FAIR TO OPEN HERE TOMORROW Gotham Politicians Urge Pro Law Referendum EVANGELIST OCCUPIED COTTAGE, CHARGE

WITNESSES SAY SHE WAS THERE WITH ORMISTON

POSITIVE IDENTIFICATION OF EVANGELIST IS MADE BY FIVE WITNESSES

(By the Associated Press.) LOS ANGELES, Calif., Sept. 28.—Additional state witnesses today tried to identify Aimee Semple McPherson as the woman they saw in a cottage at Carmel with Kenneth G. Ormiston last summer while the Los Angeles evangelist was strangely absent from her parsonage. At the opening in Municipal Judge Samuel Blake's court of the preliminary hearing of Mrs. McPherson and her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, on charges of criminal conspiracy, five witnesses said they were positive the Angeleno Temple pastor was the woman who shared the Carmel cottage with Ormiston, former radio operator at her church. A sixth witness testified that the female luminous was invited to Ormiston under the name of George McIntyre May 14 four days before the evangelist disappeared at Ocean Park. John Constable, a caretaker, who is said to have witnessed several love-making scenes in the back yard of the Carmel cottage, is one of the principal state witnesses slated for appearance today. Ernest Renkert, fuel man of Carmel, resumed the stand for cross-examination by W. I. Gilbert, chief of Mrs. McPherson's counsel, when the case was called today. Renkert testified yesterday he had seen a woman at the Benedict cottage at Carmel while delivering wood last May whom he identified as Mrs. McPherson. Renkert said he had read in the newspapers about the disappearance of Mrs. McPherson and saw her picture prior to delivering wood to the cottage. The witness said he "believed" he had first read of the $25,000 reward offered for the evangelist's return a "week" after he first saw the woman. William McMichael, a stone mason, testified he had seen a man and woman at Carmel cottage, but was not sure it was Mrs. McPherson. He thought the couple were newly married, he said.

Whicker No. 1 To Be Under Drill Shortly, Is Said

While owners have experienced considerable delay in getting the Whicker No. 1 well spudded in, indications at this time are that it will now be only a few days until drilling is well under way. Water has been a problem, and the fact that sufficient water could not be obtained has caused a number of delays. At first it was thought a pipe line from a well two miles away would be all that was needed, but after the line was put down it was found to be inadequate. Since that time the company has drilled a water well near the test and other difficulties are not anticipated. Sam E. Staggis of Slaton has been selected as sales manager for the company, and he will have charge of all leases and land near the well. His office will be in Lubbock. The Whicker test has attracted considerable attention among members of the oil fraternity in that the test is quite a distance from any other. It is some 40 miles from production in the Eastern New Mexico field, and geologists who have come over the field say that formations are as good or better than those found in New Mexico. Unless there are some serious mishaps the country will be given a thorough test before the close of another year.

Heavy Rains On South Plains Cause Big Crop Damage, Agricultural Men Say, 3.10 Inches Fall Since Friday

The rain storm and cold snap that has held the South Plains in its grip since last Friday has caused a great deal of damage to crops throughout this section of the state, including both feed and cotton, and if relief is not gained from the elements within the next day or two, the Plains is doomed to suffer a loss on its crops similar to that of last year brought by the premature yet severe froeze. In the opinion of agricultural leaders here, the main consoling feature of the spell is the fact that freezing temperatures have not yet been experienced. The feed crop, of which there was a great abundance, and much of which has been left in shocks in the fields, has been damaged very materially, and in some instances already has begun to rot and rot in the shocks. This it is said, can be stopped only by sunshine and scattering the feed so that it may dry out. No Estimate on Cotton Loss. The elements likewise have taken their toll in the cotton crop, but conditions are such that an estimate of the damage "if you ventured even by close followers of the situation. Quantity of Staple Cut. The quantity of the staple that now will be harvested will be affected, to say nothing of the quality that it is said will be cut fully two grades on the crop that was open. Damp and clammy weather continued to hold sway throughout the territory Tuesday, with a heavy mist falling during the morning. The wind remained in the northeast, and until its changes its course, there is practically no possibility of relief, it was said at the local weather bureau. 3.10 Inches of Rain. A total of 3.10 inches of moisture has fallen here since Friday night up until noon Tuesday, with temperatures holding around 45 to 50 degrees, and every little variation during the day. The maximum temperature here Monday was 49 and the minimum was 47, and the mercury hung around this point throughout the morning Tuesday. The precipitation Monday totalled 77 of an inch. Roads in all directions were practically impassable, according to reports from the Union terminal here, with stage lines making an effort to run toward the south and east. FAULTS ARE WHAT OTHER FOLKS HAVE

"All the world is queer except you and thee, and even thou are a little queer."

Down in our hearts how many of us feel the only infallible person in the universe is the first person singular. The beams in our eyes, the glass houses we live in, are seldom apparent to us. Like death, faults are things to be applied to others. And haven't we the feeling that death will leave us to the last?

I was amazed recently to hear a certain woman say, "criticism is the meanest thing in the world. It is the meanest because it is the cheapest. It shows on a person like a disease—once it gets a start it cannot be stopped."

I could scarcely believe my ears, because wonderful as she is in every other way, her reputation for criticism is legion. However, she was frankly convinced that she was in a position to voice the remark.

I know a man who has never needed to exert himself in his profession—because he inherited the nucleus of a large fortune and his investments have turned out unusually well—criticize a man who had always worked hard for his six children and call him a poor manager. The man who made the criticism of his friend's predicament has no children of his own, and it happens that his house is one of those that is figuratively easy to "keep in order."

Let us be sure that our own fences are mended before we point out the holes in those of our neighbors. Each of us has to live his own life. If you are wondering how the Joneses can afford a new radio, perhaps they are wondering why you burn electric light all over your house every morning. And if the family that lives in a cheap little house down the street has taken your breath away by going to Europe stop to consider, before you value your surprise to the neighborhood, that perhaps that is why they can afford it. Most likely they have denied themselves a thousand comforts to take the trip.

No, we cannot live any life but our own. "Let him who is without a fault cast the first stone."

Miss Lattimore found that there is a great deal of interest at this time in Camp Fire work and she felt encouraged about her work here. Mrs. Price discussed with each group of women their particular problems. The two reported that they received hearty welcomes in the various towns, many of which seldom have visits from State or district officers. Among the places visited were Pampa, Panhandle, Shamrock, Canadian, Memphis and others.

Everything Else Failed But Tanlac Saves Her
San Antonio Woman Had Spent Hundreds of Dollars in Vain Search for Relief From Nervous Indigestion

"Utterly unstrung and almost hopeless," is the way Mrs. W. R. Smith, of 417 Grayson St., San Antonio, Texas, describes her condition at the climax of a breakdown when she was living in Corpus Christi, Texas, 8 years ago. "I had spent hundreds of dollars for different remedies and treatments," she continues. "I was almost a skeleton after years of severe dieting, had to spend many days in bed, and frequently failed to get any sleep till after midnight. Going to bed was like a nightmare. A few bites of food would feel like a ton of lead in my stomach, and gas would create such pains I would be in agony for hours."

"My sister, who had taken Tanlac and who thinks the world of it, got me to try it. Tanlac helped me immediately. Six bottles left me with energy to spare and feeling strong and happy. Now I work every day, helping my husband conduct our 'Do Drop Inn', and have gained over 30 lbs. Tanlac is wonderful!"

Many have had experiences such as Mrs. Smith relates. If you have tried other treatments without benefit, turn now to Tanlac. Tanlac is Nature's own remedy—safe, pleasant and effective—made from roots, barks and herbs. Ask your druggist for Tanlac—today!

BABE RUTH MAY BREAK WORLD'S SERIES RECORD

BAMBINO MUST GET THREE DURING SERIES TO SET A NEW RECORD

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—(By the Associated Press) Babe Ruth will break his first world series record by going out to the park and taking his place in the opening game. If the big fellow retains a grip on his health and is able to play, he will enter his seventh world's series. No other player has played more than six.

Tied with Ruth up to this year at six participations in the baseball classic were J. Franklin Baker, Everett Scott, Eddie Collins and Wally Schang. Baker is farming and not interested in playing world series baseball. Scott, Collins and Schang can do better their records at the moment for the White Sox and Browns are not winning pennants this year.

The leading exponent of baseball hit played three world series under the colors of the Boston Red Sox and won his share in as many series for the Yankees.

Other records may be expected to fall if the Babe is on his game. He will have to score more than eight runs to better one mark—for he is tied with Tommy Leach for the most runs scored in one series at eight.

Ruth is tied with Goose Goslin and Joe Harris of Washington for the most home runs in one series, three, and with Hooper of the Red Sox and Knuff of the Giants for two home runs in one game. Ruth smashed out his circuit blow in successive innings, October 11, 1923.

The Babe is tied with a number of fellow athletes, past and present, for the number of extra base hits in a series, with five, but holds undepicted first place for the most extra bases, 29 long hits, 18, compiled in 1918, 1921, 1922 and 1923 by four home runs, two triples and two doubles. He also has established a tie with Hooper and Knuff for the most extra bases on long hits in one game, six.

He was in a receptive mood for a record in 1923 when he was given eight bases on balls during the series. The versatile Ruth also has his name engraved in the department devoted to pitching records. He pitched 23 scoreless innings for the Red Sox in 1916 and 1918, going 13 innings the first year and 16 the second.

Ruth has a total of four world series home runs against six for Goslin of the Washington Senators who hit three in 1924 and five more in 1925. Ruth will have to get three in the series to establish a new record.

Yanks And Cards Being Groomed For First Conflict Of Big Series Saturday; Both Confident Of Victory

(By the Associated Press) NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—The New York Yankees, monarchs of the American League for 1926 and the St. Louis Cardinals, standard-bearers in the National circuit for the first time in baseball history, were grooming themselves today for the first world series conflict in the Yankee stadium Saturday.

The triumphant Yanks returned to New York last night from the final swing through the West that saw them clinch the pennant with double victories over the St. Louis Browns last Saturday. Most of the Cardinal regulars have been resting here since games with the Giants and Brooklyn the latter part of last week.

"We'll beat 'em," Babe Ruth announced as he elbowed his way at the head of the exuberant Yankee gang through the small crowd that surrounded the players' special. "There'll be nothing to it." Absolute confidence in their ability to turn back the Cardinals' bid for the baseball championship of the world, along with mingled relief and satisfaction that the season was ended successfully after the nerve-racking slump in the final days of the campaign showed in the Yankee's high spirits and playful manner.

Babe Ruth's huge bulk tips the scales in favor of the New York Yankees as the strength of the outfielders to play in the series is weighed. St. Louis has no Ruth. The Yankee slugger, with 47 home runs and a batting average of .368, has distanced the best effort of any Cardinal outfielder.

Blades injured. If Blades can join in the Cardinal outer defense, Manager Hornsby will offer three .300 hitters with Southworth and Douthit completing the trio. With the injured Blades probably not in the line up, Hafey is expected to get the call with Holm next in line. The five St. Louis outfielders, with Blades included, although a doubtful starter, have an average of .299.

Ruth, Combs and Meusel, the regular Yankee outfield, with Paschal and Carlyle in reserve, boast an average of .313. Ruth dominates the outfield talent involved in the series. He has scored 139 runs and stolen 12 bases. He will be in his seventh world's series. Southworth will patrol the right field for the Cardinals.

Cards Strong in Center. Only in center-field do the Cardinals offer a stronger offense on paper than the Yankees. Douthit has hit .309 to .301 for Combs. The Cardinals scored 97 runs against 110 for Combs but his 22 stolen bases dwarfed to a total of eight for the Yankee.

Combs scored an advantage in home runs, eight to three. If Hafey goes to left for St. Louis, New York, with Meusel in the opposition role, will make a greater impression on the face of the season's returns. Meusel has compiled a batting average of .318 and scored 69 runs, with 12 of the runs unaided through the medium of circuit smashes. He has stolen 18 bases. Hafey has a batting average of .370 with thirty runs scored, four home runs and two stolen bases. He has played only 75 games.

Blade's Record Good. Glades will bring a good record into the series if he is able to appear actively. He has batted .367 with 81 runs scored, six stolen bases and eight home runs. Holm, the fifth St. Louis outfielder, batted .288, scored 18 runs, stole three bases and did not enter the home run class.

Paschal and Carlyle are two hard hitting outfielders, subject to call from the bench. Paschal has a batting average of .285. He has seven home runs and the same number of stolen bases. His runs total forty-five. Carlyle's batting average of .291 was assembled while he was wearing two uniforms, his early-season hitting being for the benefit of the Boston Red Sox. He has made two home runs, but has not a stolen base. He has scored 25 runs.

Fair Weather For "Little World Series"

TORONTO, Sept. 28.—Toronto, champion of the International League and Louisville, American association pennant winner, found fair weather here today for the opening of the "little world series."

Four games will be played here and the remainder of the series in Louisville. Five victories in nine games will decide the challenger for Los Angeles, the other class AA champion.

Bobby Wins Again

CLEVELAND, Ohio.—Bobby Jones has attained a new distinction, and his new title has to do with Tompkins' execution. A new dancer, the "Bobby Jones," which is based upon Bobby's individual double time fox trot has been introduced at the convention of the Ohio dancing teachers' association here with predictions that it will take the country by storm. It is a combination of Bobby's own step, the Charleston and the toddle.

GLENNA COLLET WINS

HAVERFORD, Pa., Sept. 28.—(By the Associated Press) Defending her title as women's national golf champion, Glenna Collet, of Providence, R. I., brought off a stirring uphill fight in the first round today to defeat Mrs. O. S. Hill of Kansas City, two up.

CAREER OF BIG TRAIN RECALLED AS SEASON ENDS

WALTER JOHNSON STANDS OUT IN MEMORY OF WORLD SERIES FANS

(By the Associated Press) NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—The winning and losing fights of the picturesque Washington Senators, in the world's championships of the past two years have taken place among the most spectacular of baseball's classic title battles.

In the brilliant background they have added to diamond history, the tall figure of Walter Johnson, the Big Train, stands out, alternately tragic and heroic.

Johnson pulled the Senators to their first championship in 1924 against the New York Giants by holding the fort dramatically in the final game after being pounded into defeat in two previous starts. Against Pittsburgh's rampant Pirates last Fall, the Big Train was invincible in his first two games, permitting only one run in eighteen innings, but in the gloom and mud of Forbes Field he was shelled into defeat as the Pirates came from behind to take the seventh and final game.

As spectators of tense dramatic interest, of shifting tides of fortune, of sensational uphill struggles and heart-breaking setbacks for rival contestants, these two champion conflicts of the last two years stand at the top of the list. In Washington, there was a background of unprecedented fervor in 1924 for the first championship the capital city had ever gained while Pittsburgh burst into fanatical flame over its first triumph since 1909.

These two series, incidentally, were among only four which have gone the full limit of prescribed games, variously fixed as seven and nine contests. The others were in 1909 and 1912.

Observers recall the 1912 series, between the Boston Red Sox and New York Giants as one of the most fiercely fought of all. Eight games, including an eleven-inning tie, were fought out before the Red Sox finally emerged triumphant, beating Christy Mathewson in ten innings in the final contest, aided by a costly error by Fred Snodgrass. Giant outfielder, So nerve-wracking was the series that after it was all over the rival managers, John McGraw and Jake Stahl, declared their men could not have withstood the strain of another game.

The quickest series on record was that of 1914 when the Boston Braves, after their sensational pennant drive under the "Miracle Man," George Stallman, overthrew Connie Mack's Athletics in four straight games. The Chicago Cubs, conquering Detroit in 1907, and the Giants, downing the Yankees

Hitting Sports High Spots

Wall street is betting 6 to 5 on the Yankees but before you get too enthusiastic over the possibilities of Meuser, Ruth and Co. in the coming diamond classic, pause to remember that Wall street also bet 13 to 3 on Jack Dempsey. (Mr. Dempsey, you'll remember, was once heavyweight boxing champion of the world.)

"Athletics May Crowd Indians Out of Second Place," reads a headline. The poor redskins are still having a hard time. They were crowded off Manhattan out of Florida and Georgia and now they're being ousted out of second place. "Stew had—stew had."

Which leads us to remark—"The Indians traded Manhattan Island to the white men for a keg of rum and now the white men want to trade back." What's all this noise about "Indian Givers?"

Henry Severed, aged 96, must have a good laugh up his sleeve for George Silver. The venerable catcher, cast adrift by the hopeless Browns, caught on with the Yanks and will probably do most of the receiving in the coming series and, incidentally will probably get a good piece of the series money not shared by Sisler and Co. Sisler, the way he handled the Browns during the campaign just passed, hinting up another record for himself. He proved that he's not only the best first baseman in the business but also the poorest guessing manager.

Some agitation is being heard in favor of turning Tech's eyes toward the Missouri valley conference. Of course such a conference membership would not be available for some years and there is a lot to be said pro and con. It's merely something to be thought over.

YANKEE STADIUM IS LARGEST PLANT IN COUNTRY

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—(By the Associated Press) The Yankee Stadium where the New York Americans make their home, is the largest baseball plant in the country. It saw its first World Series games in 1923, the year it was built, when the Yanks and Giants hooked up in the October classic that returned the American League champions the winners.

It is described as "The House that Ruth Built." Its vast, triple-decked stands and spacious bleachers will hold about 45,000 persons. The largest paid attendance in the 1923 series was 62,817, but no standees were allowed and as there is standing room for several thousand the actual capacity has never been officially made known. In a doubleheader this month with the Athletics the Yanks were said to have entertained a few hundred over 45,000 cash customers.

AN OPEN LETTER

Dear Mr. Moody: Attorney General of Texas, Austin, Texas.

Dear Mr. Moody: Some time ago the Lubbock Daily Journal launched a campaign to interest the West Texas members of Congress in lending its support and influence toward the appointment of a West Texan on the state highway commission.

President Arthur P. Duggan, Littlefield, and Manager Homer D. Wade, Stamford, officials of the commercial organization, in answer to letters written to them on the subject, have both replied to the Journal, promising to aid in the movement to the utmost of their abilities. Both gentlemen further stated that they were fully in accord with the plan.

West Texas, as you personally know, is a vast empire within itself, and being one of the newer sections of the state from a standpoint of development, presents real building and maintenance problems all its own. It is the Journal's opinion that the great domain can be much better served from a highway standpoint with a West Texan man familiar with West Texas conditions, as a member of the commission.

West Texas asks no special favors by the way of road building and maintenance—it wants only what is due it, which is every West Texan knows, is also your wish in the matter. Lubbock does not ask that a Lubbock man be placed on the commission—all that Lubbock would like to see in that regard is that a dyed-in-the-wool West Texan be given a place on it.

West Texas has no "crow to pick" with any member of the highway commission, either past or present. Certainly nothing other than fair treatment has been received since the department became one of the state's most important divisions. The people of this section only believe that a man who resides in it and who has first-hand information concerning its highway needs can better represent its interests than can a commissioner from some far-off locality.

The Journal, of course, realizes the many problems which confront you and understands fully that whims and fancies of everyone cannot possibly be fulfilled. Yet it firmly believes that this request, backed by every thinking West Texan, has merits all its own and it is with the latter thought in mind that the Journal, in the best interests of the territory, presents the matter to you directly.

Trusting that you will give this problem your personal thought and again expressing complete confidence that your administration will be one of the best in Texas history, we are, Most respectfully,

THE LUBBOCK DAILY JOURNAL, Avalanche-Journal Publishing Company of Lubbock, Texas.

EDITORIAL NOTE—The above is an exact duplicate of a letter sent by the editor of the Journal to Mr. Moody, as a continuance of the Journal's campaign to get a West Texan on the state highway commission.

OFF TO THE RACES It will take more than a couple of days of disagreeable weather to plaster a permanent damper on the 1926 Fairhandle and South Plains fair.

The big exposition, better and larger than ever, will open its doors tomorrow and rain or shine, cold or warm Mr. South Plains citizen, with the wife, kids and flivver, will be on hand.

TEAM WORK

A man on the gridiron may be a top star and lead all the rest of his teammates by far. He basques in the spotlight; his fine record mounts, but, say, after all, it's the teamwork that counts.

IN NEW YORK SEE-SAWING UP AND DOWN BROADWAY

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Perhaps no place in the world presents such a picture of chaos as does Manhattan on October 1. That is the great city's official moving day.

It would be impossible to estimate just how great a percentage of the this day when all leases end abruptly, but 50 per cent of the population is involved in one way or another.

Taxis are called into service to take trunks and breakables. Every one with a wheelbarrow, a push-cart or a wagon takes a couple of days off to make a nice bit of extra change.

Trucking companies work their drivers night and day. It is impossible to fill any percentage of the orders. Tips are flashed recklessly in the face of anyone with any sort of conveyance; truck prices soar to the skies and husky movers have their palms crossed at every block with many pieces of silver.

The little ice companies that flourish during the summer in the neighborhoods, drop everything and turn their carts over to bewildered movers.

Nerves are on edge and harassed husbands and wives all but come to blows. Women plead over the telephones, begging last minute assistance. Those who have ordered vans in advance storm at the slowness of their arrival; everything is promised and little given. Husbands rush from their work to don overalls and carry out the rugs.

It is typical of New York that, of the hundreds of thousands who move, not many move very far. There are any number who change location seasonally, but hesitate to leave a given neighborhood.

And no one dangles more tenaciously than a New-Yorker to a good place he has found it. He becomes so accustomed to paying considerably more for his roof than it is worth that once a bargain is discovered, he struts about with that look in his eye generally associated with the doctor's words: "It's a boy."

No effort apparently, has ever been made to distribute the moving days over periods of time and thus relieve confusion. New York leases run from October 1 to October 31, and sub-leasing is similarly arranged. Thus, the hectic rush begins weeks before the fatal date and continues for several days afterward.

It is not uncommon for one family to have its furniture on hand before another can arrange to get out. Inconvenient for everyone—but good sportsmanship is a keynote of the Manhattanite at this period. He tries to apply every ounce of humor and patience to the situation—and somehow, in spite of all the turmoil, no one has to sleep in the streets.

GILBERT SWAN.

Stewart's WASHINGTON LETTER

JUST KEEP YOUR EYE ON ALICE! BY CHARLES P. STEWART NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—When, after twenty years of tarrying outside the fold, Alice Roosevelt Longworth suddenly put on her best bib and tucker one day last winter and went to a congressional ladies' tea, it did mean something after all!

People suspected it then. And they were sure when up popped none less name than that of Princess Alice a few days ago for the job of Ohio representative on the Republican national committee!

Alice Longworth

Of course, that in itself was nothing! A person as vitally and intelligently interested in politics as Alice Longworth gets quite accustomed at having her name up for this and that, and then politely refusing to hold the job!

But it looks very much as if Mrs. Nicholas Longworth from Cincinnati has no intention of refusing this job—she hasn't done so yet. She knows that she is definitely selected, and she's the sort of lady who is quick on the trigger with her "yeas and nays."

Alice Roosevelt Longworth as member of the Depublication national committee isn't the half of it.

Those birds in the know, known as political experts, say— "That means Nick Longworth for president!"

In fact, ever since that day last winter, when breaking a vow made more than 20 years ago to the effect that just because she was marrying a congressman she had no intention of going to all the frumpy congressmen's wives' affairs, Alice did go to her first congressional tea in 20 years; they've been saying that she was out plugging for Nick for president!

Some go farther than that— "Nick nothing!" say they. "Alice Longworth is a chip off the old block. She wouldn't mind being the first woman president of the United States, they talk about!"

National committees have never meant much to the hol Polled. Most of us don't even know who they are or what they do.

But if it's something that Princess Alice is on, that's something else

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE

HANDSOME IN YOUTH THEN LOSES BEAUTY

Caterpillar and Moth By AUSTIN H. CLARK Smithsonian Institution Handsome children are not always handsome as grown-ups. It is the same way with caterpillars. The caterpillar shown above, which is very common, often, indeed, altogether too common, is an unusually pretty type. It is white banded with black and adorned with black tipped tufts and bundles of cream colored hairs. The head is bright red.

Helpful Health Hints

MAGIC OF PLASTIC SURGERY REPLACES SCARRING KNIFE By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygeia the Health Magazine.

During the world war the mutilating injuries suffered by many of the men was assuaged through the development of new features in surgical technique.

Whereas formerly it was considered sufficient merely to sew up a wound, to amputate a shattered limb or to save life regardless of appearance, surgeons then began to consider operations with a view to the most presentable appearance possible after repair.

The technique itself is difficult but the war yielded a few masters in the medical service of each of the warring nations.

Stitching and Filling In In addition to making wounds more neatly by the fine stitching, methods were evolved for filling in defects by transplanting tissues from points elsewhere in the body.

Transplanting Muscles In one case a man whose arm was lost at the shoulder had not even enough of a stump to attach an artificial limb.

By transplanting muscles and tendons from neighboring parts, surgeons were able to make a stump that served well for the attachment of an artificial limb with which the man was able to earn a livelihood.

The economic aspects of the situation are, of course, even more important than those relating wholly to the patient's appearance.

With Our Contemporaries

THE STORM A mighty wind may serve to deviate a boom in portions of Florida, but it also brings Florida into contact with the world through the bond of sympathy for those in distress.

The number of dead and the property damage is not yet known. It will take days for that to be determined and in the meantime mighty forces bent on relief of the stricken will be on the scene. First reports of the storm, far from being exaggerated, were far under estimates that have grown since first the gale swept over Miami. And as the hundred-mile-an-hour gale crashes on, one knows not what toll will continue to be exacted.

The disaster is far beyond the powers of Florida or any one State to handle. Suffering, it seems, has reached a new peak. Calls for aid have already gone out and through all the land there should be response, even as prayers for thankfulness arise that other places were not so stricken.—San Angelo Standard.

WHY WORRY There are very few people who can show any dividends ever paid by worry. Worrying is one of the most unprofitable pastimes that a human being can find. It does no earthly good, but leaves a trail of wrinkled brows, nervous hands, rheumatic, aching backs, eyes and upset stomach and blasted dispositions.

If we do our best and our efforts give our affairs due thought and consideration, but worrying, worrying, is just as unnecessary and not half as interesting as wishing.

If we do our best and our efforts fail, we have nobody to blame. It just can't be helped.

We worry about the weather, about the other fellow's religion, about ball games, about the insects, about the price of cotton, about the local business situation, about the other members of the family, about the preachers and the teachers, about a thousand and one things that will never help us in the least.—Dawson County Journal.

The editor from Lamesa has stressed a number of salient points concerning that human bug-bear—worry, but all the preaching that he and others can do will never stop it. Halting worry is the only thing under the sun harder to do than the enforcing of prohibition. But—as we editors have often said before—an editorial on any subject helps wonderfully to fill up space and at the same time keep the linotypes going.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE
CHERRY LANE, 18, one of a family of four children of MR. and MRS. LANE, typical American working people, has a long list of admirers, which includes: CHESTER HART, a former "steady" of FAITH, her stay-at-home sister.

CHRIS WILEY, to whom Mr. Lane has forbidden the house, and whom Cherry meets clandestinely. ALBERT ETTLESON, a traveling salesman, and BOB HATHAWAY, to whom Faith is also attracted, but who has eyes only for the petite, coar-haired Cherry. Faith's life is largely made up of household drudgery and of getting Cherry and their brother JUNIOR, 21, out of trouble.

CHESTER HART, calling on Cherry, has invited GEO. PRUITT, son of one of the richest families in town, to call on Faith, since he himself feels rather mean at his own treatment of Faith. Pruitt, who has studied art in New York, tells Faith that she is a modern Venus, and sends her a great box of American Beauty roses the next day.

Cherry is angry and jealous, and determines to win Pruitt for herself. While AUNT MATTIE LANE is helping Faith to make a new dress, a gift from Aunt Mattie, the girl gets a telephone call from the Western Union. The message is for Cherry, from Albert Ettleson, and Faith hurries to the business district to the offices where Cherry works, to give her the message and to warn her not to play with Ettleson, who is a married man.

She finds Cherry being made love to by her elderly employer, MR. CLUNY, and upbraids her. Cherry protests that Cluny means no harm, and lies about the meaning of Ettleson's telegram. When Cherry sees George Pruitt's roses she believes they are for her. When Pruitt telephones Faith to invite the two girls to a party at his home, Cherry is furious with Faith, and boasts that she can divert Pruitt's interest to herself.

Saint And Sinner

"Did he ask you to marry him?" Faith's voice shook in spite of her effort at self-control.

"Goodness, Faith, you sound like Aunt Hattie! Give the poor darling time! This isn't eighteen-umpteen! It's nineteen twenty-six! Gosh, I don't feel like I'd ever go to sleep! Thrills, thrills, thrills! Lord, I'm glad I'm young and little and beautiful! Aren't I beautiful, Faith?" She stretched her tiny, rounded white arms above her head, executed two or three dance steps, then flung herself upon Faith's lap.

"I want to talk to you—seriously," Faith picked up her small sister as if she had been a child and set her upon the floor. "Go on and get ready for bed. I'll be in when I finish this seam."

But the seam took longer than any other seam Faith had ever sewed for the tears, to be denied no longer, gathered in her great, tired brown eyes and overflowed, blinding her. Every nerve in her body was quivering at the thought of Bob Hathaway's lips upon Cherry's. At last she folded up her work, dabbed at her eyes with her handkerchief, and walked slowly and softly, so as not to awaken her parents, to Cherry's room.

Cherry, in a pale pink nightgown, was brushing her curls before the mirror of her dresser, her lips curled in a fond smile as she studied her reflection.

"Quit admiring yourself like that!" Faith's strong hands closed upon the nearly little shoulders and shook them.

"I hate you when I see you doing that! Oh, Cherry, life isn't fair—you aren't fair! You take and take and take and never give anything but a few insincere, sweet words, that make us all your slaves! God gave you everything in the way of beauty, and instead of being content, you take everything else you can lay your hands on. It isn't fair, Cherry—"

"Such is life!" Cherry impudently quoted her father. "To him that hath, you know. Don't be an old grouch, Faith. Aunt Hattie has a terrible influence over you."

"Cherry," and Faith dropped from the general to the particular, with a helpless gesture of resignation, "are you in love with Bob Hathaway?"

"Crazy about him!" Cherry answered flippantly, dipping her fingers into a jar of cold cream.

"Are you going to marry him?" Faith went on relentlessly, her face drawn with pain.

"Not if I can get George Pruitt," Cherry answered calmly, as she rubbed the fragrant cream into her cheeks with an upward rotary motion.

"You'll let him fall genuinely in love with you—Bob Hathaway, I mean—and you'll play him against George Pruitt, and break his heart without a quail." Faith's voice was bitter and very tired.

"He's old enough to take care of himself. Besides, I may marry him if I can't land George and if Albert—"

She stopped short, bit her lips with vexation.

"If Albert Etteson can't get a divorce from his wife, you mean?" Faith's voice was full of genuine horror. "Oh, Cherry, what an earth will you do next?"

"We're ill tomorrow night, and we'll see what turns up at George Pruitt's party." Cherry answered with angry impudence.

show a balance on the right side of the ledger when all bills are paid it will be the first time in history that a deficit is shown, fair heads said.

Aggie Building Ready

The Agricultural building where the many Plains farm products will be on display is beginning to take on a brilliant color with counties and communities coming in to put up their exhibits. Crops were better this year than they have been in years and some of the best products that have ever been on display will be exhibited. The building will be nearly filled with exhibits, for the first time since the fair has been in existence while the Boys Scouts, the Lubbock County Public Health Nurse, the Textile Department of the Texas Tech, and the High School will have booths in the building which will crowd it to capacity. Prospective land owners will be interested in visiting the Agricultural building to see what the Plains will produce.

Counties that will have exhibits in place by eight o'clock tomorrow are: Garza, Dawson, Terry, Crosby, Lynn, Dallam, Glines, Lamb, Hale, Bailey, Cochran and Floyd.

Communities Ready

Communities that will have exhibits in place by eight o'clock tomorrow are: New Hope, Canyon, Wolffarth, Acuff, Shallowater, Slaton, Woodrow, Carlisle, McClurg and others. The New Hope community was the first community to get in and start work decorating their booth. Miss Lillian Richards and J. N. Townsend, teachers at New Hope arrived yesterday and have their booth practically complete early this afternoon. New Hope won first place last year and expects to repeat the accomplishment.

Dawson "On the Job"

Dawson county was the first county to get in and start work. Chas. H. Martin, county agent, and Mr. Whitson of Lamesa are in charge of the booth.

Articles in the general exhibit where the contest for the best ten heads of prize is closed are coming in rapidly this morning and this division will be filled to capacity.

The Women's building is well filled with textiles, culinary, art, relics and curios, club women and club girls products, plants and cut flowers. The articles will be judged this afternoon and then placed in the show cases for exhibition. The building has been completely remodeled and will be the most attractive and best filled Women's building at any West Texas fair this year.

Merchants Working Hard

Merchants are busy at work finishing up their booths in the Industrial building which will give an accurate index to the best retail and wholesale market in Lubbock. Everything will be ready for the fair crowds early tomorrow in this building.

The poultry building will be filled with prize winning fowls which will show the increased interest in poultry raising on the South Plains since last year.

Addition Completed

The addition to the Livestock barn has just been completed which will make room for twice the number of horses that were here last year. Over a hundred hogs will fill the pens at the fair. High blooded Duroc, Jersey, Poland China, and Hampshire are included among this lot and Plains farmers who are interested in stocking their farms with a few good hogs will have an opportunity of seeing good stock. The Largest Herd of Merckel is already here in the beef cattle line and others are expected today. A good number of dairy cattle, sheep, horses and mules will arrive today for the big livestock show which will be the biggest that has ever been staged on the Plains.

Machinery is Feature

The latest machinery will be found under the machinery shed where the following hardware and implement firms have exhibits: Sherrod Bros., Myrick Hardware, Nibler Hardware, Western Windmill and Emerson Bramlett company. The Axtell Hardware company and Hodges Bros. have outside booths where they will display windmills.

The attractions at the fair are better than has ever been offered fair visitors. Five good football games are scheduled, five big circus acts will be offered twice daily free to the visitors, the Bill H. Humes shows will be here to furnish the best in carnival attractions, and the Theatre-Duffield fireworks company will stage a spectacular fireworks display each evening free to fair visitors.

Bands to Be Here

Florida and Tahoma high schools will play Wednesday, Slaton and Plainview, Thursday, Lubbock and Post, Friday, Littlefield and Falls, Saturday morning and Tech Matadors and Schreiner Institute Saturday afternoon.

The free circus acts include the Five Flying Fishers, the Pallone Trio, Marykous Duro, Clown Act, and Betty's Pets.

AL SMITH NAMED TO LEAD DEMOS FOR GOVERNOR

travagant and expensive in the history of the state and says that under national Republican policies the whole country is enjoying greater prosperity than ever before.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, keynote at the Democratic convention said the Republicans were trying to win the New York election on a falsified Coolidge economy record. As to the Volstead act, he said the Republicans had neither the courage to enforce it nor the brains to amend it.

Voters, he said, "can not ignore the fact that large groups of Republican politicians may be bought with money, and that favors may still issue with propriety to those bribers who have the longest purse."

Modification Asked

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 25 (AP)—Modification of the Volstead act and American adherence to the world court were among the chief recommendations in the declaration of party principles adopted by the New York state Democratic state convention here today.

"The Democratic party," the document continues, "has contended that the interpretation of the Volstead act resulted in widespread contempt and violation of the law, in illegal traffic in liquors, and in official corruption and that a majority of the people in this state are not in sympathy with it."

Mills Nominated

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (AP)—Ogden L. Mills of New York city was nominated as candidate for governor of New York state at the Republican state convention today.

Since 1914 Mr. Mills has been active in New York politics, and at the last three sessions of congress he has represented the seventeenth New York district in the lower house. He is a lawyer, and is 46 years old.

Seymour Louman was nominated to succeed himself as lieutenant governor.

Demos Chops Smith

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 25 (AP)—Democrats of New York state unanimously and for the fifth time nominated Alfred E. Smith of New York city for governor. The nomination was accompanied by a demonstration of tremendous enthusiasm.

REBELS DEFEATED

GUADALAJARA, Mexico, Sept. 25 (AP)—Federal troops have defeated and dispersed 200 rebels in Tlaxcala, state of Jalisco. Nine rebels were killed and several captured.

POULTRY SHOW TO BE BIG FEATURE

The poultry exhibit at the South Plains Fair gives promise at this time of being not only the best ever shown at the South Plains Fair, but in all probability the best ever shown in the Panhandle-Plains section. Poultry fanciers from many counties will be here with their birds and this feature alone will be worth the price of admission.

There are some 20 varieties of fowls raised on the South Plains, and the chances are that each variety will be represented. There are some exceptionally fine birds in this lot and ones that have been winners every where they have been shown. Mr. Coleman of Lockney, breeder of the Partridge Wyandottes has captured blue ribbons at some 15 state fairs and a score of others. His birds are second to none of that variety.

During the past year more than two million baby chicks have been hatched off by South Plains fancies, and with only a few exceptions all of these chicks are from standard bred stock. Of course there are many people who are raising poultry on a large scale—people who have good stock who will not take part at the fair as they know nothing about preparing birds for exhibition. Nevertheless, some of the leading poultry growers say the exhibit this year will be the best ever shown in this section of the state.

Gas Price Boost Posted In Dallas

DALLAS, Texas, Sept. 25 (AP)—An increase of two cents a gallon in the retail price of gasoline was announced today by three of the eight principal producing and distributing companies here. The other five said no notice of a boost had been received by them.

The Humble, Texas and Gulf companies, still selling at 17 cents a gallon, expect an increase soon, it was learned. Companies increasing to 19 cents are Magnolia, Oriental and Pierce.

Seventeen cents has been the prevailing price since August 31 when it was reduced from 19 cents.

R. P. LYNCH LIVING ONE MILE east of Lubbock says he has three hundred acres in cotton, with seventy-five bales opened at this time and that he certainly needs pickers to gather it. He said he could use seventy-five pickers. The cotton is opening very fast.

DAVID C. HARROWER, ASSISTANT editor of the Wall Street Journal, departed today for Dallas after spending two days in Lubbock getting statistics on the cotton situation. Mr. Harrower, stated that he thought with open weather following this spell of rain that the crops ought to bring much better prices.

STYLE SHOW HERE DRAWS PRAISE OF PUBLIC

A capacity house greeted Lubbock Style Show creators at the Palace Theatre Monday evening, and today visitors declare the program was the best of its kind ever rendered in the city.

Barrier Brothers and the management of the Palace are responsible for the show and they have spared no expense in making it all it should have been. The first show was staged three years ago and since that time they have had two shows each year.

The opening address was made by W. C. Rylander, after which a most interesting picture was shown. For two hours the audience gave undivided attention and during that time some thirty models were shown. No special garments had been ordered for the occasion, Mr. Barrier said for every article was taken from stock at Barrier Bros. store.

Some of the very latest creations were shown, and anyone interested in "correct" styles would have been pleased. Not only were garments for women and children shown, but clothing for men and boys as well.

C. A. Deese modeled in a college pep suit was given an applause. He announced the Tech-Schreiner Institute football game.

Miss Mabel Jane Witt gave a reading which was well received by the audience. Other features included Miss Eunice Hutson of the Powder Box Beauty Shop. Probably the outstanding feature for the evening was the square dance in which a number of Lubbock's most popular people, as well as Tech students, took part. Music was furnished by the Texas Tech Troubadours.

The show has been voted a success not only by patrons, but by managers as well, and a similar program will be rendered at the Palace tonight.

Carr in circuit court restraining the seating at today's republican state convention of any Wayne county (Detroit) delegation excepting that nominated by the faction friendly to Governor Greenback was set aside by the state supreme court today.
