Choate Leads Ticket; Acri, Hall Post Wins

THE MAN IN HER LIFE — Eleanor McGovern holds fingers of her husband, Sen. George McGovern, D-S. Dak., as the couple shares rare moment together in kitchen of Milwaukee hotel Tuesday night. Sen. McGovern won the Democratic presidential primary in Wisconsin.

Attention: Registration Deadline Here

Today at 5 p.m. was the deadline to register in order to be eligible to vote in the May 6 party primaries.

An added importance was given to voter registration for 1972 because a recent court ruling has thrown out the old residence requirements for voting eligibility. According to the new ruling, should anyone move into the state today, that person can vote in the May 6 primaries for state and county candidates so long as the individual registered to vote by today's 5 p.m. deadline.

Texas Secretary of State Pat Bullock issued a directive Monday to all county tax assessor-collectors in Texas stating:

"Persons who have resided in the state and locality for 30 days and have been registered for 30 days prior to the election in which they wish to vote are now eligible to vote in state and local elections."

"Persons entering the state may register to vote immediately upon their arrival," said Bullock in his directive.

Persons whose voter registration forms show that they did not register 30 days prior the May 6 primaries will be refused a ballot at the polling places. All voter registrations are marked with the date on which they become effective, and no one may vote before the date shown on his registration form.

HAROLD HALL

Mayor Marshall In Fourth Spot

By BRIAN PEAY

"A New Direction," was the campaign slogan of Harold Hall and Eddie Acri, both candidates in the city elections, and after 3,302 citizens turned out at the polls Tuesday, indeed a new direction was the voters' sentiment.

Wade Choate, Eddie Acri and Harold Hall were elected by a resounding margin to the three places on the city commission.

Choate led the ticket with a total of 2,019 votes, while Acri was a close second. Choate led in three of the five boxes. Acri's aggregate was 1,891.

This was the year of the "dark horse," and most political watchers around the city were guarded in predicting who the particular candidate would be for the third open slot. Hall was the man, however, as he outdistanced all contenders, other than Acri and Choate, running second in two boxes and third in the other three.

Again this year, as in years past, the Northside polling box was one of the most important in the election. But a new trend took place at the poll which has not always happened in recent years.

"Instead of a single-shot vote for any particular candidate, the citizens were voting at the Northside box for a full three-position slate this time," said Acri before the polls closed Tuesday.

At the Northside box, Choate received 212 votes, Acri 494, and Hall 352. All other candidates received considerably less support there.

Voter turnout was quite large this year, contradicting what local political watchers were predicting. Each of the seven candidates had fair support at the other four boxes. But in final calculations, again it was the three elected who led the ticket in each of the boxes.

Voting this year easily surpassed last year's total, when 2,689 votes were cast. In 1970 the voting total was 2,835, also a smaller turnout than the official aggregate Tuesday.

In retrospect, some of the losing candidates commented on the election and their particular campaigns. Mayor J. Arnold Marshall said that his campaign was particularly designed this year as a low-key one.

He admitted his own operations plan was of a quiet nature this year, and reflecting on possible mistakes, said that he and other candidates possibly did not discuss the issues enough.

MARSHALL FOURTH

Marshall received a total of 1,214 votes, running fourth on the ticket. Carlisle (Frosty) Robison received 1,156 votes, H. V. Crocker 809, and M. K. Carson 405.

Statements came both from those winning the election and from the candidates who lost.

"I appreciate the support all the people in Big Spring showed in me in electing me their city commissioner. I will certainly make them a full time commissioner, one they can be proud of. I also would like to congratulate the other men who were elected," said Harold Hall.

"I was pleased with the turnout; we had an excellent number of people turn out to vote. And I appreciate the confidence shown me by the citizens in electing me to a two-year term on the city commission. I will endeavor to warrant their continued support," said Choate.

Choate also touched on the fact the commission must now begin to pull the city together, and start work on things that must be completed to pull the city back on the right track this year.

CITIZENS WIN

"I want to thank all Big Spring citizens for the vote of confidence placed in me Tuesday. This was a victory for all citizens of Big Spring," said Acri.

"I would like to warn against irresponsibility of those who indulge in unjustified criticism and accusations against elected officials, without offering constructive advice or counsel.

"I feel that a partnership of responsibility should be the aim of all elected officials and citizens, and this cloak of secrecy in city government has been abandoned. And I ask that non-office-holding citizen make a tangible contribution to our city government," Acri added

Acri also committed himself in saying that he supports Wade Choate for mayor, and will do everything to nominate him for the position in the next regular session of the commission.

"I appreciate all my good friends standing by me in this city election. I feel like it is best for me that I did not win, because I am retired, but will assist in any way I can to help my city. The people spoke in electing these three men, and I wish them the best of luck in the operation of the city," said Burr Crocker.

Three persons received one write-in vote each in Precinct 3. They were Don Tolle, Buzz James and Jim King.

ON PROMOTIONS

Commission Plans New Discussions

More discussion will be given Monday to Howard County Sheriff A. N. Standard's action this week in promoting two women in his department to the ranks of first and second deputy.

According to County Judge A. G. Mitchell, Sheriff Standard, along with other elected county officials, were given notice on March 6, 1972 by the county commissioners court on how many deputies could be employed in any office, and of these how many could be designated chief and first and second deputies.

Commissioners met in special session on that date to stipulate employe numbers and salary.

AMENDED ORDER

The amended order of the commissioners court stipulates "The sheriff of Howard County is authorized to appoint 15 deputy sheriffs and one jail cook as follows:

One chief deputy, field; (an investigative office usually filled by a man.)

One first deputy, office;

One second deputy, office;

Five deputy sheriffs, warrants, criminal and field;

One deputy sheriff, warrants, criminal, field at Forsan and special events;

Two deputy sheriffs, nights, warrants, criminal and field;

One deputy sheriff, day jailer;

One deputy sheriff, night jailer;

Two deputy sheriffs, relief jailers;

One jail cook, who shall not be deputized;

And one Vocational Office Education student to be employed as a clerk typist at $1.45 per hour."

"Mrs. Bernice Nail was not promoted to the chief field deputy's spot, as I understand it, but to that of first office deputy as authorized March 6. Her salary is to be brought up to the same level as that paid chief deputies in the other offices, not that paid the chief field deputy," said Judge Mitchell.

Sheriff Standard was out of town today to return a prisoner to the Texas Department of Corrections at Huntsville and not available for comment on which of the deputy positions Mrs. Nail now holds, although Monday, the sheriff stipulated that Mrs. Nail would fulfill in-office duties.

If Mrs. Nail is to be a first office deputy, her annual salary will be raised from $4,884 to $4,992, as is paid to first deputies in the tax office and county clerk's office. The rate of pay set for the chief field deputy is over $7,000 per year base pay.

The slot of chief field deputy is currently unfilled. The male deputy who served in that capacity is now listed as a regular deputy at a salary $6,780 plus $300 for certification incentive, which brings the salary to $7,080.

NOW SECOND

According to information Tuesday from Sheriff Standard, Mrs. Rachael Shaffer is now second office deputy. The salary stipuated by the commission for that position in all offices is $4,404 per year. Mrs. Shaffer drew that amount before her promotion plus $180 certification incentive pay granted by the commissioners court to bring her salary to $4,584 per year.

Amending the 1972 county budget to reflect the salary changes for the sheriff's department is on the commissioners court agenda for Monday.

In addition to the current salary controversy, discussion is to be given to another salary-

MIGS STRIKE

Commie Offensive Spreading

SAIGON (AP) — The North Vietnamese broadened their seven-day-old offensive today, opening a new front 60-75 miles north of Saigon with tank-led infantry assaults, and treatening the provincial capital of Quang Tri in the north.

The South Vietnamese also reported the enemy sent MIG19 jet fighter planes across the demilitarized zone for the first time in the war.

ENEMY PLANES

Brig. Gen. Vu Van Giai, commander of South Vietnamese forces defending Quang Tri Province, said the two enemy planes had flown over South Vietnamese frontline positions at Dong Ha Tuesday. They took no offensive actions and dropped no bombs. In Saigon, however, reliable sources denied Gen. Giaia's assertion, though acknowledging that MIGs have been sighted just above the DMZ recently, in their most southerly appearance to date.

The enemy attacks now are spread across three fronts, the north, the Saigon area and in the central highlands, where North Vietnamese tanks drove to within four miles of a government base.

Of all the fronts, that in the north, Vietnamese were striking south of Quang Tri and its nearby headquarters' base in an attempt to cut off the city, 19 miles south of the demilitarized zone.

Irrigation Storage Hurts The Cities

Use of soil conservation dams for irrigation storage will adversely affect municipal supplies, O. H. Ivie, general manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, told the Texas Water Development Board Wednesday.

Ivie submitted a statement in a hearing on an application for a land owner on the Brazos River shed to impound 657 acre-feet of water behind a dam constructed for soil conservation purposes.

Ivie did not comment on the individual application but rather spoke as to the principle involved.

If the 263 such structures on the Colorado River above San Saba were given permission to impound as much as 200 acre-feet behind detention dams, it would involve 52,600 acre-feet runoff he said. Another 291 detention dams are due completion by 1973, and this would withhold another 58,200 acre-feet from the river, or over 100,000 acre-feet he said.

If the applicant's 657-acre-foot bid were approved on all Colorado detention dams above San Saba, this would mean 172,791-acre-feet less runoff. This likely could increase the possibility the district would have to release water from Lake E. V. Spence for downstream users, Ivie noted.

KNOCKS LINDSAY OUT OF RACE FOR WHITE HOUSE

McGovern Scores Smashing Victory

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Sen George McGovern has established himself as a major contender for the Democratic presidential nomination by scoring a smashing victory in a Wisconsin primary that knocked New York Mayor John V. Lindsay out of the race for the White House.

The South Dakota senator, making the breakthrough he had forecast here, ran strongly in both urban, blue-collar areas and rural, farm regions Tuesday to capture seven of Wisconsin's nine congressional districts.

ALL THE WAY

He won 54 of the state's 67 votes at the Democratic national convention, increasing his total to 94.5 of the 3,016 convention votes, one behind Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine.

"It clearly establishes me as a major contender in the public mind," McGovern told a reporter who asked what he thought the results meant. "I really think we received a boost tonight that could take us all the way."

Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama, in another strong showing after his Florida primary victory three weeks ago, rode late rural returns into second place by a narrow margin over Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota.

Humphrey led in two districts with 13 convention votes.

President Nixon easily won the state's 28 GOP convention delegates in the Republican primary.

In the Democratic balloting, returns from 98 per cent of Wisconsin's 3,294 precincts gave McGovern 30 per cent, Wallace 22 per cent and Humphrey 21 per cent. The other nine Democrats trailed far behind.

Muskie, once the overwhelming Democratic frontrunner, suffered another smashing setback with a fourth-place finish and only 10 per cent of the vote. This could cripple his ability to raise funds for crucial primaries ahead in Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Ohio.

He vowed to press on and said those states are "more favorable ground."

LINDSAY OUT

Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington finished fifth in Wisconsin after a third-place finish in Florida and conceded, "I'd like to have done better." An aide denied rumors he would quit the race, saying Jackson plans a major effort in Ohio.

Lindsay, however, looked at returns placing him sixth after his poor fifth in Florida and said, "I don't think I can honestly deny them. Hence, I am withdrawing as a candidate."

The total number of votes in the Democratic primary was four times that in the GOP contest, indicating many Republicans took advantage of the state law allowing voters to cast ballots in either primary. McGovern and Wallace appeared to be major beneficiaries of the GOP crossovers.

Slightly more than half of Wisconsin's voters usually vote Republican in presidential elections—Democrats have carried it only once since 1948—indicating that as many as one-third of the Democratic votes could have been crossovers.

McGovern, appearing today on the CBS Morning News, gave himself a 50-50 chance to win the nomination. Wallace was interviewed separately on the same show.

"It's 50-50 we'll go all the way and win enough delegates by the time we get to Miami Beach," the South Dakota senator said.

Wallace said his second-place finish, after he spent only eight days campaigning in the state without precinct organization, proved that he was not a regional candidate.

Wallace said future campaigns in Michigan, Indiana, Maryland, West Virginia and, possibly, Pennsylvania would be better organized and financed now that he had proven "I am a viable candidate."

McGovern contended a Wallace vote was a vote of protest whereas a McGovern vote was a vote of protest with a hope for positive alternatives and solutions.

As expected, McGovern won easily in Madison, home of the University of Wisconsin, and did well in other college towns in a state where rivals conceded his year of planning had put together one of the best political organizations they had ever seen.

Both McGovern and Wallace, however, ran strongly in the blue-collar areas of Kenosha, Racine and Green Bay, as well as the more rural areas. Humphrey made his best showing in the black districts of Milwaukee and the sprawling 7th District along the Minnesota border.

TEEN FORUM

SEPARATED, BUT: (Q.) My parents have been legally separated for about a year. My mother dates other men. So far as I know, my father doesn't date anyone.

He does come over quite often to visit mother. He even spends the night with her sometimes. Even though I love them both, I think this is wrong. I think if they are going to sleep together they should go back together.

Should I tell my mom I do not agree with her morals? — Disturbed Daughter in Virginia.

(A.) You might say it a little less bluntly. But do talk seriously with both your father and mother. Ask them, if they still love each other, to end the separation, or at least to think about it.

Too many parents do not realize that they teach their children one set of values and live by another.

In my contacts with teens, I find that they abhor hypocrisy in their parents and other adults.

BOYS AND GIRLS: (Q.) I was going with a girl I didn't much care about. I went with her to a party and met a girl I really liked. She liked me too but thought I was going steady and she started going with another guy.

I broke up with the girl I was going with and the girl I liked broke up with the other guy. She expects to go with me now.

I would like to go with her too but the other night I went out with a girl I never thought I had a chance with. I can't decide which one to go with. Help! — Don't Know Which in Indiana.

(A.) Go with both of them. Don't go steady with either. You may even find some other girl you want to go with. Don't get tied down and you can date any girl you choose who isn't tied down.

Bird Epidemic In California

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It will cost the federal government an estimated $4 million in reimbursement for about two million birds that will have to be destroyed to stem a Southern California epidemic of Newcastle disease, a federal agriculture expert says.

J. H. Wommack, codirector of a federal-state task force fighting the epidemic, said the reimbursement to owners was authorized by the national emergency proclaimed by Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz on March 14.

He said that the virus, harmless to humans, has taken a heavy toll among the estimated 53 million chickens and 3.4 million turkeys in Southern California, one of the nation's top poultry-producing areas.

Poultry industry officials estimated their weekly losses at $3 million, resulting from the birds destroyed and a drop in the market demand for fowl.

Steps to combat the disease, which broke out earlier this year, were expanded to cover pet shops.

A spokesman for a newly formed Newcastle Disease Information Center said birds contracting the disease display fits of sneezing, gasping for breath and diarrhea. Most die within three days.

Riverside County agriculture commissioner Robert Howie said the present epidemic was introduced into California by some "imported, exotic birds—possibly parakeets" brought to the San Bernardino community of Fontana by a local poultry farmer.

Pupil 'Wins' Trustee Race

WACO, Tex. (AP) — While accepting returns which showed a 20-year-old college student had been elected a school trustee, the nearby La Vega school board ordered its attorney Monday night to determine if the student can legally serve in the post.

A canvass of Saturday's election returns showed that Ronald Wolske, a 1970 graduate of La Vega High School, defeated W. C. "Dub" Long, president of a local parents group, by a vote of 391-372.

Wolske is a sophomore at McLennan Community College and is the editor of the school newspaper. He was aided in his campaign by some of the pupils of the high school he once attended.

Forty Plus Helps Unemployed Execs

CHICAGO (AP) — "When they put up the merger announcement saying all personnel will be retained, that's the time to start worrying about your job," said a controller, 55, who lost his.

"When business is bad," added another unemployed executive, "some companies just apply the vertical stack-cut personnel 10 per cent at every level, including management."

"When your boss loses a battle with directors and the whole team is out of a job, there's not much you can do except look for another one," said James B., management consultant.

The impact of conglomeration and mergers during the last decade has intensified the problem of the out-of-work executive, but whatever the reason for "termination," the biggest problem is finding another job.

"Most guys try the normal avenues — friends, old contacts — and then they get frustrated," said James B.

After a few months of frustration, many apply to Forty Plus, a non profit organization aimed at helping unemployed executives find new positions.

Anyone past age 40 who earned $15,000 a year is eligible to apply to Forty Plus, founded in 1939 and now has offices in most large cities.

If accepted, a "disconnected" executive must work 16 hours a week for the Forty Plus, pay $16 dues for a year and pledge to remain a member for five years at $30 dues per year.

Opening lead: Jack of ♠ North and South employed an indirect auction to reach their four spade contract and tho it provided West with a clue to uncover the most damaging opening lead—declarer managed nevertheless to come up with a winning counter strategy.

North opened the bidding with one diamond and South responded with one spade. North could not offer an immediate raise with three small trumps, so he showed his second suit. South kept things going by giving a diamond preference and when his partner made a delayed spade raise, the former had enough in reserve to invite a game. North accepted by carrying on to four spades.

West got off to the killing opening of the jack of spades, for in the absence of the trump lead, declarer has time to ruff a heart in dummy and confine his losing tricks on the deal to two spades and one heart.

South observed that he would have to alter his plan of campaign, if a setback were to be averted. The jack of spades was permitted to hold the first trick, but declarer won the trump continuation with the ace—and since he was being denied the privilege of ruffing a heart in dummy, he resolved to make good all the trumps in his own hand instead, by trumping out North's small cards.

The ace and king of clubs were cashed first, followed by a club ruff. The queen of diamonds put North in to lead a fourth club on which East discarded a heart as South trumped in again. A diamond was led over to the king, the ace was played and then South used his remaining trump, the eight, to ruff out the three of diamonds. The ace of hearts was cashed and the last two tricks were conceded to the opposition.

In all, declarer scored the ace of spades, the ace of hearts, three high diamonds, and one ruff in that suit, and two high clubs and two ruffs in that suit. Observe that if one of the opponents had been able to trump in or overtrump at any stage, dummy's nine of spades would have become promoted to winning rank and provided an eventual winning trick to cover South's third heart.

He Proves Point About Old Tools

THERMOPOLIS, Wyo. (AP) — Using only tools employed by primitive man hundreds of years ago, state Archeologist George Frison butchered an 11-year-old bison cow at Hot Springs State Park.

Frison said the test of whether the tools found in archaeological digs could be used for buffalo slaughter was "a very successful undertaking."

He said the project confirmed many hypotheses about the use of bone and crude stone tools in slaughtering by Indians some 400 to 1,000 years ago in Wyoming.

INSUBORDINATION GUILT

Preacher's Son Faces Sentencing

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Sentencing was scheduled here today for a Pennsylvania preacher's son who was convicted of insubordination Tuesday at an Army court-martial.

Pvt. Donald Silverthorne Jr., who once claimed to be a former member of the militant Weathermen faction of Students for a Democratic Society, was found guilty on three of four counts.

He faces a possible maximum punishment of one month at hard labor for each of the first two counts and three months at hard labor for the third, with two-thirds of his pay forfeited.

The youth, 20, was convicted of failing to report for fire guard duty last Nov. 23 and for using "disrespectful language" toward a sergeant on two occasions.

He was acquitted of failing to report last Nov. 24 to the Judge Advocate's office.

Silverthorne's background first came to light last August when a federal judge denied his request for a conscientious objector discharge from the Army.

The judge upheld an Army review board, which turned Silverthorne down on grounds he had advocated violence as a member of the Weathermen.

Army records showed Silverthorne had written that he had taken part in "attacks" in Chicago and on the Justice Department in Washington in late 1969, and later on the Kent State University ROTC building.

Silverthorne's father is a Baptist preacher, the Rev. Donald Silverthorne Sr. of Jefferson, Pa. He grew up in Akron, Ohio, and attended Kent State from 1969 to 1970.

The youth currently is awaiting a federal appeals court ruling on his discharge request.

During final arguments in court-martial at Ft. Sam Houston Tuesday, the defense maintained that fire guard duty was a "joke" and that the sergeant involved in the case was "aggressive" and singled out Silverthorne for unfair treatment.

Jail Books Order Issued

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Local officials face a court-imposed two-week deadline to draw up new county jail rules allowing inmates "reasonable access" to law books.

Records on file Tuesday showed U.S. District Court Judge Adrian Spears issued the order Monday on instructions from the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The action grew out of a suit filed by three former county jail inmates, Fred Cruz, 32, Enrique Andrade, 40, and Isias Lara, 40, against Sheriff Bill Hauck and Chief Jailer Jesse Dobbs.

Spears originally denied the prisoners' petition on Oct. 28, 1970, saying that "except in extreme cases, the courts may not interfere with the conduct of a prison, with its regulations and enforcements, or with its discipline."

The case was sent back to Spears on March 1 after the inmates won a reversal from the U.S. Supreme Court.

Spears gave the men 15 days after the proposed new rules are submitted to make their response. He said he then will decide if further action by the court is needed.

Cruz recently won release from the state penitentiary, where he was serving a 15-year term for armed robbery assessed in 1960. Spears ruled that Cruz had been denied "good time" credit for time served in county jail here while appealing his conviction.

$18.5 Million Expansion Of Waco Rubber Plant

WACO (AP) — An $18.5 million expansion and modernization at its Waco plant program was announced Tuesday by General Tire and Rubber Co.

Officials said the expansion will create 300 new jobs.

The announcement was made during a luncheon given by General Tire Vice President James H. Miller for representatives of government, business and labor.

"This is the 10th major capital investment that General Tire had made for additions to its Waco plant since it was built in 1944," Miller said.

"There is no question about this being the most significant of all the expansions ever undertaken in Waco by the company," he said.

The expansion will add 700,000 square feet of tire plant under one roof, raising the plant's total square footage to about two million square feet.

"When the expansion is completed," Miller said, "the Waco plant will be 8.5 times larger than the original plant."

Construction will start this month and be completed in 1974.

Midland Choir To Sing Here

The Midland Lee High School a capella choir will present a concert in the Big Spring High School choir room at 10 a.m., Thursday. This will be their first concert on Lee's annual tour.

Midland Lee has one of the outstanding choirs in the Southwest and is directed by Henry Sellers. The Lee choir has been named the outstanding choir at the Buccanneer Music Festival in Corpus Christi.

The choir will be enroute to the American Choral Directors Convention at Norman, Okla., and is the only Texas choir selected to appear on the program. Lee recently was awarded sweepstakes at U.I.L. contest keeping intact a perfect record started by Sellers three years ago.

He is considered to be one of the finest choral conductors in the Southwest and a leading scholar and musicologist as well. The public is invited to hear this choir sing. There is no admission charge.

THEY MEAN WHAT COMMITTEE SAYS — Pride People, a group organized to improve the physical appearance of the city, can point with pride to members of Boy Scout Troop 33, who descended upon a vacant lot at 700 Scurry Street (immediately north of The Herald) to rid it of an accumulation of litter, operating with the effectiveness of a vacuum cleaner. In the foreground, from the left, are Kirk Mancill, Ron Mercer Jr., John Allensworth and Brian Jenkins. The Scouts used plastic bags to bale the debris.

Nixon Sending More Bombers To Offset Hanoi's Invasion

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is sending additional B52 bombers to help offset Hanoi's invasion of South Vietnam, but it remains uncertain if the administration has decided on a resumption of widespread air attacks in the North.

The some 20 new Stratofortresses, sources indicate, augment the 80-plus B52s already operating over Indochina and will be used to bomb troop concentrations and other targets in South Vietnam, along the demilitarized zone and in Laos and Cambodia.

The Pentagon refused comment on the report of the beefed-up American air power for Southeast Asia. "We don't discuss operational matters concerning B52s," said spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim.

PROTECTION

"We are prepared to take whatever steps are necessary to assure that Gen. Abrams (Creighton W. Abrams, the U.S. commander in Vietnam) is able to protect the remaining Americans in the war zone."

Apart from letting the situation ride as it is with U.S. air power limited to the DMZ and the South, Nixon appears to have only one realistic option and that is new and extensive bombing of North Vietnam.

The 7,000 U.S. combat troops are too few to make much of a difference if the North Vietnamese attack continues in force.

In addition, they are committed to protecting key American air bases and other facilities, and U.S. officials would be extremely reluctant to reduce that shield.

POLITICS

The domestic political climate is acknowledged by government officials as practically ruling out sending American forces back into Vietnam, although they refuse to publicly deny such a possibility.

Earlier this week, after the size of the North Vietnamese onslaught became evident, the United States ordered two more aircraft carriers to join two already off the Vietnamese coast.

While it seems certain the United States will hammer away at targets in North Vietnam, the primary effort will be to first blunt the North Vietnamese attack below the demilitarized zone and enable Saigon's forces to launch a counter-offensive.

The high-flying B52s never have been used over the North and they are not likely to be employed there in the future as they are particularly vulner-Mantiaircraft missiles.

However, the added air power will enable the United States to mount a massive aerial campaign throughout the rest of Indochina.

SUPPLIES DOWN

Since the start of the Hanoi offensive, Abrams has had to suspend the B52 bombing campaign over the Ho Chi Minh trail, used by the enemy to funnel troops and supplies down from the North. The arrival of the additional bombers is likely to bring a resumption of this effort.

Abrams also is concerned with buildup in the tri-border area of South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos from which North Vietnam is expected to launch new offensives against South Vietnam's Central Highlands. Hanoi is believed to have about 50,000 troops in the area.

Even a limited bombing attack on the North evidently would raise the political hackles of Nixon's critics.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said Tuesday there should be no use of American air power over the North. To do so, he said, would only mean the death or captivity of more American pilots.

FISH OR CUT BAIT

"It's time for Vietnamization to fish or cut bait—to produce or else," the Montana Democrat said. "We must get out, lock stock and barrel."

Another Democratic senator, George McGovern, made the same point before his victory in Tuesday's Wisconsin presidential primary.

200-Year Term KO'd

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A 200-year sentence for Finis Smith Blankenship in the armed robbery by assault of an Irving supermarket was reversed and remanded by the Court of Criminal Appeals today because the trial judge failed to instruct the jury on the law of circumstantial evidence.

Testimony showed that two men wearing ski masks held up a Minyard's store on Feb. 12, 1968, and fled in a Pontiac. The manager of another Minyard's store happened to arrive as the robbers left, and he followed them in his car.

A second car swung in behind the robbers' car and the robbers switched cars on a side street. A state's witness was asked if anyone in the courtroom "looks like" the driver of the second car. The witness pointed to the defendant but said he could not be positive.

The trial judge's failure to charge the jury on circumstantial evidence was reversible error, the appeals court said.

SOS Campaign Is Under Way

"C'mon, Texas!"

That was the battle cry that rang out over the proud Battleship Texas in every sea battle in which she participated since her commission in 1914. She was retired following World War I and placed in dry dock at the San Jacinto Monument at Houston.

Rapidly, the once proud lady of the seas is becoming a rusted hulk. Members of the Battleship Texas Commission, who are charged with the care of the ship, estimate that $300,000 is needed to combat the rust and corrosion which has forced them to close half the ship to tourists as a safety precaution.

A local radio station, KBST, is conducting a campaign to collect funds to further the repair of Battleship Texas. Announcers are collecting cash donations to be turned over to the Battleship Commission, and they are asking that any donation checks be made out to "Battleship Texas Commission," not to the radio station nor to them.

According to information from the commission the state does not appropriate funds for the upkeep of the ship, but does take all money collected over $25,000 each year in tour fees. A ship that was once staffed by 2,600 men is now cared for by a "captain" and four maintenance workers, with the result that much of the shp is in need of repair.

related request from Sheriff Standard. Judge Mitchell received a letter today from sheriff Standard requesting that his department employes be paid twice monthly rather than once-a-month as they are currently.

"We'll have to discuss that Monday to see if that can be done, and to see if it can be done without making too much trouble for the county auditor's office," said Judge Mitchell.

Judge Mitchell said that the only department employes currently paid twice monthly are the county road and bridge workers who are paid on an hourly wage basis rather than on a set monthly salary as are all other county employes.

Adam Clayton Powell Dies In Miami Hospital

MIAMI (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell, the flamboyant former congressman who swept through life with beautiful women on his arm, a sermon on his lips and an adoring Harlem at his feet, has died after a long illness. He was 63.

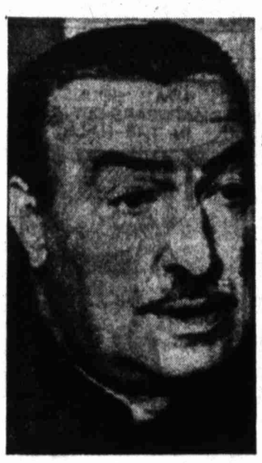

His death at Jackson Memorial Hospital Tuesday night was attributed to complications stemming from an earlier prostate operation.

He had been confined to the hospital intensive care unit since he was airlifted by the U.S. Coast Guard from his Bimini, Bahamas retreat March 7.

The first black elected to Congress from the East, Powell also became the first congressman in modern times excluded by a vote of the House.

He was turned out in 1967 for misusing funds and defying the courts, some 22 years after he was first sent to Washington.

Powell was re-elected in a special election one month later by his New York constituents who packed his 10,000-member Abyssinian Baptist church on Sundays hearing him admonish, "Keep the faith, baby."

ADAM CLAYTON POWELL

However, he did not try to reclaim his seat.

In 1968, without making a single campaign appearance in Harlem, Powell was re-elected again, by a 7-1 majority—the same margin by which the Supreme Court ruled the following June that Congress had exceeded its constitutional power in barring him.

But he got neither the $55,000 in back pay nor restoration of the seniority that made him chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee.

Following a bout with cancer in 1969, Powell announced he would run again. But he was narrowly defeated in a six-man Democratic primary by Charles Rangel.

Before Congress kept him out, Powell was attacked for his absenteeism, his junketing, for being delinquent in income taxes, for keeping his estranged wife on his payroll for $20,000 without duties and for his growing identification with the Black Power movement.

The grandson of a slave, Powell was born Nov. 29, 1908 in New Haven, Conn., the son of a Baptist preacher who preceded him as spiritual leader of Abyssinian's flock.

When Powell was airlifted from his Bahamian retreat, Darlene Expose, a woman he had introduced to newsmen as his wife, accompanied him.

During the final days of his life, his third wife Yvette, from whom he had been estranged since 1965, engaged Darlene in a court fight in Miami over Powell's body and estate.

He had been divorced twice before.

Powell's will specified that his body be cremated, with the ashes to be scattered over the island of South Bimini.

Costly Education

HOUSTON (AP) — The Tax Research Association of Houston and Harris County says the cost of educating pupils in public schools in Houston has almost doubled in nine years.

At the present rate of increase, the TRA says, school spending will double in the next five years although enrollment will rise only moderately.

The average cost of educating each pupil in county schools was $666.54 last school year, compared to $359.36 in 1961-62, the report said.

IRS Director Retires Soon

Ellis Campbell Jr., District Director for Internal Revenue Service's Dallas District, has announced his retirement effective April 14. The veteran tax executive entered the Internal Revenue Service on August 10, 1933, and will have served a total of 38 years, 8 months and 5 days.

He became the chief of Internal Revenue Service's tax collection activities for the 143 counties in the north half of Texas on February 1, 1950. During the more than 22 years as the tax chief for this district he has been among the leaders in Internal Revenue Service's attempt to make the "Service" part of their name meaningful.

Campbell has become known for his dedication to the principle that each taxpayer should pay all the taxes he owes, but not one cent more than he owes. His attitude toward taxpayers and his tax collection job is best exemplified by his statement, "If I were a young man selecting a career, I would choose to be a tax man again. I know of no job in which I could better serve my fellow man and of no position in which I could be of more help than doing what I have done during my career."

Albert W. Brisbin, Internal Revenue Service Regional Commissioner for the eight Southwestern states, announced that A. G. Weaver, Assistant District Director for the Dallas District, will serve as acting District Director pending the selection of the new District Director by Internal Revenue Service's National Selection Board. Weaver has served as Mr. Campbell's Assistant District Director since November 19, 1952.

Holdup-Killing Of Gas Attendant

DALLAS (AP) — Gas station attendant George Jack Youngblood, 23, was killed by gunfire during a holdup in suburban Mesquite between 2 and 3 a.m. Tuesday, police said.

They reported two men fled, taking the station's cash register with them. Two suspects were picked up in the neighborhood soon afterward and held without immediate charge.

Rancher Did Not Break Up Marriage Of LBJ's Pilot

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A jury has cleared a retired rancher of charges that he stole the affections of the wife of a Pentagon official who once served as former President Lyndon Johnson's pilot.

Asked to consider six questions in the $1 million suit, the jury found in favor of Samuel Berrey, 59, on each issue after deliberating for 1½ hours Tuesday.

The suit was filed by Col. Billy R. Wright of Alexandria, Va., a branch chief of the Joint Chiefs of Staff operations directorate.

Wright, 45, served as helicopter pilot for Johnson while he was vice president and President.

The verdict came after six days of testimony in which Wright's lawyer attempted to show that Berrey broke up Wright's marriage to Mary Burke Wright while the officer was serving in Vietnam during 1968 and 1969

The defense maintained the Wright's relationship began to deteriorate after Wright returned from Korea in 1966 and imposed military order in the home.

The Wrights were divorced in 1970 after 22 years of marriage.

Mrs. Wright, who was not a party to the suit, admitted that she had intimate relations with Berrey when she was placed on the witness stand by Berrey's lawyer. She also testified to similar affairs with three other men before dating Berrey.

The last witness to testify was the younger of the Wrights two sons, William, 17, who was asked by Wright's lawyer why he was living with his father.

"Because I could not stomach the way my mother was carrying on with Mr. Berrey," the youth replied.

Wright claimed his wife told him when he returned from Vietnam that she did not love him and that Berrey had promised to marry her. Berrey denied any such intentions.

Berrey, now of San Antonio, is a former cattleman in Atascosa County south of here. He was divorced in 1948, the year the Wrights were married.

The Wrights have one other son, Charles, 22, who is serving with the Army in Vietnam.

Berrey offered little comment after the trial. Asked if he was glad the ordeal was over, he said only: "Wouldn't you be?"

Interests In Oil Program Available

MIDLAND — Dowdle Oil Corporation, Midland, as General Partner, has filed a registration statement with Securities and Exchange Commission offering $10,000,000 in limited partnership interests in a public oil and gas drilling program.

Dowdle Natural Gas Fund, the Program which consists of four $2,500,000 limited partnerships, will conduct its activities in the United States and Canada, both onshore and offshore, but the greater portion of its prospects will be located in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

Dowdle Oil Corporation, the General Partner, will invest 100 per cent of the capital costs, or tangible costs, and the Limited Partners will invest 100 per cent of the non-capital costs, or intangible costs. Income will be allocated 50 per cent to the General Partner and 50 per cent to the Limited Partners and operating costs will be shared 50 - 50.

Dowdle Natural Gas Fund will invest 75 per cent of the funds in drilling development wells and 25 per cent expenditures will be allocated for exploratory wells with the emphasis on drilling propsects with natural gas potential.

Oil Industry Pioneers To Be Honored May 3

Nine oil industry pioneers from three states will be honored Wednesday, May 3, in Midland at the fourth Hall of Fame Dinner sponsored by the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum, Library, and Hall of Fame.

Speaker for the affair will be Dr. Sherman Wengerd, current president of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists. Dr. Wengerd is a professor of geology at the University of New Mexico at Albuquerque, is widely known within professional and oil circles, and is considered an accomplished speaker, museum sources said.

The dinner will be at Midland Country Club, beginning at 7 p.m.

This year's list of Hall of Fame honorees includes three Midland residents: George T. Abell, independent oil and gas producer and civic leader: Berte R. Haigh, former geologist and administrator for the University of Texas lands system; and O. C. Harper, a pioneering geologist and independent producer. All will be present for the dinner.

Coming from Oklahoma City will be Herbert C. Irvin, who with his father, William H. Irvin, and brother, William Jr., drilled many early wells in the Big Spring-Colorado City, Tex., area.

Edward A. Landreth of Fort Worth, an independent producer, industry leader, and philanthropist, will be represented at the dinner by his son, W. A. Landreth of Fort Worth, and possibly by other members of the Landreth family. The honoree died in 1950.

Arthur M. Lockhart of Long Beach, Calif., will attend the dinner as another Hall of Fame electee. Lockhart was one of the six brothers who founded and operated Rio Grand Oil Company, the first refiner in the Permian Basin and the first to gather and refine crude produced in the area. The award honors all six of the brothers, the other five being deceased.

A Bartlesville, Okla., resident, D. E. Lounsbery, another electee, will be attending the dinner. He is a retired Phillips Petroleum Company geologist and executive who had much to do with the discovery and development of some of the Basin's major fields.

H. P. "Cap" Slagel, Colorado City, a pioneer cable-tool driller and independent producer whose experiences go back to the earliest Mitchell County, Tex., wells in the 1919-1922 period, will be honored at the dinner.

Also to be honored will be the late Sam A. Sloan, Colorado City, who was killed in a plane crash in that community in 1929. An early-day entrepreneur, he and Steve Owen of Tulsa, with others, drilled what probably was the first commercial oil well in the Basin: the No. 1 Abams in the Westbrook Field. Midland's first airport, Sloan Field, was named for Sam Sloan, a World War I flyer and aviation enthusiast.

This year's list of nine electees brings the total selected for Hall of Fame inclusion to 26. The Midland oil museum plans to begin construction of its first building later this year with a Hall of Fame area to be included.

The dinner will be open to the general public with tickets available at the museum office, 408 Wilkinson-Foster Building, Midland, at a price of $6 each.

Forgive, Forget

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Six years ago, my husband (whom I'll call John) was caught "in the act" by the other woman's husband. (The husband brought the facts to me.) I was hurt and emotionally torn to pieces, but I loved John, so I said, "Maybe it was my fault. Let's forget it, and start over." In the meanwhile, the other woman's husband blew town and no one has seen him since. Not even their kids.

Last week my best girl friend (married), and a male coworker (also married), were found by my girl friend's husband in a warm embrace in a parked car. My girl friend netted a broken jaw and a divorce suit. Her coworker now won't even look her way.

Abby, what's with men anyway? Are understanding, compassion and forgiveness qualities that only women possess?

Do you know one man who would be willing to sit down with an erring wife, discuss the problem, forgive her and suggest that they start over? If you know such a man, please nominate him for sainthood.

CONVERTING TO WOMEN'S LIB

DEAR CONVERTING: I don't happen to know his name, rank and serial number, but I'm sure there's at least one such candidate.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: This letter is in support of our country's USOs. I am a 23-year-old working girl who has been active in the USO for a number of years. One of our problems is finding other girls to attend the dances and other activities, such as skating, buffets, skiing, etc. One of the big reasons is their parents' attitude toward the USO. They seem to have the idea that is is an unfit and indecent place for their daughters; yet these girls are allowed to visit the local discotheques, fraternity parties and so forth.

The activities of the USOs I have attended are always chaperoned. When our local USO has a dance, it is over by 11 p.m. so the girls aren't out all night. Also no alcoholic beverages are ever allowed in the club. The girls must be between 18 and 25 years old, and must have three names for references, one of which should be a clergyman. The mapority of girls already belonging to the club are looking for some good, clean fun and this is the place to find it. If a girl doesn't meet the standards, she is asked to leave. As for the men these daughters will meet, they are the same ones who left home as sons and brothers.

Maybe this letter won't help much, but it is a way of asking these parents to come in and see for themselves before they condemn the USO because of stories that have been passed along through the years when somebody needed something to talk about.

A JUNIOR VOLUNTEER

DEAR VOLUNTEER: Thanks for a most illuminating letter. And since you did not mention that the USO is not a government funded project, the next time we are called upon to give to UNITED CRUSADE (or that one-big-community gift), we'll remember that the USO depends on that donation.

Floating Kidneys

Your Good Health

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: In the last few years two doctors have told me I have a floating kidney but then said, as long as it didn't bother me, not to worry. I am 70 and in very good health.

Last week I took a five-hour trip on a bus and since then have not been able to get in a comfortable position in bed. The pain is rather bad, and also when I cough.

I want to know:

1—Is a floating kidney still functioning?

2—What causes a floating kidney?

3—Is there any medication to help it?

4—Will passage of time restore it to the condition before the bus trip?

5—When is an operation necessary?

6—What are the dangers of a floating kidney? — R.S.A.

Let's start by agreeing that I'm not going to try to say whether your pain is from a floating kidney or something else such as muscle strain. If the discomfort doesn't stop soon, or hasn't already, see your doctor.

To answer your questions:

Yes, a floating kidney functions. The kidneys, you see, are held gently in place by fibrous tissues and a goodly padding of fat. The kidney's will descend an inch or two when you stand up. If the movement is greater than that, it is called a "floating" kidney. Loss of fat and loosening of the supporting tissues isn't unusual at your age; likewise a floating kidney is much more likely to occur in a thin person. There's less fat to hold it in place.

No medication will correct a floating kidney — but a firm girdle frequently helps. There's no need to do anything about a floating kidney unless — as your doctors told you before — it causes trouble.

A floating kidney may never cause any symptoms. Then again it may cause an aching discomfort in the flank.

An operation — to "anchor" the kidney in place so that movement will be limited — sometimes is done if the discomfort is persistent.

Surgery, however, becomes necessary if the movement of the kidney causes kinking of the ureter (the outlet of the kidney). If that occurs, the kinking obstructs the flow of urine, and that can lead to impairment of kidney function and chronic infection. This can be serious.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Does a cracking knee joint in a child mean any problem? Our son is 8. When he walks, his knee cracks but without any pain or discomfort. — Mrs. H.V.

As long as it doesn't bother him, forget it. Some youngsters have a certain amount of looseness in the joint capsules which accounts for the noises, but it does no harm.

* * *

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What do you think about coffee and tea as irritants to the prostate? — W.W.H.

Tea and coffee will not bring on the prostate problem, but they can aggravate an existing one because of their diuretic effect which increases urination, thus unnecessarily irritating the prostate.

As a general rule, persons with prostate problems should minimize their use of such beverages.

* * *

To learn the major categories of prostate trouble — symptoms, treatment, how to speed recovery — write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald for his booklet, "The Pesky Prostate," enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope to cover cost of printing and handling.

SMITH PREDICTS HE'LL WIN IN PRIMARY

Voters Awake This Year?

By The Associated Press

Democratic gubernatorial candidate Frances Farenthold predicted in Dallas Tuesday that the Texas electorate will not be "sleepy" this year.

"I think the people have finally woke up to the fact that the merginng of the private and public interest in Austin has got to come to an end," she said.

NO TEXAS BRAG

"Since 1957," Mrs. Farenthold said, "only six states have done worse than Texas as far as putting taxes on consumers goes.

"The time has come for Texas to become a broad-based consumer-taxed state like every other large industrial state in this nation."

Mrs. Farenthold made her remarks along with several other political candidates, including U.S. senatorial candidate Ralph W. Yarborough, at a meeting of retired former employes of Ford Motor Co. who are members of United Auto Workers Local 870.

Gov. Preston Smith predicted in Austin he'll win renomination in the May 6 primary without a runoff but said that if he is forced into a runoff it will be against Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes.

Smith scoffed at a statement by Mrs. Farenthold that the Texas Rangers should be abolished.

JUST LIKE ALAMO

"The Texas Rangers are a landmark just like the Alamo," the governor said. "It would be just as hard to eliminate the Rangers as to eliminate the Alamo."

Dolph Briscoe, another contender for the Democratic nomination for governor, said at Paris that he favors a two-year term for House speakers and limits on the power of legislative conference committees to add new items to bills.

Barnes took verbal shots at Briscoe and Mrs. Farenthold at Barnes while Sen. Ralph Hall aimed some remarks at Sen. Wayne Connally.

Sen. Jose Christie, running for lieutenant governor, took a swipe at Houston publisher Bill Hobby, another of Christie's Democratic opponents along with Connally and Hall.

Christie responded to Hobby's comment Monday that Christie "has been a special interest lobbyist for the natural gas industry."

DRIPPING WITH HATE

"I don't think Texans will accept the political filith of a man who has no public record at all," Christie said at Texas City. "This poisonous language is clearly dripping with hate and I for one feel that these scurrilous attacks must be the products of fatigue, tension or pre-occupation with a malicious hatchet job."

Barnes said in Houston all surveys indicate that he and Briscoe are the front runners in the Democratic race for governor, and "it's high time" Briscoe "stopped being a phantom candidate and began telling the voters how he stands on the issues. His whole campaign so far has been to sow the seeds of doubt concerning other people's integrity."

Mrs. Farenthold, in Fort Worth earlier reminded Texans that Wednesday is the last day to register to vote in the May 6 election primary. "Texas needs a change in top leadership and the ballot box is the way to defeat politicians like Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes who have passed bills to tax groceries and make gasoline taxes even higher," she said.

Dave Reagan, a Republican candidate for governor, said at a Plano reception that Texas is "governed by professional politicians and influence peddlers.

Sex Case Settled In Tyler

TYLER, Tex. (AP) —An out-of-court settlement has been reached in a sex discrimination suit filed against General Electric Co. of Tyler, the company announced.

GE said it agreed to discontinue a minimum height requirement as a general hiring procedure.

The cases plaintiffs—six Tyler women and the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of AFL-CIO—claimed the height requirement disqualified more than 94 per cent of the female applicants. The requirement was 5 feet, 7 inches.

General Electric announced that "the company also agreed to hire the individual plaintiffs that have met all the company's other hiring criteria."

According to the U.S. District Clerk's office, notice of dismissal of the case was received Monday.

The individual plaintiffs in the case were Bonnie P. Allen, Shirley A. Fletcher, Oleta Leavell, Cherry Smith, Brenda Young, and Sybil Yowell, all of Tyler.

'Some Of Us Never Think'

"Some people think aloud, some think silently, and the great majority of us never think at all," said Mrs. Herman Shifflett in her program, "Let's Think About Thinking," for Texas Delta Delta Chapter, Phi Sigma Alpha, Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. J. H. Duke, 1900 Main.

"Our thinking is largely done for us by newspapers, radio and television, from the lecture platform and in the many books that tell us what to think, but seldom how to think," continued Mrs. Shifflett.

"A little time each day should be set aside for reflection, and although doing nothing but thinking is strenuous exercise for many of us, it is an effort that brings tremendous rewards in added awareness and alertness, and in the knowledge that we are as much in control of our minds as we are of our bodies," she continued. "People must train their minds to think for themselves and to form and express their own opinions."

Mrs. Arthur Wadle continued the program by quoting from the chapter "Why Argue?" in Rudolph Flesch's book, "The Art of Clear Thinking."

"It is always better to say right out what you think without trying to prove anything," said Mrs. Wadle. "All of our proofs are only variations of our opinions, and the contrary-minded listen to neither one or the other."

The next meeting is at 7:30 p.m., May 2 in the home of Mrs. W. E. Moren, 1301 Eleventh Place.

Drug Found That May Cure Cancer

A drug derived from a male sex hormone may prove useful in the treatment of advanced breast cancer, a California physician reports in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

White carnation corsages were presented to the honoree and her mother, Mrs. Lloyd E. Thomas of Big Spring. The hostesses wore small corsages made of yellow and white net and feathers.

The refreshment table was laid with a white embroidered linen cloth and appointed with crystal and silver. The centerpiece was of white daisies.

HD Group Will Tour Museum

Members of Howard County home demonstration clubs, along with their guests, will tour the Heritage Museum at 2 p.m., May 1 according to plans made during the HD Council meeting Monday in the agent's office at the courthouse. Mrs. Waymon Etchison presided.

Mrs. J. F. Skalicky told of the tour, which will be at a time when the American Association of University Women is sponsoring a western art show at the museum. There will also be an antique doll show.

Mrs. L. L. Soles reported treasury balance of $237.04 and said the council made $150.66 on concessions during the recent 4-H-FFA stock show.

A report on the district meeting in Plainview was given by Mrs. Alden Ryan and Mrs. Etchison. They said 249 HD members attended the conference, and Mrs. Elmo Ellis was elected district director.

Current plans were announced for the April 12 arts and crafts exhibit at Highland Center Mall. The display will be open to the public from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Mrs. Frances Zant requested a meeting of all yearbook chairman at 3:30 p.m., Monday in the agent's office, and the next council meeting was slated May 1.

Refreshments were served from a table accented with yellow flowers in an Easter theme.

Speaker Encourages Indoor-Outdoor Living

We need to design both the interior and outdoor areas of our homes for maximum livability," said Mrs. Wayne Stroup to Phi Zeta Omega Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Rick McKinney, 2101 Thorpe.

During her program, "Living Out," Mrs. Stroup said there is a strong concern today with making the outdoors a part of our housing and daily living, thereby increasing our living space.

"In a society that likes to eat outside, sit in the shade and play in the sun, improving the outdoors is no longer a simple matter of grading, placing walks and driveways," said Mrs. Stroup. "It requires making a complete landscape, planting trees, shrubs and flowers, building patios, barbecue pits and recreation areas.

"Our house and its surroundings are one. Since privacy is one of our greatest needs, part of our outdoor area can be made secluded through a screen of shrubs or a fence, but the over-all design of a house and outside spaces are a single problem."

Pictures of famous gardens of the world were shown, and Mrs. Stroup told how to attain formal and informal atmospheres in the outdoors.

Mrs. Stroup presided during the business and installation of new officers. Mrs. Clay LaRochelle was elected president.

Serving with Mrs. LaRochelle are Mrs. David Grifford, vice president; Miss Lana Lloyd, recording secretary; Mrs. Stroup, treasurer; Mrs. Allen Carlile, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. James Bailey, reporter.

THE BSP STATE

The convention in June in Amarillo was discussed, and Mrs. LaRochelle announced that the Brownie Troop sponsored by the chapter recently participated in a cooking project in her home.

A mother and daughter tea is scheduled at 2 p.m., May 7 in First Federal Community Room and will include a program on Mothers' Day and a style show. An end-of-the-year party is set at 7 p.m., May 19 in the McKinney home.

A meeting to make decorations for the Founders Day banquet April 27 at Webb Air Force Base Non-Commissioned Officers Club is slated at 7 p.m., Monday in the home of Mrs. Gary Huckaby.

Pulitzer Prize-Winning Newspaper Publisher Dies

GREENVILLE, Miss. (AP) — Hodding Carter Jr., the Pulitzer prize-winning newspaper publisher and author whose editorials demanded racial justice decades before the civil rights movement gathered steam, is dead at 65.

Carter, owner of The Daily Delta Democrat Times, died here Tuesday of a heart attack.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

'He will be recorded well in American history," said Mississippi's newly elected governor, Bill Waller. "He was an individual who wrote as he felt and whose journalistic abilities caused national attention to be focused on Mississippi."

RACIAL MODERATION

Carter won the Pulitzer in 1946 for a series of editorials dealing with racial moderation.

His feelings perhaps were best summed up in a 1953 editorial in which he denounced Bolivar County officials for dismissing charges against a justice of the peace who had killed a Negro:

"Neither God nor lawful man discriminates between races when the taking of life or the breaking of the lesser laws of mankind are involved. Think on that, you people who profess to be Christian or democratic or fair. Until we in Mississippi look upon law and crime without relation to the color or faith or nationality of the principals, we have no right to lift our heads and ask for equal treatment in the concert of states or the community of nations."

When the Mississippi House voted 89 to 19 to censure Carter, he wrote that "those 89 character mobbers can go to hell, collectively or singly, and wait there until I back down. They needn't plan on returning."

STARS AND STRIPES

Carter was born in Hammond, La., in 1907 and was graduated from Bowdoin College in Brunswick, Maine, in 1927. He did graduate work at Columbia University.

In 1932 he founded The Daily Courier in Hammond and then in 1936 moved to Greenville and founded The Delta Star, acquiring The Delta Democrat Times two years later.

During World War II he was editor of the Middle East edition of Stars and Stripes and was discharged with rank of major.

Over the years, Carter wrote more than a dozen fiction and history books and received several honorary degrees.

He was a member of the Pulitzer Prize Advisory Board from 1951-61.

Survivors include the widow, Betty Werlein Carter, and two sons, Hodding Carter III, managing editor of the Greenville newspaper, and Phillip Carter of Atlanta.

GM Is Recalling 130,000 Vegas

DETROIT (AP) - General Motors is recalling approximately 130,000 1972-model Chevrolet Vegas to correct a carburetor defect which consumer advocate Ralph Nader charges could cause the subcompact car to burst into flames.

In a statement issued in Detroit late Tuesday, GM said the defect had been found only in cars with the optional 90-horsepower engine. GM said it had developed a method to correct the problem.

Required parts for the recall are scheduled to be in the hands of dealers during the latter part of the month, GM said.

The automaker's announcement coincided with release in Washington of Nader's letter to the National Highway Traffic Safety Association detailing the charges. Nader said they were based on "numerous" reports he has received of fires in Vegas.

GM said preparations for the recall were under way before it learned of Nader's letter. The Vegas are being recalled at company expense and make up about 40 per cent of the 1972 model year production, GM said.

Nader said the fires start because of the design of the carburetor. He said the top cover of the carburetor is so insecurely fastened it easily works loose, permitting so much air to get into the fuel mixture that the engine backfires, blowing out the exhaust system.

A fuel line is near where the exhaust system blows out, and the fire can result, Nader said.

Nader charged GM was trying to conceal the problem from Vega owners by carrying out "an illegal silent recall campaign" through dealerships to repair the defect—a charge GM said it "categorically denies."

Nader also charged the NHTSA with "dragging its feet" in investigations of engine fires in some 1965-67 GM cars and 1969-71 Ford LTDs

Gearing Up For Hearings On Pay-Price

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional critics who say the Nixon administration has mishandled wage-price controls are planning a cross-country series of hearings to provide a forum for complaints.

While there has been no official announcement, it was learned that the House Banking Committee is gearing up for public hearings that would begin in Washington, then move to various cities throughout the country.

The groundwork was laid last month when Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., wrote President Nixon that the control program was not being carried out in accordance with congressional intentions and that, unless changes were made, the committee was prepared to reopen hearings and possibly recommend amendments to the Economic Stabilization Act which it steered to passage at Nixon's request in 1970.

Since Patman wrote the letter, controversy over the economic-control program has been sharpened by the resignation of four of the five labor members of the Pay Board and by an abrupt rise in food prices.

One set of hearings on wage and price control, on a somewhat lower key, is already assured.

The Senate-House Economic Committee has announced it will call witnesses beginning April 18 for an overview of the control program. Among those testifying will be members of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, the heads of the Pay Board and Price Commission, and AFL-CIO President George Meany, who led the labor walkout.

The joint committee's jurisdiction is limited to studies and recommendations. It cannot, like the Banking and other legislative committees, report bills for action.

If current plans are carried out, the Bankin gCommittee's hearings probably would begin in May and extend over several weeks, a timetable that would keep the economic issue simmering until the political-convention season opens in July.

Patients See Show

Approximately 100 Big Spring State Hospital residents were among those attending the Carson-Barnes circus here Monday, sponsored by the Elks Club. Tickets were obtained through local merchants who donated them to the hospital. Officials at the hospital expressed gratitude for this thoughtful act.

TO BUILD NEW TEXAS COMMUNITY

Guarantees $50 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—Plans to build seven Texas villages and a town center with the government guaranteeing $50 million toward the cost were disclosed Tuesday.

Population of the new community on a wooded 17,000-acre tract 30 miles north of Houston would be about 150,000 as now proposed. There would be 49,000 homes, of which about a third would house families of low and moderate income — including the elderly.

The federal government's guarantee of $50 million is larger than those made for any of eight previous new towns.

The tentative commitment to the developer of The Woodlands is subject to the findings of a study, due in two months, on the effect of ground water withdrawal on water table levels and soil settlement, the Department of Housing and Urban Development said.

DONATED SITE

In addition to 26 neighborhood and village shopping areas, the Woodlands plan calls for a major regional shopping area of 1.5 million square feet.

The Woodlands Development Corp. has donated a 400-acre site for a proposed 15,000-student branch of the University of Houston. Three elementary schools, two intermediate are planned for The Woodlands during the next five years. Located west of I-45, the site will include 2,000 acres for industrial use. It is estimated The Woodlands will provide industrial and business jobs for 30,000 people, plus on-site construction employment.

About 3,350 acres of open space are being allocated for wildlife corridors through the development, parks, buffer zones, and pedestrian trails and pathways.

METRO CENTER

Urban activity areas of 4,263 acres are designed to include commercial, business, institutional and governmental establishment. A metro center will provide regional facilities, while a town center is proposed to meet the shopping needs of The Woodlands residents.

The 6,172 acres in residential land use will be divided into seven villages, each carefully planned to provide a mix of income and ethnic groups.

About 4,200 acres in The Woodlands will be retained as open space or developed as recreation areas. Sewage treatment systems, storm water drainage, roadways and paths have been designed to minimize air, ground and water pollution and to preserve wildlife.

HEALTH CARE

A prepaid total health care medical help and treatment, is being drafted for the new town by staffs of the Texas Medical Center and Baylor University medical schools.

A two-way cable communication system linking homes, community centers and schools also is under study. Programs of shared religious facilities within The Woodlands also are planned.

The city of Houston has included The Woodlands site in its area of extra-territorial jurisdiction, paving the way for possible annexation to that city.

Heavy Drinkers

DUBLIN (AP) — The Republic of Ireland has the highest ratio of public houses (taverns) to population in Europe.

Statistics show there are about 11,800 publicans' licenses, which means a public house for every 255 people. In some towns and villages there is one for every 20 people.

Analogy Not Quite True

In his lone dissent from the Supreme Court's ruling on state residency requirements for voting, Chief Justice Warren E. Burger advanced a shaky analogy in support of his view. He said it is no more a denial of constitutional rights "for a state to require newcomers to be exposed to state and local problems for a reasonable period such as one year before voting than it is to require children to wait 18 years before voting."

With all due respect, we submit that this analogy is flawed in about the same way as a comparison between applesauce and oranges. Just as the two fruits are inherently different, and thus not comparable, so there is a basic difference between the two kinds of waiting period Justice Burger seeks to equate.

A lower age limit is placed on the right to vote because it is felt that young people are not mature enough to exercise the franchise until they have reached a certain age — now 18, by constitutional amendment. The theory is that while they may be just as intelligent and well informed at an earlier age, they lack maturity.

The rationale of residency requirements has two main tenets. One is that voters need considerable time — most states stipulate six months, and some a year — to become well enough acquainted with the local men and issues to vote intelligently. The other is that time is needed to prevent fraud. Neither of these points has anything to do with maturity; the question involved is how much time is needed to assure a sound electoral process.

The other six justices voting in the Tennessee case disagreed with the Burger analogy. They all joined in the finding that the Tennessee requirement of a year's residency before voting was unreasonable. In their opinion, written by Justice Thurgood Marshall, they said in effect that even three months is too long. The opinion adds suggestively that 30 days "appears to be an ample period of time for the state to complete whatever administrative tasks are necessary to prevent fraud."

It is a guideline Texas will have to follow sooner or later.

Little Man Who Isn't Here

Where else in the world but in the People's Republic of China could the No. 2 man in government disappear without a trace? Last September, Lin Piao, designated as the successor to Mao Tse-tung, became not just a non-person but an invisible one.

There has been no official word on the subject. Rumors of plots against the life of Mao are unverified. Is Lin alive or dead? Official silence reigns. The most remarkable aspect of the case is that Lin was a "comrade in arms" with Mao, took part in the Long March, and became one of China's best military leaders.

The Chinese love of fun and games was illustrated by a story told by Joseph Kraft, the columnist who went to Peking with President Nixon and remained behind at the invitation of the Chinese government to spend another month in exploring that fascinating country. He told of a European jouralist who complained to a Chinese official, saying that he had to have something to tell his editors who were pressing him to tell what happened to Lin.

"Just tell them," the official advised, "that you don't know."

Time Marches On

Around The Rim

Joe Pickle

When front runners for the high office of governor or United States senator can now only muster a handful of people for speakings, you have to admit that times have changed. To avoid the spectacle of a few willing to take time out and then stand around and hear a talk, most contemporary candidates have resorted to receptions or coffees, which serve the useful purpose of a platform for a few pronouncements.

A LOT OF allure of the political campaign has disappeared. Leave us face it — most of today's campaigning is via the mass media, and for those who can afford it, on the tube. It gets down to a smooth public relations projection or a Madison Avenue bit of promotion. All this hurrying to the hinterlands has diminished, and when done, is mostly window dressing.

One of my earliest recollections was that of a torchlight parade to promote the candidacy of Woodrow Wilson, who would have received virtually every vote in the county anyhow. Another memory is that of Pat M. Neff, his silvery mane flowing, mounting the Dawson County courthouse steps smite Joseph Weldon Bailey hip and thigh in his bid for governor.

NOT LONG after we moved here, the labor issue was red hot, principally because the shop workers had gone out on a long and bitter strike. This was followed by the Ku Klux madness which flared and soon flickered, and reacted in Ma Ferguson being elected the first woman governor of Texas. And then came the sizzling campaign in which Dan Moody took over, and then an acrimonious presidential joust between Herbert Hoover and Al Smith in which it was established that a dry Protestant was stronger than party ties over a wet Catholic.

IN ALL THESE, and subsequent ones, the mention that a candidate was coming to town was enough to draw a crowd. Every school house in the county had a political rally, listening patiently in return for the privilege of milking the candidates. County fairs vied to get prominent political figures to visit. Jim Ferguson had such a vest-pocket vote, all he had to do was set a date, and thousands showed up.

This went on almost to World War II, but there were signs that times were changing. Electronics began to move in — first in cars, with mounted speakers booming an invitation to come on down to the speaking. Then candidates became chained to the microphone and could no longer prance up and down, ridiculing the opposition with acrobatics and iron voice.

STRING BANDS came along — Pappy O'Daniel employed this miraculous crowd-getter to perfection. Then everybody who was any serious contender had to have a band. All sorts of gimmickery followed to pump up the audience. Caso March was one of the first to employ the mobile home — only his was representing the little school house (apparently not very well.)

Lyndon Johnson, pushing his campaign for senator, swooped down in a helicopter. John Connally resurrected the old railroad car appraoch. Candidates gave away war bonds and other prizes; they approximated the old-time medicine show. But time marched on and left the courthouse lawn a quiet and sheltered spot.

PEOPLE WERE moving to the big cities, and politicians with a sense of smell concentrated where there were a lot of other things more exciting than going to a political rally. And now, candidates have found the easiest way to come eye-to-eye with the voter (without having him heckle) is to pass the hat far enough to buy television time. Not even this is sacrosanct; viewers are discovering they can change the channels, or, horrors, turn it off.

My Answer

By BILLY GRAHAM

I am fifteen and a devout atheist. I am perfectly satisfied with my philosophy, but there is one thing that bugs me. Whenever I state my beliefs to a religious person, they always try to convert me. I resent this and feel it is none of their business. Is there some rule in Christianity that says Christians should try to convert everybody? H.E.

It is only natural when a person finds a truth, a teaching, or philosophy which gives him great satisfaction and joy, to share it with others. If atheism is so satisfying to you, why do you not share it with others?

Christianity is the most missionary faith in the world. For one thing our Lord said: "Ye shall be witnesses unto me," and people who know the Savior, carry out this commission with great joy. The Communists "sell" their propaganda to the world, and certainly real Christianity has more to offer than they.

My advice to a young person like you is: get a faith to proclaim, a song to sing, and a creed you cannot keep to yourself.

I was just two years older than you when I accepted Christ. My greatest joy has been to travel to every continent to share my faith with others. And I have found very few people who have resented it.

Low Risk Patterns

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Like the bits of colored glass in a kaleidoscope, figures have a way of rearranging themselves into brand-new patterns. Ask anyone who charts stock market performance.

Consider mutual funds. Based on objective, funds usually are grouped as growth, growth & income, balance, or income, ranging in risk from high to low.

Low risk funds, such as those in the income category, are generally thought to have the least prospect for substantial appreciation. They are conservative; they seek steady dividends rather than price appreciation.

At the other end of the classification, growth funds are assumed to grow fastest of all. Greater risks are taken, of course, but in the long run it is widely believed that a good growth fund will outperform others.

Figures just released by the Arthur Lipper Corp. now subject such assumptions to some doubt. Measured over a five-year period to March 30, the different fund categories showed these percentage gains:

Growth 37.65
Growth & Income 37.35
Balanced 34.42
Income .... 38.39.

The biggest percentage gain was by the supposedly slow-moving income funds, not by the growth group, although there were hardly any significant differences among the four.

But before making another assumption—that this test is conclusive—consider that these averages are made up of performance extremes, of the good and bad. Nothing as deceptive as an average; you cannot buy it.

In the growth category, for example, greater risks are taken in order to enhance the potential for big capital gains. Sometimes, in fact, outright gambles are taken. Sometimes they pay off; often they do not.

While the growth average was only 37.65, gains of the 10 best growth funds ranged from 123 to 244. Growth funds simply can't make those kind of gains without violating their investment philosophy.

Moreover, significant performance differences for each category are contained within that five-year period. In general, growth funds have more pronounced up-downs than the others, and often look good for short periods.

For the first quarter of 1972, for example, growth funds show gains of 11.07 per cent, compared with 5.94 for growth & income, 4.23 for balanced funds and 2.97 for income funds.

Salvage Drive

NEW YORK (AP) — The 76th annual spring salvage drive of the Volunteers of America is under way across the nation.

The national social welfare organization collects discarded clothing, shoes, appliances, furniture, housewares and other articles which are cleaned and repaired for further use by needy families. The items are picked up by VOA trucks at the convenience of the donors.

The drive has a two-fold purpose, says Gen. John F. McMahon, VOA commander in chief. "It provides the less fortunate with material comforts they could not ordinarily afford and employment for handicapped workers who restore the items."

Back In Orbit

Marquis Childs

MADISON, Wis. — As on campuses around the country, the word at the huge university here is that the young are moving back into normal orbit. A little window-smashing on State Street over the issue of a traffic-free mall is apparent, but compared to what has happened that is hardly more than the rites of spring.

THEY ARE becoming involved in the electoral process, with the Wisconsin Student Association putting on a series of forums for candidates in the Democratic primary.

What happened here in August of 1970 was a shock so great that it became a kind of watershed between revolution and at least relative sobriety. A massive explosion in the early morning hours destroyed the Army Mathematics Research Center, with estimated damage of nearly $4 million. A young graduate student alone in the building working on his Ph.D. thesis was killed.

A SEARCH was begun for four youths, two and possibly three believed to be students, who had loaded a small truck with a huge explosive charge. They successfully eluded the FBI and were reported in Canada. Recently one of the suspects, Carleton Armstrong, was arrested in Toronto.

ATTITUDES MAY be changing but the far-out appearance has not. To a square from the past they look as they throng State Street like something out of the National Geographic — maybe camel drivers off the Asian steppe. Long hair and beards are a conformity as rigid as though enforced by tribal decree.

A sense of tensions lessening is reflected in the university. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey, has put through a series of reforms. He just signed a bill reducing the penalty for the possession and use of marijuana to a misdemeanor.

Frontier Medicine

Robert E. Ford

A piece in the paper the other day said some researchers believe that all of man's illnesses may be caused by viruses.

These squiggly little things may be the cause of such problems as strokes, heart attacks, cancer, arthritis, diabetes and others.

ANY REAL Texas oldtimer would have snorted at such fancy ideas. Why, he didn't even believe in germs, which was the popular word back before doctors invented viruses.

One of the more graphic demonstrations of the total absence of germs occurred some years ago when a young college student of our acquaintance warned her coughing grandpa to stop it because he was spreading germs.

The oldtimer straightened up from his spasm and glared at his granddaughter.

Then he started stompingly angrily around the room, punching out with his index finger, shouting at her: "Is that one? Did I punch one of them with my finger? Where is a germ? Show me one!"

OLDTIMERS in the frontier and semi-frontier West may not have believed in germs but they had cures for every ailment known to man or beast.

The treatment varied from family to family and from one sub-culture to another. The people who came from Tennessee had different remedies from those arriving from Georgia.

Truth was, the Indians of Mexico City were about 400 years ahead of anyone else in medicine urtil the Spaniards came and began a program of eradication of the best brains of Mexico, including the doctors.

The rest of the world caught up with the pre-Columbian Mexicans only about a century ago in such matters as sanitation, isolation, surgery, medicines and geriatrics.

EARLY-DAY Texans simply refused to let themselves become ill, for that was disaster.

For one reason, a doctor was several hours away by wagon or buggy from most farms and ranches, so you cured yourself — or your mother forced a cure down your throat.

Someone rode in for the doctor in great emergency only. And the doctor traveled hours to come! Few were inconsiderate enough to call a doctor for a mere childbirth.

One of those scenes that stick in the mind from childhood was looking out the window and seeing grandma, wrapped in all the clothing she could carry, striding over a snow-covered field to a neighbor's a mile away to assist in a birth.

PREVENTIVE medical measures were the key to health on the frontier.

In too many cases, as far as young people were concerned, this prevention consisted of occasional purges—calomel, castor oil and certain patented drugs — when there absolutely was no need of such treatment.

Other medicines were whatever was at hand — a drop of turpentine for a cough or sore throat, coal oil for soaking of a puncture wound to prevent a deep infection. If no people-liniment was at hand for a sore muscle you always could go to the barn for horse liniment — it nearly took the skin off but it must have worked, for very few persons ever tried a second treatment.

Whether these measures really helped is questionable. But at least they had a psychological effect and nature herself is a great doctor, anyway.

DRUG STORES in those days generally hired young fellows in high school to help out as clerks.

The druggist would swear them to silence as to what they sold to whom. It was an oath as binding on young minds as the Hippocratic oath doctors once took.

Thus he could not reveal who bought great quantities of a nerve medicine that was largely drinking alcohol — it was a best seller and sometimes went out of the drug store in case lots. It worked, too — did you ever see a nervous drunk?

Yet the most embarrassed persons were those who came into the store to buy sulphur ointment.

First Man To Fly Plane?

Hal Boyle

By NEALE McMILLAN
(Substituting for Hal Boyle)

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — Almost 70 years after Orville and Wilbur Wright made their epic flight at Kitty Hawk, N.C., people here are still claiming that the first man to fly an airplane was a New Zealander named Richard Pearse—and that he beat the Wright brothers by more than a year.

Their evidence is inconclusive, and there seems no prospect of anyone producing irrefutable proof now to support the claim.

But stories from old-timers and Pearse's indisputable brilliance as an aviator still arouse some hopes that he might have been the first man in the world to pilot a heavier-than-air machine.

Pearse's latest champion is the executive director of Auckland's Museum of Transport and Technology, R. J. Richardson, who intends building a memorial pavilion to house the pioneer's remaining aeronautical exhibits.

Richard Pearse was labeled "Mad Pearse" by his turn-of-the-century neighbors at Waitoho Valley, near Timaru, because of his fascination with flying and his study of aeronautics as he did the ploughing on his parents' farm.

Sometime between 1900 and 1904 he designed and built a high-wing monoplane of steel and bamboo, with aileron and elevator controls, and powered by his own four-cylinder engine.

It had a wingspread of 700 square feet and weighed 700 pounds.

Pearse controlled pitch by moving his body in conjunction with the application of an elevator mounted on the trailing edge of the wing.

Small flaps on the wingtips enabled the plane to be banked. There was no rudder, although the front wheel of the undercarriage could be steered.

With his ailerons, which he patented in July 1907, Pearse was undoubtedly ahead of the Wright brothers. But did he actually get airborne before their flight on Dec. 17, 1903?

No records are able to show with any certainty that he flew any distance before March 31, 1904.

He made several flights that year, and, on two occasions, traveled 150 yards at a height sufficient to clear a 12-foot hedge.

Some believe he flew as early as 1902. But if Pearse deserves recognition for actually accomplishing this, he has only himself to blame for not receiving it.

There would be no mystery at all if he had confided in his contemporaries, left detailed records of his progress, or been a less secretive man about his activities.

Hal Boyle is ill.

Mission's Purpose

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — As the time approaches for President Nixon to visit Moscow, the talk in diplomatic circles is less optimistic than it has been about the possibility of getting by then an agreement on strategic arms limitation. Thus, for instance, from Communist sources word comes that the Soviet Union isn't inclined to accept the inclusion of submarines which carry nuclear weapons in the pact being negotiated in Helsinki.

SUBSTANTIAL PROGRESS has been made in the Helsiniki conferences. A virtual agreement has been reached on a formula for limiting anti-ballistic missiles and for the location of radar stites used with them. Final work is being done on the proposal to restrict the number of launching sites in each country for intercontinental ballistic missiles.

It seems evident, therefore, that the Soviet government is ready to make a partial arrangement so that Mr. Nixon could sign a pact in Moscow showing some progress but is not prepared to go the whole way.

THE UNITED STATES, on the other hand, is eager to deal with these matters on an over-all basis, and President Nixon recently declared that there could not be a "complete" agreement on the limitation of strategic arms unless nuclear-armed submarines are included. This comment indicates that Mr. Nixon thinks the Soviet Union is more flexible on the subject than has been generally believed.

President Nixon is making his trip to Moscow in the expectation that negotiations at Helsinki, if not completed by then, can be extended in order that a comprehensive agreement can be signed this year.

MR. NIXON'S real purpose in going to Peking and to Moscow is to advance the cause of peace in the world. He is not asking for any special favors for the United States and is offering to curtail American military forces abroad while seeking a reduction of armaments. But he wants a demonstration of the Soviet Union's intentions through the cutting down of the size of the Russian Armies stationed in Eastern Europe.

Bangladesh Recognition

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Tuesday extended formal diplomatic recognition to Bangladesh, the new nation which broke away from Pakistan in last December's India-Pakistan war.

"We look forward to good relations with this new country," Secretary of State William P. Rogers said in a statement announcing President Nixon's decision.

Nixon's action had been long expected, but had been held up while the administration conducted a review of the South Asian situation in the aftermath of the 1971 conflict.

Meanwhile, some 60 countries including Britain and the Soviet Union have recognized Bangladesh. Red China is now the only major power which has yet to extend recognition

The former East Wing of Pakistan, Bangladesh has a population of some 70 million people. The United States has had a consulate in the capital, Dacca, for many years.

Texans Smoking More Cigarettes

ASTIN (AP) — Despite higher taxes and more warnings from doctors, Texans are smoking three million more packs of cigarettes a month than they were last year.

State Treasurer Jesse James gave tax figures for March today showing consumption of 103,777,580 packs of cigarettes, compared with 100,785,468 in March 1971.

The 1971 legislature raised the cigarette tax from 15.5 to 18.5 cents a pack, effective last July 1.

Cigarette tax revenue last month was $19.2 million, compared with $15.3 million in March 1971.

Wallace Maps Detroit Visit

DETROIT (AP) — Alabama Gov. George Wallace, the man who was not invited to dinner by Michigan Democratic leaders, is coming to town anyway to hold a news conference and rally April 15.

Wallace fired back Monday at the 40 state Democratic leaders who decided March 21 not to include him among a group of Democratic presidential hopefuls invited to the Michigan Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner at Cobo Hall, also on April 15.

Invitations went to Sens. Hubert Humphrey, Edmund Muskie, George McGovern and Henry Jackson and Rep. Shirley Chisholm.

Those left off the list besides Wallace included Mayor John Lindsay of New York, Rep. Wilbur Mills of Arkansas, Hawaiian Congresswoman Patsy Mink and Sen. Vance Hartke.

Wallace, whose aides described him as the only major Democratic candidate left off the guest list, fired broadside at the Michigan leaders Monday.

He said in a letter, released at Montgomery and being mailed to "several thousand supporters" in Michigan, "The political machinery that controls the Democratic party in Michigan invited all candidates to this assembly with one exception—George Wallace . . .

"Their action shows again they are trying to stop the Wallace campaign because it represents the viewpoint of rank and filed people. . .

Aged Oak Falls

WASHINGTON (AP) — A fierce snowstorm finally toppled historic Bettin Oak.

Bettin Oak, a landmark at Morristown National Historic Park, New Jersey, had been ravaged by age and disease when it fell under the assault of high winds.

Reinforced with cables and patched with concrete, the magnificent black oak soared 125 feet over Jockey Hollow. Because the patches obscured many annual rings, the tree's reported age of 230 years is only a close estimate.

The great tree already dominated the landscape when Gen. George Washington and his troops wintered at Morristown in 1777 and again in 1779-80. Even then the tough oak was so large that soldiers desperate for firewood spared it in favor of easier-to-cut smaller trees.

The tree was named after Captain Adam Bettin, who was killed in a 1781 mutiny of Pennsylvania troops.

Horoscope Forecast

TOMORROW

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening when it is advisable that you take no chances where either your reputation or anything of a basic nature is concerned. Be sure to keep your foundational structure protected carefully even though you desire greatly to make some drastic changes which would all be wrong for you.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) If you neglect doing tasks and handling responsibilities, you can lose much and ruin your credit as well. A little more preparation is necessary before you can put that civic matter in motion.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You want to make some radical changes, but you would do well to study conditions more before taking any action. A new contact can give good advice about this, also. Take it easy tonight at home.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You want to go off on some tangent early and leave responsibilities that require immeditae attention, so think twice and then do what is right. Closest tie may be in a bad humor. Exercise patience and all will be fine.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Cooperate more with an associate and get much accomplished instead of wanting him to go off on some tangent with you. A problem of a public nature crops up which needs careful handling. Relax in p.m.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Don't permit all that work ahead of you to put you in a frenzy, but dig in and do as much as you can, and all will be fine. Build up your physical health sensibly. Don't waste time with unimportant things.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Recreation could prove to be most expensive or worthless, so get busy with other activities now instead. Your mate is worried, so keep silent and all will work out excellently. Do not argue at all.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Why complain about little annoyances? Handle them cleverly. Don't you realize how dull life would be without them? The rest of the day is excellent for all that detailed work you love. Do some serious research and really have a ball, too.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) If you go on losing that temper of yours everywhere, you can certainly make your life difficult. Become more philosophical and all is fine. associates will respect you more. You are an idealist, so prove it especially where sex is concerned.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You are not as bad off monetary-wise as you think. Count your blessings and they will multiply if you put that gray matter to work. Why don't you trust your hunches instead of those of others? Be smarter.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You are probably so jaded with usual fine pleasures you want to exchange them for the worthless, so thank your lucky stars and do not change unless for the better. Picking on good friends because you are bored is the first sign of foolish thinking. Refrain.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Avoid groups and do some tall thinking before you put that new plan to work, or you find you could lose your shirt. Others come to you for assistance. Give only what you can easily afford. Teach them to stand on own two feet and do them a real favor.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) You have had fine favors from a person older than you are and now you have the opportunity to show appreciation. Do it or you will regret it. Avoid social matters and become acquainted with some new or old author. Have fun.

SCORING THE HARD WAY — Earl Reynolds slides home head first to score a fifth inning run that enabled Big Spring to tie the count against Abilene Cooper in Tuesday's 5-AAAA baseball game here. Trying to put the tag on Reynolds is catcher Mike Denny. Cooper erupted for five runs in the seventh inning to topple the Steers, 10-5.

Cougars Tag Steers To Straighten Slump

Abilene Cooper straightened its losing posture yesterday as it poured five runs home in the last inning to break a tie with the Big Spring Steers at Steer Park to forge a 10-5 win that broke the Cougars string of district losses.

The loss drops the Steers to a 1-3 slate in 5-4A action while the Cougars support a 2-2 record in the district.

Steve Estes, the Cougar's starting pitcher, almost lost his grip on the game after his team had built a 5-0 lead in the first inning. The Steers stormed back in the third, fourth, and fifth innings to tie the game, but the Cougars surprised Big Spring in the last inning to win the district clash.

In that inning, all five runs were unearned. Two runs scored when a fly ball to right field was dropped. A walk forced in another run. And two runs scored when a fly ball to left field was dropped.

Ricky Steen and Earl Reynolds, Big Spring infielders, both got two hits off four times at bat. The Steers gathered five runs off eight hits, while the Cougars garnered 10 runs off seven hits.

The Steers continue to be one of the top scoring teams in the district as they have amassed 19 runs in four games.

Steers Clash With Hereford

The Big Spring Steerettes collide with Hereford, a town north of Amarillo, at 7 p.m. Friday in the Big Spring gymnasium in the girls' volleyball bi-district game.

Susie Lynch, Steerette coach, described her team as ready. She said, "I definitely think that they are ready to go."

The Steerettes finished the regular season with a 20-4 won-loss record. They won the District 5-4A with a 7-1 slate.

Big Spring yesterday scrimmaged Snyder in a practice game. The Steerettes won, 15-7, 15-7.

Rupp Trophy Is Slated Tonight

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Bill Walton of UCLA will be the first recipient of the Adolph Rupp Trophy for basketball.

Walton was chosen Monday in balloting by sportscasters and writers in all 50 states. He received more than four times the number of votes received by second-place Dwight Lamar of Southwestern Louisiana.

The award will be presented at a banquet Wednesday in Lexington.

Walton will not be present to receive the trophy, nor will UCLA coach Johnny Wooden. Wooden said he and Walton had prior commitments.

He added, "I feel it is an outstanding honor to win this award, a new award in honor of one of the great figures in college basketball."

Wooden said assistant coach Gary Cunningham would attend the banquet to represent UCLA.

Coach Rupp, who has been retired as UK coach at the mandatory age of 70, said Walton is the "finest young athlete the nation produced this year."

Rupp told the members of the recently-formed Commonwealth Athletic Club, sponsors of the trophy, "Your selection this year was absolutely fool-proof.

"I've never in all my years of college basketball seen a boy play the way he does, do the things he's done," Rupp said.

Walton led UCLA to its eighth NCAA championship last month, defeating Rupp's Wildcats.

Alvin Crowder Succumbs In Winston-Salem, N.C.

WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — Alvin Floyd Crowder, who played in three World Series during his years as a major league baseball pitcher, is dead at the age of 73. He was a native of Winston-Salem.

Crowder became ill at his home Monday night and was pronounced dead at a hospital. He had suffered a heart attack some years ago. A graveside service was set for 11 a.m. today at Forsyth Memorial Park in Winston-Salem.

Crowder went to the majors in 1926 when he joined the Washington club. In his years of major league pitching, he worked in 403 games, compiling a record of 167 victories and 115 losses. He retired in 1936 and returned to Winston-Salem where he was associated with the Winston-Salem Twins baseball team during the late 1930s and early 1940s.

He pitched for the Washington Senators, the Detroit Tigers and the St. Louis Cardinals. He won 21 games with St. Louis in 1928, 26 with Washington in 1932, and 24 with Washington in 1933. During his three years with Detroit, he won 25 and lost 14.

Recruiting Women Softball Players

Women Get your bats and gloves and come on!

The Big Spring women's softball league is trying to organize teams and gather enough equipment to play some games.

All women interested in playing softball this summer should plan to attend an organizational meeting at 7 p.m. Thursday at the east diamond of the Howard County Junior College baseball field.

Coaches and equipment are both needed. If two teams are formed, games will be played with the Webb women's softball league starting April 16.

Further information may be obtained by calling 3-1364 or 3-0972.

Teenage Baseball Registers Friday

The Teenage Baseball League is trying to make changes that will make the league more attractive to participants and fans.

Byron Smith, president of the teenage baseball league, said yesterday in a telephone conversation that several improvements would be initiated this season.

Smith wrote about some of the changes in a letter to the sports editor: "I wonder just how great a season we could really have if a lot of people around here who don't care would have a change of heart and come out and help us."

He continued: "We need parents and people as spectators. There are many ways you can support this activity. A lot of boys who play in our league never see their mothers and daddys at the ball park. People want someone to show that they care. If we would show more concern for our children, it would help attitudes and make it easier for the people who coach them.

"It amazes me at the way people complain about the quality of coaching, but not many come forth to offer their help. What do we expect a program to be when we have to beg for help?

"Its a crying shame at the run-down condition of some of the facilities our young people have to use. With the money that is circulating around this town and the technology and materials available this day and time, we should have baseball parks second to none. The lighting in our teenage parks is far from what is available. The only way these things will improve is for a lot of us to care and do something about it.

"We have some good people connected with our Teenage Baseball League this year so won't you come out and help us. If you have any complaints about our workers come to our directors."

The Teenage League begins registration Friday from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. and on Saturday between 9 a.m. and 7 p.m. at Johnny Stone Park.

All boys must register who intend to play even if they played last year. Parents or guardians must accompany the boy with a $6 registration fee for insurance and a birth certificate or baptismal certificate as proof of the participant's age.

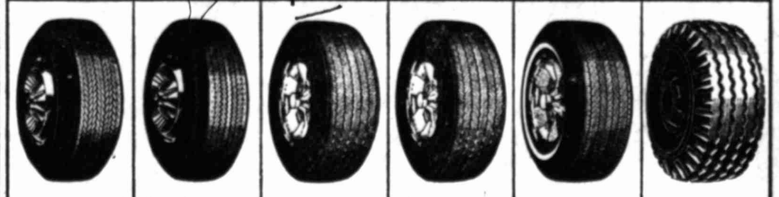

Smith expects about 250 boys to turn out for the registration.

TAKING AIM — Defending Masters champion Charles Coody sights the shaft of his putter while sitting under the shade of a Magnolia tree at the Augusta National Golf Club.

MASTERS STARTS TOMORROW

Who Will Wear Green Jacket?

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — The signpost of recent history—if that can be accepted as a guide—points to a mild longshot as the winner of the Masters Golf Tournament.

Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino, Gary Player, Billy Casper, Arnold Palmer, Tony Jacklin. Those are the names that leap to mind when the favorite's role in this storied old championship is mentioned. Play begins Thursday.

But four of the last five winners have come from the ranks.

All have had a variety of things in common. All four—Gay Brewer, Bob Goalby, George Archer and Charles Coody—have been solidly established competitors, toughened and tested in the grinding demands of the American pro tour. All were mild longshots. And, prior to their Masters triumph, none had ever before won a major championship.

If that holds true again, then history would indicate that players such as Tom Weiskopf, Bert Yancey, Bob Murphy, Australian Bruce Crampton, Tommy Aaron, Frank Beard or Dave Hill might be logical candidates to shrug into the famed green jacket that goes to the winner of this classic.

They fit the category. All are solid, long-established professional competitors. None has won a major title, though all are proven winners on the pro tour.

Weiskopf, tall, talented and newly possessed of a steadying maturity, may be the No. 1 man in the group.

"I think I've finally grown up a little," the handsome Weiskopf said earlier this year when he won the Jackie Gleason Inverarry Classic. He pulled down $52,000 in that triumph, the richest event on the tour this year and his third title in less than two years.

The hard-hitting 29-year-old long has been noted as the man with one of the finest swings on the tour. But a towering temper had delayed his debut as a full-fledged star.

He also has a history of playing the Augusta National Course, site of the 72-hole tournament that begins Thursday, extremely well. He's finished as high as second, was sixth a couple of years ago and shares with Palmer and Nicklaus the record for consecutive sub-par rounds here, seven.

Yancey, the six-time tour winner, admits to an obsession with this tournament. he has a mock-up layout of the course in his home and dutifully makes the changes on his model as changes are made on the course.

He, too, plays the course extremely well. In the last five years he has finished third twice and fourth once, the latter just two strokes off the winning pace.

Murphy and Crampton are non-winners this season. Crampton, a 10-time tour winner now in his 16th year on the American circuit, has finished seventh or better six times this season.

"I could have won any of them, but something always got in the way," the pleasant, curly-haired guy said.

It's been much the same story with the red-headed Murphy, a former national amateur champ and a three-time winner. In a string of nine tournaments earlier this year he finished ninth or better seven times and could have won six of them. A three-putt green on the first extra hole cost him a playoff against Grier Jones for the Hawaiian Open title.

Beween hem, Beard and Hill hve done jus about ev-t

Between them, Beard and Hill have done just about everything that can be done—without winning a major title.

Beard, winner of 10 titles, is a former leading money winner, former player of the year and is closing in on $1 million in earnings. The tempestuous, outspoken Hill, a sometimes tour bad-boy, has won seven times, finished second in the 1970 United States Open and in 1969 won the prestigious Vardon Trophy for the best stroke average on the tour. Neither has played particularly well this season, though Hill lost in a playoff for the Los Angeles Open title, the first event on the schedule.

Aaron ranks as an enigma.

The smooth-swinging Georgian for years was the tour's traditional also-ran, finishing second a dozen times before he broke through to victories in the Canadian Open and later the Atlantic Classic.

He's playing very strongly this year—but has reverted to type and is finishing second. He's lost to Archer in playoffs at Los Angeles (with Hill) and at Greensboro last week.

DO YOUR DARNDEST — Four time Masters champion Arnold Palmer made a sentimental visit to Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower Tuesday before he played a practice round at the Augusta National Golf Club. Mrs. Eisenhower rewarded Palmer with a kiss and told him, "To do your darndest," in the Masters Golf Tournament starting Thursday.

Forsan Wins Golfing Crown In District

The Forsan golf team yesterday captured the District 9-B golfing title for the second straight year.

Last year Forsan won both the first and second place honors, but since Forsan could field only one team this year, they had to settle for first place.

Forsan finished with a 329 total at the rugged San Angelo Riverside golf course to lead all the teams in the district. Bronte's first team placed second with a 345, and Bronte's second team finished third with a 387.

Forsan's golfers took the top two medalist honors. Charles Bailey Jr. was the medalist in the tournament. He shot a 74 nine-hole total. Richard Pitts took second mealist honors with a 79 total.

Other Forsan golfers were: Richard Reed with an 86, Steve Mundell with a 90, Mike Murpny with 1a 103, and Steve Murphy with a 105.

Only the lowest four scores were counted in the team totals.

Forsan will go to Lubbock April 19-20 for the Regional Tournament at the Pine Hills golf course.

David Redwine, coach at Forsan, said, "This is the first year that we will have a good chance to win the regional and go to the state. This is the best team that we've had in terms of shooting a low score. This team is definitely superior to others in terms of experience and potential."

Forsan has had a golf team for only four years, but during those years the teams have won three district titles.

Redwine continued, "We've got two weeks to get our score down into the 320's.

"If we get that score, we've got a shot at the regional."

TICKETS LAST LONGER THAN FOOD

No Baseball Is Bad News

CINCINNATI (AP) — Hold onto your tickets, opening day has been postponed because of an economic storm.

Cincinnati, a charter National League team, has always been privileged to open the season early, but the Major League Baseball Players Association strike continues.

In Chicago Tuesday night the owners vetoed a compromise proposal for the second time.

The Reds Tuesday said their opener against the Houston Astros had been postponed. About 51,000 ticketholders were told to hang onto them until an announcement about another opener after the strike ends.

"Opening game" is a traditional occasion in Cincinnati and has been a boon to downtown Cincinnati since construction of the new Riverfront Stadium.

The stadium had been readied for the opener when the Reds front office told the workmen to go home, there would be no game.

Signs in bars and restaurant windows came down. The signs welcomed the baseball season and hungry fans downtown for the day.

Economically, the cancellation caused many problems, particularly with restaurants.

The Netherland-Hilton Hotel, which was preparing an annual, 250-plate baseball luncheon for one group, received a cancellation and is now stuck with the food.

Many industries traditionally invite their out-of-town customers in for the day as a public relations ploy.

"I've got 1,500 people coming in here," said an executive at a local foundry. "Normally we show them around the plant, give them lunch and take them down to the ball park.

"Now what am I going to do with them? I guess I'll just have to give them some drinks and let it go at that."

The Reds were expected to lose $250,000 in the cancellation.

About a dozen Red players continued to work out on the Astroturf football field at the University of Cincinnati. It is the same surface used in the stadium.

Most of the players will be off the payroll of both Cincinnati and Houston today. Some salaries begin at the start of the season, others in February. The other National League Clubs aren't scheduled to open until Thursday.

Astros Predicting That More Bad News Coming

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Astro players view the cancellation of their season opener at Cincinnati as a bad sign.

Larry Dierker, the club's player representative, believes it means prolonging of the negotiations between the players who struck for a 17 per cent additional funding of their pension plan.

Astro outfielder Bob Watson feels the delay in the season will prove harmful to the Houston team.

"I don't see any break in this thing," Dierker said Tuesday.

The big righthander said public opinion started out strongly against the players.

"When you read about baseball, you read about Hank Aaron signing for over $100,000 and Willie Mays signing for over $100,000. What you don't read about is Bob Stinson (Astros reserve catcher-utility man) who spent eight years in the minors and now is making $13,500 a year. He's the one really trying to get something out of this pension. And he deserves it."

Watson said the team was hoping for a fast start.

"The one thing we wanted to avoid this year was a sputtering start," Watson said. "If it hadn't been for this, I think the team was ready for a fast getaway. I just hope we can come up with some sort of settlement. We've gone this far. No need of backing down now. We all had hoped it wouldn't go this far, but it did. So now we all have to stick together."

Pitcher Dave Roberts had praise for Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Baseball Players Association.

"Really, I think they (owners) are out to get rid of Marvin Miller," Roberts said. "This guy hasn't hurt baseball, but he has done a lot for the players, accomplished benefits they wouldn't have obtained otherwise."

Astro General Manager H.B. "Spec" Richardson said he doubted the Astros' weekend series in Atlanta would be played if the strike ended.

"Even after this thing is settled, I want to see my pitchers throw," he said. "That is, I want Jim Owens, our pitching coach, to look at them and be convinced they are ready to pitch."

Horned Frogs Leap To Conference Lead

FORT WORTH — Getting a quote from Frank Johnstone about Frank Johnstone is worse than shoving butter into a wildcat's mouth with a hot poker.

Texas Christian's ace pitcher from Alvin is modest, to say the least. But it is certainly not because he has nothing to brag about.

At Alvin High, Johnstone compiled a 23-2 pitching record while leading his team to two district championships. That was good, but only good enough to earn him a one-year, make-good scholarship for coach Frank Windegger.

After Johnstone's surprising 7-4 finish and 1.81 earned run average as a freshmen, Windegger is certain he's getting his money's worth. Johnstone has already won seven games this season to a single loss and has posted a superb .981 era.

Johnstone is a coach's dream, Windegger claims. "The beautiful thing about Frank is that he really doesn't care about his personal averages — he's just determined to see TCU win ballgames.

"He's probably the most unselfish player I've ever had," the TCU mentor said. "He's always has something complimentary to say about the team. Potentially, he's the best we've ever had and should become one of the all-time great collegiate pitchers."

Windegger was not exaggerating about Johnstone's modesty. "We've got a great club," Frank said. "It's easy for our pitchers to do well when you have an intelligent catcher like Dana (Carden) and a great infield.

"Not only that, but we don't have to worry about not receiving any hitting support with guys like Jimmy (Torres, .376) and Mike (Turner, .333) and all the rest. Heck, all the pressure's off the pitchers."

Lines such as those bring smiles to Windegger's veteran face. But that isn't the only time Windegger re-celebrates Johnstone's ability. The pre-med major has posted an overall 3.769 average while at TCU, yet another plus for the 6-0 and 195-pound pitcher.

Frank's main objective this baseball season fits right along with the entire TCU team — the University of Texas at Austin. Not only is Texas the target for Johnstone and Co. because of the Longhorns' lofty season record, but Frank had a little added attraction.

Texas refused to offer Johnstone a scholarship upon his high school graduation. Frank had hoped to attend Texas, but now admits he would not trade TCU for anything.

WINDING IT UP — A Lindsay campaign worker rolls up giant poster of New York Mayor John V. Planning, Zoning Board Tables Thorny Problem

Mobile homes are once again causing a furor in city government, but this time with the Planning and Zoning Board regarding the actual sale of the mobile living quarters.

Board members and two men, requesting zone changes to allow them to sell the homes in two of the local shopping centers, locked horns Tuesday night in the regular monthly session of the board.

Bob Matthews requested a change so that he can sell trailers at the Highland Center. He contended that no provisions are set in the city mobile home ordinance for mobile home sales.

Matthews told the board members he met with the Zoning Board of Adjustment Monday1, and that they determined there is not an adequate listing for mobile home sales in the ordinance, and there should be one provided.

Matthews in turn advised the board members they should establish a new zone for trailer sales.

As the debate over the issue became heated, the board members decided to table the request and one other submitted by Teddy Dietz for the same zone change in College Park Shopping Center to allow him to sell mobile homes there.

A special meeting of the planning and zoning board has been set for Friday at 5:15 p.m, when board members will once again review the question and decide on establishing the zone in the ordinance.

Other business on the board agenda did not require such heated debate, or resistance as the board members approved six public hearing requests, one for the purpose of placing a mobile home at 1615 Mesquite, another for establishing a beauty shop at 1601 E. 5th, one for placing a mobile home at 1514 Mesquite one for the purpose of extending Crestwood Mobile Home Park, and one for the purpose of establishing a cabinet shop at 1006 N. Bell.

Also the board approved a request for annexation of a 10 acre tract out of Section 13, Block 33, T-1-S T&P, Survey, made by J. W. Davison.

The way was opened for the establishment of a used car lot at 1602 Marcy Drive, when the board okayed a zone request there.

Also a request for a zone change from "SF-2", Single Family Dwelling, to "GR", General Residence, on the west side of Goliad between 21st and 22nd streets was approved for the purpose of building apartment houses. A. F. Supak made the request.

A request for a specific use permit made by Pat Blewett was passed and Byron McCracken will be allowed, through a zone change, to move and build duplexes at 406, 408, and 410 Douglas.

RELATIVE-SWAPPING INVOLVES CHILDREN OF SEN. RATLIFF

Widespread Violations Of Nepotism Statute

AUSTIN (AP) — State officials are forbidden to hire their relatives. But somewhere in the past members of the House and Senate got the idea it was okay to hire each other's relatives.

"It could be we've been wrong all this time," says Charles Schnabel, secretary of the Senate

"It has been a longstanding practice. I guess it has gotten out of hand," says Speaker Rayford Price.

The nepotism statute says no legislator "shall appoint, or vote for, or confirm the appointment of "certain close relatives—or, and this is the big one—persons closely related to other members of the legislature."

FIRST COUSIN

No distinction is made between the House and Senate. They are considered to be one body—the legislature.

Under the law, the husband of a first cousin of a legislator's wife is too close.

Violation of the law is a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of $100 to $1,000.

It has been argued that the relatives are employes of the House or Senate and not employes of the legislators, that they are actually hired by the speaker or the lieutenant governor or the secretary of the Senate.

Travis County Dist. Atty. Bob Smith says the courts probably would call this a subterfuge.

Besides, the speaker freely admits: "The members hire their own secretaries and assistants."

SENATOR'S CHOICE

And Schnabel says he hires a lot of the senators' secretaries, but he concedes he would reject a senator's choice only if the secretary was related to a senator.

Schnabel's application form asks if the secretary is related to a legislator or to a state official.

Asked what he does when the applicant answers yes to that question, he said: "I don't even ever look to see how they answer it."

"That's probably a holdover from a time when the nepotism law was more strictly enforced," said Schnabel, who has held his job for 17 years and says the relative-swapping flourished when he got here.

The practice has gone unchallenged. There are no court decisions or attorney general opinions on it.

An attorney general's opinion in 1945 said the governor could not appoint a relative of a House member to a river authority because the Senate must confirm gubernatorial appointees and senators and representatives are members of the same body

A similar question came up with the appointment of former Gov. Price Daniel to the Texas Supreme Court two years ago because Daniel has a son in the House.

HIRED AS PAGES

But that case was distinguished on the ground that the constitution establishes qualifications for Supreme Court Justices and those qualifications may not be amended by the nepotism law or any other statute.

The nepotism statute specifically outlaws agreements between state officials to hire each other's relatives. Legislators' children may be hired as pages only when they will assist legislators with physical infirmaties.

"We're going to do some work in this area," says Smith, the district attorney.

"I may talk with the speaker and the lieutenant governor after the election and tell them we haven't been enforcing this law but that we're going to start and that we're giving everybody a chance to clean house," he said.

RUINING PEOPLE

Asked why he would wait until after the election, he said: "I'm in a position to ruin people, and I don't want to ruin people just for the sake of ruining people."

Smith successfully prosecuted former Speaker Gus Mutscher and two associates on a charge they conspired to accept a bribe. His office also presented evidence to the grand jury in the case of former Rep. Walter Knapp of Amarillo, who has been indicted on a charge he used $1,200 in state postage stamps to buy a used pickup truck.

The most recent revelation of relative-swapping involves the children of Sen. David Ratliff of Stamford and Rep. John Allen of Longview.

John and Lynnora Ratliff were paid $15,167 as employes of Allen over a period of five years.

Peggy and Barbara Allen received $19,456 over a comparable period as employes of Ratliff.

Babara Allen was a student at Abilene Christian College from 1966 to 1970. Ratliff says she did research, clipped newspapers and was subject to call

John Ratliff worked at the Sierra Blanca ski area near Ruidoso, N.M., from Nov. 24, 1971 through March 14, 1972. He also drew more than $100 as Allen's employe for the final week of November 1971 and $500 for the month of February 1972.

IT WAS CUSTOM

The district attorney said an agreement to put someone on the state payroll who will do no work could result in a charge of conspiracy to commit theft of state funds, punishable by a prison sentence of two to five years.

All four children of Rep. Frances Farenthold of Corpus Christi, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, have worked as Senate employes or for senators. "It was custom, I was told, and I wanted my children to have the experience," she said.

The son of one of Mrs. Farenthold's opponents, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, wanted to be a House page when Barnes was speaker. "I put him to work, but I paid his salary out of my own pocket," Barnes said.

The speaker's wife worked for former Sen. Jim Wade of Dallas in 1967.

Sen. Charles Wilson of Lufkin and Rep. John Hannah, also of Lufkin, hired each other's wives as secretaries in 1967.

OTHER'S WIVES

The wives of Sen. Don Kennard of Fort Worth and former Sen. Criss Cole of Houston were on the House payroll in that year.

The Senate payroll included the wives of Reps. Allen, Don Cavness of Austin and Leroy Wieting of Portland.

And Schnabel's wife has been an employe in the House since 1957, currently working for Rep. Hilar Doran of Del Rio.

But Schnabel is not a senator and therefore would not seem to be covered by the nepotism law.

ANTICS FROM ANOTHER DAY — Silent movie star Charlie Chaplin, who was delighted by special tribute given him Tuesday night in Manhattan, dips his bowler hat with one hand and affects a mustache with other as he pantomimes his screen antics as a tramp. A packed audience gave him a standing ovation at special gathering in New York's Lincoln Center.

Siboney Corporation has reported consolidated net income of $506,000 for the year 1971 — a record profit for the corporation.

In addition to reporting a new high in net income, the company reported an improvement of $2,542,000 in over-all results of operations in 1971. This increase was attributed to an $841,000 improvement in operations of continuing businesses including a $283,000 profit on transfers of interests in oil and gas exploratory permits; the disposition of unprofitable businesses and facilities which in 1970 produced losses of $1,486,000; and an extraordinary gain of $215,000 on the sale of a shopping center. These amounts exclude provisions for Federal income taxes in 1971.

Substantial improvements in the company's financial position were also reported. Working capital was increased by $1,410,000, including an increase in cash of $305,000 and reductions in short term debt of $775,000 and accounts payable of $286,000. The ratio of current assets to current liabilities increased from slightly less than 1 to 1 at the end of 1970 to 1.64 to 1 at the end of 1971. Long term debt was reduced by $136,000.

The company's wholly-owned subsidiairies, Axel Heiberg Oil Company, Bitucote Products Company, Deep Flex Plastic Molds, Inc., Gamco Industries, Inc., Miller's Visual Aids, Inc. and Lee Parkway Corporation, all operated profitably in 1971. Cepco, Inc. was the Company's only subsidiary which sustained a loss in 1971.

Raza Unida Party Seeking Key Posts

CRYSTAL CITY, Tex. (AP) — The Raza Unida party now has complete control of two political entities in this Southwest Texas town and hopes to make gains in still another this fall.

Incumbents Pablo Puente and Buenaventura Gonzalez, both running under the Raza Unida banner, won re-election to the city council Tuesday after the party won the school trustee race Saturday.

Puente received 1,741 votes and Gonzalez 1,745 in complete, unofficial returns. They defeated independent candidates Hector Ramon with 517 votes and Eusevio Salinas with 522.

Gonzalez and Puente's victory retained Raza Unida's control of the city government.

The Mexican-American party, which already had a 5 to 2 majority on the school board, took complete control of that body in Saturday's election as both of its candidates defeated independents.

Jose Angel Gutierrez, a Raza Unida founder who became school board president when the party began its bids for office here in 1970, had predicted an easy victory in the latest races.

He also predicts victory at the polls here in November as the party seeks key county posts, including those of sheriff and tax assessor.

Meanwhile, Raza Unida is mounting a statewide campaign for governor, U.S. Senator and other posts.

Signs of the problems it faces statewide surfaced in Hondo and Uvalde, where candidates endorsed by Raza Unida lost city council and school board races over the weekend.

But the party won in nearby Cotulla, where Raza Unida candidate Arcenio Garcia, 24, became the youngest mayor in the city's history. The party also won two other council seats and one school trustee post in Cotulla.

An accumulation of dead skin. This is a woman's problem only. Men remove this layer of dry skin when shaving and their necks do not become crepey.
