Clayton Straight Talk New Speaker Outlines Legislative Goals

Outstanding Chamber Member
... Eddie Piland

"We must weigh our priorities and use prudence in carrying them out," Speaker of the Texas House of Representatives Bill Clayton told some 300 persons Friday night at the 66th annual Colorado City Chamber of Commerce banquet.

"Never before has a session of the legislature been presented with the challenges that face us today," Clayton noted.

"As we near the celebration of our 200th birthday, we have an opportunity to restore the principles of good and creditable government, conceived by our founding fathers."

"You as citizens are very much a part of good government. I as a legislator have the responsibility to represent your views. If I receive no input from those I represent, good government is harder to come by."

"As President Kennedy once said, we must remember that the people come first, not government. This state government needs participation from every part of our economy, and from every part of our society. We all have a common goal for this state."

"We all believe in the principles of democracy. We have to work diligently to make our system prosper. It takes informed citizens to elect leaders and it takes responsible leaders not to forget who elected them."

"Your viewpoints are not neglected."

"I believed our nation has been purged of secrecy and double dealing in government. The Days of Iron Clad Rule are Gone. The public won't stand for it. We live under a government where the majority viewpoints prevail but where minority views are not condemned. I am a conservative, but I, as most of you, have seen gradual change benefit our country."

"The needs of Texans today are not the needs of our forefathers who crossed the western prairies and settled the frontiers."

The news media has predicted that this session will be one of the toughest legislative sessions in history.

"They list a number of problems that we must face"--school financing, property tax reform, a large surplus to zealously guard, constitutional revision, energy conservation."

"It is my hope that with your help we can meet this crucial challenge, that we can make enemies of waste, duplication and red tape in government," Clayton said. "We will need your support, your ideas, as we work on needed legislation." The school financing issue is perhaps the most important issue facing the legislature during this session, the speaker reported. There have been many proposals, he noted. "It is my hope that we can move cautiously in determining the best plan for all Texans."

"If this session is known for anything it should be known for the strides we make in obtaining a sound school financing plan."

"It is also my hope that we can put before you a revised constitution. Certainly we have a good constitution in many cases. But there are some parts of our constitution that are antiquated. I don't run my business like I did 20 years ago. We just can't go in a horse and buggy fashion. I don't believe the money we spent in last year's constitutional convention was in vain."

"The challenges we face are great," Clayton concluded.

In an interview after his speech, Clayton said he believes as does Gov. Dolph Briscoe that the state government can carry on without a tax increase during the next two years.

Clayton also noted that he is opposed to a utility commission, as is Briscoe. However, there is a great clamor for some type of regulations and Clayton said what will probably come out of this is a group of advisors that will help cities in dealing with utility companies that request rate increases.

Registration For Courses Continues

Late registrations are still being taken for Western Texas College classes in Colorado City. Last night for late registration will be Tuesday night.

Classes are being taught at Colorado High School and anyone interested in registering in classes available may do so by going directly to the classroom and contacting the instructor for a particular course.

Classes being taught in Colorado City this semester include Freshman English, two classes of mid-management (salesmanship and practice), Spanish 131 and 132, office accounting, American History since 1865, Introduction to Sociology, and Child Growth and Development.

Other classes on business machines is full.

Dr. Duane Hood told the Record that some 100 students have registered thus far compared to 112 last semester at the Colorado City campus.

Members of the board of Western Texas College were in Colorado City last week looking at Wallace School as the possible site for a WTC satellite campus. Wallace will be closed when the new high school is completed here and the existing high school is remodeled to handle 6th, 7th and 8th grades.

C-City School Enrollment

At 1,544

Colorado City schools are close to the statewide breakdown in racial background, according to the biennial report of the Texas Education Agency.

The state report shows there are 61 per cent Anglo students; 23 per cent Mexican American and 16 per cent black.

In Colorado City, there are

56 per cent Anglo; 34.3 per cent Mexican American and 9.7 per cent black. School officials reported Friday that enrollment in Colorado City schools is now at 1544 compared to 1570 last year.

10,844 Bales

Two Close To County Count

Bale counts from the county's gins show 10,844 bales of cotton processed so far this season. Totals from the seven gins show the following:

- Buford Coop Gin, 1,940 bales.
- China Grove Coop Gin, 2,263 bales.
- Colorado Gin Co., 397 bales.
- Farmers Gin, 800 bales.
- Lorraine Coop Gin, 2,660 bales.
- Planters Gin, 848 bales.
- Producers Coop Gin, 1,936 bales.
- Total, 10,844 bales.

Not all of the cotton was grown in county fields. For a rough estimate of the number of Mitchell County bales, divide China Grove's total by half and take one-third off the Lorraine amount, leaving roughly 8,343 bales from Mitchell County.

Drizzle and light rains in the county Wednesday night, Thursday and Thursday night brought the cotton harvest to a halt for the time being as farmers wait for fields to dry out. Although the gins are not closing down, most of them were set to wait out the weekend until more stripped cotton comes into the yards.

Although the 8,343-bale figure is merely an estimate of cotton produced in the county, (the final correct total will be available from Mitchell County ASCS office when ginning season closes), a glance over the predictions made during the Farm Tour last September shows two guesses fairly close to that amount--Herbert Mearse, 8,834 bales and Jim Kelley, 8,972 bales.

Those were the only guesses in the 8,000 range.

Guessing in the 9,000's were the following: E. B. Carlock, 9,213; Maggie Hamrick, 9,450; Wayne Oliver, 9,560; Raymond Wheeler, 9,629; Charles Williams, 9,867 and Murrell Blassingame, 9,999.

Other estimates were upwards of 10,000, with the exception of two guesses under 8,000--Mrs. Murrell Blassingame, 6,074 and Bit Terry, 5,777.

When the harvest is officially over and final production figures are completed at the ASCS office, the person whose guess was closest to the actual amount will receive a $10 gift certificate from Landau's, with the suggestion that the receiver buy something made of cotton.

Chamber Awards Standing Ovation For Marion Bassham

Recognitions for outstanding service to the community were presented during the 66th annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet Friday night in the Civic Center.

Leading off presentations, Eddie Mitchell, manager of local offices of Sweetwater Production Credit Association, announced Mr. and Mrs. Alton Raschke as 1974 recipients of the Outstanding Agricultural Family Award.

Raschke and wife Linda, a second grade teacher at Westbrook, have two children, Mark and Robin. He farms 1,400 acres in the county, raising cotton, grain and cattle. Raschke also organized the Tractor-Pull for the Chamber, held for the first time this year in conjunction with the Mitchell County Fair, and also worked as one of the fair organizers. He is also president of Mitchell County Farm Bureau and a worker in St. Ann's Catholic Church.

New Chamber president B. B. Hardee presented the Outstanding Chamber Member Award to Eddie Piland, citing his work in Chamber financial affairs, holding both offices of secretary and treasurer to the Chamber's board of directors and work with the Industrial Team. In addition, Piland has been a member of the city council and was recipient of the Jaycee Distinguished Service Award in 1967.

Piland and his wife, Joy, have two sons, Mark and Jay, and are members of the First Baptist Church, where he is a deacon.

Mrs. Aldred Pickens, wife of Chamber executive vice president Sefton Pickens and president of B&PW Club, presented the B&PW Woman of the Year Award to Mrs. Marion Bassham, City Councilwoman and nurse at Root Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Pickens commended her efforts in organizing the Pink Ladies, the Woman's Auxiliary at the hospital, and for helping other community projects, such as her efforts in behalf of Woodland School. Mrs. Pickens opened her remarks by stating that Mrs. Bassham had reared three children and was the proud grandmother of four and is also a member of First United Methodist Church in Colorado City, helping on the administrative board of the church and the worship committee.

Mrs. Bassham was given a standing ovation by the more than 300 persons attending the banquet following her emotional acceptance remarks.

Larry Ivy, last year's recipient of the Jaycee Distinguished Service Award, presented Don Banta with the award for 1974. Banta has been a Jaycee for 10 years, winning the Spoke and Sparkplug awards and named outstanding Jaycee in 1972. Banta has done volunteer work for the Mitchell County Boys' Club since its inception, spending many hours each week with the boys at the club. He is also active in the Woodland School organization and with TARs, Teens Aid the Retarded, as well as a member of the Kiwanis Club and First Christian Church.

Master of Ceremonies Joe Bell, former owner-publisher of the Colorado City Record and presently administrative aide to Rep. Elmer Martin in Austin, drew laughs and applause from the crowd on numerous occasions, but when he spoke in a serious vein, was listened to appreciatively.

Stockholders To Meet Monday

The annual stockholders meeting of Colorado City Industrial Team, Inc. will be held Monday afternoon in City National Bank, starting at 2 o'clock. Officers to lead the Team during the coming year will be elected as well as three directors to succeed outgoing directors J. Lee Jones Jr., Willie Landau and Mac McKinnon.

Other directors of the Industrial Team presently are Charles C. Thompson, G. D. Foster, J. S. Craddock Jr., Bob Reilly, Charles Root and Sefton Pickens.

Three new industries were brought to the city during the past year through efforts of the Industrial Team--Larmer Manufacturing, assemblers of a new type pump and stairwells and handrails; Iron Star Pottery, the new pottery factory, and Northwestern Fur Co. opened a fur buying office here. The fund drive launched last spring by the Industrial Team amassed almost $50,000, the campaign goal, toward attracting new industry here.

★ Rain Gauge

Rainfall amounts reported in the city during the week totaled .15 inch, with Lorraine reporting .2 inch. Other places in the county reported slight amounts, enough to halt cotton stripping.

Community Prayer Week Service Held

Tuesday night, Community Prayer Week Observance was held in the Fellowship Hall of the First United Methodist Church. It was a meeting of prayer about the needs of our community and a discussion of what some of those needs were and how they might be met by the combined efforts of persons from many churches.

The meeting was planned by an interreligious group representing many of the churches of our town. About sixty persons attended.

Some of the needs expressed were: the continuation of Sunday morning religious services by the Ministerial Alliance at the State Park and the need for funds to construct a building in which to hold the services. The suggestion that memorials might be given to the Ministerial Alliance for this purpose was made;

FISH - what it does and why it was necessary to discontinue it. The group feels FISH is needed and discussed ways it might be renewed;

Meals on Wheels - The group was told there are government funds available for this program. It is being carried on successfully in several neighboring towns and concern was expressed about the loneliness of older persons and the need of a program where older persons could be telephoned once a day.

Also discussed was the need for cards with emergency numbers - hospital, doctor's exchange, ambulance - in motels and service stations; the possibility of being helpful to the relatives of sick and injured hospital patients a long distance from home and the specification was made ahead of time no action would be taken at this meeting. Only feeling the need of Christians working together was its aim. However, it is hoped that from this meeting some people will be stimulated to act.

Members of the planning committee were: Mrs. Ace McShan, Episcopal; Lloyd Kincaid, First Christian; Mrs. O. K. Stubbs, First Baptist; Frank Hood, Presbyterian; Mrs. Mineola Floyd, Mt. Zion Baptist; Mrs. Jean Russell, St. James Baptist and Kenneth Monroe, St. James Baptist.

Also Alton Raschke, Catholic; Mrs. Pat Kelley, Catholic; Mrs. Pat Stricklin, Catholic; Mrs. Pat Chinn, Catholic; Mrs. Lillian Vest, Plainview Baptist; Mrs. Dorothy Fowler, Payne Chapel Methodist; Mrs. Della Fox, First Methodist and Dr. and Mrs. Bill Rhode, First Methodist.

Aside from various members of the Committee, Mrs. Janice Wood, Mrs. Frances Deregibus and Mrs. Jean Edwards participated in the prayer service.

The program, an annual event, is aimed at making Christmas a little happier for approximately 500 children from nine Korean orphanages.

Festivities began with a visit from Santa Claus who distributed bags of candy to the youngsters. Next came a sentry dog demonstration, a tour of the base and dinner at the dining hall after which the children were treated to a movie and ice cream sodas.

Sergeant Harrison is an information technician with the 2146th Communications Group.

The sergeant, a 1959 graduate of Colorado High School, attended San Angelo State University, Texas Western College and the University of Maryland European Division in Germany.

Members of the Board:

We have examined the balance sheet of the Westbrook Rural High School District as of August 31, 1974 and the related analysis of changes in reserves and fund balances, comparisons of official budget with revenues and expenditures, and the bond schedule for the year then ended. Judge Shepherd And M. M. Carter Traveled To County Seats In Canvas Topped Wagon

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is the second and final part of the biography that appeared in Thursday's paper. The biography was written by Robert A. Shepherd, son of Judge James Leftwich Shepherd.)

In November of 1902, James L. Shepherd, by then an experienced attorney in the practice of civil and criminal law, was appointed by Governor Joseph D. Sayers to fill the unexpired term of Judge William R. Smith, also of Colorado City, as Judge of the 32nd Judicial District of Texas, effective about December 1, 1902.

Judge Smith had been elected to Congress from the 16th District and served until the end of 1916, when he was appointed by President Woodrow Wilson as Judge of the U. S. District Court for the Western District of Texas at El Paso, where he served with distinction for many years. Judge Smith had been appointed Judge of the 32nd Judicial District by Governor Charles A. Culberson in May of 1897 to fill the unexpired term of Judge William Kennedy who had died in office and who was the first judge of the 32nd District. Judge Kennedy had been appointed by Governor John Ireland when the 32nd District was created in 1884. He was the father-in-law of Judge Edw. W. Smith, also an attorney in Colorado City, who was a first cousin of Judge W. R. Smith, and who afterwards moved to San Antonio and served with distinction as Chief Justice of the Court of Civil Appeals there.

Soon after Mitchell County was organized, it was included in the 12th Judicial District by Act of the Legislature effective March 30, 1881. This district also contained Stephens, Shackelford, Nolan, Taylor, Callahan, and Eastland Counties. T. B. Wheeler was Judge of the 12th Judicial District and so remained during the three and one-half years that Mitchell and Nolan and certain other counties, afterwards included in the 32nd District, were a part of the 12th District.

By Act of the Legislature effective March 27, 1893, the 12th District was enlarged tremendously and, in addition to including numerous counties which were never in the 32nd District, also added Howard and the unorganized counties of Kent, Garza, Borden, Martin, Dawson, Lynn, Terry, Yoakum, Gaines, and Andrews, all of which were afterwards in the 32nd.

The 32nd District was created by the Legislature effective September 1, 1884, and extended farther east than its later boundaries since it included Taylor, Jones, and Fisher Counties, but did not extend as far to the west or northwest. It was an extremely large district when created and was afterwards made larger so that when Judge Shepherd assumed office, even though Taylor, Jones, and Fisher Counties, as well as a few other counties, had been removed, it was still of tremendous proportions. It consisted of 17 counties, including Nolan, Mitchell, Howard, Martin, Midland, Ector, Crane, Upton, Glascock, Borden, Garza, Lynn, Dawson, Yoakum, Terry, Gaines, and Andrews. It contained a total of 15,300 square miles and extended 180 miles north and south and 177 miles east and west, which was increased to 212 miles after the addition of Ward County in 1905. It was three times as large as Connecticut, more than twelve times as large as Rhode Island, and larger than the states of Rhode Island, Massachusetts, and Connecticut combined.

Although almost half of the counties were unorganized and many were sparsely settled, yet only six of the county seats could be reached by rail; so it was a formidable undertaking to try to hold court over the district in accordance with the schedules prescribed by law, since there were no main highways and limited means of transportation, as the automobile was just beginning to be used in that area.

M. M. Carter, also of Colorado City, was the District Attorney and he and Judge Shepherd were friends of long-standing and usually travelled together. Mrs. Carter was the younger sister of Captain R. C. (Dick) Ware, one of the famous early-day Texas Ranger captains who was reputed to have killed Sam Bass at Round Rock. He was the first sheriff of Mitchell County, serving from 1881 to 1892.

As mentioned before, travel was difficult in a large portion of the district and, when the county seats could not be reached by rail, Judge Shepherd and Mr. Carter would usually rent a small canvas-topped wagon, called a "hack," and a team horses from the most conveniently located livery stable and drive from county seat to county seat and frequently camp out at night and cook their own meals when they could not reach the next county seat by dark. This action was probably also taken as a measure of economy, since the State paid no part of the expenses of the District Judge or the District Attorney at that time.

They would begone from their homes in Colorado City some two and one-half to three months in the spring and again in the fall to hold court at the various county seats in the district, as Colorado City was almost at the eastern extremity, only Sweetwater being to the east of it.

Judge Shepherd had an innate sense of justice, knew instinctively what was right and what was wrong and tried to bring about an equitable solution to all controversies and to see that just sentences were imposed in criminal cases. He tried to be absolutely impartial, and friend and foe looked alike to him in the court room. His many years of active practice before he went on the bench had made him well acquainted with most aspects of the law, but he was probably at his best when presiding over suits involving real estate, such as trespass to try title and boundary suits, since he was a graduate civil engineer and had surveyed thousands of acres of land in West Texas before studying law and receiving his license to practice law.

Judge Shepherd presided at many important land title and boundary suits between some of the larger ranchers in that area where a great deal of bad feelings had developed between the parties, and murder trials where the families and friends were very wrought up over the matter, and it frequently became necessary for him to call upon the Texas Rangers to cope with the situation and maintain order in the courtroom, where the local officers could not do so or were reluctant to take the necessary measures because of the political consequences which might be involved.

A company of Texas Rangers was stationed in Colorado City from its earliest days and until some time after Judge Shepherd retired from office. Two captains of these companies, Captain Frank Johnson and Captain J. A. Brooks, for whom Brooks County was named and who was its first County Judge, lived with their families, directly across the street from Judge Shepherd.

Most of the ranchers were always armed when on their ranches and some wore their "six shooters" on their belts when they came to town. This was strictly against the law, and their guns had to be collected by the local officers or by the Rangers when they entered the courthouse.

At the time Judge Shepherd assumed office, the salary of a District Judge was $2500 a year, with no allowance for expenses. The salary of the District Attorney was $500 a year, with an additional allowance of $15 a day for each day he was engaged in the trial of a criminal case, but with a maximum of $2495, thus establishing a differential of at least $5 per year between the salary of the District Judge and the salary of the District Attorney, but with the possibility that this differential might be much greater if the docket included few criminal cases.

Effective January 1, 1906, the Legislature increased the salaries of District Judges to $3000 a year, but it was not until June of 1911 that District Judges and District Attorneys were given any relief on their expenses. For the first time they were given an allowance for expenses, but limited to counties outside the counties of their residence. Provision was made by the Legislature for an amount not to exceed $2.00 a day for hotel bills, 5¢ a mile when traveling by railroad, which was the maximum legal rate that could be charged by railroads at that time, and not to exceed 15¢ a mile when traveling by private conveyance, but not more than $200 in any one year. The 32nd District was gradually reduced in size by successive Acts of the Legislature so that when Judge Shepherd retired from office it had become much more manageable in area but probably there was no reduction in the volume of work due to the rapid growth of most of that area of West Texas. Effective June 30, 1905, the District was reduced to 15 counties by removing Lynn, Yoakum and Terry and adding Ward; effective February 3, 1909, the District was reduced to seven counties, consisting of Nolan, Mitchell, Howard, Martin, Dawson, and Garza; and effective March 25, 1911, the District was reduced to five counties by removing Dawson and Garza, since they were more accessible to other areas after the Santa Fe Railroad was built through Post City in 1910. The 32nd District is now composed of Nolan, Mitchell, and Fisher Counties.

Beginning with the date in 1881 when Mitchell and Nolan Counties were included in the 12th District, and extending to the time when Judge Shepherd was appointed Judge of the 32nd District, the Court Records in Mitchell County show the appointment, or election, of various special judges to act when the regular judge was ill, absent or disqualified. Some of these men were appointed by the Governor in office at the time, some were judges of other Districts and were requested by the local judge to act for him, but most were elected by majority vote of the members of the Bar present when Court convened.

Three of these special judges will be mentioned, but only because of certain connections known to the writer which might be of general interest.

Judge Ed J. Hammer of the 39th District served at the request of Judge Kennedy. He later moved to Colorado City and was Judge Shepherd's law partner, as heretofore mentioned.

Judge T. H. Conner of the 42nd District served because of the disqualification of Judge William R. Smith. After the death of Judge Conner's first wife, he returned to Colorado City and married Miss Ella Dry of that city, and they lived in Fort Worth for many years when he was Chief Justice of the Court of Civil Appeals there.

George W. Smith of Colorado City served as Special District Judge on two occasions during the term of Judge William R. Smith, who was his nephew, as was Edward W. Smith, later Chief Justice of the Court of Civil Appeals at San Antonio. George W. Smith had left Colorado City in December of 1890, to become Secretary of State under Governor James S. Hogg, and returned there at the end of 1894 when Governor Hogg's second term was finished. He had come to Texas from Georgia and had been County Judge of Smith County before he moved to Mitchell County. He had been a "drummer boy" in the Confederate Army.

Both of his sons were lawyers. The elder, Royal, practiced in Colorado City and El Paso, and then for many years in San Antonio; and the younger, Thomas R., graduated in engineering and followed that profession for some time, then changed to law and practiced law in Colorado City until his death.

All three of the sons of Judge William R. Smith were lawyers. The oldest, Breedlove, practiced law in Washington and El Paso; Myron A. practiced for many years in Fort Worth, and still lives there; and William Robert, former U. S. District Attorney at San Antonio, still practices law there.

After Judge Shepherd finished his last term in office, he formed a partnership with L. W. Sandusky, an outstanding trial lawyer of Colorado City, under the name of Shepherd and Sandusky, and they continued together for some time. Judge Shepherd's oldest son, James L. Shepherd, practiced law with his father during the summer of 1917 but accepted a position with Baker, Botts, Parker & Garwood, now Baker & Botts, and moved to Houston on September 1, 1917.

World War I slowed down the legal business, as it did many other businesses; and after the Ranger and Breckenridge Oil Fields were discovered in 1918, Judge Shepherd decided to move to Eastland County and opened an office in Cisco, Texas, in the fall of 1918. His oldest daughter, Madeline, went with him to keep house for him, but Mrs. Shepherd and the two youngest children, Julia and Garland, stayed in Colorado City until school was out in May of 1919, and then moved to Cisco.

Judge and Mrs. Shepherd were both Baptists and joined the First Baptist Church at Colorado City soon after they were married. Judge Shepherd was an active Democrat, a member of the Texas and American Bar Associations, and was active in the Masonic Lodge, being both a 32nd Degree Scottish Rite Mason and Knight Templar. He was a great student of the Bible, as his mother and father and his grandparents had taught him the Bible from early childhood and he could recall a large number of passages and quote them verbatim. His grandfather, James Leftwich, for whom he was named, was a Baptist minister, as was William Leftwich, the father of James. About a year after Judge Shepherd moved to Cisco, he formed a partnership with Judge Eugene Langford under the firm name of Shepherd and Langford. Judge Langford was formerly a Circuit Judge in Arkansas.

Afterwards, Judge Shepherd's son, Robert A. Shepherd, was associated with him for a few months, ending on Christmas of 1921, when Robert A. moved to Houston to become associated with the firm of Vinson, Elkins & Wood, now Vinson, Elkins, Searls, Connally & Smith. Judge Shepherd then continued his practice alone until his death on February 1, 1935.

The Shepherd family had decided to move to Houston since the two older sons, James L., Jr. and Robert A., and their families already lived there, and the youngest son, Garland F., lived in Beaumont. Mrs. Shepherd and the rest of the family had already left for Houston but Judge Shepherd stayed behind to close some legal matters he was handling when he became seriously ill and was rushed to a hospital in Fort Worth, but died soon after his arrival. He was buried in Oakwood Cemetery at Austin by the side of his mother and his sister, Blanche Shepherd. Mrs. Shepherd died in Houston more than 23 years later, on June 12, 1958, and was buried in Oakwood Cemetery at Huntsville, Texas, with her mother and father and other members of the Josey family.

As already mentioned, Judge Shepherd and Mrs. Shepherd both taught school and four of their children also taught: James L., Jr., at Seymour and Mexico, B. C. A. at the McKenzie School in the southeast corner of Mitchell County, a one-room, one-teacher school with eight grades; Madeline taught in Edinburg; and Julia taught in Cisco Junior College.

Judge Shepherd's career as a lawyer and judge may have also affected the lives of many of the male members of his family. James L., Jr. graduated from the University of Texas Law School in 1917, and after practicing law with his father for a short while, accepted a position with Baker, Botts, Parker & Garwood (now Baker & Botts) of Houston on September 1, 1917, and had a distinguished career there and in the various Bar associations, having been President of the Houston and Texas Bar Associations and Chairman of the House of Delegates of the American Bar Association. He was a senior member of the firm then known as Baker, Botts, Shepherd and Coates when he died on October 12, 1964. Robert A. was a student in the Law School of the University of Texas when this country entered World War I, and he immediately enlisted in the First Officers Training Camp, so his legal studies were interrupted for some time, but were finally completed in his father's office and he received his license in July of 1921. He remained with his father for several months and was then invited to come to Houston with the firm of Vinson, Elkins and Wood. He remained with that firm and its successors for 49 years, and retired as a senior partner of Vinson, Elkins, Searls, Connally & Smith on December 31, 1970. He now maintains his own office in Houston. Robert A. Shepherd, Jr., was a student in the University of Texas when World War II began and immediately enlisted, but graduated from the University of Texas Law School in 1948, was employed by the Vinson, Elkins firm and became a partner. He resigned to enter the oil business and open his own law office, which he now maintains in Houston. Ford Hubbard, the husband of Julia Shepherd, worked in the oil business for many years, then studied law at South Texas College of Law and secured a license to practice law in Texas, which he still maintains, but has not engaged in the practice of law except for his own business purposes. Ford Hubbard, Jr. is a graduate of the University of Texas Law School, but went into the banking business and is a Senior Vice President of Southern National Bank, but maintains his license to practice law. However, the interest of the Hubbards in the legal profession cannot be attributed solely to Judge Shepherd's career in this field, since F. Morse Hubbard, the father of Ford Hubbard, and grandfather of Ford, Jr., was a prominent attorney in New York City for many years.

Marion Shepherd, the daughter of Robert A., Jr., is a University of Texas graduate and her husband, Greg T. Frazer, has just graduated from the University of Texas Law School in June of 1974, and is with Baker & Botts of Houston. David P. Shepherd, the younger brother, is a pre-law student in the University of Texas, and his wife, Patty, is also a student there. However, when David receives his law degree, neither his father nor his grandfather Shepherd, nor his great grandfather, Judge Shepherd, can be given full credit for his interest in the law, since another great grandfather, Judge

Sam Streetman, was also very prominent in legal circles. Judge Streetman first practiced law in Cameron, Texas, which was his home, then in 1902 moved to Austin to serve on the Court of Civil Appeals there, and in 1904 moved to Houston as a partner in the firm of Andrews & Ball, with the name changed to Andrews, Ball & Streetman. At the time of Judge Streetman's death, the firm name was Andrews, Streetman, Logue & Mobley, and is now Andrews, Kurth, Campbell & Jones. One of Judge Streetman's sons, William Melver Streetman, has just completed his 50th year with that firm.

The whole key to Israel was, they were a God-governed people. They were purchased, Exodus 15:16, "Till they pass over, O Lord, till the people pass over, which thou hast purchased." Psalms 74:2, "Remember thy congregation which thou hast purchased of old, the rod of thine inheritance, which thou hast redeemed, this Mount Zion, wherein thou hast dwelt."

God had a right to govern the people, because He purchased them. They were His and God ruled and reigned over them.

Jesus talks about the church in the New Testament. In Acts 20:28 He talks about the church purchased with His own blood. In Titus 2:14 "Who gave Himself for us, that He might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto Himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works." I Cor. 6:20, "For ye are bought with a price." I Peter 2:9, "But ye are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, a Holy nation, a peculiar people, that ye should show forth the praises of Him who hath called you out of darkness into His marvelous light."

You and I will never flow freely with the eternal purpose of God, till we settle in our hearts, you are God's lock, stock and barrel.

When God talks about the church He was talking about a people who desired to be governed. And from the moment He died and purchased us by His blood, you became God's property.

One of the great words I like about salvation is redeemed. We sold ourselves into sin but Jesus bought us back for God. It is joy to know He bought you, He holds everything about you, all you are, have, and ever will be is now His. It is the terms and conditions of the contract, and they will never be altered or changed.

I have little trouble with that phrase, "God's Chosen People," when it's pointed toward Palestine. We are God's chosen people, because He bought us, purchased us, we're His. We are God's totally, completely and fully. We used to belong to the devil, but we don't belong to him anymore. We used to walk in darkness, now in light. Our citizenship used to be on this earth, now it is in Heaven.

When you come into the New Testament the whole concept of being a God-governed people is wrapped up in one thing, The Lordship of Jesus. Because God has bought you He can and will do with you whatever He wants to, and you have no right to complain. The great protection about being God's, is that He will never do anything that is not in your best interest.

We can say, God I'm yours, and you can do anything with me you like. And I can trust that, because everything about you is love, Rev. 1:5, "Unto Him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in His blood and hath made us Kings and Priests unto God and His Father." Rev. 5:9, "For thou wast slain, and hath redeemed us to God by thy blood out of every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation. And hath made us unto our God Kings and Priests, and we shall reign on this earth."

God is going to make His people into a Kingdom. If there is going to be a Kingdom, there has to be a King.
