CHRISTMAS WITH EISENHOWERS

Committee Finds Communists Infiltrated Into Some Unions

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—The House Committee on Un-American activities, denouncing communism in some trade unions as "a national disgrace," today recommended repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act requirement that non-Communist affidavits be filed by union officials.

In its final year-end report to Congress, the committee said:

"This provision of the law, after a start as intended by its authors, is now working to the benefit of members of the Communist party engaged in the field of labor."

The Taft-Hartley law requires that before unions can invoke the assistance of the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) in collective bargaining negotiations, its officials must first swear they are not Communists in affidavits filed with the board.

The committee said its evidence showed "conclusively" that union officials in many cases still were Communists even though they had filed the required affidavits.

The committee also renewed previous recommendations that spies and saboteurs be subjected to the death penalty in peacetime, as they are in wartime.

It also renewed its plea for admission of wire-tapped testimony as evidence in espionage cases, and for more help from the executive branch of government in opening up secret files to congressional investigators.

The House committee laid major emphasis this year on Communist infiltration of labor unions in defense plants. Reporting on conditions in the defense areas of Detroit, Chicago and Philadelphia, the committee said it was shocked to find domination of some unions and locals by the Communist conspiracy."

Among unions identified by the committee as Communist targets, or Communist dominated or controlled, were the big Ford Local 600 of the CIO United Auto Workers at Detroit; the Chicago Amalgamated UAW Local 453, "called the Little Kremlin"; the Independent United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers locals in the plants of International Harvester and Local 347 of the CIO United Packing House Workers.

The committee also once more called on Congress to require the secretary of defense to put into effect a law passed by the 81st Congress (1949-50) which would prohibit employment of Communists in any plant designated a "defense facility."

Summarizing its findings in industrial defense areas, the committee published a list of hundreds of persons identified as members of the Communist party at public hearings, but added:

"For the most part, union members in the United States are completely loyal and patriotic.

Army Asks Big Increase In Rate Of Draft

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—The military stepped up its call for draftees today to a level unprecedented since early in the Korean War. It asked Selective Service to induct 53,000 men, all for the Army, in February.

The Defense Department's official explanation for the big levy on manpower was that the terms of service of many men drafted after the outbreak of the Korean War are expiring and their places must be filled.

But it appeared there might be other factors contributing to the largest draft call since the first three months of 1951.

A check of calls since last spring showed some monthly totals as low as 10,000 men. Why the calls were held down when the department knew that a large number of original draftees would be eligible for release starting this winter and spring was not clear.

Under Pentagon policy, each of the services can submit its estimate of men needed, but the final decision is made by the department's assistant secretary in charge of manpower, Anna Rosenberg. Army sources have declined to disclose what that service's monthly requests to the Defense Department, for transmission to Selective Service, have been.

As has been the case since last May, the Navy, Marines and Air Force have made no requests for draftees, depending on recruiting and re-enlistment to keep their strengths at required levels.

Poland Story Of U. S. Spies Called Fake

WARSAW, Poland, Dec. 27. (AP) — Poland accused the United States today of flying two spies from Wiesbaden Nov. 4 and parachuting them 40 miles behind her Baltic Sea frontier. A press announcement said the two were arrested and had confessed.

"That story is obviously a fake," said a U. S. Air Force spokesman at Wiesbaden, West Germany. He said there was no record of an American plane having been anywhere in the Baltic area near Poland on that day.

(The charge recalled a spate of similar accusations against the United States a year ago, when Communist countries were shooting at a provision of the Mutual Security Act for the aid of anti-Communist exiles. At that time the Communists declared a U. S. plane, forced down with four crewmen in Hungary, was equipped for parachuting espionage agents. Spies also were declared to have been dropped in Romania and the Soviet Union.)

The Polish Telegraph Agency (PAP) asserted in an authorized announcement that radios, cameras, arms, instructions, codes and other apparatus for spying were dropped with the two men near Mizdow, in Koszalin province.

PAP said the two men, Stefan Skyszowski and Dioniry Ssnowski, were flown by a United States plane from Wiesbaden over a circuitous route across the Baltic to Sweden, the Danish island of Bronholm and the Polish coast near Darlowo and finally dropped at Mizdow.

The agency declared the incident showed the "exceptionally cunical" methods used by the United States against Poland, despite normal diplomatic relations. It added that the United States was guilty of a brutal violation of accepted international law.

Again London Fog Is Costly

LONDON, Dec. 27 (AP)—Londoners coughed and groped their way through lung stinging fog tonight. It was the second pea souper of the month, making this December rough even by London standards.

Acrid white clouds swirled through streets and seeped into houses gay with Christmas season decorations. The smoke-heavy mist brought hardship to aged persons and those suffering from heart and respiratory ailments.

During the week ending Dec. 13 —the period of the earlier fog— the number of deaths in London rose by 2,800. Medical authorities blamed four days of heavy, clinging fog for the major portion of this increase. They said the fog caused bronchial spasms and placed heavy strains on the heart.

That earlier fog also cost an estimated eight million pounds ($22,400,000) in transportation tie-ups, road accidents and damage to buildings. Demands have been voiced for a parliamentary inquiry on ways to free London from this blight.

3 Apply For City Manager

Three men have applied for the job of city manager of Snyder and applications will be considered by the new city council at its first regular meeting, Harry T. Holbrook, mayor, said yesterday.

No deadline has been placed on applications so far, and there will probably be more applications after the Jan. 5 meeting of the council which will also be considered, he said.

Holbrook did not name any of the applicants because they wished that their names be withheld unless selected for the job because of possible jeopardy to their present positions, he said.

Holbrook said that affording the size salary a good city manager will probably demand may be a problem for Snyder, but he pointed out that $2,940 has been cut from previous annual city expenses by election of the new city council which receives no salaries. Under the old city government the six councilmen and the mayor each received a salary of $35 per month.

"That money can be used to help boost the salary we can offer a prospective city manager" Holbrook stated.

ONE OF BLOODIEST

Korea Compared To Trench Fighting Of World War I

SEOUL, Sunday, Dec. 28 (AP)— A bloody stalemate came to Korea in 1952 — a deadlock unrivaled since World War I when trench warfare on a static front brought down a dreadful bloodletting on Western Europe.

That is the verdict of a 3,000-word summary of 1952 operations released today by the U. S. Eighth Army.

The most dangerous strip of ground on earth in 1952 was the belt of fortified positions that twist for 155 miles across the ridges and valleys of torn Korea.

The Chinese call the strip "Chien Hsien." U. S. soldiers call it "the front."

The Eighth Army estimated that 150,000 Communists—Chinese and Korean—were killed or wounded on this unchanging front in 1952.

The front has hardly shifted a yard since Nov. 27, 1951.

On that day, armistice negotiators at Panmunjom set a 30-day demarcation line which the United Nations hoped would become the armistice.

The armistice never came. As center of a buffer strip during an the peace talks dragged on, both sides dug in deeper. Now, a major offensive through the spiderweb of trenches and bunkers would be costly.

Along the front are such bitterly contested hill fortresses as Sniper Ridge, Triangle Hill, Bunker Hill, The Hook, White Horse Mountain, Big and Little Nori and Little Gibraltar.

Summarizing the year's fighting and the static front, the report prepared by Eighth Army briefing officer Maj. Louis A. Breault of Dallas, Tex., concluded: "We have to go back to World War I to find a counterpart."

"In December, 1951, the pattern of fighting was beginning to form," the report said.

Senator Urges Armed Forces To Get Rid Of Suspected Reds

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) today urged the armed forces to "pure their ranks" of known and suspected Communists.

Ferguson, a member of the Senate internal security subcommittee, said subcommittee members "are of the opinion and have some knowledge that there are many Communists among the commissioned grades in active service and in the reserve."

Ferguson is its senior Republican member and presumably will head the group if it is continued. Its authority now is scheduled to expire Jan. 1, when it would have to return to the Treasury unexpended balances of more than $300,000 Congress put up to finance its work.

The report argued that "if subversive elements in the United States can be discovered and controlled, there need be no fear of a shooting war in America."

"From everything I can learn," it said, "I believe that the Red Army will never go to war with any nation until the Kremlin is satisfied that nation is sufficiently penetrated with Communists and oher subversives who will function as an effective fifth column in the target country to weaken its internal strength and assure the success of the Red military forces."

"It is obvious that further inquiry will be necessary," he said.

Officer Held In Death Of Negro Motorist

HOMESTEAD, Fla., De. 27 (AP)— Paul Minnick, Homestead policeman who killed a Negro motorist Christmas Day, was arrested today on a first degree murder charge.

Justice of the Peace Vernon Turner issued the warrant after a conference with E. F. Lasseter of the sheriff's criminal bureau of investigation and John D. Marsh, assistant state attorney. Minnick was booked at the county jail in Miami.

At a closed hearing in the Homestead City Hall Friday, Lasseter questioned 15 white and Negro witnesses to the shooting of Emmett Jefferson, 36.

Minnick has been under suspension since the shooting, which attracted the attention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Dr. Godfrey Hawkins, president of the Miami NAACP chapter, indicated the FBI might be asked to come into the case.

The shooting occurred after Jefferson reportedly sped through a police roadblock set up to snare a speeding motorist who had forced a woman driver off the road.

Town Marshal William Fasulo of Florida City and Minnick followed Jefferson's car to his home here. Fasulo attempted to arrest the Negro and said Jefferson "scuffled" with him. Minnick shot Jefferson down, firing four times.

Slavs Break Vatican Ties

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Dec. 27 (AP) — With Marshal Tito looking on, the Yugoslav Parliament today unanimously ratified the government's decision to break diplomatic relations with the Vatican.

Before the vote, Petar Stambolic, premier of Serbia and a power in the Central Communist government, denounced the recent designation of Archbishop Alojzije Stepinac of Zagreb as a cardinal. He said Pope Pius' appointment of the Yugoslav churchman was a propaganda move designed to serve the purposes of "Italian imperialism."

Parliament then recessed until Jan. 10 when it will take up, and almost certainly approve a new constitution which is expected to make Premier Tito the country's first president.

Besides acting on relations with the Vatican, Parliament approved a budget of 763 million dollars, of which 80 per cent is marked for defense, and adopted a new cradle-to-the-grave social security program. Employers will pay the entire cost of the social services.

The government announced the severance of relations with the Vatican Dec. 17, charging the Holy See was hostile toward Yugoslavia and interfering in her internal affairs.

GOP Senators Getting Their Fusses Over

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont today killed off one possibility for a family fight among Republican senators over key committee chairmanships in the new Congress.

Aiken told a reporter by long-distance telephone from Putney, Vt., that he wants to head the Senate Agriculture Committee and so will not bid for chairmanship of the labor committee.

Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio — slated to be Senate majority leader —is expected to pass up his right to head the labor committee. Taft favors Sen. H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey for labor chairman but Aiken ranks next to Taft and ahead of Smith on that group.

"I can get into trouble enough on Agriculture," Aiken, gray-haired veteran, explained with a laugh when asked about rumors that he might kick up a fight by seeking the labor chairmanship.

Taft probably could retain that chairmanship as well as directing the Senate as majority leader. But this would be against Senate tradition.

The new Congress is scheduled to organize next week under its narrow Republican majorities in both Senate and House. It is pretty well known in advance who will be chosen to head the 15 standing Senate committees.

Cold But Near Normal Weather Over North-South Is Seasonal

By The Associated Press

Cold air, 5 to 10 degrees below seasonal normals, covered much of the northern half of the nation Saturday, while chilly weather was the rule over the rest of the continent.

While abnormally cold air was common, the Weather Bureau said no section had unusually warm weather. Florida had the highest readings—and there temperatures were no higher than expectable for late December.

The cold air extended south from New England to the Ohio River Valley, into Southern Missouri and north through the Dakotas into Canada.

Elsewhere, the weather was chilly but seasonal.

Some snow was reported in sections of the Great Plains and rain fell along the Pacific Coast and in coastal sections of Texas and Louisiana.

Find Fault When Clark Attn. Gen

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—Rep. Hillings (R-Calif) today called for a "full inquiry" into the administration of the Justice Department during the 12 years Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark was in it.

Hillings said Clark should be summoned before a House subcommittee which issued a report today criticizing Clark for what it called an apparent "gross departure from the usual channels of authority" while he was attorney general.

"Many people in Washington regard Mr. Clark as some type of sacred cow because he is a justice of the Supreme Court," Hillings said in a statement. "I do not share this opinion.

"A Supreme Court justice should not cling to the sanctity of his ivory tower and deprive congressional committees of the opportunity to obtain necessary information."

Hillings is a lawyer. He also is one of the three Republican members of the seven-man judiciary subcommittee which has been investigating the Justice Department for months.

In a report released a few hours before Hillings' statement, the subcommittee said Clark "interfered with routine functioning" of the department in the Kansas City vote fraud case.

The subcommittee also chided Clark, as well as former Atty. Gen. J. Howard McGrath and Peyton Ford, who was Clark's deputy, for what it called an "indifferent attitude."

Tom C. Clark

Billings declared the subcommittee's report "shows the need for a full inquiry into the administration of the Department of Justice during his (Clark's) tenure as attorney general and during the time he occupied subordinate positions."

Clark entered the department in 1937 and in 1945 President Truman made him attorney general. He served until 1949, when Truman elevated him to the Supreme Court.

There was some talk among subcommittee members last October of inviting Clark to appear before the group, nothing ever came of it.

Clark himself has taken no public cognizance of the investigation.

In today's report, the House group concerned itself mainly with T. Lamar Caudle, the former assistant attorney general who was fired by Truman in November, 1951 for "outside activities."

With one dissent, the seven-man subcommittee report termed Caudle "an honorably-motivated" but "weak" official who was "unfairly used as a public sacrifice to divert attention from the shameful weaknesses that were being exposed throughout the Treasury and Justice Departments."

The dissenter was Rep. Byron G. Rodgers (D-Colo) who said in a statement that Caudle had "violated a public trust" and suggested that his testimony before the subcommittee be referred to Atty. Gen. James P. McGranery "for action."

The subcommittee, headed by Reps. Cheif (D-Ky) and Keating (R-NY), reported that while Justice Clark was attorney general he intervened in the Kansas City vote fraud case.

This case stemmed from the 1946 Democratic primary election in which Enos Axtell, with the support of President Truman defeated Rep. Roger Slaughter for renomination.

Impounded ballots and other documents later were stolen from the Courthouse after the Kansas City Star, in a series of articles, had charged irregularities in the voting.

Clark's action in taking the case out of Caudle's hands and turning it over to his deputy, Ford, the subcommittee said, looked like a departure "which has not yet been adequately explained or defended by any of the officials involved."

The report added:

"Also unexplained is the ultimate result: although the FBI investigation which was launched on a full scale after Caudle's exclusion from the case is reported to have cost nearly a quarter of a million dollars, only four minor figures in this flagrant national scandal were ever punished."

Paratroopers In Indochina

HANOI, Indochina, Dec. 27 (AP) — French and Viet Namese parachute troopers leaped from planes today and joined powerful land forces attempting to smash a Vietminh troop concentration near Na San, 117 miles west of Hanoi.

A French high command spokesman said the aim of the drive is to regain the initiative from the Communist-led enemy, who withdrew from Na San after three violent, unsuccessful assaults against that French bastion four weeks ago.

The drop today was in the area north of the village of Conoi, 10 miles southeast of Na San. First reports said no important contacts were made with the Vietminh.

From Na San itself, several battalions of French Union troops struck southeastward two days ago after having conducted a number of large scale reconnaissance patrols all around the heavily fortified stronghold.

As a result of these operations, French officers believed the enemy had concentrated in a large pocket in the Conoi area.

First Atom Spy To Go Free After Serving Six Of His 10 Years

LONDON, Dec. 27 (AP)—Two London newspapers said tonight that Dr. Alan Nunn May—the Western world's first convicted atom spy—will be freed from Wakefield Prison Monday.

The British Home Office confirmed that May would be released this month but declined to specify the day.

The shy little 41-year-old British scientist, caught in the Canadian spy plot in 1946, will have served six years and eight months of the 10-year sentence for passing vital atomic information along to the Russians.

The Home Office said he was being released early for "good behavior."

Dulles Not To Testify Of Part In Naming Hiss Fund Director

WASHINGTON Dec. 27 (AP) John Foster Dulles, secretary of state-designate, has declined an invitation to testify before a House committee on his part in naming Alger Hiss as president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

This was reported today by Howard W. Keele, counsel for the House group which has completed an investigation of tax-free educational and philanthropic foundations to determine whether their funds are being used for subversive purposes.

Hiss is now serving a prison sentence for perjury in denying that he gave State Department secrets to a Communist spy ring.

After he left the State Department, Hiss became president of the Carnegie Endowment in 1946. The House committee received testimony recently that Dulles, who was board chairman of the endowment, suggested Hiss for the job. He was convicted in January, 1950. A star witness against him was Whittaker Chambers, who described himself as a former Communist courier and said Hiss passed him State Department secrets.

Keele told a reporter today he invited Dulles, by telephone and telegram, to present his side of the story early next week. Keele said Dulles replied by telegram that he "greatly appreciated the courtesy of the committee but my time is sharply limited between now and Jan. 1." The comittee is preparing a report which is scheduled to be submitted to Congress by that date.

Dulles said he was forwarding to the committee a transcript of his testimony at Hiss' trial and said he could not add anything by appearing before the committee.

Dulles testified at the trial that he wanted Hiss to resign his endowment post after Communist charges against him were aired in the summer of 1948.

Dulles thus contradicted Hiss, who had testified earlier that Dulles did not ask him to resign.

Hiss left the endowment post early in 1949 after his indictment.

Alfred Kohlberg, a New York importer, told the committee last week that upon learning of Hiss' election to the Carnegie post he went to see Dulles to warn him against Hiss.

Kohlberg quoted Dulles as saying that several persons had described Hiss as "a sort of fellow traveler" but there was no concrete proof and that a man should not be condemned without proof.

John W. Davis, former Democratic presidential candidate, testified before the House committee that Dulles was only one of several persons recommending that a three-man nominating committee look Hiss over to determine if he should get the Carnegie post. Davis was chairman of the committee.

Ike May Ask Senators What They Think Of Stalin Meeting

NEW YORK, Dec. 27 (AP)—President-elect Eisenhower may discuss Premier Stalin's world peace overtures with Senate Republican leaders to get their views on feasibility of conferences with the Russians.

That possibility developed as Eisenhower met at his Columbia University residence today with Lewis W. Douglas, former ambassador to Great Britain in the Truman administration.

The general and Douglas—who backed Eisenhower for the presidency—were together for 90 minutes and Douglas said afterward they had talked "very slantingly" about Stalin's latest peace statement.

Douglas did not elaborate. He said the conference also dealt "briefly" with the forthcoming visit of Britain's Prime Minister Winston Churchill to the United States. Churchill is scheduled to arrive in New York on Jan. 5. He plans to confer with Eisenhower here and with President Truman later in Washington.

"We wandered all over—from football to water conservation," Douglas told newsmen after his meeting with Eisenhower. "I was here to renew an old association."

Eisenhower already has announced plans to get together with GOP Senate leaders to discuss the new administration's legislative program.

No date has been announced for the conference, but the general's headquarters said earlier it probably would be held before the 83rd Congress convenes next Saturday.

Senators scheduled to meet with Eisenhower are Robert A. Taft of Ohio, slated to be majority leader in the new Republican-controlled Congress; Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, in line to be president pro tempore—the Senate's presiding officer in the absence of the vice president; Eugene D. Millikin of Colorado, chairman of the conference of all GOP senators, and Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, who served as assistant minority leader in the last Congress.

Eisenhower met with House Republican leaders last week before the Soviet Embassy in Washington made public Stalin's replies to questions submitted to him by the New York Times' correspondent, James Reston.

Aides to the general said the Stalin statement, tied up as it is with the vital issue of world peace, seemed likely to figure in any Eisenhower discussion of foreign affairs with the Senate leaders.

Condon Said Not Qualified To Hold Any Security Positions

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—The House committee on Un-American Activities asserted today that Dr. Edward U. Condon was not qualified for any position involving national security because of his "propensity" for associating with persons of questionable loyalty.

Dr. Condon, former director of the National Bureau of Standards was accused by the committee in 1948 of being the "weakest link" in the chain of security protecting atom bomb secrets.

He said at that time:

"If I am one of the weakest links in the nation's atomic security, this is gratifying information, because I am absolutely reliable and therefore we have nothing to worry about. The country can relax."

A number of officials and Congress members upheld Condon's loyalty.

House subversive hunters continued their feud with the former government scientist in their year-end annual report.

In response to charges by Condon that the committee had long refused him a hearing, the committee earlier this year first invited and then subpoenaed him for an apparance.

Testifying last Sept. 5, Dr. Condon—now research director for the Corning Glass Works, Corning, N. Y.,—reiterated previous denials that he knew about espionage and subversive activities charged to a number of his associates.

In its report, the committee noted that Dr. Condon denied ever having been a Communist and said:

"Dr. Condon's apparance, however, served to confirm the committee's belief that because of his propensity for associating with persons disloyal or of questionable loyalty and his contempt for necessary security regulations, that he is not qualified for acceptability to any security position."

The committee said that in its earlier A-bomb investigations, it was "amazed at the numerous instances in which it was disclosed that Dr. Condon was acquainted with known or suspected espionage agents.

"The committee did not, nor does not now, possess information that Dr. Condon was a Communist or committed any act of espionage. However, because of his associates and disdain for security regulations the committee recognized his vulnerability in any post of security."

Dr. Condon resigned from his government post in August, 1951, saying he could no longer afford "the severe financial sacrifice involved." President Truman accepted his resignation "with regret."

The committee invited Dr. Condon to appear before it earlier this year in answer to charges that it had failed to give him an opportunity to be heard.

Condon declined the invitation and he was then subpoenaed for an involuntary appearance.

Pre-Game Casualty Record To Affect Bowl Games Thursday

NEW YORK, Dec. 27 (AP)—Adhesive tape and shin splints threaten to replace the slide rule in determining odds on the major football bowl games Thursday night with the toll of pre-game casualties reaching record proportions.

Three teams — Georgia Tech, Tennessee and Florida — have seen their chief offensive performers cut down with injuries and Tennessee has lost its veteran coach, the ailing Gen. Bob Neyland.

Southern California's Rose Bowl hopes have been jarred by loss of Jim Psaltis, ace defensive back, through ineligibility. The Trojans' Pasadena opponent, Wisconsin, has its fastest runner, Harland Carl, hobbled by a twisted knee.

Tulsa, Florida's opponent in the Gator Bowl, has two line backers on the shelf and a halfback of doubtful list with a severed achilles tendon.

TWO MILLION GATE

Alabama, which takes on Syracuse in Miami's Orange Bowl, is racked with colds and minor injuries, most serious of which is a leg ailment suffered by first string tackle Jack Smalley.

At last reports, however, the big holiday football festival was to go on as scheduled.

Some 432,000 fans will pay more than two million dollars to watch the eight games on New Year's Day and the Senior Bowl event at Mobile, Ala., the following Saturday. Millions of others, comprising what is expected to be the largest football viewing audience in history, will witness the battles by televison.

The four big bowls all have national television committments. NBC will telecast the Rose Bowl as well as the Cotton Bowl fray between Tennessee and Texas. ABC will put the Sugar Bowl tiff between Georgia Tech and Mississippi on the picture tubes, while CBS will do the Orange Bowl at Miami. The Sugar, Orange and Cotton Bowl games all start at 1 p.m. (CST) while the Rose Bowl begins at 4 p.m. (CST).

103,000 AT ROSE BOWL

The largest turnout in the flesh, as usual, will be in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, the grandpapa of the post-season extravaganzas. A crowd of 103,000 is expected and receipts totaling $400,000, not counting TV and radio proceeds, would make it a near million dollar enterprise.

Southern Cal, beaten only by Notre Dame is favored by a touchdown over Wisconsin, the Big Ten co-champion, but the Trojans' odds may be changed by the loss of Psaltis, a great defensive back.

Tennessee may go into the Cotton Bowl at Dallas without its top scorer and ground gainer, Andy Kozar, and the chief of the brains department, Gen. Neyland. Kozar has a fractured pelvis and is almost certain not to play. Neyland has been ordered by doctors to rest. He may view the game as a spectator while Harvey Robinson fills in as head coach.

TEXAS IN TOP SHAPE

Texas appears in top shape and rules a 1 point favorite to whip the Volunteers, their upset conquerors in 1951 at Dallas.

None is in much worse shape than Georgia Tech, which carries its unbeaten record against twice-tied Mississippi in the Sugar Bowl. Billy Teas has a broken collarbone and Leon Hardeman has a bum ankle. The Engineers' top ground gainers with more than 1,400 yards between them, both are doubtful starters.

This could radically alter odds which favor Tech by seven points. Mississippi, seventh ranked nationally, had the country's ninth most effective offense during the fall, with an average of 383.1 yards a game.

ALABAMA FAVORED

Despite nagging colds and minor ailments, Alabama is a whopping 13 point choice in the Orange Bowl. Syracuse is making its Bowl debut.

Although Syracuse Coach Floyd Schwartzwalder calls the Tide "the most powerful team I ever saw," he hopes to spring an upset with Pat Stark, a good passing quarterback, and Bill Wetzel, 205-pound fullback.

Florida's ambitions of whipping Tulsa in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville have been tempered by the loss of Doug Dickey, No. 1 quarterback, who is out with a pulled leg muscle.

Tulsa has two line backers injured — Angelo Prassa with a broken hand and Eddie Lach with a bum leg — and a halfback, Gene Helwig, out with a severed achilles tendon.

The Salad Bowl at Phoenix pits the San Diego Naval Training Center against the 101st Airborne Division.

The Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla., matches East Texas State and Tennessee Tech.

And the Sun Bowl at El Paso sends Mississippi Southern against College of the Pacific.

Tigers Off To Cage Tourney In Brownwood

The Tiger basketball squad, inactive since their two bad losses to powerful Pampa, will go back into action tomorrow when they meet Comanche in the first round of the Howard Payne tourney.

Gene Gibson and his squad of 11 boys will leave tomorrow morning for Brownwood.

Traveling to the tourney will be Ned Underwood, 6-2 scoring ace who leads Tiger tallies with 93 points; Deanie Floyd, 69 points; Douglas Ayers, 59 points; Reagan White, 45; Joe Galyean, 60; Bill Boyd, 35, Ray Courtney, 25; Jimmy Bennett, 18; Alan Snead, six; Joe Cargile, five; and possibly Jack Spikes.

Cargile scored all his five points on free throws in one of the Pampa games, his first play of the year after being out with a sprained ankle.

Bennett leads B team scoring with 65 points, followed by Courtney with 38, Snead with 35, and Spikes with 33.

Little is known about the Comanche team here, except that it lost to Coleman 61-48 in one game. Weldon Turner, a tall forward, is the scoring ace on that team, averaging about 15 points per game.

The winner of that first round game will meet the winner of the Arlington Heights - Millsap tilt, and the loser will meet the loser of the other game. Other teams entered are Sweetwater, Stephenville, Carter Riverside, Ballinger, San Angelo, Tivy, Temple Worth Tech, and Graham.

Last year in that tourney, the Tigers took a loss to San Angelo in the semi-final consolation match. They defeated Brownwood in the consolation first round after losing to Coleman in their first match of the tourney.

Gibson and his squad, back from the holidays, worked out Friday night and yesterday.

Banded Duck Shot Here On J. B. Turner Place

One of four canvass-back ducks shot early yesterday morning by J. B. Turner on his place east of Snyder had been banded by the U. S. Fish & Wildlife Commission in Washington, D. C.

Turner said the ducks were the first he ever shot.

The band on the duck's leg stated that if it were shot the commission was to be notified in Washington. Turner said that he interperted the band as indicating that it was placed on the duck in the capital city.

East Barely Gets By West

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 27 (AP)—Eastern college all-stars, led by pass-pitching Tom O'Connell, of Illinois who set a new East-West passing record, scored a thrilling last minute 21-20 victory over the West today in the 28th annual East-West football classic.

A crowd of 62,000 fans, drenched by rain in the final period, saw the great Illinois quarterback engineer his teammates to the surprising win in the Shrine benefit game for crippled children.

The all-America studded West had lined up as the six-point favorite.

The eastern team came from behind to win with a 71-yard aerial and ground drive. O'Connell threw three passes—among the 21 he completed for his record—in the march through the mud.

The old mark of 14 was set by Don Klosterman, of Loyola last year.

Chatham Big Man On Waco Baseball Club

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 27 (AP)—C. L. (Buster) Chatham will be both manager and general manager of the Waco, Tex., club in the Class B Big State League next season.

The announcement came from Branch Rickey, general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, who hold the Waco franchise.

Chatham, who has been Waco general manager for two years, will succeed Ted Gullic as manager.

Burditt Named Coach

LOCKHART, Tex., Dec. 27 (AP)—Jesse N. Burditt, Jr., has been named athletic director and head football coach of Lockhart High School. He succeeds Travis Raven, who resigned to enter business in Austin.

No Surprises Seen In Bowl

AUSTIN, Dec. 27 (AP)—Coach Ed Price of Texas doesn't expect any surprises in his Cotton Bowl game against Tennessee—sound, fundamental football and determination will decide the issue.

The Texas coach actually has borrowed liberally from the style of coaching employed by Gen. Bob Neyland at Tennessee.

But he says he imagines that while Gen. Neyland will add a few new plays and he'll add a few, on the whole very few changes will be made.

"Why should either Tennessee or Texas want to change? Tennessee has the best defense in the nation and its offensive was strong enough to win every game but two by comfortable margins. In our own situation, we had the best offensive and defensive marks in the Southwest Conference. It might not be the Nation's best but we'd be foolish to try to change over to something else now."

Tennessee gave up an average of 166.7 yards per game to 10 opponents while Texas yielded an average of 220.4 yards to 10 foes. Offensively, Texas has the edge, picking up an average of 386.5 yards per game while the Volunteers gained 280 yards.

Wink Grabs Class A Crown In Hard Battle With Deer Park

WINK, Tex., Dec. 27 (AP)—Wink's Wildcats staved off a wild, desperate last minute bid by Deer Park today to rack up a 26-20 victory and nail down the Class A high school football championship.

A spectacular passing attack in the last six minutes of play netted Deer Park two touchdowns and whittled the 26-7 lead the big West Texans had rung up.

An overflow crowd of 9,266 watched Wink shoot ahead in the first period and go on to bring West Texas its third of four schoolboy grid titles this year.

Quarterback Kenneth Vinson and Danny Villarreal paced Wink's furious attack that dominated action through the first three quarters.

Vinson's passes and quarter backing kept Deer Park off balance while Villarreal's slashing runs tore the South Texas team's line apart.

Deer Park's tiny Jerry Harris, a 118-pound speedster, and fullback Russell Moake were the stars for the Bayou Country boys.

Wink broke in the scoring column late in the first quarter when Vinson climaxed a 38-yard march that opened with a recovered Deer Park fumble.

Deer Park needed just three plays to even the score. Harris swept end 67 yards to the Wink 7 yard line and scored two plays later on the same end around play.

The Wildcats went ahead again to stay just 60 seconds later when Villarreal went 54 yards. Fullback Tommy Dewitt ran 6 yards for the third Wink touchdown with five minutes left in the first half.

Dewitt again scored late in the third period pushing 3 yards to climax a 60-yard drive that featured a 30-yard run by Villarreal.

Moake took over in the final period to pace Deer Park's last ditch rally. He blasted over the goal line from the 5 with four minutes to play after a series of passes from Sammy Blount. Then, with 90 seconds left to play, Moake grabbed a 40-yard pass from Blount for the final touchdown.

Dale Dodd added the extra point after the first and third Wink touchdowns and Blount kicked two for Deer Park.

Cage Tourney Starts Monday

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 27 (AP)—The 17th annual All-College Basketball Tournament, granddaddy of all the holiday cage meets, opens a three-day stand Monday with one of its sharpest and most wide-open fields.

Four teams, the Oklahoma Aggies, defending champion Oklahoma City University, Tulsa and Western Kentucky, are expected to put up the biggest fight for the title.

The tourney kicks off Monday with two games in the afternoon and another brace at night. The semi-finals are Tuesday night and the windup Wednesday night—New Year's eve.

The opening double-header finds Western Kentucky meeting Idaho and Tulsa testing Wyoming while the night card pits the Aggies and Penn State and OCU and Bowling Green.

Oklahoma A&M is favored to end up in the finals as the Aggies go after their 10th all - college crown.

The Aggies, No. 9 team in the nation, have won seven games and dropped one this season, that a last second defeat by Colorado, 56-55.

Gray Downs Blue In 28-7 All-Star Game

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 27 (AP)—Dixie all-stars led by the brilliant signal-calling of Ray Graves of Texas A&M and the plunging of fullback Leroy Labat of Louisiana State punched the Yankees full of holes today and won the annual Blue-Gray football game, 28-7.

It was the 10th victory for the South in 14 games and it gave the crowd of 22,000 the kind of wide open gridiron contest the customers love.

The Yankee passing team of Ted Marchibroda of Detroit and Lou D'Achille of Indiana was ineffective much of the time against the tight defense of the Confederate secondary.

But Marchibroda, the Nation's No. 1 distance gainer with a total of 1,813 yards during the regular season, was the only really dangerous weapon the Blues had.

Although his long aerials weren't enough to win, they did account for the Northerners' lone touchdown. Halfback Earl Hersh of West Chester, Pa., Teachers caught a 13-yard toss and almost fell, but stumbled onward and went across for the score in the third period. Bill Leonard of Penn State made the extra point.

Graves accounted for one of the South's four touchdowns. Lewis Carpenter of Arkansas got two and Labat the other. Ed Mioduszewski of William and Mary and Charlie Harding of Virginia each contributed two conversions.

The Yanks were held almost to a standstill on the ground, gaining a total of only 41 yards rushing. In the air they did better with 147 yards. Marchibroda got 92 of them on five pass completions out of nine attempts. D'Achille completed six out of 12 for 55 yards.

Dixie passers couldn't find their mark at all and didn't complete a single toss in seven tries.

But on the ground it was different. Of the 318 yards the Rebel backs accounted for, Labat, the "Black Stallion of the Bayous," made 74. Roy Bailey of Tulane got 65 and Carpenter 61.

The game's first score came in the second period when Graves bucked the last foot to end a 45-yard drive.

A Yankee fumble gave the Southerners' another touchdown in the third period when Marchibroda dropped the ball on his own six.

Jack Chambers of Houston University bounced on it and three plays later Carpenter scooted over from the three.

Marchibroda narrowed the margin a short while later with his scoring pass to Hersh, but the Grays galloped back with another counter, Carpenter scoring from the five after a 61-yard push.

Labat scored in the fourth quarter with a two-yard punch.

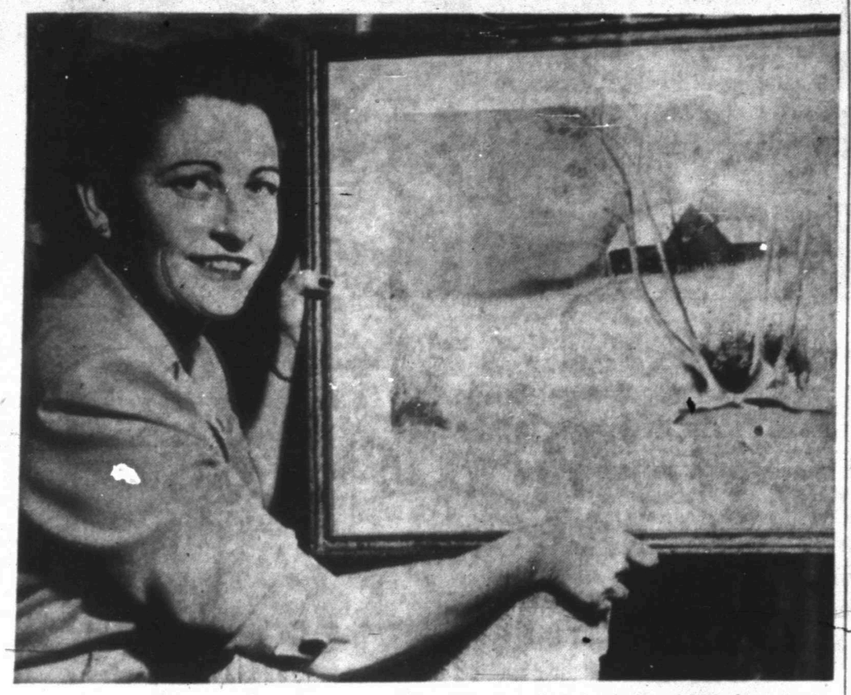
THE ADVENTURES OF PATSY



Mrs. C. V. McClatchy holds one of her pastels which she says is her most original piece of art. She lavishly used various shades of reds in the snow scene. (Dolores Ketchersid Photograph)

Snyder Woman's Hobby Is To Paint Colorful Scenes In Oil

A Snyder artist working strictly from talent with no formal instruction is Mrs. C. V. McClatchy of 3702 Rose Circle.

About 15 oil paintings and pastel drawings hang in her house harmonizing with the color sceme and furnishings of the rooms. Most of the pictures depict flowers, animals and landscapes. Mrs. McClatchy said she paints what she is in the particular mood to do at the time but may take up portraits later on. Some of her work is copied from other artists mostly because she likes their pictures and partly because this is another way of learning.

Mrs. McClatchy isn't temperamental as artists go. Her one idiosyncracy is that everything be quiet when she is at work. She gets up about 5 o'clock sometimes in the summertime before the rest of the family is awake. But she gets the most work done in the lull in January after the Christmas rush.

Mrs. McClatchy visited Taos, N. M., where she saw several exhibits of New Mexican art, but except for one portrait was not very impressed with it. "I think around Junction there is just as pretty scenery as you can find anywhere. I guess I'm just too much of a Texan," she laughed.

She works comparatively fast, finishing an oil in a day or two, although she said hard ones sometimes take a week. Pastels are faster as she can complete one of them in a day to a day and one half. "Of course, that's with steady work," she said.

Her husband and the children, Mary Beth, 12, and Tommy Lee, 14, are understanding of Mrs. McClatchy's work and never complain about food they get when she is painting, she said. Mary Beth shares her mother's enthusiam for pastels, but Tommy Lee had rather hunt. "He just can't take the time to paint," Mrs. McClatchy said.

She doesn't confine her artistic ability to just the canvas and does all her home decorating. Besides choosing the color schemes for each room she also has made slip covers and curtains. When the family lived in Wink she even painted morning glories on a trellis and tulips on the side of a breezeway. The fun came in January when strangers stopped in the sleet and snow and asked her, "What on earth is that growing?"

A critic of her own work, Mrs. McClatchy freely discusses what she thinks is wrong with a picture. She never names her art, and on the more informal ones signs them simply, "Tommye." She said she will probably never do anything like charcoal or pen and ink drawings because she likes color so well. Even so, she doesn't like even the most colorful modern art.

Mrs. McClatchy said she may attend an art school in the future as she is particularly urged to do by her husband. She would also like to learn photography, she said, so she can take pictures on vacations of scenes she would like to paint at her leisure.

Mrs. Jessie G. Thomas, Big Spring author, has turned out a new book for children called "Katydid." Her previous publication was "Sugar and Spice." Mrs. Thomas is a member of Texas Women's Press Association, The Poetry Society of Texas and the Altrusa Club.

Big Spring Author's Book Is Called Good For Any Library

(KATYDID. Jessie G. Thomas, Pageant Press, New York, $1.50.)

"Katydid", a book of fantasy and morality, will appeal specifically to children 10 years or older and their parents.

The story is of a trip to the woods made by two little girls, Dolly and Lollie, and their Negro cook. The author, Mrs. Jessie G. Thomas of Big Spring, also rings in a Negro chauffeur who is in love with the cook, and rich Mr. O. U. Wolf, all of whom meet in the woods.

Mrs. Snoopy, the neighborhood gossip, tells the girls' mother that someone is making passes at her little lambs. But the story has a happy ending with wedding bells for the cook and the chauffeur. Mr. Wolf is cleared of all suspicion; in fact, he turns out to be a harmless grandpa sort of person.

All 46 pages of the book are written in rhyme which usually appeals to children and parents who are trying to sing-song them to sleep.

Occasionally the author can't resist using too-big words for children, although they do add to the story. In places she is even a little vague and disconnected, but she does attempt strong moral lessons and intersperses satire to keep the humor up. Her book was written on the same order as some of Shakespeare's, or more recently Kelly's "Pogo" in that it is aimed at two audiences. The book would be a good addition to any religious library for adults or children.

The rhythm of the tale reminds the reader of that all too recent "T'was the Night Before Christmas."

Mrs. Thomas doesn't confine her story to real persons. She also in Mr. I. Q. Owl who's favorite expression is "Oh, hoot! I'm so furious, I'm screechless with rage," and the Man in the Moon with his moon flash light. The "Katydid" in her book represents her best use of personification with names.

Records For Children Are Popular Here

Children's records seem to be in demand any season in Snyder.

One album that is especially being asked for is one called "Campfire Songs" put out by Mercury. The album includes such favorites as "Home on the Range", "Blow the Man Down" and new one, "Oh How Lovely Is the Evening." The last one has easy words to remember; in fact, those are all the words there are. But the strictly choral arrangement should appeal to adults as well as small fry.

One break for parents is that only one or two verses of each song are given so even if the kids insist on playing it over and over it isn't as tiring. The flip side is a good one to have around for just before bed, or to provide a hint to lingering company. The last selection "Taps," ends with words suggesting bed and sleep.

A new children's record out is one written, told and sung by Frank Loesser. The story was taken from M-G-M's "Hans Christian Andersen" with Le Roy Holmes, orchestra providing the very appropriate music. "The King's New Clothes" tells of a proud king who is eventually disgraced because of his vanity, a typical Aesop fable with a twentieth century setting.

The top ten records the adults like are:

"Why Don't You Believe Me," Joni James.

"Don't Let the Stars Get in Your Eyes," Slim Willet.

"You Belong to Me," Jo Stafford.

"Keep it a Secret," Slim Whitman.

"I Went to Your Wedding," Pattie Page.

"Jambalaya," Jo Stafford.

"Lady of Spain," Les Paul.

"Takes Two to Tango," Pearl Bailey.

"I Saw Mommy Kissing Santa Claus," Jimmy Boyd.

"Glow Worm," Mills Brothers.

Judge Who Visited In Snyder In Appeals Court In Fort Worth

Ben W. Boyd of Denton, who was guest speaker at a legal clinic held here last spring, has been appointed to the court of civil appeals in Fort Worth, it was announced last week.

Boyd was judge of the 16th judicial district since 1928. He succeeds Frank P. Culver on the court of civil appeals of the second supreme judicial district at Fort Worth. Culver was elected this year to place No. 1 on the supreme court at Austin to succeed John H. Sharp.

Judge Boyd visited here when the law clinic was held by the Scurry County Bar Association.

Man Is Fined Here

George Moody Ward, about 30, Snyder was fined $48.50, including cost, when he pleaded guilty in justice court Friday to a charge of drunkenness, disturbance, and assault on Mrs. Earl Chitsey.

No Bond Yet For Accused Pair In Death

Bonds had not been posted late yesterday for either of the two Latin-American men who were charged here Thursday with murder with malice aforethought, W. C. Davidson, justice of peace, said.

The two men were charged with murder in connection with the death of Crecensiano Gaona, 27, another Latin American, who died at 7:10 o'clock Christmas morning at Battenfield Hospital approximately four hours after suffering stab wounds of the abdomen and head.

Davidson said he thought arrangements were being made for posting the $1,000 bond set for Vencente Barrientes, 22, who waived preliminary hearing when arraigned Friday.

Bond was set at $2,500 for Eusebio Gonzales, 21, who also waived preliminary hearing when arraigned.

Renal Rosson, district attorney, said that no written report listing specific cause of death had been submitted to him by Dr. John Y. Battenfield, who performed the autopsy on Gaona.

Charges are to be investigated by the next grand jury.

Two Taken To Hospital

Two women were taken from their homes to the Battenfield Hospital Friday afternoon by Bolger ambulances. Both are medical patients.

They are Mrs. John L. Carrell, Lamesa highway, and Mrs. M.W. Clark, 2811 Avenue X. Mrs. Clark suffered a heart attack.

PERSONALS

Guests in the Tom Boren home, south of town, and in the Hugh Boren home, Twenty - ninth Street, have been Mr. and Mrs. Robert Boren and daughter of Kermit and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Tilley of Fort Worth. Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Clark of Ennis and Miss Gladys Boren of Dallas arrived Friday to visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth H. Snyder and three daughters of Eunice, N.M., have been guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Snyder and family, Texas-New Mexico Pipeline Camp.

Emergency Controls Probably Will Die During Coming Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—Barring some new thrust of Communist aggression, the vastly expanded American economy probably will throw off almost all of its emergency controls in 1953.

Munitions production will climb throughout the year, then stay at a peak 50-million-dollar rate for another year. But shortages in the civilian economy—never really severe—will ease rapidly in the next six months.

As plant capacity and output rise, the need for anti-inflation controls should diminish. Unless Congress changes its mind, price, wage and rent ceilings will end April 30. Production control expires June 30 but is likely to be extended in some milder form.

Convinced that the race to catch up with Russian armament is as good as won, outgoing officials at the year-end were changing the direction of the defense effort—from the get-ready stage to the stay-ready phase.

TWO STEPS ASKED

They hoped to persuade President-elect Eisenhower's people that two major steps must be taken this spring, namely:

1. Drafting and passage of a "standby" war-powers law—containing price, wage, rent, credit and other control authority—which could be invoked the moment an aggressor struck.

2. Finding and eliminating bottlenecks in industry which might delay an overnight shift to full mobilization—a conversion which required nearly two years after Pearl Harbor.

The latter program, not yet fully blueprinted, might call for further government help, financial and otherwise.

Tentative plans include the stockpiling of special machines and tools for armament plants, the setting up of standby production lines, providing a reserve of heavy, hard-to-get castings and forgings, and possibly even federal construction of a few types of plants which private industry can not operate in peacetime without financial loss.

SOME ASK RETENTION

It is taken for granted in Washington that Eisenhower and the Republican - dominated Congress will get rid of existing controls more rapidly than the Democratic administration has done. But economic stabilizer Roger L. Putnam has recommended their extension for a full 14 months.

Putnam told a reporter he is "encouraged," moreover, by the "open minded" attitude toward controls voiced by Sen. Capehart (R-Ind), incoming chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, and several other GOP leaders in Congress. Capehart has declared his willingness to be convinced and has promised early hearings on the issue.

Some other officials believe, also, that Republicans who have been denouncing the administration's tardiness in freezing prices and wages on Jan. 25, 1951—eight and four months after they had the control power—will move cautiously in decontrol in fear of incurring the same kind of criticism.

TRANSITION PLANNED

A variety of "transition" control plans are being drawn. Most of them call for "selective" controls on basic materials only. These might include such materials as copper, aluminum and nickel. Their cost adds enormously to defense spending and inflated prices would upset the relative stability which has prevailed for more than a year in thousands of consumer goods lines.

The proposed extension beyond midyear of priority and allocation powers is intended mainly to safeguard production for the armed forces and the atomic energy program.

A tentative time table for decontrol of the key metal, steel, reads something like this:

Jan. 1, supplemental steel quotas for civilian firms to fatten up the lean rations caused by the steel strike.

April 1 or earlier, "very generous allotments to civilian users; unrestricted sale and use of any steel not claimed by the military; removal of most restrictions on building.

June 30, end of the Controlled Materials Plan (CMP), or allocation system, insofar as civilian industry is concerned.

July 1, start of a "little CMP," with allocations made only to military and atomic contractors. Officials are not yet certain how this so-called "special escort" military priority should be set up.

Funeral Services For Mrs. Oliver, 24, In Kilgore Today

Funeral services are to be held this afternoon in Kilgore for Mrs. Omega Charlene Oliver, 24, Snyder mother, who died early Friday morning.

Mrs. Oliver with her husband, J. B. Oliver, and a son Harold Wayne Oliver, and a daughter, Rebecca Oliver, lived in the Wagon Wheel Trailer Court in East Snyder.

She died at 7:15 o'clock Friday morning in Root Memorial Hospital, Colorado City.

Gaither Bell of Bell Funeral Home which handled local arrangements said he had not been notified of funeral and burial arrangement details by the Raider Funeral Home in Kilgore, although he learned that the funeral services will be held sometime this afternoon in the funeral home chapel there.

Mrs. Oliver is also survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Richardson, who live in the Wagon Wheel Trailer Courts.

Fuhrman Field Oiler

Signal Oil & Gas Co. has completed No. 1 Nora P. Ashton as a west extender to Glorieta production in the Fuhrman field of Central Andrews County.

The new oiler was completed on the pump for a daily potential of 146.76 barrels of 28.9-gravity oil. Production is from open hole section at 5,533-5,601 feet. Pay was treated with 500 gallons of mud acid and 10,000 gallons of regular acid.

It made 3.4 per cent water in addition to the oil.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 12-A-42-psl and seven miles southwest of the town of Andrews.

Two Producers In Claytonville Field

Southern Production Co., Inc., of Midland and Fort Worth has completed two producers in the Claytonville (Pennsylvanian) field of Southeast Fisher County.

Southern Production No. 1 Mary S. Easterwood, 660 feet from south and west lines of the northwest quarter of section 208-3-H&TC flowed 265 barrels of 45.7 gravity oil in 12 hours through a one-quarter inch tubing choke.

The production came from open hole at 5,620-60 feet. Gas - oil ratio was 8261.

Southern Production No. 1 Virginia Peters, 330 feet from south and east lines of the northwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section 209-3-H&TC flowed 253.66 barrels of 44.4 gravity oil in 12 hours through a one-quarter inch tubing choke on the completion test.

Casing pressure was 300 pounds. Flowing tubing pressure 825 pounds. Gas - oil ratio was 1,013-1. The production came from open hole at 5,660-5,731 feet.

Newly Opened Field

J. C. Barnes of Midland No. 1-B University is a new producer in the recently opened Shafter Lake, South Yates field of North-Central Andrews County.

The new oiler was completed for a daily flowing potential of 13 barrels of oil plus 10 per cent water through a one-half-inch choke.

Production is from perforations at 3,183-3,189 feet. That section had been treated with 500 gallons of acid. Gravity of the oil is 37.8 degrees. Gas - oil ratio was 596-1.

Location is 30 feet from south and east lines of the lease in section 39, block 13, University Lands survey.

Spraberry Completion

Magnolia Petroleum Co. has completed its No. 1-D A. L. Judkins as a new well in the Tex-Harvey Midland County.

It flowed 24 hours through a 24-64-inch choke to make an initial production of 409.62 barrels of 37.6-gravity oil and no water. Gas - oil ratio was 376-1. Tubing pressure was between 150 and 190 pounds and there was a packer on the casing.

Top of pay is 7,096 feet and total depth is 7,214 feet. Five and one-half inch casing is set at 7,083 feet. Open hole section was fractured with 11,000 gallons.

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 44, block 37, T-3-S, T&P survey.

Man Shot In Head Improved

The condition of Donald Huddleston, Knapp man, is improving, but he will probably remain in Brooke Army Hospital for several more weeks, Mrs. T. B. Knight, a family friend, said yesterday.

Huddleston underwent a head operation Dec. 19 for removal of a bullet which had struck him while he and two cousins were hunting about two miles east of Knapp.

Mrs. Knight said Huddleston is now able to be up and walk around some of the time.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Huddleston of Knapp, and was home on leave from the Navy at the time of the accident.

He was hunting with Billy Don Huddleston and Ellis Wright Huddleston.

Pecos County Location

Thomas T. Ellsworth of Midland has staked location for his No. 1 G. F. Simmons in the Abell (Silurian Mcntoya) field of North Pecos County.

Drillsite is 330 feet from south and east lines of lot 12, section 26, block 9, H&GN survey and on a 40-acre lease. It is three and one-half miles east of Imperial.

Rotary tools will be used to drill to projected depth of 6,250 feet. Operations will begin at once.

Natural Gas Expansion Curbs Due To Be Lifted In Spring

By CHARLES HASLET

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—Next spring may bring removal of the government's restrictions on expansion of natural gas service in several states and the District of Columbia.

The Petroleum Administration for Defense (PAD) so hints in reporting on a survey of the natural gas situaton. The report said the agency hopes to lift the curbs just as soon as defense needs for them pass and "this date, we believe, is not too far in the future."

The restrictive order, imposed by PAD in August, 1951, limits the number of new domestic customers in New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Delaware, the District of Columbia and parts of Michigan. It also requires PAD authority for the addition of new industrial consumers.

It is known that some government officials do not want gas companies and the states to rely indefinitely on the federal order in limiting the market to the quantity of gas that can be supplied satisfactorily.

DEMAND INCREASING

PAD said its survey showed the supply will be sufficient to meet peak demands this winter in most natural gas-served areas barring severe cold weather.

It said gas supplies probably will be adequate to cover overall annual needs if the industry realizes its expansion plans for the next four or five years.

But in two regions—Appalachian-Middle Atlantic and Upper Great Lakes—PAD said supplies would fall substantially short of demands estimated for the 1955-56 season because of lack of sufficient pipe lines.

Demand for gas is increasing. Peak daily demand of potential customers is estimated to reach 38 billion cubic feet by the winter of 1955-56. This compares with a peak of 25 billion in the 1951-52 season.

EXPANSION PLANNED

Utilities are planning expansion programs to help meet some of the increased demand.

PAD estimated that if all potential customers are to be served, another billion cubic feet would be needed in lines next winter, 1.7 billion more in 1954-55 and almost three billion additional in 1955-56.

J. Ed Warre, deputy PAD administrator, said that until the industry gets sufficient pipe line capacity and increases underground storage, it would have to control growth of the markets.

The PAD survey estimated that if gas utility companies are to supply all potential demands, they would have to lay almost 10 million tons of pipe from now through 1955. Six million tons would be needed for large pipe lines.

The actual large line construction "probably will fall somewhat short" of this, the agency predicted.

In 1950 a total of 1,723,000 tons went into large lines and in 1951 the figure was 1,728,000.

Scurry County Ellenburger Is Good On Tests

Humble Oil & Refining Co. No. 1 A. A. McMillian, wildcat in an undeveloped area of Central-East Scurry County, has flowed oil from the Ellenburger on two drillstem tests.

It is ¾ mile north and the same distance east of the Humble No. 1 Davidson which is the discovery well and lone producer in the Buffalo Creek Ellenburger field.

It is 660 feet from the north and west lines of section 10-3-H&TC. That makes it two miles southwest of the Hermleigh-Ellenburger field, nine miles southeast of Snyder and four miles northwest of Hermleigh.

Operator has set and cemented 5½-inch casing on bottom at 7,564 feet. Pipe will be perforated opposite the section of the Ellenburger so far drilled and that pay will be tested and the well will be completed.

In the first drillstem test of the Ellenburger from 7,533-7,553 feet the tool was open three hours and 34 minutes. It started flowing oil at the surface in 89 minutes and flowed for the remainder of the test at the rate of 22 barrels per hour. Flow through ⅝ - inch bottomhole choke and one inch top opening on the drill pipe.

In another drillstem test from 7,555-7,564 feet, the tool was open one hour and 50 minutes. Gas came to the surface in one and one-half minutes and oil flowed at surface in 20 minutes. Flow to the tanks for one and one-half hours was at the rate of 58 barrels per hour. There was no water. Flow again was through ⅝-inch bottom hole choke and one inch top choke.

No official top of the Ellenburger has been reported on the No. 1 McMillian. However, it is understood to be approximately 34 feet high to the top of the Ellenburger in Humble No. 1 Davidson in Buffalo Creek field.

The well will probably be the best Ellenburger producer yet completed in Scurry County.

Magnolia Gets New Midland Producer

Magnolia Petroleum Co. has completed its No. 10 Roy Parks as a new producer in the Parks (Pennsylvanian) field of Central West Midland County.

The well reported a 24-hour potential of 239.01 barrels of 44.3 gravity oil, flowing through a 17-64th inch tubing choke.

Gas - oil ratio was 1,677:1. The pay section had been treated with 200 gallons of acid.

Top of the pay is at 10,568 feet. Total depth is 10,648 feet. The 5½-inch casing is cemeted at 10-648 feet. That pipe was perforated at 10,568-578 feet for the completion.

It is 12 miles southwest of the city of Midland and 660 feet from north and east lines of section 9, Matt Daugherty survey, A-884.

TryCompletion In Borden Test

Bill Roden and associates No. 1 Belew, Northeast Borden County wildcat, showed oil in a drillstem test at 8,348-8,468 feet where in two hours it recovered 6,893 feet of oil and 308 feet of salt water.

Operator has set and cemented 5½-inch casing on bottom which is 6,892 feet and will perforate and test and try to complete an oil well from pay above the water.

It is yet undetermined if this pay section is Mississippian or Ellenburger. However, most interested observers think it is Ellenburger.

Oil Found In Mitchell Hole

In Mitchell County Humble No. 1 Lucy M. Coleman is at total depth of 3,106 feet in lime.

After having been shut in 48 hours over Christmas, it was opened and operator found 900 feet of free oil in the hole. That accumulated oil was bailed out and then bailed at the rate of one barrel of new oil per hour naturally. It is now preparing to treat open hole section above 3,106 feet with acid and test further.

Location is in the center of the southwest quarter of the northwest quarter of section 79-97-H&TC.

Andrews Offset Is Oiler

Gulf Oil Corp. No. 1-AD State is to be drilled as a west offset to a recently completed long north extender to San Andres production in the North Cowden field of Central - South Andrews County.

The new test will be dug 1,996 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 38-9University Lands survey. It is slated for a 4,750-foot bottom.

Location is 12 miles south of the town of Andrews.

Skelly Trying To Prove New Theory On Where Oil Found

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 27 (AP)—A tired drilling crew mopped its collective brow, turned to an excited geologist, and said quietly, "It's oil!"

That particular discovery well, drilled by Skelly, confirmed a new idea in petroleum prospecting—an idea that was to add hundreds of millions of barrels to the nation's known reserves in a few short years.

The theory of the geologists went something like this: Take an old, established oil field that had been prospected and drilled by comparatively crude methods to shallow depths. Strike out a mile or so from the limit of the field and sink a well, sometimes as much as three times as deep as the old field. There should be more oil in the area, just waiting to be found.

OIL LIMIT NEARED

Drilling on the flanks of old, established fields is one of the most important phases of oil discovery in the industry today. It is being successfully exploited in Louisiana, Texas, Wyoming and nearly every oil producing state, but it is especially effective in the Ardmore Basin of Oklahoma.

Harold J. Kleen, chief geologist for the Kerr-McGee Oil Co., who was district geologist for Skelly at the time of the new discovery, said it has probably contributed as much as any single factor towards keeping the nation's oil reserves at a record high.

Twenty years ago, people in and out of the oil industry faced a cold reality—in 10 years all the oil known to be buried beneath the U. S. would be used up at the current rate of consumption.

GREATEST RESERVE

When the 10 years were up, in 1940, those same people found surprisingly that they weren't being asked to use a substitute for gasoline in the family bus. The industry, in fact, boasted that through new discoveries the nation had its greatest oil reserve in history.

Now, at the close of 1952, that reserve is estimated as a record 26 billion barrels and oil companies are finding more each year than they are taking out of the ground.

Geologist Kleen gives two basic reasons for the continued discoveries:

1. Deeper drilling.
2. Improved seismic methods of exploration.

NOW DRILL FASTER

He said in 1929 when the lucrative Oklahoma City Field was discovered it took almost a year to drill to the 6,500 foot depth. Today, drillers bore to 15,000 feet in a little over four months.

Resolutions Ma de Only To Be Broken

Next Thursday a new year will be born, and with it will come many new year's resolutions, some of which will stick throughout 1953, but most will be just another good thought to become a passing fancy of the resolvers.

The custom of making new years resolutions, probably started by someone who broke his own resolutions, is a national institution of ours. Most resolutions are quietly whispered vows not muttered within ear shot of any witnesses so that breaking the resolution will only cause a short-lived quirk of the conscience, and will come as a blow to no one except the resolver who again admits to himself that habit is stronger than will.

On this page are pictured a number of children making resolutions that none of them have to worry about breaking, because none of the tots do the things illustrated.

The children found posing for the pictures comical, but one was left with a bitter taste in her month. She is three and one half year old Beverly Kay Sullinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Sullinger, 1008 Twenty - eighth Street, who posed to illustrate a possible adult resolution to cut down on smoking. She said the pipe tasted horrible, and she hopes that more persons will make the resolution this year, because smoke gets in her eyes.

All the ideas illustrated here are the most popular ones for adults to be includnig in their resolutions for another Year— and most of them are resolutions that have been made over and over, only to fizzle out before the new year cut eye teeth.

Wayne Burney, the four year old shown eating a bar of candy, actually enjoyed helping make the picture to illustrate the resolution that many persons will no doubt make in an effort to keep from buying a new girdle just one size larger this year.

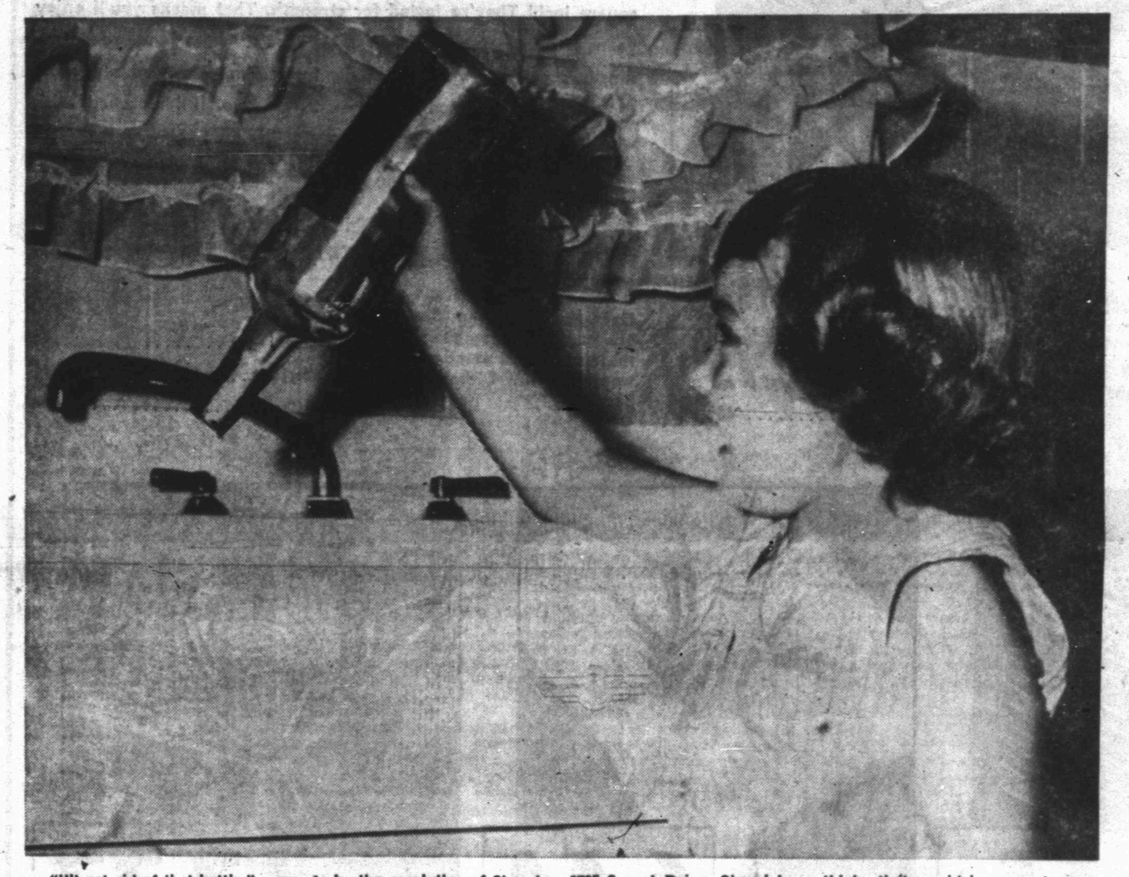
Wayne was starting on his second candy bar as the photographer shapped the picture, and right then his immediate resolution was to eat all of the five candy bars in the picture.

But Mrs. D. H. Burney, his mother, said Wayne is going to have to live by the resolution he illustrated, and cut down on his own eating somewhat.

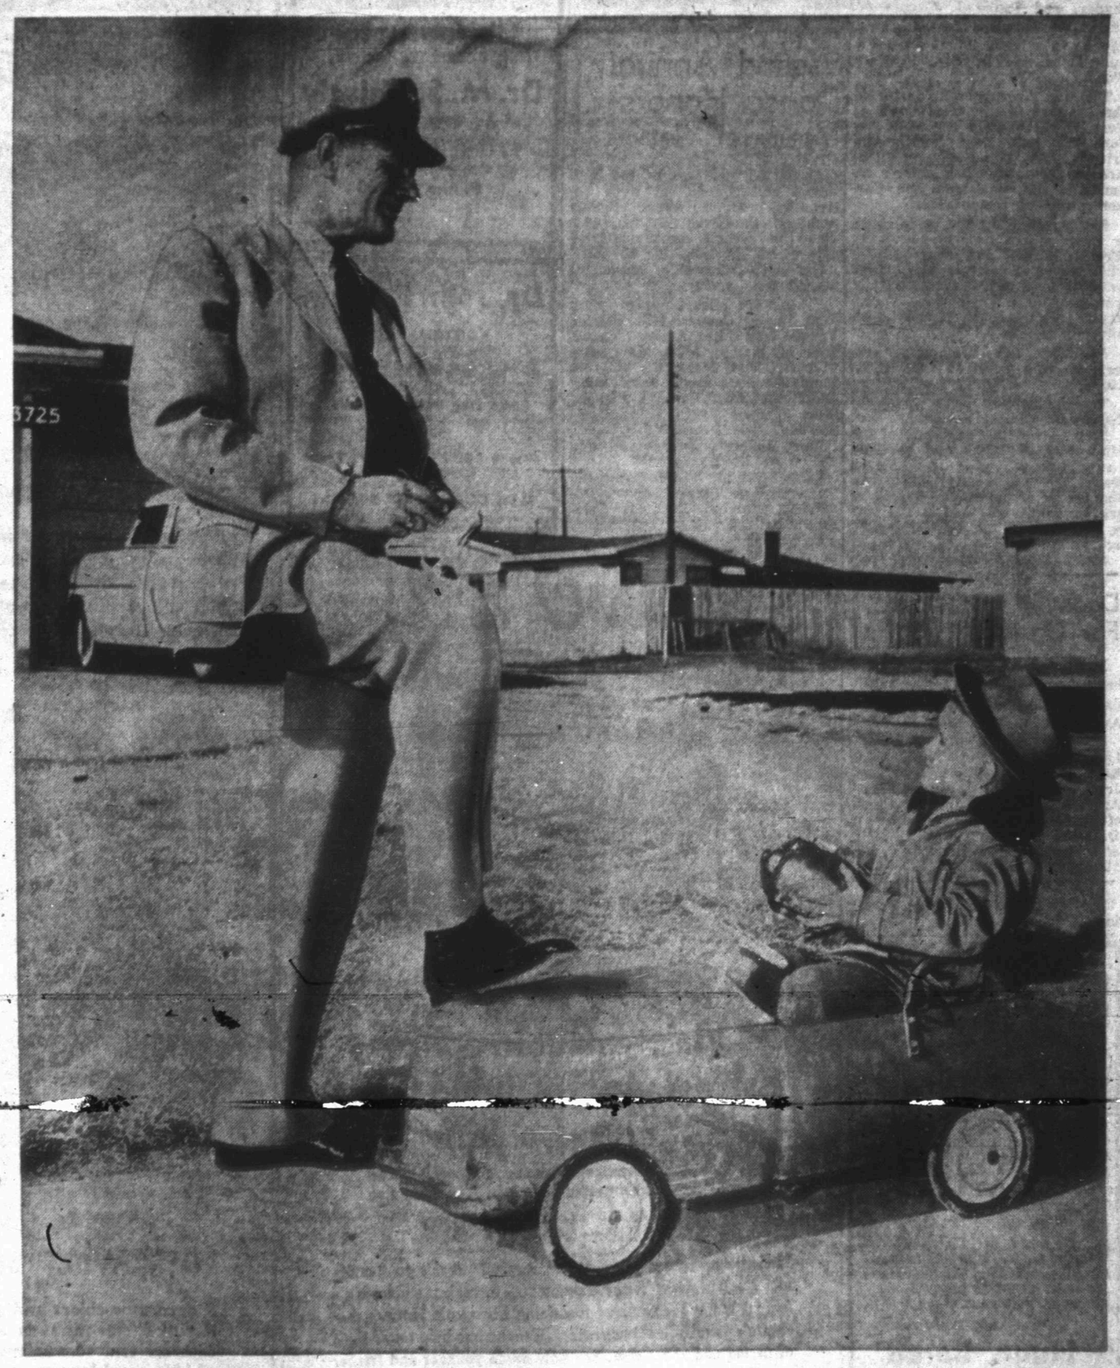
Adults requested to pose for these illustrations graciously declined, because most believed such wide publicity to their resolves would make them impossible to break without considerable teasing from friends. So as usual, most resolutions this year will be made secretly, with only an already scarred conscience to bear the burden of a broken resolution.

"I resolve not to wink at any more married women especially when their husband is around," was a resolution suggested for grown men by five-year-old Jimmy Sullenger. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Sullenger, 1008 Thirtieth Street, said that flirting eyes might be blacked with a fist, rather than lamp black like he used.

Beverly Kay Sullenger, above, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Sullenger, 1008 Twenty-eighth street, says she thinks a good new year's resolution for many adults would be to quit smoking. "That pipe tastes horrible," the three and one-half year old girl said when posing for the picture.



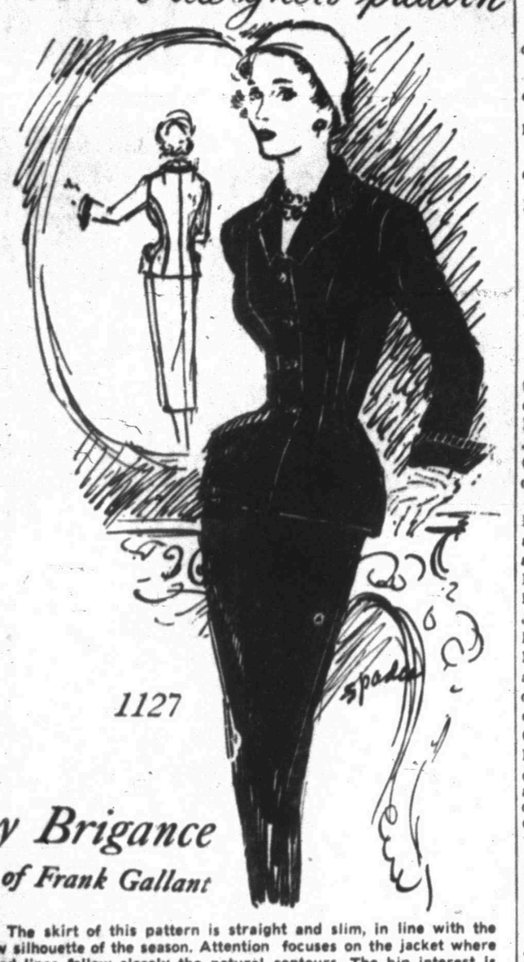
"I'll get rid of that bottle," seems to be the resolution of Sheryl Lynn Brown, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill L. Brown, 3725 Sunset Drive. Sheryl Lynn thinks that would be a good resolution for many adults to make this new years eve.



This is one lad who enjoyed posing for the new year's resolution pictures. He is Wayne Burney, four and one-half-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Burney who live two miles northwest of Snyder. He suggests that a good resolution for many adults would be that they plan to eat less during the coming year, although he doesn't think that would be an easy resolution for him to keep. (Lee Watson photographs.)

The driver about to get a speeding ticket above is Nolan Watson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Watson, who live in the 3700 block of Avenue V. The four-year-old speedster says he thinks one of the best new year's resolutions for many adults would be to not drive so fast any more. "They might get a speeding ticket like I am," he said. The officer is W. J. Ramsey, police sergeant, who told the lad the piggy-bank wouldn't be any help until he got to the judge with the ticket.

american designer's pattern



by Brigance
of Frank Gallant

The skirt of this pattern is straight and slim, in line with the new silhouette of the season. Attention focuses on the jacket where fitted lines follow closely the natural contours. The hip interest is played up by emphasizing pockets trimmed with velvet. Collar and cuffs are also trimmed. An odd shaped lapel adds to the custom look of haute-couture. Brigance works mostly with soft flannels and rich, nubby woolens. Any suiting materials would look fine though. The pattern is available in Brigance's own sizes 10, 12, 14, 16 and 18. If your body measurements are bust 34, waist 24 and hips 34½ you buy a size 10. If they are 35½, 25½ and 36, buy size 12. If they are 37, 27 and 37½ size 14. Size 16 will fit 38½, 28½ and 39. Size 18 will fit 40, 30, and 40½. Size 12 requires three yards of 54-inch material. To order send $1 to Spadea Syndicate, Inc., department 163, Box 535, General Post Office, New York 1, N. Y. For airmail handling enclose 25 cents. To order pattern booklet, Volumn VII send 15 cents. All patterns delivered within one week.

Miss Perry, Former Resident, Bruce Carson Are Married

Miss Ivan Perry, formerly of Snyder, and Bruce J. Carson of Austin were married Christmas day at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. W. R. Fox, in Fort Worth.

The Rev. Tom Sterck, pastor of the Matthew Memorial Church of Fort Worth read the ceremony before the immediate family and friends. Mrs. Leo Haney of Richardson, Tex., was her sister's attendant, and Paul and Jim Carson attended their father.

For her wedding the bride chose a navy silk suit with a navy French contour hat trimmed with rhinestones. Her Grecian - type sandals also were trimmed in rhinestones, and she wore a corsage of white orchids sprayed with silver glitter.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Hilton Hotel.

The couple will be at home at 2004 Mont Claire in Austin.

Mrs. Carson is a graduate of the University of Texas and received her master's degree from Texas Tech. She is currently working on her doctor of philosophy degree at the University of Texas. She was a member of the Snyder public school faculty for two years.

Mr. and Mrs. Carson are guests this week end in the home of her sister, Mrs. G. Edward Bolger, and Mr. Bolger, 3100 Hill Avenue.

Knight-Glenn Wedding Plans Are Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Milton Knight of San Antonio have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Naomi Knight, to Jimmy Mack Glenn, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Herman Glenn, Post Highway.

The wedding will take place Feb. 14 in San Antonio.

The bride-to-be was graduated from Hot Wells High School in San Antonio and attended business college. Mr. Glenn was graduated from Crane High School and is employed by the West Texas State Bank.

25 YEARS AGO

(Taken from files of the Scurry County Times Signal, Dec. 29, 1927.)

The sixty-foot brick front of the Joe Strayhorn building collapsed without warning about noon Wednesday. The entire brick front above the windows and doors tumbled over onto the awning with an awful crash, crushing the outer edge of the awning. Fortunately only one person was on the walk at the time, and he escaped uninjured.

Candlelight Rites Unite Miss Powers, Dan Gibson, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel M. Gibson, Jr., will be at home in Bryan following their wedding trip to Abilene.

In a candlelight ceremony Dec. 20 in the College Avenue Baptist Church in Bryan, the couple was married by Dr. C. F. Pitts. The bride is the former Miss Betty Ann Powers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lum Powers of Bryan. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Morgan Gibson, Clairemont route.

Palms formed the background for the candlebra holding white cathedral tapers. White gladioli and chrysanthemums in a basket arrangement completed the setting. Pews were marked with white satin ribbons.

Preceding the double ring vows, Mrs. Virgil Dean sang "Bless This House" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Durwood Thompson, organist.

The bride wore a white slipper satin gown with accents of chantilly lace. The long-waisted bodice was pointed in front and back with small satin buttons extending from the neckline to the front point of the basque. Her lace collar and sleeves were edged in pearls, and her fingertip veil of illusion was shirred to a Juliette cap of lace studded with seed pearls. She carried white roses arranged in a cascading sheaf and tied with white satin ribbon.

Miss Edna Ruth Powers, sister of the bride, attended as maid of honor. She wore a pink dress of net over taffeta fashioned with a bolero and floor - length skirt. She carried deep pink roses in a cascade - type bouquet with wide satin ribbons in matching shade.

Kenneth E. Gibson served his brother as best man. Bob Gibson, also a brother of the bridegroom, and Ray Smith, cousin of the bride, were ushers.

A reception was held in the church annex following the ceremony. Arrangements of white gladioli and palms were used in decorations. The bride's table was laid with a hand - crocheted cloth over pink satin and centered with pink and white floral arrangements. Members of the house party included Miss Etta Myrtle Smith of Jacksonville, Miss Patricia Barron, Miss Mary Wilson and Mrs. John Deegan, all of Bryan.

When the couple left on a wedding trip, the bride wore a brown suit with gold accessories and a corsage of rosebuds.

The bride was graduated from Stephen F. Austin high school in Bryan. The bridegroom is a graduate of Snyder high school and is a senior student at Texas A&M where he is majoring in mechanical engineering.

The bridegroom's parents were among out-of-town wedding guests.

Dangerous To Make Movie Of Someone's Life Story

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — In my book, the bravest kind of movie maker is the one who attempts to film somebody's real-life story.

What hazards the producer faces! Everybody gets into the act, including the family, friends and business associates of the person being portrayed. Some demand payment for the use of their names. Some threaten suit if their names aren't used. Some want the facts juggled so that life will seem more pleasant than it really was.

Then the picture is finally completed. The producer is bombarded by critics for making a watered-down or corned-up version of the person's life. And law suits for defamation of character or invasion of privacy start popping up all over.

That's why I consider Henry Blanke a brave man. He is now producing "The Grace Moore Story," based on the life of the late singing star.

"The legal clearances are indeed a headache," he sighed. "Even if you use fictitious names for certain characters, you have to be careful. If the character is unmistakably someone in real life, the person may have grounds for suit.

"We also have to be careful about source material. Our picture is primarily based on Miss Moore's autobiography, 'You're Only Young Twice.' If we use any other real material, we must be careful that it appears in at least two sources. If we take it from one source, the person who wrote it might be able to sue."

Blanke produced the distinguished biographies of Emile Zola, Louis Pastuer and Benito Quarez back in the '30s. He remarked that he even had troubles with those 19th century figures.

"There are always descendants of people involved in those stories and they can bring trouble," he said. "There was a relative of the villian in the Zola story who threatened suit. So we had to change the character's name."

He added that certain liberties have to be taken in real-life stories because of dramatic needs. For instance, the picture showed Zola writing "Nana" before the Franco-Prussian War instead of after. And Pasteur was pictured as finding a cure for childbed fever, while another scientist was actually responsible for it.

Blanke said that the Grace Moore film will stick as closely to the singer's life as possible. It will be concerned mostly with her early days.

"The climax of the picture will be her debut at the Metropolitan," he explained. "You see, in real-life stories, the problem is getting a dramatic story. The drama in Grace Moore's story was her struggle to get to the Met. After that came nothing but triumph—Hollywood, 17 trips to Europe, etc. Too much success doesn't make a dramatic picture."

He added that the story has also been tailored to the talents of Kathryn Grayson, who is playing Miss Moore. "They are two different kinds of people," he remarked. "Miss Moore was more the vivaious, peppy type."

The picture is being made at Warners, and that's a matter of poetic justice. Al Jolson, who scored his triumphs at Warners, had his biography made by Columbia. Grace Moore, who made millions for Columbia, is now being immortalized by Warners.

Capsule Review: "The Star" is a wonderful tour de force for Bette Davis. She plays a fading film star, but a less wacky one than Gloria Swanson portrayed in "Sunset Boulevard." Miss Davis gives it all she's got, and that's plenty. Though not great, the story is an arresting yarn about how a woman faces a fall from usefulness in a big industry. Everything is done with an eye for realism, including the star's makeup. She gets stalwart support from a cast headed by Sterling Hayden.

Wetter Wet Weather Is Latest Try

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP) — The weather bureau announced today it will make a new and different attempt to see whether man can make rain fall on a big scale.

Instead of trying to make apparently dry skies drop rain, the bureau will go to the wettest place in the United States—the Pacific Northwest—and see how much, if any, wetter it can make it.

The experiments will be conducted from the U. S. Naval Air Station at Sand Point, near Seattle, from late January to May and again during the fall and early winter of 1953. Ferguson Hall, weather bureau specialist in rainmaking experiments, will be in charge at Seattle.

At the start, a Weather Bureau spokesman said, the cloud seeding will take place over the southwest corner of the state of Washington, but the idea may be extended or changed.

The idea is to carry out something like a medical experiment, where one group of patients is used as a "control", permitting better scientific judgment of the results.

Like the doctors, the Weather Bureau wants to know not only what happens under treatment, but what would have happened had there been no treatment.

That is why the rainy Pacific Northwest was chosen for the experiment. The area has more rainy days than any other in the United States. This, the announcement said, will give the rainmakers a choice of many days when it is raining or practically certain to rain. On some of these "favorable" days planes on loan from the Navy will go aloft to seed rain clouds with the two standard weapons of commercial rainmakers — dry ice pellets and silver iodide fumes.

On other favorable days, nothing will be done.

In this way, the Weather Bureau spokesman said, it is hoped to discover how much rain falls, if any, when clouds are seeded on days when rainy conditions are present.

The Weather Bureau conducted rainmaking experiments, mostly near Wilmington, Ohio, in 1947 and 1948. It came up unconvinced that rainmaking is practical. The results, according to the Weather Bureau, showed:

1. Seeding could cause changes in cloud structure.

2. It apparently could cause some rain to fall, but how much was not clear.

3. Seeding only "milked" clouds of what rain moisture was already in them. That is, it did not set up conditions in which new moist air rushed in, building up new rain cloud formations.

Stock Market Gains More

NEW YORK, Dec. 27 (AP)—Stresses and strains of more than usual intensity affected the stock market this week but it came through in fine style for its third straight weekly gain.

Of outstanding importance was the way the stock market reacted to the discussion surrounding the Communist proposal for a meeting between Stalin and Eisenhower looking toward an end of the Korean War.

Many times in the past the stock market has been thrown into a complete dither of selling by even rumors of a move to end the Korean War.

The Communist proposal this time was certainly stronger than a rumor. Everyone in Wall Street appeared to keep their heads. Prices were marked down at the start of trading Friday, but thereafter they improved and the market as a whole ended mixed.

The whole thing was met in Wall Street with skepticism.

Right now the stock market is in a period when it is usual to advance—the traditional year-end rally.

Year-end forecasts by business and financial leaders had a rosy hue. Optimism was the keynote. And from the way the stock market has been acting, Wall Street believes the prophets.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained 20 cents on the week and closed at $115. It was the third straight weekly rise.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Sealed proposals addressed to the Honorable Commissioner's Court, Scurry County, Texas, Attention M. R. Estes, Consulting Engineer, will be received at the Office of Edgar Taylor, County Judge, Scurry County, Snyder, Texas, until 10:00 o'clock P.M. Jan. 12th, 1953, for furnishing all necessary materials, labor, equipment and superintendence for constructing a sewer line for the County of Scurry. The duration of this contract shall be 15 calander days from date of award.

Bidders must submit Cashier's or Certified Check issued by a Bank satisfactory to the Owner, for 5 per cent of the amount of the base bid, payable without recourse to the order of Scurry County, Texas, or a Proposal Bond in the sum of the same amount, from a reliable Surety Company, as guaranty that Bidder will enter into contract and execute bond and guaranty in the forms provided within ten (10) days after notice of award of contract to him. Bids without the required check or proposal bond will not be considered.

The successful bidder must furnish bond on the attached form in the amount of 100 per cent of the contract price from a Surety Company holding a permit from the State of Texas to act as Surety, or other Sureties acceptable to the Owner.

All unit prices must be in both script and figures. The Owner reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waiver formalities. In case of ambiguity or lack of clearness in stating the prices in the bids, the Owner reserves the right to consider the most advantageous construction thereof, or to reject the bid. Unreasonable (or unbalanced) unit prices will authorize the Owner to reject the bid.

Bidders are expected to inspect the site of the work and to inform themselves regarding the local conditions and conditions under which the work is to be performed. Attention is called to the provisions of Acts of the 43rd Legislature of the State of Texas, page 91, chapter 45, (Article No. 5159A Civil Statutes 1925) concerning the wage scale and payment of prevailing wages established by the Owner. Said scale of prevailing wage is set forth in the specifications.

Instructions to bidders, proposal forms, specifications, and plans are on file in the office of M. R. Estes, Consulting Engineer, Snyder, Texas.

Copies may be secured upon deposit of $10.00 to be returned to the Contractor on submission of bona fide bid on the work with such plans and specifications; or upon returning the Plans and Specifications immediately after examination of same, before the date of receiving bids and advising the Engineer that bid will not be submitted; otherwise, the deposit shall be forfeited.

438 Individuals Aided Here By Kiwanis Christmas Fund

Biggest total contributions ever made to the Kiwanis Club's Christmas fund resulted in aid to 83 needy families including a total of 438 persons, George E. Frazier, vice president of the club, said.

Frazier said approximately $18.90 was spent on each of the baskets of groceries distributed to the families for a total expendature of $1,512.25. Included in the food purchases by the club were bread, lettuce, celery, meats and all the trimmings for a bountiful Christmas dinner, he said. In addition to the foods purchased, much candy, nuts, and other typical Christmas delicacies were donated to the club which were not counted in the food expenditures.

Total contributions in cash to the Christmas fund were $2,022.35. After all purchases were made the club has a balance of $510.20 which will be kept in the Kiwanis charity fund, and will be spent during the year for food and clothing for needy families.

"If there are any needy families who were missed during the Christmas rounds by members of the club, contributions from the fund left over will be made if we are notified of the need," Frazier said.

None of the surplus money left in the fund will be spent for any other purpose by the club, and if it is not spent this year, it will serve as a nest egg for next year's drive, Frazier said.

Frazier said the club wishes to express gratitude to all individuals and organizations who helped make the Christmas fund a success this year.

"Without the help given by other service clubs, the Christmas fund could not have been successful to such an extent, because the Kiwanis Club lost money on the annual Negro football game this year," Frazier said.

REPORT TO PARENTS

Juvenile Workers Save Much Of Taxpayers Funds

By Dr. MARTHA M. ELIOT

It was quiet in the judge's chambers.

The 14 year-old-boy who sat, white-faced and tense, between his parents, waited for the judge to speak.

The judge took off his glasses and swiveled his chair around to look out the window.

He needed a moment before he could address this family, before he could tell the waiting boy that he had no alternative but to send him to an institution for delinquent juveniles.

To the judge, it was not a new situation; but each time it occurs, it adds a burden to this good man's conscience.

The judge takes a lot of time to look into the problems and circumstances of the families whose children come to his court. He does this himself, because he has no trained person to do it for him. In the evening, often at the sacrifice of his own family life, he will go calling on the family of a young delinquent to find out, if he can, why the youngster got into trouble.

Sometimes, he finds that the best thing to do for the delinquent child is to send him to a training school. But in many other cases, such as the one before him now, the judges wants to send the boy home, and can't do so if he only had some one on his staff who could work with the boy at home while he was on probation. But there is no trained social worker or probation officer on his staff. And no such person is available in the community, to whom the judge can turn.

This particular judge, who must be nameless, has told his friends that he lies awake nights worrying about these youngsters who have to be "put away" because there is no better way of helping them with their problems at home and in their own communities.

The judges in half the counties in this country face this problem, for in that many counties, there are no probation services for juvenile delinquents. And more than half the juvenile probation officers who are available do not have training that qualifies them for probation work. It takes skill to work toward a solution of the problems of juvenile delinquents—a skill that needs to be augmented by special training. A trained probation officer would be able both to investigate and make a report to the court on the child before his hearing, and follow him at home while he is on probation.

Each such probation officer, (whose salary generally ranges from $3,000 to $4,500 a year depending on the size of the community in which the court is, and other factors) can handle up to 50 children. These same children, if sent to a training school, would each cost from $1,000 to $3,000 a year to maintain and train.

This is foolhardy economy. The State of New Jersey has found this out. A report prepared by the Division of Community Services of New Jersey's Department of Institutions and Agencies estimates the State has saved about two million dollars in the past three years by making more extensive use of probation services for many delinquent children at home, thereby reducing the number committed to institutions.

But more important than saving this money is the opportunity given to the judges to choose the kind of help that each individual child needs, whether this be supervision at home by a skilled worker, or spending a period of time in a training school.

It is to be hoped that more and more States and communities will put into practice the lesson of this simple arithmetic and encourage both the training of probation officers and the inclusion of probation service in their programs for children and youth.

Showman Tires Of Soviet Zone, Returns Show, Family To West

BERLIN (AP) — Gustave Loeck has cracked the Iron Curtain, in search of joy—uncontrolled.

The 41-year-old carnival man slipped from the Soviet zone into West Berlin with his wife, two children, two wagons full of equipment, a comfortably furnished trailer and a merry-go-round.

"Show business, for the private enterprise, is finished in the Russian zone," Loeck commented from his trailer step, parked on a West Berlin lot while he awaits the chance to move to West Germany and set up shop again.

"Even joy is controlled over there," he said acidly.

A sort of a Mr. Five-by-Five, Loeck says he ate well in the East but things were getting tougher and tougher. Step by step he said, the Communist state squeezed his roadside operations until he faced the choice of eventually doing too little business to survive or getting out.

The old-fashioned German carnival which has excited Hans and Fritz for generations is looked on with disfavor in the Soviet area.

"They want what they call 'people's art' now," Loeck said with a wry grin.

"The kids aren't supposed to scratch around for a few pfennigs until they can manage that wonderful joy of buying their way onto a merry-go-round. Now the state must see to it that the children's fun is nicely controlled and arranged, with Stalin's picture at the end of it."

The steady trend to nationalizing everything in the East was creeping up on Loeck's carnival when he decided he had a belly full.

"Show people are often refused permission even to set up their merry-go-rounds and other amusement equipment," Loeck declared. "Often we were without the chance to work for months, but we had to pay taxes anyhow."

Now and then carnivals were allowed to establish themselves as part of a "people's art performance."

"They had to do it once in a while," he said, "to give the people some fun."

The Communist bosses are pretty callous about ordering carnival men around to this or that party celebration. Loeck and others were compelled to put on performances for the blue-shirted "Young Pioneers" at such reduced prices that it was a waste of time and often cost them money. To turn down such an "offer" would be to invite disaster.

The state sometimes would jump in and declare the carnival a "people's owned enterprise." The dispossessed owner would be lucky to avoid prison. So many of these road shows were seized in the last two years that the East zone organized a "United People's Owned Show Enterprises" corporation to handle them.

Two other factors threaten to wreck any private show outfits, Loeck said. One is the police ban against children visiting a carnival in the early evening hours. Any kids on the streets at this time are supposed to be enroute to Communist youth meetings. The second blow is the shortage of electric power, which has plagued the economically wobbly Russian zone for years.

Even the annual spurt that Christmas provides is being denied this year. The state banned the yearly Christmas fair and ordered holiday activity centered in the state-owned stores and ventures.

Loeck, busy now with paintbrush and tool giving his wagons brand new faces, expects over a period of months to ship each part to West Germany. There he hopes to peddle joy again, uncontrolled.

Necking In Cars In Louisville Parks Is Approved By Police

By HARRY PADGETT

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Dec. 27 (AP)—Snookering is no sneak proposition in Louisville parks. It is triple-police-protected.

Snookering? That's necking in a parked automobile. Police Chief Carl Heustis invented the word.

Louisville, with 1,955 acres of roughly wooded parks and 23 miles of paved parkways winding through them, is made to order for snookering.

Here you can park—and be romantic—in a park all night long, if you wish.

This Gateway City to the South is especially proud of one record:

Louisville has not had one instance of murder, molestation, major robbery or other crime in its parks in the memory of Parks Director Bill Moore or Police Lt. Christian Chope, who has headed the park police detail almost seven years and has been a policeman for more than 30.

"We're in favor of romance," says Chief Heustis. "We believe that our system of allowing snookering in the city's parks and providing police protection is the reason Louisville does not suffer lover's lane crimes."

Oldtime officials cannot recall how long the park-and-pet privilege has existed, nor how it all began. Moore said he thought it dated from the horse-and-buggy days.

In each of the five major parks — Seneca, Iroquois, Cherokee, Shawnee and Chickasaw—an area is set aside for parking. Iroquois, the largest, boasts the most popular precinct—a place called Lookout Peak. It is on a high hill overlooking Louisville's downtown area.

Chief Heustis says snookering gets triple protection this way:

1. Uniformed officers from the special park detail, which Lt. Chope heads, patrol the parks.

2. Regular uniformed policemen tour the parks in their prowl cars just as they patrol the other parts of their districts.

3. The crime prevention bureau of the police department maintains a vigil in the parks. The bureau personnel, both men and women, make tours of the parking spots in teams of two or three.

Despite the police blessing of snookering, there is no lack of morals or encouragement of such, Moore emphasized.

"The parking is a privilege, and a healthy one, which we feel is justifiable," he said.

He explained there is a sense of supervision ever present in the parking areas. Couples know it and benefit from it. The privilege is not abused.
