Walker Is Identified As Slayer

Witnesses Point To Defendant As Man Who Held Gun; Defense Expected To Open Case Friday

She Wants Home

Seeking adoption, work, marriage or even companionate marriage, Dorothy Brown, an orphan who has been left alone in the world since the recent death of her foster parents, is seeking a home in Pittsburgh. She prefers work but is willing to marry. Here are her qualifications: "My looks are better than the average. I am a high school graduate and like to read good literature. I love to swim and play tennis and don't care for golf; like to work around the house and can cook a good meal."

Walker Is Described As Being "Too Much Like A Chicago Gangster" By Woman; States She Was Afraid Of Him

State Nearing End

Courtroom Is Crowded Through Proceedings And Women Are In Majority; Defense Will Continue Questions

ASSERTING themselves as positive in identification, two eyewitnesses to the shooting of F. V. "Leather Hat" Brown at Woodrow on May 30 pointed to Hugh Walker as "the man with the long gun out there that night" in testimony in Walker's murder trial Thursday in 99th district court.

The witnesses, Mrs. T. B. Hilton and her brother-in-law, Joe Hilton, at whose home the slaying occurred, each pointed to Walker as he sat in the courtroom and declared he was the man who fired the second shot which previous testimony branded as the shot causing the pioneer stock farmer's death.

State Nears Close

With presentation of these witnesses, Thursday afternoon the state had just about closed its case against Walker, third defendant to be tried for Brown's death. Jess Covington and B. L. "Barber John" Richardson have been given eight and twenty year sentences respectively in previous hearings. Defense witnesses are expected to start testifying this morning.

Mrs. Hilton was on the stand yesterday afternoon undergoing rigid cross examination by the defense when court adjourned. Defense questioning will continue this morning when the case opens again.

Courtroom Crowded

Throughout most of Thursday's proceedings, the courtroom was crowded in spite of the fact that this is the third trial of the series. The majority of the spectators were women, scores of whom occupied front seats.

Mrs. Hilton related her version of the shooting under questioning from Special Prosecutor J. E. Vickers, testifying to details of the incident. She said she had just finished throwing out the dishwater when the three men walked up and that she stood on a little porch to the rear of her home while one of the men ordered her husband into the house at the point of a gun and another ordered Mr. Brown out of his car which was parked nearby.

Slipped Into House

She testified she slipped into the house as the man ordered her husband and his brother out again and that she was at the door when the two shots were fired.

She named Hugh Walker as one of the three men and upon objection of the defense, Mr. Vickers then questioned her if she had seen Walker prior to that time and she said she had seen him on the streets here and knew him when she saw him.

She illustrated Walker's walk as he came up to the house and also when he backed off from the little porch as the other men came out of the house. She said Walker was kneeling when he fired the shot with the rifle.

Defendant Amused

The defendant appeared amused at her interpretations of his actions and smiled when she testified he "walked with a little bounce."

Mrs. Hilton declared she was

Three Held In Bogus Passing

At Least 13 Spurious Notes Are Discovered On Plains; Two Young Men Questioned But Are Released

Three additional men were held in Lubbock county jail last night presumably in connection with the passing of a dozen or more bogus $100 bills on the South Plains.

That three men placed in county jail yesterday were federal prisoners could not be confirmed positively last night, but it was presumed they were held in connection with the counterfeit cases. A. O. Bybee, Ralls sewing machine salesman, charged with passing one of the counterfeit bills, had not made $4,000 bond late yesterday.

No Report Made

The Morning Avalanche was reliably informed that a bogus $100 bill had been found in the postoffice, but confirmation was lacking from postal officials. Postmaster John L. Vaughan said last night that no definite report about such a note had been made to him. The spurious note at the postoffice was reported to have been accepted in a savings account.

Two young men, whose names were not learned by the Avalanche, were questioned at the sheriff's office last night by federal officials. The pair later was said to have been released.

One of the trio in Lubbock county jail without charges last night was a former Ralls groceryman. The other two, whose last names are the same, reportedly live at Spur.

That a man had attempted to pass a bogus $100 bill at the Anton bank recently was revealed yesterday. The note was refused and the man escaped.

At least thirteen of the spurious bills have been reported. Eight of them have been accepted by Lubbock merchants and others. Bogus notes have been received at Lorenzo, Sudan, Littlefield, Ralls, and Petersburg.

Six Lubbock Persons Are Indicted In Federal Court

Other persons named included: Mrs. Jas. E. Percer and Will A. Knapp, possession, sale, and transportation of beer; and Refugio Carrillo, Sabino Chavez, and Rosa Chavez sale and transportation of beer.

Family Of Pioneer Cafe Owner Bowed By Fate

Death Of Inman, Lamesa, Followed By Costly Fire; Wife's Stepfather Dies

(By Staff Correspondent)

LAMESA, Oct. 6.—Fate dealt not merely one but three blows to the family of B. Inman, pioneer cafe man here, who died of a lung hemorrhage at El Paso early this week.

Mr. Inman was forced to quit business here because of ill health. He stored his cafe fixtures in a building owned by W. L. "Doc" Clement. The fixtures were worth about $3,000.

Fire destroyed the building and contents the day following Inman's death. There was no insurance.

His widow's stepfather died six or eight hours after her husband.

Twelve hours after Mrs. Inman learned of her husband's death, she received a letter from him stating he was improving and probably would be home Sunday.

Inman's insurance had lapsed, it was believed. The Masonic lodge of which he was a member, raised money for the funeral expenses. Later a policy on which he had borrowed $500, was found. It was believed to be good. The policy was for $2,500.

Inman was one of the best known cafe men on the South Plains. He operated a cafe here for 17 years. His body arrived in Lamesa Thursday. Burial will be Friday afternoon.

Joint Action By All Southern States In Efforts To Advance Cotton Prices Now Is Planned

Georgia And Texas Officials Confer; Name Of Huey Long Is Mentioned As The Most Likely Leader Of Move

(By The Associated Press)

ATLANTA, Oct. 6.—Agitation for joint action by all southern states to raise the price of cotton, which was carried on last year without tangible results, was renewed here today at a conference between Eugene Talmadge, Georgia commissioner of agriculture and governor-designate, and J. C. McDonald, Texas commissioner of agriculture.

They suggested in a joint statement that Senator Huey P. Long, former governor of Louisiana, "who has evidenced his interest in the welfare of the cotton farmer in the past, now appears to be the logical man to assemble representatives of the cotton states to formulate some plan of uniform action with the hope of possible congressional aid."

Crop Prospect Low

The commissioners jointly asserted they had reports indicating the cotton crop prospect now is so far under the government forecast of September 8, that at present prices the farmers will receive many millions of dollars less even than they did in 1931. They said something must be done to relieve the situation and emphasized their belief that independent action by individual states would not serve the purpose.

The government estimate a month ago predicted a crop of 4,092,000 bales in Texas and 890,000 in Georgia. McDonald said his own reports showed a probable yield under 3,800,000. Talmadge said Georgia's probable reduction now stood at not more than 800,000 and was likely to be nearer 750,000. Similar conditions are reported in other cotton states, resulting from late rains and insect ravages, McDonald said.

No Report From Hawkins Jurors

PLAINVIEW, Oct. 6 (AP)—A jury deliberating on evidence in the trial of Joe Hawkins, Crosby county farmer charged with murder for the slaying of his father-in-law, S. M. Walker, late today had not reported.

Hawkins had been tried twice previously for the killing, which, according to testimony, followed a quarrel over a dog fight. Hawkins was convicted in Crosby county after the killing, three years ago, and was sentenced to 50 years imprisonment. That sentence was reversed by the appellate court but at a second trial in Floyd county, the jury disagreed.

Bond Set For School Teacher

L. P. Shaw Is Released From Jail Thursday On Bond Of $10,000; Is Charged After Abernathy Slaying

(By The Associated Press)

PLAINVIEW, Oct. 6 — Bond of $10,000 was set today for the appearance of L. P. Shaw, Abernathy school superintendent, before a grand jury here Oct. 17 for trial on a charge of murder for the death of Joe Ramsey, Sept. 29.

Shaw was released on $3,000 bond after Ramsey's shooting but was held in jail here when Ramsey died in Lubbock.

Today he made the new bond and was released.

Suit For $1,162 Is Filed After Alleged Cotton Sale

A suit for $1,162 as a result of a cotton sale contract allegedly breached was filed Thursday by C. P. and H. D. Carlock and W. H. Johnson against L. W. Clark, D. L. Wheeler, and First National bank of Littlefield.

The plaintiffs allege that they bought 62 bales of cotton for five cents a pound from Wheeler, and that subsequently the price of cotton advanced sharply and Wheeler shipped the cotton to Clark, and allegedly the lint was sold to the Farm Bureau. Basis of damages is the differences in a five-cent price and the purported high price of 8.48 cents on the Lubbock market since the sale allegedly was completed.

Cotton Grower Will Employ All Available Pickers Here

A grower needing cotton pickers and prepared to "take all he can get" will be at Salvation Army headquarters, 1404 Texas avenue, this morning, according to G. A. Dickerson, supervisor of the agency's rolls of farmers wanting pickers and jobless persons wanting to pull bolls.

Wednesday's straggling line of six persons receiving cotton-picking employment through the Army became a small parade Thursday, when 31 more needy ones were sent to the fields. One grower led the way by registering Wednesday, and 11 more had informed the agency of their needs late Thursday. The army found odd jobs in Lubbock for three men Thursday.

More Army Ships Expected To Visit Lubbock Saturday

The second flight of United States army ships in three days is scheduled to visit Lubbock Municipal airport Saturday, Airport Manager Clint Breedlove said Thursday.

About 20 pursuit ships will be in the flight. The fliers will come here from Fort Sill, and will go to San Antonio via Carlsbad and El Paso.

Eighteen ships here Thursday refueled with 788 gallons of gasoline and 44 1-2 gallons of oil, Breedlove said.

Fifty-one airplanes visited the port last month.

Bank Robbery Trial Of Bill Tidwell Is Continued By McGuire To Oct. 12

(By Staff Correspondent)

TAHOKA, Oct. 6.—On plea of Bill Tidwell, charged with robbery with firearms of the First National bank at O'Donnell April 14, Judge Gordon B. McGuire in district court here this afternoon postponed the case until Wednesday, October 12.

Tidwell made plea through his attorney, L. C. Heath, alleging that a witness, Kiki Golston, of Lubbock, had failed to appear although he had been served by Lubbock county officers. Tidwell plans an alibi, alleging that Golston will testify that he, Tidwell, was not in Lynn county at the time of the alleged holdup noon of April 14, but was in Lubbock.

The case was called at the opening of court this morning, but was postponed an hour because witnesses were not present. At that time Heath filed his motion for a continuance and it was opposed by Tom L. Price, district attorney.

Judge McGuire reserved decision until the afternoon session and then granted the plea, giving the defendant until next Wednesday.

The court set the hour at 9 o'clock and ordered all members of the special venire to report at that hour. There were present in court today about 35 out of a special venire of 60 called to serve.

The application was presented to the Governor by Jewel P. Lightfoot of Fort Worth, president of the Texas Association of Community Chests and Councils. Lightfoot said the governor asked him to present the application personally to the Reconstruction Finance corporation and that he planned to leave tomorrow for Washington.

The application contained the following requests:

If the application is granted, the money will be available for relief among the unemployed and destitute, Lightfoot said.

Mayor Issues Proclamation

Week Of Oct. 9 To 15 Is Set As Fire Prevention Week In Nation; Elimination Of Fire Hazards Is Sought

The week of Oct. 9 to 15 has been proclaimed Fire Prevention Week by Mayor J. J. Clements. The mayor urges Lubbock residents to "stimulate interest in the work of eliminating fire hazards by actively engaging in a general campaign for that purpose."

The proclamation in full is as follows:

"Reliable statistics show that the larger portion of the annual fire loss in Texas is due to preventable causes and that the exercise of reasonable precaution would save the lives of many persons as well as reduce to a large extent the yearly property loss in this state, which in recent times has exceeded 20 million dollars.

Tammany Hall Drops Walker Thursday And Advances O'Brien As Its Choice

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, Oct. 6. —Tammany dropped James J. Walker tonight and advanced

GETS NOMINATION

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, Oct. 6. — Surrogate John P. O'Brien was nominated for the mayoralty tonight by New York Democrats to fill the remainder of the term made vacant by the resignation of James J. Walker. The nomination was unanimous in the city convention.

Surrogate John P. O'Brien as the Democratic organization's nominee for mayor of New York City.

These developments came with startling suddenness as the party's mayoralty convention opened before thousands in this auditorium. They marked a second outstanding triumph for the forces of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt. Former Governor Alfred E. Smith and Lieut. Gov. Herbert Lehman.

This same trio won a signal victory at Albany Tuesday when they forced the Tammany leadership of John F. Curry to capitulate, in the naming of Lehman as the Democratic gubernatorial nominee.

The selection of O'Brien was made known by Curry and three of his four allies as the convention met to name its choice to fill out the term which Walker vacated by resignation.

Girls More Intelligent?

Live Question Splits Baylor's Campus As Intelligence Tests Are Staged

WACO, Oct. 6. (AP)—Are girls naturally more intelligent than boys, or do they just study harder when in college?

This has become a live question on the Baylor university campus since the announcement that first place in the annual psychological or intelligence test for first-term freshmen this fall went to Miss Rebah Parker of Waco with a score of 284, and the general average of all the girls exceeded that of the boys by several points. However the average score for the entire class was the highest it has ever seen. Since this advance has been gradual from year to year, it indicates that the general intelligence level of high school graduates is being raised yearly according to Dr. W. S. Allen, vice-president and dean, who supervises the tests each year.

Second place in the test went to Stewart H. Folk of Sand Springs, Okla., with a score of 280, and third place to Frank Bleddoe of Dallas, whose rating was 277.

The intellectual rating of the girls in Baylor was given another boost by Dr. Allen in his announcement that the highest score ever made in this test was by Miss Elizabeth Powers of Wichita Falls in the fall of 1929. Her grade was 295. It was also revealed in the dean's announcement that a larger percentage of girls than boys make the honor roll at Baylor each quarter. To place on this roll it is necessary that a student make an average grade of more than 86 on all courses carried for a given term. The fact that the girls are more closely supervised in their work by the dormitory matrons may play some part in this better showing on the honor roll, Dr. Allen said.

Lubbock Deposits Are $2,156,107.70

Seasonal Decline Is Seen; Cotton Crop To Act As Boost

LUBBOCK'S three national banks have deposits totaling $2,156,107.70 statements of their condition as of Sept. 30 showed.

As compared to the deposits total of the bank call of last Dec. 31 and of June 30, deposits have shrunk considerably due one Lubbock banker said last night in part to a "seasonal decline." On June 30 the banks reported deposits amounting to $2,296,717.39 and on Dec. 31 to $2,860,032.03.

Deposits To Increase

We are now on the verge of the fall cotton crop, and deposits in Lubbock banks probably will increase from one-half to a million dollars by the first of the year, a banker said. "Since last January 1 there have been no money crops for this section, and consequently the deposits have gone down.

"Another reason for the decline is the fact that less money is coming into the country, and many persons who find themselves unable to live on a plane with their present income are drawing on their surpluses.

"The three banks here are solvent and in good shape Lubbock, the banker pointed out, "is the only Texas town west of Dallas with a population of 10,000 or more persons without a bank failure or a consolidation in which the stockholders lost. That fact is an indication of the strength of the banks here."

Present condition of Lubbock's banks is shown as follows:

	Deposits
Citizens Nat.	Resources $ 898,396.33	$700,846.87
First National	1,117,747.42	802,091.40
Lubbock National	900,007.87	653,169.43

Last Dec. 31 deposits were: Citizens, $1,039,026.03; First National, $1,010,222.57; and Lubbock National, $810,883.43.

At present loans and discounts were reported:

Citizens, $539,887.27; First National, $688,247.15; Lubbock National, $360,343.76.

McKellar Raps Hoover Policy

Describes Big Corporation As Greatest "Pork Barrel" Ever Established; Says Hoover Failure As Prophet

(By The Associated Press)

BROOKFIELD, Mo., Oct. 6.—The Reconstruction Finance corporation was attacked tonight by Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, as "the greatest pork barrel that was ever established in the history of time."

Speaking at a Democratic rally, Senator McKellar asserted that the very first loan of the reconstruction body "was to give a little dole of six million dollars to that gentleman known as Mr. J. P. Morgan."

Programs Compared

Comparing the Reconstruction Finance act and the Garner relief bill, McKellar said "the principal difference is that the Reconstruction Finance corporation shovels out government money to powerful corporations, and the Garner bill provided that plain, ordinary everyday business men and women could also borrow, and that so angered Mr. Hoover he immediately threatened he would veto the bill if it passed."

Criticising President Hoover's campaign address at Des Moines, Senator McKellar said the people were afraid of the president's statement that "recovery is now approaching," for "as a prophet of recovery, Mr. Hoover has demonstrated his failure."

"If he thinks he has saved the financial structure of the country," McKellar continued, "then God be merciful to him, for it hasn't been saved. Under him our financial structure has become a court of bankruptcy."

INSURANCE HEAD DIES

Committee To Take Hand In Legal Battles

Legal Complications Continue Unabated; District Attorney Of Webb County Is To Call Ferguson Before Jury

Post $1,500 Bond

Mrs. McCallum Refuses To Put Mrs. Ferguson's Name Upon Ballot Until Decision Of Court Is Received

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Oct. 6.—Burden of deciding if District Judge W. F. Robertson has authority to try a suit, filed by Governor R. S. Sterling, contesting Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson's right to the Democratic nomination for governor was passed to Texas supreme court tonight.

The third court of civil appeals sent the case to the high tribunal on certified questions.

The question to be certified was: 'Did the trial court err in sustaining the plea in abatement of Mrs. Ferguson and in dismissing the suit for lack of jurisdiction?'

It was submitted to the supreme court on an agreed motion of both parties to the suit and was expected to be in the hands of the highest tribunal by 10 a. m. tomorrow.

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Oct. 6.—Legal complications resulting from the bitter fight between Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson and Governor R. S. Sterling over the Texas Democratic gubernatorial nomination continued unabated tonight with the state executive committee and a South Texas district attorney announcing an intention to take a hand in the proceeding.

Governor Sterling's attorneys planned to appeal to the court of appeal, a decision of District Judge W. F. Robertson that held the Travis county district court did not have authority to try an election contest involving the governorship. Judge Robertson ruled the legislature, in joint session, was the only tribunal that could decide a gubernatorial election contest and accordingly dismissed the governor's suit seeking to have Mrs. Ferguson ousted as the nominee and himself certified in her stead.

Lawyers Retained

Maury Hughes, chairman of the Democratic state executive committee, said the committee would intervene in the litigation now pending involving the nomination and would also intervene in any litigation arising in the future. Lawyers have been retained to represent the committee, Hughes said.

"In our opinion, in view of the action taken by the courts, this matter is no longer a personal one involving Mrs. Ferguson, but it is one that concerns the Democratic party of the state," Hughes said, adding that if necessary the committee would institute a suit of its own to force Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum to certify Mrs. Ferguson as the nominee. "This matter ought not be allowed to remain a political football any longer," he said.

Suit Is Denounced

The committee had denounced the contest suit as an attempt to bring about the election of Orville Bullington, Republican nominee, in November.

Mrs. McCallum declined to certify Mrs. Ferguson as long as the governor's appeal is pending, saying she did not see where she had any duty

Social Affairs For College Set Are To Continue Through Week-End

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

WHAT happened in one afternoon: Back from lunch early, lugging a couple of sections from the Sunday New York Times of a week ago, determined to get together some ideas and roll off two columns . . . Rose Heatly, assistant over in the bookkeeping department, settled down with Time in the sports editors chair but willing to do some talking. . . A discussion of Louisiana politicans, of tennis in Austin, of Texas Tech until interrupted by several telephone calls . . . Several minutes spent reading enticing advertisements about trips to Spain, winter cruises to Bermuda and tours to various other romantic spots over the globe—material for dreams anyway. . . .

An interruption: And Russell "Dutchy" Smith comes breezing in and wants to see the sports editor . . . wants to see him now. . . desks where he can be found, accepts a suggestion from the society department to hunt for him and, when no sports editor can be located, sits down in a chair to wait with obvious impatience . . . Someone brings over a New Yorker pointing out a smart paragraph. . . .

Decide to look through the magazine . . . Another visitor, Lulu Mae Cravens, comes by . . . Time out for talk and a drink across the street . . .

Back to the column and the New York Times—Ed Hambright calls by, seeking the sports editor—this is his popular day—but stops for a chat. Relates a radio talk he heard recently on elephants, discusses a set of books he bought while in college and found advantageous for reference work while teaching school, drifts from topic to topic.—

More callers for the sports editor. Bo Williams, student manager for the Matadors, comes by in a hurry. Points out an article in the football program, wants another by tomorrow, leaves material on society desk with the request that Collier Parris get it and have more copy ready in the morning . . . Dashes out in great hurry—

Further conversation with Ed—trying to discover the point in an illustration, obviously intended as humorous. . . .

Another visitor—Del Morgan. Wants that long stamp the sports editor has . . . With Hambright goes through the sports desk unearthening the stamp, an ink pad, letters, mats. . . Their search is interrupted by the afternoon paper coming off the press and being passed around the editorial offices. . . .

Glance over the paper, look up to find all visitors departed—Time to get that column done—

Three telephone calls . . . A bit lonesome now that all the company is gone . . . Consider this might be a good time to get along with that column that must be written . . . Read the editorials in the Times, look over the New Mexico papers to see who got married from Texas and discover that there has been a drop in the marriage license business during the last month, due, as the newspaper explains, "probably to muddy roads and rains that have retarded travel from West Texas where most of the marriage license business originates."

Spend some time thinking of topics that might be used in completing the column. That one man in town who always wears a derby and is therefore conspicuous—Don't know who he is but he is a baseball enthusiast as he comes to the series broadcaste every year—The beauty operator who told about her marriage, requested a "big write-up" and is this subsiding the society editor?—promised free manicure if it were forthcoming—Three other people who hate to see winter come. Probably there's one in every office—That attitude most of us have, thinking we could run the other fellow's affairs so much better than he—The number of men on highways and streets carrying cotton sacks—

Note: The sports editor got back.

Convict Tells Story Of Sweat Box And How Youth Was Tortured In It

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 6. (AP)—William Roberts, a convict who served in Sunbeam prison camp at the time Arthur Maillefert, New Jersey youth died, related today at the murder trial of two former guards how Maillefert, naked, had been locked in a sweat box, his arms confined by a heavy barrel placed over his body and fastened from the shoulders by boards and straps.

Maillefert was allowed to walk about the prison camp yard all that day but at night "he was placed in the sweat box, barrel and all," the convict testified.

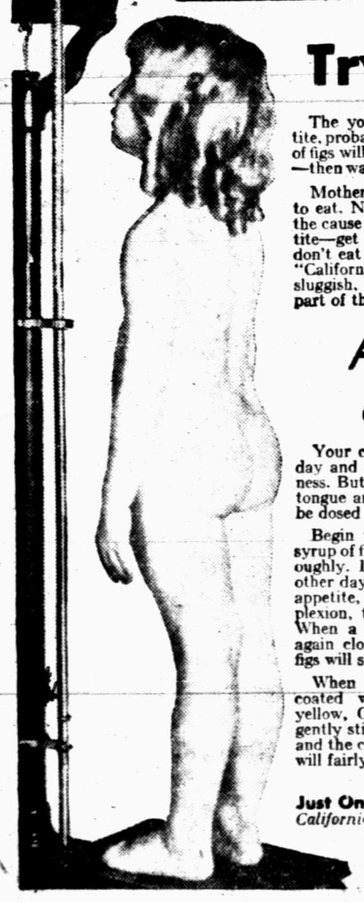

"The next day," continued Roberts, "it was raining. The box was opened and the barrel was rolled out, Maillefert rolled over but was allowed to right himself."

That day Maillefert gnawed his way out of the barrel the witness said, and jumped the fence. He was captured.

The defendants, Solomon Higginbotham and George W. Courson, listened intently as the convict proceeded with his story.

"I heard Higginbotham say that he would rather kill Maillefert than eat," Roberts continued.

and won't gain weight—

Try This!

The youngster who has no appetite, probably has stasis. A little syrup of figs will soon correct this condition—then watch the child eat—and gain!

Mothers should never coax a child to eat. Nature knows best. Remove the cause of a youngster's poor appetite—get rid of stasis. Children who don't eat are sluggish. Read what the "California treatment" is doing for sluggish, listless children in every part of the country!

A Pound a Week

Your child will eat well from the day and hour you conquer sluggishness. But that girl or boy with furry tongue and a bad breath should not be dosed with salts!

Begin tonight, with enough pure syrup of figs to cleanse the colon thoroughly. Less tomorrow, then every other day, or twice a week, until the appetite, digestion, weight, complexion, tell you the stasis is gone. When a cold or other ailment has again clogged the system, syrup of figs will soon set things to right.

When appetite fails, tongue is coated white, eyes are a bilious yellow, California syrup of figs will gently stimulate the colon muscles—and the child you used to coax to eat will fairly devour his food.

Just One IF—*The claims made for California Syrup of Figs are true and it will do the same for you—*IF you get genuine CALIFORNIA Syrup of Figs. Don't accept any substitute.

Baptists Plan To Conduct Campaign

ABILENE, Oct. 6. (AP)—Baptists in West Texas will be called upon by their leaders during the next two months to contribute to a fund for retiring debts of $17,650, practically all in building bonds, which the West Texas Baptist sanitarium here will owe December 1.

Plans for the finance campaign were presented here recently by a special committee, for approval of a meeting of ministers of the denomination in this area. The committee was headed by the Rev. C. A. Powell, University Baptist church pastor here.

The hospital building, four stories high, was erected and equipped at a cost of $243,418.82, and indebtedness at the present is $60,844.60, the annual report of E. M. Collier, manager, showed at the meeting. A total of 1,798 patients were admitted during the fiscal year ending September 1. Of these 1,089 were surgical patients. The hospital carries class A approval by the American College of Surgeons.

Charity work has been exceptionally heavy the past year, Mr. Collier said, explaining that the absence of a city-county hospital here or in this vicinity made calls more frequent. He said hospitalization had not been denied any applicant, despite financial stress, and told the meeting that free service had amounted to $20,377.83 during the past year. Contributions during the time totaled $1,880.32.

Fish Merchants Trying To Clear Statue In Park

HOUSTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—They want to clear the statue of Lieut. Dick Dowling, the young Irish hero of the Confederate army, out of the city hall square here and transform the square into a parking place in the interest of trade.

"They"—Fish merchants and others operating in the city market—appeared before the city council with the request.

One man opposed them—S. O. Moodie, commander of the Dick Dowling camp United Confederate veterans.

He pleaded with the council not to grant the request, saying it would be a "dishonor to the men who won the biggest victory in the war between the states—that little lieutenant with his 42 fighting Irish Catholics who sank two gunboats, captured 350 men and routed an army of 12,000."

The council took the matter under advisement.

Annual Rodeo At Tech Is Planned

The annual Aggie rodeo at Texas Technological college is slated for Friday, Oct. 21, with programs planned for the afternoon and night, G. G. Gordon, publicity director, said.

Money obtained from the rodeo will be used to pay expenses of the judging teams this year. A free barbecue is planned as a part of the evening program. All contestants in the rodeo will be students. Virtually all rodeo contests will be included.

Curtis Williams, senior Aggie student, is manager.

A rodeo queen will be elected in student elections next Monday and Tuesday. All Tech students may vote and no charge will be made.

How MUCH you get in a Long Distance call

"Yes, I found your sweater . . . I'll mail it tomorrow. Just a moment, Dad wants to talk."

Children at school . . .

It does get lonesome with Mary (or Bob) away at school . . . but regular visits by long distance are almost like having the family actually together. Telephone visits keep the children from getting homesick or discouraged . . . and they bring a lot of pleasure and satisfaction to the folks back home.

Call after 8:30 at night . . . that's when rates on station-to-station calls are lowest. Or have the children call you. Charges may be reversed, if you wish.

Emergencies . . .

"Hello Mary . . . this is Dad . . . Mother will have the operation tomorrow. Now, there's nothing to worry about . . . Dr. Clark is sure she'll get along fine."

In emergencies, a long distance call saves worry and delay. You explain things in your own words, without causing needless alarm. Special arrangements often necessary at such times are easily and quickly made.

Invitations . . .

"Drive over this week end. We'd love to have you."

Invite out-of-town friends by telephone. It's a cordial, personal way.

Congratulations . . .

"Great stuff, Harry! When's the happy day?"

When there is an announcement . . . birthday . . . wedding . . . graduation . . . anniversary . . . sending your good wishes by long distance carries just the right touch of warmth and sincerity. It's a flattering attention that everybody appreciates.

How to place the call

An inexpensive way to use long distance is to call "station-to-station" after 8:30 at night. A station-to-station call is one on which you talk to anyone who answers.

If you know the number, service is faster. Just tell Long Distance "Give me Collegetown, 142." If you don't know the number, say "Give me Collegetown. . . . I'll talk to anyone at Gregory Smith's residence, 1500 Blank Street."

Promising to show the finer and more sensational points of the Notre Dame offense in general and the Texas Tech offensive system in particular, the Matadors of Tech take the field tonight at 8 o'clock against Coach Cecil Grigg's Austin College Kangaroos from Sherman.

Victory Not Cinched

While they are not presumptuous to the extent of believing a victory is virtually cinched before they take the field, the Matadors hope to let go, turn loose and play wide open football against the Texas conference hopefuls tonight.

Strained almost to the breaking point in two one-touchdown games with Southwest conference elevens on successive Saturdays, the Matadors, coaches and players, hope to exercise their offense tonight and check up on the flaws. The game itself is of importance in that the Matadors want to win 'em as they come on this season's schedule, and they will be taking matters seriously all the way.

No setup victory is expected. The Kangaroos, in the first place, outweigh the Matadors about 15 pounds to the man, by actual weight chart comparisons, and the advantage so far is with the visitors. A big tackle in Amos Mullenix, 325-pounder, and a couple of fleet-footed backs in Quarterback Cotton Franklin and Edwin Spencer, halfback, promise to make things interesting for fans and players tonight, not to speak of six other heavy linemen and three other well developed backs.

Cawthon Former Coach

A fighting point in favor of the Kangaroos will revolve about the fact that they are playing against a team coached by a former mentor at Austin College. Before he came to Tech, Coach Cawthon was head man at the Sherman institution, putting out some of the best teams in the state of Texas during his reign there.

Cecil Grigg, who replaced Cawthon when the latter resigned five years ago, holds one of the most colorful records of any man in the business.

Coach Grigg's athletic career began in 1911 when he played as a star on the Austin College football team. Three years he served, and experts acknowledged him as one of the greatest halfbacks in the state. That was before the Southwest Conference was organized, and Austin College was defeating teams now members of that conference just like any other set up.

After three years as Austin College, Grigg went to Dallas University. Again he was regarded by the experts as a sensation—the greatest sidestepper and stiffarmer those parts had ever seen.

Turns Professional

Grigg turned toward professionalism then, playing baseball in the Texas League with Wichita Falls and in the Western League with Oklahoma City.

The urge of the gridiron was too much, and Grigg played professional football, first with Jim Thorpe at Canton, Ohio, and then with the Toledo Maroons. Grigg was one of the earliest professional football players of note.

The last few years of that sort of life was spent as player and manager and coach of the New York Giants, one of the outstanding pro football teams. Jim Thorpe called Grigg the "greatest backfield threat of modern football."

The last four years of Grigg's colorful career have been spent at Sherman as head coach of the Kangaroos. He has managed to keep Austin College in the Texas conference running, in spite of the effects of the depression of the smaller schools. His team is known as one of the "fightin'est" football clubs of the state.

Hard To Handle

If this little fellow plays football in proportion to his size, it looks bad for Texas Tech's line tonight. Amos Mullenix, a guard or a tackle, weighs in at 325 and above. It's not all flabby fat, either. He's got a brain above it all, and a big chassis which needs plenty of body.

Big Six Race May Be Close

Cornhuskers And Jayhawkers To Be Strong Contenders; Shift Of Coaches To Be Watched As Season Starts

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 6 (AP)—The 1932 Big Six football championship race, which starts Saturday in the Oklahoma-Kansas and Iowa State-Nebraska games, promises to be as close and uncertain as the 1931 conference competition won by Nebraska with an undefeated record.

Kansas State college was a favorite until midseason last year, with triumphs that looked easy over Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma. The Wildcats then lost by a point to Iowa State and by three points to Nebraska.

The Cornhuskers were on the verge of losing to Missouri, one of the weaker teams, but a goal-line decision gave Nebraska the game 10 to 7. Nebraska was hard put in beating Kansas 6 to 0, but won from Oklahoma, 13 to 0, and from Iowa State, 23 to 0.

The downfall of Oklahoma and Missouri, which shared last place in the standings, was followed by the ouster of their coaching staff and installation of new ones. Kansas, after finishing in fourth place, voted confidence in its football leadership and added Ad Lindsey, a former Jayhawker player who resigned as a coach at Oklahoma, to its board of strategy.

Among anomalies of the 1931 race was Oklahoma 10-0 victory over the Kansas Jayhawkers, who beat the Missouri Tigers, who beat Oklahoma. Kansas, Oklahoma and Missouri each won only one conference game, but the Jayhawkers placed fourth, because of the fact that a schedule mixup the previous year prevented a meeting with Iowa State. Kansas' only scores in the conference were 14 points against Missouri.

Three Runs In 9th Net Bears Final Victory

Minneapolis Wins Two Games Of Series, Losing Last Two And Championship; Homer In Ninth Turns Victory

(By The Associated Press)

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 6.—The Newark Bears won the Little World Series today by rallying for three runs in the ninth inning to defeat Minneapolis 8 to 7 in the sixth game of the minor league classic. Newark won four games to two for the Millers.

Marvin Owen's home run with Jenson on base in the ninth inning gave Newark the decision in a slugfest after five Bear pitchers had failed to halt the American Association champions.

Earlier in the game, Red Rolfe had clouted a Newark homer and Joe Hauser and Joe Mowry hit four baggers for the Millers.

Kenneth Travis May Not Appear Against Owlies

DALLAS, Oct. 6 (AP)—Kenneth Travis, regular quarterback for the Southern Methodist Mustangs, probably will not start against the Rice Owls Saturday in the first 1932 Southwest conference game for both teams.

Although the Mustangs were announced yesterday as being at the pinnacle of condition, it was learned today that Travis is suffering from a caved in rib received in the Texas Tech game last Saturday at Lubbock. He was in uniform today but stood around the sidelines and watched his mates go through dummy and then actual scrimmage against the "fish" squad. Travis said that Coach Morrison had told him we would not play him against Rice.

In the scrimmage today, Morrison used Baxter and Baccus at halves, Oliver at fullback and Sprague, who was the fourth back, called signal. This probably will be the backfield starting against Rice. Morrison still is uncertain about his line. He was switching his linemen constantly today in a desperate attempt to find a few who knew how and could block.

The Mustangs are confident they will whip Rice. Baxter sounded the spirit of the team today when he said:

"You can mark it down in your little red book that we are going to beat those babes from Houston, and I'm not guessing about it either."

Pilots Kangaroo Backfield Tonight

Two captains control the activity of the Austin College Kangaroos, who meet the Texas Tech Matadors at Tech Field tonight at 8 o'clock. Cotton Franklin, speedy backfield ace and quarterback, runs the team from that position, and because he is backfield captain the orders come with more purpose. Baylor University barely missed getting Franklin's services. He enrolled at the Bear village as a freshman but left before the year was out.

Southwest Loop To Begin 18th Grid Race Saturday

Owls And Ponies In Feature At Dallas Fair

BY BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Tomorrow the eighteenth annual Southwest conference football season will start with the University of Texas, Rice Institute, Texas Christian university and Texas A. and M. as the favored four to battle from October 8 through November 26 for this year's championship.

Of these favored four, the University of Texas won the conference crown in 1920, 1928 and 1930. Rice has never held the title. Texas Christian won in 1929, and Texas A. and M. won in 1917, 1919, 1921, 1925, and 1927.

Two conference games are scheduled tomorrow along with one intersectional affair. This week's schedule opens today when Baylor plays Loyola at New Orleans. The Bears, who won the first Southwest conference championship in 1915, are being picked to finish near the cellar this year. However, the Bears last week smothered St. Edwards in a non-conference game, 32 to 0 and are at New Orleans ready for a tough game against Loyola.

Ft. Worth and Dallas

Tomorrow's football crowds will gather at Fort Worth and Dallas where the conference combats are scheduled. The University of Arkansas Razorbacks, mostly sophomores, invade Fort Worth to battle the Texas Christian Frogs, a team of seniors. Arkansas embarked for Fort Worth with hopes high because Edmondson and Stout, regular tackles; and Clark Jordan, regular halfback, who have been injured, are ready to play. In past history, Texas Christian has won six of the eight games played with Arkansas. At Fayetteville last year the Christians won, 7 to 0. The Christians have their regulars primed for the opening conference game. Madison Pruitt, all-conference end who has been injured, is ready. The Christians are favored but may get a stiff aerial battle from the Razorbacks.

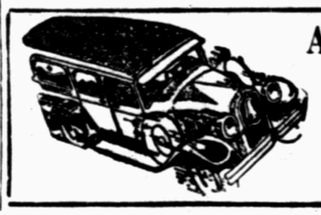

Owls At Fair

The Rice Owls, only undefeated and untied conference team that has played two or more non-conference games, will assist in opening the annual Texas State Fair at Dallas by playing the Southern Methodist Mustangs, 1931 conference champions. The Owls are 13 to 6 favorites. They have defeated Texas A. and I. and Louisiana State while Southern Methodist played a scoreless tie with the North Texas Teachers and lost a 6 to 0 game to Texas Tech.

A brilliant backfield of Tom and Vic Driscoll and Jap Thrasher, flanked by a powerful front wall that is second to none in blocking, has made the Owls a conference favorite this year. The Mustangs have failed to reveal a scoring punch so far.

The intersectional game tomorrow will be at Columbia, Mo., where the University of Texas battles the Missouri Tigers. The Longhorns lost to Centenary college in an upset game last week, and are determined to get revenge at Columbia. Coach Littlefield left for Columbia with his team in good condition.

Texas A. and M. will play Texas A. and I. in a non-conference game at College Station. The Aggies anticipate no trouble taking the A. and I. boys.

Leonard Tries Comeback With Jim McLarnin

Former Champ, Trained Down To Fine Point, In Crucial Battle Tonight With Youthful Vancouver Dynamiter

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 6—A clean, fresh page in the mottled history of the ring awaits a chapter tomorrow night to be written either in the bold scrawl of brash young Jimmy McLarnin, or the neat, precise letters of old Benny Leonard at Madison Square Garden.

The end of their 10-round match will be one for the book—perhaps a final bowing of the one time unconquerable Leonard to youth and the inroads of age, or the spectacular overthrow of the rarely humbled axiom that "they never come back."

Forlorn Hopes

Old-timers have hopes for Leonard but they are somewhat forlorn hopes. Benny, struggling courageously up

Westerners Work On Sweetwater Plays At Practice

(By The Associated Press)

SWEETWATER, Oct. 6 — Ney Sheridan, crack Sweetwater High school triple threat, yesterday was declared eligible to play football this season by the District 3 committee which reversed a previous ruling by unanimous vote. Sheridan will be in the Mustang lineup Saturday night when Sweetwater goes to Lubbock to meet the Lubbock High Westerners.

Sheridan earlier had been declared ineligible because in 1929 he was a member of the "Roosters," a Sweetwater football squad for youngsters.

The question hinged on whether the Roosters were school-sponsored. It was determined by the committee that the organization in 1929 was independently sponsored and that Sheridan's membership could not be counted as a year of competition.

Coach Chapman took his Westerners out to Matador Field last night and exercised them under the lights as one of the final measures of preparation for tomorrow night's conflict with the Sweetwater High school Mustangs.

The football field, in almost perfect condition after days of sunshine, was a busy place, as Coach Pete Cawthon had his Matadors on

Doctor Knapp's Advice

DR. BRADFORD KNAPP gave his listeners in Dallas something to think about the other day when he made an address before members of the Electric club there.

The Ft. Worth Press, noting the Tech president's talk, has commented as follows concerning it:

"Look South!

"That was the advice given yesterday by Dr. Bradford Knapp, new president of Texas Technological college, at Lubbock, in an address in Dallas.

"Dr. Knapp visualized the young and growing continent of South America as a tremendous potential consumer of Texas products—and Texas-made goods. For he also emphasized that sound vision which is being seen more and more clearly by long-sighted Texans—that of a state self-contained, turning her great flood of raw materials into finished goods at home, and shipping them to the four corners of the earth."

CITY OF THE FUTURE

How transitory are the works of men. We have hardly got full swing boasting about the marvelous "skylines" of our big cities when our architectural prophets begin to tell us that they are outmoded and that shortly they must take their places along with horsecars and board sidewalks and cigar store Indians. Frank Lloyd Wright, architect, recently published a book entitled "The Disappearing City," which calls attention to some unmistakable trends and predicts the building in the near future of "Broadacre City," a community meeting the needs of our modern times.

"Like some old building," says Mr. Wright, "the city is inhabited only because we have it, feel we must use it and cannot yet afford to throw it away to build the new one we know we need."

The trouble with the big city our civilization has prided itself so much upon is that it is "no longer modern." It occupies the narrow constricted area demanded by a community of folks who walked to business or at most took the street car. With his fast-speeding motor car the modern business man hurries down to the congested, narrow "business center" and vastly complicates his problems by trying to get where he has no real need to be. His contacts in business, even when he is in his office, are established by telegraph or telephone or with individuals who could have reached him more easily if he had kept away from the business district.

"Broadacre City," as Mr. Wright foresees it, will be planned to give a minimum of an acre of land to the family. If general education of the future includes demonstration of the amount of human sustenance that can be produced from an acre of land, the problem of protecting city dwellers against starvation will be greatly simplified.

HOARDING

Any of the philosophers, ancient or modern, will agree that man is selfish all over, that he sets a tremendous value on gold coins and mortgage bonds.

In the face of that unanimity of opinion it is a little startling to discover how careless grasping man is of his wealth when he gets it.

There are now outstanding more than $32,000,000 in federal bonds which have long since ceased bearing interest and should have been turned in for their face values. Some of these date back to days before the Civil war. Most of them are Liberty bonds.

In the old sock, back of chimney corners, in hidden safety deposit boxes, perhaps in the lining of forgotten trunks, repose the bits of engraved paper representing this vast wealth. Some of these certificates have been forgotten. A great many probably have been destroyed. But the government knows that there are old-fashioned people who feel safer holding a lien against Uncle Sam that bears no interest than when they have their savings in some other investment.

The evil of the situation is two fold. The losers are probably persons who need the money most, for the wealthy employ banks or clerks to watch such things for them. And a vast amount of capital is being kept in idleness.

The R. F. C. is requiring adequate security for every loan it advances, thereby altering our whole conception of Santa Claus.

What good is your past if you don't use it for the future?

No person ever got a reputation for intelligence by telling all he knows.

Today's One-Minute Sermon

Because sentence against an evil work is not executed speedily, therefore the heart of the sons of men is fully set in them to do evil.—Ecclesiastes 8:11.

Little Interest Displayed

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 6. — The agricultural area's reaction to this campaign's utterances by the major parties' presidential rivals is chiefly remarkable for the practical absence of any.

Apparently the voters' minds are made up already, and they are little interested in what the candidates say.

Doubtless there would be a speedy pricking up of ears and reconsideration of judgments if either President Hoover or Governor Roosevelt were to say anything really startling and unexpected, but it would have to be something decidedly more sensational than the talks the electorate has listened to thus far.

Chas. P. Stewart

THE FACT is that the farm belt appears indifferent not only to the presidential candidates' speeches; it appears indifferent toward the candidates also.

This by no means is to say that it is indifferent toward the outcome of November's test at the polls.

Its interest in that is tremendous. But there is a mighty limited amount of hurrah-ing for personalities.

President Hoover, whatever his merits, is not, I think it will generally be agreed, an individual over whom folk wax wildly enthusiastic. Seemingly Governor Roosevelt is not either.

IF SIGNS ARE good for anything at all, they indicate an increase over the normal in the number of Democratic ballots to be cast five or six weeks hence, and a decrease in the normal Republican totals in Iowa, the Dakotas, Minnesota and this state of Nebraska — maybe other middle northwestern states, too, but these five anyway.

Maybe the increase and the decrease, going up and coming down, will be insufficient to meet and pass one another, resulting in Democratic victories. For myself, I believe that they will, except perhaps in Iowa, but that's a matter of opinion. However, even Republican managers admit that they anticipate reduced G. O. P. majorities throughout the entire wheat, corn and livestock country.

Nevertheless, the farmers clearly are in a surly rather than an ebullient mood.

Little vociferous approval of Roosevelt is in evidence, but a deal of emphatic disapproval of Hoover is, with very few expressions of approval to offset it.

SUPPLEMENTING agrarian discontent, hints are obvious everywhere of resentment at the Washington administration's method of breaking up the bonus seige of the capital late last summer.

For example, as I was traveling through South Dakota by bus the other day, a fellow passenger with whom I was chatting, learning that I was from the seat of national government, inquired, "Don't you think it was terrible, the president turning loose the regular army to kill all those veterans?"

It is in substantially this form that the story is circulating throughout the farming region.

Here in Omaha, asking my way, as a stranger, to Democratic state campaign headquarters, and following the directions given to me by several kindly informants, I presently arrived, not at the official party committee's headquarters in the Hotel Fontanelle, but at the Ex-Service Men's Roosevelt and Garner Headquarters, in an entirely different part of the city.

The veterans, in short, are doing a better job of Democratic advertising than the regular Democratic committee is.

* * *

THE TRUTH is, if one were to draw his conclusions from visits to the respective operating basis of the Republican and Democratic managers in this part of the country, I think they might easily be to the effect that the G. O. P.'s position is the more advantageous of the two.

The Republicans as usual, are doing a businesslike job.

The Democrats are bickering among themselves over non-essentials.

The Omaha situation illustrates it.

At official Democratic headquarters, when I finally got there, it was with difficulty that I could induce anyone to discuss Roosevelt's Nebraska prospects; all hands were so much more deeply concerned as to the Douglas county contest. Otherwise most of what was said consisted in abuse of progressive Republican Senator Norris, though he is supporting Roosevelt.

Republican headquarters' diagnosis of conditions, on the opposite hand, was a pleasure to listen to, whether or not one agreed with it, it was so well-balanced and intelligent.

But out among the masses of the voters one gets a different impression.

Good political management can accomplish wonders even with a reasonably bad state of affairs, but it cannot perform miracles, such as stopping a landslide.

And if ever an epidemic of landslides threatened in the farm states, next Nov. 8 threatens one.

We are told that the world has entirely outgrown religion. But we are not told if it has grown too small or too large for religion.—The Rev. Dr. Charles R. Brown, dean emeritus of the Yale divinity school.

Unprecedented Fight In Texas Leads Democrats To Seek Election Changes

BY CHARLES E. SIMONS

AUSTIN, Oct. 6 (AP)—The unprecedented fight over the Texas gubernatorial nomination has given impetus to a movement that has been smouldering for years—a change in the method of nominating candidates for state offices.

For years many have felt that the primary system, in which candidates for major state offices often are required to make two campaigns in the summer, was not the best method of selecting candidates for the general election. The situation caused by the unparalleled fight between Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson and Governor R. S. Sterling over the Democratic nomination appears to lend strength to the position of those favoring a change.

There was a move that died aborning to do something about it at the state convention at Lubbock. Several counties had adopted resolutions favoring repeal or revision of the Terrell election law, the statute that outlines the procedure for conducting primary elections. No action was taken at the convention on the proposal, more interesting things crowding it into the background.

That something will be done about it, however, seemed certain, especially since the state Democratic executive committee, at a special meeting recently, enthusiastically endorsed a resolution whereby the legislature would be requested to repeal all the statutes governing the primary elections.

Committeemen hailed the move as being in the direction of restoring some semblance of peace to the war torn Democratic party, rent asunder by the battle staged by Mrs. Ferguson and Governor Sterling for the nomination and by other bitter fights.

Although Mrs. Ferguson was declared the nominee by slightly less than 4,000 votes, the governor made such strong claims that she received thousands of illegal and irregular ballots that it set many persons wondering if a better and more efficient method could not be found to determine the party's nominees that would not have as many disadvantages as are charged to the present system.

For several years the executive committee has been hampered and harassed by court actions filed by sundry of the candidates and each successive committee has been called upon to defend its right to do or not to do certain things and to make certain regulations to govern the party's procedure.

The right of Tom Love, one of the Hoover supporters in 1928 and of James E. Ferguson, one of the firebrands of Texas politics, to appear on the Democratic ticket has been adjudicated by the supreme court. The supreme court also has been asked to adjudicate between the claims of Mrs. Ferguson and Governor Sterling for the nomination.

Other courts have been required to pass on the legality of the pledge exacted of voters in the Democratic primaries that they would support the nominees and the committee has been involved over the right of negroes to participate in the party's primaries.

Should the whole body of the primary laws be repealed, many leading Democrats believe it would consolidate the party's position because the state executive committee then would be given full control over its affairs without the interference of court action.

If the legislature declines to repeal the primary election statute, it will be asked to make revision designed to protect the party.

Longest Stretch Of Pavement Now Is Contemplated

CLARENDON, Oct. 6 (AP)—Continuous paving from Amarillo to Galveston within a year is assured by the agreement reached between commissioners of Donley county and the state highway department, which will mean the closing of the unpaved gap now existing through Donley and Armstrong counties.

Donley commissioners have followed the example of Armstrong county commissioners in meeting the requirements of the highway department regarding right-of-way. The route, which is on state highway No. 5, will be paved at state expense. Work will be under way by January 1, according to W. J. Van London, construction engineer of Amarillo.

The connected paving will constitute the longest stretch of paving in the state. This road carries most of the interstate traffic between Colorado and the gulf.

The route north of Amarillo to Texline has been financed for paving, except a short gap in Moore county. There is a possibility that the route to the north may be changed slightly, but funds for paving will be available in any event.

The new route through Donley and Armstrong counties will be south of the Fort Worth & Denver railway. It will cut four miles from the distance and eliminate six grade crossings.

The last three of the ships took off early Thursday afternoon. The fleet was to go to Fort Bliss by way of Carlsbad, N. M.

Two Convicts Being Sought

Officers Seek Two Men After Robbery Of New Mexico Bank Wednesday; Formerly Were In Penitentiary

RATON, N. M., Oct. 6 (AP)—Two escaped Oklahoma convicts were sought near Cimarron, N. M., today in connection with the robbery yesterday of the Citizens' State bank of Springer, N. M., of $8,000 in cash and $2,000 in securities. H. L. Boyd, cashier, who was kidnapped by the robbers was released, uninjured, near Springer.

Sheriff Al Davis of Raton said he was looking for "Both" Grady and "Arid" Gregory for questioning. It is said the men formerly were imprisoned in the Oklahoma penitentiary.

Officers said they believed the two gunmen had doubled back on their trail after starting east toward Clayton and were in hiding near Cimarron.

The pair abandoned one car on the Springer-Raton highway, where tracks indicated another machine had been parked.

Officers said the abandoned car was stolen at Liberal, Kansas, several days ago. It was taken from an automobile salesman who drove two men out in the country for a demonstration.

Posses in Colorado, Texas and Oklahoma aided the New Mexico officers in the search.

Walker Trial

"within four and one-half or five feet of Walker at one time" and that she saw him plainly.

Defense cross examination was featured by lengthy questioning on details regarding where she was standing when the men walked up to the house and where she was at various times, while other movements surrounding the shooting were taking place.

Argument Contended

After Defense Attorney D. F. Schenck had repeatedly questioned her closely on details, District Attorney Durwood Bradley objected, contending Schenck was arguing with the witness.

"Isn't it a fact that you told the district attorney or someone in the sheriff's departmentthat you didn't hear but one shot?" Schenck asked her.

No," Mrs. Hilton replied.

"And you didn't identify anybody until the first grand jury, did you?' was another defense query.

Mrs. Hilton replied she had identified Slim Richardson then. She also stated she saw Hugh Walker with Miss Carr when the Fergusons were in Lubbock sometime later.

"Yes, you're awful anxious to put Walker with Miss Carr, aren't you?" Schenck snapped at her.

Questioned On Fight

"Isnt' it a fact that Mr. Brown came to your house and stayed too long and Mrs. Brown came down there and you had a fight and didn't you break her shoulder?'

Mrs. Hilton admitted she had had trouble with Mrs. Brown but said she only hit her with her hand.

"The only reason you identified Hugh Walker was because G. A. Goss has made a statement and it has been told to you that they are the parties, isn't that so?" Schenck asked her.

"No, I knew it was Hugh Walker who walked up in the yard that night," Mrs. Hilton answered emphatically.

"Then why didn't you tell someone?" Schenck asked.

Too Much Like Gangster

"Well, he's too much like a Chicago gangster and I was afraid," she replied.

On re-direct examination, she reiterated that it was Walker she saw with the long gun that night.

Mrs. Hilton followed several other witnesses for the state on the stand in the afternoon. Six others had appeared in the morning session. They were: T. B. Hilton, S. S. Clark, a Woodrow filling station operator; R. C. Norris and his daughter, Wynona, who live two and one-half miles west of Woodrow; G. W. Pierce, farmer living nine miles west of Woodrow and Deputy Sheriff Joe Rieger.

Joe Hilton's testimony continued through the afternoon session. He told what he saw of the shooting, how he was seated at a table in the kitchen when Slim Richardson came driving his brother into the house with a gun and how he and his brother were herded into the next room only to be driven right back out of the house again.

Hear Two Shots

He told of hearing Mr. Brown say, "Well, fellers what do you want?" and of hearing two shots follow immediately afterwards.

On cross examination, he was questioned about particulars, details of the kitchen and the room he and his brother were driven into, location of the kitchen table, the lamp on it and other matters.

He testified the light shone out of the kitchen door for several feet.

"Isn't it a fact that the man you call Walker never got in that light?" Schenck asked him.

"No, sir," he replied and later on described how Walker looked that night.

Schenck shot question after question to him after that in regards to identification of Walker, his method of identifying him and why he had not identified any man as Walker until the second grand jury. Hilton replied he hadn't seen Walker until the second grand jury.

Affirms Statements

On re-direct examination, he affirmed his statement that he was positive Walker was the man at the house that night.

Z. V. Best, Woodrow gin man, testified to having operated a tractor on a farm about a quarter of a mile east of Woodrow and said he was at his car near the road trying to fix a battery when a car passed him going toward Woodrow "around 9 o'clock."

On cross examination, he said he remembered seeing only this car pass that evening.

County Attorney Vaughn Wilson was the next witness on the stand and he testified he was at the Hilton home a few minutes after the shooting and later found a portion of a steel jacket from a bullet in a bathtub in a little room to the rear of the house. He identified a piece of jacket exhibited before the jury as the one he found.

G. P. Kuykendall, local automobile dealer, testified that he sold a new 1932 Chevrolet car to Jess Covington this year and that it was capable of making 70 miles an hour. He said he didn't remember the color of the car but that it probably was blue, black or some dark color.

Earnest On Stand

On cross examination, he testified he had sold approximately 100 cars from December until May.

Deputy Sheriff Will Earnest was the next witness. He told of finding the two empty shells at the scene and of digging a part of a bullet from a wall in the house the next morning. He identified the shells and bullets exhibited in court as the ones he found. Earnest also told of having attempted to track the killers car by the tire tread and said he followed it for several miles after having turned off a road leading north about a half mile west of Woodrow before turning around and coming back on it west.

He also testified he was present when the rifle was found in a lake several miles west of Lubbock on July 7. He said the gun was found in water about four feet deep.

On cross examination, Earnest said the Hilton's hadn't given but slight descriptions of the three men the night of the slaying. He said he, Mr. Ross and Durwood Bradley traveled "more than 75 miles the day before" trying to find the lake the gun was thrown in.

Leonard

the comeback trail after retirement undefeated over eight years ago, has whipped a score of ordinary youngsters in the past 15 months, but McLarnin is a 2 to 1 choice in the betting.

Leonard was a portly business man two years ago, his ring fortune apparently secure in real estate, part owner of the Pittsburgh franchise in the National Hockey league. The changed economic conditions swept him down. He knew but one way back, the ring.

He slipped away to a training camp, 35 years old, weighing around 180 pounds.

A Heavy Welterweight

Today he still scales slightly to leeward of 150 pounds, a heavy welterweight, but his face is thin again with the thinness of perfect physical condition. His arms are heavy with muscle, his legs strong and lively.

For years McLarnin, the baby-faced Vancouver dynamiter, has been an uncrowned champion, first of the lightweights, then the welterweight division. He has been the particular scourge of the Jewish youngsters who came up on Benny's trail from the ghetto, each with the label "another Leonard." He knocked out Sid Terris, Al Singer, and Ruby Goldstein, among these, along with a host of others.

The possibility that chronic bad hands may hamper him, however, and the fact that he was unimpressive in losing here to Lou Brouillard this summer, encourage Leonard and his backers.

Stocks Jog Along Quietly Thursday Little Disturbed By Heavy Grains

BY JOHN L. COOLEY,
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 6. (AP)—Stocks jogged along quietly today, little disturbed by continued heaviness of wheat and some uneasiness in bonds.

Trends shifted now and then, but leaders met support on moderate declines and the close was firm, with fractional gains fairly general. Chart followers noted that the market had refused to violate the mid-September resistance level, on the basis of averages, but felt it was perhaps too early to draw positive conclusions from this performance. Trading dropped to 1,045,102 shares.

Early offerings from weakened margin accounts were readily absorbed by covering and other buying, with the result that gains of a point or two were established in the morning. These held until early afternoon when farm implement shares turned reactionary. However, this slack was taken up late, although the market was hardly animated on the recovery.

Case, which had been off reduced its loss to about a point, while International Harvester cut a 2 point drop to a minor fraction. U. S. Steel, supported on a one point decline firmed to close up 3-4 net; there were similar gains for Bethlehem, Du Pont, Chrysler, United Aircraft, New York Central and North American. Montgomery Ward closed unchanged, notwithstanding the improvement of 12.7 per cent in September business over August. American Telephone finished a shade under Santa Fe and Southern Pacific railroads were off slightly. A number of preferred stocks softened, but they were largely inactives.

The weekly federal reserve statements showed an increase in currency in circulation of $44,000,000 for the week ended Oct. 5, which was regarded as moderate, in view of the usual sharp increase in the week marking the end of the month and the third quarter.

Livestock

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 6 (AP)—Under receipts of around 21,700 at eleven markets, trade on beef steers and yearlings settled down to about a steady basis but the weaker trend continued to prevail and some sales were listed 15-25 lower. Strictly choice offerings were extremely scace and very little was offered in the run eligible to sell up to 9.00. Chicago scored 9.40 on best 1426 lb. steers offered while other markets listed top prices on fed natives around 8.00-35. General bulk of fed consignments were of quality to sell at 5.25-8.00. A few plain grade western grass steers cashed at 3.00-4.25. Stockers and feeders were little changed with most of them in a spread of 3.50-5.50. Occasional loads of yearling stockers and fleshy feeders sell around 6.00-25. Receipt for the week to date at eleven markets numbered 204,100 as compared with 208,927 last week and 231,360 a year ago.

Hog values continued the downward trend again today with prices on early rounds listed unevenly 5-25 lower than yesterday's average business, while on the close some markets came in with as much as 30 reductions. Chicago listed as early top of 4.00.

to perform until the higher courts had ruled. She refused to certify, even though a temporary injunction issued by Judge Robertson, restraining her from so doing, fell with his decision that he did not have jurisdiction.

District Attorney John A. Valls of Webb county announced he intended to summon Ex-Governor James E. Ferguson before the next grand jury to testify as to the source of information on which he based charges of illegal voting in Webb county during the August 27 primary election.

"No man will be allowed to defame the honor of Webb county with impunity," Valls stated. "If the charges are true, they must be thoroughly examined. If groundless, the people are entitled to know that the complainants are dispensing the truth with their accustomed frugality."

Ferguson declined to comment on Valls' statement.

The governor's petition had charged more than 50,000 illegal or irregular votes had been cast for Mrs. Ferguson. The Fergusons filed an answer charging that approximately 25,000 illegal votes had been cast for Sterling and claimed 987 of them were in Webb county.

Awaits Court Decision

In announcing that she would not certify Mrs. Ferguson as the nominee, Mrs. McCallum said she had asked the supreme court to advise her concerning her course and she was awaiting its decision in the matter. The request was made by Mrs. McCallum in her answer to the action brought by Mrs. Ferguson seeking leave to file a petition to force placement of her name on the ballot.

Mrs. McCallum commented briefly on the decision of Judge Robertson.

"It is interesting to note," she stated, "that the supreme court of Texas, in the case of Dickson against Strickland, upon which Judge Robertson relied, said

"'The only election governed by section 3 of article 4, (giving the legislature the power to try contested elections for the office of governor) is the general election.'"

Primary Part Of Process

Judge Robertson held the primary was a part of the process of electing a governor and that the process would not be completed until after the November election.

There was some doubt as to whether a $1,500 bond filed by the governor's attorneys with the district clerk merely was an appeal bond or was a bond that superseded Judge Robertson's decision and kept alive the injunction restraining Mrs. McCallum from certifying Mrs. Ferguson.

The governor's counsel contended it was a supersedeas bond while employes in the district clerk's office said it was a bond to cover the appeal costs. S. A. Philquist, clerk of the court of civil appeals, said no judgment had been entered by Judge Robertson that could be held in abeyance by a supersedeas bond.

M. M. Crane of counsel for the governor said it had the effect of keeping the injunction alive.

One of the attorneys for the Fergusons said it did not make much difference, one way or another, since Mrs. McCallum had indicated she would not certify until Sterling's appeal had been decided.

Pending determination of the contest, the official ballots have been sent to county clerks with the space blank for the Democratic nominee.

Michigan last year sold and homesteaded 45,077 acres of state lands and 2,000 city lots for $190,000.

Accused of rape, a man was released from Lubbock county jail late Wednesday in bail of $1,000.

E. C. Brock, 38, of the 2200-block of Avenue H, charged with possession of liquor for sale, still was held in Lubbock county jail Thursday night. The complaint was filed by police in Justice of the Peace J. S. Connell's court Thursday.

Two other men and a woman, 18, arrested by police in a raid at Brock's residence, in which two gallons of whiskey allegedly were found, were released yesterday.

A gash on the leg, body bruises, and possibly other injuries were suffered by George Youngblood, 13, living at Seventh street and Avenue M, about noon Thursday when a bicycle the boy was riding collided at Thirteenth street and Avenue M. Police had no additional information last night on the name of the driver.

A considerable portion of loot which a suspect said he had sold or pawned in Amarillo has been resold, Geo. Eubank, Lubbock police identifications officer, said last night after he and a man suspected of several Lubbock burglaries had returned from Amarillo.

A shotgun and a clarinet were located, and the shotgun was carried to the Amarillo police station. Loot from the Lubbock residences is said to have been scattered over New Mexico and the Panhandle-Plains. A woman also is held in connection with the offenses.

Proclamation

America to observe one week in the year as Fire Prevention Week, the purpose of which is to bring to public attention the fact that the fire loss is everybody's loss and everybody's responsibility, and to impress the need for eliminating every condition that might cause or promote the spread of fire.

"Therefore, I, J. J. Clements, mayor of the city of Lubbock, to the end that needless destruction of life and property may be re... do hereby proclaim October ... 15th, A. D. 1932, as Fire Preven... Week in this city, and I call u... our citizens to clear their buildi... and premises of any and all cond... tions from which fires might occu...

"During the week let us individually and collectively stimulate interest in the work of eliminating fire hazards by actively engaging in a general campaign for that purpose. Let the ministers of the gospel and Sunday school superintendents on Sunday, October 9, appropriately mention the need for care about fire, and let the teachers in our schools throughout the week instruct the children under their care in the execution of fire drills, and teach them the dangers of fire and how it may be avoided.

"In testimony whereof, I hereunto sign my name and affix my seal of office on this, the 26th day of Sept. A. D. 1932.

J. J CLEMENTS, Mayor.

PAIN DEADENED CHEST COLDS LOOSENED WITHOUT DRUGS

Get quick relief from neuralgia pain, sciatica pain, neuritis pain, rheumatic pain, lame back, stiff neck, headache, strains and chest colds by rubbing plenty of Baume Bengue (pronounced Ben-Gay) on the spot. It doesn't blister or stain. Rub it in till it sinks down and soothes the pain or breaks up the chest cold. Take no drugs, for any drug that is powerful enough to "deaden" pain or loosen a chest cold may not be good for you.

But beware of imitations. Ask your druggist for Baume Bengue by name (called "Ben-Gay" in English). There are many analgesic baumes, mostly cheap imitations of Ben-Gay made out of synthetic drugs. That is why they are cheap. That is also why they are ineffective. Insist on Ben-Gay and you will get real results.

3 big "FIRSTS" to Phillips

Phillips was FIRST to offer a high gravity, premium quality gasoline without the usual extra charge of 3¢ more per gallon

Phillips was FIRST to publish the simple definite gravity figures of its gasoline every month. It's high test aplenty—right now 63.4° to 70.6°

Phillips was FIRST to offer a gasoline with Controlled Volatility, a gasoline scientifically matched to your weather when you buy it

Phillips 66

"HIGHEST TEST" at the price of ordinary gasoline

Thanks to you, Mr. Jones, in your Ford . . . To you, Mr. Smith, in your Cadillac . . . To you, Mr. Brown, in your Buick.

To all of you, and every one of the 7,000,000 motorists whose friendly and loyal patronage has swept Phillips 66 gasoline to the front, in the race for outstanding position in sales, we are sincerely grateful.

The world's greatest laboratory for testing gasoline is the city pavement and the open road. The world's greatest testers are the experienced drivers of new cars and old.

You, Mr. Motorist, and millions like you, are the practical, work-a-day scientists whose judgment determines whether a product measures-up in quality and value.

Phillips 66 . . . the greater gasoline . . . did not win your favor with clever words, exaggerated claims, or ballyhoo.

You heard of Phillips' three big "FIRSTS." You were open-minded enough to try a tankful. And the finer performance, the dramatic difference which you actually felt in your motor—this is what convinced you that Phillips 66 high test, with Controlled Volatility, at the price of low gravity gasoline, is the unsurpassed value in motor fuels.

After your first trial tankful, you came back for more. You told your friends about the sweeter, quieter operation . . . the sharp improvement in pick-up and get-away . . . the longer mileage . . . the split-second starting on days of freezing cold. In turn, these friends spread the good news about this greater gasoline. And thus swiftly, Phillips developed into such a sensational success, that it is still the talk of the entire petroleum industry.

We 11,000 members of the Phillips Organization appreciate, beyond what any words can say, the priceless word-of-mouth advertising which you have given our product.

We take this opportunity to assure you that the quality of Phillips 66 gasoline will continue to be ever high and ever constant—that at its price it will always offer more value for the money—that its extra high test will not cost you a penny of extra price, at any orange and black 66 shield.

Banks See End Of Depression

New President Of Bankers In Closing Address Declares Forerunners Of Improvement Are Appearing

LOS ANGELES Oct. 6. (AP)—A demand for sweeping changes in the banking system and a prediction that "the worst of the depression is passed" were made here today by Francis H. Sisson of New York new president of the American Bankers association.

Addressing the closing session of the fifty-eighth convention of the association which represents approximately sixty billion dollars of the country's resources, Sisson said he read the story of better times in the advance in prices of stocks, bonds and commodities and to an even greater extent, in the disappearance of the panicky spirit of a few months ago.

"There is reason to believe," he said, "that the worst of the depression is past and that the elements of improvement noted thus far are the forerunners of a more tangible recovery that will gradually raise business activity, earnings and employment to the levels that our natural and human resources give us the right to regard as normal."

A demand for sweeping changes in the banking system by congressional enactment has presented bankers with a new problem, he continued saying:

"It is the duty and privilege of bankers to see that changes are made in accord with sound principles and the present needs of the country. . . . Events have exposed weaknesses in our banking system, although when we consider the exceptional period through which we have passed we are justified in congratulating ourselves it has functioned as well as it has But we are forced to conclude that there is room for improvement."

Bankers, he went on, "have had to shoulder more than their share of blame during the bewilderment and discouragement of the depression."

"It is true," he explained, "that most bankers did not realize how severe and prolonged the reaction would be, but, with a very few exceptions, neither did anyone else. Bankers can not be indicted for not being more than human. Insofar as banking weaknesses have contributed to the difficulties of the last few years they are attributable mostly to the failure of bankers to foresee the inforseeable plus defects in the banking system for which no banker or group of bankers can fairly be held responsible.

"Full restoration of confidence will require time and the best efforts of bankers to reeducate a frightened public to the fact that its money is safer in the banks than it is anywhere else. Only to the extent that the public returns to the banks will the latter be enabled to play their essential part in financing business recovery.

"In facing the future, the bankers of this country can find abundant ground for pride in the fact that the greatest of all financial crisis has failed to shake the foundations of the American banking system."

Brief Interlude Of Business Now Occupies Demo Nominee

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 6. (AP)—A brief interlude of state business is occupying Governor Roosevelt's attention before he sets forth on the last big drive in his campaign for the presidency.

Pleased at the outcome of what his staff feels was the last big problem of his campaign, the nomination of Herbert H. Lehman for governor, Mr. Roosevelt today was making rapid progress with the pile of correspondence and other state matters that accumulated during the recent western trip.

He was preparing also to receive his running mate, John N. Garner, who is expected to visit Albany this week.

Mr. Roosevelt took time out yesterday long enough to see newspaper men and tell them he had not decided whether he would ask Alfred E. Smith to speak in his behalf in his campaign for the presidency.

Survivor Of Lake Disaster Relates Details Of Wreck

WELLAND, Ont., Oct. 6 (AP)—From a bed in a hotel here, one of the survivors of the freighter John J. Boland, Jr., which sank in Lake Erie yesterday in a heavy storm, today, told the Buffalo Evening News of his experiences.

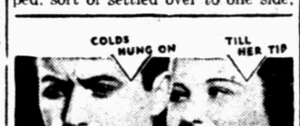

"We ran into a heavy fog and a rough sea and a few hours out of Erie, Pa., where we had taken on a cargo of coal," he told a News reporter. "At first we didn't see anything to get scared about. The first hint that something was wrong came when I felt the ship spinning around in the storm. Huge waves swept over the decks and soon the ship developed a list which made it impossible to launch the lifeboats on one side.

"We all dashed across the deck and tried to cut loose the boat on the other side. This one made the water all right. The boat then tipped, sort of settled over to one side, and we couldn't get another lifeboat off. The rest of us dove into the water and swam hard.

"I turned around to watch the boat after I swam away. I saw her turn upside down. The keel was sticking straight up in the air. She settled down, stern first, right after that and I saw a column of steam up into the air. Everybody in the water started swimming for a raft or a plank or hold on to. They got boat after a while."

Salvation Army's Home-Spun Radiance Brightens With Promise Of Aid Here

Supported by records of real-life cases, the home-spun radiance of the Lubbock Salvation Army corps' charity work brightens with the realization that the agency, in a dingy little frame building at 1404 Texas avenue, is handicapped by lack of adequate quarters, man-power, food, clothing, and bedding supplies.

The local corps, of which Capt. W. T. Wilson is commander, anticipates nothing more in quarters or personnel now, but it does hope to receive apparel, clothing, cots, and sleeping accessories by donation in a city-wide drive Saturday. Boy Scouts will collect donated bundles from porches. The local scout civic service committee is sponsoring the drive.

Miniature case studies at the Army headquarters show that last week, among many indigents, a woman and two small sons, one about 3 and the other about 8 years old, were sheltered and fed two days; a man, his wife, and their six-week-old son were sheltered, fed, and clothed seven days. The mother and baby also were given medical attention. A 76-year-old man was sheltered, fed, and clothed for 14 days recently.

Canned goods and food staples; all kinds of clothing, shoes, and headgear; cots, mattresses, and blankets are needed. Voluntary leaders opined that not all used clothes which Lubbock families do not need were given in a drive for needy school children recently. Automobiles are needed to collect Saturday's contributions. Car owners are asked to call City hall, No. 695.

A land grant issued in the year 1756 during the reign of King George II of England was found in an old desk at Erwin, N. C.
