RIOT FOLLOWS MACSWINEY DEATH

Holding Conference on a New Scale of Wages For Miners of England

ROOSEVELT CHARGES A CRIMINAL LIBEL AND SUIT IS FILED

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Charging he had been criminally libeled by the publication of an open letter written by John R. Rathom of the Providence (R. I.) Journal, Franklin D. Roosevelt today requested United States District Attorney Caffrey of New York to institute prosecution of all concerned.

Roosevelt alleged copies of the letter, which was addressed to him by Rathom and which accused the democratic candidate for vice-president of "destroying or sequestrating" records when he was assistant secretary of the navy, were calculated by the publicity department of the republican national committee.

In a statement categorically denying Rathom's accusations, Roosevelt said he was also instructing his attorneys to bring civil suit against Rathom, and all persons and newspapers connected with the publication or dissemination of the libel."

The papers referred to by Rotham as having been destroyed or sequestered were in connection with a discharge from the navy.

BOMB IS EXPLODED IN HOME OF CLAIM AGENT AT SEATTLE

SEATTLE, WASH., Oct. 25.—Explosion of a bomb, thrown through the front window of a house occupied by P. B. Shong, general claim agent here for the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, wrecked the lower floor of the two-story residence early today. Four persons in the house escaped injury.

Shong was unable to assign any reason for the attack.

Street Language Is Forbidden by Judge of New York Court

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—"Language of the street" will be forbidden in supreme court here today during the trial of L. E. Ferguson and C. E. Ruthenburg, charged with urging overthrow of the government.

"Was there any scabbing during the Winnipeg strike?" Ferguson, as his own lawyer, asked C. R. Lovett of Winnipeg. Justice Weeks interrupted.

"If you are going to speak the language of the street, you will have to interpret it," the judge said. "This court does not approve vulgar language."

GEORGIA DEMOCRATS OPPOSE THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

MACON, GA., Oct. 25.—"Unalterable opposition" to the League of Nations is expressed in the platform adopted today by the Georgia state democratic convention and the state's senators are instructed to vote against the covenant. The platform, however, endorsed Governor Cox and Franklin D. Roosevelt for president and vice-president.

POSTPONE HEARING ON THE ADVALOREM TAX PROTEST

OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLA., Oct. 25.—Because of the inability of a majority of the members of the state equalization board to attend, the hearing on Momam Pruitt's protest to the state advalorem tax levy of 11 mills for state purposes, scheduled for today was indefinitely postponed.

FOUR OF CANADIAN PROVINCES VOTING ON LIQUOR ISSUE

MONTREAL, Oct. 25.—Voters of four Canadian provinces balloted today on the question of permitting importations of liquor. In the western provinces—Saskatchewan, Alberta and Manitoba—it was claimed by the "wets" that British Columbia's recent election deciding for sale of liquor under government control will have a decided influence in their favor. Nova Scotia probably will vote "dry."

Election In Manitoba.

WINNIPEG, MAN., Oct. 25.—Manitoba was to decide today whether it wanted "bone dry" prohibition or continuation of modified prohibition.

Liquor now is allowed to be imported into the province. Voters today were to decide on a referendum, which if carried, would end the importation system.

TO SUPPRESS RIOTS ATTENDING STRIKE

BUCHAREST, Oct. 25.—The government has ordered the military forces to suppress any rioting attending the general railway strike now in progress by the use of all means, including bombs and gas shells. The railways have been taken over by the army.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Premier Lloyd George and members of the government this morning conferred with government experts concerning a new set of figures for wages of the coal miners and production in the coal industry. Later the government leaders and representatives of the miners met and continued the negotiations begun Saturday for a settlement of the miners' strike.

CONSERVATIONS RENEWED AT HOME OF LLOYD-GEORGE

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Conservations renewed at No. 10 Downing street, today between Premier Lloyd-George and executives of the miners' federation, were confidently expected to lead to a settlement of the miners' strike, which last week threatened to involve Great Britain in an industrial crisis.

Prominent executives of the federation and government officials are quoted by newspapers here as being optimistic of the situation.

It is believed an arrangement will be reached by which each side can at least claim it has not yielded its main contention.

The newspapers continue hopeful, for the most part, and express relief, as the national union of railwaymen decided to defer calling a strike. Such action it is understood, will not be taken before Wednesday. The labor conference called by the parliamentary committee of the trades union congress will meet Wednesday and there are indications that a railway strike, even if eventually called, may be rather half-hearted. Many messages from local branches are said to have been received at union headquarters expressing hostility to the idea of a strike.

It is said that until a ballot of the workers has been taken the attitude of J. H. Thomas, secretary of the national union of railwaymen, will certainly influence a large number of the members. In a speech yesterday, Mr. Thomas, while expressing sympathy for the miners, warned his audience of the dangers of a strike, which he said he realized "might lead to the downfall of all of us." He declared he was firm in his determination not to lead such a strike.

EVERY INDICATION THAT STRIKE WILL BE SETTLED

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Great Britain shook off the strike night-mare today.

Every indication was that the British coal miners and the government will reach an agreement soon that will give miners an increase in wages and insure a great output of coal in return.

At Premier Lloyd-George's home in Downing street representatives of the miners and the government continued today to discuss the situation.

William Brace, a member of parliament and a representative of the miners, emerged from Lloyd-George's home in a gleeful mood.

"We've done a little anyhow," he said. "I may say the situation is no worse."

That was as far as any miner or government representative would commit himself.

Announcement that the railway strike, ordered for Sunday night but countermanded later was called off at the instance of the miners, led the London press to congratulate both parties.

It appeared there would be no resumption of mining this week, but hope for speedy settlement was seen everywhere.

Meantime with railroads functioning and other industries operating as well as possible under shortage of coal, the country had been relieved of great anxiety.

SEEK TO PREVENT THE SUDDEN FLUCTUATIONS IN PRICE OF MEAT ANIMALS

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Livestock exchange members of the United States at a conference here today appointed a committee to investigate and recommend means to prevent sudden fluctuations in the price of meat animals. Everett C. Brown, president of the national livestock exchange presided. Announcing the action taken, Mr. Brown said:

"Sudden fluctuations in the price of livestock have been a disturbing economic factor to producers, shippers, commission men and meat packers. A remedy for such fluctuations will benefit the whole meat and livestock industry and the consuming public as well."

Cities represented at the meeting included Montgomery, Nashville, New Orleans, Oklahoma City, St. Joseph, St. Louis and Wichita.

REPUBLICANS PLAN FIGHT TO CAPTURE OHIO

PROMINENT SPEAKERS TO INVADE THE STATE DURING WEEK.

HARDING OPENS DRIVE IN CLEVELAND WEDNESDAY

Will Probably Do Considerable Work To Aid Republican Nominee For Governor.

By RAYMOND CLAPPER
United Press Staff Correspondent.

MARION, OHIO, Oct. 25.—The final week of the 1920 presidential campaign opens today with the opposing lines drawn for a finish fight in Ohio. Senator Warren G. Harding makes a final whirlwind tour of the state this week, winding up at Columbus Saturday night. Governor Cox will be back in the state also to lead his forces against the Harding drive.

Backing Harding in this last battle of the campaign in Ohio will be an array of nationally prominent republican speakers who will cover every locality of importance in the state. They include Senator Hiram Johnson, California; Senator McCormick, Illinois; Governor Lowden, Illinois; Senator Townsend, Michigan; Governor Harding, Iowa; Ex-Senator Burton, Ohio; Congressman Fess, Ohio; Raymond Robins, Chicago; Frank B. Willis, Ohio republican senatorial candidate, and Harry L. Davis, republican candidate for governor of Ohio. Numerous women speakers have also been scheduled.

Opens Drive Wednesday.

Harding opens his Ohio drive Wednesday in Cleveland, the home of Harry L. Daxis, republican gubernatorial candidate. The presidential nominee probably will do considerable work in behalf of Davis this week. Confident predictions that Harding and Frank B. Willis, senatorial candidate, will carry the state are made by Harding headquarters here.

In a statement opening the final week's campaign, Senator Harding today accused the democrats of evading the paramount issues, and again outlined his own stand on major questions. He called on democrats to answer the following charges which he said they had declined to reply to thus far in the campaign:

Attack on Democrats.

The democratic mismanagement that brought us to the brink of an industrial crisis in 1914 and is now leading us toward another precipice.

That unpreparedness for war persisted in for political expediency cost us untold billions of dollars and many precious lives.

That the democratic administration was equally unprepared for peace and reconstruction.

That it created a fearful financial burden which this and the future generation will have to pay through its experiments with the railways, its industrial policy and the retention of hundreds of thousands of unnecessary government employes.

That the democratic administration has been one of grotesque inefficiency.

Charges Centralization.

That it has perverted the form of government and overridden the constitution by maintaining extreme and undemocratic centralization of power.

Footing up these indictments, Harding said he purposed to lead the American people out of this "jungle of mismanagement into the light of stable good fortune."

He enumerated briefly the policies he has espoused during the campaign as follows:

Restoration of constitutional government and representative democracy.

More business in government and less government in business.

Reorganize Departments.

Re-organization of the administrative departments to remove the drain from the tax payers.

Conservation of human resources and development of natural resources including reclamation and irrigation developments.

Protection of motherhood and childhood and alleviation of suffering at home.

Wholesome expansion of foreign trade.

Expansion of industries and upbuilding and safeguarding of agriculture and the merchant marine.

Taking up the League of Nations, he declared his attitude as "wholly against" entering it as written but endeavoring to harmonize American opinion in favor of a wise, generous and humane foreign policy.

ABILENE, TEXAS, Oct. 25.—B. J. Cochrain, central figure in the empty grave mystery in Stonewall county, passed through here this morning in custody of Sheriff Bingham of Aspermont. DARTMOUTH STUDENT'S MURDER BAFFLING POLICE

Elmer C. Drewes, Dartmouth College senior, whose murder in Philadelphia, has apparently baffled the police. Drewes was found in a lonely lot on the outskirts of the city with a bullet in his head. A woman is suspected of being implicated. About $800 was found in the young man's pockets, thus removing the possibility of robbery as a motive.

D'ANNUNZIO DENIES HE PLANS TO BECOME MILITARY DIRECTOR

FIUME, Oct. 25.—Gabriele D'Annunzio's cabinet issued a sweeping denial today of reports that he has plotted to become military director of Italy.

Reports head reached Rome that during the victory celebration in Rome, November 4, soldiers would raise a cry for a dictatorship. In answer to the cry, D'Annunzio was to drop down from the clouds in his airplane, appearing as the angel of the revolt.

SETTLEMENT JAPAN PROTEST MUST WAIT VOTE IN CALIFORNIA

By A. L. BRADFORD
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Settlement of Japan's protest against the proposed California law prohibiting land holding by Japanese probably will await decision of California voters who are to pass on the measure November 2.

The parley with JaJpanese diplomats has proceeded far enough to define the issue between the two countries, this government having demanded all Japanese labor immigration be stopped and Japan having asked that all American laws considered discriminatory to her people be wiped out.

GOVERNOR COX HOLDS SEVERAL TRUMP CARDS

CAMPAIGN WINDUP EXPECTED TO CONTAIN SOME SURPRISES, IS REPORT.

NINE SPEECHES SCHEDULED TODAY IN WEST VIRGINIA

League Of Nations Will Continue As Chief Appeal To The Voters Of Country.

By HERBERT W. WALKER
United Press Staff Correspondent.

EN ROUTE WITH GOVERNOR Cox, Beckley, W. Va., Oct. 25.—Ten thousand people crowded into this little mountain town today to give Governor James M. Cox one of the noisiest receptions of his travels. A demonstration lasting nearly five minutes greeted Cox's appearance on the platform, cheer and cheer interrupting his speech. Pronounced hisses came from the crowd when Cox mentioned the names of Senator Harding, Lodge and Penrose as signers of the round robin against the peace treaty.

With miners in his crowd a big cheer arose when the governor said the coal workers will have none of the normalcy which Senator Harding advocates.

EN ROUTE WITH GOVERNOR COX, Oct. 25.—West Virginia today was visited by Governor Cox in opening the last week of his presidential campaign. Nine addresses in this so-called "doubtful state" were on the democratic candidate's program today beginning with an early morning speech at Hinton and including an afternoon address at Charleston and a night meeting at Huntington.

That several trump cards were ready for the campaign's windup was promised by the democratic management. The League of Nations' issue, however, it was said, would continue to be the chief appeal to voters by Governor Cox and other democratic speakers.

CHARGES SATURDAY EVENING POST SPREADING PROPAGANDA

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—After a 48-hour visit which his campaign managers declared had "won New York" Governor Cox left here Sunday evening for the last week of his campaign speech making.

Before entraining for West Virginia and thence to Indiana, Kentucky and Ohio, the democratic candidate expressed "entire confidence" in the outcome of the campaign.

Throughout the day, Governor Cox received the latest reports on the election outlook from his lieutenants in the field.

In the course of the afternoon, Mrs. Cox announced she had given up her plan to accompany her husband on the southern tour, returning to Dayton to await the outcome.

Just before leaving the hotel for the Pennsylvania terminal, where the special train waited, Governor Cox issued the following statement:

Warns Against Propaganda.

"Propaganda is not effective when it is labeled, but in the guise of facts it strangles the truth and moulds the minds into which it is introduced as facts.

"I am just now in possession of a specimen of propaganda of this very sort. It is an advance copy of the Saturday Evening Post, known to a great public as a disinterested journal. In all its history its stated purpose has been to present the facts and atmosphere of political situation and to refrain from controversial positions.

"But the number of this magazine, which is to be distributed next Thursday, the last number before election, suddenly throws off the cloak of nonpartisanship. For the first time in its history it resorts to the devices of partisan editorial and insidious cartoons to create a sentiment for the republican ticket.

Cartoon Ridicules Cox.

"In the cartoons I am represented as a newsboy, inventing false and sensational happenings for the purpose of selling my wares. My opponent is depicted as kindly and wise. The impression is sought to be created that I am irresponsible; Senator Harding grave and reliable.

"Why has the Saturday Evening Post done this? Why has it betrayed its mission at the last minute of the eleventh hour of this campaign? The people know the answer. It has done this thing because its owner is one of the plutocratic group which knows what it wants at the next administration and how to get it from Senator Harding. It has done this because its owner is the head of the movement which has sought a subsidy from the government for the delivery of national magazines.

Becomes Partisan Journal.

"The Saturday Evening Post has imposed on the confidence of the American people, won by a long record of non-partisanship, and has become a republican journal because the profiteers, who escaped government taxes by diverting to it millions of their revenue in advertising, want my opponent elected.

"Those subscribers, who in good faith, have admitted this journal to their homes all over the United States will turn its venal counsels out of doors."

Most of the remaining four days of the campaign will be spent in Ohio. Next Saturday night the candidate will speak in Chicago and close his campaign on the evening before election at Toledo.

WILLIAM PURDON BRYNES SURRENDERS TO THE POLICE

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25.—William Purdon Brines, the University of Pennsylvania student charged with the killing of Elmer C. Drewes, the Dartmouth College senior, surrendered to the police this afternoon and after a two-minute hearing before a police magistrate was committed to the county prison without bail.

LORD MAYOR SUCCUMBS TO A HUNGER STRIKE FOR 73 DAYS IN PROTESTING IMPRISONMENT

BELFAST, IRELAND, Oct. 25.—A display of Sinn Fein flags in honor of the late lord mayor of Cork, Terence MacSwiney, resulted in rioting today in the Ballymacarrett suburb of Belfast in which one man was shot and killed.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—Terence MacSwiney, lord mayor of Cork, died at Brixton prison, this city, at 5:40 o'clock this morning. His death followed a hunger strike of more than 73 days, eclipsing any in the annals of the medical world.

MacSwiney, who had been unconscious for several days, did not recover his faculties before he died. Father Dominic, his private chaplain, and his brother, John MacSwiney, were with him when the end came. Father Dominic was at the prison all night and did not leave until several hours after MacSwiney breathed his last.

John MacSwiney and the chaplain, who had been visiting downstairs in the prison were told by prison officials at 4:35 o'clock that they should go to the mayor's bedside, as they thought death was approaching. The brother asked for the privilege of communicating with other relatives who were not present, but the officials, it is said, refused him the use of a telephone.

After the prisoner's death, his brother and the chaplain were not permitted to leave Brixton prison until 6:15 o'clock. John MacSwiney immediately conveyed word to the widow of the lord mayor, who was staying at a West End hotel with Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien, the former being the London executive of the Irish Self-Determination League.

Mrs. MacSwiney, accompanied by her parents and the Misses Annie and Mary MacSwiney, sisters of the lord mayor, arrived at Brixton prison at 9:30 o'clock.

It is understood arrangements are being made to take the body to Ireland for burial.

News Is Withheld.

News of MacSwiney's death had not become known in the district around Brixton prison until after 9 o'clock. The usual large contingent of police was on duty inside the prison grounds to prevent any demonstration, but inside and along the road leading to the main highway there were no unusual signs of activity. No civilians were waiting there, as they usually did in the early days of the lord mayor's hunger strike.

It is probable the inquest will be held at the prison today after which the body will be turned over to relatives.

MacSwiney was unconscious for 36 hours before his death occurred, it is stated. Father Dominic, therefore, was unable to give him the last sacrament, but he administered extreme unction.

The cause of MacSwineys' death was heart failure, according to a statement issued at the home office.

Answer to Criticism.

This statement is considered an indirect answer to the criticisms of Dr. Josiah Oldfield, the physician and publicist, who had declared it was wrong for the lord mayor's doctors to administer meat juice and brandy. He said brandy was poison and that a man at the point of death was very susceptible to poison. Dr. Oldfield added that when a man fasted a long time the first food he could endure was fruit juice.

When one of the officials was asked today regarding Mrs. MacSwiney's absence from the bedside when death occurred, he replied by saying the restrictions which were recently imposed upon the visits of relatives were urged by the attending physicians as vital to the prisoner's own interests.

The death of Lord Mayor MacSwiney was the first of an Irish hunger striker to occur in England. Just a week ago, on the occasion of the death of Michael Fitzgerald, one of the eleven hunger strikers in the Cork jail, the lord mayor telegraphed:

"We do not know who is to be the second to step in the part of immortality, but offering unreserved sacrifice we are safeguarding the destinies of Ireland."

It became evident several days ago that MacSwiney was nearing the end. Up to that time he had steadfastly refused nourishment, although tempting dishes were brought to his bedside daily by the authorities. Both the authorities and the lord mayor's relatives emphatically stated they had not administered food to the prisoner, notwithstanding rumors to the contrary.

At last, after the mayor, who had reached the stage of extreme emaciation, had become periodically delirious, the officials began to give him liquid nourishment. This came too late, however, as the mayor has been all but dead for many days.

Characterized Family's Attitude.

A friend of the MacSwiney family, who accompanied Mrs. MacSwiney when she visited Brixton prison this morning, said the lord mayor's telegram of October 18 to the Cork hunger strikers with reference to the death of the hunger striker, Michael Fitzgerald, in Cork jail, in which he referred to Fitzgerald as having died for his country and joined the immortals, characterized the family's attitude.

"Mrs. MacSwiney and the lord mayor's sisters, Annie and Mary, who were not present when the end came, entered the cell, kissed the mayor's cheek, knelt silently in prayer a few moments and then left," the friend said. "There was not a tear shed by the mayoress, who preserved the same stoical self-possession she has shown throughout the long ordeal."

Prominent Sinn Feiner.

Terence MacSwiney was 48 years old and was one of the most prominent Sinn Feiners. He started life as a draper's assistant, but became a poet, author and a playwright before taking up politics seriously. Later he became violently anti-English.

While in Wakefield jail, Yorkshire, in 1916, he met Muriel Murphy, daughter of a wealthy Cork distiller, who visited the jail, and shortly after they were married, despite much opposition.

MacSwiney was elected as a Sinn Fein member from Cork of the British parliament in 1918, but never took his seat. He was present at the first session of the Irish parliament in 1919, when the establishment of the republic was confirmed, and was elected lord mayor of Cork in 1920.

For various political offenses, he had been in jail with brief intervals of liberty, since January, 1916, and in October, 1917, secured his release from jail by hunger striking.

Keep People Moving.

As soon as the news of the lord mayor's death began to spread through the city, small knots of people began moving toward Brixton prison. The police, however, did not allow any one to move into the street leading to the prison entrance, keeping the people moving so that a crowd would not form. Fears had previously been expressed that the lord mayor's death might cause a demonstration at the prison.

The MacSwiney family arranged during the morning for the removal of the body from the prison to St. George's cathedral in London as soon as the inquest was ended. The body will lie in state there until it is taken to Dublin, where it is planned to place it for a day or two in the Mansion house.

Stirs Great Britain.

The story of the self-starvation of Terence MacSwiney, lord mayor of Cork, probably will become one of the most moving chapters of the centuries-long history of the Irish struggle. No other controversy has stirred Great Britain so deeply as this since the one that centered upon Cecil Rhodes, when the Jameson raid was balked by Paul Kruger and the raiders imprisoned.

The campaign in England for MacSwiney's release from prison has been apart from all political and party considerations and even the king was drawn into it. The movement in MacSwiney's behalf was mainly humanitarian and enlisted tender-hearted people of all factions, but was urged by others with arguments of party strategy.

"MacSwiney dead and canonized in the hearts of the Irish people with Wolf Tone and the Manchester martyrs would be a more valuable asset to the sinn fein than MacSwiney alive and, even thought a free pass to freedom for MacSwiney might weaken the government's hand, why help the separatist cause by giving it a martyr?" were the arguments put forward even by the British unionists.

"Stand by the law and do not create a percedent which would make the will of a convicted rebel the decisive factor in determining whether he shall be punished," was the argument of the stand fast faction. A majority of the British papers including the London Times and the liberal press, the labor unionists and many members of both parties in parliament joined in the agitation for MacSwiney's release.

Two Notable Controversies.

Two notable controversies, one constitutional and the other theological, have arisen from the case. The first was whether King George could properly exercise his pardoning prerogative independently of or against the DUBLIN, Oct. 25.—Exciting scenes occurred here today in consequence of numerous military raids throughout the city. Armed soldiers occupied the Mansion House and a search followed. Hotels and private houses were raided and shots were fired. One soldier is reported to have been wounded.

KING ALEXANDER'S CONDITION WORSE

ATHENS, Oct. 25.—King Alexander's condition has become worse, says a bulletin issue at 7 o'clock tonight. His heart is seriously affected and he is suffering from suffocation, it is said.

AMERICAN CITIZEN HAS BEEN MURDERED AT CANANEA, MEXICO

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The murder of M. Sevrey, an American citizen at Cananea, Mexico, was reported to the state department today. Secretary of State Coby telegraphed to the American consul at Nogales in the Mexico state of Somorn to call on the Mexico authorities "to take all possible measures to apprehend the murderer."

The report of the murder came to the state department from the American consul at Nogales, who stated the murder was reported to have been committed by Raymond O. Navarre, without provocation.

Navarre is a discharged miner whom the Cananea Copper company had refused to employ.

Mexican troops are searching for Navarre, the state department was advised. Sevrey, who was killed Wednesday, was a resident of Bisbee, Ari. A reward has been offered by the copper company.

PARTY LEADERS AFTER CONTROL OF THE SENATE

CONTESTS HAVING AS MUCH ATTENTION AS PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN.

BOTH CLAIM MAJORITY BUT NEITHER IS SURE

Dozen States Are Classed As Doubtful By Campaign Managers Of Both Parties.

By L. C. MARTIN
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—With election day a week off, the fight for control of the next senate today engrossed party leaders as deeply as the presidential contest. Both parties claim the senate. Neither is sure of it.

The present senate stands 49 republicans and 47 democrats. Thirty-four seats are to be filled on election day. Nineteen of these are now held by democrats and 15 by republicans.

In the privacy of their own councils party leaders put down a dozen states as doubtful in the senatorial fight. They include Kentucky, Connecticut, Iowa, Ohio, Wisconsin, New Hampshire, Idaho, California, Maryland, Missouri, Colorado and Indiana. In some others there are tight contests.

In Kentucky, where the republicans elected the present governor, Richard Ernest, republican is making a bid for Senator Beckham's seat.

Brandegee Has Fight.

Senator Brandegee is reported having the fight of his political life in Connecticut. He is opposed by Augustine Lonergan. Brandegee is anti-suffrage and treaty irreconcilable. Lonrgan is anti-suffrage but is pro-league. Both sides are extremely confident.

A great deal is heard about the possibility of defeating Senator Cummins of Iowa, republican, president pro-tem of the senate and co-author of the railroad law. Labor has been against Cummins. However, labor's votes failed to defeat him for re-nomination. Cummins' opponent is Claude R. Porter, counsel for the federal trade commission.

In Ohio, the senatorial fight is closely linked of course, with the contest between Cox and Harding. Former Governor Frank B. Willis is the republican nominee for Senator Harding's seat and W. A. Julian is the democrat. Willis has the advantage of being much better known.

Wisconsin Battleground.

Wisconsin presents a battle between Senator Irvine Lenroot, republican incumbent; James Thompson, a Lafollette republican, and Paul Reinsch, late United States minister to China, the democratic nominee. Lenroot beat Thompson for the republican nomination. Democrats profess hopes that Reinsch will slip in while the republicans destroy each other.

Senator Moses, anti-league republican, has encountered stiff opposition in New Hampshire and the state is classed as doubtful.

In Idaho, Senator Nugent, democratic incumbent and pro-leaguer, is opposed by Frank Gooding, of whom Senator Borah, irreconcilable leader, says is "all right" on the treaty.

California is seeing a warm scrap. Senator Phelan, democrat, seeks re-election. He is pro-league, anti-Japanese and a strong friend of Irish freedom. Senator Hiram Johnson, however, is backing Samuel Shortridge, republican who has in the past belonged to a different wing of the G. O. P. than Johnson. Shortridge is against the league.

Maryland Involved.

Maryland's republicans, greatly reinforced by the national organization, are doing everything they can to elect O. E. Weller to fill Senator John W. Smiths' shoes.

Senator Spencer, republican incumbent from Missouri, and Breckenridge Long, former assistant secretary of state, are fighting on the League of Nations issue. Senator Reed, Spencer's democratic colleague supported Spencer in his recent controversy with President Wilson but it is considered doubtful Reed will advise his followers to vote for Spencer.

The Colorado contest was complicated when Senator Thomas, democrat, who did not seek re-nomination, entered as an independent. He is against the league.

Tom Taggart is trying to give Indiana democrats a senate seat at the expense of Senator Jim Watson.

"The Chicago police department is honeycombed with booze graft," says John J. Kelly, assistant United States attorney. Dealers in liquor here, Kelly charged, are making as high as a quarter million dollars profit apiece.

The bandits forced their way into the cashier's home and gave first aid to his wife who fainted.

The robbers sped away in an automobile without harming the cashier.

MUCH INTEREST IN GENERAL ELECTION IN COURT CIRCLES

Cox or Harding. That is the question.

This subject is being discussed in general in and about the offices of the county court house. With the day of election drawing close, the opinion seems to be greatly divided.

Those who are of the opinion that Cox will carry the country take cognizance of the fact that straw votes throughout the country, in general seem to indicate that the republican candidate will win but rebutt this argument with the statement that four years ago everything looked like Hughes before the election.

There seems to be no doubt expressed regarding the outcome of the county ticket. All are of the same opinion, that the democratic ticket will be elected without much effort.

With the time of grace expired for the payment of 1919 poll taxes, the county tax collector announces that 8,935 voters have paid poll taxes and received exemptions, which qualifies them as voters. This number of course does not include those residents who have moved into the county and hold tax receipts from other counties in the state.

Estimate 9,500 Voters.

It is conservately estimated that there are 9,500 voters in the county at the present time.

Of the number of qualified voters on file at the tax collector's office, they are distributed as follows: Precinct 1, 1,555; No. 2, 809; No. 3, 30; No. 4, 67; No. 5, 1,055; No. 6, 486; No. 7, 12; No. 8, 2; No. 9, 26; No. 10, 854; No. 11, 212; No. 12, 1,862; No. 13, 1,939; No. 14, 6. A total of 8,935.

In the city of Wichita Falls, there are 6,397 qualified voters which leaves the remainder of 2,538 scattered through the county of Wichita.

The boxes and their locations are: No. 1, city at the city hall; No. 2, city at the court house; No. 3, Afledale; No. 4, Cashion; No. 5, Burkburnett; No. 6, Iowa Park; No. 7, Denny; No. 8, Beaver Creek; No. 9, Clara; No. 10, Electra; No. 11, city at the court house; No. 12, city at the court house; No. 13, city at the court house; No. 14, Mt. Carmel.

The official ballots are scheduled to be received by the county clerk by Tuesday and the sheriff's department will distribute the ballots and the boxes at an early date or as soon as they can be put in condition for distribution.

HAPPINESS SUBJECT DR. KNICKERBOCKER AT THE MEN'S CLASS

Despite the inclement weather of Sunday, men's downtown Sunday school class had an attendance of 87. The opening and closing exercises consisted in the sale of class pictures at $5.00 each, "the profits to go to the class and help make up the dee-ficit on the chicken supper."

A short musical program was rendered, which consisted of a solo by J. W. Akin Jr., a violin solo by Rose Adelaide Marquis and a vocal solo by a gentleman who was introduced as "Brother Hardin, Sunday school field secretary of the south."

"Get up now, and we will all sing," said Brother Knickerbocker. "No, that won't do, sit down again and try it over. Put some snap into it. Now stand, altogether! That's better."

The subject of the doctor's discourse was "Why Is Holligan Happy?" and he began by asking Brother Silk a few questions. "Brother Silk, what is the least money you have ever liver on?" "Thirty cents a day," said Brother Silk. "There have been periods since that time when you have had more?" "Yes, sir," replied Brother Silk. "Are you any happier now than you were then?" "Yes, happier than when I got along on 30 cents a day!" "No you're not, you just think you are. If you'd been more than a nominal Christian at that time you would have been happy then!"

Happiness Depends on Character.

The burden of the discourse was that happiness depends not upon external conditions, but upon character, self-control and mental attitude, and the speaker quoted Emerson's words, "Give me health and a day and I will make the pomp of emperors ridiculous."

In substantiation of his theorem he quoted the beatitudes from the revised version of the Bible: "Happy are they that mourn," but he did not explain the seeming inconsistency in this statement. "Happy are the merciful for they shall obtain mercy," was explained by the statement that "the only way to really punish a man is to let him off."

The doctor, in discussing this particular recipe for happiness failed to mention that under it mercy and revenge seem to be synonymous and he also failed to state why this would not apply to the merciful man when he in turn obtains the promised mercy. The class naturally wondered how the merciful man, having punished his enemy by showing him mercy, and for this act obtaining mercy in his turn, or in other words being punished, could continue to be happy.

"Paul," he said, "found a lodge of those who could be happy in any circumstances, and the lodge still exists. Material things do not make people happy, but faith and love and righteousness do."

MEXICAN GOVERNMENT AND ORIENT RAILROAD REACH AN AGREEMENT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The Mexican government and the Kansas City, Mexican & Orient railroad company have reached an agreement under which the company is to construct a railroad thirty-five miles in length from Del Rio, Texas, to Allende, Coahuila, on the Mexican International railroad, the department of commerce was advised today by Texas Commissioner Cunningham at Mexico City.

The new road will afford a direct route between Kansas City and Mexico City with a saving of 24 hours in time, the trade commissioner said, and an equal saving in time on the route to the Pacific Coast over the Southern Pacific railway.

"The Jailbird" at Empress.

The truth of P. T. Barnum's famous statement about suckers is demonstrated in pictures by "Shakespear Clancy", the role portrayed by Douglas MacClain in "The Jailbird," which is being featured at the Empress Monday and Tuesday of this week. Clancy is an ultra-modern product of the city and his progressive ideas not only get him in bad with the citizens of a small country town in which he lives but finally put him behind the bars of the village bastile. How he is rescued and led into the straight and narrow path again is humorously portrayed in the following events. Doris May heads a strong supporting cast which plays with Mr. MacLean.

Nazimova in "Madame Peacock."

Nazimova in "Madame Peacock," reputed to be her greatest film production, is being offered by the Olympic theater as its main attraction on Monday and Tuesday. The story deals with the life of a famous actress who forsakes her husband and her home because the latter is a failure and starts out to make a name for herself. This accomplished, the picture shows graphically the manner in which the idol of the theatrical world is returned to her husband and happiness through the influence of their daughter who has carried off the lion's share of glory in which her mother was featured as the star. Nazimova herself has stated that the picture is the greatest in which she has ever appeared and critics throughout the entire country have declared that "Madame Peacock" is one of the truly great photoplays of the year.

"Drag Harlan" at Majestic.

"Drag Harlan," featuring William Russell, is being offered by the Majestic theater as its feature attraction for Monday and Tuesday of this week. The story, as are all of those which Mr. Russell chooses for his pictures, is one of the great outdoors, with rugged life in the western mountains playing an important part. Mr. Russell has the role of an embryo business man who encounters all kinds of difficulties in getting started in life, but overcomes all of them by his quick wits and his equally quick "draw." A strong supporting cast appears with Mr. Russell and adds much to the merit of the play.

COUPLE IS ARRESTED ON A CHARGE OF FIGHTING

A charge of fighting was lodged against a couple in the local police court Monday morning following an affray in which they were alleged to have participated in at the corner of Seventh and Ohio streets. It is said that the two had quarreled so vehemently that they were disturbing the peace and were accordingly arrested. Both were placed in the city jail and held for investigation.

We wish to express our deep appreciations for the many kindnesses shown us by our neighbors and friends in the recent illness and death of our wife and sister, Mrs. Ona Gillespie, who died Tuesday afternoon. We also thank them for their beautiful floral offerings, and especially do we thank the pastor and members of the Church of Christ. S. W. Gillespie, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Londers, Mrs. R. B. YOUNG WOMEN ARE BEST RISK FOR CREDIT, SAYS AMARILLO BUSINESS MEN'S ASSOCIATION

"The risk incurred when credit is given the young, unmarried working girl is less than that of any other class of people," according to a statement made by Secretary R. O. Walkup of the Amarillo business men's association. The business men's association is probably the local credit association. It's finding is interesting.

"The young single man presents the greatest risk to the merchant in extending credit. When he asks for credit, he usually does it with good intentions, but when the time for settlement arrives, if he is unable to meet his obligations he seemingly does not care whether the debt is paid promptly or not.

"The girl, on the other hand, will even go to the extent of making sacrifices she can ill afford rather than have it said that she does not meet her obligations on time.

"The case of the married man differs with circumstances. As a general rule, the wife is considered an asset to credit. The married man must necessarily be more settled in his habits, and naturally has a greater sense of responsibility to his family, and consequently, to the merchants with whom he trades.

"In a majority of cases the debts that the young single man will fail to meet are for luxuries rather than necessities, and he often seems to make little effort to meet these, while on the other hand he will take up his other debts promptly.

"The girl, however, is just as anxious to pay her debts incurred through luxury as those which are made in the purchase of necessities. She seems to have a horror of having it said of her that she is slow in paying her debts, or that she will not pay them."

"Maybe I loved too much," I whispered,
Father!—
Opened my heart's door all too swiftly wide,
Thinking too much of earth, and flowers, and loving—
Shutting the Things Eternal fast outside—

Baring my brow to thorn, my heart to sword-thrust—"
"Nay! You forgave too little, Child!" He said.

RUSH FOR PERMITS FOR REGULAR SPACE FOR SERVICE CARS

The new amendments to the city ordinance regulating the operation of the service cars from the vicinity of the Union station went into effect Monday morning and there was a grand rush of service car drivers to obtain the permanent stands now required. As it now stands the ordinance provides that each service car driver shall be alloted a permanent base which he alone is to occupy at all times and from which all other cars are excluded. A city license fee of $75 per year is charged for this privilege.

In addition to inaugerating the individual stand feature the council has now provided for the clearing away of the congested traffic around the Union station. Heretofore service car drivers were unrestricted in their movements and were permitted to approach as close to the depot as it was possible for them to get. This policy, as applied by the drivers themselves, resulted in "first come first served," and caused a continuous scramble among the drivers in attempting to gain places of vantage. This not only interfered to a great extent with the operation of private cars and other vehicles around the station but not infrequently led to brawls of a more serious nature.

Other Regulations.

The law now prohibits the parking of service cars on Eighth street at points further than 70 feet distance from the intersection of Eighth and Ohio. This means that cars may be parked on Ohio street at any stand which the driver may designate but that they can not approach further than 70 feet from the Ohio intersection on Eighth street. By enforcing this the territory around the station will be kept clear for those cars which wish to approach for a short time to load or discharge passengers.

City Clerk George Thorburn stated that the drivers had, with few exceptions, complied with the new ordinance without question and that he was experiencing no trouble in arranging the individual locations for the cars. He stated that few drivers had raised an objection on the grounds that a change from their usual places of business would cause them to lose all trade, but Mr. Thorburn pointed out that the same howl was raised by baggage men some time ago when they were moved from Eighth to Ninth streets. The baggage men have been moved twice since that time and are still enjoying a good business so it is reasonable to expect that the same will be true of the service car drivers.

It is also rumored that an injunction restraining the city from the enforcing of the ordinance was to be obtained by one transportation company but this was causing no concern in official circles. Laws such as are now being put into effect have existed in practically all of the larger Texas cities for some time and municiple authorities have found that they work for the best good of the public and the drivers themselves.

STOP ITCHING SKIN

Zemo, the Clean, Antiseptic Liquid, Gives Prompt Relief

There is one safe, dependable treatment that relieves itching torture and that cleanses and soothes the skin.

Ask any druggist for a 35c or $1 bottle of Zemo and apply it as directed. Soon you will find that irritations, pimples, blackheads eczema, blotches, ringworm and similar skin troubles will disappear.

Zemo, the penetrating, satisfying liquid, is all that is needed, for it banishes most skin eruptions, makes the skin soft, smooth and healthy.

The E. W. Rose Co., Cleveland, O.

Why you must wash your face every day

BECAUSE the network of tiny pores and minute glands, which constitutes what we call the skin, must be cleansed thoroughly every day. Otherwise they clog with dirt, dust and oil secretions. Then you soon have blackheads and pimples.

Wash away these poisonous secretions every day with the mild, soothing lather of Palmolive. This freshens the complexion and allows the skin to breathe.

Result, a clear complexion, a smooth complexion, a fresh, rosy complexion, a complexion blooming with the beauty of health.

Be sure to use Palmolive

Its ingredients are the mildest, most soothing of natural cleansers. The use of Palm and Olive oils was discovered 3,000 years ago in ancient Egypt. They produce a wonderful profuse lather, mild and rich as cream.

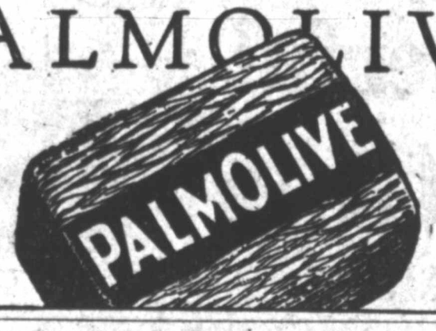

Massage this creamy lather lightly into your skin with your two hands. Then dash on the rinsing water. Finish with Palmolive Cold Cream.

Do this thorough cleansing just before bedtime and you will wake with a becomingly fresh complexion.

(If your skin is very dry, apply a little Palmolive Cold Cream before washing. This will keep it smooth and flexible.)

THE PALMOLIVE COMPANY, MILWAUKEE, U. S. A.

PALMOLIVE

Why it is reasonably priced

If Palmolive was made in limited quantity for the favored few, if its use was restricted as in the old days when Palm and Olive oils were the perquisite of royalty, Palmolive would be a very expensive soap.

But, because millions use it, the price is no more than that of ordinary soap.

Thus every woman may enjoy its beneficial action, and can obtain it always wherever she may be. Palmolive is sold everywhere by leading dealers.

INDIANA POLITICAL SITUATION, ENCOURAGING TO DEMOCRATS; GOVERNOR COX MAY WIN STATE

By MARK SULLIVAN
National Political Correspondent of The New York Evening Post.
(Copyright 1920 by the New York Evening Post, Inc.)

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Oct. 25.—Of the five states in this middle-western country lying between the Mississippi and the Appalachians and north of the Ohio, Indiana is the one that Cox has the best chance of carrying. His next best chance is in Ohio.

In one of the states, Michigan, he has absolutely no chance whatever and in Illinois in spite of the factionalism within the republican ranks, Cox has no chance. Also in Wisconsin, although the factionalism there is even worse than in Illinois, with the regular republicans trying to defeat the party nominee for governor, and the La Follette republicans trying to defeat the party nominee for senator, Harding will win.

It is in Indiana that Cox has his best chance. The republicans now, and for the past three weeks, have been claiming the state by about 66,0000 for Harding, with the republican senatorial candidate, Watson 15,000 or 20,000 less. I think these figures represent really sound investigation and a reasonably conservative point of view on the part of the republicans. But 65,000 is not an insuperable handicap for a state as large as Indiana, and there are many factors that work in favor of the democrats.

Lake County Democratic.

First of all, Lake county, which contains the new steel city of Gary and other industrial towns, is almost a state in itself, and the best judgment is that Lake county will go strongly democratic. In conversations with democratic leaders, as well as republicans, both groups claim this industrial region. But it seems to me the democrats have the better ground for confidence. Union labor is strong in Lake county, and wherever union labor is strong Cox is strong.

I think it can be stated as a generalization, applicable to the country as a whole, that no other man who ever ran for the presidency will have as large a union labor vote as Cox. The American Federation of Labor is working zealously for him. For example I have been told that the American Federation of Labor recently sent $150,000 into Kansas to be spent on organization work for Cox. From the point of view of democratic success, I think Kansas is a poor place in which to spend that much money and that it could have been used to better advantage in a state less thoroughly committed to Harding. But I cite it merely as an evidence of how thoroughly union labor is devoted to Cox's cause. Union labor will carry this industrial region of Indiana for Cox.

Labor Making Fight.

Furthermore, all the thirteen congressmen and the two senators from Indiana are republicans, and every one of them voted for the Cummins-Esch railroad bill. Organized labor is making a fight against the Cummins-Esch bill, and the aggregate of opposition to these congressmen and senators for this vote must count a good deal. Similarly, both these senators and all these congressmen voted for prohibition, and in the same way the aggregate of opposition to prohibition throughout the state must count something. It may be conceded that support of the Cummins-Esch bill and prohibition was a meritorious thing, but it still remains as a fact in practical politics that the aggregate of opposition throughout the entire state to both these measures is a democratic assets.

Moreover Indiana, and especially the metropolis, Indianapolis, is as 'communities go, rather strong pro-League territory. Both the great papers in Indianapolis have been strongly pro-League. Still further Indiana is one of those states, in which the wounds of primary contest last spring are still bleeding. There was a bitter state-wide primary in which Wood, Lowden, Johnson, and Harding all participated. Harding ran a very bad fourth. Naturally, when he turned out a winner at Chicago, the Indiana supporters of the other three, who had been worked up to a high pitch of loyalty by the bitterness of the primary fight, resented Harding's success. There are many former adherents of Wood and Johnson, especially who are not very loyal to the republican ticket, and many of rank and file republicans who were worked up into intense devotion to Wood or Johnson will quietly express their bitterness by voting for Cox. There is more of this than the Indiana politicians realize.

In addition the republicans have lost some popularity in Indiana by what many consider to be just as virtuous a thing as the Cummins-Esch bill. Indiana, under a republican governor, Goodrich, revised the whole system of taxation in the state. A stronger passing through hardly has time to pass judgment on the merits of new tax system, but Governor Goodrich is an able, hard working business man, and it is probable that the change in the taxation system was meritorious.

Widespread Resentment.

Nevertheless taxation is a field in which the most meritorious things are frequently the least popular. The fact is that there is widespread resentment against the republicans. I heard of one great business concern in Indiana whose basis of taxation was raised from $1,500,000 to $17,000,000—naturally this concern and the community in which it exists feel the change.

Further yet, the republican state ticket here are very weak. One of the republican candidates for an important state office is more or less openly charged with some extremely undesirable conduct in a former official career.

Finally the republican senatorial candidate in Indiana, Watson, who is seeking re-election is pretty generally recognized as a weak brother.

Many substantial persons, including some republican leaders, say that Watson is not of senatorial caliber that ought never to have been sent to the senate, and that it is an injustice to Watson, as well as to the state to put a man in the senate whose personality and natural abilities are not up to the office. If this were a normal year without a presidential contest there isn't a doubt in the world that Watson would be badly beaten.

Taggart More Popular.

His opponent is the old-time democratic leader, Thomas Taggart, by comparison with this opponent as well as by the passage of the years, seems to have measurably elevated himself in the opinion of the Indiana people he still has a considerable way to go, but he is thought of very differently from what was the case ten years ago. Many people in Indianapolis who were rigidly opposed to him years ago are now disposed to give him some support, or at least to default in supporting Watson.

The sum of all this is that the republicans will carry Indiana, is they carry it all by only a slender margin and by means of assets which they must recognize as neither very dependable nor very durable. The three assets that may carry the republicans through are first, dislike of Wilson and of democratic administration to have a change, second, a large German vote, which years ago, was solidly democratic but now is equally solidly republican and third, the considerable negro vote in the state.

WAS WORTH ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD

Mrs. Proctor Values Tanlac Highly—Gains Twenty-Five Pounds.

"A medicine that will do as much for anyone as Tanlac did for me is worth its weight in gold," said Mrs. Sydney Proctor, 124 College street, St. James, Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada.

"Last winter," continued Mrs. Proctor, "I was so run down and weak it was all I could do to get around the house by holding onto the chairs and furniture. I had no appetite and everything I managed to eat seemed to lie in my stomach and sour, causing so much gas and palpitation that I could hardly breathe. I had terrible dizzy spells, and was so nervous the least thing upset me and I had a pain across my back all the time. I had splitting headaches, never knew what it was to get a good night's rest and of mornings I felt simply dreadful. I was told my condition was the after effects of 'flu', which I had earlier in the winter, but I could find nothing to help me at all.

"Tanlac was so highly recommended I resolved to try it and it certainly proved its worth to me. I have gotten back my lost strength and now do all my housework easily; I eat ravenously, digest everything perfectly and have gained about twenty-five pounds in weight. Every one of my troubles are gone and it is a pleasure to have this opportunity to recommend Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Wichita Falls by Miller Drug Co., and in Electra by Tarleton Drug store.—adv.

RECOGNITION IS EXPECTED.

General Obregon's reply to the question, why President Wilson has not extended recognition to the new Mexican government, is not calculated to hurt the chances of recognition at a comparatively early date. "President Wilson wants to know, first," he told Mexico City interviewers on his return from Texas, "what the policy of the new government will be. He has always acted with extreme caution in international affairs of this kind, and it is probable that he has never intended to recognize the new government until absolutely convinced of its good intentions."

Every report from Mexico indicates that the new regime is "strong, popular and ready to comply with its obligations," as the President-elect said, and while American recognition is apt to be deferred until after the De la Huerta regime ends and General Obregon himself takes up the reins of government, it seems fairly reasonable now to expect that when Obregon does go into office—conditions remaining as favorable as they now are—recognition by this government, so essential to the permanence of any administration in Mexico, will not long be deferred.

From the first, General Obregon has displayed a desire scrupulously to observe the international amenities and obligations and to maintain friendly relations with all foreign governments, especially with our own. He has placated, deported or crushed every rebel leader who sought to disturb the internal peace, and seems devoted to the idea of restoration of the Republic to a point of respectability from a patriotic and not a selfish desire. Recognition by the United States would be a tremendous help for Obregon, and it should be extended just as soon as the President believes it to be advisable.

We now have the exact position of Senator Reed on the presidential race. If Cox is elected, he told his Kansas City audience, he would "fear the influence of Woodrow Wilson." If Harding wins he would "shudder at the influence of Elihu Root and the international bankers." Senator Reed's positions recalls strongly the plight of the man who found himself between the devil and the deep blue sea; and, "fearing" one result and "shuddering" at the other, there apparently remains nothing for the Missouri senator to do on election day except to go fishing, an avocation he was diligently following, it seems, on the recent occasion of the democratic presidential nominee's visit to the senator's home town. Senator Reed is endorsing the state and county nominees of his party in Missouri, but he had to hurry up ending his speech, he said, to hasten to Wisconsin, where he will speak for Thompson, LaFollette - Independent candidate for the senate against Lenroot, mild-reservationist republican, and a pro-League democrat.

Judge Ewing Boyd of Houston has set an example that other Texas district judges might well follow. To explain, there is in Texas a statute forbidding divorced persons remarrying within a year after decree is entered. That is a good law and intended to put a stop to the "off with the old, on with the new" practice that Texas has been quite too much of. But that law provides no penalty for its violation, and the result has been that it has been virtually ignored. Judge Boyd's precedent, however, provides a way of establishing a penalty, for, upon issuance of the decree, he also entered on his own motion an injunction order restraining the divorces from remarrying within a year except to each other and announced that such an order would hereafter be a part of the regular procedure in his court, so that contempt proceedings would lie against either for violation.

Republican campaign disbursements total $2,741,503 against $677,934 for the democrats. Governor Cox's expose of the republican purpose to raise the most stupendous campaign fund in history seems to have upset their $15,000,000 "quota" arrangement, but their statement of expenditures shows that the g. o. p. managers are not suffering from any lack of funds, and it is not improbable that the huge advertising campaign, including page displays in every periodical of general circulation in the country, has not been included in their $2,741,503 so far accounted for. The good thing about the paucity of the democratic fund is, if the democrats win, there will be no charges of their having "bought the presidency."

After a legal battle extending over several years, the state compulsory vaccination law has been upheld in the Fourth Court of Civil Appeals at San Antonio. The plaintiff sued for $10,000 for discrimination in being excluded from the public schools on refusal to be vaccinated, and the case was bitterly contested by both sides. It has been more than a century and a quarter since Jenner discovered that vaccination was a preventive of smallpox, which was then one of the scourges of the world with the percentage of fatalities running high. Its immunization of those taking it against the disease has been demonstrated since by multiplied thousands who have preferred the ordeal of a very sore arm (or leg) to the real danger of the most disgusting malady. Universal vaccination long ago would have wiped out smallpox as a known disease; inherited immunization from forebears who were vaccinated has helped to make its death rate merely nominal. But there are still anti-vaccinationists and what they lack in numbers they make up in persistence, and enforcement of compulsory vaccination has seldom failed to bring some of them to the fore with their skepticism of immunization and their stories of persons who have suffered amputation or death because of vaccinations. Vaccination of adult persons may well be left to individual decision; but compulsory vaccination in schools is demanded by the fact that otherwise an outbreak of smallpox there means the discomfort or endangerment of many.

Sovietism's Blackest Crime.
(From the Toledo Blade.)

A correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph, who is with General Wrangel's forces, quotes an officer who escaped from Odessa with his young wife and sister-in-law as saying that several personal friends of the two women were seized, nationalized and sent to the Chinese lines for the amusement of the soldiers. According to this officer nationalization of women is conducted systematically by the bolshevists. Each month certain weeks are fixed and officially proclaimed "free love" weeks. Bolshevism must answer for some devilish crimes, but the debauchery of womanhood is the blackest mark against it. When the day of reckoning comes and the civilized nations balance accounts with sovietism the women who were sent to the Chinese lines, and the victims of "free love" weeks must not be forgotten.

Better Days.

For long, long months we've lived to spend, but now our orgy sees its end, and better days begin; the man who has a bunch of bones now asks himself, in stentor tones, "Why should I blow them in? Why feed my money to the cows when yonder savings bank allows a seemly interest rate? Too long, too long I've thrown away the shining plunks I drew as pay, and hit a gaudy gait." And now the merchant princes rise, and say to clerks and kindred guys, "Our prices must come down; so let's reduce some picayunes on every pair of pantaloons, and every velvet gown." And all the hungry profiteers are doubtless filled with sordid, fears, as they size up their rolls; doomed is the graft they long have held, the easy marks have all rebelled, and they must hunt their holes. An end to profiteering crimes would come, I've said, in countless rhymes, and many a deathless creed, when people, sane again once more, refused to purchase at the store the junk they did not need. And now that happy day has come, or all the signs are on the bum, and all the omens punk; and Father, when he draws his wage, won't seek the marts, in noble rage, to blow his bottom plunk.

GERMANY DRIVING AHEAD IN MEXICO SAYS REPORT

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 23.—Germany is beginning in earnest her drive to regain lost commercial prestige in Mexico. A Germany news service, distributed free, is appearing now in the press of the capital, and posters displayed throughout the city announce that German motion pictures will be shown shortly at the local cinemas.

The German news service, which is under the direction of the same Germans who dispensed propaganda here during the war, is devoted largely to presenting the German point of view in European political questions, and to information on the rehabilitation of German industry. The movies, it is believed, will attempt to demonstrate Germany's recovery from the war, socially and industrially, depicting scenes in manufacturing plants. How to distribute these films, however, evidently has delayed their appearance on the screen, for the leading exchange, which controls nearly all of the theaters, declares that the Mexican public insists on American and Italian films.

In the meantime German business firms, who are now handling American goods, promise their customers that the products of German factories will soon be ready for the market.

The Dreams of Youth.

I wish I had my dreams again, my cherished dreams of olden days, Before I'd heard the call of men and learned to follow in their ways; For then the world was glorious with honor crowning every hill, And coming home victorious was just a feat of strength and skill.

I feared no foe, those days of old, there were no pits for me to dread, Nor summer's heat nor winter's cold could daunt me as I fared ahead; Through eyes of youth I saw afar the heights of glory luring me, And thought without one hurt or scar I could achieve my victory.

I had no thought that I might err, that folly must be mine to know, That I should feel life's cruel spur or lose the road I wished to go; It seemed so easy to be true, so pleasant to defend the right, And there was naught I couldn't do in those lost dreams of young delight.

But now at times the road seems long, and facts are bitter things to face, It is not easy to be strong—one careless step may mean disgrace; I've learned among the haunts of men that hate and hurt are everywhere; I wish I had my dreams again when all the world was wondrous fair.

On Growing Older.

There are some things I like about growing older and some things I don't. And one of the latter is the way one's impulse muscles seem to stiffen up.

When one has an impulse in one's callow youth, one usually acts first and then thinks. And that is as it must be.

As one reaches years of discretion, one begins to get the habit of thinking first and acting afterwards. And that is as it should be. But there is also a tendency in most of us to go still further—to think first and then not act at all. And that is as it shouldn't be.

Some workmen were in my home recently and while I was directing them I noticed one youngster, not more than 19, looking with evident interest at a pile of magazines on the floor which I had put there to be disposed of.

The instant impulse came to me to ask if he would like them. Five years ago I would have spoken the minute the thought came into my head. But now I hung back, while objections formed in my mind. Probable he was just looking at the picture on the cover and wasn't really interested in the magazines at all, said part of my mind. And then another part suggested, very likely he has all the magazines he wants and would not like it if you offered him your old ones. While I mused over these objections, something came up to divert my attention and I let the matter slip. It was simpler not to act than to act, and so the kindly impulse that could not have done any possible harm, went unheeded.

Here's another example of what I mean: I was out with a friend in a boat the other day. We passed some fellow boatmen, who, after the manner of water wayfarers, hailed us with a wave. My friend waved back, but after we had passed she said, "Do you know it is the hardest thing for me to do that nowadays. I used to do it as a matter of course when we met anyone on the lake. Now I always wait for them to wave first and even then I feel as if something were holding my hand down. I can't imagine what makes me feel that way."

I can—the inhibitions of those miserable years of discretion.

It's the same sort of mental stiffness which makes it harder to say the nice impulsive things that one said so easily and naturally when one was younger. One thinks the gracious thing, but one stops to wonder whether it will sound flat or affected, and in the end either does not say it at all or says it awkwardly.

I think this stiffening up of impulses needs to be fought as one grown older just as much as the stiffening of the bodily muscles.

WHY?—

Does a Lightning-Rod Absorb Thunder.

(Copyright, 1920, by Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

Strictly speaking, a lightning-rod does not really absorb the thunder, because the material from which the rod is made cannot act as a deadener for sound of this nature. But the fact remains that no thunder is heard when lightning is carried off by the rod itself. This is because no lightning "discharge," in the usually accepted sense of the word, occurs.

The purpose of the road is to prevent the accumulation of a destructive charge capable of breaking through the air between the thunder-cloud and the house or other object on the surface of the earth which is equipped with the preventive apparatus. The pointed end of the road, thrust upward towards the cloud, withdraws the electricity in a practically continuous current, and its function is analagous to that of the safety valve on a boiler. The latter prevents steam from rising to a pressure where it would burst the walls of the boiler and the former keeps the electricity from gathering in a quantity sufficient to cause a sudden and disastrous discharge. Without this discharge there is no production of thunder, and the road therefore prevents the cause of the thunder, rather than deadening or absorbing it after it has been created.

HOROSCOPE

The stars incline but do not compel.
(Copyright, 1919, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Monday, October 25, 1920.

Although Venus is in benefic aspect today, astrologers read that Saturn and Mars are strongly adverse.

It appears that women are to gain great power under this rule of the stars and thus they will arouse the antagonism of men. This sway is likely to affect political conditions.

This is a planetary government peculiarly fortunate to all who depend on the patronage of crowds. Theaters and hotels should benefit greatly.

The stars smile on new plays that are produced during this aspect, which makes for financial gain as well as artistic success.

The seers prophesied two years ago that the stage would develop new leading women who would command public favor. They declare that there is to be a period when charm instead of genius dominates the theater.

Happy is the bride who has named this for her wedding day, unless she has chosen a husband much older than herself.

Again a falling off of the number of marriages is indicated by the planets.

Music is subject to the best possible direction of the stars. The national capital is ruled by planets especially favorable to the development of all the arts.

Return to old-fashioned standards of courtesy is prophesied and the next fad may be formal and artificial modes of salutation and address.

For persons past 50 the next few years will bring a completion of a circle of experience, astrologers foretell. This means that they who have started with wealth return to it, and they who began in poverty lose property.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of unexpected benefits. Legacies or help from friends seems to be foreshadowed.

Children born on this day will be high-strung and nervous, but energetic and clever. Success in love as well as business is foretold.

QUALITY OF QUALITY AND GUARANTEED SATISFACTION—CERTAIN-TEED

WHAT IS WILSONISM?

(This editorial originally appeared in the Philadelphia Record.)

Republican organs and orators are telling us that the country has had enough of Wilsonism. The duty of the hour is to save the American people from a continuance of Wilsonism. To that end a republican president must be elected. Only thus can a radical change of policy be effected. Down with Wilsonism!

The cry has a plausible sound. But the term is preagnant with undefined meaning. Those who seek to rally the country against Wilsonism do not tell the country what Wilsonism is. They impart to the world, by the context of their partisan appeals, a vague and terrifying significance. Upon the ears of the unthinking it falls with a import of menace to the national welfare and assault upon the sacred rights of that individual citizen.

What is Wilsonism? What evils has it brought upon the nation? In what calamities does it threaten to engulf us? The republican proposal to destroy it is a negation which can not be clearly understood until we receive a positive perception. Let us examine Wilsonism to determine exactly what it is from which we are to be saved.

The Record might declare with unalloyed truth that Wilsonism is the introduction of morality, in its broadest sense, into government. Wilsonism is the practical and triumphant application of progressive principles to politics. Wilsonism is the constructive promotion of the just interests of the many at the expense of the unjust privilege of the few. Wilsonism is unparalleled devotion to the welfare of humanity at home and abroad. Wilsonism is the faithful performance of solemn pledges to an aspiring people. Wilsonism is the ungrudging sacrifice of health, happiness, popularity and it may well be life itself, to the service of thankless and unappreciative millions. In its broader application to international affairs, Wilsonism is an idealistic effort to Christianize Christianity.

Down with Wilsonism and its proponent!

Aye, crucify him!

* * *

Our republican contemporaries may criticise this outline sketch of Wilsonism as mere assertion. They can pick flaws in the president's character which show us to be blind and idolatrous here-worshipers. The fowl on yonder fence rail looks toward a magnificent landscape. A broad green valley, rich with the bounty of nature, stretches away before him. Through it puris a crystal stream. A lofty mountain, clad with stately pines, rears its head in the distance, bathed in golden sunlight. Does the fowl see these glories of God's handiwork? No; his perspective does not embrace them. His attention is concentrated upon a dung-hill.

Those who want to save America from Wilsonism will tell us that the president is cold, reserved, self-opinionated, egotistical, autocratic. Without inquiring into the truth of these indictments, let us analyze Wilsonism and see what it has done to the country. Its opponents do not dwell upon concrete facts. It may help the seeker after truth—if such there be in the partisan mob which has constituted itself into a lynching party—to catalog a few:

* * *

It was Wilsonism that promised justly to revise a tariff enacted for the enrichment of entrenched special interest—a tariff that a republican president denounced as iniquitious even while he was signing it—and did it.

Wilsonism destroyed a discreditable banking system under which panics were artifically created for the benefit of special interest, and replaced it with a system which Wall street can not manipulate for the purpose of undermining public credit.

It was Wilsonism that devised and submitted to the states a system of taxation which distributed the burden not in proportion to the power of wealth and influence to dodge it, but in proportion to ability to bear it, as gauged by income, the only practical measure of just taxable capacity.

Wilsonism gave to the worker the anti-injunction law, the eight-hour day, the act for the safety of railway employes, the workmen's compensation act and the seamen's law.

Wilsonism gave to the farmer the good roads act, the rural credits act, the warehouse act, the grain grades act, the act to prevent gambling in farm products and the agricultural extension act.

Wilsonism submitted to the states the constitutional amendment which enables the voters to select their United States senators; abolished bossism in the house of representatives and passed the Clayton act to curb the power of the trusts.

* * *

Wilsonism kept the United States out of the world war until it became clearly apparent that the issue drawn was between barbarism and civilization, and that without our help civilization must perish. Wilsonism kept us out of war until the conscience of the Nation was aroused and the people were ready for the sacrifice.

It was Wilsonism that gave concrete expression to the purpose of the war; Wilsonism that framed in words the thought in every patriot's heart; Wilsonism that supplied the moral stamina which keyed American up to the point of tremendous and unparrelleled achievement; Wilsonism that aroused the weary, staggering world to free effort, lifted Europe from the abyss of dismay and despair, and spurred democracy on to victory.

It was Wilsonism that prevented America from resorting to the futile expedient of raising a volunteer army officered by incompetent politicians, and compelled reluctant traders and tricksters to adopt principles of fairness and efficiency through the selective service act. It was Wilsonism that built thirty-two encampments, each to house 40,000 men in ninety days. Wilsonism raised in a peace-loving country 5,000,000 armed men, and transported 2,000,000 of them across the ocean in an incredibly brief period to roll back the German hordes.

Wilsonism raised 27,000,000,000 for the prosecution of the war, and expended $27,000,000,000 of it. (the remainder being lent to allies) with such scrupulous honesty that after devoting $2,000,000 of public money to futile investigation partisan snooping committees were unable to unearth a single instance of corruption or graft. Oh, yes, there was waste. When lives were worth more than money, when victory was dependent on haste, when science moved faster than the almost super-human speed of production, and forced new inventions into obsolescence, when speed was at an incredible premium, there was waste. But it ill becomes the party which conducted the Spanish-American war to mention it. If there had been no waste there would have been no victory. Wilsonism is human, not divine.

Wilsonism—selfish, arrogant, partisan Wilsonism, which robbed the republican party of the glory of the war—placed General John J. Pershing, a republican, the son-in-law of Senator Warren, a republican enemy of the administration, in command of the American expeditionary forces. Wilsonism placed Admiral Sims, a life-long republican, in high command of naval operations in the danger zone. Wilsonism put Howard E. Coffin, republican, in charge of aircraft production; E. R. Stettinius, republican, in the War Department in charge of supplies; Major General Goethals, republican, in charge of shipbuilding; Major General E. H. Crowder, republican, in charge of the draft. Wilsonism made a republican, General Peyton C. March, chief of staff of the United States army. Wilsonism turned control of the Emergency Fleet Corporation over to Charles M. Schwab and Charles Piez, republicans. H. P. Davidson, republican, was placed in charge of the war savings stamp campaign; Harry A. Garfield, republican and son of a republican president, was made fuel administrator; Herbert Hoover, republican, was appointed food administrator. Of eight members of the War Trade Board, Wilsonism appointed five republicans, and it gave five out of eight places in the Council of National Defense to republicans. Republicans seem to have had a very fair share of the places of honor, trust and responsibility in the military and civil tasks incident to the prosecution of the war, but they did not control the senate or the house. Down with Wilsonism.

Wilsonism undermined German morale. The Wilson notes, both prior to and following our entrance into the war—the butts of unthinking partisan scorn and derision at home—sapped the foundations of German militarism, until finally the whole edifice crumbled into dust. The German army, beaten to earth by the sledgehammer blows of America and her associates in the field, looked homeward for moral and material support and found that the forces upon which it relied had caved in. Wilsonism had destroyed German faith that might makes right.

Wilsonism carried to Paris a new creed of international faith embodying the highest aspirations of the best elements of the American people, without distinction of party—a program approved, before it was made an issue of politics, by many leaders who are now, for selfish reasons masked in a cloak of pseudo-patriotism, its bitterest enemies. Wilsonism, single-handed, but backed by the world's conscience, crammed this creed down the throats of unwilling European statesmen who had hoped to set up on the smoking ruins another edifice based on a concert of power, secret diplomacy and military supremacy.

Wilsonism was handicapped in its efforts to achieve an enduring peace rather than a temporary makeshift by secret plotting and open reactionary defiance at home. Even while the president was struggling to commit European chancelleries to the embodiment of the League of Nations in the peace treaty, the treaty wreckers in the senate strengthened the hands of lustful imperialism abroad by serving formal notice that the senate would vote down ratification. Notwithstanding this backfire, Wilsonism emerged triumphant from the Paris conference. For the time being, the power of enlightened public opinion was victorious. The suffering peoples of Europe knew what they wanted; their rulers were afraid to deny it to them.

Wilsonism, having successfully prosecuted a war which ended in a blaze of glory for American arms, thus successfully framed a peace which kept its solemn pledge to the people that the blood of American soldiers shed on the battlefields of France should not be spilled in vain. Down with Wilsonism and up with republicanism, which shamelessly proposes the repudiation of the nation's contract with the widow and the orphan, the halt, the lame and the blind!

Wilsonism has sought to lead this country along paths of justice and equity to moral heights which make dizzy the greedy, the selfish and the unscrupulous, whose material interests and illicit ambitions have suffered in the progress of the march. By tireless energy, forced on by an indomitable will, Wilsonism achieved a progressive program of domestic advancement in six years that outstrips the legislative record of any preceding generation. Unable to thwart it at home, the sinister forces that hanker for a return to the good old days of invisible government found a more promising field for their subteranean operations in the peace program of Wilsonism, and have thus far succeeded, at the expense of truth, decency, patriotism and honor, in balking it.

The probability is that the leaders of the Old Guard, the senate oligarchy, do not care a fig for the League of Nations one way or the other. Neither the ratification nor the rejection of the peace treaty would put a penny in their pockets or an additional place on their patronage roll. Their real interests are sordid. They have seen in the league covenant a convenient means of humiliating and punishing the man to whom they owe the loss of their power as brokers and solicitors for big business in the legislative mart, and an easy instrument with which to delude and divert the people. And so, with the league as their jutative objective, they raise the cry:

"Down with Wilsonism!"

By all means let us return to the good old days when the reactionaries rode rough-shod over the popular will and controlled the making, the interpretation and the execution of one-sided laws. We can not strike down the man who has served, slaved and sacrificed for us except by striking at his cherished ideals—so let us elect as president the safe, pliant, reactionary Harding, whose every utterance proves his innocence of a single constructive idea and his ponderous platitudinosity. Through him we can smite the forces of progress hip and thigh, crowd our way back to the fleshpost and reap the legitimate fruits of "normalcy."

"Down with Wilsonism!"

* * *

It is an alluring program. The triumphant return of reactionary republicanism may easily be achieved if only a sufficient number of voters can be persuaded that black ingratitude is a sparkling virtue, and that it is their solemn duty to reward with an assassin's blow the man who has so ably and faithfully fought their battles and championed their cause.

Is America capable of doing it? Can a little handful of Lodges, Penroses, Smoots, Brandegees, Mosesses, Hardings and Hayses poison the minds and becloud the intelligence of the majority of a hundred millions of people? Is Uncle Sam a moral bankrupt, a pitiable defective who does not know right from wrong?

Great is the power of partisanship, but we believe that for once it hath essayed too great a task.

Let Wilsonism be tried in the balances—and God help America if honest men and women blindfold themselves and permit theives and slanderers to manipulate the scales!

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

First Step in Treatment Is a Brisk Purgative With Calotabs, the Purified and Refined Calomel Tablets That Are Nauseless, Safe and Sure.

Doctors have found by experience that no medicine for colds and influenza can be depended upon for full effectiveness until the liver is made thoroughly active. That is why the first step in the treatment is the new, nauseless calomel tablet called Calotabs, which are free from the sickening and weakening effects of the old style calomel. Doctors also point out the fact that an active liver may go a long way towards preventing influenza and is one of the most important factors in enabling the patient to successfully withstand an attack and ward off pneumonia.

One Calotab on the tongue at bed time, with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, pleasure or work. Next morning your cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is purified, and you are feeling fine, with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Druggists sell Calotabs only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents. Your money will be cheerfully refunded if you do not find them delightful.—(adv.)

HOW TO SAVE FIVE CENTS!
(AND LOSE HALF A DOLLAR)

During these times of high prices, it is natural to turn toward anything that looks cheap.

But Cheapness doesn't mean economy. Take a dairyman's business, for instance.

Suppose Purina Cow Chow is $10.00 a ton higher than some other feed.

That's 50c a bag or ½c a pound. A cow eats eight to ten pounds of grain a day. That means it costs you four or five cents less every day you feed your cow on the cheaper (?) feed.

Suppose the cow falls off one quart a milking; those two quarts a day would bring 50c.

Those who have fed cow chow know that it usually makes from one to three quarts extra milk each milking.

And it keeps your herd in fine condition, and always on feed.

DEMPSEY-CARPENTIER NEGOTIATIONS MAY BE CLOSED THIS WEEK

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Negotiations practically have been completed for the Dempsey-Carpentier fight, according to Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager.

A meeting tomorrow or Wednesday is expected to put the finishing touches to a series of conferences between the managers of the two principals, Tex Rickard, New York promoter, and Charles Cochrane, the London promoter who holds Carpentier's contract.

The negotiations have not reached the point of selecting a site or a date. Carpentier probably will sign for the fight before returning to France next week.

It is believed Madison Square Garden will get the fight and it may be staged before the end of this year if the New York boxing commission will change its mind about not permitting a big fight before the new year.

TEN EASTERN SQUADS STILL UNDEFEATED

Two Southern Elevens Upset Dope Saturday; Three Conference Teams In Running.

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Football doctors felt the pulse of 10 eastern patients today and pronounced "condition all right but the crisis is coming."

Harvard, Princeton, Penn State, Syracuse, Pittsburgh, Brown, Army, Cornell, Georgetown and Washington and Jefferson are still alive.

Saturday's big card eliminated Pennsylvania and Lehigh from the chase for the championship, and the half way mark finds 10 elevens turning into the dangerous part of their schedule.

Penn State, Harvard and Syracuse, however, seem better fixed to go over the rough pike of the next three weeks.

Two southern elevens came east Saturday and spoiled two nice looking records by crossing a hitherto uncrossed goal line. Center had to take her first defeat in three years, but she crossed the Crimson line twice. Virginia Military Institute smashed through Penn's unbroken trenches so much that Penn lost her first game of the season.

The west is having much better luck in getting "who's who's established quickly.

Illinois, Chicago and State state occupy the select places in the conference while Notre Dame continues to defeat all her opponents.

HARVARD WANTS TO MEET CENTRE AGAIN NEXT YEAR

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Oct. 25.—Centre College probably will appear again on the Harvard football schedule next year, it was said today. The Kentucky team which held Harvard even for two periods in the stadium Saturday and went down to a glorious defeat in a fighting finish, has been asked to hold open a corresponding date on its next schedule.

INDIANS MAY CHANGE THEIR TRAINING CAMP

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 25.—President James C. Dunn and Manager Tris Speaker of the world's champion Cleveland club will meet here October 26 to confer in regard to the selection of a training camp for next spring and to decide upon what new material may be needed.

Dunn may buy one or two of a score of minor league stars who have been offered for sale to the local club. It is believed some other city than New Orleans, where the Indians have trained for five years, will be selected for the 1921 camp.

BELLEFONTAINE, O., Oct. 25.—A telegraph station on the Big Four railway west of here has been named "Speaker," in honor of Tris Speaker, leader of the championship Cleveland baseball club.

SUMMON 15 WITNESSES FOR DALLAS MURDER TRIAL

DALLAS, Oct. 25.—More than 150 witnesses had been summoned for the trial of Allen Charlton, prominent attorney, charged with the murder of Charles Eubank, well known business man, when the case was called before Judge C. A. Pippin in criminal district court No. 2 here today. One hundred and sixteen witnesses were summoned by the defense and 36 by the state. Attorneys for both sides predicted a long legal battle was in prospect.

The indictment against Charlton alleges he shot and killed Eubank last June 23 in a local office building. The trouble leading to the shooting, according to the police, originated over a suit for attorney's fees filed against Eubank by Charlton.

It was expected that selection of a jury would require several days.

WATERWAYS COMMISSION GOES TO MINNEAPOLIS

DETROIT, Oct. 25.—The international joint waterways commission concluded its Michigan hearings in Detroit and Grand Rapids today and left for Minneapolis, the next point on the commission's itinerary.

Arguments in favor of opening the Great Lakes to ocean-going vessels by developing the St. Lawrence river were presented at today's hearing here by H. H. Rice, an official of the General Motors corporation.

William H. Adams, chairman of the inland waterways committee of the Detroit board of commerce, presented a new argument for a waterway when he offered data intended to show that present lake tonnage could be used to transport tonnage directly from lake ports to Montreal and there transferred to ocean vessels. He asserted that a material difference in freight charges in favor of the waterway would result.

RIVALS ARE HOT AFTER HIS TITLE

By Wood Cowan

There seems to be more than the ordinary interest in bantams just at this time. Whether it is because of the fact that most fans think Pete Herman as through, and that a better man is sure to topple him from his throne in the very near future, or because of the poor brand of fighting put up by the present bunch of brotherly lightweights, is hard to say. Maybe the number of good boys in the bantam division has something to do with the popularity of that class.

Pete Herman never has been a K. O. puncher, but he is not deficient in hitting power. Pete is a strong title chap, a good boxer and a marvel on defense. His trick of covering up his face and chin in his gloves has saved him many a hard thump.

Pete's real name is Gulotta, and he hails from New Orleans. He won the world's bantamweight title from Kid Williams in a 20-round go to a decision at the Crescent City in 1917.

FROM THE PORT OF PLAY.

Out from the Port of Play,
Over the Sea of Dreams,
From the Harbor of Childhood's Bay,
Out where the white foam gleams,
I sent my Ship afar,
Where the great-walled cities stand,
Under an alien star,
Into a distant land.

I put all I owned aboard,
Gems of a golden youth;
Freedom and Peace I stored,
Honor and Faith and Truth;
Songs of the singing streams,
Voices of winds in flight,
And over the Sea of Dreams
I sent them beyond the night.

"Sail to the Port of the World,
Bring me a cargo back,"
I sang as the sails unfurled
Over the white-foam track;
"Take what I've sent. In turn
Bring through the Storm of Fears,
Back where the dock-lights burn,
Bring me the Fame of the Years."

Here at the Port I wait,
Wait for my Ship's return
Over the Sea of Fate,
Back where the dock-lights burn;
Not for the Fame of the Fight,
Not for the laurel crown,
I look through the waning light
Out from the crowded town—

Bring what I shipped that day
Over the Sea of Dreams,
Out from the Port of Play,
Songs of the singing streams,
Winds of the dawn that roam
Whispering dreams of youth,
Peace in the heart of home,
Honor and Faith and Truth.

Sometimes we wonder if, after all, there is very much sport that is real sport beyond the amateurs. The rest may be called competition, or amusement, but just how much of it is sport?

Fred Clarke, in 1909; Frank Chance, in 1910, and Jake Stahl, in 1912, were the last active playing managers to land a pennant until Tris Speaker came along. Bill Carrigan, who led the Red Sox after Stahl, caught a number of games, but he wasn't in the thick of the jamboree every day. Speaker is by all odds the most brilliant combination of player-manager baseball has ever known. For, in addition to being the greatest outfielder from a defensive viewpoint that baseball has ever had, plus batting around .330, his qualities of leadership were supreme at every turn.

More and more reports come in from those who know him well, singing the praises of William H. McCarthy, president of the Pacific Coast League. On the face of the returns, where can organized baseball find a better man to lead it out of the wilderness?

ALL-TIME STALWARTS.

Discussing the matter of all-time, all-star football teams, which a few still occasionally do, did it ever occur to you what a whale of an all-timer the Indians could put out? Rogers, Bemus Pierce, Wheelock, Wauseka, Metoxen, Exendine, Mt. Pleasant, Hudson, Guyon, Houser, Jim Thorpe and many more. How many big elevens could offer a greater backfield than one composed of Mt. Pleasant or Hudson at quarter, with Thorpe, Guyon and Houser to complete the quartet.

The glory of the old Indian machine is now getting dimmer year by year, but there was a day when this machine was the greatest feature of the game.

So it goes—a luminary today and tomorrow a mere myth fading out into the gray fog of time.

It has been a trifle more than twenty years now since Princeton overthrew Yale two years in succession. Realizing this fact the Tiger is obtaining all the impetus he can find to take another crack at tradition and the combination of Bill Roper and Princeton's present material at least leaves an opening.

If a baseball war is ever started where they are bidding for players, we have an idea that an outfielder named Ruth will receive at least two tentative offers. Possibly, even as many as three.

This is going to be a tough winter on golf professionals who in two or three weeks will be forced to pack their outfits and start for California or Florida. They have to worry a lot about the coal supply.

A number of citizens who paid out $55 to see the Carpentier-Levinsky affair are reported to be just emerging from a heavy trance while looking around for the bloke with the lead pipe.

When a lot of money begins to surround any sport, the decay that sits in is as certain as wet grass after a heavy rain. The long green is the great wrecker of any game.

CLEVELAND BACKSTOP SETS UP NEW AMERICAN LEAGUE RECORD FOR GAMES CAUGHT

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 25.—Steve O'Neill, star catcher with the championship Cleveland baseball team, established a new American league record this season by participating in 149 games, and came within one game of the major league record—150 games, set by George Gibson of the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1909.

The previous catchers' record for the American league was 141 games, established in 1911 by Oscar Stanage of Detroit. Stanage's runners-up were Ray Schalk of Chicago, and "Hank" Severeid of St. Louis, each of whom caught 139 games in 1917.

O'Neil has caught in 982 games since joining the Indians in 1912. He had 4,251 putouts, 1,244 assists and 155 errors.

MONTANA AND IRSLINGER IN FINE FETTLE FOR TOMORROW NIGHT'S BATTLE AT THE WICHITA THEATER

Bull Montana and Henry Irslinger are all set for their bout at the Wichita theater tomorrow night. They say so themselves and they ought to know. Bull hit town late Saturday night and claimed right off the bat that he never was in better condition in his life and that he was going to make Henry bite the dust once again.

Henry, on the other hand, has been training faithfully all week, working out in a temporary gym, set up in his own home, and is responsible for the statement that Bull isn't going to have a chance.

Henry claims, anyway, that his match last month with Bull was not a finish affair and that Bull got only one fall. He's perfectly right there. Before the men entered the ring in Los Angeles it was agreed that the bout should be stopped at midnight and the hour rolled around before there was a second fall. It took Bull just one hour, 18 minutes and 30 seconds to win the first fall and the two men had been grappling for a few seconds over 48 minutes looking for a second with no particular advantage for either when the match was stopped. That is merely evidence as to how well matched the two middleweights are.

Bull won the fall when he uncorked a new one termed a "drop kick." Bull simply placed his right foot under Mr. Irslinger's chin and gave a mighty heave which threw Wichita's pride clear across the ring and there he lay, flat as a pancake. Bull didn't even have to get up to pin his shoulders to the mat. When it is realized that the force of the toss was sufficient to lay Irslinger out, an idea of his wonderful recuperative powers may be ascertained when one stops to think that he was able to come back so quickly and hold Bull for 48 minutes.

It was thought at first that Douglas Fairbanks would accompany Bull to Wichita Falls, but for reasons best known to himself, he remained at home.

In spite of the fact that Bull won the first decision, Irslinger is a slight favorite for tomorrow night's encounter. Local fans have not forgotten the handy fashion in which Henry tossed Rentrop here a couple of months ago and his ability is well known.

Taking everything into consideration, it looks as if Manager Crosby of the Wichita theater is going to give Wichitans the opportunity of seeing the best match ever pulled off in this section of the country. The fans were quick to realize that fact and there has been a large advance sale of tickets, not a few of which were purchased by the fair sex.

The first preliminary (for there are to be two) will get under way promptly at 8:30.

RIOT FOLLOWS THE DEATH OF MACSWINEY

advice of his ministers. The second was whether the Catholic clergy, representing a church which holds suicide to be a crime, could consistently administer the sacraments to hunger strikers. The king's reply through the secretary of state for war, to the petition of members of parliament was generally interpreted to mean that the king's personal leaning was toward granting a pardon. But, since Premier Lloyd George and the foreign minister, A. Bonar Law,, were at the same time issuing arguments against clemency for the lord mayor, it was evident that any action in that direction by the king would be against the advice of his ministers.

The newspapers published many editorials and letters setting forth, on one hand, that King George should not be embarrassed by direct appeals to him and, on the other hand, that he should and had the right to exercise his nominal constitutional power of pardoning.

The Weekly Nation, which is one of the most advanced liberal organs and not generally rated as a supporter of monarchy, argued that this was an occasion for the king to vindicate his constitutional right and protect the country against the growing autocracy of the cabinet.

Exhumes New Story.

There were many other arguments to the same effect, one historical writer, combatting the theory that the king always had been a cipher in such matters, exhumed a new story in the annals of British monarchy, telling how George IV described by Thackeray as the weakest and least admirable character in the line of British kings, used to pace the council chamber with tears pleading for the pardon of criminals and sometimes carry his point, although once when he wrote to the viceroy of Ireland granting pardon to a murderer he was compelled by his cabinet to cancel his edict.

One of the chief reasons put forward by MacSwiney's advocates, although advocated from anti-sinn fein quarters, was that the offense of which Mac Swiney was convicted were so comparatively light they did not justify his suffering even though voluntarily. Premier Lloyd George's reply was that MacSwiney undoubtedly was a high officer of the "Irish republican army" which decreed and executed murders of officials and police in Ireland. The republican army, unlike the sinn fein, is purely a secret organization. The identity of its officers and personnel is kept from the public and there is doubt even whether the sinn fein controls it or officially knows its workings.

Theological Argument.

The theological argument over the course of Bishop Colahan and MacSwiney's chaplain, the Rev. Father Dominic, in, as critics say, encouraging him to commit suicide, was largely biblical. The Rev. Father Bernard Vaughn was the only priest who publicly criticised them. A lecture which he was to deliver in Glasgow, a center of labor unionism, had to be cancelled on account of the unpopularity his words brought upon him.

The human aspect of the lord mayor's hunger strike was the one that chiefly interested British people and compelled the sympathy of even his hardest political enemies. Mrs. MacSwiney and his brothers and sisters were treated everywhere with respect and on their side had nothing but good to say of the jailers and police with whom they had to deal.

Any way out of MacSwiney's imprisonment except his death would have been welcomed by the whole public but his family were as firm as MacSwiney in refusing to listen to any end except release or death. There can be no doubt the Irish republicans believed MacSwiney had given their cause the most valuable service in his power and that, like John Brown, "he will trouble you more than ever when you have nailed his coffin down."

Strike Begun August 12.

Mac Swiney's hunger strike was begun on August 12 when, with ten of his associates, he was arrested by soldiers in Cork while attending a session of a sinn fein court. After trial by a court martial under the regulations of the defence of the realm act, he was found guilty of sedition and sentenced to two years' imprisonment, which he was serving in Brixton prison in London.

MacSwiney, then an alderman of Cork, was elected lord mayor of the city at a special session of the Cork corporation on March 30, this year. He was a well known sinn fein leader and prior to his election, had been deported and imprisoned several times, one of the latest notable instances of his confinement having been in 1916 in connection with the Irish Easter revolt.

When arrested on August 12, MacSwiney managed to escape to the street from the back of the city hall, which soldiers had surrounded, but was captured outside. He was taken to the military barracks and came up for trial on August 16. The court martial found him guilty on having control of the secret police cipher, of having in his possession a document likely to cause disaffection, namely, a copy of a resolution of the Cork corporation pledging allegiance to the Dail Eireann, the Irish republican parliament, and of having made a seditious speech on the occasion of his election.

Disputes Jurisdiction.

Already weak at the trial because of his refusal to take food, MacSwiney disputed the jurisdiction of the court, saying: "I am the lord mayor of this city and its chief magistrate. I declare this court illegal and those taking part in it liable to arrest under the laws of the Irish republic."

The day following his trial, Lord Mayor MacSwiney was deported to England aboard a destroyer, under a heavy military escort and was lodged in Brixton jail. The government announced on August 19 that he was sentenced to two years' imprisonment.

MacSwiney's hunger strike brought numerous solicitations and protests to the British authorities, many of the appeals being from sympathizers in the United States. Even a threat from the sinn fein in Ireland that, in the event of his death, a general strike and serious disturbances would prevail throughout Ireland. Appeal was taken directly to the king but this also proved unavailing.

During his imprisonment the lord mayor received numerous messages of encouragement and also petitions to abandon his strike. He replied to the latter that if he gave up his fight he would "give away Irish liberty" and that he would "rather die than do that."

Replying to reports that sustenance was being given to Mayor MacSwiney, the British home office declared, "if he is being fed we do not know it," while members of MacSwiney's family denied categorically that food had been given him.

Pete MacSwiney of New York, a brother of the lord mayor, is an official of the American commission for Irish independence.

Given Nourishment.

Within the past week, when it began to appear that the lord mayor was approaching the end, he was given liquid nourishment by the prison doctors during periods of unconsciousness.

This fact appeared in statements by both the Irish Self-Determination League, which had been issuing regular bulletins of MacSwiney's condition, and by the home office. The league's statement showed the lord mayor as becoming extremely indignant upon regaining consciousness and realizing that he had been fed.

"They tricked me, and I didn't know it," he exclaimed.

The league's bulletin on October 21 contained this statement:

"It should be made clear that the meat extract given Lord Mayor MacSwiney during his delirium on the sixty-ninth day of his fast was the first nourishment which had passed his lips since his arrest on August 12."

Referred to Congregation.

With regard to the theological aspects of the lord mayor's hunger strike and that of the Irish prisoners in the Cork jail who began a similar abstention from food shortly before MacSwiney's fast started, it was stated in a Rome dispatch on October 17 that Pope Benedict had referred the problem of the status of these hunger striking prisoners to the congregation of the home office. There has been no indication as to when a decision might be expected from this body.

The first death among the hunger strikers occurred on Sunday, October 17, when Michael Fitzgerald, one of the eleven striking prisoners in the Cork jail, succumbed to the results of his self-imposed fast. He had fasted 68 days.

FEVERISH INTEREST IN POSSIBLE DEVELOPMENTS

CORK, IRELAND, Oct. 25.—Feverish interest in possible developments caused by the death of Lord Mayor MacSwiney of this city, which occurred in Brixton prison, London, this morning, is mingled with the grief in which his death has plunged south Ireland. Although the people appear stirred to the highest degree of bitterness, it is regarded as extremely improbable that there will be any outbreaks in this city.

It is expected, however ,there will be a considerable extension and intensification of guerilla warfare against the police and military forces, which, anticipating reprisals, are doubling their vigilance, especially in remote districts.

Jail Is Guarded.

Cork jail, where a number of hunger strikers are in a grave condition, is guarded inside and out by soldiers equipped with machine guns.

There is an exceptionally large garrison here. It is equipped for any eventualities, has a number of tanks and armored cars, and is ready for instant service. Military forces are so strong that it is considered improbable that any attempt at force will be made here.

It is understood the Irish parliament had been making appeals to all elements of the population to refrain from violence. This is also believed to be the policy of various influential leaders of the Sinn Fein movement. Whether such counsels will be followed by the younger element or by members of the Irish republican brotherhood, one of the most militant of Irish secret societies, remains to be seen.

The news of Lord Mayor MacSwiney's death, received in private telegrams to his friends, traveled with lightning speed throughout the city. A meeting of the city council to discuss the situation arising from the lord mayor's death was called for this afternoon.

The deputy lord mayor announced that he and several other municipal officials would proceed to Brixton prison today. He stated that plans for holding the funeral in Cork would be proceeded with.

SAYS GREAT BRITAIN WILL SUFFER AS A RESULT

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—When informed by the United Press today of the death of Lord Mayor MacSwiney, Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the American commission for Irish independence, declared the state department would be asked to grant an immediate hearing on an appeal for an official protest "in the name of humanity" against conditions in Ireland.

"In permitting MacSwiney to die the British government unwittingly has suffered a terrific blow at its own existence," Walsh said. "No event in hundreds of years has served to draw world attention to the infamy and barbarity of that empire as has this tragic martyrdom of a young freedom loving Irishman. A thousand murders, a dozen massacres, the sacking of scores of towns, all might go unheeded in this time of world anguish —but the sacrifice of this hero in behalf of his native land arrests the attention of all.

"The republic of Ireland, in due course will fix through its judicial tribunals the responsibility for his death. Men who have succeeded in wresting three quarters of their country from the British yoke are not to be balked by the comparatively simple task of determining the murderers of MacSwiney and proceeding under the laws of the Irish republic to have them brought before the bar of justice and punished for the monstrous crime. Simple, orderly justice will be done in time and the guilty, no matter how high and exalted will not be permitted to escape."

SAME IDEAL FOR WHICH SOLDIERS DIED, SAYS BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Terence MacSwiney gave his life for the same ideal for which American soldiers died in France, a statement issued by the Friends of Irish Freedom today said.

The statement said: "Terence MacSwiney and Michael Fitzgerald have given their lives for the same ideal for which American soldiers died in France. The Irish hunger strikers like our own soldiers seek the reign of law based upon the consent of the governed and sustained by the organized opposition of mankind. Their sacrifices will not be in vain. The names of Fitzgerald and MacSwiney are now added to the illustrious roll of martyrs in the cause of liberty."

WILL EXPRESS SORROW AT NEW YORK MASS MEETING

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—New York sympathizers with the sinn fein cause will express their sorrow over the death of Terence MacSwiney at mass meeting here tonight. The Irish council arranged the meeting.

EVIDENCE OF PROFOUND GRIEF OVER THE NEWS

DUBLIN, Oct. 25.—The news of the death of Lord Mayor MacSwiney of Cork in Brixton prison, London, was received here with evidence of profound grief. It was intended to fly the city flag at half mast, but troops were in possession of Mansion house, over which the flag usually flies.

Throughout the city there were signs of mourning and prayers for the repose of the soul of the late lord mayor were offered in all the churches.

MAYOR ORDERS U. S. FLAG LOWERED TO HALF MAST

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 25.—Mayor Charles Gillen today ordered the United States flag on the city hall lowered to half mast because of the death of Terence MacSwiney. He also issued a statement in which he said: "It is difficult to view the death of Terence MacSwiney in any other light than that of a murder committed by Lloyd George and the British government."

BOYHOOD CHUM OF MACSWINEY NOW LIVING IN CHICAGO TELLS OF EARLY LIFE OF LORD MAYOR

By DAVID LEAHY.
(Written for the United Press.)

WICHITA, KAN., Oct. 25.—Maurice F. Leahy, a Chicago attorney and nephew of the writer, who was in Wichita over Sunday as a guest at my home, and Lord Mayor Terence MacSwiney of Cork, were boyhood chums.

They lived all their youth together, their homes in Cork adjoining, and both were schoolmates for several years at the Christian Brothers college. A short time ago the lord mayor sent Maurice Leahy a book of poems he had written and this book he brought here for me to read. The preface to the book, which was written more than 10 years ago, anticipated much of the spirited fervor shown by Mayor MacSwiney in his hunger strike.

When my daughter and I went to Ireland on a visit ten years ago we wanted to see some of the old friends of the younger Leahy's family in Cork and the MacSwineys were the first we called upon.

Although news of the MacSwiney hunger strike has been printed daily for weeks in the newspapers, I did not realize that it was the family of the now famous lord mayor of Cork until Maurice Leahy called it to my attention yesterday.

The MacSwiney's were then living in a tidy little cottage not far from the corn market. My daughter talked with one of the young girls of the family but I do not know which one of them. She was a very delightful and courteous young woman who was said to have a great fondness for my nephews and nieces. The family may be classed among the respectable and ambitious working people and were by no means wealthy.

They seemed to be a wholesome group of the earnest and sincere Irish type as I can remember them at this time and my nephew tells me that Terence was always even in his younger school days of the type from which martyrs might be evolved.

MacSwiney was intensely patriotic, even in his early boyhood and his juvenile poems always had a deep spirit of nationalism in them.

Maurice Leahy told me that he never saw Terence going to work that he was not reading a book, and generally had two or three others under his arm.

I can not predict what effect the death of the lord mayor will have upon the Irish question, but I am sure it will stir the hearts of the people as nothing else has done since the days of the sacrifice of Robert Emmett.

ARREST OF NEGRO DUE TO PROMPT WORK OF MEN IN THAT PART OF CITY

No further developments in the alleged criminal assault case for which Floyd Ray, a negro, was arrested Saturday morning, have been reported today. The statement made by Ray following his arrest are being checked up by the authorities.

Ray's quick arrest after his crime was largely due to the prompt efforts of J. E. Workman, driver of a service car, J. T. Vollintine and the McCray brothers. Workman drove to the scene immediately when the alarm was given. He ran down the negro in his car and just as the negro turned the corner of a house to get out of the way, Vollintine hit him over the head with a gun, checking him so that it was easy to siege and overpower him. The members of this party promptly loaded the negro into the car and drove him to jail.

FIRE DEPARTMENT IS CALLED TO MORGAN BUILDING

The fire department answered an alarm to the Morgan building shortly before 1 o'clock Monday afternoon when an awning caught fire and blazed merrily for a few minutes. It is believed that a lighted match or cigarette stub thrown from an upper story window was responsible for the blaze. The fire was extinguished before the department arrived and aside from destroying the awning did no damage.

COURT DECREE STANDS IN CASE OF SHIP EASTLAND

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Decrees of lower courts limiting the liability incurred by the operator of the steamship Eastland, which sank at a dock at Chicago in 1915, will stand as a result of the refusal of the supreme court today to review cases brought in behalf of dependents of several of the victims.

PRESIDENT LEAGUE SURPRISED AT FIGHT MADE IN AMERICA

BRUSSELS, Oct. 25.—Leon Bourgeois president of the council of the league of nations, talking to American newspaper correspondents last night, said that article ten of the covenant of the league of nations is not considered by European statesmen as a vital and essential element of the covenant.

M. Bourgeois said he had been surprised that article ten had caused so much emotion in the United States. He stated that article ten could be eliminated without in any way modifying the effectiveness of the league of nations.

"Article X," said M. Bourgeois, "is scarcely more than a moral background to the covenant. It is not considered so important by Europeans as by Americans.

"There is really no sanction or penalty in this article. All penalties provided for in the covenant in order to make the league's action effective, are in other articles."

SENATOR LENROOT AWAITS A REPLY FROM LAFOLLETTE

MILWAUKEE, WIS., Oct. 25.—Senator Irvine L. Lenroot, republican candidate for re-election, today awaited word from Senator Lafollette in reply to his challenge to Lafollette to a debate between the two on the League of Nations and the Esch-Cummins bill.

The challenge was issued following a speech by Lafollette here last week. Lafollette is supporting James Thompson, independent, who was defeated by Lenroot.

RECEIVED A MESSAGE TO DISCONTINUE HIS FAST

COLUMBIA, KY., Oct. 25.—After a hunger strike of 22 days designed to force his daughter, a school teacher, to profess religion, Rev. Joel Woolbridge, minister of Denmark, today broke his fast. The daughter, Della, refused to profess religion on the grounds she would not "espouse any cause she didn't believe in."

Rev. Woolbridge said he received a message from Christ to break his fast. He seemed to be suffering no permanent ill effects.

Politest Robber Is Almost Caught by Street Car Crew

DALLAS, TEXAS, Oct. 25.—The politest robber was almost caught by a street car here today.

The highwayman apologized when he held up Mrs. Edna Redding and Mrs. A. Cummings, saying he was badly in need of money. The two women only had 25 cents between them and the "bandit" handed it back.

"But if you need it so badly why not take it?" one of the women protested.

"I wouldn't think of it," said the robber. "I'll find somebody with a roll shortly."

The women boarded a street car a block away and pointed out the retreating form of the robber to the crew. The motorman started pursuit and raced his car after the fugitive several blocks, but was unable to follow up an alley.

LEARNS OF BIRTH OF BABY WHILE AT BOTTOM OF SEA

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Here's a man who while walking on the bottom of the sea, learned of the birth of his baby daughter. Frederick Whitehead, United States sailor, was several fathoms deep in a diver's suit working on the hull of the submarine S-5 when the message received by the wireless on one of the ships engaged in raising the submarine was relayed to him by means of the telephone on his undersea helmet: "Come home to Flatbush, Girl."

We wish in this way to thank our friends who, by their kind words and beautiful floral offerings, helped us bear our recent sorrow. Mrs. J. H. Huggins and family. 165-11p

ORDINANCE NO. 313.

An ordinance amending certain ordinance entitled "An Ordinance to License, Tax and Regulate Carriages, 'Omnibuses, Service Cars, Etc.," which was passed and approved 33rd day of September, 1920, being ordinance 300, so as to hereinafter read as follows and declaring an emergency.

Be it ordained by the board of aldermen of the city of Wichita Falls, Texas:

Section 1. It shall be unlawful for any person or persons to operate for hire, within the city limits, any carriage, hack, omnibus, motor bus, automobile, or motor vehicle without first obtaining a license from the board of aldermen of the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, the cost of which shall be $75 per year.

Section 2. No license shall be issued to any person who is not a bonafide resident of Wichita Falls, Texas, and all applications for licenses, shall show recommendations of at least three disinterested citizens before license is issued. The license issued shall be non-transferable and shall be signed by the city clerk under the seal of the city, and shall designate the exact location where such vehicle shall park, and it shall be unlawful for any person or persons to operate for hire carriage, hack, omnibus, automobile, motor bus, or motor vehicle at any stand within the city limits, except the one specifically designated in the license.

Section 3. The following places are designated as stands:

Space for five vehicles on west side of Ohio avenue between Seventh and Eighth streets, approximately 100 feet from the corner of Seventh street, in front of what is now the Senate cafe.

Space of five vehicles on east side of Ohio avenue, between Seventh and Eighth approximately 100 feet from the corner of Eighth street, in front of what is now Kruger's jewelry store.

Space of six vehicles at the new Kemp hotel, vehicles to be parked on Scott avenue, but no vehicle must be parked nearer than ten feet of the space directly in front of door of hotel, unless said vehicle is loading or unloading passengers.

Any person or persons may apply for license to operate a vehicle at any stand not covered by the foregoing and license shall be issued provided the application is approved by the board of aldermen.

Section 4. The charge for service of a carriage, hack, omnibus, automobile, motor bus, or other motor vehicle within the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, for the transportation of passengers shall not exceed the following schedule, to-wit:

One mile or less for one or two passengers, $1.

For each additional half mile or fraction thereof 50 cents.

Provided that for children under five (5) years of age, accompanied by an adult no charge shall be made and for children to twelve (12) years old, accompanied by an adult, one-half fare may be charged and provided for each passenger a reasonable amount of baggage of such character as valises, grips, etc., shall be carried free of charge, provided, that where in answering a call for service the distance necessary to be traveled by the most direct route from the stand of the vehicle to the house or location of the patron exceeds the distance necessary to travel to convey such patron to his destination the charge for fare may be based on the longer distance.

Where vehicles are hired by the hour the following schedule may be charged, to-wit:

Section 9. Any driver of any licensed vehicle within the limits of the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, shall be a bonafide resident of Wichita Falls, Texas, and shall before entering on duties of driver file his name, address and a complete description of the vehicle he intends to drive and if requested by the city clerk shall furnish affidavits from two responsible residents of the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, as to his residence in the city. Section 10. Any person or persons violating any of the provisions for the above ordinance upon conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum not less than $25 nor more than $200 and his license shall be thereby forfeited.

Section 11. All ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby expressly repealed.

Ordinance 12. This ordinance is hereby declared to be an emergency measure on the grounds that there is no adequate ordinance regulating and controlling service cars and carriages and this ordinance shall take effect from and after its passage and it is so enacted.

COTTON MARKET.

New York Cotton.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Reports of a firmer tone in the southern spots markets, a further advance in Liverpool and complaints that rains were lowering the grade of cotton in the western belt were the features considered responsible for an opening advance of 10 to 47 points in the cotton market here today. December contracts sold up to 21.05 and January to 20.45 during the first few minutes, making new high ground for the movement with the active months showing net advances of about 35 to 60 points.

Rumors that the British coal strike had been settled, sent the price up to 21.45 for December and 21.15 for January before the end of the first hour with active months generally showing net advances of 60 to 80 points. Local trade interests with Liverpool connections said they had received no confirmation of the strike settlement reports and the market eased off later in the morning with selling more active after the publication of the census report. This showed ginning of 5,712,057 bales to October 18, indicating the heaviest returns for the last period since 1914. December sold off to 20.85 and January to 20.57 but later firmed up again owing to the continued absence of hedge selling and reports of a steadier southern spot situation.

Trading was less active during the early afternoon and fluctuations were narrower with September ruling around around 21.00 and January 20.72, or about 28 to 35 points above Saturday's closing.

The cotton market closed strong.

New Orleans Cotton.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 25.—Too much rain in the belt and rumors that the British coal strike had been settled caused a strong upward movement in cotton today. On the first call December fell 28 points to 20.00, but other months were up and after the call the advance continued until the list stood 50 to 70 points higher than the close of last week with December 20.90.

Following the census bureau ginning report showing an output to October 18 of 5,712,057 bales, a larger total than expected, the market turned rather soft and a gradual sag set in, which became more pronounced following the posting of the forecast calling for fair weather over the greater part of the western half of the belt. Late in the morning prices were at net gains of only 13 to 24 points.

In the late trading reports of a strongly higher spot market caused a new buying wave, which carried contract prices to new high levels for the day, where they stood, 32 to 106 points over the level of Saturday's close with December at 21.24 and May at 20.60. Local spots were advanced 75 points to 20.50 for middling.

Cotton closed steady, 80 to 92 points net higher.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Indications of probable quick settlement of the British coal strike ended today to strengthen the wheat market. Absence, however, of any signs of fresh export business was more or less of a check on bullish sentiment. Opening prices, which varied from 1c off to 1c advance, with December $1.99 to $2.01 and March $1.93 to $1.94, were followed by moderate gains all around and then something of a reaction.

Corn was firmer with wheat. After opening unchanged to 1c higher, including December at 80¢ to 80¼c, the market scored additional upturns and later underwent a sag.

Oats reflected the strength of other grain, starting unchanged to ¼c higher, December 54¢ to 63¼c and keeping close to the initial figures.

Weakness in the hog market had a depressing effect on provisions.

Weakness developed later in connection with announcement of big receipts at Omaha and assertions that wheat in Nebraska had been obtained as low as $1.50 a bushel. There was also an increase in the visible supply total. Prices closed unsettled, at the same as Saturday's finish to 1c lower, with December $1.99¼ to $1.99¾ and March $1.92¼@1.92¾.

Subsequently large receipts led to downturns in price. The close was nervous, 1¼c net lower to ¼c net lower to ¼c advance, with December ..@.89.

STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—A strong to firm tone attended resumption of trading on the exchange today. Last week's final rate of 10 per cent for call loans and the large deficit in actual reserves reported by clearing house banks, were offset by favorable advices from London regarding British labor conditions and a sharp rise in sterling exchange. Oils, rails and utilities were the stronger issues, Mexican Petroleum, Houston oil, Reading, Texas & Pacific and Laclede gas gaining 1 to 2 points within the first half hour.

Independent steels, particularly Lackawanna and Repogle, scored further gains at midday. Coppers were strong with buying of Utah, American Smelting and United States Smelting. The only railway issue to show any marked change was New Orleans, Texas and Mexico, which rose 4 points.

Sharp reactions occurred in the last hour when call money rose 10 per cent. United Fruit showed a loss of 7 points and Coco Cola 5, with leather 1 to 2 points under their best.

The closing was irregular.

DETERMINATION TO HOLD SPOT COTTON ADVANCES MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Reports that a determination to hold spot cotton for better prices was becoming more general in the south were considered largely responsible for a further advance in the cotton market here today.

December deliveries were particularly strong on covering by trade and speculative shorts, selling up to 21.79 in the late trading. This was 150 points above Saturday's closing quotation and nearly four cents a pound above the recent low record.

Continued buying by Liverpool and other foreign houses was reported on the advance, although rumors that British labor troubles had been settled were not confirmed.

ON TRIAL CHARGED WITH OKLAHOMA CITY MURDER

EL RENO, OKLA., Oct. 25.—Lowden Carle, charged with the murder of Newell Lessenger at Oklahoma City on the morning of July 15, 1919, was placed on trial for the third time in district court here today. Carle and his brother, James, also alleged to have been implicated in the slaying, have been tried twice in Oklahoma county but on each occasion the jury disagreed.

The accused men are said to have entered Lessenger's hog pens to obtain some hogs to take to the market. Lessenger and his father, believing the two men were thieves gave chase and the Carle's are alleged to have shot and killed Lessenger.

The case was brought to Canadian county from Oklahoma county on a change of venue.

James will go on trial immediately after the court disposes of Lowden's case.

Tom Taylor Faced Police Court Today; Not Inspector Tom

Tom Taylor, city sanitary inspector, is on the warpath as the result of an incident that occurred in the morning session of the local police court.

Tom was an indifferent spectator of proceedings at the court Monday morning and listened with an apathetic attitude as Judge Ogle assessed fines on traffic violators, vagrants and other evil doers, but he was suddenly galvanized into action when the judge called: "The State of Texas vs. Tom Taylor."

The sanitary inspector stepped forward, blinkind, and held unsteadily to the bar.

"Charged with being drunk and disorderly, how do you plead, guilty or not guilty?" This latter from the judge.

Tom yelled and launched into vehement charges of a "frame-up," making delphic hints as to the crookedness in official circles. The judge was adamant, however, for the name and charge was listed before him in black and white and it appeared for a moment that the mystified Tom would have to stand trial for the offense.

The case was cleared up when a long, lean and gaunt individual rose from obscurity of one corner and volunteered the information that his name was Taylor and that he had been arrested on a charge of drunkenness. The sanitary inspector faded from the court room, muttering threats of dire vengence. Judge Ogle and Captain Ehlers smiled while the court room roared.

BISHOP DECLARES THE CAMPAIGN CONSPICUOUS FOR ITS SORDIDNESS

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 25.—Bishop Charles E. Brent of the Episcopal diocese of western New York, in a sermon yesterday at Christ church cathedral, declared that the present political campaign is "conspicuous for its sordidness, its muck raking and mutual recriminations by both of the two principal parties."

Bishop Brent was chaplain general of the American expeditionary forces. He came to St. Louis to assist in conferring honor medals upon chaplains of the Disciples of Christ who served in the war.

Referring to need in these times of Christian fidelity, the bishop declared America is no longer a Christian nation. He quoted statistics of the department of commerce which showed that in 1916 the total membership of the 202 different religious organizations in the country was 41,000,000, leaving more than 60,000,000 persons in the country who profess no religious faith.

Keep the egg-yield up as mercury goes down

Hens that pay are hens that lay winter and summer. Poultry raisers estimate that an egg in winter is worth double its value in the spring. You can get maximum winter results from your hens by feeding

Purina Chicken Chowder with Purina Scratch Feed

—the perfect balance for laying hens. Hens fed grain alone make excess yolks, which cannot be laid. Notice the unlaid yolks in the next fat hen you dress. Corn, oats, barley, wheat, etc., are yolk forming and fattening feeds, and should be balanced with high protein ingredients to produce as many whites as yolks. Purina Chicken Chowder contains such white-forming ingredients as granulated meat, linseed meal, alfalfa flour, etc., that balance the grains in Purina Scratch Feed. When Purina Chicken Chowder is fed as directed with Purina Scratch Feed, we guarantee

More Eggs or Money Back.

NEW CHURCH TAKES SPLENDID REPORT TO ANNUAL CONFERENCE

The delegation representing Floral Heights Methodist church, upon the eve of their departure for McKinney, where the session of the North Texas Conference is to be held this week, express themselves as thoroughly delighted with the good report they are taking to conference. Beginning less than one year ago with no membership, no property and no money in the treasury, their record reads almost like a "fairy story." The membership is now about 500 and is growing at a more rapid rate than at any time during the year. It is stated that a number of influential Methodists in the city have already expressed their purpose of beginning with the new congregation at the opening of the new conference year which begins next week, and the pastor, Rev. W. L. Tittle, says that the outlook for next year is highly gratifying and encouraging.

Everything seems to point to the return of the Rev. Mr. Tittle for another year. Aside from the fact of the unanimous request of his congregation for his return and his own willingness to remain here, the unfinished work yet to be done, and the readiness with which his membership follows his leadership all seem to demand that he remain in our city another year. The raising of $100,000 in cash by an infant congregation in less than one year's time, the rapid growth in membership, and the erection of a church building in which the entire city may well take pride, is indeed no small accomplishment.

The Rev. Mr. Tittle says the type of people in his membership is the very best, and that this fact is indicated by the selection of a number of the members of his congregation to serve in important capacities at the annual conference session.

Those attending the conference from this flourishing new church are: Rev. W. L. Tittle, pastor; Rev. C. B. Garrett, assistant pastor; P. A. Martin, president of the board of education of the conference; P. B. Cox, member board of church extension; J. M. Eland, chairman board of stewards and district delegate; and Mrs. B. M. Bullard, one of the few elected women delegates to the conference. The trip to McKinney will be made via Dallas. The party is expected to return next Monday.

NO!
We are frequently asked if we use "medicine" or "drops" in the eyes in fitting glasses, to which we always answer NO.
In our system such practice is not only unnecessary but actually interferes with proving our work, besides making patients uncomfortable and we know persons who claim their eyes have never recovered fully from their effects.

Banks Date Back to the Earliest Use of Coined Money
The earliest banks of the Occident were the National temples, such as Delphi and Delos in Greece. There money was received on deposit and loaned out at rates of interest varying from 10 to 30 per cent per annum.
The history of banks and banking is the history of the growth of the responsible countries of the world, because the wants that banks satisfy are sure to arise early in the history of any community and especially is this true of any commercial or industrial people.
The first bankers had little thought of promoting the welfare of a community, but when they began to give to industry the capital which would otherwise have remained idle they brought about a steady increase of business. Then the principles of banking became fixed.
