at 9:30 o'clock with the district president, Mrs. Vernon Defebach of Ranger, presiding. At noon, sack lunches will be spread in the basement of the church, each person supplying his own lunch. The meeting will continue until mid-afternoon.

Dr. Foote, a native of Comanche county, went to the Ft. Worth church last month from Dayton, Ohio, and prior to that pastorate he was at Montgomery, Alabama. Earlier in his ministry, he had served churches in Oklahoma and Texas. He is the author of several books, has traveled extensively in foreign lands and is widely acclaimed as a preacher of unusual abilities, stated the Rev. Leslie Seymour, district superintendent. He will preach at the 11 o'clock service in the Breckenridge meeting. Pastors and laymen of the district will be in the service as well as the members of the Woman's Society.

Red Cross Quota Reached Saturday

Cisco had reached its quota in the annual Red Cross drive Saturday morning after only four days of work by the committees, it was reported by George Irvine, drive chairman, and Paul Farrow, treasurer.

Before noon Saturday, $1,728.64 had been turned in to the treasurer and contributions were still coming in. The quota for Cisco was $1,700, which was $200 higher than last year. Mr. Irvine estimated that the final figure would be near $2,000 as some of the industrial donations had not come in Saturday.

The campaign began with a breakfast at the Victor Hotel Tuesday morning.

Mr. Irvine expressed his appreciation to the citizens of Cisco for their generous support of the drive and to the committees and the workers who gave of their time to put the drive over.

In addition to Mr. Irvine and Mr. Farrow other committee chairmen were Mayor G. C. Rosenthal who led the business district drive; Mrs. Don Choate who headed the residential drive and James McCracken who handled the industrial section.

BOARD WILL MEET

Letters

A Thanksgiving letter, written by an Oklahoma soldier in Korea, was sent to the Press by Mrs. W. L. Farmer of Cisco. The letter was written by John W. Bacarini of Oklahoma City, who studied briefly for the ministry at St. John's College, Winfield, Kansas, before going into the army.

The letter was written on last Thanksgiving Day to his mother, as follows:

"Well, today is Thanksgiving day, and I stop to think of what I have to be thankful for. Here I am 7,000 miles from home and not a thing to cheer me up and no one to love me like I love home.

"I don't even have a chance to go to church. All I can do is listen to the guns. That I can't help.

But still I believe I am one of the luckiest boys in the world. Look where I could be.

"I could be dead, or wounded, or I could be up on the hill in a foxhole looking at the enemy and hearing their jabbering. I think that would be even worse.

"I have just begun to learn what Thanksgiving is for. I didn't appreciate all the things you and daddy did for me. I took them for granted.

"I didn't appreciate all the wonderful things about the United States of America. I took them for granted, too.

"I guess that is the trouble with most people at home. They take too many things for granted.

"I thank God that I am fighting over here rather than in Oklahoma or Kansas, or any place at home.

"You don't know how lucky you are. Korea could very easily be the U. S. And imagine our country with every tree nothing but a stump and every mountain with the top blown off and every city leveled.

"I really mean it. There are few cities here now. You pass through one and you wouldn't know it was there.

"Think of every one of our streams and rivers filled with blood and bodies of friend or foe. Think of taking a walk and about every 25 steps is a mound that you know is a hasty burial ground for a dead soldier. Not in the ground. Just on it and covered up.

"The Lord has been very kind to the U. S. and its people. And if they don't stop their arguing and cutting each other throats, he is going to destroy us. All of us.

"I said I don't have a chance to go to church, but I don't need one today for me to receive a sermon on what to be thankful for.

"I can just open my eyes and see that I am very lucky for being an American and being raised a Christian.

"Just think about the many times I pulled the lanyard firing a 105 howitzer when I was in a firing battery and think about that round going off somewhere on the other side of the mountain. It took a life.

"It probably took four or five lives and what can I do about it? Nothing!

"I just wish I were there to tell those Chinese about Jesus and his teachings before they died.

"I feel low and terrible for taking a person's life, but not nearly as low as when I think of them not having a chance to learn about God as I have.

"Tell Pastor Glue (Rev. Virtus C. Glue, Grace Lutheran church) to try to convince everyone they are very fortunate. For if the people of the United States don't realize it pretty soon, it will be too late.

"Just thank God you are alive and thank Him again, many times, that you are an American," so ends Bill's letter. He's still over there fighting."

Mr. and Mrs. George Cole of Brownwood visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Stroebel Friday.

WTUC Announces Plans To Construct New Generating Plant At Stamford

STAMFORD, March 5.—Construction of a steam generating power plant to be built on the Paint Creek Reservoir was formally announced here today by Price Campbell, president of the West Texas Utilities Company.

The Austin Building Company, Dallas, Texas, has been awarded the general contract for the plant proper. M. B. Moore, construction superintendent for the Austin Building Company, said construction on the plant building would begin immediately.

The first unit of this new power plant to be installed will be 33,000 kilowatt turbo-generator unit. This unit, which was ordered in August, 1930, and is scheduled for delivery in the spring of 1933, is to be put in operation during the summer of 1933. One hundred thirty-two thousand volt lines will connect the plant, which is located near the center of the utility company's system, with three other major steam generating stations in the company system.

Future expansion plans call for installation of additional generating units at this location.

"This new generating station providing additional electric power for the industrial and agricultural development of the Stamford-Haskell-Hamlin region," said Price Campbell, "will be used as a basic generating unit in our interconnected company system."

"Knowing that an abundance of low-cost electric power is essential to the continued growth of an area, our company is constantly planning and building for the future," Campbell said. "When this new 33,000 kilowatt unit goes into operation in 1933, we will have increased, since 1946, the company's generating capacity by 150 per cent."

The plant, to be located approximately fourteen miles southeast of Haskell and sixteen miles north of Stamford, on the north shore of the lake, one mile west of the dam, will be constructed on a 120-acre site purchased from the Scott Estate. A road one and a half miles long, connecting the plant site with the country road, has been built on a right-of-way purchased from the Scott Estate.

The plant will use water principally for cooling and condensing steam. Water will be pumped through the condensers at the rate of 30,000 gallons per minute. Engineers pointed out that the water merely comes in contact with clean polished brass tubes and can in no way be contaminated by plant use. Water pumped from the lake on one side of the plant will be returned to the lake on the other side of the plant.

A structural steel, masonry and brick structure 100' x 76' equivalent to a four-story building in height, will be built to house the first 33,000 kilowatt turbine. The north wall of this building will be of temporary construction allowing for addition of future units.

The generator will be hydrogen cooled and the turbine will operate on 875 pound steam pressure at 900 degrees temperature. The unit will require five rail-road cars to transport it from the factory to Haskell from where it will be moved by truck to the plant site. The stator of this turbo-generating unit alone weighs more than one hundred tons.

Steam for this unit will be generated by a boiler designed to operate at a pressure of 1,000 lbs. per sq. inch. The boiler, fired by either natural gas or oil, is of the latest out-door design being placed entirely out of the plant building except for controls which will be enclosed in the turbine room. Four stories high, the boiler is capable of converting 300,000 pounds of water to steam per hour. It is of the pressurized integral furnace type with a fuel-air mixture burning in the center instead of at the bottom of the boiler.

Preliminary construction of a water circulation system and placing of concrete piles under the plant site has been under way for several weeks. This preliminary work, much of which is in the lake basin and has to be completed before the dam is closed, consists of laying one-half mile of eight foot reinforced concrete pipe in the lake basin and excavation of a canal extending from the end of the pipe farther into the basin proper. Under normal conditions, the pipe and the canal will be submerged under the waters of the lake.

The plant, which will operate three 8-hour shifts, seven days a week, will require a staff consisting of a chief engineer, assistant engineer, and twenty-five to thirty other plant personnel. These plant operators and their families will live in the surrounding communities.

Martha Graves Speaks At Luncheon

Meeting Of Delphian Club Friday

Approximately forty Delphian club members and guests heard Mrs. Martha Graves, director of the Home Economics Division of the Texas Technological College, speak on "Food for Thought," at luncheon in the Victor Hotel office shop Friday.

Miss Graves, a former Ciscoan and possessor of the degree of Bachelor of Science from TWC, is a master's degree from Iowa State College, said "As a man in his heart, so is he."

She said that our philosophy of life is composed of the things in which we believe steadfastly and these things make up our character, personality and individuality.

She pointed out that "we should think together on ways to work out our problems and suggested at first, we should know ourselves." Miss Graves stressed the importance of the ability to see people and things as they are and accept them as such, since, as she said, "Life is too short to be little."

She then introduced the other two members of the decorations committee, Mrs. Leo Clinton, chairman, and Mrs. W. L. Hussey. They then took up discussion of the significance of the table decorations which formed a gala miniature parade of floats.

The first float in the parade represented Austin aboard which was a miniature governor of Texas. Other elaborately and appropriately decorated floats reaching the full length of the U shaped table, represented Del Rio, Palacios, Beaumont, Corpus Christi, San Marcos, King's Ranch, Edinburg, Houston, Sonora, Galveston, and Bay City.

Mrs. Heyser pointed that each of the cities represented has in the past and still plays an important part in the Texas way of life in industries, finances, education, and religion.

She then introduced Mrs. Paul Woods who gave a splendid dramatic reading of the legend of sculptor Juan Huica's beautifully carved Rose Window in Mission San Jose in San Antonio.

The centerpiece at the speaker's table was a miniature of the Alamo and plate favors were individual menus and a miniature cannon used at the Alamo in Texas' gallant battle there. The cannons bore the name of each member or guest present.

Those present were Mrs. Zan Burroughs, Mrs. Don Choate, Mrs. Charles Cofer, Mrs. Leo Clinton, Mrs. A. R. Day, Mrs. C. F. Farquhar, Mrs. James Flournoy, Mrs. Joe Gallagher, Mrs. Beatrice Guthrie, Mrs. Grady James.

Mrs. W. D. Hazel, Mrs. J. V. Heyser, Sr., Mrs. B. S. Huey, Mrs. W. L. Hussey, Mrs. Otho Kean, Mrs. G. B. Langston, Mrs. Eugene Lankford, Mrs. Fleming Waters, Mrs. Lewis Lee, Mrs. Roy Killingsworth, Mrs. Ralph T. Wootton, members.

Mrs. Paul Woods, Mrs. Rudolph Karon, Mrs. J. W. Sifton, Mrs. Rufus Merket, Mrs. Bryan Clinton, Mrs. S. E. Hittson, Mrs. Cecilia McCrea, Mrs. F. J. Borman, Mrs. Sam Kimmell, Mrs. Charles Spears, Mrs. Ted Waters, Mrs. J. V. Heyser, Jr., and Mrs. Fred Heyser of Putnam, Mrs. T. A. Graves of Cisco and Miss Martha Graves of Lubbock, guests.

Stewardship Program Presented For Circle

A program on Stewardship was presented at the regular meeting of Circle Two of the First Presbyterian Church Tuesday at the church.

The meeting opened with prayer by Mrs. Frank Boreman with Mrs. A. E. Jamison presiding. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved and roll call taken.

A luncheon was planned for March 18 to be held at the home of Mrs. Homer Slicker, to close the work for this church year. Mention was made of a box sent to Tex-Mex with an $80 value. A suggestion was made that all circle offerings for the last meeting in March to go to Camp Cisco.

Mrs. Slicker offered to take a dozen sandwiches to the blood bank Thursday morning. Mrs. John Kleiner mentioned that all reports are to be given March 11. An installation of officers will be held in the morning service of the church March 30.

Thes meeting was then turned to the program chairman, Mrs. J. E. Coleman. The devotional, taken from the Day by Day magazine, on "Confident Faith," was given by Mrs. Jamison. Mrs. J. E. Coleman spoke on three kinds of Stewardship. The happy ones who tithe, those who do not tithe but know they should, and the unhappy ones who have no inherent sense of stewardship responsibility.

Mrs. Coleman asked the question, "What is Stewardship?" Answers to this question were given as follows: Mrs. Slicker, Stewardship of time and abilities; Mrs. Frank Borman, Stewardship of influences; Mrs. J. G. Rupe, Stewardship of the Gospel; and Mrs. Alex Spears, stewardship of our possessions. The program was closed with prayer by Mrs. John Kleiner.

Mention was made of the sick in the church and circle. The happy birthday song was then sung to Mrs. Kleiner who was celebrating her birthday. The meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction.

Broiler Industry — — —

through FHA guaranteed loans. After such a house is provided, the grower may then secure financing for his flock from feed stores or the packing houses. In such cases the company furnishes him with the chicks, the feed to grow them and supervises the operation of the house to insure proper sanitation and care. At the end of the growing period the chickens are picked up, taken to market, sold, and the net proceeds paid the grower.

The grower may do his own financing, of course, or he may make arrangements for financing from other sources. The chickens are sold at the going market price, and in cases where the packing houses or feed companies are co-raisers with the producer, these companies share any loss. Where there is a profit a small percentage is taken for the financing service.

An average net of five cents per broiler of two and one-half to two and three-quarters pounds has been made by Kaufman county growers. The cost per pound of raising the birds was placed at about 26 cents and the market range from below that cost figure to as high as 35 cents. The grower whose house the group visited reported a maximum loss of $400 and a maximum profit of $700. This did not include fertilizer to an estimated value of $200 per flock. This value was not realized directly because in this case, as in most cases in Kaufman county, the broiler raising program was part of a diversified farm operation. "We want a broiler house sitting at the edge of a vetch field with cotton rows on the other side," said Mr. Brown.

The average profit per house of 3,000 chickens at the end of the nine-week growing period was established at about $200. Four flocks are grown per year. At the end of each period the house is carefully cleaned, disinfected and aired for ten days. A new flock is then installed and grown from baby chicks to birds of two and a half to two and three-quarters pounds. Larger birds are undesirable.

"The broiler raising industry is not a bonanza," said Mr. Brown. "It is a business — a farm subject to all the conditions of such a business. Given a market — because the birds must be sold when ready — and good management it will pay off. It has paid off in Kaufman county as you can see from the fact that we have hundreds of houses in operation. We do not rate it our major farm operation. It is part of an overall program and when carried on in connection with the rest of the farm operation it can and does provide a substantial income and help make the rest of the program successful."
