Social Security Beneficiaries Need Not Apply For Increase

Social Security beneficiaries need not apply for the 20 percent benefit increase signed into law by President Nixon July

1. Social Security District Manager, John G. Hutton, said today that all Social Security beneficiaries who are on the benefit rolls in September will receive the increase automatically.

The increase is effective beginning the payments for the month of September. The average monthly benefit for a retired worker goes up from $134 to $162; for a retired couple from $224 to about $271. A widowed mother with two children will receive an average Social Security benefit of about $386, up from $322.

For a disabled worker with a wife and one or more children, the new average monthly payment will be about $354, increased from $295. The special monthly payments that are made to certain individuals age 72 and over who are not insured for regular Social Security benefits will also be increased by 20 percent, from $48.30 to $58, for an individual and from $72.50 to $87, for a couple. The new law also includes a provision for automatic annual increases in Social Security benefits as the cost of living rises in the future -- a recommendation made by President Nixon in his 1969 message on Social Security. Under the new law the contribution and benefit base, the maximum amount of annual earnings that are counted for benefit and contribution purposes will rise from the present $9,000 a year to $10,800 in 1973 and to $12,000 in 1974.

Thereafter, this amount would be adjusted automatically to keep pace with rising wages. This means that as earnings rise, workers whose earnings are at or above the level of the maximum earnings base will pay contributions on higher earnings, but they also will have those additional earnings counted toward the benefits that will be payable to them and their families in the future.

Young Wreck Victim Dies Of Injuries

A car-tractor collision which occurred Friday one mile north of the Olton Feedyards has claimed the life of one of Olton's teenagers.

Injured in the mishap, Janie Jones, died Monday in the Methodist Hospital about 6:15. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Jones.

The accident occurred about 1 p. m. as Miss Jones was driving home from the Feedyards where she was employed as a bookkeeper. Driving a 1970 Oldsmobile Cutlass, Janie was traveling north on F 1072, W. M. "Bill" Smith, who was traveling east, was driving a 1966 IH tractor, and attempted to cross the pavement.

According to Bill Angel, investigating officer, Smith ran a yield sign and pulled out into the intersection and into the path of Miss Jones' vehicle. The left front of the car hit the right side of the tractor, breaking the transmission housing in two on the tractor and knocking a wheel off the tractor. The car traveled 45 feet after the impact stopping in the east bar ditch.

Miss Jones was rushed to the Littlefield Hospital, then transferred to the Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. Smith was also taken to the Littlefield Hospital where he was treated and released.

Born Sept. 5, 1952, Miss Jones was a member of the First Baptist Church. She was a 1971 graduate of Olton High School and would have been a sophomore at Texas Tech this fall.

Mosquito 'Fogging Machine' To Begin Spraying Again

City councilmen agreed Tuesday night that mosquito spraying with the city "fogging machine" between airplane sprayings was the only way to control the mosquitoes.

Mayor Parley Myers reported that he had been told that in 15 to 18 days (which is the time that lapses between airplane sprayings) that mosquitoes would have hatched three times.

Other business included the discussion of payment to city employees for extra pay for days worked which are normally their days off.

Council agreed unanimously that they should be paid for their extra hours.

Other discussion was about the city police going to accidents outside the city limits. Council asked Mayor Myers to instruct the policemen not to go outside the city limits unless they were called.

Also discussed was the fact that trash cans were still needed in some parts of the city and Mayor Myers again instructed Oran Hackler to leave the trash where it was not placed in the proper container.

Hackler told councilmen that the trash boys would pick up tree limbs that were blown off during the recent storm, but that it would take time to cover the entire city.

Made A Difference?

Would it have made a difference IF we'd had a hospital?

We've asked ourselves this question time and time again this week, following the accident which took the life of one of our precious young people.

Perhaps, in this incident, a hospital and doctor located in Olton would have made a difference. But who is to know about the next time.

Mr. and Mrs. Olton! The time for action is NOW! Not after it's too late. The fact that an injured person might be 30 to 45 minutes from medical aid instead of only 10 or 15 minutes could make a difference in some instances.

Why don't you make up your mind right now that you are going to help Olton build a hospital, then start your own personal campaign to get your friends interested in helping secure hospital facilities here.

We can do it!

A Beautiful Memory

Janie is gone. And we are going to miss her.

The entire community, old and young alike, has lost a good friend. Janie always had a bright smile for everyone she met....and a kind word.

But as was brought out in the message at her funeral services, we still all have a lovely memory, so she is not lost to us, really. We can recall her with a thought. We thought it was very fitting that Luis Rey sang at her services and that Mrs. Jenny Lynn Alford accompanied him. Mrs. Alford spent many hours working with Janie in choir and Luis sang many times with her. The song which was sung was ever so perfect, too. "Put Your Hand in the Hand of the Man." The two of them had sung it often.

Janie's life, though short in terms of years, was a full life. And we shall always be thankful for having known and loved her.

Sportsmanship

As we go into the homestretch with our baseball program, we have to take time out and say it's been another great summer program for all our little boys.

We are so grateful for all the men who took time from their jobs to coach our sons and to the mothers and sisters who worked in the concession stands, goes a great big thank you, too.

The baseball program, like most sports, helps to prepare our youngsters for their lives in the future, helps them to meet challenges and come back after disappointments.

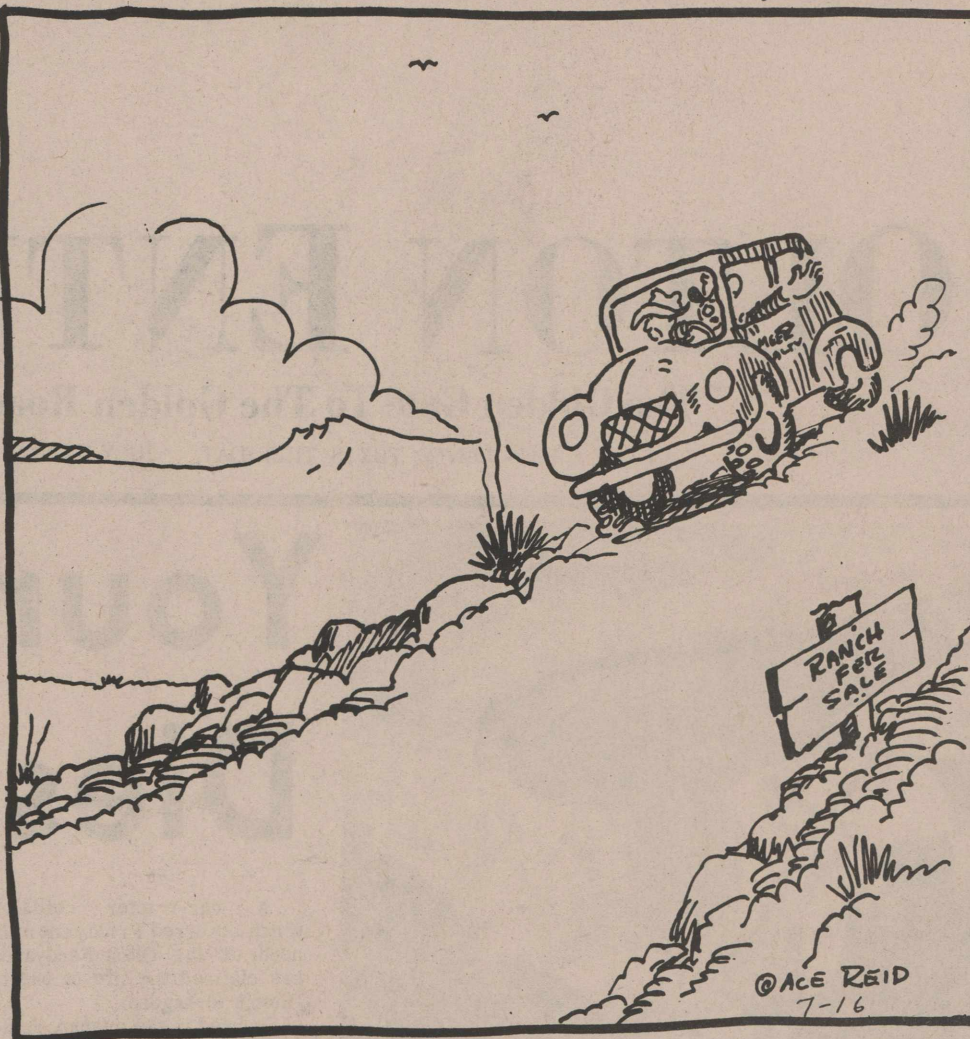

It is our responsibility as adults to set an example before our children and we hope that in moments of anxiety over a call with which we disagreed, that we conducted ourselves in such a manner as to set an example in sportsmanship. We feel that this is also true of the officials with which we might have disagreed. After all, how can we teach our children to roll with the punches if we can't?

It all goes back to the old saying, "It matters not whether you win or lose - it's the way you play the game."

Death Penalty

The Supreme Court, in a 5-to-4 decision, has declared the death penalty to be unconstitutional, basing this ruling on the eighth and 14th amendments to the U. S. Constitution.

The eighth amendment says, "Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted."

The 14th amendment is understood to require the 50 states to conform their laws to the constitution as interpreted by the Supreme Court, with emphasis on "the equal protection of the laws."

The question arises, "Is the death penalty for murderers cruel and unusual punishment, within the meaning of the eighth amendment? Was this intended to be so understood when the amendment became a part of the Constitution?"

Four of the nine Supreme Court justices, including the chief justice, hold that capital punishment is not contrary to the intent of the eighth amendment. Voting to allow the state governments to continue to use the death penalty were Chief Justice Burger and Justices Blackmun, Powell, and Rehnquist.

History and logic are on their side. It is obvious that the eighth amendment was not intended to prohibit capital punishment. If such an intention had existed, the death penalty would never have been used in the entire history of our country.

Louie L. Wainwright heads the Florida prison system. Florida had 97 convicts who had been sentenced to death when the Supreme Court decision was announced. Wainwright described the situation in the prison system for which he is responsible as "dangerous," saying, "I fear for the staff . . . and other inmates" — referring to prison inmates other than murderers.

He pointed out that in 1957, in Florida, there were some murders committed in prison. In 1959, the killers were convicted and executed. Potential killers were thus on notice that the death penalty for murder would be enforced. "From 1962 through 1968," he added, "there were no murders in Florida prisons. However, there have been seven murders in our prisons in the last six months." During this time there was widespread belief that the Supreme Court would abolish the death penalty.

Ramsey Clark, when he was U. S. attorney general during the Johnson administration, stated that he was against the death penalty because of his "reverence for life."

This sounds pretty, but the relevant question is, "For whose life should we have reverence?"

The Bible makes it quite plain that God — unlike Ramsey Clark and the others who hold similar views — has no reverence at all for the life of the murderer. God's word is, "Whoso sheddeth man's blood — by man shall his blood be shed."

The commandment, "Thou shalt not kill," appears in Exodus, chapter 20. In chapter 21 of the same book there is this statement: "He that smiteth a man so that he die shall be surely put to death."

What could be clearer?

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

When the school bells ring this fall, Texas school children will be among the best-immunized in the country.

The reason, according to State Health Commissioner Dr. James E. Peavy, is the state's compulsory immunization law. Under the regulations, grade school level children (and those attending day care centers) must be immunized against five communicable diseases — diphtheria, tetanus, poliomyelitis, measles and rubella. Measles immunization is not required if there is a history of measles illness. And smallpox, which originally was a required immunization, was removed from the list by the State Board of Health, which sets immunization guidelines for the schools.

Junior high school, high school and college-level students have lesser requirements for immunizations, said Dr. Peavy.

The Health Commissioner noted that immunizations should have been started by last January 1 and must be completed, according to age levels, before starting school this fall.

"I feel that almost all school children will have completed these requirements," said Dr. Peavy. About the only misunderstanding in the regulation was in the college level, he said.

"If a collegian is 19 years of age or over, the only requirement is for the adult type tetanus-diphtheria immunization, or a booster shot within the past 10 years."

Dr. Peavy said local health units throughout the state contributed toward meeting the large demand for immunizations, and private physicians have boosted the total. In 1971 almost 4.5 million doses of vaccine were administered to Texans during regular local health unit clinics and special campaigns.

Dr. Peavy said the immunization law is a good one—one that had been needed for a long time. It forces parents to protect their children and in so doing protect themselves, their friends and relatives from these preventable diseases.

"We are anxious to have children immunized long before they start to school," said Dr. Peavy. "In fact, they should start in the first year of life," he said.

"I feel that the immunization results will be reflected in the preventable disease total," said the Health Commissioner. "From past experience we have seen a steady decline in preventable diseases — except venereal disease," he said.

Dr. Peavy said it was imperative that the very young children receive immunizations since a lot of diseases appear in those two years of age and younger. "The best prevention is early immunization," he said.

Dr. Peavy said there has been good cooperation from everyone concerning the mandatory immunization law, which has co-sponsorship of the Texas Medical Association.

The law even allows exclusions from compliance for religious reasons, or where a physician licensed by the Texas Board of Medical Examiners feels that immunizations are medically contraindicated.

Many school districts had varying immunization requirements, but none were standard. "Some just had smallpox, while others required several immunizations. Now, however, they will be uniform throughout the state," said Dr. Peavy.

All schools will be required to maintain records of the immunization status of individual students, and this is a king-size job. Total registration for special education, kindergartens and grades one through 12 is expected to surpass 2.8 million students. Of these, almost a quarter-million will be entering first grade.

The end result of the mandatory program will be reflected in better health for all Texans, a goal of the State Health Department in its immunization program, said Dr. Peavy.

MRS. CHARLES STEVEN HANES

Candlelight Ceremony Unites Steve Hanes And Gwyn Moore

Wedding vows were solemnized June 26 in the Church of Christ in Friona for Miss Royetta Gwyn Moore and Charles Steven Hanes.

Officiating was Loyd L. Smith, minister. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Moore of Friona, former residents of Olton, and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hanes of Hart.

The double ring ceremony was pledged before an altar decorated with a tree branch arch adorned with blue flowers and white doves. An arrangement of white gladioli and kneeling bench were flanked by candle arches, spiral candelabra trees and seven branch candelabras. Family pews were designated with votive candles surrounded by greenery, blue carnations and blue ribbons.

A group of five, led by Homer Martin of Lubbock, presented vocal selections "I Pledge My Love," "Whither Thou Goest," "The Lord Bless You and Keep You," "I'll Walk Beside You" and "Sweetheart Tree."

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of Ivory silk organza fashioned with Venice lace accenting the high Victorian neckline. Tiny tucks with appliques of re-embroidered Alencon lace adorned the long lantern sleeves, cuffs and the yoke of the Empire bodice. Lace motifs encircled the waistline and accented the A-line skirt. Narrow bands of Venice lace encircled the hemline and edged her detachable chapel length train.

Her Juliet headpiece held her lace edged mantilla which flowed chapel length. She carried garlands of stephanotis and carnations topped with a white orchid and accented with a shower of white satin streamers.

For "something old," she carried an heirloom lace handkerchief which had been carried by brides in the Hanes family for many years. She wore a blue garter, designed with tiny rice bags and made by the groom's aunt.

Kenna Moore of Friona was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Lisa Moran of Childress and Camilla Murray of Kress.

They wore formal length gowns of blue crepe designed with sleeveless Empire bodices with scooped necklines and large collars. They carried nosegays of blue mums tied with greenery and green satin streamers.

Karen Moore of Chillicothe was flower girl. She carried flower petals in a lace basket showered with blue streamers. Candles were lighted by Bret Moore, brother of the bride, and Chris Hanes, brother of the groom.

Clay Hanes, brother of the groom, was best man. Guests were seated by Bobby Moore, brother of the bride, Andy Bratcher of Lamesa and Mark Moudy and Smitty Covey, both of Lubbock. Tim Moore of Chillicothe was ring bearer.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Moore chose a jacket dress of ivory and gold embossed cotton. She wore a corsage of cymbidium orchids. Mrs. Hanes wore a dress of imported yellow polyester knit with lace knit bodice. She wore a cymbidium orchid corsage.

A reception was held in the fellowship room of the church. The bride's table was laid with blue satin, scalloped edged cloth with white net skirt. Tri-branched candelabras with blue tapers complemented the table decor. Punch and the traditional three-tiered wedding cake were served from silver and crystal appointments.

The newlyweds are at home at 701 West Halsell, Dimmitt, following a wedding trip to Lake City, Colo. For travel, the bride wore a floor length dress fashioned with long sleeved beige blouse and two-toned beige skirt. Lace accented the neckline and cuffs. She wore an orchid corsage lifted from the bridal bouquet.

The bride is a 1970 graduate of Friona High School. She received a two-year secretarial certificate from Lubbock Christian College.

Hanes is a 1969 graduate of Hart High School. He is a senior at Lubbock Christian College. Attending from Hart were Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Deryl Clevenger and Mrs. Dwight Miller and Tony. WALK WITH GOD---ATTEND CHURCH REGULARLY!

Baseball is one of the few experiences of life in which you learn immediately and unquestionably whether you're safe—or out.

In other pursuits we can go on for years thinking we're safe when we're not.

Of course, in life as in baseball it is what a man attempts and decides to do, and how well he fulfills his aim, that determines whether he'll be safe. And in life, too, each venture calls for determination and a knowledge of the rules.

For many youngsters in our community the church is the sandlot of life. In the church's youth activities they find their training and experience—for one day on the "diamond" of life they'll be making decisions and pitting their strength against serious challenges, relying on the religious convictions and moral principles they gained on the way up.

In weighing your child's need of spiritual development remember this: In life, each day doesn't offer a new ball game!

HE'S SAFE!

Pants & Pantsuits Accepted As A Major Clothing Article

Pantsuits seem to be here to stay.

"Women of all ages, interests and lifestyles consider pants a mainstay in their feminine wardrobes," said Texas Agricultural Extension Service clothing specialist Becky Dunlap.

Miss Dunlap said that pants and pantsuits have been accepted as a major clothing article.

"Length, perhaps more than anything else, distinguishes the many styles and types of pants on the fashion scene," she said. "Pant lengths may strike the figure at any and all intervals--from the shortest of shorts to those which graze the floor or at any combination (layering) of lengths."

However, she said that length by no means determines the occasion for which pants are to be worn. Shorts no longer mean summer sports, just as long pants no longer are appropriate only for casual wear.

Current fashions include pants that rise high at the waistline, with self belts hanging the midriff. A new emphasis is trousseau pleats at the waistline in a men's wear mood. Cuffs are becoming increasingly popular and so are pant lengths rolled up to mid-calf or above. Flared lines are popular, with many reaching widths of 27 or more inches.

"With so many styles of pants available, it becomes most important to select a style that minimizes figure faults while emphasizing good features," the Texas A&M University specialist noted. "Conduct a careful self analysis in front of a full-length mirror. Try to see your reflection as others do. What are the good points? Which ones would be best forgotten?"

A tall, thin figure wears all kinds of pants especially well. A too-thin figure can add pounds by choosing pants and pantsuits of richly textured fabrics or by layering separates. For example, an outfit composed of a blazer, vest, blouse and pants would add several layers and pounds. Likewise, contrasting belts, waist insets, tops and pants and crosswise stripes will cut one's height.

"Short, thin figures best wear pantsuits in one lively color, light textured fabrics and medium-scaled prints and patterns," Miss Dunlap said. "Matching hosiery and shoes when worn with short pants give this figure an illusion of added length."

Fit is especially important for a too-thin figure, since a too-tight pant reveals willowy legs. And a too-loose pant may tattle on a lack of curves.

Straight-legged trousers and smooth back-seam closings make great choices for tall, full figures. For full thighs, choose a bodice detail that draws the eye upward on the figure. Rich, subdued colors and subtle contrasts flatter the full figure.

Simple, vertical lines, straight legs and an easy, un-revealing fit are ideal for the short, curvaceous woman. A lightweight, smooth surfaced fabric is most flattering. "Every woman can enjoy the fun and excitement of wearing pants if she knows herself and chooses pants with her individual characteristics in mind from the many fashionable styles available," Miss Dunlap concluded.

RETURNS HOME

Miss Janice Cooper of Cleveland left Thursday for Garland after visiting two weeks with her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lyndol Kinser, Jimmy, Sheree and Kristal.

Girls' All-Star Basketball Slated At Wayland College

Excitement mounts among Texas and Oklahoma women's basketball fans as time for the two-state Girls' All-Star Basketball game is now only about two weeks away. The annual event in its third year will take place in Hatcher's Physical Education Center on the Wayland Baptist College Campus in Plainview July 22 at 8:30 p. m.

The bout promises to be a challenge for both teams, each of which have advantages in different areas.

Texas will face a 5.1 advantage in scoring with Oklahoma claiming a point average of all members at 31.3. An average of individual points per game for the Texas girls places the team at 26.2.

Peggy Province of Choctaw High School, Choctaw, leads the Sooner state girls to this high average with her medium of 39.7, and next in line is Sharon Williams of Tushka High School, Tushka, with 36.6.

Topping the Lone Star Starters with 29.7 Karen Spain from Hockaday High School in Stephenville slightly over-reaches her teammate Rosemary Brown who averaged 28.5 at Rivercrest High School in Talco.

An average of individual rebounds of each of the All-Star teams also points to Oklahoma as the leader. Rush Springs, Okla., sends Vicki Sizemore from Rush Springs High School to contribute a 15.5 rebounding average to her state's players. She is followed by Mangum High School's Mary Jane McDaniel of Mangum, Okla., Miss McDaniel rebounds at 12.8 per game. Combined averages of the team reach 9.3.

From Tuloso Midway High School in Corpus Christi, roundballer Betsy Williamson hits a norm of ten rebounds, and Cindy Payton brings a nine-per-game to the Texas players. Hailing from Lubbock, Miss Payton represents Cooper High School. The team stands at 7.8.

Looking from another angle, however, the Texans have an advantage over the Oklahoma fem netters in height. Ranging from 5-7 to 6-2, Texas over-shadows the Sooners who have heights as low as 5-3 and as high as 6-2.

The two teams will begin workouts in the Hatcher Center July 17 and 18 under their coaches, Harley J. Redin, Plainview, and Ron Butler, Ranger, for Texas and Charles Healy, Lindsay, and Ben Sasser, Piedmont, for Oklahoma. During the practice week any high school team who wishes to visit is welcome, according to Redin, who is the host coach.

Seating for 3,000 spectators is available at $2 each. Advance tickets are on sale now by mail at the Wayland Ticket Office, Wayland Baptist College, Plainview, Tex. 79072.
