STOCK LAW ELECTION ORDERED FOR MAY 4

The petition for an election to be held to determine whether stock should be allowed to run at large in Hedley school district was acted upon by the Commissioners' court Saturday and ordered an election for Saturday, May 4. From the number of people signing the petition and expressing their views on the matter we believe the proposition will carry by a large majority.

The Mission Study Class met with Mrs. Wimberly Monday afternoon Mar. 25. The meeting of Missionary Society will be held with Mrs. Frank Kendall Mar. 31, 2:30 p. m. Subject, Korea and Mountain Work. Scripture portion: "Impossible Morals" Matt. 5:33-42. All the ladies who will attend are invited to do so.

EASTER EGG HUNT

The Methodist and Baptist Missionary Societies will give an Easter Egg Hunt on Friday afternoon April 5 on the premises J. G. McDougal. Admission 10c. The hunt to begin immediately after school. The crowd to come to the house and all leave together for the "Happy Hunting Ground." Everybody come along and let's have a jolly hour hunting for the golden egg. Press Reporter.

JOHNSON AND OUSLEY

The editorial of the Herald of two weeks ago relative to the folly of Clarence Ousley accepting a place upon the grand jury that indicted Rev. Norris has been quite largely copied and endorsed by the press of the state. The result is that Editor Ousley is greatly incensed at the Herald and its editor, and threatens to forever cut us off his exchange list. Our comments relative to Ousley were merely to the fact that he used poor judgment in getting into that case as a volunteer. —Hall County Herald.

PAUL SARVIS TO START PAPER AT LAKEVIEW

J. Paul Sarvis moved his printing plant and household goods Tuesday to Lakeview where he has made arrangements to start a newspaper. That seems to be a good inland town with a fine adjacent territory, and ought to support a paper all right. Here's wishing you success, Paul.

NAYLOR

Well, Mr. Editor, we are all feeling fine this pretty weather. All the farmers are busy getting ready for a big crop this year. There is a fine season in the ground and the plows will soon be running.

Sunday was Bro. Deboard's regular day, but Bro. Burk came with him and preached in the morning after Sunday school and gave us a fine sermon.

Sunday afternoon Bro. Bryant came over from Lelia Lake and preached another fine sermon. He has made arrangements to preach for us in the afternoon of every fourth Sunday.

Bro. Coopwood Perry preaches every first Sunday so we now have three sermons every month. Since we have our organ and new song books we have lots of music. After preaching Sunday afternoon they all stayed and sang until nearly sundown.

Dr. Ozier was in the neighborhood this week to see his patient, Miss Perry, of whom we made mention last week as being sick at Mr. Hall's. We are sorry to say that she is no better.

T. J. Wood returned home this week. He has been gone some six weeks down the country on business.

Dr. C. L. Fields made a trip to Hedley this week with a bale of cotton.

Frank Kendall was in the neighborhood this week on business.

Some of the range cattle are getting very poor. They will have a time from now on trying to keep away from the heel flies.

RURAL CARRIER EXAMINAT'N

A Civil Service examination will be held at Clarendon Saturday, April 20, to fill a vacancy in the position of rural carrier at Hedley, and other vacancies as they may occur on rural routes at post offices in Donley county.

Application Form 1341, and full information concerning the requirements of the examination, can be secured from the secretary of the local examining board or the postmaster at any of the above places, or from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

Chas. Kinslow arrived from Louisiana Tuesday for a two or three weeks visit with his folks and many friends. Chas. held the position of manager of Johnston Hdw. Co. before that firm sold to Moreman Hdw. Co.

MEAT MARKET NOW OPEN FOR BUSINESS

Stewart & Ready have opened their new meat market on east Main this week, and have started out with a fair promise of supplying the demand of Hedley and vicinity with nice meats. This firm started with some choice beef, pork and sausage, and they expect to handle produce and hides in connection, which should be mutually beneficial to the firm and the people.

SHOE-BAR RANCH LAND SOLD

A large deal was closed last week when Will Lewis of Clarendon, bought 60,000 acres of Shoe-bar ranch land south of the river. About 10,000 head of cattle also went with this deal. Jim Owens also purchased 42,000 acres of the same land. This cleans up all the Shoe-bar land on the south side and only leaves about 7,000 acres on this side of the river yet to be disposed of. —Memphis Democrat.

If it's Locust shades you want, I have 'em. Phone or see, J. M. Brokaw.

JEWELER LOCATES HERE THIS WEEK

B. D. Baird opened up his jewelry shop Monday, and has been getting in quite a lot of repair work. If his business continues as has started he will do well here. Hedley continues to add to the different enterprises that go to the making up of a town where people like to trade. He is located at the Albright Drug Co.

Say!

Do you watch Hedley grow.

WAGON YARD NEAR- ING COMPLETION

The new wagon yard will soon be ready to open to the public. Mr. Cornelius is fixing up a good lot of stables, feed and grain house and a commodious and comfortable camp house. With two good wagon yards Hedley can give the traveling public and tradespeople suitable accommodations while in town. Still Hedley grows.

If you have any jewelry that's in need of repair, bring it to me. B. D. Baird, the Jeweler. Hedley, Texas.

RING

Mr. Stewart was in Hedley Monday trading.

Will Sorrell's still pulling bolls.

Mr. Harrison has two plows breaking sod.

T. E. Arnold went to Memphis Monday.

Mr. Parmley killed hogs this week.

Powell Arnold and sister Dona visited Misses Bobbie and Nellie Perry Sunday evening.

Several of our young people attended the Singing Convention at Quail last Sunday. They report a nice time. Among those who went were Miss Ivy Forshee, Messrs Garland Forshee, Edgar and Wesley Crow.

Messrs Daniels and Surguy of Lesley were in our community this week buying corn. They bought two loads from Mr. Callen; price paid was 50c per bu. at the barn.

Will Crow and wife of Lakeview were visiting in the community last week.

Bro. Burk, the missionary for the Baptist Association, was visiting in our community last week. He intended to preach at the school house Wednesday night but the weather was too bad.

Mr. Perry went to Memphis with a load of corn and peas this week.

Farmers are getting busy now preparing to list their land and breaking sod.

AN OBSERVER.

Austin, Mar. 27.—State Health Officer Steiner returned this morning from a trip to Fort Worth, where he went to investigate the smallpox situation there, which has been reported to him as being very bad, not only there but elsewhere in North Texas. He says that while there is considerable smallpox in that section and a good deal in Fort Worth, that conditions are not as alarming as reported, and that the local authorities at Fort Worth have the situation well in hand.

The above appeared in Thursday's Fort Worth Record under a big heading and is practically an admission by that paper that the smallpox situation there has been and is bad enough at best, and some different to an article that appeared in the Record just before the Cattlemen's Convention giving the people jerny fits who had some regard for the health of outside people, and warned them of the situation there. The Record called them "scandal-mongers" and gossip peddlers and such like. Said there was but little smallpox there and it well in hand.

Candy that is canday at Albright Drug Co.

HEDLEY GIN MAKING BIG IMPROVEMENTS

The Moreman gin has been running day and night for several weeks and gins from twenty to thirty bales per day and night; a good showing on bolls. It keeps the plant busy to gin the cotton for the farmers and will do so for several weeks yet, while the cotton bought and piled up by dealers is left until the other cotton is all ginned.

Mr. Moreman is a gin man who believes in fixing up to take care of the cotton business in a business like manner. He has carpenters at work building a house about 30x70 feet for storing seed cotton. It will hold something like 200 bales. After that is built, work on the gin house proper will commence.

GRAHAM-RAMBO

County Judge J. D. Bird on last Sunday morning performed the ceremony which made H. L. Graham and Miss Zella Rambo husband and wife. The happy young couple left immediately in their automobile for Hedley where they visited relatives. These two young people are of the best respected families in Hall county and their many friends joins the Democrat in wishing for them a prosperous and happy life.—Democrat.

IT SEEMS THAT JUSTICE DEPENDS UPON MONEY OR LACK OF SAME

A man attacked his wife, carved her with a knife, but did not kill her. His offense was rated as "assault and battery" and a fine of $100 satisfied justice. He must have had money to hire a lawyer. A friendless Mexican fired at officers who wanted to arrest him (and it's an open question whether they had warrants for his arrest) and he had no money to hire a lawyer. His offense was graded as "assault with intent to murder" and he got four years in the penitentiary. What's the use of asking, when a man is arraigned, whether he is guilty or not guilty? A more pertinent inquiry would be: Has he got money and how much money? For that's what seems to count. —Waco Tribune.

Lovable Women

Those Spoken of Least by Men are Best Liked

By LOUISE LYNDON SIBLEY

WOMEN like the woman who has hitched her wagon to a star and who stops it to take you in. "Conventional manners she may not have, but moral and mental manners she does have. She is Mrs. Cleveland or Mrs. Wiggins, friendly, adaptable, steady, dependable, ever cheerful with cheerfulness that is the "calm of deep waters, and not the mere glassiness of the shallow pool"—and this the same whether she is sedate or vivacious by temperament.

Women like taste and style in dress, and with it that subtle grace they name in the country when they say of one that she is "not too good to speak to common folks."

Women like the woman who possesses some, at least, of the crowd of appealing graces of body, soul and mind resembling the lovely composite we used to make of our history class—who was to wear Polly Smith's eyes and Polly Brown's nose and Polly Jones' chin.

She will be one who can listen well. All the world loves a listener. Because if she listens she cares, thus mutely promising to further one's cherished plans, rather than searching about seeking whom she herself may devour.

Also she must be kind to your fancies and needs in the matter of hospitality. A mile from a lemon she may be, but ever a hostess of infinite resources and sagacity. She will not set before you the pickles and tea which are the chief of her own diet, making believe to flatter you in letting you take her as you find her, as the form has it. The woman women like always has the wholesome and pleasant grapes, and the jug of milk of Baucis and Philemon somewhere in reserve.

Women like a woman who lends "joy and grace to all her little world of friendship, to make her home a place which every guest enters with eagerness, and leaves with reluctance. She lends encouragement to the timid and ease to the awkward, represses violence, restrains egotism, makes controversy courteous."

Women like a woman with ease of manner, the mark of the habitual intercourse with the world—and having put you at your ease and comforted your appetite and shared your joys and divided your sorrows, and made you think you are worth while after all, yourself, and lent you the pattern of her prettiest waist, and discovered that your hand is smaller than hers and her feet are larger than yours—she disappears from discussion, for that woman is best and most liked by woman who is "least spoken of among men, whether for

Young Man Being Favored in Business

By CHARLES F. SUNDELL

It does seem a great wrong that business men in hiring help should discriminate in favor of the young man when it is very evident that the older man is superior in every way.

All men of forty-five or thereabouts should not be classed together, as there are those men who at that age have every quality of superiority over the young man.

They have had the experience; their judgment is the ripest and their knowledge the amplest and broadest.

From the very nature of things there have to be two classes, the employers and the wage earners. We cannot all be masters and consequently most of us must be servants. It stands to reason, therefore, that the man of fifty has to seek employment as well as the man of thirty.

I cannot see why a man of fifty is not as good a salesman as a much younger man, as he certainly has had a much harder and a more varied experience.

Under these conditions it should not be considered a disgrace to the man whose hair is sprinkled with gray to compete in the labor market with the young man. On the contrary, he should be treated courteously and given the opportunity to prove that he is fully the equal of the young man.

Why should not a man who is able to use good English be eligible to any position regardless of a few years either way?

When A Girl Is Old Enough To Marry

By Mrs. W. B. Waller, San Francisco

When a girl has made an exhaustive study of every phase of the subject, completely appreciates the word duty in all its fullness, and is willing to live up to this, then, and not till then, is she eligible to the momentous duties of wifehood and motherhood, be she twenty or thirty.

Above all things girls should be trained to be home makers. Good cooking a specialty. A complete study of the care of children should be made.

A man is expected to be able to support a wife and maintain a home before he marries.

A girl should be competent to preside over that home intelligently, economically and helpfully. She should be trained to be a thorough helpmate.

Let her begin as an apprentice to master all that pertains to home making at twenty and at twenty-five she will not only be a competent housekeeper, but a husband keeper at the same time, these two things being almost synonymous.

What Our Children Should be Taught

By James E. Sullivan, New York

Pupils in the New York public schools should be taught, above all, the fundamental principles of right living in connection with a most thorough and exhaustive drilling in the three R's, and what they embrace. Too much time and money are literally thrown away by compelling students to take special courses, such as manual training, music, painting, etc.

If the pupil has a natural ability to specialize let the parents pay for it and send him to a special school after he leaves the public school. Irksome school regulations engender a tendency toward lying and deceit. Superficial instruction in the three R's produces boys who can neither read, write nor spell correctly. Thus they are incompetent from the start for a successful business career.

FARM and GARDEN

DATES FOR PLANTING CORN

Results of Investigations by Government Extending Over Period of More Than Two Years.

(By JAMES R. COVERT.)

Investigations by the government extending over a period of more than two years relative to the dates of sowing and harvesting the principal crops of all countries, are of unusual value and interest.

The illustration given shows two sections of the United States wherein, according to this investigation, corn planting begins simultaneously.

Corn planting is first observed on the chart about February 15 of normal years, the first planting taking place in southern Florida and Texas. Fifteen days later corn planting is observed in northern Florida, southern Louisiana and central Texas, and by May 15 the movement had progressed as far north as southern Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont, central New York, northern Wisconsin, Minnesota and North Dakota.

The curves in the lines of the chart are a significant feature. They indicate the result of influences exerted upon planting by topography, soil conditions, rainfall and latitude. Sometimes one set of influences prevails, sometimes another. Again, several combined influences may be counterbalanced, as it were, by one controlling influence. For instance, the lines in western Kansas and Nebraska bend slightly northward, instead of abruptly southward, as would be expected in view of their greater altitude. The counterbalancing influence in this case is believed to be the character of the soil which, in the western portion of these states, is sandy and therefore readily dries out and quickly warms up in spring. The influence of the Great Lakes is shown in the sinuous line bearing date May 15.

The air temperature at which corn planting begins in actual practice has not heretofore been established, but from data assembled in the study of cereal crops it is believed to be approximately 55 degrees Fahrenheit, except in certain localities, where the mean daily normal temperature does not fall so low as 55 degrees Fahrenheit.

GIVES SIGNAL FOR LETTERS

Flag Arranged to Notify Occupants of House When Rural Carrier Has Deposited Mail.

A flag attached to the mail box will let the occupants of the house know when the carrier has left mail.

Two pulleys and a continuous rope, on which is fastened the flag, are easily arranged. Fasten a weight to the rope at the right distance and put a block on top of the box-lid to keep the weight from slipping off the front. When the lid of the box is raised the weight slips off and up goes the flag.

Flag Indicates Mail.

The carrier will hold the weight from slipping off the box when he takes out letters and leaves no mail. This little device will save many a long walk in bad weather, if the box is located considerable distance from the house.

Forage Plants.

For four important reasons, the clovers are among the most valuable of forage plants. First the manual cost of their production is exceptionally low. Second, they are richer in protein than most of the forage crops; far richer than the grasses. Third, they enrich the soil in nitrogen as well as subsoil it, so that the following crops are almost invariably good. Fourth, in permanent mowings they ultimately so enrich the soil in nitrogen that the grasses as well as the clovers make vigorous growth.

TRAP IS EASY TO CONSTRUCT

Excellent for Extermination of Rats, Also to Catch Rabbits and Other Animals.

(By J. W. GRIFFIN.)

Set the trap over a barrel that is partly filled with water, fasten the falling doors so that they will not fall and let the rats run through and around the trap for several nights—then pull out the nail that holds the doors, and you will catch every rat that has visited the trap.

Two boards ten inches wide and two feet long are used for the sides; one board two feet long and one foot wide for the top; two boards ten inches wide and one foot and six inches in length for the bottom or falling doors.

The falling doors should have tin fastened on the top side from where the pivots enter the sides to the end next to the bait; this will prevent the sharp claws clinging to the board and climbing back, when the doors fall.

The description by letter is as follows: A, bait; BB, on the dotted lines, shows the position of the falling doors when the game enters the lower part of the trap; CC, the entrance to the trap; DD, the nails that serve as pivots for the falling doors.

EE, nail-holes in which are the nails that hold the trap unset while the game are getting used to it. The bottom part of the trap—that which retains the game after trapping—should be made of hardwood or should be lined with roofing iron or tin.

The bait should be suspended with a small wire and should hang within two or three inches of the floor, or falling doors.

If the trap is neatly made and fitted out—so that all parts work well, there is not the least possible doubt as to the game it will capture (besides the rats one wishes to exterminate), such as rabbits, squirrels, opossums, raccoons, muskrats, in fact all animals that will eat of prepared bait.

Excellent Trap.

In setting the trap, choose a place on a hillside, in a gully, or a small hollow so the entrance may be placed on a level with the earth, and the animals will have no trouble in entering.

PREPARATION OF CELERY BED

Plant Does Best in Moist, Mucky Soil and in Situations Where Water Supply is Abundant.

Sow celery in March, or beginning of April in rows in fine, rich soil, and, if dry enough, press the soil firmly with a roller or the back of the spade. Keep the seed bed well watered, as celery germinates very slowly. Transplant from June to August.

Celery does best in a moist, mucky soil, and in situations where plenty of water is abundant in the soil. It can be planted in single or double rows, earthing up as it grows two or three times, and in doing this, care should be taken not to let the earth get into the heart of the plant.

When severe cold weather comes, take up and transplant solidly in a bed close together, and cover gradually with leaves, hay or straw, as necessary to prevent freezing.

GARDEN and FARM NOTES

Weeds along the fence are fine harbors for insects.

Long, straight garden rows make cultivation easier.

Asparagus should not be cut the first season at all.

Poultry droppings make fine fertilizer for the onion bed.

A plant of rhubarb once well established is good indefinitely.

The market price of commercial feeds is no indication of their real value.

Clean all home-grown seed and grade, so only the largest seed can be used.

Rhubarb or pieplant is one of the perennials that should be in every garden.

Any time in the year is the right time to begin planning for an asparagus plot.

Lettuce and cabbage plants in the cold-frames must be given air every mild day.

Sweet corn is a very profitable crop. One reason for this is because it is so easily handled.

The silo is now a necessity, and for you to compete with the man who has one you must have one, too.

It is always best to order the vegetable seeds early to insure prompt delivery and to get such variety as are wanted.

Fall plowing usually produces a better corn crop than spring plowing, the ground being mellowed by the frost and rain.

Every grain dealer, banker and business man should get busy and use every means possible to induce farmers to test every ear of their seed corn.

CHICAGO NURSE HEALS LITTLE TOTS

Tells Wonderful Secret of Successful Experience Healing Sores.

What could be more convincing than the letter of a nurse, in which she tells of the wonders she has accomplished with Resinol?

If the curative properties of Resinol are recognized as exceptional by a person continually connected with skin diseases of every sort, you, as an individual, certainly ought to heed her words of experience and advice. Read what she says:

"Resinol Ointment is excellent for the various skin eruptions that childhood is heir to. I have healed a great many sores on the little tots with Resinol Ointment, and recommend its good qualities whenever I find an opportunity."

"MISS M. SCHOFIELD, District Nurse, Chicago, Ill."

Resinol Ointment can be applied to the raw skin of the youngest infant without irritation or smarting, and gives instant relief. Resinol Ointment is an effective and reliable remedy in all forms of inflammation, eruption and irritation of the skin. It is an immediate remedy for itching or inflamed piles and a great curative application for eczema, tetter, milk crust, pimples, blackheads, scalds, burns, chilblains, boils, felons, cuts and all inflamed and irritated skin surfaces. Resinol Soap, by its antiseptic and healing properties, assists the work of Resinol Ointment. Your druggist knows the value and reputation of Resinol Ointment, and has it for sale in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. Free trial sample will be sent you upon application to Department 82, Resinol Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md.

Didn't Surprise Mrs. Flynn.

Dennis Flynn, while returning from work, took refuge under a tree during a thunder storm. The tree was struck by lightning and Dennis was blown some twenty feet away by the concussion and badly stunned. A neighbor found Dennis and began the work of resuscitation; another hurried to the home of Dennis to inform Mrs. Flynn of the accident. Mrs. Flynn listened to the neighbor's account of the accident with mingled terror and joy, and when told that her husband was not much hurt and would soon be home, her pleasure was gratifying to behold. "An' Dennis was twenty feet away, did yez say?" "About that, yea." "Och, my Dennis always was quick on his feet," said Mrs. Flynn, with a proud shake of her head.

Work Begets Work.

George W. Perkins, the New York financier, was talking about the scarcity of the $10,000 a year man—the man actually worth a $10,000 salary. "The advantage of the $10,000 a year man," he said, "is not alone that he works splendidly—it is also that under him everybody else works splendidly! There's a Chinese proverb," he said, "that expresses exactly what I mean: 'If a farmer is diligent the soil will not be lazy.'"

Puzzle of Living.

Religionists chided about their inability to agree on points of faith might point out that they differ only in incidental and not essentials, whereas the scientists differ on everything. Take the science of living. A week ago you would have "died if you drank water with your meals." Now they say it doesn't do any harm at all. One variety says: "Eat meat, lots of it, to build good, rich blood." Another says meat is poison; that vegetables are the only food. A third declares meat and vegetables both increase debility, and that you will live twice as long on raw fruits and nuts. Some say "Talk with your meals, laugh; it makes the food digest." Others insist silence is never so golden as at the table.

A WOMAN DOCTOR Was Quick to See That Coffee Poison Was Doing the Mischief.

A lady tells of a bad case of coffee poisoning, and tells it in a way so simple and straightforward that literary skill could not improve it.

"I had neuralgic headaches for 12 years," she says, "and have suffered untold agony. When I first began to have them I weighed 140 pounds, but they brought me down to 110."

"I went to many doctors and they gave me only temporary relief. So I suffered on, till one day, a woman doctor advised me to drink Postum. She said I looked like I was coffee poisoned."

"So I began to drink Postum, and gained 15 pounds in the first few weeks and am still gaining, but not so fast as at first. My headaches began to leave me after I had used Postum about two weeks—long enough, I expect, to get the coffee poison out of my system."

"Now that a few months have passed since I began to use Postum, I can gladly say that I never know what a neuralgic headache is like any more, and it was nothing but Postum that relieved me."

"Before I used Postum I never went out alone; I would get bewildered and would not know which way to turn. Now I go alone and my head is as clear as a bell. My brain and nerves are stronger than they have been for years." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

"There's a reason," and it is explained in the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

TURNED BLIND ALMOST FELL

Mrs. Hansen Says At First Her Case Seemed Hopeless, but She Finally Won Out.

Mobile, Ala.—"For seven years," says Mrs. Sigurd Hansen, of this city, "I suffered with womanly troubles, and, at last, was operated on."

I felt better for a time, but soon I had the same trouble as before.

I had dizzy spells, and would turn blind and almost fall over. I had pains in my back and side, and was not able to work.

Half the time I could not eat any breakfast, and I always felt weak and had a headache.

One day, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, and I tried it. I felt better, so I took some more.

Now, I am well and feel fine. My doctor says I am looking better than ever. I have a good appetite and sleep well.

It is all due to Cardui. I only wish every suffering woman would try it. They would soon feel as good as I do.

You may be sure, when Cardui will relieve and cure such a serious case as that of Mrs. Hansen, that it will, much more quickly and certainly, help those women who have no serious symptoms, but are just weak and ailing.

Are you?

Try it.

Natural Avoidance.

Mayor Gaynor of New York is defending his anti-suffrage views: "Woman has her place and man has his," he said, "and when I think of the confusion that would come from intermingling their places, I am reminded of an anecdote about Lady Holland. Lady Holland once said to Lord John Russell: 'Why hasn't Lord Holland got a post in the cabinet?' 'Well, if you must know,' Lord John answered, 'it is because nobody would work in a cabinet with a man whose wife opens all his letters.'"

HANDS WOULD CRACK OPEN

"About two months ago my hands started to crack open and bleed, the skin would scale off, and the good flesh would burn and itch dreadfully. When my hands first started to get sore, there were small blisters like water blisters which formed. They itched dreadfully, it just seemed as though I could tear the skin all off. I would scratch them and the skin would peel off, and the flesh would be all red and crack open and bleed. It worried me very much, as I had never had anything the matter with my skin. I was so afraid I would have to give up my employment.

"My doctor said he didn't think it would amount to anything. But it kept getting worse. One day I saw a piece in one of the papers about a lady who had the same trouble with her hands. She had used Cuticura Soap and Ointment and was cured. I decided to try them, and my hands were all healed before I had used one cake of Cuticura Ointment. I am truly thankful for the good results from the Cuticura Soap and Ointment, for thanks to them I was cured, and did not have to lose a day from work. I have had no return of the skin trouble." (Signed) Mrs. Mary E. Breig, 2522 Brown Street, Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 12, 1911.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold everywhere, a sample of each, with 32-page book, will be mailed free on application to "Cuticura," Dept. L, Boston.

SYNOPSIS.

Elam Harnish, known all through Alaska as "Burning Daylight," celebrates his 50th birthday with a crowd of miners at the Circle City Tivoli. The dance leads to heavy gambling, in which over $100,000 is staked. Harnish loses his money and his mine but wins the mail contract. He starts on his mail trip with dogs and sleds, telling his friends that he will be in the big Yukon gold strike at the start. Burning Daylight makes a sensational rapid run across country with the mail, appears at the Tivoli and is now ready to join his friends in a dash to the new gold fields. Deciding that gold will be found in the up-river district Harnish buys two tons of flour, which he declares will be worth its weight in gold, but when he arrives with his flour he finds the big flat desolate. A comrade discovers gold and Daylight reaps a rich harvest. He goes to Dawson, becomes the most prominent figure in the Klondike and defeats a combination of capitalists in a vast mining deal. He returns to civilization, and, amid the bewildering complications of high finance, Daylight finds that he has been led to invest his eleven millions in a manipulated scheme. He goes to New York, and confronting his disloyal partners with a revolver, he threatens to kill them if his money is not returned. They are cowed, return their stealings and Harnish goes back to San Francisco where he meets his fate in Dede Mason, a pretty stenographer. He makes large investments and gets into the political ring. For a rest he goes to the country.

CHAPTER XI.—Continued.

Daylight could not persuade himself to keep to the traveled roads that day, and another cut across country to Glen Ellen brought him upon a canyon that so blocked his way that he was glad to follow a friendly cow-path. This led him to a small frame cabin. The doors and windows were open, and a cat was nursing a litter of kittens in the doorway, but no one seemed at home. He descended the trail that evidently crossed the canyon. Part way down, he met an old man coming up through the sunset. In his hand he carried a pail of foamy milk. He wore no hat, and in his beard, framed with snow-white hair and beard, was the ruddy glow and content of the passing summer day. Daylight thought that he had never seen so contented looking a being.

"How old are you, daddy?" he queried. "Eighty-four," was the reply. "Yes, sirree, eighty-four, and spryter than most."

"You must a' taken good care of yourself," Daylight suggested. "I don't know about that. I ain't loafed none. I walked across the plains with an ox team and fit injuns in '51, and I was a family man with seven youngsters. I reckon I was as old then as you are now, or pretty nigh on to it."

"Don't you find it lonely here?"

The old man shifted the pail of milk and reflected.

"That all depends," he said oracularly. "I ain't never been lonely except when the old wife died. Some fellers are lonely in a crowd, and I'm one of them. That's the only time I'm lonely, is when I go to 'Frisco. But I don't go no more, thank you 'most to death. This is good enough for me. I've been right here in this valley since '54—one of the first settlers after the Spaniards."

The old man chuckled, and Daylight rode on, singularly at peace with himself and all the world. It seemed that the old contentment of trail and camp he had known on the Yukon had come back to him. He could not shake from his eyes the picture of the old pioneer coming up the trail through the sunset light. He was certainly going some for eighty-four. The thought of following his example entered Daylight's mind, but the big game of San Francisco vetoed the idea.

CHAPTER XII.

Instead of returning to the city on Monday, Daylight rented the butcher's horse for another day and crossed the bed of the valley to its eastern hills. As on the previous day, just for the joy of it, he followed cattle-trails at haphazard and worked his way up toward the summits. Coming out upon a wagon road that led upward, he followed it for several miles, emerging in a small, mountain-encircled valley, where half a dozen poor ranchers farmed the wine-grapes on the steep slopes. Beyond, the road pitched upward. Dense chaparral covered the exposed hillsides, but in the creases of the canyons huge spruce trees grew, and wild oats and flowers.

Late in the afternoon he broke through, and followed a well-defined trail down a dry canyon. The dry canyon gave place to one with a slender ribbon of running water. The trail ran into a wood-road, and the wood-road emerged across a small flat upon a slightly traveled country road. There were no farms in this immediate section, and no houses. The soil was meager, the bed-rock either close to the surface or constituting the surface itself. Manzanita and scrub-oak, however, flourished and walled the road on either side with a jungle growth. And out a runway through this growth a man suddenly scuttled in a way that reminded Daylight of a rabbit.

He was a little man, in patched overalls; bareheaded, with a cotton shirt open at the throat and down the chest. The sun was ruddy-brown in his face, and by it his sandy hair was bleached on the ends to peroxide blonde. He signed to Daylight to halt, and held up a letter.

"If you're going to town, I'd be obliged if you mail this," he said.

"I sure will," Daylight put it into his coat pocket. "Do you live hereabouts, stranger?"

But the little man did not answer. He was gazing at Daylight in a surprised and steadfast fashion.

"I know you," the little man announced. "You're Elam Harnish—Burning Daylight, the papers call you. Am I right?"

Daylight nodded.

"Well, I'm glad I wrote that letter this afternoon," the little man went on, "or else I'd have missed seeing you. I've seen your photo in the papers many a time, and I've a good memory for faces. I recognized you at once. My name's Ferguson."

"Do you live hereabouts?" Daylight repeated his query.

"Oh, yes. I've got a little shack back here in the bush a hundred yards and a pretty spring, and a few fruit trees and berry bushes. Come in and take a look. And that spring is a dandy. You never tasted water like it. Come in and try it."

Walking and leading his horse, Daylight followed the quick-stepping, eager little man through the green tunnel and emerged abruptly upon the clearing, if clearing it might be called, where wild nature and man's earthscratching were inextricably blended. It was a tiny nook in the hills, protected by the steep walls of a canyon fed them, and brought them up. Come on and peep at the spring."

"It's sure a hummer," was Daylight's verdict, after due inspection and sampling, as they turned back for the house.

The interior was a surprise. The cooking being done in the small, lean-to kitchen, the whole cabin formed a large living-room. A great table in the middle was comfortably littered with books and magazines. All the available wall space, from wall to ceiling, was occupied by filled bookshelves. It seemed to Daylight that he had never seen so many books assembled in one place. Skins of wildcat, coon and deer lay about on the pine-board floor.

Daylight found himself charmed and made curious by the little man. Why was he hiding away here in the chaparral, he and his books? So it was, when between them they had washed and wiped the dishes and put them away, and had settled down to a comfortable smoke, that Daylight put his question.

"Look here, Ferguson. Every since we got together, I've been casting about to find out what's wrong with you, to locate a screw loose somewhere, but I'll be damned if I've succeeded. What are you doing here, anyway?"

Ferguson frankly showed his pleasure at the questions.

"First of all," he began, "the doctors wound up by losing all hope for me. Gave me a few months at best, and that, after a course in sanitariums and a trip to Europe and another to Hawaii. They tried electricity and forced feeding and fasting. I was a graduate of about everything in the curriculum. They kept me poor with their bills, while I went from bad to worse. The trouble with me was twofold; first I was a born weakling; and next, I was living unnaturally—too much work, and responsibility and strain. I was managing editor of the Times-Tribune in San Francisco, and I wasn't strong enough for the whom the lust for power had long since died.

It was not until ten o'clock that Daylight parted from Ferguson. As he rode along through the starlight, the idea came to him of buying the ranch on the other side of the valley. There was no thought in his mind of ever intending to live on it. His game was in San Francisco. But he liked the ranch, and as soon as he got back to the office he would open up negotiations with Hillard.

The time passed, and he played on at the game. San Francisco's attitude toward Daylight had undergone a change. While he, with his slashing buccaneer methods, was a distinct menace to the more orthodox financial gamblers, he was nevertheless so grave a menace that they were glad enough to let him alone. He had already taught them the excellence of letting a sleeping dog lie.

Dede Mason was still in the office. He had made no more overtures, discussed no more books. He had no active interest in her, and she was to him a pleasant memory of what had never happened, a joy, which, by his essential nature, he was barred from ever knowing. Yet, while his interest had gone to sleep and his energy was consumed in the endless battles he waged, he knew every trick of the light on her hair, every quick definite mannerism of movement, every line of her figure as expounded by her tailor-made gowns. Several times, six months or so apart, he had increased her salary, until now she was receiving ninety dollars a month. Beyond this he dared not go, though he got around it by making the work easier. This he had accomplished after her return from a vacation, by retaining her substitute as an assistant. Also, he had changed his office suite, so that now the two girls had a room by themselves. The more he saw of her, and the more he thought he knew of her, the more unapproachable did she seem to him. But since he had no intention of approaching her, this was anything but an unsatisfactory fact. He was glad he had her in his office, and hoped she'd stay, and that was about all.

Daylight did not improve with the passing years. The life was not good for him. He was growing stout and soft, and there was unwonted flabbiness in his muscles. The more he drank cocktails, the more he was compelled to drink in order to get the desired result, the inhibitions that eased him down from the concert pitch of his operations. And with this went wine, too, at meals, and the long drinks after dinner of Scotch and soda at the Riverside. Then, too, his body suffered from lack of exercise; and, from lack of decent human associations, his moral fibers were weakening. Never a man to hide anything, some of his escapades became public, such as speeding, and of joy-rides in his big red motor car down to San Jose with companions distinctly sporty—incidents that were narrated as good fun and comically in the newspapers.

Destruction of Rats.

An East Africa publication contains a description of a method of destroying rats, followed in Java, in which carbon bisulphate is employed. In carrying out the method a small quantity, usually about half a teaspoonful of the carbon bisulphide is poured into the rat hole and after waiting a few moments to let the liquid evaporate, the mixture of air and vapor is lighted, a small explosion resulting and filling the hole with poisonous gas, killing the rats instantly. Such a process practiced openly might be objectionable under some circumstances because of danger from fire resulting from the explosion and a field for invention appears to offer itself to provide some form of fire-proof gun or explosion chamber suitably formed to be inserted in the mouth of the rat hole and adapted to enclose the explosion and discharge the resulting noxious gas into the hole.—Scientific American.

$3.50 Recipe Free, For Weak Kidneys

Relieves Urinary and Kidney Troubles, Backache, Straining, Swelling, Etc.

Stops Pain in the Bladder, Kidneys and Back.

Wouldn't it be nice within a week or so to begin to say good-bye forever to the scalding, dribbling, straining, or too frequent passage of urine; the forehead and the back-of-the-head-aches; the stitches and pains in the back; the growing muscle weakness; spots before the eyes; yellow skin; sluggish bowels; swollen eyelids or ankles; leg cramps; unnatural short breath; sleeplessness and the despondency? I have a recipe for these troubles that you can depend on, and if you want to make a quick recovery, you ought to write and get a copy of it. Many a doctor would charge you $5.00 just for writing this prescription, but I have it and will be glad to send it to you entirely free. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, K-369 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send it by return mail in a plain envelope. As you will see when you get it, this recipe contains only pure, harmless remedies, but it has great healing and pain-conquering power. It will quickly show its power once you use it, so I think you had better see what it is without delay. I will send you a copy free—you can use it and cure yourself at home.

Bleat Information.

Albert Morris Bagby was being congratulated at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York on the success of his "musical mornings."

"I impute my success," he said, "to the fact that I engage no talent that I don't know thoroughly. In entertainment, as in matrimony, knowledge is most important."

Then Mr. Bagby smiled and said: "Two ladies were talking the other day about the Chinese revolution. The younger lady said:

"Isn't it dreadful in China? A woman doesn't know her husband till she marries him."

"The other lady, a divorcee, answered bitterly:

"I didn't know my husband till I married him, either."—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

DOCTORS FAILED RESTORED BY PERUNA.

Catarrh of the Lungs Threatened Her Life

Miss Ninette Porter, Braintree, Vermont, writes: "I have been cured by Peruna."

"I had several hemorrhages of the lungs. The doctors did not help me much and would never have cured me. I saw a testimonial in a Peruna almanac of a case similar to mine, and I commenced using it."

"I was not able to wait on myself when I began using it. I gained very slowly at first, but I could see that it was helping me."

"After I had taken it a while I commenced to raise up a stringy, sticky substance from my lungs. This grew less and less in quantity as I continued the treatment."

"I grew more fleshy than I had been for a long time, and now I call myself well."

The commercial organization is the voice of the city.

Optimistic co-operation of its citizenship will make any community.

The growth of a town depends absolutely upon the co-operative efforts of its citizenship.

"One man" organization can do very little in town building. It takes every man working as a unit to build cities.

Towns do not happen; chance has little to do with modern business methods. Cities are but large corporations.

No business can succeed that is not backed with industry and brains; no town grows without encouraging boosters.

You will never find time for anything; if you want time you must make it. Make enough every day to do something for your town.

IDEAS FOR HOME BUILDERS

BY WM. A. RADFORD.

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 178 West Jackson boulevard, Chicago, Ill., and only enclose two-cent stamp for reply.

I always like to see even a small house well built. When a man is investing in a house, either as a home for himself or as a renting investment, it has always seemed to me that a good, thoroughly constructed, substantial house is the best kind to build. A very little extra in the first cost makes all the difference between a mere shack, which will tumble down in a few years, and a house of the same size constructed in a way to endure for generations. The difference in the ease of heating the two houses is all on the side of the well-built structure, and the extra rent, if it is to be rented, and its freedom from repair if it is to be lived in by the owner, will very soon make up for the added expense at the start.

As our country grows older and becomes more thickly populated, it will without doubt follow more and more the example set by England, and will profit by the experience of our cousins on the other side. Our ordinary frame construction is not used at all any more over there. Everything is brick, stone, tile or cement. The advantages of this are clearly demonstrated by the last annual report of the fire insurance board. In England last year the fire loss per capita was 54 cents. Compare this with fire loss last year in the United States, which reached the astonishing total of $2.43 for every man, woman and child in the country. This simply goes to show the great advantage, from a fireproof standpoint, of building even our small-sized houses in a thoroughly substantial and fire-resisting manner.

Of all the materials developed dur-house conforms in spirit to the exterior. The rooms are square, conveniently arranged and of good size. There is no nonsense about this house, either within or without. It is a thorough-going, business-like structure. At the same time, with the proper planting of vines and shrubbery, it could easily be made very attractive and homelike.

The second floor provides two bedrooms and a bathroom, besides a considerable amount of storage space.

The interior of this house is to be finished in plain sawed red oak downstairs and yellow pine upstairs. The interior of the walls should be furred, lathed and plastered in the approved style, and are very nice when finished with sand-finished plaster coat. This sand-finished plaster is to be tinted with plain water colors, no wall paper being used. The tinted sand-finished plaster is considered more satisfactory than plain colored wall paper, as with it there are no seams to show. The cost of this house, constructed as indicated in the foregoing, is estimated at $2,000.

ing recent times for building, concrete blocks have done most to bring substantial masonry almost within the reach of all, at a cost barely 20 per cent. in excess of the most cheaply constructed frame cottage. The design could be carried out in cement blocks and finished up in a first-class way, making a house that will last for years without deteriorating very much in value.

The accompanying design is a very good example of this kind of a home. Who would not be pleased to live in a snug, trim little house of this kind? It is very simple in arrangement, 24 feet square, with a simple gable roof, the gable end fronting the street. Rock face concrete blocks are used for the foundation and first story walls as far as the top of the first story windows. Above this light-colored pressed brick are used.

A slate roof is very appropriate on a house of this kind, and the extra expense of it would probably be worth while.

The interior arrangement of this lathed and plastered in the approved style, and are very nice when finished with sand-finished plaster coat. This sand-finished plaster is to be tinted with plain water colors, no wall paper being used. The tinted sand-finished plaster is considered more satisfactory than plain colored wall paper, as with it there are no seams to show. The cost of this house, constructed as indicated in the foregoing, is estimated at $2,000.

This includes a seven-foot basement, or cellar under the entire house, having a first-class cement floor and foundation walls to be thoroughly waterproofed. This is done by applying a hot tar coat to the outside of the wall, finishing the inside with Portland cement and water. There are also numerous special water-proofing substances on the market that can be used to make the concrete block wall thoroughly damp proof.

Beware Germ of Discontent.
Just as soon as the germ of discontent begins to work in our mind, everything begins to look gloomy. Life takes on a pessimistic tinge. Nothing is right or goes right. The body catches the cue. We grow irritable. We scold the children or reprimand our business associates. This means that wires are crossed in the nerve region. Next, the stomach sulks. We don't want anything to eat, and what we do eat disagrees with us. Then, our head begins to ache. The world looks bluer and bluer. Our spirits sag. It is like an endless chain. The mind affects the body, and the body in turn lowers the tone of the mind. And so it goes; and, unless we put a stop to it, the last date of the discontented man or woman calls for a medical board and a sanatorium.

Old Men Washerwomen.
Setting up in the laundry business is so simple that several old men in London these days of the suffragettes are turning into washerwomen. They buy an outfit of tubs, washboards, soap, starch, bleaches, flatirons and ironing boards. Then all they have to do is to go out and gather in the dirty linen. Some of the poor old men wash everything from stockings to shirt waists, making collars and cuffs look like those laundered at home. Others, not so skillful, draw the line on starched stuff and make a specialty of underwear, handkerchiefs, socks, soft shirts, nightgowns and pajamas. These old fellows do the work in their own living room, and make three to four dollars a week out of it, maybe more, if expert.

Home Town Helps

ENGLISH TOWN IS A MODEL

Bourneville, Suburb of Birmingham, Practically Ideal in All of Its Arrangements.

Under the head "Garden Cities" Wilhelm Miller gives us a splendid picture of an ideal garden city. He says: "The most perfect city I have ever seen or heard of is the famous city of Bourneville, a suburb of Birmingham, England. I was simply transported by the healthfulness, happiness, and beauty of the place, and I believe it gives the people more for their money than any city on earth. Any one who has cherished some noble vision of a glorified humanity would be intensely interested to see Bourneville."

"Can you imagine yourself living four miles from the city of Pittsburg in a suburban town of about 3,000 inhabitants, where there are no saloons and never can be any slums, noise, dirt, crowding, factory smells, billboards, or streets torn up for gas lighting or sewers? Wouldn't you like a chance to play golf, tennis, cricket, bowls, or hockey under ideal circumstances at a cost of a few cents a day? Wouldn't you be satisfied with the social life of a community that has splendid schools, churches, baths, gymnasium, meeting-house, and one-tenth of its whole area given up to parks and playgrounds? Wouldn't you feel safer in a city where the national birth rate has been doubled and the death rate cut in two? And what would you say to a handsome brick house of seven rooms and bath, with an eighth of an acre already planted with fruit trees, vines, and lawn, at a rental of $12.30 a month?"

"Bourneville was founded by George Cadbury, the cocoa manufacturer. Only 41 per cent. of the renters at Bourneville are employees of the factory. The others came from anywhere and everywhere, and many of them spend their days in Birmingham. Consequently the social life is that of a normal, mixed community—not merely industrial or suburban. In the second place, Bourneville really pays. The city's chief source of income is rent. Everybody pays 8 per cent. on the investment actually made in his house and lot. The city's income doubles every five years (it is now fifteen years old.) and in fifty years, at this rate, it will have an annual income of about $5,000,000. And since it will never have to pay back Mr. Cadbury's gift of about $775,000, the city will have a large sum available for building other cities like Bourneville."

TREES FOR CITY STREETS

Silver Wattle is Considered One of the Best That is Available at the Present.

Acacia Dealbata, the silver wattle, is one of the best trees we have for city street planting, and considered by the writer (at present) the very best. We are still in our infancy, in the street tree question, for none has been sufficiently proven to give us a permanent opinion as to its comparative value. We plant out a new tree, and after four or five years' trial conclude it is eminently satisfactory. At the end of another five years the same tree may be a wretched subject, quite unfit for street planting. The pepper alone has stood the test of time, yet city residents do not want it, for they will not properly plant and care for it. While the silver wattle should be as well cared for, it conducts itself properly with a little less restriction than the pepper tree, and is really the most beautiful of all acacias.

Garden Club's Good Work.
The garden club of Minneapolis has shown how simple is the problem of unsightly vacant lots. Last summer it succeeded in getting sunflowers and other plants to grow on nearly four miles of street front of vacant land. This screened the rubbish heaps from view. In one street the club cleared every unoccupied lot, and planted grass and flowers where the rubbish had been. When the season closed, the club had under its care a thousand vacant lot gardens and eighteen thousand home gardens.—Youth's Companion.

Model Dwellings for the Poor.
The Princess Polignac, formerly Miss Winnaretta Singer, has just opened in Paris the Foundation Singer Polignac, an apartment house for 64 families. These are designed to give healthful living conditions for the poor. The buildings are of brick and iron. A room and kitchen may be had for $44 a year; with a dining room in addition, $60; with two rooms and a large kitchen, dining room, kitchen and bathroom, $82. Thus all rents are below the $100 rate, where taxes begin. A garden costs $4 a year in addition.

For Tidier Streets.
Every one desires that the city shall be clean and tidy, but some people are careless where they could be a help in maintaining an orderly condition. Waste paper scattered about is one of the worst features of street untidiness, and it is conspicuous in practically all parts of most cities.

WOMEN'S LEAP YEAR RIGHTS

In Scotland Years Ago They Were Recognized as Real, and Well Defined by Law.

Ancient, indeed, are the prerogatives that are accorded to women in leap year. They are so old that none can tell just how or when they originated. However, the ancient Scottish parliament gives us a date as well as a law upon which to hang the right of women to take the initiative in leap year, as convention forbids them to do in other years.

In the year 1228 this body passed a law which, in its quaint old English, expressly conferred on womankind the right to propose marriage in leap year. Here is the law, just as it was written in the parliamentary records:

"Ordonit that during ye reign of her maist blessed Maistie, Ilka maiden, laide of baith high and lowe estate, shale hae libertie to speak ye man she likes. Gif he refuses to tak hir to bee his wyf, he shale be mulct in ye sum of ane hundredty pundes, or less, as his estate may bee, except and always gif he can make it appear that he is betrothit to another woman, then he shale be free."

And all forms of skin diseases is Tetterine. It is also a specific for Tetter, Ringworm, Eczema, Infant Sore Head, Chaps and Old Itching Sores.

"Enclosed find one dollar for which please send me two boxes of Tetterine; this makes five boxes I have ordered from you, the first one only, being for me. I suffered with an eruption for years, and one box of Tetterine cured me and two of my friends. It is worth its weight in gold to any one suffering as I did. Everybody ought to know of its value." WHO CAN DOUBT SWORN TESTIMONY OF HONEST CITIZENS?

Some time ago I began the use of your Swamp-Root with the most remarkable results. For years I was almost a wreck and was a great sufferer. The doctors who treated me made me believe that my great sufferings were due to female trouble. I was so bad at times I would faint away and had sinking spells. Finally a new doctor was called in and he said that I had kidney trouble and gave me medicine, of which I took several bottles. I obtained some relief from this, but I was getting weaker all the time; I could not sleep and suffered so much pain that my husband and children had to lift me in and out of bed. After this time two friends sent me word to try Swamp-Root, which I did, and I am glad to state that the first dose gave me great relief. After taking the third dose I was helped into bed and slept half of the night.

I took several bottles of Swamp-Root and I feel that I owe my life to this wonderful remedy. The two family doctors said that I could not live three months. I would have to be helped in and out of bed ten to twenty times every night. After taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root for two days I was entirely free from getting up and could sleep soundly.

TOAST-MAKING A FINE ART

Happy-Go-Lucky Methods Will Not Do With This Agreeable Tea Table Delicacy.

The secret of having crisp toast is to cut the bread the night before, so the surface is dry before it is toasted. Another trick is to have the slices, when toasted, stood upon edge in some place where they can be kept hot until they are served. If the slices are placed one on top of the other they become soggy, says the New York Tribune.

For toast that is to be used as the foundation for poached eggs, mushrooms or any creamed food, half an inch is the correct thickness; hot water is distributed over it evenly with a small spoon, and melted butter spread on with a bristle brush, which comes for the purpose.

People who dislike the softness produced by this treatment can, of course, preserve the crispness of the toast by omitting the hot water. Often, when bread is very stale, it may be steamed a little before it is toasted. Housekeepers who do not possess ancient silver toast racks have been heard to say that these only act as coolers for the slices they hold, and that they are not desirable at all. On the other hand, a covered toast dish holds the heat and steams the slices to soginess in a short time. The surest way to have perfect toast seems to be to dispense with the ancient forms and take to ultra-modern inventions, such as the electric toaster, which stands on the table at the lady's elbow, and makes the toast "while you wait."

PROPER CARE OF OLD FRIEND

Sewing Machine All Too Frequently Misused by Those Who Give It Little Thought.

Don't, every time the machine slips stitch or breaks the cotton, send it to be repaired and incur a bill. Instead, change the needle. Invariably it is in fault, wrongly set, blunt pointed, or too fine or too coarse for the cotton.

Don't add more oil when the machine runs stiffly. Instead, turn the machine back and leave the under-neath parts exposed to the fire for a little while, then wipe with a duster.

Don't oil the machine with paraffin. It spoils the bearings. Instead, before putting the machine away, oil with best machine oil, and before using again wipe carefully with a paraffin rag.

Don't grudge a few cents for a book of instructions and time necessary to master the same. Both time and money will be well spent.

These "don'ts" are based on practical experience.

French Apple Pie.

One tablespoon butter or drippings, 1/2 cup sugar, 4 teaspoons milk, 1 cup bread flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, a little nutmeg, 1 egg yolk, 2 egg whites (if meringue is desired) sliced apples to fill pie tin and sugar to sweeten—about 3/4 cup.

Butter tin thoroughly. Mix sugar with apples and pack into tin, adding 2 tablespoons hot water. Cover with a second pan and set in hot oven fifteen minutes. In the meantime make a batter of the other ingredients, creaming the butter, adding to it the sugar and egg yolk, then turning in alternately the flour mixed with baking powder, and the milk. Spread over apples, return to oven and let bake slowly thirty minutes. When done, invert on a baking plate, cover top with meringue made of the egg white and 2 table- spoons powdered sugar, return to the oven for eight minutes to brown, and serve hot or cold with a maple or fruit sauce.

Boiled Salad Dressing.

The following boiled dressing is very nice with tomato jelly, fish salads and fresh green salad herbs and with a bit of onion or cress makes a delicious filling for sandwiches. It may also be used on bread or rolls when a butter boycott has been called. Beat two eggs together, add a tiny pinch of salt, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, half a scant teaspoonful of ground mustard and half a cupful of milk. Mix well and then stir in a quarter of a cupful of vinegar. Cook the mixture until it thickens, taking care to stir it constantly to prevent curdling. Upon removing from the fire let it cool and then add a few drops of olive oil.

Baked Beans.

Take two cups of navy beans, wash thoroughly, put in kettle with one quart cold water and a pinch of soda, let boil slowly for about thirty minutes, then pour off the water, put beans in baking pan, add one teaspoonful each of mustard and chili powders, one tablespoonful of molasses, one pint canned tomatoes and salt to taste, mix well, then lay several nice slices of pork on top. Add hot water enough to cover well and bake about two hours in hot oven. This makes a nice dish that your husband will enjoy these cold days.

Potato Pot.

This recipe is both savory and economical. Cut a thin slice of bacon into small pieces, put it into a frying pan and add any beef or mutton left over from breakfast. Add a sliced onion, stir until the whole is brown, turn into the soup kettle with three pints of cold water, a bay leaf and a sprig of parsley, simmer gently an hour, strain, add two potatoes cut into dice, boil ten minutes season and serve.

IS THE PAIN THERE?

"Every Picture Tells a Story"

Then Your Kidneys May Be Weak and in Need of Quick Attention

Backache is enough cause to suspect the kidneys. The kidneys are in the small of the back. Congested kidneys swell and throb. The back naturally aches. It hurts to bend or stoop or to sit down.

Kidney trouble may come on all unnoticed. A cold, a chill, a fever, a strain or irregular habits may start it. While sick kidneys can be cured in the beginning, it is a serious matter when dropsy, gravel or Bright's disease sets in.

Doan's Kidney Pills have made a reputation in the cure of backache, and kidney and bladder ills. The best proof is the testimony of the users. Here are two typical testimonials. Thirty thousand others are being published in the newspapers. A postage stamp will bring you reports of cases nearer home.

Cured of Serious Case at a Critical Period.

"I suffered so severely from pain and soreness over my kidneys," says Mrs. Remington, "that it was a task for me to turn in bed. My kidneys acted very freely but secretions were retarded and scalded in passage. I was weak and much run down. After taking other remedies without benefit, I began using Doan's Kidney Pills and was completely cured. I was going through the critical period of a woman's life at the time, and after using Doan's Kidney Pills there was a miraculous change for the better in my health."

"Three years ago I was almost helpless," said Mr. Smith, "Kidney secretions scalded terribly and obliged me to arise ten to twelve times a night. My left limb became so stiff and sore I could hardly walk—just hobbled around with a cane. I had almost every complaint that diseased kidneys produce and Doan's Kidney Pills cured them all. At the age of 76 I feel like a boy, and enjoy health and comfort. Can anyone wonder at my gratitude?"

SUCH A POOR INHERITANCE

Tears of a Rival Attorney Were Explained, Not in Too Friendly a Fashion.

At the trial of Horne Tooke, Lord Eldon, speaking of his own reputation, said:

"It is the little inheritance I have to leave my children, and by God's help, I will leave it unimpaired."

Here he shed tears, and to the astonishment of those present, Mitford, the attorney general began to weep. "Just look at Mitford," said a bystander to Horne Tooke, "what on earth is he crying for?"

Tooke replied: "He is crying to think what a small inheritance Eldon's children are like to get."

A Beautiful Decline.

Ollie James, the gigantic and genial congressman and senator-elect from Kentucky, was in conversation the other day with a Washingtonian when the latter made certain inquiries with reference to a mutual friend from he had not seen for a number of years.

"And how does Colonel Prescott spend his declining years?" he asked. "Beautifully, sir; beautifully!" answered James. "He has a fine farm. A string of trotters, sir. And a barrel of whiskey 16 years old—and a wife of the same age, sir!"

Modern Methods.

The late A. Tennyson Dickens, during an interview in Chicago, condemned the war in Tripoli vehemently.

"Slavery," he said, with a bitter smile, "is now abolished. We no longer steal a people and sell them into bondage. No, no, indeed. We just steal their country and charge them so much for governing it that they have to work twice as hard as slaves to pay their taxes."

Evidence.

"What makes you think our great public men don't work as hard as they used to?"

"By the photographs," replied Farmer Cornbussel. "When I was a young fellow the big men in politics didn't take near as much time to get shaved and have their hair cut."

Vivid Imagination.

"Duffins says a pill looks as large to him as a golf ball."

"That being the case, I don't see how he ever manages to eat green peas."

Among Epicures.

"Paris is a swift town."

"That's true, but snails are very popular there."

Fortissimo.

When a certain Baltimore matron returned home one afternoon not so long ago the first sight her eyes beheld was a badly damaged youngster of hers. Little Bobby's forehead bore a bump almost the size of a doorknob. "Heavens!" exclaimed the mother. "What has happened to Bobby?" "Nuthin' much, mum," explained the new nurse. "You told me, mum, he might play on the pianifier if he wanted to. Well, mum, wanst while he was sliding on the top, he slid a bit too far, mum; an' that accounts for the bump y'see, mum."

Good Advice.

LARGEST YET

Our Spring Millinery business has surpassed all previous records and this is saying quite a good deal, when we look back upon our very successful experience in this line. We thought we had enough hats, but early in the past we had to send a

NIGHT LETTER

For Two Dozen more hats, which are due to arrive Saturday, or not later than Monday, and we will have them on display early next week, so come early before they are all gone. We also have Mrs. Chance, who is an expert trimmer, with us during the Spring season, and if you want alterations, or your old hat worked over, or different flowers on any certain hat, you can get such work at our Store at a very moderate price. ONLY one more week until EASTER; come to our Store and let us help you in making preparation for this Gala Day. Watch our show windows. They will be displayed with new goods.

SPECIALS

We will have many Specials all next week that you will have to see to appreciate, so don't fail to visit our store and you will be doubly repaid. See our big line of Oxfords for ladies and children, Tans, White Duck and White Buck, Patent Leather, one two and three strap Pumps, very desirable and very stylish.

CLOTHING

Our big line of Mens, Youths and Childrens Suits for Spring are now on display and we can fit you up to your entire satisfaction. Remember boys, that nothing but Full Peg Pants will be found in our suits from 12 to 16 years. Full Peg Pants for boys are extremely good and are being shown by all up-to-date clothiers.

Come to The Cash Store where Style, Merchandise and Price are the three Watchwords.

"IF IT'S NEW WE HAVE IT."

Men and Boys' HATS

We have just received a big line of Hats for Spring. Some of the Nobbiest Sailors in Straws, and a very pretty line of Novelties and some of the Newest Blocks.

Bring your dirty clothes to the Imperial and let us send them to the Troy Steam laundry and you are sure to get first class work.

Rev. G. H. Bryant returned Tuesday from a business trip to Eldorado, Okla. He says that country is in hard shape compared to this, and many people are almost in want.

The weather has been varied cold to hot, dry to wet, and the reverse, the past week. Last Friday it was raining, snowing, sleeting and freezing, then Saturday the ground was covered with snow. Tuesday was a warm sunny day and Wednesday morning was foggy. When spring comes for good all will rejoice.

When you are blue, your face itches, and you have that don't-care feeling. Get in shape by being worked over at Imperial.

THE EDITOR'S CREED

I believe in the stuff I am handing out, in the firm I am working for; and in my ability to get results. I believe that honest stuff can be passed out to honest men by honest methods. I believe in working, not weeping; in boosting, not knocking; and in the pleasure of my job. I believe that a man gets what he goes after, that one deed done today is worth two deeds tomorrow, and that no man is down and out until he has lost faith in himself. I believe in today and the work I hope to do, and the sure reward which the future holds. I believe in courtesy, in kindness in generosity, in good cheer, in friendship and honest competition. I believe there is something doing, somewhere, for ever man ready to do it. I believe I am ready right now.—Ex.
