Homer Ray, Resident Engineer here for the Texas Highway Department, reports that a new sign project has been completed on U. S. Highway 84 in and adjacent to Snyder.

The new official highway signs are the same type used to direct motorists on freeways and expressways in metropolitan areas, and they should make directions clearer to the traveling public than they have been in the past. The signs are on the familiar green background, and they provide appropriate directions to travelers in proper locations along the US 84 route in and near Snyder.

Although no action is expected for three or four more years, groups along U. S. 84 and one of its major tributaries, and along U. S. 87 from Lubbock southward, are moving along in their respective efforts to obtain Interstate Highway designations. Apparently, if an Interstate designation should be made from Lubbock to the south it would go to San Angelo and on to a connection leading to San Antonio.

A group in Colorado City has become especially interested in the possibility of such a designation and they are suggesting such a route follow the present U.S. 84 from Lubbock to Snyder, then switch to the present route of Texas 208 through Colorado City and on to San Angelo. Such a route would pass near the new Robert Lee Lake of the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

Cities and towns along U. S. 87, which connects Lubbock and San Angelo via Lamesa and Big Spring, already have sent delegations to Austin to appear before the Texas Highway Commission.

Meanwhile, the Colorado City people were instrumental in getting a group together representing cities along their propose U. S. 84-Texas 208 proposal. They were scheduled to get together a second time in Snyder today.

Indications are that no more Interstate designations will be made before 1972, but it's not too early to get bids in.

With all of the new materials, including synthetics, on the market today, the labeling of products may become confusing. But a brick is a brick, the U. S. Commerce Department has advised. In a decision handed down recently, it ruled that only clay or shale units fused by heat can be called brick. The word "brick" may be included in the label attached to other products, but in each case it must be preceded by an adjective, such as "concrete brick." The word "brick" alone can denote just a brick of the long-standing material.

SOVIET BLOC MANEUVERS SET

Berlin Tension Heightens

BONN (AP) — The West German government today declared its determination to hold its presidential election in West Berlin despite the scheduling of Soviet bloc maneuvers in East Germany and a suggestion from the small Free Democratic party that the vote be held somewhere else.

"The federal government stands firm to its decision in favor of Berlin," the government deputy chief spokesman, Conrad Ahler, told a news conference.

Ahlers deplored the announcement in Moscow that the Warsaw Pact armies would stage maneuvers in East Germany early in March.

The date and the exact location of the war games were not given in the official announcement by Tass, the Soviet news paper. But presumably they will coincide with the presidential election West Germany will hold on March 5 in West Berlin, a demonstration of West Germany's claim to Berlin which has brought new East German restrictions tn traffic between the city and the West and strenuous proests from the Russians and the East Germans.

Tass said the maneuvers would be held "in the central and western regions of the German Democratic Republic." This indicated an area of operations between West Berlin and the West German border, 110 miles west of the city.

Heavy Soviet tank and troop movements into East Germany were reported by travelers arriving in Prague Thursday. They said they saw long columns of trucks and tanks moving through northwest Bohemia toward the East German border.

Last month the North Atlantic Treaty Command staged military maneuvers in West Germany within 15 miles of the Czechoslovak border.

The Communists began new saber rattling over West Berlin on Feb. 9 when East Germany announced a ban on all surface travel to the city by the members of the West German federal assembly, which will elect the president.

The East Germans control the land, water and rail routes to the Communist-surrounded city but the air corridors are still under the control of the four post-war occupation powers—the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union. It is assumed that the presidential electors will travel by plane, although there have been unconfirmed rumors that the Communists would harass the air lanes also.

Since the travel ban announcement, the Western allies have reaffirmed their support for West Germany's election plans by word and gesture.

British Prime Minister Harold Wilson paid a visit to the city last week and President Nixon will visit it next week.

As long as no attempt is made to block the air routes, such Communist moves as troop maneuvers will be considered psychological harassment. Since the new restrictions on surface travel, East German border guards have been checking trucks and cars with new thoroughness, and this has slowed traffic on the autobahns considerably. Heavy snowstorms have added to the delays.

CLAY SHAW TRIAL

Judge Rejects Motion For Directed Verdict

By BILL CRIDER
Associated Press Writer

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Judge Edward A. Haggerty threw out a defense motion for a directed verdict of innocent in the Clay Shaw conspiracy trial today and ordered Shaw's attorneys to begin presenting their case.

The first witness called by the defense was Marina Oswald Porter, widow of Lee Harvey Oswald, the man named by the Warren Commission as the lone assassin of President John F. Kennedy. Shaw has been charged by Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison with conspiring to kill Kennedy.

"The motion for a directed verdict is denied," Haggerty announced as court opened this morning.

Chief defense attorney F. Irvin Dymond moved for a directed acquittal immediately after the prosecution rested its case Thursday.

Haggerty had the jury led out of the courtroom before announcing his decision.

During a brief recess after the ruling, Shaw was asked if he was surprised by the ruling.

"The processes of justice go as they go," Shaw said with a shrug. Asked if he hadn't gotten up his hopes Thursday night for an end to the trial, Shaw replied, "No."

In seeking a directed verdict, Dymond said that Garrison and his assistants, who contradict the Warren Commission's conclusion that a sole sniper killed Kennedy in Dallas Nov. 22, 1963, failed to establish even an elementary basis for conspiracy to murder.

Perry Russo, 27, a darkly intense New Orlean. book salesman, testified that he attended a party at David W. Ferrie's apartment here in September 1963 and heard Ferrie, Shaw and Oswald plotting.

Ayub Decides To Resign

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — President Mohammed Ayub Khan, bowing before four months of massive opposition pressure, announced today he is quitting at the end of this year. He has been president since 1958.

In a special nationwide radio broadcast, Ayub, now 62, said he will not stand for re-election when his term ends in January.

Pakistanis crowded round roadside radio sets and work stopped in factories and offices as he made his dramatic announcement.

"My decision is final and irrevocable," he said.

Tabulation Of Absentees Is Improved

The absentee rate in Snyder Public Schools had improved slightly by the end of the week, compared to statistics compiled Monday.

The Friday tabulation showed 523 pupils, or 14.5 per cent of the 3,602 enrolled, were absent from school. The total on Monday was 537, or 14.9 per cent.

The absentee count at Lamar Junior High, which had topped the field earlier, was substantially improved, decreasing from well over 100 to a total of 65 this morning. Some schools had increases in the absentee count, but the over-all total still showed a slight turn for the better.

The absentee count this morning by schools: Senior High, 74; Travis Junior High, 57; Lamar Junior High, 65; North Elementary, 61; West Elementary, 77; Central Elementary, 60; East Elementary, 30; Northeast Elementary, 29, Stanfield Elementary, 52; Humble-Smith School, 15; Child Development Center, 3.

Illnesses continued to take heavy tolls from classrooms over a wide area of Texas and some schools were suspending operations temporarily because of the high percentage of absentees. So far there has been no threat of interruption of the overall schedule here due to absenteeism.

Mixed Reaction To Smith's Message

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Legislators had some compelling weekend reading today — Gov. Preston Smith's 30-page message recommending added state expenditures requiring a $189.9 million tax bill.

Reactions to the governor's first address to the legislature on state money needs Thursday ranged from glowing endorsement to outright hostility.

"Just call it the consumer tax package," said one of the critics, Rep. Rex Braun of Houson.

He had a point. Only about $9 million of the program could be considered a business levy.

A wide range of consumer taxes, including a 3-cent per pack cigarette tax increase, an average 38 per cent rise in tobacco products taxes, imposition of the sales tax on a number of personal services, and inclusion of liquor under the sales tax were proposed.

The platform on which Smith ran for governor said any new taxes should be spread "equitably. . . between business interests and individual taxpayers.

One of Smith's revenue measures would add a $10 state penalty on traffic tickets for moving violations, which would raise $38.5 million over the next two years.

Rep. Ben Atwell of Dallas, House Tax Committee Chairman, was one of those who criticized the traffic ticket surcharge, saying it would be a heavy administrative burden on cities.

The bulk of Smith's $318 million in added spending recommendations over and above the Legislative Budget Board's $1.1 billion general revenue budget would be for education, including $220 million for a teacher pay raise.

Lawmakers did little legislative before adjourning for their customary three-day weekend.

The House passed on voice vote a bill allowing local libraries to contract to exchange books and services. The measure, sponsored by Rep. Joe Shannon, Fort Worth, now goes to the Senate.

Senators passed, 28-0, and sent to the House a bill by Sen. Ralph Hall of Rockwall exempting housing for low income old folks from property taxes if they have at least 100 licensed nursing home beds, 250 housing units and are involved in geriatric research programs. At present, only one institution, which is planned for Austin, would qualify.

Reds Plan Orbiting Bombs?

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense officials say they think the Soviet Union has decided to deploy an orbital bomb system in space.

They indicate that accumulating evidence, presumably gathered from Soviet tests monitored by the United States, points toward the Krenlin's intention to mount the program, called a Factional Orbital Bombardment System.

This conclusion comes only a month after Clark M. Clifford, in his final report as secretary of defense, said the United States was uncertain about Soviet use of the FOBS.

Pentagon sources said, however, the Clifford statement reflected assessments made in the last months of 1968.

An FOBS would be boosted into a low orbit, generally about 100 miles above Earth, and would be fired by remote control at ground targets before completing its first circuit.

The low altitude would enable the orbital bomb to avoid detection by U.S. early warning radar.

Officials refuse to discuss intelligence, but it is known that the Russians have conducted at least 13 FOBS tests. The first seven reported flopped, but the next six were said to have worked.

The Soviet Union's experiments with an orbital bomb were disclosed by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara Nov. 3, 1967.

He downrated it, saying it would be too inaccurate for a satisfactory attack on U.S. intercontinental missiles protected in underground silos. But he did say the Russians might consider using it for surprise attack against such "soft land targets" as bomber bases.

In spite of the surprise potential of an orbital bomb, the United States has been developing radar that can "see" over the horizon, giving the alarm shortly after such a warhead is launched.

Another possible defense could come from the Sentinel missile defense system, according to testimony Thursday from Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird.

Station Broadcasting Under A New Name

BERLIN (AP) — Radio Vltava, voice of Soviet-occupation authorities in Czechoslovakia, is back on the air after a mysterious but brief shutdown and with a new name, U.S. authorities said here Thursday.

The station, which regularly broadcast polemics against Czechoslovak liberals from the start of the Soviet-bloc invasion last August, went off the air without an explanation last week.

Former President HST Hospitalized

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman was taken by ambulance to a hospital late Thursday night, suffering from what a spokesman said was inflamation of the stomach and intestines.

John Dreves, public information director of Research Hospital and Medical Center, where Truman was taken, said the 84-year-old former chief executive was in satisfactory condition and was in no discomfort early today.

Dreves said Truman was afflicted with gastroenteritis.

He added a bulletin on Truman's condition would be issued at 10 a.m. today.

Dreves said an ambulance took Truman to the hospital between 10 p.m. and midnight from his home in nearby Independence, Mo. Members of Truman's Secret Service detail rode with him.

The former president has had digestive difficulties periodically since a gall bladder operation in 1954.

Hospital spokesmen declined to give further details on Truman's condition, but said he is under the care of his long-time physician, Dr. Wallace Graham.

Truman has not been to his office in the Truman Library at Independence for more than a year, but his long-time secretary, Miss Rose Conway, said she worked with Truman at his home Wednesday morning, when Truman prepared an announcement that Chief Justice Earl Warren will become chairman of the board of overseers of the Harry S. Truman International Center for the Advancement of Peace in Jerusalem.

The former president's most recent public appearance was when Vice President Humphrey and Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, visited him on a campaign swing last fall.

NEW CLASH AT BERKELEY

Governor Reagan Alerts Guardsmen

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan alerted the National Guard to be ready if needed at the University of California where police and 2,000 demonstrators clashed in a fog of tear gas Thursday.

When the battle ended, 26 demonstrators and 15 law officers were injured and 15 persons were under arrest.

"All forces including the National Guard have been alerted," Reagan said Thursday night. Asked whether he were willing to risk confrontation with militant students by attending today's university Board of Regents meeting adjacent to the campus, Reagan replied: "You bet your sweet life."

The violence erupted when the police sought to drive off demonstrators who had harassed a meeting of the university regents.

The police finally used tear gas from rifle grenades, canisters and backpack dispensers, with students hurling back tear gas containers of their own, along with rocks, bottles and cherry bombs, and with barricades and bonfires in streets adjoining the campus.

The day was by far the most violent since a strike by minority students began Jan. 22. Grouped together as the Third World Liberation Front, they are dmanding an autonomous college on campus.

They have been vigorously supported by the Students for a Democratic Society and other militant groups.

About 150 police, including mutual aid forces from several surrounding communities, eventually restored order.

Sproul Hall, campus administration building, and the student union building were closed because of the heavy concentration of tear gas that crept through broken windows.

Two minor fires were reported, one in the basement of Sproul Hall and another in a student cafeteria.

Windows were broken in University Hall, the off-campus building where the regents were meeting, in several campus buildings and in many stores and businesses lining nearby streets.

Regents Delay Decision On McCrocklin

By ANGELA PENNA
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Regents for state senior colleges postponed action today on reappointment of Dr. James McCrocklin as Southwest Texas State College president.

J. C. Kellam, chairman, said the action did not prejudge the case of McCrocklin, embroiled in a controversy over alleged duplications of numerous passages in his Ph. D. dissertation and those in his wife's Master's thesis and a Marine Corps document.

Action on McCrocklin's reappointment was delayed out of deference to new members of the board who need time to acquaint themselves with McCrocklin and his situation, Kellam said.

About 125 students at the San Marcos school, which Lyndon Johnson attended, staged a sit-in Thursday in protest to McCrocklin's reappointment.

McCrocklin is supposed to make his first public statement on the alleged duplications Monday at a faculty meeting and news conference.

Until last month, he was on a leave of absence to act as undersecretary of Health, Education and Welfare in the Johnson administration. Kellam is general manager of the Johnson family's radio and television station here, KTBC.

McCrocklin became the center of controversy when the Texas Observer reported that Mrs. McCrocklin's Master's thesis at Texas A&I in Kingsville contained numerous identical passages to her husband's dissertation, both written on U.S. Marine Corps intervention in Haiti in the 1930s.

McCrocklin was on the A&I committee that approved her thesis. Some faculty at San Marcos also said there are extensive duplications with passages in Gen. Franklin Hart's "History of the Garde d'Haiti."

The board unanimously adopted a resolution Aug. 20 expressing confidence in McCrocklin, and reaffirmed their position Oct. 6.

Too Early To Evaluate Crop Control

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says "it is much too early" to tell whether farmers will participate in 1969 federal crop-control programs as fully as officials hope.

During the first two weeks of this year's signup period, which began Feb. 3, farmers agreed to take about 10.5 million acres of feed grain lands from production this year.

The government's target this year is 37 million acres taken from production of corn, sorghum grain and barley. Last year about 32.4 million were retired under the feed grains program when barley was not included.

Wheat acreage accounted for 8.1 million acres of the 1969 national allotment of 51.6 million, which is 13 per cent less than last year's.

In addition, department officials hope wheat farmers will divert another 5 per cent voluntarily in exchange for compensatory payments on the idled land.

The department has tightened programs this years for feed grains and wheat in hopes of heading off sharp production rises the past two harvests.

Cotton producers, however, are being encouraged to expand plantings to their full acreage allotments in hopes 1969 production will replenish supplies reduced by below-average crops the past two years.

Officials said the cotton signup thus far totaled 3.8 million acres of the national allotment of 16.2 million.

This year's signup for the crop programs continues through March 14.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: As a law enforcement officer I am frequently called to come and break up a fight in which the husband and wife are going at it tooth and nail. And when we get there, the place is a shambles, and the fighters are nursing each other's wounds. Sometimes one or both need to be taken to the emergency room of the hospital for treatment of cuts and broken bones. And do you know what? Neither one will swear out a complaint against the other. We've been called to the same house repeatedly to break up these domestic fights. Yet, if no charges are filed, nothing can be done.

What is the matter with people like that, Abby? Are they nuts, or am I?

OFFICER

DEAR OFFICER: They're a little "nuts." Some people have a neurotic need to be punished. They even provoke it. But there is nothing you can do about it as long as this "need" persists.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My son is 12, and in the sixth grade. About two months ago he came home from school and announced that he HAD to stay up until eleven o'clock to watch a movie his teacher wanted the whole class to see. It dealt with some period of history they were studying. His usual bedtime is 9 P.M. but I decided that once wouldn't hurt, so I let him. Well, a week later it happened again, so I said, "No, I'll watch the movie and tell you about it!" I spent two hours watching a movie that even I didn't understand.

This has happened six times already, and I am sick and tired of that teacher telling my child how late he can stay up. I'd go and talk to that teacher but my son would rather I didn't. Should I anyway? Or should I ignore the whole thing and continue doing my son's "homework"?

IRATE MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Have a talk with the teacher. An occasional late TV "assignment" is permissible, but I think she's overdoing it.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am a waitress In a bar and restaurant and I could write a book about tipping.

The man who puts on his glasses and re-adds the bill has more self-confidence than the man who pays the check without even looking it over. But he's only a fair tipper.

The old men who pinch and call me "Honey" are testing. If I smile, they tip well. If I'm cool, they don't.

I can always tell if a man is with his wife. If he is, he's a poor tipper. If he's with his girl friend, he's generous.

Men with mustaches, long sideburns and this-year's suits are bigger tippers than those who dress more conservatively.

Women alone (or worse yet, in groups) are downright stingy. They ask for separate checks and always leave PENNIES!

Thank heavens no kids are allowed in here. All they leave are empty ketchup bottles and dirty napkins.

Come in and see me, sometime. You'll learn plenty.

Sandoval Named To New Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hillary J. Sandoval Jr. of El Paso Thursday was named head of the Small Business Administration and was hailed as occupying the "highest position a Mexican-American has ever held in a president's administration."

"It is tangible evidence," said Peter O'Donnell of Dallas, "that President Nixon will bring Mexican-Americans into more prominent positions in the federal government." O'Donnell is Texas Republican Chairman.

The 39-year-old Sandoval is president of Sandoval News Service Inc., wholesale distributors of magazines, newspapers and books. He once served as Texas' assistant Republican chairman.

A native of El Paso, Sandoval is married and the father of five children. His appointment to the post had been urged by Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex.

O'Donnell said Sandoval's appointment was popular with state party officials and Texas Republicans in Congress. The El Pasoan campaigned for Nixon in both the losing 1960 presidential race and the triumphant 1968 campaign.

A bachelor of arts degree holder from the University of Arizona, Sandoval also is area coordinator for the International Executive Corp., an organization that gives technical assistance to business overseas.

Surgery For Ben Barnes

AUSTIN (AP) — Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes was scheduled for surgery at 1:30 p.m. today for removal of a damaged spinal disc, the result of a football injury received 13 years ago while he was in high school.

Barnes has had trouble with his back before, and an aide said he decided Thursday to have the operation "and get it over with" after waking up with back pains.

The operation, technically called a laminectomy to remove a herniated disc, will last about two hours, Barnes' office said. His convalescence is expected to take about two weeks.

Barnes, 30, was admitted to Seton Hospital early today for preliminary tests. Barnes was placed in traction in a hospital last May because of the same back problem.

Sen. Don Kennard of Fort Worth, Senate president pro tem, will preside in the Senate during Barnes' absence.

Zoo Director Ponders Safety Of Animals

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Jethro, a tiny 2-year-old monkey, usually tethered in the center of the zoo at Swope Park, disappeared Thursday and Don Dietlein, director, said he was apparently kidnapped.

"Maybe we ought to go back to putting all the animals behind heavy bars and glass" said the director who added that during the last year the zoo has lost two sets of raccoons, three goats, a crane, and all of the guinea pigs from the children's zoo.

There are 22 predatory animal districts in Wyoming for the eradication of animals that prey upon and destroy livestock.

Terror In Jerusalem

JERUSALEM (AP) — A powerful explosion ripped through Jerusalem's biggest supermarket today, killing two young Jewish students and wounding nine other persons. A leading government official blamed the attack on Arab governments.

A few hours after the blast, Gideon Rafael, director-general of Israel's Foreign Ministry declared:

"The terror organizations are nothing but irregular forces of Egypt, Jordan, Lebanon and Iraq and all the countries which allow them to operate from their territory."

The supermarket blast killed two university students and wounded an Australian major and eight other persons. Three of the women victims were reported in serious condition.

Brown And Serve Pizza Is New

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Here's a great pizza recipe for those cooks who like to be prepared. It makes four 12-inch crusts. You partly bake these, then refrigerate them and use within eight days. This way the crusts, like brown - and - serve bread, are ready to use at your pleasure.

Something else is new about this recipe: the yeast doesn't have to be dissolved separately. You simply mix a package of active dry yeast, just as it comes from the package, with some of the other dry ingredients and you carry on.

If you make this pizza, be ready for thin crisp crusts and a really flavorful tomato sauce. When we tried the recipe, we made the sauce ahead and refrigerated it along with the crusts. What a pleasure to have everything on hand!

Brown-And-Serve Pizza

4 to 4½ cups unsifted flour
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 package active dry yeast
1¼ cups very hot tap water
¼ cup olive oil
Tomato Sauce (see below)
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese
2 teaspoons crumbled dried oregano leaves
1 pound mozzarella cheese, coarsely grated

Garnish — onion rings, sliced mushrooms and green pepper strips (all sauteed); sliced pepperino; drained flat anchovies.

In a large mixing bowl thoroughly stir together 1½ cups of the flour, the sugar, salt and dry yeast (just as it comes from the package); gradually stir in very hot tap water and the oil.

With electric mixer at medium speed, beat 2 minutes, scraping bowl several times. Add ½ cup flour or enough to make a thick batter. Beat at high speed for 2 minutes, scraping several times. Stir in enough more flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out onto lightly floured surface — board, pastry cloth or formica counter; knead until smooth and elastic — 8 to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl; turn to grease top. Cover bowl with a towel; let rise in warm draftfree place until doubled — about 45 minutes.

Punch down dough; turn out onto lightly floured surface. Divide dough into 4 equal pieces. Roll and stretch each piece into a 12-inch round; be careful not to stretch center too thin. Place in ungreased 12-inch round pizza pans. Form a standing rim or dough around edge.

Bake in a preheated 425-degree oven for 5 minutes; place a sheet of foil over each pan without bending down foil edges and bake 3 minutes longer. Using a spatula, carefully press down any bubbles that have formed. Remove crusts from pans and place on wire racks to cool. Wrap tightly with transparent plastic wrap; refrigerate up to 8 days. Bring to room temperature before using; don't worry if crusts have bubbles sauce will weigh them down.

When ready to bake, place crusts in oiled pizza pans; spread about ¾ cup Tomato Sauce over each crust. Sprinkle each with 2 tablespoons Parmesan, ½ teaspoon oregano and ¼ of the mozzarella. Brush edge of crust with extra olive oil.

Garnish with onion, mushrooms, green pepper, pepperoni and anchovies.

Bake in a preheated 425-degree oven until crust is browned — about 25 minutes. Be sure to use a pizza wheel to cut the thin crisp crusts into wedges; even a very sharp knife will not do so good a job. Serve hot.

Makes four 12-inch pizzas.

TOMATO SAUCE (for pizza)

3 tablespoons salad oil
1 cup finely chopped onion
1 can (1 pound, 12 ounces) Italian - style plum tomatoes
1 can (6 ounces) tomato paste
3 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 teaspoons crumbled dried basil leaves
1 bay leaf
1 large clove garlic, crushed

In a Dutch oven or similar saucepot, heat the oil. Add onion; gently cook, stirring often, until onion is wilted and transparent but not brown. Stir in remaining ingredients. Bring to a boil. Simmer, uncovered, until thick and reduced to about 3 cups — about 1 hour. Sauce is not supposed to have a smooth texture. Remove bay leaf before using.

If you plan to do any wood finishing during 1969, your list of resolutions should include one on the importance of testing to achieve the desired result.

Our mail makes it plain that many persons are disappointed when a clear finish darkens the wood or the stain produces uneven colors or, even when the stain is constant, it isn't the proper shade, or the finish is too glossy or not glossy enough.

What is overlooked is that there is no such thing as a finishing material that doesn't darken the wood to some extent and that different results occur on different kinds of wood even when the same stain and top coat are used. A walnut stain and varnish, for instance may produce a lighter tone on the wood from one kind of tree than on the wood from another.

While professional wood finishers know from experience what generally can be expected from certain combinations of materials, they must be careful that the application procedures are uniform. Example: wiping a stain two minutes after it has been applied will result in a color with less density than the same stain wiped after four minutes.

The only way for you to be absolutely certain of how the finished article will look is to test the materials exactly in the manner in which they will be applied. And the test must be conducted on a scrap of wood of the same kind as the item to be finished, or better yet, on an unseen area of the item itself.

The test is unnecessary, of course, if you aren't concerned so much with a precise color or type of finish as much as you are with one which is serviceable and adds character to the wood. But when the test fails to give you exactly what you want, you usually can do something about it.

If the stain penetrates too deeply, leaving sharp contrasts, apply a thinned coat of primer to the wood before applying the stain in a second test. If the color is too deep, it means that stain should be wiped off quickly, perhaps within one minute after application. If the final finish is too glossy, you should use a semi-gloss product or cut down the gloss by rubbing with powdered pumice and rottenstone.

In fact, one of the great joys of finishing wood is in experimenting with different materials and different methods of application to determine your own favorites.

QUESTION: The living room floor of the old house we bought recently has a slight sag in it. The floor is over a basement which has a concrete floor. I have been told that the sag can be eliminated by a jack post. How can I determine how much the post should be jacked up?

ANSWER: The first step is to stretch a strong string taut across the living room floor at right angled to the direction in which the joists run. Tack the string tightly near each wall. The distance between the floor and string in the middle of the room will show the amount of sag. Check the string with a carpenter's level. Since there is a concrete floor in the basement, the jack post can be placed directly on it, assuming that the floor is in solid condition. Next, raise the post to a point about 6 inches from the basement joists. Place a 4 by 4 beam, 6 feet long, on top of the post at right angles to the joists. Jack up the post until the beam is firmly against the joists. If the sag in the living room floor is half an inch or less, continue jacking up the post until the sag is gone. Have someone upstairs tell you when the floor moves up enough so that it is level with the string.

If the sag is more than half an inch, it must be eliminated a little at a time over a period of days, because if you tried to do it all at once, some cracking of the walls might ensue. The trick is to jack up the post half an inch, wait two or three days, jack up another half an inch and so on. The post then can be left in place or a permanent one installed. In purchasing the post, tell your dealer to select one that will fill your needs. Should you decide on a permanent post (you might want to keep the jack post for other work), do everything as explained above, but place the jack post just a little off center to allow for the installation of the permanent post in dead center. Please remember that everything explained here should be attempted only when the fault is with sagging first floor joists. When there is a second-floor sag inside a closed ceiling, the problem must be handled by a professional.

QUESTION: I have a table saw that uses circular blades. I have been using it for about a year with good results, but have worked only with wood. I have a hardboard project coming up. Can I use the same combination blade for the hardboard?

ANSWER: Generally, yes. But if it's tempered hardboard and there is an extensive amount of cutting to do, you should use a carbide-tipped blade, which will cut better and last longer without getting dull.

Shag Rugs

Mohair displays still another personality in thick, cushiony shag area rugs that give a feeling of warmth and luxury to a room. Ottomans can be covered in the same shag to carry out the texture theme. The creamy natural color is not at all impractical, because, here again the smooth fiber does not absorb soil, and when needed the shag can be machine-washed in cool water.

Fryer Has Many Uses

You may have deep - fried potatoes or doughnuts in your electric deep fryer-cooker, but did you realize that it makes a perfect bean pot? Season a big pot of beans in your own special way, let them simmer gently for a while, and you have the makings for some good eating. Plug in the electric appliance anywhere even outdoors, and serve those beans steaming hot, right through second helpings.

You'll want to simmer soups, stews, chili and casseroles the same way because it's so convenient to cook and serve in the same utensil. Because of the basket, the deep fryer-cooker is perfect for blanching foods for the freezer, too.

This electric appliance is as easy to clean as it is to use. Just fill it with water, add detergent and heat to boiling. Then drain, rinse and dry. Remember when you put it away not to put it too far away. You'll want to keep it handy to keep it in use.

Prep School Setting For Tragedy

GOOD-TIMES - BAD TIMES.
By James Kirkwood.

Right from the beginning of this novel you know that Peter Kilburn, a prep school senior, is in jail charged with killing the school's headmaster, Hoyt.

The narrative, written by Peter from his jail cell, is concerned with the complicated reasons for this situation.

It develops that Peter is the son of an actor who has hit the skids; Peter has been entered at the school in his senior year under the sponsorship of a friend of his father. It also becomes apparent that the school has been going downhill fast, after a scandal over homosexuality seven years earlier.

Peter, virtually an orphan, has a compulsion to stick to one close friend. In this case, it is Jordan Legier, a precociously sophisticated lad from a wealthy family, who knows that his faulty heart will not carry him far into life. Peter, Jordan and the headmaster are the story's tragic trio.

Headmaster Hoyt is portrayed as a self - willed monster struggling desperately to keep the school from falling apart, and in reality a very sick monster.

The story has a few minor flaws, but the grotesque world which Kirkwood reveals is a plausible one. The novel is skillfully written, full of psychological insights and builds to a strong climax.

Velvet Upholstery

For pure luxury, plus practicality, there's nothing like the glowing softness of mohair velvet upholstery with its deep-textured jewel colors. It is an investment of enduring satisfaction. The boundy fiber doesn't crush, wilt or show sit-marks, and its wearing performance is unbelievable. There are heirloom chairs with mohair upholstery still in excellent condition after a hundred years.

IN GOLD MARKET

Craziness Becomes Normal

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Whispers at Washington cocktail parties reach Europe as supersonic thunder. Casual remarks are interpreted as official statements. Denials are received as affirmations. Even silence is studied for meaning.

This is the gold market, a subject that to most people has become remote, boring, meaningless, but which represents to bankers, speculators and some heads of states an unbearably tense situation.

What will the price of gold be one year from now? No more than $35 an ounce if you judge from official U.S. statements. A lot more than that if South Africa, the world's largest producer, realizes its hopes.

The least suggestion of a price change sends speculators to market.

Suppose, for instance, that the United States, which officially maintains the price of monetary gold at $35 an ounce, hints that there is some slight chance it might decide to pay more. Hope immediately swells in the breasts of gold hoarders. And those without gold rush to buy.

Something of that sort did happen not long ago. When President-elect Nixon introduced his new Treasury secretary-designate, David Kennedy, the gentleman immediately was asked THE question.

"I want to keep every option open," Kennedy said, adding, "I do not want to start any rumors to cause any kind of a crisis that I will have to work on."

He got what he sought to avoid. To most people the statement was clear. Not to the goldbugs. The price of gold rose; European speculators went into an uproar. And American bankers issued wistful criticisms.

The entire international monetary structure was, in fact, shaken by Kennedy's refusal to be committed on a subject he felt was better dealt with only after he had assumed office, still more than a month away.

Careful lest he create more turmoil, the secretary-designate refrained from additional comment except to say that anybody would be crazy to speculate on what he had said. But craziness has become normal in the gold market.

The peculiar behavior goes back a long way, but it reached a crisis one year ago. At that time the United States was being forced to convert many millions of dollars into gold and ship the gold overseas.

The necessity for doing so was a commitment by the U.S. government to redeem dollars in gold. And because the United States was leaving a lot of dollars abroad, a lot of dollars were coming back in exchange for gold.

Much of this gold was getting into the hands of speculators and industrial users and leaving less and less gold for backing money, thus endangering the entire world monetary system.

To escape further danger, the big industrial nations simply shut off the drain to the private market. Instead, they decided to keep what gold they had, neither buying nor selling to speculators or industrial users.

This was bad news for private hoarders and some governments too, each of which had been hoping that the United States would be forced to raise the price of gold to, say, $70 in order to conserve its diminishing supply.

Instead, a two-market system was established. Monetary gold would remain at $35 no matter what happened in the private market. The private market would reflect supply-demand and seek its own price. It has: between $37 and $43.

However, the private price is maintained at that level because South Africa sits atop an enormous pile of gold. Should South Africa have to sell, and that day could be approaching, the free market price could drop.

Cigar Smoker Gets More From Life

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — A lot of women dislike men who smoke cigars.

But—you know what?—a lot of men who smoke cigars dislike women who don't like men who smoke cigars. They think such women are snippy, prejudiced and misinformed.

"It's all right if you want to smoke cigarettes," says many a young wife to her husband, "but please don't light up one of those horrible cigars. They smell up the draperies something terrible."

Such a woman tends to value the scent of her draperies above her husband's health. All the medical statistics show that a cigar smoker is far more likely to reach a ripe old age, with less damage to his lungs and heart, than either the cigarette smoker or the pipe smoker.

As a matter o. fact, these persnickety wives, if they happen to be chain cigarette smokers as so many modern women are, would probably live longer themselves if they switched to a fine panetela.

Why not? If they demand the right to vote like men, hold jobs that traditionally have belonged to men, wear pants and shirts like men, why shouldn't they also smoke like real he-men?

After all, cigars are enjoyed by many European women such as actress Anna Magnani. Among American women who showed a fondness for cigars were poet Amy Lowell and Poker Alice, the frontier gambling lady.

A quarter-century of cigar smoking has taught me a number of things about its pleasures and advantages.

First, I don't think women dislike cigars for the reason they state—because of their so-called stench. Actually, a good cigar emits, with the possible exception of leaves in autumn, the most fragrant of earth's burning smells.

No, the real reason women dislike cigars is twofold: (1) a woman may be able to sew a fine button but she finds it all but impossible to master the art of smoking a cigar gracefully, and (2) she secretly envies cigars because sometimes they give men more solace and soul satisfaction than she can. Therefore, to her the cigar is a rival, a rival to be ridiculed and destroyed.

Another thing I have discovered is that a cigar, not a dog, is man's best friend.

A cigar does not sit up and beg, but on the other hand it does not leave hairs on the sofa or track mud in on the rug. A cigar does not wag its tail in a friendly manner, but neither does it have to be fed or taken out for walks morning and evening in all kinds of weather. A cigar cannot be taught to fetch your slippers; however, a cigar smoker can always teach his wife to do that.

But what a cigar can do is make a man feel better. It makes him feel masculine in a woman-ridden world. It provides him with release, contentment and even exhilaration. It enlarges his spirit, makes him feel taller.

And, unlike a human friend or a dog, it makes no demands upon him. When he is through with it, he can throw it away without qualms. He does not have to cater to it or toady to it or lend it money.

Junior Editors Quiz on DAMS

QUESTION: How can dams be built, considering that the flow of water is in the way?

* * * *

ANSWER: One doesn't just dump a lot of concrete in a river when building a dam. The first thing is to divert the stream or river so the place where the dam is to be built will be dry. No water will then touch the concrete and it will set up hard. Diverting the water is done in different ways. Sometimes large pipes or tunnels are taken under the site, and the dam is built on top. Often, the water is diverted to one side. In the upper picture, the river has been pushed to the far side by cofferdams, which are temporary wooden walls of strongly braced piles and planks. A special tunnel has been drilled around the end of the site where the dam is being built. The water directed by the cofferdam is pouring through this and appearing at lower left. After the dam is constructed, the cofferdam is removed, the tunnel filled and a fine lake is built up by the dam. Dams are extremely important to us. Through them we can store vast amounts of water, which can be released in dry periods. Dams prevent disastrous floods, furnish power to generate electricity and provide fine recreational areas.

The team is built around only six returning lettermen. There are 23 boys on the traveling squad. Most of them are sophomores. How well the youngsters develop will determine to a great extent how the Bengals will fare on the competitive fields this year.

Most of the Comanche Relays records seem safe from the Bengal assault. Prelims began at 2:15 p.m. today with finals slated for 1 p.m. Saturday. The sprint relay team from Snyder includes junior Willis Harrison, senior Tommy Hollis, sophomore Gary Shields and senior Larry Lofton. Probable entries in the mile relay are junior Barry Park, sophomores Bill Wilson and David McCommas and Lofton.

Harvey Browning, Craig Allred and Louis Garcia will give the Tigers strength in the mile run, and Steve Burney and Mark Gilstrap could raise a few eyebrows in the pole vault.

Loraine, Highland, Ira, Westbrook In Second Round

There were two mild upsets in the opening round of the District 10-B Girls Basketball Tournament here last night when Loraine upended Hobbs 62-56 and when Highland shaded Hermleigh 51-48.

The other first round tilts went about as expected with Ira nipping Roby 41-38 in overtime and Westbrook flailing Fluvanna 49-36.

Loraine, led by Debbie Oliver and Pam Sanford, leaped into a 17-11 advantage in the first period and boosted it to 27-20 at halftime. Debbie did an excellent job of driving in for close shots. Louise Rose was outstanding on the boards for Loraine.

Hobbs pulled within three points in the third period as Doris Medrano began to find the range. She sank 21 of her 27 points in the ast half. However, Loraine began to pull away and built an 18 point margin early in the last quarter, then fought off a furious rally late in the game.

Hobbs pulled within six-points with 56 seconds remaining, but that's as close as they could get. Sanford, who tallied 20 points for Loraine, got 14 of them in the fourth period. Oliver meshed 37 points for high point honors. Brenda Hull contributed 19 and Linda Martin added 10 points for the Panthers.

That Highland - Hermleigh skirmish was close all the way. The Cards led 15-14 after one period and were still out front 29-27 at halftime. A determined rally in the third period put Highland out front 38-34, but Hermleigh re-gained command, 41-40 with 4:40 left in the game. With 1:48 remaining the score was deadlocked at 48-48.

Neither team could score again until the last minute when Lana Scott connected on a field shot and Patsy Campbell dropped in a free throw to wrest victory away from the Cards.

Campbell was high point girl with 28. Cathy Wright meshed 17. For Hermleigh, Jane Wall was high with 23 points.

Ira took a 7-point first period lead in its affray with Roby, but Roby went ahead, 20-17, at halftime. Roby still led, 31-25 after three periods, but the Bulldogs rallied in the last period to tie it up at 38-38 in regulation play.

In overtime, Janie Roddy dropped in two free throws and Neva Payne connected with another one for Ira. Carolyn Rogers tallied 22 points for Ira while Roddy roped 12. For Roby, Becca Kiker and Helen Lovett were outstanding on offense with 14 and 11 points respectively.

Westbrook outscored Fluvanna in every period except the last one. By then, the handwriting was on the wall. The Wildcats received a 29-point performance from Christine Reed while Judy Chambers made 12. Nanette Bruner scored 19 and Linda Daugherty posted 12 for Fluvanna.

Westbrook meets Ira at 7 p.m. and Loraine tests Highland at 8:30 p.m. today in the Tiger gym. Finals will be held at 8:30 p.m. Saturday after the battle for third place at 7 p.m.

Ag-Bear Fracas Is On Film

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Texas A&M University was to show a slow-motion, stop-action videotape today of last Tuesday night's fray at the Baylor-A&M basketball game in which Baylor's Tom Friedman suffered a mild concussion.

"The stories that said some of our football players hit Friedman are wrong," said Athletic Director Gene Stallings. "The film will show that. We are going to show a film of the incident and let people who have been writing about it see it as many times as they wish."

Friedman was punched by Billy Bob Barnett of A&M after the Baylor player had flagrantly fouled Ronnie Peret of the Aggies who was driving in for a layup.

Accounts of what happened to Friedman after that differ.

Baylor says that Friedman was punched and kicked by spectators, including several from the A&M football team.

Friedman was hospitalized overnight in the school infirmary following the 86-74 loss at College SStation. Six stitches were required to close cuts in his mouth.

But A&M says the football players actually were helping Friedman instead of trying to hurt him.

Spec Gammon, A&M publicist, says "We feel the film will exonerate our football players. In fact, the film shows one football player, Tom Buckman, trying to keep Billy Bob Barnett away from Friedman.

"It also shows Billy Hobbs with both hands flat on the floor and with his body bridged over Friedman trying to protect him."

Baylor coach Bill Menefee had called for the Aggies to release film of the game for public showing. Menefee prepared a report on the matter for Southwest Conference officials.

Pipers Pop Nets 118-113

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Minnesota braked its skid temporarily when New York got hit by a cold wave and now the Pipers head for sunny Miami in hot pursuit of first place.

The Pipers, who had lost four of their last five starts, raced to a 118-113 American Basketball Association victory of the New York Nets Thursday night behind the hot-shooting of Charlie Wiliams and Art Heyman.

In the only other ABA contest, Oakland whipped Dallas 119-109.

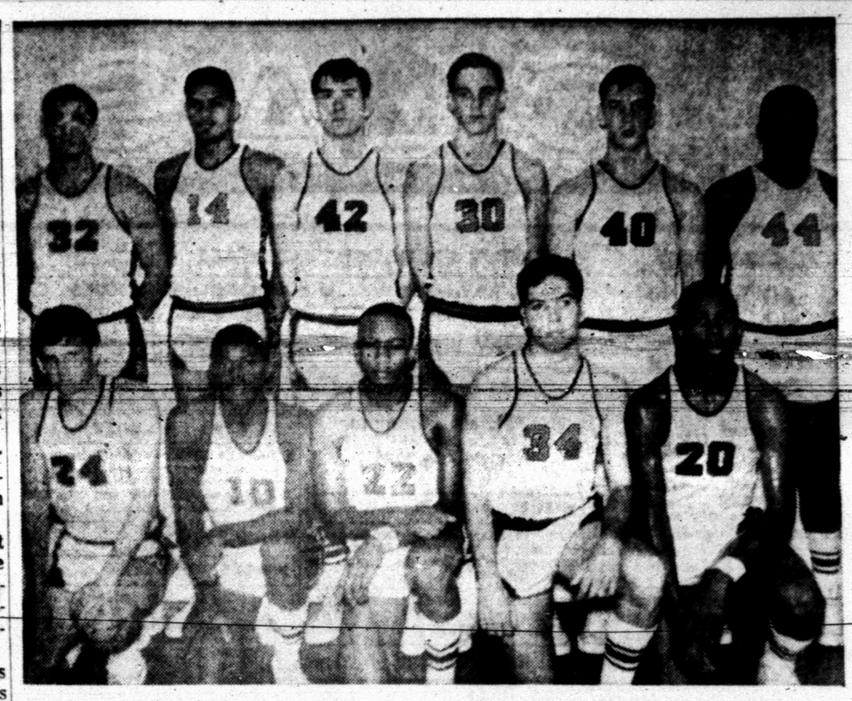

Baltimore nipped Phoenix 124-121, Atlanta dropped Detroit 97-87 and San Francisco stopped San Diego 128-118 in National Basketball Association play.

The Pipers jumped to a 56-43 halftime lead, capitalizing on the Nets cold shooting in the first half and increased their margin to 22 points midway in the third period. The Nets rallied to within three points with six seconds left but never got closer.

Williams had 31 points while Heyman added 22 for the winners, who closed to within one game of East Division leader Miami. A Minnesota victory over the Floridians tonight would send the two teams into a virtual deadlock for the top spot.

Steve Chubin hit for 28 points for the Nets while Walt Simon added 42.

Larry Brown's pair of jump shots with eight minutes left broke open a 95-all tie and Oakland went on to post their 44th victory in 54 games at the expense of Dallas.

District 3-AAA Cage Tourney Set Tonight

You can forget about the movies, Virginia. And, Jack, you'd better get someone else to go to the fights with you. Because another battle royal is on tap tonight. In fact two of them, and they're the ones we've been waitin' for.

The District 3-AAA basketball tournament gets underway in the Scurry County Coliseum tonight. Tipoff in the first tilt matching Colorado City's Wolves and Lubbock Dunbar's Panthers is set for 6:30 p.m. Lamesa's Golden Tornadoes and Levelland's Lobos tangle at 8:30 p.m. in the finale.

Finals are on tap for 8 p.m. Saturday at the same site. Admission for tonight's program is $2 for adults and $1 for students. It's just half that for the finals. Tickets, hopefully, will be available at the door.

Most area prognosticators are predicting the Tornadoes and Panthers will be meeting in the finals. These same two teams in a playoff for the district crown last season drew a capacity crowd audience with snow on the ground outside the coliseum. And, with a double attraction tonight, most fans are planning to arrive early.

Strangely enough, Lamesa, a team without a senior in the starting alignment, is favored to cop the crown. Coach O. W. Follis' boys are 24-4 for the campaign and have won 10 in a row. Pacing the Tor attack are the Jenkins twins — Floyd and Lloyd. Other starters are guards Brent Minnix and Cecil Davis and forward Jerry Jernigan. Smooth is perhaps the best adjective to describe the Tornado attack.

Coach Gano Tubb's Lobos are only 15-14 for the year, but they're probably the most improved team in the league. Led by senior gunner Mike Dukes, the Lobos have been known to beat Lamesa before in the playoffs. Mike is averaging 28 plus points per outing, and he's also tenacious under the boards. He'll get help from guards Charles Flowers and Terry Billingsley and forwards Eddie Neal and Larry Harder.

That opener between the Wolves and the Panthers could be a dogfight. The same two teams met in a tournament at Slaton earlier in the season with Dunbar taking a narrow 53-51 decision.

The Panthers, under the tutelage of Coach Curtis Gipson, have plenty of muscle and perhaps as much raw talent as any team in the state. Dunbar is 21-8 for the season. One big reason for the Panther success this time around is the return of Marc Wilson, who may be the best rebounder in the state. The four starters who help him all are averaging over 10 points per tilt. They are guards Earnest Davis and Frank Melton and forwards William Baldwin and Allen Newman.

Colorado City, 17-9 for the campaign has two of the top all-around performers anywhere in forward Lyneal James and center Randy Parker. Both are 6-3 seniors who sparked the Wolves to a thrid place finish in the AA state tourney last year. Other Wolves ready to prove their appearance in the district tourney is well deserved are guards Robert Bender and Willie Hopkins and Johnny Matthews. Coach Caddo Matthews cautions that the Wolves have been weakened by the flu and may not be up to form. Still, any team that could gain a berth in the tourney from the south zone has to be taken seriously.

Kelly's Trip To Surgery No Surprise

DALLAS (AP) — Now it's Kelly King, 7, in the hospital—and nobody in her family is surprised that she underwent an appendectomy.

Mrs. Soniti King and her six children count such things on their fingers without too many to spare.

First it was Mrs. King, a long-distance telephone operator, who went in for an operation last October. Daughter Kathy, 12, complained of a side ache and two days after Thanksgiving the doctors took out her appendix.

"We thought it was sympathy pains," said the mother when Mary Kay, 5, didn't feel well a few weeks later. The surgeons decreed an emergency appendectomy.

Just to keep the staff at Dallas Osteopathic Hospital from forgetting the family, Mary Kay Kelly and Robert, 14, all had their tonsils removed during the Christmas holidays.

Then, with everyone recovered, Buddy, 10, found his side was hurting.

"By the time we got Buddy ready," said Mrs. King, "Bobby started having pains too. They were both tested. Both needed emergency appendectomies."

Kelly's turn came the other day and she's doing fine.

Of the King children, that leaves only Nancy, 8, who's visiting a grandmother in Cololorado. So she won't feel left out, Nancy is due to have her tonsils out along with Buddy and her mother as soon as school is out.

Kansas City Would Have Cool Cops

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — A design firm has presented a plan to dress police in turtlenecks and berets and give the chief a sports car as his official vehicle.

Paint fire trucks beige instead of red, the presentation continued, and use new color designs for city trash and garbage trucks.

The firm seeks a contract to design signs, uniforms, letterheads, a city seal, city flag and other items.

Mayor Joseph H. McDowell said the city would consider the suggestions.

NO MALICE

No American who ever lived had a greater grasp of the true meaning of Freedom than Abe Lincoln, the kindly and rugged-featured man who described this nation as having been "conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal."

But Abraham Lincoln knew that Liberty could not be won and maintained by men alone. He acknowledged Divine power. The Great Emancipator made that clear in all his classic utterances. The closing lines of the Gettysburg Address is our best example:

"... that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom ... and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

... that is Americanism.

Elder Brown was raised on the Colorado River south of Ira and attended school at Ira until 1937. At that time the family moved to "Hell Roar and Hollar," now called Pleasant Hill. In June, 1939, Eld. Brown married Evelyn Wiggins of Ira. The couple now have four children. During World War II, Elder Brown served in the U.S. 5th Marine Division. He worked at Col-Tex Refinery from January 1946 to Jan. 1962, at which time, he transferred to Cosden Oil and Chemical Co. and moved to Big Spring.

Elder Brown was converted to the Mormon Church in January, 1961, since that time he has served in such positions as Sunday School Superintendent, Elder's Quorum President, First Counselor in Branch Presidency and First Counselor in the Bishopric of the Big Spring Ward.

He will speak on the subject, "We must be about our Father's Business." Dwight Brown, the son of Eld. Brown, and Miss Ginger Adams will accompany him to Snyder and will also speak at the service, representing the young peoples programs of the Church.

Four Perish In Abilene Blast, Fire

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Four employes of the McDonald Well Service Co. near here perished Thursday when the firm's building was shattered by an explosion and then burned.

Pronounced dead at the scene by a justice of the peace were Joseph Leonard Wells, 25, Gilbert Lawrence Amos, 53, Louis Allred Jr., 31 and Allen Foster, 29, all of Abilene.

A McDonald accountant estimated property damage at the site, two miles north of Abilene, at about $50,000. Veteran firemen and Departr ent of Public Safety officials called it - the worst fire in this area in more than 20 years.

The Texas Railroad Commission dispatched an investigator from its liquified petroleum gas division to probe the cause of the blaze.

Foster's body was found in the northwest corner of the building, and the three other victims were uncovered in a dressing-recreation room in the building's southwest corner.

It had been feared that a fifth victim was involved, but Calvin Maxwell showed up during the search operations. He had left for coffee about five minutes before the explosion that preceded the fire.

"I'm just lucky I left when I did, and even luckier that I didn't come back sooner," Maxwell said.

One of the three survivlng employes who were in the building at the time of the blast said he was thrown 20 feet outside by the impact.

The other two survivors, L.G. Kendrick of Anson and J.L. Rushing of Baird said they were staggered by the blast, but managed to run out a side door as "the whole rear end of the shop went up in flames."

"There wasn't anything we could do to get to those other guys," Kendrick said. "There was a solid wall of flame back there. We were just lucky to get out ourselves."
