FRISCO-ROCK ISLAND LINES TO BE RE-ARGUED

Moody-Ferguson Clash Enlivens Democratic Executive Committee Session

Home Town Talk

By B. D. D.

This is the season for music recitals and programs. For several weeks now there has been a recital of some kind almost nightly in Wichita Falls. For the most part our music instruction is given by individual teachers or in small studios and if there are graduation exercises the students themselves furnish the programs which is all the more pleasing to those who attend. This is said with no intention of minimizing the work of our music teachers, many of whom are musicians and teachers of unusual ability. They are performing a work which most of us can hardly appreciate and would say all honor to them. And we would give a word of praise too to those who are studying music and an effort to perfect themselves in the expression of those things within them which can best be expressed through the medium of music.

The other night down at Houston M. E. Foster, editor of the Houston Press, was called upon to address the graduates of a music conservatory. What he said will fill this column this morning with more thought than anything this Talker could write so let us listen for a few minutes to Mr. Foster:

"A few weeks ago I addressed a gathering of budding journalists, young men and women who were taking journalistic courses in Texas colleges and who wanted me, as one who had served long, to tell them how they could enter the profession and succeed in the work. I gave them a very simple prescription.

"Start as a reporter. To be a success as a reporter you need only three things: You must be able to think, to feel and then write. The greatest of all is the ability to feel the subject; to put your whole heart and soul into whatever you write. The idea that a reporter must be callous or hard-boiled is the greatest fallacy ever uttered. Unless you can become angry when you write of some injustice; unless you can laugh to yourself when you write some humorous tale, and unless you drop a tear sometime when you write of the poverty you have seen or the tragedy you have viewed, stay out of the profession. Whenever you write mechanically, thinking only of the words you must use to make an impression, you might as well be an automaton or a robot—a thing of wires and steel, performing at the will of someone else.'

"That same thought applies to you young men and women who are graduating from this great conservatory. You have been taught how to strike the keys of the piano; how to draw the bow across the violin strings, or how to use that greatest gift of all, those sweet notes that are in the throats of some few of you who are so blessed. You who pour forth sweet sounds to gladden the world.

"When you sit before the piano forget all the world on the outside; get yourself in harmony with the theme that you are to bring forth. Make the instrument cry, moan or sigh at your will, or make your notes soar to the sky in thunderous joy. Feel what you are doing. Forget the black and white keys; forget those in the audience. Go to the woods if it is something sylvan you are portraying; be a part of the forest; hear the birds singing; the rustle of the leaves in the treetops; the trinkle of water as it falls over rocks in some mossy retreat. If there is a sad refrain, be sad yourself; feel like crying and cry if it will make you play any better. It will do you no harm and it will do us good.

"Your music will always bring out the best in us, if it isn't mechanical. You can make us want to march to war, or you can make us try to soar with the angels on high. You can make us laugh or you can make us cry. You can make us ready for a fight, or you can make us long for peace and tranquility.

"And, oh, what power have you who have mastered the violin strings, probably the most difficult of all art in music's realm. What plaintive notes you can bring forth, or notes of many a joyous strain. You can make us see life as beautiful and inspiring or you can make us see its woes or see the souls of those in pain. Feel it yourself if you want us to feel. Be a part of your violin. Transport yourself and we will go with you wherever you lead.

"And to you who need no bow to draw over strings, no flute or trumpet to blow nor keys to touch. You are endowed by nature with songs in your throats. What a God-given power you have—the oldest, the first music of mankind. You are the birds of man's world; you are the angels of this earth. Watch carefully your power to thrill, to enthuse. Put tears into your notes as they come forth and let a tear stand in your eyes as you do so. Put laughter in our hearts and laugh at and with us as you hold high your head and sing to us.

"Feel, FEEL, what you are doing. "If you can't feel, if you can't cry, if you can't get aroused, get out of the profession. You don't belong. Make room for someone who really loves music and who wants to make others know, feel and love it.

"Take your talents out into the highways and byways. Make us better men and women by giving us more and better music."

JIM DARES DAN TO MAKE RACE FOR GOVERNOR

Moody Accuses Old Enemy of Running Under 'Ma's' Petticoat

LOVE WOULD BOLT

Dallas Politician Serves Notice He Won't Vote For R. L. Henry

AUSTIN, June 9. (AP)—With Sen. Thomas B. Love of Dallas asserting that he would not support Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson of Austin or Frank Putnam of Houston, candidates for governor, or R. L. Henry of Houston, candidate for United States senator, were they the nominees of the party primary and former Gov. James E. Ferguson "daring" Governor Moody to run while Governor Moody was on his feet requesting that his name not be certified as a candidate for a third term, the state Democratic executive committee today developed into one of the most exciting political sessions in Texas history.

Challenge Is Climax

Ferguson's challenge to Governor Moody came as a climax to the meeting, which failed to prescribe any kind of a test for candidates in an effort to keep Senator Love's name from the primary ballots.

After he read a prepared statement asking that his name as a candidate be not certified, Governor Moody expressed hope the Democrats would not nominate either Mrs. Ferguson or former United Senator Earle B. Mayfield, declaring that former Gov. James E. Ferguson, who was held ineligible to hold office by the supreme court was "running under Mrs. Ferguson's petticoat," and that Senator Mayfield was "unfit to hold public office."

"Dares" Moody

Ferguson, who was sitting only a short distance from Governor Moody, got to his feet and shaking his finger at the governor, shouted:

"I dare you to run, you coward."

"I met you and defeated you; there can be no greater coward than one who betrays public trust and seeks to destroy good government, and I anticipate your ignominious defeat," Governor Moody retorted, his face flushed.

Ferguson got up again and repeated his challenge but Governor Moody had returned to his chair.

Some one tried to defend Senator Mayfield, but his voice was lost in the din caused by the run-in between Ferguson and Governor Moody.

Names Certified

The names of former Lieut. Gov. Lynch Davidson of Houston and Senator Pink L. Parrish of Lubbock, who had been "drafted" as gubernatorial candidates when friends filed their candidacies, were certified. Davidson was in the hall and did not protest, but refused later to make formal announcement. Parrish was reported not in the state.

"I have many loyal friends in Texas with whom I would not want to contest for another term in the governor's office, and the chairman of the highway commission happens to be one of them," Governor Moody said to the committee. "I am due him nothing but friendship and gratitude for a public service well performed and I am his friend. It seems, however, that it is proper both for him and for me, since he holds appointment under me, that I say in this connection that he had not been brought into the campaign by me or as an administration candidate but so far as I am concerned and so far as he or the administration is concerned, he is running on his own initiative and merit."

Reference to Sterling

The governor was referring to R. S. Sterling of Houston, whom the governor had previously said, in confessing he had planned to run for a third term, "he would not like to oppose."

Governor Moody said "whatever influence I have in Texas shall be cast on the side of good government and against the candidacy of any man that I believe to be a danger to clean government or subject to influences opposed to the welfare of the masses of Texas citizens," adding: "The challenge rings strong to me to enter the campaign and once more give battle up and down this state to the forces of corruption and the enemies of good gov-

Gangland Takes Life Of Chicago Newspaper Man Who 'Knew Too Much'

CHICAGO, June 9. (US)—Gangland's terror spread beyond its own ranks today and put a newspaper reporter "on the spot."

Alfred Jake Lingle, on the staff of the Chicago Tribune and long assigned to cover gangster activities, was shot down and instantly killed as he was walking in the subway from Michigan avenue to the Illinois central station.

The Chicago Tribune immediately on learning of the killing offered an award of $25,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of Lingle's slayers.

Lingle's assailant had followed him into the subway where there were few persons. At a favorable moment, he fired the fatal shot, wheeled about and dashed back to Michigan avenue where he was lost in the traffic.

Friend of Officials

The slain man was a close friend of Police Commissioner William F. Russell and of his first deputy, John P. Stege.

He also was a confidant of many of the leading gangsters of the city. A year ago last winter he was a guest of "Scarface Al" Capone at the latter's estate at Miami Beach, Fla.

Whose enmity he had aroused was not clear as the authorities began their investigation. Whether he had offended members of the Capone syndicate or had aroused rival gangs by his friendship with Capone was still to be learned.

Commissioner Russell and Deputy Stege personally were on the scene of the shooting within a few minutes of its happening.

Tells of Shooting

Dr. Joseph Springer, for many years a coroner's physician here and, as it happened, an acquaintance of Lingle's saw Lingle just after he fell. Springer said:

"I was walking through the subway when I was startled by the echoing report of a revolver. I looked around. There was Lingle, whom I knew, sprawled on the pavement of the subway, his arms and legs outspread.

"His assassin, a man about five feet eight inches tall and dressed in a brown suit, spun about and started for Michigan avenue. He disappeared in the traffic."

Dr. Springer gave the alarm and within a few moments the subway was swarming with police executives and detectives.

Witnesses Heard

Another witness, Marcus Davis, gave a description of the killer that conformed with that of Springer.

EXCESS BAGGAGE

'Siamese Twins' Added To Menage of Returning U. S. Diplomat

SAN FRANCISCO, June 9. (US)—The "Siamese twins" were kittens this time and thereby hangs a tale involving Hon. Harold O. Mackenzie, United States minister to Siam, who arrived home today.

When Mackenzie left Bangkok for San Francisco his luggage declared included four Siamese cats. When the Matson liner Malolo arrived in port the diplomat was advised he had six cats instead of four. Mackenzie rushed to the cage, counted noses and found a proud feline mother fondling twins.

"The joke's on me," laughed the minister.

Mackenzie is reporting to Washington after three years service in Siam. He said Pacific countries are being linked together in a bond of good will by American sponsored cruises.

FAKE SOS CALL DRAWS INQUIRY

Three Agencies Probe Halting of Speech

BY FRASER EDWARDS

WASHINGTON, June 9. (US) — A triple inquiry was launched today into the alleged fake "SOS" call, which cut off an attack on the "radio trust" broadcast by former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, Saturday night.

While he naval communications service was attempting to find out if any other station besides the Tuckerton, N. J., marine radio station heard the call, the federal radio commission and the commerce department were endeavoring to locate the source of the call and determine if it was a fake.

At the same time, Senator Dill, of Washington, leading radio authority in congress, while absolving the Radio Corporation of America of responsibility for the "indefensible an dcontemptible act," charged that the "SOS" was sent out "for the purpose of stopping the speech." Reed had just launched into an attack on the "radio trust" when the interruption occurred.

Dill linked the mysterious SOS call with the sudden resignation of Federal Judge Hugh M. Morris, of the U. S. district court of Delaware, just as the government filed its suit for the dissolution of the "radio trust." He added that this was "especially significant when it is recalled that Judge Morris has been the thorn in the side of the radio corporation."

"It is mysterious and miraculous the way these things happen," said Dill.

General Charles McK. Saltzman, of the radio commission, announced that a thorough investigation of the "SOS" call was under way and pointed out that the penalty for sending out a fake call was a $5,000 fine.

WOMAN ALSO ACCUSED IN ALLEGED PLOT

Constable J. P. Williams And Mrs. Georgia Lynch Under Arrest

PROTECTION CLAIMED

Complaints Here Follow Sheriff's Raid on Beer Stores

J. P. Williams, Iowa, Park constable, was charged with accepting a bribe in complaints filed by Assistant District Attorney Mike Anglin here Monday night. Mrs. Georgia Lynch, also of Iowa Park, was charged at the same time with conspiracy to commit bribery.

The charges followed a two-day investigation, launched after owners of a home raided for beer Sunday protested that they were paying for "protection."

Surrender to Officers

Williams and Mrs. Lynch voluntarily surrendered to Sheriff W. G. Bralley and Warren Belcher, deputy, late Monday afternoon before the charges were filed. Both were lodged in the Wichita county jail in default of $1000 and $500 bonds.

Both defendants declined to make a statement to the district attorney. Williams told representatives of The Record News that he "had nothing to say."

The charges were based on affidavits given by persons in Iowa Park, who were quoted by Mr. Anglin as having said they had knowledge of activities of Constable Williams. The affidavits were secured following the raid Sunday afternoon, in which officers obtained the first clue to the subsequent investigations.

Continue Investigations

The raid was made by Sheriff Bralley and Deputies Belcher and Charlie Gant at a house in Iowa Park where about 300 bottles of beer were seized. At the time, the sheriff said, a woman at the house told the officers she "thought they were protected and wouldn't be raided." The investigations followed the woman's charges.

Both Constable Williams and Mrs. Lynch have families, Sheriff Bralley said.

Mr. Anglin said late Monday night the investigations would continue Tuesday.

Texas Student Wins Beauty Prize

That a national photographers' convention, meeting in New York City not so long ago, used more than "snap" judgment in awarding a beauty prize to Miss Lois Howell, above, has just been proved by her fellow students at Southern Methodist university, at Dallas. By popular choice, she has just been named one of the campus beauties. And the students say Lois is "as pretty as a picture"—her own picture.

Witness of Automobile Accident Stricken With Fatal Heart Attack

Wichita Falls Woman Succumbs to Shock as Neighbor Is Hurled Beneath Wheels of Speeding Car

The sight of an automobile striking a woman on the sidewalk near her home caused a heart attack which resulted within a few minutes in the death of Mrs. Maggie Wheat, 57, wife of C. T. Wheat, 302 Burnett street, about 10 o'clock Monday night.

Mrs. Wheat was reported to have been sitting on the front porch of her home when an automobile, driven by three men alleged to have been intoxicated, ran up over the curbstones in attempting to turn the corner. Mrs. W. O. Terry, 208 Burnett street, was walking on the sidewalk at that point and was unable to dodge the car as it came toward her. She was struck and knocked down within sight of Mrs. Wheat, who immediately became faint.

Husband Goes to Car

Mr. Wheat, seated on the steps of the house, walked toward the prone figure of Mrs. Terry, not thinking Mrs. Wheat had been affected by the accident. A daughter, Miss Offie Lee Wheat, found her mother in a weakened condition and called her father back to the house. Mrs. Wheat appeared to rally for a few moments but suddenly grew worse and died within a few moments, shortly after an Alberts ambulance arrived to take Mrs. Terry to the hospital.

Mrs. Terry was examined at the Wichita General hospital but it was found she had suffered only severe bruises. She was taken home but was brought back to the hospital later and placed under the care of a physician.

Here 12 Years

The body of Mrs. Wheat was taken in charge by the Alberts Funeral home. Mrs. Wheat had been a resident of Wichita Falls for the past 12 years. Besides the husband and the daughter, Miss Offie Lee Wheat, she is survived by four other daughters, Mrs. Stella Carter of Ravena, Texas, Mrs. Olla Kelly, Mrs. Beatrice Rogers and Mrs. Maurine Osborne, all of this city; two brothers, Z. H. Power, of Alba, Texas, and Will Power of Big

CARAWAY LETS TONGUE SLIP

Statement 'Regrettable,' Chairman Says

By EDWARD L. RODDAN

WASHINGTON, June 9. (US)—Contrary to previous impressions, Senator Caraway tonight revealed he is undecided whether Bishop James Cannon Jr., was in contempt when he defied the senate lobby committee.

Upon his return from Arkansas, Chairman Caraway said he will call the committee in session to determine what should be done about the bishop's refusal to testify.

In an unusual interview, Caraway frankly admitted that he spoke without knowledge of all the facts when he issued his statement at Little Rock, saying the bishop was within his rights in refusing to testify about political activities. He added:

"I shall study the record and then call a meeting of the committee to determine what course we shall pursue."

Chairman Apologizes

Going further, the committee chairman apologized to Senator Walsh and Blaine for giving the impression that he was trying to overrule their contention that Cannon must testify about his cam-

BOARD GRANTS REHEARING ON RAIL PROJECTS

Interstate Commerce Commission Gives Foes of Program Chance

PROPOSALS ALLOWED

Date for Beginning on New Extension Postponed Indefinitely

WASHINGTON, June 9. (AP)—The Interstate Commerce commission has granted opposing local interests the right to re-argue a motion for cancellation of permission to the Rock Island and Frisco systems in northern Texas to build 71 miles of new lines in Wilbarger and Baylor counties, Texas.

The commission decided last April to permit the Frisco to build the 71-mile extension, and at the same time permitted the Rock Island to begin building 108 miles of connecting line in Collinsworth, Childress, Wilbarger and adjacent counties. Both decisions will be reargued.

The Frisco and Rock Island proposed in addition to exchange trackage rights with each other over the new construction and over portions of their existing lines in North Texas.

In view of its grants to the Frisco and Rock Island, the commission rejected the conflicting construction proprosal advanced by the Fort Worth and Denver, involving the projected construction of 110 miles of line through the same general territory.

By its latest order granting the Fort Worth and Denver and city interests of Pampa and Childress the right to re-argue the case on its merits as between the contesting railroads, the final date for the Frisco and Rock Island to start construction, originally set for July 1, was postponed indefinitely.

The time and place for the re-arguments has not been set.

Texas Republicans Certify State Slate in Brief, Peaceful Meeting

HOUSTON, June 9. (AP)—The Texas Republican executive committee sent the party state candidates along their campaigning way today in a meeting which required no more than an hour and a half. Adoption of the slate, as well as selection of San Angelo for the state convention of Sept. 9, was accomplished with expedition and without controversy.

The committeemen expressed optimism and their attitude was summed up by T. M. Kennerly of Houston, Republican legal advisor, who declared it was "not altogether certain that we won't elect a governor in 1930."

"In 1928 we carried Texas for Hoover and that's just a start," he asserted. "I believe Texas will repeat in 1932."

Many encomiums were heaped upon the absent R. B. Creager, Republican national committeeman for Texas, who was at Georgetown where Southwestern university conferred upon him the honorary degree of doctor of laws.

The slate of state candidates was

King Carol Begins Battle to Regain His Son by Reunion With Helene

(Copyt., 1930, by Universal Service, Inc.)

BUCHAREST, June 9.—King Carol, who today solidified his position on the throne which he captured within a brief 36 hours, has begun a battle to lay the specter of the past and bring about a reconciliation with Princess Helene, the former wife he hopes to make queen.

Love for his son, a passionate desire to have Michael, is the motivating reason. A reconciliation with Helene means an annulment of their divorce and his restoration as head of the royal family, for only as the head of the family can he be sure of his rights of Michael.

Boy With Mother

Tonight, Michael after spending the day with his father, was back at his mother's residence, the Palais Chaussee. It is understood, however, that the princess has agreed to Carol's educating their son and that he will later reside with his father at the Cotrocene castle.

Helene decided to let the king have their son, following a brief interview in the presence of Prince

New King Plans Reconciliation With Helene

Nicholas and ex-Queen Elizabeth of Greece, which at first failed to bend the inflexible will of the former crown princess.

Helene Subjected

But Helene had to bow before the will of the new 36-year-old monarch, when Carol declared that he would take immediate charge of Michael's education and keep him at the Cotrocene castle until she yields.

It was then decided that Michael should remain with his mother until arrangements for his installation at the royal castle are made. Helene, nursing the bitter memories of past years, was unable to battle the imperious rush of the new ruler who today assumed his duties with vigor, reorganizing the army, granting amnesty to political offenders, and then ordering that a charge of lese majeste be brought against three Liberal leaders.

Three Other Women

Meanwhile, tonight three other women of King Carol's past and present came forward to trouble the mind of him who is trying desperately to occupy himself with Kingly affairs and matters of state.

From only one of the women did the new king receive any consolation; that from his mother, Queen Marie. An exchange of telegrams between mother and son today indicated that Marie is reconciled to her son's accession to the throne and that Carol is all-forgiving toward the "mother queen of the Balkans."

Princess Helene, however, is reported still to resolutely refuse a reconciliation with the husband who four years ago deserted her, their son, Michael, and a throne for the fascinating red-haired Mme. Magda Lupescu. Furthermore, reports have it that Mme. Lupescu is not entirely out of the picture.

From Paris and London come dispatches which declare that Carol is planning the return of Mme. Lupescu to Bucharest, should Helene finally refuse to become his consort and queen.

What proves to be the most disquieting report, however, is one from Paris, declaring that Mme. Zizi Lambrino, daughter of a Rumanian general and wife of the present king by a youthful marriage, intends claiming that their union has never been legally broken and that Carol must fulfill his duty toward their son, Micreas.

Thus does Carol's first marriage, a runaway affair, made in Odessa, Russia, in 1918, confront him embarrassingly at the very moment when all his attention must be given toward ironing out the kinks in the Rumanian political situation.

Caraway Needs To Study Facts

paign against Al Smith in 1928, he said:

"I'm sorry for having embarrassed Senators Walsh and Blaine, because no two men have been more courageous, honest and sincere than they have in carrying on this investigation."

The fact that Caraway is open-minded on the bishop's conduct strongly increased the probability that he will be called to account for walking off the witness stand after Senator Walsh declined to excuse him.

Meeting Today

The committee will hold an informal meeting tomorrow, at which time Cannon's status will be determined.

There is a possibility that the bishop may be subpoenaed to testify on Wednesday, in view of his contention that he had a right to withdraw last week because he was only a "voluntary witness."

The committee may also ask the senate to broaden its powers so there would be no doubt of its ability to ask him about the $65,300 in contributions which he received from E. C. Jameson, of New York. This is the principal matter about which Cannon has refused to testify.

Caraway Agitated

With developments of the past few days in mind, Caraway was plainly agitated when he faced a battery of newspaper correspondents to discuss the much-muddled Cannon situation.

The report that he left for Arkansas just before Bishop Cannon took the stand in order to avoid participating in the examination was condemned by Caraway as "an infamous lie." He likewise condemned the report that he was persuaded to defend Cannon by the Rev. A. C. Miller, editor of the Arkansas Methodist. He said:

"I haven't seen Doctor Miller in two or three years. No living soul undertook to propagandize me in regard to this question."

Caraway explained that in his Little Rock statement he merely pointed out that the committee never claimed authority to examine witnesses on "purely political" matters, without attempting to pass on the relation between Bishop Cannon's political and lobbying activities. He added:

"It was an unfortunate thing that I saw fit to comment without having all the facts before me. The statement was subject to misunderstanding and was put to a bad use."

Bishop Cannon's plea that he is being "persecuted" by Catholics and "wets" was discounted by Caraway. In reply, he showed that there are Methodists on the committee while its membership is overwhelmingly dry.

Mob Threatens At Chickasha

Extra Guards Hold Negro Section Against Crowds

CHICKASHA, Okla., June 9. (UP)—Fear that an assault would be made on the negro section here caused the posting of extra officers tonight.

Increasing uneasiness arose today when excited crowds attended the court of United States Commissioner H. W. Cabeen where 12 men were arraigned on federal charges growing out of recent rioting here which ended with the slaying of a negro held for assaulting a white woman.

All pleaded not guilty and were ordered held on $2,000 bond pending trial in federal court. Four posted bond and were released. The others, including Dr. J. A. Anderson, prominent Oklahoma Democratic political leader and dentist, who yesterday was attacked by two negroes, and G. W. Skinner, husband of the woman assaulted by the negro, were returned to jail.

The dentist, who is a candidate for the state legislature from this district, was taken to jail this morning after his release from the general hospital where his injuries were treated.

Small groups of excited men and boys gathered about the county jail before the 12 prisoners were taken to the commissioner's office. When deputy marshals appeared they crowded about the doors of the building and when the march from the jail to Commissioners Cabeen's office was begun the crowd followed.

After the hearing the crowd returned to the jail where the prisoners were held. They discussed the attack on Anderson. It was believed the crowd was awaiting the release of Anderson who is attempting to arrange bond.

Anderson, a middle aged man, became widely known throughout Oklahoma when he campaigned for lieutenant governor four years ago. He identified one of his attackers as a porter formerly in his employ and was quoted as saying he would avenge the assault.

The dentist, beaten to unconsciousness was discovered by police shortly after 6 a. m. He had gone to obtain his office keys from a negro janitress in his employ, he said.

CITY ACCEPTS 12-ACRE PARK

Kiwanis Club Presents Tract At Council Meeting

Acceptance of a 12-acre parksite on Holliday creek from the Kiwanis club on behalf of the city and authorization of the erection of three new buildings constituted the business of the city council in its regular weekly meeting Monday night.

Represented by a delegation of five members, with Don Haynes, secretary, acting as spokesman, the Kiwanis club reported all details arranged for closing their deal for the land, and asked the council's action on their offer of the park. Following a unanimous vote of the aldermen present in favor of the city's acceptance of the parksite, gratitude to the Kiwanis membership for its gift was expressed by Mayor Walter Nelson Jr.

T. E. Hill was granted permission to erect a 12 by 16 frame building on the south side of Eighth street, between Bluff and Broad, for use as a gasoline filling station. The site is directly opposite the Clinic hospital.

City Manager George D. Fairtrace was authorized to execute contracts for the erection of two new buildings at the city barn site, on Holliday street between Sixth and Seventh streets. One structure, 40 by 50 feet in size, will be used as a storehouse for hay, the other, with a floor plan 52 by 66 feet, will be a storehouse for implements. Both will be frame structures, covered with sheet iron. Bids of $1,579 and $3,300, respectively, on the two buildings by the Panhandle Steel Products company were the lowest submitted, it was said.

The council received the application of Short Brothers for permission to erect a brick building 24 by 40 feet in size on the Petrolia road near the Booker T. Washington school as a milk pasteurization plant. It will be advertised, and given a public hearing at the next meeting of the council on June 16.

Councilmen J. N. Prothro, C. E. McCutchen, and R. O. Harvey; Mayor Nelson, Mr. Fairtrace and W. E. McBroom, city clerk, were present for Monday night's session. Alderman J. M. Spoonts and E. H. Eddleman were absent.

REPORTER DIES IN GANG FEUD

Killer Puts Newspaper Man 'On the Spot'

ating a stand at the foot of the runway leading into the subway, was less than 10 feet from where Lingle fell dead. But he was around the corner of the wall and did not witness the murder. He told the authorities:

"I heard the shot and jumped to a window. I saw the man run west on Randolph street. He was lost in the crowd. He wore a brown suit and a straw hat."

The killer used one of the most modern types of gangland weapons—a short-barrelled 38-caliber revolver, called a "belly gun" by police and gangsters, as it is customarily carried in the front of the trousers under the belt.

The gangsters opened their second "slaughter week" in Chicago by the killing of Aloysius Kearney, reputed racketeer and slugger, earlier in the day. Kearney is believed to have been killed because of his recent employment as collector for a new Garage Owners' association which sprang up as the successor to an older organization.

The feud, said to be mounting in intensity between the two organizations, may rival that between enemy liquor peddling gangs, authorities fear.

Kearney was slain early today on the street by a gang using revolvers and sawed-off shotguns.

In the case of Eugene "Red" McLaughlin, another gangster, whose body was found floating in the drainage canal Saturday, a coroner's jury today brought in a verdict that he came to his death at the hands of "a person or persons unknown," the customary verdict in gang killings.

Chinese Nationalists Battle Southern Rebels

HANKOW, June 9. (AP)—While continuing its monthold fighting to hold back the Northern rebel invaders who crossed the Yellow river into Honan and Shantung provinces, the Nationalist government today fought a defensive battle against the southern rebels at Yochow, Hunan province.

The Kwangsi province rebels were reported to have charged 50,000 strong against 40,000 Nationalists, intrenched south of Yochow. Flanked by Lake Tungting and backed by the Yangtse river, the government forces were expected to be aided by gunboats dispatched to Yochow.

Gall Bladder and Stomach Troubles

Give Early Warning of Many Serious Conditions That Follow

Gallstone and gall-bladder sufferers have had early warning through some slight derangement of the stomach. Many of the very worst cases of high blood pressure are due to liver troubles and intestinal toxemia.

Fatal heart failure is often heart block, caused by intestinal and stomach poisons.

Muco-colitis has its early history of catarrhal stomach, and nearly all cases of rectal troubles are accompanied by constipation and intestinal diseases. Many great scientists believe that cancer is caused by an intestinal ferment.

The low blood pressure of tuberculosis and catarrhal conditions has an early history of hyper acidity and so on through a long list of diseases.

The Health Service Doctors are affiliated with three large health institutes of the East and Southeast, at Newark, N. J., Atlanta, Ga., and Birmingham, Ala., which insures everyone who calls on them the latest methods for relief of deep-seated chronic conditions.

With their enlarged quarters they offer every modern facility for the treatment of stomach and intestinal troubles, disease of the blood, nerves, rheumatism, diabetes, high or low blood pressure, diseases of the rectum and special diseases of men and women.

Wasserman blood tests are only $3. Consultation is free. The Health Service Institute is permanently located in Wichita Falls. Office hours daily 9 to 5; Wednesday and Saturday evenings 7 to 8; Sundays 10 to 12 only.

G. O. P. DRAFTS GRAHAM MAN

C. W. Johnson Listed for State Treasurer

Special to The Record News

GRAHAM, Texas, June 9.—C. W. Johnson of Graham has been drafted as a candidate for the office of state treasurer by Texas Republicans at a meeting in Dallas where a list of 35 candidates for state offices for July primaries was selected by a committee of 25. At least two candidates were drafted for each office.

Wichita, Kan., Given 109,832 Population

WASHINGTON, June 9. (AP)—The state of Kansas won a second city of more than 100,000 population when Wichita reported a 53.4 per cent increase in the 1930 census, population 109,832.

The former metropolis of the state, Kansas City, had to share honors with the Missouri Kansas City across the river, but the winnings of mid-state Wichita are all her own.

Among the younglings in the 100,000 class, Wichita passed Tacoma, Wash., 106,372, increase 9.7 per cent; Knoxville, Tenn., 105,797, increase 26.0 per cent; Peoria, Ill., 105,155, increase 38.1 per cent; El Paso, Texas, 101,975, increase 31.5 per cent.

Omaha, the metropolis of Nebraska, coming in with a population of 214,184, and 11.2 per cent increase, did not raise her relative rating, but was a little behind Providence, R. I., seven places ahead of her in 1920.

The only congregational church in Memphis, Tenn., was organized by federal soldiers in 1863.

Work for Free Bridges Features Electra C.-C. Activities in May

Special to The Record News

ELECTRA, Texas, June 9.—Robert P. Hall, secretary and manager of the Electra Chamber of Commerce, in outlining the activities of that organization for the month of May, gave a resume of the free bridge association activities. According to Mr. Hall, several sectional meetings were held at Electra, Henrietta, Bonham, Temple, Okla., and Frederick, Okla., prior to the formation of the permanent organization of the Texas-Oklahoma Free Bridge association. On May 5 at Lawton, Okla., the permanent organization was formed, and the following officers were elected: President, Walter Nelson, mayor of Wichita Falls; A. M. Bourland, chairman of the board; Robert P. Hall, Electra, secretary-treasurer.

The board of directors of both states selected were Charles Snyder, Altus, Okla.; Walter Koehler, Lawton, Okla.; Bob Mooney, Temple, Okla., and John Easley, Ardmore, Okla.; H. S. Cole, Bonham; True Strong, Nocona; R. R. Gilliland, Quanah; J. P. Williams, Henrietta; Joe Moore, Frederick, Okla., and Orville Bullington, Wichita Falls.

Committee Named

Following the meeting at Lawton two meetings were held in Wichita Falls for the purpose of discussing plans. An executive committee composed of four members was appointed: A. M. Bourland, Vernon; H. S. Cole, Bonham; John Easley, Ardmore, Okla., and C. H. Storms with President Nelson, Secretary Hall, and J. D. Parnell of Wichita Falls as co-members and advisors.

This committee made arrangements with all owners of toll bridges on the Red river to meet in Dallas to discuss the situation. Eleven of the 14 bridges were represented, and one of these was represented by a proxy. Twelve of the 14 bridges agreed to the proposal made by the executive board, and the remaining two agreed to take the matter up with their board of directors.

Other Activities

Below is listed the activities for the local chamber of commerce for the month of May:

A number of the Electra citizens attended the May festival given by the Elliott high school. The teachers of Elliott reported that about $425 was made from the Elliott day specials in Electra and Vernon, and this money will be used toward paying the expenses of an extra teacher for the coming year.

A number of Electrans attended the road opening at Crowell when about 500 road boosters attended the jubilee. The new stretch of road was from Crowell to Vernon and is one of the most important roads to Vernon, Electra, and Wichita Falls, that has been opened in a long time as it will eventually be the Carlsbad Cavern road and on through to California.

Harrold Toll Line

For some time plans had been made to make the Harrold telephone line a toll line. The farmers of the Harrold community banded themselves together, dug post holes, set the poles, and the telephone company furnished the wire and labor, and through this cooperation, led by Sam Kelly of Harrold, the telephone line is in good working condition and no toll is being charged. This is an added improvement for Electra.

T. T. Weatherall, president of the local chamber of commerce, was unanimously elected to represent the local organization on the board of directors of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and his election was confirmed at the convention held at Abilene.

G. J. Price was unanimously chosen to serve as chairman of the local civic committee to succeed J. G. B. Totten who resigned because of added business interests.

Fights Pests

The grasshoppers are becoming a pest in this territory and the agricultural committee has been making plans to cope with this situation. They have about 600 pounds of white arsenic which they will give to farmers who need the poison for these pests.

Electra's name will be placed on all the important air maps of the Rand McNally company and other aviation map makers for 1930. The Electra airport has been properly mapped and all questionnaires answered to its importance.

Extensive plans are being made for the fall activities of the tuberculosis association. Because of the resignation of Mrs. Vera Jo Dolph, visiting nurse who is going to Oklahoma, a new nurse will be employed. The association has not been able to show much activity for several years because of the lack of funds, but this year about $4,000 was realized through the sale of Christmas seals and the association will be enabled to do much work during the year.

Merchants Agree

The Mercantile bureau of which Lloyd Chowning is chairman have agreed to close all day on the following holidays during 1930: July 4; Labor day, Sept 1; Armistice day, Nov. 11; Thanksgiving day, Nov. 27; and Christmas day, Dec. 25.

The grading and care of Front street from the east to the west ends was a great improvement during the month and will be of great benefit to citizens and the supply houses. Heavy graders have been working on the street and it is not in fine condition for trucking.

During May a telegram was received from Congressman Guinn Williams stating that a star postoffice had been allowed for Grayback Crossing with Thomas Hoxie as postmaster.

Oyster production from North Carolina bottoms for the 1929-30 season totalled 472,468 bushels.

BONE DRY

Senator Proposes Law to Make Drinking an Offense

WASHINGTON, June 9. (INS)—An attempt will be made this week by Senator Howell, Republican, to have the senate pass his "bone dry" bill, making it an offense for anyone to take a drink in the District of Columbia.

The Howell bill is the most drastic prohibition measure ever introduced in congress and applies only to the district. Dry leaders frankly admit that should it pass and prove successful here an attempt will be made to have it become a national statute.

Under the bill, searches and seizures may be made in private homes without the necessity of proving a liquor sale. All that would be necessary to secure such a warrant would be to have a neighbor report he saw a bootlegger at your door, or that he saw you take a suspicious quaff.

The measure also makes it an offense to drink in public.

GRAHAM MAIL RECEIPTS GAIN

Totals for May Show 31 Per Cent Increase

Special to The Record News

GRAHAM, Texas, June 9.—During May postal receipts in Graham increased $538.68, a little more than 31 per cent over May of last year. Since Jan. 1, there has been an increase of $1,983.78 over the first five months of 1929, the increase amounting to a little more than 22 per cent.

Would-Be Suicide Cuffs Firemen When Inhalator Defeats His Plans

CHICAGO, June 9. (UP)—August Erickson closed all the windows in his house, turned on the gas burners in the kitchen stove and stretched out on a sofa to await death. August is a 54-year-old carpenter, out of work.

Mrs. Erickson, who had been sent to a store, returned to find her husband, pale but peaceful, in a gas filled room. She called police who called firemen, who clattered up with an inhalator.

"Too bad," murmured Fire Chief T. J. Dannavan. "He looks dead, but we'll turn on the oxygen anyway."

Mrs. Erickson sobbed while the police removed their caps and the firemen unscrewed the valve of the inhalator. After it had hissed a while, August blinked.

"Where am I?" he gasped. "Heaven or—?"

"Now, now," replied the kindly fire chief. "Just be quiet and take it easy. You're right here in your own house and—"

"I'm not dead then?"

"No, but it's not your fault," said Dannavan. "We revived you with our portable reviver."

"Why, you dirty bums!" exclaimed Erickson.

He jumped up from his couch and socked the nearest fireman on the jaw.

"That'll teach you to interfere with a law abiding citizen when he commits suicide," continued Erickson. "Take that and that—and that."

The fireman, grieved at his lack of appreciation, left the house. But the policeman, not so much grieved as angry, arrested Erickson, trundled him off to the Bridewell and wrote with determined hand the charges against him. Said the scrawl on the police blotter:

"Charged with interfering with a fireman in his line of duty."

Dry Goods Men Ask Veto of Tariff Bill

WASHINGTON, June 9. (AP)—The Retail Dry Goods association of New York today requested President Hoover to veto the proposed Hawley-Smoot tariff bill on the grounds that it would militate against general prosperity.

A resolution adopted by the association was presented to the chief executive by H. Nelson Street, the executive vice president.

American trade with China in 1929 amounted to $400,000,000, a 500 per cent increase since 1910.

"I always recommend Palmolive Soap ... for a very good reason"

says LINA CAVALIERI

Former opera star, now a celebrated Parisian beauty specialist

Unless the pores are freed of impurities, dirt, oil, make-up . . . serious blemishes appear. Olive oil, in soap, removes the accumulations gently and safely.

LINA CAVALIERI! Romantic figure in the world of opera; important figure, today, in the world of beauty culture. Born in Rome, Mme. Cavalieri was singing in opera in the great cities of Europe and America by the time she was 18. Today, she has turned to beauty culture, with salons not only in Paris, but in the smartest hotels of Europe's most fashionable resorts: The Hotel Carlton, Cannes; the Hotel Roseraie, Biarritz; Hotel de Paris, Monte Carlo, and another shop — opened last summer — at Le Touquet. When she finds Palmolive "safe, soothing, healthy for the skin" every woman must listen with interest.

Madame Cavalieri's treatment

"Before retiring, of course, use Palmolive. Massage its lather gently into the skin of face and throat. Rinse with warm water, gradually changing to cold. Then, I advise the application of my Camphorated Jelly No. 5.

"In the morning, cleanse the skin thoroughly with this same soap. Then use my 'Lotion Onctueuse' No. 7 before applying my cream No. 2 for neutral skins.

"By following this simple treatment, you will keep that schoolgirl complexion."

A total of more than 19,800 professional beauty specialists advise their patrons to use Palmolive Soap in preference to any other for bath as well as face. Why?

Palmolive is made of the oils of palm and olives, famous for generations as the greatest natural cosmetic oils. Its color is the natural color of those same oils. It requires no heavy perfumes to mask rancid fat odors. Vegetable oil soaps are safest, most soothing, gentlest on the skin. Follow Lina Cavalieri's advice—use Palmolive.

"If you have the mistaken notion that soap may harm your skin, it is because you are not using the right soap. Next time try Palmolive. I heartily advise it...to keep skin smooth and lovely."

Lina Cavalieri

Here is the exterior of Madame Cavalieri's famous salon at 61 Avenue Victor Emmanuel III. It will be recognized by travelers to Paris.

Here is professional approval that means something. More than 19,800 of the world's beauty experts advise Palmolive.

Interesting Discussions Given At Floral Heights

Mrs. Milton Johnson gave a fitting finale to the mission study course in Floral Heights Methodist church Monday afternoon when she directed the sixth lesson of "What Next in Missions?" Before the program was begun, a season of prayer was offered for Mrs. T. R. Boone, Mission Study superintendent, who is in a local hospital. Other sick members were remembered.

"The New Crusade" was the subject of Mrs. Johnson's lesson and for a devotional she gave an interesting reading from Paul's letters, showing in her comments how Christion lives grow effectively when they grow upward.

Mesdames George Thorburn and Fred Schmann sang a lovely duet, "Be Like Jesus," with Mrs. Lester Jones accompanist.

The introduction to "The New Crusade," was given by Mrs. P. L. Myers, opening with pictures of different factions of labor strikes. Both negro employes and millinery workers on West Twenty-seventh street, New York, were pictured and the discussion showed the necessity of justice in all corporations. In a discussion of "War," it was shown that the government expends each year approximately six hundred million dollars for army and navy. War was said to be the most colossal social sin that affects mankind and the efforts of Christians to put the Kingdom of God above nationalism were commended. Concluding topics discussed were "Ignorance, Sickness and Distraught Lives." Interesting statistics were given concerning the progress of many large churches. Other items showed appalling situations in rural districts.

The Church of Tomorrow

In discussing the future of churches, Mrs. S. E. Trevathan showed how the program for the young people assured safe leadership for the church of tomorrow. She outlined methods and plans for overlapping programs in local congregations. Two examples of united churches were given showing how vast areas were reached through leadership of pastor, religious and educational leaders and social workers.

Mrs. E. D. Malone told of proved experiments in cooperation. Much consideration was given the industrial population. The idea of achieving practical unity through federation was shown to be the chief aim of the federated council of churches.

The Home Missions council has as its purpose the promotion of fellowship among 27 denominations. The primary concern of how missions was shown to be an engaging concern with life, its release, its encouragement, its growth and not so much stress to be placed on organizations and institutions.

Mrs. Simpson Reviews Work

Mrs. C. M. Simpson, conference study superintendent, gave a resume of the entire book, showing the progress of home mission work from frontier work to terms of human need. She emphasized the necessity of each worker in each church being a recruiting agent to bring in non-church members and closed her talk with a beautiful story, "The Moonlight Schools."

Miss Viola Grace Doern gave a lovely violin number accompanied by Mrs. G. Wayne Barker.

In a business session, a free will offering was received for a leper colony in Africa.

Circle three led in attendance and before dismissal, a rising vote of thanks was given for Mrs. Boone's work as mission study leader.

A delicious refreshment plate was served to Mesdames Milton Johnson, Val Land, F. H. Corbin, Floyd Billingsley, O. M. Pierce, B. M. Bullard, M. C. Batey, P. J. Lea, W. L. Anthony, B. L. Trevathan, P. NEW ORLEANS SEEKS CREDIT

Crescent City Government Needs Funds

NEW ORLEANS, June 9. (AP)—With the bank credit shut off by orders of Gov. Huey P. Long, New Orleans officials were seeking today to borrow funds outside of the city to continue operation of municipal affairs.

Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley, said the constitution permitted the city to borrow elsewhere and that funds would be obtained to pay policemen, firemen, street cleaners and maintain charitable institutions and prisons regardless of the shutting off of credit from local banks.

The credit situation in New Orleans has produced a fiery controversy between Governor Long and Mayor Walmsley. Over the radio station Saturday night, Governor Long charged the city officials with borrowing from the banks on future taxes beyond the city's capacity to pay.

Cooking School Note

In the cooking school conducted under the auspices of The Times and Record News Mrs. Frances Northcross stressed modern methods of cooking. Naturally, then, she uses and recommends CRISCO, the modern shortening.

His spelling was awful

but his Eggs Polonaise are grand!

IN THE little hotel where I found this interesting recipe it was listed on the menu as Eggs a la Pollonaise. And the recipe I coaxed away from the chef was as complicated as his spelling. I simplified the name when I simplified the recipe.

But call it whatever you like—it's particularly appropriate for Sunday night suppers, and not too fussy for any day in the week. Deep fried in Crisco, it comes piping hot to the table as delicately flavored as this sweet fat it was fried in.

POLISH EGGS

6 eggs, beaten
½ cup grated cheese
1 teaspoon minced parsley
1 teaspoon minced onion
1 tablespoon cream
2 tablespoons Crisco (melted)
1¼ cups small bread dice
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Mix eggs, cheese, parsley, onion, seasoning, cream and melted Crisco. Add the diced bread. Drop by tablespoonfuls into hot, deep Crisco (360°-370° F., or when one-inch cube of bread browns in 60 seconds) and fry a light brown (about 2 minutes). Serve plain or with Tomato Sauce (1½ cups) or Tartar Sauce (1 cup).

If you've lost your recipe for SALMON CROQUETTES

Pink inside—brown outside—these salmon croquettes make my mouth water just to think of them! They make a delicious main dish—salmon and potatoes, well seasoned with chopped parsley to lend color and add flavor, wrapped in a golden crunchy coating that only frying in Crisco can give. Foods deep fried in Crisco always taste fresh flavored and good, for Crisco itself tastes sweet and fresh—and comes to you in an air-tight can.

1 cup salmon, canned or left-over, boiled
1¼ cups mashed potatoes
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 tablespoon chopped onion
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

1 egg beaten with 1 tablespoon water
Dried bread crumbs

Mix ingredients thoroughly and shape into croquettes about the size of an egg—roll in dried bread crumbs, dip in egg, then in crumbs again. Fry in deep hot Crisco (390° F., or when an inch cube of bread browns in 40 seconds)—drain on unglazed paper. Serve plain, garnished with lemon rings or serve with cream sauce.

ALL MEASUREMENTS LEVEL. Recipes tested and approved by cooking authorities. Crisco is the registered trademark of a shortening manufactured by The Procter & Gamble Company.

©1930, P. & G. Co.

Taste Crisco—then any other shortening. Crisco's sweet, fresh flavor will tell you why things made with Crisco taste so much better.

CLASH MARKS DEMO MEETING

Moody and Ferguson Have Verbal Battle

ernment in Texas, but I recognize that there are others who can wage this fight and would make good governors and that I may be able in some small way to help."

Names Certified

D. W. Wilcox of Georgetown, chairman of the committee, announced that R. B. Creager of Brownsville, national Republican committeeman, whose name as a candidate for governor in the Democratic primaries had been filed by petition, requested it be not certified. The committee voted not to certify the names of any one as candidates for state offices who asked that they be eliminated.

In addition to Love, Mrs. Ferguson, Davidson, Parrish, Putnam, Mayfield and Sterling, the committee certified these gubernatorial candidates: Barry Miller of Dallas, James Young of Kaufman, C. C. Small of Wellington, Dr. C. E. Walker of Grapevine, T. N. Mauritg of Ganado, Paul Loven of New Braunfels, and C. C. Moody of Fort Worth, making 14 to go on the July 26 primary. The two candidates receiving the largest number of votes will enter a "run-off" primary on Aug. 23.

Exclusion Turned Down

C. C. Renfro of Dallas, holding the proxy of T. O. Davis of Center, proposed exclusion from the ticket of C. C. Moody, Fort Worth laundryman, claiming he was not a candidate in good faith and that he had been entered in an "attempt to make a joke of the governor's office."

Chairman Wilcox held the resolution out of order, explaining Moody had complied with the law in filing his application.

J. H. Goodman of Lubbock, holding the proxy of Mrs. J. H. Goodman, declared he did not see how the committee could refuse to certify Moody when it had put Love's name on, adding to place Moody's name on the ballots was not "any bigger joke than putting Love on."

Referendum Refused

The committee passively passed up requests of R. L. Henry and Frank Putnam, both of Houston, candidates for United States senator and governor, respectively, to submit a referendum on the proposition to repeal or modify the prohibition amendment, and a suggestion by George Slater of Dallas, representing the State Federation of Labor, that the primary ballots carry a poll to instruct the 42nd legislature to submit the proposition of whether the state should provide through constitutional amendment, an insurance agency to underwrite workmen's compensation.

Negroes Barred

It in effect went on record barring negroes from the primaries through adoption of resolutions proposed by Renfro, inviting all eligible and legally qualified white electors who declared their allegiance to the Democratic party, who would take the statutory pledge: "I am a Democrat and pledge myself to support the nominees of this primary," to participate in the primaries.

Frank Guinn of Rusk was elected to fill the vacancy caused by resignation of H. T. Brown of Jacksonville.

Efforts to devise some kind of a pledge for candidates to insure their support of the nominees of the primaries, in view of the supreme court's holding that Senator Love could not be barred because he had failed to vote for former Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York, party presidential nominee, in 1928, came to naught.

Chairman Wilcox counseled the committee continuously that he did not believe that supreme court's decision in the Love case could be followed if a test for candidates, other than the statutory pledge, were applied.

Lieutenant Governor Miller and Young, gubernatorial candidates, volunteered to sign any kind of a pledge. Then Senator Love came forward to read a prepared statement, but he was pounced on by questioners from every direction.

Love Countered

Pinckney on one side and Renfro on the other, shot questions at Love, whose claim that a fealty pledge to support the nominees of a candidate was not binding in conscience was upheld by the court of last resort.

Replying to interrogations he said he would not support Mrs. Ferguson, Henry or Putnam were they nominees of the primary. Also, he declared that should the Democrats in 1932 again nominate Smith for the presidency, "or any of his Tammany supporters," he would not vote for him or them.

Love said he would not vote for any candidate who favored "the destruction and nullification" of the prohibition amendment, and declared he "would do everything in my power to prevent return of Fergusonism to the capitol." He said he would support nominees of the primary to "the utmost of my conscience."

The committee selected Galveston for the Sept. 9 state convention.

Candidates other than for governor certified were:

Wichita County Candidates Fail To Agree on Tours and Set Hours

Following a stormy session in which Sheriff W. G. Bralley, candidate for reelection, and E. F. Fruechte, candidate for county attorney, figured on opposite sides in a verbal battle over the question of having speaking tours, the candidates for office in Wichita county adjourned their called meeting Monday night without having taken action on any matters set for consideration. It was voted to call another meeting for 7 o'clock on Monday evening, July 7, at the same place, the 78th district courtroom.

Definite action on the question of speaking tours taken earlier in the meeting was nullified by subsequent motions and the session ended without a decision on the matter. The first motion of the meeting resulted in a vote of 9 to 6 against speaking tours. Mr. Fruechte then made a motion to adjourn but Mr. Bralley entered a motion to defer all action on speaking until a date nearer the primaries before a vote of the adjournment was taken. Mr. Fruechte's adjournment motion was put to a vote and defeated. He then made an amendment to Mr. Bralley's motion to the effect that the chair appoint a committee to arrange dates and places for the speaking candidates. This also was defeated in a vote.

Mr. Bralley's motion to call a later meeting and defer all action until that time was carried almost unanimously. Judge Irvin J. Vogel of the county court at law, candidate for reelection, moved that the meeting be held four weeks hence and the motion carried. It was announced at the session that a pie supper would be given at the Valley View school June 20 and a chicken supper at the Baptist church in K. M. A. on July 4, to both of which candidates had been invited. At the opening of the meeting Harry Bunnenberg was elected chairman by a unanimous vote. About 20 candidates were present.

SNAKE EYES

Negro Breaks Leg as He Dives Thru Window To Escape Law

Frightened by the unexpected appearance of members of the sheriff's department in the middle of an absorbing dice game, Ernest Brown, negro, made a running headlong dive out of a second-story window in a servant house here Monday evening and struck the pavement about 15 feet below, suffering a broken leg.

H. L. White and Charlie Gant, deputy sheriffs, reported to Sheriff W. G. Bralley that they entered the room and found about six negro men and a negro woman, some engaged in a game of poker and others on the floor shooting dice. As Mr. Gant reached down for the dice, Brown made his sudden dive for the window and disappeared below. The officers found him with his leg broken at the knee. They rushed him to the Wichita General hospital, where it was said the fracture would probably leave the limb stiff. The other negroes were brought to the county jail, charged with gaming.

Speaker Warns Communist Menace

WASHINGTON, June 9. (AP)—Assertion that officials of the Soviet Russian government had in official documents "declared war against all humanity" was made today by the Rev. Edmund Walsh, of Georgetown university, at the opening hearing on Communists' activities in this country before a special house investigating committee.

Walsh, a student of Communism, was with the Hoover famine relief mission in Russia in 1921. He said the Russian government was at the front of a world wide revolutionary movement.

The revolution he said, was directed without regard to geographical locations, adding the Soviet policy was to divide the world into two phases—capitalistic and socialistic. Walsh said a million dollar fund was set up in 1917 for foreign Communistic propaganda.

WOMEN'S CLUBS STUDY MOVIES

Federation Hears of 'Guidance' Work in Texas

DENVER, Colo., June 9. (AP)—Mrs. J. K. Beretta of San Antonio, chairman of the motion picture committee of the Texas federation of women's clubs today told delegates to the national convention here of the work being done in her state to help guide the family in the selection of screen entertainment.

Mrs. Beretta said seven new district chairmen and several subchairmen in Texas were actively carrying out the national program, which also includes the promotion of the use of films in departmental work, and were successfully distributing the preview lists. She said that her state organization was gratified with the new motion picture code as it was in line with resolutions passed at the last state convention.

Mrs. R. F. Lindsay, president of the Texas federation, who has taken an active part in the deliberations here, returned to her Mount Pleasant home today because of her father's illness.

A closed session of the executive committee late Saturday night thwarted a scheduled challenge today to the activities of members of the federation in the field of talking movies.

For 40 seconds Mrs. John F. Sippel of Baltimore, president of the federation waited for "other remarks" after the adoption of the report of Mrs. Ambrose N. Diehl, Pittsburgh, Pa., had been moved, but the auditorium seating the 20th biennial convention was quiet. The report, setting forth the accomplishments of the motion picture committee, of which Mrs. Diehl is chairman, was adopted unanimously amid handclapping.

The Saturday night meeting of the executive committee, of which Mrs. Sippel is chairman, became common currency at the convention hall only today, but it was determined that the committee had tabled a letter and telegram from two women's clubs of Baltimore protesting activities of Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, Pasadena, Calif.

There are more than 1,500 churches in New York.

ONLY A DOCTOR KNOWS WHAT A LAXATIVE SHOULD BE

Danger lies in careless selection of laxatives! By taking the first thing that comes to mind when bad breath, headaches, dizziness, nausea, biliousness, gas on stomach and bowels, lack of appetite or energy warns of constipation, you risk forming the laxative habit.

Depend on a doctor's judgment in choosing your laxative. Here's one made from the prescription of a specialist in bowel and stomach disorders. Its originator tried it in thousands of cases; found it safe for women, children and old folks; thoroughly effective for the most robust man. Today, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as it is called, is the world's most popular laxative. It is composed of fresh herbs and other pure ingredients. You can get it, in generous bottles and ready for use, at any drug store.—Adv.

DEATH TAKES MINING HEAD

Founder of Noted Company Dies in Denver

MIAMI, Okla., June 9. (AP)—Death early today claimed the second of four founders of the Commerce Mining and Royalty company, Miami. Alfred Elliott Coleman, brother of George L. Coleman, president of the company, died at his home in Denver, according to word received by the concern's head.

Death was due to cerebral hemorrhage. Mr. Coleman's death occurred less than a year after an illness of the same character brought death to James F. Robinson, his partner and former president of the company who also died in Denver. The G. L. Coleman family, with several other associates in the company, left today for Colorado. Funeral probably will be held in Denver Wednesday.

Mr. Coleman was 75 years old. He was born near Gillispie, Ill., and moved to Bates county, Missouri, in 1879. In 1886 he came to the Indian territory.

In 1908, a severe attack of asthma caused Mr. Coleman to leave Miami. He went to Colorado and became interested in the truck business.

Several years ago he organized the Coleman Motors corporation, which a manufacturing plant at Littleton, Colo.

N. Y. Mother Finds A Real Weight Builder at Last

If you are tired of being bony, scrawny and weak, read how Mrs. Henry A. Thaler of Richmond Hill, N. Y., and her daughter gained weight and improved their figures:

"The writer of this letter and my daughter, Viola, have been using McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets for seven weeks, and in that time I have gained 4 pounds and am more full of 'pep' than ever Viola has gained 3 pounds and she is beginning to get wonderful color in her face."

The reason is that McCoy's are genuine cod liver oil extract tablets. That is the same as saying that like the Norwegian cod liver oil from which they are made, McCoy's are hundreds of times richer in flesh and strength producing vitamins than even milk, eggs, butter or cream.

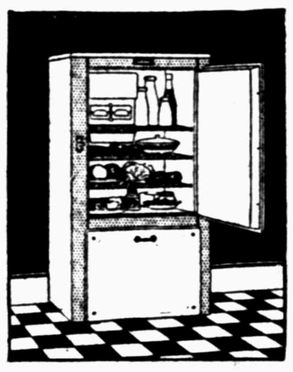

So take advantage of Renfro Drug company's offer of the safe, pleasant, easy, inexpensive way to gain the weight and energy you need. McCoy's must give any man, woman or child the increased weight desired or money refunded. Just ask for McCoy's—60 tablets 60 cents.—Adv.

Rebuffing the President
Eager June Brides
No Longer Blushing
A Violin Prodigy

By EMILE GAUVREAU

This country thinks and acts liberally.

Basically it has no sympathy for narrowness and bigotry. Even the president of the United States cannot thwart this spirit. He found that out when his appointment of Judge Parker was rejected. Now in his veto of the Spanish war veterans' pension bill he receives a humiliating defeat, his own men turning against him.

The tradition of the June bride brings 161 of them to the New York license bureau in one day. No longer blushing and hesitant, they crowd, push and haggle for first place in the line-up, as though on the subway at rush hour. Reluctance to quit the single state has become characteristic today not of the woman, but of the man. This may account for the increase among women who have developed a firm lower jaw. Where men are modest and retreating, women are determined and bold. In June they become brazen. They no longer wait to hang up the mistletoe. Perhaps this is all as it should be.

Does a child belong to the parent who brought him into the world, or to the guardian, a stranger, who rears, educates and advances him. The fight over the custody of a violin prodigy brings up this old question of fealty. Ruggiero Ricco, 9 years old, genius of the bow, says in court he would rather remain with Elizabeth Lackay, his guardian, than with his father. That sounds like a bit of efficient coaching.

The court should give the boy back to his parents, who endures all the anxiety and suffering of bringing him up before he becomes the world celebrity. Genius breaks too many hearts. Honoring and encouraging a parent's pride in the accomplishment of his offspring is more important.

If prohibition needed a last straw to break its back, that straw is provided in the seizing of the American Diamond liner Ambridge a government owned vessel, carrying a $31,680 champagne cargo aboard her when she steamed in from Antwerp on Friday.

The government cannot confiscate its own boat, nor can it very well fine itself. But, for the benefit of the gullible, punishment must be meted out for a violation of the most violated law in history. So officials today are in a most ludicrous dilemma. And all because of the insistence of the continued observance of a farce that will end, as Correction Aid Miss Byrne declares, in becoming "the greatest spur to crime in American life."

In England, a philosopher, a ghost story teller, and an historian receive the coveted "Order of Merit" from the king. A brave girl aviator becomes "commander of the British empire." Knighthoods are bestowed upon an actor and an astronomer, baronetcies upon an ambassador, a motor car maker, a cabinet minister, an educator.

Congress to Postpone Rail Merger Action

WASHINGTON, June 9. (INS)—Congress will adjourn for the summer without putting the brakes on railroad mergers.

This is the assertion of house leaders, who say the Couzens bill passed by the senate cannot be considered at this session.

The measure, which prohibits railroad mergers, pending enactment by consolidation legislation by congress, is reposing in the house committee on interstate commerce after having been passed by the senate.

"Well, sir, I've been through the Cleveland panic, the Roosevelt depression, an' the Hoover overproduction, an' my experience is that things allus straighten 'emselves out," declared ole Niles Turner today. It's too bad a chicken has a breast, fer it's caused more bitterness, an' anxiety, an' misunderstandin', an' fightin' than anything I know of.

Owen J. Roberts, newly appointed supreme court justice, was recently awarded an honorary degree. Well, Judge Parker, who was rejected for the office, was given a third degree, you recall.

Scientists say that 60,000,000 years ago the New York climate resembled that of Florida today. And with Al Capone prone to bask in the warmer climes perhaps New York is grateful for the change.

Then there was the Chicago gangster who became suspicious of the doctor who declared his baby's ailment was due to rickets.

Henry Ford's Big Idea

HENRY FORD has never been noted for his readiness to agree with economists. Perhaps his success in proving that it is to a manufacturer's interest to pay high wages is responsible; at any rate, he is the country's outstanding nonconformist, and he cares not whose toes he steps on.

Just now he is disagreeing with the doctors who have been called to the bedside of agriculture, which still struggles with its long, painful and baffling illness.

The doctors seem to agree that the farmer must cut down his acreage and reduce the size of his crops. Mr. Ford greets this advice with a loud "pooh-pooh." Intensive cultivation and quantity production, he says, are precisely what agriculture needs. A surplus will depress prices and increase the distress? Not at all; a surplus of any commodity is only the starting point for a new prosperity. When you produce too much of anything you find new uses for it and create a new demand.

Thus Mr. Ford, economists and the federal farm board to the contrary notwithstanding.

One wonders just how the farmer will take this advice. A man who has raised more wheat than he can sell, and finds that his income is going to be less than the cost of production, might be excused for laughing at it bitterly. It may be true, as Mr. Ford says, that the appearance of a surplus will bring about new uses for the commodity and so stimulate demand; but all of this will take time, and in the meanwhile the farmer must eat, pay his bills and keep his mortgage under control.

But while Mr. Ford's remarks do not seem to come within several miles of fitting the case right now, it must be admitted that this eccentric automobile manufacturer has, at bottom, hit upon a rather important idea.

His idea is simply this: That the very expression, "over production," is all wrong as long as there exists in all the world one man who has not got enough of the commodity in question, be it wheat, automobiles, radios or neckties. Does the world suffer from a surplus of grain? How is it, then, that several million people in China are starving? There is something wrong, somewhere.

The one great fact that Mr. Ford never loses sight of is the fact that mankind, for the first time in its existence, is able to produce enough of everything, from bread to top hats, so that everyone can have all he wants. To be sure, we haven't tied in production and consumption yet so that it works out properly; but the power is in our hands, nevertheless, to make scarcity forever a thing of the past. That, one suspects, is what lies at the bottom of Mr. Ford's mind.

However faulty his advice to the farmer may be, for the immediate present, that fact is worth remembering. The possibilities that it implies are simply infinite.

American Products

STRIKING contrast between attitudes toward life was drawn by two stories carried by Sunday morning's news wires and referring to large sums of money.

Donation of $5,000,000 by a retired New Jersey merchant and his sister for the purpose of establishing an unique university for advanced study was reported in one dispatch; confession by a banker in St. Louis that he lost approximately $400,000 of customers' money in secret speculation on the markets last year was told in the other.

Each was conscious of a trust reposed in him. The Newark philanthropist was obliged to society by virtue of his own sense of stewardship, the St. Louis banker by virtue of his bonded position in a financial institution. The first operated under that consciousness of privilege and by his talents amassed a large fortune. The other sought to enrich himself financially by violation of the trust reposed in him, and seems inevitably faced with long imprisonment; at his age, ruin.

The retired merchant plans a coeducational, nonsectarian school, open to all races, and devoted to the furtherance of philosophy, science and other subjects similarly important in human progress. The defaulting banker offers an example of an individual life which has for its principal object the exploitation of others for gain rather than enrichment of life for all.

The two cases not only draw pointed contrast between two different attitudes, but emphasize the need for more effective teaching of what constitutes the highest values in human life.

The Need for Advertising

THE IMPORTANCE of continued, uninterrupted advertising campaigns to the American maufacturer or distributor is strikingly emphasized by Roger Babson, economist, in an interview with Sturges Dorrance, president of Dorrance, Sullivan & Co., New York.

"Because 1930 is a census year," says Mr. Babson, "it is interesting to speculate what the census statistics will tell us about advertising as a force in American business. Merely for the purpose of illustration, let us project the trend of former years and assume that the 1930 data will indicate that the United States as a market is increasing at the rate of 7,000 new customers per day.

"Every day 7,000 customers to whom your goods are absolutely unknown! Every day 7,000 people with whom you must start all over again and tell them your story and teach them to use your products. It has always seemed to me that this is the greatest argument in the world for ceaseless advertising."

Quotations Worth Noting

In Fewer Words

(With all apologies to Mr. Hoffenstein)

A few more years to primp and pose
And fuss and cuss and lie and sin in;
A little while to change our clothes
And fearing that our hair is thinnin'—
Then a sleep beneath the slabs,
And no more dodging taxicabs.

A few more years to love and lose
And dream and scheme and wish and sigh in;
A little while to chase the blues
And wonder if "her" love is dyin'—
Then death, a grave with all its trimmin',
And no more chasing after women.
—Francis H. Sullivan.

Haw!

Jack Benny, the two-a-dayer, tells the one about the drunk who zigzagged into a third-rate restaurant and clapped his paws madly for some service.

A waiter, whose right leg was shorter than his left, suddenly appeared.

"I'm in a hurry," hiccoughed the stew, "jush bring me a swish sheez shandwish."

The waiter with the gimpty leg gimped away, bobbing up and down on his crippled stem.

"Aw!" bellowed the impatient drunk, "if you have to go down shtairs for it—then the hell with it."

Oop!

Nathan Hamburger, one of Philadelphia's favorite sons, who is now wifeless, met Louise Brooks, the divorcee, at the Central Park Casino the other midnight, and tactlessly said: "I bumped into your ex-husband today."

"Well!" was the icy retort, "hard?"

The Retort Swell

A former stick-up man has been touching Bill Mizner for deuce spots, five spots and tens out in Hollywood, according to Bill Halligan. Mizner, whose Brown Derby rendezvous is a favorite spot out there, finally rebelled.

"Listen," complained Mizner, "I'm tired of keeping you, old boy. Why don't you get busy with that pistol of yours?"

"There isn't much doing," alibied the former bandit.

"What's the matter," countered Mizner, "doesn't it get dark at night anymore?"

Oh, Mr. Ripley

He isn't a bad sort, at all, and she is lovely. So an hour after they met at a party he proposed marriage. To his amazement she accepted and they eloped up-state and were sealed. When her very wealthy father learned of it the next day he summoned the lad. "She isn't of age and I am terribly distressed," said the parent. "I'll put a million dollars in the bank in your name today if you will agree to an annulment." The chap agreed.

Instead of squandering the easily earned million he started a string of hotels a few years ago and today he is worth 16 million.

Incidentally

A similar "lucky break" happened to another New Yorker, but this one was a two-timer. The fates, however, were kind to him. He gave an heiress the swift chatter while the moon was full and she married him that night. Her father was furious and engaged detectives to check and double-check him.

A few months later the detectives reported that he was a bigamist and that he had stranded a wife in Russia, but the suave groom vigorously denied the charge and argued that his enemies were out to embarrass him.

But the detectives located his wife and they went to the old country to bring her here to confront him.

The man's luck didn't fail him, however. At Cherbourg while waddling up the gangplank his "wife" dropped dead.

In Case You Didn't Know

After all these years the Revolutionary War's outstanding traitor, Benedict Arnold, is to be honored at West Point. The newspapers just reported how thrilled West Point was over the gift from a woman who presented West Point with a desk that belonged to the renowned spy.

But what the papers failed to add was that the desk has been placed underneath a tablet which contains the names of American generals. And Benedict Arnold's name has been chisled off.

Golly!

A few weks ago a man leaped to his death from his Park Ave. apartment window. The police summoned every elevator operator and employe in the building to look at the suicide with the hope of identifying him. Not one maid or attache recognized him, however.

Finally the man's nurse missed him and felt that something had happened. She hastened to the street and solved the mystery.

But not until she had first put on his toupee!

Of All Things!

Among other gags unfolded in a night asylum this yawning was the one about the Broadwayfarer whose face was crowded with court plaster. His pals asked him how come?

"Well," he weil'd dejectedly, "I hurried into a barber shop down on the East Side yesterday and I asked the barber who was shaving me why he was standing on a box. He said: 'This is my birthday and my father said I could do anything on my tenth birthday, so I wanted to shave somebody.'"

Merciless Truth

Another testmonial proving that vaudeville conditions are not getting better was given by Jim Toney, the wit. Toney was ankling along Broadway the other sundown when he encountered his former partner, Harry Bestry.

"Howz things, Jim?" asked Bestry.

"Awful," replied Toney, "things are getting so tough that even a panhandler has to give an audition."

A Form of Criticism

Take it from Erle Hampton, a duo of chin-e-ma directors were groaning about a certain Hollywooden head, whose success had gone to her bean like 180-proof giggle water.

"Yeah," grumbled one of the directors, "she's so swell-headed she needs Grandeur film for her close-ups!"

"SHEILA"

Love and Mystery
Humor and Tragedy

A Story of Wichita Falls
By GORDON TURNER

"Why were you vamping the janitor?" Andy asked.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Frank Sheridan, wealthy young lawyer, whose hobby is the solving of crime mysteries, is called in by Joseph Hedley, assistant prosecuting attorney, to find a burglar who robbed a safe at the home of William Oliver Wilber. Hedley is engaged to marry Wilber's daughter, Sheila, whose cousin, Andrew Masters, is a frequent visitor at the Wilber home. A diary of Wilber's wife, now dead, has been stolen from the safe. The diary holds a secret of Sheila's birth. Sheridan inserts a $500 reward want ad in The Record News for its return. Wilber sees another Record News want ad, seeking the whereabouts of a girl secretly adopted 22 years earlier. He reveals to Sheridan that Sheila is the girl sought by her real mother, of whom Sheila knows nothing. Andy Masters wants to marry Edna Rogers, Sheila's chum, but is entangled in a love affair with Mercedes Riverton, a stenographer employed by his friend, Homer Menton, a criminal lawyer. Mercy goes on an auto ride with Andy, who has been drinking heavily. The auto is crowded off the road and Andy engages in a fight with occupants of the other car. He holds his own, thanks to boxing lessons given by his valet, Ike Sellers, former pugilist. Sheila and Hedley, returning from a dance, interfere. Sheila takes Mercy in Hedley's car and Hedley drives for Andy, who is dazed by drink. Mercy tells Sheila Andy has asked her to marry him. Sheila, indignant, quarrels with Mercy, who re-Mercy coolly tells Ike Sellers she proposes drink and they drive to Andy's bachelor home to get it. They consume many drinks, and Andy passes into oblivion. Mercy coolly tells Ike Sellers she proposes to remain for the night in the house, sleeping on a couch in the living room.

Now Go on With the Story

CHAPTER XII

The mellow music of distant church bells floated through the open window. The slanting rays of a late morning sun played upon the face of the sleeping man. Andy's arm in subconscious irritation was thrown up to protect his eyes, then again fell back upon the pillow. He turned on his side and yawned. The telephone on the bedside table set up a clamor, drowning out the church bells and the low hum of Seymour road traffic. Its summons was insistent and gradually pierced the sleep-drugged brain. Andy's eyes opened. He raised himself on one elbow and drew the receiver to him.

"What's that?" he asked. "Who? . . . Tom Riverton? . . . Mercy? . . . Didn't come home? . . . No? I don't know where she is . . . Yes, she was with me last night . . . I don't know . . . Aw, shut up, you can't scare me! . . . I don't know, I tell you. . . ."

He slammed the earpiece on the hook and dropped back upon the pillow. His brows wrinkled in bewilderment. What had happened last night? And where was Mercy? He tried to probe the fog of memory. The earlier events of the evening were clear, but other details were blurred. There had been a fight, but what was it all about? Sheila and Joe—now how did they get into the picture? Mercy had handed him a highball, and Ike had . . . that's it! Ike ought to know . . .

He leaped out of bed and threw open the door into the living room. His eyes were drawn to the window in the far end. He fell against the door-jamb and his arms dropped limply to his sides.

"What the . . . !"

Mercy was seated at the window, her fingers fluttering through the games of a magazine on her lap. She had looked up at the sound of the opening door. An amused smile met his gasp of astonishment.

"Lo, Andy, old dear," she greeted him cheerily, "how's the old head? Why, Andy, you ought to be ashamed of yourself coming into the presence of a lady in your pajamas!"

Andy gave a quick look at his thinly clad legs and exclaimed:

Hang the clothes. What are you doing here?"

"Oh, I was just reading a magazine," she replied laughingly.

"Well, you'd better be saying your prayers; there's hell to pay. Where were you all last night? I just got a telephone bawl out because you didn't turn up at home—as if I had had anything to do with it!"

"Yes, I heard you telephoning. I guessed the family was making polite inquiries. Who was it? Tom, I'll bet. What did my timid little brother have to say to my Tootsy-Wootsums?"

"He rudely informed me that if you didn't turn up at home within an hour, he was coming over here to take me apart and see what kind of mud I was stuck together with. So you'd better scat."

"I will not!" returned Mercy emphatically. "I'm never going back there. Here, I'll settle their hash." She lifted the telephone from the table beside her—the phone in Andy's bedroom was an extension. "You go get some clothes on," she continued, "by that time I'll have given them what's what."

It would be painful and tedious to repeat verbatim the ensuing telephone colloquy. Mercy's brother answered her call, which was brought to him by a messenger from the corner drug store, the Rivertons having no phone in their home. Mercy told him that she had stayed overnight at the home of a "girl friend." No, it wasn't any of his business who the girl was or where she lived. It wasn't any of his business either what her future movements were. One thing was certain; she wasn't going near "that old dump" again—ever. She was tired of being spied on and treated like a baby. She was through with them all for all time. She would send out today for her clothing. Yes, she had a nice, respectable place to stay, but none of her family was invited to call. Having imparted this information with many uncomplimentary observations, she hung up the receiver, cutting off her brother's vehement protests.

Over the breakfast table which Ike spread in the living room Mercy recalled to Andy some of the incidents of the preceding night, the visit to Lakeside park, the encounter in the road, the fight, the intervention of Hedley and the re-

Answers to Questions

What do you need to know? Is there some point about your business or personal life that puzzles you? Is there something that you want to know without delay? Submit your question to Frederic J. Haskin, director of our Washington information bureau. He is employed to help you. Address your inquiry to the Record News Information bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C.

Q.—Please tell me how to get moths out of a fur collar.—L. G.

A.—There are several methods that can be followed. A simple one is to place the fur over a warm radiator or on the top of a lighted gas oven with a very low flame. The moths will come to the surface and may be brushed off. Place the garment in the sun for several days.

Q.—Does cracked ice cool a refrigerator more rapidly than a block of ice?—E. N. C.

A. Experiments tend to prove that it does. It has been shown to give 16 per cent lower temperatures with only 3 per cent lower meltage than block ice.

Q.—What is the Sojourners club? C. P.

A.—The Sojourners club is a Masonic club, the members of which are Masons and active or retired officers of the army, navy and marine corps.

Q.—Why is the rainbow circular? —R. G. G.

A.—The rainbow is caused by light from the sun passing into a drop of water, and out again after reflection from the far side. Since the drops are spherical, hence are quite alike no matter how turned, it follows that the angle between the lines from drop to sun and eye must always be the same whether the drop be high up or near the ground. This requires that the rainbow, as viewed by an observer, must appear circular.

Q. How long must a starting pitcher stay in a game in order to get credit for a baseball game?—K. McN.

A. American league rules provide that a starting pitcher must work four full innings before receiving credit for a game, while National league rules specify that he must pitch five innings. However, in the case of a pitcher's leaving the game before the minimum innings, it still may be arbitrary with the official scorer, according to the rules, as to whether he should receive credit for a victory if his team wins. If in the opinion of the official scorer the starting pitcher had a commanding lead when withdrawn, he still could be credited with the victory.

Q. What is a good definition of a lyric?—T. F.

A. A lyric is a short poem, musical in style and personal in tone.

Q. How fast does the average child learn to talk?—B. R.

A. Elizabeth Cleveland says that the child begins to use single words at from 10 months to a year old. At 23 months he should be using simple phrases. By the time he is 3 he has a large vocabulary (500 to 1,500 words) and can converse well enough for his own practical purposes.

Q. What is meant by letting ice cream ripen?—L. K.

A. After ice cream is frozen, the water in the freezer is drained off, fresh ice and salt added, and the freezer covered. The ice cream then "ripens," that is becomes smooth and creamy.

Q. What was the Bannatype club?—F. G.

A. It was a Scottish literary club named from George Bannatype, founded under the presidency of Sir Walter Scott in 1823, and dissolved in 1859. It was devoted to the publication of works on Scottish history and literature.

Q. What was the date of the last continual burnt offering made by the Jews in Jerusalem?—T. W.

A. The last continual burnt offering was probably made by the Jews, A. D. 71, since which time no such offering has been made.

Q. How many species of ants are there?—A. P. M.

A. There are more than 3,500 species of ants.

Q. Did the broad a of the English originate with the Irish?—A. W.

A. Professor Grandgent of Harvard university says that the earlier English "ah" became short a by the 16th century. Until 1780 or thereabouts the standard language had no broad a. Benjamin Franklin, who recorded in 1768 the pronunciation of his day, knew no "ah." Evidence indicates that it appeared again in London speech between 1780 and 1790. There is no basis for the statement that it originated with the Irish.

Q. Can the weight of ice be determined by measuring the size of the piece?—J. B.

A. The bureau of standards says that one cubic foot of ice weighs approximately 57 pounds; 30 cubic inches of ice weighs approximately one pound. These equivalents may be used in determining, by measurement, the approximate weight of a piece of ice.

PENSION RATE BOOSTS FELT

Solons' Generosity Worries Administration

WASHINGTON, June 9. (INS)—Readiness of congress to boost pension rates and world war veterans' compensation allowances has filled the administration with new fears of a treasury deficit.

Having already passed bills raising pension rates for both Spanish-American war and civil war veterans and widows, congress is now engaged in an "under cover" fight over bills which may increase world war compensation cost from $100,000,000 to $300,000,000 a year.

Warnings have already been issued that passage of the Rankin bill for world war veterans would cause a deficit. The house ignored the warning of Representative Wood, Republican, of Indiana, chairman of the appropriations committee, and backers of the bill in the senate claim enough votes to pass it.

Congress has hewed closely to the budget line this session except for pension bills, according to administration leaders. With the campaign ahead, the pressure for pension bills has been stronger than it has for years, they say.

The Spanish-American war pension bill, passed over presidential veto, boosts pension costs $4,500,000 a year. The civil war bill, which has passed both houses, is estimated to cost $14,364,000 a year.

A half dozen plans to liberalize the world war veterans' compensation act are now pending in the senate. The administration contemplated a bill that would cost from $20,000,000 to $30,000,000 a year, but was ignored.

The bill of Representative Rankin, Democrat, Mississippi, which passed the house has the backing of veterans' organizations, is estimated by its author to cost but $40,000,000 a year, while others have claimed the cost would be as high as $300,000,000.

Representative Knutson, Republican, of Minnesota, chairman of the house pensions committee, today proposed a substitute plan, adopting the pensions system for world war veterans.

In a letter to Senator Smoot, Republican, of Utah, chairman of the senate finance committee, Knutson said:

"It is safe to say we have squandered hundreds of millions of dollars in the administration of the world war veterans act, much of it in rehabilitation that was ineffective."

Building Repairs Increase Pay Rolls

BILOXI, Miss., June 9. (AP)—Millions of dollars this year were released by members of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers for building trades pay rolls through the rehabilitating of old buildings as a result of the Hoover business service conference, Paul M. Robertson of Indianapolis, association president, told members today at the opening of the 23rd annual meeting.

In commending the conference called by President Hoover last December, which "gave the country facts so business could act accordingly," he said it resulted in the rehabilitation program releasing unemployment through releasing money which otherwise would not have been spent, and afforded an opportunity for using the building association as an advisory group for construction programs initiated by building owners.

turn to the flat. She did not tell of her ride with Sheila nor mention Andy's proposal of marriage, and Andy's comments showed he had no remembrance of either.

"But what are you going to do now if you're not going back home?" Andy asked. "You can't stay here.'

"Why not?' Mercy asked sharply, pausing in the act of pouring thick cream over a bowl of red raspberries.

"Great suffering catnip! Why not! Good Lord, girl, are your brains in pickle?'

"No-o, I guess that wouldn't do," replied Mercy, shaking her head musingly, "at least, not until we are married."

Andy's nervous start almost upset the table. Recovering his balance, he eyed her keenly.

"Keeper, she's broke out of her padded cell," he said. "Now, what's the big idea? Who said anything about getting married?"

"I did."

"Well, I didn't."

"Yes you did, too! You proposed to me last night in the car, and, oh, Andy, you did it so nicely! You told me over and over again how much you loved me, and you said we could live here and Ike could stay on and take care of us both and you would get me the loveliest little diamond and platinum engagement ring and—"

A long and boisterous laugh broke in on her recital.

"Did I honestly pull all that?" he gurgled. "Gee, I musta been going good! I'm getting better every drunk; that bootlegger ought to get a bonus. Say, Goofy Gertie, you, you don't mean to tell me you fell for it?"

A hard glint crept into Mercy's eyes as she listened to his railery.

"You've been going with me a long time," she said, with a brave assumption of outraged dignity. "I had a right to expect that your intentions were honorable." She turned on him fiercely. "Don't you love me?" she demanded.

"Oh, come off the stepladder," he replied. "Of course, I like you a lot, even when I'm sober." His eyes twinkled teasingly. "But I can't get married." His tone changed to one of serious tenderness. "Listen, kiddo, you're a good little box of tricks and I'd sooner marry you than any girl I know, but just now I'm over my head in debt, and if Homer—that boss of yours—doesn't help pull me out I'm sunk. It might even come to the point where I'd have to go to work. Horrible thought, isn't it? But if everything comes out all right maybe you and I can fix things up. Let it go at that now, won't you?"

Mercy saw that her battle was lost; but even a half a promise is better than none, and a battle lost is only a part of a war. The war would go on, she would see to that! She was entirely skeptical of Andy's plea of threatened poverty. So she yielded gracefully.

"Now" said Andy, "if you're still poisonous toward your folk you've got to find a place to live. We'd better look up a room for you right away. Where's this morning's Record News?"

He found the paper and, sweeping the dishes to one side, spread it open on the table at the classified advertising section. Mercy came around and leaned over his shoulder. They read through the list of furnished rooms for rent.

"Here's one that looks good," Andy said, "listen to this:

~~ELEVENTH STREET~~ — Beautifully furnished sleeping apartment; tile bath; private; 1 or 2 persons; 5 minutes to town.

"But, Andy, that sounds awfully expensive," Mercy protested.

"Forget it," Andy replied "we can fix that. It's a good location, far enough from your folks and not very far from me. I'll call up and get the address."

In Andy's car they went to inspect the room. It was in a recently constructed building of small apartments. Mercy's eyes glowed at its fine appointments. The janitor was in charge of the renting. Andy gave Homer Menton, attorney, as reference and paid in advance, a month's rent—to Mercy a staggering sum.

In the negotiations, the janitor had assumed Andy and Mercy were married, but Andy had not noticed his error. As they were leaving, Mercy darted back for a last word with the janitor.

"I hope the neighbors are congenial," she said loftily, "you see, my husband and I are both employed, but he is out of town a good deal, and I will be quite alone often at nights."

The janitor assured her she would be "as safe as in her own home." When Mercy rejoined Andy he asked:

"What were you vamping the janitor for?"

"I told him you had a great deal of business out of town and would frequently be away at night," she replied calmly.

"Holy mackerel," Andy exclaimed, "you led him to believe we are married? Now if I don't turn up often around here, he will be suspecting all kinds of things!"

"Uh, huh," she said and smiled complacently.

Health and Diet Advice

Milk Is a Natural Food for Babies

If there is such a thing as a natural food, milk, no doubt, comes under this category, as it is the only food distinctly provided by nature as a food for animals. After about the age of two, however, it is not a complete food, as it lacks iron. In babies, this lack of iron in milk is provided for by a large quantity of iron being stored in the liver and other tissues.

When mother's milk is not available for the baby, the best substitute seems to be cow's milk or goat's milk. The human race has been using animal milk for about the last 12,000 years so that it has proven its value as a useful food.

When using milk, you have your choice of either the raw certified milk or the pasteurized. When raw milk is used it should only be from cows that have passed a health inspection. If there is any doubt about the health of the cows or the cleanliness in the handling of the milk it should be pasteurized. Pasteurized milk does not have as much food value as milk in the raw state, because the heating which it undergoes destroys some of the vitamins, especially vitamin C. However, this deficiency can be made up if, in addition to the milk, fresh fruit juices or other foods containing vitamin C are used.

Pasteurizing milk is no doubt the best plan for large communities because of the necessity for so much handling and transportation. While pasteurizing cannot make the milk clean, it does give an element of safety in the use of milk so treated. This is much more important in summer than in winter, as the heat of the summer months encourages a greater growth of bacteria. It has been said that no disease epidemic has ever been traced to pasteurized milk, but many epidemics have been traced to raw milk which has been produced under unclean conditions. For this reason it is probably the safest plan for the average family to depend upon pasteurized milk unless they are able to buy certified inspected raw milk which is usually more expensive.

Milk requires about the same length of time to digest as any other protein. However, when mixed with any other proteins digestion is delayed in the stomach and for this reason it is much better to use milk alone or in combination with some of the acid fruits. Digestion takes place far easier if the acid fruits are combined with the milk, as this combination produces small curds which the digestive juices can penetrate more easily.

Milk is a real food and for this reason it should not be taken between meals. One may make an entire meal of milk, using as much as desired, and adding some acid fruit or some of the non-starchy vegetables, such as spinach or string beans. The milk diet is often of great value for those who are suffering from some form of gastrointestinal disturbance. An exclusive milk diet is probably the best treatment that has been devised for ulcers of the stomach. Undernourished children, too, often benefit by the use of an exclusive milk diet. In some diseases, such as chronic catarrh and frequent colds the use of milk does not seem to be advisable, and where there is poor liver functioning it is advisable to avoid cream, or milk that is too rich.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Heart Operation

Question: Mrs. J. B. asks—"Will you please tell me if a narrowed heart valve can be operated upon? I have heard that these operations have been performed and have been successful. How long would it take one to recover from such an operation?"

Answer: I have heard of a few instances where such operations have been performed, but have not been able to find where any good results have been permanent. The best treatment I know of is one where the blood is made less toxic through a corrective dietary. The heart valves tend to relax as the blood becomes more pure and there is less irritation.

Eats Dirt

Question: Mrs. K. writes—"I have a craving for freshly plowed dirt. I would like to know if there is something lacking in my food. I can't eat the dirt for it makes me sick. Nothing seems to satisfy me. I always have a hard lump come up in my throat whenever I smell fresh dirt."

Answer: Try a diet composed entirely of uncooked vegetables and fruits. Such a diet will give you plenty of organic minerals which your system may be craving. If this does not satisfy you after two or three weeks I would advise you to consult a psychoanalyst or psychologist, who may be able to explain to you the cause of your unnatural craving.

Cramps

Question: F. M. I. asks—"What is the cause of getting cramps in the toes and calf of leg? What can be done for it?"

Answer: Cramps in the toes and calf of leg may come from taking too much exercise or from wearing improperly fitted shoes.

SANTA ANA, Calif., June 9. (UP) California's famous sunshine will not be used by Prof. Albert A. Michaelson when he clocks the speed of light in elaborate tests here next week.

Instead, the famous physicist will use artificial sunlight in his attempt to correct what he has called his "final contribution" to human knowledge.

After years of research Dr. Michelson gave to the scientific world the accepted calculation that light travels 186,184 miles per second.

A discrepancy of less than 1-100th of one per cent is believed to exist between the figure and the fact and it is to make a correction that a speed course for a light beam has been built here.

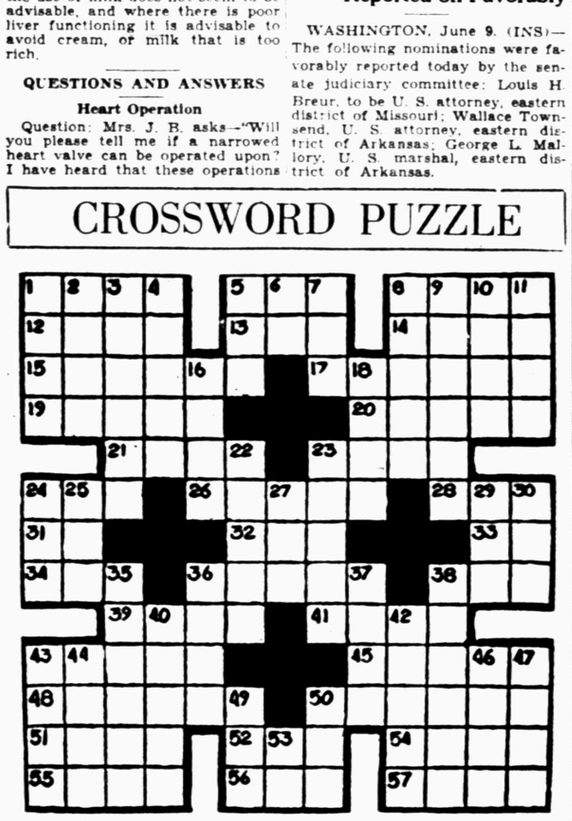

Scientists eagerly await the result. To them it means corrections in the calculations of the distance of the stars, in the movement of the solar system, and in any number of studies.

Dr. Michelson will arrive from Chicago June 16 to make the tests in which he will send a beam of light from an electric arc light flashing back and forth through a mile-long vacuum tube.

Today's Pome

Eenie meenie minee mo,
Or so I was taught to sing it,
Caught a nigger by the toe—
But that, you see, wasn't in Sherman.

The mighty Spudders, mates, are to inaugurate night baseball in the Texas league in the three cities that now have the starlight pastime under consideration, according to tentative plans now being worked out by the clubs in question. Certain it is, according to Manager Del Pratt of the Waco Cubs, that when the Spudders journey to Waco on June 17, the arc lights will be ready to operate, and hence the first night baseball game in Texas will feature the league leaders. And then Houston is expected to have its night baseball plan in operation when the Spudders open there June 23. Then follows Shreveport, where club officials are planning to have their plant ready when we open there June 28. All of the games of each series likely will be played at night, according to plans now being worked out.

A better plan than having the Spudders open up these new plants could not be devised. Of course, patrons of the noble sport down here in Texas have not seen night baseball, and will naturally be attracted to the starlight arena. But in addition to this lure for the curious, it will be the Spudders who will play the first night games, and somehow or another the fans in this giant state have suddenly taken a terrific interest in everything that the Williamsmen do. The Williamsmen, then, will be excellent drawing cards for the first Texas night games, and they should be successes.

Night baseball has taken the Texas league firmly in its grip, apparently, even though the Fort Worth club balks at the idea. The Cats even went so far as to say their players would not be allowed to play games at night. Such opposition is futile. They will either come around to the plan or be completely ostracized, and, in fact, shoved aside to allow room for another city more in sympathy with the game's progress in the minor loops. There is no doubt but what Waco, for instance, will reap a splendid harvest from the night games. So with Shreveport, and both of these towns need turnstile inspiration. Houston, of course, does not especially need it, but is installing the plant just to keep apace of the times. Wichita Falls does not especially need night baseball, because this town is thoroughly a baseball center, where the crowds are generally good. It seems unlikely that the Spudder powers will be willing to spend the thousands of dollars necessary to the project while gate receipts are holding up as well as they are now.

Skipper Williams and his rampant charges naturally are a little nervous at the prospect of night baseball, and no doubt the outfielders are especially concerned with just what a baseball looks like up in the gloom of the sky. But this apprehension, more than likely, will disappear. The Western league players were shaky at the prospect of their first night games, but they pulled through with little difficulty, and the Spudders will do the same.

Of course, there will be all kinds of complaints, at first. For one thing, baseball players are renowned for their social inclinations, so to speak, after the afternoon games. Their regular hours, in other words, will be interrupted. In fact, they will have to lead the social life of newspaper men who work at night. Us slaves, through long years, have gotten used to the riffle, and usually arrange our social engagements to fit our ghastly hours. But with ball players this arrangement is likely to prove difficult. For one thing, ball players are more stern in their demands for pleasure than scribes. After pecking at a typewriter the long night through, the scribe simply doesn't give a dern what happens afterwards, so long as he is not hi-jacked on the way home, or finds cockleburrs between the sheets when he finally throws his weary bones therein for a bit o' rest. But a ball player is a person with remarkable strength and endurance, and the night baseball game over, he is likely to make his usual demands upon life. Result: He straggles into bed about 5 a. m. and wakes up about 3 in the afternoon feeling pediculous. It takes him until 6 to sip his morning coffee and get to feeling right, and then he's got to don a uniform and start batting practice. Repeat this seven nights per week, and in the end you'll have a baseball team ready for the morgue.

INDIANS WIN OPENER, 6 TO 4

Burns and Kloza Connect For Home Runs

By FRED D. THOMPSON

Dapper little Dick Florrid, the nimble right-hander who has starred in so many games this season as a relief hurler, started his first game of the season at Athletic park Monday afternoon, and though he was charged with a 6 to 4 loss to the lowly San Antonio Indians, the final verdict can scarcely be traced to Florrid's efforts.

True, the youngster allowed nine hits in the eight and one-third innings he toiled, but with proper support from the infield at least two and maybe more of the runs the Indians put over never would have been made. One of the Indian runs was unearned, being allowed by Euller's boot in the seventh inning, and an error by Storti in the first allowed Ballew, first man up, to reach first and be driven in by his successors at the plate. In addition, Florrid was all over the infield after batted balls, and assisted in eight putouts during his stay on the mound.

Hard Put to Win

The Indians, in fact, had to sweat mightily for their six tallies, while the Spudders put over what few runs they did make with comparative ease, Fitzgerald doubling in the first and scoring on Kloza's single, Kloza's home run in the fifth finding Fitzgerald on the paths, and finally, Burns' terrific homer in the eighth over the centerfield wall marking up the last counter.

Florrid stuck on to the very last in his first attempt to pitch the route, being relieved by Hillin in the last frame with one out. Chaplin went the distance for the Tribe, limiting the Spudders to seven hits which he kept fairly well scattered o'er the duration of the battle.

The loss to the Indians shattered the Spudders' winning streak, and coupled with the outcome of Houston's double-header with the Cats set the Williamsmen back half a game, leaving the league leaders five and one-half games in the lead. For the Buffs divided the bargain bill, Fort Worth winning the first and dropping the second.

Snappy Warriors

The Indians played snappy baseball from the very first inning Monday, and ere the first frame had passed they had taken advantage of Storti's miscue and plugged a runner around to the plate. Ballew, after making first on the error, went to second on Hamilton's roller down the first base line, took third on Schinkel's sacrifice to center, and scored on J. Moore's sacrifice in the same direction. Hamilton was thrown out stealing, Crouch to Levey, to end the period.

The game then rocked along with the score tied, one and one, until the fifth, when Kloza's four-base swat gave the Spudders a two-run lead. But the Indians came from behind in the seventh with a three-run rally. It started when Schinkel, the great-bodied left fielder, doubled to center. J. Moore singled in the same direction, Schinkel taking third. Riley flied out to Bettencourt. Dondero sacrificed to center, Schinkel scoring. Kott singled to left, advancing J. Moore to third, and took second on the throw-in. Laveque clouted to Euller, who booted it, J. Moore scoring and Kott taking third. Chaplin singled to right, scoring Kott and advancing Laveque to second. Ballew grounded out, Florrid to Burns, to close the inning.

The Spudders went scoreless in their half of the seventh but the Indians returned in the eighth to score again. Hamilton raised the curtain with a single to left. Schinkel sacrificed, Florrid to Burns, advancing Hamilton to second. J. Moore blistered a single to right, scoring Hamilton. Riley grounded out, Storti to Burns, J. Moore taking second, and Dondero flied out to Kloza.

Burns' home run then brightened local complexions in the eighth, but the Indians in the ninth put over their sixth tally. Kott strolled to open the frame. Laveque sacrificed, Florrid to Burns, sending Kott to second. Chaplin singled to short, sending Kott to third and at this juncture Hillin relieved Florrid. Ballew forced Chaplin at second, Storti unassisted, and Kott scored. Hamilton grounded out, Levey to Burns, to close the inning.

Scoreless in Ninth

Euller flied out to center. Geygan, batting for Hillin, popped out to third, and Levey struck out in the ninth, leaving the two-run lead the Indians amassed insurmountable.

The two teams play the second game of the series this afternoon.

Fans Line Up at Garden Gate To Buy Tickets for Great Title Bout

$40,000 Invested by Purchasers Monday; Fighters to Close Up Shop Today at Training Camps

By EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 9.—The ardor of the faithful, undimmed by the consistent mediocrity of recent heavyweight exhibitions, stood the final test of a cheerless and steady rain today to rally round the box offices of Madison Square Garden.

The coffers of the milk fund were swelled by $40,000 during the day as growing interest lined up the vanguard of the last minute customers in a steady parade to purchase tickets for Jack Sharkey's 15-round title joust with Max Schmeling in the Yankee stadium Thursday night. With $90,000 in cash taken in Friday and Saturday the promoters announced that the big show is certain to draw a gross gate of over $700,000. The prices are $2, $5, $13 and $25, plus tax.

Training Ends Today

The fighters will shut up shop tomorrow, rest Wednesday, and slip into town Thursday morning in time for the weighing in at 2 p. m.

Sharkey, after drying out Wednesday, will motor to the city from Orangesburg, N. Y., and Schmeling will come down from Endicott by train, arriving Wednesday evening. He will spend the night somewhere on the outskirts of the city. The German heavyweight today abandoned his plan of flying to New York with friends in a Junkers-plane Thursday morning, because of threatening weather.

While a small army of carpenters and architects worked in the rain at the stadium to fit the ball park for the crowd of 70,000, the garden wrestled with the final details of the radio broadcast and Schmeling's handlers prepared for a last ditch fight at the meeting of the New York State Athletic commission tomorrow to restore Joe Jacobs to temporary grace. The solemn fathers have refused so far to determine the standing of the Teuton's manager of choice who has been suspended here for some time. Indications were that the commission would grant Jacobs a temporary license in time for him to enter Schmeling's corner.

Although the Garden has decided upon the National Broadcasting company as the air medium for transmitting the action to the stay-at-homes, details have been withheld.

Referee Is Secret

There have been no arguments over the choice of a referee. Both camps abiding without protest to the commission's ruling that an unknown will be tapped for duty just before the battle begins.

The betting odds held firm at 8 to 5 in Sharkey's favor with the odds 1 to 3 against his scoring a knockout and 1 to 7 against Schmeling finishing his man before the 15 rounds are over. With most of the opinions definitely set among the critics, the ballyhoo turned into old but always refreshing channels with the discovery that the Teuton challenger has been training mornings in secret in the old barn on the estate where he has been living at Endicott.

The critics who already have picked Sharkey insist, however, that Max was caught with a putter in his hands instead of boxing gloves.

Philadelphia Adds to Lead Over Rivals

CHICAGO, June 9. (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics increased their lead in the American league to three full games today as they defeated the White Sox, 3 to 2, while Cleveland was downing Washington.

Bob Weiland, the White Sox erratic southpaw, held the champions at mercy for eight innings, setting them down with four scattered hits. He weakened in the ninth allowing the Athletics to bunch two hits with a walk and a sacrifice fly, which scored the tying and winning runs.

Walberg, who started for Philadelphia, was touched for eight hits during his sojourn on the mound but was relieved by a pinch hitter in the eighth. Quinn finished the game. Score:

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, June 9. (AP)—The feature of the price movement in cotton today was a break of 56 points in July under selling which was attributed to liquidation of trailing long accounts.

July contracts broke to 15.04 and closed at 15.05 while the new October sold off to 13.83 and closed at 13.87. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 55 points on July and of 12 to 18 points on later deliveries.

The opening was barely steady at a decline of 3 to 7 points under selling influenced by reports of favorable weather in the cotton belt over Sunday. Owing to the Whitsuntide holidays there were no cables from Liverpool to affect sentiment here either way, but offerings increased after the call and some stop orders were uncovered on the decline. Prices eased in consequence, with spurts of covering supplied on moderate bulges and the market became unsettled during the middle of the day when there was liquidation of July, believed to be partly for far eastern or other foreign accounts and was supposed to include one line of about 10,000 bales.

Reports of weakness in the stock market also appeared to be a factor and new crop positions sold about 15 to 21 points net lower, with the old October declining to 14.13 and the new December contract to 13.93, making new low ground for the movement. Offerings then tapered off somewhat and later fluctuations were irregular, with new crop months showing rallies of a few points from the lowest at the close. Closing quotation for July showed a premium of 118 points over the new October, compared with 157 points at the close of Saturday.

Exports today, 14,242, making 8,485,239 so far this season. Port receipts, 6,398. U. S. port stocks, 1,711,345.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, June 9. (AP)—Cotton was fairly active today and decidedly erratic.

In the absence of Liverpool first trades here were 4 points down to 1 up. The market eased and by the end of the first hour July traded at 15.14 and October at 13.91, down 11 to 12 points from Saturday's close.

Later July developed considerable weakness due, it was rumored, to selling by spot interest by the cooperatives and by the Japanese and traded down to 14.72, or 52 points below Saturday's close. October declined only 18 points to 13.85 and the difference between the months which was 122 points at close Saturday narrowed to 88 points.

The market rallied about 9 to 10 points in the early afternoon but July later duplicated its low on renewed selling and closed at the bottom at 14.73, or 52 points net lower while October closed at 13.89, down 14 points for the day.

Prices Break Through Panic Lows As Bears Flood Wobbly Market

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, June 9. (US)—Selling movement gained additional momentum today in the stock market and prices suffered the most severe day's decline in a month. Railroad shares slumped to the lowest levels of the year while industrials on the average were within a few points of the year's former bottom levels. Many more stocks broke through the panic lows. At no time during today's trading was there more than a temporary halt in the outpouring of stocks which came onto the market with hardly a halt at the rate of almost a million shares an hour. The volume of trading exceeded 4,600,000 shares. Prices yielded steadily before the persistent liquidation which included frightened selling from the public as well as constant continued pounding by professional bears. Support was lacking except for buying on a scale downward. Wide open breaks occurred in Volatile Specialties which had been overboomed but the leading stocks suffered uninterrupted decline which served further to unnerve timid holders.

Lacking any other explanation the story spread that investment trusts were heavy sellers of stocks. The fact is however that "investment trusts" in many instances are merely trading units, reflecting nothing more or less than the market beliefs of an individual or perhaps a small group. In other words, in their day-to-day trading such companies are nothing more than ordinary speculators. Of course this doesn't apply to many genuine investment trusts, but it does fit as description for many enterprises which were floated when the public went wild for any sort of investment trust. The market reflected more than any such selling the changed attitude toward many issues which had been boosted without regard for fundamentals. This applies particularly to the motion picture stocks, all of which were under heavy pressure. Warner dropped over 8 points, Paramount 3, Radio-Keith 6, Loew 7, Fox 4. The motion picture companies went in for enormous expansion and now that they have these new acquisitions some of them find that the price paid was stiff. Earnings per share may be diluted as a result. Then, too, there was talk of cutting admissions at the motion picture houses.

No group escaped the selling. The Copper shares, however, acted proportionately better than any other. They have already passed through a severe degree of deflation. Practically all of the bad news that had been expected has been disclosed. President Guggenheim's statement that American Smelting's dividend was safe brought some buying into the stock. The highest-grade stocks suffered with the market; American Can was supported for a brief period but finally slumped over 4 points. Radio was freely offered as additional liquidation was brought on by full realization of its decision not to issue a quarterly report. Case Threshing suffered the largest decline, breaking wide open on absence of any nearby bids. Vanadium also broke badly, closing down over 9 points. Foster-Wheeler, another recently active specialty, was well supported and after rising sharply at the opening yielded with the list to close off a few points. Motor stocks were steadily sold.

Steel common was closely watched for signs of support, but it yielded to a new low within 12 points of its panic bottom at 150. Banking buying, however, came into Steel for the first time in many weeks, but it was on a scale downward. Nevertheless, the fact that this important demand has finally appeared for the leading industrial on the board was accepted as indicating that the most important banking interests consider the present decline has proceeded long enough. Steel common the last two market days has yielded only stubbornly.

General Electric was offered in large blocks and finally broke through 75. Westinghouse, Standard of New Jersey, United Corporation, Consolidated Gas and other leaders all yielded to the pressure of selling, but Consolidated seemed well taken. It now is selling below the price at which United Corporation has steadily bought the stock.

In most stocks the only nearby support was furnished by short covering. The bears were aided in their covering by the relatively heavy liquidation for public account. The sudden and substantial increase in volume of selling, which for the day more than doubled the last previous full market day, convinced many competent observers that the present phase of the market's setback may be nearing its conclusion.

A decline in cotton failed to help sentiment, but this was offset by strength in wheat and other grains. Foreign exchanges remained relatively quiet.

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, June 9. (AP)—Wheat was slightly higher as the week opened on the Fort Worth cash grain market with bids running $1.09¼@1.11, basis delivered Texas common points for ordinary No. 1 hard milling according to billing and quality. Demand was reported only fair.

Sorghums continued to be taken actively with offerings light. Barley was again in fair demand and corn and oats were easy selling.

Bids and offers on coarse grains ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Corn—No. 2 mixed 97@98c; No. 2 white $1.02@1.03; No. 2 yellow $1.00@1.01.

Oats—No. 2 red 53@54c.

Barley—No. 2 63@64c.

Sorghums—No. 2 milo per 100 pounds $2.13@2.16; No. 2 kaffir $1.90@1.93.

Dealers also quoted basis delivery Texas group 1 points; No. 2 mixed corn 95@95½c; No. 2 white $1.00@1.01½; No. 2 yellow 98@99c; No. 3 white oats 51½@52c, to which add 1c for delivery Texas group 3.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 9. (AP)—Optimism that suited well the magnificence and beauty of the Chicago board of trade's new building found reflection in higher prices for all grains today. The upward swing of values was the more remarkable as being in the face of severe setbacks shown by securities.

Closing quotations on wheat were firm at the day's topmost figures, 1@1½c a bushel higher than Saturday's finish. Corn closed ⅜@⅞c up, oats ⅛@½c advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 2c.

Estimates of new export business in North American wheat put the day's total at as much as 1,500,000 bushels notwithstanding the handicap of holidays abroad.

Corn and oats took their cue chiefly from the action of wheat.

Provisions derived firmness from the upward trend of grain, notwithstanding that the hog market had an evident opposite tilt.

Closing indemnities: wheat—July $1.05⅞@1.06, $1.08⅝; Sept. $1.03⅝@1.03¾, $1.11⅜@1.11½; Dec. $1.13⅜@1.16. Corn—July 81⅝@81½c, 82⅝@82½c. Sept. 81½@81⅜c, 82½c, Dec. 75⅞c, 76⅝@76⅞c.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, June 9. (US)—Dry weather and danger of crop damage in Western Canada are the most prominent wheat market factors at the present time. Sentiment in the local trade continues bearish, but shorts are apprehensive over possibilities of crop scares.

The short interest in corn is apparently still present, despite the heavy short covering of last week. Receipts were moderate today, but there was not as strong a shipping demand yesterday and the market was rather draggy, in view of the strength in wheat.

The crop report of the American Steel and Wire company says that corn has made very slow growth where it is up, but in most instances has been fairly well worked in most localities during the past weeks. There are many localities where the color is not of the best, but with favorable weather this should be rapidly overcome. The general appearance of the crop, however, is fair to good, the report concludes.

According to the same report, the winter wheat crop is rather spotty, reports ranging from poor to excellent, but taken as a whole, the crop may be considered to be in a promising condition.

Word from Europe says that Argentine shippers are offering only moderately and that while the wheat is only slightly above a parity with Liverpool, the grades are not attractive.

GRAIN YIELD PROVES FAIR

Crop Production Above Early Predictions

First returns from the wheat harvest which is just now starting on the plains of West Texas indicate a yield considerably better than grain men have predicted during the past two months, according to information brought back from Plainview by local citizens.

Deliveries made Friday and Saturday from the first harvesting in different sections near Plainview showed from 15 to 20 bushels per acre, instead of the 10 to 12 bushel yield which had been predicted. That such a surprising improvement in the estimated crop would prove general was the opinion of wheat dealers in that section, it was said.

Rolling stock of the railroads has been cleared and is being concentrated for movement of the wheat crop from Western Oklahoma and Northwest Texas during the coming few weeks, it was said. Preparations are being rushed at the local mill, including completion of 96 new bins, for handling the oncoming crop conveniently.

Half-way between the past and coming market peak for turkeys, prices on these birds dropped to a lower level Monday with local buyers. No. 1 toms and hens delivered here are now bringing 12 cents, old toms 10 cents, and No. 2 birds eight cents per pound. Broilers took a one-cent cut to list at 17 to 22 cents per pound delivered.

Production of eggs in this vicinity during the past month was considerably greater than in May, 1929, but deliveries of chickens were much smaller. Lower prices on dressed poultry throughout the country was said to have caused the reversal, producers choosing to use chickens as their home meat diet rather than sell to buy other meat.

U. S. ACE GRABS HEIGHT RECORD

Check Shows Soucek Went Up 43,166 Feet

WASHINGTON, June 9. (US)—The world's record for altitude came back to the United States today when the National Aeronautic association announced that Lieut. Apollo Soucek, navy ace, had thrust his Wasp-motored Wright plane 43,166 feet into the skies.

This is 1,372 feet higher than the previous mark made by Willy Neuenhofen at Dassau, Germany, in May, 1929, when he took the altitude crown from Soucek.

The record breaking flight was made unostentatiously last Wednesday when Soucek, in the presence of only a few friends, leisurely climbed into the cockpit of his 425 horsepower plane and disappeared. His return to earth was heralded by a faint wisp of white smoke which streaked across the sky.

Later slowly spiralling to earth, he modestly disclaimed any hope of breaking the record, saying:

"I got up to 41,500, by my altimeter and stayed around there for almost 20 minutes. Then I got her up another 500 feet and after trying to get her over that for almost 20 minutes more, I decided to quit and came down."

The only other man ever to exceed the 42,000 foot altitude was Captain Hawthorn G. Gray, an army balloonist, who was found dead in his gas bag after his altimeter registered 42,270 feet. This was 400 feet less than Lieut. Soucek's mark.

Air pressure and temperature at remarkably low levels were registered by the Soucek instruments made public today. The air pressure at the excessive altitude was only 118 millimetres and the temperature was down to 89 degrees Fahrenheit below zero.

Soucek is now the holder of two world's records, having taken the same plane equipped with pontoons to a world's hydroplane altitude record of 38,560 feet last June.

The eight-mile-up record made by Soucek will not alter his orders for assignment to the battle air fleet on the airplane carrier Lexington, it was said at the navy department today. Secretary of the Navy Adams was jubilant over the result.

Twelfth of Escaped Madmen Recaptured

HASTINGS, Mich., June 9. (AP)—The twelfth of the 13 men who escaped from the state prison for criminal insane at Ionia last Tuesday was arrested here last night by watchmen as he was about to board a freight train. He is Henry Vaden, 29, negro slayer.

The only one of the group remaining at large today was Gerald Badgley, 21, committed for automobile theft. All of the dozen recaptured were found in Michigan.

Eight special portable radio sets to be carried on the back of mules have been sold to the war department of Venzuela by an American firm.

Junior Group to Award Prizes Saturday

Children of the city who grew zinnias for the flower contest sponsored during the spring by the civic improvements committee of the Junior chamber of commerce will display their flowers at the Industrial Mart next Saturday morning at 10 o'clock for adjudication by the judges, it was announced Monday.

Nine cash prizes will be provided for winners of competition in nine classes, all but one of them for zinnias, the flower named by the sponsors of the contest as best adapted for quick and general culture in the "city beautification" campaign.

All children entering flowers in competition for these awards are asked to have their entries at the Industrial Mart, 911 Eighth street, by 10 o'clock Saturday morning, June 14, in order that they may be placed in display spaces before 11 o'clock when judging will take place. Judges will be Mrs. Bert Bean, president of the Garden club, Mrs. F. P. Timberlake, past-president of the Garden club; and Edwin Bebb, florist. Following their exhibition for judging Saturday morning, the flowers will remain on display throughout Saturday afternoon and Sunday for the public.

Exhibitors should bring their own vases for the flowers which they enter, those in charge announced. Only numbers will be used in identifying the entries for the judges.

Principals of schools whose students entered the contest for schoolground improvement are asked to get in touch with the Junior chamber of commerce, in order that arrangements may be made with the judges to grade the improvements made at such schools. A cash prize will be awarded in that contest, as in individual competition. Other contests are as follows:

Six best red zinnias, children over 10.

Six best red zinnias, children under 10.

Six best yellow zinnias, children over 10.

Six best yellow zinnias, children under 10.

Twelve best mixed zinnias, children over 10.

Twelve best mixed zinnias, children under 10.

At the Theaters

By ELEANOR FLEMING

MAJESTIC: "Anna Christie," with Greta Garbo, Charles Bickford, George Marriott and Marie Dressler. Talking shorts. Sound news.

STRAND: "Safety in Numbers," with Buddy Rogers at his best, anyhow. Harry Langdon speaks in "Sky Boy." Pathe unit, "Ship Ahoy." Sound news.

STATE: "The Woman Racket," with Tom Moore and Blanche Sweet. Talking comedy, "The Plasterers." Felix the Cat in "Meow." Sound news.

GEM: Ralph Graves and Olive Borden in "The Eternal Woman." Comedy, "Cracked Wedding Bells," and western, "Dynamite's Daughter."

Buddy Rogers has either taken a turn for the better of his own accord, or has seen Robert Montgomery often enough to absorb some of his technique, judging from his performance in "Safety in Numbers." It could be, of course, the changing viewpoint of a person who is suddenly thrust into a theater critic's role without any practice, but it seems as if young Rogers is beginning to entertain his most disgusted fans.

The haircut helped considerably, this one being only about two weeks old and therefore quite an improvement over the curls that usually hang down his neck.

Haircut or not haircut, Montgomery or Rogers, theater critic or just plebeian movie-goer, the young man about whom the New York chorus girls revolve in the dizziest of new steps is a clever one, far cleverer than Buddy Rogers has ever seemed before. No one could possibly advance the boy as a singer of any sort, but he fills his place—which is to start a tune in people's heads and pronounce some clever lines just distinctly enough that they will have to buy the music or else da-da-de-da.

There is nothing new about the plot (suited to please that inconsistent and yet constant General public) but the trimmings bring it several Moments; for example—"Yes, New York, the city just across the river from America"; three girls from the Follies walking the floor at 3 a. m. in the approved grandmother fashion, waiting for the multimillionaire boy who has been entrusted to their care; or "Boitram" being interviewed by New York reporters in his own shy, modest way.

The injection of satire at the points where the plot threatens to become a little sloppy is another genuine idea. The ever-increasing crowds who form an audience for the melodramatic ending bring in the sort of laugh that somehow hits the spot most effectively—the guffaw at the next-door neighbors.

Bee-Coming? Sure!

Even though it was only an artificial one, this bee certainly knew its honey when it began buzzing around Mary Brian's bonnet. And you'll have to agree this new style in millinery is bee-coming to the winsome talkie star. It's expected to start a fad.

2,000 Children Attend Programs at Parks

Approximately 2,000 children attended the supervised play activities at the three parks last week, it was announced Monday by C. C. Bunnenberg, park superintendent.

Sixth street park led with a total of 783 while Miles O'Reilley reported an attendance of 622. Scotland had 510. Handcraft of various designs was the project for the past week and will be continued throughout this week, it was announced.

An average attendance of 75 at each of the swimming pools was reported for the past week. Water games, for the purpose of overcoming the fear of the water and encouraging the children to learn to swim, are being conducted at each of the pools.

STREET CAR BLAZE

A short in the wiring caused a fire in the control box of a street car at Eighth street and Ohio avenue about 5 o'clock Monday afternoon, placing the car out of use, according to the report of fire department officials. The amount of damage was not estimated, although extensive repairs will have to be made before the car can be used again, it was said. The small blaze was quickly extinguished by firemen from Central station.

Tuesday's meeting will be held at noon at the Kemp hotel.

5 STORES BURN AT GRANDFIELD

$100,000 Lost as Blaze Sweeps Town

GRANDFIELD, Okla., June 9. (UP)—Wists of smoke rose today from the blackened debris of one half block of Grandfield's business houses after a disastrous fire that destroyed five business houses and stock and damaged two others.

The fire originated in the Grandfield bakery early today. It raged through the buildings on either side and threatened for a time to destroy the entire block. Fire departments from three cities brought it under control within two hours. The Frederick, Grandfield and Burkburnett, Texas, fire departments combined to put out the blaze.

Total loss suffered by merchants and owners of the buildings was estimated at more than $100,000.

The stores destroyed were the City bakery, City cleaners, Garner's Cash store, Rexall Drug store and W. S. Isom and company.

The C. L. Mount Drygoods store and Fair store were damaged.

Actress Suing For Heart Balm Tells Troubles

LOS ANGELES, Calif., June 9. (INS)—Her romance with Charles T. Davis, millionaire Dannemora prison ex-convict ended when he told her to "get out" of his palatial Tujunga home was the version today of Miss Cano Morris, former Follies beauty in discussing her $200,000 breach of promise suit against Davis.

Denying that she left Davis' home "without reason," Miss Morris said:

"I left, not because I decided to, but because Charlie Davis told me to get out.

"I met him after a show party in Cleveland. He told me he had just been released from prison had 'fallen' for me and wanted me to go to California with him.

"He went West, sent me money and I came out. He was wonderful to me at first, bought me clothes, a $500 jade necklace—everything.

"One day he asked me to give him back all the endearing letters and telegrams and all the money order receipts he had sent me. I did. He even asked for the necklace. I was suspicious. Then he told me for the first time he was not divorced. I wanted to return to New York. He said I couldn't. We quarreled and I left to take this small apartment," Miss Morris said. In her suit Miss Morris charged Davis had induced her to come here to pose as his wife.

Under the direction of his wife, Davis' surgical supply factory in New York grew from a company worth $57,000 to $2,500,000 while he was serving a 9-year-prison sentence. He was released in March.

Mrs. Davis now is in Reno, Nevada, for the admitted purpose of divorcing Davis.

Tulsa Launches War On Milk Law Violators

TULSA, Okla., June 9. (UP)—The milk and dairy division of the city health department penalized 17 dairies today with three-day "cut offs" from sales during May for attempting to sell impure and unwholesome products, and in addition made 15 arrests for milk ordinance violations.

The department inspected 330 dairies and milk plants, collected and tested 279 samples of milk and cream and 341 efficiency samples of the same, as well as 30 samples of ice cream and tested 101 milk bottles. Special tests of market milk totaled 1,120.

County Approves Bond for Survey Of Drainage Area

The bond of F. P. Brown, named engineer to survey the area covered by the proposed drainage district southwest of the city, was approved Monday at the regular meeting of the county commissioners court. Mr. Brown is an engineer for the Wichita County Water Improvement districts and was selected to report on the advisibility of creating a drainage area in the land through which the city water aqueduct runs, between Lake Wichita and the water plant.

The May report of T. W. McHam, county treasurer, indicated a balance of $69,782.64 in the general fund, a considerably lower amount than the balance of last month. Fewer tax payments were given as the explanation for the lowered balance. The report also showed balances of $47,839.46 in the fund for precinct No. 1, $33,023.58 in that of precinct No. 2, $30,488.87 in that of precinct No. 3 and $25,024.19 in that of precinct No. 4. The jail fund showed a balance of $357.96.

Mr. McHam also presented the monthly report on Wichita County Drainage district No. 1 and Mrs. A. B. Eichelberger, district clerk, presented the March report of her office.

Tenant Sues Landlord for $1,782 As Half Interest in Unplanted Crop

A half interest in the value of an 85-acre cotton crop which was never planted was asked in a suit filed Monday in the 89th district court against V. T. Majors by James Evans, who claims he made an oral contract with Majors to plant, cultivate and reap a cotton crop on land belonging to Majors in return for a half interest in the cotton produced.

Majors, however, became angered with Evans without a good reason, the petition states, and forced the Evans family to leave the land. Majors was to have provided the tools, teams and seed for the crop and Evans was to provide the labor. At the time he was forced off the land, he had planted about 10 acres, Evans claims. The petition estimates the crop would have averaged at least one-half bale an acre, or a total of 47½ bales, worth $75 a bale. This would have brought Evans share to $1,781.25, but the petition states that Majors advanced Evans $113.45 when he first went to work on the land. However, Evans also claims his labor was worth $1.50 a day, or a total of $64.50, and further alleges Majors kept his horse when he was forced off the land, adding $50 to the damage claim and bringing the total claim to $1,782.75. The local law firm of Mathis & Caldwell are representing Evans.

Mrs. Datson Describes Day Nursery Work in Kiwanis Club Address

Analysis of methods used at the Wichita Falls Day Nursery for providing home training for each of the 37 children now being cared for was given before members of the Kiwanis club Monday noon by Mrs. F. T. Datson, superintendent.

Men who have been largely responsible for the organization and progress of the day nursery were given a report in the form of a conversational discussion of daily experiences there, rather than by statistics and financial reports.

While the dining room at the nursery was designed to accommodate only 45 children at one time, as many as 77 noonday meals have been served on six different days during the past year, Mrs. Datson said. Despite the crowded condition, and the necessity of effecting partial shifts, the atmosphere of a family has been retained at such times, Mrs. Datson sitting at the table and acting as "mother" to the entire group.

With present accommodations, no child of more than 11 years of age can be kept at the nursery, it was stated. Mrs. Datson expressed regret that children who have received careful training up to that age must be turned out to spend their days without supervision, too young to work, and no one at home.

During the first four months of 1930, the nursery served 6,016 meals, an increase of 899 over the corresponding period in 1929. Mrs. Datson was introduced by Joe N. Sherrill, of the sunshine committee, who recited briefly the history of the day nursery, and the part taken by the Kiwanis club in its development.

Misses Celia and Ann Sawyer of Brownwood, "harmony sisters," sang three blues numbers, being introduced by John Oechsner, program chairman. Ralph Eyer was welcomed to club membership by Phil M. Cordell.
