Local Budget Presented For Consideration

Special Meeting Of Leaders Likely Will Be Staged On Monday To Consider Budget And Future Rate

Figures Offered

Sixteen Street Paving Projects Authorized And Establishment Of A Traffic School Is Approved

A TAX rate reduction of 5 cents on the $100 valuation was hinted at a meeting of City commission in City hall yesterday afternoon.

When an ordinance setting the rate at 60 cents on the $100 valuation, unchanged from last year, was proposed the commissioners decided to postpone action. They indicated they would attempt to reduce the rate by revision of the budget for the fiscal year.

Budget Is Presented

The budget, completed by Auditor D. D. Martin, was presented at the meeting. Action on it was delayed, too.

A special meeting of the commission Monday to consider both the budget and the tax rate is likely.

The proposed budget showed that requirements for the interest and sinking fund would be $174,190. Taxes were estimated to raise $111,375. A transfer of $72,000 from the general fund to the interest and sinking fund would bring the total to $183,375, or $9,185 more than the requirement.

Anticipated Income

The budget showed the following anticipated income:

Electric plant, $130,000; water works system, $117,500; miscellaneous, $18,300; delinquent taxes, $1,000. Total funds expected to be available would be $296,250, including $22,800 on hand at the beginning of the fiscal year.

Expenses included: General departments, $174,540; capital outlay, $26,260; miscellaneous, $84,450, including the $72,000 transfer to the interest and sinking fund. Total anticipated expenses of $285,250 would leave an unexpended balance of $11,000.

A reduction of the tax rate of 5 cents on the $100 valuation would save taxpayers approximately $10,000.

Projects Authorized

The commission also authorized 18 street paving projects and authorized establishment of a traffic school, sponsored by the South Plains Automobile association and the police department. Traffic law violators would be required, under the plan, to attend the school.

Paving of the following streets, depending on co-operation of property owners, was authorized:

Twentieth street from El Camino avenue to the City limits.

Twenty-first street from Avenue

Four Persons Are Feared To Be Lost In A Missing Plane

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Aug. 22. (AP) — A missing airplane with three prominent Fairbanks residents aboard was sought today between Dawson, Y. T., and this city.

The plane, piloted by Arthur F. Hines, left Dawson last Monday in the face of what other pilots said was unfavorable weather.

Aboard the plane, besides the pilot were John Lotz, Fairbanks merchant; his bride of a month, and Alton Nordale, clerk of the United States district court and representative of the fourth division at the last session of the legislature.

Officers Selected By Tech Students

Joseph Webb was named president of the summer graduating class of Texas Technological college, at a meeting of seniors at 4 p. m. Thursday in room 302 of the administration building. Hugo Horseman and Miss Inez Earl were elected vice president and secretary-treasurer, respectively.

Tentative plans for a picnic Tuesday at Buffalo Springs were made.

Graduation services will be conducted at 8:15 p. m. Aug. 28, on the campus before the administration building.

Lubbock Is Chosen As District Office Of 100 Counties For Youth Administration

LUBBOCK Thursday was designated district office for about 100 counties to be grouped in the National Youth administration setup, a telegram to the chamber of commerce from George Mahon, representative to congress, announced.

Lyndon Johnson, Texas director of the administration, left Washington for Austin and will setup the office here within about 10 days, Mr. Mahon said.

The Lubbock territory will be bounded by El Paso and Amarillo, further announcement said.

The Colorado representative said another office probably would be established at Dallas. It and the Lubbock office will offer "one-man" jobs, Mr. Johnson explained.

Rep. Mahon said he had recommended Lubbock strongly because Texas Technological college is located here and because the city is a logical center in which to direct the NYA activities for West Texas.

The $50,000,000 NYA program was launched by President Roosevelt June 26 and is designed for training young people and supplying them with jobs. It is proposed under its outline to care for about

Great Britain Is Prepared To Use Display Of Force In Her Efforts To Halt African War

Peaceful Settlement Will Be Sought But, This Failing, More Drastic Measures Are To Be Employed

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Aug. 22.—Great Britain, an advised informant told the Associated Press tonight, will go to any length under the League covenant to try to prevent war in Africa.

If other powers join her, he said, she will subscribe not only to financial and economic pressure upon the aggressor but to the use of military, naval and air sanctions. (In other words display of force).

Might Close Canal

She will even consider joint closure of the Suez canal, he said.

The informant said the cabinet, in emergency session, decided to seek a peaceful settlement by every possible device but, if that fails, to advocate the use of the strongest League instrumentalities provided—and this was definite—she does not stand alone.

Britain does not intend to police the world single-handedly, he said.

The cabinet agreed that a formal approach to the United States looking toward cooperation outside the League is unnecessary at present. If events justify it, such an approach can be made.

Support All Treaties

It emphasized, the informant said, its determination to support the covenant of the League and all treaties.

He added the League of Nations must decide the type of sanctions to be employed in event of hostilities and how forcefully they are likely to be employed.

The cabinet surprised most quarters by temporarily maintaining the ban on arms exports to both Ethiopia and Italy. This matter was left in the hands of key ministers, who may lift it before the meeting of the League council Sept. 4 if they think the move is necessary.

Maintenance of the ban was regarded as a gesture to Italy.

New peace moves toward Italy were initiated at the urgent request of Premier Pierre Laval of France. Laval, it was learned, urged Hoare and Eden to approach Mussolini further in diplomatic channels.

Prospects For Large Flood Control Project Brightening

AUSTIN, Aug. 22. (AP)—Prospects for the state's largest flood control undertaking brightened sharply today as H. P. Drought, state WPA administrator, approved "in principle" a $33,000,000 WPA project for the Brazos river.

Because of the great detail involved in 13 applications, Drought was unable to forecast when the project would be submitted to Washington offices of the Works Progress administration.

BOASTS OF KILLINGS

AUBURN, Calif., Aug. 22. (AP) — Earl "Bud" Kimball boasted in his jail cell here tonight that he had killed 25 men, and officers who a short time before had recovered the body of one of his alleged victims said they were planning extensive investigation.

He's Just About Got It Sewed Up

GLENDO, Wyo., Aug. 22 (AP)—When a telephone rings in this town of about 275 population, it's almost a certainty that Ernest Adams will answer. Adams is:

Mayor, newspaper editor, justice of the peace, special deputy sheriff, livestock inspector, deputy game warden, notary public, insurance agent, tombstone dealer, livestock broker, community sales auctioneer and bill collector.

Also, he is the husband of the manager of the telephone exchange.

Robinson Says Results Noted

Democratic Leader Declares He Is Proud Of Record Of Congress; Does Not Deny Mistakes Are Made

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, said tonight he was "proud" of the record made by congress and asserted "prosperity" was returning despite criticism of the New Deal.

"I do not say that mistakes have not been made," said the Arkansas senator in an Evening Star radio forum speech reviewing the session about to close.

"In a program of such magnitude errors are inevitable, but how small and trifling these seem in comparison with the results.

Criticism Understandable

"This administration is being subjected to intense criticism, which is understandable considering the approach of next year's election.

"Our president has been charged with everything from communism to despotism, and yet you cannot pick up a daily paper that does not reflect a rise in the stock market, an increase in profits, a resumption of dividends; in fact, every manifestation that tells of a country bound back to prosperity."

Robinson said "criticism is often made, but it is usually without one word of constructive suggestion, one idea of a substitute program."

Approval Of Rail Pension Bill Is Offered By House

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22. (AP) — A weary house mechanically chanted approval tonight of a tax bill to raise pension funds for more than 1,000,000 railway workers.

Speeding toward early adjournment, the house did not even bother to have the bill read. The clerk droned through a series of perfecting amendments which were accepted without debate and then sent the measure to the senate by a perfunctory voice vote. A similar bill was pending in the senate finance committee.

Additional Water Is Said To Mean Thousands Of Dollars To Farmers; Mercury Drops Over Territory

CLOUDS formed over the South Plains Thursday and did more than cast shadows. Rainfall was received by several towns for the first time since July.

The Farmer community northwest of Ralls was reported to have received from three to four inches. Santa Fe railroad disatchers said the fall at Post gauged two inches, that at Sudan one and one-half.

General In Floyd

A three-fourths inch rain at Floydada marked the first downpour for the month, only a few light showers having been reported since July. The fall was reported to have been general over the county, ranging [illegible] to the east.

All telephone circuits from Ralls, where a half-inch of rain fell, south to Owens and League Four were burned out by lightning and no communication was possible. It was not known how much rain fell.

.24 Of Inch Here

The fall in Lubbock was .24 inch, the experiment station reported at 6 p. m.

The Santa Fe reported one-half to three-quarter inch falls at Wilson and Tahoka, one-half inch at Plainview and at Idalou, one-third inch at Ropesville, quarter-inch at Muleshoe, eighth-inch at Amherst and Littlefield.

Hard rains from Lubbock to Morton and from Lubbock to Snyder were reported. Union Terminal bus station said a bus due at 7:15 p. m. from Clovis was 45 minutes late because of muddy roads between the

Chances Of Enactment For Oil Legislation Eliminated

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22. (AP) — Rapid-fire maneuvering eliminated today virtually all chances of enactment of a broad administration approved oil bill at this congress as sponsors of two measures nullified each other's efforts.

After Chairman Cole (D-Md.) of the house oil committee disclosed that he had pigeon-holed the senate-approved, three-point Connally bill in the interstate commerce committee, he found the rules committee had deferred action indefinitely on his request for special right-of-way for his own more complicated proposal.

Guffey Coal Bill Is Passed By Senate; Conference Asked

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22. (AP) — The Guffey coal bill—requested by President Roosevelt despite "reasonable" congressional doubts of its constitutionality—was passed by the senate today on a 45 to 37 ballot.

Immediately, a conference was asked and granted by the house for adjusting differences between the two bodies and speeding to the White House the measure setting up a "little NRA" for the bituminous industry.

Youth Is Seriously Injured In An Automobile Collision

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 22. (AP)—J. W. Bishop, 18, of Henryetta, was injured seriously and three other persons suffered less serious injuries in an automobile collision here today.

Bishop, suffering from an arm and head injuries, is in a hospital here. His companion, Miss Ervin Snow, 17, of Henryetta, and John Ulmer, 54, of Wichita Falls, Tex., and L. H. Ferguson, 45, of Dallas, occupants of the other car, were released after being given emergency treatment.

MOSCOW, Aug. 22. (AP)—The attempt of a Soviet airplane to fly non-stop to San Francisco, by way of the north pole, has been postponed until the summer of 1936, it was officially announced tonight.

Nation Says Heavy-Hearted Farewell To Crash Victims

Simple Services For Wiley Post Read; Body In Crypt

(By The Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 22.—The body of Wiley Post rested in a crypt in Fairlawn mausoleum here tonight after funeral services as simple as the rustic surroundings he left to fly to undying fame.

The brief rites ended a day of tribute to the intrepid flyer, who, with Will Rogers, another famous son of Oklahoma, crashed to his death in Arctic Alaska.

Planes Scatter Flowers

During the day, airplanes droned a requiem high overhead and then swooped low to scatter flowers over his coffin, the governor of the state delivered an eulogy and more than 15,000 persons from all walks of life crowded the corridors of the capitol to pay a final tribute.

As soon as the hour-long services at the church were finished, the building was cleared of everyone but members of the immediate family of the flier.

For a few brief moments, the loved ones of the stocky airman were alone with their dead.

Path Is Cleared

Then they signalled to waiting national guardsmen and city officers and a path was cleared from the door of the church to a waiting hearse.

Borne by men who had been close friends of the famous pilot, the body was placed in the hearse and taken along crowded streets to the mausoleum.

The last good-byes to Post were said as the airman's body rested beneath a flowered reproduction of his vehicle to fame, the Winnie Mae.

Church Is Filled

The First Baptist church was filled to overflowing, and more hundreds gathered outside. These included a host which had been unable to get into the state capitol earlier for the state's tribute to its famous son's memory.

Post's widow and mother hardly were able to walk to the family's shielded section of the church. A purple screen separated the relatives from the mass of more than 2,000 within the building.

Soft organ music began as the

Last Respects Paid Beloved Actor By Many Millions

(By The Associated Press)

GLENDALE, Calif., Aug. 22.—The nation's heavy-hearted farewell to Will Rogers as one of its best beloved men was spoken today.

"It is no exaggeration to say that no man has been so universally appreciated and loved as Will Rogers," said the Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher here in the tiny chapel of the Wee Kirk O' The Heather.

Noted Persons Present

Screen actor, famed flier, publisher, athlete and statesman were among the few more than 100 able to crowd into the chapel with the bereaved widow and children of the humorist.

One hundred thousand others came earlier to Forest Lawn memorial park to pass by the simple bronze casket. But only half that number could do so between sunrise and the funeral hour. The casket was not opened.

Over the nation, the millions who learned to love the cowboy-philosopher's sparkling wit and kindly manner paid their respects in varying ceremony. More than 12,000 theaters were darkened for two

One Of Very Greatest

"Measured by any one of a half dozen standards," Mr. Brougher said, "one of the very greatest men America has ever produced has gone on a little while ahead of us into that life of greater opportunity that Christ has prepared for those who love Him."

After the minister's eulogy, John Boles, actor, sang Rogers' favorite cowboy song, "Old Faithful."

The list of guests invited to attend the private rites for Rogers typified his diversified life.

Actors Are Present

From his motion picture world came such stars as Clark Gable, Eddie Cantor and Billie Burke. Stepin Fetchit, the drawling negro comedian who appeared with Rogers in some of his pictures, was there.

From the world of aviation, the list drew such names as Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam.

Night Riders All Disappear

Two Men Tarred, Feathered And Three Others Thrashed; Sheriff Declares That He Plans No Action

(By The Associated Press)

SANTA ROSA, Calif., Aug. 22.—Grim vigilantes vanished into anonymity tonight after tarring and feathering two men and thrashing three others in violent raids on asserted "communistic agitators."

The night riders, numbering nearly 400, attacked their victims early today amid the crackle of gunfire and the bursting of gas bombs. They accused the frightened prisoners of "agitating" among fruit pickers in the Richfield and Orchard area.

Victims Are Absent

The tar and feather victims, Jack Green and Solomon Nitsburg, were reported "absent from the county", tonight. Nor could the whereabouts of the other three victims be ascertained. Vigilante spokesmen believed they had fled—"for good, after the lesson they got."

Sheriff Harry Patterson said "I don't plan any action unless there is a complaint made—and I don't anticipate any complaints."

Mrs. Mollie Halleman Dies At Her Home Late Thursday

Mrs. Mollie Halleman, 50, died at 4:30 p. m. Thursday at her home four miles north of Abernathy. Funeral rites will be read Saturday afternoon at Oliver Springs, north of De Leon, Rix Funeral home saying the body will be sent there by train tonight.

Survivors are the husband, J. O. Halleman; two sons, Willie and J. B., and two daughters, Maybelle and Lavell Halleman.

Last Present Given Will By Unknown Friend

GLENDALE, Calif., Aug. 22. (AP) A short, swarthy, hard-bitten little man was in the silent line which passed the bier of Will Rogers today.

At the casket, he paused, dropping a coiled lariat, with two red roses entwined in the ope. A crude scrawl said "from Omar to Will—just passing through."

GLENDALE, Calif., Aug. 22. (AP) —There was a floral tribute from the widow of his flying companion on the casket of Will Rogers today.

The wreath, lilies of the valley entwined with maidenhair ferns, bore the plain inscription, "Mrs. Wiley Post."

Flowers from the Rogers family had a similar place of honor at the Post funeral in Oklahoma City, Okla.

British Stand Is Declared Serious

ROME, Aug. 22. (AP)—The authoritative newspaper Giornale D'Italia met suggestions abroad that strong measures be employed to curb Italy's East African policy with the assertion today that "sanctions mean war."

Proposals in the British press that the Suez canal be closed against Italy and that a free export of arms to Ethiopia be authorized the newspaper cited as "hostile acts" which might embroil two nations.

Such an action, Giornale said, would not only transfer the East African controversy to Europe but possibly would inflame the entire world.

Allred Backs Gas Proposal

Governor Says He Might Submit Proposition To Form A Corporation To A Special Session Of Solons

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, Aug. 22.—Governor James V. Allred said today he was "backing to the limit" an application filed yesterday with the Public Works administration for a $46,345,058 loan to construct a gas pipeline from the Texas Panhandle to Detroit.

No corporation or other agency exists now to put such a loan to use, but the governor said he might "submit the proposition to a special session of the legislature if there is one, if we stand a chance to get the money and if there is a likelihood of getting it passed by the legislature."

Proposal Crowded Out

A proposal for creation of a corporation to build the proposed pipeline was offered at the recent regular session, but was crowded out without final action at adjournment. There have been indications of a special session soon to pass enabling legislation should certain constitutional amendments be ratified at a statewide election Saturday.

"I am reluctant to call a special session of the legislature for the purpose of considering this project until I have federal funds allocated for the project," said a letter from the governor attached to the application.

Additional Direct Grants Are To Be Made To Assure Contract Signers Total Return Of 12 Cents

Provisions Lower

Loan To Be Offered On 13-16 Inch Low Middling Or Better; Income On Lint To Be About $700,000,000

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Stirring sharp and immediate resentment among southern senators, the administration tonight announced a government loan of 9 cents a pound on the 1935 cotton crop.

In setting the loan the farm administration announced that additional direct grants would be made to assure contract signers a total return of 12 cents on cotton produced under Bankhead allotments.

To Make Payments

The AAA will make payments to cotton farmers, an official announcement said, to equal the difference which may exist between 12 cents and the average price of 7-8 inch middling cotton in the 10 spot markets from September 1 to January 1.

These additional benefit payments, the AAA said, will be limited to the individual producer's actual production up to the amount of his Bankhead allotment.

Repercussions Heard

As Chester C. Davis, AAA administrator, and his assistants departed for their homes, apparently pleased with the final approval of the plan at a White House conference late in the afternoon, sharp repercussions came from Capitol Hill.

Senator George (D-Va) a leading proponent of a flat 12-cent loan, asserted flatly that President Roosevelt and Secretary Wallace had "yielded" to "the shippers and shipping interests."

"The announcement," said George, "will be disastrous to the entire cotton growing south."

Adding that details of the complicated loan plan would merely "confuse" the farmers, George said, "I will not ask another southern farmer to sign a contract with the government."

Great Misfortune

Senator Bankhead (D-Ala) author of the Bankhead cotton control act, asserted he thought it was

TO OFFER AMENDMENT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22. (AP)—Senator Byrns (D-SC) announced tonight that he would offer an amendment to the third deficiency appropriation bill tomorrow to make 12-cent cotton loans mandatory.

LOAN CANCELLED

ABILENE, Aug. 22. (AP)—The American Cotton Cooperative association's recent offer to advance members 10 cents a pound on the 1935 cotton crop was cancelled with today's announcement of a government loan of nine cents, D. G. Hill, of New Orleans, comptroller of ACCA said here tonight.

The cooperative's proffered ten-cent advance was a temporary arrangement, Hill explained, and was intended only to permit farmers so desiring, to hold their cotton off the market until the government's loan figure was announced.

The American Cotton Cooperative association will fully support the government's crop reduction program, Hill declared.

Road Program Is Pushed In Texas

A SERIOUS MATTER

SO called practical jokes are rarely funny to the one who bears the brunt. We've heard of pranks that were too serious to be called funny. For instance we'd like to know what sort of a person the woman was who called Mrs. Charles F. O'Neall Thursday morning and told her Mrs. J. R. Robinson, 1713 Thirteenth street, had died suddenly of a heart attack. She must have been of a vicious nature.

Mrs. O'Neall, long a friend of Mrs. Robinson, hurried over to the home of Mrs. Robinson's daughter, Mrs. Hattie O'Hair, grieved and nervous. She was met at the door by Mrs. Robinson, who is hearty, but who was rather upset at the news of her sudden departure.

You know people who are never happier than when they are teasing. The paradoxical situation is that they are the type usually who cannot take a joke.

A CURIOUS CASE

What's wrong with looking like a school teacher? The teaching profession isn't anything to be ashamed of is it? Perhaps not a highly paid profession, still it is a challenge to any young woman or man who is interested in building future citizens. It's honest work and the hours are such to allow time for leisure and pursuits of hobbies.

Since she was mistaken for Margaret Turner we're inclined to believe that we were thought to be our own mother. Are you following?

Just what is meant by age anyway? We have a horror of growing old. What do they mean by "old"? When you are in your teens the age of thirty seems as remote as fifty does when you arrive at your twenties. Growing old is a comparative thing. There are those who are bowed down with the years by the time they are 35; there are others who are ageless, who are fortunate in keeping open-minded in their dealings with the younger and the older generations. It's the latter type that we have set for our example.

Twenty-Three From Lubbock Join About Fifty Women Of Association At Church In Post Thursday

All officers were re-elected at a tenth annual session of the Women's Missionary union of Lubbock Baptist association Thursday at the First Baptist church in Post. Mrs. O. A. Tyner of the First church of Lubbock will begin her fifth year as president.

Twenty-three women from Lubbock, 14 from the First church, six from Calvary and three from College Avenue churches, attended. About 75 women from over the association were present, Mrs. R. D. Bumpass of Smyer said. Six women from Whitharral came from the farthest distance. They, and their husbands who fished at Two Draw lake during the meeting, came in a school bus.

Dr. Fry Speaks

The main address of the day was by Dr. W. F. Fry of Texas Technological college Bible chair who discussed prohibition. Mrs. Tom Campbell, ninth district W. M. U. president, explained how to handle the ballot in the special election Saturday.

The meeting began at 10 a. m. and was dismissed about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Lunch was served in the church annex at noon. The Post Women's Missionary society was host.

The other officers are: Recording secretary, Mrs Ray Anderson of Abernathy (third term) and corresponding secretary-treasurer, Mrs. J. A. Mullins of the First church (fifth term). Mrs. Tyner appointed four special committees of which the following will be chairmen:

Chairmen Named

Enrollment, Mrs. Carl Strawn, Post; obituaries, Mrs. Bode S. Adams, First church; resolutions, Mrs. J. E. Hamilton, First church, and nominating, Mrs. Bumpass. Nominating committee for the past year included:

Mrs. Bumpass; Mrs. W. J. Anderson, Calvary church; Mrs. O. J. Hull, First church; Mrs. Z. D. Kemp, Post; Mrs. Nick Gray, Whitharral, and Mrs. S. M. Wilson, College Avenue church.

Mrs. Tyner read a treasurer's report to the effect that association finances are in excellent condition. All except possibly two apportionments have been paid. The two will be paid by the end of the Baptist convention year, November, she said.

Board To Meet

An executive board meeting and luncheon was announced for August 29 at Tree Top Inn, 1302 Avenue N. The board is composed of presidents and both secretaries of all Lubbock societies and chairmen of all association committees.

The next quarterly meeting will be at Idalou, September 5 and 6.

The association, composed of 18 societies, presented Mrs. Tyner with a writing desk Wednesday afternoon. The committee presenting the gift was:

Mrs. Mullins; Mrs. Wilson; Mrs. J. J. Rossell, College Avenue church; Mrs. Campbell; Mrs. O. J. Hull; Mrs. G. L. Sutton, Calvary church; Mrs. W. J. Anderson, Calvary; Mrs. B. F. Foster and Miss Myrtle Foster, both of Calvary.

Accessories Take Their Cue From Period And Native Themes

Gone are the days when a glove was simply something to keep your hands from freezing—or a brooch just a pin to keep a neckline in place. This year's fashions demand that accessories be chosen carefully so that they be in perfect tune with the rest of the costume.

Handbags sing the chorus of elegance to coordinate the rest of the costume and Hosiery must be more perfect than in previous seasons for skirts are growing shorter. Definite shades rather than blending ones must be chosen in your new Hosiery.

Japanese Trade Flood Turned Aside By Egypt's Government

CAIRO, Egypt, Aug. 22. (AP)—Predictions that an exchange dumping duty on Japanese rayon and cotton goods will shortly be imposed by the Egyptian government have followed recent termination of the Japanese-Egyptian trade treaty on the ground that depreciation of the yen gives Japanese goods an excessive advantage.

Commercial circles here believe such action will lead to a large increase in cotton goods trade with Europe and several firms are renewing connections in Great Britain and Czechoslovakia that lapsed with the Japanese imports.

The punitive action against Japan reportedly is due to government determination to end "unfair" Japanese competition which virtually has halted Egyptian trade with countries upon which she depends for her own foreign sales.

Picturesque Lake Is Setting For Opera In Minneapolis

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 22. (AP)—As an antidote to midsummer's heat, Minneapolis turns nightly to its operatic festivals on picturesque Lake Harriet.

Extended Program Of Financial Aid For Land Improvement States Seen

Loans Are To Be Authorized

Measure Of Extreme Importance To West; Is Passed In Senate And Sent To House With Amendments

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22. (AP)—An extended program of financial aid for irrigation and similar districts and political subdivisions of states which propose to acquire projects devoted chiefly to land improvement for agricultural purposes today was headed for final congressional action.

The measure, of importance to the west, amends the emergency farm mortgage act to authorize loans to drainage districts, levee and irrigation districts, reclamation districts, irrigation districts, mutual non-profit companies and incorporated water-users' associations.

Passed By House

The measure was passed by the house in June. It was brought up yesterday in the senate by Senator Costigan (D-Colo.) and approved with amendments which are expected to be adopted by the house.

Loans in an aggregate amount not exceeding $125,000,000 including commitments and disbursements heretofore made are authorized.

An amendment by Senator Sheppard (D-Texas) gives additional authority for loans in an aggregate not exceeding $10,000,000 to counties, state political subdivisions, political subdivisions of counties and districts organized under state law.

Loans also are authorized for districts which have acquired lands for watershed protection, timber production and conservation, protection of grazing areas or preservation of wild life.

Refinance Indebtedness

The loans would be made to enable counties and other political subdivisions of the states to refinance outstanding indebtedness.

The banking and currency committee report on the amendatory measure as submitted by Costigan said the bill "in a large part results from the development of recent federal policies which have led to the withdrawal from taxation of substantial quantities of lands purchased or to be purchased by the federal government, thereby reducing tax values in some regions."

Testimony before the committee brought out that in 11 counties in Texas the federal government is buying 1,400,000 acres, in five counties in Texas an average of approximately half the area has been or is [illegible] and that in Wyoming about 60 per cent of the area of the state is owned by the federal government, "thereby throwing heavy tax burdens on the remaining tax units."

The committee decided the taxpayers should be permitted, on adequate security to borrow money at as low rates of interest as are practicable, with which to refinance outstanding obligations.

Revenue From Dancing Falls In Capital Of Czechoslovaks

PRAHA, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 22. (AP)—People in this Czechoslovak capital are not as crazy about dancing as they were in 1931, statistics produced by the "Prager Presse" show.

Taking the amusement tax levied upon cafes which permit dancing as a barometer, the paper finds that the revenue derived from dancing couples declines year by year.

In 1932, the revenue was 5 per cent less than in 1931; in 1933, 9 per cent, and in 1934, more than 12 per cent. While in 1931, 1,600,000 Czech crowns flowed into the public treasury from the amusement tax on dancing, only 1,300,000 crowns accrued in 1934. (The Czech crown is currently quoted at 4.16 cents.)

Band Of 175 Monkeys Flees From Frank Buck's Jungle Camp Wednesday; Bring 'Em Back Alive, Police Requested

MASSAPEQUA, N. Y., Aug. 22. (AP)—Led by the redoubtable "Capone," 175 monkeys escaped yesterday from Frank Buck's jungle camp on Sunrise highway near here.

One of Buck's employes had entered the monkey's stronghold to do some repairing. He stretched a plank from retaining wall to the moat which surrounds the artificial cliffs in which the animals live.

While the employe was busy, "Capone," bully of the colony and instigator of all sorts of trouble, dashed across the plank. A gibbering band of his subjects followed.

After suffering minor scratches and bites, employes succeeded in blocking the escape after 175 monkeys had crossed the plank. Two of the animals were captured.

The chattering horde scampered across the Long Island railroad tracks. An army of 100 railroad laborers dropped their tools and fled. The noise was terrific.

Nassau county police were asked to bring 'em back alive.

Long Island monkey authorities advised that nothing be done to capture the fugitives for two or three days, since by then the high-strung creatures will probably settle down in a colony. It is planned, to build a fence around the monkeys when they light somewhere.

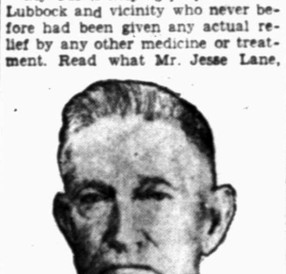
Now Enjoys Foods He Dared Not Eat For Years Before

Gly-Cas Wastes No Time In Conquering His Stubborn Stomach Trouble; Mr. Lane Also Free of Dizziness, Nervous Spells —Like New Again

Gly-Cas is helping people all over Lubbock and vicinity who never before had been given any actual relief by any other medicine or treatment. Read what Mr. Jesse Lane,



MR. JESSE LANE

411 Ave. R, Lubbock well known and respected local gentleman, said recently to the Gly-Cas Man who is daily meeting crowds of local people at the Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, where he is introducing and explaining the action of this valuable new medical discovery;

"For the past several years my diet was always chosen for me," said Mr. Lane," I would suffer terribly with gas, bloating and indigestion regardless of what I ate and there were many foods I dared not touch at all for the suffering they would cause would be unbearable. I could never eat pickles, onions, candy, cake or rich foods of any kind. I would often have vomiting spells, would become dizzy and could not sleep at night. Finally my system accumulated so many poisons rheumatism took hold of my body, my arms and feet would swell so at times it was impossible for me to do my work. I tried different kinds of medicines but did not seem able to find anything to help me. And when I began to hear so much praise for Gly-Cas I couldn't believe it would be so different from the medicines I had already taken —but a short trial soon proved its remarkable difference."

"For the first time in years I can now sit down to a meal and enjoy it," continued Mr. Lane," I can eat the foods I dared not touch before and even drink sweet milk without any stomach distress afterwards. My health troubles have been brought to an end by Gly-Cas. I sleep fine the entire night through, nerves quieted, my stomach and kidneys are in fine condition, bowels regulated, pains have been relieved and I am again enjoying the health I had been looking forward to for many years. Gly-Cas is one medicine of outstanding ability."

The Gly-Cas Man is daily meeting crowds of local people at the Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, where he is introducing and explaining the action of this valuable new remedy.

Sheep "Rugged"

Rugs Tied On Backs To Aid Wool Crop

SYDNEY, Aug. 22. (AP)—Sheep are running on farms in Australia covered with rugs. This is an experiment to produce clean wool and to speed up the fattening process.

J. Hanshaw Jackson, well known in the south Australian wool trade, says "rugging" prevents dust and burrs from getting into the wool, and by keeping the sheep warm helps the animal to fatten more quickly.

One sheep rancher in the saltbush country of south Australia has ordered 300 rugs.

For years housewives have known that liquid insecticides could not be used safely around food stuffs. This has all been changed with the coming of DWIN—the modern insecticide. There is not a drop of kerosene in DWIN and nothing in it will taint food. It is stainless and tasteless. You may use it with perfect freedom and utmost safety around the dining room table or in and around places where foods are stored. DWIN kills flies, mosquitoes, moths and other insects in the home. It is also very effective in controlling many kinds of insects which infest and destroy plants. DWIN is as far in advance over old type insect killers as the up-to-date electric lamp is ahead of the old oil lamp. DWIN contains a floral fragrance and when you spray it anywhere in your home it leaves in its wake the aroma of a choice bouquet of flowers. It is truly "As fragrant as flowers in May." Thousands of dealers sell DWIN, the modern insect killer. If your dealer cannot supply you, write —

Mandatory Neutrality Legislation Being Pressed Toward Action By House

"Backward, Turn Backward, Oh Time—" But Lubbock's Decade Dating From 1909 Would Bring Out A Blast Of "Ahs" And "Ohs" From The City Dwellers Of 1935 Era

BY R. C. HANKINS
Of The Avalanche-Journal Staff

LUBBOCK'S mauve decade dating from 1909 would present a paradoxical maze of "ahs" and "ohs" to the 1935 dweller were it possible for him to move backward with the facility of Mark Twain's Connecticut Yankee.

Suppose for a moment members of the newer generation were plopped back in ye township of those days:

He would not even be allowed to fire a cannon in the city limits.

Horse Comes First

Should he palpitate along to a street intersection in a one-lunged lizzie and with much noise and bouncing in a cloud of castor oil fumes attempt to cross ahead of someone riding or driving a horse, he might be hailed into court.

Cars of that vintage did not have the right of way. If the equestrian held out his hand the right of way was his. When a motorist met a man who "rides, drives, or leads a horse and who puts out his hand," the autoist had to stop "quickly as possible and remain stationary long enough to allow such animal to pass." That was in an ordinance of Nov. 9, 1914, the first time the word auto found its way into the records of the Lubbock city fathers.

Disregarding the ordinance meant a fine of $100.

It scarcely was necessary for the speed limit for motor vehicles to be set at 12 miles an hour, however, for even the 1914 horseless carriage was more wont to act up and balk than to kick up its figurative heels and cause the rustic to gape at its careening flight into a cloud of dust.

Were Not Restricted

Doctors, firemen and peace officers in pursuit of their duties were not restricted by the law to such crawling velocity—but too often were by the asthmatic power limits of their machines, and by rutted or wind-scarrified town roads. Some will tell you they had more trouble "making" the velocity limit than in keeping their speed within the required figures.

In 1909, when F. E. Wheelock was mayor and W. M. Shaw was city secretary, only $50 evidently was required for making a survey of the city. Such an ordinance was passed on the heels of the first recorded ordinance, on April 12, 1909, setting the terms of G. A. Rush, M. C. Overton and C. E. Parks for two years on the city commission, those of P. [illegible] year each.

Exhibitions Not Welcomed

Public exhibitions except for charity and those classified as home talent apparently were not welcomed, as a $5-per-performance tax was shaped.

The office of city scavenger was created that year, his duties including removal of carcasses from the city limits. For dragging away a horse, mule, or cow he was allowed a fee of $1; for hogs, dogs or calves 50 cents. About this time, too, came to be entered stringent stock laws, $1 to $5 fines being held over the heads of owners. Dogs had to be penned up and an annual tax paid.

A hint of the puritanical crept in with the May 21, 1909, ordinance prohibiting "scrub" or any other games played with baseballs or footballs on the Sabbath, making infraction of the ordinance a misdemeanor carrying fines of from $10 to $25, the same as that for giving a show of any kind on Sunday.

No Baseball Near Square

An odd entry labeled public safety ordinance forbade batting or throwing of a ball within two blocks of the public square, and, as for leaving unhitched any horse, mare or mule without first dropping the traces, well—

Snails and porpoises likely would have found themselves in a stew had they attempted navigating Lubbock streets after June 5, 1909. For the city fathers drafted and passed a law setting the speed limit here at eight miles an hour. The fine ranged upward to $25.

Corporation court was established on the same date.

The Pecos and Northern Texas Railroad company was given permission to use certain streets and alleys of Lubbock and to close others. That knife, roll and cane racks had started thriving was evidenced in the slapping on of an annual occupational tax of $12.50—in advance. And consider some of the games of those days: Bagatelle, pigeon hole, devil-among-the-tailors, and jenny-lind were taxed $10 per table, along with pool and billiards.

Pigs, Hogs Prohibited

Pigs and hogs were prohibited about the same time a city physician's office was created with an annual stipend of $100.

R. C. Burns, associates and assigns were granted a 25-year franchise to erect and operate an electric light, heat and power plant August 3. Mr. Burns was not required to furnish private users of electricity lights at less than a minimum of $1 a month!

Jumping on and off trains grew too prevalent and brought a restraining ordinance.

Bells clanged at 8:30 p. m., but their music was not soothing to boys less than 18 years old. It meant curfew, that "loitering" must stop summarily in 30 minutes. The fine was up to $5.

Square Is Protected

With a ban already existent against balls batted or thrown in that vicinity, the public square was further protected in March, 1910, by an edict restraining the public from shooting firecrackers, Roman candles, or other fireworks within two blocks of the town center.

Eastern bazaar tendencies were nipped in 1910 and the cowpoke could walk in front of stores without getting his foot into a garter of a woman's chemise. The commission had prohibited display of merchandise in front of stores.

Growing pains obtrude in the musty records: July 26, 1910, found the city fathers authorizing issuance of $25,000 in 40-year five per cent bonds and providing for levy and collection of taxes to pay interest and create a sinking fund for redemption of the bonds, to construct a water system. Soon afterward came authorization to construct a sewer system. Taxes of eight and 17 cents, respectively, per $100 valuation were provided. Came ordinances later, Jan. 9, 1911, to repeal the foregoing ordinances, but to establish the same provisions.

Convict Labor Authorized

Convict labor was authorized, with a credit of 50 cents a day being allowed.

Times do change. The modern city's extension of boundaries had no equivalent in 1910. On Sept. 13 an ordinance was passed to exclude [illegible] certain territory as part of the city, as the belt divorced was rich farming country and few lived there.

Need for policemen was recognized in provision for two Jan. 9, 1911.

If you thought you could get by without five days' work on the roads each year you had to dig up a $2 bill for a donation—yes, they had some of those notes in those days. All males, read an ordinance, between the ages of 21 and 45, except for ministers, militiamen or firemen actually employed by their own duties, were included, or had to hire a substitute.

Parking Is Restricted

Congestion of traffic began to be felt, resulting in an ordinance restricting parking of hacks, drays, wagons, carts and other vehicles. The names of such now-extinct streets as Cedar, Chestnut, North and South First and the like crop out in this ordinance. Those who have been stuck with $1 fines during the present traffic campaign here may smile at the old ordinance threat of a $25 fine or stopping and leaving Dobbin in the wrong place.

Beck and Jude and Dobbin and Pete were indispensable in those days. A February, 1912, ordinance ordered closing of part of North Fifth street so that a wagon and feed barn could be constructed there.

Franchise for the Crosbyton & South Plains railroad was granted Feb. 13, 1912.

Warnings Are Given

Just as the greater part of the township kept religiously away from gas buggy contraptions it distrusted any fluid that supplied motive power for automotive vehicles. An ordinance put its foot down on use of gasoline, benzine or any compounds thereof inside the fire limits. A prevailing tendency of riders to hitch to fireplugs also brought down warning and threat of a $5 fine.

Came to be entered about that time one of those annual ordinances of following years providing for levying and collecting of a poll tax of $1 on every male from 21 to 60 years old, "idiots and lunatics excepted."

Approval of construction of the Lubbock Light and Ice company was in the records of March 27, 1913.

Scavenger Is Missing

About that time the city scavenger resigned or went on a vacation. "All owners must bury or otherwise dis- [illegible] eight [illegible] cats, etc.," an ordinance read, in part.

Riding a bicycle on the sidewalks or rolling along them on skates was tantamount to thumbing your nose at the cops, Oct. 14, 1913, reminds. The fine was a paltry $25. False fire alarms were recognzed in a notice of fines running upward to $100.

Then came the reference to automobiles—the first one—and a ban is established against a driver less than 14 years old.

W. F. Schenck was inducted as mayor and his first ordinance, Oct. 11, 1915, was directed against loafers in public places. A few days later the office of fire marshal was established.

Trackage Is Allowed

The Pecos and Northern Texas railroad was permitted to lay trackage through Lubbock May 22, 1916.

Whether hay fever addicts traced their woes or whether responsibility to civic beauty was born, aldermen decided in August, 1916, that city lots must be cleared of all vegetation except lawn grass and native curly mesquite.

It was natural that, with so many weighty matters to define in an age so bordering on the brink of modernity, the city fathers should think of a permanent place in which to mull over their problems. Accordingly, an order was entered to ratify a contract with George L. Beatty for purchase of land for a city hall.

With the dignity of a citadel thus figuratively reared behind them, they let the motorist of those days have it from both barrels:

Sound Bell Of Gong

"When passing from the rear sound your bell or gong. In turning on the street the motorist must keep his 'moter' under control, providing such vehicle be 'motor vehicle,'" reminded the ordinance.

It must be said, however, that times already had changed, for the fine imposed for that infraction was from $5 to $25—less than the fine assessed against the "autoist" who beat a rider or driver of a horse in crossing an intersection a few years before.

With the ordinance on April 9, 1917, establishing a business district Lubbock's future apparently became assured. With business, however, came loafers. An emergency was declared in 1919 and loafing defined. Of more import than the definition was a fine that ranged upward to $100 for the offense, with succeeding offenses drawing double forfeit. C. E. Parks was mayor at that time and, like his predecessor, had no patience with whatever term in those days passed for "mooching."

Health Precaution

Selling land to residents who had [illegible] was prohibited as a "health" precaution in 1920.

The automobile finally was accepted, judging from a June 1, 1920, ordinance which submitted to the people a proposal to decide whether serial bonds of $100,000 would be issued in Lubbock's first paving proposal.

Without doubt, it would be a decidedly blue 1935 dweller who hypothetically found himself back in that mauve decade—but the old-timers will assure you, "Them was the

Policies Will Be Abandoned

Embargo On Exports To Belligerents, License On All Munitions Makers And Other Provisions Listed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22. (AP)—Mandatory neutrality legislation effective only until next Feb. 29 was pressed tonight toward house action, with President Roosevelt's sanction.

Sweeping beyond traditional American policies, the temporary resolution would place a mandatory embargo on exports to belligerents, license munitions makers, authorize the president to keep Americans off the ships of belligerent nations except at their own risk, and provide other preventatives.

Compromise Approved

The house foreign affairs committee, which rejected the senate's seven-point, policy-reversing bill this morning, unanimously approved the "compromise" measure several hours later.

But except for the temporary clause and two or three minor amendments, the "compromise" resolution contained virtually every restriction proposed yesterday by the senate to keep the nation aloof from foreign conflicts.

The president's approval was reported to have been none-too-willing. He had emphatically disapproved enactment of any mandatory, permanent neutrality law before next session.

Threats Bring Action

Threats of filibusters to prolong this session of congress, however and the senate's ready acceptance of the legislation were believed to have prompted him to call last night's White House conference at which Chairman McReynolds (D-Tenn) of the house group received his views.

Expiration of the legislation next February would throw the neutrality problem back in congress' lap when it reconvenes. It was considered likely that additional steps, including a ban on loans and credits to belligerents, might be considered then. The loan ban was omitted from today's compromise.

McReynolds said tonight he would make every effort to obtain prompt house action, and was obviously confident the "compromise" would be approved.

Hearings Closed On Radio Plans

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22. (AP)—The communications commission concluded protracted hearings today on six Texas applications for 100-watt radio stations but decisions will not be made for several weeks.

George C. Davis, commission engineer, cleared the docket with testimony that two stations sought for Abilene, Texas, would cause interference with a Waco, Texas, broadcast. He previously had testified two proposed stations at Big Spring, Texas, would not encounter such difficulties.

The Abilene applications were filed by William O. Ansley, jr., and the Reporter Broadcasting company and the Big Spring requests came from the Herald Broadcasting company and Vernon T. Anderson. The other hearings were on applications of the North Texas Broadcasting company of Paris and the Oil Capital Broadcasting association of Kilgore. In connection with the latter request, KFRO at Longview sought the same facilities at Kilgore, a transfer from its present assignment.

School Tax Rate Is Reset At 36 Cents For This Area

Tax rate of Lubbock independent school district was reset at 36 cents on the $100 valuation this week, A. C. Jackson, city schools manager, said Thursday.

The valuations, virtually unchanged from last year, have not been tabulated, the manager said. The total last year was $23,161,680.

Ft. Worth Men Tell Of Being Held Captive And Beaten In Missouri Club

Car Smashed By Hoodlums

Victims Declare That They Had Been Playing A Slot Machine; Were Questioned By Police Officers

FORT WORTH, Aug. 22. (AP)—How they were held captive in a night club near Independence, Mo., beaten and their car smashed, was told by four Fort Worth men who returned home today after they had been reported missing since Monday night.

They are Herman Talley, 22, J. W. Steph, 30, M. S. Newberry, and John Flanagan, 29.

Car Is Damaged

The four had vanished after they were questioned by Independence police Monday night at the instigation of employes of the night club. The next day Steph's car was found at a tourist camp near the club, its top and upholstery slashed, the radiator caved in, fenders crushed and windows broken.

"We were playing a slot machine at the club when officers came out for us," related Talley. "Actually we had lost about $4 but the officers seemed to think we had been winning.

"After questioning us for an hour at the Independence police station we were released.

"They advised us not to go back to the club for our car. The officers suggested that we send a wrecker after it.

"We insisted, though, so the police took us back. Just as we entered the place four men jumped on us. They locked us in a room and beat and kicked us. The next morning they put us out. We found the car ruined.

"We didn't think it would be any use going to the police for assistance. We went out on the road and caught a ride to Fort Worth."

Talley said the four left here last week intending to drive to Chicago. They arrived here early this morning.

HOUSTON, Aug. 22. (AP)—Clyde A. Sweeton, 58, prominent lawyer of the Houston firm of Vinson, Elkins, Sweeton and Weems, died today at Asheville, N. C.

Pair Dead In Lottery Fight

Three Others Are Critically Wounded And Alarm Broadcast For Trio; Nine Persons Are Arrested

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 22. (AP)—A gun fight broke out in the reputed headquarters of a Newark lottery gang today and two men were killed and three critically wounded. The police broadcast an alarm for three men, heavily armed, traveling in a car with stolen license plates.

The dead were identified as Vincenzo Troia and Frank Longo.

The wounded:

Jerome Bevinetto, 41, shot in the left chest and the right side of the neck.

Joseph Troia, 25, shot in the abdomen and left shoulder.

Antonio Sunsaro, 39, shot in the abdomen.

Taken To Hospital

The three were taken to city hospital, but their condition was so critical that detectives could not immediately question them.

Nine men rounded up in the vicinity of the shooting were taken to police headquarters.

When the police arrived at the scene of the shooting their first impression was that there had been a fight in a card game. Playing cards were strewn over the floor of a room at the rear of the house.

Further examination revealed dozens of lottery slips.

HIBBING, Minn., Aug. 22. (AP)—The urge to wander still seems to be part of the heritage of descendants of Daniel Boone, says E. E. Boone of Hibbing, direct descendant of America's famous frontiersman.

Both Boone, a painting contractor here, and his wife are descendants of the Boone family. Mrs. Boone traces her ancestry back to the wife of Daniel Boone.

Boone worked all over the United States before settling in Hibbing.

"I have a cousin who follows right in the footsteps of Daniel," he said. "He's been all over the world, working his way as a sailor and at present is in America's latest frontier—Alaska."

Woman Nearly Collapses When She Sees Her Baby In Casket

Former Burlesque Dancer Is Being Held On A Charge Of Murder; Drowned Child To Prevent Starving

NEWBURGH, N. Y., Aug. 22. (AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Sherwood, 27-year-old former burlesque dancer who said she drowned her two-year-old boy to keep him from starving, nearly collapsed when she saw the tiny form in its white casket in a morgue here today.

Mrs. Sherwood was brought here under guard from the cell in Goshen jail where she is held on a charge of murder.

Handkerchief in hand, she stood looking blankly at the child she told police she drowned Wednesday by holding his head under water in a creek. Then tears welled into her eyes, and she dabbed at them with the small square of white cloth. She made no sound.

Kisses His Cheek

She put forth her right hand and stroked the boy's left hand. Then she bent down and kissed him on the right cheek. Again she stood blankly staring.

As one of her guards made a motion, she realized she was about to be led away, and with great haste she again lowered her face and kissed the child's cheek. She reeled as she turned to go and was assisted out of the room.

Former Official Enters An Appeal

AUSTIN, Aug. 22. (AP)—Charles S. Richardson, 42, former mayor of Olney, today appealed a 10-year sentence assessed at his third trial, in Wilbarger county, for the murder of his son, Elga, Jan. 1, 1934.

Richardson contended the shooting of his son, a college student in Denton, was accidental. It occurred after the two had quarreled while the son was at home on a Christmas vacation.

Richardson was sentenced to life imprisonment at his first trial, in Young county, and to 99 years at a retrial in Wilbarger county. Both convictions were reversed by the court of criminal appeals.

Antonio Carrasco, 38-year-old Mexican ranch hand, appealed a death sentence assessed in Hudspeth county for the murder of Mary Smith in Culberson county.

Mrs. Smith and her husband, Riley Smith, were found dead in their burned ranch home southeast of Van Horn. Carrasco said he found the place in flames upon his return from a short trip, and repudiated in his trial a statement obtained by officers. The indictement also charged he clubbed Mrs. Smith to death.

Low Bidders On Projects At Turning Basin Made Public

BROWNSVILLE, Aug. 22. (AP)—The Jay Dupuy company of San Antonio was low bidder among six concerns seeking the contract for construction of facilities at the Brownsville turning basin, on the basis of bids opened yesterday by officials of the navigation district.

The Dupuy company's bid on wharves, docks and warehouses was $495,200.

William A. Smith and company of Houston were low bidders on the contract to build railroad terminal facilities at the turning basin with a bid of $49,997.24.

These PWA contracts are the last of a total of $2,694,000 in loans and grats, to be spent on the port project here.

Complete Set Of Cuttings And Corings Is Acquired

The Texas Technological college department of geology has acquired a complete set of well cuttings and corings from the Phillips Petroleum company J. Wilson well No. 2 test in Moore county, which was drilled to a total depth of 8,009 feet.

The samples constitute one of the most valuable additions to the material of the department as they will give complete information of a geologic section over a mile in thickness, according to Dr. Leroy T. Patton, head of the college geology department. The samples will be available for study and research. They were taken every 10 feet for the first 3,000 and every five feet thereafter.

Beggars Worked

Polish Government Corrals Drifters

WARSAW, Aug. 22. (AP)—Beggars are being put to work by the Polish government.

When caught, they are taken to special homes where they must work for their lodging and board. The scheme diminished panhandling for a time, but the depression keeps an ever continous flood on the streets.

So the "Anti - Begging league" has been formed to help the government procure homes faster than they can be filled.

Alienation Trial Starts Thursday

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22. (AP)—The $100,000 alienation of affections trial of Michael M. Syret, New Orleans shoe merchant, against Allen R. Langendorf, San Francisco bakery company offical, began today in the court of Superior Judge Louis H. Ward.

Mrs. Fay B. Syret Langendorf whose love Syret claims Langendorf stole, was not in court. The principals sat at opposing ends of the counsel table and glared.

Syret, in his complaint, charged that 10 minutes after his ex-wife won a Reno divorce from him last year, she married Langendorf. He lost her love, the New Orleans man complained, to the blanishments of Langendorf, among which was a 10-pound cake.

The Syrets were married in Gretna, La., in 1922.

PIGGLY WIGGLY

OWNED AND OPERATED BY JOE DAVIS AND BILL HUMPHRIES

Arms And Men On African Frontier

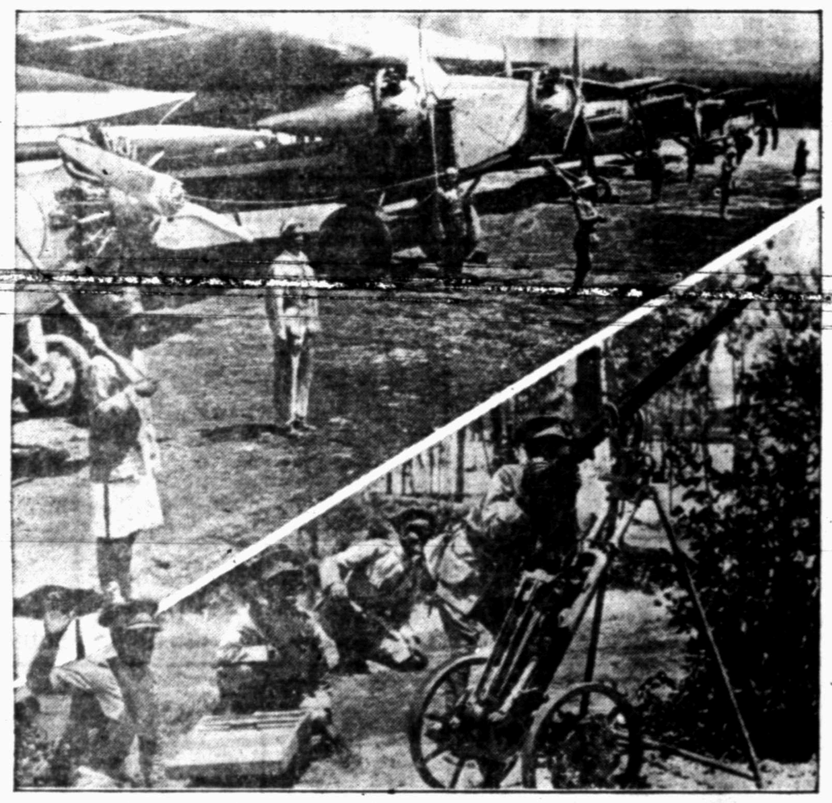
Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia has called upon his subjects to "fight to the last man" to preserve the country's freedom in the event of an Italian invasion. Ethiopia's area is said to be about 350,000 square miles and its population at 10,000,000. The country is comparatively undeveloped but is rich in natural resources with large agricultural potentialities. The capitol, Addis Ababa, is the largest city in Ethiopia with a population of about 70,000. Pictured here are Emperor Haile Selassie, a skyline of Addis Ababa and a map of the country, bordered in part by two Italian territorial possessions, Eritrea and Italian Somaliland. (Associated Press Photo)

In Rome, historic home of the Caesars, Premier Benito Mussolini is feverishly carrying out his plans for an East African campaign. Hundreds of thousands of soldiers have been called to the colors and vast war supplies have been concentrated in Italian colonies bordering Ethiopia. In contrast to Ethiopia, Italy has an area of 119,744 square mil s (colonial possessions not included) and has a population of more than 42,000,000. Rome, the capital, had a population of 1,008,063 in the cen us of 1931. While much raw material must be imported, Italy has huge munitions plants. Ethiopia on the other hand must import all of its munitions and war equipment. (Associated Press Photos)

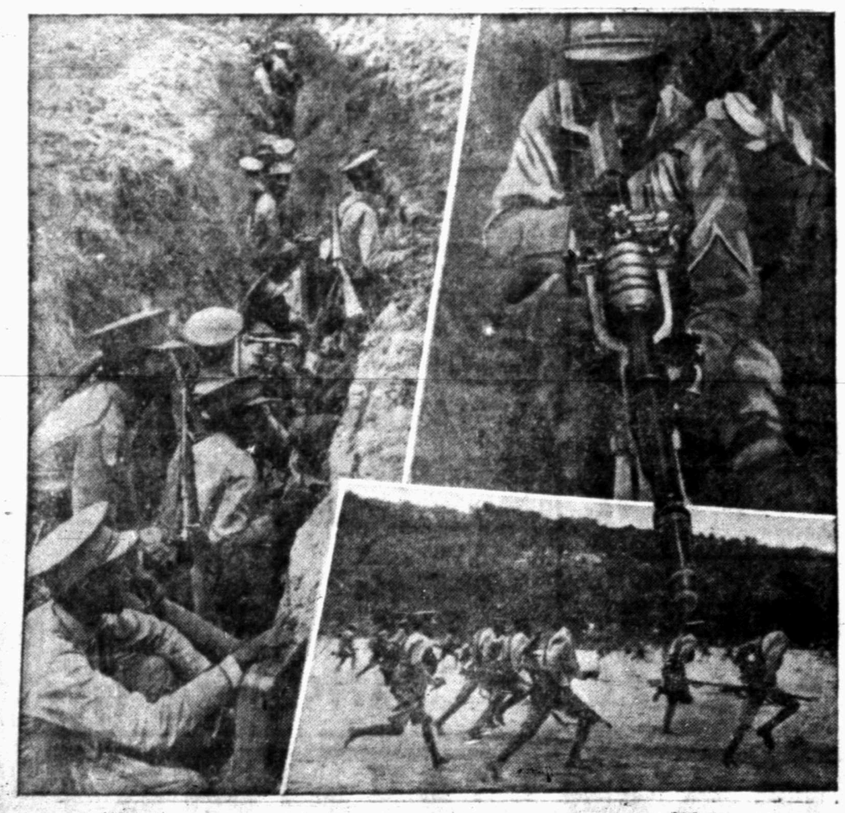
If war comes thousands of tribal warriors like the one above will figure prominently in Ethiopia's forces.



In addition to hundreds of thousands of warriors who fight under "rases," or tribal chieftains, Ethiopia has a moderate well-equipped imperial army which owes allegiance directly to Haile Selassie. This force, estimated at between 60,000 and 75,000 men, has some planes, but it is reported there are only eight such machines and only six in condition to fly. There also are a few anti-aircraft guns. Some of this equipment is shown here. (Associated Press Photos)

The Italian army is equipped with the most advanced implements of modern warfare and is particularly well prepared to fight in the air or repulse aerial attacks. Foreign military observers will watch carefully to see how effective Italy's air force will be if a war is fought in Ethiopia, a rough forbidding country with few roads and only one railway. Pictured here are a squadron of Italian fighting planes and Italian anti-aircraft guns mounted on trucks. (Associated Press Photos)

This well-equipped Roman soldier is typical of those in Italy's East African expeditionary force.



Ethiopia is reported to have armed a quarter of a million troops and has laid plans to put seven armies totaling 600,000 men in the field in the event of a conflict with Italy. The Ethiopians' war stocks are estimated at between 300,000 and 1,000,000 rifles, 500 cannon (some made in 1860, between 350 and 400 machine guns and the same number of automatic rifles. These pictures show Ethiopian infantrymen entrenched, "going over the top" and a typical gunner. (Associated Press Photos)

This map illustrates why Italy desires Ethiopia. The areas of crossed lines represent (upper) extensive potential irrigation and power development areas along the Blue Nile, and (lower), extensive coffee, cotton and rubber producing areas. Control of the cotton and coffee trade alone would pay for the war, according to opinions expressed in Italy, even though the cost was 1,000,000,000 lire. Black bars across the Blue Nile indicate possible dam sites for power and irrigation. Ethiopia, according to reports, offered Italy part of Ogaden (in solid black), but the land was termed "a strip of sand." Ethiopia desires for herself a sea port; the country is now served by Djibouti, French Somaliland.

It is estimated that Italy has approximately 235,000 soldiers and skilled workmen in its East African colonies. This, military observers state, is considered sufficient for the present if an advance is made into Ethiopia. If needed it is believed Italy could put 1,000,000 well-trained, well-equipped troops in the field. Italian tanks, a flame thrower and Italian infantrymen on the "firing line" are shown in the above pictures. (Associated Press Photos)

Large Bridge Taking Shape

Construction Work On Mammoth Project, Started Two Years Ago, More Than Half Complete At This Time

BY DUDLEY ROSS

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22. (AP) — Dwarfing the scurrying ferryboats it will replace, the $75,000,000 San Francisco-Oakland bay-bridge, largest in the world, assumes day by day more of the final shape which will loom against the San Francisco bay skyline.

Construction work, begun two years ago, is now more than half complete. The entire project is ahead of schedule, and Chief Engineer Charles H. Purcell of the California toll bridge authority has promised his superiors, Governor Frank F. Merriam and Earl Lee Kelly, state director of public works, that the bridge will be ready for public use November 1, 1936, two months ahead of the schedule date.

Two Bridges Involved

The great bridge, 8 1-4 miles from end to end, actually involves two bridges—one the two mile-long suspension spans from San Francisco to Yerba Buena island in the middle of the bay and the other a cantilever and truss bridge from the island to Oakland—a tunnel through the top of Yerba Buena and great approaches on both sides of the bay.

Its two decks will be capable of handling 30,000,000 vehicles a year. The upper deck will provide six lanes for automobiles, and the lower will carry two interurban train tracks and three lanes for heavy trucks.

In length, it is three times that of the great Firth of Forth bridge in Scotland. On the San Francisco side its lower roadway will be from 185 to 220 feet above high water. The tallest tower rises 505 feet above the surface; the deepest pier is sunk 235 feet.

Dreamed Of Since 1856

The dream of bridging San Francisco bay has been held by Californians since 1856, but only within the past decade have plans been pushed to reality. It is being financed through the sale of bonds to the reconstruction finance corporation, which will be paid from tolls over a period of 20 years.

One of the most spectacular phases of construction now is underway—the "spinning" of the cables from which will hang the suspension spans between San Francisco and Yerba Buena. Two by two, the 17,264 wires which will make up each cable are being strung into place.

On the easterly half, steel work is being pieced together to close the remaining 1,900-foot gap. The last piece of steel, which will form one huge cantilever span, will be erected girder by girder out over the water from each side until it joins in the center.

Traffic Details Remain

Already completed, of course, are the anchorages, piers and towers, and work is being pushed on the complicated approaches. The task of laying the decks on the suspension side and the flooring of the structure still lie ahead.

Beyond the sheer structure, details of the transportation system remain to be determined. Engineers and traffic experts foresee the likelihood of marked changes in the stream of traffic, now handled by passenger and automobile ferries. Terminal facilities, particularly at the San Francisco end, must be established for the electric trains which will bring commuters across from the East bay districts.

Governor Allred Opposes Nudists

AUSTIN, Aug. 22. (AP) — Nudists, with the flowers, the birds and the trees, may be art to Nat D. Rodgers, Texas Centennial concessions director, but to Governor James V. Allred, well—

"The very suggestion is suggesting," the governor said. "I don't believe those in authority will tolerate it for one moment. I hope it won't be done."

Rodgers opined that other nudist exhibitions perhaps were crude and vulgar, but at the Pacific International exposition in San Diego it was a different matter. He said the owner of the San Diego colony would try to sell it to Walter Cline, managing director, and the board of Texas' central exposition at Dallas.

Penalty Suits To Be Filed Against Owners Of All Pits

KILGORE, Aug. 22. (AP)—Chairman Earnest O. Thompson of the Texas railroad commission said here today that penalty suits had been ordered filed against owners of "every oil pit in the East Texas field."

"We are ordering penalty suits filed against the owners of every oil pit in the East Texas field," he said. "We also are issuing orders requiring all earthen pits be cleared of all oil within thirty days."

Thompson, with Lon A. Smith and C. V. Terrell, the other two members of the commission, was here on an inspection trip. They conferred with H. A. Miles, chief engineer in charge of the East Texas division, and other officials.

Thompson cited a drop of only two pounds in the bottom-hole pressure in East Texas last month as evidence that the field was in good condition.

"Happily the threat of federal control is gone," he said. "East Texans should be very happy. It has been a great fight, and the right of Texas to run its own affairs has been vindicated."

In the early days of the Hawaiian monarchy, the premiers were women.

Groom Bridles

Bride's Father Has To Foot Expenses

BARCELONA, Spain, Aug. 22. (AP) — The wedding march boomed strongly from the choir loft and the couple had started up the aisle but Manuel Castro Botella was not to marry his lovely Maria Oltra. For as the pair neared the altar Maria's father shouted:

"No wedding! On the thirteenth? Never! Tomorrow, all right. Come home with me, Maria. Your father orders it."

"Today or never," said Manuel stubbornly. "What do you say, Maria?"

Maria faltered. Manuel shrugged.

"If that's all she loves me, take her home," he said.

Next day Maria's father received bills for flowers, music and refreshments.

"I furnished a home and bought a new suit," an accompanying note said. "It's only right that you should pay these."

Maria's father thought so, too.

'X'-Men Face Gotham Duties

Patterned On Famous Federal 'G'-Men Organization Group Will Promote Career System Among Civil Employes

NEW YORK, Aug 22 (AP)—What the G-men are to the federal government, Mayor Fiorelli H. LaGuardia expects his recently-conceived "X"-men to be to the city of New York.

It is part of a plan to develop the career system among the city's civil service employes. At present the emphasis is on the police.

The system will give men in the ranks an opportunity to advance into important posts through demonstration of character and ability. Recently, a member of the police force was inducted as a magistrate by LaGuardia.

The "X"-men, according to the mayor's spokesman, will be trained along the lines of the G-men, with laboratory and college courses.

Why "X"-men?

In announcing formation of the group, the mayor was stuck, his spokesman said, for a title. He called them "X-men" because "X" means unknown quantity. Later they will be given a formal name.

Soviet Freighters Invade Sea Routes To Far Eastward

SINGAPORE, Aug. 22. (AP)—Shipping circles here at the gateway to the Orient are interested in the increasing volume of Russian tonnage passing through the port, saying the Soviet Union has made giant strides with its mercantile marine in eastern waters.

A few years ago a vessel flying the Soviet flag was a rarity, but lately such visitors have become common. They stop only to fill their bunkers and water tanks. Indeed, they appear to court seclusion, often anchoring far at sea.

Some of the Soviet vessels are said to make the long journey from the White Sea or the Black Sea to the Kamchatka peninsula without a stop. The vessels generally carry salt for the Siberian fisheries on the outward trip.

Directing Head For College In Arkansas Is Announced

MENA, Ark., Aug. 22. (AP)—Commonwealth Labor college which was investigated by the state legislature earlier this year for alleged communistic activity, announced appointment of Richard Bass Whitten, 24, of New Orleans, as its directing head today.

Whitten succeeds Lucien Koch, 28, who has been granted a leave of absence.

Whitten is a former national chairman of the Student League for Industrial Democracy, and was described in today's announcement as "at present manager of Norman Thomas' anti-Long tour of Louisiana and full-time secretary of the New Orleans local of the socialist party."

Public Health Group Will Stage Meeting Next Week

AUSTIN, Aug. 22. (AP)—Gerald C. Mann, secretary of state, said today the public health committee of the Texas planning board would hold its first meeting in Dallas next Wednesday.

Mann, chairman of the committee, said "we are anxious to get into the health situation and find out why Texas occupies such a low position in this field as compared to other states."

Upon ascertaining the cause, Mann said, the committee intended "to recommend ways and means of improving public health in every county."

Sets Slug Pace With 33 Homers

Setting one of the game's most terrific gaits in the matter of long range and effective hitting, First Baseman Hank Greenberg of the Detroit Tigers was almost out of sight of the rest of the big loop pack at mid-season—and he has maintained the pace, swatting his thirty-third home run of the season yesterday, driving in four runs.

The SPORTSMAN

By LARRY BAUER

Early spring optimism has blossomed into reality as consistent reports from Dakota prairie regions and Minnesota's lakes indicate the best waterfowl hatch in a decade, writes our duck observer, Cy Plattes.

The sight of numerous puddle ducks and their downy young, of marsh areas replete with nesting birds—all in territory thought permanently depopulated by five years' deficient precipitation—has sportsmen rubbing their eyes and smiling.

Drainage, followed by the long drouth in the northwest breeding grounds, cut heavily into the wild duck population. So serious was the situation when the spring flight got under way that old observers wondered if the birds could stage a comeback. Then came rain.

In the vicinity of Red Wing and Fairmount in southern Minnesota sportsmen report "the best hatch in the memory of veteran hunters." North Dakota nimrods blend their comment with that of ornithologists to bring tidings of "a record nesting—they've even returned to the roadside ditches."

Species long absent from the northwest terrain, which, with Canada's prairies, was once the principal waterfowl incubator of the continent, have returned to nest. Among these are pintails, shovellers and even the ruddy duck. While reports from Saskatchewan indicate a paucity of ducks in some sections it is believed the hatch in the northwest states will go a long way to help waterfowl recoup their losses.

Plattes says ruddy ducks are nesting within 20 miles of Minneapolis at a lake near New Brighton. This courageous little duck, once so numerous gunners passed him up in favor of the larger species, is protected at all times by federal law.

The gaily colored wood duck is slowly gaining in numbers after a long period of federal protection. Meager reports from such central states as Iowa, Illinois and Missouri tell of two or more pairs nesting in localities where none were seen last year.

Despite the drouth, a slight increase in wood ducks was noted on the central flyways during the 1934 autumnal migration. The range of this beautiful bird includes all of United States and southern Canada. It's only rival in color is the Asiatic mandarin.

Dalrymple Named Head Mentor At Portales College

PORTALES, N. M., Aug. 22 (AP) Donald Mackay, president of the Eastern New Mexico Junior college here, announced today that Jerry Dalrymple, former all-American end from Tulane university, had accepted the post of head coach at the Portales school.

Dalrymple, who starred in the 1931 Rose Bowl game, will be director of athletics as well as head coach. He succeeds D. H. "Tiny" Reed as head mentor. Reed will serve as assistant coach.

The former Green Wave wingman served as instructor at the Texas Tech coaching school at Lubbock this month, and attended the sessions conducted by his former coach, Bernie Bierman, and other nationally famous mentors.

The coming of the former Tulane ace to the Portales school, which will open for its second year in September, is hailed here as a decided boost to football in the New Mexico conference.

The Greyhounds have scheduled games with New Mexico Military institute at Roswell, New Mexico State Teachers at Silver City, and New Mexico Normal university at Las Vegas.

In addition they will face the New Mexico Aggies, Amarillo college, Texas Tech frosh, New Mexico university frosh, Wayland college at Plainview, Texas, and Altus Junior college at Altus, Okla.

The school last year had an enrollment of less than 200 students.

Swift Packers Defeat Santa Fe Railroaders At Softball

Swift & Company's softballers scattered base hits all over the outfield yesterday to squelch the Santa Fe Railroaders, 14 to 3, in a city softball league contest at the College Avenue park.

A home run by Ed Allen with two mates on the bases was a high point of the contest.

The Railroaders were held scoreless for five innings, scoring their first run in the second frame, two more in the sixth.

Lubbock Poultry & Egg company is scheduled to play Lubbock Fruit & Vegetable company this afternoon in the final game of the week.

Buddy Baer-Jack Doyle Go Postponed Until Thursday

NEW YORK, Aug. 22. (AP)—A six round match between Jacob (Buddy) Baer, brother of the former heavyweight champion, and Jack Doyle, known as the thumping Irish thrush, was postponed because of rain tonight until next Thursday night.

The battle site likewise was shifted from Madison Square Garden's bowl on Long Island to the Garden arena indoors.

The shifts in dates and sites were decided upon after showers held on all day despite predictions of fair weather. The gladiators will weigh in again next Thursday. Today Baer scaled 236 3-4, Doyle 206 3-4.

Westerners To Set Grid Camp Up Next Week

Lubbock Fans Subscribe Cash To Provide Training Camp In New Mexico Mountains; Squad Leaves Monday

Coaches Weldon Chapman and Goober Keyes and their 1935 Lubbock High school football squad leave next Monday for Las Vegas, N. M., and a ten-day conditioning and training camp—thanks to a group of local business men, enthusiastic football fans, who subscribed funds for the jaunt.

A financial campaign headed by Spencer A. Wells, Jack Parsons and Charles A. Guy has resulted in subscription of sufficient funds to assure at least a ten-day training camp for the Westerner forces. It is possible that enough cash has been donated to keep the Chapman forces in the mountains for two full weeks.

Chapman Is Pleased

Head Coach Chapman was a happy mentor last night, and positively grateful to Lubbock fans who have made the trip possible.

"Because our boys are so inexperienced," Chapman said, "we felt that it was necessary for us to get them off by themselves for a few days of intensive training and practice. Our schedule this season is tough from the beginning, and we must be ready to go for the first game. I am mighty glad the fans have helped us this way, and I hope we can repay them by putting a better ball club on the field than we could have done otherwise."

Equipment To Be Issued

Chapman and Keyes met with their 1935 candidates last Monday night at the high school gymnasium, called the roll and began taking measurements for uniforms, shoes, etc. Equipment will be issued today and tomorrow, and the athletes, only two of whom were members of the regular squad last year, will be ready to report early Monday morning for the New Mexico camp. Headquarters will be near Montezuma, Chapman said.

For ten days or longer, the boys will be put through practice paces twice daily. They will hike, climb mountains and swim when not working on the gridiron.

The Westerner coach has not announced the official list of candidates who will make the trip.

High School Lad Pulls Upsets In Southwest Joust

DALLAS, Aug. 22. (AP) — Harry Todd of Dallas, Texas amateur champion; Reynolds Smith of Dallas, former Texas amateur king; Russell Cox of Waco; Don Schumacher of Dallas, Texas junior champion; Ben Tom Harrison of Dallas; Fred Johnson, Dallas veteran; Eugene Pittman, Dallas; and LaFayette Franks, Dallas, survived competition today in the first and second round matches of the Southwestern golf tournament.

Playing over the perfectly conditioned Lakewood Country club course, Ben Tom Harrison, local Woodrow Wilson High school athlete, turned in the day's live upset when he eliminated Leland Hamman of Paris in a second round match, 1 up. Hamman, former Trans-Mississippi champion, turned with a one up lead but could not equal Harrison's shots on the inward trek.

Harry Todd survived by eliminating Hack Williford of San Antonio, 5 and 3; and Marvin Jones of Dallas, 4 and 2. Reynolds Smith eliminated Happ Massingill of Fort Worth in the first round, 2 and 1; and then beat Jimmy Winton of Fort Worth, 4 and 3.

Quarter and semifinals will be played tomorrow.

Fourteen Teams In Running For Wichita Baseball Cash

Four of the clubs—Bismarck, N. D., Shelby, N. C., Yuma, Ariz., and Duncan, Okla.—are undefeated with three victories each. Teams having won two and lost one include Shawnee, Okla., and Texas Centennials (negro) of Austin.

The top ten teams in the standings at the close of the tournament will share in the prize money.

Keep One Eye On The Ball, Olin!

The stern stuff of which champions are made is apparent in this unusual shot of Olin Dutra, former national open golf titlist, blasting his ball out of a deep gully at the Wilshire Country club, Los Angeles. Despite his gallery of film dancers on the bridge, Dutra wasn't a bit distracted. (Associated Press Photo)

GREAT GOLF

"I hit the second shot off the fairway well with a No. 4 wood, or cleek," explains White. "The ball rose quickly, covered the pin all the way, and pulled up eight feet from the hole.

"In playing a fairway shot of this type, take the club back slowly, and time the shot well. Do not hit the ball down or up. Play the ball off the left heel and hit through with a sweep of the club."

'Beat Tech Sept. 20' Is Slogan On Cowboy Campus

ABILENE, Aug. 22. (Special)—They already have that "Beat Texas Tech" attitude at Hardin-Simmons university in Abilene. The beautiful Hardin-Simmons campus, unmarked by similar contrivances for two-score years, is now the resting place of two large billboards.

The words on each of these boards are the same—"Beat Texas Tech Sept. 20." Students and townspeople alike stop to read these words and then walk away with a jaunty step—for they believe the Cowboys' day has arrived.

Like a group of stubborn Indians, the Cowboy football players and their new head mentor, Frank Kimbrough, merely grunt and look wise when asked to commit themselves upon the possible outcome of the game. They leave the impression that all will be fine after 60 minutes of battling on Parramore field the night of Sept 20. Fine for the Wranglers but just too bad for their western rivals who will drop them from their 1936 schedule.

Yes, sir, things are looking up on the Forty Acres as the time draws near for the most colorful grid tussle in West Texas.

Jacobs Elects To Gamble For Million Bucks

Fat Offer From Detroit Gets Thumbs Down From New York Promoter Who Hopes To Get 85,000 Fans Out

NEW YORK, Aug. 22. (AP)—Willing to gamble, turning down a certain profit of $100,000 for himself, Mike Jacobs, the promoter who gets to look more and more like Tex Rickard every day, announced today Joe Louis and Max Baer would fight here in the Yankee Stadium on the night of Sept. 24.

He could have accepted a proposition, backed by Ford Motor company interests whereby he would split $300,000 with the fighters just by taking the fight to Detroit and giving the broadcasting privileges to the automobile concern. Instead, he's going to stage the show here and shoot for the first gate that seems possible to reach $1,000,000 in New York since Jack Sharkey and Jack Dempsey warred on the same battleground in 1927.

"I can get over $1,000,000 into the stadium with a crowd of 85,000," Jacobs said.

From $25 Down

"The house will be scaled at a $25 top, and I'm only allowing for 8,000 ringside seats, less than we've had for any big fight this summer. If interest justifies putting in another 10,000 ringsides, we might do $1,250,000."

Under the terms of the various agreements, Baer will get 30 per cent of the net receipts, Louis 30, and the milk fund 10 per cent "off the top." Considering that the rental of the Yankee Stadium amounts to 10 per cent of the receipts, and expenses should amount to another 10 per cent, Mike has left for himself only 10 per cent. The match will have to draw $1,000,000 for him to profit to the extent he would have in accepting the Detroit offer.

Meanwhile Max Baer had the stamp of approval tentatively set on his fighting maulies at the New York State Athletic association.

Today several commission doctors, headed by Frederick E. Elliott, an x-ray specialist, examined his fists, took a dozen pictures and declared there was no apparent sign of anything not normal in a fighter's hands. The pictures will not be developed for another day.

PWA Session Held In City

Filing Of Applications With Headquarters By Sept. 16 Advocated; State Administrator Speaker

Filing of applications with Public Works administration headquarters in Fort Worth by Sept. 16 was advocated for the South Plains area, at a meeting held in Lubbock Thursday morning.

"Do not wait on an election for voting revenues, if such an election is required, before submitting projects to the PWA," Julian Montgomery, state administrator, said. "Of 2,800 application blanks recently circulated, only 480 have been returned up to 10 o'clock Wednesday night. We desire full participation of this area and of Texas in obtaining grants or grants and loans, but we must have the projects."

Deadline Is Set

The allotments committee in Washington announced this week that no more applications should be received after Sept. 16, Mr. Montgomery said.

Approximately 90 city, school and county officials were present at the meeting held in Hilton hotel ballroom beginning at 10 o'clock to hear talks by Mr. Montgomery, W. A. Koons, head of the legal department, and T. C. Mayo, state expeditor.

"Only preliminary plans and a skeleton description of the project is necessary in making the application," Mr. Montgomery stated.

Explains Procedure

In explaining the apparent delay in forwarding plans now in the state office to Washington for final approval and allocation of funds, Mr. Mayo said that for the protection of all projects, applications were being given hasty examination and would be given thorough checking later.

"By this plan, we are able to assure future applicants that PWA money will be available," Mayo said.

Regulations pertaining to the issuance of general obligation bonds, revenue bonds, and warrants were explained by Mr. Koons.

"Since the government furnishes on grants up to 45 per cent of the project, and on loan and grants the same amount and will purchase the indebtedness of 55 per cent with interest charges of 4 per cent, political subdivisions should find opportunities to take advantage of the money," Mr. Koons said.

To Answer Questions

Questions regarding any problems pertaining to PWA applications were answered during the afternoon by the three officials who announced they would remain in Lubbock for such purposes. The meeting here Thursday was the last of a series of six held over the state for explaining new regulations regarding PWA.

The meeting was opened with a welcome address by A. B. Davis, manager of Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

French Kill Sturgeons That Create Profitable Industry

ROYAN, France, Au. 22. (AP) — Sturgeon fishing in the Gironde estuary, a small but highly profitable local industry, is threatened with extinction.

Only 5 or 6 tons are now caught yearly as compared with 20 to 30 in the past.

The principal cause of this scarcity is the ruthless capture of female fish during the spawning season for the roes which are sold to caviar makers. A sturgeon weighing 100 pounds yields 20 pounds of roe, worth from $66 to $80 to the fisherman.

Pollution of the river by oil from steamers and waste from factories also drives the fish away.

Young Girl And Her Husband Are Married A Second Time

Only 17 years old, Elizabeth E. Graef Thursday stood before a civil authority and for the second time repeated vows that made her the wife of Arthur L. Graef, 21.

The couple, which lives at Olton, was married in California but the proceeding was annulled. The bride's guardian, a sister, Mrs. Mike Smith of Hale Center, waived objection.

"We decided to try it again," Mr. Graef told Peace Justice J. T. Trigg, who read the service.

Traffic Jaywalkers Ignore Signals In Merrie England

LONDON, Aug. 22. (AP)—A census taken in Trafalgar square, where guardrails have been erected to protect jaywalkers from stepping in front of traffic, showed that when the automatic signals said "cross now" 66,125 crossed during the census period.

But when the signals said "don't cross" 13,292 people crossed during the same period.

"Little Minister" Case Is Seat Of Glasgow Difficulty

GLASGOW, Aug. 22. (AP)—Real-life counterparts of the stern elders in Sir James M. Barrie's "Little Minister" have roused a controversy here.

Still frowning on dancing as a "pastime of the devil," the elders have suspended from church rights for six months a Presbyterian lay preacher, John Murray, of Dornoch, because he allowed children to dance at a party at his home.

"It was only a children's party," defended Provost Murray, "and you can't expect old heads on young shoulders. None of my family ever went to public dances. There is no alternative for me but to break with the church."

Vote For West Texas

IF there ever was a political question for which West Texans should ballot 100 percent it is the proposed Free Text Book amendment to the state constitution, which comes up for vote in the special election of tomorrow.

Despite the fact that the religious question has ill-advisedly been brought into the argument and that a large section of the powerful teachers lobby has been opposing it might and main, its passage would be a good thing for West Texas.

Why?

Because it would correct the present vicious system of alloting state educational funds and give to West Texas schools all that is theirs, instead of taking tax money from this country and using it in deep East and South Texas communities.

Everyone should know—although few people do—that state school funds are alloted upon the basis of scholastic census, rather than upon enrollment or average daily attendance. There is where the discrimination comes in, and here is why:

Take Waller county, for instance, down near Houston.

Waller county schools receive a state allotment for every child of school age taken in the school census, despite the fact that a very high percentage of school age children are negroes and probably no more than half the negroes attend school regularly. Waller schools, then, receive many more individual allotments than they have attending students.

Take Hidalgo county, for still another instance.

Hildago county has, as everyone knows, a large Mexican population. Many of the Mexican children of school age are "school children" in name only, for they do not go to school. Never-the-less, Hidalgo schools receive allotments for every child of school age, whether or not he attends school—which, as in the case of Waller county, is pretty soft for old Hidalgo.

Now let's look at Lubbock county.

Last year Lubbock schools had a daily average attendance of 74 percent of all the school age children dug up by the school census. Lubbock's enrollment was an even five percent greater than the total of the school census—or 105 percent as compared to the census.

The same thing that holds good in Lubbock county holds good in every other South Plains or West Texas county. The figures may differ, one way or another, but the principle is the same.

So in other words, West Texas tax money is going to East and South Texas to educate mythical negro and Mexican school children and in many cases East and South Texas school districts operate their schools on our money—without the necessity of paying school district taxes—and still have money left!

Chief opposition to the passage of the Free Text Book amendment comes from two sources, both of which may be dismissed as beside the point.

Those who have injected the religious argument into the question have done so because the amendment would give free text books to children in parochial schools as well to those in public schools. And most of the parochial schools in Texas are Catholic schools. Opponents of the amendment who come under this category forget that parents of children in parochial schools pay taxes, just as do the parents of children in the public schools and that their children, therefore, are as much entitled to free text books as are the children of parents preferring public schools. Further, they cloud the fact that free text books are given to the children and not to the schools, and state educational aid is just as much the right of the Catholic child, or the Jewish child, as it is of the Protestant child.

As for those sections of organized teachers who are fighting the bill, their opposition can be called little else but selfish. The fly in their ointment is the fear passage of the amendment will put more youngsters in parochial schools, thus decreasing the number in public schools—and that such decrease may likewise decrease the number of teaching jobs in Texas. The Morning Avalanche, time and time again, has fought for embattled teachers in Lubbock and elsewhere, but in this instance we have only this to say: If there are too many people in the teaching profession, either now or at some later time, then the state should quit turning out so many and those who are unable to find teaching jobs should turn to some other field.

We have no idea that the Free Text Book amendment will pass tomorrow.

South and East Texas folks are too smart for that—they want to continue to "ride the West Texas gravy train" whereby our money aids largely in educating their children.

But we reiterate:

If there ever was a question for which West Texas should vote solidly it is that of the Free Text Book amendment.

Remember when you go to the polls tomorrow that the question is not one of religion or of the welfare of the teaching profession, but instead is an out-and-out economic question which, if the amendment passes, will reduce taxes in West Texas!

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

FORT BLUNDER

After the War of 1812, the United States decided to fortify the Canadian frontier on Lake Champlain against a Canadian invasion. A redoubtable stone structure was erected on an island in the Richelieu River at Rowse's Point. It was almost completed when, in 1818, an International Boundary Commission discovered that the new American Fort was standing on Canadian soil. Work was stopped, and the matter of this "Fort Blunder" was held in abeyance until the Webster-Ashburton Treaty of 1842. In this treaty, Great Britain generously consented to change the frontier line so as to restore the site of Fort Blunder to American sovereignty.

The idea of any possible hostility between the United States and Canada is now entirely unthinkable.

THE LONGEST STORY

In 1915, Adele Garrison, newspaper syndicate writer, started a serial story on the married life of Richard and Madge Graham, which has been published since that time continuously, six days a week. The story so far includes 13 complete novels with a succession of titles. Each novel presents a complete plot and reaches a conclusion, while its successor goes on to the next plot, all in chronological order in the lives of these principal characters, their relatives and intimates. The fourteenth title, now being published, is "Married Comrades."

SILKEN SPINDLES

by Laura Lou Brookman © 1935 NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

GALE HENDERSON, pretty, 23, works in a silk mill. Gale has had two years of college training, hoped to be a teacher. When her father became ill she was glad to take any work she could get. She and her 19-year-old brother PHIL, support their invalid father.

STEVE MEYERS, who also works in the mill, asks Gale to marry him. She promises to give him his answer in a few days.

Later that night she goes skating on the river. The ice breaks and she is rescued by BRIAN WESTMORE, whose father, now dead, built the silk mill. Brian asks Gale to wait while he gets his car, but when he returns she has disappeared.

The story moves back to a scene earlier the same day when Brian arrived home after two years in Paris studying art. Convinced he can never become an artist, he has come home to work in the mill.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IV

The day of Brian Westmore's home-coming was like any other in the silk mill. Machines thundered; spindles whirled; girls in blue uniforms moved their arms up and down, up and down, clamping the spools on spindles, twisting the thread, snapping the empty bobbins off the spindles.

The machines throbbed in unison. The 60 girls moved their heads, their fingers to the jerking rhythm. Up and down, up and down.

Clyde Fisher, in charge of the 60 machines and the 60 girls, walked down the broad aisle. He was a big man, slightly stooped. His eyes were circled with heavily-rimmed glasses and his lips twisted to one side when he spoke. None of the girls looked up as he passed. Now and then he stopped and spoke to one of them. Now and then he broke off a length of gleaming white thread and held it up.

He paused beside Gale Henderson, watched as she clamped on a bobbin, then moved on.

Gale stole a glance over her shoulder, saw that he had crossed the room and was talking to someone in the doorway. A feeling of relief stole over her. She was never comfortable when Fisher was around, especially uncomfortable when she knew he was watching her. He had a way of appearing when he was least expected. He seemed to have eyes everywhere, was all over the room at once.

It hadn't been so bad when Donlon was on the job, but Donlon had been demoted after Mr. Westmore's death. Fisher had taken his place. He spied on everyone and then carried tales to Mr. Thatcher—at least that was what everyone said.

Pay checks had been lower, too, since Fisher had been in charge. The company hadn't announced a cut, but when the two weeks' pay day came around, there was always less in the envelope than the $27 that was supposed to be the minimum. Instead there would be $25.50 or $23.35 or some such sum, with a notation that the rest had been deducted for breaking rules.

There were rules now against speaking during working hours, against taking more than five minutes in going to the wash room. Pay was deduced for being late, too.

Gale's pay had been deducted several times. She hadn't broken any rules—she was sure of it—but when she went to complain there was no one to listen.

"I'm sorry, Miss Henderson," the woman in the office had said. "The report shows—"

No, it did no good to protest. Gale was turning out more work and working faster than she ever had. The machines had been speeded up. Maybe that was why the afternoons seemed so long lately, why her arms ached at night.

She heard a sound at her right and turned. Connie Bauman, who worked beside her, put up one hand to hide her lips. Connie's face was white and drawn. "Have you got an aspirin?" she asked. "My head's splitting—"

There was the sharp clap-clap of footsteps behind them and both girls whirled.

"You—Henderson and Bauman!" Clyde Fisher snapped. "What do you think this is a tea party? Don't you know the rules here Standing there gabbing—"

"Connie's got a headache," Gale put in. "She only asked—"

"Oh, Connie has, has she?" The man's voice was sarcastic. "That's too bad. Got a headache! I suppose she'd like the afternoon off, too—or maybe the rest of the week? How about it, Miss Bauman?"

"Oh, no," the other girl said quickly. "No, Mr. Fisher, I'm all right."

"Maybe you'd better make up your mind about it," the man said. "And maybe you'd better remember there's a rule here against talking when you're supposed to be at work. We can give you a little help in remembering that. I guess that's what we'd better do. You'll find it in your next pay envelope."

"Yes, Mr. Fisher."

The man's broad back turned. He took a few steps, then suddenly whirled and came back. "And don't forget, Henderson," he said, "your pay'll be cut, too!"

The door of the carpeted office of General Manager Thatcher opened quietly and a girl's figure appeared. She wore a brown fur coat, loosely fitting, expensive looking, and a small brown hat, set at a jaunty angle. The girl had large brown eyes and very red lips. She stepped into the room, closing the door behind her.

"Hello, Dad."

Robert Thatcher looked up from the papers before him. "Vickey!" he said, "I didn't hear you come in."

He was a small man with quick, nervous mannerisms. His hair was graying at the temples. He wore nose glasses on a high-bridged nose that certainly was designed for that purpose, and his thin lips were set in an almost straight line.

"Of course you didn't," the girl said. "You never hear anything when you're in this stuffy old place. You don't even know when it's time to stop working. That's why I've come to take you home."

"But it's so early—"

"It's after 5 o'clock," the girl said firmly, "and you've been late every night this week. Come on, Darling. Do as Vicky says!"

She seated herself on the arm of the big desk chair, dropped an arm around her father's shoulder, twisted a wisp of his silver hair into a ringlet and looked down at him, smiling.

Some of the forbidding frostiness about Robert Thatcher seemed to melt away. "But I have work to do, Vicky," he objected.

"Just let me finish this list—"

"Not another word! Not another minute! Come on—get your hat and coat!"

Presently they were outside, getting into a roadster. Vicky drove as she always did—reckless of speed, of traffic regulations, delighting in the power of the smooth-running motor. Once or twice she laughed over her shoulder, silencing her father's remonstrances. For 20 years Vicky Thatcher had had her own blissful, badly spoiled way with the entire world and she had no thought of relinquishing it.

Throughout the dinner that followed Vicky was unusually high-spirited, unusually thoughtful about her father's likes and dislikes. The roast was his favorite and so was the dessert. Over coffee and cigarets Vicky said casually, "Remember, I told you Kay Stoner and her mother have gone to Havana?"

"Yes."

"Kay wants me to come down for a few weeks. She says they're having a grand time—swimming and golfing and lots of parties. She won $500 at the races one day last week—and lost it the same night at the

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT has confided to friends that he is heartily satisfied with the accomplishments of this closing session of Congress. Despite delays and differences he obtained almost everything he wanted and the framework of the New Deal assumes final shape. He will dedicate the structure publicly in good time.

No Congress has left more arguments and disagreements in its wake. Nevertheless, on close view it has been one of the most historic and productive in modern times. Mr. Roosevelt's inner circle quietly hail three new laws as the New Deal's finest achievements—the social security bill, the social taxation measure and the Wagner labor disputes act.

Even opponents concede the skill of the President's handling of the legislators. His "compromises" turned out to be triumphs complete or partial. In thirty months he has suffered few major defeats, and these involve issues on which most Chief Executives lose—foreign and veterans' affairs. Congress spanked him on the World Court, the St. Lawrence Treaty and veterans' economies.

EXPLOSION: This Congress—with the help of the Supreme court—has definitely crystallized the political lines for the 1936 Presidential election. Mr. Roosevelt has swung more sharply to the left than even his closest advisers anticipated.

New Dealers recognize that they have alienated powerful business, industrial and financial interests—which means the northeastern section of the political map. But they console themselves with the thought that they have gained the support of the working man, people on relief and the farmer. Whereas the politicos welcome this alignment, the legislators are not completely happy over the outlook.

Reading their mail, they look for a 1936 campaign of an economic bitterness not equalled since the Bryan-McKinley contest of 1896. "It will be a battle between the haves and the have-nots," said an especially shrewd member who dreads the emotion explosion just around the corner.

STOPPER: TVA-ers complain bitterly, but whisperingly that Comptroller General McCarl's men are sabotaging their experiment in the Tennessee basin. They say that the accountants he has assigned to the project waste millions by squeezing pennies.

It was Mr. McCarl whose report criticizing expenditures furnished anti-TVA ammunition to Senator Austin of Vermont a few months ago. The GOP Senator's revelations on the floor almost blocked the move to shore up this experiment. How the report fell into Senatorial hands before TVA's managers were given a chance to answer it has never been explained, but Mr. McCarl is still suspect.

But the TVA amendments put the Comptroller General in his place. Hereafter he can't publicize financial faults without affording the dam-builders an opportunity to answer and explain. The new provision was written by Senator Norris, who gave Mr. McCarl his start at Washington many years ago. But there is no love lost on this subject between the Senator and his former secretary.

NOTES: A powerful coterie is planning to sabotage the Frazier-Lemke farm moratorium bill. . . . The Senate lobby committee has enormously enlarged power to probe into corporations — not necessarily utility corporations . . . Committee wants to know if utility holding companies have a stranglehold on Western Union. . . . Congress leaves the oil industry unregulated. . . . "Don't envy me my vacation," said a flitting Congressman, "I've got to explain this session to my constituents."

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

EASTERN industrialists who are leading the fight on processing taxes had better look out for the cannily concealed club up the sleeve of the new AAA amendments. They authorize the diversion of 30 per cent of gross customs receipts to encourage agricultural exports. The net effect is to interlock processing taxes and the tariffs which are close to industry's heart. The implication is that an assault on processing taxes will also undermine tariffs.

New York sharps recognize that farmers are in no mood to stand for anything which might seriously decrease or eliminate their benefit payments. A sizable fund has actually been raised by agricultural interests to test the constitutionality of protective tariffs—as distinct from import duties for revenue only—in the event that processing taxes are eventually banned by the Supreme Court. You may have noticed that the New Dealers have done nothing about providing alternative sources for farm benefit payments in case processing taxes are annulled. There's method in that omission. It invites the farmers to concentrate their ire on the New England textile mills and others who instigated the annulment.

New York conservatives have no love whatever for processing taxes. But the wise ones figure that no development would come closer to landsliding FDR's reelection than to have these taxes and the benefit payments derived from them outlawed by the Supreme court.

HOLLOW: Utility circles are privately swearing at the latest example of "Roosevelt guile." Despite the President's insistence that the mandatory death sentence in the Senate version of the holding company bill be included in the final draft and his outward reluctance to accept a compromise, they are now convinced he was prepared all along to give ground when it came to a showdown.

They contend that by harping on the death sentence and riding the House for being too gentle he has headed off enactment of amendments which would have been much more favorable to the power companies. In this way he has outmaneuvered one of the most strenuous lobbies ever organized. Comment runs that he simply followed the time-honored legal tactic of asking for three times as much as he expected to get.

His alleged defeat is certainly a hollow victory for the utilities. The revised bill will be just as severe a pain to old-timers as the original. The younger men say it will be a good thing for their future.

ATTENTION: Backstage Republican leaders are more amused than impressed by the enthusiasm shown for Senator Borah in Robert H. Lucas' poll of GOP leaders. They can't see Borah as a serious candidate through a telescope. His years and his lone wolf record are too much of a handicap.

But the poll is impressing some rather unpalatable ideas on eastern party generals. It has dispelled any illusions they may have cherished that they could handpick their own nominee. They realize now that their candidate must come from the West. It's true that many leaders have felt this all along—but hitherto a number of their colleagues have been hard to convince.

The poll also makes it clear that the candidate must have at least a moderately liberal background. That isn't so easy for right wingers to take—even though they can find a man who fits this description and yet can be counted as "safe." This column again suggests it will be well to keep an eye on Senator Dickinson of Iowa. He is getting a lot of attention behind the scenes.

CONTRAST: The large volume of corporate financing so far this year means little to date in terms of business stimulation. Analysis shows that 73.6 per cent of the bonds floated were for refunding purposes, 16.5 per cent were for the purchase of securities by investment trusts and such, 5.5 per cent were for working capital and only 4.1 per cent for plant, equipment, etc.

TARZAN AND THE LION MAN, No. 113

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Once again Rhonda Terry found herself in the frightful harem of the gorilla king, surrounded by the hostile shes of Henry the Eighth. Strangely enough, however, her thoughts were not of herself, but of the man who had tried so valiantly to save her. What had been his fate?

. . . At that moment Tarzan lay unconscious on the roof of the burning castle, where the gorilla's battle-axe had struck him down. About him the beasts fought violently for safety. The Maker scurried for a hidden stairway, but he was preceded by others who knew the secret.

Through this fighting, screaming pack, the monster sought to force his way, but the powerful creatures shoved him aside. Mad with terror and rage, he threw himself on the back of a great bull whose bulk barred his way, and beat the beast frantically on the head.

The terrified brute paid him no heed until The Maker sank his fangs into its neck. Then, the mighty beast laid hold of him and hurled him to the roof, where the gorilla god lay stunned beside Tarzan—while hungry fingers of flame leaped out to clutch the two still bodies!

WHO?
CONTEST

This is the Final Baby Photo to appear in this contest. It is No. 4.

The only thing that hasn't changed about this little girl is her voice. She still talks baby talk in a baby voice—and the film fans love it.

The star whose picture appears today is an outstanding comedienne of radio and screen. She always appears with her husband.

Know her? Then clip this Baby Photo, paste it on another sheet of paper and write her name underneath. Add your own name in the lower right hand corner, attach it to the other three that have already appeared and mail or bring to the Classified Contest Editor, Avalanche-Journal before 6 p. m. today. The ten persons submitting the best correct sets, will each receive a guest ticket to the Palace Theater to see Laurel and Hardy in "Bonnie Scotland." Prize winners are determined first on the basis of correct answers, second on the attractiveness of their entries.

Duke Pays Fine For Selling Of Own 'Furniture'

PARIS, Aug. 22. (AP) — France's archeological treasures are vigilantly guarded by the ministry of fine arts, as the Duke de Bauffremont found to his cost.

The duke possesses a fine 18th century mansion in the aristocratic Faubourg St. Germain quarter. It had been classed by the ministry as a historical monument.

Owners of such buildings cannot, under the law, change or modify them in any way without express permission, but the duke disregarding this obligation, sold the magnificent carved wood panelling from one of the salons to an antiquary for $4,000.

For this he was hailed before the correctional court. His plea that the panelling was furniture was rejected by the court which fined the noble owner and the antiquary 50 francs, for $3.33 each, and ordered them to put the panelling back.

Bird Study Is Sport Of Big And Increasing Fandom Group

ST. PAUL, Aug. 22. (AP)—To some it's a novelty, to others a hobby, and a few just smile—but to the growing roster of northwest outing enthusiasts bird study is a sport.

Trappings for a "field trip," as an outdoors jaunt is known, are a modern match or sportsmen's paraphernalia. With binoculars or a gun and a camera or ammunition, the birdman is set to "shoot" his prey.

In some Minnesota communities the swelling ranks of bird troupers bid fare to outnumber the gun-toting sportsmen.

Unencumbered by closed seasons and species limitations, bird lovers —young and old—daily invade Minnesota's wild life haunts by the hundreds.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Aug. 22. (AP) — Major world grain markets today gave a somewhat dismal performance despite warlike implications in European political developments, gossip concerning which was part of the trade background.

Wheat futures prices here declined about a cent a bushel under moderate profit taking in the absence of broad speculative buying.

Chicago wheat closed 1-2 to 1 1-8 cents below the previous finish, December 90 7-8@91, and corn was 1-8 to 1-2 lower, December 55 7-8. Oats lost 1-2 to 3-4, rye 1-2 to 5-8, and barley 1-8 to 1-2.

The tendency to accept profits after a two-day advance which added four cents to wheat prices here predominated during most of the session.

Will Rogers

mer cowboy who now sponsors rodeos, ranches and other interests.

Thousands Of Flowers

Flowers were heaped in profusion, from the Lambs club, New York theatrical group; from the quiet birdman organizations of New York and Los Angeles; from the Baseball Writers association of America; from the Soviet government of Russia; from actors, orchestra leaders, wealthy industrialists, society — and from cowhands with whom Will Rogers loved to sit and "blather," his word for talk.

The words of Mr. Brougher touched upon the wide range of the humorist:

"Will Rogers was preeminently the apostle of good humor—

"He had a genius for love. He loved the people. He loved the things that people love—

"He was pure minded and clean in his thinking. Like a rubber ball bouncing on a clean wall, he threw out his thoughts and they rebounded to you without taint or soil upon your heart and soul—

Was Wisely Human

"The only time I ever heard him say a sharp or caustic thing was when a speaker at a banquet told a rather doubtful story. When Will had his turn he said, 'My friend's mind is like a race horse. It seems to run best on a dirty track.'—

"Will Rogers was wisely human and naturally kind. He had the sympathy of a mother for her child and the kindness of a friend for a friend."

As the 125 closest friends filled the little church, a pipe organ softly sounded the first strains of the "Old Rugged Cross," moving from this to other familiar airs Rogers had heard as a boy in a country church—"In The Cross Of Christ I Glory," "Beautiful Isle Of Somewhere," "Saved by Grace" and "I Love To Tell The Story."

members of the family entered. There was a brief prayer, a quartet sang "Lead Kindly Light," and the Reverend Dr. W. R. White began the brief sermon.

The name of Will Rogers was linked with that of Post throughout the eulogy.

"May we join in the hope that he and his pal soared beyond the stratosphere, and that some day sorrowing ones left behind will be called up to meet them in the air, to be forever with the Lord."

He had taken a verse from Isaiah as the text: "Who are these that fly as a cloud, and as the doves to their windows"; and followed with the familiar passage from John, "Let not your heart be troubled, believe in God, believe also in me. In my Father's house are many mansions. . ."

BILL IS PASSED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22. (AP)—After three hours of boisterous debate, the house tonight passed and sent to the senate the omnibus flood control bill authorizing expenditure of $375,000,000 for nearly 300 projects.

Stocks

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Aug. 22. (AP)—Profit-realizing, though not insistent, held the stock market today to minor gains in the majority of issues, with a good scattering of small losses.

In many respects the session closely followed Wednesday's pattern. Steels, farm shares and the non-ferrous metals were in the leading lines in these groups, however, closing levels were well below the best of the day. Many of the steels were at peaks for 1935 or longer for a time. Rails were a little soft.

The Associated Press average for 60 stocks was .1 of a point higher at the finish at 48.8. Turnover in the stock exchange was 1,866,360 shares, a little slower than in the previous session.

Bonds likewise were not helpful. While corporation loans moved narrowly, U. S. government obligations were reactionary, especially in the guaranteed group, where losses ran around 1-4 to 1-2 point.

While Wall street brokerage circles appeared still to have their chief attention directed to the continued flow of favorable business, a weather eye was cocked toward Washington and foreign political developments.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 22. (AP) — Cotton was quiet today.

It was another session of watchful waiting for the government's loan policy and final prices were within a point or so of previous closing levels.

Light buying by professionals and the trade in the early hours of trading had active options up around 50 cents a bale, but the gains failed to hold and slipped off point by point in the afternoon to finish where they began.

Oct. closed at 11.22, up 2 points, Dec. was not unchanged at 11.24, while Jan. at 10.96, March at 10.97 and May at 10.96 were off 1 point.

Latest reports were that President Roosevelt was to have another conference with Secretary of Treasury Morgenthau this afternoon about the loan on the new crop and the trade believed that a loan announcement was imminent.

A twelve cent figure is considered by most operators to be the least probable of the announcements that might be made.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Aug. 22 (AP) — With the market still waiting for an official crop loan announcement, cotton was quiet today with fluctuations narrow. After selling up from 11.06@11.16, December closed at 11.07, with the general market ending steady net 3 points higher to 1 point lower.

Exports today 2,772 making 143,646 so far this season. Port receipts 14,262. U. S. port stocks 1,102,291.

Ton Of Climbing Effort Is Needed So London Flats To Be Limited To Few Stories

LONDON, Aug. 22. (AP)—Working-class apartment houses are never likely to attain the proportions of skyscrapers. In fact five floors is the limit because a London borough engineer reporting to his housing committee states:

To climb four flights of stairs (64 steps in all) a person weighing 140 pounds must expend energy sufficient to raise 2,600 pounds one foot.

He points out that old people can not do it, the milkman and the postman do not want to do it and elevators are too costly.

One Lesson And You Fly-It-Yourself—That's Idea Of New "Flivver Planes"; Big Development Now Expected

BY WILLIAM S. WHITE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22. (AP)—An ordinary person . . . an hour of flying instruction . . . and then "solo."

That, bureau of air commerce officials predict, soon may be the formula for getting the public into the air.

In a big laboratory at Langley Field, Va., engineers are tinkering with the "guinea pig" of the government's experiment in fostering large-scale development of cheap, safe "flivver planes."

In addition to the present "guinea pig," at least three more experimental models are to be tested and a fourth, a tailless craft, already has been accepted.

Tests Applied

The "guinea pig," as bureau officials have dubbed it, is the little three-wheeled Weick W-1, with its motor in the rear, and entire front space open to maximum visibility.

It is being subjected to almost every known test. In a wind tunnel operated under direction of the national advisory committee for aeronautics, the ship is being buffeted about under conditions similar to those of actual flying. It also is being tried out in the air.

Standing by are engineers for the committee and for the bureau, seeking modifications wherever there is possibility of improvement. These are being translated into actual changes by the corporation that built the ship.

"Cheaper Than A Car"

The small craft was designed originally by Fred Weick, engineer for the aeronautics committee, and associates, and a contract subsequently was awarded to the Kreider-Reisner aircraft corporation of Hagerstown, Md., for its development. Officials say it could be turned out in quantity production at less cost than the cheapest of currently popular automobiles. No more specific estimate is made.

Meanwhile, experts are scrutinizing a second experimental ship already in the air and accepted—the tailless model designed by Waldo Waterman of Santa Monica, Calif. Waterman's strange-looking craft, officials say, has much in common with the Weick W-1 and other "flivver" types. Each has a plain, small body that somewhat resembles an automobile, each has the motor in the rear and both are equipped with wheels set in triangular fashion, as an aid to safe landing.

Other Planes Due

Three other models are coming shortly. One, constructed by the Hammond aircraft corporation of Ypsilanti, Mich., has the three-wheel and "push" motor features. A second, an autogiro designed for landing almost anywhere, including the highways, is under construction by the Autogiro Company of America, Willow Grove, Pa.

The third, an all-metal ship with a motor in the nose, is nearing completion by the Curtiss-Wright airplane company, Robertson, Mo. Differences in wing characteristics are expected to distinguish it from the more conventional commercial models with front motors.

The bureau's campaign likewise has resulted in four projects to test the possibility of using automobile engines for aviation purposes. Contracts for use of both six and eight cylinder motors have been let.

Wholesale Extortion Case Is Being Probed; Fifteen Persons Threatened

BUFORD, Ga., Aug. 22. (AP) — A wholesale extortion case, involving demands for more than $50,000 and threats of death to 15 members of eight of North Georgia's wealthiest and most prominent families, was under investigation today by the United States department of justice.

W. A. Rorer, chief of the Atlanta office of the bureau of investigation, department of justice, said in Atlanta "we are investigating several extortion notes," but declined to discuss the case further.

Lands Demanded

In each case, so far as could be learned here, the letter bore the typewritten signatures "vigilance committee, justice for poor people." In addition to money, lands were demanded of some of those receiving the threats.

John, Victor and Bona Allen, brothers, of Buford, and operators of a large leather goods plant here, were among those who received the letters.

The threat that "your damned heart will be shot out," was made in each of the letters.

Capital Eagerly Following Argument Has Two New Developments To Peruse

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22. (AP)—A capital eagerly following the constitutional argument which is rapidly shaping up as one of the major debates for the 1936 campaign had two new items to consider today.

On the one hand, President Roosevelt made a surprise reference to the nation's charter last night. In a radio address to boy scouts assembled in camps over the country, he said that the "individual who by inaction or opposition slows up honest, practical, far-seeing community effort" is the one who is "holding back civilization and the objectives of the constitution."

Unable To Continue

On the other hand the American Liberty League has just celebrated its first birthday with the contention that the New Deal "can not continue under the constitution." A national bulletin of the league said 1,000 voluntary committees are recruiting in every state and every large city, to make the league "a potent force to assist the American people" in deciding the issue.

The league said its national lawyers committee, under the chairmanship of R. E. Desvernine is "preparing legal analyses of important New Deal acts" to "give the American public the expert advice needed for sound public opinion."

The president's address to the scouts last night was one which he was to have made to the organization's international jamboree, cancelled recently because of infantile paralysis in this section.

Some observers thought they saw a hint of the strategy the administration would follow in fighting critics who assail the New Deal on constitutional grounds.

Haile Selassie Threatens Warriors; Must Keep Peace

ADDIS ABABA, Aug. 22. (AP) — Emperor Haile Selassie, faced with severe difficulty in holding his warriors in check, has threatened with death any Ethiopian who menaces or assaults an Italian, it was learned tonight.

This followed upon the shooting of Baron Mussi Falconi, an Italian consul, which Ethiopian officials described as accidental while he was on a hunting trip.

Author Was Jew; Film Is Shelved

BERLIN, Aug. 22. (AP)— The Neues Deutsches Lichtspielsyndikat, a German firm of film producers, has learned that 250,000 Austrian shillings, invested in a Vienna film, might as well be written off as lost.

The company subscribed the money toward the production of a film, entitled "Episode," in which Paula Wessely, a German favorite, plays the leading role.

When the film reached the nazi propaganda ministry, its experts discovered that its author, Walter Reisch, is a Jew. The film was promptly placed on the black list.

Bonus-By-Inflation Issue Assured Of An Early Vote

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22. (AP)—The bonus-by-inflation issue, which racked the now-ending congress, today was cast squarely before the next session with a vote assured within the first ten days.

Projecting a shadow that stretched four and a half months in advance, 218 house members signed a petition that will force consideration of the Patman bill providing for issuance of two billion dollars of new money to pay the adjusted service certificates.

Ship Subsidy Proposals By President Being Abandoned

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22. (AP) — Ship subsidy proposals by President Roosevelt today were abandoned for the session by the senate commerce committee.

Instead, it agreed to press a resolution giving the executiv e until April 30, 1936, to cancel or modify existing ocean mail subsidy contracts, with the hope of agreeing on a direct subsidy plan before that date at the next session.

Rangers and campers at the Santa Barbara National Forest are frequently pestered by raccoons raiding garbage containers.

Vintners To Lose Rights To Titles

PAARL, South Africa, Aug. 22. (AP)—Champagne will no longer be champagne in South Africa after August 11, 1936. Already wine growers are sorely puzzled as to what to call it.

The same applies to sauterne, burgundy and a host of other wines.

By a trade agreement with France use of such well-known names of vintages for domestic wines will be prohibited a year hence.

Work Halted As Laborers Of Minneapolis Find New Lake

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 22. (AP) — Minneapolis, known as the city of lakes, has re-discovered still another.

Old "Hoag lake," once extending into the city's present business section, had been filled in and all but forgotten—until a garage company recently let a contract for the sinking of two 17,000 gallon gasoline storage tanks.

Then things happened. Four contracting companies in succession gave up the task when water rushed in and inundated steam shovels.

An old-fashioned "bucket brigade" was put to work, and workmen are completing by hand the job steam shovels couldn't handle.

Canoe Voyage On Pacific Is Repetition Of His Ancestors'

SYDNEY, Australia, Aug. 22. (AP) —Retracing the canoe route of his ancestors, Prof. Peter H. Buck, formerly of Yale university, now ethnologist at Bishop museum, Honolulu, has duplicated an epic feat.

More than 600 years ago, his Maori forebears, driven out by intertribal wars, were forced across the Pacific from Raiatea, in French Oceania, to New Zealand.

Prof. Buck, of Maori descent, is regarded as one of the foremost authorities on Polynesia. He had a career as doctor, soldier, and cabinet minister in New Zealand before accepting his post in Honolulu.

Electricity Is Used In An Effort To Catch Fish Worms

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22. (AP) —Quick, easy capture of enough worms for a day's fishing is claimed by B. L. Hutshing for his invention of an "angleworm accellerator."

It is an insulated metal rod connected to a light plug. When stuck into the ground the worms dash out, he says.

TO PROBE FRAUD

FORT WORTH, Aug. 22. (AP)—Allegedly fraudulent acts in connection with otaining livestock feed loans from the government will be investigated by the federal grand jury when it is sworn in on Sept. 16 in Dallas, Joe H. Jones, assistant United States attorney, announced today. Eight arrests have already been made in West Texas, he said.

Loan On 1935 Crop 9 Cents

Additional Direct Grants Are To Be Made To Assure Contract Signers Total Return Of 12 Cents

"a great misfortune that the president did not announce a straight 12-cent a pound loan."

"Of course, it is evident that Secretary Wallace, Chester Davis and cotton shippers won a victory," Bankhead declared. "I think the plan will be very confusing and may cost the government a great deal of money."

Stating that the plan was approved by President Roosevelt, the AAA said the Commodity Credit corporation will offer a loan of 9 cents a pound at the farm, without recourse on the borrower, on 13-16 inch low middling cotton or better.

More To Be Included

Last year's 12-cent loan was made only on 7-8 inch middling cotton or that of a higher quality. The modified regulation this year, officials explained, will permit loans on about 200,000 bales more than was permitted last year.

No loans will be made on cotton of lower staple and grade than 13-16 inch low middling.

The offers of both the loan and the outright grant will be made only to producers who signed contracts this year and who agree to sign contracts for 1936. A total of 1,004,000 contracts was signed this year.

Production Estimated

Cotton production for 1935 was estimated on August 1, at 11,798,000 bales, compared with total production in 1934 of 9,636,559 bales. The total bankhead allotment this year is 10,500,000 bales.

An official explained that the "average price of 7-8 inch middling cotton" will be simply a standard upon which the additional gifts to the farmers will be made.

If, for example, the average price during the stipulated period should be 11 cents, then every farmer would receive a grant of one cent a pound on all cotton produced under his Bankhead allotment.

Might Get More

It would be possible, the officials said, for some farmers to receive more than 12 cents for their cotton under this plan. Should the price be boosted to 13 or 14 cents for a few days, a farmer might sell his cotton for that amount. Then, if the price should fall and the average price for the four months be 11 cents, the farmer would receive the additional regardless.

Officials said they expected this new plan to provide growers an income of approximately $200,000,000 for their lint cotton for 1935, exclusive of rental and benefit payments under existing contracts. The income for lint cotton in 1934 was placed by the AAA at $613,000,000 compared to $634,000,000 in 1933 and $424,000,000 in 1932.

Man Who Gave Government Tips On Massacre Is Dead

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22. (AP) — Attorney General Cummings disclosed today that Jimmie La Capra, who gave the government tips on the Kansas City union station massacre and was killed this week at Ellensville, N. Y., had feared a nationwide gang pact to "rub him out."

At his press conference Cummings said La Capra came to the capital recently to ask a large reward for his tips, claiming gangs in all the large cities were eager to kill him.

The attorney general said La Capra was offered transportation to any point he might choose, as well as a small cash payment, but refused. He added federal agents are investigating his death.

Cleburne Man Is Guarded In Hospital; Is Facing Charge

DALLAS, Aug. 22. (AP)—Fred Batson, 26, of Cleburne, charged last night in a poker game hold-up slaying near the Dallas-Denton county line recently, was under day and night guard today at Parkland hospital.

Batson was ill of pneumonia when arrested yesterday at his home. Physicians, however, said he could be moved, and he was sent to the hospital.

Robert Williams, 40, of Louisville was slain in the holdup.

Jack and Buck Terry, Fort Worth brothers, also are charged with murder in connection with Williams' death.

Recommendation That Every Catholic Child Be Sent To Catholic School Approved In Closing Session

NEW YORK, Aug. 22. (AP)—The council of the Knights of Columbus, at the closing session today of the fifty-third annual convention, approved a recommendation that every Catholic child be sent to a Catholic school.

This recommendation was contained in the report of the committee on the good of the order presented by William P. Galligan of Laredo, Tex., chairman of the committee.

Treatment Of Catholics In Mexico Is Decried

NEW YORK, Aug. 22. (AP)—The Knights of Columbus, decrying the treatment of Catholics in Mexico, have appealed to the administration "to withdraw its opposition to the Borah resolution."

The supreme council of the order, asserting that it represented 400,000 United States citizens, unanimously ordered this letter of appeal sent to President Roosevelt last night. Supreme Knight Michael H. Carmody of Grand Rapids, Mich., signed it.

Calling the government's failure to act "tacit acquiescence in the persecution of the Mexican people," the letter told the president that the knights were "keenly disappointed" to learn the Borah resolution of protest was held in the senate foreign relations committee "at the behest of the state department and with your knowledge and approval."

Made Other Protests

The Washington government, it said, on many occasions "has protested vigorously on behalf of peoples of other faiths when persecuted by other governments, off-times when the conditions were much less compelling in their appeal."

Luke E. Hart of St. Louis, supreme advocate, made the motion to send the letter after Bishop Francis C. Kelley of Oklahoma City had told the council President Roosevelt could stop religious persecution in Mexico if he so desired.

"In fact," said the bishop, "no government can survive more than six months in Mexico without the approval of the government of the United States."

Casino. And she's met an awfully nice crowd—"

"But Vicky, I don't want you running off to Havana. Why, you haven't been home a month yet!"

The red lips pouted prettily. "A month? It's been ages! You can't expect me to stay in this horrible mill town all the time without ever seeing anybody or having any fun!"

"Didn't you promise that if you could have the new car you wouldn't ask for any trips?"

"That was last summer. I didn't suppose you meant for all the rest of my life!"

Robert Thatcher sighed. "I don't want to say 'No,' Vicky. Just now, though, times are a little bad. I'd rather you stayed home, but we'll see—oh, by the way, I've some news I forgot to tell you."

The girl smoked gloomily, without looking up.

"Brian Westmore's home," her father went on.

"Brian?"

"Yes. His mother told me yesterday. Said he was to get in this afternoon. I guess I forgot to mention it."

"Brian Westmore's back from Paris," the girl said slowly. "You mean—to stay?"

"Well, I don't know about that. But at least for a time. I think he's rather discouraged about becoming an artist. That's what Mrs. Westmore indicated."

The girl was on her feet. The brown eyes that had been so listless were glowing now, animated. "I'm going upstairs," she said. "I'll be right back."

A moment later, in her own room, Vicky Thatcher held the telephone to her lips and gave a number. She leaned forward, waiting eagerly for the answering voice.

Enrollment Time For Seniors Set

Seniors at Lubbock High school will enroll on Monday and Tuesday, August 26 and 27, in the office of the principal, according to R. W. Matthews. Students having 120 grade points or above, or new students with 12 or more credits, are classed as seniors.

Parents are invited to come with their children to advise them, Mr. Matthews said. Before enrolling students must check what courses they have had on the required list. Parents are often a definite help in such matters, the principal explained.

Other high school students will enroll from 8:30 a. m. to 12 o'clock and 1 p. m. to 4 p. m. as follows: August 28, 29 and 30, juniors; September 2, 3 and 4, sophomores and high freshmen.

The famous Goldman band just has played its 1,000th concert in New York. Edwin Franko Goldman, its conductor, never has missed a concert in all that time.

Relations Are Being Broken

Official Press Relations Of Soviet Russia And Poland At An End; Permit For Correspondent Cancelled

MOSCOW, Aug. 22. (AP)—Official press relations between Soviet Russia and Poland have been broken by the cancellation by Poland of the residence permit for the Tass (Soviet) correspondent in Warsaw following the expulsion of the Polish agency correspondent from Russia.

The charge d'affaires of the Polish embassy called at the foreign office Tuesday, the same day Jan Otmar Berson, the Polish correspondent, was expelled from Russia, and informed the Soviet government that Joseph Kovalsky, the Tass correspondent who was here at the time on vacation, would not be permitted to return to Poland.

Kovalsky also served as correspondent for the official government newspaper Izvestia.

Servant Arrested

Karl Radek, government spokesman, in an article in Izvestia today declared the Poles had further retaliated against Berson's expulsion by arresting Kovalsky's servant in Warsaw and a servant secretary of the Soviet embassy there.

Radek said there was "a serious political side to the situation," adding that Kovalsky's writings were devoted to improving the relations between the two countries while Berson did "everything possible to worsen them."

Radek said that the very day Berson was ordered expelled, an article appeared in the Polish newspaper Gazeta Polska, giving the French communist leader, Marcel Cachin, as authority for a statement that the third communist internationale was planning the bolshevization of France.

This statement, said Radek, was "slanderous and unfair to Cachin" and was made "with the deliberate purpose of affecting Franco-Soviet relations."

Case Of Arthur Gooch Will Be Heard By Court Monday

DENVER, Aug. 22. (AP)—The case of Arthur Gooch, convicted in Oklahoma and the first man ever sentenced to death under the Lindbergh kidnap law, will be heard by the United States circuit court of appeals here Monday.

Gooch's appeal challenged the validity of the death sentence section of the law.

He was tried for the kidnaping of R. N. Baker and H. R. Marks, police officers of Paris, Texas.

Musical Program At Kiwanis Club

Music by a negro singer of Lubbock, Leroy Patterson, featured the Kiwanis club's luncheon yesterday noon at the Hotel Lubbock. Patterson sang several popular numbers and also some negro spirituals.

Next week, President Allen T. Stewart announced, will be given over to a Will Rogers program.

Two new members, Thomas E. Thompson and Claude Hurlbut, the latter a charter member who resumed his membership, were presented.

J. D. Hassell, jr., and W. H. Walton were members of the program committee. Mr. Hassell presided and Mr. Walton, in a short talk, told members of the club to visit the CCC camp at the South Plains fair grounds and to become acquainted with its activities.

Dr. F. W. Standefer, former president, urged the club to consider purchase of copies of a safety first booklet, "Sudden Death," reprinted from a magazine.

Secretary W. C. Rylander announced new Kiwanis buttons were now available to members.
