County Road Administrator Changed

The Commissioners Court, in a called session Saturday morning, June 23, relieved Chester White of his administrative duties with the county road department.

The meeting was called for Friday night but was postponed due to stormy weather.

In the same meeting, the commissioners hired Mearl Parker for the administrator's job.

County Judge Bob Watson said the commissioners did not fire White from the department, and that he can remain as an employee if he wishes to do so and if it is agreeable with the new administrator.

He also said that White was on vacation at the time the commissioner's action was taken and that the commissioners reported they did not know he was on vacation until they tried to locate him.

He was notified of the action Sunday after he returned to town, Judge Watson said.

White raised the question of legality of the action.

Judge R.L. Templeton, county attorney, said it appears to him that the commissioners acted legally. "They did not discharge him (White). They relieved him as

Wellington High School Cheerleaders Take Top Honors

Wellington High School cheerleaders won the "spirit stick" at National Cheerleaders Association school on the campus of Lubbock Christian College recently.

The stick is awarded to a select number of squads who demonstrate the most enthusiasm and willingness to work.

Judging is based on performance, throughout the school, not during competition alone.

The cheerleaders also won 5 ribbons in yell competition, a Super Star Squad ribbon, and three superior ribbons.

The girls attended jumping technique class, yell instruction, boogie class and pyramid building, partner stunt and tumbling classes.

Hoppers-Ranchers Ready for Faceoff

Ranchers in the northwest part of the county have signed a little more than 30,000 acres into a joint grasshopper control program with Gray County, with pasture land to be sprayed within the next few days.

In the meantime, the grasshopper infestation is building toward what is already described as the largest in 25 years.

The Extension Agent Don Reeves said in this county the grasshopper count now ranges from 12 to 35 hoppers per square yard, according to Department of Agriculture personnel who have checked the area. That is an exceptionally high count.

They have not yet moved into the fields of young cotton, but at the same time, growers point out that the hoppers are just now getting large enough to move.

As farming land is not included in the spraying program to be carried out on the range land, and any control work will be at the expense of the cotton and feed grower.

The rangeland spraying program is funded equally by the Department of Agriculture state and the landowner. Approximately 44,000 acres are included in the Collingsworth-Gray County program, according to Rudie Tate, Abra rancher. Joe Van Zant, Gray County extension agent, is in charge of the work.

The east line of the spraying area is through the Abra community, south to Salt Fork River, and following it to the Donley County line. The county line forms the west boundary, except that the part of the Bar Lo Ranch in Donley is included in the program.

"They're pretty bad and just now getting big enough to start eating," Tate said. "They're a lot worse than last

Concern Mounting As Rabies Incidence Rises

Another confirmed case of a skunk with rabies, has been found in Collingsworth County bringing the number to three, and the Texas Department of Health is urging that action be taken to eliminate skunks and stray dogs.

A representative of the Region 1 office, at Canyon was in Wellington last week to discuss the situation. He said Collingsworth County has the highest rabies incidence of any county in the Panhandle.

County and city officials agree action need to be taken and hope to have a program worked out by the second week in July.

Dr. Mark Fires of Wellington

Veterinary Hospital said the last rabied skunk was found in the Dozier area, after it bit two dogs. The skunk was killed and the dogs put to sleep he said.

Dr. Fires, who handles most of the dog and cat vaccination in the county, said he was not contacted by the Department

WHEAT HARVEST

Collingsworth County's bumper wheat crop continued to roll in this week as the market price rose as high as $4.30 per bushel. Last Wednesday custom combiners Leo and Eddie Popwell herded six combines above into Tom Sanderson's wheat field near Dodson. The Popwell's 14-member crew with 6 combines and 6 trucks will cut wheat from Childress, Texas to Eagle Butte, South Dakota as they follow the ripening wheat (far left) up the American plains from June through August. Manual labor is still required on harvest at times such as the one shown above (left) where green weeds have choked the combine's auger, but hydraulics, air conditioning, automatic transmissions, radios and tape decks (right) have made the harvest trail more enjoyable and less physical. The Popwell women sometimes take a turn at driving combines or trucks, although they usually confine their efforts to keeping the hungry crew fed from trailer houses that also make the journey north. There's a price tag for the extra comfort, though--combines this year will sell in the $60,000 range and wheat trucks for $20,000. The Popwells say they cut for the same people each year as they travel north, and harvest, for them, resembles a family reunion as much as a business transaction. "They usually throw a big barbecue just before we're ready to leave for a new location," Leo Popwell says. "Our children grew up with their children and they're just like family. Harvest is a great way of life and it just gets in your blood." Getting the wheat to market is what it's all about--at far right, wheat straw after the grain has been thrashed from it.

4-H Horse Club Members Compete

Eight 4-H Horse Club members are competing in the annual District 1 4-H Horse Show at the Bill Cody Arena. Competition got under way at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday and will resume at 8:00 a.m. Thursday. The Wellington group is due to return home late Thursday evening.

Participating are Mary Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S.R. Scott, who live in the north-edge of the county; Darvin Nix, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Nix; Ed Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Campbell; Sandy Henard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Henard; Kay Lynn Bartlett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl L. Bartlett; Stacy Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Scott; Lesa White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P.J. White; and Chad Holland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kent Holland.

Kay Lynn and Lesa, who are new to the program, will show their horses at halter.

The others will show at halter and also compete in showmanship, western pleasure, western riding, barrels and poles.

Accompanying them will be Mrs. Bill Lowe and Susan Lowe who have worked with the 4-H Horse club this summer. Mrs. Jack Campbell works with the pre 4-H's and Don Bartlett assists with all age groups.

Bill Wilson is making available his indoor arena north of town, as the boys and girls will compete at an indoor arena at the district event.

Winners in each division at the district show will qualify to compete in the state 4-H Horse Club show later this summer.

Parents of most of those competing will be present for the Amarillo show.

Approximately 40 boys and girls are participating in the horse program this year, Mrs. Lowe said. This is an unusually large number for this county and includes several new students.

Other plans are being made for the Horse Club members, said Mrs. Lowe:

"We are planning a drill team to participate at the Chamber of Commerce Rodeo July 27 and 28. Almost the entire club will participate, with the older members setting the pivots," she explained.

Also new to the program is the teaching of "basic horse knowledge," said the instructor, "and we are getting great response from the parents."

Mrs. Lowe said plans are already being made to start the 4-H Horse Club in late March or April next year. Many who work with young people and their mounts believe this period of time is needed before they compete at the district contest.

Hall, Chambers Compete in AAU Track Meet

Wellington High School '79 seniors Robert Chambers and Kevin Hall participated in an Amateur Athletic Union sanctioned track meet in Amarillo Saturday and Hall qualified for the national AAU track meet in the 100-yard dash.

Hall will compete in the national meet in Omaha, Nebraska on July 27 and 28.

He won the preliminaries in Amarillo with a time of 10.1 seconds and finished second in the finals with 10.2 in the high school division. (The track meet is divided into high school--16 and 17 year olds--and colleges--18 year olds and over.)

Hall also finished second in the high hurdles in the college division with a time of 15.2. And he placed second in the high school division long jump with 20 ft. 8 inches and third in the college division with 19 ft. 9 inches.

Chambers ran third in the college division 220 yard dash with a time of 22.8 behind West Texas State University's John Thomas and Mike Brown who currently hold the 5th and 11th fastest times in the nation, Chambers said. Chambers will participate in mile relay races with these two men in AAU track meets later in the summer.

Chambers also placed second in the college division long jump with a leap of 22 ft.

Hall and Chambers both said they plan to enter AAU track meets in Lubbock and Borger later in the summer in hopes of qualifying for more events in the national AAU track meet.

Both are sponsored in the AAU contests by Athletic Attic in Amarillo.

Half Million Hospital Budget Set

Collingsworth General Hospital board unanimously approved a $581,502 budget for fiscal 1979-80 at regular meeting Monday, June 25.

The board also voted unanimously to join the Panhandle Rural Health Corporation if the corporation would accept the county. Membership in the corporation would make the hospital district eligible to apply for various federal loans and grants, hospital administrator Morris Barcroft told the board. The corporation is currently made up of five Texas panhandle counties: Swisher, Armstrong, Hall, Donley and Briscoe.

The board also discussed, but took no action on, changing the hospital's monthly financial statement to a different form.

The board of directors of the Collingsworth Volunteer Ambulance Service were present at the meeting to discuss problems in scheduling the ambulance driver provided by the hospital during business hours on weekdays. The hospital and the ambulance service have had an informal agreement since the ambulance service was organized that the hospital would provide one driver to be on call from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday in order to help reduce the burden on volunteers' time during working hours.

The problem arose when hospital administrator Barcroft said the driver, who is also in charge of maintenance at the hospital, would be required in case of a maintenance emergency at the hospital, to take care of that emergency rather than going on an ambulance run if the two occurred at the same time. Ambulance service board members said that this meant that they would have to call on another shift of volunteers to stand by during working hours in case of an ambulance call when the hospital's driver might not be able to make the run.

The hospital board did not vote on the matter but expressed their desire for Barcroft to meet with members of the Ambulance Service board and work out an agreement that would be satisfactory to both parties.

In other action the board voted to turn over to an attorney $1,605.61 in bad debts to file in small claims court.

Present were hospital board members Corky Bowen, Tom Cunningham, Elmer Feemster, Lyman Daniel, Dee Coleman, Otis Emmert and Bill Janes. Volunteer Ambulance Service board members present were Bob Watson, Ralph Owens, Margaret Vines, Dennis Cudd, N.E. Childers and Marshall Peters.

administrator but kept him as an employee of the road department, subject to approval by the new administrator."

As to White's salary, which was also questioned, Templeton said: "I am of the opinion that it cannot be cut."

"I am of the opinion that he is entitled to 30 day written notice of the commissioner's action, but he is not going to ask for this. What he wants is to remain on the job until he is eligible for retirement, which is less than a year," the county attorney said.

The motion to relieve White of his administrative duties was made by Commissioner Joe Frank Knoll and seconded by commissioner Bill Lowe.

Commissioner John R. Henard, the only one of the four who could be reached Tuesday evening or by press time Wednesday, said he understands that White had indicated he was wanting to be relieved of the job, that he said he had rather drive a maintainer than have all the responsibility of the administrator's job.

"We found a fellow we thought was real capable and we hired him," Henard said.

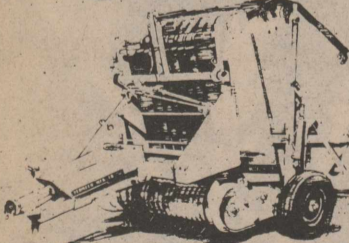

"We made several calls trying to locate him (White) and we didn't know he was gone until Tuesday or Wednesday. I was real sorry he was not here when we had the discussion for I thought he should have been here really," Henard continued.

"I think the commissioners should have handled the situation differently," White said. "But I plan to continue to work for them and make them a hand due to the fact that I had told them about one month ago that I would much rather be a heavy equipment operator rather than continue with the job of administrator."

None of those contacted admitted there were problems arising out of White's administration of the road department.

of Health representative and had made prior plans to be out of town July 1 through 8. No vaccination program will be started until after he returns, according to Mayor Bill Hatch and County Judge Bob Watson.

Judge Watson said the county has no regulations requiring that animals be vaccinated for rabies, and without this, he does not have the authority to tell people to have their pets vaccinated.

He added that the Commissioners Court did consider such a measure last year but it was not passed.

Mayor Hatch urged all pet owners who have not had their dogs and cats vaccinated to do so at the earliest possible time.

"This rabies outbreak is serious and we must do what we can to stop it," he declared.

Wellington's program of trapping and destroying stray dogs and skunks will be continued through the summer, said City Manager Glen Taylor. In addition deputies in the office of Sheriff John Rainey are shooting strays.

He urged anyone sighting a skunk within the city limits to notify his office and a trap will be set out.

Taylor said no count is kept of the number of skunks that have been trapped and killed, but he estimated it to be from 10 to 15 inside the city. Two were caught last week. Taylor said he believes the trapping program the city is carrying out is the best plan for it.

year. I don't believe they've been this bad since I can remember--the last 25 years.

He said Van Zant has warned ranchers in the area to be sprayed, that all motor vehicles should be put under cover for the spraying period, as paint on vehicles by one of the major auto makers reportedly can be damaged.

For several weeks, residents in areas scattered over the county have complained of the young grasshoppers damaging young gardens and flowers.

In the Abra area, Leon Myers has already put out poison bait on turnrows of cotton fields.

Ranchers in the south and southwest part of the county are in a spraying program worked out with Childress County earlier.

Approximately 20,000 acres is in Collingsworth with Childress making up the remainder of the 100,000 plot.

Total cost per acre for the grasshopper control program has been estimated at approximately $1.80 per acre, with the rancher's part amounting to about 60 cents.

Ronny McNutt, extension agent, spearheads the program with Bill Bradley as committee chairman. Mike Kirkland is the committee member for the Loca-Arle community.

Another proposed block of ranches in the north part of the county with those in south Wheeler county could not be worked out, according to Reeves.

The extension agent warned Collingsworth farmers to watch their cotton real close and either spray or put out poison bait on their turnrows when the hoppers begin to move into the fields.

Range land will be sprayed with low volume tech strength malathion at the rate of 8 ounces per acre. Because the aerial spraying will cover livestock, farm ponds, and everything else, malathion is the only approved poison to be used.

"Ranchers got a pretty good kill on the north plains last year, but we have been told the kill won't be as good below the caprock, due to mesquite, tall weeds, etc.," Reeves said.

This year's grasshopper infestation covers all of West Texas, eastern New Mexico, Western Oklahoma, and into Kansas.

The first movie that actually told a story was "The Great Train Robbery," made in 1903.

Deputy Plays, Sings For Satellite Center

"Let the Good Times Roll." The Wellington Satellite Training and Work Center was the scene of just this feeling when the county's newest deputy sheriff, Terry Floyd, did an hour and a half sit down concert for the clients, staff and guests.
Floyd recently moved here from Booker and brought along not only his belongings but a guitar and talent for singing almost any country-western song.

With a quick grin and slow, comfortable manner, he gained and held the attention of his audience.
Floyd sang a wide range of songs made famous by Bob Wills, Meryl Haggard, Charley Pride, Willie Nelson, John Connally, Gene Watson, Hank

Williams, Ray Stevens and Waylon Jennings.
Then smoothly, and talking gently, he moved through "She's in Love with a Rodeo Man" with the sounds a professional produces.
This was Floyd's first off-work day since joining the Sheriff's staff.

THOMAS NURSING CENTER NEWS

By Irene Brinkley

Reunions are very popular this season of the year.

The Farris reunion group met in the home of Mrs. Maggie Webb Saturday, June 23. Relatives and friends attending were Mrs. Irene Tudor, Mrs. Ima White, Mr. and Mrs. Julian Farris, Mr. and Mrs. Olan Farris, Diane Connell, Frances Persons, Lula.

All of the Farris brothers and sisters were together with the exception of Curtis Farris, who lives at Denver. His wife is very ill.

On Saturday night, the Farris family went to K-Bobs in Childress to celebrate the birthdays of Julian Farris and Olan Farris. They first met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Swift to present gifts to the guest of honor.

Those attending the birthday celebration were Mr. and Mrs. Julian Farris of Leonard, Mrs. Irene Tudor of Waco, Mrs. Ima White of Pueblo, Colorado; Diane Connell of Bowie, Stacey Hunt of Arlington, Mrs. Maggie Webb, Mr. and Mrs. Olan Farris, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Crowner, Mr. and Mrs. Bundy Moore and Mr. and Mrs. Ross Swift, all of Dodson.

On Sunday, the Farris family attended First United Methodist Church in Wellington. Afterward, they ate at the Dodson Cafe.

Mrs. Otho Talley and Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Sain attended Mrs. Talley's family reunion last weekend at Lugert.

Mrs. Lynvel Black and Leslie went to Idabell, Oklahoma last weekend to attend a family reunion.

I know that many of you will want to go to the J. W. Orr, Peter King and Tom Jones reunion to begin at 9:00 a.m. Wednesday, July 4, in Bura Handley Center in Wellington. Everyone is to bring lunch for the noon meal.

Leslie Black spent a few days with her aunt, Mrs. Jean Poage in Wichita Falls.

Stacey Hunt spent a few days with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hunt recently. Mrs. Hunt took him to a baseball camp in Oklahoma Sunday.

Services Held Tuesday for Orvell Wells

Graveside services for P. Orvell Wells, 73, of Dallas were conducted at Memorial Gardens Tuesday, June 26 at 11:00 a.m. Officiating was Garell Forehand, minister of the Church of Christ.

Mr. Wells died at Dallas Friday, June 22, after an illness of about a month.

Funeral services at Dallas were at Restland Wildwood chapel. Arrangements here were under the direction of Kelso Funeral Home.

He was a retired auditor for the Internal Revenue Service.

Born in Wellington December 9, 1905, he was the son of Mrs. Percy Wells, now of Scurry, and the late Mr. Wells. He was a member of two of the county's pioneer families, the Wells, who came here at the turn of the century, and the Gribbles, who came in 1888.

Orvell Wells graduated from Wellington High School and attended Clarendon College and the University of Texas.

He joined the Internal Revenue Service about 1937 and lived in Washington D.C. until the late 1940's, when he transferred to Dallas. He retired in 1976.

Wells first married to Lucile Traweek of Matador, who died in August 1969. He was then married to Mrs. Corrie McAfee of Dallas in May 1970.

Survivors include his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Carolyn Turkovich of Tacoma, Washington and Mrs. Susan Mary Steel of Austin; his mother, Mrs. Percy Wells of Scurry and one sister, Mrs. Leta Fern Wampler of Scurry; and four grandchildren.

We want to welcome our new resident, Mrs. Nona Nelson. She is in room 11 on B wing.

Our game winner this week was Mrs. Ura Scott.

We always look forward to our Tuesday afternoon Sing Along with Mrs. Dorothy Davis and Mrs. Ola Parker.

Wednesday afternoon we all enjoyed Mrs. Exa Cudd and Mrs. Shirley Henard from First United Methodist conducting our singing for us.

Wednesday evening our residents especially enjoyed the Church of Christ children singing.

Friday evening The Lighthouse Quartet was much enjoyed by every one.

Sunday morning Bible study was brought to us by Minister Garell Forehand from the Church of Christ.

Sunday evening Bible study was brought by members of the Church of The Living Word.

Proper Sewing Machine Care

COLLEGE STATION--Proper sewing machine care results in better daily performance and increased machine life.

So, check the needle, clean the machine and keep it oiled, advises Becky Culp, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service

NEEDLE
Correct needle, needle insertion and threading are essential to proper sewing machine operation.

Most sewing machine repair businesses report that inserting needle backwards or improperly is the reason for more service calls than any other single factor, the specialist points out.

Black Spots Mean Sulfur

COLLEGE STATION--Black spots on the inside of cans mean sulfur is present, but the food is still safe, Mary K. Sweeten reports.

Certain foods do liberate sulfur, and that causes brown, black or blue spots on cans. Tomato sauce is one example.

However, this condition is not harmful to the contents of the can, she says.

Mrs. Sweeten is a foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Personal

Bride's Grandfather Officiates As Cindy Shoff, Randell Pricer Wed

Cindy Marsa Shoff of Arlington and Randell Dean Pricer of Dallas were married Saturday, the sixteenth of June, in Parkview Baptist Church. The officiant was the bride's grandfather, the Reverend George A. Shoff of Mansfield, who performed the ceremony at seven in the evening.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Shoff of Arlington. She is also the granddaughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Shoff of Mansfield formerly of Wellington and Mr. and Mrs. L.L. (Doc) Collins of Arlington, formerly of Dodson.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Luke Pricer of Abilene.

Wedding music was presented by the bride's aunt, Mrs. John Shurley of Mansfield, organist, and Delbret Vest of Dallas, vocal soloist.

Mr. Shoff gave his daughter in marriage.

She wore a bridal gown of candlelight sheer nylon, with an empire waist and lace bodice sprinkled with seed pearls. The long sleeves were trimmed with lace at the wrist, and a matching band of lace edged the skirt which swept to a chapel train. Her fingertip veil was attached to a lace cap trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses atop a white Bible.

Her Honor attendant was her sister, Meldina Shoff, who wore a blue dress with empire waist and lace trim. Long sleeves were edged in lace and her blue picture hat was banded with a blue ribbon. She carried blue spider chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaids were Eileen Fennerty of Plano, Mrs. Gary Fennerty of Lubbock and Alisa Young of Arlington. Their pale yellow dresses were designed with empire waists and high lace-trimmed necklines. Their picture hats with ribbon trim were in matching colors, and their bouquets were of yellow daisies.

Gayland Pricer of Abilene was his brother's best man, and groomsmen were Gary Fennerty of Lubbock, Chell Brooks of Plano and Robert Shoff of Arlington, brother of the bride.

Ushers were Daniel Fennerty of Plano, and Steven Shoff of Arlington, also a brother of the bride.

The flower girl was Cheslie Callahan of Granbury while the ring bearer was Brian Shurley of Mansfield.

Mrs. Steven Shoff of Arlington presided at the bride's book.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Shoff entertained with a reception in the church fellowship hall.

The bride's table was covered with white lace and skirted with white organza, draped with yellow satin ribbon. An arrangement of blue carnations, yellow daisies and white candles formed the centerpiece. Guests were served by Tammy Shelinbarger of Arlington, Lynn Fennerty of Plano and Mrs. Billy Coffman of Dallas.

Since returning from a wedding trip to San Antonio, the couple is living in Dallas.

The bride is a graduate of Sam Houston High School and attended the University of Texas at Arlington two years.

The bridegroom graduated from Abilene High School and attended Texas State Technical Institute at Waco. He is presently employed by Safeway in Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. Pricer, the bridegroom's parents, hosted the rehearsal dinner at the Holiday Inn in Arlington.

Fight Sneaky Calories Set Weight-Control

Fight "sneaky" calories. Set a weight control climate, says a foods and nutrition specialist.

Unwanted calories "sneak" into the diets of many overweight people who add them without even realizing they're doing so, explains Frances Reasonover with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Overweight people are very sensitive to the sight, taste, smell and thought of food—especially when it's clearly in sight and readily available.

In addition, they eat almost as much food when they're thinking about something else as when they're thinking about food.

For example, they don't realize how much they are eating when their attention is on television or something they are reading.

For example, some overweight people eat less when they have to prepare their own food—but others have a habit of tasting while preparing foods.

In order to set a climate for weight control, one battle plan is: know when we eat food without realizing it and then re-order eating habits to avoid "sneaky" calories, Miss Reasonover says.

Below are her suggestion for changing eating habits.

1(Put snack foods crackers, cookies, cakes, soft drinks, candy on a high shelf or in a hard-to-reach place—or avoid buying them at all.

Buy raw fruits and other low-calorie, high-nutrition items for snacks.

2(In eating snacks, take only one small serving from the package. Put the package back and repeat this each time you decide to snack. Have family members without weight problems keep their snack foods out of your sight.

3(During meals, don't leave serving dishes or pans on the table. Serve your plate and put all food away so you don't have to look at it.

Freedom Of The Press

ABC television newsman Bill Stewart was shot to death last week in Nicaragua while reporting on civil war in that country.

Bill Stewart was in no way connected with the U.S. government, but he was a representative of the people and the ideals of this country.

Those ideals find their highest form of expression in the Constitution's Bill of Rights. And as we approach the celebration of the Fourth of July, we'd like to talk about the first amendment to the Constitution—the one that guarantees us all freedom of speech and freedom of the press.

Freedom of speech and freedom of the press are truly American ideas. At the time the Bill of Rights was written, no other nation on earth enjoyed those absolute privileges. They were such good ideas that in the intervening 190 years many nations have copied them.

But there are still many other nations which do not enjoy those privileges and Nicaragua is one of them today.

The Nicaraguan dictatorship is not much different from others around the world who rule without the consent of the governed. To those kinds of governments, freedom of speech and freedom of the press are very real threats. The ability of the people to speak to each other is the beginning of self-rule, and therefore those who rule by force shackle that power in every possible way.

As we celebrate the Fourth of July and the freedoms we enjoy, it is good to remember that the privileges we take for granted are very dear in some other nations of the world.

—Henry Wells

Other Editors Say . . .

Believing In Absolutes

I grew up in Glasgow, Ky. I grew up in a world of absolutes. God was an absolute, Alben Barkley was an absolute, the Louisville Courier-Journal and Times were certainly absolutes, and being a totally immersed Baptist seemed an unquestionable part of life even before Jimmy Carter was governor of Georgia.

It may be that growing up in a world of absolutes left me in some shock later when the First Amendment of the Constitution, which I considered to have been engraved in stone like the 10 Commandments, was thought to be a matter of debate.

At the risk of speeding his logical observation toward the route of becoming a cliché, I agree with Justice Black that the First Amendment means what it says. So do all the others, but this is the only one I know that has been assailed because of the increasing importance and reach of the profession it was intended to protect.

I believe the First Amendment is an absolute commitment by the government to the people, and I think many things that have happened since it was adopted — Dec. 15, 1791 — represent a slow but accelerating walking away from that commitment.

My distinguished colleague John Oakes of the New York Times has said that the late Justice Black was considered to be the "most absolutist" of all justices of the Supreme Court on freedom of the press issues. Without even submitting the description to my semantic friend Ed Newman, I contend that there are no degrees of being absolute.

In spite of the clarity of the words of the First Amendment, a succession of forays against it by those who disbelieve it, disavow it — dislike it when it does not meet their needs — has been successful.

There is no need for me to recount what losses have been sustained by those of us who believe the First Amendment is an absolute. The collapse of the shield laws as effective protection; the growing popularity of prior restraint; the gag orders and out-take demands; the Stanford case that allows rummaging through our newsrooms and the Herbert case that allows rummaging through our minds.

Aside from the shocking, contraceptive effect of decisions like that of the Supreme Court in the Herbert case, there is another element that gives me great concern. That is the philosophy which lies behind the decisions affecting the First Amendment.

Certainly this country has been slowly turning to the right over the past 15 or 20 years. Exactly when it began will have to await a much later judgment of historians. "Turning to the right" is simplistic shorthand, but in the context of what we are talking about it means, to me, the whittling away of the guarantees of the First Amendment to fit some particular mold of thought.

Exactly when that turn to the right began is hard to pinpoint; but I know when I first became strongly aware of it. That was during the Republican convention of 1964 in San Francisco, when Former President Eisenhower, in the role of the party's elder statesman, made a reference to the media that drew a response so vehement it startled even him. That night, as David Brinkley and Chet Huntley awaited for the always crowded elevators of the Mark Hopkins Hotel, delegates shook fists at them — for no reason, as far as we could tell, except that Gen. Eisenhower's comments had ignited a feeling deep in the heart of conservative America that was played upon later by many others.

That feeling has culminated in the pyramiding decisions that grind away at the basic protections of the First Amendment.

What to do about it? Go back to the solid American belief in freedom of the press, without trying to change that absolute to conform to changing political beliefs and needs. Suffer the spasmodic errors and occasional admitted arrogance of those who carry press cards in exchange for the safeguards that only a free press can guarantee.

Remember that politicians have seized power over government in many countries: the press never has. Reflect upon how close we have come in this country to having government decide what we see, hear and read, and how a free press and strong judiciary saved us from that, with the aid of a conscientious Congress.

And remember that freedom lost is never regained. And that we cannot afford to dilute that first freedom — the freedom of the press — as an absolute.

—From a lecture by Julian Goodman, former chairman of the board, National Broadcasting Company.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Energy dominated all issues this week at the State Capitol: how to ration it, how to conserve it, and how to find new sources. Faced with short gasoline supplies and long lines at service stations in the Houston and Dallas areas, Governor Bill Clements mandated last Tuesday that stations must restrict sales through purchase limits and a California-style odd-even license plate number plan. The plan (for Harris, Dallas and Tarrant counties only) restricts gasoline sales to a minimum of $6 and a maximum of 20 gallons, and allows fill-ups for odd-numbered plates on odd-numbered calendar days, and even for even, etc. Hours after his announcement, Clements' legal advisors remained uncertain on how much authority the governor's office has—if any—to enforce the mandate.

More fuel-related troubles appeared on another horizon when Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown told Clements Thursday that a truckers' boycott and sporadic violence around the country threatened Texas' $40 million watermelon and vegetable crop. Brown told Clements his office was swamped with telephone calls from Texas producers in need of trucks to haul their produce to markets. The truckers' boycott, a protest of rapidly escalating diesel prices, aims "to empty food shelves in supermarkets around the country" and is slowly bringing Texas agriculture to a "grinding halt."

a Brown aide said.

Harry Hubbard, president of the Texas AFL-CIO, said he thought refinery workers and truckers who transport gasoline should not have to wait in line for fuel. "Making Texans stand in line for gas is like making Kansans stand in line for wheat," he said.

Clements came under fire in Austin from conservative State Rep. Dan Kubiak who called him "irresponsible" for vetoing budgeted funds for several alternative energy projects. Kubiak, who successfully sponsored a bill allowing gasohol production in Texas, criticized Clements for ham-stringing gasohol days before mandating his and other energies only three gas rationing plan.

Fuller Shannon Dies Recently

Fuller Shannon, 54 year-old Knox City bank president, died Monday, June 11, after an illness of about three months.

He was a nephew of Mrs. E.F. Bartlett, Mrs. Bryan Denley and Mrs. J.A. Graham and had visited here frequently through out his life.

Funeral services were conducted at Knox City.

Born at Munday, he graduated from high school there and received his degree from Texas A&M University.

Survivors are his wife, Mary Frances; a son, Pat Shannon of Austin; one grandson; his mother, Mrs. Joe Shannon of Munday; two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Hargis of Leslie, Ark., and Margaret Shannon of Junction; and one brother, Howard Shannon of Blacksburg, Va.

Attending the funeral service from Wellington were Mr. and Mrs. Earl L. Bartlett, Don Bartlett, Mrs. E.F. Bartlett, Mrs. Denley, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Settle, and Mrs. J.A. Graham.

Food Key to Wildlife

WHEELER--Anything the landowner can do this month to provide adequate food and cover for wildlife could determine their chances of survival next winter.

"Individuals wanting to increase or sustain wildlife species should think about next winter now and complete those operations such as discing, planting and livestock control," said Richard Dearment, P&WD extension biologist.

"Last winter was very hard on wildlife species such as quail and those persons who provided adequate habitat last summer retained more birds when the ice and snow storms hit in January and February," Dearment continued.

Such operations as discing will cause weeds to grow. These weeds will not only furnish cover but food later in the year. If these weed patches are exposed to livestock grazing, the good wildlife weeds will be eaten as cattle as well as wildlife prefer them.

The wildlife specialist recommends that those weed plots be fenced to protect the wild food for wildlife. These areas could include playa lakes, shelterbelts, or brush.

Planting grains such as maize, corn, wheat, sunflowers, or other crops in areas near established wildlife cover will also provide food next winter.

Restraints on general insecticide and herbicide spraying near wildlife habitat should be considered since most game birds eat tons of grasshoppers and other insects injurious to area farm crops.

Additional assistance on where and what to plant for wildlife on your property is available by writing Richard Dearment, P&WD, Box 122, Wheeler, TX. 79096.

WHY JARS DON'T SEAL

Sealing failures in home canning can result from some common mistakes. Avoid making mistakes in home canning by following these suggestions:

- 1) Read and follow package instructions for using caps and lids. Don't take it for granted that all home canning caps are alike and are used exactly the same way.
- 2) Leave correct amount of head space when filling jars.
- 3) Take time to "knife out" air bubbles before sealing the jar.
- 4) Remove particles of food, seeds or seasonings from jar tops or threads with damp cloth before putting on lid. Particles left on jar lid rim can cause lid to seal, then loosen.
- 5) Screwing band too tight can cause lid to buckle. A band must be tight enough to hold the rubber sealing compound closely against the jar top. However, if the band is forced as far as it can be turned with a strong hand, the jar cannot vent. When the jar cannot vent, pressure within the jar causes the lid to buckle. Therefore, tighten bands only comfortably tight to prevent buckled lids.
- 6) Screw bands tight enough.
- 7) Heat sufficiently to seal the lid. Follow recommended processing time and method.
- 8) Exhaust (vent) steam-pressure canner for a full 10 minutes, or until a stream of "blue steam" is visible, before closing petcock. If the steam is not exhausted, there is an uneven amount of steam pressure in the canner. As a result, some lids may seal while others in the same canner load may not.
- 9) Don't let pressure in canner fluctuate. This can cause food to be forced between jar and lid which will cause sealing failure. The same thing may happen is steam is released too quickly after processing. Let pressure in canner reach zero degrees naturally before removing cover. Do not run cold water over canner to reduce pressure.

- 10) Don't reuse jars in which commercial foods are sold. These jars are designed for use on high speed packing machines and with caps developed especially for that produce, but not for home canning.
- 11) Don't use warped, rusty, worn bands, or old commercial caps.
- 12) Don't reuse lids. The lid of a two-piece metal cap should not be used more than once. This applies to all brands. The compound is not guaranteed to seal a second time and the lid itself is often bent or warped when removed the first time.
- 13) Don't use old jar lids. If jar lids are old, the sealing compound may harden and not soften sufficiently to obtain a good seal. As long as the sealing compound is resilient when mashed with the fingernail, the lid will probably seal. It is preferable to use jar lids the same year as purchased. When kept longer, they often stick together and must be heated in boiling water to separate them. If jars do not seal, you may reheat and process over again. However the product will be over-cooked and lose food value, flavor and texture. You may keep a few jars in the refrigerator and use within a short time instead of reprocessing.

Classes of 1945-46 Slate Joint Reunion on July 27

Wellington High School classes of 1945 and 1946 will meet together for their observance of Wellington school reunion this year. Bethine Adkins Wolf (Mrs. John) corresponding secretary for the Class of 1946, announced plans for a two-day program this week. This is in conjunction with the annual Ex-Students Reunion. Friday night, July 27, a weiner roast hosted by Willie Faye Talbot Henard will be held at her ranch north of Wellington. The group will go to the Henard boat house at 7 p.m. This area is remembered by both classes as a favorite location for such events held thirty-plus years ago. Saturday the group will have the Heritage Room of the Wellington State Bank from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. as their "Come and go" headquarters. Luncheon will be served at noon. Scrapbooks, senior pictures, clippings, annuals, and other memorabilia will be there for the enjoyment of those attending.

This will be the first special event ever held here for the Class of 1945, and addresses for several of the class members are needed: Norval Grant, John Duncan, Blonde Payne, Peggy Ream, Ruby Clark, Virginia Cooper, Helen Langford, Doris Lamkin, and Iva Joyce Lamkin. If anyone can help with these addresses, please call either Louise Rummel Cox (Mrs. Fred; at 447-2307 or Yvonne Shields Brewer at 447-5442.

One address is needed for the Class of 1946, Ruth Jesse. If you can help with this one, call Marshal Peters at 447-2490.

"Our class extended an invitation to the Class of 1945 at our meeting last year, and we are so pleased they accepted. We are looking forward to at least 50 in attendance from the combined classes," Mrs. Wolf said. Class of 1945 members still living here and helping with the event include Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Brewer, Doris White,

Change Site Of Ex-Students Reunion Dinner

A change has been made in the location of the dinner to be held at the Wellington Ex-Students reunion Saturday, July 28.

The new site is Bura Handley Community Center, according to Patsy Harper Mitchell, president.

The time will be 6:30 p.m. The change of plans for the dinner will also eliminate the tour of the new elementary building, Mrs. Mitchell said.

Rodeo Advertising Goes Out This Week

Advertising goes out over the tri-state area this week end on Wellington's big two-day rodeo, Friday and Saturday nights, July 27 and 28.

Sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, it will be held at the same time as the Wellington Ex-Students reunion, but the two will be separate, emphasized Margaret Vines, C-C secretary.

Producing the 1979 rodeo will be Lloyd Barby of Beaver, Oklahoma, popular with fans and rodeo performers alike in this part of the southwest. Bill Lowe is furnishing the calves for heading and heeling.

The rodeo will be held in the VFW arena both Friday and Saturday nights, beginning at 8:00 p.m.

Wellington Rodeo handbills are being distributed at all rodeos held in this area between now and the dates of the big event, Ms. Vines said.

Kelley Cook, professional rodeo clown, will personally deliver those to the Clarendon July 4 rodeo. Mary Ann Lowe will take handbills to the District 14-H Club horse show this week, and Barby will distribute them at Clayton and other northeastern New Wellington Alumni dance Saturday night. These are two

There will be dances both separate dances, but there will be western bands for both, day, July 27, and the said Mrs. Vines.

Rites Saturday For Mr., Mrs. E.J. Smith

Joint funeral services for a former Dodson banker and civic leader and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. E.J. Smith, were held at First United Methodist Church in Hollis Saturday, June 23, at 2:00 p.m.

Officiating were his son-in-law, the Rev. Gary Hamburger of Sacramento, Calif., and his brother-in-law, Dr. Tilden Armstrong of Paducah. Both are Methodist clergymen.

Burial was in Fairmount Cemetery in Hollis under the direction of Patterson-Coley Funeral Home.

Pall bearers for the two were Raymond Patton, Bo Guest, Bill Cummins, Jerry Robinson, Tommy Robinson, Blair McGee, Cy Moore, Frank Burns, Frank Morrow, Car Robinson, Wayne Jones and Grady Byrd.

Mr. Smith, 82, died June 20, at a convalescent center in Sacramento, Calif., after an illness of several months. He had gone there to be near his daughter.

Mrs. Smith, 84, died June 22, in a Hollis nursing home where she had been a resident several years.

A member of a pioneer Arlie family, she was the former Winnie Alexander, and was born in October 1894.

She was first married to the late Hughey Holler and they operated an insurance and abstract business in Hollis for a number of years.

Mr. Smith was born at Granite, Okla., May 25, 1897. He came to Dodson as a young man to work in the First State Bank, later becoming president.

He was a leader in the affairs concerning Dodson's growth in development of agriculture in the area.

About 1948 he moved to Hollis to become president of the First State Bank and Trust Co., and in 1953 he became president of the bank at O'Donnell.

He retired from banking about 1955, and later returned to Hollis, where he was manager of the Hollis Chamber of Commerce and afterwards a bookkeeping service in Hollis.

His first wife, Mrs. Lorene Smith, died about 1948, and several years after he and Mrs. Holler were married.

A veteran of the U.S. Navy during World War I, he was active in veterans affairs and was a member of the United Methodist Church.

He is survived by his daughter, Mrs. Gary (Susan) Hamburger of Sacramento; one sister Mrs. Tilden (Pearl) Armstrong of Paducah, and two grandchildren.

Childress Sets Celebration

Childress County Old Settlers Association will hold its annual reunion, barbecue, dance and fiddlers contest July 19 through 21, according to Hazel O'Donnell, Chamber of Commerce secretary.

Reunion registration will be from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Thursday, in city auditorium, with the memorial service at 2:00 p.m., business meeting at 3:00 and parade at 4:00. The barbecue will follow at Rotary Bowl.

Rodeo performances will be at 8:30 p.m. and the dance at 10:00 on each of the three nights.

The old timers program is scheduled for Saturday at 10:00 a.m. with the old fiddlers contest at 1:30 p.m. in city auditorium.

Mrs. Glen Steiner, chairman said money prizes will go to first through 10th places. Additional information may be had by contacting her.

Rodeo events each night will include saddle bronc riding, bareback riding, calf roping, girls' barrel race, heading and heeling, and bull riding, with a kids' calf scramble for youngsters 10 years and under. There will be a rodeo queen contest.

Surviving Mrs. Smith are two daughter, Mrs. Lillian Trammel of Hollis and Mrs. Marian Dennis of Oklahoma City; one sister, Mrs. Abbie Hollis of Mangum; and a brother, Clyde Alexander of Dodson; 5 grandchildren; 9 great grandchildren and one great great grandchild.

It was once believed bad luck to transplant parsley.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere appreciation and thanks for the many kindnesses and love shown us and our loved one during her lengthy illness and passing. Your beautiful floral and memorial offerings, to those who prepared and served food, cards, and calls of sympathy and prayers and all expressions of love will always be cherished by us.

May God bless each of you.
Fleet Pruden and family

With grateful hearts we thank our friends and neighbors for the consolation of your deeds and words at the death of our loved one, Loy Boen.

Each act of kindness, expression of sympathy and prayer has brought us comfort in our grief.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Boen and family

Some Alaskan Surprises Have Roots Down Home

When Ike Waits ran for a place on the city council of Soldotna, Alaska in October 1978, he conducted the first door-to-door campaign that town (about the size of Wellington) had experienced. But nothing prepared him for one incident.

He knocked on a door, introduced himself to the woman who answered, and began to tell why she should support his candidacy. Halfway through she interrupted: "Did you used to live in Wellington, Texas?" she asked.

"Actually it was Quail," he managed to tell her. "I used to live there, too," she replied.

"The woman, whose name

Grace Timmons Dies June 20

A former county woman, Mrs. Grace Timmons, 51, of Matador, died Wednesday, June 20, in a Paducah hospital.

The former Grace Aaron, she had headed the English department of Motley County High School since 1958 and had served as a speaker and in other capacities in teacher workshops over the Panhandle and South Plains.

Although she had been ill a number of months, she continued to teach until near the end of this school year.

Mrs. Timmons was born in the Gonzales area, daughter of Mrs. John Aaron of Matador and the late Mr. Aaron. She came with the family to the Aberdeen community. She was graduated from Quail High School and married Reese Timmons in Wellington. She had lived in Motley County since then.

Mrs. Timmons received her B.S. and M.S. Degrees in English from West Texas State University and taught in Canyon, Amarillo, Carey and Northfield Schools before joining the Matador faculty in 1958. She was a member of the Assembly of God Church.

Funeral services were conducted at 2:30 p.m. Friday in the Motley County School auditorium in Matador. Burial was in East Mounds Cemetery.

Survivors are her husband; two sons, Aaron of Canyon and Brian of Matador; a daughter, Mrs. Ann Rash of Austin; her mother, Mrs. Agnes Aaron of Matador; a brother, John Aaron of Houston; 6 sisters, Mrs. Ruth Norman of Dodson, Mrs. Elouise Jennings of Highmore, S.D., Mrs. Cleo McQueary of Amarillo, Mrs. Johnnie Turner of Denver, Colo., Mrs. Ann Holman of Liberal, Kansas, and Mrs. Lyda Busse of Loring, Maine, and a grandson.

he promises to get, explained that in the mid-1920s, she and her husband operated a cafe in Wellington and later moved to California.

Now a widow, she was preparing to move to Soldotna last year to be near one of her children. She received a copy of The Wellington Leader and in its Leader Readers column, she learned that Ike Waits of Soldotna had renewed his subscription. She remembered the name, and here was this neatly-bearded young man asking for her vote.

What are some of the major problems of a city council in this Alaskan town, about the size of Wellington?

"The stickiest problem is dog control," Waits replies. He was nipped by a dog during his door-to-door campaign.

Soldotna had a dog control ordinance but it was so severe it was never enforced.

Early in his term, a more lenient control measure was introduced and that brought a packed house at the council's next meeting. Eventually, an enforceable ordinance was passed.

This week Waits and his mother, Mary Lee Bishop Waits of Scottsdale, Arizona, are here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Bishop of Quail.

In his profession as borough (county) planner, Waits works in a 25,000 mile area involving several communities. His concern is with such things as zoning, subdivisions, acquiring industry or businesses, and the more difficult job of securing financing for them. Locating and building harbors where they are needed is a major project.

"Since this is a rather rural area, with forests and marshlands, I study the best places to locate main roads in the future. Then if a developer comes in to locate a subdivision before he does any work we tell him 'this is where the roads will be'."

Soldotna is located on the Kenai peninsula, not far from Anchorage and was the location of the first oil discoveries in Alaska. Many workers on the Alaska pipeline from the Purdhoie Bay area made their homes here, going north to work for one week out of each three. Most of these have gone home, and the economy has levelled off. Certain industries related to the oil industry remain.

A southern drawl is heard frequently on the streets of Soldotna, says Waits, for many of the men who built the pipeline came from Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana--men with expertise in this type of construction.

Fishing is the booming industry right now.

"Fishermen for the King Salmon can sell their catch for $1.50 to $2.00 per pound wholesale," says Waits. "The season is from the second week of June until the end of August or earlier. A salmon fisherman can make upward toward $100,000 during a single season," according to Waits. The men spend the winters in the south.

Waits has been at Soldotna three years and prior to that was in similar work for the state.

Jake's Cycle Shop Sets Grand Opening

Jake's Cycle Shop has moved from its downtown location to a new building at 1001 Houston Street (Highway 83) and the grand opening will be held Saturday, June 30, according to the owners, Jake and Jane Maxwell.

Hours of this special event will be 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

The building, of structural metal construction, also features a large plate glass area at center front to display motorcycles and their accessories.

He received his bachelor's degree from Washington University in St. Louis and his masters in planning from the University of Arizona.

When he flies back to Alaska around July 10, Waits won't be surprised if he sees someone from this area.

On the flight down, he sat with a man he had seen at Soldotna but never visited with, and who asked where Waits was going.

"The Amarillo area." A grin spread over the man's face.

"Where in the Amarillo area?" he asked.

"You wouldn't have heard of it. I'm going to Quail," replied Waits.

"I know where Quail is. I'm from McLean," the new friend said.

Yarnell to Throckmorton Coaching Job

Wellington junior high school coach Jim Yarnell said this week he had accepted a position as offensive assistant varsity football coach and head basketball coach at Throckmorton, Texas for the '79-'80 school year.

Yarnell will join Wellington track coach Phil Bailey who accepted the head football coaching job at Throckmorton earlier this month.

This past year was Yarnell's first year to coach in high school after graduating from Angelo State University. At Angelo he was a graduate assistant for two years, working with football receivers.

At Wellington, Yarnell coached 8th grade football, basketball and track, junior varsity basketball, assisted with junior varsity football, and scouted for the varsity football team.

"I really enjoyed working with the kids here--they were a

CHAMPIONS

Marvin Moore accepted the championship trophy for Western International of Amarillo, winners of the Wellington Invitational Softball Tournament Sunday night, June 24. His son was not part of the action on the diamond but was on hand to help hold up the trophy. Second place went to Comac of Borger and Martin Seed of Wellington was third.

The unspoken tribute.

"What do you say when a big part of your life suddenly goes away? First I sent flowers to the funeral. That was a matter of respect.

"But then when I thought about it awhile, I sent flowers to Jim's wife and the kids. That was a matter of caring."

There are times when the traditional may not be enough to express your feelings as well as you'd like them expressed.

We can help. We've been helping people in these matters for many many years.
