New Blizzard Is Predicted For Panhandle Area Today

Temperatures Below Zero On North Plains

Four Deaths And Innumerable Injuries Reported Along With Heavy Property Loss Over Most Of State Friday

Eighth Of Toll Lines In State Are Reported Out After Ice Formed On Them; Amarillo May See Five Below

(By The Associated Press)

WINTER'S most severe onslaught in Texas late Friday had caused four deaths, innumerable injuries and damage in excess of $1,000,000.

As the cold blast moved into the southern part of the state, a new blizzard was predicted for the Panhandle, where sub-zero temperatures prevailed.

Predict Five Below

Five degrees below zero was expected in Amarillo. Continued cold was forecast for Saturday, with rising temperatures Sunday.

The Southwestern Bell Telephone company was the greatest loser. The company reported 325 circuits, comprising an eighth of the toll lines in the state, were out because of ice forming on them.

Trees and shrubbery in North and West Texas suffered severely. In Dallas thousands of dollars of shrubbery was flattened by the heavy formation of ice.

Many Persons Injured

Many persons were injured in falls on slippery walks and streets.

Airplane schedules were cancelled, highways were icy, and communications were disrupted in the northern part of the state.

The norther encountering resistance from a low pressure area, slowed its advance into extreme East and South Texas but the weatherman warned it was likely to move over practically the entire

Weather Grip Is Maintained

South Plains Continues Under Ice Blanket; Temperature At Midnight 13 Degrees; Few Mishaps Reported

Continued cold gripped Lubbock and the South Plains Friday night after a morning that saw thermometers register a seasonal low of 4 degrees.

Ice remained on the ground, and roads were dangerous.

Mishaps, however, were avoided. None had been treated at hospitals, and police said only two slight "bumps" had been reported by motorists. Slight collisions were at Fourteenth street and Avenue Q and at Fifteenth street and Avenue G.

Schedules Maintained

Railroad dispatchers said their trains were maintaining schedule. Buses, too, managed to thread ice-shackled routes without incident.

Flying, however, was paralyzed in the South Plains area, planes remaining grounded.

The mercury late Friday "levelled off" at 13 degrees and maintained that reading from 7:30 o'clock until midnight, according to observations at main line station of West Texas Gas company. By comparison with the acrobatic dive of the column that morning, Friday night's

Baby Freezes To Mattress And Ducks Have To Be Chopped Out Of Ponds

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 8. (AP) A baby froze to its mattress, bewildered ducks had to be chopped out of icy ponds and bathing girls ran for cover today as a frigid wave held the usually mild Pacific coast in its grip.

With the mercury at 11 below zero in Klamath Falls, lumber center near the California-Oregon border, the baby found itself stuck fast in bed. It was released none the worse for its experience. The parents, who reported the incident, requested anonymity.

The mighty Columbia river froze over.

It snowed in San Pedro, in subtropical Southern California, for the first time in a quarter of a century. Several San Francisco girls trying to bolster the coast's warm winter reputation, took a dip in the surf but stayed only a split second while photographers snapped a picture.

Narcotics Seized In Dallas Friday

Eight Men Of Ring, Largest In U. S., Are Arrested

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Jan. 8. — Federal narcotic officers and members of the United States marshal's office here reported today they seized more than $100,000 worth of narcotics and arrested eight men, six in Dallas and two in Hot Springs, Arkansas.

J. J. Biggins, supervisor of the narcotic bureaus in Louisiana and Texas, headed the raiders under direction of the national director in Washington.

Largest In U. S.

Biggins described the ring as the largest in the United States, and said Dallas for the past year had been the distributing point for narcotics in the Southwest.

Those arrested in Dallas were: Sam Civello, Leon Civello, Joe Civello, Dick Smith, Guy Payne and Uhle Eichenbaum. Those arrested in Hot Springs were Louis Ginsberg and D. D. Moody, alias Dan Moody.

Arraignment Indefinite

Although charges were filed before United States Commissioner Lee R. Smith, United States Attorney Clyde Eastus said he did not know when the men would be arraigned.

Eastus moved to have the men arrested in Hot Springs brought to Dallas. He said he would ask bonds totaling more than $25,000 to hold the men.

"The government has spent thousands of dollars making these cases," Eastus said. "For nearly a year now five extra undercover agents have been working in the Dallas territory. They have been mingling with the ring and have made innumerable deals with them."

The agents also said they were advised Fort Worth agents arrested two wholesale dealers, but said they had no connection with the ring in Dallas.

France Warns On Teutons In African Area

Nation Backs Up Warning With Her Fighting Forces And Moves Ships In; Britain's Warships Dispatched

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, Jan. 8.—France warned Spanish insurgents tonight the presence of German soldiers in Spanish Morocco would not be tolerated, and backed up the warning with her fighting forces.

One hundred thousand troops already are in French Morocco, government sources said. The French Atlantic fleet is at Casablanca.

France acted, official sources said, in complete accord with Great Britain. That nation was believed considering direct action following reports German engineers were supervising construction of a "second Gibraltar" at Ceuta—14 miles across the straits from the British naval base.

SEND 90 WARSHIPS

LONDON, Jan. 8. (AP)—Great Britain will concentrate 90 warships in the near Spanish waters, the admiralty announced tonight after a hutried cabinet session heard reports of German military activity in Spanish Morocco.

Dispatch of the naval units coincides with regular scheduled naval maneuvers in the Mediterranean area, the admiralty said, but high government sources pointed out the fleets would be ready for action if the tense Spanish situation developed.

"Endangers Whole Empire"

Presence of Germans in the African territory endangers "the whole French empire," foreign office circles said. If the situation becomes more menacing, France will take military action to enforce provisions of the Franco-Spanish treaty of 1912, these circles said.

By its warning tonight, France recognized the government of Fascist Gen. Francisco Franco as a de

Oklahoman Enters "Dust Bowl" Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8. (AP)—Representative Phil Ferguson of Woodward, Okla., proposed today an appropriation of $50,000,000 for the relief of "dust bowl" farmers.

The appropriation would be used in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and New Mexico under the direction of President Roosevelt for loans and grants, and for projects to prevent soil blowing.

Ferguson also offered a bill appropriating $10,000,000 a year for the next ten years to establish national soil conservation program.

CCC Said Slated To Become Unit Of Interior Department

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8. (AP) — Secretary Ickes today apparently had won for his interior department the future administration of the highly coveted Civilian Conservation corps.

A high authority said the CCC, President Roosevelt's favorite relief agency, definitely is slated to become a part of interior provided a forthcoming regrouping of federal functions consigns the bulk of conservation activities to that department.

BILLS INTRODUCED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8. (AP)—Bills introduced in the senate today included the following by:

SHERIDAN, Wyo., Jan. 8 (AP)—It's bad enough trying to keep the wolf away from the door in the drouth-stricken territory around Sayle, Mont., but when the critter crashes right in through the kitchen window . . . that's carrying things too far.

So said O. I. Cunningham, Sayle rancher, today in recounting how he killed a big black wolf on the front porch of his home yesterday after the vicious animal had been sent scurrying by Mrs. Cunningham.

March Of Seamen On Capital Is Planned; Will Protest Act

NEW YORK, Jan. 8. (AP)—Plans for a coordinated march of thousands of seamen from all parts of the country on Washington starting Sunday to protest against the Copeland continuous discharge book act were announced tonight by maritime strike leaders here.

The projected march was described as similar to the great "bonus army" demonstration in Washington in 1932.

Although the majority of the demonstrators are expected to be from the Atlantic and Gulf coasts, moral backing of Pacific coast forces was claimed.

Three Men Are Selected To Go To Washington To Present Views From Over Section; 250 Attend Session

PLANS to send a committee to Washington to stress the need of an immediate appropriation by Congress for continuation of Works Progress administration were formulated at a meeting of the county judges, county commissioners, mayors, other city and county officials, chamber of commerce officials, and newspaper editors of the South Plains held at the Hilton hotel Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Approximately 250 representatives from counties over all West Texas attended the parley, participating in the open discussion of WPA. Alvin R. Allison, president of the West Texas County Judges and Commissioners' association, presided.

Allison, Hockley county judge, M. G. Poteet, Wilbarger county judge, and Percy Ralls, landowner of Ralls, were placed on the committee to go to Washington. All three were selected by unanimous approval. Two Warships Ordered Built

President Roosevelt Gives Go Ahead Sign Friday; Cost Of Dreadnaughts, Finished In 4 Years, $50,000,000 Each

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8. — President Roosevelt gave the go ahead sign today for the construction of two new 35,000-ton battleships, costing $50,000,000 apiece.

Simultaneously he presented to congress a budget recommending a record peace-time national defense expenditure of $980,763,000 in the fiscal year beginning next July 1. Of this, $25,000,000 will be used to begin work on the dreadnaughts, which will take four years to build.

Increase Of $92,882,000

The $980,763,000 was an increase of $92,882,000 over this year's estimates for the naval and military establishments.

Larger appropriations for airplanes, ordnance and more men for the army and navy were recommended.

Calling attention to the capital ship construction activities of Britain, France, Germany and Italy, President Roosevelt said:

"If we are not to reduce our navy by obsolescence, the replacement of capital ships can no longer be deferred."

He expressed regret that naval powers had been unable to agree on further limitation of battleships.

An emphatic negative was his reply to a question whether new ship-building meant the beginning of a world naval race.

'Ghost House' Stirs With Goings-On Just As Strange As Its 160 Rooms

SHE KEPT ADDING TO IT

A psychic, so the story goes, told Mrs. Sarah Pardee Winchester she would never die if she kept building this house in San Jose, Calif. This weird conglomeration is the result of 36 years' construction which ended with her death and cost an estimated $3,000,000.

Story Says Psychic Told Former Owner She Would Never Die If She Kept Building

BY SAM JACKSON
(AP Feature Service Writer)

SAN JOSE, Calif., Jan. 8.—Having spent 13 years in the Winchester "ghost house," Custodian John R. Brown and his wife say they are experiencing phenomena they can't explain.

When they moved into the weird 160-room structure in 1923, the Browns scoffed at the idea the spirit of its owner, Mrs. Sarah Pardee Winchester, of the rifle-manufacturing family, would cause them any trouble. Nor were they afraid of the floating faces and detached hands which a parlor maid declared materialized around Mrs. Winchester.

Many mediums asked permission to hold seances, but the Browns turned them down and have been exhibiting the house merely as an architectural monstrosity.

Mrs. Winchester

But now, after the 13th year —

"There have been footsteps going through the house at night," says Brown. "I get up and search and I can't find anything. It's happened time and again.

"Something keeps unlatching the door. One day it happened three times—unlatched from the inside when I was the only person in the house."

"People think they hear voices in her old bedroom," says Mrs. Brown, "but we just hustle them along."

Knows Of No Attraction

Brown thinks of nothing that would attract human prowlers. It is true that obituaries stated Mrs. Winchester's $20,000,000 fortune had shrunk at her death to $4,000,000, but Brown does not believe any of the vanished money is hidden on the estate. "She handled her money by checks," he says.

The income from what was left went to eight nephews and nieces, the residuary estate to the New Haven Hospital association.

"Llanada Villa," as Mrs. Winchester called the place, was under construction continuously for 36 years.

Sought Eternal Life

Her husband, William Wirt Winchester, son of the founder of the Winchester Arms company, died in Hartford in 1886. According to local tradition, she was instructed by a Boston psychic immediately afterward to start building a spirit pal-

With Instructions Over Police Radio, Patrolman Subs For Family Physician

(By The Associated Press)

EAST IRVINGTON, N. Y., Jan. 8.—The story of how Patrolman George Butler delivered a baby in accordance with the instructions thundered at him over a police short wave set came to light today.

The Greenburgh police received an urgent call from the home of Mrs. Eleanor Moller, who was about to become a mother.

The desk sergeant, Charles Stein, found no ambulance available, so he broadcast orders for Patrolman Butler to go to the Moller home.

Then he dispatched Patrolman John Poley to the home of Dr. Cassius L. D. Victoria, the police surgeon.

Patrolman Butler called Sergeant Stein and said the situation was getting beyond his control.

Stein told him to drive his car up close to the Moller house, turn the radio up loud, and follow instructions. Then he connected Poley's two-way set with Butler's car and asked

Officers Back In Kidnaping

Fifth Of Series Of Ads Placed In Seattle Paper By Mattson Family; Justice Agents Go On Mysterious Call

(By The Associated Press)

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 8. — The father of Charles Mattson, kidnaped 12 days ago, sought new instructions from the lad's abductor tonight after federal officers, suddenly reentering the case, sped on a secret mission early today.

A rush by 20 justice department agents before dawn and publication of the fifth of a series of "Mable—Ann' advertisements left observers uninformed as to the exact fate of the 10-year-old boy.

"We Are Still Waiting"

"We are still waiting," the kidnaper was told in a new advertisement for further instructions appearing in the personal columns of the Seattle Daily Times.

The boy's parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Mattson, remained silent as usual.

One unusually informed source said the ransom was paid during the night and the money was taken from a bank yesterday. Verification was lacking.

Boy till Absent

Friends of the family said they were uninformed if this were true and they were sure the boy was still absent from the home.

Coming on the heels of frequent declarations by the federal authorities that they would withhold action until Charles' safety was assured, the sudden rush of agents from one hotel and the darting of four official automobiles in various directions stirred up a heavy flock of rumors.

All newspaper men were ordered from the large building quartering the federal men.

Texas Council Urges Control Be Added To Federal Program

COLLEGE STATION, Jan. 8. (AP) —The Texas Agricultural council urged today that compulsory crop production control be added to the agricultural conservation and domestic allotment act.

The council also advocated continued federal administration of the act instead of the scheduled transfer to the states after 1938.

The council, composed of 12 farmers, serves as an advisory board to the Texas Agricultural conservation committee.

Terracing Program As Means Of Halting Soil Erosion Is Termed 'Wholly Inadequate' By Alabaman

(By The Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 8. — Disagreement between department of agriculture officials at Washington and field representatives in conference here for a discussion of the 1937 agricultural conservation program, cropped out today in a denouncement by Walter L. Randolph of the Alabama extension service of provisions for terracing land.

Randolph termed the terracing program as a means of halting soil erosion "wholly inadequate," in that it limited the amount that may be earned for terracing to the total of the "soil building allowance" for each farm.

Payments Are Varied

Under the conservation program, it was pointed out, the federal government makes payments to farmers to assist in financing the planting of soil-conserving crops and adopting soil-building practices.

These payments vary, depending on the value of the land, of the practice adopted, and the average cost to the farmer of adopting a particular practice.

Based On Cropping History

In addition, there is a limitation on the amount an individual farmer may earn for adopting soil-building practices limitation, known as the "soil-building allowance," varies for each farm and is based on the past cropping history of each farm.

Negotiations Being Pressed In Strike

DETROIT, Jan. 8. (AP)—Michigan's Governor Murphy and federal labor department representatives pressed their conciliation efforts, expressing satisfaction at progress made, as widespread shutdowns closed a large part of General Motors corporation's automotive production plants tonight.

Emerging from an hour and a half conference with William S. Knudsen, executive vice president of General Motors, Governor Murphy said he was "very happy" over the outcome and hastened to a meeting with James F. Dewey, federal conciliator, and union leaders.

The United Automobile Workers of America drove the first strike wedge into an automobile manufacturing plant today with a "sitdown" affecting 4,800 workers in the Cadillac and LaSalle divisions of General Motors.

Complete shutdowns of the Chevrolet and Buick plants at Flint, Mich., and of a Chevrolet parts plant in Bay City, Mich., late today were estimated to add 25,000 to the list of unemployed in General Motors plants, bringing the total to 88,583.

Relief Costs Must Be Cut, Message Says

Reduction Of One-Third Will Have To Be Made In Funds For Relief If Goal Is Attained By Administration

Revenues Increase

Picture Of Rapidly Increasing Revenues And Dwindling Expenditures Given By FDR; Industry's Aid Needed

By RICHARD L. TURNER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8. (AP) — President Roosevelt today promised the nation a balanced budget, perhaps next year and certainly the year after if business clings to its present upward spiral.

To achieve that objective in the coming fiscal year, he said in his annual budget message to congress,

FIRST EFFORT FAILS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8. (AP) — The first effort to balance the budget failed in the house of representatives today.

Taking the president's bulky budget message from an attendant, Parliamentarian Lewis Deschler laid it on a reading desk only to see it slide, fall and bounce off a cuspidor.

relief costs must be held to $1,500,000,000 through the cooperation of business, and the "balance" will take no account of payments to retire the national debt.

Would Reduce One-Third

Inquiry revealed that such a reduction in relief expenditures would involve slashing the rate of outgo for this purpose from its present level of $180,0000,000 monthly to about $120,000,000, a reduction of one-third.

"It is my conviction that if every employer or potential employer will undertake during the next six months to give employment to persons now receiving government help the national budget can thereafter be kept definitely in balance," he said.

Remains An Open One

"Without such cooperation on the part of employers the question of a balanced budget for 1938 must of necessity remain an open one, for the very good reason that this government does not propose next year, any more than during the past four years, to allow American families to starve."

The budget which Mr. Roosevelt presented for the fiscal year beginning next July was, in its details a picture of rapidly increasing re-

Gov. La Follette Has To Call On Police To Eject Students

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 8. (AP) — Governor Philip F. La Follette called the police to eject clamoring students from his office today and bluntly rejected their demand for Dr. Glenn Frank's reinstatement to the University of Wisconsin presidency.

Ignoring jeers, boos and cries of "we want Frank" from 1,000 striking students who marched upon the capitol, the young leader of the Progressive party denied politics dictated Frank's ouster last night by the La Follette-controlled university board of regents.

Heterogeneous Array Of Smaller Parties Are Scheduled For Last Of Week

The Woman's Angle

by Margaret Turner

IF you think that this little flurry amounted to something, you should talk with Miss Docia Bennett from far-off Alberta, Canada, who is spending several weeks with an aunt, Mrs. J. D. Carnett, 2011 Ninth street. Where she lives it gets "terribly cold," with the temperature going as low as 20 blow zero and remaining there for, perhaps a month or six weeks.

Miss Bennett remembers cold spells that shot the mercury below 64 but these are rare of course. When we talked to her our weather was balmy and she was delighted. However, perhaps she feels more at home with the sleet and snow.

Canadians do not hibernate when the snows set in but many store their automobiles for the winter, traveling in cutters drawn by horses. Miss Bennett said. Out-door sports are still indulged in with skiing, skating and weiner roasts the favorites.

Although she has not seen it, Miss Bennett knows the location of the Alberta ranch owned by the Duke of Windsor, which is still called The Prince of Wales ranch.

ARMCHAIR TRAVEL ABROAD

ARMCHAIR travel is a favorite indoor sport with those who cannot journey to sun-favored climes or winter sport resorts and that takes in most of us doesn't it? There is no doubt that this sort of travel presents numerous advantages: the beds and food are apt to be good, while "unusual" weather only increases one's appreciation of this mode of transversing great distances.

What could be cosier on wintry afternoon than a snug berth beside the fireplace with a good book, say, about the Austrian Alps—that romantic rendezvous of the Duke of Windsor and the exciting Mrs. Simpson?

AUSTRIAN FRUIT BREAD

IN his Austrian retreat at Chateau Enzesfield, the Duke has very likely supped, lately on delicious Austrian fruit bread, a recipe for which we give below. It is said to be a favorite accompaniment for festive dining on any of the gala holidays celebrated in that picturesque country and it is so easy to make that you're probably interested if your Christmas fruit cake supply has been deplenished.

One pound prunes, 1 pound figs, 1 pound dates, 2 cakes yeast, 1-4 cup raisins, 1-4 cup currants, 1 tablespoon chopped candied citron, 1 tablespoon candied chopped lemon peel, 1 tablespoon candied chopped orange peel, 1-4 cup chopped blanched almonds, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon cloves, 1-4 teaspoon cinnamon, 4 1-2 cups flour.

Soak prunes and figs in just enough water to cover. Add the dates and cook gently in the same water for 20 minutes. Remove fruit and reduce liquid to 3-4 cup. Cook to lukewarm and add yeast. Add 2 cups flour, beating well. Let rise until light and bubbly. Chop fruit and add to sponge. Add spices and remaining flour to make a stiff dough. Knead until smooth and satiny. Let rise until double in volume. Shape into oval loaves, brush with a slightly sweetened milk and sprinkle with split almonds. Let rise again (about 45 minutes) and bake in moderately hot oven (425 degrees, Farhenheit) 45 minutes. Yield: 3 small loaves.

THE MEXICAN ORCHESTRA

WE could learn a lesson in graciousness from the Mercado Tipica Orchestra, which appeared in concert at the High school auditorium Thursday night under the auspices of the Tech Artists course. While it was not easy for an audience to be asked to wait for an hour and a half in an auditorium that was not comfortably warm, still all seemed to appreciate the position of the musicians and dancers who came directly to the stage from an all-day ride over icey roads an slippery pavement from Las Cruces.

Those performers, and they weren't all Mexicans are real troopers. After an elegantly worded apology for the delay from the handsome Cenor Carrasco, the program got underway in a surprisingly short time and not a selection from the scheduled concert was ommitted. We hope that the orchestra members realize that the audience's frequent snickers were caused by the antics of the drummer, who resembled a popular surgeon of Lubbock, and not by their soothing and fascinating melodies.

Senor Mercado hopes to establish a better understanding between his country and the United States during his concert tour. The visit here was one lesson. An audience sat quietly for an hour and a half during a raging storm awaiting an orchestra that when it arrived, despite travel fatigue and hunger, presented a top notch program. That's something in the way of co-operation, isn't it?

International Uniform Sunday School Lesson For Jan. 10

By Wm. E. Gilroy, D. D., Editor Of Advance

THE story of the coming of Nicodemus to Jesus by night is one of the most dramatic in the New Testament, and in the entire records of religious experience. It is suggestive and significant as well, for details and implications in the story are simple.

Why did Nicodemus come by night? Various explanations have been offered, and perhaps the one least worthy of acceptance is that which reflects upon the courage and sincerity of this "Ruler of the Jews." That Nicodemus came by night because he was in any sense too cowardly or fearful to come openly by day, does not seem in any way justified by the facts. If Nicodemus had been that kind of man, manifestly he would not have come at all.

It is probable that he made his visit at night because he came as an inquirer and, perhaps, wanted to talk with Jesus when He was alone.

Everything in the circumstances would lead us to commend Nicodemus for his coming rather than to criticize him for his coming by night.

HIS acknowledgment of his favorable impressions of Jesus are greatly to his credit. He was open-minded. He saw certain things that impressed him with the quality of Jesus as a religious teacher. These things he could understand only on the assumption that God was with him.

At the same time, he was allied in an official way with the religious life of his time. He was a devout and sincere believer in the teaching of the Jewish scriptures. He wished to know what relationship the teaching of this new and remarkable man, Jesus of Nazareth, had to the religion that he already followed.

Jesus evidently understood both the attitude of Nicodemus and the questionings that were in his mind, for His first words were very challenging. They served at once to draw Nicodemus into a discussion of the most vital things. "Verily, verily, I say unto thee," said Jesus. "Except one be born anew, he cannot see the Kingdom of God."

Nicodemus was puzzled, more puzzled than would have been expected of one who had his years of experience, and who had the same background of knowledge of the Old Testament that Jesus Himself possessed. Nicodemus understood the words literally, but Jesus made it plain that He was speaking of spiritual things.

Jesus made it equally manifest that He could not explain these things, that there are spiritual realities that one can no more explain than he can explain the wind.

BUT the wind is a very definite reality. One feels its sweep and power, and like the coming of the wind, is this experience of the new life.

Nicodemus still was not satisfied, and he asked, "How can these things be?"

Then Jesus Himself expressed His amazement that one who had been so long a teacher of Israel should not have better and more infinite understanding. He proceeded to interpret this spiritual truth of God's love and its power to bring to men the new birth.

APPARENTLY what Nicodemus had failed to discover was the reality of the grace of God. He did not see how salvation is a great bestowal of God's grace upon the man whose heart is open to receive it.

A good man may be very austere and self-righteous, but he may not have learned to say "God be merciful to me, a sinner." The man who learns to say that is no less moral and righteous, but he has found the way to new life, love and power.

Each dose of Cardui contains a purely vegetable sedative and antispasmodic—that is, a pain-relieving and cramp-relieving medicine that is especially effective at monthly periods.

This fact about Cardui (that it helps to relieve many of the ordinary functional pains of menstruation with a beneficial plant extract, not habit-forming, not objectionable to take) is greatly appreciated by thousands of women. They recommend it to others.

Cardui is purely vegetable, liquid in form, and comes in 9-ounce bottles, with full directions for use. Try it! Of course, if it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician. Adv.

Gov. Allred To Recommend Ratification Of Child Labor Amendment; Sen. Holbrook Criticizes President

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Jan. 8. — President Roosevelt's request to governors of 19 states to make ratification of the child labor amendment to the federal constitution a major item in their legislative programs brought a quick reaction in the Texas capital today.

Governor Allred promptly stated that while the president's communication had not been received he would recommend ratification in his first message to the general session of the legislature which convenes next Tuesday. He pointed out that ratification was a demand of the state Democratic platform, and said he was hopeful the long record of rejection by the Texas lawmakers would be changed.

Holbrook Denounces Move

Senator Tom Holbrook of Galveston, dean of the upper chamber end confirmed critic of the New Deal, denounced the move by the legislatures which never had been witnessed heretofore.

He asserted the amendment proposed a dangerous extension of federal authority.

To Work For Ratification

Senator Olin Van Zandt of Tioga declared he was prepared to work for ratification.

Ratification has been approved several times by the house of representatives and defeated as many times by the senate. Every indication is it will be one of the sharpest issues before the new legislature.

Rep. Robert W. Calvert of Hillsboro still was the only speakership candidate active here but Representative Albert G. Walker of Vernon and Homer Leonard of McAllen remained in the race. Calvert's supporters said there was no doubt of his victory.

Exporter Of Used Airplanes Tells Of Frantic Buying Of War Materials By Agents Of Spanish Government

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 8. Charles H. Babb of Glendale, Calif., one of the country's leading brokers and exporters of used airplanes, disclosed today the story of frantic Spanish buying of aviation equipment here until the neutrality law was passed.

"Through our own authentic underground channels," he said, "I learned th e Madrid government, fearing the rebels would take the country and seize administration funds as loot, sent $400,000,000 to Paris for one reason—to buy airplanes, arms and ammunition.

"The money, now being spent from Moscow, Paris and London, is being administered by agents eager to buy anything faintly resembling arms and ammunition. Only through spending do they get their commissions, and they spend without regard for price."

Don't Blow Your Head Off!

DO THIS FOR STOPPED-UP NOSTRILS (due to accumulated mucus)

If people realized how delicate the mucous membranes of nasal passages really are there would be far less blowing—far less trying to drive accumulated mucus out by brute force.

There is a much gentler and more effective way to do this. If your nostrils are stopped up with mucus, just insert a little Mentholatum in them.

You'll be surprised at the gentle and quick way in which Mentholatum breaks up the accumulated mucus. You'll be delighted, too, as you notice how the stuffiness is relieved and you can breathe more freely again.

MENTHOLATUM

The Tra... Cold!

Success is passing him by; promotions go to more dependable men, this is the tragedy of uncertain health. Wasted time and lowered efficiency are the penalties of frequent colds.

Many colds CAN be prevented. A physician's prescription for medicine rich in vitamins can break the grip of cold infection. Build up your body; sound health is sound business.

Bears Cop 25-22 Win From Champion Porkers

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Jan. 8. (AP)—Baylor university's Bear cagers upset the dope from the opening whistle tonight as they knocked over the heavily favored Arkansas Razorbacks 25 to 22 in the curtain raiser for both quintets.

Baylor, picked by many to finish in the Southwest conference cellar, played hard and fast to rout the 1936 champions with a fast-breaking attack.

Coach Ralph Wolfe's Bruins took the lead at the start and were never headed although the Porkers tied the count five times in the first half.

Bubba Gernand and Don (Deadpan) Lockhard tied for high point honors with nine each.

The teams play again tomorrow night.

Sammy Baugh Leads Frogs To 23-21 Win

FORT WORTH, Jan. 8. (AP)—The topsy-turvy stuff that marked the recent football season went right on tonight as the T. C. U. Horned Frogs after only five days of real practice, upset the University of Texas Longhorns, 23-21.

It was the opening Southwest conference game for both clubs.

As the final tally indicates, the scrap was a breath-snatcher all the way. Led by Sammy Baugh, the Frogs put up an unexpectedly tough defense during the early stages. In the first half, the score was tied three times before the Purple led 11-9 at the rest period. Early in the second period, the Longhorns spurted into a four-point lead at 18-14 but the Frogs, hustling hard, were soon right back in the ball game as though they were playing football. Athletes were sprawled all over the floor after every shot and tip off.

Spade, Anton And New Home Victors

ANTON, Jan. 8. (Special)—Cold weather and slippery roads broke into the sixth annual Anton invitation basketball tournament tonight, keeping several teams from filling engagements and numerous fans from attending the games, but the three contests played were thrillers.

New Home defeated Whitharrall 32 to 18 in the opening game tonight, with Enson leading the scorers with 11 points. Williams with 6 led the losers.

Tennis Rulers Kayo Cup Plan

Davis Cup Series For Women Is Opposed By U. S. Group Due To Financial Trouble With Present Outfits

NEW YORK, Jan. 8. (AP)—Already burdened with the expense of financing two international teams, the United States Lawn Tennis association has taken a stand against any competition for women players along the lines of Davis Cup.

Such a team series has been proposed by the Lawn Tennis Association of Australia to the International Lawn Tennis association which will hold its annual meeting in March at Paris.

The national association has been sponsoring and financing a Davis Cup team since 1900 when Dwight F. Davis offered the trophy for international competition. It was all right when Uncle Sam was winning the cup, reaping rich gate receipts from the interzone final and challenge rounds, but since losing the cup to France ten years ago, it's been a costly proposition sending a team abroad annually until last year when the United States was eliminated by Australia at Germantown.

Wightman Team Expensive

Then, there's the matter of financing the women's Wightman Cup team, which goes abroad to meet England every other year.

Women's tennis in this country, from a gate receipt aspect, has been anything but a financial success. When the Helens, Moody and Jacobs, were duelling, national tournaments showed a slight profit. Public apathy toward the women's tournament had a lot to do with the association's decision to combine both men's and women's championships two years ago.

VENTURI DRAWS AMBERS

NEW YORK, Jan. 8. (AP)—Enrico Venturi, Italian lightweight stylist, served notice he is a candidate for 135 pound honors tonight by holding champion Lou Ambers to a draw in a ten round over-the-weight bout in Madison Square Garden tonight. Ambers weighed 136 and Venturi 138 1-4.

American Motorcycle League Awards 1937 Championship Meet To Lubbock; Leading Teams Of Nation Clash

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—The American Motorcycle association concluded its annual convention today by re-electing its entire slate of officers and alloting places and dates for the 1937 championship events.

The championship awards included: Miniature tourist trophy steeplechase, Waco, Tex., September; motorcycle polo, Lubbock, Tex., Aug. 15.

LOCAL BOYS PLEASED

Stewart Champlin, captain and manager of the Lubbock Motorcycle polo team, national champions in 1934 and unbeaten since the game was introduced here five years ago, expressed gratitude last night when informed the American Motorcycle association had awarded the 1937 national championship tournament to Lubbock.

"We put in a bid for the play-off when we played in Philadelphia for the championship late in 1934," Champlin said, "and we've been after them every since to let us have the national setup, so we're all mighty glad they have recognized us. We'll sure try to put on a great meet."

Outstanding polo teams of the entire country will be here to play for the national title, sectional winners only being eligible.

Champlin is to leave soon for Daytona Peach, Fla., for the national 200-mile race meet. He will contact officials of the A. M. A. there and help make pains for the national tournament here next August.

Budge And Grant Clash In Finals

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Jan. 8. (AP)—Don Budge, the nation's No. 1 ranking player, and Bryan M. (Bitsy) Grant, No. 3, nationally, were forced to extend themselves today to win the right to meet each other in the finals of the Biltmore tennis tournament.

Grant defeated Arthur Hendrix, of Lakeland, Fla., 6-40-6, 6-2, 6-2.

Budge beat Charles Harris of Palm Beach, 2-6, 6-2, 6-2, 6-1.

Budge and Hendrix teamed in the doubles to set down George Andrade of New York and Lewis Duff of Quebec, 6-1, 6-1. Grant and Wayne Sabin of Los Angeles defeated Claremont Gillespie of Atlanta and Bill Hardie of Miami, 6-1, 6-1 as doubles play finally got under way.

Lamesa Cagers Beat Slaton Tigers By Score Of 33-14

LAMESA, Jan. 8. (Special)—Lamesa's Golden Tornado cagers tonight continued their unbroken series of conference wins when they took a 33 to 14 decision over Slaton here.

The win added to earlier ones over Brownfield, Post and Tahoka. At the half Lamesa was out front 13 to 9, but Slaton narrowed the margin to a single point in the third period. A well-executed floor game and some neat target work under the baskets iced away the game in the last quarter, however.

Nowell, Lamesa center, showed the way with 11 points, and Simms, Slaton forward, hooped 4. Clack, Slaton forward, was chased in the second period for four personal fouls.

Members of the 1936 Indiana university football team used 13 1-2 miles of tape during the grid season.

Chris Cagle rates the 1936 Army eleven as the best at West Point in 10 years.

Gridiron rivalry between Indiana and Chicago universities began in 1902.

Name Of Bennie Friedman Is Added To List Of 'Suspects' For Texas U. Post

AUSTIN, Jan. 8. (AP)—J. C. Dolley, chairman of the University of Texas athletic council, said today it was likely the council would have no recommendations on the vacant coaching job to make to the board of regents which meets tomorrow.

BENNY FRIEDMAN
City College, N.Y.

"Our work of selecting a coach to succeed Jack Chevigny," Dolley said, "has progressed but it seems we will yet have to spend some time before coming to a decision."

Meanwhile, local observers added the name of Bennie Friedman, former All-American quarterback at Michigan with seven years of professional experience, to the list of top-flight contenders for the position of head football coach. Friedman is at present head coach at the College of the City of New York.

Stanford, Paced By Hank Luisetti, Claims Best College Basketball Team In These United States

Speedy Westerners Impress East On Victory Tour

BY HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor, NEA Service

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Stanford's basketball varsity has returned to the Pacific coast, but the memory lingers on.

Angelo (Hank)) Luisetti, a unanimous All-America as a sophomore last season, clearly demonstrated that he is the Babe Ruth of the college cagers. Critics agree that the towering Cardinals form one of the finest hoop outfits in memory.

Central Missouri State Teachers were considered the strongest array in their locality but Stanford repelled them, 51-31, in dedicating Kansas City's new six-and-a-half-million-dollar civic auditorium to basketball.

Temple was highly regarded in Philadelphia, but bowed, 45-38.

Long Island University was unbeaten in 43 engagements, but went down, 45-31.

Canisius College of Buffalo scaled an unprecedented level of prominence by repulsing Nebraska, 39-34, but Stanford was something else again. The Griffins were subdued, 39-29.

Stanford was hottest against Western Reserve in Cleveland, ankling off with a 67-27 decision.

At one time, the Palo Altoans led Temple, 32-9, and L. I. U., 36-14, which gives you a rough idea of just how much the tall young men of John William Bunn have on the old casaba.

Luisetti's Four Mates Do Work Of Five Men

Luisetti averaged a shade more than 16 points a game in the give, although his average time of play was only a half.

The 20-year-old Italian scored 19 points against the Olympic Club of San Francisco before the Indians shoved off on their transcontinental trip. He registered 21 against Central Missouri State Teachers, 14 against Temple, 15 against L. I. U., and tossed 13 field goals in 18 shots from all parts of the court against Western Reserve.

Luisetti only picked up where he left off last season when he accounted for the almost unbelievable total of 416 points in pacing Stanford to the Pacific Coast Conference championship. Howell Turner, the other forward, scored 205 points.

Luisetti is made to look even more sformidable than he is by his four teammates who are able to do the work of five men in a zone defense set up to be a good offense. This enables Hank to break rapidly without worrying about an opposing player shooting from his territory.

Roy Clifford, Western Reserve coach, decided to make Luisetti drive by his players after watching the Canisius guards back up on the Stanford luminary and seeing him shoot from the field. The only result was proof of what Clifford and everybody else suspected. In the case of Luisetti, one plan was as futile as the other.

Speedy Cardinals Get Up Plays On Spur Of Moment

Luisetti's agility belies his six feet three inches.

"He's a natural—the kind of a player who makes a coach look good," is the way Coach Bunn describes the wonder boy from Galileo High school of San Francisco.

"He has played basketball since he was a kid and is blessed with the ideal nervous system. His remarkable reaction and quickness make it possible for him to live up to the Stanford athletic news service description: 'Big, rangy, powerful, fast, extremely clever, a wonderful shot, great on defense, a spectacular dribbler, a perfect passer, and without a weakness'."

Capt. Dinty Moore, right guard, at six feet one, is the shortest Stanford regular. Turner and Jack Calderwood, 190-pound left guard, like Luisetti, stand six feet three. Art Stoefen cousin of Les of tennis renown, is a six-foot four-inch driving center everlastingly up on the basket.

Luisetti is the Babe Ruth of basketball not only on the court but at the bucks office as well, for Stanford on its trip played to 43,123 persons in four games—17,623 at the Garden, 10,000 in Cleveland, 9000 in Philadelphia, and 6500 in Buffalo.

Pacific Coast Conference rivals of Stanford might just as well prepare for the worst when the schedule starts, Jan. 15, and for several seasons to come. All of the Indians except Moore return next fell and the Palo Alto institution is reported to have a freshman team as capable as the one which included Luisetti, Turner, Stoefen and Calderwood two years ago.

The east would like to see Luisetti, Turner, Stofen, and Calderwood in their senior year. Tops now, and so good that they set up plays on the spur of the moment, they should give never-to-be-forgotten demonstrations with another season of experience under their crimson shirts.

Hank Luisetti, Stanford's great basketeer, ready to shoot for the hoop. He scored 416 points for the west coast champs last year.

Class A Group Grows Too Big For Old Setup

New Method Of Determining Championships Sought; Six More Schools Ask Loop For Football Membership

BY HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS, Jan. 8. (AP)—The Texas Interscholastic league today sought a satisfactory plan to solve the problem of too many schools wanting in the Class A football race.

Six more have applied for places, meaning that if they are admitted districts will have to be enlarged or increased, another class arranged or regional championships substituted for the present plan of determining a state titlist.

Roy B. Henderson, athletic director, has submitted these solutions to the membership. Districts for the 1937 campaign will be arranged in about a month.

Valley Submits Plan

Three of the applicants—Mission, Mercedes and Donna—have already worked out a plan. The Rio Grande valley district will be divided with the two division winners playing for the season's championship.

This would prove unpopular in some sections, however, because it would prevent a round-robin schedule, meaning the strongest teams might be in one division.

A similar plan is being talked in the Oil Belt, which holds its annual meeting Saturday. Stephenville is expected to ask for a berth in this district, bringing the total to ten teams, the largest sector in the state.

Another Class Urged

Orange and Gaston (Joinerville) are the other two teams seeking Class A membership and more are expected to ask for places.

Continual enlargement of district eventually would result in the schools being unable to play round-robin schedules and stay within th league's ten-game limit. An increase in the number of districts would prolong the season.

It would be unsatisfactory in many sections if the schools determined no state champion but merely named regional winners.

Formation of a separate class for larger schools and confining Class A to schools of 500 students or more are being talked.

MEETING IS POSTPONED

The annual winter meeting of the District 1 athletic executive committee, scheduled yesterday at Plainview, was postponed, probably until next Friday.

Unfavorable traveling weather, slippery roads and extreme cold caused the postponement, delegates of Borger and Pampa petitioning for another date. Superintendent C. E. Davis of Plainview, chairman of the committee, advised the coaches and superintendents yesterday morning of the postponement.

Houston Invites Leading Amateur Golfers To Play

HOUSTON, Jan. 8. (AP)—Invitations to the nation's leading amateur golfers to compete in the Houston Country club's twenty-third annual tournament, Feb. 24-28, inclusive, will be mailed soon.

Henry Rockwell, chairman of the tournament committee, said the 18-hole qualifying round would be held Feb. 24, first and second round matches on Feb. 25 and 26, quarter-final and semi-final matches on Feb. 27 and the 36-hole finals on Feb. 28.

Title Is Open

Lieut. Ken Rogers, Army aviator who staged a sensational finish to beat Ed White of Bonham, Walker Cup star, in the finals last year, will not defend his title. He has been transferred to the Panama Canal zone.

White, Reynolds Smith of Dallas, another Walker cupper; Johnny Dawson, Chicago stylist; Gus Moreland of Peoria, Ill., David Goldman of Dallas, 1934 national amateur finalist; Gus Novotny of Chicago, former Western champion; Don Schumacher, Texas champion and other stars are expected to compete, Rockwell said.

Junior High Cage Team Wins Opener

Coach Lovic Liston's Lubbock Junior high school Cowboy cagers opened their season with a smashing triumph over Crosbyton Junior High yesterday, 31 to 13. The game was played on the Crosbyton boards.

R. J. Tucker, Cowboy center, scored 7 points to lead the tally-making department and otherwise disported himself as the outstanding player on the court. Tucker and Bill Coker, forward, are co-captains of the team.

Coach Liston was highly pleased with the initial showing of his squad, calling it one of the best-looking groups of junior high cagers he has had here in several years. Coker, Jackson, Tucker, Merriman and Alford comprised the starting lineup, with Bearden and Barker substituting.

Play Meadow Next

Tennison, Crosbyton forward, led his side with 5 points. Williams, Karr, McCly, and J. Davis were the starters, T. Davis and Freeman, subs.

The Cowboys play Meadow here next Thursday, and entertain the Plainview juniors on Jan. 28. They return the Meadow game Feb. 4, play Crosbyton here Feb. 11 and return the Plainview game Feb. 18. Two open dates Jan. 21 and Feb. 25, are open but will be filled soon, Liston said.

California is growing more onions than in any year since 1920.

Couple Break Par, Shooting 69's To Set Pace On First Day Of Los Angeles Open; Firing Continues Today

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 8. (AP)—Crack golfers of the nation started down the $8,000 money trail of the annual Los Angeles open today.

At the end of the day's 18 holes, and with a gallery shivering like the gay banners strung around Griffith Park's municipal course, Harry Cooper of Chicago and Al Baker, unheralded Los Angeles driving range pro, stood at the top with 69's apiece, two under par.

One stroke back were the only entries able to break par on a course supposedly easy and none too well trapped. The up's were Jimmy Hines of Garden City, Long Island, winner of the Los Angeles Open last year, Ralph Guldahl, of St. Louis; Al Krueger, Beloit, Wis.; Willie Goggin of San Bruno, Calif.; Gray Madison, Phoenix, and Al Zimmerman of Portland, Ore.

Others Shoot Par

Posting even par scores were Horton Smith of Chicago, biggest pro money winner last year; Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa.; young George Schneiter of Ogden, Utah; Al Gruber of nearby Palos Verdes and Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

Thirteen players turned in scores one stroke over par, with long driving Jimmy Thomson of Shawnee, Pa.; Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y.; Sam Parks, former National Open king, and Johnny Revolta of Evanston, Ill., the most dangerous threats.

Hopes For Texas Open Golf Tourney To Attrack Pro Stars Are Revived; P.G.A. Manager To Visit In State

DALLAS, Jan. 8. (AP)—Hope for a Texas Open golf tournament in mid-February to lure the horde of professionals on winter tour has not been abandoned informed sources said today.

Fred Cochran of Boston, new tournament manager of the Professional Golfers' association, was expected to arrive in Houston within the next few days to discuss possibilities of adding Texas to the tour.

Ft. Worth Bid Rejected

Fort Worth's Colonial Golf club originally planned a tourney but it was understood the National P. G. A. rejected its bid of approximately $1,500.

One P. G. A. official said "the national body would bend backwards to help—financially and otherwise — stage another old-time Texas Open at San Antonio. The pros would like it." San Antonio abandoned the classic four seasons ago.

It was believed dates of February 12, 13, and 14 had been saved for Texas in the hope that the pros, en route to Florida from California, would stop over for a three-day medal play tournament.

Houston was strongly considered as a likely site but it was believed the twenty-third annual Houston Country Club invitation for amateurs, one of the recognized annual tournaments might interfere. The amateur meet starts Feb. 24.

A $3,000 tournament, a source said, would lure the pros into Texas, with a strong possibility the National P. G. A. would guarantee half the prize money.

Levelland Defeats Crosbyton For Third Straight Cage Win

CROSBYTON, Jan. 8. (Special)—Coach Bill Stevens' Levelland High school cagers won their third straight Class B conference game here tonight, defeating the Crosbyton High team, 36 to 18.

Levelland goes to Ralls Tuesday night to play the Jackrabbits, who won from Littlefield last night. Neither team has been defeated, and the winner will stand out as favorite in the northern division of the league.

Miss Agnes Smedley Heralded As Power In New Communistic Empire In North China; Troubled U. S. Authorities

(An insight into the early life of Agnes Smedley, reported in Chinese dispatches as being a power in the Communist movement in northwest China, is given in the following story.)

BY ROGER D. GREENE

NEW YORK, Jan. 8. (AP)—Heralded as a power in forging a new communistic empire in North China, Agnes Smedley, Oklahoma-born writer and champion of "down-trodden masses," troubled United States authorities on both sides of the continent during the World war.

Now in her early forties, the one-time American farm girl who may become a virtual "white empress" over yellow-skinned millions was twice indicated by federal grand juries.

Indicted During War

On March 27, 1918, she was indicted in New York for violation of the war-time espionage act, held on $10,000 bail, and languished in Tombs prison three months before the case was dropped for lack of evidence.

Those were the jittery spy-scare days, and age-yellowed newspaper accounts of the case relate that Miss Smedley's "crime" was alleged responsibility for the publication of an alleged "German-inspired" book entitled "The Isolation of Japan in World Politics."

Indicted In Frisco

June 11, 1918, a federal grand jury in San Francisco indicted her on a charge of attempting to defraud Pres. Woodrow Wilson through representing herself as a member of an accredited mission to the United States from the nationalist party in India.

Her story through the early formative years was depicted in her autobiographical novel "Daughter of Earth," published in 1929—the chronicle of a girl who was born in an unknown village in Oklahoma and who grew up on a bleak and poverty-ridden farm in Missouri, moved to the Far West in a covered wagon, and drifted through the raw western mining camps and lumberjack towns of the roughneck era.

She eventually came to New York—to join the "Bohemian colony" then flourishing in Greenwich village.

Miss Smedley went out to China in 1928 and worked for five years as a correspondent of several Indian papers and of the German newspaper "Frankfurter Zeitung."

Soil Conservation Project In Motley Assigned To NYA Group

Assignment of 12 National Youth administration laborers to a soil conservation project in Motley county Thursday was reported by the district office here. The county is the twelfth and last in the district to conduct such a project.

These projects in 12 of the 15 counties in the Lubbock district are under the supervision of county agents. Surveys preparatory to terracing and contouring are already being made in most of the counties. Those which have not started plan to begin work Monday if weather conditions permit, the district supervisor said.

Since Dec. 21, the date the project started in Lubbock county, surveys for terrace lines have been made on 1,420 acres, surveys for contour lines on 1,036 acres, and surveys for irrigation and other soil conserving structures on 560 acres. This brings the total acreage surveyed to 3,016 acres.

INDICTMENT RETURNED

RUSK, Jan. 8. (AP)—The Cherokee county grand jury today indicted Y. A. McGowan for murder in the fatal wounding Christmas day of Mrs W. T. McKinney during a family dinner party at Jacksonville.

McGowan was also indicted for assault to murder in connection with the wounding of Mrs. McKinney's husband, shot at the same time.

Museum Plans Are Talked In Session

Plans for management, additional construction, equipment and financing, and arrangements for formal opening of the West Texas Museum association structure on the campus of Texas Technological college will be made by committees appointed at a meeting of the executive committee Thursday night in the structure.

Opening of the museum likely will be the first week in March. Equipment must be secured since no funds were provided for that purpose.

H. L. Allen, president of the association, Dr. C. J. Wagner and A. B. Davis compose a committee which will confer with President Bradford Knapp of the college and the board of directors concerning joint management of the museum.

A committee of Allen, W. L. Bradshaw and Davis will plan means of securing funds for completion of the structure, only the first unit of which has been constructed.

Curator W. C. Holden was instructed to issue a public appeal for donations for equipment. Allen and Holden will make arrangements for the annual meeting of the museum association.

Expenditures Per Day Set

Next Six Months To Require $23,235,000 Per Day To Meet Government Expenses, Budget Reveals

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8. — President Roosevelt's budget project a daily government expenditure of $23,235,000 for the next six months.

Next July 1, the figures indicate, it will begin spending about $21,082,000 a day.

The president reported expenditures for the current (1937) fiscal year are expected to total $8,480,800,000. He said that in the following fiscal year expenses, exclusive of those for recovery and relief, will amount to $6,158,000,000, and he placed the anticipated relief cost at $1,537,123,000 a total of $7,695,123,000.

Congress Is To Cost $24,562,000 In Next Year

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8. (AP)—Congress will cost about $24,562,000 during the 1938 fiscal year.

This was today's budget estimate for the entire "legislative establishment" which includes the library of congress and the botanical garden.

Largest of the congressional expense items was $8,399,185—the total for the house of representatives. The senate's share was placed at $3,433,334, including $2,000 for the famous senate subway linking the capitol and the senate office building.

Salaries of the senators—$10,000 each; amounted to $960,000; those of representatives and delegates—at the same rate—$4,285,000.

RESOLUTION IS PASSED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8. (AP)—Sen. Tom Connally of Texas introduced a resolution today to authorize President Roosevelt to invite Pan-American nations and Canada to participate in the "Greater Texas and Pan-American exposition" in Dallas starting next June.

Carpenters Are Visiting 155 Farms Purchased In Drive Against Tenancy, Repairing Them For Cold

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Jan. 8 — Carpenters this week were visiting 155 farms, purchased in North Texas and southern Oklahoma by the Resettlement administration, making the buildings warm and dry until funds could be secured for new construction.

D. P. Trent, regional director, said this was one of the several projects which the administration, absorbed Jan. 1 by the department of agriculture, was pushing in a campaign to make landowners of tenants and to furnish a demonstration to guide legislation now pending in congress which may make $1,000,000,000 available for similar activity in the nation.

Accept 10,619 Acres

Trent said 10,619 acres for the project had been accepted for purchase in Texas, at an average cost of $45 an acre and 4,737 accepted in Oklahoma at an average cost of $57 an acre. The farms average in size 97 acres, he said. Tenant families selected as prospective purchasers will occupy the farms under lease contracts for the present year.

On another Resettlement project, near Wichita Falls, applications were taken, Trent said, from farmers who may desire to purchase 93 farms being developed in the irrigated section of the Wichita River valley.

Other Activities Described

He described other activities of the administration lately as:

Transfer of 64 families from worn-out lands of Cockson hills in eastern Oklahoma to fertile farms in surrounding areas.

Movement of a few families from Payne county, Okla., to farms on and adjacent to the 101 ranch.

Completion of 11 stone and log cabins on the administration's only land utilization project in Texas near Bonham, and near completion of seven others.

Trent said 30,000 Texas farmers who borrowed $9,370,451 last spring had repaid 26 per cent of the amount at the end of the year.

The Ropesville Community

DECISION of Texas Rural Communities, Inc., a governmental agency working under the National Resettlement administration, to triple the size of the present Ropesville project is not only indicative of the success of the experiment at the colony to the southwest of us. It also is a compliment to the local advisory board whose members have given much time and thought to the work.

The advisory committee which first asked the government for the Ropesville colony, which was successful in getting it and which has administered to its needs from the start is composed of Spencer A. Wells, chairman; Donald L. Jones, R. C. Hopping, Arthur H. Leidigh, J. O. Jones, with A. B. Davis as secretary. They were vastly aided by W. L. Stangel and by Dr. Bradford Knapp, ppresident of Texas Tech, who as a member of the directorate of Texas Rural Communities, Inc., was an ex-officio member of the committee. This is the group which "got the job done" through efforts of its members and through the important connection of Doctor Knapp with the state governing body.

Unlike most persons administering to relief and recovery projects, the local committeemen have stood steadfast, throughout, in demanding efficient, common-sense operation. Almost unheard of in this day and time was the stand taken by the committee when advance plans for the Ropesville colony were being laid. Instead of adopting the ideals of idealists and the theories of theorists, those responsible for the colony insisted that everything be placed on a workable basis. As a result the Ropesville colony has done so well, and the 33 families stationed on it have been so well chosen that the project is to have more than 10,000 additional acres of land, three times as many improvements and 67 more families.

All this speaks very well for those directing the project, for the 33 families making stakes for themselves at Ropesville and for the opportunities offered the working farmer of the South Plains area.

Those who have been closely in touch with the project have been and are enthusiastic about the work being done. Doctor Knapp simply bubbles over in his conversations regarding the colony in which he has played a major role. The whole situation tends to show all over again that not all the national administration's efforts for social security are pipe dreams or efforts to substitute Utopian theories for hard facts. The Ropesville project, at least, is worth all the time, money and thought being given it.

The Wrong Murderer

By HUGH CLEVELY

SYNOPSIS: Terence Mahony is only one jump ahead of Inspector Kennedy, who would have arrested him for the murder of Vincent Little but for Elsa Little, niece of the murdered man. She is a cinema actress, and plans to cinch the case against Terence by vamping him and securing additional information. Ruth Fraser has tried to warn Terence; now Lee-Ramsden, Ruth's scheming, tricky guardian, has betrayed Terence to Ambrose Lawson, the real murderer, and is blaming Ruth for his action.

Chapter 30

LEE-RAMSDEN'S PLAN

"But how did Miss Fraser know about Fatty Bassett?" asked Terence.

Lee-Ramsden shrugged. "She said she was going for a walk. She didn't go for a walk; she listened outside the door and heard all we were saying."

"But why has she turned against me?"

"'Ell holds no fury like a woman scorned'," he quoted. "Ruth is in love with you, Mahony. And . . . well, you did rather push Elsa Little down her throat this morning. But I didn't suppect that her jealousy would lead her to such extremes. It was only a momentary madness. She's sorry for it now, and would give anything to undo what she's done."

"Oh damn!" said Mahony in a hopeless tone.

Things could not very well be much worse, he thought. Yet, in the middle of his own worry he felt sorry for Ruth. Poor kid, he reflected, she must be feeling pretty rotten.

He looked up at Lee-Ramsden with an air of decision.

I must warn those men of mine, Bassett and the others, at once," he said.

"They've been warned," answered Lee-Ramsden. "While Mullins was telephoning you I rang up that number you told me and warned Bassett. He has promised to ring me later and let me know where they've all gone."

"That's fine," said Mahony in a tone of relief. I suppose I'd better lie low and try to get into touch with them as soon as I can."

"Yes. And so far as lying low is concerned, I can fix you up. I own a house in the St. John's Wood Road which is empty at present. I'll give you the key and you can go there and wait till you hear from me again. Here's the key; the house is number 518. You'd better get there as quickly and quietly as you can before anybody spots you."

He handed over the key and they left the tea-shop. Lee-Ramsden returned to his own house. He was well satisfied with his morning's work. Mahony was out of mischief for the time being.

Ruth also was out of mischief. Lee-Ramsden calculated that, finding she could not get into touch with Mahony by telephone, she would go round to his digs and leave a note for him. That note would never reach him.

Ruth acted as Lee-Ramsden had calculated. To begin with, she tried to ring Mahony up. For ten minutes she tried to ring him up, only to find his number engaged. Failing to get into touch with him that way, she got out her car and drove round to his lodgings.

His landlady told her that Mr. Mahony had gone out a few minutes previously in a great hurry; he had not said where he was going, but she was expecting him in for lunch.

Ruth debated in her mind for a moment; should she wait, or shouldn't she? She decided not to wait; every moment she waited meant a moment's delay in warning Bassett and the other members of Mahony's band in the East End. She left brief note for Mahony, telling him what had happened, made her way to the nearest post office, and rang up the number that she had heard her guardian tell Lawson.

The number was engaged. She waited a couple of minutes and rang again. Still the number was engaged. Again she waited, and rang up, and yet again, and each time the number was engaged.

She wasted nearly a quarter of an hour trying to ring Bassett. Lawson had taken his own precautions against anybody sending a warning to Bassett by telephone. Three men, in different call boxes in different parts of London, were ringing Bassett's number, putting in calls one after the other in rapid succession.

At last, thoroughly dispirited, she left the post office. Her car was outside the post office and she stepped into it and set off at once for the East End. Since she could not get Bassett on the telephone, she intended to warn him in person.

Her car was a long, rakish two-seater that could move, and she was a good driver; in spite of the traffic she made good time through the city. Pennyfields, she knew was somewhere off the East India Dock Road. A short distance down the East India Dock Road she stopped and asked a policeman the way to Royal street.

He looked at her in some surprise. "You'll cause a bit of sensation, miss, if you drive along Royal street in that car," he told her.

"I can't help that. I'm going there," she answered. "And I'm in a hurry."

He shrugged his shoulders and directed her. She drove a little farther along the East India Dock Road, turned to the right, and plunged into the maze of mean, narrow, crooked streets fringing the bank of the Thames.

In a few minutes she reached Royal street and drove slowly along it. The house she wanted was next door to a small, dingy pawnshop. She stepped out of the car, crossed the pavement, and rapped on the front door. After a short delay the door was opened by a little, squinting, bow-legged man, dressed in a disreputable check suit. He stared at her and from her to the car in undisguised astonishment.

"An' wot can I do for you, Miss?" he asked with an air of exaggerated politeness.

"I want to see Mr. Bassett, at once: it's very urgent," answered Ruth quickly.

There was a sound of great urgency in her tone, and the man did not waste time arguing.

"Hey, Fatty," he bawled.

"Well, wot is it, Chippy?"

"Greta Garbo's called," answered Chippy.

There was a sound of heavy footsteps, and the frowzy, direputable figure of Fatty Bassett appeared at the top of the stairs leading down to the basement kitchen. He too looked in surprise at the dainty figure of Ruth, and past her at the luxurious car outside.

"Struth!" he observed

Ruth went forward quickly.

"Are you Mr. Bassett?" she said. "I've come to warn you, a man named Ambrose Lawson knows all about you. He knows that Terence Mahony was here last night, and that you've got a prisoner named Lake and that youre hiding a man named Flynn."

"The 'ell 'e does!" exclaimed Bassett in a startled tone. "An 'ow d'you know this?" he demanded. "Let's 'ave the yarn, quickly. Lord knows that if you're right we ain't got no time to lose."

"I'm a friend of Terence Mahony," answered Ruth. "I heard a man named Lee-Ramsden, who pretended to be friendly to Mr. Mahony, telephone to Lawson. I tried to get you on the telephone to warn you, but the number was always engaged."

"That's right enough. Some blighter's been ringing me in the pawnshop next door for the last hour and I can't get any sense out of him," answered Passett. "Maybe 'e was only ringing me so that nobody else couldn't get at me. In that case something is going to 'appen pretty soon. Hey, Barney, Slim."

There was a further sound of footsteps as his men hurried to answer his call. Then, from the back door in the basement, the same door by which Mahony had entered the house the previous night, there sounded three sharp raps, a short pause, and then another rap.

"Now, I wonder 'oo the 'ell that is," said Bassett, frowning. "There's none of my blokes likely to be callin' now. I dare say it isn't one of my blokes, maybe it's somebody 'oo knows the signal and 'as a nasty surprise for us. Well, we'll see of we can surprise 'im or them. 'Ere, you three."

He drew his men aside into a small room and gave them low-voiced directions which Ruth could not hear. They began to mount the stairs that led to the upper portion of the house. Then Basset turned to Ruth, and in that moment she could see the qualities which made him the leader of this ruffianly-looking gang. There was an air of shrewd, business-like efficiency about him; his manner was curt and decisive. He jerked his thumb to wards the front door.

"You 'op it, lady," he commended. "An' tell your bloke, Mahony, to ring me up at that number 'e knows some time this evenin'. I want a talk with him."

The surprisers get a surprise, Tuesday.

CHAIN LETTERS PROFITABLE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8. (AP) — Chain letters which credulous thousands mailed in 1934 poured $31,669 into Uncle Sam's cash till during fiscal year 1936.

In his annual report today, Postmaster General Farley said that undelivered chain letters, opened after lapse of a year, contained that sum.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

TWO Anglo-American missions will soon startle Europe's dictators with a striking demonstration of the English-speaking nations' solidarity of spirit as a brake on the war lords. It may change the course of history of a few years at least.

The more spectacular show will be the dispatch of a group of American naval experts to London within the next month. Britain has run into unexpected difficulties in rebuilding its navy, and our seadogs know the anwers to the British admiralty's problems. News dispatches won't headline that feature of the get-together; they will recall that last year's abortive naval pact provided for an "exchange of information" on building plans. But Uncle Sam and John Bull will swap secrets and blueprints as well as prospective tonnage totals.

Meanwhile, British financiers will dazzle Messrs. Roosevelt and Morgenthau with offers for settlement of the World war debt. 10 Downing street seeks to erase this discoloration from the Anglo-American picture. Best inside estimate is that the Baldwin government will propose an adjustment of 25 cents on the dollar—or $1,000,000,000 in cold cash. If they do, it will be taken up. FDR will pay a high premium for assurance of world peace.

IDEA: Behind President Roosevelt's insistent demand for a far-reaching neutrality law—which reveals his fear of imminent war—lies a series of backstage maneuvers to check a prospective conflict at its source. Only when glimpsed in this light do several puzzling diplomatic strokes make any sense.

He has extended the hand of friendship to the three anti-fascisti nations—Britain, France and Russia. Next month's missions will reflect the Anglo-American tieup. The tripartite currency agreement involving London, Paris and Washington was more of a peace than a financial move; it was designed to strengthen the Blum government in a time of crisis. Appointment of his close friend to the Moscow embassy—Joseph E. Davies—was a friendly gesture toward Moscow even in the face of Stalin's refusal to settle the debt question.

On his South American trip Mr. Roosevelt sought to get up a system which would prevent the flow of raw materials to European belligerents—present and prospective. His latest strategy has been to order prompt negotiation of a new commercial treaty with Mussolini, which may forecast a reciprocal trade agreement. That may relieve the economic strain which impels il Duce toward war, and also frigidaire the Mussolini-Hitler romance. Central idea is to scare or tempt both "have" and "have-not" nations into a more conciliatory mood.

LABELS: Recent callers at the White House have noted a distinct and significant change in the President's attitude. Roughly, he appears to have abdicated his position as official leader of the Democratic party and to have assumed the role of a non-partisan President.

Mr. Roosevelt has not let the word "Democrat" slip from his lips in many months. Nor has he emphasized the "New Dealer" phrase since election. He has not talked party politics or mechanics; he has named several traditional G. O. P.-ers to high office. Among his callers have been several men bearing illustrious Republican names—Mellon, Garfield, Taft.

Democratic politicos distrust this presidential tendency. To their mind it means that Mr. Roosevelt will drive ahead for the political breakup championed by the factions headed by Senator Norris, La Follette, Wheeler, Bone etc. His known ideas, together with his second term prestige, frighten politicians into suspecting that he may tear up their pretty labels in the next four years.

HIATUS: Some business men have definitely and bravely recovered their "second wind" after their November 3rd knockout. No longer are they bowing and scraping and wondering where the President will hit them first. Their only reform is that they will revise their methods of resisting New Deal reforms.

They will operate more covertly in lobbying on Capitol Hill. There will be no more public demands that "economic royalists" should "gang up" against the President. But they have already mobilized an army of lawyers and legislators to checkmate, if possible, new White House demands and renewal of Congressional blank checks to the executive. Most significant is the fact that they have not called off their onslaught along the judicial front. That hiatus in the so-called "era of good feeling" has caused a deep impression at the White House.

The new attitude is based on the belief that Mr. Roosevelt is "through"—or will be in four years. Therefore they will seek to save what they can during his second term, and hope to recoup their losses when—as they anticipate—the political tide turns against the ship of state.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

YEAR-END reports reveal that the big New York banks—for all their wails about the impossibility of earning a living under the New Deal's "murderous" cheap money policy—didn't do sa badly for themselves in 1936.

The Chase National and National City were able to pay off the $50,000,000 of preferred stock each had outstanding with the RFC. The Manufacturers Trust was able to sell a convertible preferred stock issue to the public to raise funds with which to retire $25,000,000 of RFC capital notes. This bank also transferred $5,000,000 from reserves to undivided profits.

The Chemical and the First National transferred $5,000,000 each from undivided profits to surplus. The later earned nearly $2,000,000 more than its $10,000,000 dividend requirements. All these developments are indicative of returning prosperity and confidence.

TOPS: There are striking variations in the proportion of government securities to total resources held by different New York banks.

Jimmy Warburg's Bank of Manhattan has the smallest percentage—only 14 per cent. The Chemical Bank has 21 per cent, the National City 27.6 per cent, the Chase just over 30 per cent. Most of the rest range between 31 and 37 per cent.

Topping all other local institutions by miles in this respect—strange as it may seem—is J. P. Morgan & Co. with 54 per cent—strong circumstantial evidence the Morgans aren't very much alarmed about the credit of the federal government.

DEPEND: Power leaders are anxiously watching for signs that the new Congress will consider modification of the utility act of 1935.

There are reasons to believe that the Securities Exchange commission would privately welcome such changes in the law as would induce the better class utility systems to register—and to abandon efforts to prove the act unconstitutional. However, the SEC has to be careful—for obvious reasons—about advocating alterations publicly.

In the last analysis, hopes of modification will rest almost exclusively with President Roosevelt. Whatever he wants will certainly be done in this connection. So far he has given no clue to his attitude. It might depend on the degree of cooperation the utilities give him in other directions.

SLOW: Securities Exchange commission insiders disclose that action will be announced shortly against alleged manipulators in three different cases involving members of the Chicago Stock Exchange.

One of the accused will be charged with more than sixty "wash sale" operations since the law forbidding such transactions went into effect. An SEC-er remarks dryly that Chicago doesn't seem to have heard that there is a law against manipulation.

Shrewd Wall Streeters retort that the SEC would command more respect among speculators if it declared a moratorium on accusing people of manipulation for a while and concentrated instead on the conviction and punishment of those already accused. One observer cracks that the commission could give lessons in slow motion to a spavined snail.

Marital Tragedy Brings Baby Boy Into World Ten Minutes After Mother Dies

(By The Associated Press)

OAKLAND, Calif., Jan. 8.—Marital tragedy brought a normal, seven-pound baby into the world today, scarcely ten minutes before his 19-year-old mother died from a bullet wound, Police Inspector Leo Woll said she was shot by her estranged husband.

The mother was Mrs. Elsie Randall, shot in the head last night in the apartment she shared with her aunt, Miss Amelia Hohnhaus, 65, who was seriously wounded in the neck during the gunplay.

Operation Performed

The expectant mother was rushed to the Alameda county emergency hospital where a Caesarian operation was performed to save the infant.

Inspector Woll said Miss Hohnhaus, who came here about a month ago from Indianapolis, positively identified Ray Randall, 21, as the gun wielder.

Randall, a student aviator, was arrested later at the home of his mother, Mrs. A. L. Randal, in nearby Alameda. Randall denied he did the shooting or was even at his wife's apartment.

SALES SET NEW RECORDS

NEW YORK, Jan. 8. (AP)—General Motors sales in December and for the entire year 1936 set new records in all classification but one, and that established a peak since May, 1928, the company disclosed today.

Beetles and mealy bugs live in partnership inside certain leaf stalks in the Guianas.

FDR Asks Congress For Funds To Continue Boundary Work

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8. (AP)—President Roosevelt asked congress today for an appropriation of more than $4,000,000 to continue the work of the international boundary commission in the 1938 fiscal year beginning next July 1.

He recommended a $3,900,000 expenditure for construction, of which $900,000 would be for rectification of the Rio Grande in the El Paso-Juarez valley; $1,500,000 for surveys and other preliminary expenses of the United States portion of the flood control project on the lower Rio Grande, and $1,500,000 for starting the Rio Grande canalization project.

Agriculture Department To Buy Grape'ruit For Needy

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 8. (AP)—Senator Tom Connally said today the agriculture department hoped to buy from 100 to 125 cars of Texas grapefruit weekly for relief purposes. He said a special representative had been sent to the Rio Grande valley to investigate marketing conditions.

The department, Connally said, advised him it had purchased 480 cars of the fruit prior to Jan. 4.

"THE SUNSHINE FEED"

TARZAN AND THE LEOPARD MEN, 144 — By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Kali Bwana was stunned into immobility by the sight of the big leopard. As the beast's yellow eyes discovered her, it dropped to its belly, its face grimacing in a a horrid snarl. Then it started to creep cautiously toward her, its tail weaving sinuously.

The leopard could have charged and destroyed her without these preliminaries; but it seemed to be playing with her as a cat toys with a mouse. Now it crept nearer and nearer. The girl carefully picked up the crude, unfinished arrow and fitted it to her bow.

She knew how futile a gesture it would be to launch that tiny missile. Even if she scored a lucky hit, it would only wound and enrage this juggernaut of the jungle. But she was courageous, and she would not give up her life without defending it to the last.

The beast came closer, preparing to charge. Many things passed through her mind; but outstanding above all the rest was the image of Old Timer, whom she believed dead. She pictured him now, welcoming her to the shadow land of death!

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 8. (AP)—Further recovery waves splashed through the stock market today and swept a wide assortment of issues up fractions to 3 or more points. There were a few wider jumps.

Despite the spreading of strikes in General Motors plants, Wall Street apparently found stimulating in the president's budget message and business news as a whole.

The activity was pronounced at times, although there were intervals when the pace was rather slow.

The day's volume totaled 3,216,860 shares, the largest since Nov. 17, last, and compared with 3,067,670 yesterday. The Associated Press average of 60 issues moved up .5 of a point to 71.6.

Selected coppers had a spell of liveliness on the upside when the export price of the red metal was given another hoist to a new 6-year top.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 8. (AP)—Opening advances in cotton today on firm textile markets attracted increased liquidation and southern selling. March reacted from 12.40@12.37 and closed at 12.41. Final prices were generally 1 to 5 points net lower.

Initial advances of 2 to 7 points were the best levels for the day. They reflected firm Liverpool cables as well as active trade price fixing against continued large sales of cotton goods.

Foreign interests also took contracts but as January eased with the circulation of notices, and pressure developed in March, prices sagged. Continental selling caused further losses late in the afternoon.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 8. (AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at nine southern spot markets was 12.75 cents a pound.

Farm Officials

adopting soil-building practices fixes the payment for terracing at 40 cents per hundred feet, provided the terracing is in accordance with good farm terracing practices.

"Putting a limitation on the amount that may be earned for terracing is not at all in line with the thinking of southern farmers," Randolph said. "On the whole," I think we are very well pleased with the 1937 program but its provisions in regard to terracing are wholly inadequate to meet the needs of the southern region.

Representatives from other states in the southern region, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Oklahoma, South Carolina and Texas agreed without dissent with the Alabama official although not all of them were as emphatic as Randolph.

Cully A. Cobb, director, southern division, Agricultural Adjustment administration, said he could make no statement regarding any possible changes in the terracing provisions until after he had conferred with officials in Washington.

WPA Conference

bock mayor; and W. T. Strange, manager of Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, addressed a resolution to President Roosevelt and congress asking "congress to take cognizance of our desperate condition and consider immediately the appropriation of a sufficient sum to carry the Works Progress administration through this fiscal year, and that this appropriation be made as quickly as possible to relieve the people of our country during a period of the year through which it is most difficult for them to exist."

Appointment Commended

This resolution, along with two others, was adopted unanimously by the meeting. A second resolution commended Governor James V. Allred for the appointment of Robert Lee Bobbitt as chairman of the state highway commission. The third, addressed to the Texas legislature, asked for creation of a state welfare board.

The general concensus of opinion as expressed by representatives from 58 counties of this section was the Works Progress administration is a vital agency in the federal government's relief program; its suspension even for two or three weeks would place a burden of caring for unemployed on counties and cities they could not shoulder; that applicants for WPA labor were increasing daily; and an immediate appropriation must be made by congress to avoid a crisis.

Farm Tenancy Discussed

Another problem of growing importance, as pointed out by several speakers, was farm tenancy. Ralls, who attended a Dallas meeting recently which dealt with this subject, said great numbers were being thrown off their farms yearly, making them incapable of earning a livelihood. He gave estimates of the number losing their farms in his own county this year and suggested a plan whereby the government buy land appraised fairly and selling it to homeless farmers so that they may pay for it later. The plan, he said, however, could not be put into effect for at least a year.

Other speakers stressed the rising importance of this problem.

Davis Outlines Purpose

After Allison called the meeting to order at 2:10, County Judge J. J. Dillard spoke. He introduced A. B. Davis, local chamber of commerce manager, who outlined the purpose of the parley and emphasized the need for continuance of WPA. J. H. Brock, also of the Lubbock office of the chamber of commerce, acted as secretary.

Allison, reading figures from the Texas office of the WPA, said there were 75,000 employes working on 1,600 projects in the state. Since its organization the agency has furnished 117 million man-hours of work. Of every dollar spent 65 cents goes directly to the laborer.

"It is our duty to make immediate contact showing need for an appropriation," he said.

Weather Keeps Many Away

Inclement weather conditions kept representatives from attending. Several telegrams were read from delegations expressing sympathy for the purpose of the meeting and regrets at their inability to attend.

Most representatives agreed a committee in Washington would be more effective than resolutions alone. Two of the committee members are being sent by the West Texas County Judge and Commissioners' association. A resolution was adopted to inform the West Texas Chamber of Commerce of the nature of the meeting and the purpose of the committee and to ask the organization to pay expenses of the third member.

Suggestions were offered by speakers that telegrams from commissioners' court be sent to their congressmen and senators asking for more federal funds.

Several representatives made brief reports on labor conditions near their homes and others answered direct questions asked by Allison regarding need for WPA appropriations and probable results if the agency were discontinued.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Jan. 8. (AP)—Unusually generous rains and snowfalls in domestic wheat territory today took rank as the best for crops since 1931, and led to lower prices.

At the close, wheat was 1¼ to 2⅛ under yesterday's finish, May 1.32¼@1.32⅛, July 1.14⅝@1.15, Sept. 1.12, corn ½ to 1⅛ down, May new 1.09½@1.09⅝, July new 1.05⅝@1.05½, Sept. 1.01⅛@1.01⅛, oats ¼ to ⅜ off, May 52⅝@52⅛, and rye 1 cent to 1⅛ setback, May 1.12⅛. The outcome for provisions was unchanged to 10 cents lower.

Corn and oats displayed more or less independence of wheat, and at times showed moderate price gains, influenced by rough weather conditions likely to increased feeding of livestock. Both finally declined.

Rye followed wheat prices downhill. Provisions lacked any vigorous buying support.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Jan. 8. (AP)—Demand for feed grains was good at Fort Worth Friday while others were fairly well bought.

Wheat No. 1 soft red winter 1.54¼@1.55¼.

Germany, Recalling Imperial Glory, Longs For Colonies

THE SPOILS OF WAR

On the map is shown the empire, in Africa and in the Pacific, that once was Germany's. All was stripped from her at the close of the World war and distributed among the victorious allies—mainly in the form of mandates from the League of Nations. Today Germany feels acutely the pinch of scarcity at home and yearns for that sense of security which would come from possession of overseas sources of raw materials. Nor are the erstwhile allies entirely deaf to her pleas.

Important Britons have suggested the need for a redistribution of world resources. And France is reported lately to have suggested restoration of some of Germany's pre-war possessions to ease the threat of a Hitler explosion in Europe.

Gulf and border region during the night.

Pampa Reports 2 1-2 Below

The coldest point reporting was Pampa, with a low reading this morning of two and a half degrees below zero. The mercury crept slowly up under a clearing skies and a bright sun but never got far above the zero mark.

Everything was coated with ice around Wichita Falls, Dallas, Vernon, Fort Worth and scores of other cities in North Texas. At Wichita Falls the temperature went down to a seasonal low of 11. A north wind still was blowing.

The mercury at Big Spring stood at 14, a rise of one degree since morning.

Cold At Texarkana

The bottom started falling out of the thermometer at Texarkana, the mercury skidding down from 71 to 41 and still sinking.

Low temperatures today included Vernon, 11; Dallas, 24; Corsicana, 27; Palestine, 34; Fort Worth, 20; and Denton 20.

Balmy weather persisted along the Gulf coast during the day but was expected to fade abruptly.

There were many traffic accidents in North Texas. Windshields were covered with ice.

Power Service Interrupted

Ice freezing on power lines interfered with Dallas electric service and telephone service suffered.

San Angelo reported a minimum temperature of 20 degrees and the ground covered with ice from light sleet. It was cloudy and there were prospects of more sleet or snow.

Approximately 325 long distance telephone circuits, about one-eighth the toll lines in Texas, were out of service Friday night as a result of ice forming on wires. W. L. Prehn, general manager of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company, said, Dublin, Cleburne, Granbury, Stephenville, Venus, Whitesboro, Bells, and Savoy were completely isolated.

Little or no damage to long distance lines south of Midland, Brownwood, and Waco was reported. Principal damage was in northwest Texas where 700 wire breaks were reported. There were 600 wire breaks in northeast Texas. Approximately 108 poles were down at scattered points throughout North Texas.

Ice an inch thick formed on long distance wires near Sweetwater. Ice five-eighths of an inch thick broke wires in the vicinity of Denison.

Western Half Of Nation Crippled By Cold Weather

CHICAGO, Jan. 8. (AP)—Blizzards, fog, rain, sleet and icy winds crippled the western half of the nation today.

Many trains and busses were halted or delayed. Schools were closed. Drifts blocked highways. Air travel was greatly impaired.

The worst storm of the season deposited as much as 10 inches of snow in southern Minnesota.

The fall measured up to 11 inches at Omaha, to a half foot in eastern Kansas and to four inches in Oklahoma. Most of eastern South Dakota's highways were impassable.

Sleet and showers sheathed streets and roads with ice over a wide expanse from Wisconsin to Oklahoma. Disrupted communication lines cut off several communities in Illinois and Missouri.

A meteorological crazy quilt covered the nation. Temperatures were far below normal west of the Mississippi but far above normal east of the river.

Worst Snowstorm In 20 Years Reported In Arizona

HOLBROOK, Ariz., Jan. 8. (AP)—The worst snowstorm in Arizona in 20 years claimed its first known victim, an Indian baby in the vicinity of Keams canyon, 70 miles north of here, today.

A. G. Hutton, superintendent of the Keams canyon Indian agency, talking over telephone lines over which service had been restored for the first time since the storm struck two weeks ago, reported the death and said 20 Hopi Indians were lost in the snow 40 miles southwest of the agency.

California's Citrus Fruit Industry Faces Threat

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 8. (AP)—The threat of a major freeze hung over the multi-million dollar citrus fruit industry of Southern California tonight as this winter promised to equal the severe one of 1922.

facto regime.

"Our whole empire is at stake," said a foreign office spokesman. "We shall take any measures necessary to oust foreigners from Morrocco. We shall not tolerate any foreign adventure there."

Officials said no direct protest had been made to Berlin.

British quarters in Paris said Foreign Minister Anthony Eden told the German charge d'affaires in London that the presence of German officials in Morocco was a violation of the treaty of Versailles.

On the heels of the French protest came dispatches from French Morocco stating at least 300 German troops landed in Spanish Morocco recently.

Representations Made

Officials said the French consul at Tetuan made representations to Col. Beigbeder, former Spanish military attache to Berlin, who now is in command of Spanish Fascist troops in Morocco.

With the French Atlantic fleet moving into Mediterranean waters for any eventuality, the consul informed the Spanish authority that France can not accept the presence of Germans in Morocco, officials here said.

The consul also called attention to fortifications being constructed at Ceuta, officials said, and added that France was prepared to "go to any lengths" to protect her Moroccan possessions.

German Officials Are Silent On Report

BERLIN, Jan. 8. (AP)—German officials, bombarded with questions concerning reports that German troops had landed in Morocco, uniformly declared "nothing is known here" about such developments.

Another Discovery On Grounds Of Alamo Is Hailed Friday

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 8. (AP)—Another discovery on the grounds of the Alamo today was being hailed by those interested in Texas history and lore.

Remains of what appear to be a tunnel, possibly used as a means of escape from Indian raids by the monks who originally established the ancient edifice as a mission today was uncovered by workmen excavating an old, abandoned well on the north side of the shrine.

SKEETER VS. SNAKE

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Officials of the Florida board of health in effect say: The bite of the malaria carrying anopheles mosquito is more dangerous than the Florida snake's. The board reports that from 1923 to 1931 malaria caused the death of from 205 to 470 persons annually in Florida.

ace, and was told that as long as she kept building she would remain alive.

The resulting operations, which continued until she died in 1922 at the age of 85, are estimated by Brown to have cost her $3,000,000.

The structure's 160 rooms contain hundreds of doors, windows and cabinets, 47 fireplaces and 40 stairways. Some features are strange in the extreme. Stairs lead into a blank wall, into a cupboard or a useless balcony. A hall has four fireplaces side by side. Three other fireplaces are built one above another on a single chimney.

There are five kitchens, three elevators. One staircase has 44 steps and makes 10 turns to attain an elevation of 10 feet. Ornamental posts are installed upside down. Costly stained glass windows and doors with trick knobs open on to blank walls.

Much Work Torn Out

The motif 13 is repeated again and again in the paneling.

Neighbors who watched the work said several times as many rooms were built and destroyed as now survive. A marquetry floor it took three years to lay was ripped up the day after completion.

"The spirits ordered it," they explained.

A niece, Margaret Marriot, was the only person to share the singular builder's company. Mrs. Winchester hid even from most of her servants and often wore a veil. "Scarcely half a dozen persons have seen her in as many years," said a news story appearing in 1908.

President Theodore Roosevelt, who tried to call on her, was not even admitted to the grounds.

venues and dwindling expenditures.

Forsees Greater Receipts

It foresaw receipts of $7,293,607,197, or about $1,500,000,000 more than is now estimated for the current year and $3,000,000,000 greater than those actually paid into the treasury in the fiscal year which closed last June.

It forecast expenditures of $8,157,999,254, with relief costs still to be added. It held out the hope that there would be no deficit, while this year's deficit is estimated at $2,652,653,774 and last year's (with more than a billion and a half of bonus payments included) was $4,763,841,642.

No Debt Increase Seen

It consequently foresaw no increase in the public debt, beyond next June, and forecast a total debt figure at the close of this year, of $35,026,543,493, as compared with $33,778,543,493 last June and $28,700,892,624 in June 1935.

Four recommendations were listed:

That "nuisance taxes" on amusements, chewing gum, toilet preparations, sporting goods and a long list of items scheduled to expire next June be continued.

Continue 3-Cent Rate

That the three-cent rate for first class out-of-town postage, also scheduled to expire, be continued.

That the Civilian Conservation corps, which, he said, has "demonstrated its usefulness and has met with general public approval" be made "a permanent agency."

That the expenditures of all emergency agencies be subjected to the scrutiny of the budget bureau.

Benefits Outweigh Costs

The president began his message with an assertion that "the programs inaugurated during the last four years to combat the depression and to initiate many needed reforms have cost large sums of money, but the benefits obtained are far outweighing all their costs."

Since 1933, he said, business has shown a marked improvement, with employment increasing, and a "steady" rise in industrial production, factory pay rolls and farm prices.

Can Reduce Expenditures

"These gains," he said, "make it possible to reduce for the fiscal year 1938 many expenditures of the federal government which the general depression made necessary. Although we must continue to spend substantial sums to provide work for those whom industry has not yet absorbed, the 1938 budget is in balance; and, except for debt reduction of $401,515,000, it will remain in balance even if later on there are included additional expenditures of as much as $1,537,123,000 for recovery and relief."

He said he planned to submit at a later date an estimate for relief expenditures for next year which he hoped would not exceed $1,537,123,000.

Local Weather

constant reading was somewhat a relief to those with outside work and those who found it necessary to be in their automobiles and on the streets.

Damage Accompanies Cold

Quiet atmospheric conditions, too, made for less discomfort.

Numerous automobiles "froze up" and there was the usual percentage of burst radiators and motor heads, a casual canvass showed. Plumbing gave slight trouble, but continued cold was expected to increase difficulty with pipes, since the ground is growing colder under the sustained assault.

There were reports of communications wire damage. Southwestern Associated Telephone company found breaks in its toll lines, as did Southwestern Bell. Fort Worth and Denver City Railroad company officials said sleet caused one of its wires to part between Lubbock and Childress.

Previous low temperature for the season at Lubbock was Thursday, when 12 degrees was reported.

Advantages of the general freeze were seen by Don L. Jones, superintendent of the Texas experiment sub-station near Lubbock. He said insects hibernating near the surface would be killed. The freeze apparently had not been of sufficient intensity and duration to accomplish changes in soil texture. Some advantage to wheat crops was considered. A large area had been prepared for spring planting, which would allow of further utility.

The entire South Plains continued to report temperatures similar to those at Lubbock, said dispatchers of railroads.

Taxi-cabs and buses did rousing business volume. Engines of cabs ran continuously for approximately eight hours, said one operator. Service, despite inclement conditions and the rush or accommodations, was satisfactory.

Escapes Are Narrow

Boys on bicycles got the brunt of the rough going, and numerous were their falls. Alert motorists, continuing to observe diligence in keeping their machines to a snail's pace and maintaining a sharp lookout, had struck none of the bike riders, although several narrow escapes were seen.

High for the day was 17 degrees, from 2 to 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The low was stretched over the three hours beginning at 7 o'clock in the morning.

The cold wave maintained its influence on law enforcement, said Ralph Portwood, night sergeant of police. Only one person had been jailed up to midnight, a man booked for drunkenness. Another, a negro, was sought for leaving a store without paying a 70-cent bill.

Most Of Time To Be Spent By Legislature On Enabling Acts For Amendments And Other Suggested Changes

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Jan. 8.—Legislators will spend much of their time at the session opening Tuesday on enabling acts for constitutional amendments adopted the past two years and on additional suggested changes in the constitution.

Adopted amendments likely to lead to the most deliberation are those limiting legislative representation of big-city counties and permitting establishment of a teachers' retirement fund.

Redistricting Likely

The big-city limitation amendment perhaps will pave the way for legislative redistricting for the first time in 13 years. The job was supposed to have been done immediately after the 1930 census but some representatives felt it would be unwise to give the largest cities the representation to which their population entitled them.

Under the amendment approved by the voters in November, no county could have more than seven representatives unless its population were over 700,000.

Will Provoke Sharp Debate

Details of the teachers' retirement plan, involving a considerable annual outlay by the state, doubtless will evoke sharp debate. The amendment, which cannot become effective until the legislature enacts a statute, contemplates state matching of funds contributed by teachers. The only limitations on the state's share are that it must be matched by the teachers and it cannot exceed five per cent of a teachers's salary or $180 a year for any educator.

The senate school survey committee has prepared a bill which would necessitate a state outlay of an estimated $2,250,000 per year. The state and the teachers each would contribute the maximum. The problem of financing the plan is a big one, with the general fund deficit already around $15,000,000.

Other constitutional amendments for which enabling acts probably will be passed at the approaching session are: authorizing trial judges to grant probation to first offenders; enabling state hospitals to give temporary treatment to persons with mental disturbances without the necessity of the person being declared insane by a jury; workmen's compensation for state employes; removal of most of the pardoning power from the governor and give it to a non-political board.

Damage Suits Are Filed Here Friday

Three actions in damage aggregating $19,000 were filed Friday in 99th district court.

Gerald Bristol asked 10,000 of PW&DC Railway company and Almarene Bristol, by best friend, asked $7,500 of the same company, alleging permanent injuries Sept. 4, when an automobile operated by Gerald Bristol was in collision with a Denver train seven miles east of Lubbock. Petition set out defendant had drawn its train across a road and that the portion assertedly blocking the road was not lighted; furthermore that failure to provide lights or watchmen or some other form of warning constituted negligence on part of defendant.

Lubbock county named Charles B. Metcalfe, former district clerk, and two surety companies in action suing for $1,500. In plaintiff's pleadings is set out failure of the clerk to pay monies to proper authorities, including $561.36 to the county treasurer and $846.22 to the county sheriff.

Great Plains Shelterbelt Is Given No Mention In Budget

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—The Great Plains Shelterbelt, a tree-planting venture advocated by President Roosevelt but frowned upon by the last congress, got no attention in today's budget message.

The president made no recommendation for an appropriation for the project.

Budget Facts Pointed Out

Question Of Balanced Budget Is Left "Open", To Be Determined By Extent Of Industry's Employment

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8—Essential facts of President Roosevelt's budget message:

The question of a balanced budget in the 1938 fiscal year was left "open," to be determined by the extent to which private industry hires persons now on relief rolls.

Including a projected $1,537,123,000 relief outlay, spending would total $7,695,123,000. Eliminating from this $401,515,000 for debt retirement, the outlay would level up with anticipated revenues of $7,293,607,000.

New High To Be Reached

A new $35,026,000,000 high in the public debt would be reached next June 30, an advance of $1,348,000,000 during the current year.

Expenditures for general government operations next year would rise $740,821,000, but if work relief were held to $1,537,123,000, outlays for "recovery and relief" would drop $963,003,000 under this year's estimates.

An estimate that receipts would increase $1,465,456,000 was based largely on an expected 41 per cent jump in income tax collections.

Extension of Taxes asked

No new taxes were requested, but extension of so called nuisance levies expiring in June and July was asked.

Congress was requested to provide additional funds if it extends government operations beyond the budget limits.

Three Charged In Arson Case After Residence Burns

Three persons, two of whom are women, late Friday were placed under $1,000 bond after they had signed statements before District Attorney Burton S. Burks and had been charged with arson growing out of the burning early that day of a residence near Slide.

The three had been arrested by Deputies Sheriff Bedford F. Carpenter and Grady Harrist in an automobile near where the vacant residence had burned on the J. H. Rieger farm three miles east of Slide.

All Waive Examining Trial

Charges were filed in the court of S. E. McMillan, justice of peace. The three, Mrs. Verna Whitehead, 35; her daughter, Bernice Cobb, 17, and Herbert F. Aduddell, 34, all of Lubbock. All waived examining trial. Late in the night Aduddell had posted bond, said the sheriff's department.

Burks said eight statements were made, seven of which were signed. The 17-year-old girl said she wanted to correct statements made, then refused to sign what she had dictated.

Statements Contradictory

Burks said the statements were contradictory. He said the three persons charged and two other men drove to Slide Thursday night, failed to find the persons they had sought, and began their return toward Lubbock. Their car sliding into a ditch and "sticking" there in the ice and snow, they left the machine and went to the Rieger house, approximately 200 yards away. None was there, so the five persons entered. Two of the men said they left and had a neighbor drive them to their homes. The others, it was agreed, remained in the house and made a fire of magazines and newspapers.

The 17-year-old girl awakened to find the house afire and roused the others. The man attempted to beat out the flames. Contradictory statements related he succeeded in putting them out and that the three left the house after finding the fire had gained too great headway.

Didn't Know About Fire

The three went back to the car and Lonnie Williams, seeing the fire, was en route to the burning residence when he accosted the three in the car, said Burks, who said the three were quoted as relating they didn't know there had been a fire.

All had been drinking, the district attorney said he had been informed.

Damage was approximately $1,100, Burks said.

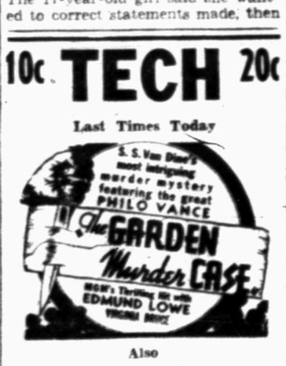

J. H. Rieger, a pioneer Lubbock county land owner, lives at Menard. He is father of Joe B. Rieger, former Lubbock deputy sheriff who lives at 901 Avenue K.

No insurance protected the residence.

Lufkin Puzzled

Temperature Above 70 There Friday

LUFKIN, Jan. 8. (AP)—Puzzled Lufkin citizens wandered around in their shirt sleeves today, wondering what had become of the long-heralded "blue norther" that was supposed to be moving in on them.

Travelers reported they left points as close as 60 miles north of Lufkin bundled in overcoats and before they reached here had to shed their wraps because of the warm, balmy weather.

Some thought the belt of East Texas piney woods might have cut off the cold wave which blanketed all of North Texas with sleet and snow and sent the temperature plunging below zero in the Panhandle.

The low reading at Lufkin last night has 66 and yesterday's high was 80. At noon today it was above 70 and the residents of Lufkin had run out of possible explanations.

Nevertheless, the weatherman warned the bitter cold wave would reach to the Gulf coast and over into Louisiana tonight.

Food, Clothes Given Families

Residents Of Shacktown Are Provided With Needed Articles After Publication Of Article On Conditions

Between 250 and 300 garments, food, and fuel were distributed by the Salvation Army yesterday afternoon to the shivering and hungry residents of Shacktown.

The clothing and food was contributed by organizations and individuals as a result of a story written by an Avalanche reporter who made a visit there yesterday. A bakery furnished a supply of bread, and citizens gave coal and wood for the stoves.

Needs Are Determined

Mrs. Tom Foster and Miss Mayme Alexander visited the poorly constructed shacks of cardboard and discarded materials, to determine which families were the more needy, and the extent of their needs.

One local resident has offered to take the 2-year-old undernourished girl of a family of eight into her home until warmer weather returns. The family lives in a tent, the mother is ill, and the father out of work.

Mrs. Raymond Ballew of the Carlisle community, west of Lubbock, offered to distribute personally, or through the Salvation Army, any clothing or blankets that the residents of the community might bring to her.

Persons wishing to help relieve the suffering of Shacktown residents may call Mrs. Foster, No. 1929-W, or may deliver contributions to the Salvation Army hall, 1510 Avenue H.

The army has 38 cases in Shacktown, said Captain John G. Churchill.

Mutilated Body Of British Girl Is Identified By Her Father

PEIPING, China, Jan. 8. (AP)—The mutilated body of Pamela Werner, 17-year-old daughter of a British resident of Peiping, was found today in a ditch near the southern edge of the foreign settlement.

The father, E. T. C. Werner, formerly a British consular officer and a noted student of China, made the identification.

Police believed Miss Werner had been robbed and then slain. Her almost unclad body then had been attacked by a pack of wild dogs, they said.

She had been missing since Thursday evening.
