Optimist Bizet Accepts Post On Florida Paper

It is with regret that one of our most active members is leaving us. Not only will Clarence be missed by the Optimist Club, but by the entire community.

Clarence is accepting the State Editor's Desk of the Tallahassee Democrat of Tallahassee, Florida, an attest to his superb journalistic ability. We of course are very proud and happy for this promotion for the Bizets, but we will miss them.

Clarence, without malice and with no axe to grind, has by his impartial reporting, done far more than many realize to wake Burk to its full potential. He has caused countless numbers of our local citizenry to realize their latent talents, and step forward. He has proven once again the pen is mightier than the sword; his accurate and timely reporting has caused many to take a second look, or prevented some to bypass the personal gain motive and do what was best for our community.

He has caused many of our potential leaders to move ahead and offer their services to build a bigger and better Burk, not for personal recognition but because of civic pride and responsibility. Clarence truly believes that each of us has received God-given talents and each member of our community has obligations to our town, no matter how small or how large, and if we fail to exercise these talents and discharge our responsibilities, we have failed the first requirement of good citizenship.

Clarence is a man who is not ashamed to stand up and say publicly, "I love Burk, and am proud to be a citizen of Burk," and although he did not hesitate to speak out about our shortcomings, or accurately report the facts, he could and would work countless hours, on his own time, helping find the solution to a community problem, graciously allowing the credit to go to someone else. Clarence exemplifies the spirit of good citizenship both by work and word, a truly rare combination in this modern jargon age. He personifies Americanism, good government and civic responsibility, recognizing it to be, not something to let "George" do, or left to someone in Austin or Washington to do, but here in Burkburnett, by me and you!

We in the Optimist Club will miss Clarence, but even more our community will miss him. Our best wishes for continued good health and fair and impartial reporting for which he is known. We shall look forward to the "Clarence Bizet" by-line wherever he goes.

Students Help In City Clean-Up

School was dismissed Thursday, November 11, at 2 o'clock to enable students to cooperate with the community in its clean-up campaign.

The Student Council, which is an honorary member of the Civic Improvement Council, assigned designated areas for each class to clean. The seniors were responsible for the area from the high school to the football stadium, the juniors were assigned the swimming pool park area, the sophomores were given the Hardin Park area, and the freshmen were responsible for cleaning the cemeteries.

The junior class was given a certificate by the Student Council for doing the best clean-up job.

Buildings in Disneyland are five-eighths normal size.

The Burkburnett Kings opened up the final quarter of their semi-pro game here Friday night to win 25-6 before 3,000 spectators, a record crowd of the season.

The Oklahoma All Stars, hampered by the loss of Jim Gresham whose car broke down near Oklahoma City, had been favored to win the game.

Burkburnett led off by scoring a safety in the first quarter and following with a touchdown in the second period. They never trailed in the contest.

Oklahoma managed a touchdown in the third quarter before the Kings opened up in the final quarter with two touchdowns and a field goal.

Oklahoma's explosive ground game was held in check by the King defenders almost all night. In fact, the Sooners were forced to score by air as Jessie Stewart took a 33 yard pitch from quarterback Bob Martin.

The Kings had three hitting for touchdowns, Ron Duke on a pass from quarterback Eugene Guthrie, Jerry Bettis on a one yard plunge and Mike Negri on a heave from Guthrie. The safety came as Norm Collingsworth nailed Martin in the endzone.

Perhaps the biggest difference in the game was the line work. The Kings whipped the Sooner trenchmen all evening and put a hectic pass run on Martin, forcing him to throw off balance most of the night.

The win—the first defeat for Oklahoma this season—gave the Kings a 9-1 record as they approach the final game of the season.

The Kings will meet the Corpus Christi Volunteers, the only team to whom they have lost, at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Burkburnett Junior High School stadium in the second annual Mesquite Bowl game for the final competition this season.

Burkburnett's defenses Friday were led by Norman Collingsworth and Norman Jones on the line and Pete James and Jim Campbell for passes in the aerial game. Oklahoma's defenses were led by Tom Pearson and the redoubtable Larry Shields.

Highway Patrol Report Accidents Total 21 For Oct.

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated 21 accidents on rural highways in Wichita County during the month of October, according to Sergeant D. S. Lawson, Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These wrecks accounted for ten persons injured and an estimated property damage of $17,360.00.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county from January through October of 1965 shows a total of 172 crashes there were eight perashes there were eight persons killed and 113 persons injured. The estimated property damage amounted to $127,699.00.

November and December are noted as dangerous months in traffic and especially for pedestrians. During the last two months of 1964 in Texas there were 80 pedestrians killed and 726 injured in collisions with motor vehicles. There are many reasons for this longer hours of darkness, bad weather, pedestrians not visible to drivers, holidays and lack of driver's and pedestrian's concentration.

The Sergeant stated, "To aid both the pedestrian and drivers, always wear something light colored when walking after dark. If possible, carry some kind of light, walk on the left side of the road facing traffic day or night so that you can see approaching traffic. If you have a dark colored raincoat or overcoat, put a strip of reflectorized material across the back and front when walking on the highway or street."

DON'T BE SURPRISED

Horror is continually expressed at the numbers of persons maimed and killed annually on streets and highways in automobile accidents. As a matter of fact, it is astonishing that ten times as many are not killed. It's just luck they are not.

The majority of automobile drivers today are the greatest lawbreakers and most discourteous individuals in the nation. Too many drivers think they have to show their prowess as racers by passing everything in restricted speed zones.

First, there are the midget cars whose drivers seem impelled to prove they must show their speed qualities. Then there are the imitation racing or so-called sport cars with their imitation speedway drivers. Then come the owners of their first behemoths cruising at 80 to 100 miles an hour.

They pass on the right or left, they run on your rear bumper, they don't come to a full stop at signs, they pay no attention to turn signals of the car ahead but speed past.

Many pleasure cars, trucks and motorcycles run with mufflers open until the noise on city streets and freeways is deafening. If they know the rules of the road, they pay no attention to them or driver's manuals.

No wonder there is so much juvenile delinquency when there is so much adult delinquency.

There is not much use in talking about reducing automobile killings until the public abides by the commonest rule of courtesy and driving techniques.

In the meantime, try to keep out of the way of the drivers who think it is smart to break the traffic laws and don't be surprised at the mounting auto death rate.

GRASSROOTS OPINION

SIKESTON, MO., STANDARD: "The role of the free newspaper is misrepresented perennially by politicians who lose elections. Often the distorted picture is deliberate, because experienced public officials know better. They know that the press attempts to be as fair as possible in its news columns. But a public which does not always understand the various functions of its newspaper may be misled by half-truths. Traditionally, the free editor reserves the right to express his own opinion in editorials. The 'stand' of the newspapers is judged by editorial expression. Yet, in news sections, and in letters to the editor, more space is often given to an opposing viewpoint."

AUBURNDALE, FLA., STAR: "Throughout the country there are undoubtedly many people who have mixed feelings about the advisability of our being in Viet Nam, and everyone is entitled to his own opinion in this regard. But to advocate the burning of draft cards and feigning mental sickness and even homosexuality in an attempt to evade the draft is downright repulsive and dangerous to the morale of our fighting forces."

ROCKVILLE, MD., MONITOR: "If Section 14-b is repealed, think this one over: In the 19 States now having so-called 'right-to-work' laws, some 250,000 workers presently working in shops where union contracts exist but who are not union members will be forced to join up in order to keep their jobs."

PETERSBURG, TEXAS, JOURNAL: "The young people who treat their parents with courtesy and respect are the ones who were told the first time they said 'I won't' to either mother or father: 'Yes, you will. And you had better be quick about it.' A child brought up that way knows who is boss around the house, and it is reassuring to him to know that he isn't it."

PHILADELPHIA, PA., TRADES UNION NEWS: "It is a scientific fact that soap and water are the greatest destroyers of disease germs and bacteria."

HEFLIN, ALA., NEWS: "The prevailing concept of postwar United States foreign policy has been that we must do everything we can to free backward peoples from their superiors from all forms of colonial control. . . . Many of the world's peoples are not ready for immediate freedom. Immediate freedom makes them a threat to world stability and peace; it does not bring about higher living standards automatically and that it is not, therefore, morally defensible."

STORM LAKE, IOWA, PILOT-TRIBUNE: "David Lawrence in Des Moines Tribune: Political alliance between labor unions and the administration is paying off, and the free enterprise system is losing its freedom. Meanwhile, the ideologists in Moscow will rejoice that America may be traveling the road to state socialism."

DIAGNOSING THE SICKNESS

In America, the reading of the Bible in public schools has been declared illegal, but it is not illegal to read degenerate filth or material advocating the overthrow of our nation by force. Some reading material approved by the National Council of Churches includes books so obscene they could not be read aloud in the House of Representatives. Right here in my town, the little-taxed, big-profitting Methodist Publishing House not only sells James Baldwin's obscene and degenerate books, but defends them.

In Detroit, a former police inspector said: "There has not been a sex murder in the history of our department in which the killer was not an avid reader of lewd magazines." Many thousands of boys and girls are led down the primrose path starting with "hot" books and pictures, graduating to "real action" movies of every conceivable type of abnormal sex. Psychiatrists and prison wardens know well that even a perfectly normal child can be converted into a sex pervert and criminal by the filth racketeers.

The sickness in the soul of America has been planted there. As Will Rogers said: "What this country needs is more clean minds and dirty fingernails." The "Liberals" say we should read between the lines of our Constitution, our Bible, our marriage vows; that there are no absolutes; no right and no wrong; whatever is socially acceptable is all right; sin is old-fashioned, non-existent, imaginary.

The Mattachine Society (homosexuals) claims that one out of every ten Americans is a homosexual, including roughly a quarter million each in the federal Civil Service, the armed forces, and security-sensitive positions in private industry. Homosexuality, throughout recorded history, has accompanied declining civilizations. St. Paul said in Romans 1:24: "Wherefore God also gave them up to uncleanness through lusts of their own hearts, to dishonor their own bodies through themselves."

Eight hundred forty-seven grave security risks in "our" State Department have been identified, including pro-Communists, alcoholics, sex degenerates, homosexuals and people suspected of being communist spies.

Michael Goleniewski, former KGB intelligence agent, testified that six diplomats and ten Marine guards assigned to the U.S. Embassy in Warsaw during 1958 and 1959 were compromised by women communist agents. The Communists reportedly took embarrassing photographs of these sex acts for blackmail purposes. The State Department admitted the guilt of its employees and transferred five of the six to other State Department posts. "Call girls", formerly called whores, are regularly used by the State Department. A "call girl" or "bedroom politician" ring reportedly operates continuously within the atheistic, amoral United Nations. Lyndon Johnson's protege Bobby Baker bragged that he had ten members of the Senate in the palm of his hand (compromised). Baker knew every intimate detail of the Senate, its people, their weakness, who was sleeping with whom, who was out drunk, who could be bribed and for what price. So does Moscow. The only secrets

HOSTING HINTS

By AUSTIN NICHOLS

If there is one main item that can make guests and host alike momentarily uncomfortable it is not having enough food, mixers, beverages or liquor on hand. It is so easy to be sure to have too much rather than too little.

The trend today is to keep your party simple and lean toward pleasure and informality rather than formality.

It is always a good idea to get your bar set up well in advance, with cocktail ingredients and bar equipment ready to use. Be sure to get out the ice and ice bucket. If you are going to serve a variety of drinks, a wise precaution is to have cubed, cracked and crushed ice on hand. Crushing ice is time consuming during an actual party.

Placing bottles in easy view on top of the bar or serving cart helps the guests make a selection of what you have rather than what you don't have. An unusual brand, such as 101-proof Wild Turkey Bourbon, adds a touch of elegance which is important to any party.

In round numbers, when deciding how much liquor to have on hand, keep in mind that one fifth is good for about fifteen drinks, which should be enough for five people. And, finally, it is a good idea to have plenty of shot glasses or jiggers around so drinks will be properly measured.

The American government has in the cold war against history's most diabolical, criminal, atheistic conspiracy are the secrets our government keeps from the American people. Some people will resent seeing things like this in a family newspaper; but we must face it, because morality demands it and survival requires it. As the Apostle Paul asked the Galatians: "Am I therefore become your enemy, because I tell you the truth?"

LUMBER LINING

Like winter coats and clothing, homes require an adequate "lining." The Southern Pine Association recommends a lining of solid lumber between structural framework and facing materials. The high insulation value of wood provides a buffer against heat as well as cold. The lumber lining braces and strengthens the framework and provides a cure nailing base for siding, roofing and other finishing materials.

Gov. Connally Pledges Support Of Beauty Act

By VERN SANFORD Texas Press Association

AUSTIN, Tex.—A facelifting of the Texas roadside scene is about to take place.

Gov. John Connally has pledged full cooperation with the Federal government in connection with the new Highway Beautification Act. A legislative council committee here now is considering the legal steps necessary in Texas to enforce provisions of the Act. This is to prevent loss of U.S. funds.

State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer is outlining an initial plan of compliance with the Federal law which proposes control of scenery-spoiling billboards and junkyards and general scenic enhancement along 17,589 miles of Texas' Federal-Aid highways alone.

Texas Highway Department, Greer reports, already is taking steps to put into effect an expanded program of landscaping and beautification at a cost of about $10,000,000. Programs will cover a two-year period and will include planting projects, rest areas, irrigation systems and possible scenic easements at selected overlooks and natural beauty spots.

Greer anticipates Texas will get about $6,000,000 a year in federal funds for this work.

He has called for a complete inventory of junkyards and large outdoor advertising signs and devices within 660 feet of highways.

Some of the junkyards, Greer emphasized, will be screened by plantings, fences and other means in the near future.

Meanwhile, information from the inventories will be used in studies of needed state legislation, including zoning of industrial and commercial areas along the state highway system as called for in the beautification act.

Top State Awards for '65 Claimed by 4-H Members

A Coleman County lad who's had a peek behind the Iron Curtain and a poised young woman from Edcouch in Hidalgo County have won state 4-H public speaking honors.

Joe Pat Hemphill, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Zeno Hemphill of Coleman, won the boy's award with a talk on "A World Without 4-H," which recounted his 1964 summer trip to East Berlin, Hungary and Czechoslovakia. Hemphill will receive a wrist watch from The Pure Oil Company.

Lynda Bowers, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Bowers, spoke on "Citizenship—Our Heritage and Our Responsibility" to win the state contest for girls. She will receive a chest of silverware from Pure Oil, the program sponsor.

ing enough to convince us that Communism is not progress."

Miss Bowers has given 24 speeches and appeared on radio and television. As president of her senior high school class she delivered the welcome address at graduation.

Public speaking, she says, has helped her gain poise and self-confidence. Miss Bowers attends Pan American College.

A profit of more than $1,000 over six years tells how seriously Andy Scott has taken the Chihuahua-raising business.

Scott, the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Scott, chose dog care as his main 4-H project, he says, because "it is one suited to a city boy." (Actually, 22 per cent of the 2.5 million 4-H'ers come from urban homes.) In all, Scott has sold 97 Chihuahua pups and has given away 10.

Scott gave four pups to a deaf mute woman because he felt dog raising would make life more enjoyable for her and help her financially. He says, he himself, would never have started his dog project without financial aid from his parents.

Dairy foods expert, Joanna Lewis, says she is "thoroughly familiar with milk" because she has lived all her life on a dairy farm.

Miss Lewis has been an asset to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joyce Lewis, by helping out with every dairy operation. She feeds calves, flushes lines, washes out the 700-gallon tank, gets cows from the pastures, and milks them.

In addition, she churns her own butter and makes cottage cheese and sour milk.

The awards were announced by the Cooperative Extension Service.

ing award. He'll get a watch from the sponsor, Ralston Purina Company.

The 4-H'er with the best project in dairy foods was 16-year-old Joanna Lewis of Murchison. Carnation Company will give her a wrist watch.

Hemphill, born and raised on a ranch of more than 9,000 acres, had ample material for his many speeches on conservation and cattle. However, he also has spoken on "Democracy in Action" and read a dress revue script while Coleman County 4-H lovelies paraded their home-stitched fashions. Hemphill has been before TV cameras and on many radio shows.

In his "World Without 4-H" speech Hemphill characterized life in Czechoslovakia as dull and uninspiring.

LOW BLOOD SUGAR FROM MISSED MEALS

She was a lovely blonde with big, trusting brown eyes and long golden curls. She sat on my knee and believed every word I told her. She was two years old, and inclined to be a bit chubby.

Later, when she was in high school, she was still blonde and lovely, but she wasn't chubby any more. She was, if anything, a bit inclined to be thin. I asked her one day what she had for breakfast that morning.

"I didn't have any breakfast this morning," she said.

"What did you have yesterday morning?"

"I didn't have any breakfast," she answered in a small voice. "When did you last have breakfast?"

"I can't remember," she whispered, giving me a reproachful glance from those lovely brown eyes.

"All right," I said in desperation, "skip breakfast!"

"That's what I do," she said, and skipped away with a giggle before I could question her further about her dreadful eating habits.

A Bad Habit

Girls, much more than boys, tend to go without breakfast, though boys are sometimes guilty, too. Skipping breakfast is an easy habit to slip into, and it is not a good one — for that matter, for any member of the family.

The number of meals a day varies with custom and circumstance. In some countries today, five, six or seven meals a day are eaten; these are usually smaller meals than the three-a-day customary in this country. The number matters less than does the regularity.

The body requires a regular supply of food in order to maintain the supply of nutrients available to the tissues at an adequate level. This is true especially of the blood sugar (sugar in the blood) which is the immediate source of energy. When the interval between the evening meal and the first meal the next day is as long as 18 hours, as happens when breakfast is omitted, the blood sugar may fall lower than it should.

Mild Insulin Shock

Low blood sugar creates late-morning inefficiency, drowsiness, fainting and proneness to accident through ineffective coordination. This is a mild form of the insulin shock which happens to diabetics when they get too much insulin or exercise, and too little food. It was what happened to one of my secretaries who responded to my buzzer signal by jumping from her desk and starting to enter my office. On the threshold, she collapsed, in a faint. She had taken a ballet lesson the night before after her supper, gotten up late and skipped breakfast, and had come to work with, literally, hungry blood.

A good breakfast should include fruit, eggs or bacon or both, enriched bread or rolls, milk, butter and jam or jelly, and a beverage. And time enough to eat without gobbling!

Mrs. P. O. Wise Hostess To Lydia Sunday School Social

The Lydia Class held their monthly social in the home of Mrs. P. O. Wise Tuesday night, Nov. 16th. It was decided the class would carry fruit juices to the nursing home for Thanksgiving. Mae Welborn, teacher of the class, will be hostess for the Christmas social, with Marlene Cheney, co-hostess, at which time each member will give to Lottie Moon instead of exchanging gifts, the offering envelopes will decorate a small tree. Those class members present were the President Ruth Ramsey, Marceline Wise, Katharine Patterson, Marlene Cheney, Mae Welborn, Melba Lewis, Lois Thornton, Effie Garrett, Lila Clemmer and Florine Simpson.

Laymen from local Baptist churches of the Association will emulate Southern Baptist Missionaries to show some of the hardships as well as areas of work encountered by missionaries. A male quartet from Janlee Baptist Church in Burkburnett will provide the special music. The program theme will be enlarged upon by Dr. Rogers Smith of the Southern Baptist Convention's Foreign Mission Board. Dr. Smith will speak by means of a tape recording and slide of world missions. A catered Bar-B-Q Supper will be served preceding the program at 6:30 p.m. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone to attend.

Orchids For Your Christmas Table

The Christmas season is fast approaching and with it the perennial problem of getting presents for those who seem to have everything.

A new and lovely gift suggestion is a centerpiece of Cattleya orchids. If you're invited to a holiday dinner, a regal purple-and-white spray of blooms is a highly prized gift for your hostess. If you're the party-giver, consider purchasing orchids to add a unique touch to the festive occasion.

Cattleyas bring a note of subtle coloring and elegance to your holiday table. The snowy white cloth, set with fine china, sparkling stemware and spotless silver will have a focal point of interest—and conversation—if an arresting display of orchids is used as a centerpiece.

Centerpieces are simple to make—just use your imagination. Set three dripless taper candles in a bed of Cattleya orchids and greens and you have a beautiful display. Or take a large brandy snifter and place some dainty china or ceramic figurines in it; then artistically arrange several orchids inside and on the rim of the glass. Orchids give your table an exotic air. They're durable and will last through the entire holiday season if stored at night in a cool place, but not the refrigerator. And, contrary to popular notion, Cattleya orchids are reasonable in price and readily available from local florists the year round.

Jr. Girl Scout Troop Has Court of Awards

On Monday, Nov. 15th a Court of Awards was held in the Youth Center for the members of Jr. Girl Scout Troop 45. Some 100 people were in attendance.

Besides girls of the troop and their families, special guests were Mayor Jim Frye and Miss Anne Broussard, Field Representative of the Nor-Cen-Tex Girl Scout Council. The girls arranged tables with articles they have used or made to complete requirements on badge work.

Seven girls and one adult were welcomed into Girl Scouting and Troop 45. Four Patrol Officers were installed and girls received a total of 100 badges. After the ceremony was over, everyone enjoyed refreshments of coffee or and cookies which the girls made themselves.

SUITABLE SEASON

A useful way to spend time when cold weather the family indoors is the version of dingy, little areas into bright rooms with wood paneling. Modern terms of Southern Pine adapted to this form of paneling since they can be applied directly to existing walls in full floor-to-ceiling panels. There is a slight spacing between panels so that their thickness is visible.

ward to live by one's principle is always easier than to live by temptation and be deceived.

words sound familiar to them and heard them and heard them.

who says it is difficult to live by principle does not understand his own mind. For living by principle is the easiest task of all.

... a principle? It is the unchanging fact of life that recognizes the principle of living by principle. It is not realistic to obtain what you want in life without a principle. So you must follow in order to get what you want.

... thought out your own principle for yourself. It is fully consistent with the real world as it is. Your goals in life, in living by them is not very hard to do, because you are unwilling to accept the consequences of violating your principle.

... is it wrong to live by a principle? A man has determined that it is wrong to live by a principle. For he knows that to violate this principle is to disrespect of other people.

... other hand, if he finds it to be honest, it simply has never FULLY understood the consequences of that would apply in his life.

... liveable, a principle consistent with the real world. For example, the principle of complete honesty would be impossible to live by. Anyone who attempts to live by this principle will inevitably find himself in a state of frustration.

... because the "principle" of honesty is not realistic. Every man lives by a principle and what he feels is the principle that will take you to those goals.

... To live by those principles is always easier than rejecting them — if the principles are consistent with your understanding of life itself.

... What are YOUR principles? Draw up your guideposts and live by them.

Let's Go Fishin'
BY BOB BREWSTER
Outdoor Editor, Mercury Outboards

KEEP MOVING

The old paraphrased idea that "fish are where you find 'em" has been worked to death. Most folks agree with the adage; many promptly ignore it once they get in a boat. When you see a guy flailing the same area for a long period without any encouragement by the fish, you're witnessing neglect-ang's basic tenet.

Instead of waiting for fish to come to you, go looking for them, urges the fishing department at Mercury Outboards. Fish are not evenly distributed throughout a lake or river, they note, and time spent looking pays off better than just a sittin'.

While trolling is usually the best all-around fish-finder, other techniques may be equally good ... depending on season, waters and species.

If you're a casting man, work the points for bass during the day, hopping to the next one down the shoreline when the first fails to produce after being explored. At night, work these same points again, but also probe back into the coves.

For white bass, alias sandies or barfish, crank up the outboard and literally go looking. Cruise along at a good clip until you find a school creating mayhem with shad on the surface. Cut the motor and cast right into the middle of the activity.

Dry fly fishermen look for surface boils; muskie addicts look for weeds; crappie fans troll deep to discover hidden brush. Even on the vastness of the ocean, coastal charter skipper keep their eyes "peeled" for circling gulls working over a school of bait — game fish are nearby.

Keep moving, repeat the Mercury folks. Keep your attention glued for the telltale signs that indicate likely fish hangouts. Then fish.

Lookin's the key to much fishin'.

President Cleveland suffered from cancer of the mouth during his second term of office.

live by yours—then you should seriously consider adopting THEIR principles. For there is something wrong with yours.

"Living by principle" means to take the time to think out your life, to determine your highest goals, and to formulate principles that will take you to those goals.

To live by those principles is always easier than rejecting them — if the principles are consistent with your understanding of life itself.

What are YOUR principles? Draw up your guideposts and live by them.

News From The County Agent

A vegetable meeting will be held in the County Court room in the Court House in Wichita Falls on December 2nd. The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. John Larsen, vegetable specialist from A. and M. University, will discuss vegetable production and growing greenhouse tomatoes. Dr. Gordon Powell, will discuss marketing. This meeting is sponsored by the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce and the Extension Service. The general public is invited to attend.

ued for their 1966, 1967 and 1968 crops.

The county agent pointed out that two-thirds of the voting farmers most favor marketing quotas to make them effective.

Because of the importance of these referendums, Haws urges all eligible producers to cast a vote.

He further suggests to producers that they visit the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office for complete details on what is involved. Local and county ASC committeemen can also supply information on the referendum, he adds.

The major element phosphorus is required by all plants. With the possible exception of nitrogen, no other element is as critical in the growth of plants as is phosphorus, explains county agent B. T. Haws.

Analyses of hundreds of soil samples by the Texas A and M University soil testing laboratories reveal that available soil phosphorus is seldom adequate for crop needs in many regions of Texas.

Phosphorus is an essential element for plants growth and metabolism. It functions in every living cell. As plants mature, most of the phosphorus moves into seeds and fruits.

Phosphorus is associated with several vital functions in plants and is responsible for several plant growth. Some of the things done by phosphorus are:

- It determines flowering and fruiting; hastens maturity (important in wet or dry season);
- increase disease resistance; improves resistance to drought and cold temperature; encourages early spring growth; strengthens stalk and straw; improves seedling vigor; improves forage quality, thus improves animal performance; increase yields; improves palatability of forages and vegetables and balances other plant nutrients.

An impressive list of chores. It pays to follow the soil test recommendation on phosphorus, concludes Haws.

Hurricane Safety

If you are planning to build a vacation home on an ocean-shore or gulfshore locale, you should consider the safety features of wood-pole-frame construction.

Wood poles, pressure treated with chemical preservatives, are imbedded directly in the sand with the house built around their upper extremities. According to the Southern Pine Association, the arrangement affords important protection against hurricanes.

When the poles extend to the roof, the house has added strength against wind damage. Since the base of the house is elevated well above the beach, the dwelling is protected from the direct impact of tidal waves

Burkburnett F.H.A. Have Recent Meet

The Burkburnett Chapter of F.H.A. met Monday, November 22, 1965 at 7:00 p.m. in the Home - Economic Department. This was a general meeting. The girls sold their F.H.A. candy in a week. Next they will be selling cookbooks, but there is not a definite date yet. The money made by the group projects will go towards adopting an orphan overseas. All girls were asked to bring two Christmas cards, envelopes and stamps to send to the servicemen in Viet Nam, and to give to the State Hospital in Wichita Falls. The girls made plans for a billboard to be erected for National F.H.A. Week, which is March 27, to April 4. Plans were made for a style show of garments made by the F.H.A. girls, to be held in the spring. The F.H.A. Beau was chosen. He is Wally Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace R. Robinson, 502 Hilltop Circle. The devotional was given by Kathy Reed. Refreshments were served by Evelyn Fletcher, Genny Mayberry, Kathy Reed and Judy Owens.

Manager Named At Underwood's

Barry Featheringill has been named manager of the recently opened Underwood's Cafeteria in Burkburnett. Barry is familiar with all phases of the Underwood operation, and has been a manager trainee for the past seven months. "A one man art show is being held in connection with our opening," Barry stated in an interview this week. "So come on out to Parker Plaza and enjoy a delicious Bar-B-Q meal and view the work of artist Dan Wallace of Archer City."

Band Rated At Contest Nov. 16

The Burkburnett high school band received a division II in Interscholastic League, Region II, marching competition held at Texas Christian University stadium, Fort Worth, Texas, November 16.

Bands are rated individually and are not in competition with one another. Rating are: I, superior; II, excellent; and III, good.

Division II was the highest rating given in Class AAA.

The twirling quintet, which consisted of Clyette Cox, Barbara Koenig, Treva Ladd, Candy Logan and Kathy Robinson, received a second division rating. Joyce Harrison received a second division with her twirling solo, and Treva Ladd received a first division solo rating.

Convicts Speak In Assembly

"Becoming a criminal is not an accident, but it is a sociological pattern," stated one of the four convicts who spoke in the assembly Wednesday, November 3.

The four young men were serving terms totaling two hundred seventy-nine years. Each told the story of his life and the events which led to his being given a prison term.

Vernon Stewart, state representative, introduced the program and after its conclusion asked students to consider the possibility of the existence of patterns in their lives similar to those of the speakers. He concluded with the advice, "Do not make the same mistakes as those made by the young men who have spoken to you."

Heavenly Rice Is Cool Perfection

How delectable! That's what they say when they spoon into this refreshing, cloud-light rice dessert. The chief difference between this sophisticated treat and its simpler cousin—rice pudding—is that golden pineapple preserves have been added. A chilled dessert, no baking is necessary. The fruit-rich, slightly tart pineapple preserves is a most satisfying accent to the bland flavors of rice, marshmallow and banana folded into a fluff of whipped cream. Easy to create, it suits parties large or small; its chilly richness is memorable as a coffee sweet or as the perfect finale to a feast. It is a favorite of all ages, too—pretty enough for adult parties, nutritious and pleasing to the young ones.

Heavenly Rice

- 2 cups cooked rice
 - 1 cup pineapple preserves
 - 1 cup miniature marshmallows
 - 1 ripe banana, sliced
 - 2 tablespoons lemon juice
 - 1 cup heavy cream, whipped
- Prepare rice according to package directions. Combine rice, preserves and marshmallows, and mix well. Sprinkle banana slices with lemon juice and add to rice mixture; cool. Fold in whipped cream and chill. Makes six servings.
