Storm Damage In Tennessee Grows

Death Toll Reaches 34 While Injury List Is Set At 200; Many Homes Are Wrecked

(By The Associated Press)

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 15. — The trail of a tornado's devastating fury from one end of Tennessee to the other was marked tonight by 34 dead, about 200 injured and piles of wreckage that once were homes.

The storm arose last night along the western banks of the Mississippi river in Arkansas and Missouri and swept eastward until the high barriers of the Cumberland mountains were reached.

The terrific wind played no favorites but treated cities, hamlets and countryside alike.

At least 10 persons were killed in Nashville, the state capital; seven in Pruden, a mining town near the Tennessee-Kentucky border; four in Lebanon; six in Kingsport near the base of the Cumberlands; one in Bellwood; two in Harrogate; two in Rogersville and one each in Oswego and Millpoint.

Other possible casualties remained to be determined with restoration of communication with remote rural communities.

Meanwhile, searchers dug into ruins in quest of bodies and rescue workers were surveying the storm's path for full reports of deaths, injuries and destruction.

The devastation at Pruden left 400 homes destroyed. The waterworks pumping station was damaged making it necessary to haul drinking water from a distance.

National guardsmen were placed on duty throughout the stricken area. Red Cross workers went into action and doctors and nurses made their way throughout the debris to care for the injured.

Texas Speeds Action For A Vote On Dry Repeal; Bill Comes Up On Friday

Convention To Pass On Question Would Be Authorized

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 15. — One branch of the Texas legislature today had taken steps to provide for speedy action on a bill to allow the electorate to express its will on ratification of repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

The house set for special order at 10 a. m. Friday a bill by Representative Sarah Hughes of Dallas that would provide for election of delegates to a convention to pass on the question at the November election in 1934. The principle of the bill had been agreed to by both wet and dry members of the house.

Provide Referendum

Mrs. Hughes said the bill, in effect, would provide for a state wide referendum on the eighteenth amendment. The bill would require both wets and drys to hold a convention sixty days before the election to choose candidates, whose names would be placed on the general election ballot for delegate to the prohibition convention. Each group would nominate 23 delegates and they would be elected by the state at large.

Whichever group was elected merely would cast a "pro farmo" vote expressing the will of the majority in the election.

Others Are Proposed

Several other bills on the subject have been proposed and will be offered as substitutes for the Hughes bill. One would provide for election of delegates by legislative districts, which would result in the election of delegates of varying beliefs on the prohibition question.

It was likely an effort would be made to change the date of election as provided in the Hughes bill so that the election could be held earlier.

The vote to set the bill for special order was 87 to 25.

Plenty Of Time

Some members of the dry faction argued there was plenty of time

Action Against Surpluses And High Tariffs Promised

WASHINGTON, March 15. (AP) — The new administration revealed itself tonight as already reaching out to draw other nations into mass action against huge agricultural surpluses and bristling tariff barriers to trade.

As proof of its sincerity in this significant move for economic disarmament, the Roosevelt government will seek from congress broad powers to control farm production and has made clear that it stands ready to practice what it preaches on cutting high tariffs if other nations will follow suit.

Suit For $16,000 Damages Is Filed By Young Woman

Suit of Hazel Capps, young woman attending the Sudan schools in 1931, for $16,000 damages from the New Amsterdam Casualty company, the Sudan Independent School district, and W. H. Horn was filed in U. S. District court yesterday.

The case, transferred from district court at Plainview, is an aftermath of an accident in which a school bus overturned April 15, 1931. Miss Capps sued for $15,000 damages and $1,000 for hospitalization and medical costs as a result of injuries to her left arm and hand, the petition set out. M. B. Simms, 16, was driver of the truck in place of the regular driver, Horn, the plaintiff alleged.

Police Guards Shooed Away By Mrs. Roosevelt

BY LORENA A. HICKOK
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, March 15.—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, back in New York for a visit of less than 48 hours, shooed away the police detailed to guard her today, walked down Fifth avenue, bought a tea strainer for the White House, lunched at the women's trade union league, and attended a wedding, wearing her inaugural gown.

Her encounter with the police occurred as she drove up on the opposite side of the street from the women's trade union league, on lower Lexington avenue. She arrived in a taxicab. Four policemen were lined up in front of the league.

Explanation Demanded

"My word," she said, "what are all those policemen doing there?"

Then, as the realization struck her, she jumped out of the cab and hurried across the street.

"What are you doing here?" she demanded of one of the policemen.

"We've been detailed to guard you, ma'am," he replied meekly.

"I don't want any guard," Mrs. Roosevelt replied firmly. "I dont need any guard. Nobody is going to harm me. I want you to go away."

Police Can't Leave

"We can't," the policeman replied. "The captain sent us.

Man Receives Life Sentence Under Habitual Criminal Act

BALLINGER, March 15. (AP)—Ike E. Musil, 40, given a life sentence in the penitentiary here yesterday under the habitual criminal act following conviction on a liquor charge, today had not given notice of appeal. The life term, first of its kind given in this section, was based on four liquor convictions.

Musil, a Rowena man, also was given a two-year penitentiary term recently at Anson, Jones county, and was also charged by federal authorities with burglary of the Rowena postoffice.

FREE ON BOND

FORT WORTH, March 15. (AP) — Joe Newton, charged in a fugitive complaint here in connection with a bank robbery at Medford, Okla., was at liberty tonight on bond of $7,500, while Sheriff Glen Davis of Grant county, Okla., was reported to be en route here to gain custody of Newton.

Huge Economy Bill Passed By Senate

Bitter Debate Over Proposal Ends Amicably

Bill Is Sent Back To House With Host Of Amendments By Senators But Most Of Them Are Unimportant

Vote Is 62 To 13

Power To Reduce Benefits Of Veterans And Federal Pay Granted; Final Action May Come Late Today

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 15.—After three days and two nights of furious debate, the senate tonight gave overwhelming approval of the bill granting President Roosevelt power to reduce veterans' benefits and federal pay to the extent of half a billion dollars.

The vote—62 to 13—sent the bill back to the house for action on a host of senate amendments. Most of them were unimportant and none would curtail sharply the sweeping economies proposed to cut down the big federal deficit.

Quick Action Predicted

If the changes made are acceptable to Mr. Roosevelt, the house will concur. If not, the measure must go to conference.

Even in that event, however, party leaders were confident the bill would be in the chief executive's hands by tomorrow night.

The house passed the bill last Saturday by 266 to 138.

Chairman Harrison of the senate finance committee, who steered the measure through the senate, predicted no trouble in getting an agreement with the house over the changes, even though it might go to conference.

Amendments Cut Savings

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, estimated the senate amendments would cut the proposed savings at a maximum by $10,000,000, but this still kept the estimate of the total economies around the $500,000,000 mark.

Only four Democrats and nine Republicans voted against the measure on the final roll call.

The bill grants sweeping and unusual powers to the president to revise all pensions and compensations accruing to veterans of all wars, except the civil war, and their dependents.

Two Relief Measures Being Fashioned For Presentation

WASHINGTON, March 15. (AP)—Farm and unemployment relief measures were speedily fashioned at the White House tonight as Congress approached completion of President Roosevelt's other emergency bills—beer and economy.

Mr. Roosevelt will submit probably tomorrow a bill built along experimental lines giving the the government wide latitude in seeking crop production control and increases in farm commodity prices. Authority for leasing marginal lands by the government to withdraw them from production is the basis of this legislation.

Three Men Are Indicted In The Weird Slaying Of Girl

LINDEN, Tex., March 15. (AP) — Paul Oakley, 20, and Coy Oakley, 25, itinerant preachers and Sherman Clayton, 30, were indicted today on charges of murder in connection with the death of Clayton's invalid daughter, Bernice, 3, during weird religious rites last Dec. 19.

The three men probably will be arraigned tomorrow when the formal report of the Cass county grand jury is delivered to the court. Should they plead not guilty, their trials would be called in two weeks, E. L. Lincoln, district attorny, said.

Senators Refuse Allowance Slash

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 15. — The senate snipped its economy shears vigorously today, even to the point of slashing 15 per cent of its own members' salaries, but when it came to cutting the 15-cents-per-mile travel allowance of members of Congress — that was something else.

By a seven-vote margin, 42 to 35, it voted against reducing the mileage allowance to five cents.

"You can't justify collecting three or four times as much mileage as it costs to travel," Senator Borah said. "Five cents will take care of a senator and his wife and will prevent criticism. I am proposing this not only for economy but for our own standing before the country."

Senate Favors Light Wine In Beer Proposal

Final Passage Of Bill Being Predicted By End Of Week; Measure Now Is Facing Its Last Hurdle

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Congressional leaders were confident tonight of sending the house 3.2 per cent beer bill to the White House by the end of this week, after the senate finance committee hurriedly had approved the measure.

Chairman Harrison, of the committee expressed hope tonight the bill might be taken up and passed tomorrow, but opponents of the measure served notice they were prepared to discuss its constitutionality at some length.

Faces Last Hurdle

The finance committee's approval today sent the Volstead law modification measure up to its congressional hurdle—the senate — within 48 hours after its enactment was asked by President Roosevelt in a special message Monday.

The bill was approved overwhelmingly by the house yesterday.

The senate committee amended the bill, however, to include wines and fruit juices of the same alcoholic percentage—3.2 by weight, but the grape growers league of California quickly informed its senators that was worse than nothing.

Ask Natural Content

They asked the California senators—Johnson, Republican, and McAdoo, Democrat—to fight for a natural alcoholic content of 10 or 12 per cent.

McAdoo was sponsor of the amendment to include wines. It was adopted without a record vote, but the grape growers asked to have it

Ferguson Highway Case Is Settled By Supreme Court

AUSTIN, March 15. (AP)—The Texas supreme court today finally disposed of a case brought by James E. Ferguson and others to enjoin the state highway commission from pledging road funds for construction work.

The state's highest civil tribunal dismissed an application for writ of error for want of jurisdiction on appeal from a decision of the third court of civil appeals which ordered dissolved a temporary injunction granted by the Travis county district court restraining the commission from spending further road money.

Auto Finance Companies Are Not Included In Moratorium

AUSTIN, March 15. (AP) — James Shaw, state banking commissioner today said a moratorium issued by him on March 13 on all financial institutions, except banks, "in no wise intended to cover automobile finance companies."

Shaw said the moratorium, to extend until April 12, was "issued for the purpose of protecting such corporations as are authorized to issue their own bonds or debentures, such bonds and debtentures being secured by assets placed in trust."

Negro School Teacher Will Take Stand In Murder Case

AUSTIN, March 15. (AP)—Defense attorneys said tonight that Charles E. Johnson, 61-year old Austin negro school teacher, would take the stand tomorrow in his trial for murder. Johnson was indicted in the killing of Albert A. Allison, Jr., of Corsicana last July 8 in Austin.

Attorneys stated that Johnson would be the last defense witness. The state concluded its direct testimony this morning after offering witnesses to identify the defendant as the man who fired the fatal shot.

Markets Stage Swift Advance After Opening

One Of Most Brilliant Recoveries In Security Prices In Stock Exchange History Is Seen Wednesday

Record Is Broken

Shares Up $2 To $16 While In Bonds The Ascent Is Just As Striking; Commodities Are Watched Today

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Editor

NEW YORK, March 15. — One of the most brilliant recoveries in security prices in the history of the New York stock exchange today attested the restoration of financial confidence which has swept the country with reopening of thousands of sound banks.

Shares surged up $2 to $16 in scores of favorite issues, and as measured by price averages, the percentage gain over the final level of March 3, when the market closed for its first important shutdown in 19 years, was more than 16 per cent, a single day's upsurge for which records of many years show no parallel.

Bonds Sweep Up

The advance in bonds was just as striking. Many issues were swept up $10 to more than $5 per bond of $1,000 par value, and even several of the United States government issues, which normally move so narrowly that changes are reckoned in 32nds of a point, shot up as much as $10 to $30 per $1,000 bond. The Standard Statistics price average of 60 domestic corporate issues, tabulated since 1926, registered the sharpest advance in its history.

The general level of shares regained all of the sharp losses of February, and getting back to the best level since Jan. 31, and bonds, as measured by the advance of 60 issues, recovered the severe losses of the five days before the national banking holiday was declared, when these issues were severely depressed

Henry Latrobe Roosevelt Is Named Assistant Secretary Of Navy; Is Sixth Cousin To President

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 15. —The tradition of a Roosevelt as assistant secretary of the navy was continued today with President Roosevelt naming Henry Latrobe Roosevelt, a sixth cousin, to this post.

It was said at the White House the president had left the selection of an assistant secretary to Secretary Swanson and that when he proposed another Roosevelt it came as a surprise to the chief executive. The president immediately accepted the suggestion.

Two Roosevelts now have held the place and later gone to the presidency. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., held it also. He now is retiring from the governorship general of the Philippines. T. Douglas Robinson, nephew of the first President Roosevelt, was the last of the family to occupy the place.

BILL IS ENGROSSED

AUSTIN, March 15. (AP) — The house of representatives late today engrossed a bill to give relief to owners of West Texas mineral lands formerly belonging to the state. The vote on engrossment was 83 to 31. Sponsors failed to muster the four fifths vote necessary to suspend the constitutional rule and place the bill on final passage.

Battered Ports Feel The Force Of Swollen Rivers

Waters Climb Steadily And Losses Mount; Rivermen Stand Guard Over Their Craft

(By The Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH, March 15.— Battered river craft were strewn along the banks of rain-swollen rivers tonight, as the Allegheny Monongahela, and Ohio churned seaward at flood stage.

Counting their losses at several hundred thousand dollars, rivermen stood guard over their vessels and watched the Allegheny and Monongahela fuse their muddy overflow at "The Point," where they unite to form the Ohio. Meanwhile, West Virginia cities reported the Ohio was "rising steadily."

Three derrick boats were sunk in the Monongahela at Pittsburgh, the steamboat P. M. Pfeil smashed to bits, and two towboats damaged. Several of the craft, crashing into bridge piers, damaged sections of them. A barage rammed the Pennsylvania railroad's Fort Wayne bridge, moving part of it four inches.

Shipping losses were less in the Allegheny river where emergency crews "captured" several fleets of towboats which broke from their moorings and were carried downstream.

The river level was receding slightly at "The Point," tonight where the tide stood at 28.5 feet—more than three feet above flood stage.

Approximately 1,000 school children were dismissed today after water backed up in the basement of two school buildings, damaging

Proposals For Reorganization Of State Educational System Are Flayed By College Heads

School Officials State Plans Of Efficiency Committee In Recommendations Would Not Result In Economy

(Special To The Avalanche)

AUSTIN, March 15. — Declarations that reorganization of the state's system of higher education as proposed by the bill by Rep. R. B. Anderson of Godley would be detrimental to the interests of education in Texas were made tonight before the joint meeting of the house and senate education committees.

The bill proposes to reorganize the system by making junior colleges out of a majority of the teachers colleges and converting those not made junior colleges into four-year senior institutions. Graduate work would be centered at the University of Texas and Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college. All institutions of higher learning would be placed under one board.

Would Not Save Money

Dr. A. W. Birdwell of Stephen F. Austin State Teachers college at Nacogdoches asserted that establishment of the state board would not save any money and would not prove more efficient than the present method of individual boards for each college. Making junior colleges out of existing teachers colleges would be a precedent for establishment of junior colleges in many parts of the state and great pressure would be brought to bear on the legislature to do this, Birdwell asserted.

"Destruction of teachers colleges would be an announcement to the

Former Texas Sheriff Faces Charges Of Counterfeiting

NEW ORLEANS, March 15. (AP)—The federal grand jury here today returned indictments charging 199 persons with violations of the national prohibition act, and 20 persons with other offenses.

Q. R. Bob Miller, former Foard county, Texas, sheriff, was charged with conspiracy to possess and pass, and the actual passing of $10,600 in counterfeit money. Similar charges were brought against Louis Genard.

Bill To Suspend Execution On Real Property Is Passed

AUSTIN, March 15. (AP)—A bill to suspend execution on real property for debt, for 120 days from March 15 was passed today by the Texas house of representatives, 102 to 22. The bill would suspend foreclosure sales on property under mortgages and deeds of trust. An amendment to exempt personal property from provisions of the bill was adopted and the bill as passed would apply only to real property.

Confirmation Of Ferguson Nominees Is Suggested By Senate Committee

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 15. (AP)—The senate committee on governor's nominations today recommended confirmation of all appointees whose names were pending before it.

The list follows:

W. A. Morrison of Milam county to the state board of education.

J. K. Brim of Sulphur Springs, Mrs. Doak Roberts of Dallas and Mrs. J. M. Loving of Austin to the board of regents of the College of Industrial Arts, Denton.

L. J. Wardlaw of Fort Worth and Guy T. Anderson of Robertson county to the board of directors of Texas A. and M.

Governor Miriam A. Ferguson still had not filled one vacancy on the board of education. She sent up the name of Larry Mills of Dallas at the same time that she appointed Morrison but later asked permission to withdraw Mills' name. She said that Mills declined the appointment.

Volume Of Business Greater Than For Any Other Regular Day In Four Years; No Rush To Banks Noted

CONFIDENCE swept $806,700 in deposits into vaults of Lubbock's three national banks yesterday. Volume of business was greater than for any other day of regular banking in four years.

Bank windows gleamed with lights last night as tired clerks and tellers obtained totals for the first day's business since March 1. Preliminary reports, for the three institutions, showed:

Reports Are Given

Total deposits, $806,700.
Net gain in deposits, $437,245.
Cash received, $154,400.
Gold deposited, $1,977.

Expressing absolute faith in the federal-tested solidity of the banks the rich, the poor, and citizens of moderate means stacked their funds on counters in receiving tellers' cages. Individual deposits ranged from a few dollars to $47,527.50. There was one deposit for $35,272.85, and several in excess of $15,000.

Withdrawals Are Small

Although unrestricted, save in cases of hoarding, withdrawal totals were no more than on any other banking day, it was said. Many persons offered explanation to show why they were drawing small sums of money for routine expenses, so sincere they were in opposing hoarding.

Bankers and customers alike resumed business where they stopped the afternoon before Texas Independence day, as though it were the next morning instead of the 11th business day since the enforced holiday.

Hoarded Money Turns Up

There was no rush, no attempt to draw out money to hide it. Instead, the disposition was to increase deposits. Hoarded money, some of it showing stain of tin cans, came to light, re-entered the growing stream of circulation. The gold coins and gold certificates, most of them of the old time blanket size, will be shipped to the federal reserve bank at Dallas in accordance with emer-

West Leads In Congress Race

Brownsville Man Apparently Assured Of Nomination Over McAllen Opponent; Watson Is GOP Candidate

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, Mar. 15.—With 22,305 votes accounted for in the 15th congressional district Democratic primary tonight compared with an official total of 21,516 in the first primary February 25, Milton S. West of Brownsville had 12,484 to 9,821 for Gordon Griffin of McAllen. This apparently insured West's nomination as the candidate to meet Carlos Watson, Republican of Brownsville, in the special election April 22 to determine the successor to John N. Garner, now vice president.

The totals represented all 23 counties in the district and were complete for eight, Hidalgo county, home of Griffin, while polling more than 6,400 votes could not accumulate enough lead for its candidate to change the result. Only two small Hidalgo boxes are missing, while in Cameron, home county of West, nine boxes are out. Later returns might make some changes but election officials said West's present lead of 2,663 was not likely to be materially affected.

Griffin's total of 9,821 was more than double his vote of February 25 when he ran second in a list of nine candidates with 4,095.

Planting Program Is Complete Here

A spring planting program, which included more than 2,500 trees, shrubs, and evergreens, has been completed in the city's parks.

Principal plantings were in the city park No. 1, in which the swimming pool is located. C. D. McGeehee, parks superintendent, said 600 rose bushes, 900 shade trees, 250 evergreens, and 700 shrubs had been placed. A water lily pool has been constructed at the park.

The trees arrived in a carload lot last week, and were set out Monday, Tuesday, and yesterday. A crew of eight men were employed. Replacements and other additions were made in smaller parks throughout the city. The parks are being placed in shape for the growing season.

High School Senior Girls Are Guests Of Business Women's Society

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

SINCE one of the things this column deplores is the names that people give their children, an example of queer names found today can't be passed by. Whether or not the children could band together and sue their mother for damages or an unfavorable start in life, I can't say, but here is the list—five for girls in the family and nine for the boys:

Oza Fay, Osa Lafe, Ozar Clay, Olen A., Odeth Afe, Odra Athe, Ola Frankie, Ora Kessie, Odar Jettie, Olia May, Oda Vay, Owen Kay, Oma Aze and Otha Haze.

The children are sons and daughters of a couple in Arkansas. The last two in the list are twins.

Since we are on names, Margaret Turner tells one on the little girl who entered school and informed the teacher that her name was Rush—with a long U. The teacher thought she meant to say her name was Ruth but the girl voiced her denial and added that it was the short of Russian Empire, her name.

REMEMBER THE EXCHANGE

DON'T forget the plant exchange Saturday in the farm women's market, 714 Main street.

Unless the weather changes considerably between the time this is being written and Saturday morning, the day is going to be auspicious for moving flowers and plants. Take down your surplus of flowers or plants and trade for the things that other people may have in excess.

Of course, the trade isn't necessary. If you have more than you need you may give it away without accepting anything in return. If you need something that is there and have nothing to trade, that is all right. The exchange is simply a medium for taking flowers, trees, shrubs and seeds that might be thrown away and planting them in another locality.

The exchange is for everybody in the county. It is not to be confined to townspeople.

ALL IN SMILES

IF you have forgotten what it is like to see everyone wearing smiles that stretch from ear to ear, to hear the busy bang of hammers on wood and a general feeling of optimism all around, you should have been down town on Wednesday.

Preparatory to tearing down the old Temple Ellis building shell, carpenters worked all day long building scaffolding, and it had been so long since we had heard hammers at work that the noise was not unwelcome at all. That with the banks opening, gold piling up at cashiers' windows and everyone smiling over money in circulation once again made the brightest day the town has experienced in a long time.

Or, if you are a pessimist, you can just believe that spring sunshine coming out in all its glory after a dark day of sand made all the difference.

FOR YOUR CONVENIENCE

IF broken dishes happens to be one of the tragedies out at your house, you are going to be interested in one of the inventions about which we are hearing now. This is for dishes that will not break.

Of course, they may be like the things you now have that won't break—the atrocities you are always hoping some one will accidentally drop to the floor and shatter. But, whatever their appearance, they may help you along with your troubles.

The dishes are made of rubber. Whether or not one may stand across the room and throw them into the cup board and thereby save some steps, I can't say. The main thing seems to be that one may throw them at friend husband or the children and know that no harm will be done. The dishes won't break.

Many Call For Tea Wednesday

Business Women's Club Has Tea To Welcome Future Business Women; Hundred Are Guests At Event

Welcoming "future business and professional women", members of the Business and Professional Women's club entertained Wednesday evening with a twilight tea for senior girls in Lubbock High school.

About one hundred girls called for tea and were received by the club members. Miss Nell Parmley and Mrs. J. O. Morgan, faculty members, attended, also.

Standing at the head of the receiving line were Miss Wildring B. Sherrod, senior, and Miss Blanche Bean, president of the business club. Other seniors who were in the line were Misses Josephine Powell, Julia Blackwell, Ruth Wagner, Mary Thomas and Sara Sue Stewart. Club members who received with them were Mrs. Viola Long, Mrs. Suzanne Flanery, Miss Pauline Parker and Miss Fay Stennett.

Tea was poured by Miss Margaret Mallard and Mrs. J. J. Smelser. Other club members assisted in serving and receiving.

Mrs. S. J. Rider's orchestra played during the tea hour. Miss Bean made a short welcome address. Mrs. H. A. Welmaker was chairman of the committee that arranged for the tea.

Senior High P-TA Meets On Tuesday

"Education for Leisure" was discussed by Mrs. William Dingus Tech professor, at a meeting of the Senior High Parent-Teacher association at that school Tuesday evening. Other program numbers included musical selections presented under the direction of Mrs. W. P Clement. A social hour followed.

An election that had been scheduled was postponed until fall.

Those who sang on the program were the Girls' Quartet, composed of Misses Pauline Phillips, Myrs Moore, Joyce Jackson and Johnnie Mullins; the Boys' Quartet, composed of Lee DeLashaw, Lyle Donaldson, Percy Williams and Donald Smith; and Miss Christia Cowan, who sang a solo.

The home economics department was in charge of the social hour.

American Legion Auxiliary Is Given Recognition Here

State and local recognition has been given the local chapter of the American Legion auxiliary for the work done here in 1932, according to Mrs. George S. Berry, president.

Only three certificates of recognition are awarded in each state, she stated. Lubbock was selected to receive this honor last fall at the state meeting in Corpus Christi and it was based on the auxiliary report for the year. The recognition comes for carrying out the national program and doing outside work that is considered of some merit.

Sub-Irrigated Gardens Are Claiming Farmers' Attention

Lubbock county farmers are experimenting with sub-irrigated gardens this year, O. G. Tumlinson, county agent, said in discussing the demonstration held Monday at Carlisle. The demonstration was the second held in the county at which concrete tile was laid below the ground to irrigate the garden.

A number of requests have been made, Mr. Tumlinson said. Four more demonstrations have been agreed upon but the schedule is not announced. The tentative demonstration are as follows: F. E. Wilson, Slaton; Powell brothers farm, Becton; J. W. Alspaugh, McClung and V. L. Cade, Union.

The demonstration at the Haney farm near Carlisle Monday was attended by around 75 people. There were 25 or 30 women who took notes on the work. Most of these were garden demonstrators of the home demonstration clubs.

J. F. Rosborough, extension specialist from A. and M. in charge of gordening work, conducted the demonstration, an all-day affair.

MARKET REPORTS

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, March 15. (AP)—With the cotton exchanges to reopen for business tomorrow, reports circulating in the spot trade here today indicated that buyers were generally disposed to await for the re-establishment of hedging facilities.

The Liverpool market opened unchanged to an advance of 2 points but some scattered buying at the start was supplied by Bombay selling and prices later reached. After showing net losses of about 3 to 4 English points, however, the market steadied with the close net unchanged to 1 point lower. May cotton in Liverpool closed at 4.91 pence and October at 4.96, which with sterling quoted at $3.46 1-2 were considered equivalent to advances ranging from 17 to 26 American points as compared with prices due based on the New York close of March 3.

Manchester reported a fair business in cotton cloths with India but said that offers from smaller outlets were comparatively low and according to some of the reports reaching here, sales there are running below production.

The only southern spot market reporting today was Augusta which quoted spots unchanged at 7.00 with sales of 116,000 bales. At the close of the market on March 3 Augusta quoted middling at 6.37, or 63 points below today's quotation.

Livestock

KANSAS CITY REPORT

KANSAS CITY, Mar. 15. (AP) — Light weight fed steers and yearlings, including heifer and mixed yearlings, found a fairly active outlet at unevenly strong to 25 higher prices as compared with yesterday's general business. Steers and yearlings were in a spread of 5.75@7.00, with top long yearlings in Chicago up to 7.50. Best weighty steers at that market cleared at 6.00, other sales at various points at 4.25@5.50. Fed heifers and mixed yearlings brought 4.00@5.25, several loads 5.50@6.25. Arrivals of cattle for the week to date numbered 62,400 as compared with 77,916 last week and 109,186 the same period a year ago.

Chicago secured up to 4.10 for best light weight butcher hogs.

Desirable fat lambs sold around 5.25@5.60 and a few up to 5.75.

Heavy Business On At Amarillo

AMARILLO, March 15 (AP)—Deposits exceeded withdrawals easily five to one as Amarillo's four banks opened today for business as usual. Lines stood at receiving windows at all banks throughout the morning.

Bankers estimated deposits would reach $1,000,000 for the day. There were many new accounts opened, and no attempts were made at heavy withdrawals. Approximately $1,500 in gold had been turned in by noon.

"I have never seen," said W. H. Fuqua, president of the First National bank, "such an expression of confidence in my 44 years in the banking business, as shown today."

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, March 15. (AP)—Financial markets radiated good cheer and returning confidence today.

Stocks, bonds and such commodities as were traded joined in an upswing which clearly expressed widely-held hopes that the country had cast out panic and that the banking holiday had represented perhaps the final stage of an exhausting deflation.

Wall street's fondest hopes for its security markets in the first post-holiday session were exceeded in the boom that developed on the stock exchange, particularly during the afternoon. Opening gains of 1 to 7 points in shares were plentiful, but the market reserved its best efforts for the last hour or so when hard-pressed shorts and other buyers bid favorites up to an average net gain of 7.7 points, the largest advance since October 1931. Generally speaking, final prices were from 3 to 16 points over the close of March 3. Volume swelled to 1,067,287 shares, the biggest day since Sept. 22, last.

Obviously, this spectacular appreciation, accompanied by large gains in the federal bond list, reflected to some degree a scarcity of offerings. It appeared that holders of stocks were reluctant to sell pending evidence as to which way the cat was to jump, particularly as regards inflation, though numerous economists have been insisting that corrective measures taken in the last week or ten days have not been inflationary. Probably, also, the reopening of banks and a belief that the troublesome situation was at last "going through the cleaner's" contributed to bullishness. Banking troubles long had lowered on financial horizons, but hardly less disturbing had been the climbing government deficit and an unbalanced budget. Recent developments, however, indicated that efforts to remedy this were to be quickly applied, a fact which could hardly escape notice as trading was resumed. Gains of 2 or 3 points in government loans were general.

Grains

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, March 15. (AP)—Without the usual brakes furnished by quotations on daily and weekly indemnities, all grain exchanges in the United States prepared today to resume business tomorrow. The indemnities, known also as privileges, are on insurance contracts to protect the holder against loss by price fluctuations of grain.

High and low price limits officially announced today under emergency rules of the Chicago board of trade showed that extreme fluctuations tomorrow could hoist no future delivery of wheat higher than 58 cents a bushel, and that 43 3-4 cents would be the minimum permitted. These prices were named to conform with last night's announcement that until further notice the changes in wheat values during any one day could not extend up or down more than 5 cents a bushel from the latest previous day's finish.

Corn in some cases may go as high as 31 cents a bushel tomorrow for a future delivery. The lowest price permissible would be 21 3-4 cents. Oats limits for futures range from 19 cents a bushel down to 14 cents, rye extremes are 39 3-4 and 30 3-4, with barley 29 5-8 and 23 5-8 cents.

The Winnipeg wheat finished today was 3 5-8 to 5 1-4 cents up as against the final prices before the United States bank moratorium.

Light scattered showers were reported in drought districts of United States winter wheat territory.

Fluctuations in provisions here will be restricted daily to $1 a hundred pounds above or below the closing prices of the previous trading day.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Mar. 15. (AP)—Trade in cash grain, interrupted at Fort Worth as elsewhere by the market holiday, will get underway again Thursday morning, according to E. B. Wooten, secretary of the Fort Worth grain and cotton exchange.

Local Markets

These prices are furnished by the following Lubbock firms: Poultry—Lubbock Poultry and Egg company, delivered Lubbock; Grain—S. E. Cone Grain and Seed company, following prices being bid by Lubbock grain dealers: Cotton—Blocker Cotton company. All prices subject to change during day.

Seen And Heard In Bank Circles During Openings

A rather crude counterfeit bill was detected quickly yesterday afternoon by John Denman at the First National bank. It was a photograph of a $5 bill transferred to very thin paper, the back side printed in green ink and the face with a little green ink on it. The paper was glazed and it was that factor which the banker detected that gave him a clue even before his eye caught the photographic appearance. A casual glance by an untrained money handler would not disclose what another who is used to handling much currency would instantly observe.

Bank officials just before the close of business estimated it would be midnight before local bank clerks would be free from their task of recording deposits. The clearing late Tuesday of a considerable number of check items enabled local banks to complete a lot of work that would have come Wednesday night.

Police officers, stationed at all the banks during the business hours, had an easy time. Provided with cigars, presumably by the bankers, the officers apparently lolled about with nothing to do. However the men kept a keen eye open and watched all visitors.

"We've got to watch out for gold certificates," said Paul Hardwick of the Citizens National bank. "With the old gold-backs it was easy as the backs were yellow. This new currency has only a little gold on the front."

One depositor at the First National bank handed in a small sack of gold. On checking the sack was found to contain $355 in coin. The depositor gave no explanation of how long he had held the money.

Not all of the big deposits were made Tuesday afternoon. One teller reported receiving a $13,000 currency deposit almost the first thing Wednesday morning. One young business man explained he had made seeveral deposits during the day, the total being in excess of $400.

There was a large representation of farmers at all of the banks. Out-of-town men did not begin arriving until mid-morning but from then on, farm depositors comprised a good proportion of the crowds before the windows.

Not all of the business at local banks was depositing cash. One customer withdrew $60 to pay to employes on his farm. He has been breaking out land, he explained and needed the money to pay off his employes. The money, in small bills was handed out.

Bankers, without checking totals, during the day estimated their customers deposited $8 to $10 for every dollar withdrawn. There were two bank clearings during the day, one at 10 o'clock in the morning and the other at 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

A conservative estimate by bankers placed the actual increase in deposits growing out of the bank moratorium at between $100,000 and $150,000 for local banks. "Our deposits may be a couple of hundred thousand dollars larger as a result of the first day's deposits," one banker explained. "But, by the time we clear with the other banks and get our clearances from correspondent banks and the federal reserve those figures will be cut down considerably. However, I believe deposits in the three banks here in Lubbock will be actually at least $100,000 larger than they were before the closing. Money is coming out of hiding."

Correspondent banks in other towns on the South Plains of the three local banks, apparently were all open for business Wednesday. As far as had been reported to the banks here, not a single one had failed to open. It is expected clearing of items with correspondent banks will be normal in a day or so.

Several local concerns that had received returned items they had written before the moratorium, consulted with bankers as to what to do about sending the checks through. Bankers advised them to send the check back to the firm out of town and explain local banks were open for business and that it would be handled as usual. "Sending back those checks simply delayed the cashing several days and meant they lost that much use of the money," one banker explained. "If they had held the checks until we opened and then sent them through, they would have been cashed several days before they will now."

Former Lubbock Woman Describes The California Earthquake As Terrifying Experience; Tragic Happenings Told

Described the earthquake of last Friday in Long Beach, Cal., as "the most horrible, hair-raising thing I have experienced," Mrs. Louise Nelson, the former Miss Louise Daniel of Lubbock, told about it in a letter written Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Manning of Lubbock. Mrs. Nelson, who lives in San Pedro, is a niece of Mr. Manning and William Dingus of Lubbock.

The former Lubbock woman and others of her family were at First street and Pine avenue in Long Beach when the first tremor occurred.

Mrs. Nelson wrote:

"By the time we stepped on the street the earth was rocking so we could hardly stand and before we had made it to the middle of the street, the bank building across the street in front of us crumbled right at our feet, and all the light wires over head were breaking and flashing and falling all around us, and the buildings on both sides of us were coming down . . . the bank building killed one lady that ran out from that side of it, and she fell at our feet, and others were down the street . . . every one was screaming and running like mad."

All those in Mrs. Nelson's family escaped. She described relief work there now as "wonderful." She complimented also the courage of Long Beach radio station members in helping to maintain morale by "wisecracking." "One side of the building (of station KFOX) was out and (at) every tremor they left the mike and said it just took about two jumps to the door and out they were going."

Six sailors and two marines, in the State theater when the first quake occurred, were credited with quieting and controlling the audience until it was out of the building safely, Mrs. Nelson said.

Barbara Ann Carter Dies At Sanitarium Wednesday Night

Barbara Ann Carter, infant daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. O. W. Carter, 1926 Twenty-Second street, died shortly before midnight Wednesday at a local sanitarium.

Funeral services had not been arranged last night, Bynum-Stahler funeral home announced.

The child was born about 6 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The mother was reported as "resting well."

Came The Dawn

FOR the past thirteen days, a veil of uncertainty has hovered over Lubbock and the South Plains.

Banks were closed. People were without cash to pay for even their barest necessities. Merchants were in doubt as to the status of checks and depositors were fearful of their surplus in the closed banks. Faith and confidence were being given their big test.

And then came the dawn!

Banks were re-opened early Wednesday. Business men, citizens and farmers rushed to these pillars of finance to pledge their support. Hoarders sneaked back with their gold and stained bills. Confidence and faith boomed upward and institutions remained unshaken in their sou[illegible]ess.

PARTY REGULARITY

The long life of political parties and devotion to them, sometimes running through two or three generations of a family, tend to obscure their real nature and purpose. People come to think of them as a kind of sacred and self-justifying institution. They are not that. A political party is merely an agency, a means to an end. It is a convenient and established way of getting things done, or of preventing evils from being inflicted upon the public. It has, of course, its traditions, its principles, its chief characteristics, but all these ought to be subordinated to its usefulness. If it ceases to serve its members, it is like salt that has lost its savor and is fit only to be cast out and trodden under foot.

There have been two major parties since the first administration at Washington because public opinion was divided. The parties were symbols of the two trends in public opinion. Where new parties have sprung up, it has always been because groups of voters found that they could no longer express themselves through the established parties.

While party regularity can be a virtue, it is not a vice to break away from one's party when its candidates or platform are at variance with one's wishes. Prohibition has caused more bolting than any issue in decades, and no one criticizes the wets and drys for concentrating their forces irrespective of party. That is about the only way the voter has of expressing himself on legislation and governmental policy.

At last the country is getting back to fundamentals. A man who purchased a drug store at a public sale announced he would reopen it as a drug store.

Jonah's experience was even worse because he wasn't perpendicular as you are in a telephone booth.

Confession is good for the soul. Also if the cops have you, a good way to keep body and soul together.

Few great men got that way by waiting for instructions.

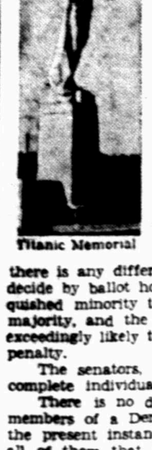

We have a leisure class in America, but usually it is called a sex.

Forced To Give Powers

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

Titanic Memorial

WASHINGTON, March 15. — The United States senate is practically in a position of an able bodied young man who, with the country at war, shows no inclination to join the colors until given his choice between doing so of his own accord and being conscripted, whereupon he joins them—voluntarily.

That is to say, President Roosevelt having announced that, unless congress gives him what he wants, he will request dictatorial powers to take it anyway, the senators have acquiesced with alacrity.

There was no question as to the representatives' asquiescence.

House Discipline

Discipline in the lower house is excellent. When a proposition of importance to either one or both of the two parties is pending, that party's members hold a caucus, if there is any difference of opinion among them, and decide by ballot how they will vote on it. The vanquished minority then is expected to vote with the majority, and the legislator who does otherwise is exceedingly likely to suffer political extinction as the penalty.

The senators, however, always have maintained complete individual independence.

There is no doubt that it was a bitter pill to members of a Democratic group to surrender it in the present instance, but it was manifest to nearly all of them that there was no alternative—that it is incumbent on them to agree to whatever the new president demands, or a virtually out-and-out dictatorship is what he will call for, and that, if he does, overwhelming public opinion will accord it to him.

Three Balk

It was in the light of this unmistakable situation that their caucus took the pledge, 56-to-3, to unqualified acceptance of his leadership.

Even the three dissenters (Senators Costigan of Colorado, who originally was a Republican; Long, the unaccountable Louisiana Kingfish, and McGill of Kansas) are not on record as refusing to act under orders; they signified merely that they did not like the arrangement.

The Democratic senatorial consensus in favor of every possible alternative concession to avoid even a semi-dictatorship is sound, beyond peradventure.

Dictatorial authority obviously is exceedingly dangerous.

Though exercised with the utmost moderation by the individual to whom it is granted, the risk is unescapable that it will be misused later.

FOREIGN RELATIONS LATER

The belief, very general before President Roosevelt made his inaugural speech, that the new administration deemed world trade revival a first essential to home trade revival was not unnatural.

Senator Cordell Hull had been named for what rates as the premier cabinet post, and Secretary of State Hull has long preached this doctrine.

It was an error which the presidential inaugural address fully corrected.

"I favor as a practical policy," said the incoming chief, "the putting of first things first"—and made it plain that he gives priority to "the emergency at home" over "international economic readjustment."

The real cabinet premier appears to be Secretary of the Treasury Woodin.

During and after domestic stability's re-establishment, of course improved foreign commercial relationships are highly desirable, incidentally.

PLENTY OF CASH

THE BANK moratorium found Washington better supplied with cash than usual. Inaugural visitors left an immense amount of it in the capital.

WETS SEE EARLIER ACTION

THOUGH THE bank crisis has muffled talk of prohibition repeal, wets predict that it will hasten the states' action, by bringing many adjourned legislatures into special session, facilitating early votes on the issue.

COMMISSIONERS APOLOGIZE

WHILE WHITE HOUSE SECRETARY EARLY was telling reporters recently that President Roosevelt does not object to parades of "reds", if orderly, police were clubbing red paraders in another part of the city. The commissioners' apology is that they did not know of the changed administration policy.

GOLD STANDARD?

TEMPORARY suspension of governmental redemption of U. S. gold certificates no more means the gold standard's suspension than suspension over Sunday would be so interpreted, according to treasury authorities. Nevertheless, some fiscal experts insist that a moratorium is different and implies a flat circulation while it lasts.

KING BECOMES "MAYOR"

SENATOR KING of Utah, with the Democrats now in a senate majority, becomes chairman of the District of Columbia committee, which makes him, and Congresswoman Norton of New Jersey, head of the representatives' District committee, joint mayors of Washington—a matter probably of small consequence to the remainder of the country but vital to the congressionally ruled capital.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

FAST DELIVERY:

A most unbelievable record of rural mail delivery is that of Thomas F. Saunders, who has the longest mail route in the state of Iowa, running over hills, dirt roads, and even in river bottoms. In exactly two hours and 24 minutes he drove his old automobile over the 63-mile route, stopped 192 times to serve 215 mail boxes, wrote applications for a few money orders, delivered 711 peces of mail, and collected 91 parcels and letters.

The astounding record is verified by the official files of the post office in Peterson, Iowa.

THE FIG:

Contrary to popular opinion the fig is not a fruit. It is merely the fleshy receptacle of the so-called "seeds", each one of which is a fruit containing a seed of its own. The blossoms are on the inside of the fleshy receptacle.

TOMORROW: "IS THE SHAMROCK AN IRISH EMBLEM"?

SPOTLIGHT

by H.W. CORLEY

BEGIN HERE TODAY

SHEILA SHAYNE, dancer, is discharged from a new play because MARION RANDOLPH, the star, is jealous of her. Sheila searches for work and finally secures a part in a musical show soon to go on tour. DICK STANLEY, rich and socially prominent, asks her to give up this job and marry him but Sheila refuses. Her idea of marriage is a home in a little town far from Broadway.

The company sets out on their tour and Sheila becomes friendly with JAPPY, a chorus girl. In a little midwestern city Sheila meets JERRY WYMAN, who works in a factory. She does not know that Jerry's father owns the factory. Jerry is very attentive and Sheila finds herself falling in love with him. When the rest of the company departs she stays on to spend Sunday with Jerry. She is disappointed because he does not come to see her off on her train as he had promised to do.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXVIII

Jappy was sympathetic. "Cheer up," she said. "The 'city slickers' aren't the only ones we girls have to watch out for." The remark was well meant though scarcely tactful.

Sheila had reached the theater after most of the others in the company. She found that, as usual, Jappy had appropriated half her dressing room. Her trunk was there. Jappy had opened it, taken out the costumes and hung them in order.

Sheila told Jappy the whole story —how eager Jerry had seemed to have her remain in Spencer for the week-end but how little it had apparently meant to im. He hadn't even said goodby.

"Something may have happened, Sheila. There may have been a reason why he couldn't call," Jappy reminded her.

"But if he loved me—"

The other girl gave Sheila's arm a comforting pat. "He loves you," she assured her. "He asked for your address, didn't he? Give him time to explain."

Sheila gave Jerry time. Days passed. They stretched into a week and still no letter came. Then, by a sudden juggling of engagements, the company's routing was changed, bringing them within 100 miles of Spencer. Somehow Jerry Wyman must have learned this. On the first night of the new engagement he was waiting at the stage door for Sheila after the performance.

Again life was rosy. Sheila was so happy she gave Jappy a hat which the other girl had long admired. The fact that Jerry had come to see her seemed to prove that he really cared for her.

Every letter Sheila wrote to him meant a heart-breaking wait for the answer. Jerry would dash off a brief note after three of Sheila's long, newsy letters.

"But that's your own fault, don't you see?" Jappy would explain patiently. "You shouldn't write so often. That would show him!"

"Men never like to write letters," Sheila answered defensively.

"Your friend Dick writes often enough."

That was true. Dick Stanley wrote frequently—long, entertaining letters. Sometimes they came twice in the same week. Always in the thick vellum envelopes he liked.

"Dick enjoys writing. It's easier for him."

"I know."

But this explanation did not cheer Sheila. Each day that she did not hear from Jerry was dreary and lonely. Half a dozen times a day she would ask at the hotel desk for letters or call the theater to see if mail had arrived there.

Then on days when there was a letter she seemed a different girl. At times Sheila thought it was almost worth the heartaches to experience such happiness.

At last the "Heigh-ho" company reached the city farthest west on the tour and headed again for New York. Each day now was taking Sheila farther and farther away from Jerry, from country lanes, brick factories, little model homes and all the places where she had been so happy.

The night came when the company gave its last performance on the road. McKee, the comedian, gave a party to which he invited the entire cast. Sheila did not go. She wanted to pack, to get everything in readiness for the next day when they would arrive in New York.

Daybreak found them in the city. Sheila telephoned to Ma Lowell from the station. Yes, there was a room witing for her. It was larger than the old one, too. That was fine! Sheila had saved some money. She expected to find a job fairly soon. McKee had mentioned a night club that paid well.

As the rode up Eighth avenue in a cab, her baggage piled about her feet and Jappy beside her, Sheila was happy. "It's great to be back, isn't it?" Jappy said.

Sheila agreed. It was June. Jerry was coming in August to spend his vacation. There would be two months in which she would find another job.

But theatrical jobs, she was to find, were scarce. Now that summer was ahead even the supper clubs were not taking on dancers.

Sheila had been in town only two days before Dick sought her out. He was hard at work, he said. Yes, writing a play. A new one now. He must have noticed a change in Sheila's manner for he said, "You don't like me any more, do you?"

"Of course I do. What makes you say such a thing?"

But when he spoke about seeing her again Sheila was evasive. Jim

Letters To The Editor

C. M. Oakley Writes On Depression Causes

EDITOR AVALANCHE:

For the past year we have been fed daily on the word DEPRESSION, and have had it discussed until we have gotten tired of it. The fact of the matter is, that our general financial condition is the result of a huge boom, which necessarily caused a depression. This boom, or over inflation of property values, was brought about by the World war, resulting to a weakened condition of our entire national financial structure. We should call this the after effects of the boom instead of depression. After a boom in any locality or town there is always an after effect which must be overcome when the boom days are over. In the present case it was not a case of a limited locality, but of the entire nation, and the whole world as well. After every war, there has always followed a period of depression affecting the area involved, and to a certain extent, the surrounding area.

During the war the thousands and thousands of men called to the service were taken from the class of producer and put in the class of consumer, and our government was called upon to pay the bill of this consumption. Those left as producers were hard put to it to keep the production to a normal basis. Not only did we have to furnish supplies for our own Nation, but for other nations as well. To enable our government to meet this great adnormal expenditure, they had to levy taxes and issue bonds. After the war these bonds were still outstanding and yet to be paid off and retired.

During the war prices on all commodities increased, everything was high, money flowed freely and was spent the same way. No one seemed to think but what these conditions would continue forever, and did not realize that this was only a boom condition, and would have to stand a day of reckoning to get back to the same normal basis that we were to start with. People had more money than they had ever had in their lives and they just had to spend it. Hundreds of factories were built to supply the things that this money would buy, these same factories as an investment were worthless after the boom was over, because they were not required at a normal time, and here again in many instances was a financial loss to the investor. Then at the close of the war millions of dollars worth of equipment, supplies, war material, camps and cantonments were junked. This was loss again, as all this stuff had cost money and was now to a large extent a loss. Of course, we had to do these things, but at the same time there was a financial loss to be borne by the government and its citizens. This loss in the long run is to be paid off by the people in taxes to the government, because our government is operated and sustained by taxes, and until such time as all this indebtedness remains unpaid we will still have to contribute to its liquidation.

The main trouble of the whole thing is that real estate and property values increased along with everything else, or to an even greater extent, instead of remaining at a normal value. This increase was not a normal healthy growth, but a great big boom, consequently the present holders of property and real estate are the ones that must bear the brunt of the boom. The man that sold during the high prices came out allright in a financial way, but even at that, I expect that there are but few instances but where this gain was not reinvested in property and he will still have to take a loss. If you will figure what the value of real estate is today, I believe that in most instances you will get right back to about what the value was before the boom. The differences in these values and the purchase price is boom loss. Until such time as we can wipe out the excess value over that of a normal times basis, we must pay taxes on this superfluous value.

The days of wearing ten dollar silk shirts, hundred dollar suits, eighteen dollar shoes, and getting from ten to fifteen per day for eight hours labor, is very muchly in the past. They were boom days. What we have to do now is to adjust ourselves to a normal time basis, and to do this, labor must buy as much commodities as it did before the boom so that the laborer can live and take care of his family.

Rehearsals Start On Amateur Play

Rehearsals have begun for "Henry's Wedding," an amateur production sponsored by the City Parent-Teacher council. The first rehearsal was conducted Wednesday night. A complete cast, which will include prominent Lubbock men and women, will be announced within a few days, directors have announced.

Profit made in presentation of "Henry's Wedding" will be used for child welfare work in Lubbock. With the Parent-Teacher council's summer roundup work beginning, additional money is needed for the program.

A three-act comedy, "Henry's Wedding" will have about 125 persons in the cast. It will be presented Monday and Tuesday, March 27 and 28, in the high school auditorium.

Miss Geraldine Roberts will present specialties between acts.

A certain vine from tropical Africa will cling to glass and eat away the surface when planted beside a window.

So Tired and Nervous She Couldn't Sleep Well

"I was in a very nervous condition," writes Mrs. J. S. Odom, of Waycross, Ga. "I did not sleep well at night. I would get up in the mornings feeling all tired and worn out. My appetite was poor. My mother-in-law thought Cardui would help me. After I began taking it my appetite increased. I rested better at night. I kept taking Cardui until I felt well and strong. I know it did me a lot of good. It is splendid for nervousness and other troubles that young women have."

Cardui is sold at drug stores here.

Lubbock Host In Triangular Meet Today; Ex-Athletics Help Sox Hopes

Ralls Rabbits, Brownfield To Be Here Today

Coach Chapman's Team Run In Third Meet Of Season With Two South Plains Outfits At Tech Field Today

For the third time in less than a week the Lubbock High school track and field squad will compete in a regulation meet this afternoon.

The Westerners play hosts to the Ralls High school Jackrabbits and the Brownfield High school Cubs in a triangular meet at the Texas Tech field. The events begin at 3:30 o'clock.

Third In Snyder Meet

Last Friday afternoon in the first meet of the season, the Westerners came out a close second in a dual meet with the Amarillo High school Golden Sandstorm. The score was 59 to 50. On the following day the Westerners journeyed to Snyder and won third place in the Snyder High school invitation track and field meet.

While no definite information as to the power of the Jackrabbits and Cubs has drifted in, it is thought that Coaches Hendricks and Hayhurst will bring a couple of capable teams here today.

The public is invited to attend the meet, for which no admission charges will be made.

Coach Weldon Chapman said last night he probably would start the same men who performed in the Amarillo meet last week. That being the case, the following men will represent Lubbock in the following events this afternoon:

100-yard dash—Dalton Blagg, Rufus Ryan, Joe Nelson.

220-yard dash — Charles Young Robert Stone, Alfred Arnold.

440-yard run — Charles Young James Hunt, Maynard Knight.

880-yard run — Dick Chapman Wilson Chapman, K. Green.

Mile run—Graham Stanfill, Hugh Huff, Sidney Brown.

Relay—Stone, Young, Nelson and Hunt.

Low hurdles—Blagg, Artie Hicks Clarence Mast.

High hurdles—Stone, Mast, Maurice Cowan.

High jump—Blagg, Cowan, Rayburn Hale.

Broad jump — Blagg, Rayburn, Hale, Nelson.

Pole vault—Cowan, Hicks, Hugh Snodgrass.

Shot put—George Janes, Robert Hale.

Discus throw — James, Robert Hale.

Javelin — Cowan, Paul Warren Robert Hale.

Steers Get Down To Work But Seven Of Them Absent

DALLAS, March 15. (AP)—The Dallas Steers got down to real practice with two sessions today under the sharp commands of Manager Happ Morse. Morning and afternoon workouts were the vogue as Steer stadium where veterans and rookies were battling for their jobs.

Seven absentees still were listed at the conclusion of today's second workout. Five of them, Zeke Bonura, first baseman; Rip Radcliff, outfielder, and Grant, Bowler, Minogue and Garland were recognized as sincere holdouts. The other two missing players were Tom McPhaul, signed as a free agent, and Mock, a rookie infielder from New Orleans. Both were expected to arrive for tomorrow's practice.

Cincinnati Regulars Take A 4-3 Licking From Yannigans

TAMPA, Fla., March 15. (AP) — With pitching staffs switched around, the regulars of the Cincinnati Reds took a 4 to 3 licking from the Yannigans in a seven-inning practice game today.

Frazier, Fonger and Hilcher, pitched for the first-stringers, Frazier leading the youngsters in allowing only two hits in three innings. Johnson, Kolp and Ogden did mound-work for the Yannigans, allowing only five hits but with Johnson alone yielding two runs.

PING-PONG PUNISHING

SOPHOMORE LEADS SCORERS

AUSTIN (AP)—Jack Gray, star University of Texas sophomore, led the Southwest Conference basketball race in scoring this season with 157 points in 12 games.

YANKS EVEN WITH BRAVES

T. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 15 (AP) — The New York Yankees squared accounts with the Boston Braves today, winning the second game of their spring exhibition series 8 to 7.

The Yankees, with Ben Chapman driving out a triple and a double, scored six of their runs off Ed Fallenstein, a rookie, in the first three innings.

Babe Ruth worked out for an hour before the game and then left to play golf.

CARDS DOWN MACK MEN

BRADENTON, Fla., March 15. (AP) —The St. Louis Cardinals opened their spring exhibition schedule this afternoon by defeating the Philadelphia Athletics, 6 to 4. The Red Birds outhit the Mack men 13 to 10 and showed a stouter defense. Jimmy Wilson, Bob O'Farrell, Ernie Orsatti and Pepper Martin were outstanding for the Cards. Dizzy Dean would have had a scoreless three innings if two hot bounders hadn't taken wild bounces past Martin in the first inning. Score:

Phil'phia (A)	200	010	100	4	10 3
St. Louis (N)	001	021	11x	6	13 1

Peterson, Freitas, McKeithan and Cochrane; Madjeski; Dean, Carleton, Derringer and J. Wilson, O'Farrell.

BROWNS GET SET

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 15. (AP)—With only three more days for practice before their first game of the year, the St. Louis Browns today were set for Sunday's affair with the House of David team. Dick Coffman, who is far advanced in his work, will be the starting pitcher. Manager Killefer will have what he expects to be his regular infield in action, with Levey, Burns, Melillo and Scharein holding down the posts.

TWO BUFFS HOLD OUT

HOUSTON, March 15. (AP)—Houston's holdout list was reduced to two players today when Mike Cvengroes, veteran southpaw, signed a contract. George Payne and Ralph Judd, pitchers, are now the holdouts.

The most interesting feature of today's workout was Manager Carey Selph's decision to try to make a pitcher of Elmer Dean, who said he was an outfielder when he reported. Carey worked long and hard with Elmer, hoping he would develop into a chunker comparable with his younger brothers, Dizzy and Paul.

CATS TO MINERAL WELLS

FORT WORTH, March 15. (AP) — After an intra-squad game in the morning, the Fort Worth Cats, 22 strong, left this afternoon for Mineral Wells. They will open training there tomorrow, but will return here Sunday for their first game.

George Washington's team defeated Hub Norton's boys, 6-5 in the intra-squad contest. Charley Biggs and Bill Terry, opposing pitchers, were permitted to go the full five innings.

All players on the Fort Worth roster are now signed, with only three due to report, Charley Engle, Russell Scarritt and Hart Sullivan. They have been granted permission to report late.

CUBS BEAT SOX OFF SOX

LOS ANGELES, March 15. (AP)—Chicago's National League champions, the Cubs, won the first game of their spring training city series from the Chicago White Sox here today 13-7, in a wild hitting spree.

The Cub sluggers pounded three young Sox pitchers for 17 hits, including two home runs and three doubles. Kiki Cuyler, Cub centerfielder, had a perfect day at bat with a homer, a double and two singles in four times up.

Score by innings:

Chicago (N)	304	220	20x	13	17 1

Gregory, Wilson, Kimsey and Berry; Malone, Warneke and X Taylor.

TRIBE TO MEET PELICANS

NEW ORLEANS, March 15. (AP)—Manager Roger Peckinpaugh of the Cleveland Indians looked over his squad of hurlers today and announced he would send Mel Harder, Clint Brown and Oral Hildebrand to the mound in an exhibition game with the New Orleans Pelicans tomorrow.

BUCS END SERIES WITH WIN

OAKLAND, Calif., March 15. (AP) —The Pittsburgh Pirates of the National League wound up their series with Oakland of the Pacific Coast League by putting over a 5-2 victory today. The Pirates cinched the game in the third inning by scoring four runs off Lou McAvoy, former New York Yankee pitcher.

Pale Hose Are Aiming Toward First Division

Ted Lyons And Vic Frasier To Be Watched With Interest In Training Camp; Outfield To Be Strong As The Others

By BRIAN BELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

PASADENA, Calif., March 15. — The Chicago White Sox are claiming no immediate championships, but have their sights leveled conservatively on a first division place for 1933. This is not such a modest aspiration when it is considered the Sox of yesterday and the day before did not even dare hope for a place in select baseball society.

Most of the interest of the rail birds at Brookside park, where the Sox train, has been centered on Jimmy Dykes, Mule Haas, and Al Simmons, ex-Athletics, but the managerial forces have been deriving considerable satisfaction from indications that Ted Lyons and Vic Frasier, who spent a lot of time last season on the hospital lists, will be in there doing a lot of effective pitching this year.

With Simmons, Hass and Dykes contributing their quota of base hits, the pitchers should benefit accordingly.

Infield Not So Hot

The Chicago infield is not all that it might be, boasting fair quality perhaps, but no quantity. With Manager Lew Fonseca at first base, Jack Hays at second, Luke Appling out for short and Jimmy Dykes taking care of third, four-fifths of the active infield roll call has been sounded.

If no infielders are added to the list, Red Kress, considered an outfielder now, may be restored to good standing as an infielder, although Manager Fonseca wants him in right field. Billy Sullivan, listed as a catcher, is a clever utility player and no stranger in infield tasks.

Fight For Right Field

The outfield will compare favorably with others in the league. Simmons in left and Haas in center, of course, are set. Kress, Evar Swanson, the speedster, and Elias Funk, another fast man, will fight it out for the other place.

There are no catching worries in the camp. Charles Berry and Frank Grube will offer satisfactory performances in holding up the pitchers and do their share of hitting.

Lyons, Frasier, Paul Gregory, Milton Gaston, Sam Jones, Red Faber, Ed Durham, former Red Sox, Chad Kimsey, Joe Heving, and Ed Walsh, jr., seem to be in a fair way to start the season on the payroll and there may be another from the list of Clarence Fieber, John Wilson, George Murray and Fabian Kowalik.

The Sox will go ahead with the first division as their goal. In advance of the actual hostilities it is difficult to name the four clubs they will top, but they think they can do it and maybe they can.

Seventeen lettermen on the University of Michigan Big Ten championship football team will return for play next year.

Two Brother Acts May Help Pirates In Campaign

With a crop of hustling rookies added to the ranks, the Pittsburgh Pirates are preparing with confidence for the National League pennant drive.

In the upper picture, two sets of brothers now with the Bucs probably are visualizing the bunting unfurled over their home ballwick. They are, left to right, Kenneth Vaughan, recruit shortstop; Paul Waner, outfielder; Floyd Vaughan, regular shortstop, and Lloyd Waner, outfielder.

Rabbit Awards Are Scheduled

Secretary Of First Show Will Announce Winners Of Affair Today; Judging Is Completed Late Wednesday

Awards in a first annual show of the South Plains Rabbit Breeders association will be announced today by J. B. Rhodes, secretary, it was said last night.

Lewis Griffin of Colorado Springs, Col., completed judging of the 100 entries in the various contests yesterday afternoon. Besides the entries on which fees were paid, about 50 other rabbits were shown which were not eligible for awards.

The show will be open until 4 o'clock this afternoon, M. E. Lawrence, superintendent, said. In addition to the rabbit show, there is a display of furs in the windows of the exposition building in the 1200 block of Broadway.

Breeds of rabbits shown were Blue Bevern, Silver Fox, Black Fox New Zealand Red, New Zealand White, Chinchilla, Flemish Giant, Checkered Giant, Himalayan and Blue and Black Dutch.

BRIGHT MOUND PROSPECT

BILOXI, Miss. (AP)—Bud Thomas, rookie pitcher with the Washington Senators, won 21 games and lost only one while hurling for a semi-pro team in the Capital City two seasons ago.

Cromers Beat Chamberlains In Galveston Intersquad Go

GALVESTON, March 15. (AP) — Bunching four hits with two bases on balls, the Cromers staged a five-run rally in the third inning of the first Buccaneer camp game here today to beat the Chamberlains 6-5. Triples by Fabian Gaffke, outfielder obtained from the Chicago White Sox and Mehard, rookie first baseman, each blow coming with men on bases, featured the rally. Rookie hurlers worked for both sides.

Jack Mealy, catcher who was with San Antonio last year, connected for a home run inside the park with a man on in the second inning, but the blow failed to put the Chamberlains over.

The two teams play seven innings Friday and seven again Saturday when the rest of the outfielders and infielders are due. They went five innings today.

More Than 220 Attend Dinner Held At Presbyterian Church

More than 220 members of the First Presbyterian church attended an annual Loyalty dinner at 7 o'clock last night at the church.

Plans for an annual home coming program Sunday were discussed. Dr. Jack M. Lewis, who has served the church 11 years, was toastmaster. The theme of the dinner was "My Church."

Persons appearing on the program were Dr. C. J. Wagner, Mrs. C. C. Galbraith, Mrs. H. P. Godeke, H. D. Woods, H. E. Blocker, R. W. Wright, W. H. Edgett, Mrs. V. L. Doughtie, H. S. Brown, Mrs. J. M. Lewis, and Mrs. H. E. Blocker.

THEY COME AND GO

Berkeley Bell Is Beaten In Tennis Upset

Chunky Physician Takes Time Off To Upset Dope And Beat Seeded Star In National Indoor Net Tournament

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, March 15. — A chunky, left handed physician, Dr. Lawrence W. Kurzrok, took time off from his hospital duties today to trounce R. Berkeley Bell, seeded No. 6, and provide the national indoor singles tennis championships with the first upset, and almost the only thrill it has known all week.

Seven other seeded stars, ranging all the way from Gregory S. Mangin, defending titleholder, down through Dr. Eugene McCauliff, Yonkers, seeded eighth, landed in the quarter finals to be staged tomorrow. The final round, both in singles and doubles, is scheduled for Saturday.

Kurzrok, catching Bell off his game, won in straight sets, 6-3, 6-3.

Mangin Wins Easily

Mangin mowed down Albert Law, jr., a New York university youngster, 6-2, 6-3, and McCauliff, experimenting with his strokes, won from George R. Preston, New York, 3-6, 6-1, 6-4.

Sidney B. Wood, former Wimbledon champion, trounced Sidney Seligson, New York, 6-2, 6-2, and J. Gilbert Hall, Orange N. J., fourth of the seeded players in the upper half eliminated Ernest Koslan, New York, 6-3, 6-4.

In the quarter final pairings tomorrow, Mangin plays McCauliff and Wood is matched with Hall.

Clifford B. Sutter, former Tulane star, easily defeated Julius Seligson, former inter-collegiate champion from Lehigh, and thus qualified to meet the lambasting Dr. Kurzrok.

BUSH SEEKS HALE

Donie Bush, Cincinnati Reds' manager, is after Odel "Bad News" Hale, a third baseman now the property of the Cleveland Indians. Hale played with Toledo in the American Association last season.

Should the children
EAT IT?

PARENTS, particularly mothers, are paying a lot of attention to children's diet these days. For it is far more economical and pleasant to keep a child well by feeding him correctly than by nursing and doctoring him back to health.

Of course in case of doubt the doctor should be consulted regarding what a child should eat and what he should not eat. But do you realize that the leading manufacturers of food now seek the advice and approval of the leading nutritional authorities in the country, relatvie to the claims they make for their products in their advertising?

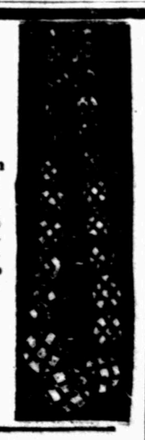

In other words, food advertisements are reliable sources of information regarding diet. They are based upon the results of the latest approved scientific discoveries about vitamins, minerals and roughage, in relation to vigorous bodies, clear complexions, sound teeth and properly regulated systems.

So read these advertisements carefully. Consult your doctor about them. Very often the advertiser invites you to do this because he has asked authorities, whom your doctor respects, about statements made in those advertisements.

UNREASONING FEAR
vs.
"HORSE SENSE"

We are over the "hump". "Old Man Prosperity" is returning. His steps are slow, his back is bent but as surely as death and taxes, he is returning and he will be here before you realize it.

* * * *

Inflation always follows deflation. A dollar will buy more today than ever again in your lifetime. Unreasoning fear overpowers your good, plain "horse sense". You know this is true, but you have been scared so long, you are afraid to venture.

* * * *

You have been reading my ads and have seen my prices for "SPOT CASH" on these good Lubbock homes. You know I have the best house bargains in Lubbock. You have been waiting through fear of the future to grab one of these bargains.

SPOTLIGHT

By H. W. CORLEY

Blaine telephoned a few nights later. He was going to Chicago to sing in a musical show.

Trevor Lane gave a party and Sheila went, arrayed in her best, her hair done in a new and becoming way. In spite of admiration and attention she could not be cheered. Jerry had not written for more than a week.

One afternoon when the search for a job, as usual, had been fruitless Sheila hesitated between spending money to see a vaudeville bill or dropping in on Blind Timmy at Joe Paris' song shop. She finally decided to call on Timmy.

She found him in a practice room and he welcomed her warmly, pathetically glad to have her call. Timmy had moved from Ma Lowell's several months before. He could not afford the luxury of his former room there.

"Written any new songs?" Sheila asked.

For answer Timmy ran his fingers over the keys, began playing a melody.

"That's lovely," she told him. "Will you let me sing it?"

Timmy's face shone. "Will you, Sheila?"

"If I can. I haven't a job yet."

"Sing it at a party some time. See if it goes over," he urged, and she promised.

It was several weeks longer before a job materialized for Sheila. Then she had a chance to fill in with a partner at a smart supper club. Dora Rodney, who danced with her brother, Ted, at the Club Volens became ill and Sheila agreed to take her place. Ted was a supercilious young man who thought no one his equal. Sheila danced with him one week and then another. Ted and Dora received $150 a week. Sheila was paid $50. That was fair enough, however. Alone or with a partner less well known she could not have won an engagement at the Club Volens.

At the end of the two weeks Sheila's finances totaled $200. It was enough to tide her over the rest of the summer. Instead of saving all this thriftily, Sheila bought some new clothes. She wanted to look her best when Jerry Wyman arrived. She was glad that she had so many friends. It would be nice to appear popular before Jerry. She could take him to one of Trevor Lane's parties and introduce him to actors, playwrights and others whose names were well known. She would show him the most entertaining supper clubs.

August arrived but with it no Jerry. Even his letters had become less frequent.

Sheila went back to the Club Volens to dance with Ted Rodney. "Will Dora's Spanish costume fit you?" he asked her.

"I think so," Sheila turned to him, conscious of two things—that she looked well and that Ted could never be induced to say so.

"Scared?"

She knew enough to answer this truthfully. "Yes. Aren't you?"

"I always am lately for some reason."

"Maybe it's because you miss Dora," Sheila said sympathetically.

The master of ceremonies was announcing them. The orchestra began their number and the spotlight flung itself across the floor. Sheila and Ted stood in position at the entrance. They waited a moment. Then two running steps forward and they were off.

It was not until the dance had ended and they were bowing to the applause that Sheila noticed a young man seated at a nearby table. It was Jerry Wyman.

Visitation Day Is Planned Today By Schools At Olton

OLTON, March 15. (Special) — "Visitation Day" for the Olton schools will be Thursday, March 16 when both the high school and grades will be open for inspection by patrons of the district. Visiting hours will be from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m.

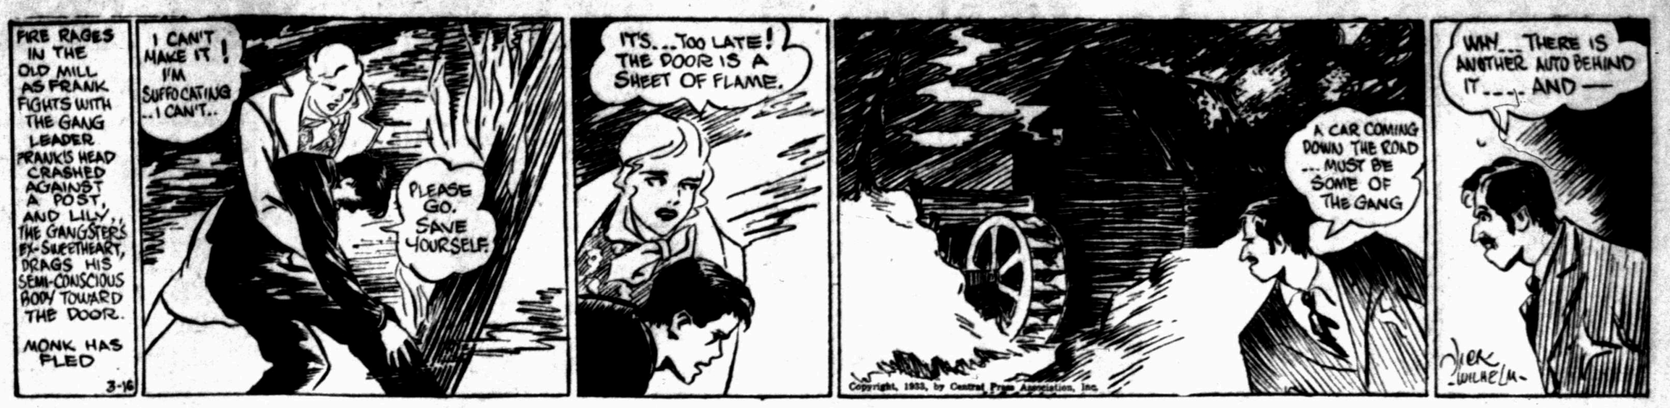

The local P.-T. A. will celebrate the 38th anniversary of the founding of the organization at 4:45 that afternoon. The program will be held in the school lunch room.

CAFE HELD UP

HENDERSON, March 15 (AP)—Two unmasked men today held up Jay's cafe here and escaped with approximately $1,000, receipts of the past three days. Officers traced the men to Mt. Enterprise where the trail was lost.

Although cooler than the outside air, the interior of the Great Pyramid at Gizeh is excessively hot due to lack of ventilation.

THE SIGNAL HAS BEEN RECEIVED!!

"AMERICA, FULL SPEED AHEAD"

For three and one-half years we have been proceeding at a constantly reducing speed—headed for nowhere in particular—hampered and held back by doubt and uncertainty.

The blow we have feared has been received—the shock we somewhat dreaded has been experienced. As is usually the case neither has proved to be as severe as was expected. On the contrary we have found we could "take it"—found that we could take it with a surprisingly slight jar.

Now the signal changes: "Full Speed Ahead" is the new order of the day. Of course some time will be required to again gain full momentum, but what of it—at last we are off—we're headed somewhere—we're on our way.

For our part we are now looking to the future with confidence, assurance and satisfaction. America will again prove her greatness.

Bank Deposits Show Big Gain

Total Deposits For Day Set At $806,700; Net Gain In Deposits Is $437,245 While $1,977 In Gold Taken

gency banking regulations.

Of the $806,700 received in deposits, approximately $365,000 was in checks drawn on the banks themselves. The difference in these figures represents the net gain in deposits, which was in excess of $437,000. Some deposits accepted for out-of-town banks were not included in the gain.

Other Banks Opened

Although no check was made, reports were received here of the regular opening of many South Plains banks. There were no reports received at the Avalanche-Journal office of any closed bank doors. Lamesa's two banks reported an 80 per cent increase in deposits over checks. No withdrawals were reported there and there was an increase in currency. More than $10,000 in deposits flowed into the Abernathy State bank vault yesterday, it was said.

One local banker said yesterday was the busiest day in regular banking he had seen since Jan. 2, 1929. Volume at another bank was the greatest since the fall of 1928.

Open An Hour Early

The institutions opened at 8 o'clock, an hour earlier than usual, in order to allow deposits from downtown customers. The closing was at 3 o'clock, as usual.

Receiving cages were flooded with checks and stacks of currency as tellers labored to satisfy customers and long lines of people were in front of each window waiting to make deposits. Lobbies of all three banks were crowded and officials were busy holding conferences and receiving congratulations and pledges of confidence from patrons.

Heavy accumulation of checks during the moratorium taxed clerical forces but officials expressed a hope that normal business would be experienced by Thursday. Checks were piled "in bales" in the bookkeeping departments.

No display of fear was evident at any of the institutions and no reports were made on withdrawals only in small amounts. President Roosevelt's proclamation providing penalties for hoarding of currency and gold still maintained, however, and bankers said any requests for large withdrawals would have to be made by affidavit as required under the emergency banking act passed last week. No requests had been made here thus far, it was said. No other restrictions were placed on deposits.

Reports were received here today that banking activity had been resumed at Slaton, Brownfield, Seagraves, Ropesville, Abernathy, Plainview, Hale Center, Petersburg, Olton, Lamesa, Polydada and Lockney.

Police Guards

We've got to stay. They've sent police details to every place where you're going today."

"What can I do to get rid of you, please?" said Mrs. Roosevelt.

"You might send for the captain," the policeman suggested after a moment's hesitation.

Captain Appears

Mrs. Roosevelt passed on into the club and upstairs to the telephone. Indirectly she got in touch with Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney. A few minutes later a police captain appeared.

"They told me to send ten, but I only sent four because I knew you wouldn't like it," he said soothingly.

"Well, please take them away," Mrs. Roosevelt smiled. "I don't need them."

They went away.

Repeal Action

since the state would have seven years to act.

"Why all the hurry?" Representative B. F. Vaughan of Greenville asked Mrs. Hughes. "Is the lady from Dallas thirsty?"

"If I was thirsty I'd know where to go to get it," Mrs. Hughes said.

The house refused to set for special order at 10 a. m. tomorrow a bill by Representative John W. Laird of Lufkin which would abolish the existing appointive three-member highway commission and replace it with a five-member elective commission. The motion to set the bill for special consideration received a majority vote, but was far below the required two-thirds. The vote was 74 ayes to 50 noes.

Man Convicted In Baby Death

Mother Also Faces Charge Of Murder For Slaying Of Babe; Father Admits Hiding Body In A Can

WICHITA, March 15 (AP)—Paul Drury, 34-year-old taxicab driver, was convicted by a district court jury here today of first degree murder for the slaying last December 23 of his 10-day old son, born out of wedlock.

Miss Loretta Duross, confessed mother of the baby born to her at a hospital in Newton, Kas., December 14, also faces first degree murder charges and will be tried next month.

In his confession to police on January 24, soon after he was arrested, Drury told of taking the baby to a bridge west of the city where he struck its head on the bridge railing and then deposited the body in a 5-gallon can which he partly buried under scrap metal and sand in a slough.

The body was found January 22 by Paul Crease, a motorist, who came upon it as he sought a container with which to dip up water for the radiator of his car.

MacDonald And Simon Will Hold Session With Il Duce

ROME, March 15. (AP)—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and Sir John Simon, his foreign secretary, will meet Premier Mussolini in Rome Saturday to discuss means of salvaging the disarmament conference, it was announced officially tonight.

A statement issued at the foreign office said the British statesmen were coming at the express invitation of Premier Mussolini. They are to leave Geneva, where they are at present, Friday night.

Market Rise

by banking pressure to convert resources into cash.

Staples Join Ascent

The big commodity markets such as the Chicago grain pit and the New York and New Orleans cotton exchanges were not slated to open until tomorrow, but staples in other markets joined the swift ascent of securities. Silver futures in national metal exchange jumped about a cent an ounce, the March delivery closed at 28 1-2 cents. While there was little trading in copper, futures quotations were boosted 8-10s of a cent a pound. Raw hide futures gained about a cent a pound, and smaller advances were registered in such staples as raw silk, sugar, coffee, cocoa and crude rubber.

Speculative interest in commodities was as keen as in securities, and many of the most smartly advancing shares were those calculated to benefit from better prices for raw staples — for instance sugars, coppers, farm implements and shares of mail order companies. The opening of the Chicago grain pit and the New York cotton exchange tomorrow was awaited with keen interest, in view of advances in foreign markets and in domestic dealings for immediate delivery in those staples since the markets closed.

Dollar Strengthened

The American dollar dipped rather sharply in relation to other leading currencies in the early dealings but soon strengthened. The pound sterling, after rising 2 3-8 cents to $3.47 3-8, fell back to $3.45 5-8.

The so-called wet stocks were prominent in the advance, as the measure to legalize beer had been passed with a big majority in the house of representatives during the 12-day market suspension.

It was in the decisive measures taken in Washington rather than in news from business and industry that financial quarters found new encouragement. The progress in congress of the governmental economy bill was stressed in several quarters as an outstanding factor in the restoration of confidence.

While statistics for the past week of electric power production, steel ingot output, and freight car loadings, all showed rather sharp contraction as result of the clogging of credit channels during the banking holiday, Wall street was discussing with enthusiasm the prospect of a belated spring business pickup, with financial confidence restored.

ORGANIZE GARDEN CLUB

ANTON, (Special)—The Anton Flower Garden club was organized here with Mrs. Ed M. Hart as president; Mrs. T. H. Belcher, secretary-treasurer and Mrs. Barney Walker, reporter. A community beautification program will be fostered. Four hundred trees have been secured to set out around the Spade circle here. Each of the four churches is taking one of the triangles and will care for the trees and shrubs. Main street from down town through the circle to the school will be beautified.

would be cut a flat 10 per cent for one year.

Power To Slash Pay

The measure also empowers the executive to slash the pay of federad civil and military employes on a percentage basis in accordance with the drop in the cost of living, using the first six months of 1928 as a base, but providing no cut shall exceed 15 per cent.

Senators and representatives would be cut the maximum 15 per cent—or from $10,000 to $8,500.

The salary cuts would become effective immediately and run until the end of the next fiscal year.

The veterans' slashes would become effective in three months, and the president would have two years to fix regulations covering the reductions.

After that period no veterans' reductions could be made except by congress.

Amendments Are Listed

Among the important amendments adopted were the following:

By Walsh (D., Mass.)—to prevent removal from the rolls of any veteran of the world and Spanish-American wars suffering from disabilities directly traceable to war service, but still permitting the president to change the rates in these groups.

By Black (D., Ala.)—to prevent interference with judgments which may hereafter be rendered on insurance claims pending in suits yet to be decided (it is estimated this will cut about $5,000,000 a year from the proposed economies).

By Bill (D., Wash.)—to bar removal from the pension rolls of Spanish-American war veterans over 62 years of age, but allowing the president to change their rates.

By Copeland (D., N. Y.)—to permit domiciliary care to all veterans suffering from tubercular of neuropsychiatric ailments not traceable to war service.

By Black—to permit the president, if he deems it necessary, to provide hospital treatment as well as domiciliary care to non-service connected disabilities.

Missouri Ready For Beer When Bill Gets Approval

JEFFERSON CITY, March 15. (AP)—Missouri is ready for beer when the word comes from Washington that it's legal.
