Maddox is a son of a former sheriff and tax collector of Floyd County, J. R. Maddox. He was reared here and his mother and two sisters, Mrs. Jack Deakins and Mrs. Hayes O'Neal are residents of Floydada.

Ventura is 200 miles distant from San Diego Bay where the ceremonies were held, but Maddox said he was glad and proud to make the journey to the port city representing his old Texas home county.

He was treated most courteously during and after the ceremonies, Maddox reported. He was a guest of the ship's commander for coffee and a chat after the formalities.

Revised Values For School Tax In The Making

An appraisal of all property in Floydada Independent School District, including farm lands and improvements, as well as city property is under way this week and is expected to be completed within the month of July.

Report that the survey is being made and is expected to be completed in time for the valuations to be reflected in the current school tax rolls was confirmed this week by Alva T. Hull, president of the board of education.

City of Floydada will cooperate with the school district in the appraisal of property within the limits of the municipality. However, the new values will not be used in the current tax rolls of the city. Tax inventories have already been completed for the city and the rolls are being made up following meetings of city board of equalization completed last week.

The appraisals for the 347 square miles of farming lands in the school district will be made by C. A. Whitfield, a Lubbock farm land appraiser, who has contracted to give the district board a complete file, together with plats, by August 1. His fee will be $5 per section of land.

For the city property, a licensed state land surveyor, B. T. Rucker, and associates, also of Lubbock, has been jointly employed by the school authorities and the city. Rucker will also furnish the school board with appraisals on gin and elevator property not within the city limits.

Improved city property, for the first time in the history of the community, will be measured, checked and given an appraisal value. The appraisals will include vacant lots and acreage within the corporate limits. Fees for the work in the city are expected to aggregate a probable $3,000, on a basis of $2.50 per unit.

Both Whitfield and Rucker had men in the field the past week.

When the appraisers finish their work, school and city authorities expect to take the records thus made as a basis for future valuations to be furnised boards of equalization. Heretofore equalizers have been handicapped by lack of information. As a result both city and school officials say that a considerable number of inequities in valuations may have occurred in past years.

Hull this week said that the appraisals do not necessarily mean that a taxpayer's values will be raised. The appraisals may actually result in a reduction in values for some property owners.

However, he did point out that more property than has been included in prior years will appear on the rolls and that the increase in values may reach a figure as high as $2 million. Present valuations in the school district are at a mark slightly above, $7,000,000.

CARL L. MINOR JR.

Carl Minor New Station Manager

Carl Minor Jr., has been named manager of Radio Station KFLD in Floydada.

Announcement that Minor had been named to succeed Wayne Robison, resigned, was made by the owners of the station last week-end.

Minor is a long-time resident of Floydada. For the past three years he has been commercial manager for the station.

Glenn Amburn will continue with the station as announcer and also will assist as salesman.

The station is owned by B. A. Robertson, Mrs. Alma Holmes and Marshall Formby.

Majority of 6 To One Ballots For The Issue

The board of education of Floydada Independent School District this week began laying their plans to carry out the mandate of voters Saturday for the construction of a new high school building, which, with other improvements to the school plant, calls for an outlay of $550,000.

Saturday's election gave the proposal to issue the bonds for the major school plant improvement a rousing majority of more than 6 to 1. The vote was 377 for, 67 against.

However, slightly less than one-fourth of the eligible taxpayers took part in the election.

The date was purposely set for a Saturday by the board and was delayed past the imperative demands of field work so that more people would take part in the important decision. The vote was a disappointment in this respect.

The school board, according to A. T. Hull, the president, and I. T. Graves, superintendent, had wrestled with the problem of what to do for months. Their efforts were directed, in some part at least, to trying to work out a make-shift program that would see them through the next two years.

High rates for debt service was one of the considerations which made the board hesitate to undertake the major improvement program at this time. The board anticipates a long period of liquidation will be necessary and long range bond money is relatively high. The board may have to pay as high as 3¾ per cent for part of the money they use.

A revision of the valuation of property in the district for school purposes is in process of being made at this time. This revision is due, in part, to a change in the local index assignment made by the State Education Agency.

An increase of approximately $2 million in the valuations of the district is called for the district to be in position to sell the bonds for the new school.

Present valuations are at approximately $7 million. The new rolls will have to show approximately $9 million, according to a statement made by the school board before the election was held.

The board did not fail to consider, it is declared, the fact that the increase in values at this time is due to be an unpopular move to make. Decreasing values for products of the soil do not weigh favorably against increasing costs of building materials and other manufactured items.

Rucker Family Is Enroute by Plane For London Town

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Rucker, son Max and daughter Linda, left Floydada Tuesday on a vacation trip to England and to the home of Mrs. Rucker's father John Davidson. The Ruckers will also visit in the home of her sisters, Mrs. James Radley, Mrs. Sidney Decin, Mrs. Roland Topham, Mrs. Nancy Hillocks and with her brother Jack Davidson at Warrington, Lancashire.

The Ruckers were due to leave Amarillo Tuesday at 8:45 p.m. by TWA and fly to their destination. Scheduled changes were to be made at New York City, Newfoundland, and Shannon, Ireland, before landing at London.

The trip home will be the first for Mrs. Rucker since March, 1949, and will be the first visit for her husband since he was stationed at Burtonwood during World War II. Rucker was connected with the Eighth Air Force.

Max and Linda are taking their first trip abroad and have looked forward to the long plane ride for some time. The Ruckers are due to return home August 13.

ACT OF VANDALISM CHARGED AGAINST THREE YOUNGSTERS

The Wayne Fullers on West Lee Street left their home in good order Sunday morning but when they returned at noon it was anything but.

Broken dishes, scattered food and milk, bedding and clothing from beds and closets piled on the floor—all a big mess— greeted them when they looked in.

City Police Bob Smith took three youngsters in tow to report to the county judge Monday.

Home Ec Students Are Engrossed in Summer Projects

Twenty-eight girls are this week completing the first phase of their summer project in Home Economics at Floydada High School.

Included in the work was a redecoration project in the home economics department, which consisted of painting wood work and upholstering of chairs.

The girls have been divided in two groups with each group meeting together four times.

On August 23 the girls will have an all-day achievement day in the auditorium of Floydada High School at which time they are to have their individual home projects completed. Also at this time each will give brief reports on their work.

Mrs. Rufus Emmons, sponsor, has been making home visitations with each girl during this time.

Crop Prospect Brightens But Rain is Needed

Assuming rains within the next few days the crop prospect in Floyd County at the moment has brightened materially since the gloomy days of late June.

But at that practically every farm so the operators report, is a patchwork of crops the farmers could get into the ground between rain and windstorms.

The late crops so far have had ample moisture to keep them growing good and have had ample heat and little wind in the past 10 days. But two hazards — insects and the frost date — are ever present for the tender young field growth.

The estimate is that upward of 70,000 acres of the cotton acreage is planted. An occasional field that escaped the May and June storm periods has blooms and is due to make good. The story of the late crop is yet to be told.

Good Showers Fall

Although widely scattered and partial to small areas half a dozen nice showers dotted the county Tuesday afternoon. Portions of Muncy, Hillcrest, South Plains, McCoy and Dougherty had 4-tenths of an inch up to an inch.

Showers also fell in limited areas Wednesday.

An interesting development on some farms where early cotton was left after the hail storms has been the way the cotton has begun to develop a leaf system. With a good tap root already started these plots are expected to be pleasant news for growers who left them.

Onion Harvest Again

The onion fields are yielding about the only current harvest, and the first of this week was an in-between period for them. Ferguson and Kimble, and Gene Probasco are due to have some Granos ready for the cleaners and sorters today or tomorrow, Garland Foster, checker at the marketing association sheds, said yesterday.

The county this year has a considerable Spanish onion acreage, which is usually a little slower getting to market.

All the onions being offered are finding ready takers so far this season.

Fair Catalogs Are Completed

The 52-page catalogue of the 1955 Floyd County Fair is off the press and ready for distribution.

C. W. Whiteley, manager of the fair, and the directors this week are making plans for the widest possible distribution of the booklets.

A more complete fair than the initial effort made last year is in the making, officials say. The dates are October 13, 14 and 15.

Sections of the Lockney Cotton Oil Mill building and grounds are being fitted up to receive the fair exhibits. Very considerable effort has been given to the job by volunteers.

The catalog was a joint production of The Hesperian and The Beacon offices at Floydada and Lockney.

Features of the fair this year will include women's department, agriculture, livestock and commercial exhibits, as well as entertainment features and the midway attractions.

Exhibitors from among the youth of the county will be given prominent part in the fair.

Billy Tad Probasco will arrange the horse shoe pitching events which will get underway as the crowd gathers.

Golf Events at Six

Golfing events of pitching, putting, and driving are being arranged by Ed Johnson and will start by 6 p.m. The driving contest will be from the number one tee box. Putting events will be held on number seven green, and pitching will be held on the practice green just east of number one tee box. Golf balls will be presented as prizes to the winners.

Brac Biggers will head the committee in charge of the grounds, lights and sound system.

Club President Aaron Carthel expressed hope the members would turn out well for this year's picnic and see what progress has been made at the club. Heavy expenditures from the building program have made it necessary to hold the box supper instead of the usual picnic or barbecue and it is believed the idea will be popular since all want to finish the furnishing of the club house to put it to more general use.

Valley Farmer Beats Insects To First Crop

(By L. A. Marshall)

Recently I visited my son who has a farm near Roswell. Last season he harvested three 500 pound bales of cotton per acre.

I asked him why we could not do that in Floyd County, or how did you do it. First he raises cotton and alfalfa, alternating every few years. He thinks the previous alfalfa accounts for one bale per acre.

Next, he thinks the thrip and flea hopper costs the farmer probably a bale of cotton per acre that the farmer never knew he had. He says shoot first. That is, spray or dust to keep them off the cotton instead of waiting until they are already infesting the tender tops. After the insects get on the cotton it is too late to start fighting them. You should spray to keep them from getting on the crop in the first place.

He uses fertilizer and plenty of water pumped from a well just like we do here in Floyd County.

They raise long staple, that is, their staple is one inch or more. This brings a premium of five to 10 cents.

I see no reason why we cannot raise three bales. Others with the same climate, soil and water conditions are doing it.

A 10-row sprayer or duster might be a valuable implement to use.

I have just read bulletins from the county agent's office on Irrigating Cotton and Fertilizers for the High Plains and how to use them. I presume most of you farmers have read them. I think they are very helpful.

We are interested in only one thing in this Farmers Chamber of Commerce, that is, how may the farmer make more money.

I have been searching for an answer to this problem. When should cotton be watered so that it will not shead the squares? Do you know the answer?

Looking across the fields these days we not only see tractors going but folks using hoes as well — for this is the season of the year for the cotton to be hoed. Most every one in our community would like to see another rain. Crops are beginning to show the need of more moisture.

Most every year our community has some kind of wheat to report, but this seems to be the year of a complete failure so far as wheat is concerned. In our rounds over the community we have failed to find even one field of wheat that reached the harvest stage. T. L. Perry and possibly others had some wheat to harvest, but it was on land outside of our community.

Judy Wilson is attending Girls Camp at the Baptist Encampment Grounds this mid-week. Mary Ann Wilson will help with the camp activities during the later part of the week.

If you want to stir up memories some hot afternoon, get out an old address book. If it goes back several years, what a collection you'll find!

The friend of a friend, who visited in town from Ohio: You gave a party for her, although you can't remember now what she was like.

The parents of your child's first college roommate. When he was homesick, they invited him for a holiday, so you send a greeting each year.

School friends, who came through town during the war: You were putting up apples, but you dropped everything and got a cold lunch on the table, and it was fun.

The spouse's college roommate, now a famous cartoonist, who came with his wife from Florida: The four of you sat up half the night catching up on what happened in the last twenty years.

The cousins, with whom you played as a child: Can't even remember their husbands' names unless you write them down.

Friends made during the war, business acquaintances who have moved away, someone with whom you share a hobby, people who have been kind to a loved one—so many names, so many memories! Did you truly mean to write when you put those names in your book? A few addresses have been changed four or five times — someone has kept those friendships alive. Some of these people you could write any day and the letter would be welcome; others — if they remember you at all— would wonder why in the world you had kept that address.

The paths we cross make life interesting. Some, like the lines drawn idly in the sand, weren't meant to be permanent. Others, etched into the mental of real understanding, will remain a part of our life pattern forever.

Something New Under The Sun

Puff . . . it's a hat! This wonderful sun hat is the handiest fashion item introduced in many a summer and, according to fashion forecasters, will be a vacation headliner. It inflates with a "puff" and deflates back to purse size in a jiffy. Designed to protect milady from the scorching sun at the seashore, in the garden, in the mountains or just plain walking down city streets, the puff hat comes in one size to fit every feminine head.

It is really a picture hat that compactly fits a purse, can be slipped out at a moment's notice and inflated by blowing gently into a tiny valve until hat assumes full size as shown by model in picture. When it has reached full-brimmed proportions—this takes a few seconds and little breath—you bend the valve over and tuck it out of sight into a slit. To deflate merely remove plug, let out air and fold into a small package.

This amazing, new item comes in eight high-fashion, sunfast colors—four prints and four solids—is non-inflammable, scuff resistant and can be purchased in variety and drug stores everywhere.

AROUND TOWN

(By Jennie Henry)

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Tribble and Miss Mary Pearl Cowan report a wonderful time on their recent trip down state. They visited relatives and more relatives in Llano, San Antonio, Galveston, Hillsboro, Cleburne, Waxahachie, Dallas and Fort Worth. The highlight of their trip was an ex-student reunion at Midlothian where Mrs. Tribble and Miss Cowan finished school. The reunion was attended by about 90 ex-students and a 90-year-old ex-superintendent.

Another dear old fellow who has just returned from a vacation, a family affair, is R. M. McCauley. He is 84 years young. The McCauley reunion is an annual affair, being held at Lake Lugert near Altus, Oklahoma, each year.

Eighty-one children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren registered for the two day affair, July 9 and 10. There are seven McCauley children out of 13 still living and they were all present. Mr. McCauley made the trip with a neice and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Mayes of Earth.

Lon Davis Jr. says he read in the paper where a famous doctor says that in a few more years folks will be living to be 150 years old. Lon is looking forward to reaching 65 so he can live the next 85 years on his social security checks.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Colville were quite excited last week-end when their only grandson, James Seymour Colville, paid them his very first visit. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Colville and his sister, Ann, of Crystal City were guests in his grandparents' home, also. James Seymour is four months old and his big sister is 21 months old.

Doyle Grundy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Grundy is in Silsbee this summer working for the Southwestern Land and Development Co. He is staying with his aunt and her family, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Read. Mr. Read is the owner and editor of the Silsbee Bee.

In a letter to his parents, Doyle tells of working with the Boy Scouts there. "Our loss is Silsbee's gain." Doyle has earned the Eagle Award, which is the highest award given in Boy Scouts. Not enough can be said of the good he has done here while working as Jr. Assistant Scout Leader.

FORMER 4-H MEMBERS CAN BE NOMINATED IN NEW AWARD PROGRAM HONORING ADULTS

Do you know a member of your community whom you consider a notable success in his or her chosen career or who has an outstanding record as a citizen or as a leader in community and public affairs? And is this person a former 4-H member?

And have you often thought that that person should receive some form of public recognition for his or her acceptance of citizenship responsibilities and achievement in life?

If so, you now have the opportunity to do something about it, according to G. L. Noble, director of the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work, who recently announced that Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation would again sponsor the National 4-H Alumni Recognition Program, the only 4-H Award Program honoring adults.

You can help nominate one of your neighbors for these coveted awards by filling out the form below and sending it to your county extension agent.

The program provides two certificates as awards in each county. Four state winners, selected from all the county winners are presented burnished copper plaques mounted on walnut.

Eight people, four men and four women, chosen from all the state winners, will receive gold keys and all-expense trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, November 27-December 1.

Men and women who have previously been 4-H Club members, who have an outstanding record of participation and leadership in community activities and who are a success in their chosen occupation or profession are eligible for consideration. So, if you know any one in your community who is eligible for this award fill out the blank and send it to your County Extension Office. They have official nomination forms.

Many 4-H Alumni are successful farmers and homemakers. Others are leaders in business, government or civic affairs. Some may not have been recently active in 4-H Club work, yet because of the basic training received through the 4-H program, they contribute to the advancement of community, state and nation.

Purposes of the awards are (1) to inspire present-day youth to greater accomplishments by providing them with living examples of dependable purposeful citizenship and (2) to encourage former 4-H Club members to support and cooperate in 4-H work.

Fill in information regarding nominee for National 4-H Alumni Recognition Award, attach any supplementary information which may be helpful and submit to the County Extension Office.

Dad Blamed For 'Woman-Dominated' Boys

Most fathers of sons are falling down on their jobs as parents and leaving too much to Mother. The result is a whole generation of boys who are too much under the influence of women, says Clair Huffaker in Bluebook Magazine. Writing in the May issue, the author tells of an ideal "Fathers and Sons Workshop" arrangement which ultimately failed for lack of continuous interest on the part of fathers:

"A few men of Ocean Avenue Grade School in Northport, on New York's Long Island, knew that dads weren't spending enough time with their sons — especially those in the age group of six to 12, when a boy particularly needs a father's guidance. So they organized an extra-curricular class called the 'Fathers and Sons Workshop,' where Dads and their sons could work in the school's maintenance shop from 9 to 12 on Saturday mornings making anything they wanted. The boys were enthusiastic about the plan, their fathers even more so.

"The man who supervised the workshop, Ralph Skidmore, put it this way: 'These days a lad is too much under the influence of women — his mother, her friends, baby-sitters and so forth. We wanted to bring fathers and sons together and help build up a strong, healthy relationship.' All other experts I talked to — educators psychologists and sociologists — had a glowing word of praise for the father and sons workshop. But there was only one trouble with the project. It didn't work.

"It fell flat on its face within a month, and this is why: At the first class a Northport mother showed up with her son. 'Will it be all right, Mr. Skidmore,' she asked, 'if I bring our boy today? His father is so busy that he couldn't make it, and the boy would be terribly disappointed to miss the class.'

"The next week other female 'fathers' attended the meeting, explaining that their husbands were busy with other, more pressing commitments. The third week the dads were conspicuous by their absence. The faculty took the only possible course of action and changed the title of the 'perfect' fathers and sons class to the 'Family Workshop.'

"Throughout the school year the pattern of attendance remained the same. In the dozen families represented there were often no fathers present, sometimes one, and on rare occasions, two.

"B. D. Sharp, director of the consultation service for the Adult Education Council told me, 'It boils down to a question of what seems most important to fathers. Is it a game of golf, a business deal, or their sons? Human beings are the most important things in the world, and certainly fathers understand that. The only trouble is, they don't yet realize how important three hours of their time each week can be to their boys.'

"Yet in Northport, a fairly typical U. S. town, Ralph Skidmore said flatly, 'Fathers killed the class. They thought it was a wonderful plan, but their interest died out. The simple truth is that mothers are better parents than fathers. The ladies put themselves out to attend classes with their children. The men won't. As soon as it becomes inconvenient to go to a class with their youngsters, that's it."

KITCHEN AND ★★ FIELD NEWS

THE WEAVER- (Author unknown)

I sat by my loom in silence,
Facing the western sky;
The warp was rough and tangled
The threads did unevenly fly
Impatient I pulled at the fibers,
They snapped and flew from my hands,
Weary and faint and sore hearted
I gathered the broken strands.

I had beautiful colors to work with-
White, blue like the heavens above,
And tangled in all the meshes
Were the golden threads of love;
But the colors were dulled by my handling,
The pattern was faded and gray,
That once to my eager seeming
Shone fairer than flowers of May.

But alas, not the half of my pattern
Was finished at set of sun;
What should I say to the Master-
When I heard him call, "Is it done?"
I threw down my shuttle in sorrow
(I nad worked through the livelong day)
And I lay down to slumber in darkness,
Too weary even to pray.

In my dreams a vision of splendor,
An angel, smiling faced,
Witn gentle and tender finger
The work of the weavers traced,
He stooped with a benediction
O'er the loom of my neighbor near.
For the threads were smooth and even
And the pattern perfect and clear.

Then I waited in fear and trembling.
As he stood by my tangled skein,
For the look of reproach -and pity
That I knew would add to my pain,
Instead, with a thoughtful aspect,
He turned his gaze upon me,
And I knew that he saw the fair picture
Of my work as I hoped it would be.

And with touch divine of his finger
He traced my faint copy anew,
Transforming the clouded colors,
And letting the pattern shine true,
And I knew in that moment of waiting,
While His look pierced my very soul through,
I was judged not so much by my doing
As by what I had striven to do.

Mrs. H. W. Roberts Is Homebuilders H. D. Club Hostess

Members present were Mmes. Raymond Evans, W. W. Trapp, John Walker, W. H. Bunch, P. F. Bertrand, Raymond Williams, D. T. Mayo, B. A. Robertson, Floyd Fuqua, D. D. Shipley, Elmer Norrell, Mrs. Brummett and the hostess.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Raymond Evans on Friday, July 22, at 3 o'clock p.m.

The program will be a "tea with lemons." Each member is to bring a gift that is a lemon to be auctioned off. The 4-H Club girls will be in charge of the regular program.

Forecast: Continued Cool

What could be nicer than riding with a ton and a half of ice in your car these hot days? Real cool thought, say you, but impractical. Yet that's exactly the effect with Chevrolet's new air conditioner. Vital part of the apparatus is a comparatively small compressor, scarcely larger than a football, which is shown above on one of the ice cakes that total 3,000 pounds. Other basic parts are a condenser, liquid receiver, and cooling coils. All parts fit neatly under the car's hood.

US TEXANS' RECIPES

as Sage Recommends Pioneer Beef Dish

J. Frank Dobie's all-time favorite beef dish is a modern-day legend. Reminiscing a bit of local color from the fabulous history of Texas, the illustrious and near-legendary historian of Texas as folk-lore says Dobie d" beef: "It has always especially wholesome and ly nourishing. ay of cooking it is to chop d boil it with potatoes, onions and a few Mexpers. It makes a whole, and balanced meal." d" beef, not to be conh dried or corned beef, is meat which is still very evidence around cow en in this era of refrigerring round-up time, cow ast on the forequarter first few days after killnimal, after which they "jerked" beef for their ply.

serve freshly killed beef jerking" technique, it is d stripped in one-half ngths, seasoned and over wire or rope to dry 5. The sun-cooked beef, dry," keeps indefinitely.

Some cowboys like to chew on a hunk of jerky as a substitute for the less-nutritious black-horse tobacco.

The Texas Beef Council, in its search for authentic pioneer jerked beef recipes for inclusion in the Famous Texan Cookbook, asked Mrs. A. C. Jones of Beeville, a third generation Texan and family-friend of Dobie, for her "Picadilla" (jerked beef hash) recipe. The following measurements will serve four:

4 cups chopped jerked beef
½ cup shortening
1 cup chopped onion
3 cloves garlic
Chilipetines or jalepanes (optional)
2 cans tomatoes
2 tablespoons chili powder
1 tablespoon pepper
Salt to taste

Soak jerky in warm water until softened; place on meat board and chop into small pieces. Saute lightly onions and garlic in shortening in heavy skillet; add beef, tomatoes. (4 cans tomato sauce may be subsituted for tomatoes.) Add seasonings; cover and simmer for about one hour.

For Carne Con Arroz, another Dobie favorite, supplied by Mrs. Jones, add two cups uncooked rice to shortening with onions and garlic and brown slightly; add potatoes, canned corn or hominy.

Important thought to keep in mind:

If you want to keep the new engine under the hood clean as it is today, use that great new Super-Refined Gulf NO-NOX—the clean-burning gasoline . . . and its super-refined teammate, new Gulfpride H.D. Select Motor Oil.

New Gulf No-Nox Gasoline delivers not just the highest octane but full working octane

because it's super-refined to burn clean

See what a difference Gulf super-refining makes. Gulf takes out the "dirty-burning tail-end" of gasoline—at the refinery—to bring you new clean-burning Gulf NO-NOX.

NO GASOLINE, no matter how high the octane, will let your engine deliver full power performance—mile after mile—unless it burns clean.

That's why it pays to always use new NO-NOX. Gulf NO-NOX is the clean-burning fuel that gives you full working octane day in, day out. In addition, you get . . .

- more complete engine protection
- extra gas mileage in short-trip, stop-and-go driving
- freedom from vapor-lock and engine stalling
- no knock, no pre-ignition—even in today's high-compression engines

Now! For the ultimate in working octane performance, always use Gulf's super-refined gas-oil team... New Gulf No-Nox Gasoline and

New Gulfpride H.D. Select Motor Oil

The only motor oil super-refined by the Alchlor Process for modern high-compression engines.

- Controls carbon
- Combats corrosive acids, rust and deposits
- Assures lower oil consumption
- Provides the toughest protective film ever developed in a motor oil

Center News

(By Mrs. J. E. Green)

CENTER, July 11 — We are having good growing weather. The floating clouds are welcome these hot afternoons.

Bro. Tom Wesson of Wayland College preached for us Sunday and accepted the call as pastor made by the church recently.

Bro. and Mrs. Wesson and Judy and Terry were Sunday dinner guest of the J. E. Greens. There were good crowds at both services.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. McCathey of Alva, Okla., are visiting in the home of her brother and family, the Frank Dunns.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Ross and daughter, Mrs. Buck Ragsdale of Baileyboro, went to Denton Saturday where the Ross brothers and sisters, all but two, were having a reunion. The reunion was held in the home of a sister, Mrs. Sim Johnson. There were about 20 present. The Rosses returned home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Craig and son went to Lubbock Monday afternoon.

Mrs. W. B. Parrick of Vernon visited her sister Mrs. C. W. Denison on the 4th of July.

Mrs. Elbert Parks, south of Floydada, visited her cousin Mrs. C. W. Denison last Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Denison visited in Lubbock Monday with their son Gilmer Denison and family.

Mrs. J. A. Noland of Summerfield visited Monday with her nephew T. R. Noland and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Green and Don Clark and Mr. and Mrs. Doc Rymon and baby went to Phillips Friday where they visited Mrs. Green's sisters and families and mother, Mrs. K. J. Matthews.

Twenty-five relatives gathered on the J. B. Massingill lawn Saturday afternoon and ate homemade ice cream. The Greens and Rymons returned home Sunday morning early.

Victor Green and son Jimmy of Plainview were other guests at Phillips Saturday night. They were Sunday dinner guests of his parents Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Green. Mrs. Victor Green was in Houston with her mother who is in a hospital there.

Word comes from Mrs. D. I. Bolding at the Houston hospital that the treatments are very exacting and painful, but they trust they are healing nevertheless.

The T. R. Nolands attended funeral services last Thursday in Clovis, N. M., held for the cousin who was killed in the train wreck last week.

Flame Weeding Boosts Farm O

LA JUNTA, Colo.—Often called "Nature's mortgage" on [illegible] erty, weeds can reduce production up to 30%, according to a experts.

Growing in irrigation and drainage ditches, they obstruc of water and increase irrigation time and costs. Weeds along and other isolated areas contaminate nearby fields and can cost of cultivating and hoeing. They can also consume up to food values in average farm soil, robbing crops of nourishm

Mounted on a tractor which tows a mobile liquefied pet fuel tank, the new weed burner illustrated can direct a 6- blanket of flame to clear a mile of dense weed growth per hou models mounted on pick-up trucks travel three to five miles per use only 40 gallons of LP-Gas (butane-propane) to destroy weed growth along the average ditch bank. Roadsides or growth of lesser density can be controlled at lower cost figur

With such plants as water grass or bulrushes, growth can controlled with three gas flaming applications per eight-month season. Research tests show, that after the third year, only cation is needed to maintain a desirable soil condition.

Because it is safe, economical to use and available in all the country, LP-Gas makes an ideal weed-burner fuel.

VIEWS AND COMMENT ★ ☆ ★ ☆ ★ ☆ ★ ☆

Must Do Something. Floyd county people have been extremely fortunate for years in the low local taxs they have paid. Taxpayers and authorities alike have taken pride in the fact that assesments have been extremely low, and for that matter, that several million dollars worth of property has not even appeared on the tax rolls. Of course, the tax has been paid in the form of federal income taxes but at least the bite was not made locally. Now, this situation is due to change. The times have caught up with the school boards, city and county authorities. Lockney Independent School district two years ago recognized the inevitable and revised their valuation sheets on a more realistic basis. Now it is to be Floydada Independent School District, next year the City of Floydada.

The signs point to the probability that county authorities will also have to face the fact their tax rolls reflect many inequities. This will be brought about by the fact that the county can't do all the things expected of it within their present income from the tax rolls. Something must be done about the demands of growing population. Action has been taken throughout the state. Floyd county and a few others have been notable exceptions. But not for long now. The change is inevitable. The tax bite will be made at the local level. If there is any consolation to be taken from high taxes it is in the fact that practically all of the new taxes to be assessed will come out of Uncle Sam's pocket. Most everybody knows that taxes assessed and collected at the local level get more done for the people than when the bite comes from Washington.

The much talked second round of Salk vaccine may become a fact within the next few weeks after all. The atmosphere has begun to clear in the Health, Welfare and Education Department at Washington. Scientists and doctors who have been in disagreement over safety procedures for weeks are beginning to reconcile their differences. These differences flared up with some heat in May and caused the cancellation of all permits to market the vaccines until processes in use by manufacturers could be checked. All of this called for much red tape, since the government was, by nature of the thing, involved in it. Release of some vaccine has been indicated already during this month and other batches are due to get final okey. Whether or not the vaccination program will be undertaken at an early date in Texas is not definite one way or the other. But at least progress is apparent once more, which is encouraging.

A Buyers strike is in the making for farm machinery, as the manufacturers and steel people are due to find out in the course of weeks. The fact is that there are less than a hundred farmers in Floyd county, we venture to declare, who cannot make out reasonably well, with what farming equipment they now have on hand. Many of them have been buying everything new that came along to increase their efficiency and reduce the drudgery. But there is a point somewhere beyond which they will not go. This point may have been reached. The latest wage agreement which will up costs materially only serves to point up the situation among the customers.

Every generation has to learn it over again, it seems—the truth that whatever understanding you may reach in business, must have a substantial foundation out among the customers. The steel people and the farm machinery manufacturers, as well as the automobile people may have failed, in their negotiations, to take into consideration the people who are going to pay the bill or not pay it. Possibly the increases standing alone, would not be so irritating to the buyer if they did not also carry along an aggravation of other costs—federal taxes, for instance, and freight charges. It is harder and harder to keep the channels of trade open if you keep piling up dams. One can only hope that the customers are getting more consideration than we suspect they are getting in the current rounds and rounds of price raises.

What we need as of this Monday morning is another inch of rain throughout the area. An inch or two of rain would keep too many irrigation wells from being kicked off and would insure some production on all the dry lands, where some production is sorely needed. Depth of the moisture varries widely over the plains but there is no doubt there is some dry subsoil below most any field. The reservoir of stored water in the soil is not there. We have to have the moisture we get for production this year from the clouds. The weather man could do us a tremendous favor this week or next.

Fowl ticks — also known as blue bugs and chicken ticks—are an unnecessary drain on turkeys and chickens during the summer months. A spray containing .5 percent lindane, chlordane or toxaphene is recommended for fowl tick control.

A referendum is underway to decide whether or not an agreement providing for advertising promotional, and related market development activities on wool and lambs under the 1954 National Wool Act will be put into effect. Eligible producers have until August 19 to cast their ballots. Local AS.C. offices can supply ballots and information on the program.

Squabbles Don't Pay. The foolishness of local squabbles is being demonstrated in thorough fashion again at Irving, as it has been in other places for as long as can be remembered. There are folks who had rather squabble than to go ahead and do whatever it is or forget it. When good men meet they get things done When spuabblers get together they squabble and keep things in turmoil so that no body can do anything. And, note, generally there is no real principle involved. It's a grudge, a prejudice, or just a case of I am going to have my way or there'll be no way.

(Taken from the files of the Floyd County Hesperian, issue dated July 17, 1941.)

This 4-Door Beauty is the Newest Hit in Hardtops

YOU certainly ought to come in and see for yourself why this new kind of hardtop is headed for the best-seller list.

It's a Buick Riviera, of course.

Which means the low and rakish look of a Convertible – a solid steel roof overhead – and no center posts in the side window areas to obstruct your view.

But that's only the beginning.

Here you get two extra doors. They open to the rear compartment. So no one in the front has to move when someone gets into or out of the rear.

Here you get massive half-pillars on either side on which the front doors latch and the rear doors hinge. (That's why you see no center posts above the door line.)

Here, too, you get wholly new principles in body design and strength that give the extra safety of rock-firm solidity at the top, sides and bottom.

And here—bless those Buick engineers!—you get a lot more room in the rear compartment.

For the 4-Door Riviera gives you over 9 inches more hiproom and 5 inches more legroom – yet with no increase in wheelbase or over-all car length.

So we repeat—you certainly ought to come in and see this stunning new kind of hardtop.

It's the very last word in beauty, comfort, convenience. It's available in Buick's two lowest-priced Series – the SPECIAL and the CENTURY. And it's all Buick – with Buick power, Buick ride, Buick handling—and the spectacular performance of Buick's Variable Pitch Dynaflow.*

Drop in today—tomorrow at the latest—and learn what Buick's all time record sales year can mean to you in the way of a whopping big trade-in deal.

Floydada Boys Praise American Legion For Week at Boys' State

(By Jerry Coltharp and Max Crawford)

On June 4, 1955, the local American Legion did more for two boys from Floydada than they could ever realize. They sent Max Crawford and Jerry Coltharp for one of the most profitable weeks that either of the boys shall probably ever spend. This week was spent in Austin, Texas, on the campus of the University of Texas at Lone Star Boy's State. G. Ward Moody, department adjutant of the American Legion, said that the boys at Boy's State learned more about our government in one week than 50% of the American voters do in a lifetime.

How did they go about this? The answer is simple. They learned by doing. They took over public offices without any instruction and performed the duties of those offices to the best of their ability. A good example of this was the Boys' State Senate. They took office Thursday morning and within thirty minutes a new bill was before the senate and that morning was sent to the House of Representatives.

The Floydada boys did their best to make a good showing for Floydada and their American Legion Post. Max Crawford was elected party whip on Monday night for his political party and was also elected to the Senate by his district. Jerry Coltharp was elected as Associate Justice of the Supreme Court and both boys served in these offices during their stay there and shall hold those positions until they are taken over by more Boys' Staters next June.

The public might like to know what Boys' State is like. On their arrival each boy is placed in a particular city and political party. Each city is assigned to different counties and these counties make up districts, which in turn make the mythical state in Austin. The boys then go to their different party headquarters and make their speeches for their particular office. Two boys are nominated for each office, then the party primaries are held and finally speeches are made before the whole state and the final elections are held. After the elections are held each boy holds some office all the way from Governor down to Justice of the Peace. On Thursday everyone starts functioning in his office and on Friday Boys' State makes a trip to the capitol and each officer goes to his office there. Friday night there is a Governor's Ball and the Bluebonnet Girls' Staters are the guests of the boys.

On Saturday when the boys leave there is a feeling of gratitude in each boys heart toward his American Legion. It is hard to describe but nevertheless it is there. So before the eyes of the public we thank the American Legion for this trip they have made possible for us. May next year's Boys' Staters receive as much as we did.

is conducting church ser- at a residence adjacent to the amp, holding Sunday School orning and evening worship nday and meeting with the of the Mexican community homes during the week as nity is provided.

BENJAMIN VERA ..... New Floydada resident has unusual 'call.'

Called To Lay Work

cent graduate of Wayland College, Vera is unique in does not feel himself called ministry, but definitely he is called to work as a lay- issionary wherever he may instance, when he has a enough congregation in a community so that they can ordained minister to pastor ck. Vera considers that his done and he is ready to seek field.

s that way at Paducah where ked for some time. Then at whence he moved in May to Floydada. Paducah was his first mission field.

Vera's call has him dedicated to the proposition that he should make his own living, accepting such help as he needs to carry on with his work in the religious field.

"I have been criticised somewhat for not qualifying to go into the ministry," he said, "But I do not feel that I should. I feel that I can do more good as a layman, making my own way and carrying on with the help of the church. The need is so great in so many unorganized places where a regular minister cannot be supported," he pointed out.

Fourth Generation Texan

Vera is a fourth generation Texan. His great grandfather lived in the days of the Texas Republic and before, moving to the Texas province from across the Rio Grande before the days of the revolution.

Vera is married, and has two little daughters, Velma, 2½, and Nelda, one month old. "We think the names Velma and Nelda are pretty and also they are spelled the same in both English and Spanish," Vera said. However, the pronunciation is slightly different in the two languages. the Spanish giving the "l" a slight "roll" that is not used in the flatter English way of speaking.

Part of Vera's work is that of helping to get the Anglo-American a better economic position, and he makes himself available when an employer is seeking help, particularly permanent help. He tries to place an employee that fits the type of work to be done. He was successful in helping a number of employers and employees in that way in Tulia, he said.

Unloads Car of Cement

When he was being interviewed about noon time Vera had just finished helping unload a carload of cement. That is what he means by making his own way. He works whenever and wherever he can to make a living and takes pride in his youthful strength and ability to do things.

Attendance at his Sunday School Sunday morning last was 81, and there were 45 in the evening service.

Success of Vera's work todate has been encouraging, said J. D. McBrien, chairman of the First Church's mission committee, other members of which are M. P. Goen and Hollis R. Bond.

The church has bought two acres of ground adjacent to the labor camp and intend to build an adequate auditorium and educational building at a later date, and at that time use the present building on the site for a parsonage.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gibson and daughters Susan and Christene of Newark, New Jersey, were guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. Ott Glassmoyer. Mrs. Gibson is a niece of Mr. Glassmoyer.

There are many reasons why the homemaker of to-day enjoys her food freezer:

Fruits and vegetables can be prepared for freezing with much less work than canning.

Fresh, delicious fruits and vegetables may be enjoyed out of season.

It is economical to freeze fruits or vegetables grown at home or purchased at the height of the growing season.

Ready cooked foods in the freezer are real time savers.

Much of the food for holiday meals or dinner parties can be prepared and frozen ahead of time.

Follow these steps closely and the results will be excellent frozen vegetables:

1. Gather vegetables in the cool of morning, select choice grades and a quantity that can be handled speedily.
2. Wash and sort vegetables carefully.
3. Scald according to directions for each vegetable.
4. Cool and drain quickly.
5. Pack in AIRTIGHT containers.
6. Freeze at once. (label properly.)

PINK BOLLWORD RESEARCH

Cotton cultural practices, a vital factor in the control of the Pink Bollworm, are being improved through research by Texas and U. S. Department of Agriculture entomologists.

Texas has been experimenting to determine under what conditions the pink bollworm can and cannot survive the winter in stalks or trash left in cotton fields. The highest rate of insect kill was achieved from:

1. Fall plowing to bury cotton bolls and trash in the warm humid areas of southern Texas.
2. Allowing stalks to stand over winter and be plowed under in the spring in colder northern Texas. (This method has not yet received full approval of all entomologists, due to varying climatic conditions.)

Records on the percentage of kill by early plowing under of the stalks showed a survival of only .04 percent in Port Lavaco fields. The rate was higher, 1.35 percent, at Waco.

In the colder regions, allowing stalks to stand through the winter and then plowed under in the spring proved effective under ideal weather conditions. Prolonged cold resulted in a pink bollworm survival of only .01 at Lubbock, .01 at Vernon and .03 at Chickasha, Okla.

Generally, spring plowing-under of infested trash and bolls was less effective than fall plowing in all locations. Test plots at Waco and Mount Pleasant were studied where bolls and trash were allowed to remain on the surface of the ground. This method resulted in nearly 22 percent of pink bollworm survival.

The pink bollworm is the worst of all cotton insect pests. It is found in all cotton producing areas of Texas and in parts of Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Louisiana, and Arkansas.

This research is only one phase of an intensive program through the cotton belt aimed at developing effective ways of controlling the pest. Rigid federal and state quarantine and control programs have only slowed its spread. Complete eradication is still a remote possibility.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

(Nellie Witt Spikes.)

Another crop of weeds has been killed, the little garden is getting green again, I cut back the brusied rose stems, and watered everything. Over town things are beginning to take on a new look after the storm. The Davidson home down the street is being built back and the soft green walls look mighty pretty . . . many houses have new roofs, trees have been cut back, fences put back to place crops of feed coming up where rows of cotton were hailed and washed out, life goes on with renewed hope for the future.

Mrs. Belcher gave me a recipe for an excellent pound cake that I am passing on to you as eggs are not so high and one does not need rich frosted cakes at this time of year.

Cream two sticks of oleo with 1½ cups of sugar. Measure out 2 cups flour and have handy five eggs. Add one egg at a time to the sugar and oleo with a little flour, beat well. Add one egg and some flour at time beating well until all is added, flavor to taste, bake in a loaf pan at about 350 for one hour.

This cake keeps well if not eaten too quickly as it is very good and tasty. A loaf of this in your refrigerator will finish up a vegetable dinner. Thanks, Mrs. Belcher.

This is a good recipe for a lemon pie:

Six level tablespoons flour, one cup sugar and one cup water with juice and grated rind of one lemon, add one half teaspoon salt, cook until thick, then add the beaten yolks of two eggs. Cool and pour in a baked pie shell, cover with meringue of the two eggs and brown.

Somehow I like flour better than corn starch for most pies. Seems they taste better the next day if any is left over.

Prayer For a Church

Fleta Bruer Gonso

Tho I am built of stone and sand and clay,
I'm dedicated to Thy service here.
To keep this place in honor to Thy name,
And lift my spire to things that men hold dear.
May reverence abide, and contrite hearts
Kneel at my altars
Kneel at Thy altars and Thy blood atone;
May mercy light the candles at this shrine,
And justice fill the chalice at Thy throne.
Help those, Dear Lord, who gather strength in me,
To bear forth truth into a better day;
As golden sunlight falls through colored panes,
May loving kindness shine through those who pray.
Keep wide my doors that all who enter in,
May know that worship leaves no room for sin!

(After the big, destructive storm Mrs. Spikes wrote the following lines which were received too late for use last week. — Ed. Note.)

We have left a week behind that brought much to us in many ways. We lost much in a material way.

The black cloud spread out like an evil bird swooping on its prey. It funneled to a point and this point come over the farm where the second crop of cotton was just creeping up to the light of day, but the torrent which came from it was the like as if one had shot a hole in the bottom of a big reservoir of water.

The newly plowed fields washed and poured down the rows, rivers of muddy water. The dried mud next day showed only a green leaf here and there.

But the cloud swept on eastward destroying as it went. It reached Paul's place and tore the roof off one house, blew out the wall of another tumbled others down, and left only mud in his field where a few short hours before his second crop of cotton was coming up.

Our thoughts were on this when we got the news that our neighbor, Walter Powell, had broken his leg. Now this was bad. We helped all we could. We are happy that he is getting along well and will say that both Walter and Maude have been able to "take it" and not let it get them down.

As we waited in the big Methodist Hospital in Lubbock we realized our losses of the crop were not nearly so bad as the loss of lives, or the ones who lay helpless in beds of pain while loved ones hover near with aching hearts. We talked with some of these waiting people.

Somehow it seemed that we had always known Mr .and Mrs. John M. Schwart of Los Angeles, California, who were there with a nephew who lay unconscious after a car accident a month ago. Surely they had been in our home and we had talked of the pioneer days on the Plains which we knew so well and she had told of being a pioneer of Salina, Kansas, where she had grown up.

"Friends at :irst sight," I told myself. It was as if they had come in our home many times and she and I had sewed on our embroidery while the men talked of crops and the courts of law where Mr. Schwart practiced. We must have watched their light twinkle across the dark, she must have come to our back door with a chocolate pie or a slice of delicious cake . . . . laughed with us . . . . sympathized with us, knew the deep feelings of our very hearts. Only a few short minutes we spent together, our paths may never cross again, but our lives are sweetened and enriched with this chance encounter. We pray with them for the recovery of their beloved nephew.

It was Mr. Spikes' birthday. "We will come when you get to your hundredth one," they promised. God bless and keep you Mr. and Mrs. Schwart, the very best to you that life can give.

Five generations, from the oldest to the youngest, we sat for our picture. Mother with her years so rich with fine living, little Sherri Anne only a few days, Wilson and Anne. How wonderful it made us feel.

"Granddady, we are just left out of this," Carey said as they looked on as Sherri Anne did not want to stop crying for this very important occasion, which meant nothing in her life. She only wanted to go to sleep.

Carey is enjoying his holiday in Ralls and Lubbock. He is very sweet and dear to us. Our grandchildren make us happy as yours do you. God bless and keep all these young folks from harm.

Powell Farm Home Repair Under Way

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Powell, 3½ miles southwest of Aiken, have about completed repairs to their dwelling damaged in the late June twister that whipped southeastward from about the Hale County line to a point south of Floydada.

Mr. Powell was in Floydada Saturday. He related that hail and glass and debris were whipping through their house mighty briskly for several minutes. Roof damage, door and window damage even rugs and furniture were listed. They practically had to rebuild and furnish from the floor and walls, he said, the total damage at the time still undetermined.

"My farming is sort of messed up, of course. We have three ages of cotton and have the place planted in a crazy pattern like the condition of the land would let us operate," Mr. Powell said.

None of the family were injured in the storm.

Highlights And Sidelights From the State Capitol

(By Vern Sanford Texas Press Association)

AUSTIN, Texas — Every outward sign of courtroom confidence is being exhibited by Bascom Giles.

His trial on charges of taking $6,800 from the state, in connection with a Kinney County land deal, got underway July 5. Almost the entire first week was spent in selecting jurors.

More than 50 witnesses were subpoenaed by the state before the trial began, but Giles' attorney refused to show their hands by issuing early subpoenas.

Testimony is expected to consume the greater part of two weeks.

Giles, who organized the $100,000,000 veterans land program, and administered it until January 1 of this year, appears to be as cool and confident as any man in the room.

Among those representing him is his son, Rogan. Others are former state senator Clint Small Sr., Clint Small Jr., and Polk Shelton. All are Austin attorneys.

Representing the state is Les Procter, district attorney of Travis County, and his two assistants, John Allen and Bob Smith.

Procter sought, but did not receive, funds from the legislature to hire extra staff members for the veterans land program cases.

Representatives from the Attorney General's office sat as spectators as the trial got underway. Proctor ducked questions as to why they were not participating.

Brady land dealer B. R. Sheffield, indicated jointly with Giles, in the Kinney County deal, awaits trial after Giles. Trials are yet to come, too, in scores of other cases stemming from the sweeping inquiries into the land program, which began last November.

Parr Trial Starts Monday

A judge's attack of asthma gave South Texas political boss George Parr a breathing spell last week. But Parr faces additional difficulties in a federal income tax evasion case set for July 18 in Austin.

Parr's trial on a conspiracy charge in District Judge John R. Fuchs' court in New Braunfels was indefinitely postponed when the 69-year-old jurist was severely stricken with asthma.

Parr, along with 11 others, is under indictment for misappropriation of Benavides Independent School District funds in Duval County.

Desegregation Policy Set

It's "hands off' for the State Board of Education, in racial integration of local school districts.

School districts will get their state aid money whether they are segregated or not.

Although offering the assistance of its staff in solving desegregation problems, the board made it clear that no suggestion or direction will be given as to what each school district should do to comply with the U. S. Supreme Court ruling which ended public school segregation.

UT To Open Doors

University of Texas regents took three momentous steps at their July meeting.

1. They voted immediate admission of all qualified students to all divisions of the graduate school.

2. They voted to admit Negro undergraduate students, beginning with the September, 1956 term, in the main university; and at the Texas Western College branch in El Paso, this September. Admission to all other branches will be in September of 1956.

3. They also voted to set up restrictions on all admissions, based on examinations and scholastic requirements, effective in 1956.

UT regents also refused to reconsider their earlier rule which banned from the campus automobiles owned by freshmen and sophomore students.

Interscholastic League Reappraises

Texas public schools which admit Negroes will not be barred from Interscholastic League activities next year.

This ruling, made last week by the league's executive committee, resulted from a petition from the El Paso system regarding its status. El Paso plans to desegregate next fall.

Interscholastic League's constitution, framed before the U. S. Supreme Court's ruling against school segregation, limits membership to "any public white school."

Insurance Rates Lowered

Large industrial plants in Texas were promised lower fire insurance rates when the Insurance Commission adopted a new rating plan "for highly protected risks."

Praising the recently enacted insurance code, the commission said it is "one of the best in the nation" and every loophole in Texas insurance laws "has been closed."

Daniel Still Hedging

U. S. Sen. Price Daniel, in Austin for a few days of visiting, dodged questions about his future political plans.

He declared he had neither "warmed up nor cooled off" in regard to a possible race for the Texas governorship. His decision, he said, cannot be made until after the first of the year.

Short Snorts

Gov. Allan Shivers is on a month's vacation with his family at Woodville. Texas business activity reached a new peak in May. 177 per cent of the 1947-49 base period. Forty-seven full-time city and county health units are now in operation. They cover 57 counties with 62 per cent of the state's population. Allen Mooney of Woodville was appointed by Governor Shivers as district attorney for the 88th judicial district.

LIBRARY NEWS

(By Mrs. Lee C. Golightly)

Magic was the subject for the Junior Book Review Club Tuesday morning. Mrs. Olen Watson Jr., in charge, reviewed the little book "Half Magic" by Edward Eager, and then showed the children some magic tricks taken from "Magic as a Hobby" by Bruce Elliott. Mrs. Watson presented the twenty-five children that attended with "magic favors."

"How to prepare for out door cooking" led by Mrs. R. G. Dunlap and Mrs. H. F. Jackson proved to be fun for the Hobby Club. Each one present packed a coffee can with food, ready to be cooked over an outdoor fire. The Library can also furnish books on this subject. There is the "Real book about camping" by Jim Roberts and "Games and recreational methods for camps and scouts" by Charles F. Smith, along with others that may be checked out. Twenty-one members were present.

The next meeting of both clubs will be Tuesday, July 18.

If we can order any material or helps for any of the clubs in making out programs for the coming year, please call and we will be happy to help in any way possible.

A new book ready for circulation is "The Human Brain" by John Pfiffer. What is memory? What is pain? Why do we need sleep? What are dreams? How do we think? How does the brain age? What is mental illness? All these questions, and many others, are answered in this penetrating account of the human brain.

Twenty - five children enjoyed stories told by Mrs. Billy Brown Saturday morning. Mrs. J. D. McBrian helped with games and refreshments.

Several books were given to the Library this week by Troy Smith. We appreciate this gift.

Boldings Send Thanks to All

Hello, everyone!

This is about the only way I can write all those who have written and sent the beautiful cards. We thank you so very much. Yes, and for the Hesperian, too. Keep it coming as long as we are here, please. Thanks a million for all that has been said and done.

Seven-hundred miles from home, only one person you had ever seen, suffering on every side and nothing to do makes a lonesome life. That is why we appreciate this so much.

The only one I have ever seen and known was the alto singing Nazarene preacher who used to live in Floydada. I forgot his name. I told him I always liked him.

Now for a bird's eye view of the place. The conductor on the train said it took 35 miles to get out of town (makes me think of home). Some berg isn't it?

We have been to the gulf once, some water. That is about all we have tried to see. That was before Mrs. Bolding got so poorly.

The Bolding family, inlaws, outlaws and all.

D. I. Bolding, Old South Trailer Park, 8803 South Main St., Houston, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Noyes of Vernon were guests last Saturday of Dee Noyse and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Chowning.

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Martin and daughter Norma left Sunday to visit with relatives in Gainesville.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. (Shorty) Cline of Mart are here visiting Mr. Cline's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Cline.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Alexander and family and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Jarnigan and son have returned from a trip to Carlsband.

Mrs. W. B. Wilson had as her guests last week Mr. R. T. Foster and son, Tony, of Oklahoma City.
