Big Five Offer Concession To Middle Powers In Peace Plan

Parley Moves Up Probable Closing Date

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, May 29—The Big Five held out to middle powers today the right to take a hand in peace-enforcement decisions of a new world league when their armed forces would be used to prevent war.

There were these additional developments as the major powers tried to spur the United Nations conference into a finishing sprint:

1. The American delegation was reported willing to back a Norwegian request that Denmark be admitted as the fiftieth nation at this Golden Gate meeting.

Russian Questions

2. Though Russia has raised some new questions, assurances were circulated that final agreement is near among the great nations on the question of international trusteeships.

3. American delegates now talk informally of completing the charter for a new world league by June 11. The unofficial goal has been June 6.

4. The Big Five—the U. S., Britain, Russia, France and China—considered asking the policy-making executive committee of the conference to prod laggard committees and, if necessary, write agendas for them to follow from now on.

5. In a three-hour meeting with assistant Secretary of State Nelson Rockefeller, Latin-American delegates looked over such conference issues as veto powers, political aspects of trusteeships, future amendment of the charter, and compulsory jurisdiction of a new international court.

Latins Not A Bloc

No decisions were made and Latins said there had been no intention to make any, since, they explained, their states are not acting as a bloc but as individual nations.

6. United States delegates were reported to have decided to support an "optional" clause for jurisdiction of the world court. Un-

DISARMING THE ENEMY—This close-up view of infantry fighting is one of the action scenes from "Here's Your Infantry," the Army ground forces presentation of infantry courage, skill and training, which will be staged at the Tech stadium tonight at 8 o'clock. The demonstration above shows how an unarmed infantryman can disarm an enemy armed with a rifle and is part of the thrill-packed two-hour exhibition which culminates in an action-filled attack on a pillbox in which all infantry weapons are featured.

Real War To Be Depicted At Texas Tech Stadium Tonight

Armed to the teeth with deadly automatic weapons, "Here's Your Infantry" show personnel of 39 combat veterans arrived in Lubbock Tuesday afternoon and immediately began making preparations for the presentation of a gigantic War bond spectacle tonight at 8 o'clock at Texas Tech stadium.

This morning at 9 o'clock they will stage a parade through downtown Lubbock and go to the Lindsey theater where a program will be staged for employes of Lubbock stores who will also march in a body from their respective stores to the theater. Stores will open only to admit employes at 9 o'clock and then remain closed to the public until 10 o'clock.

Formation Of Parade

The band from "Here's Your Infantry" show is to begin playing at Broadway and Ave. L and employes of firms in that vicinity will begin forming the parade and march up Broadway, with employes from other stores falling in line behind, carrying placards bearing names of firms they represent. The group will proceed on Broadway to Ave. G, turn northward to Main and go westward on Main to the Lindsey.

This afternoon from 1 until 4 p. m., infantry weapons to be used in the show at the stadium will be on exhibit near the courthouse square where the public may inspect them, handle them and watch them assembled and disassembled.

This afternoon at 6:30 o'clock, the personnel of the infantry show will stage another parade through downtown Lubbock in advance of the presentation at the stadium at 8 o'clock.

Thousands Expected

Thousands of spectators are expected to be present in the stadium when the combat veterans stage a simulated realistic jungle attack with infantry weapons—rifles, machineguns, bazookas, mortars and flame-throwers — to be climaxed by a thrilling sham assault on a Jap pillbox. Many hundreds of rounds of blank ammunition, more than 20 TNT high-explosive charges and gallons of thickened gasoline shot by flame-throwers are used to lend battle realism.

The battle-demonstration unit has 81-mm and 60-mm mortars, the infantry's portable artillery. Spitting fire and explosions, all

Kerr New OPA District Chief

Appointment of Earl Kerr as active district director of the Lubbock district of the Office of Price administration was announced Tuesday afternoon.

The announcement was received by the district office from Regional OPA Administrator W. A. Orth of Dallas, following approval by Chester Bowles, national OPA administrator.

Succeeds Gholson

Kerr is to succeed Howard Gholson, who resigned recently after serving as district director since opening of the district office in October, 1942.

Kerr has been with the OPA since the office opened here, and has served as administrative officer and division of boards executive. He recently submitted his resignation, at the same time several other officials resigned, but no action had been taken on his resignation, it was said here.

Native West Texan

A native West Texan, Kerr was reared in Lubbock county, and has a farm near Lubbock at present. He is a graduate of Abilene Christian college and has done graduate work at Texas Technological college. He has taught, worked with Shell Pipe Line corporation, operated a grocery business, and filled administrative posts with other government agencies.

He will hold the position of acting district director, pending action on Civil Service commission formalities.

The area in which he will serve includes 71 counties extending from the top of the Panhandle to the Rio Grande, along the western part of the state.

House Takes Up Plans To Quit June 2

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, May 29 — The House late today took up a resolution to adjourn the general session of the legislature June 2 after sending to the Governor three major appropriation bills, then quit until tomorrow without reaching a vote on the final adjournment date.

Because the Senate previously had approved them, the House acceptance of conference committee reports sent to the Governor's desk bills appropriating for the next bienium $27,637,952 for state departments, $25,563,449 for state-supported colleges, and $2,518,110 for vocational education.

Similar Senate Action

The Senate had adopted similar reports on the judiciary and rural aid bills and these were awaiting House consideration as one of the last items of major business remaining on the calendar.

A House attempt to return the departmental bill to conference committee for further study was defeated. The House then accepted the report, 69 to 59.

If the House adopts the two outstanding reports on major appropriations the bills will total approximately $104,992,101, an increase of about $17,886,847 over current biennium appropriations for the same purposes.

The present biennium ends Aug. 31 and the new one begins Sept. 1.

Closed Shop Proposal

The House also—apparently as part of its cleanup business—refused to give final approval to a resolution submitting a constitutional amendment to outlaw the closed shop in Texas, when the resolution received a vote of 60 to 53 on final reading. One hundred affirmative votes are required in the House to submit a constitutional amendment.

The House earlier in the session passed a bill with the same purpose and the bill is now on the Senate calendar.

The Senate had long since indicated its willingness to end the general session promptly and probably will adopt any House concurrent resolution proposing an adjournment date in the immediate future.

The Senate passed and sent back to the House, with amendments, a bill providing additional state funds for an officer returning a fugitive from justice to a county on either misdemeanor or felony charges.

Floyd Pioneers Enjoy Reunion

FLOYDADA, May 29 (Special) Approximately 450 of the "old-timers" of Floyd county attended the celebration here today of the fifty-fifth anniversary of the county.

A colorful parade opened the festivities this morning, with pioneers and youngsters alike decked out in full cowboy regalia and mounted on some of the best horses ever seen on the South Plains. Leading the parade were George L. Fawver and G. I. Snodgrass, both of whom were residents of this county more than forty years ago. Additional color was given the event by the presence of Col. Dan W. Jenkins, who returned to Floydada yesterday after spending two years in a Nazi prison camp.

Picnic Lunch At Noon

At noon pioneer residents, as well as veterans of the present war, were guests at a picnic luncheon served on the courthouse lawn.

Principal address of the day was given by Rev. Floyd Dawson of Lubbock, who is a native son of Floyd county; and later Judge Alton B. Chapman of the 110th District court spoke at the memorial service which was conducted for the pioneers of Floyd county and for servicemen who have died in service.

In the election of officers for the pioneer's association, Mrs. Ella B. Starks was elected president; Mrs. Maude E. Hollums, secretary; and George Fawver, treasurer.

Hated Lord Haw Haw Captured By British

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

LUENEBURG, May 29—"Lord Haw Haw," notorious British renegade who broadcast for the Nazis during the war, lay seriously wounded and scowling here tonight while British soldiers shouted "you yellow traitor—in our hands at last."

The 39-year-old prisoner, born William Joyce, was shot in the thigh yesterday by a British officer who captured him near Flensburg when he made a threatening move in his pocket as though clutching a revolver.

Brought here tonight in an ambulance, he was placed on exhibition for five minutes so that British Tommies sould get a glimpse of one of the most hated men in England. Then he was taken to a hospital. A senior British intelligence officer indicated he would be taken to Britain as soon as possible.

The short, scar-faced man appeared to be in good health despite the bullet wound and just stared sullenly at correspondents who had waited three hours to see him. He was dressed in blue and white striped pajamas.

A woman believed to be Haw Haw's wife was captured 10 days ago at Flensburg and also was brought to British Second Army headquarters here. She is a small, dark-haired woman in her thirties.

Joyce was seized near the Danish frontier yesterday, dressed in an expensive civilian suit. Two officers were collecting firewood when he approached them and engaged in casual conversation. Several remarks caused the officers to suspect him.

Challenged as "Lord Haw Haw," he unhesitatingly admitted his identity. Then, the officers said, he made a slight movement in his pocket as though clutching a revolver. One of the officers quickly drew his own gun and shot him.

Photos Show Much Of Tokyo Lies In Ashes

Palace Area Among Great Devastation

By HAMILTON W. FARON
Associated Press Staff Writer

GUAM, Wednesday, May 30—The heart of Tokyo has been wiped out by Superfortress firebomb raids, 21st Bomber command headquarters announced today while squadrons of the B-29s were returning from an incendiary assault on Yokohama, new target for the big planes.

Maj. Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, commander of the 21st Bomber command, said photographs showed that more than 51 square miles of Nippon's capital, including areas surrounding the imperial palace, lay in ashes as the result of six fire raids.

500 Pound Yokohama

Nearly 500 Superforts hit Yokohama yesterday in the biggest daylight aerial strike against Japan, igniting block after block of the port city with 3,300 tons of fire bombs.

The B-29s from Marianas bases turned their fire-raiding attention to Yokohama for the first time after their attacks on Tokyo. The last two assaults on the capital city, Thursday and Saturday before dawn, dumped a total of better than 8,500 tons of incendiaries on industrial, business and governmental areas.

"We have destroyed all of the target areas we have set out to destroy," said LeMay, speaking of Tokyo raid results.

Airmen making the Yokohama strike said Japanese aerial opposition was ineffectual, but anti-aircraft fire was intense.

Two Bombers Lost

(The 20th Air force command announced in Washington that two bombers were lost. This contrasted with 19 lost over Tokyo in last Saturday's raid, heaviest B-29 loss yet sustained.)

Airmen returning to the 21st Bomber command base here from the Yokohama raid said smoke billowed four to five miles above the city, Japan's fifth largest.

"Black smoke, such as comes from burning oil storage tanks, was billowing high into the sky," Lt. Frank Klassen of Ford City,

Yanks Storm Into Moated Castle Shuri

By LEIF ERICKSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

GUAM, Wednesday, May 30. — United States Marines stormed their way Tuesday inside the moated, medieval castle of Shuri, keystone strongpoint in the center of the flanked Japanese defense line on southern Okinawa. It was former headquarters of the Japanese commander on the embattled island.

Leathernecks of the First Marine division, surprising some Japanese swimming in a moat surrounding the fortress, uncorked the dramatic drive while other Marines of the Sixth division on the west coast invested all of the rubble-strewn city of Naha north of the main harbor.

Situation Not Clear

Whether the Devildog company which fought inside Shuri castle held its position or later had to fall back was not clear from available front reports.

Today's fleet communique, announcing the ground successes on the west coast and in the center of the line, also raised from 77 to 115 the number of enemy suicide planes destroyed Sunday night and Monday morning during attacks on American shipping. The planes sank one light naval unit and damaged 12 others.

Mustang fighters from Iwo Jima which escorted more than 450 B-29s in Tuesday's 3,200-ton fire bomb assault on Yokohama, Tokyo's port, shot down 26 out of 140 interceptors, probably destroyed 10 others and damaged 18, the communique disclosed. The loss of three fighter planes, one of whose pilots was rescued, was acknowledged.

Only Point Still Holding

The assault on Shuri was directed at the only point left on the enemy line which had held firm. Yonabaru fell last week and Naha has been crumbling for days.

Tuesday elements of Maj. Gen. Pedro A. Del Valle's First Marine division opened the attack on Shuri.

Soviet Calls Up All Youths For Training

(By The Associated Press)

MOSCOW, May 29—In the biggest peacetime military training schedule ever ordered in the Soviet Union, thousands of 15 and 16-year-old boys from all parts of Russia will be called up Friday for Red Army training, it was announced today.

The new nation-wide muster will be 100 per cent, said Lt. Gen. N. N. Pronin, chief of the general training administration of the commissariat for defense.

In announcing the muster, Gen. Pronin, said: "General military training in the present period should be conducted on an even higher level than in the days of war." He said that not a single youth should miss the muster and called on the Young Communist league to aid in the callup.

"The peaceful period into which our country has entered," said Gen. Pronin, "should not lessen our attention to the problems of defense."

Meanwhile, the Army newspaper Red Star reported that Red Army garrisons in Siberia and troops in Siberian military schools had left their bases for summer combat training camps.

The muster of 15 and 16-year-old boys Friday will coincide with the end of training for boys 17 years old who, on graduation, will undergo examinations for specialist jobs.

"Green Light" Given School Expansion Program In City

The Board of Trustees of Lubbock Independent School district last night gave the "green light" to a projected building program, estimated to total $1,250,000, which is deemed essential to carrying on the public education system in the 10-miles square district.

Members of the board unanimously approved the expansion plan after the building committee, composed of W. G. Alderson, R. F. Bayless and Chas. A. Guy outlined a recent survey they made in conjunction with Supt. R. W. Matthews and Business Manager A. C. Jackson. In brief the program calls for:

1. Immediate construction (to be begun as soon as finances and government approval can be secured) of two ward school buildings, of 12 rooms each; one to be constructed in the now heavily populated and rapidly growing area lying south and east of the Slaton-Tahoka Highway "Y"; the other to be arranged through the remodeling of the North wing of the present Junior High school.

Condemnation Ordered

2. Two Junior High schools; one to be built on land recently acquired just south of Green Acres, in the extreme southwest section of the city; the other to be constructed on a tract of about nine acres lying between Thirtieth and Thirty-second streets and between Avenues P and Q. The board has repeatedly attempted to secure a price on this property—only large, unoccupied tract suitably located — from its owner, Mrs. Dora Roberts, multimillionaire oil and cattle woman of Big Spring, but with no success. Therefore, the trustees last night directed Business Manager Jackson to instruct School Attorney Owen McWhorter to begin immediate condemnation proceedings against the tract.

3. Addition to Dunbar negro school of a combination cafeteria-gymnasium-auditorium room.

4. Completion of the cafeteria and additional special rooms at Senior High.

5. Make arrangements for cafeterias in all ward schools of the system.

6. Add space and equipment to Guadalupe school for the teaching of shop work.

Immediately after the building committee's presentation, the board voted that steps leading toward financing and other details be started. Also approved was renovation of the Booker Washington negro ward school, not operated last year but expected to be needed for the 1945-46 session.

Sanders Property Purchased

The board also approved purchase of property immediately adjacent to Sanders school, Third and Avenue E, in the sum of $2,500. The property, 196 by 350 feet, will be used for further expansion of Sanders facilities when needed.

It was decided also to advertise for sale the old and now unused Southwest ward property, comprising four acres of land located slightly more than four miles southwest of the court house.

In their report outlining expansion needs, Alderson, Guy and Bayless stressed necessity for early

French Buck Up In Levant Crisis

LONDON, May 29 (AP) — The Paris radio, accusing the British government of issuing an "unjust" communique on the crisis in Syria and Lebanon, tonight charged "foreign influences" with having a hand in the Middle East agitation against France.

At the same time, French diplomatic quarters in Paris said that France would not welcome any offers of mediation in her dispute with the Levant states.

Eden Expresses Fears

British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told Parliament that the British government had informed Paris of its fear that the arrival of French reinforcements in Syria and Lebanon "might cause regrettable action."

Eden said it would be inexcusable if developments in the Middle East hindered the Allied war against Japan.

(Cairo and Beyrouth radio broadcasts heard by the FCC reported fresh outbreaks of violence in Syria and the country's acting premier, Jamil Mardam Bey, announced that demonstrations during the past 10 days had resulted in the death of 80 to 100 persons.

(The Beyrouth radio meanwhile reported that a Syrian artillery battery had attacked the offices of the French legation and "all French military positions in Damascus" tonight.

(The broadcast, heard by the FCC, said that "French military authorities therefore have taken all necessary measures.)"

With the situation in the Levant containing threats of potential repercussions throughout the Arab world, Eden called on all parties involved to "behave with caution and prudence" and said the United States was "closely concerned" about the matter.

Yanks On Luzon Seize Big Dam

MANILA, Wednesday, May 30, (AP)—Maj. Gen. William C. Chase's 38th Infantry division seized Wawa dam undamaged and without a fight Monday to secure the last of Manila's three reservoirs and crack the last fixed Japanese strongpoint immediately east of the capital.

The dam, in a scenic rocky gorge between towering cliffs 20 miles from Manila, was abandoned intact by the Japanese who evidently had been frightened off by the previous day's shelling and bazooka fire.

Climaxes Long Fight

Its capture, announced today by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, climaxed a month-long mountain campaign in which virtually every type of available weapon was used in slowly and bloodily securing ridge after ridge until commanding heights on either side were won.

General MacArthur also reported the 32nd division had joined the 25th in captured Santa Fe, on the mountainous southern approach to the Cagayan valley of northern Luzon, "bringing to an end or-

Ingenious Mechanism Brings Jap Balloons From Homeland To U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 29 (AP) — A government official said tonight that Japan's bomb-carrying balloons being sent against America are launched in the home islands and are controlled by an automatic ballast-dropping device.

Lyle F. Watts, chief of the U. S. Forest service, told in a radio interview prepared for the Blue network how the unmanned balloons operate. The forest service has been assisting the Army in preventing damage from the balloons.

The Army and Navy recently disclosed that some of the balloons have landed in the western part of this country and said they had caused no property damage.

Made Of Silk Paper

Watts said the balloons—made of five layers of silk paper and 35 feet in diameter—are taken to Japanese war plants where officials "make a lot of speeches, stir up workers to a frenzy and then launch the balloons from the plant for their trip to the United States."

The hydrogen-filled balloons ascend to heights of 25,000 to 35,000 feet where they reach air currents which travel constantly from west to east, he asserted. Each time they descend to 25,000 feet from loss of gas, a barometeric pressure switch automatically drops a sandbag. Release of this sandbag causes the balloon to rise again to about 35,000 feet.

"If the Japs have figured right," Watts said, "the last sandbag has been dropped only after the balloon has reached this country."

A second automatic switch which controls the bombs, then takes over, he continued.

Bomb Is Released

"When the balloon drops to 27,000 feet a bomb is released. The balloon goes back up, then down again and another incendiary is released and so on as it travels across the United States. When the last incendiary is dropped, a fuse is ignited automatically and sets off a demolition charge which destroys the balloon."

The only balloons found on the ground are defective ones which failed to explode.

Watts said the balloons travel up to 125 miles an hour, taking from 80 to 120 hours to reach this country.

He reported that the forest service has increased its air patrol to sight as many as possible in the air and shoot them down. It also has increased the number of parachuting fire fighters.

Luce Says Russians Deserted To Nazis

NEW YORK, May 29 (AP)—Rep. Clare Boothe Luce (R-Conn) declared tonight that "Russian soldiers by the thousands, and Russian generals by the dozens" deserted the Red Army to fight "willingly beside the Nazis."

These men, she said in a Blue network broadcast, "fled Stalinism—escaped from Communism."

"They were, of course, deceived in their search for freedom, just as deceived as the German soldiers who deserted to Stalin," she added.

"Today in the Balkans over 300,000 Russian soldiers have deserted victorious Russian armies to seek a better, richer, happier way of life. Their search becomes every day more fruitless—because the hand of Stalin reaches out for them—reaches over the Balkans."

Mrs. Luce, discussing "America and the Kremlin," said, "only Communists would have you believe that the hard fight millions of Russians put up proves that Communism is, therefore, justified. And 180 million Russians are today incarcerated behind a towering wall of censorship. They are unaware that there is a world in which the words law and justice, charity and freedom, have a sweet and real personal meaning for great masses of men."

The Connecticut congresswoman asserted that now that Germany's war machine has been destroyed and her industrial strength "all but obliterated" Russia remains the strongest military and industrial power in Europe.

"Russia has a fresh, untried and powerful army in Asia. Because it is to Soviet Russia's own national interests to get into the Pacific war, that army is certain to be used against the Japanese before the final kill," she said.

Moves Planned To Promote News Freedom; Stettinius Gives Views

SAN FRANCISCO, May 29. (AP)—The United States is planning new moves to promote world-wide news freedom, basing them on a general free speech declaration slated for adoption by the United Nations conference.

Freedom of speech is one of the four freedoms from the Atlantic Charter which is being written into the charter of a world organization. Its meaning was interpreted by Secretary of State Stettinius in his written report to the nation last night on the work of the conference, although in delivery the passage was omitted to save time.

Includes Several Freedoms

"Freedom of speech," the secretary said, "encompasses freedom of the press, freedom of information and freedom of communications."

Originally, Stettinius planned to seek here a detailed agreement among the United Nations on principles of news freedom. His advisers had some thought that he might use the Pan-American resolution adopted at Mexico City in March as a basis for calling for a prompt end throughout the globe to wartime censorship, and pledging the American governments "to promote a free exchange of information among their peoples."

Plans to have an equally detailed statement adopted here hit two snags: (1) The United States delegation decided the charter should be limited to general statements of principle rather than to exact guarantees of specific rights, in order to get maximum agreement on the subject quickly; (2) The delegation and its advisers also doubted whether Russia would accept at this time any other than vague generalizations on the exchange of news.

Personal Views Given

Stettinius set forth his personal views earlier this month in a public letter to a group of editors and writers. He said he hoped the conference would, as slated, order creation of a commission on human rights to carry forward the work of expanding and winning adherence to the basic principles provided in the charter.

"You may rest assured," he wrote, "that when such a commission is established, I would earnestly urge, on behalf of the United States government, that it should examine means of promoting freedom of communications, freedom to travel and freedom of access to sources of knowledge and of information."

May Clear Channels

Long before such a commission could be set up and produce any concrete statements, however, the United States may undertake in special agreements with other governments to clear the channels of information among nations. In such agreements, the United States would seek the same freedom of operations for American reporters abroad that foreign newsmen enjoy in this country.

The Mexico City declaration, branding truth as "the enemy of tyranny," set forth these objectives of news freedom in this hemisphere:

1. That the American nations "recognize their essential obligation to guarantee to their people, free and impartial access to sources of information."

End To Censorship

2. That they put an end to censorship as quickly as possible.

3. That they cooperate "to promote a free exchange of information among their peoples."

4. That when a rule of law prevails throughout the world, the Americas seek establishment of "the principle of free transmission and reception of information, oral or written, published in books or by the press, broadcast by radio or disseminated by any other means, under proper responsibility and without need of previous censorship, as is the case with private correspondence by letter, telegram or any other means in time of peace."

Lt. Joe Bob Foster Expected Home Soon

First Lt. Joe Bob Foster wired his mother yesterday that "I am well and in France at present. Expect to be in U. S. before long." He is the son of Mrs. Bonnie Norwood, 1911 Seventeenth, and had been a prisoner at Stalag Luft I at Barth, Germany, since August 29, 1944.

Lt. Foster went overseas in June last year and had been stationed with the 15th Air force in Italy. When shot down he was on a mission in Northern Italy.

The wire was the first word from him that Mrs. Norwood had received since Dec. 11, 1944.

Three Convictions Given At Crosbyton

CROSBYTON, May 29. (Special) Three convictions naming two suspects were returned in jury verdicts in the 72nd district court of Judge Dan Blair.

Records of District Attorney Burton S. Burks show that Woodrow Wilson was given five years in the penitentiary for theft over $50. He was brought here on a bench warrant from Huntsville, where he was serving time for theft.

William Nelson, an Indian, was given five years in each of two cases, charging burglary and theft. They will be served concurrently.

The attorney for Lawrence Simmons, charged with unlawful possession of untaxed cigarets, informed the court his client would plead guilty of the charge before the court and would agree to a fine of $350 and court costs.

John Chaney, a negro, obtained a continuance for trial on a charge of assault with intent to murder another black.

Promotions Go To Five LAAF Officers

Boosts in rank for five more officers from the rank of second to first lieutenant were announced by officials at Lubbock Army Air field Tuesday.

All of the officers are instrument instructors at the big AAF Instructors School and are taking part in the intensive course of "post graduate" instruction in which combat veteran pilots are being trained in the latest methods of "all weather" instrument flying.

Camps Announced For Two Infantry Units

WASHINGTON, May 29 (AP)—The Army announced today the 86th division will be retained at Camp Gruber, Okla., and the 97th division at Fort Bragg, N. C., upon their return from Europe en route to the Pacific.

The two infantry divisions, among the last to arrive in Europe and among the first designated for redeployment to the Pacific, are scheduled to sail for this country in June.

The 86th landed in Europe in November, 1944, and went into action last March 10, fighting in Southern Germany during the closing days of the war. It saw action in the Third Army sector.

The 97th arrived in Europe in August, 1944, and participated with the First army in cleaning up the Ruhr pocket and with the 15th Army.

Knudson To Leave Production Post

WASHINGTON, May 29. (AP)—Lt. Gen. William S. Knudson is leaving governmental service on Friday after five years devoted to spurring the nation's war production, the War department announced today

General Knudsen made no immediate announcement on his future plans. The War department said simply that it was expected he would go to Detroit for a few weeks' rest.

Knudsen's resignation as War department director of production becomes effective June 1, five years to the day after he left the presidency of General Motors corporation at the request of President Roosevelt to take on the job of converting peacetime industry to war needs and the building of hundreds of new plants.

Knudsen, a civilian who became a three-star general in one jump, reached the Army retirement age of 64 two years ago but stayed on active duty by request until Germany was defeated.

He wa sregarded as the Army's number 1 "trouble shooter" on the production front.

In announcing his forthcoming retirement, the War department disclosed that Knudsen had been awarded an Oak Leaf cluster to add to a previously awarded Distinguished Service medal for his work with the air forces.

Yugoslav Minister Confers With Truman

WASHINGTON, May 29. (AP)—Ivan Subasic, foreign affairs minister of Yugoslavia, conferred with President Truman for 20 minutes today at the White House.

As he left, Subasic told reporters he discussed Yugoslavian affairs "generally" with the president. Asked whether the Trieste incident had come up, he nodded, but said only incidentally.

"We talked about the situation at the present time," he said. "We had a very pleasant talk. We also discussed the San Francisco conference from which I have just come."

Asserting he planned to leave for Belgrade "very soon," he went directly to the state department for further conferences with Under Secretary Grew and other department officials.

Women Are Less Inclined Than Men, But:

One American In Five Holds Black Market Buying Justified At Times, Poll Shows

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J.,—One probable explanation for the continued existence of black markets is revealed in a public opinion survey just completed by the Institute from coast to coast.

Approximately one civilian in five, the poll shows, believes that there are times when buying in the black market is justified. In terms of the adult population, this amounts to a good many million people.

GALLUP

The poll, covering a cross-section of the civilian population carefully selected by methods which proved accurate within 1.8 per cent in the last presidential election, asked the country this question:

"Do you think that buying at black market prices is sometimes justified?"

The vote:

Sometimes justified	21%
Not justified	74
No Opinion	5

It was found that more men than women think black market buying is justified at times, as the following shows:

	Men	Women
Sometimes justified	23%	18%
Not justified	71	77
No Opinion	6	5

The poll found no significant differences, by size of community, on the issue of whether black market buying is justified.

	Just.	Not Just.	No Op.
Farmers	18%	73%	9%
Towns under 10,000	21	73	6
10,000 to 100,000	19	78	3
Over 100,000	23	73	4

When questioned as to conditions under which black market buying might be justified, the largest number mentioned emergencies such as illness. "When you've got to have meat or butter for a sick person, or an undernourished child," says one housewife, "what else can you do?" Others said they felt black market buying was justified when the rationing board was unfair after an appeal.

Jack Turner Heard On Tokyo Program

Pvt. Jack Turner, son of Mrs. Willie Turner of 405 South Eighth, Slaton, was heard Tuesday morning on the "Postman Calls" shortwave radio program from Tokyo by Frank Jones, Lubbock man who has been listening to these calls since the war started.

Pvt. Turner was a member of the now famed "Lost Battalion," captured on Java by the Japs. The battalion had more than 200 West Texas boys among its personnel. He reported in the message that he had received a package from his mother and one from a Mrs. Evans, Jones said the broadcast related.

Jones reported he had heard messages the past week from members of the battalion which stated that since the war in Europe was over their morale had been improved and they were receiving better treatment. He said he heard messages from Frank Fujita, Pete Evans, Robert Stubbs and Ben Keith, all of Abilene, and members of the "Lost Battalion" in the past several days.

Jones, who lives on the Tahoka highway just south of Lubbock, said the "Postman Calls" program now is broadcast from 10:30 until 11 a. m. daily and that messages from ten or 12 boys were read on each program.

Petain-Churchill Agreement Claimed

MONTREAL, May 29. (U.P.) — Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Petain arrived at a secret agreement in 1940 and adhered to it until Petain became a prisoner, a book published here by Louis Rougier, French professor, said today.

Rougier said the secret negotiations, carried out without the knowledge of Pierre Laval, prevented France from joining the Axis and the French fleet falling into German hands. The author claims to have acted as an intermediary.

It said although the agreement was never incorporated into a formal treaty, its stipulations were loyally observed by both sides until the Germans abrogated the Franco-German Armistice when the Allies landed in North Africa and Petain's status became that of a prisoner.

PROTESTS AMBASSADOR

MONTREAT, N. C., May 29. (AP) The Presbyterian church in the U. S., formally protested today the maintenance by this country of "an unofficial or official ambassador" at the Vatican, and requested President Truman to recall Myron Taylor, named by President Roosevelt as a personal representative in Vatican City.

Peace Officers Hear Meaning Of Evidence

Methods of assuring the full meaning of all possible evidence at scenes of crimes, or on the person of principals, and later how to present to most advantage that evidence in court were explained Tuesday afternoon at a regular Federal Bureau of Investigation-sponsored conference of peace officers from 19 West Texas counties.

The meeting was on the third floor of the county courthouse. Special Agent A. P. Kitchin, in charge of the Dallas FBI office, presided.

Special Agents Art Pansze, Curtis L. Perryman, Max Richardson and Jarrell H. Davis did the speechmaking. There was a mock court session that showed right and wrong methods of testifying.

Pansze and Perryman, recognized by the FBI as expert Judo exponents, demonstrated the ease of overcoming dangerous physical resistance officers at any time may be confronted with.

Two wrestling mats were on the floor, and the two special agents threw each other all around over them.

Host officers were Sheriff Grady Harrist, Chief of Police Don Reeder and Assistant Chief Bill Mabray.

Japs Sternly Warned On Prisoner Mishandling In Awa Maru Protest

WASHINGTON, May 29. (U.P.)—The United States again has sternly warned the Japanese government against mishandling American prisoners, the State department revealed today.

The Japanese had hinted at a policy of reprisal against American prisoners and civilian internees because a U. S. submarine mistakenly sank a Japanese supply ship that was travelling under an Allied grant of safe conduct.

The United States rejected a Japanese protest about the sinking. However, the U. S. Navy has instituted court martial proceedings against the commander of the submarine. The Japanese vessel, believed to have been the supply ship Awa Maru, was sunk on April 1.

Warn On Retaliation

The United States, in a note sent on May 18, warned the enemy that "any retaliatory acts against Allied nationals will be a matter of the gravest concern to this government."

". . . Any persons issuing or executing orders in this connection will be severely dealt with at the appropriate time," the note said.

The United States "categorically denies" a Japanese charge that the ship was "deliberately and willfully attacked and sunk."

At the same time, this government told the Japanese that it "sincerely regrets" the incident and accompanying loss of life.

Granted Safe Conduct

The Awa Maru, as explained in great detail in the Japanese protest to the United States, was one of two Japanese ships granted safe conduct by the Allies so it could carry relief supplies from Japan to prisoners in China and other Jap-held areas. The supplies had been sent to Russia by the United States. One of the Jap safe conduct ships transported the supplies from the Russian port of Nakhodka to Japan. The Awa Maru, when it was sunk on April 1, had delivered a load to what Japan called the "southern areas" and had started homeward when it caught an American torpedo in the Straits of Taiwan.

"One thousand and several hundreds of her passengers and the cargoes shared her fate," the Japanese protest said.

It contended that the U. S. submarine had violated the safe conduct pledge and "deliberately attacked and sunk her" on her return voyage.

Called Outrageous Act

"This," Japan added, "is the most outrageous act of treachery unparalleled in the world history of the war."

Only 11 days after the sinking, the State department announced that an American submarine apparently had sunk the Awa Maru on which ,it said, "no lights or special illumination were visible at any time." Such lighting is required under the rules of safe conduct.

The Japanese contended that the Awa Maru was fully lighted and that, therefore, "it cannot but be concluded that she was deliberately and willfully attacked and sunk by United States submarine . . . responsibility for disaster, therefore, unmistakeably lies with United States government."

They "Conform" To Plan

The Japanese protest went on to say that the Japanese "have unflinchingly continued their efforts for humanitarian treatment of prisoners of war and internees in their hands."

However, the note continued, "United States government are to be deemed to have abandoned their former desire relating to the treatment of United States prisoners of war and civilian internees in Japanese hands."

The American reply warned that "there is no valid connection between this disaster and the matter of treatment to be accorded prisoners of war and civilian internees in Japanese custody."

It said the U. S. intends to continue to give Japanese nations in its custody "the same high standard of care and treatment as heretofore."

This government expects that Japan will invoke "no intentional deterioration in the treatment of Allied nationals in Japanese custody."

Commander Faces Trial

The American submarine commander has been ordered tried by a general court martial "to determine the question of primary responsibility for the disaster."

The American note questioned "the propriety" of Japan's use of the Awa Maru as a means of evacuating large numbers of Japanese nationals and government officials from danger zones on its return trip.

The heavy death toll, the United States added, resulted in part from the refusal of survivors to grab lifelines thrown to them from the submarine. The submarine remained on the scene making every effort to rescue survivors, it said.

Two Face Trial On Federal Charges

HOUSTON, May 29 (U.P.)—Killer-convict Pete Norris and his confederate, John F. Box, jr., will go on trial before Federal Judge T. M. Kennerly in Galveston Monday on federal indictments in connection with their escape from Retrieve state prison farm Feb. 27, Judge Kennerly disclosed today.

The two convicts were indicted on charges that they forcibly interfered with the freedom of federal game warden Frank Clarkson of Houston and stole his government-owner automobile to aid their flight from lawmen.

Judge Kennerly denied a motion by Bernard Golding, attorney for the convicts, that the indictments be squashed and set the trial for Monday at Galveston.

Increase Proposed In Interior Funds

WASHINGTON, May 29. (AP)—An increase of approximately $40,000,000 in interior department appropriations is recommended by the Senate appropriations committee.

The bill, drastically reduced by the House from budget recommendations, now totals approximately $140,000,000 and still is almost $4,000,000 under the budget approved figure.

Included in the bill reported to the Senate today are $5,500,000 more for general investigations of the reclamation service, $4,000,000 additional cash and an authorization of $15,000,000 more for the synthetic fuels experimental plans.

Ownership Of Oil Under Water Sought

WASINGTON, May 29 (AP) — The government filed suit in U. S. district court at Los Angeles to determine who owns the oil lying beneath the coastal waters of the United States.

The justice department described the suit as primarily a test to establish what right the United States has to such petroleum deposits.

The suit asks that the Pacific Western Oil corporation be prevented from extracting additional oil from the Elwood oil field which extends from the low tide mark about one-third of a mile into the ocean near Santa Barbara.

A friendly procedure aimed primarily at settling a long-standing legal question, the suit does not ask an accounting for oil already extracted by the corporation under a lease issued by the state of California.

Legislation has been introduced in Congress from time to time to make such coastal oil the property of the federal government or of the states but no final action has been taken on these bills.

Attorney General Francis Biddle said it has been estimated that the several California coastal oil fields cover an aggregate of 2,100 acres. In addition, he said, it has been estimated that another 200,000,000 barrels of recoverable oil lie in more than 5,000 acres of submerged lands off the California coast. Oil also has been discovered beneath the Texas coastal waters of the Gulf of Mexico.

Officials Charged With Irregularity

WASHINGTON, May 29. (AP)—Federal officials were accused today of having engaged in "irregular, illegal and coercive" activities in the unionization of workers at California fruit packing plants.

Appearing before the Smith committee of the House investigating activities of governmental agencies, Ivan McDaniel, Los Angeles attorney for the agricultural producers labor committee of California, specifically directed such accusations against the National Labor Relations board (NLRB) and the War Labor board (WLB).

With representatives of both agencies present, McDaniel declared that the NLRB had "knowingly accepted flase" statements set forth in petitions by labor union leaders as to the desire of workers for union leaders.

The committee expected to meet later in the day to hear testimony concerning cases in Texas and Florida.

Advice Concerning Veterans Is Given

CHICAGO, May 29. (AP)—Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of selective service, offered this advice today to families and friends of the returned, job-seeking veterans: "Don't do too much for him."

"Let him do as much for himself as he can; give him the feeling of being capable of taking care of himself, not of being helpless, and place as few hindrances as possible in the path of his self-effort," he said.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

SOME folks give and forgive; others get and forget.

After all the noblest dog is the hot dog. It feeds the hand that bites it.

HAIL AND FAREWELL

IT was with feelings of mingled regret and pleasure that the Woman's Angle read in Tuesday's papers of the resignations of Dr. James M. Gordon, Mrs. Mary W. Doak and A. H. Leidigh from deanships and their successors as Dr. R. C. Goodwin, Mrs. Johnnye Langford and Dr. R. C. Goodwin. Regret that our friends of 20 years' standing will fade from their important posts in administrative duties; pleasure that they will have more time to spend in doing things they have wanted to do but lacked opportunity because of year around jobs, and that those who will take over their desks are so well qualified for those posts.

The Woman's Angle will always remember her first meeting with Dean Gordon. As a sophomore student 19 years ago she took her grades in perspiring hand and with nervous apprehension approached his desk, which at that time was in a small office on the first floor of the Administration's east wing. A candidate for a doctor of philosophy degree could not have been afforded more regard than that kindly scholarly, educator showed me that morning. And when I left, he walked to the outer door with me and told me that the college officials were pleased I had chosen Tech for further study and hoped I would take my degree there.

Included in the writer's most treasured momentoes is a letter which Dean Gordon penned several years ago after I had written a paragraph or so about him and his wife, who is a gracious, hospitable woman.

Through the years of association with him, both as a student at Tech and later in the newspaper world, I have found him to be interesting and interested, a loyal, patient person. He is very dear to my heart.

And Dean Gordon, if you are reading this, the Woman's Angle is remembering that mid-morning in August of 1929 when you handed me my diploma and with a grin said, "Bless your heart Margaret, you finally did make it didn't you?"

IN Tech's early years there were about three boys enrolled to each girl and because of the lack of feminine enrollees, the Woman's Angle was named to several responsible places in the student body and it was through these offices I met and came to know and to appreciate Mrs. Doak. She saw to it that I represented Tech college at a number of student conferences and even in those days, as a rather green, though aspiring young person, the Woman's Angle learned lessons from her in the art of conversation and a few things about winnnig friends and influencing people prior to the days of Dale Carnegie's book.

Late one afternoon when as a junior I was leaving the administration building after a laboratory, the writer saw Mrs. Doak struggling with three folding chairs that had been in her office. She was attempting to take them to her car. A number of boys standing on the stairs at the first landing either did not see her or were waiting for dates and boorishly ignoring her. At any rate I relieved her of two chairs and walked to her car with her and as she opened the door to her car, the dean turned and with a smile said, "My dear, you are a personage."

The writer could hardly wait to get to Webster to see what name had been bestowed and with almost awe I read, "a person of distinction."

Well, that was years ago and if I have not lived up to that compliment, it certainly could not be because my friend, Mrs. Doak, has failed in always lending encouragement, in sharing her broad philosophy of life, in her generous hospitality. She has made church service mean more to me simply by sitting near me. She is a personage.

As an alumna of that great school out there at the city's limits, I'd like to pledge my unstinting loyalty to those who come after my two friends, to whom I pay this morning's tribute.

CREEPING LIPS

IN Hollywood they call it "creeping lips." It describes the irritating habit of lipstick in creeping upward in the minute wrinkles surrounding the mouth.

Here is a simple solution. In using a foundation cream or liquid, care should be taken to powder thoroughly around the mouth before applying lipstick. Unless the foundation around the mouth is thoroughly set with powder, the oils of the lipstick will mingle with the oils in the foundation and travel outward from the mouth.

Pre-registration for a non-credit course in clothing construction is in progress and class work will begin June 4, according to Mrs. Gladys K. Holden, instructor in family life education at Texas Tech.

Offered by the division of home economics at Tech in cooperation with the state department of homemaking education, the course will be supervised by the home and family life education program. Class meetings will be held two or three times weekly in the home economics building at Tech.

Each class member will select a project as her construction problem and instructions will be given in pattern alteration for fit, alteration of ready made dresses, and renovation of ready made garments. Individual construction problems of class members will be studied.

The class is open to the public. Persons interested in enrolling should call Mrs. Holden at 8541.

Wallace Proposes To Aid Small Business

WASHINGTON, May 29. (AP) — Praising "free competition" in business, Secretary of Commerce Wallace told a congressional committee today he had not experienced "a change of heart" but had believed in this principle all the time.

A discussion of his economic philosophy arose when Wallace advocated sweeping revisions of postwar taxes as necessary to "full production and full employment."

Wallace submitted to the House small business committee a financial and tax program for aid to small business development. For immediate encouragement to growth of small business, he advocated:

1. Government guarantee of long-term loans made by private financing institutions, as a means of providing capital financing for new and established small business enterprises.

2. Immediate revision of taxes to allow a larger "plow back" of capital by small business. For this program he suggested increasing the excess profits tax examption from $10,000 to $25,000.

Traffic Control Being Studied

Police reported Tuesday afternoon that all phases of traffic control affecting safety of the public are being studied after several pedestrians indicated displeasure at allegedly having been cautioned by police patrolmen against "jaywalking."

Capt. Lewis Kittrell of the police traffic department said police had virtually been given a mandate by the people, through the city commission, to revamp traffic control so that vehicular travel especially at congested spots in the downtown business area would be speeded without adding dangers of mishaps.

Major Changes Planned

He indicated that a more-or-less elaborate study of problems soon will put into effect major traffic changes in the most affected areas, and suggested that "cutting across streets at such downtown congested areas where traffic already is overcrowded simply slows such traffic further and accents possibility of serious injury to the pedestrian."

He said it would be difficult for the police to enforce the no-jaywalking ordinance without cooperation of the public. He cited instances of women with small children cutting across the middle of the block in 1000-block Broadway.

"It is difficult to understand why we have so few pedestrian accidents," he said.

Isolated instances of pedestrian criticism had not reached him, Kittrell said.

"Not Staging Drive"

"We are not staging a drive. Naturally, all police patrolmen know we have an ordinance prohibiting the crossing of streets by pedestrians at irregular places where there are crossing controls set up for protection of both pedestrians and motorists."

Kittrell was informed by The Evening Journal that some persons informally were protesting that emphasis was being placed on the pedestrian, rather than on more control over irresponsible taxicab drivers, several of whom have been in recent mishaps.

"We will not relax in efforts to control all phases of traffic problems," Kittrell said. "We are not 'after' any particular group. We primarily are pledged to protect all from property damage and human injuries. Some of the plans about to be put into effect here should go a long ways toward relieving traffic hazards and inconveniences. But it will take time.

Cab Drivers Penalized

"As to the criticism that taxicabs should be singled out for our attention, it should be pointed out that we already penalize cab drivers for their traffic violations more than we do the motorist-at-large. Three moving violations, whatever they are, result in our suspension of a cab driver's right to operate a vehicle for six months."

Not every infraction by a cab driver—or the motorist-at-large, for that matter—can be seen by the few members of the police, Kittrell reminded. "Where we do detect a motorist in the act of disregarding the law we naturally file a complaint consistent with his offense, and we will continue to do that, no matter who it is, whether a cab driver or someone else. But where we fail to see a mishap, or where there are no witnesses to, say, a collision, individual rights are found in civil process. Civil suits may be filed by either of the aggrieved parties to the collision. Our function is to make it safer to travel on Lubbock streets, whether in an automobile or on foot. To that end, we ask patience and cooperation of all."

Charges Of Assault And Burglary Filed

DALLAS, May 29. (U.P.)—Robert Lee Herod, 26-year-old former convict, today faced charges of assault to murder and burglary while under guard at Parkland hospital following an altercation with a night watchman.

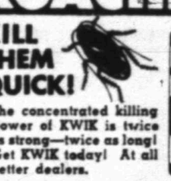

Herod was shot twice by Night Watchman R. L. Stevenson, who told police he was awakened as a man pushed himself through a drugstore transom he was guarding. Stevenson said the burglar hit him with a soda fountain stool, fracturing his jaw.

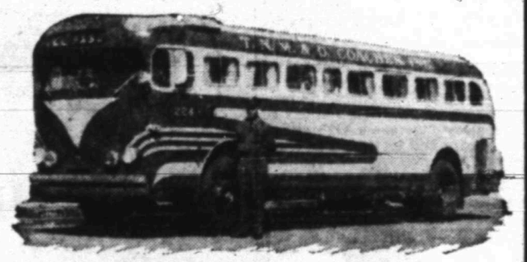

Herod previously served two training school terms and two prison terms for burglary and theft.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC
Buses are overburdened as never before. A crisis is near. With more men, tires and gas going to war, present service can barely be maintained. Each day brings greater loads. When you must travel locally, let this be your creed:
1. Do Not Ride in Rush Hours, except to and from your job.
2. Have Exact Fare Ready, saves time and fuss.
3. Move Back When Driver Asks, speeds your ride.
This simple creed will work wonders.

Tears Flow And Near Hysterics Reign As Boys Return From War

(EDITOR' NOTE: For four months, Helen Camp, of the Associated Press staff in New York, has been watching men come home, by ship and by plane—wounded men, men on furloughs, men who had just come out of prison camps. This is her reaction to that recurring but never old experience).

By HELEN CAMP
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, May 29.—You always cry when you see the boys come home.

They're coming by the thousands now and they'll continue to come. But it doesn't matter how often you see it, it's never an old story. Because always it's new to them.

You stand at the rail of the welcome home boat that meets the transports in lower New York bay and you look across the water at the railings packed with khaki-clad figures. Five and ten deep they stand. The ones in front squat down so the ones behind can see. The ones farthest back climb on each others shoulders. All of them wave, shout, beckon—reach out as though to touch this, their first semblance of home . . .

Planes Bring Them, Too

You stand in the grass along the sun-warmed air strips at Bradley and Mitchell fields and you see the planes come in, circle in a final delirious swoop and roll to a stop. You see the bomb bay doors drop open and the men pile out . . .

You walk through the hospital corridors at Halloran hospital, Camp Shanks, and Camp Kilmer and see the wounded, the released prisoners leaning out of their bunks—see the weary faces, the splints and the stumps and the bandages. But always the smiles.

No matter how they come, no matter where they come from, no matter what condition they're in, it's basically the same. Always it's the biggest thing that's ever happened to any of them—bigger than anything that ever will, ever, can happen to you.

Some of them pound each other on the back, shriek, kiss the ground, jump up and down.

Others Quietly Look

Others stand apart or lie in their bunks and don't say anything. Just look and look and look.

You search the mass of their faces, the close-crowded smiles. And always you see someone you know can't be there—won't ever be there. And yet you know he really is there, that these men who pound the ground and shriek adn dance and look are not shrieking and dancing and looking for themselves alone but for all the others, too.

You walk among them, talk to them, smile with them. And you love them all.

One minute you're alone in the middle of a hospital ward or a ship's hold or along an airfield. The next minute the khaki walls press in on you. They reach out to touch you. They brush your cheek. They stroke your hair.

"It's a girl. An American girl!"

"She talks, too. Keep on talking. Say something."

Always there is a sense of humor—the most precious possession, the most impenetrable armor the GI's have. They've used it to cover up pain, disappointment, sorrow, loneliness. And now they use it to cover up happiness.

"Hey, watch out. Are you sure this isn't a detail?"

"Is this fraternizing?"

And always there is a politeness, a sweetness. Someone in his excitement says, "hell." Immediately two elbows are punching his ribs, a dozen pairs of eyes are glaring at him. And someone is saying sternly, "take it easy, bud."

Later on these men will think of jobs and plans and people and maybe of fighting Japs. But right now they're thousands of men with one common thought, one common emotion.

They're home. . .

CLOSE IN PROTEST

GLADEWATER, May 29. (AP)—Gladewater was without dry cleaning service today as five cleaning plants, which had been ordered by the OPA to cut their prices back to the 1942 level, closed down in protest to the order. Members of the local price panel said they had appealed to the OPA regional office in Dallas.

Program Submitted For Vet Facilities

WASHINGTON, May 29. (AP)—Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, head of the Veterans administration, submitted to the Federal Board of Hospitalization today a program for construction of veterans facilities in 72 communities.

In a statement announcing the program, Hines said the 26,772 additional beds requested will cover the requirements of the administration through December, 1947.

The completion of this program will bring the total number of hospital beds for veterans to 123,002 and will increase the domiciliary beds by 889.

More Needs Expected

Hines stated, however, that the new construction will not bring the accommodations for veterans up to the 300,000 beds expected to be needed eventually.

Locations (as specifically as given) of proposed hospitals and their bed capacities include:

New neuropsychiatric hospitals: Western Texas, 500.

Additions to existing neuropsychiatric hospitals: Waco, Texas.

Domiciliary beds for male beneficiaries: Bonham, Texas, 350.

Biddle To Resume Private Practice

WASHINGTON, May 29. (AP)—Attorney General Francis Biddle will return to private law practice some time after July 1.

But Biddle, whose resignation as attorney general was accepted by President Truman last week, told a news conference today he has not yet decided where or when he will resume law practice.

Both Biddle and Assistant Attorney General Tom C. Clark, nominated by President Truman to succeed Biddle on July 1, said the justice department's anti- trust program will be continued.

Stoney Wall's Nine Rallies To Win All-Star Tilt, 8-7

Striking from behind in the late innings, Stoney Wall evened up his all-star record by winning the senior game Tuesday afternoon at Chapman field, as the older boys closed out their session of the baseball school with a well played thriller. The Wallmen won an 8-7 verdict over the Wallermen.

Waller started Bob Galey on the hill, and he pitched two innings of shut out ball, while his mates were getting away to a 3 to 0 lead. They boosted this advantage to 5 to 0 in the third inning.

Both sides scored in the fourth, and the Wallmen scored again in the fifth. The Wallermen pushed over a run in the sixth, but Wall came back with a four-run rally in the last of the sixth to send the two teams into the seventh with Waller leading 7-6.

Jack Vaughn fanned three men in the seventh for the Wallmen, and in the last half of the inning Folsom was the victim of two errors and a walk that produced two quick runs and ended the ball game.

Wall used Pressley, Higginbotham and Vaughn on the hill, while Waller divided his pitching up between Galey, Davidson and Folsom. All six pitchers looked impressive on the hill, and gave promise of some good pitching in the league this year.

The squad of older boys will be divided up into the teams for this summer at a meeting scheduled at Chapman field Friday evening.

Post Softball Club Stops Blue Bonnet

The victory string of the Blue Bonnet Laundry softball ten came to an abrupt end Tuesday afternoon when "Fireball" Adams of Post hurled a one-hit shut out against the Lubbock ten to win a 5 to 0 decision for Postex Mills of Post.

Pigg, Blue Bonpet shortstop, singled in the second inning for the lone Lubbock hit. Adams faced only 21 batters in the seven innings, and displayed perfect control of the ball game at all times.

Post took a lead in the second inning when T. Gilmore, the catcher, blasted out a home run with Holland on base. Another run scored later in the inning to give Post an early 3-0 lead. The other two runs came in the sixth inning.

The two teams will meet in Post on June 10 in a return game.

Ft. Worth Plans Elite Golf Meet

FORT WORTH, May 29. (AP)—A golf tournament comparable in character to Bobby Jones' Masters tournament will be held at Colonial Country club—scene of the 1941 National Open—in 1946.

It will be the first annual Colonial National Open Invitation and the major difference in it and Jones' tourney will be the manner in which the players are selected.

A season-long scoring system is used to determine the contestants in the Augusta, Ga., tournament No such system will be used by the club which was the scene of the last National Open. Colonial will invite the players it wants.

"We will make this the most select tournament in the world," says J. Y. Ballard, who with F. M. Highfill and Marvin Leonard, makes up the golf and tournament committee in charge of arrangements for the event.

Golfing skill will be the prime consideration, but not the only one in determining what 24 professionals and 12 amateurs which will make up the field.

The play will be over 72 holes—18 each for four days.

The $10,000 (or more) which will be distributed among the professionals will, it is believed, make the individual prizes the largest offered at any tournament. As much as $3,500 may go to the winner.

Awards consistent with the rules of the USGA will be given the amateurs.

New Orleans Turns Icy Stare On Scouts

NEW ORLEANS, May 29. (AP)—Major league scouts, who have declared New Orleans an "open city" for baseball trades this season, have been informed by Charlie Hurth, general manager of the Southern Association team, that sales would be made "for fall delivery only."

Hurth and Field Manager Fresco Thompson of the league leading Pelicans pride themselves with building a league leading team of the non-farm variety for the first time in years, and declared they will "keep faith with the fans" to the end of the season.

"Not even a $50,000 offer now could get a player we needed," Hurth proclaimed in answer to the wistful glances cast from the stands by a battalion of big league scouts toward such players as Mark Carrolla, Hurth's star catcher who is rated as possibly the best receiver in the Southern Association.

Hurth said also that he had no intention now of parting with such players in his collection as pitchers "Trader" Horn, Roy Sanner, Bernie Feist and George Washburn; outfielders Juan Sanchez and Tom Astburg or second baseman Ray Skelton.

New Orleans, since it cut loose from Brooklyn Dodgers at the end of last season, has become a club without strings attached, and a happy hunting ground for big league scouts.

Soldier Golfers To Tee Off On June 5

DALLAS, May 29. (AP)—Nearly 200 soldier golfers, representing 41 Army installations in five Southwestern states, will tee off Tuesday, June 5, at the Camp Bowie course in the Eighth Service Command's second annual golf tournament for Army service forces personnel.

Entries in the six flights of match play will be determined by two days of qualification rounds. Team trophies will be awarded the champion and runnerup, and awards will go to the two leaders in each flight at the end of four days of match play.

Baseball Cripples To Meet In Today's Game

WASHINGTON, May 29. (AP)—One-armed Pete Gray of the St. Louis Browns and one-legged Bert Shepard of the Washington Senators will meet tomorrow night.

Gray has been used frequently by the Browns in the outfield but Shepard, injured in a bombing run over Germany, served only as a warm-up player for the Senators.

If Gray breaks into tomorrow night's twilight doubleheader, however, hundreds of servicemen who cheer Shepard's every move, no doubt will shout for the former pilot to take a turn at bat or at first base.

Donald Blanks St. Louis Nine

NEW YORK, May 29. (AP)—Atley Donald blanked the St. Louis Browns with five hits today, 11-0, as the New York Yankees swept the three-game series for their eighth successive win and 14th in 16 Yankee Stadium starts. It was Donald's fourth success.

Two hits and three walks in the first inning sent Jack Kramer to the showers with his third defeat and the Yanks continued to blast Weldon West and Sam Zoldak for a total of 15 blows including doubles by Herb Crompton, Hersh Martin and Nick Etten and a triple by Johnny Lindell.

Oscar Grimes was the big man in the run production line, batting home two with a first inning single off Kramer and scoring Etten from second with a one-baser in the third off West. Grimes beat out a big hopper to the hill for a hit in the fifth to join Bud Metheny and George Stirnweiss with a three-hit day.

Spring Sportsmen At Texas Given Letters

AUSTIN, May 29. (AP)—Varsity awards in spring sports have been approved by the University of Texas athletic council, Athletic Director D. X. Bible announced today.

In addition to these and the usual reserve and managerial awards, on recommendation of Dr. D. A. Penick the council voted a "special merit" varsity T in tennis to Donald Goldbeck, member of the 1943 squad. Goldbeck, a radioman in the Navy, has been reported missing in action.

Seventeen letters were given members of the Southwest Conference championship track and field team, 14 to the championship baseball team, six in tennis, two in swimming (to first-place winners in the conference meet) and one in golf, to conference champion Joe Ruby. Texas won the golf team title and the tennis tandem of Jack Blanton and Carroll F. McCarter captured the doubles championship.

Pirates Keep Pace By Beating Giants

PITTSBURGH, May 29. (AP)—Catcher Bill Salkeld's second major league home run with Jim Russell and pinch runner Vic Barnhart on base broke up the ball game today and gave the Pittsburgh Pirates a 4-3 edge over the league-leading New York Giants for their eighth straight victory.

Harry Feldman had shut out the Bucs for seven innings behind a 3-0 lead off Preacher Roe. Pinch hitter Lloyd Waner walked and scored the first Pirate tally in the eighth on a single by Jack Saltzgaver and Jack Barrett's outfield fly.

Ott singled three times, bringing his lifetime total base mark to 4,887, one less than Honus Wagner's National League standard, set over a 21-year-span.

Pittsburgh took charge of second place, five and a half games back of the Giants.

Aggie Coach Sings Praise Of Holbrook

COLLEGE STATION, May 29. (AP)—Lil Dimmitt, track coach of the Texas Aggies, is saying the old royal carpet for Charles R. (Ray) Holbrook when the Goose Creek flash comes back from war.

Holbrook, termed by Dimmitt as one of three great natural quarter-milers he has handled in his 22 years as a high school and college coach, is finishing his first phase of Texas A. and M. schooling. He has passed his physical examination and is due an Army call at any time.

The other two quarter-milers in Dimmitt's book entered A. and M. in the fall of 1941. They were Larry Wold of Dallas and Arthur Harndon of Yoakum.

Wold was killed in France last year and Harndon is in the Air Corps. None of the three could stay at the Aggie camp long enough to bring out that final greatness that only years of careful training may attain.

Holbrook, according to Lil Dimmitt, came of a running family. An uncle, E. G. (Polly) Eagleston of Houston, held the 100-yard dash record in 1912 while a Texas A. and M. cadet. Ray ran the quarter and half-mile and was on the relay team at Goose Creek High school, 1942 through 1944.

After entering A. and M. last year, Holbrook went out for cross-country and won his letter. This training helped him greatly during Southwest Conference track competition this year.

A good competitor who puts out best when the going gets toughest, Holbrook was aided this year by competition from another great quarter-miler, Guy Groves of Rice. Groves was able to beat Holbrook in the 440 only one time.

Cochran Wildcat Has Good Show

Stanolind Oil and Gas company's No. 1 Edwards, in northwest quarter of section 13, block L, PSL survey, southwest Cochran county wildcat, swabbed 150 barrels of oil, plus 24 barrels of wash water in the latest 22 hours of testing, it was reported from the company's district office in Midland.

Fluid was remaining constant at about 2,500 feet from the surface, which indicated the oil was coming in about as fast as it was being taken out by the swab. Casing pressure had increased to 240 pounds, and the well was "kicking" slightly back of the swab.

Recovery By Swabs

In the 24-hour period previous the well swabbed 17 hours and recovered 90 barrels of oil plus 33 barrels of wash water. The casing pressure during that test was 220 pounds.

The oil is coming from the uncased section of the hole between the bottom of the seven-inch casing at 5,025 feet, and plugged back bottom of 5,090 feet, in the San Andres-Permian lime.

The project drilled to total depth of 5,111 feet and had sulphur water between 5,100 feet and total depth. Operator plugged back to 5,090 feet, and apparently had eliminated the water trouble.

Much Water Absorbed

During last week, when the start of cleaning out to test was made, operator replaced drilling mud with wash water and a considerable amount of the water was absorbed in the porous pay section.

It appears that the water is being recovered, as the cut of each day's swabbing is decreasing and the amount of oil being brought to the surface is increasing.

The new discovery is about 10 miles west of the closest proven section in west side of the Slaughter field, and is near the north line of Yoakum county.

School Expansion

action and Matthews added that "we wouldn't have a foot more space than we actually need if all the proposed new construction could be completed in time for the opening of school next September." Highest hopes, however, express "some completion by early spring."

Teacher Changes Made

Teacher resignations accepted included those of Mrs. Lennon Hill, of Bean; Miss Pearl Jackson, Dupre; Mrs. Mabel Sowell, McWhorter; Henry Elder, Junior High, and Thelma Walker, Dunbar. Elder, for a half dozen years teacher of agriculture, is accepting secretaryship of the Texas Hereford Breeders association. Supt. Matthews was directed to take steps to fill his place, together with that of C. S. Eskridge, band director, who had previously resigned, as soon as possible.

New teacher nominations approved included those of Willard Bradford and Miss Joardis Park, for Junior High; Misses Lois Killian and Lottie Graves, Senior High; Mmes. Madge Berry and Alice Smith, of Dupre; Mrs. C. R. DeArmond, Guadalupe; Mmes. Tommie Hankins and Ahnise Lindsey and Miss Lillian Barber, of Bean; Mrs. Ura Riethmayer, of Wilson; Mrs. Winnie Flynt and Miss Annie Smith, of Sanders. Also approved was Miss Frances Wilson as secretary to the superintendent. Miss Gladys Butler and Mrs. H. B. Hawkins were added to the summer school faculty in upper levels and Miss Minnie McMurry was dropped from that faculty due to an unexpectedly small enrollment of grade school summer pupils.

Statistical Report

Superintendent Matthews gave out copies of the statistical report for the school year. It showed, among a mountain of other statistics, that the schools closed with 413 students more than at the close of schools in 1944. Enrollment this year stood at the all-time high of 8,802.

Vice-Chairman Alderson presided over the meeting in the absence of Chairman J. T. Hutchinson, who is out of the city. Present, in addition to Bayless, Guy, Matthews and Jackson were Trustees Hubert L. Allen and Paul Hardwick.

World Conference

der the clause, a nation would be free to decide whether to submit cases to the court, and thus be bound to accept the tribunal's decisions.

Canada, in particular, has been insistent that countries which would contribute military forces for the suppression of international hostility should sit in when a proposed security council of the world organization votes on measures requiring use of force. The United States has supported her northern neighbor in principle.

Compromise Plan

The Big Five were said to have approved a compromise arrangement under which one outside power at a time could be brought into deliberations of the 11-member council.

Russian acceptance of the plan was understood to have cleared the way for the Big Five agreement.

Denmark's flag might be hoisted at the conference before it ends if other big powers agree to go along with the United States and Norway. Denmark did not sign the declaration of the United Nations on Jan. 1, 1942, as did most nations.

Her representative in Washington at the time said there was no Danish government to which he was responsible. But he did present a letter declaring that Denmark would adhere to the declaration, and it is on the basis of that document that the United States is willing to bring the Scandinavian nation into the conference.

Prospects for delay in completing the world charter added to Denmark's chances of getting a delegation here before the conference closes.

Russia May Delay

Delegates also heard that Russia might have to message the text of the final charter draft to Moscow for approval.

France was trying to reopen and broaden a section of the charter allowing nations to act immediately in defense against renewed aggression by enemy states of this war.

While Russia brought up new questions about trusteeships, British and American scrutiny developed the impression they would present no big barriers to an agreement.

The Anglo-American version of what Russia wants is addition of some men language saying trusteeships over dependent areas should be directed toward eventual independence for the peoples "in accordance with principles of self-determination."

Key committees were sagging behind schedule and wrangling over details as the conference ended its fifth full week of work today.

"Buy A War bond TODAY"

Krug Sees Rise In Unemployment

WASHINGTON, May 29 (AP)—WPB Chairman J. A. Krug predicted today that unemployment will climb from the present 800,000 level to a total of 1,900,000 persons three months from now, then drop to 1,300,000 as reconversion gets under way.

In Chicago, War Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt told a press conference the total unemployed would rise again to 2,100,000 one year after V-E day, based on present production schedules. He also predicted 1,300,000 unemployed about six months from now.

Munitions Cutback

Krug made his estimate in a report which showed April munitions output below March in almost every major category.

He said armament cutbacks already have trimmed $7,000,000,000 from the original 1945 program of $62,000,000,000 and "another large step-down" is expected within a few weeks.

The head of the War Production board estimated that at the close of the six-month transition stage ahead, 4,800,000 persons will have been released from war activity, a figure which includes 1,000,000 men to be discharged from the armed services.

All but 1,300,000 of these, he forecast will have been absorbed into civilian jobs of the Army or will have voluntarily retired from the labor market.

Boom Centers Worst

Jobless will tend to concentrate "despite our best efforts" in such boom centers as shipbuilding and aircraft areas he reported. "Little success" has so far attended the government's efforts to entice such workers into textile mill, logging and mining areas where labor shortages will continue.

Krug indicated wage increases might be sought to remedy what he described as the two major manpower threats to sustained production for the Pacific war—the tendency of war workers to leave their jobs for peacetime employment, and their reluctance to move into low-wage industries like lumber and textiles.

Okinawa Battle

the First battalion, Fifth regiment of Marines, reached Shuri castle, former headquarters of the enemy force commander," the communique said.

"Opposition in the area was light. To the north and northeast of Shuri, elements of the First Marine division, the 77th Infantry division and the 96th Infantry division were meeting stiff resistance, including tanks. Night attacks, attempted by enemy swimmers off the east coast (Yonabaru sector) in the Seventh Infantry division zone of action, were repulsed."

Enemy In Retreat

Front reports of enemy groups in retreat south of Shuri were confirmed by the communique.

At Naha, on the southwest coast, Marine engineers built foot bridges before dawn Tuesday across the north-south canal in the shell-wrecked capital, largest ever seized by the Marines.

Then the 22nd regiment of Maj. Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd jr.'s Sixth Marine division crossed the stream and seized all Naha north of the main harbor except for scattered pockets of Japanese.

Japanese artillery emplaced on Kobakura hill southeast of Naha poured shells on the advancing Leathernecks.

Search planes of Fleet Air Wing One sank two small enemy cargo ships and a freighter and damaged another small cargo ship in the Tsushima straits area between southern Japan and Korea Tuesday.

Sink 92,620 Tons

Since the planes began hitting that vital sea route, Fleet Air Wing One has sunk 92,620 tons of shipping and damaged 84,680.

Two small cargo ships were sunk Monday by search Liberators of Fleet Air Wing 18 south of the main Japanese home island of Honshu.

Seventh division infantrymen entered Kamizato and Tera towns south of Shuri, Associated Press correspondent Al Dopking reported, while other units of the division on the eastern flank probed southward to isolate Chinen peninsula.

Flying artillery spotters reported the increasing Japanese withdrawals southward on the arrow-head-shaped southern end of Okinawa and passed the word to American gunners. The guns took a heavy toll among the backtracking enemy.

Other units of the Sixth Marine division reached southeastward from Naha for a convergence with Seventh division doughboys which would put a loop around Shuri.

Infantry On Flanks

To the north of Shuri, the 77th and 96th Infantry divisions fought on the left flank of the First Marine division to knock out this key bastion of the Japanese pillbox and cave line, which has cracked on both flanks.

Improving weather, following days of heavy rain increased possibilities of another Japanese aircraft thrust such as the attack Sunday night and early Monday when enemy planes sank a light U. S. naval unit and damaged 12 other small vessels in Okinawa waters.

The attack cost the Japanese 77 planes, on the basis of preliminary reports, U. S. Pacific fleet headquarters said yesterday. It was a repeat of the enemy's Thursday air assault which damaged 11 light U. S. ships, with 166 Nipponese planes downed.

Woman, Four Slain Children Are Buried

GLASGOW, Mont., May 29. (AP) The bodies of four small children were lowered into a common grave today with their 24-year-old mother who hurled them into the Milk river last Friday and then jumped to her own death.

The dead were Mrs. Andrew Campbell; Howard, three-weeks; Larry, 1; Jerry, 4, and Janet, 5. A fifth child, Johnny, 7, had escaped the fate of his brothers and sister by swimming to shore.

Sheriff E. L. McPherson, who talked to Johnny after he swam to safety, said the boy told him his mother struck him on the head with a hammer and threw him off a 30-foot bridge. From the water, he related, he watched the other children thrown over the rail.

Coroner A. J. Holland attributed the woman's action to a mental condition resulting from an appendectomy two days after giving birth to Howard.

Extension Of Price Controls Favored

WASHINGTON, May 29. (AP) — Continuation of price control until June 30, 1946, was voted today by the Senate Banking committee.

The action was taken by a 10 to 5 vote after a drawn-out argument centering on meat shortages.

An amendment by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) continuing OPA for only another six months after June 30, 1945, was defeated.

Chairman Wagner (D-NY) of the banking committee said the extension bill would be brought before the Senate next Tuesday.

Wagner forecast, frankly, a floor fight on the simple extension. He said there was considerable sentiment among senators for an amendment by Senator Thomas (D-Okla) which would require OPA to operate so as to guarantee a profit for all processors of meat.

California Citrus Fruit Quarantined

AUSTIN, May 29. (UP) — State Agricultural Commissioner J. E. McDonald today declared an emergency quarantine against all California citrus fruit except lemons being moved into South Texas.

McDonald's proclamation said the measure was to prevent introduction into Texas of a citrus disease known as "quick decline."

Walter T. McKay, chief of the division of horticultural inspection of the Texas department of agriculture said the disease now exists in California and is especially destructive to trees grown from sour root stock. Sour rootstock is used exclusively in the lower Rio Grande valley orchards.

The proclamation bars shipment of California citrus, other than lemons without special permit. The protected area is all of Texas south of the counties traversed by Southern Pacific railroad from Del Rio to Louisiana.

Mustangs Turn Back 140 Jap Interceptors

7TH FIGHTER COMMAND, Iwo Jima, Wednesday, May 30. (AP) — In a giant dogfight over Japan, Iwo-Jima based Army Mustangs turned back 140 Japanese fighter planes which attempted to halt Tuesday's 450 B-29 fire raid on Yokohama.

A total of 26 Japanese planes were destroyed; ten more probably destroyed, and 18 damaged.

Three U. S. planes were lost, of which one pilot was rescued.

"If it hadn't been for the Mustang (P-51) escort," said Maj. W. B. Carpenter, a B-29 pilot of Monahans, Tex., "a lot of us would have gotten shot up."

The greatest success of the strike went to Capt. Robert W. Moore, of Anchorage, Ky., who shot down two Japs and probably a third.

Elbert Willborn Day, alias J. C. Bounds, who allegedly was an unwilling accomplice of Thompson's, also pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to five years in each case, the kidnaping sentence being suspended.

The men were arrested March 12 near San Juan, N. M., after kidnaping Miss Betty Jim Shelton, and two negroes in her employ.

Trials Of Nazi War Criminals Delayed

LONDON, May 29 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill named Britain's chief prosecutor of German war criminals today but told an impatient House of Commons the trial should not begin "until they are properly arranged and a method agreed upon between the great powers."

Attorney General Sir David Maxwell Fyfe, who was nominated to the big powers board of prosecution, will serve with Supreme court Justice Robert H. Jackson of the United States and the representatives of France and Russia yet to be chosen.

Churchill's implication that the trials of Hermann Goering and other Nazi big shots would have to wait until various details were worked out among the Allied powers supported a statement by Justice Jackson yesterday that they could not start for "some time."

Flowery Language Is Used In Court Case

DALLAS, May 29. (UP) — Attorney Earl E. Hurt waxed poetic, got dramatic, then finished in a burst of flowery words:

"All men know what it means," he said. "Humor cannot soften it nor wit divert it. Prayers avail nothing and threats are idle. Soft words but increase its velocity and harsh ones its violence.

"Darkness has for it no terrors, and long hours of the night have no drapery of the couch around it. The chamber where love and peace should dwell becomes an inferno, driving the poor man to the saloon and the rich man to the club.

"It takes the sparkle out of the wine of life and turns at night into ashes the fruits of the labor of the day."

He was seeking a divorce for a client who pleaded that his wife nagged him too much.

Restrictions Set Up On Blanket Material

WASHINGTON, May 29. (AP) — Deliveries of wool blankets and blanketing were restricted by the War Production board today to the filling of military orders and other orders carrying priority standing.

The "freeze" on deliveries covers all blanketing made from yarns produced between June 17 and Sept. 1, 1945. During the same period, blanket manufacturers are required to produce at least the same proportion of blankets and blanketing as they manufactured in the first three months of this year.

A committee of blanket manufacturers recommended the freeze as "the most expedient means of insuring procurement of heavy military requirements" in the July-September quarter.

Russian Forces Start New Combat Training

MOSCOW, May 29 (AP)—Siberian garrisons and students in Siberian military schools have left their bases for summer combat training camps, the Army newspaper Red Star said today.

Lt. Gen. Gavrilenko will be in charge of summer operations in Siberia, which will center around a tent city on the banks of the Tom river.

The Tom river rises about 65 miles northwest of the border of Tannu Tuva, the northwestern part of Outer Mongolia, in the Abakan range, flows northwestward near the city of Kuznetsk and enters the Ob at Tomsk. (The general area is north of Sinkiang.)

CHURCHILL PLANS MEETING

LONDON, May 29 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill told Commons today that he contemplated an early meeting with President Truman and Marshal Stalin, but did not elaborate.

The United States had three presidents in one month, Martin Van Buren, William Henry Harrison and John Tyler.

Much Of Tokyo Shown In Ruins

Pa., reported. "A strong wind seemed to be blowing on the ground."

The raid, carried out by wave after wave of B-29s in their third heavy strike at Japan in the last six days, brought an admission of "considerable damage" from Japanese imperial headquarters. An enemy communique, broadcast by radio Tokyo, said the attack lasted for an hour and a half.

Escorted By Mustangs

Automotive factories, airplane works, shipbuilding and rubber plants were the targets for the bombers, which were escorted by Army Mustang fighters.

Tokyo placed the number of bombers at about 500 and the fighter escort at "some 100" and claimed without confirmation that 30 planes were shot down and 40 others "heavily damaged."

The Tokyo communique also said the raid extended to the city of Kawasaki, on the coast between Yokohama and Tokyo, and to Tokyo itself.

Officially, the bomber command reported that a study of reconnaissance photographs showed only minor damage to the imperial palace. A spokesman said "numerous buildings within the palace yards are destroyed as well as the area adjacent to the palace."

Palace Not A Target

LeMay interjected: "We are not aiming to hit the palace; why should we? It's not a military target. But the surrounding area is a military target."

In that area are many scores of small, one-time toy factories which, instead of dime store gadgets and toys of peacetime, now are turning out parts of airplanes and other war materials on a piecework basis.

Efforts to arrive at a basis of comparison of the devastating Tokyo raids of last Thursday and Saturday with assaults on European capitals is unavailing.

"They just aren't comparable," said LeMay.

In that connection he added that despite destruction of the greater part of the industrial and governmental areas of Tokyo, he still subscribes to his previous opinion that cities can not be annihilated by firebombs alone. He continued:

Can't Burn Entire Cities

"I feel you can't toss a few firebombs into a Japanese city and expect it to burn down—it will not. You can only burn down even the most inflammable sections by spreading over the area a large tonnage of bombs and must concentrate them in the shortest time. If you lay them down like that the city burns down. If you don't, they put it out."

The series of six incendiary raids started last Feb. 25, accomplished the destruction in Tokyo.

Loss of B-29s in these missions totals 50, a ratio of one lost for each square mile of Tokyo destroyed.

In addition to uncounted small industrial plants and "shadow factories," records of the 21st Bomber command show almost 100 important individual targets — principally manufacturing plants—destroyed or damaged.

War Bond Show

weapons are shown in action as the combat vets make the attack on the Jap pillbox. The combat crew of officers and doughboys bring its battle-learned skills in killing Japs and Germans to the War Bond demonstration.

The football field will be covered with battlefield camouflage to make it resemble a real battlefield.

Meaning Of Bonds

With the sounds of battle in his ears, the picture of attacking infantrymen in his eyes and the smell of burnt powder in his nostrils, the average citizen soon will have a better idea of what his War Bond purchases means.

In order that he might be able to carry out the inspiration for buying bonds, Miss Ruth Ford from the Citizens National bank and Miss Louise Dean from the Lubbock National bank, will be in a booth at the stadium where War Bonds may be purchased on the spot.

A full and dramatic explanation and running commentary on the battle scenes will be given by a trained announcer during the show.

Purposes Of Show

The show is being brought to Lubbock for three main purposes, according to the local War Finance committee, which is sponsoring the demonstration and sham battle. There are: first, to aid the local committee and the Treasury department to meet or exceed its War Bond quota; second, to show the people that the decisive factor in warfare is the ability of the infantry to fight its way in, eliminate the enemy and hold the ground; and third, as the European phase of the war has ended, to focus public attention on the necessity for redoubled war effort to defeat Japan quickly.

It was announced last night that a section of the stands will be set aside for use by negroes, and colored residents of the city and vicinity are urged to see the show.

ALUMINUM BANS LIFTED

WASHINGTON, May 29 (AP)—Controls over the production of aluminum ware cooking utensils, kitchenware and household articles were removed today.

Meat Dealers Here Discuss Problems

More than a score of Lubbock independent grocers and market men took steps Tuesday night to learn why they are not being allowed more meat under Office of Price administration regulations.

Meeting at Central fire station, the group proposed to determine as near as possible how much less meat they are getting this year than last. A spokesman for the group, Claude Key, said, "The majority of us is not getting 50 per cent of what we were allotted in 1944," although he pointed out that retailers' quotas had been reduced 25 per cent for this year.

Last year's invoices will be checked against those for the first five months of this year and the findings will be integrated into a report which will be presented at the next meeting of the group, which will be at 8:30 o'clock Monday in the second-floor courtroom at the courthouse. Its problems will be reported eventually to the OPA, Key said.

Texas Legislature

eration a house bill prohibiting the sale of diseased meat or horse or dog meat for human consumption touched off a flurry of debate that was interrupted on 10 occasions by motions to adjourn until tomorrow or Thursday. Numerous efforts to bring up other House bills were refused.

Pending when the Senate adjourned until tomorrow was a motion requesting that a new free conference committee be named to iron out differences on the so-called secret ballot bill.

Bill On Taxes On Insurance Passed

AUSTIN, May 29. (AP) — Before Gov. Coke Stevenson today were bills agreed upon by the House and Senate to equalize taxes on insurance premiums paid by foreign and domestic companies.

Meanwhile, eight suits to recover approximately $300,000 had been filed in 53rd district court here by foreign companies for premium taxes paid in 1944. They claim the law under which those taxes were paid is unconstitutional. While these suits were being filed, the House and Senate adopted conference committee reports on bills designed to bring taxes on state and out-of-state companies in line.

The out-of-state companies, claiming they paid a five times greater rate than state companies on life premiums, and a six times greater rate on accident and health premiums, contended this constituted a burden in violation of the commerce clause in the federal constitution.

Greetings To Tech's New Deans

REASSIGNMENT of duties at Texas Technological college brings to the fore two newcomers to top administrative ranks and re-emphasizes the versatility of two other faculty members long recognized as educational executives as well as outstanding classroom teachers. Reference is made to the elevation to deanships of Prof. W. L. Stangel and Mrs. George Langford, and to changes in positions of Deans Robert C. Goodwin and William Curry Holden.

It is fortunate that Tech's faculty contained persons ready for deanships when the passage of time dictated changes in the administrative branch of the institution. Fortunate, too, is the fact that two deans already in the picture were ready to take over other and more important duties. The three deans emeritus, Mrs. Mary W. Doak, Dr. James Marcus Gordon and Mr. A. H. Leidigh, will be missed, of course. But not to the extent they would have been if Mrs. Langford, Professor Stangel, Doctor Holden and Doctor Goodwin had not been fully prepared to assume new posts. With all three deans emeritus retaining their connection with the college and readily available for counsel, the newly assigned administrators will take over with the very minimum of difficulty.

Deans Holden and Goodwin, for years acquainted with all of Tech's administrative problems, will fit right into their new deanships—the former transferring to the Graduate division from Archeological Research and the latter from the Graduate division to the Division of Arts and Sciences. Dean Stangel has been a bellweather in the Division of Agriculture for 20 years, knows every angle of his new post. And Mrs. Langford, who has directed physical education for Tech co-eds for two decades is eminently fitted to follow in the footsteps of Mrs. Doak who, over a similar period of time, has proven herself outstanding as dean and counsellor of girls.

Public opinion as expressed from all corners of Lubbock yesterday was in agreement regarding the changes at the college. People expressed regret over the changes in the status of Mrs. Doak, Doctor Gordon and Mr. Leidigh; at the same time, selections of their successors were praised. Thus Deans Holden, Goodwin, Langford and Stangel will assume their new posts with the same public support and widespread goodwill that has been won and held over the years by Deans Gordon, Doak and Leidigh.

Nor will "town-and-gown" relations suffer as a result of the reassignments. Deans Goodwin, Holden and Stangel have always maintained close relationships with non-academic Lubbock, just as have Deans Gordon and Leidigh. In their particular spheres, Mrs. Doak and Mrs. Langford have been strong links in the chain which binds the college and the city together. All the individuals concerned are property owners and citizens of Lubbock and West Texas, just of they are important cogs in the college machine. And that is important in the lite of any institution and the community in which it is located.

As The Morning Avalanche yesterday expressed best wishes to Deans Emeritus Doak, Gordon and Leidigh, we today offer best wishes to new Deans Stangel and Langford, and to those already proven Deans Goodwin and Holden. There is not an "experiment" in the quartet; there is no doubt that they will carry on well and in complete tradition of Texas Technological college.

Memorial Day Thoughts

ON the fourth Memorial Day of this war, the bugles will sound taps around the world in tribute to Americans who have given "the last full measure of devotion" in this and other wars. Each succeeding May 30 has seen the battle lines grow and the number of hallowed places, where lie the dead, increase until now the consecrated ground and the waters, which silently received the casualties of war on the high seas, gird the globe.

Throughout America, grateful Americans will assemble to pay reverent tribute to men whose love of country was greater than love of life. They made victory in the war in Europe possible.

Nor is it forgotten that in the great industrial struggle behind the battle lines, many lives have been lost. Men have taken risks that good safety practices would forbid in normal times, and many have paid with their lives, faithful to country and conscience as long as strength held out.

Soldiers die for a cause. In dying they have made their ultimate contribution and can do no more. The pulsating life which activated them to stake all for an ideal has ended. Their cause is henceforth irrevocably committed to those who still tread the earth.

From Memorial Day devotions and formal celebrations by military pageant, the youth of the land draw the spiritual sustenance to nourish a great tradition. Thus does the sacrifice of the heroic dead become the inspiration of youth in search of a way of life and a goal worthy of the best in the creed and purpose of free men.

THE WARNING

When Mr. Hudson got out of the car and came towards the house, he looked very old and very tired. He had two more newspapers and a copy of the Atlantic Monthly under his arm. Pat, in slacks and sneakers, contrived somehow to look the epitome of what every girl aspired to appear.

Mr. Hudson passed us without a word. Pat stopped and gazed after her father for a moment. Her lovely eyes were troubled. Then she said:

"Nick, I hate the sight of this place. Let's take a walk along the bluffs."

"Sure," I said and turned to Charley. He shook his head.

"Where's Europe, Nick?" asked Pat when the ocean stretched wide below us.

"Out there," I pointed.

"And Spain," she said, "just beyond that spar buoy."

"Beyond the horizon; about an hour's ride."

"I remember Spain and all of Europe. I saw it with the eyes of a little girl who thought the world was her oyster and who never knew a moment's trouble. Until she grew up.

"Nick," she looked at me steadily, "we haven't a penny to our names."

"What?" I said and I looked at her. She smiled wanly and touched my cheek gently with her hand.

"The Hudsons are poor. Father told me this afternoon. Poor dear, he feels it dreadfully."

"What happened?"

"Lilies of the field and bad management," she said.

"Are you sorry?"

"About the money? No." She shook her head and I knew she meant it. "Nick, there's something much more important than our losing our money."

"What's that?" I asked.

"This is not quite so easy to tell. Father—" she stopped. "Father is mixed up in something—well—dishonorable."

"Pat—" I began but she stopped me.

"There's no sense in keeping it from you, Nick. You'll know eventually, and I want you to hear it first from me. As a matter of fact, I know very little except what he told me. On the way back from Minot, he talked nostalgically of better days. Then he said: 'Pat, I must tell you this for the small shred of honor I can preserve in confessing such a shabby thing. Your father is mixed up in a very dangerous and dirty game. But it won't be for long. I'm pulling out'."

My pulse began to beat in my temples.

"Pat, did he say what this game was?"

"No," she shook her head. "He just said not to worry and he would take care of everything."

"I think I had better talk with your father, Pat."

"You can't do that, Nick," she said quietly. "You know father's stubbornness. Besides this is quite confidential. I don't think he can have done anything so terrible."

"Of course not, but—"

"You don't think it's something to do with that business in the cellar this morning?"

"Why, no, Pat."

"You do, Nick." She faced me resolutely. "And so do I. There are too many loose ends here. For example, why didn't father notify Cass Hapes about the attack on you this morning? Why was father so insistent that Bruce Temple, whose very name is wormwood to him, stay all night at The Ledges? Why did father consent to coming down to The Ledges in the first place, when it has been impossible hitherto to budge him more than three feet off Beacon Hill from September till June?"

"I've wondered about that myself," I said.

Pat had gone to her room for a nap, and I started for my own room. I was uneasy about Mr. Hudson. When a man of the fiber of Phineas Hudson faces dishonor, he becomes capable of desperate measures. But the moment I stepped into my room, all thoughts of Phineas Hudson vanished.

If there had been another door in that room, I could have sworn that someone had stepped through it the moment I entered. It was as if the quiet air had stirred faintly. The constant presence of danger sharpens one's senses. I was certain that someone had been in the room.

I stood for a moment in the doorway and looked around. Everything was just as I had left it. The mystery novel was still on the table by my bed. Yet it seemed that the book had been moved a little so that I got a clearer view of the design on the jacket; the shadowed outline of a hanging corpse. I turned to the bureau. There in a corner of the mirror tucked in between the glass and the frame was a white slip of paper like a parking ticket on a windshield. I unfolded it and read the message pasted on the paper with the cut-out letters of newspaper headlines. It was quite lucid.

GET OUT OR BE KILLED

The paper was a brand of cheap white sulphite such as can be bought at any stationer's. The letters were cut from The Times. I slipped the message into my pocket. I had only one impossingly clear thought: murderers do not warn their victims.

Then I had what I thought was an inspiration. It is a practice in jiujitsu to resist your opponent at first, then suddenly to add his force to your own by going the way he pushes.

I would take the advice. I would leave The Ledges and by combining the note writer's strength with my own, I might learn something.

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

WHEN I first started this column, I pledged myself to leave politics and war and world affairs alone.

There are enough fellows much smarter than I, telling you all about those things.

But this morning my blood boiled when I read about Colonel General Heinz Guderian of the Nazi Army, talking blithely to newspaper correspondents about war.

BRANDEIS

He apparently enjoyed his captivity. He held no enmity toward his opponents, he said condescendingly, and felt that he could discuss the war as though it had been a game.

"It's like a football match," he said and lighted another American cigaret, "when you shake hands and wish each other luck. Politicians and business men, unfortunately, feel and act otherwise."

A football match, indeed!

A football match in which thousands and thousands of our boys were killed and maimed and crippled for life.

A football match in which innocent women and children were tortured and burned and starved and raped and poisoned.

A football match in which every law of decency and humanity and honor was violated.

A football match between human beings on one team and of beasts and murderers on the other.

WHEN I read about that lovely little luncheon an American officer gave to that fat swine, Goering, and how they shook hands and chatted clubbily, nauseated me and made me wonder whether we aren't really exactly the kind of suckers the nazis called us.

How can anybody shake hands with a Goering or a Guderian or a Doenitz, when every nazi hand is bathed in blood—in the blood of your own sons and husbands and brothers and friends?

How can any American who has any pride at all sit at the same table with a murderer, a liar and a cheat?

Oh yes. I have heard some people say that that is done only to get information out of those fellows.

I have never been in favor of a third degree—but for those nazi criminals even a third degree is much too good.

They tried to get information out of our men. But they didn't try to get it by dining and wining them.

Let us be human, even with our enemies.

But let us be human first of all to our own.

To them we owe a terrible debt.

And the first part of that debt is swift, merciless, relentless punishment to those unspeakable vultures who would now break bread with us but who refused even a crust of bread to their victims.

May I, in closing, refer you to the 69th Psalm, which says in the 21st verse: "They gave me gall for my meat; and in my thirst they gave me vinegar to drink." and therefore, "Let their habitation be desolate; and let none dwell in their tents."

Plane's Role In Future Debated

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

CAPITOL HILL has already heard the first guns in the battle that will be waged over the role which should be assigned to military and naval aviation in the future national defense system.

The struggle will not hinge on the need for planes in both services, for the importance of this arm has been fully demonstrated. But there will be debate over the number, the types, the percentage of appropriations for the respective branches and the question of a separate air force.

Disputes within the AAF itself are anticipated as a result of behind-the-doors differences. In appearing before numerous committees which have taken time by the forelock, some fliers minimize the jet and rocket bombs which Hitler was preparing to let loose against Britain just before his death. They maintain that these weapons cannot be made sufficiently practical and devastating to justify large-scale development of them.

TUCKER

The airmen, in short, are dividing into liberal and conservative schools. One urges steady and intensive improvement of the kinds of planes we have now. The other maintains that "military aviation is still in its infancy" and that it is not too soon to blueprint devices now only in the scientists' laboratories. The bombers demand priorities for their "big Bs," while the pursuit groups think that they should be favored more.

It is true that the hostility which "battleship admirals" and "land generals" once felt for the aerial squadrons has been dissipated. The ruins of modern Pompeiis — Aachen, Cologne, Berlin — give answer to their earlier belittling of the sky forces. But they still insist that planes be regarded by Congress as only an auxiliary and not as a separate instrument of warfare.

MITCHELL: The mere possibility of such a division between experts seems fantastic, in view of verbal and photographic pictures of the human and material destruction which aerial assaults wrought in Germany and Japan. It would seem that integration of the plane into the defense system of tomorrow would be a comparatively simple problem.

But the probability of a violent and harmful altercation does not appear at all remote to Army-Navy old-timers, nor to correspondents who participated in the Billie Mitchell fracas and court-martial only 20 years ago. Many of the highest officers in our air forces today sneered at his prophecies as "bunk." Hardly one dared to go to his defense.

Nevertheless, his forward-looking forecasts of 1925 now read like current dispatches describing the conditions in bombed-out cities of Europe and Japan. A few excerpts hold more than historical interest.

PROPHECIES: "Manhattan," he said, "has an area of 21.93 square miles. One group of planes carrying gas bombs and high explosives could easily put that city out in a day. By that, I mean it could kill and wipe out the population.

"We have bombs that will smash railroads and elevated structures, and if we pack them heavily enough, they will break through into the subways, where the gases will remain for days. We have bombs with attached fuses that will keep popping and sending noxious fumes for at least 24 hours.

"The sweep through the sky of one squadron would permit the dropping of sufficient bombs to terrorize the inhabitants. We have weapons for this, and we are only deluding ourselves when we think other nations haven't got them.'

But the Mitchell statement which provoked the greatest laughter was this: "Our Pacific possessions, including the Philippines, Guam and Hawaii, are as vulnerable to attack as if they were defended by bows and arrows!"

ARMY: The High Command, in its study of European operations, is convinced that the American Army was the most powerful ever placed on a battlefield in the military annals of the world. It does not minimize the strength of the Red machine, but, quite without any thought of invidious comparisons, it still believes that the Yanks were tops.

The Russians, for one thing, threw away their men without the same heed which western leaders give to human life. They fought, to a great extent, on less difficult terrain. A great part of their mechanical equipment, their ammunition and food came from this country.

The generals' post-mortem attributes our success to two key factors: Our striking power and the discipline and sense of obligation of our troops. In the last analysis, they give full credit to the men who made the guns, planes, tanks etc. and to the men who operated them. The soldiers in overalls were as devoted and conscientious as those in uniform.

Our better weapons gave us a hitting power and mobility which neither the enemy nor our Allies achieved. With a few exceptions, our equipment was the envy of the Russians, British, French, Germans and all others.

The word the analysts use to describe our boys' morale is "reliability." No matter how much was asked of their battered minds and bodies, they responded. There was no grumbling by the youngsters from the drugstores, the schools, the factories and the homes. Their battle behavior amazed even the professionals trained in the art of war and fully aware of its horrors.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

KEEP YOUR eyes on the flare-up in Lebanon and Syria. It is not just a local spat in King Solomon's cedar grove; it may affect us more than we know.

The newly formed League of Arab States has rushed to the support of the two small republics now quarreling with the French. Moslem countries, already stirred up by the Zionist problem, are angry and suspicious. Should sympathy strikes be followed by violent action, the whole Levant might burst into flames.

LEMAN

This could have serious consequences for us. United States troops en route to the Pacific are passing through the Suez Canal. We have vast military installations all the way from Egypt to Persia that were used as supply lines to Russia and to Anglo-American armies in North Africa. We are trying to arrange for postwar oil concessions with Saudi-Arabia and other countries.

For months fanatics have been preaching a holy war on Christian states. Wise emirs and sheiks in the League are against any such recklessness; they seek more power through negotiation. But, in the turbulent East, hotheads can always raise Cain until suppressed or the excitement dies down.

COMPLICATIONS: The situation is more delicate because the United States, Great Britain and the Soviet Union have recognized the independence of Lebanon and Syria.

The French have also pledged that the two nations will be free; in fact, France is the only country in the war that has granted independence to peoples put under its jurisdiction by the League of Nations.

But Paris insists that certain cultural ties be kept and that military control be not relinquished until the mandate is superseded by a valid settlement.

General de Gaulle contends that bases are necessary to protect his life line to Madagascar and Indo-China. He apparently suspects that the United States wants to weaken his empire by supporting the ambitious of subject races and by demanding bases such as Dakar and Martinique.

"Fresh and tender grass is an excellent food for humans," declares a dietitian. He isn't talking to us. We'd just about as soon eat spinach.

Some Things For All Of Us To Remember

Stokes Considers Memorial Day

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — This is the day when we pause to remember and honor those who have died in our country's wars.

This year, as last year and the year before and the year before that, we think particularly of those who have died in this war that is still going on. For the graves are fresher—in France and Germany and Italy and on the islands of the Pacific—and many hearts are still heavy from recent grief.

The honors are done so frequently with the noisy fanfare of military pomp. "Glory" is mentioned often and idealized, when there is really no glory in war, only weary hours of marching down endless roads and waiting alone in a foxhole or in the stinking tropical wilderness, with death rising up suddenly to look you in the face or smite you down.

This is no day to speak of "glory," with all its connotations.

This is the day to ponder the death of those who died so young, and to think again of why they fought, to remember for what it was they lay alone in the midst of battle waiting for the advance, for what it was they jumped from their refuges and faced the merciless torrent of steel.

Remember Their Happiness

This is the day to remember the happiness they once had, the freedoms they cherished, the rights they enjoyed — the right to go to a school where they could learn to think as they pleased, to say what they pleased, to go to what church they pleased, or not go to church at all, to read what they wanted to read, to go to work at the job they chose, to walk in the streets without the quick backward look of fear over the shoulder, to live and to sleep quietly in their homes.

It was these simple things for which they fought, though they often never stopped to think. It was something deep inside.

For the enemy would deny all these and make man into an automaton, the supine creature of a ruthless state, not the free spirit that God made him.

THIS is the day, too, to remember the unhappiness that some of them had, the hunger sometimes for food or for other things, the poverty they endured, the dingy walls, cracked and stained, at which they stared in the night, the exhaustion from tramping the streets looking for a job where there was none.

For we have had that in America, too.

This is the day to remember that they died to abolish these things.

They fought, too, against the greed for power in high places, against the ambition to conquer other peoples and make other peoples into the image of the conqueror's docile followers, which is what our enemies thought to do. There are people among us who would do the same with other people and other peoples' lives. They fought and died to change all that, too.

Fought For Common People

They came from the common people and they fought for the common people everywhere against those who would taint and poison their minds. They fought against a state of mind as much as anything else, and that state of mind is not peculiar to any country, though it has been carried to a national fanaticism among our enemies, so that we had to fight, finally, to destroy it before it destroyed us.

This is a day to look into our own mirrors.

It is a day, too, to begin to separate the people from those who would push them around or make them into mannikins. The wrong was originally at the top, though the fact that it could hypnotize the people at the bottom showed there was something wrong there, too, something we must try to trace down to its beginnings and try to correct, with understanding and sympathy.

HUMAN beings are fundamentally much alike everywhere.

The wounded young men look alike, for example, when they die, row on row, drawn face, in a hospital, such as the tented hospital I visited in Normandy filled with German prisoners. When we got outside the colonel with whom I was traveling blurted out:

"We must not have sympathy with them. Remember, they are our enemies. We must remember that."

It had hit him. Nobody had said a word. He was a hard-boiled regular Army officer, 32 years in the service.

The instinct that showed itself there, basic with human beings, can be directed into something worthwhile.

Slaton Primed For Bond Drive Today

SLATON, May 29. (Special) — Slaton was all set tonight for a bond-buying spree Wednesday in observance of Memorial day.

Instead of the usual Memorial day programs and observance, the town is to spend the day observing "Special Emphasis Day" in the Seventh War Loan drive.

The Citizens State bank, which normally closes on Memorial day, will be open all day so that patriotic citizens of Slaton and surrounding area may buy bonds.

The Slaton independent school district quota of E bonds is $124,000 and more than half of the quota has been purchased.

Leaders hope that by nightfall the quota will have been exceeded by thousands of dollars.

THANKS FARMERS
IN BEHALF of our boys in the armed forces, we wish to thank you for the way you responded to our plea for large clean grade A eggs. Because of your patriotic cooperation, we have been able to get their eggs to them much faster than could have been possible otherwise. We still have many more war department orders to fill, and the government is looking to you to help us meet our increased quotas.
If you haven't heard of the way that you can make more money, and still be helping our soldier boys, ask your neighbor, or we will give you the information. Your large clean grade A eggs are still desperately needed. Thanks again.

I hereby certify that the above and foregoing is a true and correct copy of the Original writ now in my hands.
GRADY HARRIST,
Sheriff, Lubbock County.
By VERLIE SHEARER, Deputy.

THE STATE OF TEXAS
To the Sheriff or any Constable of Lubbock county—Greeting:
Whereas, on the 28th day of May, A. D. 1945, Claxton McCrummen, Independent Executor of the Estate of Laura E. McCrummen, Deceased, filed in the County Court of Lubbock County, Texas, in probate cause No. 1875, in RE: ESTATE OF LAURA E. McCRUMMEN, Deceased, an application for the partition and distribution of the balance of said Estate, to-wit:
All that certain, lot, tract, or parcel of land, situated in Lubbock county, Texas, and being:
The south 31.67 feet of lot No. four (4), and the north 32.5 feet of lot No. five (5), in block No. Five (5), of the Overton addition, to the city of Lubbock, Lubbock county, Texas.
Petitioner alleges that such property is not subject to partition in kind, in that if it were so partitioned, the respective portions which each devisee would receive, would be so small as to be valueless; that for such reason, the property should be sold and the proceeds of the sale distributed among those entitled to receive it.
THEREFORE, you are hereby commanded, that by publication of this writ one time, and said publication shall be not less than ten (10) days before the return day hereof, in a newspaper published in the county of Lubbock, State of Texas, you give due notice to all persons interested in said application for partition and said Estate, to appear and contest the same if they see proper to do so on Monday, the 11th day of June, A. D. 1945, at the Court House of said county in Lubbock, Texas, when said application will be acted upon by said court.
Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at my office in the City of Lubbock, this 28th day of May, A. D. 1945.
(Seal) LOUIE F. MOORE,
Clerk, County Court, Lubbock County, Texas.
I hereby certify that the above and foregoing is a true and correct copy of the Original writ, now in my hands.

State To Construct And Maintain 7,205 Miles Farm-To-Market Roads

AUSTIN, May 29. (U.P) — Approval of a $60,000,000 postwar farm-to-market road program was announced today by the state highway commission.

The program provides for construction and maintenance of 7,205 miles of farm-to-market road. Of the $60,000,000 to be spent during the first three years after the war, the state highway department from its current revenues will pay half, which will be matched by federal funds.

Counties will not be required to aid in financing the program, the commission announced.

Transfers Burden

Plans call for the state to construct and surface 5,830 miles of farm roads which at present are the direct responsibilities of counties. The state also would maintain an additional 1,375 miles of surfaced farm roads previously built by the state and now being maintained.

"By transferring this tremendous financial burden from the county governments to the state government, the counties will be able to concentrate their local funds on the roads remaining under county control," the commission said. "Counties should be able to make great strides in improving these farm roads."

Detailed surveys as to needs were made to determine which roads would be included in the program, the commission said.

"We recognize that many miles of meritorious roads are not included in the program just approved," the commission said. "But this is the maximum obligation which the state can assume for the three-year postwar period due to financial uncertainties resulting from the lack of constitutional protection of road funds."

"This uncertainty makes long range planning and committments impossible but we are hopeful this legislature will submit a constitutional amendment to the people which will give these funds the required protection."

Rationing Board To Close Day Monthly

Lubbock County War Price and Rationing board will be closed the first day of each month, beginning Friday, George H. Wilson, chief clerk, announced Tuesday.

"Due to the extremely heavy load on the board, we have decided to remain closed the first day of each month in order to make out monthly reports," Wilson said.

Other boards in this area have been following the one day a month policy for several months, he pointed out. The local board has tried to avoid the closing but has found it necessary in view of the increased work load.
