NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 21.— Announcement was made here today that papers in a suit for alleged breach of promise of marriage with $500,000 claimed damages, brought by Mrs. Katherine King Fogarty, 30, of New York City, against James J. (Gene) Tunney, retired heavyweight boxing champion, had been sent to Bridgeport to be entered in the Superior Civil court of Fairfield county.

The papers were sent by a deputy sheriff for filing this morning, and a member of the law firm of Field, Durant and Levere went to court to arrange for other details of entry of the suit.

Gene Tunney

The papers had not been filed at noon. It was stated at the office of Colonel Lewis L. Field, who signed the writ as commissioner of the Superior court, that the delay was due to details of garnisheeing all banks in Stamford and Greenwich in which there was a possibility that Tunney had a bank account. It was stated attachment had been entered against Tunney's estate, brought about a year ago in Stamford for a country home and which is assessed for $14,000.

Mrs. Fogarty formerly lived in Ft. Worth, Texas. Colonel Field said she is not now in Connecticut but declined to say where she was staying. He said that the present there

Man Found Slain On Dallas Street

BULLET-RIDDLED BODY OF LLANO YOUTH IN MYSTERY KILLING

(By Associated Press)
DALLAS, May 21 (AP)—His right hand clutching a piece of a watch chain, William B. McLean was found shot to death on a sidewalk in East Fifth Street here today. McLean apparently had waged an unsuccessful fight with a robber.

Identification was established by laundry marks on the clothing and by McLean's landlady. Reports that he was a student at Southern Methodist university were found to be untrue. He was employed in a radio shop here and was a son of Judge J. H. McLean of Llano.

One pistol bullet entered McLean's chest, causing an internal hemorrhage.

Cause Is Undecided

Officers still were undecided between two theories. The first, robbery, they held most tenable since McLean was clutching his watch chain. The second was that he was slain in south Dallas, the body taken to East Fifth Street and thrown there. It was known, officers said, that McLean nightly had visited a girl in south Dallas, and that he had left his residence last night to go to see her. Jealousy over the girl might have been a motive, police declared.

Father To Dallas

LLANO, May 21 (AP)—Judge J. H. McLean, father of William B. McLean, 23, found shot to death today, left immediately to claim his son's body upon receipt of news of the tragedy.

THREATEN MURDER IF $50,000 EXTORTION ISN'T PAID

(By Associated Press)
BOSTON, May 21.—The Boston Post in a copyrighted story today says Dwight W. Morrow, Ambassador to Mexico and father of Anne Morrow, fiance of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, has been made subject of a $50,000 extortion plot.

The money, the Post asserts, was demanded under penalty of torture and death of his youngest daughter, 15-year-old Constance Morrow, student at Milton Academy.

Two Letters To Girl

The newspaper says it has learned the receipt by the girl of two threatening letters was responsible for last Saturday's secret flight by Lindbergh and members of the Morrow family from the Morrow home at Englewood, N. J., to their summer place at North Haven, Me.

It was also responsible for the detective guard which has since stood vigil over the island retreat of the Morrows in Maine and for the impersonation of Constance by another girl at the Milton Academy while Constance was being spirited away to join the airplane flight.

The blaze which followed the explosion caused damage estimated at hundreds of dollars. A truck, garage, chicken house, and implements were destroyed b ythe fire, which also killed four hogs and a number of chickens.

Mr. Hailey was aroused from his bed to get some gasoline for the motorist. He was under his truck in the garage and asked the motorist to strike a match so that he could see how to cut the gasoline off. When the match flared up the gasoline exploded, burning Hailey badly about the face and body.

The man officers were seeking came to Stamford recently from Michigan, and was employed at the sanitarium. Glen and the suspect visited the quarters of the assistant last night, nurses reported. Other specimens secured for the museum from Mr. Doughty include 47 teeth of small triassic reptiles, glazed pottery from cliff dwellings near Santa Fe, samples of lava and ores from many parts of the earth and arms, representative of the past fifty years.

George A. Doughty is a recognized authority on fossil specimens and is frequently consulted from all parts of the United States.

TOO YOUNG TO VOTE, YET PARLIAMENT MEMBER

HER ORIGINS WERE HUMBLE

PROVED HERSELF EFFECTIVE ON THE STUMP

BY MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Writer

GLASGOW, May 21.—"Ah you Amer-r-icans are ver-r-r-y sweeft, but ye hae nae had a Jenny Lee nor treated her as weel either."

Wander around the mining districts of North Lanark, not very far away from the great Scotch metropolitan city of Glasgow, with your American accent and your horn glasses and that is what the Scotch coal miners say to you. They are proud of the recent by-election. They are proud of its results. And they are exceedingly proud of Jenny Lee, the pretty, slender 24-year-old school marm whom they have elected to the House of Commons. Jenny Lee has broken any number of records:

She "redeemed" North Lanark from the Tories and won it for the Labor party.

She is the youngest member who ever sat in the Mother of Parliaments.

Romance of Hard Work

She presents the animaly that, although under British law, she herself may not have a vote until the next general election, she was nevertheless, herself eligible for election to Parliament and was duly elected.

Hers is a romance of hard work and achievement that we like to call American, but that the people north of the English border like to call typically Scotch. Jenny Lee was not born with a silver spoon in her mouth. Her origins were as humble as Lincoln's. Her grandfather has been a worker all his life. Also for over 40 years he has been a leader in the Independent Labor party of this region. Her father, James Lee, is a coal miner whose average wage has been about $15 a week. On this he reared his family.

And now comes the Scotch of it. These proud, independent people have a perfect passion for education. Scotland's public school system is far superior to England's and has been for generations. It is the rule in every Scotch family, whether they be coal miners or tillers of a poor little farm, to give the most bookish child all the education he or she can get. It is the ambition of every Scotch family to send a child to the University to train to be a lawyer, a doctor, an engineer, a preacher, a journalist or a teacher. To this end all the other members of the family turn in and pool their savings, meager though their resources may be. In this way Jenny Lee, the daughter of the poor miner, was sent to Edinburgh University, which has always been noted for plain living, but very hard study. Miss Lee obtained degrees in the arts and law.

She was president of the Edinburgh University Labor Club, where she quickly found out that she had talents for public speaking and debates. She promptly got a job as school teacher at Glencraig School in Fifeshire. For the past two years she has been busy as a propagandist for the Independent Labor party—the "I. L. P." as it is universally known.

Then came this matter of an election to fill a vacancy in North Lanark. At the last election the figures had been 13,880 for the Tory and 11,852 for the Labor candidate. The thoughts of the Labor leaders turned to pretty, vivacious Jenny Lee, who had proved herself so effective on the stump. Would she undertake the hard job? She would. She did. She set the heather afire. She campaigned night and day.

The Tory candidate was young Lord Scone, the courtesy title of the son and heir of the Earl of Mansfield, a great Scotch land owner. The young man's name tickled the Scotch miners. Though scone happens to be the Scotch version of our biscuit. Only it is always eaten cold. It became a joke around Lanark: "He's an underdone scone. When Jenny Lee gets through wi' him he'll be weel done."

Scone Gets Done

He was. Miss Jenny polled 15,711 votes. Lord Scone got only 9,133. The Liberal candidate got so few votes that she forfeited her election deposit.

And the other day a packed House of Commons witnessed her debut. There were storms of cheers from the Labor benches and even staid Tories and Liberals applauded the good looking girl with the mass of dark chestnut hair, who was so becomingly clad in brown and who took her new honors so modestly and yet without embarrassment.

As she walked down the aisle to shake hands with the speaker of the House, she was sponsored by Robert Smillie, a veteran Labor member who has been a life-long friend of her father and grandfather, and by James Maxton, one of the young members from Glasgow, conspicuous for his brilliance as a speaker and because he is one of Labor's "wild men" from the Clydeside.

Living and Loving

BY MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

How we like to dance, and how we hate to pay the piper! It's just too bad that the very minute we decide a certain course is wrong and change, the reputation we build up when we were pursuing our own sweet way can't be reversed and everyone know that we are now exemplary in every way. But people have a painful habit of sticking to preconceived notions and don't change very readily. So, if we have built up a reputation that is not quite top notch we have to live it down slowly and painstakingly, and build up a better one.

* * *

DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I saw in your department a letter signed 'Brown Eyes.' It was quite a surprise to me to learn that a girl with all the good points that she possesses should lack boy friends. Up to a year ago I traveled with a typical crowd of modern young Americans, gin drinking fellows and girls without a serious thought in their heads. As a result of neglect my business went on the rocks and I saw the folly of continuing on so foolish a course. For the past year I have been without friends close enough to be companions, and any young man 24 years of age is bound to be desperately lonesome under the circumstances. Sometimes it becomes almost unbearable and I wonder if I wasn't foolish to quit the old crowd, so you see when I find that there really are some girls left who cannot be picked up on the street and who are old-fashioned enough to want to get married sometime, it gives me new courage. Would it be possible for me to meet Brown Eyes or, if not, where in this funny old world can a fellow meet a real, sensible girl who wants something besides joyriding and dancing? You see, my dear Mrs. Lee, I am handicapped in this way. My newly found self-respect makes me ashamed to go among other people in my town because it seems every place I go I hear slighting remarks and exaggerated stories about my foolish actions, but how can I possibly make Mrs. Grundy believe that I was foolish only, and never really bad? "CURLY."

One can only go quietly along in their way and gradually live such a reputation down, Curly. It's the price one pays for foolishness, you know. Be thankful you are not a girl. Your task would be twice as hard. My suggestion for filling up the lonely time that you used to pass with the old crowd would be to take up some study. What would help you most in your business, or have you a talent like music or dramatics? If this is at all possible, try to enter classes where there are students of both sexes. You will meet girls who are interested in really worthwhile things and have several thoughts in their heads besides joyriding and dancing, although most normal young people enjoy them too. Sorry I can't put you in touch with Brown Eyes.

* * *

SPECKS: Tell the lady exactly how you feel and what people are saying. I presume both she and her husband feel toward you as if you were their daughter and have no thought that her visits away from home would make people talk about you.

* * *

BROWN EYES: You must remember that other people, with worse problems than yours, need advice, and are waiting for their answers. You will overcome the homesick feeling in time. Arrange to go home for a week-end, if possible. Don't be silly worrying about being an old maid. There are no old maids nowadays, although many married women wish they had stayed single, so think of your mercies and be happy. You'll just naturally meet young people and have boy friends in time. No, don't write to the boy again.

* * *

GOOD KRAUT: I wish you young people would not expect me to answer your letters by a certain date unless it's a long way in advance. Sometimes the letter does not even reach me until after you want the answer. Lying is certainly a trying fault. Personally I would hate to trust my future to one whose word I could not believe. I should think your boy friend would try to break himself of the habit for his own sake as well as yours. In that case he might be worth waiting for, as you care for him.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I am badly in need of help and I think you will agree with me when you you hear my case. I have had quite a few nice boy friends who have come to my house. Now, Virgina, I have a wonderful mother and sisters and brothers, but my dad is a dad I am really ashamed of. He drinks terribly and after he has been drinking he gets very ugly and cross. Just as soon as I introduce my boy friends to him their opinion seems to change, and I don't see them any more. My mother is such a wonderful one that I take great pride in introducing her to my friends, but it really doesn't look right to introduce mother without introducing dad, too, do you think? Please help me, Virgina, because I certainly am worried. PAY."

Couldn't your mother put it up to your father, and wouldn't he, as a matter of pride, try to be sober and a credit to you when you are going to have company? It is a most unpleasant situation, and I don't know what you can do about it, dear, except be so nice that the boys won't mind your father. If he is there when the boys come maybe you could go out somewhere.

WORRIED WIFE: Your letter is a little confusing. In the first part you seem to feel so badly that you are separated from your husband and that he is getting a divorce. I understood there that your devotion to your mother was the cause of your parting. Then you tell about this other man. You speak, too, of getting your mother a place to stay with relatives. Could this be done? Young married people should be by themselves, if possible. If so, why not write to your husband and see if he loves you enough to take you back and discontinue the divorce action. If not, it seems to be best that you make a home for your mother until things straighten out. If your husband insists on the divorce you will then be free, and if the other man is free and loves you and you can love and be true to him, marry and make a good home and live a good, true life. I don't believe you will be punished very much for your sins if you really try hard to do what is right from now on.

AMARILLO FIREMAN MAKES WISE DECISION

Another Railroad Man Has Gained Wonderfully On Only Two Bottles Of Orgatone

"I am just finishing my second bottle of Orgatone and I have gained wonderfully in health," said W. N. Worford, at his home a few days ago. Mr. Worford, is a stationery fireman at the general office Santa Fe Railroad and lives at 3802 Tyler St., Amarillo, Texas.

"For twenty years," continued Mr. Worford, "I have suffered from indigestion, and my stomach was in such a bad condition every thing disagreed with me and I couldn't digest the food which my system really demanded. A short time after eating my food would sour, gas would form and bloat me up so at times I could scarcely breathe, many a night I would have to get up out of bed and take a dose of soda so I could get momentary relief. I would get up in the morning feeling as tired and worn out as if I hadn't gone to bed.

"I decided after reading the high endorsements to try Orgatone, and it certainly was a wise decision. My stomach is now in better shape than it has been in years and my food digests properly. I am relieved of constipation and that tired and achy feeling has left me as if by magic. Orgatone has certainly proven to be a great medicine for my case and I highly endorse it to anyone suffering as I have done."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called secret or patent remedy but a new scientific treatment containing no alcohol or other false stimulating drugs and is sold in Lubbock exclusively by the Bowens Drug Store under the personal direction of a special Orgatone representative. Adv.

HUNDREDS OF WORKERS BATTLE FLOODS THREATENING CROPS

ANGRY RIVER WATERS ROAR OVER LEVEES

DAMAGE THUS FAR IS SLIGHT; ADDED RISE IS FORECAST

(By Associated Press)

Rising streams and rivers threatening many sections of the Mississippi valley sent emergency crews hurrying to scenes of impending danger today, but disaster appeared to have been averted save in one instance.

Yesterday's only break occurred at a point where danger was least expected. While engineers were directing forces at three places near Hornett, Mo., the St. Francis rounded through another weakened levee and overflowed some 50,000 acres. Today the overflow had forked and was advancing through the countryside in two slow streams.

Many Are At Work

At Mounds Landing, Miss., where a break in 1927 sent the flood of water spring across some of the Delta's richest lands and towns, levee guard and government engineers were supervising forces which grew hourly in numbers.

The sloughs in the Mississippi river here had been checked sufficiently to give engineers hope a break would be averted. A request that President Hoover rescind the regulation forbidding state convicts to work on government projects—the levees are federal-built — had brought no reply save the information that the request must come to Washington through the district engineer.

Private Levee Weakened

Near Natchez, Miss., a private levee showed signs of weakening. Three to four hundred persons had taken their possessions and livestock to higher ground.

Arkansas' danger centered along the banks of the Red and Arkansas rivers. Texarkana reported a gradual reduction in the Red's rate of rise, and fair weather in Oklahoma and southeast Arkansas promised to lighten the river's burden.

The Arkansas was falling between Fort Smith and Little Rock. The government meteorologist at Little Rock reported, however, that a new rise was on the way. Betwen 6,000 and 10,000 acres near Pine Bluff were threatened with overflow.

A slight rise on the Ohio and upper Mississippi was in evidence.

The order of the Eastern Star was organized in 1876.

R. & N. passenger train near Newcome and lost his left arm and foot. He was brought to a local hospital for medical attention. Trainmen saw the man sitting near the track, but said they thought that he was aware of the train's approach. The engine was brought to a stop after the front trucks had struck King. Wet pavements probably saved the life of A. T. Anderson of this city late Saturday night, when the car which he was driving was struck by a large Katy passenger engine on the Lee Street grade crossing. The car skidded over the pavements after being struck and was partially demolished. Anderson escaped with only minor scratches.

NATIONAL LEAGUE FANS CAN'T BELIEVE OWN EYES

THEY'RE NOT USED TO THE NEW METHOD

BRAVES AND PHILLIES BATTLE AS GIANTS, ROBINS TRAIL

By HERBERT W. BAKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

It has been a long time since National league fans have had an opportunity of watching the New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers battle it out for last place at this more or less late date in the season while the Boston Braves and Philadelphia take up the burden of making some kind of a showing against the undeniably stronger western clubs. But that is what they are watching now.

In recent years when the center of National league strength has rested west of the Alleghenies, the Giants and to a lesser degree, the Robins, have been able to muster the strongest defenses for repelling western thrusts.

Some Hope Yet

There may be some hope for the east in the present cutthroat competition in the west where Cubs, Pirates, Cardinals and Reds are indulging in a dog fight that is getting none of them anywhere.

The Cubs maintained their hold on lead by downing the Pirates, 6 to 1, behind Bush's five-hit pitching yesterday. The Cubs made their eight hits off Steve Swetonic count.

At Cincinnati, Jess Haines recorded his 14th straight league victory in two seasons when he pitched the Cardinals to an easy 5 to 1 finished the 1928 season with nine consecutive triumphs and has added five straight this year.

Robins Beat Giants

At Brooklyn, the Robins trounced the Giants, 6 to 1. William Watson Clark, young left hander giving the men of McGraw only two hits.

Cold weather forced postponement of the Braves-Phils battle.

Only two American league games were scheduled, the Athletics strengthening their hold on first place by downing the Boston Red Sox, 5 to 1, while the St. Louis Browns were beating Chicago, 6 to 3.

The Yankees engaged in an exhibition game at New Haven losing 3 to 2, to the Eastern league club of that city.

Another Flag For Texas U. Looming

COLLEGE STATION, May 21 (AP)—Another in that perennial list of Southwest Conference baseball championships was in sight for Texas University here today as the Longhorns prepared to tackle Texas A. & M. again.

The Aggies went down, 3 to 1, to the Steers yesterday, thus clinching for the varsity at least a tie with Baylor for the title. An Orange victory today would give the honors to Texas.

Huerta Evans Wins Over Black Easily

WRIGLEY FIELD, LOS ANGELES, May 21. (AP)—Huerta Evans, Los Angeles bantamweight, won an easy eight round decision over Jimmy Black, San Bernardino, Cal., negro fighter, in the semi-windup to the Tod Morgan-Baby Sorio Junior lightweight championship fight here last night.

RAILROADERS ARE VICTORS

HARD HITTING BRINGS VICTORY IN CITY LEAGUE TILT

Hurlers for the Carpenter-Painter nine of the City League found the going rather tough Monday afternoon in their postponed game with the Santa Fe outfit. The Railroaders swung their war clubs with a vengence and trampled the C. & P. boys, 11 to 4.

Battering Judson off the hillock in the third, the Santa Fe sluggers jumped on Boggs and gave him worse treatment than the starting twirler. Six runs were scored off Boggs in the one inning he toiled. Leading by a decisive score, the winners took their bats and went home without taking their turn at bat in the fifth and final frame.

Martin Leads Swatters

Henry Martin led the batting attack for the winners, poling out two doubles and a single in three trips to the platter. Curtis Allen was the hitting luminary for the Carpenter-Painters, being credited with two safeties.

The base-running performance of Buddy Brothers was an added feature of the abbreviated tilt. The Tech outfielder pilfered four bases and threatened to annex the shoes of the entir Santa F infield.

Auto-Barbers meet the Santa Fe team today following the Lubbock-Hale Center game.

Jack Renault Gets Defeated On Foul

NEW YORK, May 21.—Apparently an easy winner on points, Jack Renault of Canada, former heavyweight contender, lost to George La Rocco of New York on a foul in the tenth and last round of their match at the St. Nicholas arena, last night.

NOMINATIONS MADE

LONDON, May 21 (AP)—Nomination day in Great Britain today brought some 1,730 men and women before election officials to secure proper certification to go to the polls at the general election May 30, when 615 will be elected. The nominations were mere formalities.

MRS WATTERSON DIES

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 21 (AP)—Mrs. Rebecca Ewing Watterson, 86 wife of Henry Watterson, one of the founders of the Courier-Journal, died here last night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Bainbridge Richardson, after a three months' illness from pneumonia.

By Central Press

NEW YORK, May 21—For the second time since 1919 there is a probability that New York will have no say in the winning of a big league pennant.

Since 1919 New York teams have garnered no fewer than 11 pennants and five world championships—16 titles!

But look at them this season!

Brooklyn, expected to have a weak team, actually surprised the experts by being far worse than predicted.

The Giants, hailed by a majority as probable pennant winners in the National league, have suffered so many ghastly reverses that only consistent plugging can put them in the running again.

Yanks Much Better

The Yanks are much better off than their metropolitan rivals, but have been suffering from such a miserable brand of pitching that Miller Huggins is growing grayer by the minute.

The Yanks are "up there" but have had a hard fight of it. This is no march of triumph, this 1929 campaign, as was the case last year when the Huggins Horde rode rough-shod over all opposition at this stage of the season.

The Athletics have overthrown the Yankee jinx which cost them a pennant last season. This means a great deal.

Not only the A's but the St. Louis Browns are mighty dangerous foes this season. Huggins will have to get pitching if he is going to keep his gang up in the running all season.

Tough On Pa Knickerbocker

Faced with infield difficulties and consistent poor play by almost his entire personnel, John McGraw by late May had been able only to keep his Giants out of last place. This is no feat when one considers that Brooklyn holds down the cellar post, and Brooklyn is even worse than the historically bad Phillies ever were.

Compare this terrible situation with the metropolitan baseball record of the last nine years. Pennants were won in this manner:

1920, Brooklyn (N); 1921, New York (A); New York (N); 1922, 1923, New York (A); New York (N); 1924, New York (N); 1925, no pennants but New York (N) was second; 1926, New York (A); 1927, New York (A); 1928, New York (A).

World's championships: 1921, New York (N); 1922, New York (N); 1923, New York (A); 1927, New York (A); 1928, New York (A).

With that kind of a past and such a present it's a wonder that old Father Knickerbocker remains an ardent baseball fan.

WAR ON FLY

BATON ROUGE, La., May 21 (AP)—Forces of the State Department of Agriculture and the Louisiana State University Extension division today went to war against the Mediterranean fruit fly.

Meetings were held at New Orleans, Baton Rouge, Monroe, Alexandria, Shreveport, St. Joseph, Covington, Thibodaux, Deridder and LaFayette, and more than 100 home demonstration agents, parish agents and specialists received instructions on a search for infested fruit.

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP).—An attempt by the "power trust" to buy the press of the nation was charged in the Senate today by Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, in reviewing testimony in the Federal Trade commission inquiry into newspaper investments by the International Paper and Power company.

BERLIN.—Last year 30,535 newly registered motor vehicles were recroded at the triffic registration bureau, an increase of 100 per cent over 1927. Of the total 19,697 were German and 10 838 of foreign make, of which 7,017 came from the United States.

A COUPLE FOR THE BOOK MADE FOR COLUMBUS BY HIGH, CRABTREE

COLUMBUS, O., May 21.—Charley High, former major leaguer now playing with Columbus, figured in two feats recently which look swell for the record books.

High divides credit with Estel Crabtree, playing with the same club on option from Cincinnati, in one feat but gets all the credit for the other.

With the bases fully occupied each time in the same inning of a game this season, High and Crabtree spanked out home runs. The record books fail to show any similar performance by two players in the same inning.

High also received credit recently for sending in six runs across the platter—and was credited with only one official time at bat. A home run with the bases clogged sent in four runs, a sacrifice fly sent in the fifth, and a walk forced a man in for the sixth run. And the time he hit the home run was the only official time he was at bat.

RICHMAN NEW PYLE THREAT

SALO STILL LEADS AS BUNIONERS LEAVE ODESSA TODAY

(By Associated Press)

ODESSA, Tex., May 21.—A new threat has appeared in C. C. Pyle's bunion bridgade.

While Johnny Salo, Passaic, N. J. policeman, has been content to pace Pete Gavuzzi, bewhiskered rival, of England, into the daily control point and retain his slim lead of 21 minutes, 30 seconds, Sam Richman, New York boy, continues to burn up the roads with his sensational running.

He's On The Rise

Richman in the past week pulled up from fifth to fourth place, put two hours behind himself and his old position and set out to cut the margin between third and fourth. He is still more than 13 hours behind Guisto Umek, of Italy, third place man, but yesterday he battled the Italian for the lead and beat him into the control point by three minutes.

Salo and Gavuzzi also duelled for honors but neither could gain in yesterday's short run and tied for fourth place for the day.

The bunioners left Odessa at 7 o'clock for Monahans, Texas, a run of 35 miles.

HOOKS AND SLIDES

By Henry L. Farrell

HAS PLENTY OF HEART

Jovo Miljus, the Cleveland pitcher, is the hardest man in the league to work behind the plate for, according to several of the veteran umpires.

"He keeps you in hot water all the time he's in there," one of the officials said a few days ago. "He seems to be supremely happy when he has a couple of men on bases with none out and he never seems contented without at least one man on the bases.

"He's the gamest pitcher I ever saw. In fact, he's too game for the comfort of the umpire behind the plate. I worked a game for him not long ago in Cleveland and he had me in a nervous sweat on a cold day.

"He had the winning run on third base and he allowed the runner to get almost half way down the base line. He just kept looking at the runner, daring him to come in. Plays at the plate are always tough on an umpire. But they're twice as tought when he sees the runner half way down and is on edge to see if he's coming in. The umpire has to keep one eye on the runner and one eye on the ball and it makes both decisions hard to call.

"I like to watch Miljus from the base line but when I'm to work behind the plate I sure hate to see him come out to pitch."

NICE WORDS FOR HUG

Miller Huggins, this same umpire said, is the smartest baseball man in the American league. He's a lawyer and he knows every rule in the book and how it is interpreted and applied.

"Huggins doesn't squawk very often," he said. "He will go for days and never say a word about decisions we thought he might have a kick on. Then he will pip out with some technical argument about the rules and we have to know our stuff to talk to him. Eddie Collins is another smart man on the rules. He does all the talking for Connie Mack as Connie doesn't like to appear on the field.

"Whenever some trick play comes up and Huggins or Collins come running out we know that we have got to have the right answer or they'll give us the right one.

"It isn't every manager or player who can argue about th erules. All the players will kick about a question or judgment on decisions but very few of them will argue about the rules. They're afraid they will get shown up."

JONES BUSY BOY

Bobby Jones, who was admitted to the bar recently, is not going to do any extensive training for the American open championship. The young man is very serious about his profession and he has insisted that golf must come second to the earning of a living.

He said recently he intended to play as much as possible during the next month and that he would go to Mamaroneck a week before the tournament opens and try to get his putting game working. It hasn't been working for some time, he said.

CHAMPS LOSE ANOTHER AS STEERS, SPUDS AND CATS WIN

By GAYLE TALBOT, Jr.,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

If the paternal instinct is not entirely dormant in the business office of the St. Louis Cardinals, reinforcements may be expected shortly in the city by the Bayou. The Houston Buffs are being maltreated up in the north country.

Through yesterday the Bisons had managed to win only one conflict out of seven since they left friendly surroundings, which is not calculated to protect the Red Birds' investment in the Texas league. The Dixie champions today are nestled in fourth place and appear to be getting no where in a hurry.

Snyder Is Peeved

Manager Frank Snyder is said to be extremely peevish about the treatment being accorded him by the main office. Since Pancho bucked over the traces last winter and came within an inch of refusing to sign his contract for the current season, Cardinal officials might be justified in viewing his present discomfiture with alarm. The big Buff is not fond of piloting a loser.

The champs dropped their fifth straight when the Spudders trounced them, 14 to 9, yesterday at Wichita Falls. Paul Wachtel and Schelberg were shelled impartially by Jim Galloway's sluggers who chased over six runs in the seventh frame to sew up the decision.

Waco Wins Too

Waco, again on the upgrade after suffering its long-awaited slump, took a 5 to 1 decision to even its series with the dangerous Shreveport contenders. Harris, Dallas castoff, held the Sports to five hits while the Cubs were battering Williamson and Estrada where it hurt.

Milt Stock's Dallas Steers broke the jinx which San Antonio had held over them in four previous starts by taking a 6 to 4 verdict over the Redskins, squaring their series at Steer stadium and giving the Mavericks their seventh victory in eight games. Today the Herd was stationed in third place, just half a game behind Shreveport and looking more potent every minute.

Dick Whitworth turned in a masterful performance as the Fort Worth Cats took their second straight from Beaumont, 3 to 1. Only two hits were recorded off the former Houston twirler, while Hansor gave up six. Whitworth aided his own cause with a double and single.

STATE DOCTORS BEGIN MEETING

BROWNSVILLE, May 21. (AP)—Better enforcement of the Medical Practice Act and possible changes in requirements for licenses to practice medicine in Texas were expected to come up for discussion at the 63rd annual convention of the State Medical association of Texas opening here today.

Doctors from all portions of the state, upwards of 1500, were on hand to hear the address of Dr. Felix P. Miller of El Paso, president. A report on legislative affairs also was to be presented by the legislative committee.

Four organizations allied with the state association yesterday decided on campaigns for radical changes in the system of trying insanity cases, for establishment of four psychopathic hospitals in the state, and for statewide immunization to prevent epidemics. The organizations were the Texas Radiological society, Texas Railway surgeons association, Texas Neurological society, and Texas Dermatological society.

DALLAS, May 21 (AP)—Miss Leona Wimberly of Gainesville will become Dallas County Home Demonstration agent, and Miss Ruth Clark, also of Gainesville, will become her assistant June 15. Miss Ruth Payne, County Home Demonstration agent for the past three years, has resigned to return to her home at Scranton, Pa.

HALE CENTER SCHEDULED HERE THIS AFTERNOON; GIB JACKSON FINDS PITCHING IS NO CINCH

Gilbert Jackson converted himself from a shortstop to a pitcher against Tahoka Monday afternoon at Merrill Park and helped the visitors win a nine-inning baseball farce, 10 to 5, from the Lubbock Hubbers. It was the second loss in as many days for the local aggregation.

A batting rally at the expense of Jackson, who relieved Wright in the first frame, accounted for the Tahoka victory. The Tahoka team substituted for the scheduled game with the all-salaried Paducah club which was called off because of a death in the lineup.

Wright Slips Badly.

Wright started on the mound for the Hubbers and would have needed the fire department to retire the side if h had remained in the box. Jackson took over the pitching duties with two men down after three runs had been scored. He retired the side on one pitchd ball.

Jackson held the Tahoka sluggers in check until the eighth when five bunched hits sent five runs across the plate.

The locals did most of their damage in the second inning, counting four runs on three hits and a base on balls. One more tally was added in the sixth and another in the ninth.

Today at Merrill Park, the Hubbers meet the strong Hale Center aggregation which has defeated the locals on two previous occasions this season. The game starts at 3:30 in order to give the twilight leaguers an opportunity to get in their game before dark.

UNION TURNS TOWARD LAW

INJUNCTION IS TO BE TAKEN OUT IN MILL STRIKE SOON

(By Associated Press)

ELIZABETHTON, Tenn., May 21.—A test of an injunction prohibiting striking textile workers from picketing the highways was delayed today as Chancellor Miller set trials of 50 strikers on contempt charges for Wednesday.

The strikers are charged with contempt for alleged violation of an injunction granted the American Glanzstoff and American Bemberg companies restraining the more than 5,000 striking employes from interfering with operations of the plants.

Nearly two score additional strikers arrested on various charges last week were identified and charged with contempt of court.

Announcement was made by William P. Kelly, vice president of the United Textile Workers of America that a petition for an injunction would be filed, probably Wednesday, seeking to restrain National guardsmen from patrolling public highways and that civil action would be brought against Dr. Arthur Morthaurf, president of the textile plants alleging that he violated an agreement with striking operatives made in March to end the first walkout at the Glanzstoff plant.

The union leaders also declared they would file criminal action on various charges against Adjutant General W. C. Boyd on numerous charges including "aiding and abetting an attempt to commit murder," and "oppression under the color of his office."

Girls Will Be Sent To Course At A. & M.

Winners in Classes 1 and 2 in the local appropriate dress contest will be given free trips to the Farmers Short course at College Station, according to Miss Louise Baird, Lubbock county home demonstration agent.

Thirty-eight 4-H club girls of this county have already enrolled in the contest.

Class 1 represents school dresses of gingham, percale, cotton suiting etc. and class 2 represents afternoon dresses of sheerer materials such as swiss, voile, etc.

These dresses will be displayed and modelled by the girls at Texas Tech gymnasium during the annual encampment of 4-H clubs here May 28 and 29.

There will be a regular meeting of the 4-H club girls council Saturday at 2:30 p. m. in the courthouse, when the Hardy club will have charge of the program.

HURT TO STOOP TO LACE SHOES

Kentucky Lady Was In a Suffering Condition — Didn't Feel Like Eating.

"Lexington, Ky.—Mrs. J. H. Nichols, who lives at 513 Elm Tree Lane, this city, says:

"Some few years ago, my health was bad. I had very severe pains in my sides. My nerves were in a terrible condition. I could not rest.

"The lower part of my body was very sore. I could hardly stoop over to lace my shoes. I would have to put my foot on a chair. I did not feel like eating, and did not sleep well at all at nights.

"A friend of mine recommended Cardui. I began taking it and saw quite an improvement in my condition. I kept it up until I felt strong and well."

About a year ago, Mrs. Nichols says, she found herself in a nervous, run-down condition. "I took Cardui again," she adds, "and it helped me wonderfully. It is a splendid tonic."

TWO GREAT ANNIVERSARIES FOR LINDY HEREAFTER

TODAY IS SECOND ANNIVERSARY OF HIS FLYING ACROSS ATLANTIC TO PARIS, BUT LOOMING EVEN LARGER IN HIS LIFE NOW IS MARRIAGE TO ANNE MORROW, THE BRILLIANT "WE" OF A NEW PARTNERSHIP

Has Lindy changed? Picture on left was taken in New ... day before he flew to Paris. Flight was May 21, 1927. Right, recent snapshot.

LINDY TEACHES ANNE TO FLY AS HE OBSERVES SECOND ANNIVERSARY OF HIS NON-STOP HOP TO PARIS TODAY

(By Associated Press)

NORTH HAVEN, Me., May 21.—The second anniversary of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh's New York-Paris non-stop flight found him apparently intent on further flying lessons for his fiancee, Miss Anne Morrow.

Possibility that the Colonel would celebrate such an event anywhere but aloft appeared remote to residents of this little island which has sheltered Lindbergh and members of the family of Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow since their arrival by plane last Saturday.

Took A Short Ride

It was not until yesterday, however, that the Colonel, ventured into the air from the seclusion of the Morrow estate, with Miss Morrow beside him in the big six-passenger amphibian. He took off from the recently cleared runway near the house and cruised over Camden and along the Maine coast for nearly a half hour.

But it was the unusual action of the plane, as it taxied down the runway before the take-off, that led observers to believe the Colonel himself was not at the controls. The craft taxied along the field several times before it finally shot sure and straight for the hop-off. The opinion was expressed that Miss Morrow had just completed a ground lesson.

OLD GOLD wins second place at Harvard

Two-year old "O. G." runs second to the old favorite brand entrenched at HARVARD for more than 14 years

Two years against fourteen . . . a comparatively new cigarette against three veteran brands.

Yet OLD GOLD, the youngster, almost won! It defeated two of its veteran contenders . . . and nearly defeated the third!

This is the story of the Public Cigarette Test conducted at Harvard, by Edward T. Batchelder of "The Harvard Crimson" Editorial Board.

With the single exception of the test at Harvard, OLD GOLD has scored an unbroken string of victories in these comparative taste-tests.

But at Harvard, where pipe smoking is a tradition and the taste is for heavy tobaccos, smooth and mellow OLD GOLD faced its hardest contest. 148 undergraduates smoked and compared the four cigarettes with names concealed.

Yet OLD GOLD stood second in its total of "first choices!" It barely missed defeating the brand established at Harvard 14 years!

Man o' War, the greatest horse of his time, lost one race. And in its first and only defeat, OLD GOLD, the two-year old, felicitates the fourteen-year old victor.

The four leading cigarettes, "masked" with paper sleeves to conceal their brand names.

On your Radio . . . OLD GOLD—PAUL WHITEMAN HOUR . . . Paul Whiteman, King of Jazz, with his complete orchestra, broadcasts the OLD GOLD hour . . . every Tuesday, from 9 to 10 P. M., Eastern Daylight Saving Time, over the entire network of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Thought For Today

For which of you, intending to build a tower, sitteth not down first, and counteth the cost, whether he have sufficient to finish it?—St. Luke 14:28.

Never build after you are five and forty; have five years' income in hand before you lay a brick, and always calculate the expense at double the estimate.—Kett.

Old Autos

Where do all the old automobiles go to?

Sooner or later, after passing through three or four used-car sales rooms, most of them hit the junk shops and are taken apart for the value of their material as scrap. But not all of them.

More people than you would think simply abandon old autos. In New York, 70 abandoned cars were picked up by the police in one day. They were old, ramshackle machines whose owners had simply parked them in the streets, removed their license plates and gone their way.

With more than 20,000,000 automobile owners in the country, this sort of thing might easily become a big problem. Yet even in the most ruinous old auto there is still a good deal of expensive steel and other metal. The engineer who can find a cheap way to salvage such material ought to be able to make a fortune.

"I Loved Her"

The young man recently arrested in New York, accused of strangling his young wife, taking her body to a deserted spot in the country, drenching it with kerosene and setting it afire, has voiced the usual protest of the man caught in an act of that kind.

"I loved her," he cries. "I loved her madly. Don't let there be any doubt about that. I wanted her to come back and live with me."

Time after time this sort of remark has been made by men who have committed similar crimes. Sometimes, no doubt, the murderer means it; and sometimes, perhaps, he is thinking of its possible effect on a sentimental jury.

Offhand, however, one would say that choking a woman to death and burning her body is a peculiar way of demonstrating affection for her.

Absent-Minded

The absent-minded burglar has at last appeared to take his place alongside the absent-minded college professor as a theme for jesters.

In Chicago the other day a man broke into an apartment and helped himself to $3,000 worth of jewels. As he was getting ready to go he saw a nice topcoat hanging in a closet. His own coat was shabby, so he tossed it on the floor, put on the new one and went away.

A few hours later the owners of the place came home and discovered the burglary. They picked up the burglar's discarded coat and prepared to throw it away, but a policeman happened to look in its pockets first. There he found the $3,000 jewels.

The burglar had forgotten to transfer them to the pockets of the new coat.

Grapefruit

The grapefruit, these days, is an established part of the great American breakfast.

Every morning it appears on millions of breakfast tables. It is a fine starter for the regular bacon-and-eggs program.

Now, it appears, the British are getting the habit.

The department of commerce has just discovered that England is now our best foreign market for grapefruit. Last year, for example, more than 421,000 boxes of the fruit were shipped from the United States to England—as contrasted with a mere 15,000 boxes five years ago.

This is good for everybody concerned—good for the English householder who gets a nice addition to his breakfast menu, and good for the American fruit grower, who gets a broader market for his produce.

THE PLAINSMAN Says

That Girl on Broadway says her folks thought her little brother was lost the other day but they found him—under the Sunday paper.

* * *

Six juveniles are being held in Lubbock today following the looting of a bakery, a hamburger stand and a number of other minor depredations. Yet there are still those here—including some officials—who will argue you black in the face that our present method of caring for juveniles who run afoul of the law is all that it needs to be.

* * *

Readers of this column will recognize in these paragraphs a familiar tune. By the time The Plainsman gets through singing it most people will know it by memory—just like they do the first verse of "America" and the whole of 'Sweet Adeline.' In other words, this writer intends to keep harping on the subject until something is done.

* * *

Just what has happened to the plan of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs and the Board of City Development to make some changes in the handling of juvenile cases is, at the present time a deep dark mystery. When the proposition first came up it was greeted by enthusiastic cheers. Since then a few mere mentions have sufficed to bring the campaign to dormancy.

* * *

There may be some people in Lubbock and Lubbock county who are content to see young boys lolling in the city and the county jails. Some folks, to quote a popular song, are 'Funny that Way.' But whenever we lose sight of the greatest investment a city and county can make—namely that of citizens of tomorrow, we're all wrong.

* * *

Some of the men of Lubbock county who really want to do something constructive have a real opportunity here. From all present indications the county officials are not going to do anything in regard to improving juvenile conditions until they are blasted into action by public opinion. Between now and that time—which is surely coming—The Plainsman has a pet idea which he has been nurturing for some time and which he'd like to see tried.

* * *

It's that same old plan of running the two local gymnasiums—the one at the Tech and the one at the Senior High school—during the summer. Organized play, under the direction of any one of a dozen or two local and colleeg athletes will help a long way to keep the boys of the city off of the streets and out of the jails—and it won't cost much either. Some of the fellows who have been so long and loud in their protestations of interest in boys might well turn their attentions from the lads who already have everything to the underprivileged youths. They're the ones who need the help anyway.

* * *

This writer believes the high school and Tech gyms could be kept open this summer for around $150 per month at the top. There should be 50 men in Lubbock willing to kick in three bucks apiece for three months to see it done. How about it, some of you boy workers? Let's see some work done among the boys who really need to be worked on!

* * *

If you don't think Lubbock—or any other town for that matter—won't get a black eye if the word keeps passing around that we are in the throes of first one epidemic of juvenile crime after another, you're just kidding yourself. From a standpoint of self-protection, as well as humanitarianism, we ought to do something about this municipal sore which certainly isn't healing under present conditions.

* * *

That Man on Avenue Q says the man who becomes the proud father of triplets has three good reasons to want his salary raised.

* * *

A girl needn't give her fiance credit for selecting a nice engagement ring. That's a little detail the jeweler has probably already attended to.

* * *

Now since we've had plenty of rain and there's nothing much to worry about it looks like this spring and summer are going to be tough on the regular army of pessimists.

* * *

Louisiana, it seems, might do well to take a few lessons from Texas and Oklahoma. The last two states can at least get rid of their governors when they want to.

* * *

"Delays of the law", says an Associated Press dispatch., have saved Morris Eller, Chicago politician, from prosecution on charges which grew out of his ward's bloody primary a couple of years ago. Mr. Hoover's newly appointed law enforcement commission should just love that.

* * *

Mr. Eller's political standing must have come in good stead for the gentleman. When numerous voters are slugged, beaten and shot while presumably civilized American city marches to the polls and there is nothing done about it there is, to use that old Spanish phrase, 'Somebody dead in Denmark.'

* * *

If the Hoover law enforcement investigators tap the information which has been laid at their doors by the public press for the past few years they will be plenty busy. Incidentally, the American Bar association will watch with interest the commission's finding along the line of carefully loop-holed statutes.

"Without-Or-With, Offense To Friends Or Foes, We Sketch Your World Exactly As It Goes"—Byron

Senator McWhorter, Father Of Many Brilliant Ideas, Would Have Congress Hire Cheer Leaders,—Dutcher

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Senator J. Boomboom McWhorter has had what is by all odds his brightest idea since first he proposed to save the farmers by turning the boll weevils and the corn borers loose on each other and letting them eat each other up.

The senator wants to divide Congress into rival cheering sections, with cheer leaders and megaphones and regulations. When members cheer now, as they did the other day when they heard how the police had killed a young man in a rum-running car, the noise is only spontaneous and disorganized, with none of the neat effect on the galleries which Senator McWhorter is sure could be reproduced with a little planning.

It must be admitted that McWhorter's interest is not altogether unselfish. Everyone knows that he can make more noise than an ambulance driver going home to lunch. The mere clearing of his throat is louder than the combined bellowing of six ordinary senators.

Thus the senator is really a born cheer leader. His magnificent voice has been going to waste lately because the young man who formerly wrote his speeches raised his rates, leaving McWhorter with only four or five speeches to his name. The senator has delivered the one about the Bolsheviki and the one about his political opponents so many times now that when ever he rises to speak two or three of his colleagues promptly pretend to faint and the Senate is adjourned in their honor.

"But I don't you go supposing that I am thinking only of myself," admonishes Senator McWhorter. "My program for organized cheering would benefit everybody in both houses of Congress.

"You know how important it is to keep on the right side of Bishop Cannon and how when Bishop Cannon says he wants anything he is sure to get it. Well, when they cheered in the House the other day about how that wicked rum-runner was killed, Bishop Cannon said it was one of the healthiest indications he had heard of in a long time. With Bishop Cannon on record to that effect you can just imagine the cheering and clapping and stamping that will be heard the next time any bootlegger gets shot. And if Bishop Cannon himself comes to the gallery on such an occasion everybody will be trying to outshout each other until we all get out of breath.

'But it ought to be organized. If it is important enough to organize a few thousand college boys at a football game for cheering purposes it is certainly important enough to organize the U. S. Congress. I am quite convinced that the louder our applause the more zealous will become the efforts of our prohibition enforcers because goodness knows they need encouragement.

"Of course, I would not always make cheering compulsory. When abootlegger is sent to the morgue or the hospital it will be quite all right for his customers to remain silent. We will all understand the grief of such colleagues.

'Nor do I want to be partial about this. There are not many wets among us, but such as there are should not be deprived of their fun. Whenever anybody shoots a prohibition agent it will be their privilege to emit a few yells in the approved collegiate fashion. I hope they will be glad to do that, because it will keep them from making nasty remarks when the main cheering squad goes into action over a law enforcement triumph.

Can Cheer Any Time

"Neither will we necessarily wait for a shooting. There may not be enough of those at first to keep the cheering sections in condition. I suggest that we have some sort of a cheer for an important arrest or even a good-sized raid—say just a brief Rah! Rah! Rah!' for each law enforcer participating."

Unlike most proposals by members of Congress, no particular expense is involved in Senator McWhorter's plan.

All that would be needed would be a small appropriation for a few megaphones.

Gilbert Swan

In New York

By Swan

NEW YORK, May 21.—Harlem has corners which are within commuting distance of the jungle.

Manhattan's amazing negro capital, the largest black settlement in the world, possesses at least one small colony which is as far from the metropolitanism of the city—and of Harlem, for that matter—as the hex doctors of Pennsylvania are from the scientific laboratories.

In this colony the beat of the tom tom still rings in the ears of the black men who have become janitors and elevator men in modern buildings. The mysteries of voodoo have not been cleared by contact with this sophisticated capital of modern industry.

Their meeting place is an ordinary cellar, and cellars have never been romantic spots so far as I am concerned—and so given glamour only because of the peculiar fetishisms which one may find therein.

* * *

But to "cut back" for a moment, as they say in the films. . . . There is a Belgian colony on the Kasai river, which is an off-shoot of the Congo. Here you will find the tribe of BaKuba, living in a village named after them. They are Africans of Bantu origin. Their religious practices are as primitive as the jungles nearby and there they propitiate wooden idols after the fashion of aboriginal people since the world began.

In the course of time some of them have left, and come to New York—as all the people of the world have left their homeland and come to this conglomerate island. Here they have gathered, rediscovered one another and set up a native temple in a cellar, which might just as easily have become a speakeasy or a cabaret wherein the whites would exchange their particular secrets.

* * *

Such is the fascination and adventure that lies within Manhattan that dropping down a couple of cold, stone stairs, it is possible to find a metropolitan approximation of the jungle.

The gathering place of the Ba-Kuba is dank and musty, as all cellars are dank and musty. It is lighted only by flickering gas jets. In one corner stands a native calabar tree.

Insofar as I know, Tony Muto—whom I happen to know—is the one white man to have gained entrance. It was he who told me about the strange rites. Tony is a newspaper man. We were once billeted together in Dayton, Tenn., where some other fetishes were being argued over.

* * *

Upon a table, there, stand four wooden images. Nearby are two gongs, primitively carved. Squatted at a central point is an old medicine man, even as when the tribe has gathered around in the jungle. About his neck hangs a string of mystical beads. Upon his head is a feathered adornment. Each man who comes brings a charm bag in his American tailored pockets. Each bears upon his body the tattoo marks that were placed there as a child. Each strips himself to reveal the cryptic brands.

A wooden image is taken from the table and placed beside the priest. Then begins a chant, accompanied by the sinuous weaving of bodies. It is a chant, one is told, to the moon. Suddenly, from under a Grand Rapids table, is produced a jungle drum, to be beaten only with the fingers. The rythmic dance is on—janitors, elevator operators, wagon drivers suddenly return to the jungle without leaving the neighborhood of 135th street. It is all incredible and eerie.

One by one, each idol is propitiated and so the jinns, evil spirits or whatever you care to call them, are propitiated. Signs of belief in witchcraft begin to appear—even as the simple white folk of Pennsylvania, the Africans believe in the efficacy of charms when an enemy is feared.

So through the evening go the ceremonies. A few doors away a jazz band strums and whites and blacks mingle in abandon rythm. Here the gin, rather than the jinn, is propitiated. And all about the city moves restlessly toward sleep.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children"

Nerves and Indigestion

"Are 'nerves' alone cause enough to make a woman of 29 suffer very much with indigestion for four years? She has constant pain, bloating and belching and has been unable to digest anything but milk for three years. The doctor says it is nerves and tests show no other cause, but vacations of rest two and three months long make no difference whatever in the drawn look on her face and the general intestinal disorder. A peculiar thing is that no wrist watch will keep good time on her wrist.

"G"

The condition of the nerves and the emotions have a very great effect on the stomach and intestines, G., as everyone has experienced. However, even though your friend's trouble was of a nervous origin, its extension over a long period of time would probably result in an organic disturbance. Then, again, her very restricted diet over such a long period would also result in organic disturbance.

I suggest she go to a stomach specialist.

The wrist watch behavior is just as much a mystery to me as it is to you. Is there a possibility of hysteria in her case, with some of its freakish manifestations? Hysteria is an emotional, nervous upset, what we call a functional disturbance of the nerve system, rather than an organic disturbance. It is most frequently due to some unknown complex in the individual's life, the hysterical manifestations being a defense mechanism of expressing the ego in some way. This is not realized by the patient at all. And it is only under the guidance of a skillful psychiatrist, a neurologist who specializes in psychoanalysis that it can be remedied. Do not think the patients are faking. They are totally unaware of what causes the disturbance. So your friend may have to see a psychiatrist, also.

P.—You can find in any complete encyclopedia the method of getting out a patent.

Syphilis is a terrible disease. The sins of the father, of Biblical note, handed down to the third and fourth generations, probably refers to this disease. If it is treated properly, an dearly, it can be cured. Frequent blood tests have to be made to be sure the organism causing it has been eradicated, and the treatment extends over a long period of time.

Even though you could get the formula patented which you say has been in your family for many generations, you would take a very grave responsibility on your shoulders in putting it on the market. Back in your grandfather's time not so much was known about the disease and I don't doubt that many who thought they had it and were cured by the remedy, did not have it; and if they did have it, they were not cured.

The regular and ethical pharmaceutical houses have very large laboratories and staffs of trained scientists working out their remedies, animals to test them upon, etc. If it is found that a certain drug seems to be curative in any line, they have to submit proof of its efficacy in hundreds of actual cases before it is accepted by the National Pharmacopeia. They also work in conjunction with clinics and hospitals.

Not being a physician, nor having any scientific training and experience with drugs and chemicals, your work along those lines could not be accepted.

ENLARGED PROGRAMS OF HEALTH WORK IN RURAL AREAS URGED

BY ARTHUR M. HYDE, Secretary of Agriculture

(Arthur M. Hyde was born at Princeton, Mo., July 12, 1877. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan and the State University of Iowa. From 1900 to 1915, he practiced law at Princeton, Mo. He was mayor of Princeton from 1908 to 1910. In 1915 he moved to Trenton. From 1921 to 1925 he was governor of Missouri. He was appointed secretary of agriculture by President Hoover.)

People of the open country are striving to give children healthful homes and training. More is needed however. Probably the point in the Child's Bill of Rights most often and most flagrantly violated so far as country children are concerned, is that of prompt and efficient medical attention and inspection.

ARTHUR M. HYDE

Two things must be done to secure this right to rural children. One is to provide full-time health workers in rural counties. On January 1, 1929, but 414 of the 2,900 farming counties in the United States had such health officers. The second item is the establishment of rural medical centers—hospitals clinics, and outpatient departments This will do more than anything else to replenish the thinning ranks of country doctors. Rural hospitals and clinics will give the young medical graduste the tools of his profession — bacteriological laboratories, X-ray equipment et cetera —without which he is lost and for lack of which he is forced from the country post even though he desires to take it. From organizations have spoken out straightforwardly on these points and I need discuss them no further.

Finally, we need to meet President Hoover's challenge to give each country child, along with each city child, a chance for real play in the right amount, of the right kind and in the right place.

We have the right place, the open country. People still find their most profound enjoyment out-of-doors. What we will be wise to do is to identify our countryside with pleasure, in the minds of our people. We need the feel of the homeland, of identity of our whole life with our own soil. The idea that the city with its community recreation centers, parks, forest plots, picnic grounds, and athletic fields is the best place for play is an error.

Here, then, are the chief challenges to the countryman: That he make his own home healthful, that he help his community make provision for health supervision, for medical centers to meet the exigencies of accident and disease, for play places to give full vent to the spirit and socialability of the growing child.

GOVERNMENT WINS CASE

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP)—The government finally succeeded in the Supreme court today in its efforts to give effect to the consent decree entered in 1920 aimed to confine the packers exclusively to the meat packing industry.

The court ordered the California Cooperative canneries removed from the controversy. When the canneries were permitted to intervene in 1924 the decree was suspended and has not since been in effect. By removing the canneries from the case the government will be enabled to have the decree made effectiv.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

NAN CORROLL is secretary to JOHN CURTIS MORGAN. His present case is the defense of the former telephone operator of a fashionable country club who has been indicted for blackmailing club members. Nan, with a quick, logical mind, is able to make valuable suggestions which Morgan incorporates in his plans for the defense.

While they are working, IRIS MORGAN, haughty and beautiful wife of John Curtis Morgan, enters the office accompanied by little CURTIS MORGAN. She peevishly demands a large check for a shopping expedition, and at last departs, leaving Nan to act as nursemaid to little Curtis.

Nan bitterly resents being thus treated as a menial. At 5:30, when WILLIS TODD calls Nan to go to dinner with him, she is almost hysterical from the afternoon's strain. After dinner they go to Nan's small apartment where, for the fifth time, Willis proposes marriage to her. She tells him that she is almost ready to take her bar examinations and that she cannot give up her career for marriage. When Willis accuses Morgan of selfishly overworking Nan, she flies angrily to the defense of her employer.

Willis, stung to the quick by the defense of Morgan, tells her that it is in love with Morgan and that it is he who has come between them. Nan blanches at his accusation. To save her life she cannot tell Willis it is a lie. When he leaves her, she is desolately lonely, afraid, stunned by the force of the discovery she has made about herself.

GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER III

For a long minute Nan Carroll crouched stricken against the door which had closed upon Willis Todd. Then the necessity for action drove her in a frenzy about the room. She swept the cushions from the couch into a big arm chair; tore off the cretonne cover and folded it with none of the loving care and tenderness which was the usual portion of the pretty thing; turned back the pale yellow, fluffy blanket and the hemstitched sheet; raced to her clothes closet and returned, sobbing, with pillow, night dress, negligee and slippers.

"Willis Todd's crazy—crazy with jealousy!" she panted, still in that sky, terrified whisper with which she had tried to call him back. "But I won't think about it! I won't!" She repudiated the subject furiously as she ran to her dressing table and began to undress.

She scurried, as if pursued by furies, into the tiny bath room, turned on the hot water, and while the tub filled cleansed her face of make-up, savagely massaged it with cold cream, a dollar a box "skin food," brushed her teeth as violently as if she were giving a grudge against their white gleaming regularity.

When the tub was full of almost unbearably hot water Nan stretched her small body in it and fiercely tried to find relaxation. "I will relax!" she told herself angrily. "I won't let that idiot upset me so that I can't sleep. Imagine the nerve of the man—saying—but I won't think of it. I hope that Fleming woman has skipped town. I'll bet she has. Mr. Morgan has guessed her secret. Lots to do tomorrow. Got to relax and sleep—relax and then sleep and sleep and sleep, she forced herself to repeat slowly, drowsily, as the warm water lapped against her white flesh.

* * *

Then at last she was ready for bed, negligee thrown to the foot of the couch, a thick volume on criminal law on her bedside table, to be used shamelessly but somewhat unsuccessfully in reading herself to sleep, when she suddenly remembered something.

"Cream bottle!" she whispered. "I've got to pay him, too. Let's see—where's his bill?" And she slithered swiftly in dark blue satin pajamas to the secretary bookcase which dominated the best lighted corner of her one room apartment. "There! That shows I'm not upset, doesn't it?" she triumphed. "I didn't remember to set out the cream bottle and pay the old milk man, even if I was upset by Willis' wish—oh!" She stopped short as she perked on the light in the reading lamp upon the opened secretary, for the sudden illumination had forced upon her attention something which she would have given a week's salary not to have seen that night.

It was just a snapshot framed in golden silver, but it had the power to break her hard won control. A newspaper photographer's picture of a short, slim girl and a very tall, dark man, caught in the act of descending down a flight of white marble steps, each carrying a brief case, each grinning triumphantly at the camera. The snapshot was nearly two years old, taken at the successful conclusion of one of Morgan's biggest murder trials. The caption under the picture as it had appeared in the afternoon paper read: "Attorney John Curtis Morgan and his charming secretary, Miss Nan Carroll, leaving the court house a few minutes after the lawyer had won freedom for his client, Joe' Connors, acquitted of the murder of 'Bos' Powers."

Why had she framed it and cherished it these two years? Because it was an amusing, even flattering picture of herself, or—because the photographer had happened to catch the John Curtis Morgan that she liked best—a boyish, friendly, Morgan, shorn of his court room dignity and austerity?

A tiny voice deep within her head whispered: "You framed it and kept it before you these two years because it shows you and him together. Silly girl! Didn't you know?"

"It's not true!" Nan denied hotly. "I'll tear the thing up—see!" But her fingers refused to obey her. Sobbing, she thrust the framed picture into a little drawer of the secretary, jerked out the light and ran back to bed. She had forgotten the cream bottle and the dairyman's bill—

She made no further pretense then; did not open the heavy book on criminal law; jerked the chain of her bedside lamp and crushed her face into her pillow, to intensify the darkness. For shame had claimed her for its own.

* * *

"In love with a married man!" The ugly phrase leaped at her in the darkness, and other ugly phrases, which had only waited for darkness, came hurtling after it. There was a queer comfort in letting the ugly things claw at her, for the very pain and disgust kept her from complete realization. But when the unequal battle was over and her heart had abjectly accepted every arrow that shame held in its quiver, Nan found that not so easily was she to be let off. The love at which the arrows had been so savagely thrust was still alive in her heart, amazingly alive and growing with every moment, now that its existence had been acknowledged.

"This can't be me!" She struck her breast sharply, as if to kill the thing that was growing so rapidly in her heart. "Not Nan Carroll! Why, I'm proud! I'm honorable! I've always been as square as a man. Nan Carroll simply can't be in love with another woman's husband—but, oh, I am, I am! Not with Iris Morgan's husband—no, no! She makes him silly and small, calls him Jack—no, no! I don't love him! It's my own John Curtis Morgan that I love, the John Curtis Morgan I've helped to make, the man nobody knows but me.

"Is it such a sin to love him when I helped make him? She doesn't know him at all—my John Curtis Morgan. Three years—three years—and all this time I've been loving him and didn't know it."

And then, because she couldn't help herself, she thought back over those three years in the new light of knowledge that had been forced upon her tonight. She saw herself again as she had been then—a deadly serious, high minded girl of 21, just graduated from the state university, where she had learned stenography along with more lofty academic subjects.

A thin little girl, brown eyes shadowed with grief over her father's death, long brown hair wrapped in heavy braids about her small head, a Phi Beta Kappa key shamefacedly hidden away in her trunk along with her diploma. The dean himself had given her a letter of introduction to Morgan, who was just beginning to add luster to the university as district attorney of the state's larges city.

Since she was an alumna of his own university, Morgan had treated her with grave respect and friendliness from the very first; had quickly made a place for her in his office as a typist, and then, within three months, had promoted her to the post of private secretary to himself.

"I must have been in love with him even then," she whimpered against her pillow. "What a ninny I was not to know it! Did I—show it? Do I show it now?" The thought struck her with such sharp new terror that her sobs were stifled in her throat. Shame made her body burn so hotly that she tossed off the blanket.

"And I prided myself so on my interest in law!" she gibed at herself mercilessly. "Worked like a slave, worked till all hours of the night—because I was so interested in my work! Idiot! Fool! Running after him all that time, and didn't have sense enough to know it! Hoping he'd pat you on the head and tell you you were a nice little girl, to work so hard! Hoping he'd stay at night and work, too—just you and he! Oh, oh!"

* * *

The worm turned them, however. Her self-respect reared its bruised head. "You may have been in love with him all this time, Nan Carroll, but you loved your work for its own sake, too. You worked until all hours of the night, not just to please him, but because you were vitally interested, because there was work to be done and you'd rather die than shirk. Don't make yourself out worse than you are."

"But that's bad, bad!" Nan's shame answered her self-respect. "I've always despised girls who made sentimental fools of themselves over their bosses. And now I'm worse than the worst of them. I love him so terribly that I'd die happy if he would kiss me just once—as he kisses her."

And then she would have given anything to banish the picture which her last words brought up: Iris Morgan, arrogant, beautiful Iris, casually, even boredly accepting Morgan's passionate adoration. During three years of necessarily intimate contact as the lawyer's privae secretary, Nan had been forced to witness Morgan kissing his wife on a number of occasions—leave takings, arrivals from journeys and, occasionally, kisses for which there was no extraordinary occasion, except that the man's overwhelming love for his wife made him forget that an office was no place for the demonstration of passion, even though it was marital.

* * *

"Why didn't I realize every time I saw him kiss her that I would have given my life to be in her place?" the girl marveled in her misery. "I thought I flinched because I hate her, because she's unworthy of him, but it was because I was jealous! Jealous of a man's love for his wife!" she taunted her-

IT HAS RAINED

Prospects are extremely bright for Lubbock and Lubbock real estate. My client feels that now is the time to sell. We feel personally that it is absolutely the very best time to buy. The man or woman who buys Lubbock real estate on the present market is going to make money. Of course he wants to buy with care and judiciously. We have looked the city over, and for the price we believe that there are no lot bargains quite equal to those out on 26th St., and just off of Avenue U.

This is one of the most attractive newer parts of the city, building rapidly, and these lots will only be two blocks from paving when Avenue S, is paved, and this has been ordered done by the city commission. We can sell you these lots yet at the unprecendentedly low figure of $325 each, and they offer the best opportunity in the city to double in price right away.

Just buy and hold and you will do like a lot of people have done on 16th and 17th and 19th Streets, make a real profit. Come to see us.

self, taking a cruel satisfaction in hurting herself.

"Probably she's all right, and I'm the one that's been all wrong. Maybe she's fine and sweet and gracious, and I've been unable to see her clearly because of my jealousy. But no, no! She isn't good! She's mean and cruel and selfish. She takes everything from him and gives him nothing, not even respect. She despises him because he loves her so abjectly, but she doesn't hesitate to take advantage of his fame and his big fees. But—he's hers. And he loves her. Oh, what am I going to do? Oh, dear God, what am I going to do?"

But even as her heart was torn with the question she knew the answer. Shivering, she drew up the blanket and her resolution at the same time: "I'll have to resign. I won't stay on—now that I know. I simply couldn't bear it. Just another stenographer in love with her boss!" Then, because her resolution was now firmly made, she permitted herself one indulgence. "Will you kiss me, my darling? Oh, John Curtis Morgan, I love you so."

WALL STREET IS IRREGULAR

SOME ADVANCES MADE BUT OTHER STOCKS DROP TODAY

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, May 21. (AP)—Further irregularity developed at the opening of today's stock market although price changes in the leading rails and industrials were rather narrow after yesterday's violent fluctuations. General electric and air reduction each advanced 3 points. Curtiss aeroplane 2 1-2 and Wright aeronautical 1. General motors opened with a block of 10,000 shares at 78, off 7-8. International telephone dropped 2 points and Coty 1.

Railroad shares resumed their advance although a more careful reading of the decision in the St Louis and O'Fallon case disclosed it was not as weepingly in favor of the road as the first hasty summaries indicated. Atchison soared 6 1-4 points, St. Louis, San Francisco quickly ran up 4 1-2 points, New York Central 3 1-2, Rock Island 2 3-4, Missouri Pacific preferred 2, and Erie Common, Western Maryland and Bangor & Aroostock advanced a point or more.

Industrials Recover

Substantial recoveries also were registered by some of the leading industrials, notably St. Joseph lead, Fleischmann, Hayes body, National Cash Register and eKnnecott, all of which showed early gains of 2 points or more.

Selling pressure, due in part to the liquidation of weakened marginal accounts, was still in evidence in the industrial list. New low prices for the year were recorded by Chrysler, United corporation (since its listing on the big board), United Fruit and Granby Copper.

Foreign exchanges opened steady, with cables unchanged at $4.85.

NEW ORLEANS OPENS UNDER

DECLINE OF 4 POINTS MARKS BEGINNING OF TRADING TUESDAY

(By Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, May 21.—The cotton market opened slightly easier in sympathy with disappointing cables. First trades showed losses of 1 to 4 points and although prices rallied a point or two after the start, sentiment continued bearish.

July sold down to 18.80, October 18.57 and December 18.68, or 5 to 11 points down from yesterday's close. At the end of the first hour the market was quiet and at the lows.

Th emarket ruled quiet and within the early range for the rest of the morning. A reported good demand for spots at the highest basis of the season caused near positions to rule comparatively firmer. Later months rallied in sympathy towards mid session October selling up to 18.63 and December 18.72, or 4 to 6 points up from the lows.

EASY CABLES CUTS COTTON

NEW YORK STAPLE IS DOWN SLIGHTLY IN TRADING TODAY

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, May 21—The cotton market opened steady at a decline of 2 to 7 points and after irregularity sold about 7 to 13 points below yesterday's close under realizing or liquidation and some local selling promoted by relatively easy cables and a more favorable view of the weather.

There was some buying due to uneasiness over the situation as to overflows in the Mississippi valley, but the demand wa comparatively slight. A decline extended to 18.77 for July and 18.75 for December.

Buying on expectations of bullish features in the weekly weather report tomorrow, checked a decline around 18.77 for July and 18.75 for December, or about 8 to 13 points below yesterday's close. Trading later was quiet with the market showing rallies of a few points on covering. At midday the active months were about 2 to 5 points net lower, with July selling around 18.81 and December 18.83.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON OPEN

NEW ORLEANS, May 21 (AP)—Cotton opened steady, Jan. 18.79 asked; March 18.88 asked; May 18.95 bid; July 18.83; Oct. 18.66; Dec. 18.75.

NEW YORK COTTON OPEN

NEW YORK, May 21. (AP)—Cotton opened steady, May 19.60; July 18.82; October 18.72; December 18.66; aJnuary 18.88.

TULSA FINDS CRUDE SHORT

DESPITE SEMINOLE, NO PRODUCTION HIKE IS REPORTED TODAY

(By Associated Press)

TULSA, May 21.—Despite lifting of production restrictions in the Greater Seminole areas and on the eve of a 25 cents per barrel increase in price declared by the Prairie Oil and Gas company Monday, the estimated daily average production of light and heavy gravity oil in the United States continued a moderate downward trend during the week ending May 18 to total but 2,632,103 barrels, a decrease of 4,705 barrels in comparison with the estimate for the week ending May 11.

LAW ENFORCEMENT GROUP CHOSEN BY HOOVER WILL SET TO WORK BY NEXT WEEK; WETS AND DRYS ARE PLEASED

By JAMES L. WEST
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP).—Eleven prominent Americans, ten lawyers and a woman educator, chosen by President Hoover to be members of his National Law Enforcement commission, will gather here this week to lay plans for investigating and attempting to find the remedy for lawlessness in the United States.

George W. Wickersham, of New York, City, attorney general in the Taft administration and President of the American Law institute, will sit at the head of the table as chairman with another former former cabinet officer, Newton D. Baker, of Cleveland, war secretary in the Wilson administration, sitting at his right as ranking member of the commission.

Others Are Listed

The others will be three federal judges, William S. Kenyon, of Iowa; William I. Grubb, of Alabama, and Paul J. McCormick, of California; four eminent attorneys, Roscoe Pound of the Harvard law school; Henry W. Anderson, of Richmond, Virginia; Monte M. Lemann, of New Orleans, president of the Louisiana Bar association; and Frank J. Loesch, vice president of the Chicago Crime commission; a former jurist; Kenneth R. Mackintosh, of Washington state, and one educator, Miss Ada L. Comstock, president of Radcliffe college, Cambridge, Massachusetts.

The commission is expected to get at its work within a short time and concededly has before it the most stupendous undertaking of any similar body in the history of the country. Guesses as to the length of time it will require for completion of the job vary, but even the most optimistic agree a final report is not to be expected within a year and a half or two years.

Touches On Prohibition

While the official White House announcement on the personnel designated the body as the National Law Enforcement commission, its chief function appears to be associated in the popular mind with prohibition enforcement. This trend of thought is clearly reflected in comments on the selections made by leading members of Congress.

Generally speaking these comments were favorable with some of the drys as well as the wets rather enthusiastic and decidedly hopeful o fsome concrete results so far as the whole prohibition question is concerned.

Both drys and wets scanned the names of the eleven commissioners in the hope of finding the answer to the question of their views on the prohibition subject, but they had only varying success. The White House announcement made no reference to the subject and the subject and the public careers of the commissioners have identified them with neither side.

Invited To Luncheon

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP).—President Hoover today invited the eleven members of his newly appointed Law Enforcement commission to meet with him at the White House for luncheon May 28.

Mr. Hoover will not indicate his own ideas as to the scope of the work of the commission until after he has had a talk with the members at the luncheon.

Tools Are Added

To the tool collection was added an old brace, typical of the first combination brace and bitts which were made.

From Dee Boren, for many years a rancher of Garza county, came many additions to the Historical Society Brand collection which is rapidly becoming one of the largest in the Southwest. With these were the D. and E. branding irons used in the DE brand, first registered in Fisher county in 1897 and brought to Garza in 1900; the Bar iron used for making the X of the ZXT brand which was started on the Clear Fork of the Brazos in Fisher county in 1875 by John Gough and later bought by the Mooars of Garza county, is also in the brand collection with the T and Z of the same brand.

Other famous branding irons which are in the collection at Canyon include the Diamond Tail, T-Anchor, Rockingchair, JA, JJ, HCS of Hank Smith of Crosby county, the XIT of the Capitol Syndicate, the TM of T. M. Montgomery, the —N— of Crosby and dozens of others, each reminiscent of a life that is rapidly passing.

A brief history of each brand is recorded in the files of the society.

GAS IS LOANED ZEPP BY FRANCE

CUERS, France, May 21 (AP).—The French naval authorities here today supplied the German dirigible, Graf Zeppelin, with 3,000 cubic meters of hydrogen lifting gas necessary to enable it to make its return trip to Friedrichshafen later this week.

It was explained the big ship's lifting gas supply had been carefully apportioned to the load to be lifted, and while sufficient for the trip to America was not sufficient for the three additional persons who intend to fly back to Friedrichshafen.

Captain Lehman, by increasing the gas content of the bag a thousand cubic meters per person, could offset this extra weight. Until the French came forward with their offer he had foreseen the necessity of further delaying the trip back to Germany or leaving behind some of those who wanted to go along.

WOMAN IS KNOWN IN FORT WORTH

FORT WORTH, May 21 (AP).—Mrs. Katherine King Fogarty, who has brought a $500,000 breach of promise suit against James J. (Gene) Tunney, formerly resided in Fort Worth and was reared here.

During the last few years, Mrs. Fogarty has been living in New York City. She has visited in Fort Worth in recent weeks with her mother, Mrs. J. Y. Rankin.

It was reported here before Tunney's marriage that he and Mrs. Fogarty were engaged. They were said to have been sweethearts for years, dating from about the time Tunney was in the Marine corps until after he had won the heavyweight title. Shortly before Tunney's marriage a report was current that he and Mrs. Fogarty had been secretly married in or near Fort Worth, but this was proven false after an investigation.

(By Associated Press)

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 21.—Captured by police following a revolver fight late last night, Michael Hanenstab, 23 of this city, was threatened with lynching at the hands of 200 men and women, after he had been identified by two girls as having attacked them.

Hozenstab, confronted by the girls, remained unshaken in his denial of guilt. Police said he confessed, however, to a number of burglaries and safe robberies.

The capture of the man was brought about when the screams of one of the girls aroused the neighborhood. She told police a man had seized her as she was on her way home.

SENTENCED FOR ROBBERY, COLEMAN MAN TO BE PARDONED AFTER SERVING TWO YEARS

(By Associated Press)

CORSICANA, Tex., May 21.—Two years after he began serving a prison sentence for a crime he had not committed, H. A. (Cork) Clemans of Coleman, Texas, today was a free man with a pardon from Governor Dan Moody in the offing.

Clemons was sentenced to five years for robbery. After two years he obtained a parole from the governor, went to West Texas and located Leonard A. Wassum, who in court here today pleaded guilty to the robbery of which Clemons was convicted. Fassum drew a five year sentence. He returned voluntarily to Corsicana with Clemons after the two had met at Midland, Tex.

Wanted to Be Cleared

Clemons said today that when he obtained the parole he believed he could have gotten a pardon, but he did not want the pardon until he had been cleared definitely of the robbery.

The parole to Clemons was granted when Blackie Davis, now in the penitentiary, signed a confession that he and Wassum staged the robbery and that Clemons had sony-'kk.3af..Yxyv.d- shrdl shrdl nothing to do with it. Earl Shannon also was tried for the same offense and drew a prison sentence, but the case was reversed on appeal and will be stricken from the court docket here.

District Judge Hawkins Scarborough who sentenced Clemons and Wassum, said there always had been a doubt in his mind as to Clemons' guilt. He added he would see that Clemons was pardoned "if I haveto walk to Austin" to get the pardon.

TEXAS HOUSE PROBERS SAY CLAIM FALSE

STATE EMPLOYEES ARE CLEARED OF CHARGE MADE BY BROKER

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, May 21.—Members of the Secretary of State's office and Attorney General's department were exonerated of charges of incompetency and misconduct in administration of the Blue Sky law in the report today of the House committee on state affairs which two weeks ago heard charges against the officials by C. D. Neff Dallas broker.

Neff alleged that one member of the Attorney General's department had sought to sell him a picture at an exorbitant price for influence in assisting the broker to obtain a Blue Sky permit.

Leaves In Huff

The Dallas man voluntarily appeared before the committee in a stormy three hour questioning, climaxed when he was struck by David Pickel, Assistant Attorney General, as the gathering was breaking up. He left during the night, declining to appear further before the committee.

Representative Cecil Storey, Vernon, chairman of the committee which heard the testimony, told the House none of the acts of state officials were in violation of the law, but there had been evidence of indiscretion on the part of some. He referred especially to letters which members of the Attorney General's department had sent to Neff, and which Storey said Neff had capitalized in the sale of oil stock.

The voluminous transcript of testimony was filed with the House clerk to be available for further investigation.

HUNT BEGINS FOR SLAYERS

BANDIT TRIO SHOOTS MEXICAN POLICE, SEIZES FUNDS

(By Associated Press)

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 21 (AP)—A search was on today for three men who shot to death two Mexican special police officers and escaped with $85,800, week-end receipts of a resort company at Agua Caliente Mexico.

The robbery took place on the crowded National City dike, south of San Diego, yesterday. The officers, Jose Perez Borrego and Nemesio Monroy, were transporting the money to San Diego in an automobile.

Machine Gun Used

The robbers suddenly pulled along side the automobile. The bandit trio unlimbered a machine gun, and Borrego and Monroy drew their pistols. The officers managed to fire several shots at the bandits. Borrego fell with nine bullets in his body, and Monroy was shot five times. One of the robber trio grabbed the money bag from the officers' car and they sped away.

CHINESE RED ARMIES MOVE UPON CANTON

AMERICANS, ENGLISH PREPARE TO DEFEND KWANGSI ATTACK

(By Associated Press)

CANTON, China, May 21.—British sailors landing from gunboats in the harbor today in Shameen quarter immediately began construction of defenses in the English concession. Gates and bridges were closed and guards posted.

The British consulate warned subjects not to leave Shameen and asked that they assemble at Contanolloon railway compound. Three British and two French gunboats and two Japanese destroyers were anchored in the harbor outside the concession. The U. S. S. Tulsa was en route from Hongkong.

Sacking Of City Feared

In the Natice city the utmost tenseness prevailed with attacking Kwangsi troops known to be not far away. Sacking of the city, the largest of Southern China, was feared in the event of capture by the red Kwangsi elements, believed imminent.

Reports from Wuchow, on the Kwangsi border, said bombing raids and threats of new expeditions against it had aroused considerable feeling and intensified the antagonism of the Kwangsi generals. Forty Americans there were safe with the U. S. S. Guam protecting them.

About $2,000,000 Mexican in silver bullion has been moved from the Central bank to Hongkong for safety while many leading Sino residents have sent their families to the English territory.

A British missionary arriving from 15 miles north of Canton said the Kwangsiites were advancing within 25 miles of Canton, with the retreating Kwangtung forces offering desperate resistance. A thousand wounded Kwangtung troops arrived from the Pei Kiang district while 10,000 men were taken from the Tung Kiang area and hurried north in an effort to halt the Kwangsiites. The Canton government said the Kwangtung lines were pierced yesterday 40 miles above the city but the ground lost afterwards recovered.

DALLAS, May 21. (AP)—Hack Miller, former home run king of the Texas league, was returned to the Dallas Steers today by Minneapolis, Steer officials announced.

BLANCHETTE NOW FEELS 30 YEARS YOUNGER, HE SAYS

"There is no question in my mind that any medicine that takes hold of a case of years standing, with a man of my years—I am 78—and builds up his strength and energy to a gain of ten pounds is a remarkable medicine.

MR. O. BLANCHETTE

"Before I started the Sargon treatment, I was so weak and run down, that I could hardly get around. I had suffered with chronic constipation and stomach trouble for years. My digestion was poor, my appetite failed me, and severe, constipation brought on biliousness.

"I tried medicines that gave me temporary relief, but that was all, and I was never more surprised, soon after beginning the Sargon treatment, than to find my appetite had returned, and to find myself eating and enjoying my food, and feeling better in every way. Then, as my strength and energy came back, and I commenced to feel alert, to take a new interest in things around me, and really enjoy life, I was convinced I had at last found the right medicine.

"I feel thirty years younger than when I started the treatment.

"Sargon Soft Mass Pills ended my constipation and my biliousness is gone. They don't shock the system like other laxatives I have used, but are mild and act surely and naturally. I am certainly grateful to this wonderful treatment for all it has done for me."

The above statement was made recently by O. Blanchette, of 1513 Victoria St., Beaumont, a pioneer citizen of that place.

Sargon may be obtained in Lubbock from City Drug Stores or in Slaton at the City Drug Store.
