Council Sets City Election Date As Tuesday, April 3

Tuesday, April 3, was set as 1962 City election date by City Council Monday night in its regular monthly meeting in City Hall. "It is a job where people can contribute to their City and I think we all ought to look in to this, actively encouraging others to run for the offices." Robinson led the ticket in the 1960 election. Candidates for the 3 Council seats must file with Robinson before the deadline. 1921 STUDY CLUB

"Sacred Music" Is Topic For Study Club Program

Theme for the recent meeting of the 1921 Study Club here was "Sacred Music."

The meeting was in the home of Mrs. Charles L. Root Sr., leader for the meeting was Mrs. P. K. Mackey.

Roll call was answered by each member naming a hymn of praise. As each hymn was named, Mrs. W. R. Martin played one stanza of the hymn. The meeting was opened with Mrs. W. W. Rhode leading in prayer.

Mrs. J. S. Craddock Sr. served as secretary in the absence of Mrs. A. O. Hickman. She presented the Mitchell County Federation of Clubs report.

Mrs. R. P. Price, club president, appointed Mrs. Craddock to represent the club on the committee of the Mitchell County Federation of Clubs to select the outstanding club woman, mother and teacher of the year in the Mesquite District.

Members voted to contribute to a gift fund for the retiring president of District VI, Mrs. John P. Ward. They also voted to purchase flowers for Mrs. A. O. Hickman, who is hospitalized.

Mrs. Price instructed Mrs. Lee Lavender, corresponding secretary, to write letters to congressmen and senators, urging that they vote against the raising of postal rates for educational and child training magazines.

The program that was presented by Mrs. W. R. Martin and Mrs. W. C. Hooks was on "Sacred Music."

"Music Is Medicine" was the program title presented by Mrs. W. R. Martin.

She said music is the "universal language." It has often been described as a "psychological tonic" also.

"At times," Mrs. Martin said, "music is a more potent medicine than the spoken word. In a darkened room where tears are falling and good-byes are being said, music speaks a language all its own. It soothes and heals as nothing else can.

"The church should have a definite share in the larger ministry of music. Will she use her rich heritage of psalms and hymns and spiritual songs and melody in the heart? She has the potential to bring assurance to the wavering, comfort to the sorrowing, hope to the hopeless and healing to the brokenhearted.

"Music also has therapeutic value in homes for the aged. It can cause the octogenarian to bray up his ears and pick up his feet while he comes prancing down the home stretch.

First Baptist's T. E. L. Class Has Luncheon

The T. E. L. Class of First Baptist Church met for a covered-dish luncheon Monday in the home of Mrs. Bronson Gregory.

The meal was served buffet style from a table covered with a cloth decorated with red hearts and centered with a big birthday cake decorated with a valentine motif. The cake was served from a milk glass stand.

A business session followed the luncheon. Mrs. John Colson opened the session with prayer. Mrs. Paul Cooper presented the devotion. The meeting was closed with the Mizpah.

"Those present at the meeting were:

Mmes. Lottie Wilson, Carl James, Colson, Cooper, D. K. Galey, Tom Johnson, C. C. Pickett, Jules Henderson, Maude Charters and E. L. Henderson.

like the mettlesome two year old that he isn't.

"In the field of rehabilitation, also, music has a legitimate place. Much research will be necessary, however, to arrive at the definite evaluation of all that music has to offer.

"You may live to see the day when physicians, physiotherapists, psychologists, physical therapists and musicians will plan a course of training that will eventually graduate a group of accredited music therapists in whose hands many illnesses may receive amelioration or cure."

"At present we recognize music as a fine art. Who knows but that in the future it will qualify as an honored member of the growing group of sciences?"

Mrs. W. C. Hooks presented "Music Versus Worship" as her part of the program.

Mrs. Hooks said, "The statement, 'Music is an art to worship,' is an attempt to answer the question as to what the function or purpose of music in worship is. Music is in no way essential to worship, but is merely a helpful addition.

Ordinarily, music in itself cannot constitute an adequate act of worship.

"The statement, 'Music in worship should never call attention to itself, but rather direct the worshiper's attention to God,' is often translated as meaning that music in the church must be impersonal, undramatic, strange, unfamiliar and evoke a sense of unreality and remoteness from the world in order to prevent the drawing of attention to itself."

Mrs. Hooks closed by saying, "The background of the congregation, their mode of life, their social status and their cultural interests are to be considered in the selection of music in worship."

Book Review Presented By Mrs. Brand

"The Land of Eldorado" was the title of the book reviewed by Mrs. John Brand at the meeting last week of the First Presbyterian Church. The book told of the resources and the beauty of the country of Mexico.

"Most of the resources of the country are undeveloped," Mrs. Brand stated. "And most of the people live in privation and poverty."

Mrs. Brand also told of the work being done in Mexico by the Protestant missionaries. She told of the hospitals and schools that had been established and of the work of the agricultural missionaries.

Mrs. Frank Ginzel, president presided over the meeting. Opening prayer was led by Mrs. A. H. Dolman, who also read a selection from the Bible. This selection was on the sending out of the 70 disciples.

Program leader, Mrs. E. M. Owen, read a letter from Dr. T. Watson Street, chairman of the World Missions. The letter was written to remind the members of the World Mission Season and of the great need for workers in the missionary field.

A letter from Mrs. Swartzburg of Big Spring, presbytery chairman, was also read. Mrs. Swartzburg told of the children of missionaries who are in school in the United States. She suggested that the church women send them either cards or letters. She stated in her letter that 3 duffel bags of clothing had been shipped to the church World Service Center in St. Louis, Mo.

An offering for world missions will be taken during the church's Week of Prayer.

At the close of the meeting, Miss Nellie Riordan expressed the thanks of Mrs. Jerald Riordan and herself for the love and courtesies extended them in their recent bereavement.

The meeting was closed with the Mezzetto benediction.

BY MMES. LANE AND ALBRIGHT

Two-Part Club Program Is Presented At Meeting

A program in 2 parts was presented to the meeting recently of the Hesperian Daughters Study Club. Subject for the meeting was "Africa."

The club met in the home of Mrs. Joe Lane. Mrs. Lane and Mrs. Ace McShan presented the 2-part program.

The meeting was opened with Mrs. Don Allbright leading the club collect. The members voted to assist Mitchell County Museum in their financial programs.

Mrs. McShan's part of the program was entitled "Tales From A Troubled Land." Her studies were centered around Alan Stewart Patton, the celebrated novelist.

"Patton was born January 11, 1903 in South Africa of English parents and his family was one of the early settlers in South Africa," Mrs. McShan began.

Patton grew up and attended school in his home province. After his graduation from college, he taught in the country village of Ixopo, where he met and married Doris Francis. They had 2 sons, David and Jonathan.

In 1948, when "Cry, The Beloved Country" was first published, the name Alan Patton became world renown in the field of literature as well as of humanities.

"In 1935," Mrs. McShan continued, "he started a new chapter in his life — he was appointed principal of the Diepkloof Reformatory near Johannesburg. Because of his outspoken criticism of current policies there, his passport was recently revoked in an effort to stifle this voice of protest."

In closing, Mrs. McShan stated, "In his book, 'Tales From A Troubled Land,' Patton shows that he is one of the most dedicated humanists of our day. Whatever the mood is, from love to despair, hope to sadness, even violence and horror, these tales demonstrate the deep compassion and insight with which Patton views the troubles which have beset his beloved country South Africa."

Mrs. Lane presented "The United States And The New Africa" as her part of the program.

She began her program by saying, "Africa might be compared with an overgrown infant. In many ways it is new, untrained, undisciplined, loud-mouthed, spoiled, nerve-racking, innocent, cuddly, loveable and interesting. In other ways it is like a very old man — scarred by years of life under many rulers, exploited, cheated, degenerate, wise, unhappy and primitive."

"The United States was first in contact with Africa long before we were, actually, a United States. People leaving Europe in the 15th and 16th centuries and even later to escape religious and political oppressions took roughly 2 routes. Some came here, others went to Africa."

"It has only been since World War I that we have begun to be interested in Africa as a unit of nations," Mrs. Lane continued. "Now we find ourselves in a ludicrous situation where Africa is concerned. Here are new nations fighting for their independence against England, France, Spain, the Netherlands and Belgium. As a country which fought some of the same powers for the same purpose two centuries ago, we feel a certain brotherhood and sympathy for them. Can we be completely on the side of the African nations and ignore our wartime allies? Where are we to stand?"

Mrs. McLane closed her program with the statement: "That Africa needs our aid is an accepted fact. We have given many millions of dollars of aid for relief, for military supplies and for engineering projects. The most important need, however, is the need for acceptance and understanding between the United States and the New Africa. For only with this can a lasting friendship be built."

A dessert plate was served by the hostess to Mmes. Albright, Warren Costin, Curtis Erwin, A. L. Geer, E. V. Grantland, Willis A. Jones, Lester Manner, McShan, Lawrence Rudd, V. E. Stone and John Worrell.

"West Texas writers, poets and composers."

Program for the meeting consisted of a book review presented by Mrs. Witt Hines. She reviewed the book, "The Story of '80' John Wallace," Mrs. Hettie Wallace Branch, daughter of '80' John Wallace and author of the book was special guest.

The book tells of Wallace's life from his birth in the year 1860 to his death in 1939. He was born to a slave and tied the owner of 12½ sections of land, 600 head of cattle, a modern 8-room house, barns, lots and corrals. He was a highly respected member of the community, whose advice was keenly solicited by his white neighbors in Loraine, Texas.

"The extent of Wallace's accomplishments," Mrs. Hines stated, "is heightened by the fact that he was a Negro living in the Southwest. He was a true pioneer of the West, in the literal sense. He began drawing wages as a cowboy at the age of 15. When he was 17, he made a 400-mile ride alone from Victoria, through Indian country, to the corner of Runnels and Taylor Counties, to what is now the town of Buffalo Gap."

In the review, Mrs. Hines told of the various cattle outfits for which Wallace worked, and the high respect and trust he gained from all his employers.

The story of '80' John tells how, in 1885, he began to put his savings into land and cattle and became a highly respected cattleman of the Southwest.

"In these troubled days of racial controversy," Mrs. Hines said in closing, "the story of '80' John Wallace becomes an all the more important source of inspiration."

In the short business session, Linda Chesney was chosen to represent the club in the 1962 "Tumbleweed Queen" contest.

Guests at the meeting included Mrs. Branch, Mrs. Minnie Floyd and Mrs. Charles C. Miller of Snyder. Members present were: Mmes. Arthur Barry, Halbert, J. E. Hale, Hines, Otto Jones, Raymond Perdue, J. A. Sadler, Bennett Scott, O. L. Simpson, Smith, F. N. Thomas, Thompson, Watson, J. D. White, E. H. Winn, S. O. Wulf.

Office Seekers, Campaigners Prepare for S. C. Elections for the candidates. A motto that CHS students are going to be familiar with when the annual Student Council elections are held, President Jimmy Costin has set election date as March 2.

Discussed at the meeting February 6, were the qualifications for candidacy. Anyone running for office must have the signature of 25 persons, plus the signatures of three teachers. These new officers must be elected right away, according to Jimmy, so they can attend the state convention.

Money-making projects were discussed also. Those suggested were midnight shows, basketball games, book cover sales, car stickers, talent shows, and car washes. Parliamentary days such as Western Day, Kid's Day, Color Day, Beatnik Day, Faculty Student Exchange Day, Day of Tomorrow, and Roaring '20' Day. The final participation day will be decided by the Student Council. Different projects suggested were more assemblies, tutor system, scholarship letters, high school lunchroom, foreign exchange student, fund for the needy, locker checks, radio programs, and the publication of a student handbook. These projects are before the Student Council for discussion, and after consideration, decisions will be made.

Mr. Findley, Jimmy Costin, and the new officers will journey to the state convention March 29-31.

Journalism I Students
We all think of ourselves as being pretty independent. But stop to ponder for a moment. Are we really? To be "in", we use the same language, act the same way, dress the same.

This can be said of senior high students. A certain attitude is required in a certain phase of "growing up". Psychologists say, when teenagers want to be just like their parents, but think of the things you have heard about the "beatnik" rat race, the eager young executive throwing away his own morals and ideals for success, the smiling "go-man. Were these men who are common examples of our society once "a part of the crowd", conforming teenagers? The world is never too small for you! An individual with a new idea, a different look, this is worth thinking about.

Are you a conformer? This is a question that deserves some good thought. Have you established your goal in life? If so, are you trying to achieve it, and if not, are you planning to? We were put on earth for a reason, and it is up to us to find that reason and to achieve a goal. You owe it to yourself to set a goal and do your best to reach it. What you do in school will determine a great deal what you do in your later life.

Last week several juniors were caught in the wrong locker. Students changed lockers, preferably boys to form a "stag row". They were successful in doing so until last week when a new student went to her assigned locker and was confronted with someone else's books. These students were called to the office to change their assigned locker numbers to the ones they were occupying at the time. Everything turned out all right, and the junior boys were well on their "stag row".

Various meetings are carried on in a manner which no one could find his line. Students are respectful of their teachers, and there are fewer people being sent to the office. Our school is a very well behaved one.

Do you think of rebellion? This is a question that deserves some good thought. Have you established your goal in life? If so, are you trying to achieve it, and if not, are you planning to? We were put on earth for a reason, and it is up to us to find that reason and to achieve a goal. You owe it to yourself to set a goal and do your best to reach it. What you do in school will determine a great deal what you do in your later life.

Wolves Win First Game; Whip Snyder

Colorado Wolves won their first district ball game from Snyder-Tigers 39-36 before a packed gym in Colorado City Tuesday night.

Fans filled both stands to see the old rivalry between the Wolves and the Tigers renewed in a bitter contest.

Wolves jumped to a quick but narrow lead as the game began, but Snyder tied it up as quickly. Although the Tigers were never in the lead, they hotly contested the Wolves all the way. First quarter ended in a 12-12 deadlock.

A tight defensive battle began as the Wolves scored only 3 points to the Tigers' 2. First half ended 15-14, for Wolves.

The second half began slowly, but soon progressed into a heated contest. Wolves tipped the nets for 7 quick points while the Tigers had 6.

To the Wolf fans the last quarter seemed to be most pressing. Snyder stayed on the locals' trail to the end. Time ran out and the Wolves proved themselves the victors. Ronald Lyon rank one of two free throws to make the score 39-36.

Steve Hillhouse paced the Wolves with 17 points; Larry Oliver, 13; Bobby Nobles, 4; Ronald Lyon, 3; and Mike Hart, 2.

The Wolves' squad all played a fine defensive ball game as well as offensive.

The Snyder B team wallpopped the Wolves' B team, 63-27.

73% Enrolled in Math Study

Out of 266 students in high school seventy-three per cent of CHS students are enrolled in Algebra II, plane geometry, or trigonometry.

When asked why there is such a large percent taking math courses Wesley Collier said, "This is just another example of the importance of mathematics in every day life."

PLANE GEOMETRY
Plane geometry classes are studying problems concerning circles, arch, and central angles of circles. Mr. Collier is the instructor.

ALGEBRA
Algebra II classes have been divided into three groups according to their abilities. Steve Stephens reported. The first group is studying theory and systems of quadratic equations; second group ratio, proportions, and variations.

TRIGONOMETRY
Collier's trigonometry class is starting to study functions of twice angles and half angles.

Howl Spotlights Lee Schafer, Carol Ellis Talented Leaders Work for Junior Class

With California as the site for his future home, Lee preers a ranch style house with a modest swimming pool... not overlooking the ocean or a cliff as one might suspect, out in the suburbs. "I don't want to be rich," he says with a smile, "and besides I could't be, anyway, if I were a coach!"

Next, intelligent Carol Ellis finds many widely varied activities to fill her spare moments.

Carol enjoys being entertained by her parakeet Dwyer. This greenblue yellow bird amuses Carol with his antics as he tries to play cards with her. She likes to play militaire and double "sol" with her mother.

Carol's most interesting present was the one she received on her tenth birthday. It was a trip to the western states. The family visited Montana, Washington, Oregon, Pacific beach area of California, Grand Teton Mountains, Yosemite and Yellowstone National parks. Carol would like very much to visit the Isle of Capri and Hawaii.

Her greatest ambition is to live in the deep South in an old plantation mansion. She plans to be a first grade teacher after she graduates from Abilene Christian College. She says she enjoys her nephews who are that age.

Carol makes 'A's in all her subjects. She is a member of F.T.A., Concert Choir, and is Wolverine business manager. She also is a member of a girls' club which entertains many local organizations. She finds time for these activities while being very active in her church. Fifth and Elm Street Church of Christ.

Carol finds with traditional feelings that girls should be feminine and boys should be masculine. She admires friend-

Slave Day, an annual event for CHS, will be held on March 6 and 7. Juniors will be auctioned off March 6, and ownership will be taken effect on March 7.

Extras will be added to the auction. A new innovation this year is the following: if there is a certain junior student some one wishes to buy, he will sign his name to a sheet of paper along with the student he wishes to purchase, and put this paper in the box. They may be sure that that student will be for sale.

In order to have a larger sale, the junior class is charging one dollar to all students who do not wish to be sold. The hours that the sale will be in effect are from 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. on March 7.

The owners should not be too lenient to make Mrs. Gordon's job out. Two of those will result in an "F" on a college theme.

The meeting was a Public Affairs Tea and was in the Annex of the First Baptist Church.

Miss Hawkins, who had earlier spoken for the Loraine Lions Club, has long been active in federated club work and has been service representative for West Texas Utilities for 15 years. She has presented programs to clubs in 108 or more West Texas towns.

Her programs have been centered around her major interests, constitutional government, conservation of natural resources, traffic safety and community improvement. Her work in these fields has led to national recognition.

Miss Hawkins' father was an associate justice of the Supreme Court and she grew up in the midst of state government in Austin.

Committee members of the Loraine Club who were appointed to make arrangements for the tea were: Registration, Mrs. Jim Johnson and Mrs. J. W. Kling; Invitations, Mrs. Lily Bennett and Mrs. Floyd Coffey; Arrangements, Mrs. Hubert Meadows and Mrs. Thomas Riden; Tables, Mrs. Hal Bennett and Mrs. W. M. Toppers; Serving, Mrs. Woodrow Pratt, Mrs. J. V. Terry and Mrs. J. C. Hall.

Mrs. B. Johnson introduced club officers and out-of-town guests. Mrs. Forest Meadows led the group in prayer. Those present sang "America The Beautiful" and repeated the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag.

Mrs. J. Johnson announced that Mrs. Cora Johnson had been elected as candidate of the Mother of the Year contest at the Mesquite District convention in Sweetwater in March.

Mrs. H. Bennett introduced the speaker. Her topic was "Public Affairs."

Mrs. Hall served hot tea, coffee, milk, nuts and cookies to those present.

HOME TOWN

Talk

By PEGGY BELVIN

HELD IN PRISTINE by those in the older-age bracket are those who are fondly known as "SMILEY DIPPIERS."

They live each day with the highlight of each half-hour being the gingerly placed pinch of snuff under the tongue, or, "now more to come," snuffing it into the nostrils. Though we smile, actually it may not be known by everyone, we wonder how many who have gone through childhood around an "old timer" have "tried" the product. Probably with the somewhat uncomfortable results usually.

This "old timer" tobacco packs a lot of wallop. How such frail-looking "old-timers" can enjoy the pleasures of one of this world's most ominous questions to many.

ONE OF THE leading brands comes packaged in glass bottles with small round dots on the bottom.

These dots are put there for no apparent reason, but those who use the product have a very different opinion.

MRS. H. BECK THOMAS, co-owner of THOMAS FOOD STORE in Loraine, has had many transactions with the users of the product. The people who buy and use the product believe that the number of dots on the bottom of the tin determines the strength of the contents. The more dots, the stronger the mixture, she says.

Mrs. Thomas has checked every aspect of the case, and reports there is absolutely no difference in the blends.

But if a store should be out of the product in a jar with a certain number of dots, no snuff is purchased until the stock is replenished.

What size Chevrolet do you want to save money on?

CHEVROLET IMPALA Room, refinement and riding comfort. Foreground, the Impala Sport Sedan.

CORVAIR MONZA Sports Car, spice without a sports car price. At rear is the Monza Club Coupe.

CHEVY II NOVA The frisky family-sized Chevrolet with a low, low price tag. Above right, Nova Sport Coupe.

Like your driving sporty, with quicksilver steering, flat-as-a-pancake cornering, sure-footed traction? Then a Corvair Monza's for you.

Or maybe the new-size Chevy II is more to your liking. Built for big families and still slips neatly into small parking places. And, with this, the kind of ingenious engineering (new easy-riding Mono-Plate rear springs, for example) that won this year's coveted Car Life Magazine Award for Engineering Excellence. But say you want to go all out—to get the full treatment in space, spirit and splendor. Then there's nothing like a Jet-smooth Chevrolet. Makes paying more pointless.

So size 'em up—then save it up—at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Chavarria Enters Plea Of Guilty

Richard Chavarria, 18, was sentenced from 2 to 3 years in the State Penitentiary in Huntsville here Wednesday for the Jan. 13 burglary of Snack Shack, 200 block of Walnut.

Chavarria, who was indicted here last week by the Mitchell County Grand Jury on the charge of burglary, entered a plea of guilty before 32nd District Judge Eldon Mahon.

The Colorado City native had a 3-year suspended sentence revoked in Howard County last week and on a similar charge of burglary. He had served out 1 year of the suspended sentence before it was revoked.

Chavarria admitted on the stand Wednesday he had entered the Snack Shack on the night of Jan. 13 by forcing the back door with a "piece of iron."

He also said he used a screwdriver found in the business establishment to force his way into a juke box and cigarette machine inside he covered the screwdriver with towels in an effort not to leave fingerprints, he said.

He said he took $8 to $70 from the juke box, $15 to $20 from the cigarette machine, 18 to 20 packages of cigarettes from the machine, a box of cigars from the counter and 50 or 60 pennies he found in a box.

Don Butler, Court appointed attorney, represented Chavarria.

District Attorney Weldon Kirk called Mitchell County Sheriff Lewis Claxton and Snack Shack owner Mrs. J. A. Annie Mae Brown to the stand. Chavarria was the only defense witness.

Chavarria waived trial by jury.

there is any way to avoid objections, I'd like to find it tonight," said Clancy. He also said Standard had approximately 22,000 acres north and 10,000 acres southwest and 4,000 farther over already leased.

"We have just about everything north of it leased now and are dicker with those east of it," he also said.

"We don't want to discourage them," said Majors.

"If we were gamblers, I'd say not to lease it," noted Carver.

Council decided to postpone action but, nevertheless, to go ahead with necessary bid publication to speed action on the 40 acres.

Carver, Majors, City Manager Earl Keaton, Weaver, Robinson and Harkins went into a closed meeting with attorneys John Worrell, City Attorney, and Charlie Griggs of Sweetwater in Keaton's office before the regular meeting.

Griggs has been engaged by the City to aid Worrell in fighting 2 damage suits now pending against the City. The 2 suits, one brought by a former City employe alleging injuries and another brought by a farm couple alleging damages from a nearby dump ground operated by the City, were discussed, reported Keaton.

The attorneys outlined several courses of action available to the City in regard to the damage suits," said Keaton, "and were instructed by the Council what steps to take."

New Third Class Rules
For Mailing

A new postal ruling makes an almost total change in the handling of third class mail reports Colorado City Postmaster Arlene Morris.

The change will be of particular interest to printers and salesmen of both office stationery and office supplies, reports Morris, along with all other businessmen and private citizens who make use of third class mail.

The old requests of "Form 3547 Requested" and "Forwarding Postage Guaranteed" and "Return Postage Guaranteed" are now obsolete and should not be printed on future printings and mailings, he says.

A customer may have "Return Requested" printed on his third class mailing in this manner:

Jones & Jones
2222 E. 25th St.
Colorado City, Texas
Return Requested:

In the event the addressee has moved either locally or out of town, says Morris, third class mail endorsed "Return Requested" will be returned to the sender with the addressee's correct address on each piece of mail. The fee for this service is 8c per piece payable on the return of the mail.

All other third class mail subject to forwarding locally or otherwise, that is without the current mailing address of the addressee is destroyed, Morris concludes.

To Attend Board Meet

Mr. Henry Lewis, Colorado City accountant, is a member of the Lubbock Christian College Advisory and Development Board that will meet in Lubbock at 11 a. m. Tuesday, Feb. 20.

Lewis operates Lewis Tax Service, 258 Walnut St. He lives at 1232 Vine St.

Meeting with the Board of Trustees, the Advisory Board will discuss the progress of the Christian liberal arts junior college, now in its fifth year of operation. The annual joint meeting is held in connection with the Bible Lectureship, which each year attracts a large number of visitors to the campus. Dates for the 4-day Lectureship are Feb. 18-22.

LCC has enjoyed 5 consecutive record enrollments, and it is now the largest non-tax supported junior college in Texas. Enrollment for the second semester reached 400, a record enrollment for the spring session.

Presently under construction are the first permanent men's dormitory and a giant field house, which, when completed, will be the largest in the Southwest. An additional wing to double the capacity of the women's dormitory is being planned.

As an Advisory Board member, Lewis represents LCC by contacting prospective students, by keeping potential donors informed about the college's progress, and by attending Advisory Board meetings.

PONIES CHAMPS; SEASON ENDS

Chiefs Seal Wolves in Cellar of District 3-AAA

Lake View's Chiefs up-ended Colorado City's Wolves, 49-43, Tuesday night to rock the Wolves into the District 3-AAA cellar.

The game, the last in the season for both teams, left the Wolves of Coach Caddo Matthews in last place in the final district standings with a 17-10 record. The Chiefs came in fourth in the 5-team race with a 2-6 mark.

The Wolves' only district victory of the year came here at the expense of Snyder's Tigers, 38-36, last week.

But the Lake View win in San Angelo wasn't the surprise of the night in District 3-AAA as the regular season ended — Sweetwater's Mustangs upset the defending champion Lamesa Golden Tornadoes, 65-51. The Ponies triumph ended a 2-year Lamesa reign that included the state AAA championship 3 years ago — in 1960.

The Chiefs, playing on their home court in San Angelo, beat the Wolves for the second time this season with a potent second half surge that sent the Wolves reeling. Although the Chiefs had beaten the Wolves earlier in the year, the locals were still rated the favorite in the contest — thus the upset.

The score was only 1-point away from a tie, with Lake View leading 25-24 at the half. Before Probst and Brasher went on a third period scoring rampage that knocked the Wolves to defeat.

Lake View had only a 3-point lead, at 12-9 at the end of the first stanza as the Wolves continued to play ball control.

the Wolves in the wild third quarter with 4 field goals and 8 points — but it just wasn't enough. Lake View had Steve Hillhouse, the Wolves' leading scorer, in check that frame and held him to only 1 point. Hillhouse failed to muster even 1 point the final quarter.

Hairston led the Wolves with 13 points on 6 field goals and 1 charity toss. Hillhouse's 11 was next for the Wolves and he got 10 of those in the first half on 3 field goals and 4-of-5 from the free throw line.

The game was the final basketball action of their lives for 5 Wolf seniors in the Red and Black. Ending their Wolf careers were Hillhouse, Larry Oliver, Bobby Nobles, Ken Stinson and Jimmy Womack.

Remaining are 5 varsity members of 1962 for Matthews to build his 1963 hopes around. They are junior Mike Hart, junior Cleve Moore, junior Hairston, junior Larry Hamner and sophomore Freddy Fox.

The Wolves' B-team, winner of only 1 game the entire season, lost a one-sided 55-35 decision to the Chiefs' B-squad. Darrell Sanders led the locals' B-team with 8 points — and Bill Boren, Dale Walker, and Larry Johnson all hit for 7 points. Blann led the winners with 10 points each.

Wildcats Lose To Lubbock Five, 76-48

Dunbar of Lubbock bombed Wallace's Wildcats, 76-48, Monday night — and the Wallace girls lost to Slaton, 34-28, to fall from contention for their district championship.

The Dunbar contest was a warmup for the state playoffs for the Cats and the higher classified Lubbock crew waltzed to the win in comparable ease.

The Cats, coached by W. D. Harris, opened play in the state playoffs at Prairie View College today (Thursday) against Commerce. The Cats are District 1 champions.

Leading the Lubbock school's scoring barrage — which dropped the Wildcats to only their fifth defeat in 26 games in the 1961-62 season — was C. Hawkins with 25 points.

Henry Burton led Wallace with 15 points. In other Cat scoring, Curtis Scott looped in 13, Jesse Burton scored 9, Frank Biggers sunk 8 and Oscar Amos accounted for 3.

WORTHWHILE . . .

No doubt, one of our big problems is finding time and resources to support all the programs we know are good.

Among those who make time to accomplish worthwhile things are the Band Boosters, who throughout the year give of themselves for the band music program and students within our schools.

They are busy again Friday night with their annual Variety Show . . . and your support will be worthwhile, too.

A Necessity: Crops of New Farmers

This is a year you don't have to remind the community that agriculture is a key foundation to our local economy and welfare.

Dollars and cents, the ring of cash registers have a way of awakening our appraisal and enthusiasm for a particular segment of our life.

But even in the wake of one of our most bountiful crop years, we miss a point if we don't look to the future of our community and its agricultural assets.

Therefore, any real appraisal of our agriculture today for the future must consider the training and inspiring of youth who will be the farmers and ranchers tomorrow.

One group specifically concerned with this realistic approach to agriculture's future is the Future Farmers of America, now with a chapter of 36 members in Colorado City High under the supervision of vocational agriculture instructor Benny Poyor.

Next week, Feb. 18-25, these Future Farmers observe the National FFA Week—an observance which comes every year during the week of the anniversary of George Washington's birthday. Washington, if you didn't already know, probably was America's first "scientific farmer" as he introduced contour farming, crop rotation, soil conservation methods and put to work in American agriculture technical data he obtained from agricultural scientists in England.

But the point is that our agriculture here at home or across the nation is an essential part of our life and welfare. It is our community's and our nation's largest single industry.

And we need a supply of new farmers every year just as we need new doctors, engineers, scientists. These must be men with experience and training, for farming and ranching today already requires a huge reservoir of knowledge and skills.

The number of young men on our farms is more than adequate to meet the needs of replacements, but not enough of those who enter farming have the educational background and the training that is necessary for success under modern conditions.

Future Farmers, in their annual observance here in Colorado City and across the county in Loraine and Westbrook, remind us of this problem for agriculture's solid future—and they point out the fact that our support should go to this program of theirs which is concerned with developing boys to be good farmers and ranchers and good citizens.

STATE CAPITOL NEWS

Candidates Flood Austin At the Deadline for Filing

BY VERN SANFORD Texas Press Association Candidates flooded the state capitol city as the filing deadline arrived. Politicians came to town to pay filing fees for state offices at both the state democratic headquarters and the republican camp.

Thousand dollar fees were paid in many ways: 1,000 $1 bills, 100 $10 bills, and varied contributions from friends of the candidates.

A former athlete brought a handful of ex-football stars along, to show that he had a sporting chance. There were very few surprises at the State Democratic Executive Committee.

Austin Attorney Bob Looney arrived at the last minute to join Tom James, Tom Reavley, Waggoner Carr, W. T. McDonald and Les Procter in the attorney general's race.

Keith Wheatley, 27-year-old Stamford oil operator, decided to oppose Railroad Commissioner Ben Ramsey in the May primary.

Both Looney and Wheatley plunked down their $1,000 fees by the Feb. 8 deadline.

Joe R. Pool, Dallas attorney, Charles H. Stevenson, Jr., of Nueces County and rancher Phil Willis of Kaufman County, made the same sort of financial transaction as candidates for congressman-at-large.

Houston businessman Robert W. Hervey and Mitchell County District Judge Eldon Mhaon forfeited their right to run for congressman-at-large when they failed to follow filing with payment of filing fees.

Indicative of the expected turnover in both House and Senate is the democratic line-up for lieutenant governor: Speaker of the House James A. Turman, Senators Preston Smith, Jarrard Secrest and Robert Baker, all are abandoning present posts to seek the state's second highest position.

Gene Smith of Fort Worth is the only nonlegislative candidate for lieutenant governor.

"Rebirth of the republican party in Texas" has been widely discussed. It was quite evident when filing time was over that considerable progress had been made. If the party wasn't reborn, it certainly was revitalized.

Breckenridge oilman Jack Cox—former democratic candidate for governor who announced for the GOP months ago—got 2 opponents at the count down. One was Amarillo rancher-publisher Roy Whittenburg, who polled 185,926 votes when he opposed Ralph Yarborough for the U. S. Senate in 1958.

The other was Harry Diehl, Houston factory representative, who was one of the 71 who ran for Lyndon Johnson's senate seat last year.

Republican line-up for house and senate seats is imposing. Fourteen republicans are campaigning for 10 of the 31 senate seats. And 74 republicans have filed for 70 of the 150 representative offices. Two already are members of the House. They are George Korkmas of Texas City and Kenneth Kohler of Amarillo. They seek reelection to offices they won in recent special elections.

FOOD SHORTAGE—Agriculture workers "frozen" from jobs by the recent freeze in the Valley caused a stir of activity in the commodity distribution division of the State Department of Public Welfare.

HEALTH AND SAFETY TIPS

Diphtheria Cases Increase Slightly

Following 2 decades of fairly steady decline, except for brief periods, diphtheria has shown a slight increase in the past 2 years.

In 1961 there were 209 cases of diphtheria in Texas compared to 239 cases in 1960 and only 163 cases in 1959. The same trend is followed in the death column of the disease.

Prior to 1960 there had been a steady decline in the number of fatalities in Texas attributable to diphtheria. In 1959 there were only 7.

However, the figure jumped to 20 deaths during 1960. The latest figures available for the first 9 months of 1961 indicate that there were 15 deaths through the end of September.

Two sad facts highlight these cases. First—most deaths occur among children under 9 years of age. Second—most cases, and almost all deaths, of diphtheria could be prevented by early immunization with diphtheria toxoid.

Texas outbreaks during the past 2 years have been characterized by the fact that the families involved had not been properly immunized or had received no protection whatsoever.

Diphtheria used to claim a high toll of victims years ago, and a higher percentage died.

After diphtheria immunization became fairly common, the incidence of the disease dropped off to the low figure in 1959.

Physicians generally inoculate infants with a combined triple vaccine composed of diphtheria and tetanus toxoids and pertussis vaccine ensuring protection against all three diseases.

Transmission is made by person-to-person contact with a patient or carrier or with articles soiled with discharges of such persons. The diphtheria organism is contained in discharges and secretions from mucous surfaces of the nose, pharynx and nasopharynx.

The disease strikes most often in the fall and winter months and complications involving the heart occasionally occur.

A physician should be consulted for further information about immunization.

TAYLOR - MADE

By RICK TAYLOR Record News Editor

THE SPACE ACE has returned to Colorado City as it does each year at this time and Taylor-Made and the rest of the kids have been out trying their hand at kite flying.

A vacant lot on the west side of the 1900 block Hickory St. is the "proving grounds" or Cape Canaveral of Taylor-Made's neighborhood.

And, of course, son Randy had to get into the act.

CARL WEBB, son of MR. AND MRS. BRICE C. WEBB, 1715 Locust St., put Randy into orbit.

First he was gracious enough to lend Randy his black, adorned with skull and crossbones no less, kite which was soon flying near the end of its 500-foot line... thanks to Randy's dropping the line several times.

Then came 30 minutes of Taylor-Made's time, and a sore arm, re-winding the line.

NUBBIN REDMAN, asked for assistance in constructing his kite... he had just minutes before kicked his first one to shreds after several failures... and, surprisingly enough, it flew after Taylor-Made's construction work that included several consultations with some of the attending "experts" on the subject.

WILD WITH success, Taylor-Made then made 30 ft Randy a kite of his own which hasn't flown yet.

Even, Carl, the Old Master couldn't get that kite (7) in to the air.

But then, they've had some failures at Cape Canaveral too.

SHINNERY PHILOSOPHER

Draw Second, But Shoot First

Editor's note: The Shinnery Philosopher on his Johnson Creek farm on Bone Hollow Creek discusses a new frontier in foreign relations, his letter this week reveals.

I got tired of working on a solution to the farm problem the other day and just to rest my mind shifted over to working on the problem of foreign relations.

This came about because I had just read that Castro reportedly is setting up some guided missile launching sites up in the mountains over there in Cuba and they're pointed at the United States, only 90 miles away, which is just about point-blank with one of those things.

Now here's our problem; up to now in international law, whatever that is, there has been nothing wrong in building guided missile launching sites. So long as Castro doesn't launch one of those missiles at us, we can't do anything. Our hands are tied. We have to sit around wondering if or when he's going to pull the trigger.

At this very point is where some heavy thinking needs to be applied, and I have come up with a new theory of international law. Well, it's not really new, it's based on the law of the West, which 150 million Americans who watch TV Westerns are familiar with.

This law says if a man starts to pull a gun on you and you hear him to the draw and shoot first, the United States Marshall's hands are tied. It was a clear case of self-defense, and any Marshall or Sheriff who tried to charge you with murder would be laughed out of the West.

Now the fine point about this code is that anybody can carry a gun, it's only when he goes for it that another man is entitled to fire first if he can manage it.

This brings up my contribution to foreign policy. All the United States has to do is to decide what stage in launching a guided missile corresponds to the moment when a gunslinger makes a play for his gun. The code of the West doesn't say you have to wait till the other man fires. No sir. You have to wait only till he starts for his gun, then you can go for yours and shoot him even before he gets his out of his launching pad. I mean holster, if you're fast enough, and the law is satisfied.

Right now, not having any guided missile launching sites on this Johnson Creek farm to study, I can't say exactly what point in the enterprise corresponds to the move toward a 45, but if some expert in the State Department will figure this out, Castro may not be as happy over his launching sites as he thought he'd be and it sure will make things more comfortable. What sort of a life could anybody have led in the old West if people were entitled to go around with their guns drawn, finger on the trigger, and pointed at somebody else? If you can't legitimately determine yourself before that point, you ain't got much chance. This is a point in Foreign Policy the experts ought to be working on a lot harder.

Yours faithfully, J. A.

"Drop Out"—A Tragic Epidemic

The "drop-out", the boy or girl who leaves school before graduation, is one of the nation's most costly and frustrating educational problems.

Educators, parents and civic leaders have sounded the alarm, but no one has come up yet with an effective solution—that will encourage our youngsters to return to the classroom once they have prematurely decided to leave it.

One city, Chicago, with a dropout rate of close to 40 per cent of students who enter high school, is making a head-on attack through an experimental school for youngsters aged 14 and older who are behind in school. To revive lagging interest in learning, it presents job-oriented subjects so each student may quickly learn employment skills, and local industry cooperates by providing part-time jobs which can lead to advancement for the student who learns his lessons.

A survey just completed by Ripon College, Ripon, Wis., indicates that the extracurricular costs of a so-called "free" high-school education prompt many students to forsake the classroom. More than 25 per cent of nearly 1,000 high school principals who participated in the survey ranked these costs among the top five causes of dropouts.

The study—underwritten as an educational service by a leading school supply firm—indicated that many students were "dollar" out of their education by the urge to "keep up" with pampered schoolmates. Autos, class rings, invitations, proms, sporting equipment, costly formal and other wardrobe, were often costing as much or more than the tuition charged by many private prep schools. Principals reported students paying as much as $500 to $1,000 for auto expenses and class trips.

The other major factors listed in the survey were lack of academic desire, lack of family interest, mental inability and low reading attainment.

It's obvious that there is no one single approach to this shocking national loss of talent and ability, but it is equally obvious that it is everybody's problem. As parents we can help enkindle and maintain the enthusiasm of our own children for school and the value of what they can learn there. As citizens we can investigate "drop-out" in our own school district, and support measures to put an end to it.

LOCAL BUSINESS

Preparation of Ads Necessary

By MARGE BELL, Record Staff Writer Frequently an advertisement in a small newspaper reads something like the following:

"See our selection of electric ranges. All priced to suit your pocketbook. Depend upon us for quality and good service."

And that may be all. The store includes no specific features of the products offered. No prices are listed. No special benefits to the consumer are listed.

Compare the above to an advertisement of a metropolitan department store: "Cook Your Creative Best On Roastright Range. Biscuits, pies and cakes come out golden brown, etc. Cleaning is easy. White porcelain finish wipes clean etc. Foods can't scorch or boil over."

The advertisement goes on to give detailed specifications of the range. The price is proudly displayed and terms of time payments shown. Wattage of heating units and details of automatic features are listed.

An advertisement of the latter type sells. It brings in customers with money ready to spend.

Local merchants could run such advertisements, but too few do. They have the merchandise; their prices are fair; their service facilities are certainly most convenient. And, in the local newspaper, they have a less expensive and more selective advertising medium than out-of-town competitors.

The preparation of complete advertising does take some time and effort. But for many retailers there could be a no more profitable investment.

The Hand that rocks the cradle...

...How true that a mother's influence can be so great...
"The Hand that rocks the cradle rules the world." Perhaps the child pictured here will, in the future, not be rocking a doll, but a precious new life.
The influence brought to bear on her life now may be passed on to many others. Take your children to Church and train them in the ways of the Lord.

CONVERSATION CORNER

By RUTH COFFEY

IF ANYBODY in town had anything for supper last Friday night except Kiwanis pancakes it must have been those few unlucky citizens too sick—or too decrepid—to sally forth for the annual occasion of stir-em-up, cook-em-up, serve-em-up for Kiwanians, and butter-em-up, eat-em-up for their guests.

Even if we weren't so inordinately fond of pancakes it was worth the price of admission just to watch some of our most dignified business men attend griddles, coffee, urns, bacon broiling, and table service, making for all the world like old Washbone of Rawhide.

WASHBONING with a right good will were men like Dee Tann, Joe Bell, Henry Bilberry, Jimmie Payne and the rest of their Kiwanis brethren. Frank H. Kelley, in white coveralls, was heard to mutter, "I just hope Mabel doesn't get any fine ideas about how I could be helpful at home, after seeing my talent for clearing these tables."

SITTING NEARBY were the young Jay Craddocks—Marian and Jay—and their elder daughter Roberta, with her wealth of reddish hair worn long page-boy style.

Pan-caking, too, were the A. L. McSpaddens, Bob Mays... Cigar-smoking Bill Doss and his pretty, Mrs. Nettie... The Bill Ervins... J Ralph Lees... Claude Cogswells... Roy Porters. The Luke Thomases were there... And Frances and George Otis Witten.

PROGRAM WATCHING were Mrs. Jim Hale, Mrs. Bill Crosshwaite, Mrs. Rush Barnett, Mrs. R. P. Price, Mrs. Fred McClellan... Plus the Howard Rogers... John M. Worrells... Luck Merrills... Mrs. B. F. Wilson and Mrs. Elmer Martin.

KVMC'S Eddie Kissenger, his very attractive wife and daughter, plus a small grandson were table neighbors.

Addie V. Payne (Mrs. Jimmie) was playing piano for the program and for soloist John Strain, oldest of the five L. A. Strain Jr. sons, whose mother is the former Mary Rothmel. She's a one-time Magnolia office secretary.

TOOK TIME out to ask Geneva Holt Foster (Mrs. G. D.) about daughter George—the one stubbornly remembered as a chubby, super-bright kindergartner called Maedell.

George Maedell's enrolled at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., for work toward her doctorate in speech. Soon as she appeared, the dean of women offered her a post as counselor in a girls' dorm. The dormitory just happened to be North Shore Hotel on the shore of Lake Michigan. George Maedell just happened to accept.

What with wall-to-wall carpeting, room service, and maid service, our gal is being exposed to education and lazy-luxury, all at once. "Working her way" to that PHD sounds utterly elegant!

HOLLIS GAINNEY, perhaps the greatest halfback the Wolves ever had—on the team we all rode a chartered bus to Andrews to see play that time—will complete army duty in April.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Gainney of Locust St., he starred in track and received his degree in physical education at Texas. His little wife is the former Nell Johnson, daughter of Mrs. J. A. Johnson of Hickory St. The couple live in New England right now. He's stationed at Fort Devan, Mass.

BRIEF ENCOUNTERS included seeing county clerk Gilbert Leach at the postoffice... City secretary Ford Merritt strolling from City Hall come late afternoon... And chatting over a coke with Josephine Hale Feaster (Mrs. Dwayne) wife of our county auditor. Josephine, mother of sons, 13, 11, and 4 years old, is that gorgeous dark-haired girl who walked off with most beauty contests during her popular high school days. The 20 years since she was C. C. H. S. queen have left her still lovely to look at in white shirt and snazzy slacks.

DOWN LULLABY LANE, too, we met three little loves—a black-eyed Susan, "Little Miss Moffatt," daughter of Larry and Linda Moffatt of E. 10th St. and Pennington's... And way out on Locust St., Randy and Kim Taylor, small darlings of Riek and Peggy Taylor.

ELDON MAHON, district judge, was in the Record office when we dashed in. Those sudden strands of silver in his dark curly hair give him that certain distinguished air... The pleasant dark-haired, brown-eyed girl in the office, we just discovered, bears a beautiful name. She's named Doris Ann Allen.

PEOPLE LIKE district judges and candidates for Governor—John Conally—or even ordinary husbands may not find sudden strands of silver a thing to get hysterical about. Blond movie star Lana Turner, on the other hand, was reported to have fainted dead away when studio friends lighted 42 candles on her birthday cake.

If she'd stayed 39, as sensible people like Jack Benney and Conversation have been doing for years, she might have survived the conflagration. It's just bound to be disconcerting to see your very own birthday cake light up like Cosden Refinery on the outskirts of Big Spring, when your heart's still young and gay. And completely feminine.

This is the Ford Fairlane's new Challenger "260" V-8.

There's no other V-8 like it. It's the latest in a series of Ford V-8 triumphs that started back in 1932 when Ford introduced the world's first popular-priced V-8. Today—30 years and 30 million V-8's later—the Challenger "260" adds new fuel to the hottest performance record in V-8 history. It gives you all the time-tested toughness of iron—with a lightness and compactness iron never had before. A muscular 164 hp, this new Challenger "260" V-8 is all snap, sparkle and smoothness. It runs on regular, yet gives you better gas mileage than any standard-size 6-cylinder car. Price it and you're in for a surprise—a Fairlane V-8 carries a smaller price tag than some compact Sixes. And, of course, a Fairlane gives you big-car room and fine-car quality you'll find in no other car anywhere near Fairlane's amazing low price. There's never been a buy like Fairlane because there's never been a car like Fairlane; that's why this all-new car from Ford is now out-selling every other "new-size" car!

"A NATION OF SHEEP"

Uninformed, Misinformed People An Unfree People

EDITOR'S NOTE—Another in a series of reviews of books from the shelves of Mitchell County Federation Library especially prepared for readers of the Record by Rev. John Brand. Brand here reviews "A Nation of Sheep" written by William J. Lederer—a story of "freedom of the press."

BY JOHN BRAND
Record Book Reviewer
When the Asian or European declares that our "freedom of the press" is only a product of our wishful thinking, we usually stare at him blankly, in disbelief, or counter with the assertion that, in this country, one can say what he likes, even to the extent of criticizing our government in general and our President in particular. That, we say, is a freedom seldom found or exercised in other countries. We will have made our point, just as he has made his, and the issue will have closed as unsuccessfully as it was opened.

William J. Lederer, co-author of "The Ugly American," re-opens this discussion in his volume, "A Nation of Sheep."

He asserts that we are an uninformed, and consequently, a misinformed people; to which he adds, an unfree people. He would agree with the charge of the Asian and European as regards our "free press."

An abundance of information is available to the public, but in a shocking number of cases it is both false and sadly detrimental to our country's aims. Because we are acting "like a nation of sheep—not a vigorous community of bold, well-informed Americans," he offers this book to both expose and correct.

through whom the words and ideas of the person being interviewed was related to the reporter and then to our officials and public, was repeating accurately neither the question of the interviewer nor the answer of the interviewee; he was getting into print solely what his government wished and would allow. One such fiasco was actually televised nationwide as reliable information about one country.

In each of these related cases, Lederer is first blaming officials of our government, such as our foreign ambassadors, then our press, our government itself, and finally us, the people composing the government.

He believes that "only if we, you and I, inform ourselves and then act with energy and courage according to our knowledge, only then will we breed strong leaders, principled and informed. They come from us; they are among us in potential. We must create a climate in which they will flourish."

This book, an easily readable well of information, is valuable on 2 counts: it offers a rousing and provocative condemnation of our national ignorance, and then proposes positive steps for individual citizens, professional journalists, and government officials to take in correcting this mass deformity. "A Nation of Sheep" is a shaming yet encouraging appeal for a knowledgeable patriotism.

Preston Jones Joins Dallas Theater Cast

Preston Jones, of Colorado City has joined the repertory company of the Dallas Theater Center and has a major role in the Howard Fast play, "The Crossing" which world premiere at the Center Friday. Jones, a graduate of the University of New Mexico, played Colonel Glover in the first Drama which is based on an incident in the life of George Washington. Jones is working on his Master's Degree in theater arts at the Center, which is the graduate school of drama for Baylor University in Waco. Jones had roles in several productions at the University of New Mexico, as well as playing in "Romanoff and Juliet" last semester at Baylor, where he did graduate work. He also played in "The Madwoman of Chaillot" this season at the Center.

Some Foreign Workers Pay SS Payments

Erven L. Fisher, Manager of the Big Spring Social Security district office, announced there has been some misunderstanding by Mitchell County farmers and ranchers as to which foreign born agricultural employees are covered by social security. If you are a farmer or rancher and contract with a foreign government for specific temporary agricultural workers, then wages paid to these employees are not taxable wages under the Social Security Act, he said. However, wages paid to other foreign born persons who are admitted to the United States under a temporary visa are covered if they meet the agricultural employment tests, he continued. A farm or ranch worker is covered by social security if he is paid $150 or more cash wages in a year by 1 employer or if he works for 1 employer on 20 or more days in the year for cash wages figured on a time basis. Fisher emphasized that employers are required by law to keep accurate payroll records in order to report the employee's name and social security number as it appears on his social security card, along with the amount of wages paid during the year.

CATCHES "GOOD"

Fishing Season Returns at Lake

Fishing returns to Mitchell County. Reported catches at lake Colorado City during the week of Feb. 12 through Feb. 18 included a big catch of 100 pounds of bass and a 20-pound yellow cat. Bass and channel cat are biting near the shore and yellow cats are being caught in deep water. Crappie fishing is reported improving too. A recent test of the lake by the State Game and Fish Commission was promising.

It's Fishing License Time

Spring weather has kindled the urge to fish and Mitchell County fishermen are reminded that a fishing license is required in most instances, according to Mike Hutchinson, game warden for the county. This applies to both resident and non-resident fishermen, except for persons fishing within their own county with an ordinary pole and line, or persons under 17 or over 65, he said. Persons fishing within their own county with any type of winding device are required to buy licenses, also, Hutchinson pointed out. The Texas license fee, at $2.15, offers an inducement to non-residents, because it is the only fishing license in any state available to non-residents at the same price as to residents. All other states charge additional fees for non-residents, he concluded.

few rough fish and "plenty of game and catfish" noted. The temperature of the water has increased about 13 degrees in the past 14 days—from about 40 degrees to 53 degrees.

Reported catches for the week include:

Bernie Grable, the "old-pro" of bass fishermen in Colorado City and Mitchell County, reeled in 100 pounds of bass on artificial lures. The fish ranged from 3 to 8 pounds each. Earl Richardson, operator of Lake View Camp, hooked a 20-pound yellow cat on a trotline in deep water.

Two Hobbs, N. M., fishermen, Larry Gunn and Don Chastain, caught 4 bass, weighing 5, 5½, 4 and 3½ pounds, and 2 channel cat, weighing 7 and 6½ pounds, casting with minnows as bait.

Odessa residents O. E. Morris and Lee Ledbetter found the bass fishing to their liking—they caught 4, weighing 5½, 5, 4 and 3 pounds. They used artificial lures on rod and reel.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Odell of Midland reported a catch that included a 6-pound yellow cat, a 6-pound bass and several nice crappie.

Ralph Stewart, also of Midland, had a string that included several nice bass and crappie.

Travis Boykin of Hobbs, N. M., pulled in several "nice" channel cat—including a 4-pounder.

Fishing in deep water with a trotline, C. H. Hyden of Big Spring hooked a 5-pound channel cat.

NO NOISE . . .
Some persons go about their own jobs—in a manner so quietly efficient that sometimes we almost take 'em for granted.
Ben R. Wilkinson, the Texas Highway Department supervisory engineer, is one of these. His liking for our town is one reason why our State Highway Department staff remains as fine and large as it is.
Any good town could use more citizens like this engineer. And, you know, if we can keep on making Colorado City the kind of town to please gents like him . . . then we won't have many worries in the future.

CONVERSATION CORNER

By RUTH COFFEY

REAL BOYLE, usually high-hearted writer who lives in New York and writes for Associated Press, comes now to tell us "You can tell a person not only by what he is for but also by what he is against."

He invites everybody to sit down and make a list of "things you don't like." His own intriguing list includes everything from "People who argue religion" to "caviar and gold post graves."

TRIED A LIST. Started with, let's see, don't like people who brag about getting up regularly at the crack of dawn. Makes us late risers feel lazy. Don't like turning greens. TV announcers who swallow the second syllable of the word "mirror" making it come out a flat "smile." Couldn't care less for needle-toed shoes.

ABHOR the so-called West Texas newspaper woman, Sarah McClendon, who harasses President Kennedy and gets rebuked, then thoroughly ignored for her foolish questions. Note to Republican readers: she excelled as the hane of President Eisenhower's press conferences, too.

DON'T LIKE weak or warmed over coffee ever. These blanky-blank back-zippers. How do single girls ever get zipped enough to appear in public?

Don't like, let's see, stewed tomatoes. People who start dirty digs with the old "I like her, but—" Care little for rock 'n roll... so-called free verse... Ayn Rand... abstract art... And... and... well! That must be just about it.

BOYLE WARNS that a too short list means you're probably "wishy-washy" could be. But why not a list of things you DO like? What's the matter with being fairly amenable while traveling through this world of woe?

DO LIKE and this is more fun, not to mention more polite. The way Mrs. Sam Wulfin looked the other day with a red carnation scarf and a red carnation corsage. The flowers were a gift for her birthday which a group of friends celebrated recently with a supper party at the Cattleman. They all honored Mrs. Oscar B. Price on her birthday, at the same party.

LIKE THE WAY Loraine Rogers (Mrs. Nathan) who owns that Cattleman and the Ranch House looks wearing dyed-to-match sweaters and skirts. Always smart looking. Ditto Viola Erwin.

Like the way Madge Bell (Mrs. Joseph) looks wearing that tangerine sweater and matching slacks. Like her graceful book-on-the-head walk whatever she's wearing. Like the sophisticated style of sweater-clad Sallie Thorpe, especially when she gives that friendly but half-shy smile.

Like the composure and quiet, friendly bearing of Dorothy Owens (Mrs. Dan) this town's parking meter patrolwoman.

ADORE MEETING an American namesake of Queen Elizabeth II, Miss Elizabeth Turner, baby daughter of the Dewey Turners who own and successfully operate a farm in Seven Wells community.

Vicki Mrs. Turner, you remember with love, was one of the first group of G.I. British brides flown to this country just after the war. Grounded by weather, she spent Christmas in Greenburg and arrived here in the worst blizzard in West Texas recent history. Think it was January '46 with the couple's then-nine-month-old son David. The Turners now have three sons, two daughters, and Vicki still slender and wide-eyed, still speaks West Texan with a somewhat soft British accent. Which makes her somehow special.

ADMIRE EVERYTHING about the perfectly beautiful wife of the President of this country. Her looks, style, education, natural charm, and rare intelligence. She's not only a "bliss" doll, she's got what Parr calls "class." Like her voice.

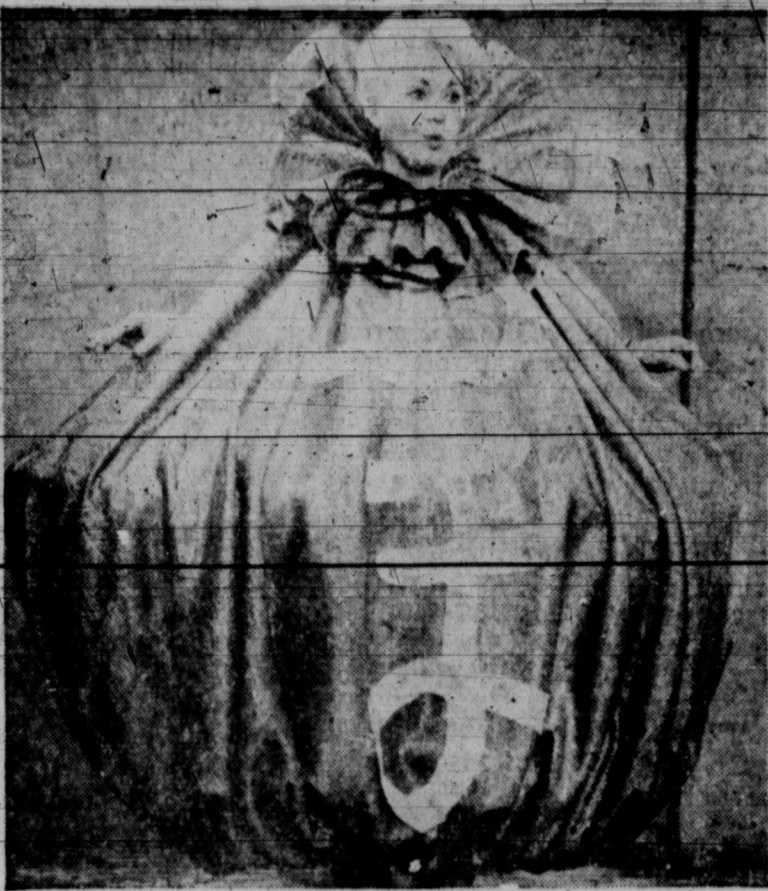

LIKE HEARING that steady voice from Friendship 7, particularly when Lt. Col. Glenn spoke in exclamation explanation points to report "It's beautiful!" And "The sky is a brilliant blue!" Those of us who are earth-bound put all our prayers in outer space with him. All hearts were in free orbit with him every incredible mile. "Oh beautiful for heroes proved... who more than self their country loved!"

LIKE HEARING how and where C. City's grown-up children are now. Steve Scott, whose mother Mona's a native of Montana working now at Corner Drug, is a '52 C. C. H. S. grad and received his degree in petroleum engineering from Texas A&M in '56. He's employed by Standard, the company of his late father Owen J. Scott. Lives in Corpus Christi with his wife and baby Rebecca Lynn.

LIKE LIVING. Just living. Like all kinds of foolish feminine things — cologne mist, fingernail polish, play clothes, fresh curtains, tossed salad, tuna casserole, chocolate anything, late breakfast and eating out on Sunday... most vagrancies of style, new clothes... like babies.

Like living in C. City. Like seeing the lights of town shining like bright beads spilled down from a broken string from the top of Refinery Hill... Like friendly first name calling all over our county.

Most of all, like people who go out of their way to keep that little old-fashioned epigram which used to be tucked like a pressed flower in pages of old-spelling books: "Politeness is to do and say the kindest thing in the kindest way." In Mitchell County that last named category covers a lot of territory.

Cooperation Key To Screwworm Control

Texas' multimillion dollar screwworm control program is underway.

It was launched last week when sterile male screwworm flies were dropped over Hays county.

The release of sterile flies—first of its kind in the Southwest—was timed to coincide with a meeting of the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation in Austin.

C. G. Scruggs, president of the SAHRF, said the program involves the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Texas Animal Health Commission, Texas A&M College and the research foundation.

An intensive drive will be continued. SAHRF officials said, until the $3 million goal is reached.

eradicating — screwworms from Texas this year.

The program will follow the pattern of the successful eradication effort in Florida and the Southeast.

A giant screwworm producing plant will be constructed in South Texas with an expected capacity of 50-75 million flies per week.

Leaders at the kick-off meeting included Dolph Briscoe, Jr., Uvalde, president, Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association; Dr. E. J. Mulhern of USDA's animal disease eradication division, and Dr. R. S. Sharman, ADE staff officer, who explained how the program will operate.

Release of sterile flies is only half the job, they said. The remainder is up to the stockmen.

Newsman Quiz Candidates For State Governor's Chair

Texas Press Association Texas newsmen quizzed candidates for governor at a session of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism society, and fanned early-season campaign sparks.

Gov. Price Daniel took the center position, weathering attacks from nearly all the other candidates, both democratic and republican.

A little fire even developed between the 3 republican candidates. Harry Diehl of Houston said Jack Cox of Breckenridge was "not a Republican — just a conservative candidate."

But 2 days later, Diehl withdrew from the race, leaving Roy Whitteburg as the only Republican primary opponent for Cox.

shall Formby attacked the Daniel administration as "tired" and "lacking vigor." Daniel came back with a recital of his 5-year accomplishments in education, industrialization and other fields.

Will Wilson's approach was that Daniel's entry collapsed the Connally bandwagon by splitting Vice Pres. Lyndon Johnson's organization, and that the only way to get an uncontrolled candidate was to elect Wilson.

Candidates got in more punches in answering tough questions posed by 9 newsmen. All of Daniel's opponents made the Governor's unprecedented 4-term try a central issue.

FRRIENDLESS INSECT — A big-hatted crowd of ranchers gathered at an Austin hotel to get more facts on the stockman's dream — the elimination of the screwworm.

Ranchers learned from Florida's free that state was swept free of this costly scourge by a dramatic program. Florida ranchers covered the state with sterile male screwworm flies.

Texas stockmen are raising $3,000,000 by voluntary contributions to match an equal amount of Federal money put up by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The screw-worms cost Southwestern ranchers an estimated $40,000,000 a year in losses.

GET HELPERS — A committee of 5 legislators held its first meeting after hearing plans of the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation.

Speaker James A. Turman appointed Representatives Ray Bartram of New Braunfels, Steve Burgess of Nacogoches, Stanley Boyesen of Yoakum, Glenn Kothmarin of San Antonio and Gus Mutscher of Brenham to assist the SWAHRF in planning its attack on the screwworm fly.

TAYLOR - MADE

By RICK TAYLOR Record News Editor

WHAT DOES one say to a kind (?) man who bestows a treasured gift upon him? Why "thanks," of course.

But, then again, what does one (namely, Taylor-Made) say to a man who presents him a third-hand, cast-off pair of Bermuda shorts?

That is the question. Whatever be the answer, Taylor-Made says same to REV. ALAN CONLEY who gingerly slipped into The Record office while this writer was out — and left said-same gift on his typewriter.

(Taylor-Made wrote 2 paragraphs of copy on the right leg before he discovered the khaki shorts rolled around the platen of his battered typewriter.)

THE SHORTS' history is a long one — and harder to trace than a schoolboy on the first day of Spring.

Seems R. H. (BOB) RATLIFF, JR., purchased the shorts originally — but he's out of town and unavailable for comment.

Bob "out-grew" the shorts, this corner's guess is that he did it at the dinner table, and passed them on to Alan.

Alan, too, found that the population wasn't the only thing expanding. So who did he think of? Why, Rick (Skinny) Taylor-Made, naturally.

BUT THE search wasn't that easy. One member of The Record staff opened the investigation by saying Alan was the "gift" bearer, but that he had said they had originally come from BOB RELY.

Bob was quick. To deny this... as if it hadn't been expected.

Then another of The Record staff said a "girl" had brought the shorts into the office and left them for Taylor-Made — Sherlock Holmes never had it, so bad.

ENNYWHO ANB nevertheless, the truth is now out, but it wasn't released — it escaped. And you'll think the same of Taylor-Made if, and when, you ever see him in the shorts.

Taylor-Made will have to make like a contortionist to mow the lawn in the shorts — desperately guiding the power mower with his right hand while holding the shorts up with his left and all the while, with the legs of the shorts (?) whipping about his calves.

In comparison to Taylor-Made, Alan and Bob are BIG.

BUT, PLEASE, don't misunderstand, Taylor-Made is, and forever will be, grateful and appreciative to Alan for his kind consideration. After all, it's not everyone my age that gets hand-me-downs to grow into.

And Taylor-Made shall not forget Alan Conley... he's on the top of this corner's relief list for the time when Taylor-Made outgrows his straight jacket.

And at this rate, Alan, you don't have long to wait.

SHINNERY PHILOSOPHER

Needed — Lazy, Loafing Maching

Editor's note: The Shinnery Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Bone Hollow Creek takes an off-brand view of machines this week.

Dear editor: You've heard the expression so often that everybody by now assumes we're living in the machine age, but I doubt it.

According to an article I read in a newspaper which a man handed me in town yesterday in a move to break up a conversation because he said he had to get back to work, President Kennedy told a press conference that "25,000 new jobs will have to be found every week for the next 10 years to take care of workers displaced by machines."

I'm sure he's right about this, but I'll never be able to understand it. I mean, if a machine is going to come along and replace me, and I have to get out and get another job, what's the advantage in having the machine in the first place? I've always contended that if a machine doesn't throw me out of some work, I ain't interested in having it on the place.

When the 4-row plow replaced the 2-row plow on the big farms of this country, I figured those big farmers had it made. Now they could do twice the work in half the time. But it didn't work out that way. All they did was take on twice as much land and continue to work the same hours; burning up twice as much gasoline. Didn't even start fishing as much as I've been doing for years with 1-row equipment. I've never been able to understand this type of progress.

If the more the machine replaces man, the more man is going to have to work, we sure could save a lot of gas and oil by re-inventing the forked stick to plow with.

What this country needs is a new-type machine that will do only one-fourth the work of the man it replaces. I've got a tractor that will fill this bill, but it's no longer being manufactured.

Yours faithfully, J. A.

Life-Saver Or Death Trap?

It is a shameful thing that an average of 1,200 Americans meet death by poisoning every year, but the fact that one third of these are children under four years of age is downright tragic.

And if you think it couldn't happen in your household, it's time to inspect your medicine cabinet and see what you find. For the protection of young and old, a manufacturer for first-aid products, recommends five specific steps:

- 1. Make sure all drugs and remedies are far out of children's reach. 2. Make sure all medicines are properly labeled—and printed instructions followed. 3. Flush down the drain (do not throw in waste basket) all medicines without labels, or old medicines that are outdated or have changed color or consistency. 4. Remove from medicine chest all household cleaning fluids, cleaners, etc.—potentially dangerous to children—and store away out of reach. 5. Impress on children that the medicine chest is out of bounds. Teach them they must never eat or drink substances found in play—either at home, out-of-doors or elsewhere.

In the fourth annual "Clean Out Your Medicine Chest" campaign, presented in cooperation with the nation's retailers, the company reminds us of risks we have doubtless all taken at times—but from which not all have survived.

Rule number one is: Never take medicine (or give it) in the dark. Get your glasses if you need them to read the label carefully. Never trust to memory. Overdoses can be serious, even fatal. It is equally dangerous to give medicine to a person other than the one for whom it was prescribed.

And here is a final bit of advice: When you have removed from the medicine chest the various things that shouldn't be there, stock upon the essential drugs and first-aid needs that should be there. Your druggist has a folder that lists what you need. And lastly paste in the medicine chest the day and night telephone numbers of your doctor and druggist. (If you did that last year, check up to see that they are still correct.)

Minutes today could mean a lifetime tomorrow.

HEALTH AND SAFETY TIPS

10 Basic Rules Of Home Safety

Americans are always getting hurt. The nation's 185,000,000 people have about 30,000,000 accidents every year that are sufficiently severe to require medical attention. No one knows how many others — tens of millions at least — who suffer minor cuts, burns and bruises that require first aid.

People always have gotten hurt and probably always will. We don't even necessarily learn from experience. How many times each year does the lady of the house suffer a minor burn while working in the kitchen? And it goes on year after year. Or how many times each year, or even each month, does the man of the house nick or cut himself during the morning shave? He knows how to shave carefully, but he's in a hurry most mornings.

With a few exceptions, almost every one of those 30,000,000 accidents requiring medical attention could have been avoided by a little care and foresight. This we know and admit, but we still have accidents.

The American Medical Association, in Today's Health Magazine, offers 10 basic points for parents as safety guides for families. In drilling youngsters on safety rules, the parents also remind themselves to be more careful.

Know and follow safety practices yourself. Equip and maintain your home and yard safely.

Install and use safety belts in your car. Keep the car in safe condition at all times. For your children's sake, and your own, work, play and travel safely.

Keep young children under complete supervision at all times. Select and instruct baby sitters with care.

Gradually increase the child's responsibility for his own safety and that of others.

Hold family safety meetings, including home fire drills.

Give active support to schools in their safety programs.

Remember that boys have many more accidents than girls. Let your son be a regular, active boy, but keep him alive.

LOCAL BUSINESS

Advertise to the Changing Market

BY MADGE BELL Record Staff Writer

The rapidly changing habits of the American people is an important reason for an increase of advertising volume of approximately 10 per cent each year by the nation's retailers.

For example 50 million Americans hunt or fish, or take part in both sports. These hunters and fishermen spend 4 billion dollars on the 2 sports annually. Ten years ago only 20 million Americans were hunting and fishing and their expenditures were less than one half of what it is today.

an appeal to vacation travelers.

Throughout the United States in 1961, the traditional summer slump almost disappeared in the volume of newspaper advertising. Publishers generally traced the increased advertising to efforts of retailers to reach the booming vacation market.

Spending for recreation is only one area where American consumer habits are rapidly and constantly taking place. In fact, changes in buying habits range all the way from cat food to club memberships.

The business man who is not aware of this constant change is automatically left behind to nurse an enterprise for which there is no longer any demand. In a market, neither the retailer nor the manufacturer can survive simply by changing his products. Each, through advertising, must convince the consumer that he is keeping up with modern demand.

Queens and Kings Crowned At 1962 Sweetheart Banquet

WESTBROOK—Faye Conaway and Laveral Sullivan were crowned Queen and King of the Young Peoples Sunday School Class and Darlene Lankford and Elmar McMahan were crowned Queen and King of the Intermediate Sunday School Department at the First Baptist Church's Sweetheart Banquet here Wednesday night.

The banquet, "The Love Story," was sponsored for the youth of the community by members of the church. The banquet was staged in the Ocotilla Club Room.

Raya Conaway and Judy Ranne, King and Queen of last year's banquet, crowned the royal couples.

Guest speaker for the event was Don Timberlake of Abilene. Rev. Kenneth Andress, pastor, was master of ceremonies. The invocation was given by Herman Parsons and Jerry Cunningham led the benediction.

Margie Lewis sang "The Love of God," accompanied by Vickie Jarratt at the piano. Group singing of "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" and "You Are My Valentine" was led by Andress.

A meal of turkey and dressing, cranberry sauce, green beans, creamed potatoes, pine apple salad, pecan pie, hot rolls, butter and tea was served. Members of the Ruth and J. O. Y. Sunday School classes prepared the meal — food was donated by the church's members.

The room was decorated in red and white — a bouquet of red roses adorned the piano. Attending were:

WATT'S MY LINE

A man once said, "I can't see the wind but I can hoist a sail". The same is true of the rural electric systems of the state. You can't see the kilowatts but you can see the myriad things the pulsating current does, from pumping water to frying eggs. They are efficient, dependable electric systems owned by the members they serve. They were built to serve areas that had no electricity. Often the distances were great and the problems were many but it takes a rough sea to make a good sailor. With a wealth of experience and know how, with the modern tools and techniques, with advanced methods and materials, the rural electric of Texas are accomplishing miracles every day, building a brighter tomorrow.

County Farmers Terracing Land

Mitchell County farmers have completed more than 60 miles of terracing on county land since Jan. 1, reports A. V. Sheppard, manager of the Soil Conservation Service District office here in Colorado City.

Add to that another 40 miles of terrace already laid out and under construction and an additional 150 miles of terracing planned in the county during 1962 and you can readily see that county farmers value terracing as one of the top and best mechanical practices for conserving soil and water.

Included in the group of farmers in the county who have completed terraces are Kent Carpenter, Billy S. Gooder, Charles R. Green, Lindley Webb, Willie Golder and Perry Bowles, reports Sheppard.

Included in the list of farmers who have terraces laid out and/or under construction are Leonard Long, Joe Morren, Huron Dorn, Annie Muns, Grady Ezell and Price Hall, he continues.

Those planning terracing during the year, reports Sheppard, include Alonzo B. Hines, D. D. Mason, James C. Hart, H. J. Morse, D. W. Hargrison, Tommie C. Mize, J. C. Pickett, Bertha L. Mann, C. C. Thompson, Phillip Ber-

APPLAUSE FOR STUDENTS

Maybe you didn't know, but we've had all kinds of days and weeks this month.

There have been Groundhog Day, Take Tea & See Week, Children's Dental Health Week, Science Youth Day, National Electrical Week, Race Relations Sunday, Crime Prevention Week, National Beauty Salon Week, Valentine Day... all in the short month of February.

And all of 'em, I am sure, have their merit for special attention.

But this week is National Future Farmers of America Week and with our wonderful agricultural communities... this is a good time to sound off with special applause for our young students who, as FFA members, are making an extra special effort in study and preparation to be our successful farmers and ranchers of tomorrow.

An extra pat-on-the-back, too, for their leaders—Benny Pryor, the vocational ag teacher and chapter advisor, and the chapter officers—Jimmy Ritchey, president, Jimmy Parmley, vice president, Lanney McKinney, sentinel, Richard Smith, treasurer, Brian Blair, secretary.

SHOPPING BY PHONE

I have a neighbor who has three small children, all of them under five years of age. As most of you mothers can appreciate, raising a lively young family is quite a chore. My neighbor's three youngsters keep her pretty well tied up, too. "How do you do it?" I asked her the other day. "Of all people, you should know," she replied. And then she started a commercial. It should confess it was music to my ears.

"When you have to do everything for three small children, it's not easy to leave the house even for essential shopping," she said. "I've really appreciated our telephone. I can do all my shopping and visiting in a matter of minutes without ever leaving the house."

"I couldn't have done a better job if I had written the script myself," I told her.

Shopping by phone saves wear and tear on tires and shoe leather—and people—and will give you more time to do other things that crowd your busy day. Why not try it?
