East Germany's Boss Admits Defections Hurt

Also Gives Red Army Credit For Communization Success

MOSCOW (AP) — Walter Ulbricht, Communist party boss of East Germany, charged Saturday that West German industrialists systematically recruited East German workers, creating a flight of trained manpower that made necessary the building of the Red wall across Berlin.

The tremendous drain of specialists and intellectuals to the West, he said, had cost his regime dearly—"the training alone of the working force—which was then recruited by West German monopolists—cost us more than 30 billion marks, that is nearly 40 per cent of our national income in 1961."

Ulbricht also acknowledged officially for the first time what is generally accepted in the West—that the presence of the Soviet army alone made possible the communization of East Germany.

The Communist chief's admissions were stated with unusual frankness in an article in Pravda and made gloomy New Year's reading for the Communist party newspaper's followers.

Until now Ulbricht and his comrades have insisted that the barbed wire and concrete wall across the heart of Berlin was necessary to keep out Western spies and saboteurs—not to keep in East German workers.

He repeated that claim Saturday but said one of the great difficulties of maintaining an "open border between the Socialist camp and the imperialist camp" was the defection of trained talent to the West.

He did not explain whether the economic loss of 30 billion marks was for 1961 alone, or for the 16 years of Communist rule, but said:

"West German concerns deliberately recruited our specialists so as to make our economic construction more difficult."

In responding to the alleged West German recruiting campaign—presumably offers of better wages and freedoms—"some citizens thought that in crossing over the border from the German Democratic Republic to West Germany, they crossed from Germany to Germany," Ulbricht said. "Actually, they crossed from the Socialist camp to the imperialist camp."

His admission of dependence on the Soviet army in establishing his Communist regime over 17 million East Germans was in these words:

"The protection and aid of the Soviet Union, which at that time had a military form made it easier for the anti-Fascist democratic forces of Germany to fulfill their historic task.

"We were given the fullest support of the officers of the Soviet army. Not only did they stand on guard, but by their advice and aid they facilitated the solution of all complex political, economic, cultural and organization tasks.

"The presence of the Soviet army," he went on, "deprived the class enemies of the possibility of resorting to measures of open terror."

De Gaulle Plan For Algeria Sets Off Riots

PARIS (AP) — European extremists in Algeria retaliated with strikes and violence Saturday against President Charles de Gaulle's plan to speed that troubled North African land down the road to independence. Bloody clashes left 18 dead and nearly 50 injured in a day.

But the other faction in Algeria, the Algerian nationalist rebels, appeared ready to take De Gaulle at his word and begin negotiations for a final settlement, a high source said. The Algerian struggle against French rule now is in its eighth year.

Led by the outlawed right-wing secret army organization, Europeans sworn to keep Algeria a part of France virtually paralyzed the big port of Oran, Algeria's second city, with strikes and demonstrations. Violence also erupted in Algiers, Algeria's largest city.

Authorities said 10 persons were killed in Oran and eight in Algiers in the 24 hours following De Gaulle's yearend radio and TV speech that angered Europeans in Algeria. Dusk brought an uneasy calm to both cities, which counted nearly 50 injured.

Earlier, crowds of youths swept through the streets of Oran shouting "Death, death" to Moslems. Business houses run by Europeans closed in protest against the killing of two youths in clashes with military patrols shortly after De Gaulle spoke.

The stern old president made it clear in his speech that he would not be swerved from his program to give Algeria's nine million Moslems independence, despite rightwing violence and opposition from among Algeria's one million Europeans.

There is reason to believe, said circles close to the president, that the rebel provisional government in Tunis may soon disclose it is in accord with De Gaulle's general program.

Previous efforts have failed. But the careful process of allaying Moslem suspicion, making secret contacts to smooth the path, and the dramatic announcement by De Gaulle that he plans to withdraw the bulk of the 400,000-man army from Algeria next year gave rise to official hope.

Traffic Death Rate Begins A Faster Rise

By The Associated Press

Traffic	86
Fires	20
Miscellaneous	14
Total	120

By The Associated Press

The New Year weekend traffic death rate picked up speed Saturday night.

The count had proceeded at a record low pace during the first 24 hours of the holiday period in contrast to the early spurt in the recent three-day Christmas weekend.

Tally of accidental deaths in the 78-hour period that began at 6 p.m. Friday showed that 86 persons were killed in traffic, 20 died in fires and 14 in miscellaneous accidents of other kinds for an over-all total of 120.

The relatively small toll during the first full day of the turn-of-the-year weekend brought this comment from Howard Pyle, president of the National Safety Council:

"This dramatic improvement is a credit to our nation's drivers and law enforcement agencies.

"This New Year weekend is on the way to establish a record-breaking low in highway fatalities."

Most of the traffic deaths occurred singly. But an entire family of five was among the eight fatalities in one Oklahoma highway smashup early in the tabulation period. And Saturday three persons lost their lives in a four-car accident near Muscatine, Iowa.

Cold weather covered much of the nation and there were widespread slippery spots on highways in the Midwest and East and heavy snow fell in western New York.

The National Safety Council estimated that as many as 330 persons would die in highway mishaps before the holiday ends at midnight Monday.

The safety council estimate is under the 347 traffic deaths counted by The Associated Press in a 78-hour nonholiday period of Dec. 8-11. The AP survey was made for comparative purposes.

The New Year's holiday violent death toll in Texas rose to 14 Saturday with traffic accidents killing 8 and fires 3.

The Associated Press tabulation started at 6 p.m. Friday and will continue through Monday midnight.

Setting All-Time Record

Big Spring's all-time high record for building permits was set just before the 5 p.m. closing time in City Building Inspector Tom Newton's office Friday. It was the last permit issued by Newton, back to camera, for 1961, but it helped top the 1952 building permit dollar-wise by $13 when it brought the year's total to a whopping $5,773,703. A permit to build a storage, or utility, house was issued to Ascension Hilgrio, to cost $550.

Reviewing The

Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

If all our years could end as strongly at 1961, we wouldn't mind how slowly they start. By ending on a generally high note, the old year set the stage for what promises to be a good 1962.

* * *

Farmers have been wanting clear, dry weather, and they got it last week. With winds quartering out of the west, the moisture problem delaying the cotton harvest has disappeared. Consequently, gins have been swamped as the strippers have moved through still white fields. Dawson County already has topped the 200,000 bale mark, and there may be 10 per cent more to come. Howard County should still hit its anticipated 50,000 bales.

* * *

If only by a gnat's eyelash, Big Spring set a new record for building permits for a single year. A small permit just before closing time for city offices Friday edged the total just past the previous record set in 1952 by a mere $13.

* * *

An encouraging development of the past week was the Roden Oil and Cosden Petroleum No. 1 Reed, which looked like a Fusselman discovery in northwest Sterling County. This test, which found pay from 8,991-9,075, is about 15 miles south and west of Fusselman pay in southwest Mitchell and about 10 miles south of the Howard-Glasscock field.

With the exception of one death, we got by the holiday season with a minimum of violence. The unfortunate exception was R. B. Rodriquez, 61, who apparently was struck by a car as he walked beside IS 20 early Christmas morning.

Banks were adjusting their interest rates to conform with a slowly developing picture. First National announced an increase to 4 per cent on savings effective Jan. 1, while State National and Security State will hold to three per cent but compound quarterly.

11th Hour Permits Set Building Record

By M. A. WEBB

Ascension Hilgrio, 205 NE 8th, walked into City Hall about five minutes until 5 p.m. Friday. He had his plans carefully laid for a new utility building and asked Tom Newton, city building inspector, for a permit to build it.

The application was carefully filled out and the value was listed at $550. Hilgrio left City Hall happy, clutching his permit, and figuring out when he would begin his house.

But that is not the whole story. Friday at 5 p.m. was the last day and hour when building permits would be issued in 1961. And Hilgrio's permit put the year's total at $5,773,703, a new high record of construction for Big Spring in a single year. It was just $13 more than the previous record established in 1952 when the total hit $5,773,690.

Just a few minutes before Hilgrio asked for his permit, Katherine Homan, 800 Scurry, received a permit to reroof a garage at $165. She, unknowingly, also had a hand in the new record. Neither of the two, alone, would have made it.

Two permits for new business buildings issued in December, accounted for a large boost in the 1961 totals. Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. received a permit on Dec. 13 for three buildings, on West Third and Galveston, for $54,000. The biggest amount, in dollars for any one permit during the year went for the construction of the College Parks Shopping Center at East Fourth and Birdwell for $540,135.

December's permits totaled $806,943. March, April, May, June and October saw permits issued in excess of a half million dollars for each month.

Permits were issued during 1961 for 472 new residences in Big Spring totaling $3,275,485. Seventy of these were issued in October.

But the amount set out in building permits does not reflect the total costs of buildings. In many instances, electrical and plumbing costs are not included, as in the case of the College Parks Shopping Center. The City of Big Spring has spent in excess of one million dollars in construction for which permits are not required.

However, Hilgrio, who is to build a small utility house, was the man who pushed building to a new high in Big Spring.

U.S. Publishes Shelter Handbook

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government published Saturday its grim booklet telling citizens how to survive the deadly dew of fallout—with a foreword saying millions would die under nuclear attack but other millions could be saved.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, in an introductory statement, said the 48-page, pocket-size handbook is designed "to give the American people the facts they need to know about the dangers of thermonuclear attack and what they can do to protect themselves."

The booklet, under preparation for months by Defense Department experts on civil defense, will go into distribution on Tuesday, passed out by hundreds of post offices and state and local Civil Defense offices.

The initial printing, done under contract by the Government Printing Office with 21 printing firms, totals 25 million copies.

The Pentagon estimates the total cost of printing and distribution at $825,000 or about 3 cents per copy.

As it did in an announcement earlier this month on the incentive payment plan for helping with construction of fallout shelters, the Defense Department again discounts the probability of nuclear attack.

"The foreign and defense policies of your government make such an attack highly unlikely, and to keep it unlikely is their most important aim," says the booklet's preamble. "It is for this reason that we have devoted so large an effort to creating and maintaining our deterrent forces.

Judge Orders Judge To Appear In Contempt Case

BEAUMONT (AP) — Criminal Dist. Court Judge Owen M. Lord ordered Dist. Judge Harold Clayton Saturday to appear before him at 10 a.m. Jan. 10 to show cause why he should not be held in contempt of court.

The court order, issued at the request of the Criminal District Court grand jury, stemmed from Clayton's action earlier in the day refusing service of an order given Sheriff C. H. Meyer by the grand jury to "attach" Clayton and bring him before the jury "forthwith."

Immediately after Lord signed the court order, Stanley Coe, Kountze lawyer recently retained as a special investigator for the grand jury, asked the court to extend the present of the Criminal District Court grand jury until after the contempt of court hearing Jan. 10.

Coe said that should Clayton be found in contempt of court, he might be compelled to answer questions submitted by the present grand jury.

Lord told Coe and members of the grand jury that he would take the request for the extension under advisement.

Texas Girl New Maid Of Cotton

MEMPHIS (AP) — The new Maid of Cotton had trouble sleeping Friday night, what with visions of fashion and travel dancing through her head.

But pert and personable Penne Anne Percy was beaming and ready Saturday to begin her reign after being chosen cotton's goodwill ambassador in a sparkling pageant.

"I was filled with visions of what's going to happen," Penne explained. She'll soon be fitted in a new cotton - accented wardrobe and whirled away on a tour of the United States and Europe.

The golden tressed beauty from Waco, Tex., triumphed over 48 other finalists in the annual contest. Margaret Ann Teas of Nashville was named first alternate and Ethel Ann Glasscock of Lubbock, Tex., second alternate.

Penne begins her formal duties New Year's Day with appearances at the Cotton Bow' game in Dallas. She'll ride the lead float in a pre-game parade and be formally presented in half - time ceremonies.

Then it's off to New York for wardrobe fittings, modeling instructions and tour preparations. The new wardrobe of about 45 pieces will be almost entirely of cotton, even the luggage.

The New York stay will be climaxed by the annual Maid of Cotton fashion show with Penne the star.

The entire Percy family will be at the Cotton Bowl game — to see Penne and to cheer the University of Texas in combat against Mississippi. Penne 19, is a sophomore at Texas.

The Percys were also pulling for Penne in the contest finals. Mrs. Percy is a former finalist in the contest, and sister Wendy Anne, 14, already has plans to enter in 1968 or '69. Jamie Anne, 7, hasn't decided yet.

Penne probably won't get back to Texas until next July, a long time away from her family and a steady boy friend, whom she declined to name, also a student at the university.

The new Maid is probably the most poised 19-year-old in the whole proud State of Texas. With a honey voice to match her golden hair and a slightly uptilted nose, Penne has a disarming charm that should win her friends around the world.

A major in radio and television, Penne plans a career in television promotion work. Most of her spare time is taken up with the TV station on campus.

Beyond the technical side, Penne is adept at acting. She has done summer stock at Waco and was a stellar speech student in high school. She wrote her own speech for the contest and practiced it on her family.

Penne's other great interest is the outdoors. She's quite fond of riding, and has a certificate to teach swimming. She's even picked cotton, once, on an uncle's plantation in Mississippi.

College will have to wait a while now that Penne has taken on new duties, but she hopes to return after it's all over.

The gruelling pace ahead doesn't have her a bit worried. "It will be fun, every minute of it," she said. "I can't wait to get to New York. I love the bustle of the big city."

Hiding Bank Note Evidence Charged Against Banker

ALICE, Tex. (AP)—A second charge of concealing evidence on bank notes totaling $44,250 has been filed against C. L. Richardson, who resigned Tuesday as executive vice president of the First State Bank of nearby Premont.

Bond of $50,000 was set by Justice of Peace Alberto Garcia when Richardson was formally arraigned here Saturday on an earlier charge that he had removed a note for $11,184 from the bank to conceal evidence.

Richardson was held in jail here pending approval of the bond by Sheriff Halsey Wright.

The former bank executive is to be arraigned Tuesday on the new charges filed Friday that he concealed evidence on two notes—one for $21,000 from Ernesto Pena and one for $23,250 from Pablo Villareal.

Richardson was arrested Thursday at Lometa in Central West Texas on the first charge. He had resigned his post at the Premont bank the day that state banking auditors began checking the records of the bank.

Dist. Atty. Sam Burris said about $85,000 of the bank's funds have not yet been accounted for.

Dist. Judge Woodrow Laughlin of Alice is president of the bank.

Local Banks Adjust Rates

Two Big Spring banks announced Saturday that they are adjusting their interest payments effective Jan. 1, 1962.

The basic rate will remain 3 per cent, but interest payment on savings will be compounded with payments quarterly, the Security State and State National Banks announced.

Previously, the First National had announced that it was following a number of other banks in the state by raising interest payments on savings to 4 per cent effective Jan. 1.

Jackie Puts Off Overseas Trip Over Family Illness

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Mrs. John F. Kennedy put off Saturday her scheduled trip to India and Pakistan until early March because of the illness of the President's father.

The announcement by the White House marked the second postponement in the visit to the two nations. Originally scheduled for November, it first was delayed until late January.

Now the 32-year-old First Lady will make her tour of some of the cultural and historical areas of the neighboring Asian countries early in March.

"The delay in Mrs. Kennedy's trip is necessitated by the illness of the President's father," White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said in a brief announcement.

He said the change in date was made after consultation with the governments of India and Pakistan. It was fixed for early March instead of February to avoid conflict with the Indian elections in late February, a spokesman explained.

The President's father, 73-year-old Joseph P. Kennedy, suffered a stroke Dec. 19 and is in nearby St. Mary's Hospital. His right side is partly paralyzed and he still is unable to speak.

The President got gratifying reports of improvement in his father's condition Friday. Rehabilitation procedures have been started to try to overcome the paralysis.

It is expected that the elder Kennedy may have to remain in the hospital possibly until early March.

Members of the family, including the First Lady, have kept a constant watch at his bedside. Mrs. Kennedy has not missed a day in coming to his hospital bedside.

Both the President and Mrs. Kennedy made hospital visits at separate times this morning.

Later in the afternoon, Kennedy called in top White House aides for another round of discussions on his 1962 legislative program.

The chief executive plans a two-day New Year's holiday respite in his work schedule on Sunday and Monday.

The First Lady's India-Pakistan trip is expected to last about two weeks, but no time schedule or itinerary has been announced.

Hurricane Carla Leads Year's News

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Staff Writer

An elderly statesman lies dying ...Nature terrorizes the coast.... A gun-toting father and his son capture a plane...The legislature passes a sales tax.....The second Texas in history raises his hand and swears to uphold the Constitution as vice-president.

Editors say these were the big stories in Texas in 1961.

Selection of the top stories of the year was made by editors who each day pick the news you see on page one. They took their look backward in the annual Associated Press poll.

Standing out above all other news stories was Hurricane Carla, whose eye laid off the coast for hours, battering the land and its cities before slamming inland.

Carla caused possibly the world's greatest evacuation from a disaster as people by the thousands fled before the fierce phenomenon.

295 POINTS

The hurricane and severe weather in general rolled up 295 points in the poll and 21 first-place votes. Many editors combined Carla with other bad weather in their voting. The hurricane alone gained 164 points and 14 first-place ballots, despite split votes for weather in general.

The illness and the death of House Speaker Sam Rayburn, the Texas Democrat who spent 48 years in Congress, ranked next in voting.

The Rayburn stories drew 182 points and two first-place nominations.

Carla and Rayburn received all but two first-place votes.

One first-place ballot went to the spectacular hijacking of a commercial airliner by Leon and Cody Bearden. The father and son took control of the plane outside Texas but the craft landed at El Paso, where the Beardens held the crew and passengers at gunpoint for hours.

THIRD IN POLL

That story gained 151 points to rank third in the poll, based on 10 points for first place, 9 for second and so on.

The legislature failed to gain any first-place ballots but editors awarded it 133 points. Many editors said they gave the legislature a high news rating particularly because of the passage of Texas' first general sales tax.

Inauguration of Lyndon Johnson as vice president ranked fifth in voting with 117 points.

The election of a Republican, John Tower, to succeed Johnson in the senate drew 64 points for seventh place.

The callup of the 49th Armored Division was the personal news of the year to the soldiers involved. It ranked sixth with 90 points.

FAR DOWN LIST

Well down the list in eighth place was the investigation of corruption in Jefferson County and subsequent developments. These events gained only 52 points but one of the first-place ballots.

In ninth place with 51 points was the discovery of Communist-bloc Yugoslav airmen at Perrin Air Force Base in North Texas and protests against their presence there. This led to forming the National Indignation Convention in Dallas and its spread through much of the nation.

Tenth with 43 points was the mystery slaying of Mrs. Florence Hussey. Her body was found in her Cisco home, and a teen-ager later was sent to the reformatory.

OTHER STORIES

Other stories receiving points were Dallas and Galveston school integration (38), Navy Secy. John Connally resigns to run for governor (38), William Benson makes fake confession in New London school explosion (20), Beth Williams shot to death as she pleads with boy friend to kill her (13), Dallas News' Ted Dealey frankly discusses issues with President Kennedy and other Texas news executives reply (9), John Milton Addison, the uranium machine promoter, is convicted (9), nine persons killed in Phillips plant blast (6), and three special house elections (4).

Some editors made their own nominations outside the suggested list. One was the acquittal of Tony Davis, Negro disc jockey accused of raping a British Freedom Rider in Dallas. Another was the appointment of two Fort Worth men as secretary of the Navy within one year.

THE TOP TEN

The top 10 stories:

1. Weather, including Carla, 295.
2. Sam Rayburn's illness and death, 182.
3. Airplane hijacking, 151.
4. Legislature and sales tax, 133.
5. Lyndon Johnson inaugurated, 117.
6. 49th Division called up, 90.
7. Republican John Tower elected senator, 64.
8. Jefferson County crime probe, 52.
9. National Indignation Convention, 51.
10. Mrs. Florence Hussey slain, 43.

Both Gloom, Hope Usher In New Year

By FRANCIS STILLEY
Associated Press Writer

When the world figuratively lifts a toast to the Christian New Year at midnight Sunday, what kind of a year will it be toasting?

Will mankind somehow find the key to settlement of its age-old differences during the next twelve months, and settle back to enjoy the long-sought fruits of peace and prosperity?

Or will 1962 be another dark year, full of foreboding, Misunderstanding and chaos—or worse still, more strife and bloodshed?

Man, of course, can make of the world what he chooses.

But men, as well as the nations in which they live, do not find it any easier now than in centuries bygone to agree upon the kind of a world they would have, despite an eternal cry for peace.

MIXED EMOTIONS

World leaders look upon the prospects with mingled emotions.

"The dangers that confronted us have in no way diminished in the last 12 months," says the revered Sir Winston Churchill, "and from us all great and sustained efforts."

To this the 87-year-old former British prime minister added in a New Year's message:

"A far-sighted unity of plan and action of the countries of the free world should be our commanding purpose. I hope and trust that speedy progress may be made towards this aim in 1962."

Expressions of other leading world figures ranged from gloom to guarded hopefulness.

America's youthful President Kennedy, in Florida to be near the bedside of his stricken father, was described as somewhat encouraged though still gravely concerned by a lack of genuine progress toward easing world tensions.

SOME HOPE

He was said to find some hope for what he calls the "grand design" of the United States to achieve a world of free nations, but does not anticipate relief from immediate tensions while Russia continues to press forecefully toward enlarging its sphere of power.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan pledged that "none of the disappointments and setbacks of 1961" would weaken his government's determination to work toward world peace and disarmament.

In a message to his Conservative party, he said:

"In a sadly worsened international situation I find two most encouraging factors.

"The British people in this past dangerous year showed a notable absence of panic. Cool heads in any crisis are a great asset.

"There is, too, a general realization that there are no easy shortcuts to peace, and that it would be folly to cast away the nuclear shield which has thus far kept us safe."

SMALL CHANCE

President Tito of Yugoslavia, a fence-sitter in the East-West struggle, saw diminishing chances for peaceful settlement of world conflicts and problems.

"The cold war dances on the brink of the abyss into which humanity could be toppled," he said.

"Chances appear less and less for a rapprochement between antagonistic blocs and for gradual peaceful settlement of international problems.

"The cold war more and more is getting a permanent character in international relations and makes impossible constructive approach to most essential international conflicting problems."

Whatever the outlook, hundreds of millions of citizens in the free and Communist lands around the world prepared to welcome the New Year both with noisy hilarity and prayerful mediation.

From London came the report that Europeans on both sides of the Iron Curtain appeared headed for one of the old world's gayest celebrations with emphasis on drowning cold war jitters.

MORE MONEY

Western Europeans, blessed by an economic boom, had more money to spend than in past years and set about to do it. They could afford as much as $20 per person —with drinks extra—for a big night in London cabarets.

Elsewhere, top tabs ran to $20 in Western Germany, $14.25 in East Berlin, $40 in Paris, $10 in Warsaw, $20 in Vienna and $40 in gayer-than-ever Paree.

Swedes are expected to flock to Copenhagen, Denmark, which celebrates with a nonstop blowout lasting throughout the night and New Year's Day.

United States festivities will take many forms, ranging from revelry at $37 a head—bottled buoyants extra in Hollywood's Coconut Grove to fervent watch night services in thousands of churches.

Many a night spot across the country reported that scores of reservation seekers had to be turned away. On the other hand, many families will spend quiet evenings at home or attend private parties at the homes of others.

BIG THRONG

The traditional throng is expected to gather to shout and sing in New York's Times Square, although the crowd doubtless will be far less than the estimated million of yesteryear.

Celebrating will start a bit early in some states, where blue laws prohibit serving of liquor on Sunday. In many spots the festivities were launched last night by clubs and cafes.

Even in the Soviet Union itself, the occasion calls for a big celebration. New Year is the biggest nonpatriotic holiday of the year there. Citizens exchange gifts—and receive more from Grandfather Frost, the Soviet version of Santa Claus.

Despite the festivities on both sides of the Iron Curtain, the differences between East and West again are borne out in the focal spot on the dividing line, Berlin.

Police on each side of the red wall have forbidden noisy fireworks.

People's nerves already are edgy enough.

Many Labor Issues Begin Cropping Up

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analysis

NEW YORK (AP)—Among the issues that are likely to stir up a big fuss in the next few weeks and months is a growing split in thinking between labor and management. It's complicated by a decided administration interest in the outcome.

You can see the issue building up in such actions as rising orders for steel as a hedge against a strike next summer.

And you can hear the issue in a flow of pronouncements by management spokesmen, labor leaders, administration officials.

Some of the wordage is along the old lines—wages, costs, prices.

COMPLEX TERMS

But some of the terms they are using are more complex—productivity, automation, hard core of unemployment, inflation and the cost of living, profits and the rate of economic growth, competition with the European Common Market and Japan in world and domestic markets.

That is, some of the battle between labor and management will be along traditional lines: How much pay can we get? How can we hold down costs and maintain or boost profits? How high will prices go?

While deep down, and growing, is a split over more fundamental issues. This is a real difference of opinion as to what is best for the country—or, as Washington would put it, just how much of labor's objectives and management's goals will work to the maximum good of the country.

PRETTY LOUD

The turmoil is likely to get pretty loud shortly. Let's try to see what some of the high-sounding issues mean, without attempting to decide which side will win, or should win.

The productivity situation is this: A gain in productivity usually means that new machines or methods permit more goods to be produced with the same amount of man hours. The issue: How much of this gain should go into higher wages, how much into profits, how much into holding down or cutting prices?

Automation involves productivity. It also means sometimes that some workers are no longer needed, that some haven't the skills to handle the new machines. The issue: Should this be corrected by shorter work weeks to spread the remaining work, by retraining laid-off workers, by waiting for general prosperity to provide more jobs elsewhere, as it often has in the past?

DEMAND FALLS

The hard core of unemployment is defined as the unskilled worker for whom demand is dwindling. To the ranks are being added younger workers just entering the labor force and older workers whose skills are outdated.

The inflation issue finds labor and management split as to what causes the rising cost of living—steadily rising wage scales, or prices rising enough to keep profits rising, too.

Labor charges that boosting prices unnecessarily to get more profits has caused the demand for higher wages. Managenent contends that profits aren't rising as fast as they should if industry is to get the funds it needs to expand at anything near the rate of economic growth which the Kennedy administration has set as a goal. The administration says the growth rate must be greater if the economy is to provide, among other things, more jobs needed for a growing labor force.

FOREIGNERS, TOO

And even the foreigners are getting into the debate—if only as a warning of what the United States is up against.

The prospering Western European nations and Japan are giving many U.S. companies a hard time selling abroad, or competing here at home with foreign goods.

Management says this is because wage costs here are so high that our prices aren't competitive. Labor says it is management's yen for profits—and high executive salaries—that helps keeps prices high.

The administration hopes it can keep the dispute in bounds—stave off more inflation, keep our goods competitive abroad, make the economy grow faster.

The consumer? He just hopes prices don't go much higher.

Citizen Wins Income Tax Fight

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Charles Lehigh of El Dorado, Ark., can keep every bit of the $296,413 he won at a Caracas, Venezuela, race track in 1953.

U.S. Dist. Judge J. Smith Henley ruled Friday that the Internal Revenue Service didn't give Lehigh proper notice of a tax assessment on the winnings and therefore can't collect.

The IRS was prepared to hit Lehigh hard. It wanted tax, penalties and interest amounting to $304,226—more than the total winnings.

Lehigh bet $2.39, picked the winners in the last six races, and took home the biggest payoff in the track's history that March day in 1953.

Crushed To Death

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Wallace Boucher was killed Friday when a construction boom bent beneath the weight of a 30-ton hot water heater and crushed him. Boucher, 34, was from Tye, near Abilene.

Russ-Born Yanks To Stay In U.S.S.R.

MOSCOW (AP) — Two Russian-born American tourists have decided to remain the Soviet Union rather than return to the United States, Tass reported.

The two were identified by Tass as Galina Vasko, a woman, and her male companion, Danilo Danko.

The Soviet news agency did not list their places of residence in the United States but stated that the woman had lived in America for 22 years.

Islands Shelled

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The Chinese Communists shelled the Nationalist - held Quemoy Islands Friday for the third consecutive odd-numbered day, but the attack was very mild. This week's shellings broke a lull which has lasted 104 days.

Monetary Pact Is Extended

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A monetary stabilization agreement between Mexico and the United States was formally extended for two more years, the Ministry of Finance said.

The agreement means Mexico will have available a $75 million credit from the U. S. treasury, if and when Mexican U. S. currency reserves should be drained below a safe level.

Busy Airwaves

MEXICO CITY (AP) — There are 415 radio stations and 22 television stations in Mexico now, the Ministry of Communications said.

Mrs. Rowland Is Appointed

Mrs. Marie Rowland, local realtor, has been appointed to serve on the education promotion committee of the Texas Real Estate Association for 1962.

Ervin Luedtke, executive secretary, said Saturday that E. T. Compere Jr., president-elect of the Association, had made the appointment.

The committee will meet Jan. 12-13 in Corpus Christi to plan its activities for the year. Mrs. Rowland will also attend the installation ceremonies of TREA officers and directors while in Corpus Christi.

She is a member of the local real estate board and the National Real Estate Association.

Maryland Race Barriers Fall

CRISFIELD, Md. (AP)—Racial barriers were lowered at two Crisfield lunch counters Friday night amid reports that additional eating establishments in the hometown of Gov. J. Millard Tawes would be desegregated.

The relative calmness of the local citizenry as centuries-old traditions were swept aside surprised some observers who had feared intimidation or even violence.

AMEN

By T. H. Tarbet, preacher, Church of Christ, 3900 West Highway 80 P.O. Box 1383.

"In a world that is being rapidly engulfed by atheistic materialism, and that stands in danger of being overrun by Communism, must we set ourselves at variance with one another? Communism thrives on dividing people against one anther, and because of this it is able to cause internal collapse. Furthermore, such attitudes are not in harmony with the prayer of Christ in John 17." (So continues the letter of protest).

To this paragraph we say, Amen!

Now, in striving for unity, we cannot pretend there is no division. To do so would be hypocritical. The religious world is divided, and should know it. The non-religious world knows it; and they will admire us more if we will admit it, then set ourselves to the task of correcting it.

The road to unity is the road of Bible study and discussion, for men are divided on what the Bible teaches. So, "Come now and let us reason together" (Isa. 1:18).

Why are religious leaders so slow to do so? ? ?

Welcome to our services today: 9:30 and 10:30 a.m.; 7 p.m.

Many Gifts Await Year's First Baby

The first new citizen of Howard County, born after midnight Sunday, will get a good send-off from 10 Big Spring merchants. The new Dad and Mom will also be remembered.

The first New Year's baby always gets a lot of attention and the parents get a big share of congratulations from friends, neighbors, and others.

To get in on the race, four rules must be followed by the parents of the new baby:

Mother and father must be bona fide residents and citizens of Howard County;

The exact date, hour and minute of birth, must be certified by the attending physician;

Baby's birth must be in Howard County and in a hospital;

Decision of awarding judges will be final.

Information sent to the Herald must contain the time and place of birth, sex, weight, name, and the names and address of the parents.

The new 1962 baby's dad will receive a box of 50 cigars from Piggly Wiggly. The new mother will get a special kitchen tool set from White's.

Eight merchants have set aside gifts and prizes for the new baby.

Blum's Jewelers will have a valuable gift. Anthony's will furnish a baby blanket. The J&K Shoe Store will fit the baby with its first pair of shoes.

Furr's Super Market has a case of baby formula to provide proper nourishment for the new citizen. Gandy's will send a quart of milk each day for 30 days.

Firestone Stores have a Baby Care Bar including a medicine and food chest, and a baby weight and height scale on the side, and eight nursers with carrying rack.

Mongomery Ward will provide a 9-piece layette set, including a receiving blanket, quilted pad, wash cloth, plastic pantie, package of cotton buds, a plastic rattle, a bib, a 10-inch plastic hanger, and a plastic fine-tooth comb.

Penney's will provide a dozen soft gauze diapers.

Daniel Works On Special Session Talk

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel had several worries Saturday as he decided what he will tell the special session of the legislature Wednesday.

The governor worked on his address at his Liberty ranch home where the Daniels spent the holidays. He is expected back in Austin Monday.

Daniel's distractions included:

How much of an attempt will be made to adjourn the session soon after it convenes?

What's the status of Daniel's demands to bring banks under abandoned property seizure laws?

Who's going to run for the Senate?

Early arriving legislators generally pooh-pooh the idea that an immediate sine die or final adjournment motion will be successful.

Both Sen. George Parkhouse of Dallas and Rep. Charles Ballman of Borger have said they will present such a motion because they do not think the session is necessary. Two other Dallas legislators backed Parkhouse's plans. Rep. Bill Rapp of Raymondville said he will back Ballman, unless Daniel includes legislation vital to the Rio Grande Valley in the session's agenda. Six of Houston's eight representatives and Sen. Bob Baker of Houston favor immediate adjournment.

However, the early arrivals said that those voting for immediate adjournment would be vulnerable to campaign charges this summer that they came to Austin and returned home immediately without transacting any important business, all at state expense.

Others say such a resolution might be successful if some noncontroversial legislation is passed first, such as appropriation of maintenance funds for farm to market roads.

The abandoned property, or escheat, issue is more complex. Daniel made the inclusion of bank, under the law the main subject of the session. However, the five-man special House committee selected to make definite recommendations became a center of controversy itself.

Two members of the committee never attended meetings or public hearings. The chairman, Rep. Franklin Spears, ran successfully in a special election for a Senate vacancy at San Antonio and it required an attorney general's opinion to settle his status as committee chairman. Spears has been sworn in as senator and the present group has no chairman.

Another attorney general's decision finally got the three committee members expense money for public hearings held. However, still pending with the attorney general is a plea from Texas bankers that the committee had no authority to hold such hearings.

The man chosen president pro tempore of the Senate during the special session will have a lot of influence in approving or killing legislation passed by the House. Three or more senators want the job.

Three senators are in line for the selection if seldom-ignored Senate tradition is followed in picking the president pro tem on the length of service. These are Charles Herring of Austin, Culp Krueger of El Campo and Hubert Hudson of Brownsville. Herring and Krueger are candidates for re-election. Hudson is reported to have said he may not seek another term.

There has been some published speculation that Krueger might support Herring as president pro tem for the special session, then Krueger would be chosen for the honor between sessions.

Other speculation says that Sen. Bruce Reagan of Corpus Christi, present holder of the job, is interested in continuing in that office through the special session.

3 Children Killed In Fire

DALLAS (AP) — Three small Negro children burned to death Saturday in a fast fire that destroyed their upstairs apartment in South Dallas.

Killed were Douglas, 4, Bernard, 2, and Renee, 7 months, all children of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Allen.

He said he had investigated several locations in the Southwest and Big Spring appeared to have the best future. He is a graduate of the University of Oklahoma School of Pharmacy and he and his wife, Mary, and two children are moving here as soon as possible. Glickman may have set a national record for chamber membership sales in signing up Neil G. Hilliard as No. 100.

RALPH WHITE

Ralph White Asks Voters For 2nd Term

Ralph White announced Saturday that he is asking for a second term as county commissioner from precinct No. 2.

His announcement was made subject to the Democratic primary.

Now serving out his first term, White has been active in numerous community affairs over the years. He has served as a school board member at Coahoma, is a past president of the Lions Club there, and has participated in virtually all welfare and other civic campaigns.

In making his announcement, White had this to say:

"I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for the honor of serving you as your county commissioner the past three years, and to ask you for the privilege of being your commissioner for a second term. I feel that the knowledge that I have gained in the past three years will help me to better serve you for another term.

"It has been a pleasure to work with the many different people and agencies, and all have been very cooperative. The county has paved 50 miles of permanent road in the past three years, 14½ of which happened to be in precinct No. 2. In addition, we have secured right of way for 25 miles of farm-to-market roads that have been paved by the state, and some 20 miles of roadway for state highways that have been or or are being built.

We have cooperated in every way to create a climate favorable to getting new industries to locate in our county, thus providing more jobs and creating more tax revenues.

"I have done my best to take care of the county's busines in a business-like way, and to make our people feel at home with the court and that it is their servant. If re-elected, I will continue to try to make the commissioners court one that you will be proud of, and to that end I will deeply appreciate your influence in the primary, May 5."

Menshikov Says 'Bye

WASHINGTON (AP) —Soviet Ambassador Mikhail A. Menshikov has thrown a goodby party for official Washington. He also dropped a hint that he might retire when he gets back to Russia.

The Soviet Embassy had a mellow air Friday night as prominent Americans and foreign diplomats dropped in at the reception for the departing ambassador.

Menshikov, 59, who leaves for Russia Jan. 1, said he hasn't decided what he will do next. But he did suggest that since he has put in more than 30 years service, he might decide to retire.

His replacement, Anatoly F. Dobrynin, is due in Washington in about a month.

Police Check On Thefts, Burglaries

Police were called to investigate a car burglary, burglary of the Ranchburger Inn, 511 W. 3rd, and theft of money from a cold drink machine, Friday and Saturday.

John Morris, manager of the Singer Sewing Center, reported the theft of a portable sewing machine from a station wagon parked in the alley behind 112 E. 3rd, between 6:30 and 7 p.m. Friday.

Patrolman Walter Johnson found the back door open at the Ranchburger Inn while he was on regular patrol shortly after 5 a.m. Saturday. Marvin Murphy, manager, was called, and reported approximately $50 in change and cigarettes taken. The music machine and cigarette machine coin boxes were pried open.

The coin box on the cold drink machine at the Kent Oil Co. Station, 1900 Lamesa Drive, was found open at 6:15 a.m. Saturday. L. B. Fields, manager, estimated approximately $1 in change had been taken.

Japanese Approve Largest Budget

TOKYO (AP) — The Japanese cabinet approved a $6.7-billion budget for 1962, the largest spending program in the country's history. It provides $500 million for military expenses, $77.8 million over the current fiscal year.

State Liquor Tax Receipts Increase

AUSTIN (AP) — State Treasurer Jesse James reported December receipts from the state liquor tax were $143,000 more than the last month of 1960.

Total tax receipts for wine, liquor and cigarettes were just under those of last December and about $1 million below November collections.

Total collections this month were $7,925,997, James said, compared to $8,037,400 last December and $9,028,900 in November.

Liquor tax receipts totaled $1,053,171, compared to $909,571 a year ago. The tax on cigarettes brought $6,605,535, compared to $7,953,157 a year ago and $7,376,347 a month ago.

Train-Car Crash At Abilene Kills 2

ABILENE (AP)—A Texas & Pacific passenger train struck a station wagon broadside at a crossing near the downtown business section Friday. Two children were killed and five other persons were injured.

Patricia Ann Alfano, 3, daughter of S.Sgt. and Mrs. Fernando Alfano of Abilene, died in the crash. Monte Johnson Jr. died several hours later in a hospital.

Injured were Mrs. Alfano, her two 5-year-old daughters, La Donna and Rosalinda; Mrs. Monte Johnson, 23, and another son, David Johnson, 1½ years old.

Mrs. Johnson's husband also is a staff sergeant stationed here.

Traffic Crackdown

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Traffic police started a periodic crackdown on traffic violators in this city of almost five million persons and handed out 986 tickets in 24 hours.

Buster Cox To Resign Post As Glasscock County Sheriff

GARDEN CITY—Sam (Buster) Cox, sheriff of Glasscock County for the past nine years, is resigning from his post effective Jan. 15.

He is to accept a job with the Southwest Texas Cattlemen's Association as a special ranger. His headquarters will be in Marfa and he will remove his home to that city on Jan. 15.

Cox, a native of Glasscock County, has three years unexpired time left of his current sheriff's term. He said he did not know of anyone being considered for his post.

The Glasscock County Commissioners Court will meet on Jan. 8. Cox said he would advise County Judge Otto Dozier of his resignation and that it is possible the court would consider an appointment to fill the vacancy at the meeting.

Cox notified District Judge Ralph Caton and District Attorney Gil Jones Friday of his plans.

"I have enjoyed being sheriff in my home county," said Cox, "and I am sorry to resign. However, the opportunities offered by the new job are so attractive and advantageous I feel I would be doing myself a disservice if I did not accept that post."

Cox is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Cox, formerly pioneer residents of Glasscock County, who now make their home in LeVeta, Colo. He attended school in Garden City and graduated from the Garden City high school. He entered the armed forces shortly after graduating and served four years in the military police where he got his first taste of law enforcement work.

On his discharge from the service he returned to Glasscock County. He owned a ranch in the county, which he has now sold, and in 1952 was elected sheriff. He was re-elected each election through the most recent contest and still has three years left to serve of a four-year term.

He sold out his ranch holdings and stock last June. He has made a hobby of quarterhorses and said he will take his herd with him to Marfa.

His new territory over which he will have direction will include most of the counties in Southwest Texas with the exception of the territory beyond Van Horn.

Reynolds Still Ahead In Finals

DALLAS (AP) — Benny Reynolds displayed the skill which shot him to top place among arena cowhands when he placed twice Saturday in the fifth go-round of the National Finals Rodeo.

Reynolds, the gigantic Melrose, Mont., athlete leads the race for title of world's champion cowboy, which will be decided in the current finals.

He won first place in steer wrestling with a respectable 7.9 seconds and fourth place in bareback bronc riding.

Until today's matinee, Reynolds performances proved disappointing to his fans. With eight chances to finish in the money, he blew them all but one.

Reynolds' winning eliminated Dean Oliver, the Boise, Idaho, roping specialist, from the race for the world's all-around championship.

Still able to overcome Reynolds but facing an uphill battle is Guy Weeks, Abilene, Tex. Weeks, like Reynolds, entered in two events.

The fifth go-round sent the contest for the world's steer wrestling championship into a two-man affair. C. R. Boucher, Burkburnett, Tex., failed to place and fell out of title competition.

Remaining in the steer wrestling competition are Jim Bynum, Forreston, Tex., the leader, and Benny Combs, Checotah, Okla.

The other champ to be decided in the finals is bull riding which may not be decided until the eighth go-round on New Year's Eve.

Winners of the fifth go-round at the matinee were Walt Mason, Las Vegas, Nev., bareback bronc; Reynolds in steer wrestling; Del Hataway, Snyder, Tex., bull riding; Olin Young, Albuquerque, N.M., in calf roping with 11.4 seconds; and Alvin Nelson, Sidney, Mont., in saddle bronc riding.

Eddy Akridge, Midland, Tex., won the world's bareback bronc riding championship in the fourth go-round when his nearest competitor lagged to the point where he could not overcome Akridge's lead in the remaining prize money.

Dean Oliver, Boise, Idaho, in calf roping and Winston Bruce, Calgary, Alta., Canada in saddle bronc riding won world crowns in their events before the national finals. No competitor could overtake their lead.

Titles are decided by the amount of money won over the season, including the national finals.

The top 15 competitors in each of the five standard events qualified for the finals. Also up for decision is the world's all-around championship for which a contestant must win money in more than one event to be eligible.

In a sidelight at the matinee, Harry Tompkins, Dublin, Tex., rode a mule named Krushchev for the second time in three tries, thereby winning $911 in special prizes. Krushchev was barred from the finals because of his mixed ancestry. Tompkins is current holder of the title of World's Champion Cowboy although he will be dethroned when the finals end.

U.S. Negroes' Ancestors 30 Per Cent White

DENVER, Colo. (AP) —New evidence was reported Saturday that approximately 30 per cent of the modern day American Negro's ancestors were white.

Dr. Arthur G. Steinberg, a medical geneticist of Western Reserve University, said the evidence comes from genetic studies of gamma globulin, the blood fraction that plays an important role in the human body's natural defense against certain diseases.

He told the 128th meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science—and amplified in an interview—that up to six years ago, scientists had believed that GG was identical in all people and all races—except for individual variations in protective antibody activity.

Since then, he said, researchers have found at least nine different types—with the variations depending upon heredity. For example, one particular type occurs in Negroes but not in Orientals or whites; and certain other types occur among all representatives of yellow, red and black races, but only among up to 60 per cent of white people.

Steinberg's report was concerned primarily with a type of GG that occurs in racially pure Negroes in both of its two forms, called "A" and "B."

White people have one or the other of these two particular types—but not both.

The Cleveland scientist said a survey of 1,000 Negroes in Africa showed that all of them had both "A" and "B."

But, he declared, a survey conducted among 700 American Negroes in Cleveland and Baltimore showed something considerably different.

While 95 per cent of the subjects were found to carry both the "A" and "B" types, the remaining 5 per cent showed this picture:

Some of them had only "A" and the rest had only "B."

And, said Dr. Steinberg, the only way they could have been so constituted was through partial white ancestry.

He said the ratio of this particular genetic GG trait to other forms of GG carried by these same people indicated that 31 per cent of their ancestors over past generations were white people.

Steinberg said the work confirms findings made several years ago by Dr. Bentley Glass, Johns Hopkins University geneticist. Dr. Glass, he said, studied the frequency of the "RH factor" gene in both white people and in American Negroes, and concluded that 30.6 per cent of the ancestors of the American Negro were white.

The scientists said aside from its value in ancestral studies, research on the varying genetic types of GG may open the way to better understanding of this medically important yet still largely mysterious blood fraction.

The district highway engineer furnishes the welcome news that the US 87 segment of four-lane divided highway from Big Spring to Fairview will be let Feb. 20. Design should be firmed soon for the new Gregg Street overpass. Possibly a year hence this project will be completed.

Another of those frail and disappearing links with our pioneer days snapped last week when Mrs. Etta Wade died. With her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. W. T. (Bud) Roberts, she settled in southeast Howard County in 1877, before there were any other settlers, before there was really a county and four years before there was a Big Spring.

Already the political pot is boiling for 1962. Half a dozen local candidates have announced, and Sen. David Ratliff, Stamford, and Rep. Truett Latimer, both of whom will run for state senator from this district, visited here.

There were two instances of boys being hit perilously near the eye by BB shots last week. These things can be more dangerous than a real gun, and parents should impress this upon their youngsters.

Those who missed the HCJC basketball tournament missed some mighty fine playing. HCJC and Decatur treated the fans to some rare thrills in the finals Saturday night. Speaking of basketball, Big Spring opens district play here Tuesday against Midland Lee, and if the Steers are at top form, they could surprise critics and win.

Woman Arrested Following Wreck

A Big Spring woman was arrested Friday night by city police and charged with driving while intoxicated, running a red light, and hit and run, after the vehicle she was driving struck three parked cars at West Fourth and Lancaster a few minutes before. She was released on bond.

Total damage to all vehicles was estimated by police at $1,500.

Owners of parked cars struck by the driver were: Linda Stuteville, 904 E. 14th; Rau Walter, and A. N. Trotter, 1500 Tucson Road.

Rites Pend For Mrs. Bridgess

Mrs. Frances Modean Bridgess, 76, died in a local hospital Friday at 9:40 p.m. She made her home here with a daughter, at 3617 Dixon.

Mrs. Bridgess was born April 8, 1885 in Montague County.

Funeral is pending at the Capital Hill Funeral Home in Oklahoma City. Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home made local arrangements.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Colbert Frazier, Big Spring, Mrs. Devereux Shields, Oklahoma City, Mrs. O. C. Stockton, Oklahoma City; five grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

FALLOUT

However, should a nuclear attack ever occur, certain preparations could mean the difference between life and death for you."

The booklet—entitled "Fallout Protection, What to Know and Do About Nuclear Attack"—explains in nontechnical language and with the aid of drawings the basics of nuclear weapons effects, of fallout and of the types and manner of constructing and living in community or family fallout shelters.

For purposes of the discussion, the booklet assumes the use of a weapon of five megatons — the equivalent of energy yielded in the explosion of five million tons of conventional TNT.

The aim of the booklet is to advise how to survive the radioactive aftermath of nuclear attack. No hope is held out for those who happen to be within the range of the blast, heat and initial radiation of the fusion bomb.

A five-megaton burst at ground level, the booklet says, would destroy most buildings up to two miles from the burst; heat rays would kill unprotected people up to 10 miles away, and "the areas of blast and fire would be scenes of havoc, devastation and death."

Where lives could be saved would be among the people who happened to live outside the instantaneously lethal area of the explosion but still in areas of drifting radioactivity.

The major radiation danger would occur within a 24-hour period following detonation. In half an hour, the first portion would reach a zone about five miles away; 20 miles away people would have nearly an hour to get into fallout shelters; 100 miles off, the time might be four to six hours. Much would depend on the wind.

The most dangerous fallout, of the heavy particles of debris from the fusion explosion, comes in the early phases. These particles are large enough to be seen—about the size of table salt or sand.

The thing to do, the booklet emphasizes, is to get into some kind of a structure into which the fallout particles cannot penetrate—and stay there, with only swift excursions outside, for as much as two weeks.

It scotches hope about some other methods discussed. Special clothing would provide little protection because radiation from the particles would pass through the fabric.

And "although many experiments have been conducted," the booklet says, "there is little likelihood that a pill or any other type of medicine will be developed that can protect people from the effects of fallout radiation."

The federal government favors the community shelters, although agreeing that personal preference or conditions in rural areas make necessary some family-type shelters.

The booklet gives the reasons: A community group probably will be better prepared than a single family; first aid and other emergency skills would be present; community shelters would provide protection for those away from home.

Community shelters can be built into new structures without great extra cost; they can be constructed underground with the surface left for civic property, playgrounds or other purposes. But, the booklet advises, existing buildings, even without change, can afford some considerable protection against fallout. It says this is especially true of tall office buildings where upper floors and multiple walls provide shielding.

Delinquency Nature Noted

DENVER (AP)—Kids will be kids—but there is a big difference between stealing apples as a childish prank and juvenile delinquency, a panel of social scientists agreed Saturday.

If all children who stole apples at the age of six were called juvenile delinquents, the whole world would be delinquent, said Dr. Eleanor T. Glueck, Harvard Law School criminologist.

The real juvenile delinquent—the person who exhibits a persistent pattern of antisocial behavior—is often a creation of his first five or six years of life, she said.

Mrs. Glueck and other members of a panel considering juvenile delinquency at a session of the American Association for the Advancement of Science gave their views to newsmen before the session.

Donald E. J. MacNamara, dean of the New York Institute of Criminology, said that the mere existence of special courts and police to handle juvenile delinquency was in part responsible for the rise in juvenile delinquency statistics.

He also criticized the way many of the courts handled juvenile cases. Many judgments, he said, would not stand up in adult courts because they involved violations of the Bill of Rights and the rules of evidence.

Mrs. Glueck said that conditions within the family in the early life of a child were often responsible for creating the juvenile delinquent. These conditions were the affections of the parent, supervision and discipline.

There is a real increase in juvenile delinquency, she said, especially in upper income levels, in rural areas and in girls.

Fine Weather

Ideal weather was general in Texas Saturday and forecasters said it should continue fine right through New Year's Day on Monday.

Boyce House, Noted Texas Humorist, Dies

FORT WORTH (AP) — Boyce House, known as the braggingest Texan of them all, was found dead in his bed at his hotel here Saturday.

The 65-year-old author and humorist, whose books of Texas tales have sold hundreds of thousands of copies, apparently died of a heart attack.

He had picked up his morning newspaper and gone back to bed to read it. A maid became concerned when he failed to rise and discovered him dead shortly before noon.

House suffered a heart attack last September and had been in ill health in recent months.

He was active as executive vice president of the Association of Consumer Finance Companies of Texas until his heart attack.

He had been with the Dallas-based firm eight years.

Although he had written on various topics, it was House's compilations of tall Texas tales that brought him renown. Most of the stories were familiar ones, but House maintained that people would rather hear stories they've heard than new ones.

"Texans at heart are really modest," he said, "But when we tell the plain, unadorned, unretouched truth about our incomparable state, we are accused of exaggerating."

House started writing in 1935. It was the publication of "I Give You Texas" in 1943 that gave him his first big boost. The book sold 130,000 copies, many of them to Texans overseas fighting the war.

CUB REPORTER

Then came "Tall Talk From Texas" and "Texas Proud and Loud." Others followed.

His only books not devoted to Texas were "Cub Reporter," about his newspaper days on the Memphis Commercial Appeal, and "Laugh Parade of States," a collection of funny stories from all over the United States.

House never went to college, but he didn't let that handicap him.

Carl Sandburg has described House's writing as "that peculiar blend of valor and swagger which is Texas."

John Guner has said, it's impossible to describe Texas without borrowing some of House's stories."

House was born in Piggott, Ark., where his father was a printer and editor of a weekly newspaper. He spent his early boyhood in Texas, grew up in Memphis and returned to Texas in 1920.

STORY OF OLD RIP

He became editor of Eastland's daily newspaper in 1921, and it was there in 1928 that he broke the story of "Old Rip."

Old Rip was a horned frog which had been placed in the cornerstone of the Eastland County Courthouse 31 years before. The building was being torn down, and the man who had entombed the toad—then-county clerk Ernest Wood—believed it would be found alive.

House, although dubious, saw the possibilities of the story and set it before his readers. A crowd of thousands gathered to view the opening of the cornerstone—and the horned frog was found alive.

They named it Old Rip and took it on a national tour which even reached the White House. President Coolidge was kept waiting 10 minutes for a chance to see the toad.

YEAR OF GLORY

Old Rip died of pneumonia after a year of glory. His body now rests in a satin-lined casket in a glass case in the lobby of the Eastland County Court House.

House also edited newspapers at Ranger, Cisco, Olney and Brady and was on the staff of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram for five years. For many years he wrote a column for weekly newspapers and conducted a radio program.

In 1942 and 1946 House was a candidate for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor. He failed to make the runoff in 1942 but in 1946 he ran Allan Shivers a close second.

FRONTIER FIESTA

House served as publicity manager for the Frontier Fiesta here in 1937, and for the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show for several years.

His poem, "Cities," was used in the Casa Manana program of 1936 and was probably the most widely quoted poem of Texas' centennial year.

Most of his poems were in free verse.

Many of them were written in the reading room of the old Carnegie Library here. He dashed most of them off in longhand in less than half an hour.

BOYCE HOUSE

FAMED STORY-TELLER WAS ONCE BIG SPRING CITIZEN

Boyce House, who once briefly resided in Big Spring, visited here often over the years and early this year appeared here for a number of speaking engagements, including the Salvation Army advisory board annual meeting.

A story-teller par excellence, he was in his element relating his famous Texas stories. Few Texas public figures knew as many people as did Boyce House, who never seemed to forget a name or face.

Scores in this area knew him in Ranger, where he came on in time to gather the color and material for his famous book, "Were You in Ranger?," and which was made into a movie, "Boom Town," for which he served as technical advisor in Hollywood.

House was, nevertheless, a historian and had many of his papers published in Texas, Arkansas, Mississippi and other state historical journals. He also was an authority on William Jennings Bryan and wrote several detailed articles about the Great Commoner. House once was wed, but his marriage went on the rocks and he never talked about it. Actually, he was married to his work.

Yarborough Said Unhappy With Federal Patronage

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Sen. Ralph Yarborough has told a secret meeting in San Antonio that he is disgusted with being left out in the cold on federal patronage and may run for governor of Texas, although he prefers the U.S. Senate, the San Antonio Express and News said Saturday.

Yarborough's statement came at a closed meeting Friday, called by the San Antonio AFL-CIO Council. Several of the 28 persons present refused to discuss the meeting with reporters later, on the ground that they had been sworn to secrecy.

However, Express and News political writer James McCrory learned that Yarborough had said he would run for governor unless his supporters come up with another gubernatorial candidate on whom they can solidify.

The question raised at the meeting, the paper said, was whether the liberal Democrats can "afford the luxury of exchanging a senator for a governor. Yarborough could retain his Senate seat while running for governor. It was reported that he will have his decision made by Jan. 20. Filing deadline is Feb. 5.

The Express and News quoted Yarborough as saying he had been "pushed around" on the patronage front, and that he has protested in vain to the administration. He said, "I've been stomped on and I'm mad about it, and I intend fighting all the way," according to McCrory.

The senator also blamed former Navy Sec. John Connally as the man behind the scenes at the Fort Worth convention in 1960, when Yarborough was blocked from being chosen as a delegate to the National Democratic Convention, according to the Express and News report. The paper quoted Yarborough as saying it was the first time a senator had been bypassed in this way in Texas.

Lubbock Area Claims World Cotton Record

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — The South Plains surrounding Lubbock is winding up the year with a claim to a world cotton production record.

As thousands of persons marked the end of 1961 this weekend, thousands of others continued to work around the clock in attempting to finish the ginning process of what is expected to be an all-time record 2,285,000 bale crop.

With 2 million bales of the crop already in, gin yards reported another 200,000 bales on jammed lots or on the way. Many of the 390 gins in the 23-county Lubbock area were running around the clock. One gin yard at Olton, west of Plainview, had 2,800 bales waiting to be ginned Saturday morning.

The South Plains crop will top the Lubbock area's own past record of 2,025,000 bales set only two years ago and represents more cotton grown in a 100 mile radius than in any state in the nation (other than Texas itself) or any comparable area in the world.

Only California, where the 1961 estimate is 1.7 million bales, will come close.

Gross income from the huge cotton yield is estimated at about $383 million.

In addition, the same area has just finished off a record grain sorghum harvest estimated at 138 million bushels worth around another $135 million.

The area usually produces about 44 per cent of the Texas cotton crop and 15 per cent of the U.S. production, along with 60 and 40 per cent, respectively, of the state and national grain sorghum output. Even higher percentages are likely this coming year, farm observers said.

Sacred Music

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican radio will begin a weekly broadcast of sacred music with the New Year. Its purpose is to make sacred music better known. The program will be broadcast each Sunday, beginning Jan. 7, from 8:30 to 9 p.m. and rebroadcast on Monday from 1:30 to 2 p.m.

Texas Supermarts Contest Winners

BOISE, Idaho (AP) —Supermarkets in Texas and Michigan Saturday were named as winners of $1,000 awards in the annual display contest of the Idaho Potato and Onion Commission.

The awards of $1,000 each went to Furr's Supermarket of El Paso, Tex., Southgate Center of Wichita Falls, Tex., and Cascade I.G.A. of Grand Rapids, Mich.

Mrs. McWhorter Dies Saturday

Mrs. Martha Jane McWhorter, 96, a resident of Big Spring for three years, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Sallie Hodo, Sterling City Route, at 10:22 p.m. Saturday.

She was born Nov. 9, 1865, in Manchester, Ky. She was married to T. F. McWhorter in Kentuckey on Feb. 17, 1887.

Funeral arrangements are pending at River Funeral Home.

Surviving are four daughters, Mrs. Lucille Pilkington, San Bernardino, Calif., Mrs. Minnie Lunsford, Mineral Wells, Mrs. Sallie Hodo, Big Spring, and Mrs. Ida Rutherford, Abilene; three sons, H. B. McWhorter, Clovis, N.M., E. L. McWhorter, Seymour, and B. H. McWhorter, Abilene; 26 grandchildren, 47 great-grandchildren and four great-great-grandchildren.

Mrs. McWhorter was a member of the Baptist Church.

This Sums Up The State Of The World

SINGAPORE (AP)—This city's famed botanical garden admits it has lost a battle to rid itself of long-tailed monkeys who dine on succulent young plants and tender palm seedlings. One reason for failure, says an annual report, is that the office shotgun was found to have bent barrels.

To Defend Berlin

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk has told the U.S. ambassador in Moscow to make unmistakably clear at the start of his Berlin talks with the Soviets that the West will defend its essential Berlin interests "at whatever cost."

Man Held For Auto Theft

William K. Clark was arrested in Colorado City on a warrant issued by Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter Saturday and returned to Big Spring on a charge of car theft. He was being held in the city jail pending investigation.

Clark was stopped by Colorado City officers on a traffic violation and Big Spring police were asked to check on the license number. Mrs. Nolan Garrett, 1201 Eleventh Place, told officers she parked the car Clark was driving at the SIC parking lot Saturday. She said she went for a cup of coffee at 4 p.m. and when she returned the car was gone.

A house burglary, at 4000-B Old US 80, which occurred during the Christmas holidays while the occupants were away, was reported. The name of a suspect was given to police. He is accused of taking $22 in cash.

Elizabeth Maney, 706 W. 18th, reported the glass broken from the front door of the Western Restaurant, 1001 Gregg, after it closed Saturday night. Police investigated and found a hole above the lock, but no entry had been gained to the building.

Minor Accidents Are Investigated

Three minor automobile accidents were investigated by police Saturday night, but no injuries were reported.

Locations of accidents, and drivers of vehicles involved, were: McAlson and Highland, Curtis Sanders, 1908 Runnels, and Jackie Snow, 711 E. 12th; Airway Cafe, US 80 West, Lloy Hundman, Midland, and a parked car; West Seventeenth and Marcy Drive, Bernard McCormick, 209 Utah Road, and Donna Chavez, 1406 Mesa.

Congress Race Runoff Jan. 30

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel set Jan. 30 Saturday as the date for a runoff election to select a successor to the late Speaker Sam Rayburn in the 4th Congressional District.

The date was set after an official canvass of the Dec. 23 voting confirmed unofficial reports of a runoff between state Sen. Ray Roberts of McKinney and former Dist. Judge R. C. Slagle Jr. of Sherman.

Police Arrest Several Minors

Big Spring police arrested a minor for consuming alcoholic beverages, and leaving the scene of an accident shortly after 10:30 p.m. Friday.

Five other minors were arrested at 11:15, three for being in possession of alcohol, and two for consuming, following a report that they were headed for a local drive-in to fight.

Two Latin Americans from Knott were arrested after midnight for destruction of private property. Police Sergeant Robert Dugan was at the Ritz Theatre parking lot to watch for vandalism, when he saw the two boys break the door glasses from three automobiles. They were arrested near the Greyhound bus station and admitted breaking the glass. One of the boys was 16 years old and the other 18.

Driver of the hit and run car, who was 18 years of age, and two of the five minors, both 17 years of age, were released on bond. Three boys, 15, were released to the juvenile officer.

The two from Knott were held in city jail Saturday.

Hard Storms

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Violent winds and rains swept northern Portugal and the Lisbon area Friday night and Saturday causing widespread damage.

Sheriff's New Bad Check Division Opens Tuesday

A new department in the office of Sheriff Miller Harris becomes operative on Jan. 1 through which all worthless check cases that develop in this county are to be handled.

The plan is copied after one used in Wichita County. The plan in that county has been highly effective in lessening the practice of writing worthless checks and it is the hope of law enforcement officials here that the same beneficial results will accrue here.

"A sizeable influx of worthless checks in Howard County is being brought to the sheriff's office as well as to offices of the county and district attorney," a prepared statement out of Sheriff Harris' office points out.

"As a result, the county is adopting a system to centralize and maintain records on all worthless checks brought in for investigation. The system becomes operative on Jan. 1."

There are many advantages, the statement says, to the plan and both merchants and county officials will benefit from its functions. The county officials spend considerable time pursuing check law violators. A complete and concise record of both offender and payee of each check will be made and these records will become a part of a master file to be maintained in the office of the sheriff. With this information, the department can assist in locating persons for check violations, or for that matter, other offenses as well.

Records pertaining to check violations will be available to all merchants and individuals transacting business by check. Regular telephone calls to the sheriff's office for reports on any suspected offender are not only welcomed but are recommended by the sheriff. The success of the operation, depends on the support of all local business establishments.

"Also," Sheriff Harris said, "we hope that a merchant will call for reports on any questionable person attempting to pass a check."

As the check files grow, the department and the merchants will have at their fingertips a clear-cut picture of offenders. With this information, and the cooperation of the merchants, it should be possible, officers said, to reduce the increasing flow of worthless checks which are passed in this area.

Sheriff Harris' office issued a statement in which the operation of the plan is explained:

"Each merchant or individual seeking assistance in check violations is required to sign an affidavit which specifically says that the check in question was not taken originally as a hold check.

"After a merchant or an individual in business has used usual methods and exerted an effort to collect a check, he can bring it to the sheriff's office. Regardless of the amount of the check. . . and disregarding how it is classified (worthless, forgery or 'no account') he will receive a receipt from the sheriff's office showing the maker of the check, the payee, amount and date.

"At this time the merchant will be given a 10 day notice letter, with a certified USPO return receipt, addressed to the offender from information furnished by the merchant and is to be mailed by the merchant.

"If the notice is delivered, the sheriff's office will receive the return receipt, and if it is not delivered, the office gets the notice back unopened.

"Regardless, the merchant, and law enforcement officials have complied with the law. The payee of the check may at any time after 10 days from the date offender received his or her 10 day notice letter, have the office pull the offender's file and forward it either to the district attorney, in instances where the amount is $50 or over, or for forgery. . . or to the county attorney, if the amount is under $50. At this time the merchant must sign a complaint against offender.

"A warrant is then issued and the sheriff's office will exert every effort to apprehend and place the offender in jail.

"If the offender receives his notice and wishes to pay off the check before prosecution begins, he must come to the sheriff's office and pay. Merchants or persons who took the check cannot take pay-offs on checks after leaving the sheriff's office.

"Offenders must pay at the sheriff's office. Merchants will then receive a check from the sheriff. After the instruments are cashed, the office will file cancelled checks as receipts, showing merchants' check on the offender has been paid."

Davidson Asks Re-Election As Commissioner

L. J. Davidson authorized the Herald Saturday to announce that he will be a candidate for re-election to a second term as county commissioner of precinct No. 4, subject to the Democratic primary.

A resident of Howard County since 1908, Davidson has long been active in community and civic affairs prior to entering public service. He had served several terms on his school board, been a Farm Bureau officer, served on numerous agricultural committees and was a 4-H sponsor. He also worked in general construction and for an oil company prior to majoring on his farming operation.

"I count it a privilege having had the opportunity to be selected to serve you as your commissioner during this term," said Davidson. "I have worked hard to give good service to the citizens of Howard County and Big Spring, and to give the kind of government I think you want and deserve.

"I have cooperated in every way possible to bring new industry into our community. We have made splendid progress in our road building program, both in the construction of permanent county roads as well as lateral roads and main highways in cooperation with the state. I have sought to cooperate in every way with civic leaders and representatives of other local governmental agencies.

"I pledge to continue a policy of honesty and efficiency, integrity and a progressive program. I feel that my experience has qualified me to be of still greater service to you. I intend to try and see every person and voter. If I miss any of you, please accept this as a personal appeal for your support."

Batchelor Weds Again

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Claude Batchelor, a soldier convicted of collaborating with the enemy after being taken prisoner in the Korean War, says he and Evelyn Lee Butcher of Atlanta, Ind., were married in a justice of the peace ceremony Dec. 20.

The marriage took place the same day Batchelor divorced his Japanese wife, Kyoko, on the grounds she refused to join him in the United States.

Batchelor, 30, is an accounting clerk. He formerly lived in Kermit.

He was convicted in 1954 on the collaboration charge and sentenced to life imprisonment. The sentence was subsequently reduced to seven years. He was paroled in 1959.

Lamesa Banks Increase Rates

LAMESA (SC)—Lamesa's two banking institutions have announced increased interest rates effective Jan. 1, in keeping with the spread of a general hike of rates by many banks in the state.

President Richard Crawley of the First National Bank and E. D. David, executive vice president, Lamesa National Bank, reported that their respective institutions would begin paying the maximum interest rate established by an amendment to a state law.

Both of the local institutions will pay 3½ per cent interest on all savings accounts, compounded semi-annually on June 30 and Dec. 31; and four per cent interest per annum on certificates of deposit maturing one year or after the date of deposit.

Murder-Suicide

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Ernest Moravitz, 61, shot his wife, Ophelia, 58, to death, set fire to their home in a rural area near here and then killed himself Friday. The county medical examiner ruled murder and suicide.

Daniel Grants 2 Execution Stays

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Price Daniel has granted customary 30-day stays of execution to Leo Daniel Luton of Dallas and Joe Edward Smith of Houston, both under death sentence on murder convictions.

Smith's date of execution was changed from Jan. 30 to March 1 and Luton's from Feb. 5 to March 7.

Smith was convicted of the July 20, 1959 slaying of William Bodenheimer III, whose body was found in an ice box in an abandoned shanty. Another Negro youth, Adrian Johnson, 19, also is under death sentence in the killing.

Luton was convicted of murder in the Sept. 9, 1960 shooting of Mrs. James Bryant in a Dallas grocery store robbery.

Both stays were customary 30-day reprieves prescribed by the state Constitution.

Myers Announces Ror Re-Election

LAMESA (SC)—Dalton Myers, native Dawson Countian, became the first to announce for a political office here Friday when he said he would seek re-election as county commissioner for Precinct 4.

Myers was elected in 1958 and completes his four-year term next year.

Other county positions up for grabs in the coming election include Precinct 2 commissioner, county judge, county clerk, treasurer, justice of the peace, county school superintendent and district judge.

Medic Fears Cracking Code Of Genetics May Bring Evil

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—A medical geneticist has voiced concern that the recent partial cracking of the genetic code might lead to "dangerous tampering with the human species."

Dr. A. G., Steinberg of Western Reserve University said recent developments by U. S. Public Health Service scientists "might well lead in the foreseeable future to means of directing mutations and changing genes at will."

He declared such a development could be of great potential benefit to man.

But he added: "It also would raise dangerous possibilities because some scientists throughout the world—possibly some under political command and even others who might be well-intentioned—would try to control the genetic makeup of man at a time when we're not ready for it sociologically. We witnessed a somewhat similar try when Hitler and his Nazis ordered the sterlization experiments."

He made the comments in an interview at the 128th meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

The recent research to which he referred was the work of scientists of the National Institutes of Health. They succeeded in partially unravelling the complex intracellular chemical code involved in the reproduction of all living matter—and in the transmission of genetic traits from generation to generation.

"We don't yet know," said Dr. Steinberg, "the kind of man we want or need for the healthy survival of the human species—and by 'healthy' I mean mental and sociological health."

"Also, we don't know what kind of a natural environment will face us in the future and the kind of variations of the species that we'll need in order to adapt to this environment," he went on.

Dr. Steinberg said that if the genetic code was finally cracked completely, it might lead to such beneficial things as synthetic preparation of genetic materials for use in treating such congenital-defect ailments as diabetes, gout and cystic fibrosis.

"But," he said, "the danger would be that we wouldn't stop there."

South Viet Nam Tightens Belt

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam has announced a sweeping economic decree putting tight curbs on imports, raising taxes on many items, and generally tightening the Vietnamese economic belt.

Officials said one effect of the new law would be to curb an inflationary trend.

Checking In At Conference

Gene Sturdevant, Big Spring, awaits his turn as his son Paul signs in Friday afternoon at the First Annual Conference of the Order of the Arrow at Webb AFB academic building. Registrar, seated, is Dennis Dodd of Squadron 47, Midland. Paul is Chief of the Lone Star chapter, and his dad is assistant advisor.

Scout Honor Camp Holds 2-Day Meet

More than 130 boys and men, Scouters and leaders, all members of the Buffalo Trail Council, Order of the Arrow, attended a two-day conference at the academic building at Webb Air Force Base Friday and Saturday. The order is the honor camping group of the Boy Scouts of America.

The conference was devoted primarily to group training sessions. The members were divided into four groups and each heard all the topics.

Registration began at 1 p.m. Friday and was followed by physical conferences and demonstrations. Dinner was served at the mess hall from 5 to 6 p.m. and the opening general session in the auditorium from 7:45 to 10 p.m. The general session included a pageant giving the history of the Order of the Arrow.

Following breadfast Saturday morning at the mess hall, the sessions began for three groups. Group IV held its training session at 4:15 p.m.

Interspersing the sessions were Indian dancing and fun dancing by the boys.

Topics for the training meetings included Lodge-Council-Area relationships, organization and administration of chapters, a balanced year-round lodge program, membership understanding and orientation of new members, brotherhood membership understanding, camping promotion, service projects, unit elections, and the member's responsibility to his own unit.

Lodge Chief for the conference was Stanley Martin, Webb AFB: Lodge vice-chief, Tom Wright; secretary, Terry Martin; treasurer, Warren Wallace, and advisor, Harold Wilson.

This was the first annual conference for the Order of the Arrow in the Buffalo Trail Council, and members were present from all over the 18-county Council area.

Wall Street Finds Sixties Are Golden

By ED MORSE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The "Golden Sixties" became a shining reality for Wall Street in 1961 as stock prices rose on volume of more than a billion shares—greatest turnover since 1929.

The promised harvest of the sixties — disappointingly delayed by the stock market retreat of 1960 — was an abundant one indeed.

Prices soared to an extent that was alarming to some authorities and their warnings had effect in causing a temporary interruption of the advance. Disconcerting news on the foreign and domestic fronts at times also prompted temporary "corrections" but the upward march continued.

As the year ended, prices were not much below their highs and showed signs of resuming the upbeat once more.

The tremendous volume was the big stock market story of 1961.

The New York Stock Exchange reported volume of 1,021,264,589 shares — the biggest since the crash year of 1929 when 1,124,800,410 shares changed hands. The total compared with the 766,693,818 shares traded in 1960.

The greatest single-day total was 7.08 million shares on April 4. This was the largest since the Eisenhower "heart attack" session of Sept. 26, 1955, when 7.72 million shares changed hands.

The huge trading volume brought a bonanza of commissions to brokerage houses and great joy to Wall Street.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which closed 1960 at 615.89, rose to an historic peak of 734.91 on Dec. 13, closing the year at 731.14.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced from the 1960 close of 220.90 to a record high of 269.00 on Nov. 20 and ended the year at 262.70.

The gain from the end of 1960 to the 1961 highs was roughly 20 per cent for these averages.

The most active stock on the big board was Studebaker-Packard, rising 3⅜ to 10⅝ on 11,352,800 shares.

American Telephone, which has the biggest family of stockholders, continued its fine performance of 1960 and advanced 29 points to 136⅛.

Camel Driver Is Now Clan Head

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — Bashir Ahmad is no longer Bashir the camel driver. He is Bashir, head of his clan, a man of substance among his people.

And as soon as a new pickup truck Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson gave him arrives from the United States in mid-January, he will be Bashir the truck driver. His earnings will jump from about $2 to $8 a day.

In the two months since he returned from his heady visit to the United States as Johnson's guest, Bashir has mastered the art and mystery of driving a truck.

No more does Bashir wear a torn shirt and soiled loin cloth. He walks the streets of Karachi in long coat, a jinnah cap of brown fur, white cotton trousers —and Western, Texas style boots.

He is now addressed by everyone, high and low, as "Bashir Sahib," a gentleman, if you please.

He has hired a Pakistani for a dollar a day to drive his camel for him while he plans for the future of his family and settles disputes of his clan as an elder, the position to which the clan elevated him on his return from the United States.

"I love my people and they love me," he said. "I want to live with my people and die with them. I cannot leave them."

This is why Bashir still lives in his mud hut, turning down a government offer of a three-room house in a middle class district.

Last week he called on the Karachi housing authority and proposed a one-room tenement for each of the 800 families of his clan.

Bashir said he wanted his people to give up life at a subhuman level. The housing authority promised the government will move all the hut dwellers to a better place in the suburbs.

Bashir says he still loves driving a camel cart, but Allah gives everyone only one chance in life.

"Here is a chance for me to do something for my children, feed them, clothe them, educate them and place them in a better position in society," he said.

"I am taking up truck driving firstly to use the chance given by Allah and secondly, to raise the standard of living of my family."

The first thing he did on his return from the United States was put his 8-year-old daughter in a primary school. Two younger sons will go to school when they come of age. His illiterate, 19-year-old son will go to an adult education center. This son also probably will inherit the camel when the truck arrives.

"After I am settled mentally I myself will go to an adult education center to learn more than signing my name," he said.

Fame has cost Bashir. There is his rise in living standards to maintain. There is that dollar a day he pays out to his substitute camel driver. And there is postage.

Bashir gets from 20 to 30 letters a month from people in the United States. He can't afford to answer them. One stamp to mail a letter abroad would take about one-tenth of his net daily earnings. But he has some one write his letters to Johnson regularly.

So with the cost of fame rising, that $6 or so extra a day he will earn driving Lyndon B. Johnson's truck will come in mighty handy.

Paul M. Butler, Former Democratic Chairman, Dies

WASHINGTON (AP)—A heart attack Saturday ended the life of Paul M. Butler who served a stormy 5½ years as national chairman of the Democratic party. He was 56.

Butler, who stepped down from the party chairmanship in the summer of 1960, was stricken at George Washington University Hospital and died within minutes after the attack.

He had been admitted to the hospital Dec. 5 for treatment of a cold and had seemed to be making satisfactory recovery from a respiratory infection complicated by diabetes from which he had suffered for many years.

PRACTICING LAW

Since his retirement from politics, Butler had been practicing law from offices here but acquired the cold while trying a case in his old home town of South Bend, Ind.

A volatile and emotional man who was quick to anger, Butler was in public conflict with members of his own party about as often as with the Republicans. Yet his tenure as Democratic chairman was the longest of modern times except for the eight years served by James A. Farley in the Franklin D. Roosevelt era.

When he resigned after the 1960 national convention, Butler was succeeded by Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington. Jackson resigned after the presidential inauguration and the present chairman, John M. Bailey of Connecticut, took over.

KENNEDY GRIEVED

At Palm Beach, Fla., where he is spending the holidays, President Kennedy expressed his grief and called Butler "a courageous leader of the Democratic party during some of the party's most difficult hours." He added "his wise counsel will be sorely missed."

The slender, prematurely gray Butler was an intense man for whom political leadership was a deadly serious, around-the-clock job. A dedicated liberal, he frequently was in conflict with the more conservative members of his party. Partly because of his opposition to segregation, he was anathema to a great many Southern congressmen and other Dixie party leaders.

Butler clashed frequently with House Speaker Sam Rayburn and Rayburn's fellow Texan, Lyndon B. Johnson, when Johnson was the party's Senate leader.

OTHER FIGHTS

Although many of his battles were with Southern conservatives, Butler also had his public differences with such big city party leaders as Carmine G. De Sapio of New York, Gov. David L. Lawrence of Pennsylvania and Jacob Arvey of Illinois.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, while campaigning last year for the Democratic presidential nomination, accused Butler of siding with Sen. John F. Kennedy, Humphrey's foremost opponent. Later, former President Harry S. Truman publicly accused Butler of advance rigging of the national convention to the advantage of Kennedy. Truman remained away from the convention.

REPORTER

A native of South Bend, Butler helped earn his way through the University of Notre Dame by working as a reporter for the South Bend Tribune. He graduated in law in 1927 and entered into politics at once in the party-management end rather than as a candidate for public office.

Butler worked his way through the ranks as precinct chairman, county chairman and district chairman and finally reached the top level in 1952 when he ousted Frank McHale as national committeeman for Indiana.

He won the national chairmanship in a fiercely fought contest in 1954 and held it until his voluntary retirement, despite his frequent hassles with party stalwarts. Among his assets were great energy, dedication to his job and a willingness to try new approaches. It was estimated he traveled 500,000 miles on his official duties.

PAUL M. BUTLER

An abstainer—partly because of his diabetes—and a nonsmoker, Butler did not fit the hail-fellow-well-met pattern of political leadership but he made friends as readily as enemies.

FOOTBALL FAN

An avid football fan, he always hated to miss a Notre Dame game and usually could be seen in the stands twisting his hat in his hands and suffering or glowing according to the way things were going for the Irish. "It's my one hobby," he once said.

Married in 1934 to Anne S. Briscoe, Butler was the father of two daughters, Mrs. J. Patrick O'Malley, South Bend, and Mrs. William Morely, Indianapolis, and three sons, Paul M. Jr., a law student at Duke University, Kevin, a University of Chicago student, and Brian, a Notre Dame student.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete late today but services and burial will be in South Bend.

Witnesses Set Circuit Meeting

Special instructions were discussed recently by the local congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses relative to the semi-annual circuit assembly to be held Jan. 12-in Sweetwater.

J. W. O'Shields, presiding minister, said:

"Our Christian development is ever increasing and the need of improving and advancing our ministerial qualifications is our goal. To accomplish this, Sweetwater will be the scene of a special program that will concentrate on Christian training."

"As a result", O'Shields said, "the past decade has seen the witnesses increase to one million active preachers in 185 lands and territories around the earth. This assembly will provide methods to increase our ministry in many fields of teaching ability, presenting Bible discourses, overcoming objections and many related subjects."

The scriptural requirement for every Christian is to be a "qualified minister", according to O'Shields, Jehovah's Witnesses conduct five regular Bible classes weekly. To attain the goal of every believer a teacher, two classes are advanced studies of the Bible, another improves speech and speaking ability by giving sermons, and the last a ministry improvement class which includes discussion of problems, demonstrations and organization instructions.

"All features of the ministry will be covered in the Sweetwater assembly", O'Shields explained, "under the direction of W. R. Thomas, a special representative of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society, Brooklyn, N. Y."

The highlight of the assembly will be Jan. 14 at 3 p.m. when Thomas will present the public address "Uniting Men in a Split-Up World."

Members of the local congregation are inviting all interested residents to go with them. Meetings are open to the public and no collections are taken.

Treated For Cut

Salvadore Juarez, Rt. 2, Big Spring, was treated at the Howard County Hospital Foundation at 10:30 p.m. Friday night for a cut on the head. He was brought to the hospital by a neighbor who told officers the cut was the result of a blow on the head from a relative wielding a cold drink bottle. No charges were filed.

Highway Crash Is Fatal To 5

RIO GRANDE CITY (AP) —A car and a pickup truck collided headon about 10 miles east of here Saturday killing two persons and injuring five others.

Killed were Melecio Longoria of Rio Grande City and Matias Zarrate of La Grulla.

Egypt, Russia To Begin Talks

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—The newspaper Al Ahram said Saturday important economic talks between this country and the Soviet Union will start with the arrival of I. T. Novikov, Soviet minister of electric power, next week. At the same time, the paper said an Egyptian economic mission is flying to Peiping within the next two weeks to renew trade and economic agreements with Red China.

What You Don't Know About Driving Is Costing You Money

By JOE BENHAM

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Mr. Average American Auto Driver might just as well throw his dollars out of the car windows, automotive research experts say, if he does these things:

Runs his low-priced low-compression ratio auto on premium-grade gasoline.

Pays a service station attendant or mechanic to rotate his tires.

Buys a second-hand car "driven only by a little old lady on Sundays."

Fails to have his spark plugs and ignition points cleaned and adjusted regularly.

Drives at speeds much higher than the posted limits.

Tells the service station attendant "fill it up" unless the car is going to be driven some distance right away.

Allows the pressure in the tires to drop below the best figure.

These pointers come from the Southwest Research Institute, a non - profit group of laboratories and research facilities where an average of 160 people are at work on $3 million worth of automotive research programs.

Henry Korp, technical vice president, and John Clark Jr., director of automotive research, agree that what the average driver doesn't know about his car is frightening — and expensive.

USED CAR

They cite the buyer who is looking for the used car, with 10,000 miles on the speedometer, driven by the little old lady only on Sundays.

"Her car is going to be in worse shape than one which the average salesman has put 100,000 miles on," Clark said.

The ideal speed, he said, is the top legal speed — 55 to 60 m.p.h., in most areas.

At slower speeds, he said, the auto will accumulate sludges and acids in the crankcase and carbon and lead salts deposits in the cylinders.

The salesman's car will have accumulated most of those 100,000 miles on cross - country trips on which the engine was driven at a steady rate that kept it hot and functioning at maximum efficiency.

The little old lady, Korp said, will have put the 10,000 miles on her auto on a series of short trips on which the engine barely had time to get warm before it was turning cold again and collecting those harmful deposits.

ADDITIVES

Certain gasoline additives improve the octane system without requiring more refining into more expensive grades of fuel, Korp said.

The additives are present in both regular and premium grades of gasoline, the scientist said, making it unnecessary for the motorist to buy the premium grade unless his auto has a higher-priced, high - compression engine which requires it.

They recommend running at highway speeds with an occasional tank of premium gas, even in low - priced autos with low-compression engines to knock some of the carbon loose.

"I'd like to help get rid of the fallacy in the belief of the average driver that the big oil companies have been buying up carbureters with wondrous devices which would provide 80 miles per gallon if installed on an ordinary car," Clark said.

"Actually, the average automotive engine runs about as efficiently as possible."

Mileage can be improved, he said, by having the sparkplugs cleaned and adjusted every 5,000-10,000 miles and the ignition points cleaned and adjusted every 15,000 miles.

BETTER MILEAGE

The average driver also could obtain another 1-1½ miles per gallon by giving up his automatic transmission for a standard shift, the experts said — but he probably won't.

Dirty points and sparkplugs contribute to misfiring on the part of the engine, causing it to lose power.

The man who tells the attendant to "fill it up" and then drives his car home and parks it on a warm driveway also is in for needless expense. As the warmth reaches the gasoline tank, the fuel will expand and run out onto the driveway. He recommends leaving the level of fuel several inches from the top of the tank.

The money spent on rotation of tires would be better invested in a good front-end alignment, Clark said.

TIRES

The key thing about tires, he said, is to remember that they should be kept fully inflated. A wheel which has an under-inflated tire may roll two-thirds of the way up on the casing while going around a corner, he said. Tires which aren't properly balanced will wear out an auto's shock-absorbers, he said.

The driver needs to know as much about stopping his car as starting and driving it, Clark said. He recommends a pumping motion on the pedal at half-second intervals to allow heat to escape from the brake drum on heavy brake applications. Otherwise, Clark said, heat will glaze the brake shoes and decrease braking efficiency.

Carl McDonald Retires From T&P Transport

By JOE BEYER

Carl C. McDonald has been guiding trucks about the streets of Big Spring for the better part of 34 years. Friday he decided to call it quits after 20 years with the Texas and Pacific Motor Transport Company.

He traded in his work cap for a Stetson which his fellow workers gave him as a going away present Friday afternoon. The presentation also included a $40 gift certificate.

During his years with T&P, McDonald has accumulated an enviable driving record. He has more than 11 years of driving without a chargeable accident. This amounts to more than 100,000 miles of stops, starts, turns and keeping a sharp eye on other not-so-careful drivers.

McDonald began his career in Big Spring in 1927 as a driver for the Joe B. Neel Transfer Company. During 1935-36 he worked for the Big Spring Independent School District and from 1937-41 as a contract operator for J. B. Payne Jr.

He joined T&P May 5, 1941, and except for one three-month period when he did not work for the company, has been on duty almost every working day. He took time out for one operation, but has taken little time off because of sickness, according to W. J. Anderson, foreman for the Transport Company.

"As far as health goes, McDonald is fit for many more years of work," Anderson said, "but he feels he has been driving a truck long enough."

McDonald was born Feb. 26, 1896, in Gustine and was married there Aug. 26, 1920. He had known Mrs. McDonald, Alice Leona, most of his life. They moved here in 1927. The McDonalds live at 1108 Austin.

McDonald is a veteran of World War I. He has been a Mason since 1918, taking the Scottish Rite route, and is a Shriner. He and Mrs. McDonald attend regularly at the First Baptist Church.

They have one son, Carl Gene (Corky), who lives in Sunnyvale, Calif., and is a member of the United States Navy. He is stationed on board the USS Coral Sea as a Navy flier.

After many years of activity, McDonald will have to find things to do to fill up the abundance of spare time. But he has thought of that already.

"There will be plenty of building to do around the house," he said. "But maybe I should not let that be known. The Carpenter's Union may want to know if I have a card," he added, grinning.

8 Oklahomans Killed In Crash

CORDELL, Okla. (AP) — Eight Oklahomans were killed near here Friday night in a flaming two-car smashup described as the worst on record in the state. There were no survivors.

Seven of the victims were in one car, including all five members of an Elk City family. Their car overturned, trapping them inside, and erupted in flames.

The deaths occurred only 32 minutes after the official start of the long New Year's holiday weekend.

Killed in one car were Randolph Valdez, 23, his wife, Brenda, 21 and the couple's three children, Jamie Lynn, 3, Darrie Kay, 2 and Chesty Lee, 6 months, all of Elk City; Carolyn Kelin, 16, a sister of Mrs. Valdez, and Tessie Bell, age unknown, both of Anadarko.

Also killed was the lone occupant of the other car, James Earl Thompson, 47, Lawton, a civilian worker at the Ft. Sill Army base.

The Highway Patrol said Thompson apparently lost control of his car and it skidded sideways across the highway into the Valdez car, which went off the right shoulder of the road.

The accident happened on State Highway 152 half a mile east of Cordell.

DWIGHT B. McCANN

McCann Sets Sights For Commissioner

Dwight B. McCann, 41, announced Saturday that he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination as county commissioner from precinct No. 2.

McCann, who was reared in and attended the schools in Howard County, said he would work toward those things which will encourage the growth and development of the precinct and county. He is, he declared, for the unified operation of the county's road system under the direction of an engineer and is for the use of sound business methods in other areas of the county's affairs so that the taxpayer's dollars will go as far as possible.

McCann is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. T.H. McCann Sr., who lived at Coahoma, and he and Mrs. McCann, the former Gertrude McNew, have one son, Coy Joe. They are taxpayers and own their home at 510 Goliad in Big Spring.

He is a veteran of World War II, having entered the Signal Corps (Air Force) in August of 1941 and served until separated from the Armed Services in December, 1945. He worked for the Texas & Pacific Railway Company, and for a time he operated his own business. Nearly 12 years ago, he took a job with Cosden Petroleum Corporation and has been associated with that concern continuously since.

He is a Baptist, member of the Knights of Pythias and of the Big Spring Quarterback Club. In announcing, McCann said he will try to see as many residents of the precinct as possible, and that if honored by the nomination and election, he will devote every bit of time and energy necessary to do the job to the utmost of his ability.

Walker Hits 'Censorship'

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker charged Friday night that government muzzling of the military was weakening the United States.

Walker told a cheering crowd of 3,000 he would fight President Kennedy's New Frontier policy and urged Congress to prevent what he termed censorship of military leaders.

The 30-year veteran from Texas who resigned from the Army after being relieved of his command in West Germany charged the national policy makers "supported Castro's takeover of Cuba, supported the Red Swede, Hammarskjold — taking instructions from Moscow, and collaborated on the battlefield in Korea with our enemy."

Walker is scheduled to appear before a Senate committee in January investigating charges of military censorship.

Walker, who was charged with political indoctrination of his troops, said if the Senate group did not conduct a full investigation of censorship there was no hope for protection from the military.

Field Goal Any Way You Take It

Elvis Spradling of Howard County Junior College scored a field goal in Friday's conquest of Amarillo Junior College, but did he place-kick it (a la football) or did he toss it and then guide it in by remote hand signals? Amarillo's Wilbur Johnson (50) appears chagrinned that he might have held the ball for a place kick, while Victor Coats (52) seems to gasp in awe. (Keith McMillin photo.)

HCJC Hawks Nip Decatur To Win Own Tournament

His tailfeathers singed by a torrid first half, the Howard County Junior College Jayhawk flapped his wings faster Saturday night and flew home with the championship of the 10th annual HCJC Basketball Tournament.

The 86-73 score doesn't begin to tell the thriller this turned out to be for three quarters. Down 13 points at one time early in the game, Decatur rallied and trimmed the margin to a bare two points at the half. It was midway in the third period before the Hawks could begin shaking the pesky Indians off their trail.

Tyler Junior College won third place in the tournament, defeating Amarillo, 80-62.

Consolation honors went to Odessa Junior College which managed to knot the score just before the end of the game, 52-52, and then go on to edge Allen Academy in the overtime.

Schreiner Institute defeated South Plains College, 66-61, for seventh place in the tournament.

STRONG START

Jumping off to a strong start, the Hawks built up a 13-point lead within four and a half minutes. Decatur wasn't hitting, but actually the Indians were finding the HCJC defense as tough as a picket fence. The riddle was solved, however, and toward the end of the first half the fast breaking Indians melted the Hawk to 47-45 before the intermission.

Bill Murren, who was named the outstanding player of the tournament, confounded the Hawks with his dribbling and tricky passing. However, HCJC had a man of the hour in Ernest Turner who sank 11 field goals and played a tremendous floor game. His rebounding and that of Elvis Spradling helped dampen the Decatur drive. Cold at the start, Walter Carter crowded under the basket and as desperate Decatur men tried to block him, he made the most of his free tosses. He sank no less than 14 of these, a deciding factor in the game.

NICHOLS FOULS OUT

Perhaps the turning point in the game came with 15 minutes remaining. Lonnie Nichols fouled out for Decatur with the Hawks leading by 55-47. Turner fouled out for HCJC with 5:34 remaining and gave local fans heart-flutter. However, Lou Belenton came on and played it cool, while Jerry Tillman came through with timely field goals and free shots as the Hawks won going away.

Murren was high point man for Decatur with 26, trailed by Howard Clark with 16 and Terry Reeves with 14. For HCJC it was Carter with 24, Turner 22, Tilman 11 and Balenton and Wilburn 10.

Tyler, a victim of a sizzling rally by Decatur Friday evening, salvaged something from the tournament by clipping Amarillo for third place. Tyler, paced by Eckelman's 21 points, had a 45-32 lead at the half and was never pressed. Dibler of Amarillo had 21 points in that game. Friday evening the sharp-shooting Tyler boys had Decatur down 9 points at the half, then lost 79-75 in the face of a blistering finish by the Indians. HCJC worked its way into the finals by beating Amarillo 94-67, and the Hawks were never extended. In this game, Carter hooped 27 points, Turner 19, and Balenton 16.

HCJC played most of the tournament without Larry McElyea one of its key veterans. He turned his ankle in a warmup Thursday evening and was held out the rest of the way.

The HCJC bench proved equal to occasion, however.

Approximately 1,000 fans turned out Saturday evening, and the tournament was fairly well attended all the way.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, HCJC president, made the awards to players and coaches and expressed appreciation to fans for their support.

Bill Murren Of Decatur Wins Outstanding Award

HCJC, Decatur, Amarillo and Tyler dominated the all-tournament selections of the 10th annual HCJC Basketball Tourney here Saturday, naming two each to the mythical team.

To Bill Murren, a ball-handling wizard from Decatur, went the outstanding player award. Murren treated fans to some ball hokus-pocus rarely seen in the Jayhawk gym.

Hilario Mendoza, Allen Academy, received the sportsmanship award.

Receiving all-tournament awards were Nick Berzac of Odessa, Mike Sims of Amarillo, Bobby Dibler of Amarillo, Don Ekelman of Tyler, Bobby Carpenter of Tyler, Hilario Mendoza of Allen, Elvis Spradling of HCJC, Ernest Turner of HCJC, Howard Clark of Decatur, Jerry Reeves of Decatur.

Trophies to the first three place winners and to consolation were awarded by J. D. Jones Construction, Interstate Theatres, KBST Radio, Stagg Auto Parts, Conway Service Station and HCJC.

The all-tournament awards were posted by Cornelison Cleaners, Cook Appliance, Hardesty Drug, Gene Turner Service Station, Tate-Bristow-Parks, Thompson Furniture, Poncho's News Stand, Reeder-Huff-Estes Agency, Coker's Restaurant. Dibrell's Sporting Goods made the outstanding player award and Dr. P. W. Malone the sportsmanship award.

The awards to coaches included binoculars to D. E. (Buddy) Travis of HCJC by the Jayhawks Club; a watch to Dennis Wallings, Decatur, by Zale's; a watch to Herbert Richardson, Tyler, by Cizon's; a transistor radio to Bob Carter, Amarillo, by Merrill Creighton; an electric razor to Larry McCullagh, Odessa, by McMahon Concrete; a radio to Roy Die, Allen, by Gibson's; a lighter to S. M. Meeks, Schreiner, by Jayhawk Club, and a lighter to Bill Pal, South Plains, by Bell's Pharmacy.

COTTON BOWL

All-Americans To See Action

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

On New Year's Day it will be possible to watch nearly half of The Associated Press All-America team in action if (a) you own a television set and (b) you focus the proper channel at the proper time.

Five All-Americas will see action. Two of the top 11 from the 1961 collegiate ranks will be playing on opposite lines in Miami's Orange Bowl where LSU is expected to give Colorado its come-uppance.

LSU will feature Roy (Moonie) Winston, a 225-pound guard who is so fast and agile that he also plays defensive tackle. He was the star of Paul Dietzel's Tigers, winner of their last nine games after losing the opener, 16-3 to Rice, when many regulars were laid low with a virus.

Colorado, winner of the Big Eight title and beaten only by Utah, 21-12, has a great end in Jerry Hillebrand. He's 241 and 6-feet-4.

Sandy Stephens, Minnesota's All-America back, will be worth watching against UCLA in the Rose Bowl. He was a Big Ten stickout for the Golden Gophers who lost their first and last regular season games by a total of eight points. UCLA lost thrice, including a 29-6 thumping by Michigan. Minnesota should make amends for its miserable showing last New Year's Day when Murray Warmath's men bowed to Washington, 17-7.

Alabama, the nation's No. 1 team, features tackle Billy Neighbors, at 229 pounds against Arkansas in the Sugar Bowl. Clay Bryant's Tuscaloosans allowed only three touchdowns in 10 games and should whomp the Razorbacks, who have been defensive stalwarts in their last five games.

Texas, beaten only by TCU, 6-0, will show Jim Saxton, one of the lightest backs in All-America history, against Mississippi in the Cotton Bowl.

Stanton Wins Tournament

COAHOMA — Stanton swept both ends of the Coahoma Invitational Basketball Tournament Saturday, the boys beating Coahoma 45-40 in the championship game, and the girls also taking the measure of Coahoma, 52-39.

Earlier in the day, Coahoma tripped Klondike, 36-31, in semi-final play with Maurice Cutwright hitting for 10 points and Airhart putting in 12 for the losers. Stanton downed Water Valley, 48-25, with Stevenson pumping in 18 for the winners and Wood hitting the bucket for 20 to pace Water Valley.

In the consolation match, Westbrook whipped Sands, 52-34.

In the girls' games, Coahoma walloped Post, 23-18, in a semi-final match and Stanton overpowered Water Valley, 72-27, behind a spectacular scoring spree by Francis Graves, who bucketed 36 points.

Westbrook slugged Sands, 42-26, in the consolation match with Zelda Bodine hitting 16 for Sands and Marie Putman finding the basket for 20 points in Westbrook's behalf.

Francis Graves hit 31 points in the championships match that spelled the difference over Coahoma. Sandra Nichols scored 18.

In the boy's championship match, Mike Gillespie hit for 17 points and Stevenson put in 14 for the winners. Cutwright was high point man with 15 for Coahoma.

A good crowd was on hand for the tournament that saw the Coahoma B team win the girl's sportsmanship trophy and the boys from Water Valley won this trophy also.

The all-tournament team included:

Boys—Bill Byrd, Westbrook; Wood, Water Valley; Frankie Firenza, Coahoma; Rounie McReynolds, Stanton; Bo Bennett, Coahoma B.

Girls—Rebecca Bird, Westbrook; Ann Yeater, Stanton; Shirlene Richters, Coahoma; Francis Graves, Stanton; Sandra Nichols, Coahoma; and Glenda Rees, Westbrook.

In the second round of the championship bracket of the boys division, Water Valley edged Coahoma B, 34-32, while Stanton hung one on Westbrook 55 - 37. Parsons led the scoring for Water Valley with 12 points while Bennett was Coahoma's big gun with 23. Ronnie McReynolds paced Stanton with 17 while Dale Byrd and Leslie Watkins each had 10 for Westbrook.

In the second round consolation boys, Sands defeated Roscoe 43-29 with Bob Green and Mike Kemp each making 10 points for the victors and Benny Hunter scoring 10 for Roscoe. Westbrook edged Coahoma B by a 53-50 count with Billie Byrd scoring 18 points for Westbrook and Bo Bennett 22 for Coahoma. This game was tied with seconds to go, when Coahoma fouled and Westbrook made good.

Water Valley girls turned back the Coahoma B girls 37-24 in the second round of the championship flight. Alice Gates pushed 37 points through for the victors and Sherilyn Robinson had 13 for Coahoma. Stanton nipped Westbrook 40-30 with Francis Graves hooping 33 for Stanton and Glenda getting 13 for Westbrook.

Westbrook clobbered the Coahoma B girls 66-17 in the second round consolation. Faye Conway scored 24 points for Westbrook and Sherilyn Robinson 13 for Coahoma B. Sands defeated Rankin 41-24 to advance to the consolation finals.

BOY'S CHAMPIONSHIP

COAHOMA—Ronnie Cunningham 2-1-4-5, Maurice Cutright 7-1-3-15, Butch Frazier 3-2-0-8, Frankie Firenza 2-4-4-8, Billy Ford 2-0-0-4, totals 16-8-11-40

STANTON—Herb Sorely 3-0-1-6, Stevenson 7-0-3-14, Mike Gillespie 7-3-5-17, Ronnie McReynolds 1-3-2-5, Mathis 1-1-2-3; totals 19-7-13-45. Half time score: Coahoma 22, Stanton 26.

Duke Wins, 75-73

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Duke's 10th-ranked Blue Devils nipped Wake Forest 75-73 Saturday night in a basketball thriller that was in doubt until the final gun. The nonconference battle between the two arch rivals drew a sellout 9,800 to Memorial Coliseum.

Dietzel May Sign For Army

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Louisiana State's football coach, Paul Dietzel, will sign as Army's head football coach Jan. 4 at West Point, the States-Item said Saturday.

The newspaper said it had learned of the signing date from a highly authoritative source.

In Miami, where the LSU Tigers are drilling for the Orange Bowl game, Dietzel said of an earlier report in the Times-Picayune that he had been offered the Army post:

"It's hard to make comment over some silly assumption. Right now I'm not thinking about anything but the Orange Bowl game Monday."

At West Point, a spokesman for the U.S. Military Academy said the athletic board had no comment on the matter beyond saying a statement on the coaching situation would be made in early January.

Dietzel went to LSU in 1955 after previously serving as an Army line coach under Red Blaik.

The West Point job became vacant after Coach Dale Hall was fired at the end of the 1961 season.

Wildcats Blast Irish, 100-53

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Kentucky's sophomore flash, Cotton Nash, poured in 31 points Saturday night as the nationally sixth-ranked Wildcats blasted Notre Dame 100-53.

Nash connected on 12 field goals and seven of seven from the free throw line to lead Kentucky's balanced attack.

Kentucky jumped to a 47-29 halftime lead and built its margin to 32 points at 75-43 with 10 minutes left to play.

At this point, Coach Adolph Rupp began substituting, but the Fighting Irish could not slow down the Wildcats' powerful offensive machine.

Not only did the Wildcats sparkle on offense but they allowed Notre Dame only three points in the last 7½ minutes.

What You Don't Know About Driving Is Costing You Money

By JOE BENHAM

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Mr. Average American Auto Driver might just as well throw his dollars out of the car windows, automotive research experts say, if he does these things:

Runs his low-priced low-compression ratio auto on premium-grade gasoline.

Pays a service station attendant or mechanic to rotate his tires.

Buys a second-hand car "driven only by a little old lady on Sundays."

Fails to have his spark plugs and ignition points cleaned and adjusted regularly.

Drives at speeds much higher than the posted limits.

Tells the service station attendant "fill it up" unless the car is going to be driven some distance right away.

Allows the pressure in the tires to drop below the best figure.

These pointers come from the Southwest Research Institute, a non - profit group of laboratories and research facilities where an average of 160 people are at work on $3 million worth of automotive research programs.

Henry Korp, technical vice president, and John Clark Jr., director of automotive research, agree that what the average driver doesn't know about his car is frightening — and expensive.

USED CAR

They cite the buyer who is looking for the used car, with 10,000 miles on the speedometer, driven by the little old lady only on Sundays.

"Her car is going to be in worse shape than one which the average salesman has put 100,000 miles on," Clark said.

The ideal speed, he said, is the top legal speed — 55 to 60 m.p.h., in most areas.

At slower speeds, he said, the auto will accumulate sludges and acids in the crankcase and carbon and lead salts deposits in the cylinders.

The salesman's car will have accumulated most of those 100,000 miles on cross - country trips on which the engine was driven at a steady rate that kept it hot and functioning at maximum efficiency.

The little old lady, Korp said, will have put the 10,000 miles on her auto on a series of short trips on which the engine barely had time to get warm before it was turning cold again and collecting those harmful deposits.

ADDITIVES

Certain gasoline additives improve the octane system without requiring more refining into more expensive grades of fuel, Korp said.

The additives are present in both regular and premium grades of gasoline, the scientist said, making it unnecessary for the motorist to buy the premium grade unless his auto has a higher-priced, high - compression engine which requires it.

They recommend running at highway speeds with an occasional tank of premium gas, even in low - priced autos with low-compression engines to knock some of the carbon loose.

"I'd like to help get rid of the fallacy in the belief of the average driver that the big oil companies have been buying up carbureters with wondrous devices which would provide 80 miles per gallon if installed on an ordinary car," Clark said.

"Actually, the average automotive engine runs about as efficiently as possible."

Mileage can be improved, he said, by having the sparkplugs cleaned and adjusted every 5,000-10,000 miles and the ignition points cleaned and adjusted every 15,000 miles.

BETTER MILEAGE

The average driver also could obtain another 1-1½ miles per gallon by giving up his automatic transmission for a standard shift, the experts said — but he probably won't.

Dirty points and sparkplugs contribute to misfiring on the part of the engine, causing it to lose power.

The man who tells the attendant to "fill it up" and then drives his car home and parks it on a warm driveway also is in for needless expense. As the warmth reaches the gasoline tank, the fuel will expand and run out onto the driveway. He recommends leaving the level of fuel several inches from the top of the tank.

The money spent on rotation of tires would be better invested in a good front-end alignment, Clark said.

TIRES

The key thing about tires, he said, is to remember that they should be kept fully inflated. A wheel which has an under-inflated tire may roll two-thirds of the way up on the casing while going around a corner, he said. Tires which aren't properly balanced will wear out an auto's shock-absorbers, he said.

The driver needs to know as much about stopping his car as starting and driving it, Clark said. He recommends a pumping motion on the pedal at half-second intervals to allow heat to escape from the brake drum on heavy brake applications. Otherwise, Clark said, heat will glaze the brake shoes and decrease braking efficiency.

Carl McDonald Retires From T&P Transport

By JOE BEYER

Carl C. McDonald has been guiding trucks about the streets of Big Spring for the better part of 34 years. Friday he decided to call it quits after 20 years with the Texas and Pacific Motor Transport Company.

He traded in his work cap for a Stetson which his fellow workers gave him as a going away present Friday afternoon. The presentation also included a $40 gift certificate.

During his years with T&P, McDonald has accumulated an enviable driving record. He has more than 11 years of driving without a chargeable accident. This amounts to more than 100,000 miles of stops, starts, turns and keeping a sharp eye on other not-so-careful drivers.

McDonald began his career in Big Spring in 1927 as a driver for the Joe B. Neel Transfer Company. During 1935-36 he worked for the Big Spring Independent School District and from 1937-41 as a contract operator for J. B. Payne Jr.

He joined T&P May 5, 1941, and except for one three-month period when he did not work for the company, has been on duty almost every working day. He took time out for one operation, but has taken little time off because of sickness, according to W. J. Anderson, foreman for the Transport Company.

"As far as health goes, McDonald is fit for many more years of work," Anderson said, "but he feels he has been driving a truck long enough."

McDonald was born Feb. 26, 1896, in Gustine and was married there Aug. 26, 1920. He had known Mrs. McDonald, Alice Leona, most of his life. They moved here in 1927. The McDonalds live at 1108 Austin.

McDonald is a veteran of World War I. He has been a Mason since 1918, taking the Scottish Rite route, and is a Shriner. He and Mrs. McDonald attend regularly at the First Baptist Church.

They have one son, Carl Gene (Corky), who lives in Sunnyvale, Calif., and is a member of the United States Navy. He is stationed on board the USS Coral Sea as a Navy flier.

After many years of activity, McDonald will have to find things to do to fill up the abundance of spare time. But he has thought of that already.

"There will be plenty of building to do around the house," he said. "But maybe I should not let that be known. The Carpenter's Union may want to know if I have a card," he added, grinning.

8 Oklahomans Killed In Crash

CORDELL, Okla. (AP) — Eight Oklahomans were killed near here Friday night in a flaming two-car smashup described as the worst on record in the state. There were no survivors.

Seven of the victims were in one car, including all five members of an Elk City family. Their car overturned, trapping them inside, and erupted in flames.

The deaths occurred only 32 minutes after the official start of the long New Year's holiday weekend.

Killed in one car were Randolph Valdez, 23, his wife, Brenda, 21 and the couple's three children, Jamie Lynn, 3, Darrie Kay, 2 and Chesty Lee, 6 months, all of Elk City; Carolyn Kelin, 16, a sister of Mrs. Valdez, and Tessie Bell, age unknown, both of Anadarko.

Also killed was the lone occupant of the other car, James Earl Thompson, 47, Lawton, a civilian worker at the Ft. Sill Army base.

The Highway Patrol said Thompson apparently lost control of his car and it skidded sideways across the highway into the Valdez car, which went off the right shoulder of the road.

The accident happened on State Highway 152 half a mile east of Cordell.

DWIGHT B. McCANN

McCann Sets Sights For Commissioner

Dwight B. McCann, 41, announced Saturday that he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination as county commissioner from precinct No. 2.

McCann, who was reared in and attended the schools in Howard County, said he would work toward those things which will encourage the growth and development of the precinct and county. He is, he declared, for the unified operation of the county's road system under the direction of an engineer and is for the use of sound business methods in other areas of the county's affairs so that the taxpayer's dollars will go as far as possible.

McCann is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. T.H. McCann Sr., who lived at Coahoma, and he and Mrs. McCann, the former Gertrude McNew, have one son, Coy Joe. They are taxpayers and own their home at 510 Goliad in Big Spring.

He is a veteran of World War II, having entered the Signal Corps (Air Force) in August of 1941 and served until separated from the Armed Services in December, 1945. He worked for the Texas & Pacific Railway Company, and for a time he operated his own business. Nearly 12 years ago, he took a job with Cosden Petroleum Corporation and has been associated with that concern continuously since.

He is a Baptist, member of the Knights of Pythias and of the Big Spring Quarterback Club. In announcing, McCann said he will try to see as many residents of the precinct as possible, and that if honored by the nomination and election, he will devote every bit of time and energy necessary to do the job to the utmost of his ability.

Walker Hits 'Censorship'

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker charged Friday night that government muzzling of the military was weakening the United States.

Walker told a cheering crowd of 3,000 he would fight President Kennedy's New Frontier policy and urged Congress to prevent what he termed censorship of military leaders.

The 30-year veteran from Texas who resigned from the Army after being relieved of his command in West Germany charged the national policy makers "supported Castro's takeover of Cuba, supported the Red Swede, Hammarskjold — taking instructions from Moscow, and collaborated on the battlefield in Korea with our enemy."

Walker is scheduled to appear before a Senate committee in January investigating charges of military censorship.

Walker, who was charged with political indoctrination of his troops, said if the Senate group did not conduct a full investigation of censorship there was no hope for protection from the military.

Field Goal Any Way You Take It

Elvis Spradling of Howard County Junior College scored a field goal in Friday's conquest of Amarillo Junior College, but did he place-kick it (a la football) or did he toss it and then guide it in by remote hand signals? Amarillo's Wilbur Johnson (50) appears chagrinned that he might have held the ball for a place kick, while Victor Coats (52) seems to gasp in awe. (Keith McMillin photo.)

HCJC Hawks Nip Decatur To Win Own Tournament

His tailfeathers singed by a torrid first half, the Howard County Junior College Jayhawk flapped his wings faster Saturday night and flew home with the championship of the 10th annual HCJC Basketball Tournament.

The 86-73 score doesn't begin to tell the thriller this turned out to be for three quarters. Down 13 points at one time early in the game, Decatur rallied and trimmed the margin to a bare two points at the half. It was midway in the third period before the Hawks could begin shaking the pesky Indians off their trail.

Tyler Junior College won third place in the tournament, defeating Amarillo, 80-62.

Consolation honors went to Odessa Junior College which managed to knot the score just before the end of the game, 52-52, and then go on to edge Allen Academy in the overtime.

Schreiner Institute defeated South Plains College, 66-61, for seventh place in the tournament.

STRONG START

Jumping off to a strong start, the Hawks built up a 13-point lead within four and a half minutes. Decatur wasn't hitting, but actually the Indians were finding the HCJC defense as tough as a picket fence. The riddle was solved, however, and toward the end of the first half the fast breaking Indians melted the Hawk to 47-45 before the intermission.

Bill Murren, who was named the outstanding player of the tournament, confounded the Hawks with his dribbling and tricky passing. However, HCJC had a man of the hour in Ernest Turner who sank 11 field goals and played a tremendous floor game. His rebounding and that of Elvis Spradling helped dampen the Decatur drive. Cold at the start, Walter Carter crowded under the basket and as desperate Decatur men tried to block him, he made the most of his free tosses. He sank no less than 14 of these, a deciding factor in the game.

NICHOLS FOULS OUT

Perhaps the turning point in the game came with 15 minutes remaining. Lonnie Nichols fouled out for Decatur with the Hawks leading by 55-47. Turner fouled out for HCJC with 5:34 remaining and gave local fans heart-flutter. However, Lou Belenton came on and played it cool, while Jerry Tillman came through with timely field goals and free shots as the Hawks won going away.

Murren was high point man for Decatur with 26, trailed by Howard Clark with 16 and Terry Reeves with 14. For HCJC it was Carter with 24, Turner 22, Tilman 11 and Balenton and Wilburn 10.

Tyler, a victim of a sizzling rally by Decatur Friday evening, salvaged something from the tournament by clipping Amarillo for third place. Tyler, paced by Eckelman's 21 points, had a 45-32 lead at the half and was never pressed. Dibler of Amarilo had 21 points in that game. Friday evening the sharp-shooting Tyler boys had Decatur down 9 points at the half, then lost 79-75 in the face of a blistering finish by the Indians. HCJC worked its way into the finals by beating Amarillo 94-67, and the Hawks were never extended. In this game, Carter hooped 27 points, Turner 19, and Balenton 16.

HCJC played most of the tournament without Larry McElyea one of its key veterans. He turned his ankle in a warmup Thursday evening and was held out the rest of the way.

The HCJC bench proved equal to occasion, however.

Approximately 1,000 fans turned out Saturday evening, and the tournament was fairly well attended all the way.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, HCJC president, made the awards to players and coaches and expressed appreciation to fans for their support.

Bill Murren Of Decatur Wins Outstanding Award

HCJC, Decatur, Amarillo and Tyler dominated the all-tournament selections of the 10th annual HCJC Basketball Tourney here Saturday, naming two each to the mythical team.

To Bill Murren, a ball-handling wizard from Decatur, went the outstanding player award. Murren treated fans to some ball hokuspocus rarely seen in the Jayhawk gym.

Hilario Mendoza, Allen Academy, received the sportsmanship award.

Receiving all-tournament awards were Nick Berzac of Odessa, Mike Sims of Amarillo, Bobby Dibler of Amarillo, Don Ekelman of Tyler, Bobby Carpenter of Tyler, Hilario Mendoza of Allen, Elvis Spradling of HCJC, Ernest Turner of HCJC, Howard Clark of Decatur, Jerry Reeves of Decatur.

Trophies to the first three place winners and to consolation were awarded by J. D. Jones Construction, Interstate Theatres, KBST Radio, Stagg Auto Parts, Conway Service Station and HCJC.

The all-tournament awards were posted by Cornelison Cleaners, Cook Appliance, Hardesty Drug, Gene Turner Service Station, Tate-Bristow-Parks, Thompson Furniture, Poncho's News Stand, Reeder-Huff-Estes Agency, Coker's Restaurant. Dibrell's Sporting Goods made the outstanding player award and Dr. P. W. Malone the sportsmanship award.

The awards to coaches included binoculars to D. E. (Buddy) Travis of HCJC by the Jayhawks Club; a watch to Dennis Wallings, Decatur, by Zale's; a watch to Herbert Richardson, Tyler, by Cizon's; a transistor radio to Bob Carter, Amarillo, by Merrill Creighton; an electric razor to Larry McCullagh, Odessa, by McMahon Concrete; a radio to Roy Die, Allen, by Gibson's; a lighter to S. M. Meeks, Schreiner, by Jayhawk Club, and a lighter to Bill Pal, South Plains, by Bell's Pharmacy.

COTTON BOWL

All-Americans To See Action

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

On New Year's Day it will be possible to watch nearly half of The Associated Press All-America team in action if (a) you own a television set and (b) you focus the proper channel at the proper time.

Five All-Americas will see action. Two of the top 11 from the 1961 collegiate ranks will be playing on opposite lines in Miami's Orange Bowl where LSU is expected to give Colorado its come-uppance.

LSU will feature Roy (Moonie) Winston, a 225-pound guard who is so fast and agile that he also plays defensive tackle. He was the star of Paul Dietzel's Tigers, winner of their last nine games after losing the opener, 16-3 to Rice, when many regulars were laid low with a virus.

Colorado, winner of the Big Eight title and beaten only by Utah, 21-12, has a great end in Jerry Hillebrand. He's 241 and 6-feet-4.

Sandy Stephens, Minnesota's All-America back, will be worth watching against UCLA in the Rose Bowl. He was a Big Ten stickout for the Golden Gophers who lost their first and last regular season games by a total of eight points. UCLA lost thrice, including a 29-6 thumping by Michigan. Minnesota should make amends for its miserable showing last New Year's Day when Murray Warmath's men bowed to Washington, 17-7.

Alabama, the nation's No. 1 team, features tackle Billy Neighbors, at 229 pounds against Arkansas in the Sugar Bowl. Clay Bryant's Tuscaloosans allowed only three touchdowns in 10 games and should whomp the Razorbacks, who have been defensive stalwarts in their last five games.

Texas, beaten only by TCU, 6-0, will show Jim Saxton, one of the lightest backs in All-America history, against Mississippi in the Cotton Bowl.

Stanton Wins Tournament

COAHOMA — Stanton swept both ends of the Coahoma Invitational Basketball Tournament Saturday, the boys beating Coahoma 45-40 in the championship game, and the girls also taking the measure of Coahoma, 52-39.

Earlier in the day, Coahoma tripped Klondike, 36-31, in semifinal play with Maurice Cutwright hitting for 10 points and Airhart putting in 12 for the losers. Stanton downed Water Valley, 48-25, with Stevenson pumping in 18 for the winners and Wood hitting the bucket for 20 to pace Water Valley.

In the consolation match, Westbrook whipped Sands, 52-34.

In the girls' games, Coahoma walloped Post, 23-18, in a semifinal match and Stanton overpowered Water Valley, 72-27, behind a spectacular scoring spree by Francis Graves, who bucketed 36 points.

Westbrook slugged Sands, 42-26, in the consolation match with Zelda Bodine hitting 16 for Sands and Marie Putman finding the basket for 20 points in Westbrook's behalf.

Francis Graves hit 31 points in the championships match that spelled the difference over Coahoma. Sandra Nichols scored 18.

In the boy's championship match, Mike Gillespie hit for 17 points and Stevenson put in 14 for the winners. Cutwright was high point man with 15 for Coahoma.

A good crowd was on hand for the tournament that saw the Coahoma B team win the girl's sportsmanship trophy and the boys from Water Valley won this trophy also.

The all-tournament team included:

Boys—Bill Byrd, Westbrook; Wood, Water Valley; Frankie Firenza, Coahoma; Ronnie McReynolds, Stanton; Bo Bennett, Coahoma B.

Girls—Rebecca Bird, Westbrook; Ann Yeater, Stanton; Shirlene Richters, Coahoma; Francis Graves, Stanton; Sandra Nichols, Coahoma; and Glenda Rees, Westbrook.

In the second round of the championship bracket of the boys division; Water Valley edged Coahoma B, 34-32, while Stanton hung one on Westbrook 55 - 37. Parsons led the scoring for Water Valley with 12 points while Bennett was Coahoma's big gun with 23. Ronnie McReynolds paced Stanton with 17 while Dale Byrd and Leslie Watkins each had 10 for Westbrook.

In the second round consolation boys, Sands defeated Roscoe 43-29 with Bob Green and Mike Kemp each making 10 points for the victors and Benny Hunter scoring 10 for Roscoe. Westbrook edged Coahoma B by a 53-50 count with Billie Byrd scoring 18 points for Westbrook and Bo Bennett 22 for Coahoma. This game was tied with seconds to go, when Coahoma fouled and Westbrook made good.

Water Valley girls turned back the Coahoma B girls 37-24 in the second round of the championship flight. Alice Gates pushed 37 points through for the victors and Sherilyn Robinson had 13 for Coahoma. Stanton nipped Westbrook 40-30 with Francis Graves hooping 33 for Stanton and Glenda getting 13 for Westbrook.

Westbrook clobbered the Coahoma B girls 66-17 in the second round consolation. Faye Conway scored 24 points for Westbrook and Sherilyn Robinson 13 for Coahoma B. Sands defeated Rankin 41-24 to advance to the consolation finals.

Duke Wins, 75-73

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Duke's 10th-ranked Blue Devils nipped Wake Forest 75-73 Saturday night in a basketball thriller that was in doubt until the final gun. The nonconference battle between the two arch rivals drew a sellout 9,800 to Memorial Coliseum.

Dietzel May Sign For Army

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Louisiana State's football coach, Paul Dietzel, will sign as Army's head football coach Jan. 4 at West Point, the States-Item said Saturday.

The newspaper said it had learned of the signing date from a highly authoritative source.

In Miami, where the LSU Tigers are drilling for the Orange Bowl game, Dietzel said of an earlier report in the Times-Picayune that he had been offered the Army post:

"It's hard to make comment over some silly assumption. Right now I'm not thinking about anything but the Orange Bowl game Monday."

At West Point, a spokesman for the U.S. Military Academy said the athletic board had no comment on the matter beyond saying a statement on the coaching situation would be made in early January.

Dietzel went to LSU in 1955 after previously serving as an Army line coach under Red Blaik.

The West Point job became vacant after Coach Dale Hall was fired at the end of the 1961 season.

Wildcats Blast Irish, 100-53

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Kentucky's sophomore flash, Cotton Nash, poured in 31 points Saturday night as the nationally sixth-ranked Wildcats blasted Notre Dame 100-53.

Nash connected on 12 field goals and seven of seven from the free throw line to lead Kentucky's balanced attack.

Kentucky jumped to a 47-29 halftime lead and built its margin to 32 points at 75-43 with 10 minutes left to play.

At this point, Coach Adolph Rupp began substituting, but the Fighting Irish could not slow down the Wildcats' powerful offensive machine.

Not only did the Wildcats sparkle on offense but they allowed Notre Dame only three points in the last 7½ minutes.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Amarillo College did HCJC and other basketball contenders in the Western Conference a great favor by knocking off Frank Phillips of Borger in Amarillo recently . . . The Plainsmen had already bumped two toughies (San Angelo and South Plains) in conference play and would have been hard to head off had they gotten by Amarillo . . . L. L. (Red) Lewis, the HCJC track and field mentor, will decide Thursday, after two workouts in which he will have observed closely the progress his team has made, how many and which boys he takes to next weekend's indoor track meet in San Antonio . . . Lewis has had 18 boys working out for several weeks now, whenever the weather permits . . . Lewis has three pole vaulters in camp, all of whom have cleared 12 feet, 6 inches or better . . . Larry Mauldin of Abilene has topped 12-8¾ . . . Ronnie Gene Overby, a freshman from Snyder who switched to a fibre-glass pole after enrolling at HCJC, has vaulted 12-6 on three occasions here, much better than he ever did in high school . . . Dean Cheatham of Kress, who ran the 100 and 220 for the Hawks last year, probably will try the quarter as well this year . . . He ran a 52 flat in cold weather the other day and Lewis thinks he can get under 50 seconds in the 440 . . . Incidentally, the Western Conference will stage two league meets (in Roswell and Amarillo) this spring, whereas last spring it held four in order to determine its team and individual winners . . . The last of the state high school football playoff games in 1962 won't be played until three days before Christmas Day, due to the shifting season . . . Stub Allison, coach of such football greats as Sam Chapman, Vic Bottari and John Meek at the University of California, died recently in Oakland at the age of 69 . . . Work is due to start this week at a site five miles east of Odessa on the new Golden Acres Golf Course . . . The layout will be located about one-half mile north of US Highway 80.

Wendy Green Back On Job At Club

Wendy Green, brother to the Big Spring Country Club golf pro, Jerry Green, has moved back here after residing in El Paso for several months. . . Jerry and his family have purchased a home in one of the new residential sections while Wendy is living at the house on the golf course. . . Wendy competed in Amarillo, where he missed the money; Muleshoe, where he was a fifth place finisher; and Las Cruces, N.M., where he finished 12th. . . The Green brothers and aides have been taking bermuda grass out of the fringes of the greens here and plan to do a lot of work on the tee boxes, which had fallen in sad repair. . . The tee-box on the eighth hole has already been replaced. . . A couple of rest rooms will be built on the course itself some time this year. . . The Country Club may stage both a partnership and a pro-am in April and start a club handicap meet early in the spring. . . Upwards to 40 women are now playing golf fairly regularly at the Country Club, a sharp increase over previous years. . . . the junior players have also increased sharply in numbers. . . Jerry Green says one of the most promising of the young players is Steve Underwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Underwood. . . Over at the Muny course, two water traps have been added to the first fairway, each with a concrete base, while another has been located on the sixth fairway. . . Two sand traps have been placed on the back nine. . . All the rock tee-box sheds at the course are being dismantled. . . Business has been brisk at both courses when the weather is half-way decent. . . When Paris JC beat HCJC in Paris at basketball a couple of weeks ago, Mike Long bucketed the first seven points for Paris but wound up with only nine points for the game. . . Speedy Nieman, the Lamesa scribe, says the Tornado football mentor, is to be interviewed for the head coaching job at Howard Payne College.

AFL Title Game Attendance So-So

Buddy Brewer, the former Stanton grid standout, probably will tranfer from the University of Houston to Eastern New Mexico University at midterm. . . The Greyhounds will make good use of his talents. . . San Deigo may be the hottest sports city in the country, as some residents claim, but the interest its fans showed in the recent AFL championship football game would influence one into believing otherwise. . . The game that would have been an easy sellout in Houston drew 6,000 less than capacity in San Diego — or only a little more than 28,000. . . Actually, the promoters could have found seats for 41,000, had that many showed up. . . One of the officials involved in that post-game rhubarb in the Houston-San Diego tussle, by the way, is persona non grata with the Southwest Conference. . . When Des Moines East High School, where ex-Big Springer Bobbye Savage coaches football, and Waterloo West played basketball in Des Moines the other day, only one paying customer was in the stands at the opening tipoff. . . Only ticket sold was to a former East cager, who was home from college for the holidays. . . A blizzard kept most of the patrons away. . . Savage himself refereed the game since the regular officials didn't show up. . . In Milwaukee this year, bowler Carl Lorenz dropped 186 pins to a 113 game after rolling 299 while Leroy Norman plunged to 134 after a perfect 300 game. . . Although today's NFL championship game between Green Bay will draw 20,000 less than it did in 1960 (41,000 as against 61,000), the player payoff is certain to be a record due to increased TV revenue. . . Whereas the game brought $200,000 in TV receipts last year, it has been upped $615,000 under terms of a new contract. . . The first playoff game in 1933 between the Chicago Bears and New York paid each of the winning Chicago players $210.33 while the losers received $140.22.

Writers Miss As Forecasters

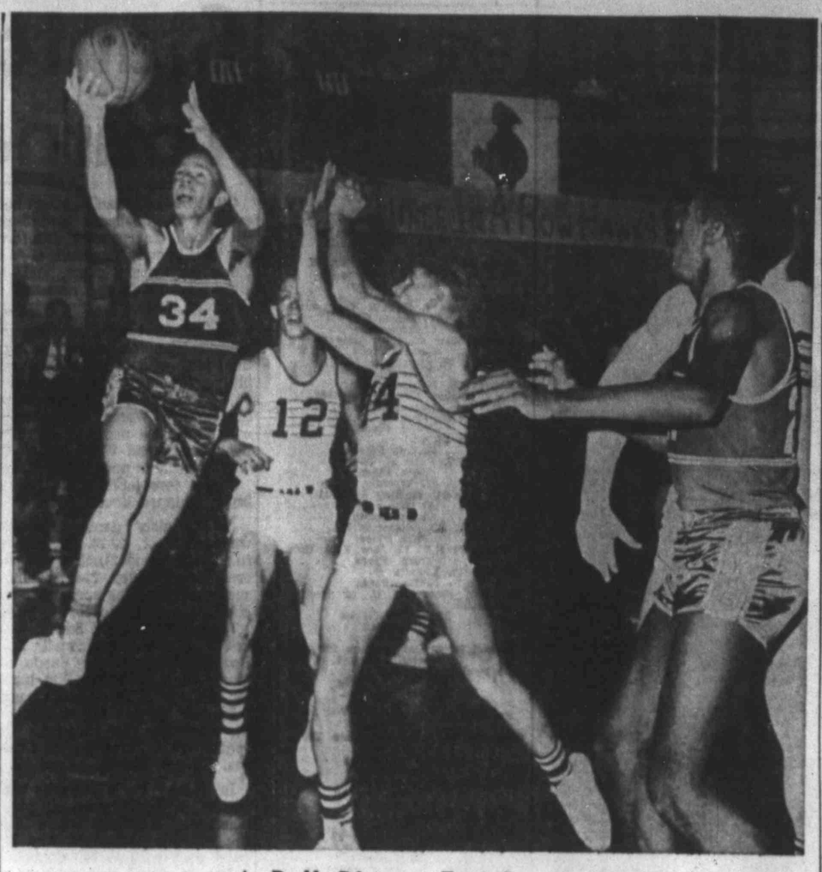
FORT WORTH (AP)—With Texas and Arkansas, 1961 Southwest Conference co-champions, only hours away from major bowl appearances, it's time to check up on what the writers did in their pre-season predictions.

Yes mates, they missed again. In August 138 writers and sportscasters voted Texas was favored for the championship. Arkansas was picked for the fourth spot.

Texas partially salvaged their predictions but Arkansas again foiled them in their efforts to select a clear-cut champion.

It was the 22nd miss in 27 polls.

Arkansas was picked for fifth in 1959 but tied Texas and TCU for the title. In 1960 Texas was the choice and Arkansas was picked fourth. Arkansas won the championship undisputed.



A Bell Ringer For Jerry

Jerry Tillman (34) of HCJC goes high for a sure basket in the above picture, taken during the Jayhawks' tournament game with Schreiner Institute here Thursday night. Ronnie Turnbow (12) and Dale Lindberg (14) of Schreiner try to defend. HCJC won the game by a score of 78-47 and earned the right to meet Amarillo at 9 o'clock tonight. Tillman was the Hawks' top scorer with 18 points.

Hall Passes Penn State To 30-15 Victory In Gator Bowl

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Galan Hall, a balding quarterback with defective vision, found his pass targets with the touch of a genius Saturday and hurled Penn State to a 30-15 triumph over favored Georgia Tech in the 17th annual Gator Bowl game.

Hall threw touchdown passes to halfbacks Al Gursky, Roger Kochman and Hal Powell for 13, 27 and 35, yards, respectively, after Tech had grabbed a 9-0 lead on an unusual safety and a 68-yard record-breaking touchdown run by halfback Joe Auer.

Hall, who wears spectacles except when he is playing, completed nine of 10 passes, including eight in a row in guiding Penn State to a 14-9 halftime lead.

He connected with Powell for Penn State's winning touchdown in the third quarter. The Nittany Lions took advantage of Tech's tardiness in emerging from its defensive huddle, and Powell was at least 10 yards from the nearest Tech defender when he caught the third-quarter scoring pass.

Tech's Auer returned the Southeastern Conference power to contention early in the fourth period when he recovered an errant pitchout from quarterback Billy Lothridge near the Penn State 25-yard line and raced for his second touchdown.

Georgia Tech scored first on an unusual safety.

With Penn State in possession on its 9-yard line, Hall faded to pass and retreated into his end zone. Chased hard by Tech tackle Ed Griffin, Hall passed wide to the sidelines and far over the marker as he was knocked to the turf.

The officials ruled it intentional grounding which from the end zone is an automatic safety and two points.

Underdogs Use Blume's Toe For Gray Win, 9-7

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—An avenging Southern all-star squad broke a three-year losing streak today and rode to a 9-7 Blue-Gray football victory on the toe of Butch Blume of Rice.

The 170-pound Texan put the Rebels ahead with a last-quarter 37-yard field goal after a hard-charging Yankee team had held the lead for three periods.

It was the first Southern triumph in the 23-year history of the intersectional contest.

Blume's sixth field goal this year more than made up for the extra-point attempt he didn't get to make following the South's lone touchdown. A fumble by Don Fuell of Mississippi Southern kept the placekicking specialist from getting the ball away.

Dave Sarette of Syracuse scored the North touchdown and Ron Taylor of Missouri converted. Bobby Hunt of Auburn went over for the Grays.

A crowd of 18,000 overcoated fans watched the nationally televised game in Cramton Bowl—first under bright sunshine, then under a cold, overcast sky.

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Villanova's bruising defense battered Wichita Saturday and helped the Wildcats to a 17-9 Sun Bowl football victory.

The alert Wildcat defense bottled up Wichita's running game and picked off four Wichita passes.

The mobile Villanova forward wall limited Wichita to 182 yards total offense and did not allow a Wichita touchdown until the last 45 seconds.

Fullback Billy Joe, a 230-pound junior who received the most valuable player award, was Villanova's leading ground gainer with 63 yards on eight carries. He rammed over the Wildcats' opening score.

Joe carried twice in the 43-yard drive and ran over four Wichita players on his 19-yard scoring run.

Villanova kept Wichita bottled up inside its own 40 until late in the first half. With less than three minutes to play, the Shockers drove 41 yards to the Villanova 18. Bill Seigle then kicked a 36-yard field goal, longest in Sun Bowl history.

Villanova posed another serious threat midway in the second quarter, driving to the Wichita nine but Nick Russo fumbled and Wichita's center, Leroy Leep, recovered on the six.

The Wildcats put the game out of reach in the third period with a touchdown and a field goal. Fullback Lou Rettino battered his way over from the two, capping a 22-yard drive set up by a Wichita fumble on the kickoff.

Sam Gruneisen booted a 26-yard field goal for the Wildcats.

Alex Zyskowski scampered in from 7 yards away for Wichita's last minute touchdown.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Kansas quarterback John Hadl threw two touchdown passes and sparked the underdog West to a 21-8 upset over the East Saturday as huge linemen checked All-Americas Ernie Davis and Bob Ferguson in the 37th annual East-West football game.

The 200-pound Hadl, effective as a runner, passer and punter, engineered the opening touchdown drive for the West and his passes of 14 yards to Buddy Iles of Texas Christian and 24 to Curt McClinton of Kansas brought the next two.

A near-capacity crowd of 59,000 in Kezar Stadium and a nationwide television audience saw the high-powered East bottled up in its own territory throughout the first half. The Easteners finally put their offensive in gear early in the third period and moved 80 yards for a touchdown with Roman Gabriel of North Carolina State passing the final 16 to Maryland's Jerry Collins.

After the West drew a penalty on a conversion, Syracuse's Heisman Trophy winner Davis ran the ball over for two points. The East threatened again early in the fourth period, but the threat fizzled after Collins dropped a Gabriel pass in the end zone.

Hadl ran the West out of trouble with a 34-yard dash to the East 24 and three plays later hit McClinton for the final touchdown.

The Kansas quarterback, already signed by the San Diego Chargers of the American Football League, was voted the game's outstanding player. Iles, who has agreed to terms with Dallas of the National Football League, was honored as the top lineman.

The West scored in the first quarter on a 7-yard dash by San Jose State's Mack Burton, who circled end, capping a 55-yard drive. Hadl's pass to Iles covered 14 yards on the first play after the West recovered an East fumble in the second period. Mel Melin of Washington State booted all three conversions.

Utah State's gigantic tackles—All-America Merlin Olsen, at 265 pounds, and Clark Miller at 250—with Ed Blaine, Missouri's 220-pound guard, led the line charge that stopped Davis and Ferguson cold in the first half and checked them most of the second.

Can't Explain Nearsightedness

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Penn State quarterback Galen Hall, at a loss to explain his passing accuracy despite nearsightedness, Saturday was voted the most valuable player in the Gator Bowl football game.

Hall, who wears glasses off the field but not while playing, led State to a 30-15 victory over Georgia Tech. He threw three touchdown passes, completing 12 of 22 aerials for 175 yards. In the first three State scoring drives he missed only one of 11 throws.

Asked after the game what his vision problem is, he replied:

"I just can't see very far."

Ole Miss Favored To Hobble Steers

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Mississippi's Rebels, operating a touchdown factory behind a 217-pound line and using Doug Elmore and Glynn Griffing as the chief engineers, storm into the Cotton Bowl Monday favored to lash Texas for their sixth bowl triumph in a row.

Their ground attack hampered through loss of mighty fullback Billy Ray Adams but with the air arms as efficient as bank examiners, Mississippi cast an appraising eye at a Texas pass defense that leaked tragically just once.

The teams with 9-1 records, each angry over a narrow failure to attain the national championship, clash at 2:30 p.m., EST, before a sellout crowd of 75,504 and a national television (CBS) audience in the bowl game rated tops in class of competing teams.

Texas, No. 3, and Mississippi, No. 5, are the highest ranking combination for New Year's Day and its plethora of gridiron spectacles.

Texas, still humiliated by a 39-7 thrashing from Mississippi in the 1958 Sugar Bowl, was grimly confident of slowing down the massive Rebels. But the Longhorns were virtually alone in their thoughts—Mississippi was a three-point favorite and most critics thought that wasn't enough.

Mississippi will outweigh the Texas line 18 pounds to the man, will boast a margin of 35.6 yards in a total offense that scored 35 more points and show 30.8 yards less in defense.

Mississippi will boast what appears to be the finest aerial attack the Cotton Bowl has seen in its 26 years with Elmore and Griffing throwing for more than 1,500 yards and 16 touchdowns.

Mississippi scored 19 of its 47 touchdowns through the air and set up eight more by passing. Its 418.7 yards per game total offense was No. 1 in the nation.

The Rebels first appeared in the Cotton Bowl in 1956 when they beat TCU 14 - 13. Since then they have played in the Sugar Bowl three times and the Gator Bowl once and in four of their engagements beat Southwest Conference teams. In fact, Mississippi never has lost a bowl game to a Southwest Conference outfit.

Only the Texas players are saying that the Mississippi surge will be halted Monday.

Coach Johnny Vaught of Mississippi said upon his arrival with his squad Saturday that he expected this to be the No. 1 bowl game of the country and to be one of the closest of them all.

"I am still trying to figure out how Texas, No. 3 in the nation, could be a 3-point underdog to Mississippi, which was rated No. 5," said Vaught.

He said he expected this to be his toughest bowl game yet although he has lost two in the eight in which he has competed.

The Texas squad, 58 strong compared to 38 for Mississippi, was delayed in its arrival because of equipment trouble on its plane but the Longhorns flew in in time for an afternoon workout.

Coach Darrell Royal echoed Vaught's sentiments that it would be a tough ball game. He said Texas was in top shape for the struggle with Poage, the injured fullback, fully recovered.

The Cotton Bowl got the good word — The weather is going to be ideal. The Weather Bureau said New Year's Day should be partly cloudy with temperatures in the mid - 50s and that there were no indications of rain.

Lamar Tech Takes 21-14 Win In Tangerine Bowl

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Lamar Tech of Beaumont, Tex., is 1961 Tangerine Bowl football champion at the expense of Middle Tennessee, 21-14, after a game that drew freezing temperatures.

Quarterback Win Herbert went 52 yards in the first period for a touchdown that put Lamar Tech ahead 7-0. The Cardinals got another TD in the second quarter when guard Lindley King fell on a ball that bounced wild in the end zone after a kick that fell short on the Middle Tennessee goal.

Middle Tennessee countered in the third on a 32-yard pass from quarterback Jerry Pearson to end George Dykes. The Tennesseans fell behind 21-6 in the fourth period when Lamar moved 55 yards downfield after a kickoff, but scored another touchdown on a 1-yard run by Pearson.

Lamar Tech finished the season with an 8-2-1 record.

Minnesota Is Picked To Punch UCLA

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Favored Minnesota had been called by Coach Murray Warmath "a body puncher who wears 'em down," but in Monday's Rose Bowl game UCLA may prove a foe with an iron stomach.

As both New Year's Day rivals shadow - boxed in final formal practice today, the impression grew that this 48th Rose Bowl game could be the tighest Pasadena struggle since 1958 when Don Sutherlin's field goal gave Ohio State a 10-7 victory over Oregon.

Neither team has thrown the "long bomb" or used any fancy stuff—Minnesota in fashioning a 7-2 record and UCLA in finishing with 7-3.

Favorable weather is predicted for Monday's game, provided the wind doesn't shift and huff in a storm front strung across the Pacific.

Two Games To Be Aired On Radio

Two local radio stations will carry bowl games on New Year's Day.

KBST will have the Orange Bowl game between LSU and Colorado starting at 11:45 a.m. from Miami, Fla.

KHEM is to pick up the NBC broadcast of the Sugar Bowl game in New Orleans, starting at 12:45 p.m.

Top Games To Be Telecast

By The Associated Press

Seven of the nation's top 10 college football teams and a postview of the season's brightest individual stars feature the New Year's Day bowl fare—a television viewer's bonanza.

The series of spectacles start as early as 12:45 p.m.—EST — and last until well into most people's dinnertime.

Here's the program expected to draw close to half a million-on-the-spot customers and entertain countless others on the magic screen.

Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla — Louisiana State, No. 3 ranked nationally, vs. Colorado, No. 6. 12:45 p.m. EST (ABC-TV, radio).

Sugar Bowl at New Orleans — Alabama, No. 1 nationally, vs. Arkansas, No. 9. 1:45 p.m. EST (NBC-TV color, radio).

Cotton Bowl at Dallas—Texas, No. 3 nationally, vs. Mississippi, No. 5, 2:15 p.m. EST (CBS-TV, radio).

Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif.—Minnesota, No. 7, vs. UCLA, unranked, 4:45 p.m. EST (NBC-TV color, radio).

Four Added To Hall Of Fame

DALLAS (AP) — Four more sports greats were inducted into the Texas Hall of Fame Saturday, bringing the number to 31.

Pete Cawthon, fabled coach; football great Clyde Turner; former big league baseball star Bibb Falk; and Monty Stratton, the ex-big league pitcher who returned to baseball despite the loss of a leg, were given plaques.

Matty Bell, athletic director of SMU, presented the award to Cawthon, former Austin College and Texas Tech and pro football coach.

Paul Richards, former big league manager now general manager of Houston of the National League, made the presentation to Stratton.

D. X. Bible, former coach at Texas A&M, Nebraska and Texas, awarded Falk, now baseball coach of Texas, his plaque.

Turner got his plaque from Sammy Baugh, former pro football star. Ironically, Turner is replacing Baugh as coach of the New York Titans.

Bell, Richards, Bible and Baugh already are members of the Texas Sports Hall of Fame.

Seniors Getting Set For Tilt

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Fifty hand picked college seniors begin arriving in Mobile Sunday for a tight week of practice before the Jan. 6 Senior Bowl all-star game.

Most of the squadsmen will be in Mobile by Sunday night, but it will be Tuesday before the Cotton Bowlers can arrive.

Of the 50 scheduled to play in the 13th annual grid contest, 34 played in other games over the weekend — including the Blue-Gray, East-West, All-America and Gator Bowls.

Coach of the Northerners, Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys, and his assistants, Brad Ecklund and Boris Dimanchiff, will be bent on putting the Yanks in easy striking distance of the Rebs.

The Southern team holds a 7-5 edge in games played thus far, and a Yankee win would narrow the gap to only one.

But South assistant coaches Charley Winner and Don McCafferty will be just as anxious to help Weeb Ewbank of Baltimore get on the winning side of his Senior Bowl record. In two appearances, Ewbank has a 1-1 record.

Both coaches will have a trio of passing talent with a combined pass completion percentage above 50 per cent. But the Rebels used the airlines more often—and with a shade better success—during the season.

Mel Milin of Washington State, Eddie Wilson of Arizona, and Joe Zuger of Arizona State completed 50.4 per cent of their passes during the season, while Southerners Billy Canty of Furman, Mike Cotten of Texas and Don Fuell of Mississippi Southern tallied a 53.5 percentage.

The Senior Bowl is the debut for college gridders turning pro. Members of the winning squad receive $600 each and losing squadsmen get $500.

Forty-four of the 50 players have been drafted by pro teams, and at least 20 already have signed. More are expected to ink pro contracts before leaving Mobile.

A sellout crowd is forecast for the encounter. It will be televised nationally by NBC, except for a 100-mile radius surrounding Mobile.

Holiday Hunting

Mrs. Waymon Etchison, Route 2, Big Spring, found holiday hunting good in Kinney County, west of Bracketville. She bagged a seven-point buck the first time she ever fired at a deer. She used a .300 rifle with scope to bring down the deer.

Last Second Goal Defeats Steers

A field goal with only four seconds to go brought the Andrews Mustangs a 51-49 victory over the Big Spring Steers in Andrews Friday evening.

It was only the second loss in 14 games for the Steers, who were playing without their ace scorer, Dick Ebling.

The hustling Steers led Andrews slightly until the end of the third quarter when it was knotted at 34-all, and from there on in it was nip and tuck with first one and then the other holding the lead. The Steers were closing strong when Sanders arched a desperation shot from 15 feet out and it zipped through the hoop.

Ebling had been held out to give his game ankle, turned in a previous game, a chance to heal prior to the start of conference play here Tuesday against Midland Lee. Eddie Nelson, playing his best game of the season and showing to great advantage on his rebounding, kept the Steers going. Mitchell was sharp with his passing and Albert Fierro played a steady game. DeeRoby Gartman had tough luck getting his shots to fall, and Richard Bethell, playing the outside slot for the ailing Ebling, was hampered by the strange assignment.

The Steers only hit 56 per cent of their free throws, and this hurt. The game was pretty much a rough and tumble affair. Previously the Steers had beaten the Mustangs, and even though three sophomores played all the way, they made a game of it Friday.

The box:

BIG SPRING — Fierro 5-1-11, Nelson 8-4-20, Mitchell 1-6-8, Gartman 4-2-10, Bethell 0-1-1, totals 18-13-49.

ANDREWS—Sanders 7-2-16, Underwood 1-0-2, Harwell 4-0-8, Smith 9-11-19, Sparks 2-0-4, Humphrey 1-0-2, totals 24-3-51.

Score by quarters: Big Spring 15-24-34-49; Andrews 12-22-34-51.

Andrews nipped the Big Spring B squad 41-33, leading all the way and 34-17 at the half.

BIG SPRING—Charles West 2-0-4, Baxter Moore 4-1-9, W. L. Minter 2-1-5, Mike Peters 3-3-9, Jeff Brown 2-0-4, Ricky Peters 1-0-2, E. J. Self and M. Clendenen 0-0-0, totals 14-5-33.

ANDREWS — Tidwell 2-3-7, Byles 2-0-4, Abshire 3-0-6, Lyles 5-2-12, Thomas 2-1-5, Humphrey 3-1-7, totals 17-6-41.

Trelles Quits

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Ignacio Trelles, coach of Mexico's entry in world cup soccer matches in Chile next year, has resigned in anger, the newspaper La Aficion said. The report said Trelles was angry over interference and criticism by newspapers and officials of soccer football would call it quits after this season.

"I'm having too much fun," said Blanda. "I like to play and I like to win. Wally Oilers Coach Wally Lemm lets me play and he doesn't let you even think of losing."

Blanda led Houston to 10 straight victories, including the championship game against San Diego.

The quarterback ended with all sorts of league passing records: Most yards 3,340, most touchdown passes 36 and most yards per passing attempt 9.23. He hit 187 of 362 attempts for a 51.7 completion percentage.

"A great competitor, George always knows what has to be done and how to get it done," says Coach Lemm.

Packers Pit Power Against NY Passes

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Eager Green Bay finally gets a chance to see a National Football League title game Sunday after 42 years of waiting. The favored Packers pit their powerful ground attack against the pass-minded New York Giants.

A sellout crowd of 41,000 is expected at City Stadium. Weather of some moderation compared to recent sub-zero temperatures was expected. If the Packers win, this city of 65,000 is primed for a rousing New Year's Eve.

It was about 10 above when the Giants arrived 2½ hours late Friday after their final workout at Yankee Stadium. Informed that the Packers were extremely confident, coach Allie Sherman of the Giants said, "Fine, that's the way I like it." The Giants' reaction to the weather was "Wow."

The Packers, 3½ point favorites, were to limber up for about 15 minutes this morning on the frozen practice field. The Giants had scheduled a short workout on the same field later.

The carefully tended turf of City Stadium, covered by a tarp and a layer of straw since mid-November, was firm but unfrozen. When the end zone portion was uncovered briefly Friday, football cleats were able to cut into the turf.

Vince Lombardi, the Packer coach, wants firm footing for the power thrusts of fullback Jim Taylor and halfback Paul Hornung. He also wants solid footing for his pass defenders to contain receivers like Del Shofner, Kyle Rote and Joe Walton. Y. A. Tittle was expected to be the Giants' starting quarterback with 30-year-old Charlie Conerly in the bullpen.

A million-dollar gate is assured with $400,000 in ticket sales and $615,000 for the radio-TV rights. The Green Bay area will be blacked out on network-NBC-TV, but will hear the game on radio-NBC. Game time is 1 p.m. CST.

Each member of the winning team is expected to collect about $5,000. Each loser will get about $3,000.

Defensive back Jesse Whittenton and end Bill Quinlan came out of the hospital after a bout with the flu to join the Packers' workout. Lombardi said Taylor, John Symank and Max McGee, who had been on the injured list, were found fit for battle.

The Giants also reported everybody ready.

Texas Loses Milk Bowl Game, 40-8

PHARR, Tex. (AP) — Texas was disappointed again, in its efforts to win the Milk Bowl football game—McKeesport, Pa., won it for the third straight time with a 40-8 victory over Harlingen's St. Anthony Mustangs.

Rolling to its fifty - fourth straight victory Friday night, McKeesport was paced by Gerald Grayson, who scored touchdowns on runs of 90, 74, 45 and 29 yards.

Harlingen managed its touchdown in the second period when Paul Memegay took a kickoff 70 yards.

Blanda Selected AFL's Player Of The Year

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — George Blanda, the heart of Houston's offense that swirled to the championship, was named player of the year in the American Football League Saturday.

The league's head coaches picked Blanda, the AFL's record-smashing passing leader, for the honor by almost unanimous vote.

Since the coaches could not vote for their own players, seven votes were the maximum. Blanda got six, other votes going to Boston's Gino Cappelletti and Houston's Billy Cannon.

Blanda recently renewed his contract with the Oilers although for a while there were prospects that the 12-year veteran of pro

Charges Wait On Operation

HOUSTON (AP) — A man reported beaten by an angry University of Houston football player Christmas Eve remained in critical condition at John Sealy Hospital in Galveston.

The man is Eddie Ondras of Galveston, who was allegedly stomped by Bill Brown, a senior at the University of Houston.

A witness told police that he saw Brown, also of Galveston, jump up and down on Ondras' head during an altercation at the Cave, a downtown tavern.

Brown was charged with assault to murder, malicious mischief and assault to strike in connection with the fray. The charges were continued in Justice James McKenna's court pending the outcome of the injured man's brain operation.

Police said Ondras went to the hospital for a cut lip. He became unconscious in the emergency room.

HCJC Tracksters Slated To Run In Indoor Meets

Howard County Junior College tracksters will participate in their first meets early in January.

The first will be an indoor track tournament at San Antonio on Jan. 6, and HCJC has been invited to appear at the expense of the tournament. The second, for which expenses also will be paid, is at Houston on Jan. 12.

Coach Red Lewis is planning to enter two sprint events and the mile relay. While his men have been running, they are not yet in top condition and thus he is undecided who he will run in the various events.

The sprinters are Herman Robinson, Dean Cheatham, Don Carter and Kenny Kesterson. Robinson, who ran second in the National JUCO meet in the 100 and 220, is considered the fastest man on the squad, but he normally doesn't hit his stride until spring. Robinson and Carter may run on the mile relay team. Other possibilities are Tommy Yarborough, Ramon Gonzales, Milton Morrow and Kenneth Windham.

Monroney's Pause Here Lasted Over 30 Years

Garrett Lewis Monroney was en route to California to homestead in February , 1929 when he paused in Big Spring on his way from Illinois. He heard about the oil play around Forsan and decided to make the pause a longer one.

There was no deadline for his arrival in California, so Monroney detoured to the booming city of Forsan and settled. By a circuitous route he began a career with Cosden Petroleum Corporation which today ends with 32½ years of service with the company.

There was only one bed when Monroney, his wife and children settled in Forsan. They lived in a tent and the seat of the car served as a bed for the youngsters.

The oil business was not new to Monroney, having worked in Oklahoma's oil fields before returning to Illinois to marry a former schoolmate, Edna McCoy. Both were born in Yale, Ill. and Monroney was reared in neighboring Hazel Dell. He tried his luck farming there before pulling up stakes to head west.

At Forsan he found employment as a rig builder and four months later, during a leisurely game of croquet, learned from a Cosden man that the company had lost a roustabout. He signed on for the job.

G. L. MONRONEY

In 1930 he was transferred to Bee County as a pumper. Eight years later he moved to a lease at Coahoma and, in 1940, Forsan again became his home. He remained there until 1953 before serving a year at Big Spring, gauging incoming oil at the refinery from the Forsan field. He shifted to Vealmoor at Christmas, 1945 and has been there ever since.

The Monroneys have two children. Wayne, a Sun Oil employe, lives at Snyder, and Mrs. R. D. (Evelyn) Cowley, lives in Forsan. A third daughter, Mrs. Howard (Gwendolyn) Bennett, died nine years ago.

Monroney expects to have more time for the grandchildren, two boys and four girls ranging in age from 18 months to 15 years, now that he is retiring. Other activities high on his list are bird hunting and fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. Monroney maintain a cabin and boat at Lake J. B. Thomas and time will be available for jaunts to their 80 acres of ranchland at Beeville which is only a step away from good fishing lakes and the Gulf of Mexico.

More immediate on their agenda is a planned trip to Yale where Mrs. Monroney's mother lives.

A move to Forsan is a possibility for the Monroneys. They have a house there and ample land for the veteran pumper's flower gardening. And Mrs. Monroney can continue her dressmaking, at which she excels.

Monroney and the Big Spring refinery made their debut in Howard County the same year and have been associated almost ever since. Monroney will now have a chance to reminisce with friends, made during that long acquaintance.

New Reporting System Hailed As Significant

DALLAS — The new reporting system for crude oil producers required by the Federal Petroleum Board which becomes effective Jan. 1 has been hailed as a significant improvement which will save the petroleum industry $5,000,000 annually.

Charles E. Simons, executive vice president, Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association in a letter to members pointed out that data on which the changes were made was provided by a special subcommittee of the Association's forms committee which worked on the project for about three years.

Simons said the changes will strengthen and improve administration of the Connally Hot Oil Act, an integral part of the industry's oil and gas conservation system.

Significant changes noted by the Association include elimination of the requirement to make daily gauges. Monthly gauges were substituted and certain other records which were required to be kept on a daily basis may now be kept on a monthly basis.

Revision of the reporting forms now permits machine preparation. Monthly forms showing tank numbers are required only semi-annually on a Form PA. Other changes relieve transporters, refiners and pipeline operators of monthly reporting.

Rig Totals Show Drop

Rotary rigs making hole in the United States were off 84 rigs Dec. 25 from the previous week, but up by about the same amount over a month ago and a year ago at the time, according to reports to the American Association of Oilwell Drilling contractors.

The Dec. 25, 1961 figure was 1,924 rigs, compared to 2,008 rigs Dec. 18, 1,891 rigs Nov. 27 and 1,845 rigs Dec. 26, 1960. West and West Central Texas dropped 14 rigs during the week of Dec. 18-25, going from 310 to 296. A year ago at this time the figure was 300 rotaries.

Total active rotary and cable tool rigs, including all rigs from rigging up to tearing down stage, rose by 23 from Dec 15 to Dec. 22. Figures were 2,749 for the week ending Dec. 22 and 2,726 Dec. 15.

The Permian Basin in Texas gained 25 rotaries and seven cable tool rigs to go from 336 on Dec. 15 to 368 on Dec. 22.

Basin Action Slows Down

Permian Basin drilling was down to 224 rotaries making hole Friday from the previous week's 244 active units, according to Reed Roller Bit Company's survey.

Lea County, N. M., led West Texas and Southeast New Mexico activity, counting 43 rigs in operation.

Playa Field Offset Site Is Completed

Carl J. Westlund, Midland, has completed a ¼-mile east offset, No. 1 White, to the three-well Playa (Spraberry) field in East Martin County.

The venture pumped 220.54 barrels of 37-gravity oil, plus 12 per cent water, per day from perforations at 7,445-8,558 feet, which had been washed with 500 gallons of mud-acid and fractured with 30,000 gallons. Gas-oil ratio was 654-1.

Total depth is 7,644 feet, with 4-inch casing set at 7,629 feet. It spots seven miles east of Lenorah and 660 feet from north and west lines of section 3, block 34, T-1-N, T&P survey.

Two wells have been completed in Martin County's Spraberry Trend Area.

Cruss, Midland, No. 1-A Campbell, three miles northwest of Stanton, pumped 219 barrels of 39.8-gravity oil, plus six per cent water, from perforations at 7,211-61 feet and 8,078-8,100 feet in 24 hours, after 50,000 gallon fracture treatment. Gas - oil ratio was 2,978-1. Total depth is 8,200 feet, with 4½-inch casing set at 8,185 feet. Site is 1,994 feet from west and 1,980 feet from north lines of section 8, block 36, T-1-S, T&P survey.

Four miles west of Stanton, Lone Star Producing Company completed No. 1 Garner McAdams to pump 249 barrels of 37.2-gravity oil, plus nine per cent water, daily from perforations between 7,251 and 8,129 feet, which had been acidized with 1,000 gallons and fractured with 30,000 gallons. Gas-oil ratio was 820-1.

Total depth is 8,234 feet, with 5½-inch casing set at 8,233 feet. Location is 1,310 feet from south and 1,304 feet from east lines of section 7, block 36, T-1-S, T&P survey.

Cities Service Petroleum Company will drill No. 2-C Graham in the Martin County portion of the Spraberry Trend Area, 2½ miles west of Stanton.

Site is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 17, block 36, T-1-S, T&P survey. Contract depth is 8,200 feet.

WILDCAT IS SET TO DRILL

Mallard Petroleum Inc. of Midland has staked a wildcat location in southeast Garza County to check the Ellenburger at 8,400 feet and all formations above it.

The project is No. 1 Griffis and is spotted 330 from south and east lines of section 16-6-H&GN survey. It is seven miles north of Fluvanna and 1½ miles north of the Fluvanna field.

COSDEN 15 meet the 'SENIORS' of the Cosden family...

R. D. WEST

This is the 12th in a series of special Cosden presentations recognizing the long and valued services of these employes who have been associated with the Company 15 years or longer. Cosden is proud of its scores of workers who have contributed their efforts through so many years toward the success of the company.

On Christmas Eve 15 years ago, Richard Darrell West began his tenure with Cosden. As a transport truck driver he made his runs over Texas and New Mexico. When the company sold its fleet in 1956, he moved to the crude unit as a topping helper.

West is presently in Galveston at John Sealy Hospital, recovering from burns he incurred in a flash fire at the Alkar unit on Dec. 4. He has been assistant stillman at the installation since Oct. 30, 1960.

Claudia Lewis of Sweetwater became Mrs. West on Aug. 6, 1942. Home is at 709 Lorilla. The two children are Richard, 17 and an eleventh grader, and Carolyn, 15, who attends seventh grade at Runnels.

West, who was born in Brownwood but reared in Breckenridge, is a member of the Primitive Baptist Church. He served in the U.S. Army from 1936 to 1939, and has lived in Big Spring for 20 years. He has a sparetime interest in carpentry, and names hunting and fishing as his foremost recreational pursuits.

Report Lists Older Folks As City's Worst Drivers

By JOE BEYER

Faulty driving is usually attributed to the younger generation, but a brief survey in Big Spring puts the finger on the older folks.

Spot checks made recently by driver education students in Big Spring Public Schools turned up 204 violations and persons estimated to be more than 35 years old were the culprits most often, leading the number of violations in seven of 11 categories.

The students could be pretty definite about the ages of some of the offenders—they were parents who did not know the offspring were keeping a sharp eye on their driving habits.

Sampling was done on a Saturday to include young drivers who might otherwise be in school. To keep the statistics fron. being abnormally high, the survey was casual rather than a witchhunt for violations and it was not made during peak traffic hours. Yet the figure approaches the abnormally high variety.

Apparently many older drivers have forgotten the meaning of stop signs, red lights and yield signs. Persons estimated to be between 36-45 years of age were the culprits in three of six instances where red lights were run; they failed to yield right of way in four of seven such offenses, and they did not come to a complete stop in the majority of 23 cases of violation.

Neither did the over 35 group have a good showing when its signalling and changing of lanes was put to scrutiny. The 36-45 year group failed to give proper signals in eight of 15 violations and it shared the lead with the 46-55 year group in the improper change of lane category. Each had three offenses, or, six of the total of nine.

Indoctrination of younger drivers appears to have had an effect, but still it did not slow them down much. The 18-25 group were the only offenders in the excessive speed violation column. They were seen speeding down Goliad Street eight times during a short period of one afternoon.

The offenders were always given the benefit of the doubt and only where the incidents were clearly violations were they noted. Even this precaution did not improve the ratings of drivers to any great extent.

To continue with the traffic violations, improper right and left turns were seen 15 and 11 times, respectively. Again the over 35 groups took the lead.

And when the drivers took leave of their vehicles their records did not improve. They parked on the wrong side of the street 12 times. Eight instances of double parking by delivery persons was seen in the business district.

The average drivers proceeded to jaywalk to the tune of one a minute in the area of Third, Fourth and Main. Here again, the morning and afternoon rush hours were deliberately avoided. Yet, in 90 minutes, jaywalkers were spotted 90 times.

With the emphasis and interest in safe driving on the part of youngsters, as participation in driver education shows, students may well drive safer than their parents some day. Adults may need to learn that the steering wheel of the dual-control automobile fits their hand as easily as it does the hand of younger drivers.

Perhaps the elders should take their place beside the driver education teacher for a while. It could pay off in lower insurance premiums and lower death rates. At least insurance companies believe it does. They grant lower rates to drivers who have successfully completed driver education courses.

ROBERTA OLDFIELD

Mrs. Oldfield Seeks Election As Co. Clerk

Roberta Oldfield has announced her candidacy in the coming Democratic Primary for election to the office of Howard County Clerk.

Mrs. Oldfield is a long-time resident of Big Spring, having come here from Oklahoma where she was born and reared. She completed school in Oklahoma and graduated from Draughon's Business College in Amarillo prior to making Big Spring her home.

Mrs. Oldfield is the wife of Lindy Oldfield, who has been employed by the Big Spring Police Department for the past 12 years and they are parents of two sons. They own their home in the Balch Addition, north of Big Spring. They are active in Trinity Baptist Church, Mrs. Oldfield being secretary in the Junior Girl department. As well as her work in the church, Mrs. Oldfield is an active member in the Cactus Chapter of the American Business Women's Association.

Mrs. Oldfield has spent a number of years in the business world. She was personal secretary and bookkeeper for Neil G. Hilliard, local Certified Public Accountant, for many years, bookkeeper for Good Housekeeping Shop and has been secretary to the County Judge since June of 1960. She has resigned that latter position as of Dec. 31 in order to campaign. With her past business experience and knowledge of the many duties of this office she said she feels that she is well qualified to serve as County Clerk of Howard County and if elected promises to fulfill the office in an efficient, courteous and prompt manner as each citizen of Howard County has the right to expect.

Mrs. Oldfield said she solicits the influence and support of every citizen in the May 5 Democratic Primary.

Lubbock Man's Duck Yarn Wins Liars' Club Trophy

BURLINGTON, Wis. (AP)—That collection of preposterous prevaricators, the Burlington Liars' Club, has come up with its annual crop of whoppers. They're slyly calculated to bring chuckles —or groans.

C. R. Hutcheson, an imaginative raconteur from Lubbock, was acclaimed as the winner of the 1961 contest. His tale:

"For years, I have been working to perfect a duck call. Satisfied with my laboratory tests, I recently decided to give it a field trial.

"The first time I blew the call, ducks swarmed in from all directions; the sky was black with them. I cut loose with my pump gun and with six shots killed my limit of six ducks.

"What is so strange about that, you say? Well, when I picked up those ducks, I found that three of them were decoys."

If you fielded that one, try this lollapalooza from Leo Dobratz of San Jose, Calif. It won an honorable mention.

"We've had a lot of trouble with birds stealing our fruit so we took tin cans and tied them to the tree limbs. The reflection off the likds, swinging in the breeze, not only frightened the birds and saved our fruit — it frightened them so badly they're bringing back the fruit they stole last year."

Mrs. James Griffin of Red Wing, Minn., entered a fib: "The water in the river near my home was so low last summer that it only ran every other day."

And R. K. Burlin of Chatham, Mass., wrote that he had an uncle "who drank so much liquor that his shadow had the hiccoughs."

Still with us? Harry Shapeero of Seattle, Wash., sadly concludes that even the dealings of labor and management aren't sacred any more. His contribution:

"A crew of fence builders were laid off last weekend because of a shortage of material. But they finished the job this week, in spite of the shortage. They went on strike so they could picket the fence."

Mississippi Negro Runs For Congress

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—A Mississippi Negro has actively begun his campaign for Congress, urging everyone to register and vote.

Robert L. T. Smith, 59, the first Negro candidate in the state since Reconstruction, said Friday night he would push for measures that would bring the state from the "bottom of the heap" in education and per capita income.

A retired postal worker and father of 11, Smith told a local television audience to "register immediately and from then on to keep voting."

He opposes Rep. John Bell Williams, D-Miss., in the June primary.

Former Sheriff Gets Prison Term

BRIGHTON, Colo. (AP) —Robert Roberts, 40, dapper former sheriff of Adams County, was sentenced to the state prison Friday for burglary and conspiracy.

Judge Addison Gooding ordered him to serve two concurrent five-to-six year terms.

Roberts was implicated in the lengthy police investigation which has led to the suspensions of 42 policemen in nearby Denver with burglary charges filed against them. Many of the former officers are in the penitentiary.

Roberts was accused of being the ringleader of a gang of police burglars operating among supermarkets north of Denver while he was sheriff.

Six other grand jury indictments, charging burglary, conspiracy and accepting a bribe, are on file against Roberts.

AF Picks Navy Plane For Recon

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force has chosen the Navy's record-breaking F4H Phantom instead of its own F105 for use as a tactical reconnaissance fighter.

It announced it was ending design studies aimed at adapting the F105 to reconnaissance missions. About $2 million has been spent on the studies conducted by Republic Aviation Corp., Farmingdale, L.I., N.Y.

A reconnaissance version of the F4H, to be designated the RF110, will be produced by McDonnell Aircraft Corp., St. Louis, Mo.

The Phantom last month set a world jet speed record of 1,606.342 miles an hour.

CITED AS WOMEN OF THE YEAR by the Big Spring Business and Professional Women's Club: (from left), Mrs. Ara Cunningham, Mrs. George O'Brien and Mrs. Ralph Baker, with Miss Arah Phillips, standing. Mrs. Baker, a vice-president in the First National Bank, was honored as a career woman; Mrs. O'Brien, for work in religious education; Mrs. Cunningham, for special work with patients at the Veterans' Administration Hospital; and Miss Phillips, retired physical education teacher, for work with young people above and beyond her duties as an instructor.

HIGHLIGHT OF THE YEAR according to Mrs. Buford Hull, (above), was the District Parent-Teachers' Association Conference held in Big Spring. Mrs. Hull, Big Spring P-TA Council president was in charge of arrangements and says that the conference was the biggest undertaking during her year in office. This accomplishment was exceptionally satisfactory, she reports.

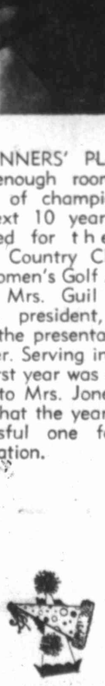
Women Of '61

Appreciation of feminine ability, according to national and world reports, is on the increase and in the past year not the least of such ability was that found on the community level. Keeping in step, Big Spring women were short on skirts and long on progressive interests in 1961. They have been engaged the past year in all phases of work. Educational, social, cultural and business levels are only a part of the broad expanse of feminine fields explored in this area. Today's woman is vitally interested in her community, state, and nation, and makes known her ideas through those delegated to speak for her. Among those so delegated the past year were Mrs. Guil Jones, who headed the Women's Golf Association, Big Spring Country Club; Mrs. Buford Hull, P-TA Council president; Mrs. Frank Wilson, HD Council president, and Mrs. Franklyn Snyder, president of the Officers' Wives Club, Webb AFB. Honored for their contributions in various fields of work were Mrs. Ralph Baker, Mrs. George O'Brien, Mrs. Ara Cunningham and Miss Arah Phillips, named women of the year by the B & PW Club.

WOMEN'S NEWS
Big Spring Herald
SEC. C
BIG SPRING, TEXAS, DECEMBER 31, 1961

BACKED INTO THE CHAIR, Mrs. Franklyn Snyder, (left photo), performed her tour of duty with efficiency. Elected as vice president of the Webb Officers' Wives Club, she soon found herself in the chair vacated by the departing president. In this direction related reports have been most complimentary.

A WINNERS' PLAQUE, with enough room for names of champions in the next 10 years, was provided for the Big Spring Country Club by the Women's Golf Association. Mrs. Guil Jones, WGA president, (left) made the presentation in October. Serving in office this first year was a challenge to Mrs. Jones, who feels that the year was a successful one for the Association.



MRS. FRANK WILSON worked with some 200 women representing 10 Home Demonstration Clubs during her year as president of the Big Spring HD Council. Much progress was made in 1961, but Mrs. Wilson was especially pleased with the last meeting, when officers and committee chairmen were in full attendance and made complete reports for the year.

Canine Center Of Attraction

'Back Home In Indiana' It's Cold, Say Wilsons

A request for transfer from San Antonio to Big Spring was made by Capt. Dick Wilson who with his family have moved into quarters at 8-B Albrook, Webb Air Force Base.

Capt. Wilson, after receiving his primary at Winter Haven, Fla., in 1956, entered flight training at Webb AFB. Upon completion of flight, he remained here as a trainer until July of '58.

Originally from Indiana, Capt. Wilson's home was Huntington; his wife, Jacquie, is from Muncie. She was a home economics major, and she claims this is her field, literally, with her major occupation—homemaking for three children and a husband. Her school was Ball State Teachers College.

Mainly, Mrs. Wilson spoke of her husband's interests. Although making a career in the Air Force, he formerly taught art in Huntington and Wells counties, Indiana. This vocation with his present status, aviation physiologist, follows a definite pattern, according to Capt. Wilson.

As an aviation physiologist, Capt. Wilson prepares trainees for survival up and beyond an altitude of 100,000 feet. Primarily, this includes how to breathe under pressure; how to eject safely from the plane; importance of nutrition and other physiological aspects.

Men are provided with a simulated altitude to determine that there are no abnormal physical functions. Also veteran fliers are required to undergo the chamber test every three years, Capt. Wilson explained.

Works of art, somewhat depleted by cross-country moving and growing children, are noted in the Wilsons' living room. He has ventured into cubism as set forth by Picasso in paintings. However his, mixed with the abstract, are sculptured. He had the privilege of studying with Karl Marx for three years, an experience which in itself has proven invaluable.

Capt. Wilson's one and only venture into the field of journalism was a triumphant one, soon after his marriage in 1954. An article and colored picture spread appeared at that time in the American Magazine, entitled "A Shower for the Bridegroom." This is kept as a reminder not only of the venture, but also of the beginning of their marriage.

Both Wilson and his wife find pleasure working in ceramics. They like creating in mud but do not particularly care for using moulds. Too, they are both very fine bowlers, borne out by the numerous trophies on the shelves.

When they previously lived here, Capt. Wilson and Sgt. Pete Kappas entered and won the State Doubles Championship Bowling Tournament, held in San Angelo in 1958. Since Kappas is still in Big Spring and working again with the Captain, there could be another championship coming up.

A real Texan is Chris Wilson, aged 2, who was born March 2, Texas Independence Day, in the Alamo City, San Antonio. Her older sister, 4, is a native of Big Spring, while their brother, aged 6, was born in Winter Haven.

Requesting transfer to Big Spring speaks for itself. The Wilsons like West Texas and its friendly people, expressed in their Christmas card rhyme for greetings to folks "back home in Indiana."

Sixth Annual Award Offered By NFMC

The National Federation of Music Clubs will again present a $1,000 award to the individual artist or musical ensemble which has done the most to further the performance and appreciation of American music abroad. The announcement was made by Mrs. C. Arthur Bullock of Canton, Pa., president of NFMC.

The period covered is from Sept. 1961, through Aug. 1962. The award may be won by a conductor, a solo artist, a chamber music group, or a choral or orchestral ensemble.

The first award, in 1957, went to William Strickland, who presented 28 American works in concerts given by European orchestras which he conducted. The 1958 award went to the Westminster Choir which, in a tour of 22 countries in the far and middle East, gave 147 concerts and presented 41 American works.

In 1959, the award went to the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, Eugene Ormandy, conductor, for the most effective presentation of American music in other countries during the 1957-58 concert season. The Philadelphians played nine American compositions in 44 concerts in 14 European countries.

In 1960, the award was given to the National Symphony Orchestra of Washington, D. C., Dr. Howard Mitchell, conductor. The orchestra, in its 12-week tour of 19 Central and South American countries, presented 65 sold-out concerts and included one of eight American compositions in each of the 39 cities visited.

The 1961 award went to the Howard University Choir of Washington, D. C. In 80 days, the choir of 60 voices traveled 27,000 miles, sang before 220,000 people plus hundreds of thousands of others in six TV concerts and two radio concerts — to further the cause of American music in 18 Central and South American countries and three Caribbean islands.

Artists of groups eligible for the award should send details to Miss Elsie Sweeney, 525 Lafayette Avenue, Columbus, Ind. Deadline for sending the questionnaire to Miss Sweeney is Feb. 12, 1962.

Add Cheese To Eggs For Welcome Change

Cheese added to scrambled eggs will dress it up for company breakfast or family luncheon.

PARMESAN EGGS

2 eggs,
2 tbsps. milk
¼ tsp. salt
1 tbsp. grated Parmesan cheese
1 tbsp. butter.

Beat eggs; add milk and salt; beat to combine.

Heat butter until it hisses in hot skillet; add egg mixture. Using medium heat, as portions of egg set, stir them into thin part; lightly stir in cheese.

Remove with wide spatula or large spoon. Serve at once. This makes 1 serving; increase quantities as needed.

Austine La Mar's Lowered Waistline

No. R-131
Sizes 12-18

One of the most attractive fashion trends is the lowered waistline dress. This can be achieved in many ways.

Here is one of the most flattering versions of the lowered waistline, formed by a hip band that is smooth fitting to its buttoned back.

The bodice molds the figure and rises up to form all-in-one short sleeves and a lovely squared neckline with softly rolled collar and tab.

An especially good dress to make in crepe, silk prints, semi-formal fabrics for daytime and afternoon occasions.

Price $1. No. R-131 is available in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18. Size 14 takes 3½ yards of 39-inch fabric. Standard body measurements for size 14 are: Bust 34, Waist 26, Hips 36.

Stars Speak Out

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Movie Folks Give Variety Of Opinions

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — The beginning of a new year holds both challenge and promise. It offers an opportunity to profit by past mistakes and to resolve not to repeat them. It is a time for appreciating good fortune and striving to deserve it. As the curtain drops on 1961, let's discover what some of the stars have to say about the past and future.

DOROTHY McGUIRE, like so many of us, is thinking about what will happen to this world if we should get into another war. "A few years ago, I was in a picture about the friendly Quakers. This was an inspiration to me, and I finished the role with the greatest admiration for these people who make an effort to live by Jesus' advice to turn the other cheek and to exchange good for evil. If each of us would try to develop an understanding for the other person's desires and needs, it seems to me it would help toward world peace."

SHIRLEY MACLAINE believes we should never stop trying to improve ourselves. "I am inclined to be moody. I swing from the heights to the depths, and this takes a lot out of me. I hope before 1962 is ended that I will be able to follow the advice of a good friend who told me to think horizontally."

PEGGY LEE'S resolution for 1962 is to get plenty of rest. "When you are tired, you can't enjoy life, and you can't be at your best. I think most problems could be solved if we felt rested and full of energy. This year I am declaring a war on worry and frustration, and my weapon is that four-letter word, REST."

MARLON BRANDO feels that today we place much too much emphasis on externals. What he looks for in people is individuality and honesty. "Conformity has been made a measure of desirability in our country. I think this is wrong. We have to face the realities of life more sharply with a true sense of values."

HELEN TRAUBEL has a happy face and a happy life. "It is the individual that counts," she told me. "All happiness begins with our relationship to ourselves. If you never let yourself down, your life will be a success regardless of what other people may think."

ROSALIND RUSSELL has made a success of her career, her marriage and her life. I wanted to know what good advice she could pass on. "I have found it helpful to try always to be a good sport. I like the advice that they give to athletes, 'Win as if you were used to it, and lose as if you enjoyed it.' "

JUDY GARLAND has made a glorious comeback this year. What would she like to see happen in 1962? "I am a perfectionist about my work, and when I see others being careless, I get angry. I hope to be able to control my temper more in 1962, and I hope I will be able to work with people who take pride in their jobs."

JOAN COLLINS feels that when we scatter our interests we weaken our ability to succeed. "I am concentrating on singleness of purpose. It seems to me to be the answer for getting what I want out of life. But nothing fails like trying too hard. We have to be patient while being persistent."

ROBERT STACK feels that happiness lies in keeping a basic simplicity. "When life becomes too fancy and complicated, we lose touch with nature and with ourselves. In making decisions, I try to be sure that what I am doing is what I really want—and that I am not allowing anything else to influence me."

Cake Frosting Is Smooth In Texture

1 cup sugar
⅛ tsp. cream of tartar
⅓ cup water
2 large egg whites
2-3 cup butter
2 tsps. vanilla
Two 8- or 9-inch chocolate cake layers

In a medium saucepan stir together the sugar, cream of tartar and water.

Cook and stir over low heat until sugar dissolves; cook without stirring to 240 degrees on candy thermometer or to soft-ball stage in cold-water test.

Beat egg whites until stiff. Very slowly beat syrup into egg whites.

Cream butter and vanilla; beat in egg-white mixture, a few tablespoons at a time; beat thoroughly after each addition.

Serve Nourishing Breakfast In Spite Of Morning Rush

Morning's a busy time for the average family. But it takes only a few minutes to prepare a nourishing breakfast of oatmeal. Those precious minutes are more than worthwhile when you consider that oatmeal leads all other type cereals in protein, vitamin B-1, iron, and food energy.

Youngsters and grown-ups need the kind of breakfast that will last them clear through 'til lunch. For this reason, you're wise to prepare a hot oatmeal breakfast for the whole family. And, if you're budget-minded, you'll be glad to know you can serve a family of four for only five cents!

Home economists feel that school work suffers when breakfast is omitted.

The secret of getting your family to eat a good breakfast may be as simple as this—good flavor! When it comes to choosing an oatmeal cereal that creates a demand for second helpings, select a brand that has all excess flour removed. Then you'll enjoy the flaky texture, the rich flavor, of one of our finest cereal grains—oats!

It takes only a little time to 'dress up' the breakfast table with fruits and seasonings that add a variety of flavor to oatmeal. Besides sugar and milk, keep a shaker of cinnamon sugar and a bowl of brown sugar handy. Serve maple syrup for a delightful sweetening. Raisins can be sprinkled over the cereal, and chopped dates and candied fruits can be added for color and flavor that will entice the young ones in your family.

Wedding Vows Read Saturday For Miss Mahoney, W. Patton

Matrimonial rites were conducted Saturday evening, uniting Glenda Kay Mahoney and William Hugh Patton. The double ring service was read at 7 o'clock in the East Fourth Baptist Church, Big Spring, with the pastor, the Rev. Jack Stricklan, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Parrish, 104 NE 12th, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Patton of Clyde.

Cathedral tapers in white candelabra lighted the altar scene, which included fern trees and banked arrangements of white mums and gladioli. A white satin covered prie dieu, where the couple knelt for the wedding prayer, centered the altar. Pews were marked with white satin bows.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Virginia Tucker, organist, who also accompanied the vocalist, Sherry Hobbs of Midland. Her selections were "The Wedding Prayer," "Because," and "Whither Thou Goest."

Given in marriage by her brother, J. J. Mahoney, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white velvet, fashioned on princess lines with a cathedral train. Heavy lace embroidered with seed pearls detailed the scooped neckline and the long tapered sleeves. Her fingertip veil of illusion was secured with lace and pearl crown-cap, and she carried a nosegay centered with cattleya orchid, having showers of French mums and tied with picot satin and tulle.

For something old, the bride put birthday pennies in her shoes; something new, the bridal gown; something borrowed, the white Bible; and something blue, a blue garter.

Kay Loveland, maid of honor, wore a streetlength sheath of gold velvet with matching hat and shoes. She carried bronze mums tied with matching shade of satin ribbon.

Bridesmaids, Beth McElroy of Midland, and Charlolette Watson of Odessa, wore sheaths of winter green velvet with matching hats and shoes. Their flowers were like those carried by the maid of honor.

Ralph Carpenter of Lubbock served as best man to the bridegroom. Groomsmen were J. M. and R. E. Patton, brothers of the bridegroom. Ushers were R. M. Mahoney and Ronald Parrish, brothers of the bride. Junior ushers were Don Patton of Blackwell, and Mike Patton of Clyde, both nephews of the bridegroom.

Cathy Mahoney, niece of the bride, in green velvet dress and hat, was flower girl, while ring bearer was the bridegroom's nephew, Chuck Patton, of Clyde.

Robert Mahoney and David Mahoney, the bride's nephews, were taper lighters.

RECEPTION

A reception was held afterward in the Blue Room of the Cosden Country Club in Big Spring. In the receiving line were mothers of the couple, the bride's attendants, and the bride and bridegroom.

MRS. WILLIAM HUGH PATTON

Five-branched candelabra centered the refreshment table, which also featured an arrangement of white mums and carnations tied in gold. The bride's cake, three tiered, was frosted white and embossed with white roses and deep green leaves. A china bride and groom stood on the top tier.

The bridegroom's white sheet cake was trimmed with white roses and deep green leaves, topped with double hearts and the couple's names.

Mrs. Ralph Carpenter of Lubbock, was in charge of the register. Members of the house party were Patricia and Lucy Patton, nieces of the bridegroom, Carol Staffer and Dorene Bledsoe, who served.

WEDDING TRIP

The couple left afterward on a wedding trip and for travel the bride chose a white wool suit with matching hat, black shoes and bag. She wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet. They will make their home in Dallas.

A graduate of Big Spring High School, the bride attended Howard County Junior College where she was a member of the Speech and Drama Club and A Cappella Choir. She has been employed by Shell Oil Co. in Midland.

The bridegroom, after completing school in Clyde, attended Texas Tech at Lubbock where he was president of Sigma Delta Chi, a member of Alpha Tau Omega, and was sports editor, Toreador. He is presently employed by Bell Telephone Co., Dallas.

OUT-OF-TOWN GUESTS

Guests from out of town attending the wedding and reception were Mr. and Mrs. Charley Parrish and Mrs. Thelma Thomas, Coahoma; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Smith, Westbrook; Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Honea of Colorado City; Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Medley, Colorado City; Mr. and Mrs. Russel Davis, Sparenberg; Mrs. Gail Powers, Jean Akins, Betty Anderson, Ann Tipton, Mrs. Wanda Mustawe, Midland; Jackie Black, Alice King, Mr. and Mrs. Buddy French, Odessa.

Also, J. A. Honea, Sundown; Mr. and Mrs. George Mahoney, Loraine; Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Mahoney, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Spurrier, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Brite, Abilene; Mrs. John Patton, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Harless, Mrs. Lillian Fewl, Mrs. Douglas May, Mr. and Mrs. Cal Bynum, of Clyde; Brad Long, Miami, Fla., and others from Lubbock, Dallas and Fort Worth.

Consider Taxus When You Plan Landscape

This is the season when winter-bound gardeners start thinking of hedging on stocks—evergreen stocks.

Thoughts probably are deep in the green of taxus, America's most popular ornamental evergreen. Among other virtues their long-retained, deep green foliage has done much to establish taxus as a favorite utility planting. It has been developed in many forms from small globes to pyramids of considerable size.

M. W. Staples, field supervisor of the Davey Tree Expert Co., offers some suggestions on hedges for next spring's plantings —particularly for homeowners who consider their winter landscaping ultra-drab. Those who have a spot for tall-growing hedges would do well to consider the Hicks yew (taxus media hicksi) and the Hatfield yew (taxus media hatfield). For short hedges, there are dwarf varieties, such as taxus cuspidate nana compacta, and taxus canadensis stricta.

The taxus probably is champ in retaining needles and lush foliage. The species has been known to keep its needles for as long as 10 years. Most of our popular evergreens retain their needles for only two to six years. Taxus has another attribute dear to harassed gardeners. It is relatively free of inspect pests.

Left unpruned, some lustier forms of taxus assume mammoth proportions. For rule of green thumb, all varieties should be kept in form through annual attention. It may prove futile to cut back the specimen that has outgrown its location.

Let Teen-Agers Make This Candy

Teen-agers will enjoy making this popular candy before or during a get-together.

PEANUT BRITTLE

1 cup sugar
⅛ tsp. salt
1 cup dark corn syrup
¼ cup water
2 tbsps. butter or margarine
1½ cups peanuts
2 teaspoons hot water
1 tsp. baking soda

In a large heavy saucepan stir together the sugar, salt, corn syrup, water and butter.

Cook to soft crack stage (280 degrees on candy thermometer) or until 1 teaspoon of the mixture tested in 1 cup very cold water separates into hard but not brittle threads.

Gradually stir in peanuts so mixture continues to boil. Cook, stirring often, to hard-crack stage (300 degrees) or until when tested as above, mixture separates into hard brittle threads.

Remove from heat. Stir hot water into soda; beat thoroughly into brittle. Turn onto heavily buttered large cookie sheet, spreading as thin as possible with spatula.

Cool about 5 minutes; turn warm brittle upside down on sheet.

When cold, break into irregular pieces. Makes about 1¼ pounds.

Family, Friends Will Like This Pie After Holidays

This mince pie will be welcomed by family or guests even after the holidays:

SPECIAL MINCE PIE

3 cups mincemeat
1 medium green apple, (pared, cored and chopped fine)
2 tbsps. coarsely grated orange rind

Pastry for a 2-crust 9-inch pie

Mix mincemeat, apple and orange rind.

Roll out half the pastry into a 12-inch circle and line pie plate with it; spread mincemeat mixture over pastry.

Roll out remaining half of pastry to 10-inch circle; cut into ½-inch strips. Weave strips lattice fashion over mincemeat.

Fold under and together, the edges of the strips and the edge of the bottom crust to form a high rim when fluted.

Bake in a hot (425 degrees) oven 30 minutes or until pastry is browned. Serve hot or reheat.

This makes more filling than usual because of the apple; if pastry rim is not high, place foil on oven rack under pie plate should mincemeat begin to bubble up.

Bride-Elect

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Berry, 2900 Cherokee, are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Joy, to Airman 2.C. Gove Sandifer Jr.; he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gove Sandifer of Alamogordo, N. M. Date and place of the wedding are to be decided later.

Use Low Heat

The important point to remember, when you are preparing Hollandaise Sauce, is to use slow heat. If the heat is gentle, the sauce may be cooked over direct heat (in a heavy pan) instead of over hot water.

Visit In Austin

Elizabeth Daniels and Mrs. Margaret Pitt were visitors in Austin during the holidays.

Mrs. Mitchell Visits

Mrs. Dalton Mitchell is in California visiting her brother, Ben. She will return early in January.

Webb Windsock

By WILMA BUTERA

Capt. and Mrs. R. F. Daley hosted a Christmas party in their home last week. Thirty guests were present and among the refreshments served was Bombay punch.

The OWC Luncheon will be this Thursday at the Officers' Club at 12:30 p.m. My spies tell me that the program is something that will be well worth your time. It is a first for Webb (I think) and from what else I hear it is going to be quite enjoyable. Aren't you all just a little curious? Remember that your reservation or cancellation must be made by noon, Tuesday. Call Mrs. James Gehrig AM 3-4715 or Mrs. L. J. Morris AM 4-4531.

Chips And Dips

Fruit dip, using no-calorie dressing, with chips is an excellent repast for the unexpected guest or for the planned party.

Mix well:

1 cup cottage cheese, whipped in blender or put through a very fine sieve
⅛ cup crushed pineapple
2 tart apples—cored but not peeled, chopped
Juice and rind 1 large lemon
1 tbsp. mayonnaise

Delicious when eaten with potato chips!

Two cups—327 calories.

Slow But Sure Changes Being Made In Homes

AP Newsfeatures

Many of the home building concepts as we know them today will be obsolete in the next 10 years or so. But changes in homes, as in people, rarely come overnight. The changes are gradual, almost imperceptible from day to day or even year to year, but decidedly sharp over a period of time.

Some of the materials and building techniques and ideas that will be incorporated into homes in 1962 are not entirely new. They've been tried in test structures and a few houses and found to be workable.

Others have been used in hundreds and thousands of homes but are still unknown in the large majority of residences. And still others may be getting their first airing during the year outside of a laboratory.

What's ahead for the buyers of new homes during the next 12 months? Here is how things shape up:

More maintenance-free materials will be used. . . . kitchens will be slightly larger. . . more colors will be used in bathroom fixtures. . . . there will be an increase in the number of patios with roofs. . . some homes will have complete intercom systems . . . . more retirement developments will be available. . . and there will be a considerable increase in the number of prefabricated houses.

Some of the new products on the construction agenda are foamed plastic roof insulation, nonflammable vinyl building panels, preassembled roof trusses expected to cut construction costs and different types of pastic plumbing.

Families desiring to buy shell homes and complete them after their purchases will find a much wider variety on the market.

Because of land shortages in certain areas, more two-family houses will be built. There also will be more one-family, two-story houses, especially, it appears, in the northeast and the midwest.

Builders seem to be a bit confused about fallout shelters. Many say they will wait until the last possible minute before deciding whether to include them in the homes they're planning. Those who will definitely include them are in city areas. Those who definitely will not build them are mostly in small towns.

One thing the builders are not confused about is the necessity for cutting costs. They can't do it on labor and only occasionally on materials, so they're trying to find new ways of doing things cheaper without diminishing quality. One builder, for instance, discovered that it was better to put in the drives, walks and gradings before calling in the carpenters. He said this gave the workers an all-weather access to the house, speeding construction and thus saving money.

Blanket Franks

Invite friends in for a casual supper before or after the basketball game. Or, maybe the teenage crowd is gathering at your house.

Young and old alike always go for frankfurters, but they'll especially like these "Blanket Franks." The franks are placed on wooden skewers, rolled in a corn meal batter, then deep-fat fried in hot lard until golden brown.

They're destined to score with appetites sharpened from the outdoor activity. The first franks to finish cooking can be kept warm in the oven while the second ones are frying.

An informal buffet supper would be most convenient for this occasion. Have the rest of the menu prepared ahead of time, so all you need do just before serving is to fry the franks. Buffet foods should be easy to eat, too. These Blanket Franks on skewers certainly win on this account.

BLANKET FRANKS
1 lb. frankfurters
1⅛ cups sifted enriched flour
¾ cup corn meal
2 tbsps. sugar
1½ tsps. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
2 tbsps. lard
1 egg, slightly beaten
⅞ cup milk
8 wooden skewers
Lard for deep-fat frying

Sift together flour, corn meal, sugar, baking powder and salt. Cut in lard until mixture has a fine even crumb.

Combine egg and milk and add to corn meal mixture, stirring until well blended.

Insert wooden skewers into ends of the frankfurters and roll in corn meal batter.

Drop into deep hot lard (360 degrees F.) and fry until browned. 6 to 8 servings.

Pare Broccoli

Use a swivel-blade vegetable parer to remove the thin outer covering from broccoli stalks. If the stalks are overly long, cut a few inches from their ends and cook along with the rest of the vegetable.

Garnish

Strips of ripe olive may be substituted for truffles when the latter are used as a garnish.

Plans Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert J. Mann of 610 Scurry Street, announce the engagement and approachiag marriage of their daughter, Marilyn, to Cadet William Robert Satterwhite, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Satterwhite, 610 E. 17th Street. The wedding is planned for Feb. 16, when Cadet Satterwhite will have received his commission as ensign and pilot in the United States Navy. Vows will be exchanged in the Navy Chapel in Corpus Christi.

Individual Attention A Keynote

A bit of individual attention is what everyone gets with these miniature party cakes, fit for family feast or a gathering of guests. The time to add that individual touch is what the hostess gets when she starts her baking with cake mixes — coconut or coconut cocoa. Everything's in the cake mix box, including frosting mix, to make for a wonderful "package deal." For extra good looks, pick muffin papers cued to your holiday table decorations.

MINIATURE PARTY CAKES

Prepare Sunshine Coconut Cake or Toasty Coconut Cocoa Cake as directed on package. Fill paper-lined muffin cups two-thirds full of batter. Bake at 375 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes. Prepare Topping as directed. Spread on cupcakes. Broil for 1 to 2 minutes until bubbly and browned.

Betrothal Revealed

LAMESA (SC)—Mr. and Mrs. Raymon Albert Van of Star Route 4, Lamesa, have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Elizabeth Joan, to A. J. McKnight, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford C. McKnight of Calina.

The wedding will be conducted, Feb. 2, 1962, in the Little Chapel in the Woods at Denton.

The bride-elect is a sophomore at Texas Woman's University at Denton and the bridegroom is employed in Dallas.

Good Eating At Low Cost In January

If abundance of food in January is any clue, 1962 stands to be another year of nutritious, enjoyable good eating, at relatively low cost.

The monthly list of plentiful foods prepared by the Agricultural Marketing Service for January gives a good idea of this abundance. Nine highly menuable items are mentioned.

Grapefruit from the Sunny South and honey provided by bees in all parts of the country head the list.

Other plentiful foods include broiler-fryers, apples, potatoes, pecans, frozen and canned cherries, rice and dry beans.

These have been selected for special marketing emphasis by AMS's food distribution division, in cooperation with growers and the food trade, because supplies are expected to exceed normal demand. Look for especially "good buys" on these items. Lower prices and better quality usually accompany abundance.

Production of 45.2 million boxes of grapefruit is about 9 per cent more than average. Harvest is near a peak in January. Prices are expected to continue below year-ago levels.

Bees were extra busy last season. The record-large crop of 276 million pounds of honey is 33 million pounds above average.

The economy of serving tender broilers has become legend in recent months. Apple production in 1961 was 13 per cent more than average; potato production, 27 per cent above average. The pecan harvest and the 1961 pack of cherries were record large. Rice and dry beans, always nutritious and economical, also are in unusually huge supply at all markets.

Save Liquid

During the week save the liquid from home-cooked and canned vegetables. Use them in a hearty chowder for Sunday-night supper. The vegetable liquids—if they are not salty—may be used to dilute many canned soups.

Friday Eating

You can turn Chicken Tetrazzini into a Friday special; use tuna (the solid white albacore variety is fine here) instead of the chicken to combine with cooked spaghetti and cream sauce. As a savory topping for this casserole, use grated Parmesan cheese.

Plans February Nuptials

February 3 is the date set by Paula D'Ann Faubion and Clyde Larry Jander for their wedding, according to an announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. K. E. Faubion, parents of the bride-elect. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Jander of Waco. Vows will be taken in the First Christian Church.

COSDEN CHATTER

Group Has Various Plans For Holiday

After the hustle and merriment of Christmas, many Cosden families plan to spend a cozy weekend quietly at home to usher in the New Year. A few are doing it by necessity, being afflicted with the mumps or the virus. Other hardy folks plan to celebrate with friends or family at distant points.

Mr. and Mrs. Dub Bostick are holidaying in Georgia.

The Ray Whites have gone to Tucson, Ariz.

Margueritte Cooper and her sister, Mrs. L. A. Plowman, are with relatives in Weatherford.

Mr. and Mrs. George Grimes are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Bunky Grimes in Denton.

Mr. and Mrs. Arch Ratliff will attend the Texas U.-Miss. gridiron classic in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas on New Year's Day.

Fort Worth has drawn Mr. and Mrs. Doug Merrifield.

The Leon Kinney family has as holiday guests Mrs. Kinney's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Armstrong of Marshall.

The R. W. Thompsons will spend the holidays televiewing the football games after having enjoyed Christmas weekend with his relatives in Vega and in Lubbock with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. O. Haymes.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Brown, Bobby and Ginger are sharing the holidays in Snyder with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Denson.

The Pat Porters divided the Christmas holidays between their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Skeet Porter of Vealmoor and the Denver Dunns of Big Spring.

This weekend Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Green, Lynn and Paula Pat are entertaining his brother and family, the Gene Greens of Terminal.

Arlene Hartin entered Malone-Hogan Foundation Hospital at midweek, felled by the mumps.

Shirley Byers is also suffering from the mumps.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Barnfield and Fred of College Station spent the holidays here. She is the daughter of Mrs. Julia Bonifield.

Mr. V. A. Whittington's mother, Mrs. H. J. Whittington, is seriously ill at Cowper Hospital. She was showing some improvement Friday morning.

Mrs. A. B. West returned Tuesday from Temple where she had undergone surgery. She is convalescing nicely at her home.

Capt. and Mrs. Stanley Ballou have as house guests this weekend Mr. and Mrs. Bill Welch of San Antonio.

Sgt. and Mrs. Robert E. Rogers of Ft. Polk, La., and children visited in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Yates, over the holidays.

Mrs. J. R. Marcus vacationed at home last week.

R. D. West is making progress at John Sealy Hospital in Galveston. West was burned in a flash fire at the refinery early in December. Christmas Eve marked his 15th anniversary with Cosden.

Bob Kiser was on vacation last week.

Ardis McCasland plans to be in Dallas for the Cotton Bowl game on New Year's Day.

Chicken Cutlets Made With Rice

1 cup cooked rice
1 cup chopped left-over chicken
1 egg
4 tbs. flour
1 cup milk
½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
2 tbs. cooking oil

Use left-over rice (or cook 1-3 cup following the easy directions on the package). Heat the cooking oil in a skillet and blend with the flour and seasonings. Slowly stir in the milk and cook until thick. Add the beaten egg and remove at once from the heat.

Mix this with the rice and chicken and spread in a shallow pan. Chill until stiff. Cut with a biscuit cutter; roll the biscuit-sized pieces in crumbs, then dip in the egg diluted with a little water, then again in the crumbs. Fry until golden brown.

Snow Series Starts For Duplicate Players

Playing the first duplicate bridge game in the Snow Series, players gathered at 11 tables Friday afternoon at the Big Spring Country Club. It was also the charity game for the group.

The series will encompass seven games with the best five being counted and will end Feb. 7.

Announcement was made of the change of time slated for Friday's games, which will begin at 2 p.m., due to the luncheon of the Ladies Golf Association preceding the play.

Winners in Friday's games were Mrs. Riley Foster and Mrs. Rogers Hefley, north-south; Mrs. J. J. Havens and Mrs. Dan Greenwood, second; Grover Cunningham Jr. and Ed Hartstein, third; Mrs. Ben McCullough and Mrs. John Stone, fourth.

East-west winners were Mrs. Arliss Ratliff and Mrs. Glenn Riley, both of Garden City, first; Mrs. Paul Lee and Mrs. D. E. Jonker, second; Mrs. James Duncan and Mrs. Obie Bristow, third; Mrs. George McGann and Mrs. J. H. Holloway, fourth.

Pumpkin Flavor Is Stronger Than Spice

If you like pumpkin pies that taste more of pumpkin than of spice, this recipe should please you.

TWO PUMPKIN PIES

4 eggs
1 can (1 lb., 13 oz.) pumpkin
2 cups firmly packed light brown sugar
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. pumpkin pie spice
2 cups undiluted evaporated milk
2 unbaked 9-inch pie shells with high fluted edges

In a large mixing bowl beat the eggs until yolks and whites are combined. Add pumpkin, sugar, salt and spice; whisk together.

Heat milk until bubbles appear around the edge; gradually whisk into pumpkin mixture. Pour into pie shells.

Fold foil over pastry edges. Bake in a very hot (450 degrees) oven 15 minutes; remove foil; continue baking in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 30 to 40 minutes or until silver knife inserted near center comes out clean. Cool on wire racks.

Comes The Deadline

The Herald's Annual Holiday Bargain Offer — a reduction of more than 10 per cent in the regular price — for annual subscriptions runs during the month of December only. After Monday, the regular price of 40 cents per week prevails. So, the deadline for that one-time payment, which means a saving in money to you, and also a great convenience, is right here. May we urge you to get your check in the mail today? The Bargain Rate, for The Herald delivered to your door in Big Spring for all of 1962, is just $18.45, plus a state sales tax of 37¢, for a total of $18.82. Your carrier boy gets his full commission from your annual payment, and he won't be ringing your doorbell every Saturday. Now's your time, because the deadline is right here.

Marriage Revealed

Mrs. Tony Starr is the former Patricia Ann Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack F. Johnson, 1312 Dixie. Starr is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Starr, 1909 Morrison. The couple was married June 10 in St. John's Methodist Church, with Dr. Calvin Froehner reading the ceremony. Mrs. Starr will complete her studies at Texas Tech and then will join her husband in Hawaii, where he is stationed.

Southern Black-Eye Peas Famous By Lore

You'd better eat black-eye peas on New Year's Day if you want to have good luck in the coming year!

This admonition has been handed down from generation to generation—its beginning lost in the infinity of folklore—but it has made the southern black-eye pea as famous for New Year's as turkey is for Thanksgiving or ham for Easter.

Some folks say that eating black-eye peas for good luck on New Year's Day began with the tale of a farmer in the Appalachian Mountains, who had experienced several bad crop years. All he had to feed his family during the winter months were some black-eye peas which had been preserved by drying.

Came Christmas Day and New Year's, and all this family had to eat were black-eye peas and corn pone—the same food they had all other days. But they were thankful for it, and hoped that the peas would bring good luck the coming year. They did. And so the family always ate black-eye peas and corn pone every New Year's Day.

During the hard times that followed the Civil War, when black-eye peas and corn bread were the mainstay of most meals, families took heart in this "good luck" story and added the fact that for every pea you ate, you'd make a dollar in the coming year.

If you want to make at least $100,000 in 1962, you're going to have to eat a lot of peas, for there are less than 1,000 in a generous serving. However, black-eye peas—dried, canned and frozen—are in ample supply this season, says the Agricultural Marketing Service.

Hot Muffins Are Something Special

Hot muffins make a meal something special! These muffins are extra good because they are flavored with crispy bits of smoky bacon.

BACON-RICE MUFFINS

- 1½ cups cooked rice at room temperature
- ¾ cup milk
- 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
- 3 tsps. double acting baking powder
- ½ tsp. salt
- 2 tbsps. beet or can sugar
- ¼ cup cooked bacon, finely chopped (about 4 to 5 strips)
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 2 tbsps. melted shortening

Mix together the rice and milk. Allow to stand while measuuring the other ingredients.

Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Stir in the cooked bacon.

Add the milk-rice mixture to the eggs. Stir in the melted shortening.

Make a well in the center of the flour. Pour in the milk mixture. Stir with about 15 circular strokes until the flour is moistened. Do not try to stir out the lumps.

Grease muffin pans. Fill at least two-thirds full. Bake in a preheated 400 degree F. oven for about 30 minutes.

Seat Belt Campaign Carried By GFWC

Impressive numbers of the country's unsalaried chauffeurs, who drive husbands to work and children to school, are in the midst of a safety campaign for car-seat belts.

Since men are always saying women invariably get what they want, it should be only a matter of time before belt fastening motions become as automatic in auto as in airplane.

The General Federation of Women's Clubs launched its crusade last April. The goal: "One million and one in '61." With a membership of 5½ million persuasive women, the federation should be able to put over its campaign with ease.

Why seat belts?

Mrs. E. Lucille Dodd of the Automotive Safety Foundation, and chairman of the campaign, says: "An estimated 5,000 lives would have been saved last year if seat belts had been used. And traffic accident injuries are reduced by more than a third through their use."

About two million cars on the road now have belts—and the 1962 cars will be equipped with floor attachments for front-seat belts. But the crusade urges belts for every person, and at least a million more this year.

No particular brand of seat belt has received endorsement, but Mrs. Dodd advises you buy belts with SAE or GSA labels to make sure they won't break open under pressure. The labels indicate the belts meet standards set either by the Society of Automotive Engineers (SAE) or the General Service Administration (GSA). The main difference between the two is that one requires the belt withstand forces up to 4,000 pounds, and the other 5,000.

"It's natural for women to go bargain-hunting," concedes Mrs. Dodd, "but an inferior seat belt that saves money may not save lives."

The real value of seat belts, she explains, is that they help keep passengers from being thrown out of a car. And the chances of being killed are five times greater when you're ejected. The driver can keep better control if he's held in place.

"Some people say they use belts only on long trips. Actually, three out of four traffic deaths occur within 25 miles of home. And half of them occur at speeds of less than 40 m.p.h."

Mrs. Dodd, a practicing grandmother, has another selling point without statistics: "Seat belts are great for restraining youngsters in the back seat who are beating on your neck as you drive, or for keeping the ones in the front seat from going out the windshield when you stop suddenly."

Spring Frock

Why not start the new year by making this pretty forerunner of the more feminine fashions for spring, dress with billowing skirt and snug midriff! No. 3212 comes in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20. Size 14 takes 5⅛ yards of 35-inch fabric for the dress and harmonizing jacket.

Send 35 cents in coins for this pattern to IRIS LANE, Big Spring Herald, Box 1490, New York 1, N. Y. Add 10 cents for each pattern for first-class mailing.

Pattern Book 50 cents.

Tasty Dessert

Prepare grapefruit halves by removing any seeds and loosening sections from dividing membranes and peel; sprinkle grapefruit with sugar and grenadine. Nice for dessert.

Seafood Cocktail

Some good cooks like to use equal parts of mayonnaise and tomato catchup as a sauce for seafood cocktails; other cooks prefer to use twice as much mayonnaise as catchup.

SECTION D — BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, DECEMBER 31, 1961 — SECTION D

Poll Tax Paying Season Opens In Texas Tuesday

Poll tax paying season swings into action on Jan. 1.

Howard County residents are expected to invest heavily in poll tax receipts this year. The ensuing 12 months promises a large number of highly important elections on tap. State, district, county and town officials are to be selected during the year; important issues may come up for settlement at the polls. And for all of these events, it is the law that a Texan must be able to show a poll tax receipt if he wants to express his views at the ballot box.

Poll taxes became payable on Oct. 1, in the office of Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, county tax collector. She said Saturday that so far, 1,292 taxpayers have been issued poll tax receipts. Another 718 citizens, who are past the age of 60 and who live in Big Spring, have been issued exemption certificates.

In 1961, when the deadline had passed on Jan. 31, the office had issued 6,654 poll tax receipts and 1,531 exemption certificates. This year, the total will undoubtedly be much higher. There were relatively few important elections in 1961 to attract the interest of the voter. The many elections already scheduled for 1962 will stir more voting interest. In 1959, a year with much more political appeal than 1960, the tax office issued 9,263 poll tax receipts and 1,752 exemption certificates.

The tee for a poll tax receipt is $1.75. Of this money, $1 goes to schools, 50 cents to the state and 25 cents to the county.

All persons who wish to vote in Texas, in the age bracket 21 years to 60 years, must present poll tax receipts at the polls in order to be accepted as electors.

If a person was 60 years of age before Jan. 1, 1961, he does not have to pay a poll tax and becomes eligible to vote with an exemption certificate. And the exemption certificate is necessary only if he lives in Big Spring. If he lives in any other voting precinct in the county, outside the city limits of Big Spring, he does not have to present either a poll tax receipt or an exemption certificate to exercise his right to vote.

A newcomer to the state, who will have been in Texas for a year prior to an election and in a county for six months prior to an election, is also eligible to apply for an exemption certificate to ballot in the election. If such newcomer came from another state to Texas after Jan. 1, 1961, and has been a resident of the state for a year before the election at stake, he is eligible for an exemption certificate and the right to vote.

A person who has become 21 years of age since Jan. 1, 1961 or who will be 21 years of age prior to an election in this county is also eligible to apply for and receive an exemption certificate.

There is one provision of the election laws which causes considerable confusion in this county and creates a bad situation which local officials cannot remedy. This is the provision of the election laws which specifies that a member of the regular armed services must vote in the county from which he was inducted into the service. This continues as long as the voter is in the armed forces.

Webb AFB personnel, many of whom own property in Big Spring and are interested in affairs of the city and county, find this provision of the law irksome but there is nothing that local officials can do to help them.

Mrs. LeFevre is repeating her practice of last January in establishing a number of substations over the city and in Coahoma where citizens can apply for poll tax receipts and not have to make a trip to the county court house.

She has established these stations at Bowen Jewelry in 11th Place Shopping center; Cecil Thixton Motorcycle Shop on West Third Street; Gound's Pharmacy on Main Street; Reeder - Huff-Estes Insurance Agency on East Fourth Street and the Coahoma Drug Store in Coahoma.

A qualified elector can go to any of these addresses, fill out an application for a poll tax receipt and pay the $1.75 fee. The application will be delivered to the tax collector's office and the poll tax receipt mailed to applicant.

One thing is definite—deadline for the payment of poll taxes expires on Jan. 31. And the wise voter who wants to insure he has a right to ballot in the elections coming up this year should make certain he has a poll tax receipt.

MOD Month

Governor Price Daniel holds the official Proclamation designating January, 1962 as New March of Dimes Month in Texas. Representing thousands of patients in the state assisted by National Foundation Chapters is Dennis Lee Waters, Austin. Holding Dennis is Dr. A. R. White, chancellor of Baylor University, and Texas State Chairman of the New March of Dimes for 1962.

J. W. CAMPBELL

Campbell Gets AA Promotion

J. W. (Woody) Campbell, 2747 S. 74th Ave. East, has been appointed manager of passenger services for American Airlines in Tulsa, Okla., it was announced by R. L. Frederick, AA Tulsa Manager.

Campbell has been manager of aircraft services for AA at the Tulsa Muncipal Airport. His areas of responsibility now include AA's city ticket office at 507 S. Boston Ave., Tulsa, and almost all of the airline's activities at the new terminal — ramp services, reservations, communications, catering, and the load and flight information center.

Campbell, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jim Campbell, is a native of Big Spring, where he joined American Airlines as a ground service man in 1936. He was subsequently manager of AA operations at Midland-Odessa. He came to Tulsa on Feb. 12, 1954.

He was honored with a unique pin presentation ceremony last May. Frederick presented his 25-year service pin to him at 30,000 feet in the air over his birthplace, during a special press flight for Tulsa newsmen. The flight was conducted to introduce American's new 707 Astrojet which went into regularly daily scheduled service between Tulsa and Los Angeles a week later.

Taxpayers Have Extra Day To File Returns

It may be very mild consolation and of only fleeting interest but you have until April 16 this coming year to file your U.S. income tax report with Uncle Sam.

That's right—deadline for 1962 is Monday, April 16. The law says that the reports must be filed by midnight April 15 of any given year but in 1962 April 15 falls on Sunday. An extra day of grace has been authorized.

Joseph P. Gordon, administrative officer for the Big Spring office of the Internal Revenue Service, however, suggested that it would be wise, when possible, not to wait until April 16 to file the report.

"All citizens or residents of the United States including minor children, who had gross incomes of $600 or more in 1961, must file a federal income tax return," Gordon said.

"The only exceptions are if a taxpayer is 65 or over as of Dec. 31, 1961, then he or she is not required to file unless his or her gross income was $1,200 or more.

"Since it applies to all—the wise taxpayer is the one who gets his report in the mail early. If he has a return coming from overpayment through withholding tax, he will get that check the sooner."

The IRS representative added that in the case of older taxpayers, he or she must file to obtain a refund, if any income tax was withheld from his or her pay.

He also said there is one exception to the general rule. Self-employed persons such as sole proprietors, partners, and independent contractors must file an income tax return and pay a self-employment tax if their net earnings from self employment were $400 or more.

Questions relative to income tax returns can be answered by calling the IRS office, Gordon said. The office is in the Permian Building.

A Devotional for Today

"I desire then that in every place the men should pray, lifting holy hands without anger or quarreling." (I Timothy 2:8. RSV.)

PRAYER: We thank Thee, our Father, that we are united in Christ. This day throughout the world, may His light dispel all shadows and bring joy to all hearts. In His name. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

Steadier, Stronger Year

Economists are generally agreed that the business tempo for 1962 promises to exceed that of 1961, and there is little to indicate that our own vicinity will deviate from that pattern. There are many encouraging signs along with a few soft spots.

All in all 1961 turned out much as expected, although it was much more sluggish at the outset and finished somewhat stronger than anticipated. While 1962 may not produce phenomenal gains, it gives promise of being a more stable and active year. The basis for such an assumption is a greater degree of consumer confidence. Lack of this dealt business a sore blow during the first half of last year, but apparently the trend is firmly upward.

ONE OF THE MOST encouraging outlooks is for renewed commercial construction. For years this has been a distressingly weak link in our building program. Now with the First National Bank planning a new $75,000 home at the south edge of the downtown area and First Federal due to erect a new building almost adjacent to it, and the College Parks Shopping Center under way at a million dollar cost figure, there is prospect of 2½ to 3 million dollars worth of new commercial construction. This could touch off other bold enterprises. If residential building holds its 1961 pace, it will contribute much to a record year for construction.

WITH THE W. R. GRACE ammonia facility due to be completed during the year, there will be substantial activity in the industrial field. Cosden Petroleum Corporation, having experienced some distress markets, is due to more than hold its own. Any improvement in the fuels market would accelerate this. Cabot Carbon, with its enlarged facilities, gives indications of another busy year. Sid Richardson Carbon, having gone on stream, has prospects of a steady operation. No other industrial developments are presently on the horizon, although this does not preclude the possibility that some contacts may bear fruit.

AGRICULTURALLY, our area could hardly expect a better year than 1961, and experience would indicate a lesser year. However, the fields and pastures enter the new year with good moisture reserves, and this is important.

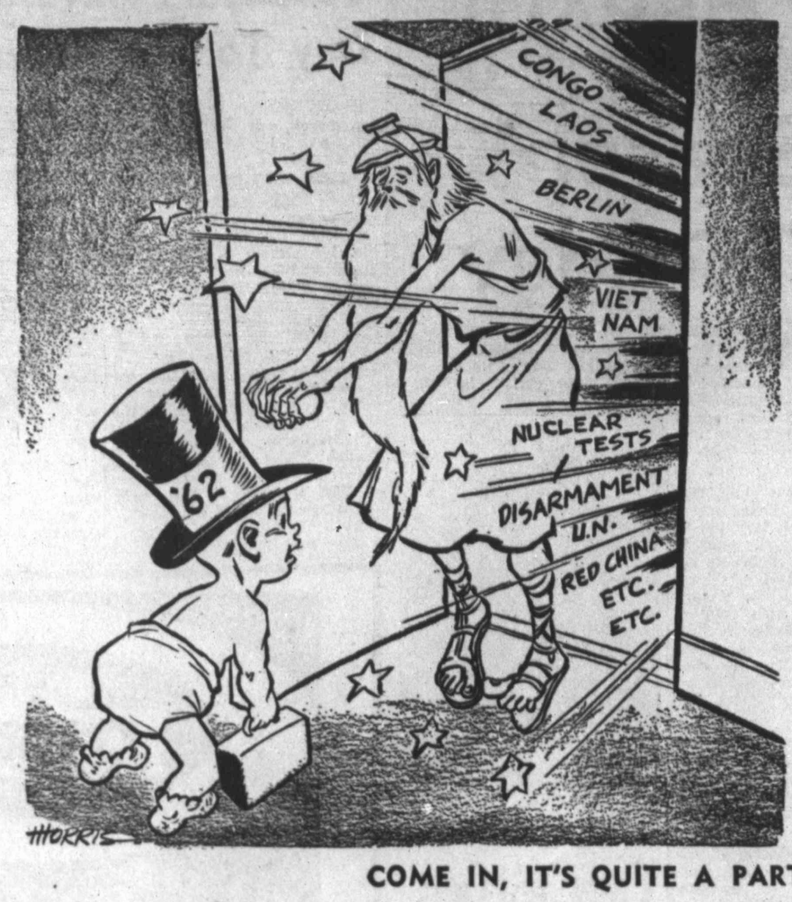
Webb AFB promises to maintain its steady pace. With a new training fleet, and with the primary training program now phased into the over-all mission, the base shows no indications of lessening its pace. No major construction has been indicated.

THE OIL INDUSTRY is not likely to experience any sharp upturn, barring national emergency. However, operators have learned to live with sharply reduced production schedules, and there has been a gradual increase in drilling tempo during the past year. Dawson County is attracting considerable play and Martin County is warming along the Spraberry Trend.

Three major highway jobs are due to start during 1962—the six million dollar Inderstate 20 loop, the Fairview-Big Spring leg of US 87 and the Gregg Street overpass There may be short state laterals, and Howard County should build a dozen or more miles of new permanent road.

THE CITY'S MASTER Plan construction will continue at near the million dollar level. No school or college construction is on the boards, but both may face this problem before the year is out. Big Spring State Hospital is due to add a new hospital unit and rehabilitation building, accounting for upwards of a million dollars in improvements. Church construction may continue at about the same, or perhaps a modified, rate.

Somewhere ahead lies a period of activity which will produce a definite surge of local growth as the community shifts from one economic level to another. It is not certain that 1962 is the year, but it may well be if national conditions live up to expectations. If it does materialize, we will be called upon to make adjustments in basic attitudes to keep up with the faster tempo.



COME IN, IT'S QUITE A PARTY

Marquis Childs

New Leadership In The House

WASHINGTON — How well the administration will fare with its major legislation in the coming session of Congress, and above all with the President's principal goal which is a liberalized trade program, may be determined before the battle has even begun.

AS WITH the first, so with the second session of the 87th Congress the House is the problem. In a striking reversal of what the founding fathers contemplated, the Senate, which was to have been the conservative and reluctant body, promises to go along with most of the adminstration program, including the liberalized trade proposals. It is in the House, where the framers of the Constitution saw a ready response to every popular wish, that there are massive legislative roadblocks.

ABOVE ALL, the President's problem is in the generalship of the Democratic majority in the House. Successor to the late Sam Rayburn as Speaker will be Representative John McCormack of Massachusetts. This is taken for granted by everyone with the possible exception of McCormack himself, who is said to be suffering from nervous tremors lest in some last-minute upset the prize he has waited for so long should escape his grasp.

Next in importance is the post of majority leader, and this is where the contest comes in that could in its outcome foreshadow the whole course of the coming session. Representative Carl Albert of Oklahoma has the inside track. He and McCormack teamed up to get the No. 1 and the No. 2 posts shortly after Rayburn left Washington for the last time in August to learn that he had an incurable cancer.

FOR THREE previous Congresses Albert has been No. 3, that is majority whip of the House. Therefore, in the solemn workings of seniority, increasingly dominant as the age level of the membership advances, he should get his reward. Dissatisfaction with the Democratic generalship has, however, steadily grown among newer and younger members. In a recent editorial The New York Times described Albert as "a whipless whip."

He is being challenged by Representative Richard Bolling of Missouri, who was Mr. Sam's strong right arm even though he held no leadership position. The younger man — Bolling is 45 — and the venerable Rayburn were a kind of private team accomplishing without official sanction and without public fanfare much that might otherwise have been lost.

BOLLING HAS consistently supported the progressive measures that, as he sees it, distinguishes the Democratic party from the Republican. He has consistently opposed the Republican-Southern Democratic coalition that has blocked, above all through the device of the House Rules Committee, administration measures such as to the aid to education bill.

In view of this fact Bolling's supporters put great stress on a letter he received from Representative Howard W. Smith of Virginia, the shrewd and tireless chairman of the Rules Committee. In response to a letter from Bolling sent to all members soliciting their support for him as majority leader Smith said:

"AS YOU probably already know, I am committed to Carl Albert. I would not be frank with you if I did not, however, state while I have a warm personal regard for you, our policies with respect to Federal government differ so far that I could not consistently follow your leadership. I only wish that you were going in my direction and still hope that that may happen in the future."

DOES THIS MEAN, Bolling's backers are asking, that Albert and Smith see eye to eye and that Albert is ready to move in the Smith direction? The gentleman from Virginia has left no doubt about what that direction is. He has made it clear in speech after speech that virtually every act of government since 1776 has been an error and that these errors compounded have reduced the nation to socialism or worse. And even 1776, in the view of the prosperous gentleman from Virginia with his highly successful dairy operation, may have been an error.

IF THIS is true and Albert's likely victory means that the new majority leader will follow the Smith direction, the outlook for the administration is dim indeed. Another factor, and it bears directly on the fight for a liberalized trade program, is Albert's representation of Oklahoma and the powerful oil interests of that state. The independent oil operators work unceasingly to cut back the import quota on oil from countries such as Venezuela, which need desperately to sell their only marketable commodity in this country if they are to survive. Oil joining with cotton textiles and other industries clamoring for protection could sabotage the President's program.

BOLLING HAS the backing of virtually the entire labor movement, with the exception of the Teamsters, and with other left-of-center forces in his party. But whether this will carry any weight when the Democrats caucus early in the new session is a question.

Not All Is Well, But Business Faces A Bright 1962

Once again, you and I—the people of the United States—have licked the "there has to be a Great Depression" bogeyman.

For the fourth time in the post-war period we've short-changed the Karl Marx determinists who keep insisting that self-feeding economic declines are the inevitable sputniks of capitalism.

COMMUNISTS were way off their Marx on the '60-61 recession. The decline lasted only nine months and the production drop was extremely shallow:

Recession	No. of Mos. Decline	Per Cent Drop in Indust.	Prod.
1948-49	14	10
1953-54	8	10
1957-58	14	15
1960-61	9	7

Historically, business-cycle contractions last 20 months. The bottom of the '60-61 decline was reached in February, and recovery has got a second wind. Total output of goods and services, personal income, industrial production, wage rates, and probably corporate profits have now climbed to all-time highs.

UPSWINGS, in the past, have averaged 30 months. So, if this up-cycle is only average, it would carry beyond June, 1963.

The Christmas momentum in consumer buying, which carried retail sales to an all-time peak at the end of the year, augurs another upthrust in industrial output. Stores must replenish stocks. Even now, production is regathering drive, following its dip in September, viz:

Month	Index
August	113
September	111
October	113
November	114
December	115-116

This undoubtedly influences forecasters. The aura of well-offness and rising expectations is almost unanimous. Sixty out of 63 economists who customarily answer my semi-annual questionnaire expect 1962 to be a consistently up year. One expects a plateau, and two expect a turndown in the second half.

Yet, it can hardly be said that all's well, and forget about it. The world, to use Sean O'Casey's malapropism, is in a "state of chassis."

POLITICAL tensions and economic problems abound. Berlin is divided trouble. Laos is unsettled. How long will the Congo be quiescent? Cuba will be a fester off the coast of Florida. And Red China . . .

A grim reminder comes from Franz Pick, the economist who makes a living out of inflation and depreciating currencies. His Christmas card this year says:

"You hold your bonds and buy more of them . . . You continue to keep money in saving banks . . . You refrain from buying precious metals . . . You abhor the short sale of sick currencies . . . You ignore the constant debasement of paper money. Your only reward . . . will be poverty."

PICK IS convinced that the United States has a major currency adjustment to make. Expenditures for military strength and aid to underdeveloped countries have taxed our capacity to pay.

The budget is unbalanced and we have deficits in our balance of payments. U. S. gold holdings, which approached $25,000,000,000 in 1949, today are under $17,000,000,000.

Industrial nations, such as West Germany, Great Britain, Italy, France, Belgium, etc., have caught up with our industrial technology and have comparable production equipment. Yet wages are lower.

EUROPE IS fashioning a vast common market that will foster mass production, once a U. S. monopoly. So, international competition will become more intense. American products will have to fight to retain their market position in Europe. And in the U. S.!

At the same time, because we are a long-term creditor nation, we have to maintain low tariffs —something President Kennedy is going to fight for at the coming session of Congress. It's going to be a hard fight.

INFERENCE: If any untoward development occurs in '62, it will be financial—and probably it will be tied into international affairs.

Example: Industrial expansion here could run into a high-interest-rate barrier. Corporations and state and local governments will need money if business is as good as the economists expect—a $570-$580 billion economy at the end of 1962, compared to $526,000,000,000 now.

At present, there's plenty of spare lending power, but competition for it will increase. So, interest rates will rise. Some expansion plans may be put off.

HIGHER interest rates may impel investors toward bonds in spite of the Pick pessimism. Some shifting out of stocks will occur. Therefore, stock prices may not advance in pace with improvement in corporate earnings.

Some year—who knows whether it will be 1962 or 1964?—growth may not command as big a dollar tag as now. Investors and spectulators may prize prospective earnings less highly. In which case, a stock market adjustment could occur even while business is good.

THIS CANNOT be ruled out in 1962 when, because of the international position of the dollar, the Kennedy administration must be financially conservative and, so, not foster easy money.

Summary: Business prospect clear and cheerful. Financial prospect: Less so.

Another Revere Teapot

BOSTON (AP) — Nobody knows what happened to Paul Revere's teapot—the one he was holding when artist John Singleton Copley painted his portrait.

But the Boston Museum of Fine Arts now has acquired a teapot closely resembling it made by the silversmith-patriot long ago. It was bequeathed to the museum by a Massachusetts woman whose family owned the teapot nearly two centuries.

Museum director Perry Rathbone said this teapot "is not the teapot in the portrait," because its cover ornamentation is slightly different, but "it is closer to it than has ever come to light to date." The museum possesses the largest existing collection of Revere silver.

Can Sex Of Child Be Controlled?

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: As a young lady of 21 who is about to become a bride, I am very interested in modern methods of birth control. I have read several books on the subject.

"One explained that the sex of the unborn child may be 'fixed' so to speak by the mother. If she will douche with soda before conception the child will be a boy. The soda is supposed to destroy the female cell but leave the male cell to be fertilized.

"If lactic acid is used instead, a girl will result.

"If these facts are true, does the author mean bicarbonate of soda? And what may be used for lactic acid?—Miss B. A."

First of all, birth control means, for all practical purposes, whether a baby will or will not be conceived. Or rather, how to prevent conception unless a baby is wanted.

It doesn't mean control of whether a child will be a boy or a girl.

Now it may be that somebody will one day discover how to control this factor. As of this moment, I am not at all convinced that anybody has done so.

Nor, so far as that is concerned, am I satisfied that it would be a good thing if we could do so. Right now, at least. For we have only to read the front pages to remind us that the world is in the throes of trying to discover how to control some of the forces that have been unlocked by science. It takes time!

I can't say what kind of "soda" is suggested, or what form of "lactic acid," because I don't know what theory may have been propounded in the book. Nor do I know of any real evidence that the theory is valid.

Neither have I any confidence that, as a practical matter, such a method might be practical or advisable. Even if it works (and of that I have yet to be convinced) how is one to be assured of using this method at precisely the right time? And if used regularly, would it be harmful or not? Such questions, I think, must certainly be settled first.

And finally, what have we to gain (or lose?) from any such control? Yes, the parents of nine boys may long for a girl; the parents of a passel of girls may hope for a boy.

But for most of us, I'm sure we can love one as much as the other. We're people—not Henry VIII, insisting on an heir to the throne!

And besides, Nature isn't such a bad guide. It arranges for us to have a few more boys than girls, because the "weaker sex" seems to be stronger, and girls survive with slightly better success than boys.

By the way, which do you want, anyway? Boy or girl?

* * *

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have had bronchiectasis for a long time. (1) Will large amounts of Vitamin A (25,000 or 50,000 units daily) help ward off respiratory infections? (2) Does milk cause formation of mucus, so I should avoid it?—R. L., Jr."

First, such doses of Vitamin A may (I can't say "will") increase resistance to infection of mucous membrances.

Second, no, milk will NOT cause any such trouble.

* * *

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have heard when your child has eye trouble, it is heredity on the father's side. Is this true? Also when the spleen is removed, does it mean shots, like liver extract, for life?—Mrs. A. H."

Happily, no to both questions.

* * *

What are ulcers? How should they be treated? What can you do to help rid yourself of ulcers and stay rid of them? For answers, read Dr. Molner's helpful booklet, "How to Heal Peptic Ulcers and Keep Them Healed." For your copy write to Dr. Molner in care of the Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

* * *

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Take The Bus

MONTPELIER, Ind. (AP) — This town was without taxi service for nearly four days while its only cab driver, Chester Brenner, sat out a $18.75 traffic fine in jail at $5 a day. Brenner explained he probably couldn't make that much working.

Around The Rim

To Those Who Help Build

For several years it has been the custom in this corner, on the last Sunday of the year, to pass around a few bouquets which too frequently don't get passed.

And I would not want this particular day, as old 1961 fades away, to be an exception.

IT IS TRITE enough, but not without truth. that there is more to a town than streets and water lines, stores and houses.

There is such a thing as spirit, in a community as well as in an individual, that marks it as something apart. There are some people here who help to give Big Spring its better spirit, and, as we all take year-end inventory, these are the people this column would recognize.

THEY ARE too numerous to be listed by name, although it would be a pleasure to do so. They are not those of us who plod through our eight hour work - day (minus coffee breaks) then go home to pick up the paper or turn on the TV and forget the rest of the world—and the community — until it is time to go to work again tomorrow.

THEY ARE the ones who are concerned, above and beyond what is necessary, about building a better city. One that the younger generation would take pride in and want to remain in, and to help further to improve. One that is appealing and interesting to newcomers and visitors. One that has friendliness and good cheer and, yes, compassion and gallantry.

Well, there are people who help to bring such goals into focus. There are always the people who serve in public office without pay, or virtually so: the city commissioners and the school and college trustees, and the water district directors. They strive for civic improvement, often with criticism and abuse rather than appreciation.

IN ADDITION TO these are the army of people who give their talents and their hours to the YMCA, Salvation Army and to the Red Cross activities, to the Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts. So many times, unsung. Not that they want recognition, but they ought to have it.

One of the brighter marks in Big Spring's record is the tremendous outpouring of volunteer help that goes to the VA and the State Hospitals. Surely credits will be written up some day for this type of work, from that done by lowly individuals to that by the largest organizations.

AND A WONDERFUL achievement was recorded during 1961 in the opening of a therapy center for crippled people—adults as well as children—and this has taken time and work, and dollars and devotion.

There has been work among the people in the northern section of the city, to bring them recreation and leisure activities that surely will be to their advantage. And among the modest families of the west side, too, where children are given guidance and direction by women who sacrifice their own pleasure for countless hours, just to help some one else.

THE PEOPLE who strive faithfully in their churches—the ones who exert an example as teachers and leaders—their labors are for the good of the community as they are to the glory of God.

And those who work for a cleaner city, and for one with higher cultural opportunities, for better entertainment, for progress in all endeavors that are not necessarily commercial.

THESE — ALL THESE — provide the pulse beat. They mean that the town has a heart. And what would you have without a heart?

If you know some one who has been among these public-spirited people—and certainly you do—why don't you make a little phone call at year-end and say a word of appreciation? This, too, is a part of the richness that builds a better town.

Equality For Russian Women

Izvestia, the official Soviet mouthpiece that specializes in mirror writing, has just been congratulating the U.S.S.R. for completely mastering "equality of women with men." As a corollary, of course, the newspaper has been commiserating with American women who are almost wholly denied job opportunities outside the home!

THAT COROLLARY comes as a smashing surprise to the 23,073,000 employed American women who were bringing home the bacon, plus an occasional slab of side meat, in the U.S.A. as of October, 1961 (statistics courtesy of the United States Labor Dept.). Members of my sex account at the moment for one-third of the U.S. labor force.

Still and all, I would not argue with Izvestia except on one issue. That evolves around George Orwell's primary law for the Communist state as expressed in his "Animal Farm" — to wit: "All animals are equal, only some are more equal than others."

THERE IS NO arguing that in Russia, women workers are more equal than others in a field in which they are starred by their government and Communist party overseers. Equal rights have bestowed upon Russian women the privilege of doing all the dirty work in the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

In the realm of hard, disagreeable and dirty jobs, the Russian female worker is far more equal than all others. Her super-equality gets the Russian woman a monopoly of such back-breaking jobs as ditch and canal digging, sweeping and hosing down the streets, building highways and railroads, bricklaying, heavy construction chores, spading up the parks and drudge jobs on the collective farms.

IT IS TRUE, as Izvestia boasts, that there are more graduate women engineers and doctors in Russia than in the United States. The Commie newspaper says that 36 per cent of Soviet engineers are women. There is no reason to doubt this figure or the statement that 79 per cent of all medical workers in Russia are women.

Medicine in Russia is almost a feminine monopoly. The Soviet hierarchy does not hesitate to explain that if a Russian man shows a gift for science, the state feels he is capable of far higher training for far more esoteric chores than treating measles and snatching tonsils.

"Maybe we have not mastered the rules of good manners," Izvestia sniffs. That I can put up with. What I cannot stand is that this Soviet paper has never yet mastered the basic elements of truth.

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy says he favors a balanced budget for next year. Does this make him a "right winger"?

There's a good deal of carelessness nowadays in characterizing persons with whose views one may disagree. Not so long ago the late Senator McCarthy was accused of making blanket indictments, but somehow today this type of attack is being duplicated in some of the expressions coming from the very people who often employed the term "McCarthyism" to describe it.

THUS, A FEW years ago, it was vigorously asserted that each individual should be judged on the merits of what he himself said or did and that there must be no "guilt by association." Unfortunately, today some of the writers of booklets who attack "right wing" doctrine tend to equate those who happen to be conservative on the matter of government spending with persons who, in their misguided way, make a fetish of attacking religious groups.

IT'S A FAR cry from conservatism as such to the views of those who fan the flames of religious bigotry. To see them all lumped together and called "right wingers," with an educational foundation financing the publication of such tommyrot—though disclaiming responsibility for the views expressed—is disheartening.

Indeed, many persons who profess to be true conservatives are bound to resent being put into the same category with those groups that happen to be exponents of some conservative issues and yet associate themselves with movements which are basically anti-Catholic or anti-Semitic. Similarly, people who are truly liberal resent being called "leftist" because it is a word often applied to Communists.

CONSERVATISM is said to be on the rise in America today, and it may well be that some of the persons who dislike to see this happen are seeking to discredit the movement by calling it all kinds of names. A letter which this correspondent received the other day from a reader said he finds it hard to determine what is meant by "left wing" or "right wing."

THE MISHANDLING of such classifications is not confined to this country. It appears in press-association dispatches from abroad in frequent references to "right wingers" and "left wingers." Fascism in the 1930's in Italy and Germany was called "rightist" and still is, whereas Communism is most frequently referred to today as "leftist." Yet there isn't any essential difference in the operation of the two ideologies—both are totalitarian and undemocratic.

If "right wing" were to be used to denote true conservatism without associating it with the reactionary doctrines of those who don't believe the federal government should ever intervene in the economic life of the country, then there would be something worthy in the term. Similarly, if "left wing" merely denoted true liberalism and progressivism, and didn't brand as illiberal, for instance, any vehement criticism of the courts, then "left wing" would be an honorable term, too.

BUT SOMEHOW, in recent years, even criticism of the Supreme Court has been condemned as almost traitorous and as hardly to be respected as coming under the right of free speech. The Supreme Court itself was denounced most severely by Thomas Jefferson as late as 1822, but if his own words were quoted anonymously today, they would be called "extremist right wing."

This writer supported many of the Eisenhower policies but criticized the sending of federal troops, instead of federal marshals, to Little Rock in 1957. Anyone, however, who held that view about the Arkansas episode was at the time called a "right winger." But no less a person than Attorney General Robert Kennedy was quoted only a few months ago as saying it was a mistake to send troops to Little Rock and that, instead, federal marshals should have been dispatched. Does this make him a "right winger," too?

PERHAPS THE ANSWER to the mix-up over the terms "right wing" and "left wing" is to eliminate the "wing" in both classifications hereafter — for there is nothing angelic about them. Indeed, perhaps there would be less confusion if the terms "right" and "left" were also dropped. The adjectives "right" or "wrong" could then be substituted in appraising current issues, leaving it to the majority to render the national verdict at the polls.

Choate Seeks Re-Election To Clerk's Post

Wade Choate announced Saturday that he will seek re-election to the office of district clerk of Howard County.

Choate announced his candidacy subject to the action of the Democratic primaries.

He has served as district clerk since Sept. 11, 1956. Choate is a graduate of Coahoma High School, of Draughons Business College, Howard County Junior College and of Southern Methodist University. He served two years in the Armed Forces and was honorably discharged after serving his 8-year obligation in the reserve.

Choate is married to the former Toni Barron, and they have one son, Kyle Wade Choate. They are members of the First Baptist Church.

Wade Choate has been active in civic affairs, and particularly in the YMCA. He is chairman of its youth activities committee, is a member of the board of directors, is the adult leader of the Senior Hi-Y Club, and secretary for the Y's Men's Club.

"If elected I promise to faithfully discharge the duties of the office in a prompt, courteous and efficient manner as I have endeavored in the past to do for each individual," Choate pledged.

Dawson Has Record Crop

Dawson County is putting the final touches to an all-time record high cotton harvest and when the last bale has been ginned there is a probability the total crop of 1961 will be close to 220,000 bales.

Last week, the total hit 204,487 with 4,487 bales processed during the period. In view of the fact that Texas Employment Commission office estimate at the outset of the picking season was 190,000 bales for the county, the total becomes quite impressive. It was estimated Friday afternoon that from 10,000 to 15,000 bales still remain in the fields.

TEC offices will halt their weekly ginning check with last week's report. The next report will be late in January and classified as the "finale." The magnificent weather which came to the area just ahead of the Christmas holiday was the boon the cotton farmers wanted and they have made the most of it since.

As a result, gins have been whirring around the clock in most of the cotton counties of West Texas.

In Howard County, the gins have already handled 37,120 bales. The crop estimate still stands at 50,000 bales and it is estimated that at least 75 per cent of the total cotton in the fields has been ginned. Strippers are moving at top speed and gins are handing scores of bales daily.

Martin County has 89 per cent of its 85,000 bale crop ginned. The total through Friday was 75,254.

Fisher, Nolan, Scurry and Mitchell counties, all which have been having bad luck weatherwise most of the picking season, were making up for lost time last week, the Sweetwater TEC report indicated.

Fisher had ginned 5,944 bales this past week to bring its total to 32,354. Nolan still lags badly with a total of 10,861 bales ginned of which 4,780 were handled this past week.

Scurry County ginned 6,355 bales to bring the county total to 29,545. Mitchell County has 28,083 bales ginned. This week's ginnings hit 4,683 bales.

Baylor To Hold Piano Competition

The third annual Rildia Bee O'Bryan Cliburn Piano Scholarship competition will be held at Baylor University April 7.

A $1,000 scholarship will be awarded to a Texas high school senior who will graduate at the end of the 1961-62 academic year and whose scholastic record qualifies him for entrance to Baylor in September.

Winner of the competition will receive the award and enroll at Baylor as a piano major.

Second and third place contestants will receive a year's free piano tuition for the 1962-63 school year. Cash value is $336 each.

Further information may be obtained from Dr. Herbert Colvin, Chairman, Piano Department, Baylor University School of Music, Waco, Texas.

One Year to Live!

The train was speeding at 70 miles an hour across northern Indiana. Two women passengers were engaged in animated conversation. The one had just finished recounting the terrible experiences of her husband in the South Pacific.

Finally she was heard to say: "The doctors give him only one more year to live; so he's working almost night and day on his invention."

One year to live! What would you do if you knew that this year was your last? No matter what other plans you make, none could be more important than getting right with God.

Getting right with God involves two things. The first is an honest acknowledgement of our unworthiness in His sight, a frank confession of our sins.

And the second is a firm reliance upon the atoning death of Jesus Christ—not only for the sins of the world in general but for our sins in particular.

Whether we have 1 year to live or 50, there still is nothing more important for us right now than getting right with God. Life knows no greater purpose.

CRITIQUE

By Glenn Cootes

A highlight on the cultural scene, if it materializes, will be the appearance here in 1962 of Ethel Waters, outstanding singer of spirituals, as well as folk songs and popular music.

Her agents are currently attempting to make the necessary arrangements to include Big Spring in a proposed tour during the year. Her reputation certainly doesn't hang on one song or one film, but it was certainly given a boost some years ago when she played in "Cabin in the Sky," one of the first all-Negro films.

We can hope the program materializes.

The Optimist Club will sponsor a three act play during the Spring. I think the producers are the same who brought "The Moon Is Blue" here in 1960.

At any rate, we can expect a brighter entertainment picture here in 1962 if all goes well.

* * *

A new board of directors will go to work Monday for the Big Spring Civic Theatre. They were elected early in December.

Arthur T. Clonts is president; Bob Lewis, vice president; Mrs. Don Hush, secretary; and at-large directors are Leo Hicks and Jim Marlin. Clonts, Hicks, and Marlin were elected to two year terms and Mrs. Hush and Lewis to one year terms. In future elections, all directors will serve two year terms.

The directors were elected under a new set of by-laws, the first change since the organization was founded in 1956. Also, the board falls heir to a planned program for 1962, the work of outgoing directors who urged that more formal programming be pushed.

All five outgoing directors declined nominations for office in the new year. Curiously, the new board is the first to serve that does not have at least one member of the original group of people who organized civic theatre in Big Spring.

Currently, the organization is producing "The Rainmaker," which will be given in the Big Spring High School auditorium the latter part of January. Four other plays, plus the Easter Pageant are scheduled for the year.

Clonts has been a member of BSCT about a year, joining to play the romantic lead in "The Warrior's Husband," probably the best produced play of the BSCT. He also had a part in "You Can't Take It With You," a fall production of the organization.

Lewis is new to the BSCT and "The Rainmaker" is his first effort.

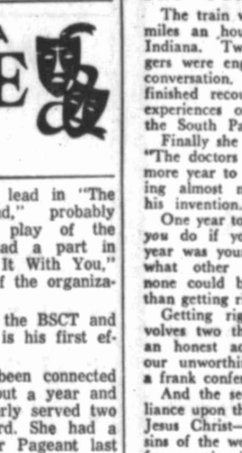
Mrs. Hush has been connected with the BSCT about a year and her husband formerly served two terms on the board. She had a part in the Easter Pageant last year.

Hicks is also new to the group, and he had a supporting role in "You Can't Take It With You."

Marlin has been a member over a year and directed the last two major productions, "You Can't Take It With You" and "The Warrior's Husband."

The new directors, for the most part, have ambitious plans and hope to follow a rigid schedule of production. All proceeds of the various productions will be used to complete work on the theatre building in city park.

Regular membership meetings of the group are held the first Thursday of each month in the Prairie Playhouse. Board meetings are scheduled the first Monday of each month. All interested persons are invited to attend these meetings.



We "sign in" with our warmest wishes for all of you: "May the New Year hold more happiness than you can imagine, and more joy. You, each of you, by your patronage through the years, have made us very, very happy . . . so again—many thanks."

Errand Or Errant?

It's a tossup when Jerry Lewis, the booby paperhanger, is conned into a spying job in a film studio. He is chosen because he's so stupid he doesn't realize he's spying, and before long the plot of "The Errand Boy" collapses in a tangle of comic madness.

'Errand Boy' Heads Gay Movie Week

The gay nature of the New Year season is reflected in this week's selection of films. One of the two top comedies being shown is Jerry Lewis' latest, "The Errand Boy," Monday through Saturday.

Utilizing his own seemingly endless supply of energy and talent, Lewis once again not only stars in but also directs his new Paramount comedy, a hilarious spoof of the mad, unpredictable world of Hollywood.

In unfolding his fun-filled spoof of movietown's traditions and its people, the king of Hollywood jesters explores every nook of a major studio, creating organized confusion on a scale which has to be seen to be believed.

"The Errand Boy" follows a moviemaking pattern which already has borne spectacular dividends for Lewis. He has long been a firm believer in making pictures for "fun and entertainment only" (to quote him) and maintains he'll never make one that doesn't contain liberal portions of laughs and happiness. And his previous successes obviously prove that the public agrees with his policy.

The story locale of "The Errand Boy" is a major Hollywood studio with an impressive record of film successes. The studio chief is convinced much of the profits are being squandered by the employes. Instead of hiring an efficiency expert he is persuaded by his sister to hire someone "who is so stupid he won't understand he is hired to spy"—and Lewis, portraying a well-meaning, idiot paper-hanger, gets the job. Naturally, before he finishes his assignment the studio is in total chaos.

For the cast of "The Errand Boy" Lewis has assembled a talented group of performers to support him in the title role. Longtime Hollywood tough guy Brian Donlevy returns to comedy after more than a decade to co-star as the belligerent movie chief.

Versatile Dick Wesson essays the role of the frustrated assistant director who constantly runs afoul of Lewis' zany antics. Veteran character actor Howard McNear portrays an executive assistant whose working life is made miserable by Lewis, and Felicia Atkins plays a glamorous movie star with whom Lewis becomes accidentally involved at a premiere.

Others in the cast include Pat Dahl, Fritz Feld, Isobel Elsom, Kathleen Freeman, Paul and Mary Ritts, Iris Adrian, Doodles Weaver, Renee Taylor and guest stars from the popular TV show "Bonanza," Dan Blocker, Lorne Greene, Michael Landon and Pernell Roberts.

AUDIE MURPHY

ROCK HUDSON

True Stories

Biographical insights into the lives of two famous Texans will be featured in a Jet twin-bill beginning Thursday. Audie Murphy, most-decorated soldier of World War II, stars as himself in his own war story, "To Hell and Back." Rock Hudson portrays Wes Hardin, credited by historians as the Old West's fastest gun, in "The Lawless Breed."

Still In A Chariot

Stephen Boyd, last seen as master charioteer Massala in "Ben-Hur," is still wheeling and dealing. But this time, he shares a beer truck with Juliette Greco in a trek across Africa. The whole thing is Irish, which makes it more understandable.

'Hail, Caesar

. . . we who are about to die salute you!" At least, that's how the gladiators of old said it, but Jack Webb and Robert Mitchum, as a pair of misplaced modern warriors, salute the audience instead, and if anybody dies it's from laughing, in the new comedy, "The Last Time I Saw Archie." The film begins today at the Jet Theatre.

'Last Time I Saw Archie' Story Of Top Goldbricks

Determined to have the greatest laugh comedy of the year, United Artists has backed Robert Mitchum, Jack Webb, Martha Hyer and France Nuyen with some of the best comedians in television and motion pictures, in "The Last Time I Saw Archie," which opens today at the Jet Theatre.

The comics all don uniforms to kid the military in a story based on a misfitted outfit of World War II's U. S. Army Air Corps. Known as the Civilian Pilot Training Personnel, they were an untapped pool of over-aged, overweight, eager patriots who were civilian pilots. Instead of flying planes, they ended up grounded doing K. P. and other work details as buck privates until a small group found an "out" that made them the biggest "goldbricks" of the war.

Louis Nye and Don Knotts gained fame through their regular appearances on the Steve Allen Show on television and later through other TV shows and films. Nye recently scored a hit in United Artists' "Facts of Life" with Bob Hope and Lucille Ball, and Knotts, the nervous psychology testing corporal of "No Time for Sergeants," is the deputy marshal on the "Andy Griffith Show."

Harvey Lembeck and Robert Strauss began their rise to film fame in "Stalag 17" and each has since risen to even greater prominence as comedians. Strauss has had top billing in leading movies and stage productions. Lembeck has become familiar to TV viewers as Sergeant Bilko's buddy Corporal Rocco Barbella, in Phil Silvers' "You'll Never Get Rich" series.

James Lydon, a veteran of over 100 movies and 500 "live" TV dramatic appearances at only 37 years of age, has been successfully doing comedy since his childhood days as "Henry Aldrich" of the movies and TV and with roles in such comedies as "The Time of Your Life" and "Life With Father."

Del Moore and Joe Flynn are two more who have received their baptism of fire as comedians on TV. Del, through his association with Herry Lewis, and Joe, through his association with George Gobel. However, both have also had numerous credits for serious roles in major TV and feature films. They play G.I. buddies in their present roles and some of their K.P. antics and even love scenes with a couple of beautiful girls, highlight the picture's comedy.

Stars In Vegas

Entertainment competition in the Las Vegas, Nev., received a boost when Harry Belafonte and the Dukes of Dixieland signed for a holiday engagement at the Riviera. The stars will remain at the luxury spa through the middle of January.

'Big Gamble' Is African Blarney Film

Human drama with comedy highlights Darryl F. Zanuck's "The Big Gamble," 20th Century-Fox CinemaScope DeLuxe Color release, starring Juliette Greco, Stephen Boyd and David Wayne, opening Thursday at the State Theatre.

Based on a story by Irwin Shaw, "The Big Gamble" is all about an Irish seaman, Vic Brennan (Boyd) who marries a French barmaid (Miss Greco) and brings her home to his suspicious family in Dublin. The young couple wants to buy a truck and ship away to the Ivory Coast of Africa where trucking can earn them a fortune. With the assistance of an aunt (Sybil Thorndike) they persuade his reluctant relatives to lend them the necessary cash on condition that a bank-clerk cousin accompany them to protect the family interest.

Their adventures with a truckload of beer on their first long haul from the sea into the heart of Africa provides the humor and excitement for the major portion of the story.

The public will discover a new Greco in this picture in a contrast between her tragic "femme fatale" part in past pictures and the role of the high-spirited young Corsican bride of this film.

Boyd is perhaps best known for his performance in "Ben-Hur" in which he acquitted himself so magnificently.

Mormon Choir On TV Today

"Let Freedom Ring," on the CBS television network this afternoon, will feature the world-famous Mormon Tabernacle Choir in its first appearance on television.

Sponsored by American Motors Corp., the program is designed for the post-Christmas season. The story traces by words and music the moral and spiritual growth of our country from pre-Revolutionary days to the present.

Purpose of the program is to help re-awaken the American people to the feeling that, if they were to apply to present problems the same strength with which they have met challenges in the past, there would be nothing to fear.

Among the highlights of "Let Freedom Ring" will be remembrances of the Revolutionary War, with Dan O'Herlihy in excerpts from Patrick Henry, Thomas Jefferson and Thomas Paine—the Civil War, with Laraine Day presenting Lincoln's letter to Mrs. Bixby, Howard Keel singing "Aura Lee," Richard Boone in an excerpt from his Broadway production of "Lincoln," and the choir in a medley of Civil War songs and a stirring rendition of "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Other highlights include Keel and the choir in "Great Lone Hills" (Finlandia), Miss Day and the choir in "New Colossus," and the choir in hymns familiar to people of all faiths.

Stamps In The News

The 4-cent New Mexico Statehood commemorative stamp scheduled for issuance on Jan. 6 depicts a view of a mesa known as "Shiprock" located in northwestern New Mexico. The first day site is Santa Fe.

The design which underwent several revisions was based on an illustration from a magazine and furnished by the Central Library of the Department of the Interior. The designer of the stamp was Robert J. Jones. The colors are blue and brown.

Collectors desiring first day cancellations of the 4-cent New Mexico Statehood commemorative may send their addressed envelopes, together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, to the Postmaster, Santa Fe, N.M. The outside envelope to the Postmaster should be clearly marked "First Day Covers New Mexico Statehood Stamp."

First day cover requests must be postmarked not later than Jan. 1, 1962.

To mark the historic event of becoming an independent nation, Tanganyika issued a set of 12 new postage stamps. All the adhesives bear a burning torch motif inspired by a speech given by Julius Nyerere, Tanganyika's first prime minister. The designs also include the word "Uhuru" (Freedom), the date and the name "Tanganyika."

The designs feature the following: a school, district nursing service, coffee picking, maize picking, Tanganyika flag, Serengeti Lions, maternity and child welfare, Mount Kilimanjaro and torch, Dar-es-Salaam Harbor, agricultural development, diamond mine and Rose Pink Diamond.

West Germany has issued a new commemorative stamp honoring Wilhelm Emanuel Freiherr von Ketteler, famous pioneer in the field of social reform, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency. The 10 pfennig stamp commemorated the 150th anniversary of his birth and the design features his portrait. Von Ketteler was born on Dec. 25, 1811 and died on July 13, 1877. As Bishop of Mainz he is remembered for his work in social development.

Webb AFB Units Displayed Many Christmas Themes

Although officials made no provisions this year for the traditional contest, many of the Webb-based units put up Christmas decorations.

The base hospital unit and the base chapel had identical themes. Both featured the familiar nativity scene. The chapel figures were in wax; the hospital figures were cut from plywood and painted by airmen. The woodwork was done in the base hobby shop by Airmen Norman Hoffman, and William McGimpsey.

Outstanding among the decorations was made by the Civil Engineers. Members of the committee were T. Sgt. Dan Long; S. Sgts. Alvin E. Gluege, Edwin S. byrd, Roy Dunbar, Jennings Lucas, and Bell Parsons.

Another decoration which attracted attention was Santa and his reindeer zooming up the side of the M and S Barracks. On one side of the building was a sign "Season's Greetings", and on either side huge candles blazed. A brick chimney with a large cedar wreath above it, completed the display. The three who did the work were Airmen Robert E. Perrin, Kenneth Dalton, and Jose Vasquez.

The 331st FIS displayed a gaily lighted tree and Merry Christmas sign to greet visitors to that area. S.Sgts. Ray Sims and Ed Fraites, were the architects.

DEAR ABBY

Just Keep After Him

DEAR ABBY: My husband has worked for the government for almost four years and I have never set foot in his office. I have never even met his boss or seen any of the people he works with. He says that wives just don't go to their husbands' offices. I know lots of women who go to their husbands' offices all the time. I wouldn't make a pest of myself. I just want to see where he works and meet some of the people he works with. Why should a man's office life and home life be distinct and separate?

SMALL COMPLAINT

DEAR SMALL: Some wives DO visit their husbands' offices too frequently, but knowing how eager you are to see it, he should invite you to drop in for a few minutes. Don't nag him. Just mention it every time he's in a good mood.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My brother - in-law (he is married to my sister) has a young brother that I like a lot. But he won't date me because he thinks we are "related." In fact he calls me his "cousin." (I am 18 and he is 20.) My parents and everyone else tells me that we are NOT related in a way that would keep him from dating me, or even marrying me if he wanted to. Can you tell me if my parents are right? If they are, how can I convince him of it?

LIKES SOMEONE

DEAR LIKES: Your parents are right. If you have to convince him of a fact that is so obvious, forget him.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me how to refuse, without being rude, an invitation to be best man at a wedding. The circumstances are as follows: The man works in the same office with me. We are friendly, but far from close. I have never met any of his relatives personally, but I know that he has three brothers he could have asked. The girl he is marrying also has two grown brothers. Putting it bluntly, I would feel entirely out of place being the best man at this wedding and I wish he had never asked me. Thank you.

FEELING TRAPPED

DEAR FEELING: Your friend obviously feels "closer" to you than you feel to him, but if you would feel "out of place," simply thank him for the honor and decline.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO "OVER 21": Your husband is next to being the biggest fool in the world. But if you let him get away with it—you're the biggest.

Can't Win Dept.

PAWNEE ROCK, Kan. (AP)—Bill Levingston found a woman's purse containing a $92 check, $4 in cash, keys and a Great Bend, Kan., address.

He drove the 13 miles to Great Bend twice before he learned the woman had moved to Arkansas City, Kan.

Levingston mailed the purse, but got no acknowledgement. So he finally wrote and asked if she received it.

She wrote back, thanking him profusely, and enclosed a $4 check.

The check bounced.

Construction In Texas Drops

DALLAS (AP) — Texas Contractor, a trade publication, in a year-end review said Texas construction dropped under $1 billion during 1961 for the first time since 1955.

The publication listed the total as $988,848,239.

The magazine said the Texas construction industry still was better off in work volume than in most other sections of the United States. Optimism prevails for 1962.

Pension Reporting Time For Disabled Veterans

It's pension reporting time for 7,000 disabled veterans and the dependents of some 4,000 deceased veterans in West Texas.

Robert W. Sisson, manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Lubbock, explained why it's also a time of complications and individual problems, most of them unnecessary.

Along with their December checks, due Jan. 1, all VA pension recipients will receive enclosed tabulating cards. They carry the words "please do not mutilate" although several hundred will come back in unusable condition.

On these cards beneficiaries must report all outside income received during 1961 and expected in 1962. Outside income means everything, including Social Security payments, except of course the VA pension payments themselves.

VA needs the reports to determine continued eligibility of pensioners and to make adjustment on the basis of increased or decreased outside income. One pension law cuts off payments when income of an individual, if single, exceeds $1,400 a year; or $2,700 if he has dependents. Another law (1960) sets limits of $1,800 and $3,000 but provides for adjustments on the basis of income up to these maximums.

But the really big headache isn't in making the adjustments. It's in getting those cards back from the beneficiaries.

Sometime in February, the Lubbock regional office will, as usual, have to suspend payments to more than 300 beneficiaries whose reports have not been received.

Legion Party Planned Tonight

Howard County Post 355 of the American Legion will observe the coming of the New Year with a traditional black-eyed pea party at the Legion Home Sunday night, according to R. O. Carrothers, vice-commander in charge of entertainment.

Ham, peas and cornbread will be prepared by the Legion Auxiliary. The party will be an informal, come-and-go affair.

It will begin about 9 p.m. Hats, whistles and confetti to greet the new year with a resounding note will be furnished by the Legion, Carrothers said.
