Small And Horner Are Leading Illinois Race For Governor While Glenn Is Easy Victor In Senate Chase

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, April 12.—The wave of delegates rolled tonight toward President Hoover and Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

In Nebraska, where tremendous balloting for state offices slowed up the counting of presidential preference votes, New York's governor in the early returns was far ahead of Speaker John N. Garner and Gov. William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray of Oklahoma.

Kentucky For Roosevelt

In Kentucky, the Democratic convention unanimously instructed that state's 26 delegates to vote for Roosevelt as long as his name is before the Chicago convention next June.

The Florida Republican state convention elected nine delegates at large and instructed them for President Hoover.

In the district congressional conventions, four more delegates were instructed for Hoover. Two more delegates remain to be chosen in district meetings.

Prohibition Is Topic

The president and prohibition were topics of the day and night at the Missouri G. O. P. state meeting. The convention instructed that state's entire delegation of 41 for President Hoover and adopted a resolution urging congress to call a national convention at the earliest possible date to "deal with the whole subject of prohibition."

The preferential voting in Illinois was of secondary importance to the selection of nominees for governor.

Len Small, Kankakee, twice Republican governor, was in the lead of his seven opponents. With 2,198 out of 7,229 precincts tallied the 70-year-old farmer-banker had a lead of 31,000 votes over Omer N. Custer, former state treasurer and nearest opponent, but was far short of a majority.

WASHINGTON, April 12. (AP)—President Hoover and senate banking committee members determined to go the limit tonight in determining the influence of short selling of "bear raiding" on the stock market.

After the committee had failed again to shake the defense of Richard Whitney, president of the New York stock exchange, the president summoned Chairman Norbeck to the White House. The latter announced later the committee would go to the bottom" of charges that bear raiders were knocking down stock prices.

MURRAY CALLED HOME

POCATELLO, Ida., April 12. (AP) Gov. William (Alfalfa Bill) Murray of Oklahoma, passed through here tonight en route to Oklahoma City from Portland, saying he was called home on urgent matters which necessitated the cancelation of speaking engagements he was to have kept in Oregon.

(By The Associated Press)

HILLSBORO, N. M., April 12. George Curry, former territorial governor of New Mexico, enjoyed reading his own obituary today. He came here to attend the funeral of his close friend, Lafayette A. "I may be dead politically," said Curry, "but I take this occasion to remind my friends I am very much alive and feeling well."

U. S. Official Details Story Of Confidence

Dr. B. Youngblood Visits In Lubbock Tuesday And Tells 20-Year-Old Tale; Live At Home Program Urged

This is the story of confidence and courage a new crop 20 years ago gave to a resourceful people—the farmers of the South Plains. It is told by Dr. B. Youngblood, who in 1912 sent 100 pounds of sudan grass seed to the sub-station here.

Dr. Youngblood, then director of the state experiment stations, is representing the offices of experiment stations of the United States department of agriculture at Washington, and is making an annual tour of experiment farms in this section.

Given To Farmers

"Every sub-station received 100 pounds of the seed, which were distributed to farmers," Dr. Youngblood explained Tuesday night. "The seed were planted, and when they came up the grass was so similar to Johnson grass that till the farmers except those near the Temple and Lubbock experiment stations immediately plowed it up."

"The Lubbock farmers realized about $40,000 from the crop—sudan grass seed was very valuable then—and those at Temple about $30,000. It proved the most valuable crop they had had, and encouraged them to look toward agriculture development.

"The people of a semi-arid section are resourceful, and courageous."

To Help Farmers

The object of the experiment farms, as explained by Dr. Youngblood, is "to help the farmers get the information they need when they need it."

He pointed out that the stations in Texas have been promoting drouth resisting, high-yielding grains since 1914. "At that time," he said, "we didn't think sorghums were as good as corn to feed out livestock, but now we have proved that they are. There is no estimate on the value the sub-stations at

Husband Sought After Death Of Wife On Tuesday

Efforts were being made Tuesday night to locate R. E. Huston, believed to be near Phoenix, Ariz., to inform him of the unexpected death of Mrs. Huston, 55, here yesterday afternoon in a sanitarium.

Death of Mrs. Huston, who became seriously ill about noon Monday at her home at 2222 Ninth street, was attributed to cerebral hemorrhage. She was found in a semi-conscious condition by a neighbor and Allene Huston, a daughter, when the girl went home from Texas Technological college at noon.

Mr. Huston left Saturday for some place about 30 miles from Phoenix. A neighbor said only Mrs. Huston knew his exact destination. The Hustons had been living in Lubbock four years, coming here from Plainview. Besides Allene Huston, Mrs. Huston is survived by two other children, Margaret and Burton. Funeral arrangements will be made by Rix funeral home.

Stained Sheets, Rope, Blood On Floor, Photograph, An Automatic Pistol And Bullet Described To Jury

BY WILLIAM H. EWING
Associated Press Staff Correspondent

HONOLULU, April 12. — Bloody links in the chain of circumstantial evidence beginning with the finding of Joseph Kahahawai's body were trailed into the darkened home of Mrs. Granville Fortescue by the prosecution today in the trial of the society matron and three navy men for the killing of the native.

Two bed sheets bearing sinister stains which the prosecution contended was the blood of Kahahawai were unfolded and waived before the racially mixed jury after a police officer has testified similar linen was missing from a bed in the home.

Findings Described

A length of rope, blood stains on a bedroom floor, evidence the bath room recently had been scrubbed, a photograph of Kahahawai taken from a woman's purse, an automatic pistol and a steel jacketed bullet were mentioned by prosecution witnesses as their findings in the house.

One witness identified the rope as identical to that which bound the sheet wrapped body of the young native when taken from the automobile in which Mrs. Fortescue, and two other defendants, Lieutenant Thomas H. Massie and Edward J. Lord, were dashing toward Koko Head when stopped by police.

Another witness testified the purse in which Kahahawai's photograph was found was one belonging to Mrs. Fortescue.

Through it all the society matron sat apparently unmoved.

Startling Story Of How Criminals Took $50,000 From Lindbergh Is Told

Minute Details Are Bared; Secrecy Of Acts Revealed

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, April 12.—A story of how Dr. John F. Condon, 70-year old retired public school principal, paid $50,000 ransom money on behalf of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh to a man in the shadow of a cemetery 10 days ago was published today by the Bronx Home News.

It was through this paper, according to its version of the deal, that Dr. Condon established his first contact with men believed to be agents of the kidnapers of the flier's namesake, after offering in an interview to serve as an intermediary.

Fair Play Asked

The story tells how a note begging the kidnapers to "play fair" was enclosed in a box with the $50,000 in bills of small denomination.

It also discloses Lindbergh made frequent visits to Dr. Condon's home during the ransom negotiations, tells of a woman's activity in the case, and describes how Dr. Condon eluded reporters on one occasion by disguising himself in his wife's clothes.

The highlights of the lengthy account are as follows:

Holds First Meeting

March 12 Dr. Condon held his first meeting with a man assumed to be an agent of the kidnapers. On the edge of Woodlawn cemetery in the Bronx (a borough of New York City) they discussed the case and the stranger agreed to send the doctor some token to prove the child held actually was the Lindbergh baby.

Two days later, after this token had been received, Col. Lindbergh came by automobile from Hopewell.

March 19 a woman approached Dr. Condon in a store and whispered:

Too Much Publicity

"Nothing can be done until the excitement is over. There is too much publicity. Meet me at the Tuckahoe, N. J., depot on Wednesday at 5 p. m. and I will have a message for you."

March 21, Dr. Condon received a letter postmarked in Manhattan saying the baby was still well and indicating the money had to be paid before anyone could see the child.

Wednesday, March 23, Dr. Condon and Reich went to Tuckahoe and met the mysterious woman at the depot. She said the series of advertisements should be continued.

Increase Threatened

Tuesday, March 29, Dr. Condon received a communication that if the money were not paid by April 8, the ransom would be increased to $100,000.

That day Lindbergh again appeared at the Condon house and it was decided to pay the money with-

Funeral Dance Now Advocated

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, April 12—Dancing at funerals was advocated today by Florence Rogge, a dancer herself.

"Not insane hopping around to the accompaniment of jazz," she hastened to explain, "but the slow, graceful movements of the ballet, which is the ideal vehicle for the expression of all emotions—sorrow as well as joy."

Her argument is that the Greeks, instead of weeping while a funeral oration was being read over the body of a loved one, gave personal expressions to their sadness in appropriate dances. And she sees no reason why Americans should not do likewise.

American Plan For Abolition Of War Rapped

French Premier Declares That To Do Away With One Type Or Another Of Weapons Is A Useless Procedure

(By The Associated Press)

GENEVA, April 12—The American plan for disarmament, calling for the abolition to tanks, heavy mobile guns and gas, was assailed as useless by Premier Andre Tardieu of France today, before the world disarmament conference.

The French attack was based on the contention of Ambassador Hugh Gibson, who presented the American plan yesterday, that the best way to national security was through the abolition of modern aggressive weapons that have outmoded frontier fortresses and other war facilities.

Would Be Useless

To do away with one type of weapon or another would be useless, M. Tardieu said. An agreement along such lines would not necessarily produce security, he declared, but might, on the other hand, prove to be a district disadvantage to an invaded country.

The French premier informed the conference that only through common action against an aggressor would it be possible to attain security—an assertion that was taken as a re-statement of the French plan under which all the nations would place offensive forces under the supervision of the League of Nations which would employ them as an international police organization.

SAN ANGELO, April 11. (AP)—The state concluded its direct testimony here today in the trial of Charles B. Fuller on a charge of murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Hugh Rutledge of Sonora at McCamey May 2, 1929.

The police said the man had been confined to an insane asylum for 12 years after the first attempt on Prof. Alexander's life. The assassin explained he thought an operation performed on him by the specialist had failed because it was "experimental." Prof. Alexander was shot three times.

GALVESTON — Piloted by C. E. Tatum, passenger agent for the Mallory Steamship company, I have been down watching one of the Mallory boats land from New York. For many people who have long lived here and watched boats dock this is an interesting experience. For me it was an event to be remembered.

While there were only 30 people on board this ship, it was well loaded with cargo and sat well down in the water, yet there was considerable difficulty in docking the thing because of a wind that was blowing out of the north—what seemed to me to be a light breeze but what was described as a norther by the steamship people. This was one of the surprising things of the occasion.

Although the boat was supposed to dock about 6 o'clock in the morning, it did not come in until after 9 o'clock and was not docked until nearer noon. It was delayed, according to the captain, because of a wind that had sprung up in the Gulf during the day before. The ship sailed a little late from New York, also, we were told. This norther was a surprise to those of us here, just as the effect of the wind on that large vessel astonished me.

The parting conversation of people who have made this six-day trip together from New York is always interesting, according to Mr. Tatum, who meets every Mallory boat that arrives. That and the maneuvers of docking the boat never cease to hold his attention and as this boat docked he was comparing difficulties with those of other arrivals.

SKILL IS REQUIRED

BRINGING a ship almost 500 feet long and weighing several hundred tons alongside a wharf without bumping the pier or calling on a tug is one of the feats that the captain must accomplish. The ship does not simply steam down the channel and draw reins at the dock, either, it comes down the narrow channel and turns around, facing toward the sea, as it docks.

The tug is used as much to hold the ship away from the dock as it is to push it alongside, because a careless bump against the pier can cost the steamship company several hundred dollars in repairs—this in spite of the immense columns grouped as bumpers before the cement and wooden dock. A gale out of the north makes south docking very difficult and that is what the ships must face here during the winter months.

There is a system in maneuvering one of these large ships. The boat we were watching swung around with the bow almost against the pier below the one where it was to dock. Then before attempting to swing alongside, a rope three or four inches in diameter was thrown out and hooked over posts by negroes. As the ship turned, this rope tightened suddenly and caught the end of the ship, swinging the stern and preventing the bow from striking the pier. Those of us who were watching the process, however, were given an unexpected shower of water as the rope tightened and leaped from the water to catch the ship. This operation was repeated for several times until the boat was brought parallel to the dock and settled. Although a solicitous tug hovered near during the entire proceedings, its services were not called.

MERCHANDISE IS VARIED

ALMOST as soon as the ship was stilled, huge ports were opened on the sides and negroes began trundling merchandise from the holds. There were boxes of every size and description and in watching these come into the warehouse, we noticed they were addressed to San Antonio, Austin, El Paso, Sweetwater and various towns over the state. In this load there were hundreds of boxes of Lipton tea, there were drugs, cosmetics, piece goods and almost everything imaginable in the line of merchandise. From an afthold pieces of heavy iron and steel machinery were unloaded.

There is a system in loading a boat and it requires the skill of an expert. Cargo amounting to several hundreds tons in weight and made up of an inconceivable variety of articles must be distributed along the boat to keep a balance or the ship will be buffetted and damaged by the strong winds of the high seas.

* * *

Tomorrow that ship will be loaded with other merchandise and sent back to New York. Sacks of wool, rice, sugar and flour were stacked over hundreds of feet of space in the warehouse. There were piles of boxes containing pecans, a few bales of cotton, drums of helium and other merchandise awaiting shipment. These things were stacked in carload lots. To me it looked like enough to fill several ships but I was told that this would not begin to load the boat waiting at the dock. Hundreds of pounds of merchandise were to be unloaded there during the remainder of the day to be carried away in the holds.

Where Does She Get Her "Pep?"

SHE doesn't look seventy. Nor feel that old. The woman who stimulates her organs can have energy that women half her age will envy!

At middle-age your vital organs begin to slow down. You may not be sick, simply sluggish. But why endure a condition of half-health when there's a stimulant that will stir a stagnant system to new life and energy in a week's time?

This remarkable stimulant is perfectly harmless. It is, in fact, a family doctor's prescription. So, if you're tired of trying every patent medicine that comes along, tell the druggist you want a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin. Take a bit of this delicious syrup every day or so, until you know by the way you feel that your lazy liver is again active, and your bowels are poison-free.

Men, women, and children who are run-down, who tire easily, get bilious spells or have frequent headaches, are soon straightened out when they get this prescriptional preparation of pure pepsin, active senna, and fresh laxative herbs. (Syrup pepsin is all the help the bowels need, and you do not form the very bad habit of always taking cathartics.)

Keep a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin in the house, and take a stimulating spoonful every now and then. It is all that a great many people ever take to keep strong and vigorous, and absolutely free from constipation.

ST. LOUIS, April 12.—Championship strides were taken today by the St. Louis Cardinals as they decisively outplayed the Pittsburgh Pirates 10-2 at Sportsmans Park here in the opening game of the season.

The 1931 National League pennant won by the Cardinals was raised with ceremonies just before the game which attracted 5,937 paying customers. Cold weather cut attendance considerably.

Flint Rhem Wins

Flint Rhem, who had pitched the Cardinals to victory in the winning games of pennant winning years in 1926, 1928, 1930 and 1931, justified his selection as opening pitcher for St. Louis, scoring his fifth triumph as hurler for the season's first game. He allowed seven hits, but only in the seventh inning were the Pirates able to turn hits into runs and the two in that frame came after St. Louis already had sent eight men across the home plate.

James Ripper Collins, who replaced the slugging Chick Hafey in left field for the Cards, proved more than just a substitute by knocking the ball over the right field pavilion in the seventh for the only home run of the game.

Pepper Martin, hero of last season's world series, reminded the fans that he is up to old tricks by stealing a base.

NEW YORK, April 12. (AP)—The Phillies piled 17 hits on top of five New York errors and spoiled the season's opening for some 30,000 local fans by defeating the Giants, 13-5 today. Phil Collins pitched a good game for Philadelphia and contributed four hits.

SHIBE PARK, PHILADELPHIA, April 12. (AP)—Greeting big George Earnshaw like a long-lost "cousin" Babe Ruth and the New Yorg Yankees fell upon the right-handed ace of the Athletics this chilly afternoon, blasted him off the field in four innings and outslugged the American League champions, 12-6, in their first battle of the season.

As if to protest the implication of a $5,000 salary cut that reduces his stipend to a mere $75,000 for the year the celebrated Mr. Ruth led the rough assault upon Earnshaw by clubbing a pair of towering home runs upon the roof tops of the brick houses opposite the right field barrier.

After the first of these blows, which sent the Yankees off to a three-run start in the first frame, the constabulary ousted about two score bundled-up citizenry from the rooftop bleachers originally erected for the world series overflow. The law forbids this vicarious business but the evacuation was completed in the nick of time, for Ruth's second circuit clout, in the fourth, rattled in the very seats where most of the housetop guests had been sitting.

Ruth has contributed many a rousing blow to baseball's opening ceremonies but this was the first time in his big league career that he started the defense of his slugging crown with a pair of homers. The best that the co-champion, Lou Gehrig, could do was to pound one home run into the left field stands and rattle a triple off the outfield wall, but Sammy Byrd demonstrated his right to a regular job in centerfield by blasting out two homers and a single.

The triple threat of Byrd, Ruth and Gehrig was entirely too much for Earnshaw, who yielded eight hits and ten runs before retiring at the end of the fourth in favor of Young Jimmy Deshong, Jersey City recruit. Jimmy held the Yankees to four hits and only two runs in the last five innings.

A crowd of 18,000 fans alternately shivered, cheered and jeered as their champions took a succession of heavy wallops to the chin.

American Bowling Tournament Ends As Big Money Success

DETROIT, April 12. (AP)—The 35 days and 35 nights of pin toppling that comprise the American Bowling Congress' annual 'ournament were at an end today and A. B. C. officials announced that the tourney was a financial success. The last wave of doubles and singles bowlers late yesterday failed to dislodge the top-notchers.

Charlie Daw and Frank Benkovic, of Milwaukee, emerged as the doubles champions, by virtue of their combined 1,358. It won for them a diamond medal apiece and $500 in cash. Otto Nitschke, Cleveland, proved supreme in the singles with his 731. He won a diamond medal and $300. Hugh Stewart, Cincinnati, is the all-events champion, with a score of 1,980 for the nine games.

The largest living animal, the sulphur-bottom whale, attains a length of about 100 feet.

Watch This Lad

One who appears to be in the race for slugging honors of the big show this season is Sam Byrd, above, of the New York Yanks. At any rate he is tied with Babe Ruth, a teammate, for home run honors already, both having slammed two apiece over the fence yesterday as the Yanks routed the Philadelphia Athletics. He was good in spring training, too, and home runs are nothing new to him.

Henry Resigns Missouri Post

"It's Just In The Normal Life Of A Football Coach," Says Gwinn Henry As He Quits Job Of Coaching Tigers

COLUMBIA, Mo., April 12. (AP)—Gwinn Henry resigned today as head football coach at the University of Missouri.

"It's just in the normal life of a football coach."

That was the comment of Gwinn Henry when asked today why he had resigned.

"I didn't want to leave here," Henry said, "but resigned only because I had to. I don't know why I had to resign; the president didn't seem to know, or at least gave me no reason." He refused to amplify his statement directly.

Coach Henry said he was informed by President Walter Williams of the university that resigning was the best thing to do.

He said he had no definite plans for the future.

La Coste To Take Borotra's Place On French Squad

PARIS, April 12. (AP) — Captain Rene La Coste, who already is maping his campaign for defense of the Davis Cup, will replace Jean Borotra with young Marcel Bernard—if the Basque veteran really retires.

Borotra came back from the United States to make his annual announcement that for him Davis Cup tennis was a thing of the past. The Basque said he "oughtn't" to play again this year. Memories of two defeats in last year's challenge round were no doubt uppermost in his mind.

But this news did not trouble the nerveless La Coste. From a golf course in the south of France, where his wife is teaching him how to become a champion golfer, La Coste sent word to Paris that unless Borotra changed his mind, Marcel Bernard, the hope of all young French hopes, will don the famous Basque beret and try to win as Borotra did.

"Why shouldn't we win?" LaCoste asked. "Henri Cochet will win his two singles matches, and Cochet and Jacques Brugnon can take the doubles. This is all that is necessary. Bernard will have two excellent seasoning matches."

Madison Square Garden To Build $500,000 Outdoor Stadium In Long Island

NEW YORK, April 12. (AP)—Purely by accident Madison Square Garden announced Monday it is erecting an outdoor fight stadium, seating 80,000 and costing $500,000 in Long Island City.

Although the Garden, largest organization in the prize fight business leased several square acres of ground across the Queensboro bridge on Long Island last week for a period of 15 years, and immediately let contracts for building the most perfect outdoor arena, the project had been kept a deep secret.

The contractor building the big concrete and steel fight plant was not let in on the secret, however, and this morning there appeared on the property a huge sign, announcing an arena was in the process of building and would be dedicated with the world heavyweight championship 15-round match between Max Schmeling and Jack Sharkey, June 16.

A reporter, wandering by on the way to work, saw the sign and news immediately was broadcast. Within two hours the Garden announced that what was left of the original "600 millionaires" club, Mayor James J. Walker and George Hafey, borough president of Queens, were summoned, and ground was broken with appropriate ceremonies.

Steers, Buffs Favored Above 8-Team Field

Ceremonial Opening Planned At Dallas; Houston Opens Under Lights As Galveston Bucs Pay First Visit

BY BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Final spring exhibition scrimmages have been erased from the schedule and today eight Texas League baseball aggregations are to trot on the field and start the annual pennant campaign. It will be the inauguration of the 40th championship marathon since the organization of the league in 1888. That year, Dallas won the pennant and the next season Houston won the flag.

When the teams take the field today, Dallas and Houston, just as they were 40 years ago, will be the favorites of Texas League sports editors and writers, who in their poll of votes, gave Dallas and Houston a tie for first place; Fort Worth third place and Beaumont fourth position in the division.

Night Game At Houston

Opening day games will be daylight affairs except at Houston where the Buffaloes will entertain Galveston in a night contest. The other games today will be Fort Worth at Dallas, San Antonio at Beaumont, and Wichita Falls at Shreveport.

All eight cities are seeking the opening day attendance trophy contributed by J. Alvin Gardner, president of the league. The league also awards a cash prize to the cities in the major and minor division boasting the largest day crowds. Houston topped the major division last year with 10,504.

Governor Ross S. Sterling is due to toss the first ball in the Fort Worth and Dallas game. J. Alvin Gardner, league president, has announced he will attend the game at Dallas.

Swat King Is Back

The king of the 1931 Texas League sluggers is back to deal hitting misery to pitchers. He is Rip Radcliff who swatted .361 last year to lead the league. Radcliff starts in right field for Dallas this season. Last year he was with the Chicago White Sox in spring training. Later he was sent to Dallas and then joaned to Shreveport where he starred.

The ace of the 1931 winning pitchers, Jerome "Dizzy" Dean is now with the St. Louis Cardinals. He won 26 games for Houston last year.

On the dope sheet it is apparent that Dallas will boast the strongest offensive team in the league. Fort Worth promises the best defensive team. Houston looms as the best balanced, offensively and defensively.

Gardner is optimistic over the 1932 race. He believes the second division teams of 1931 have bolstered enough to make plenty of trouble for the stronger teams like Dallas, Houston, Fort Worth and probably Beaumont.

Opening day batteries will probable be:

Fort Worth: Stoner and Krauss vs. Dallas: Murray and Styles.

Galveston: Thormahlen and Hungate vs. Houston: Payne and Funk.

San Antonio: Smith or Estell and Bradbury vs. Beaumont: Marrow and Pasek.

Wichita Falls: White and Severeid vs. Shreveport: McPhaul or Beall and O'Neill.

Santone Tribe Is "All Fit And Ready"

SAN ANTONIO, April 12. (AP) — "All fit and ready," were the words of Manager Claude Robertson of the San Antonio Indians upon their departure for Beaumont tonight to open the Texas League season against the Exporters tomorrow.

The Indians had their final workout of two hours wearing their new torid uniforms as a breaking-in process.

Robbie said the players were in good condition and expressed himself pleased with the outlook for a first division chance.

Further than the announcement that either Cyrus Smith or Tom Estell would pitch the opening game Robbie had not made a final decision as to which of the two would be named.

Lil Stoner Ready To Open Against Steers

FORT WORTH, April 12. (AP)—The Fort Worth Panthers took their final workout there this afternoon before the start of the Texas League season against the Steers in Dallas tomorrow.

Lil Stoner contnued to be the starting pitcher if the weather is favorable. If Stoner doesn't start, it will be Dick Whitworth.

Buffs Set To Defend Championship Throne

HOUSTON, April 12. (AP) — The Buffs tonight were set to start out in defense of their Texas League championship. They entertain the Buccaneers of Galveston here tomorrow night.

Prospects were bright for a pulse-quickening pitchers' battle. "Old Rubber Arm" George Payne, veteran of many a stirring campaign, will go to the firing line for Houston, and will be opposed by Hank Thormahlen, portly southpaw, who usually is a sensational spring performer.

Meeting Tonight At City Hall Open To Interested Parties In Forming City Baseball League; Gather 8 O'Clock

A plan will be introduced tonight whereby a Lubbock City Baseball league may be successfully campaigned when interested parties in the formation of such a league meet in the chamber of commerce rooms at the city hall.

The Morning Avalanche has been informed that a man will be on hand to take charge of the meeting and will take part in a round table discussion relative to the merits of trying to sustain a baseball league here this summer.

All persons interested in entering a team in the proposed league or who may have ideas designed to make successful such a league are invited to attend the meeting, which will get underway around 8 o'clock.

L. Stollenwerck Quits At Trinity

WAXAHACHIE, Tex., April 12. (AP) Logan Stollenwerck, athletic director at Trinity university the last three years, has resigned.

John H. Burma, president of the university, announced today that Stollenwerck tendered his resignation, March 10, to take effect at the close of the current academic year, but its acceptance was delayed.

Stollenwerck played football at Waxahachie High school in 1919 and 1920. He then went to Southern Methodist University, where his football career was outstanding. He was backfield coach at Corsicana High school in 1928.

New Song To Resound From Texas Longhorn Bleachers After Old One Gets Razzed

AUSTIN, April 12. (AP)—The University of Texas has a new song.

Razzed considerably because of its use of "The Eyes of Texas" at athletic contests, the Orange Jackets, a campus pep organization, sponsored a campaign for a new fight song. Texas drew many "razzberries" from sports writers in the east when the fans sang "The Eyes of Texas," set to the old tune of, "I've Been Working on the Railroad," at the Harvard-Texas game.

The new song has been designed "Texas U." It will be played at all athletic contests instead.

Both the words and music were written by Austin students in the university. They are Samuel Ortega and Eva Garcia. Ortega wrote the music and Miss Garcia the words.

The song was written in march time.

Weather Holds Attendance To Short Figures

Two American League Battles Rained And Frozen Out But The Faithful Turn Out In Numbers Of 117,000

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 12. (AP)—Baseball's "great man" Babe Ruth, literally blew the lid off the baseball season today as a dozen major league clubs staged their grand openings before an estimated attendance of slightly over 100,000.

The first time Ruth came to bat against George Earnshaw, leading right hander of the Philadelphia Athletics, he drove the ball far over the fence for a home run. On his third appearance he did it again.

Profiting by the Babe's example and a three run start on his first homer, the Yankees slammed out a 12-6 victory over the American League champions in a game which produced seven homers.

Despite the prodigious hitting of the Yanks, several other clubs and games outshone the Yankees and Athletics in many respects. Only about 18,000 fans turned out at Philadelphia while at Brooklyn some 30,000 hopeful rooters were on hand to see the Rodgers' new manager, Max Carey, unveil his vastly altered team.

Typical early April weather was present for all the openings and two games had to be postponed. The Boston Red Sox and Washington Senators, who started a day ahead of the field at Washington, were rained out when they moved to Boston. Cold weather halted the Detroit-Cleveland game at Detroit.

The world's champion St. Louis Cardinals found only 5,937 paying customers on hand when they started the new season with a 10-2 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The new plan of limiting passes had some effect on the attendance situation in both leagues but cold and threatening weather played the bigger part in holding down the crowds. Estimated figures placed the total attendance for the six games at 117,000.

The figures for each game follow:

National League:
Brooklyn 30,000.
Cincinnati 25,000.
New York 20,000.
St. Louis 6,000.
Total 81,000.

American League:
Philadelphia 18,000.
Chicago 18,000.
Total 36,000.
Grand Total 117,000.

It is estimated that there are from three to six million hay-fever sufferers in the United States.

Play Ball Back Farther To Hit Low Iron Shots Correctly

Many players have trouble hitting the low, crisp iron shot characteristic of leading professionals. It is necessary only to play the ball back more than for the drive. The farther back the ball is played, the lower the shot and, consequently, the more distance with the iron.

Study the accompanying illustration of Gene Sarazen and note the position of the ball with regard to his right foot. When a shot is played in this manner, it is simple matter to hit a crisp, descending blow and to take turf immediately after the ball has been sent on its way.

NEXT: Position of hitting.

Story Of Wisconsin's Record During Winter Months Bared

"We Decided To Face Facts And Tell The Truth," Governor Says; Unpublished Story Has Interesting Points

BY FRANK H. McCONNELL
Associated Press Financial Writer
(Copyright, 1932, by The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, April 12. (AP) — The story of how Phillip F. LaFollette, 34-year-old governor of Wisconsin, initiated a program last fall which carried Wisconsin through the trying winter months without a bank suspension was revealed today.

Governor LaFollette, son of the late Senator "Fighting Bob" LaFollette and brother of Senator Robert M. LaFollette, was in New York today, prior to his departure for Madison, Wis., after a trip to Boston.

Faced The Facts

"We decided at the outset to face the facts," he said when pressed for the reasons underlying the state's record. "We decided first of all to tell the public the truth. We felt that the public was fed up on sunshine and would measure up fully to any situation if taken into full confidence. And what's more, the public faced the situation and fully met it."

But back of this statement lies a hitherto unpublished story which has aroused keen interest in some of the highest Wall street banking circles. Last fall, when an international gold run developed on New York, a wave of financial hysteria began to sweep over the nation. Governor LaFollette was worried. He turned to western bankers to learn what was happening, but was not entirely satisfied that he had all the informaton he needed.

The progressive governor then made a special trip of investigation to Wall street. Although he had no friends among the nation's largest bankers, popularly regarded as traditional foes of the LaFollette school of progressive politics, the western executive carried his quest for facts to their offices. The answers were meagre, but appeared to agree on one point, "keep your banks clean," which, to a banker, means to keep as much cash as possible in the till.

Commission Named

Upon his return to Wisconsin, the governor formed a special banking commission of 15 men drafted from the banks of Wisconsin's banking authorities.

"We decided after prolonged discussion to establish as the keystone of our program the policy of telling the whole truth to depositors and others directly concerned with the condition of their banks.

"We tried out our plan first in the busy town of Deerfield, with 900 population. We held a meeting in the town hall, told the depositors that the town's only bank was against the wall and would have to be closed. Then we offered our proposal for keeping it open. We appealed to the bank's stockholders to accept a heavy assessment voluntarily. We told the depositors that we proposed to set aside in trust the cash assets of the bank which we would pay out pro rata to the depositors. But before we would do this, we asked the depositors to sign agreements, giving the bank 33 months in which to pay off the balance owed depositors. Within two hours, 90 per cent of the depositors had agreed to the plan. The stockholders also came through. Today the bank has more deposits than it had when the trouble arose. Deerfield kept its nerve—and its bank.

"The program has extended to larger towns and cities. In every case, the stockholders assumed their responsibility and the depositors did their part by giving time for the bank to pay them off."

McLaglen Feud Continues

Leopold Victor

Although a judge dismissed the suit of $90,000 brought by Capt. Leopold McLaglen, left, soldier and film actor, against his equally famous brother, Victor McLaglen, character film star, the feud continues. Leopold had charged Victor prevented him from obtaining film work and with saying: "There's room for only one McLaglen in the United States and that's me." After the judge ruled no cause for damages Victor offered to shake hands with Leopold. The latter refused. The McLaglens, two of seven brothers, are shown as they faced each other in court.

Man Held For Stock Robbery

Clarence W. Bridges Held For Grand Jury Action After An Examining Trial; Allowed Bond Of $1,000

DALLAS, April 12 (AP)—Clarence W. Bridges was held for the action of the grand jury after an examining trial today on a charge of stealing 40 shares of crown royalty stock, valued at $2,500. He was allowed bond of $1,000.

Officers who arrested Bridges at a Houston hotel recently recovered the stock. They turned it over to Sheriff Hal Hood of Dallas county.

Ralph Candler, stock broker, testified Bridges stole the stock last October to "halt a mail fraud prosecution and destroy the evidence." He said he was custodian of the stock when it was taken.

Defense counsel contended Bridges and Candler were partners and therefore there could be no theft involved. Candler admitted they had been partners, but only in connection with the drilling of an oil well in Cherokee county.

At one time, the capital stock of the Crown Royalty company was 100,000 shares of no-par value stock, Candler said.

"But though a secret and fraudulent manner they inflated the issue to 250,000 shares," Candler testified.

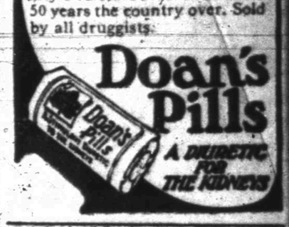

Candler explained he had custody of the stock which was alleged to have been stolen. He said he did power of attorney from a number of investors and was interested in recovering their investments on a contingent basis.

He said he had instituted mail fraud proceedings in connection with sale of the stock.

2 Different Methods of Shopping

WHICH DO YOU USE?

There are two methods of shopping. But which method you use makes a great deal of difference, since you always want satisfaction from the things you buy.

Some people shop in such a trustful fashion. They merely ask for a can of peaches, a tube of tooth-paste or a box of aspirin. Because they never specify what brands they want, they are always at the mercy of the clerk. No wonder people who buy this way are often so dissatisfied!

Other shoppers, who know by experience or the reputations of certain products which brands are dependable, ask for these brands specifically by name. And they insist on getting the products they ask for, even though some clerk may urge them to try something "just as good."

Isn't it better to buy this way? Isn't it wiser to ask for what you want, what you know is always good—refusing other products of which you know nothing?

Stores which try to sell you unknown products in place of those you ask for, usually do so for a selfish purpose. The dealer often reaps an extra profit, or the clerk a commission, by switching you to the unknown merchandise!

Many of the best stores everywhere forbid this practise. When you buy from them you are always sure of getting exactly what you ask for, with full value in the merchandise you want for every penny you spend.

But if you are offered something "just as good" as the thing you ask for, refuse it! Demand packaged products which you know by experience, by brand, or by the reputations of their makers. You will often see such products advertised in this newspaper.

Ask for what you want! Insist on getting it! Millions of women have found this simple rule the surest guide to shopping satisfaction.

Solving The Depression

ANY campaign directed toward urging the purchase of any certain commodity in order to benefit a certain industry or promote prosperity is wrong in theory," declared The Fort Worth Press in a recent editorial, logically commenting upon the present economic situation.

Quoting an address before Ft. Worth Rotarians by Harry T. Bussmann, St. Louis manufacturer, The Press calls the address "timely and appropriate" and attributes to the St. Louisian the following explanation:

"You are urged to buy an automobile because it will help recovery of the automobile industry," said Bussmann. "You should buy an automobile to help yourself—because you need one. When buying is based on that basis we will begin to crawl away from the depression."

Further continues The Press:

"Mr. Bussmann is right. The so-called Buy Now campaign failed because it was fundamentally unsound. It is not human nature to buy something merely to please someone else.

"Buying must be placed on a more or less selfish basis. We ought to buy a suit of clothes because we need one and not because such a purchase will help the merchant. Any buying not based on actual need or desires is uneconomic. And spasmodic, uneconomic buying won't bring back prosperity.

"But legitimate and needful buying will. Perhaps millions are now driving autos that ought to be thrown into the scrap heap. Millions have permitted their wardrobes to go below par. Millions have worn their shoes too long. And on and on it goes. And many of these millions can afford to buy the commodities they actually need. If these millions are appealed to on the basis of buying what they need, instead of buying to help some one else, the business slump will begin to break."

The Morning Avalanche has contended, throughout the economic crisis, that synthetic methods will not and cannot banish the depression — that only natural, spontaneous buying—based entirely upon the irrefutable law of supply and demand—can bring good times back to us.

It is one thing to talk about gilding the lily—of painting a sunset more glorious than that of nature—and another thing entirely to turn the trick.

DEFENDING THE BIG DAILIES

The opinions, or rather suspicions, in which some people hold newspapers are peculiar, indeed. Oftimes, to the newspaperman, they are amusing—yet when they are most amusing to the newspaperman, the more fundamental they become to the laity.

For instance, consider this letter, recently received by The Morning Avalanche, addressed to the editor and signed by Henry C. Fuller:

"There seems to be a studied attempt on the part of many of the so-called big daily papers to ignore the candidacy of Tom Hunter, of Wichita Falls, for the office of governor of this state. Mr Hunter is at present on a campaign speaking tour and so far as I have noticed none of the big dailies have even noticed any of his dates.

"If the politicians think they can put Hunter out of the way by ignoring him they are going to get a hard jolt, for he is today the hottest political proposition in this state. If an election were held in the third senatorial district tomorrow, Hunter would carry 35 out of 100 East Texas counties over either Mrs. Ferguson or Sterling. The people of Texas do not want either Mrs. Ferguson or Sterling. They are looking for a man who does not belong to either set-up of the two mud-slinging factions and Tom Hunter is the man. All that Hunter needs is publicity and getting to the people to win. Suppression and repression seems to be the policy of the big cities."

The Morning Avalanche, of course, is not a "big daily." We know further that Mr. Fuller isn't shooting at us, because we have given publicity to Mr. Hunter's campaign—not that we are backing him but merely as a matter of handling the news of the day. But Mr. Fuller is over-looking a very important fact in his criticism of our contemporaries in Houston, Dallas, Ft. Worth, San Antonio, etc. That fact is that Mr. Hunter is practically unknown to the people of this state, therefore is not as yet a big news factor; and that the 1932 gubernatorial race has not yet reached the point in the minds of the people where it is big news.

It is not incumbent upon the newspapers of Texas—large or small—to "furnish publicity" for any candidate for any office. Candidates must make their own news and if they can't or don't make news they can't expect the papers to make it for them.

Knowing the policies of the larger papers of Texas in a fairly general way, we opine that when the time is ripe and when Mr. Hunter's campaign shows itself worthy of screaming headlines — and we mean "worthy" in the minds of the people—he'll get it. Until that time editors of papers under criticism are not going to break their backs finding something to print about Mr. Hunter when they daily have scores of other stories more interesting and important to their readers.

Practical Health Problems

TRAINING THE BABY

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of two articles on "Training the Baby" by Dr. Fishbein.

By Dr. Morris Fishbein Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, The Health Magazine

WHEREAS control of the habits of the child relative to excretions from the bowel is a relatively simple matter because of the definite time usually required for digestion of food and elimination of the waste products, control of excretions from the bladder may be a much more difficult matter.

There are children who grow to quite advanced ages without learning just how this should be done. Experts in psychology are likely to find some mental reason for the failure to learn.

Miss Dorothy E. Hall, the mental health supervisor for the Infant Welfare Society of Chicago, has given explicit directions to be used in training a small baby in control of the bladder.

These are as follows:

Dress the child in bloomers or pants—not diapers.

Put him on nursery chair (or toilet) immediately upon waking in the morning, after naps, after meals, and at regular intervals during the day, starting every hour, or if necessary, every half-hour.

When the child can be kept dry thus lengthen the periods, taking him every one and one-half hours, then every two hours, repeating to him the word you wish him to use in asking for toilet attention.

Never disregard a request for such attention. If the child does wet his clothes, change them at once.

Praise him for success, but never punish for failure in control.

In training for control of bladder at night start at one year when the child goes on three-meal schedule.

The child should have his main meal at noon and an early light supper.

Give him plenty of liquids early in the day and none after supper. If the child is thirsty, moisten his lips with a little water given from a teaspoon.

He should not sleep in diapers. Take him up at 10 p. m. and waken thoroughly. If the bed is already wet by this time, take him up one-half hour earlier each night until the bed is found dry. Then take him up regularly at this time. If the bed is wet by morning, waken him and take him up at 6 a. m.

While establishing dry habits it may be necessary to take the child up a second time in the night. If so, notice at what time he wets the bed, and waken him just before. Gradually lengthen the period between the first awakening and the second by taking him up a little later each night.

Socialistic Tendency Seen

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 13.—A country can go socialistic just as certainly by degrees as it can do it abruptly.

I hear it suggested in various quarters that America is doing it now.

CHAS. P. STEWART

For example, not long ago, ex-Congressman Edward Keating, editor of the railroad brotherhoods' organ "Labor," who rates as high authority on socio-politico-economics, remarked to me, "What I'm afraid of is that we're having a revolution and don't know it."

The other day I heard Senator William H. King of Utah, a veteran of the senate's finance committee, which has just begun its study of the new tax bill, say substantially the same thing.

"Taxes can be levied so as to accomplish absolutely anything," according to Congressman Henry T. Rainey of Illinois, majority leader in the house of representatives. He dates back to William McKinley's time as a member of the ways and means committee in the house, in which all revenue-raising legislation originates.

"Can taxes change a system of government?" I asked.

At this the congressman laughed, snapped his fingers lightly and answered, "Just like that."

ANYWAY, congress has before it today the highest peace-time schedule of tax rates in American history.

Except for a little temporary decline after each war, taxes have risen steadily ever since the United States government was founded, and it is significant that no post-war decline ever has lowered rates back to the pre-war level.

Federal, state and local taxation, combined, already totals 20 per cent of the country's annual income.

The figure is furnished by Senator Cordell Hull of Tennessee, a specialist on revenue problems. "A trifle more than 21 per cent," adds Senator King. "Taxes are 14 billions, out of 60 billions income."

This may not be socialism, but 20 per cent is a substantial proportion.

Speaking of socialism, Senator James Couzens of Michigan recently inquired what will be done when the moment arrives for the government to take over the nation's railroads.

The Reconstruction Finance corporation has adopted a policy of putting up government money to relieve American bankers of part of their loans to the transportation lines. The interstate commerce commission objects, but the R. F. C. is doing it.

Thus the government is acquiring huge claims against the roads. Senator Couzens says they are larger than the roads ever can pay; consequently that the government finally will have to take the roads or lose its money.

Whether or not government ownership of the railroads is socialistic, the new revenue law will stiffly increase the 20 per cent tax rate.

Before very long it probably will have to be increased some more.

The precedent of giving federal aid to agriculture is established. It has been unsuccessful, because clumsily done, but the principle is recognized.

President Hoover has announced that he will veto another veterans' bonus, even if congress votes it, but it is certainly in the not distant future—a couple of billions to be provided.

If the depression continues a vast program of public improvements is inevitable, at a cost, as generally estimated, of five billions.

With the eating, the national appetite for these benefits seem to grow.

Each particular expenditure, met out of the common fund, is in the interest of some especial class, but when the needs of all classes have been satisfied, will not taxation have reached 100 per cent?

And what will that be but socialism?

"Undeniably that's the tendency," says Senator Hamilton F. Kean of New Jersey, one of the richest men in congress and a staunch believer that the present American governmental system will endure, "but it will be checked.

"Agriculture foreclosure actually is progressing. The cities are about to feel it. Farms are not selling under the hammer at prices to justify existing taxation rates. Neither will city property, when its turn comes. Taxes perforce will be cut to the new valuations. Economy will follow as a matter of necessity."

But Senator King shakes his head "It's the history of democracies," he says, "to rise, centralize, crash and begin again."

What Other People Think

At no time since the glorious American clipper ship era has the nation displayed such a keen interest in its ship activities.—President Hoover.

THERE is nothing in our American educational system more instructive than a kick in the pants.—Edward S. Jordan, automobile executive.

INCREASING doubt is expressed whether it is economically wise or morally right that men should be permitted to add to the producing facilities of an industry which is already suffering from overcapacity.—Justice Louis D. Brandeis of the U. S. Supreme Court.

CHINA must become adept at slaughter. China must now put her national defense above all else.—T. V. Soong, Chinese banker.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

ELLEN ROSSITER, beautiful 20-year-old, falls in love with LARRY HARROWGATE, young artist whom she meets at Dreamland, a dance hall where she works as hostess. Larry is engaged to ELIZABETH BOWES, debutante, but pays attentions to Ellen until his fiance returns from Europe.

Believing Larry is lost to her, Ellen agrees to marry STEVEN BARCLAY, 57 years old and wealthy, who has paid hospital expenses for her brother, MIKE, injured in a street accident. Ellen knows such a marriage will provide for her mother, MOLLY ROSSITER, and make it possible for her sister, to marry BERT ARMSTEAD.

Barclay has been married and divorced. Scandal accompanied his divorce from LEDA GRAYSON, dancer, and, fearing this talk may be revived, he and Ellen agree to keep their marriage secret until they sail for Europe. Barclay wants to settle a fortune on Ellen but she persuades him to wait until after the ceremony. Barclay's lawyer, SYMES, regards Ellen as a gold-digger.

In a double marriage in a small Connecticut town Barclay and Ellen and Myra and Armstead are married. Barclay and his bride drive to his Long Island home. The girl is terrified, knowing her marriage to be a mistake. She reads in a newspaper that Larry's engagement to Elizabeth Bowes is broken.

That night when Barclay comes to her bedroom Ellen faints, recovers consciousness to find Barclay has suffered a heart attack. She calls for help. Doctors, nurses and Symes, the lawyer, arrive. Symes has been trying to reach Barclay all day. He tells Ellen the papers proving Barclay's divorce from Leda Grayson have been stolen.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXIX

Symes looked at the white-faced girl. He cleared his throat. "It's not so bad as all that," he said awkwardly.

"It's as bad as it can possibly be," Ellen declared passionately. "That I—that I should drag Steven's name through such a scandal—"

"Now you're being foolish, my dear," the lawyer protested. "Steven was one of my closest friends; you know that. But you and I must think now of your position. That is what Seven would want us to do."

He frowned, considering the practical aspects of the matter, and then spoke again.

"Unfortunately appearances count for a great deal in law," he began reluctantly. "Appearances are against you. Steven, in his anxiety to spare you disagreeable publicity, made the marriage appear—well, rather unusual. He went to great pains to keep the marriage secret. The license that was not to be filed, the friends who weren't informed, the newspapers left in ignorance of his intended marriage. You can see how it looks."

"I can see," said the girl.

There was silence. Ellen's body trembled as though she were having a chill. Her tortured eyes did not leave the lawyer's face. "I'm imagining all this—it's not true—I'll wake up soon," she tried to tell herself. Then she would become conscious again of Symes' troubled face.

She sat very still while the bitter thoughts thronged upon her. The marriage with Steven had been no marriage at all. The world would believe either that Steven had deceived an innocent girl with a mock marriage or that she, Ellen Rossiter, in her eagerness to capture a rich man, had been reckless of the fact that the man was the husband of another woman.

If only Steven were alive—but Steven was dead! And because a cruel, grasping woman, had crept to Mexico and bribed a court, his name was to be dishonored and with it the name of the girl he loved.

"But the divorce was announced in all the newspapers nearly two years ago," Ellen said in a voice that was without life, without hope.

"I know it." Symes agreed with a short laugh. "But you underestimate Miss Grayson's ingenuity. Steven announced the divorce. All the proceedings, if you remember, were kept secret. Miss Grayson was abroad at the time, had gone even before Steven went to Mexico. She's been dancing there ever since. She admits there'd been a separation—a sort of "trial' she calls it. But she's back in New York now to tell the world she never consented to a divorce.

"She even has an explanation for her long silence," he continued. "Says she knew nothing of the divorce until a few weeks ago, and then sailed at once to have it set aside. A bare-faced lie—but we can't prove it, I'm afraid."

Ellen said nothing at all. There was nothing at all to be said.

"If only Steven hadn't been such a rich man—" she heard Symes' voice from a long way off.

"Can't we do anything?" she asked pitifully.

"We can save you from reporters for a while," he said, frowning. "We'll keep mum until the whole thing comes up in court."

"Why do we have to go to court?" Ellen cried.

"Leda Grayson will fight to the last ditch and be delighted at the chance."

"Fight for what? Steven loved me. She can't take that away!"

The girl's voice was courageous and steady now.

"She won't take the money, either," Symes responded grimly. "We have plenty of witnesses to his wishes. No matter how you come out in the fight to be recognized as his wife, you'll get the money. I have those settlements all drawn up. God, if I'd only let him sign them when he wanted to!

"We can prove any way," he con-

Letters To The Editor

Ropesville Writer Comments On Community Leadership

Editor, The Avalanche: What our rural communities need most is leadership of the right kind. The men who are at the head of affairs may be good God-fearing men, yet lack the qualities of leadership that are essential for the upbuilding of a community. The fact that a leader has the right kind of principles is not enough. Has he the personality and the initiative to impress those principles on his community? Can he get people to do things?

Ordinary observation will show that the reason one village has a good school, a fine community spirit, a friendly spiritual church and another a poor school, a torn up contentious community, and a cold indifferent church is due almost wholly to the leadership in the respective communities. It seems hardly fair, yet it is true. A community then should use wisdom in selecting its leaders.

Perhaps the most influential leaders of a small community are the pastors of the churches and the head of the school. It, of course, is necessary that they be men of unquestioned good character. Is that enough? No! The pastors should be tolerant, but not to the extent of compromising with sin. They should encourage co-operation among the various denominations instead of stirring up hatred and strife. Each should be a real leader of his own flock and, at the same time, be respected and liked by those of other beliefs.

The school superintendent of a community has, if anything, more responsibility than the pastor. His field of influence is a much broader one. His thoughts and ideals are carried by the children into every home. Most community gatherings are held in the school auditorium. He, and he alone, is responsible for the behavior at these public gatherings. If he will permit it, a few ill-bred rowdies will give the community a bad name, which it does not, as a whole, deserve. The majority of the citizens in the audience will feel embarrassed and ashamed of the bad order, but they would hesitate to take charge of the situation. Has your superintendent the courage to demand good behavior at public gatherings? Most any community will back up such a man, and respect him.

Not long ago I heard the superintendent of a village school say, "The people of my community would not care if the school closed down tomorrow. They are not interested in the school, and do not have the right attitude toward it." Little did he realize that he was admitting his shortcoming as a leader, for his community was just an average community.

People are alike the world over. One can sit in an audience in any community gathering, and tell what the leaders are, for the people reflect the spirit of their leaders as surely as a child reflects the character of his parents. It is high time that our rural and village communities used more care in selecting their leaders.

Very truly yours,
GRACE CADE.
Ropesville.

Pioneer Motor Line Division Sold To Former Jayton Men

The Pioneer Motor lines division between Roswell and Brownfield has been sold to C. O. Fox and L. F. McComb, formerly of Jayton, Garnet C. Abbott, president, said Tuesday.

The sale has been completed and approval given by the railroad commission of Texas, which has supervision over bus and truck lines as well as steam railroads, Abbott said.

Fox has moved to Brownfield and will reside there and McComb to Roswell. The sale also includes the handling of U. S. mail on a star route between Brownfield and Roswell, both ways, and also mail from Brownfield to Lubbock at night to connect with the south bound Santa Fe.

No change in schedule is contemplated, McComb, who was in Lubbock, said. Connections are to be made at Brownfield with the Pioneer line. Buses will leave Brownfield at 10:30 a. m. and 6:30 p. m., arriving at Roswell at 2 and 9:45 p. m. respectively. Eastbound the buses leave Roswell at 6:30 a. m. and 3 p. m., arriving at Brownfield at 11:45 a. m. and 8:15 p. m. Direct connections will be made there with buses to and from Lubbock.

PRESSURE-COOKING MAKES NEW SHREDDED BISCUIT TASTIER

Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit Great Improvement

One of the first things to be noticed about the new, improved Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit is the unusually delightful flavor and crispness. The Kellogg Company uses a special process of "pressure-cooking." This bakes in the rich flavor. Every shred is thoroughly cooked and therefore easier to digest.

The biscuits are then toasted a light golden brown on both top and bottom—not just one side. This makes them much crisper and crunchier.

Economy has not been overlooked either. Instead of the usual dozen, you get 15 biscuits to the package. Incidentally, the biscuits are a new, convenient size—two just fit the cereal bowl.

There is also news in the fact that the Kellogg biscuit is so rich in food value that the Medical Arts Laboratory of Philadelphia certifies every package. Mothers are welcoming this improved and healthful cereal. They find it equally delightful for breakfast, lunch, or children's suppers—serving it with hot or cold milk or cream, and sometimes adding fruits or honey.

Local grocers have this new shredded biscuit. It may be identified by the familiar red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

nued, "that you had no suspicion hat the marriage was bigamous. our mother was there your sis-r—"

"Stop! Stop this instant!" Ellen roke in with shock and pain. "I on't want the money! I've told you gain and again. It's not the money hat's driving me frantic."

"My dear child, that money be-ongs to you," he protested, star-ed. "Steven wanted you to have . That was almost the last thing e was thinking of—your future. ou can" throw away a fortune."

"I can't!" Ellen repeated hys-rically. "Why can't I? Is that hat you meant by court? Steven ave me everything and now—now hat he's dead you think I'd fight or more, drag his name through he newspapers, have people think-ng that he thought so little of my onor—?"

Symes was genuinely amazed by he girl's earnestness. Patiently he ointed out that the money was ers, that only a court battle stood etween her and possession. Pa-iently he pointed out that with the oney she could go anywhere, seek ew scenes, new people, new inter-sts. But Ellen stopped him. She oked up to him and asked, "But it weren't for the money you and could do for Steven this thing hat—he can't do for himself?"

"Keep the marriage with you a ecret," he answered thoughtfully. suppose it could be managed. es, I'm certain it could be man-ged but it's a mad idea. Are you re of what you're doing?"

"Quite sure," she said steadily.

"I don't believe I've ever met so uixotic a young woman."

"It's not only Steven I'm think-g of," Ellen admitted in a shamed, nest voice. "I'm thinking of my-lf. I don't think I could bear the ublicity. I want to get away—I ant to go back to being the girl used to be."

Small and dazed, in a crumpled hite linen dress that was no hiter than her exhausted face, El-n sat looking at the lawyer and eaded that this part of her life ould be blotted out as though it d never been.

"Certainly you can," he said uffly, untruthfully.

She knew that he had lied but s grateful for the falsehood.

"In the first place I'll arrange to t the license for you," Symes nt on practically. "I saw the Rev. r. Southey yesterday and I know 'll be only too ready to forget his rt in the ceremony. He was con-iderably upset when I spoke to him. ut about the license—how long s the filing of it to be held up? you know?"

"Until after we'd sailed," Ellen id on a half sob.

"Steady—steady." Symes warned r, but she was silent again and mposed. "How many people know the marriage besides your im-diate family?"

"Why, no one," Ellen began and en stopped. "Mrs. Clancy, a neigh-r of ours knows," she amended. Mrs. Clancy and Lorene Elcott."

"Can you trust them?"

"I'm sure I can."

"You understand that a situation this sort is extremely difficult to ep hidden," Symes said. "You un-rstand that any newspaper would eager to buy such a sensation. n you trust Mrs. Clancy?"

Ellen nodded.

"I can answer for myself, for the rse, and for the physicians, Dr. escott doesn't think any way—"

"I know," Ellen interrupted. "I ow that he didn't think I was arried to Steven. I could tell from e first."

"Physicians see such strange ings," Symes put in uncomfort-ly.

"How about Fergus?" she whis-red.

"I'd forgotten him. But he hard-counts. He'd never seen you be-re, had he? Doesn't know your me, or where you live?"

"I gave him Mrs. Clancy's phone mber and asked him to say that Ellen wanted her mother but—that's all."

Even as Ellen spoke Fergus entered quietly, softly. Seeing him frightened the girl vaguely. Fergus seemed to menace her frail security. She felt he distrusted and disliked her as much as she disliked and distrusted him.

"What is it?" Symes asked.

"Dr. Westcott is just leaving, sir," Fergus said. "He's going to report Mr. Barclay's death and wanted to see you first."

"All right. I'll see him," Symes answered, rising. "By the way," he continued, "do you know if Mr. Barclay's sister is in town or not. She should be notified."

"Mrs. Harrowgate returned from Europe several weeks ago," Fergus replied, noticing as Symes did not that the girl on the divan seemed to grow white as he spoke the words.

"Well, get in touch with her son and notify him of his uncle's death. His number's not listed but I have it here."

It was Larry Harrowgate's telephone number that Symes repeated.

Wave Of Piracy Sweeping China

SHANGHAI, April 12. (AP) — An unprecedented wave of piracy west of Shanghai toward Lake Taihu has resulted in a paralysis of commerce in that area, Chinese commercial circles here said today.

In a report revealing an alleged breakdown of all civil authority in the hinterland, extending to within a few miles of the Shanghai international settlement, local merchants said the pirates had made a series of astoundingly daring raids in recent days, taking goods valued at $250,000 from barges on the way to Shanghai and kidnaping 40 adults and children for ransom.

The merchants said the pirates were making their headquarters at Lake Taihu, 75 miles west of here, and that the situation was the worst in Shanghai's history.

MANY WOMEN
Have Been Helped Like This

ABOUT four years ago, I suffered a great deal with pains in my back and sides," writes Mrs. D. A. Bush, of Foxton, Texas. "I did not feel like doing my housework, or anything else. I would get nervous, and my back would hurt worse. One of my neighbors asked me what I was doing for myself. I told her 'most everything. Then she asked me if I had ever taken Cardui. I told her 'no' but I would try it. Before I had finished one bottle I could tell the difference in my feelings, but I kept on taking Cardui until I felt strong and well again." 502-10

Cotton — Cotton Trading Is Rather Quiet

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, April 12. (AP)—Cotton was quiet most of the day but became active in the late afternoon. Prices fluctuated rather nervously after declining 9 to 11 points during the morning in sympathy with stocks and on some hedge selling, prices rallied 13 to 19 points during the afternoon owing to an advance in wheat and stocks, but eased off 1 to 3 points at the end on realizing and on some closing easiness in stocks. The close was called steady and the general market showed net gains for the day of 5 to 8 points.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, April 12. (AP)—Trading in cotton was comparatively quiet today and fluctuations somewhat irregular.

May, after selling up from 6.10@6.16 during early trading, eased off to 6.00, but later advanced to 6.23, closing at 6.18. The general market closed steady at net advances of 1 to 3 points.

Stock Market Struggles To Regain Equilibrium; Leading Issues Gain

BY JOHN L. COOLEY

NEW YORK, April 12. (AP)—The stock market struggled to regain its equilibrium today, and the effort was fairly successful.

Helped by a noticeable lessening of liquidation, a good representation of industrial and utility issues closed higher.

Rails, less responsive to occasional rallies in other directions, nevertheless finished above their lows; some cancelled early losses. Volume drifted back toward the low levels of actility attained last month, amounting to 1,552,180 shares.

Net gains ranging from a fraction to more than a point for U. S. Steel, American Can, General Electric, General Motors, Case, Woolworth, North American, Sears Roebuck, Peoples Gas, International Telephone, United Corp., and American Telephone provided a pleasing contrast to recent market behavior of these leaders.

National Ranking Net Aces Sweep North-South Rounds

PINEHURST, N. C., April 12.—(AP)—National ranking and sectional stars had easy sailing in reaching the fourth round of the annual North and South tennis tournament which got underway here today.

The high spot of the day was the early battle of Edward King, New York, against Frank X. Shields, New York, a Davis Cup player. King took the first three games of the first set with Shields, but the latter soon got the measure of his opponent's game, and won 6-4, 6-1.

Berkeley Bell, New York, Wilmer Allison, Austin, Texas, who defeated Ellsworth Vines, the national champion, in the Tulane invitation tournament last week, and Bryan Grant, Atlanta, former national clay courts champion, all reached the fourth round without difficulty.

Japan averages three earth tremors every two days in some parts of the nation.

Livestock — Steady To Weak Prices Prevail

Livestock

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, April 12. (AP)—Steady to weak prices prevailed on most fed steers, yearlings and heifers and sized yearlings although some markets noted 15 to 25 declines on in-between grades. General bulk of steers and yearlings turned within a spread of $5.25@7.00 with a sizable supply at 7.25@7.75, most of these being of medium or heavy weight. Fed heifers and mixed yearlings sold largely at 4.50@6.25. Stockers and feeders were scarce. Replacement steers sell chiefly in a spread of 4.50@6.00. Receipts of 92,500 for the week at eleven markets numbers around 5,000 more than the first two days last week.

Hogs were listed as around 9 to 10 lower than yesterday's average business with some centers marking the greatest declines on offerings scaling around 200 lbs. and below. Chicago established a top of 4.25.

Walker Elected

were reported by the nominations group.

Short Speeches Made

Short nominating speeches, featured by inspiring phrases and pithy remarks, preceded each ballot.

Mr. Walker was nominated by John Sturgeon of Pampa while B. Price of El Paso presented Harrington's name. B. Whitaker issued Amarillo's invitation for the convention, J. H. Green for Colorado and Rev. D. R. Lindley for Big Spring.

Amarillo had approximately 50 members at the luncheon program while Pampa was equally well represented. Colorado had ten men present while Big Spring also had a good representation.

Featuring the luncheon program was a resolution offered by the Clarendon club and read by Geo. W. Briggs of Pampa which proposed District Governor Sam Braswell for the post of director of Lions International. Reading of the resolution was followed by an ovation for Braswell.

Rogers Presides

Dr. R. L. Rogers, president of the Amarillo club, presided at the luncheon. T. Shaw led the group in a sing-song and the Brownfield girls' quartet composed of Misses Martha McClish, Mary Dee Price, Evelyn Pippin and Dora Dean Neal sang two numbers. Two other musical selections were given, after which Jack Adkins of Amarillo gave a short talk in behalf of his club's campaign for the next convention.

Just as the morning session closed at the First Methodist church, general headquarters, J. H. Green of Colorado made urgent appeal for attendance at the state convention in Dallas and support on behalf of Lubbock's bid for the 1933 state gathering.

Support of the entire district is pledged in this invitation.

Civic activities in West Texas are not suffering from lack of attention, according to reports given by representatives of the various clubs in the convention program this morning.

Following a band concert and a sing-song, the session was this morning opened by District Governor Braswell who continued hearing reports of the delegates.

Activities Revealed

A host of activities by the organization in the district was revealed in the reports, accomplishments ranging from attendance record achievements to sponsoring of crippled children's work. Promotion of good roads campaigns, beautifying parks, conducting employment campaigns, aiding town bands, staging rural and 4-H programs and many other phases of civic work were listed.

Reports were heard from the Higgins, Spearman, Brownfield, Lubbock, Hamlin, McCamey, El Paso, Dalhart, Pampa, Wink and Colorado clubs in the session, reports of other clubs having been given Monday.

Preceding the reports, the Brownfield girl's quartet, with Mrs. W. H. Dallas as director gave a number of selections.

Grain — Wheat In Fresh Gaining Burst

Grain

FORT WORTH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, April 12. (AP)—Prices moved upward on the Fort Worth cash grain market today with demand reported generally good.

Quotations ranged as follows, basis carloads, freight paid, delivered Texas Gulf ports, export rate, or Texas common point: Wheat, No. 1 ordinary hard milling 63 1-2@63 1-2; No. 1 hard 13 per cent protein 63 1-2@64 1-2; 14 per cent 65 1-2@66 1-2; 15 per cent 67 1-2@68 1-2; 16 per cent 69 1-2@70 1-2. Barley, No. 2 nominally 42@43. Sorghums, No. 2 milo 100 lbs. 74@75; No. 2 kaffir 75@76.

Delivered Texas common points and group three: Corn, No. 2 mixed 42@43; No. 2 white 43@44; No. 2 yellow 48 1-2@49 1-2.

Delivered Texas common points: Oats, No. 2 red 26 1-2@27 1-2.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 12. (AP)—In a fresh burst of strength, wheat prices today outdid high price records as far back as Feb. 26 last.

Kansas and Nebraska crop reports today were more bullish than at anytime heretofore this season. Field advices from the south central part of Kansas in particular contrasted sensationally with the fact that up to April 1 the region referred to had the best crop prospect in the state. Nebraska's official statistician predicted that abandonment of wheat acreage would be the largest since 1917.

Wheat closed nervous, 1 to 1 1-2 cents above yesterday's finish, corn 1-4 to 5-8 advanced, oats 1-8 to 1-4 up, and provisions unchanged to 7 cents down.

Lindbergh

but attempting to see the child.

Thursday, March 31, an advertisement was run accepting the kidnapers' terms and stating the money was ready.

The next day the doctor received a letter saying the kidnapers were ready to conclude negotiations, but warning precautions would be taken to defeat any attempt to trap them. Within two hours Col. Lindbergh and Col. Breckenridge arrived at the Condon home.

Arrives With Money

The next day, Saturday, April 2, Breckenridge remained at the Condon home all day and Lindbergh arrived late in the afternoon with the $50,000 in a box.

At 7:45 p. m., a taxi driver delivered a note to Dr. Condon directing him to station himself in front of the Bronx nursery within 30 minutes. Lindbergh and Dr. Condon grabbed their hats and rushed out of the house. Lindbergh jumped behind the wheel of Reich's car and drove the doctor to the appointed place.

There under a stone, Dr. Condon found a note directing him to a spot a block away on the edge of St. Raymond's cemetery.

Lindbergh helped Dr. Condon decipher the note, then the doctor left the aviator in the car holding the box of money, while he went off to keep his appointment.

In a dark spot surrounded by shrubbery a figure popped up from behind a bush and said:

"Here I am doctor. Have you the money?"

Dr. Condon said he had, but requested a receipt.

The dark figure darted off across tombstones of the cemetery and reappeared in a moment with an envelope. Dr. Condon returned to the automobile and found Lindbergh nervously and impatiently clutching the box of money.

Inserting in the box a note which urged the kidnapers to carry out their part of the bargain to the letter, Dr. Condon took the package to the man waiting in the cemetery.

When he turned over the box he received the envelope in return. Back in the car he and Lindbergh opened it. It directed them to wait at least two hours and then go to Martha's Vineyard, Mass.

Baby With Women

There, the note said, on a 28-foot boat anchored off Gay Head, the baby would be found in charge of two women, who, the message added were innocent of any connection with the kidnaping and were not to be harmed.

Lindbergh and Dr. Condon returned and conferred with Col. Breckenridge. At 3 a. m. Sunday Lindbergh, Breckenridge, Dr. Condon, Reich and a fifth man, taken along because he knew the geography of the coast, went to Bridgeport, Conn., waited for the arrival of an amphibian plane from Hartford and then set out for Martha's Vineyard, leaving Reich behind to drive Lindbergh's car back.

They searched for the boat from the air until noon, then returned. The next day another vain hunt was made.

Murder Trial

ticipating in an attack on Mrs. Massie, wife of Lieutenant Massie and daughter of Mrs. Fortescue, was exhibited. This drew no objection from Clarence Darrow, aged defender of the four.

The rope which had bound the body was identified by an officer testifying for the prosecution. Darrow made no attempt to interrupt his story.

Argument Staged

Mrs. Massie sat quietly throughout the session.

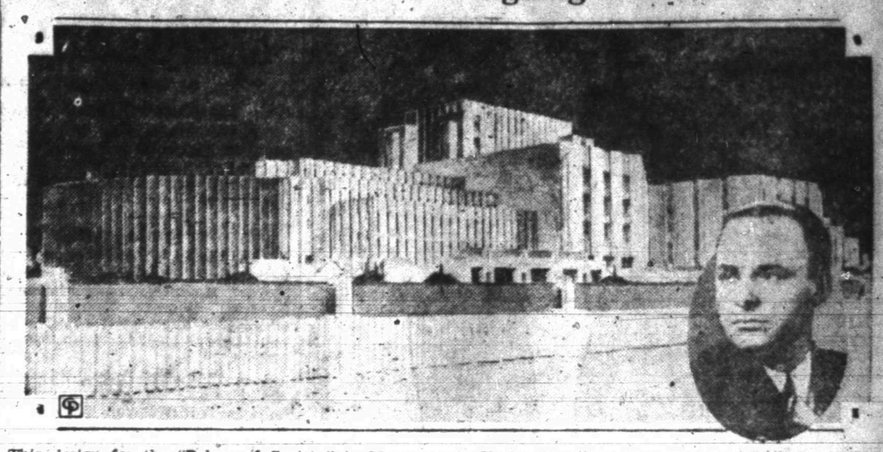

Darrow and Public Prosecutor John C. Kelley staged an argument over the prosecution's introduction in evidence of a signet ring and a wrist watch with a broken crystal, both taken from Kahahawai's body.

Darrow objected to the ring but not to the watch. After conference with counsel, Circuit Judge Charles S. Davis admitted both. It was learned Darrow had objected to the ring because it bore the insignia of a Honolulu high school which members of the jury had attended.

Creation Of Fund To Help Banks Endorsed By House

WASHINGTON, April 12. (AP) — Creation of $1,000,000,000 in resources to guarantee bank deposits was endorsed today by the house banking committee.

Unanimously it approved a bill by Chairman Steagall to establish a huge guarantee pool, after first providing for state bank participation. The guarantee fund, to be administered by a special government board empowered to liquidate closed banks, would include a $500,000,000 loan limit from the reconstruction finance corporation.

Full Speed Ahead Is Seen For Billion Dollar Plan

WASHINGTON, April 12. (AP) — Full speed ahead on the billion dollar tax bill was ordered today by the senate finance committee, as leaders of both parties sought a program to assure business of prompt action.

The tariff row enveloping the measure faded before a bi-party coalition working for limited import duties on about half a dozen major products—oil and coal, already in the bill, and probably copper, rubber and manufactured lumber.

House Members Are Seeking Vote On Beer Bill; 80 Sign

WASHINGTON, April 12. (AP)—Eighty house members today expressed a desire to vote on whether the manufacture and taxing of 2.75 per cent beer is legal.

They signed a petition to take away from the house ways and means committee and bring to the floor the O'Connor-Hull beer bill. Sixty-five more signatures will have to be obtained before vote can be taken.

Marauding Yaqui Indians Swooping Down On Ranches

HERMOSILLO, Sonora, April 12. (AP) — A band of marauding Yaqui Indians swooped down from their stronghold in the Bacatete mountains today and plundered a large number of ranches near Moscobampo, Ortia and La Misa. No casualities were reported, but herds of cattle were stolen.

Scarcity of food, it is feared, has led the Indians to plunder, and ranchmen of the Yaqui region are heavily armed, prepared for expected night attacks.

America Must Abandon The Highway And Reoccupy Home

FORT WORTH, April 12. (AP) — America must abandon the highway and reoccupy the home to bring the country back to economic normalcy, Mark McGee, Fort Worth attorney, told delegates to the annual convention of the Lumbermen's association of Texas at the opening of a three-day session today.

"The only way to restore economic soundness is to return to the fundamentals," McGee declared, "this period we are in is no farther from business equilibrium than we were in the inflated period of 1929 and 1930. This is more than a depression. It is a period of readjustment."

SOLDIERS KILLED

TOKYO, April 13. (Wednesday) (AP)—Dispatches from Harbin, Manchuria, today said 11 Japanese soldiers were killed and 50 or more were injured when a troop train was wrecked on the Chinese Eastern railway, 17 kilometers east of Harbin, last night.

Just Like A Novel

When the Simmons University band toured Holland in the Summer of 1931, A. L. Van Assenderp (above), a young resident of The Hague, while glancing through the Simmons year book, happened upon a picture of Miss Carol Johnson (above), of Louisiana, who had been chosen as the varsity's most beautiful girl. Van Assenderp fell in love with the picture so deeply that he journeyed to Abilene, Texas, to meet the original. The affection proved mutual and now Miss Johnson is going to Holland to become Mrs. Van Assenderp.

It was a lonely ride for this fellow 30 miles down the current of the Missouri and Mississippi rivers on a cake of ice, but he survived it. The dog was half frozen although he had strength enough to emit a few well chosen barks when he was rescued by federal and water works employes at St. Louis.

Delegate Wave

Chicago, an avowed foe of President Hoover.

Illinois' Democratic national committeeman, Michael Igoe, was far behind Judge Henry Horner, of Chicago, in the Democratic race for the governor's nomination.

Horner was backed by Mayor Anton J. Cermak, Chicago.

The Chicago Democracy's favorite son presidential candidate, Senator James Hamilton Lewis, was the only candidate entered in the party's preferential list.

France Far Behind

Former Senator Joseph I. France, of Maryland, was the only Republican who sought Illinois' preferential votes. Only a few Chicago precincts were available on France's vote and in these, he was far behind the candidates for state offices.

United States Senator Otis F. Glenn, of Illinois, was an apparent easy victor in the Republican senatorial nomination tabulations.

Senator France, too, sought Nebraska's preferential votes. The polls closed in that state at 8 p. m., and no returns on the size of France's vote were available in the first few hours of counting. Nebraska's Republican central committee, however, has approved the administration of President Hoover.

Roosevelt Leads Nebraska Voting

LINCOLN, Neb., April 12. (AP) — Returns from 80 to 2,049 precincts in Nebraska for Democratic presidential preference give Roosevelt 3,234; Garner 999; Murray 759. Returns from 51 of 2,049 precincts for Republican presidential preference give France, 1,183; Hoover, (written in) 270.

Spur, Lubbock and Chillicothe have been to this section, in agriculture and in the feeding and breeding of livestock.

Must Live At Home

The former director had a word about side-tracking depression.

"The only insurance against depression is to live at home," he declared. "The people will have to relearn some of the things their fathers knew, and which have been forgotten. The farmers of Texas—with their meats and vegetables—are doing this."

Dr. Youngblood marveled at the development of civilization on the South Plains. Twenty-one years ago he came to Lubbock from Spur.

"At that time, the only convention you could have assembled in Lubbock was one of cowmen. When I reached Lubbock this time I found a Lions club convention which drew business men from the Plains," he said.

Growth Is Described

"Then, I found only a few farms—near Crosbyton and one hog farm east of Lubbock—between here and Spur. We followed the ranch roads. The experiment station house here was only a bald prairie and only a few trees—as ornamental shrubs—had been put out.

"Now, there are trees 16-inches through at the farm, and it is a beautiful spot. The experiment farm also proved that the South Plains can be shade beautiful by trees, and has helped farmers and others, to live—to do more than make money.

"In 1908, when I was connected with the farm management division of the department of agriculture I sent a man through this section. In his report to me, he declared this section would develop into a great grain sorghum and stock-raising section. He didn't foresee the cotton, but just now this section is starting what this federal man saw possibilities of 24 years ago.

Must Learn Feeding

"The South Plains must learn to feed out its stock on the feed it produces. You have the finest cottonseed meal and sorghum grains equal to corn. The South Plains must learn mixed farming, must make livestock, grain, pasturage and cotton all money crops.

"I marvel at the development here. It has taken courage and confidence and—" he chuckled—"I'm pretty confident that that first crop of sudan grass, which then was the most promising crop, provided a lot of that confidence and enthusiasm."

Dr. Youngblood, H. W. Marston, also of the experiment stations office, A. B. Conner, director of Texas experiment stations, and A. D. Jackson, extension publications editor, of Bryan, visited the experimental farm east of Lubbock yesterday. The party will leave today for Las Cruces, N. M.

Dr. Youngblood was director of the state stations from 1911 to 1928, when he resigned to enter federal work.

Five Tech students who attended national convention of Sigma Gamma Epsilon geology fraternity at State College, Penn., April 1 and 2 returned to classes Monday morning. They were Morgan Gist, president of the Tech chapter and official delegate, Jack Flowers, Shelby Read, Macon Smith, and Malcolm Patterson.

Twenty-four chapters were represented at the meeting. The next convention, to be held in 1934, will be at the University of California. Gist was a member of the committee to select the next meeting place.

During the trip the Tech students studied geological formations along the route, and the official program included a field trip in the Nittany mountains in Pennsylvania.

CONCERT IS TONIGHT

Tech's Matador band, presenting a program of standard and popular music, will give an open air concert tonight just south of the administration building. This concert, which will begin at 8 o'clock, is to be the first of a series of semi-monthly programs for the spring term.

No admission will be charged and students as well as Lubbock residents are invited. The band will play on the lawn so that the audience may sit in their cars in the parkway and listen if they desire.

TO DISCUSS BANQUET

The date and other details of the annual Pre-Law club banquet will be decided upon at a meeting of that group tonight. All members are asked to attend. In addition to the business session the club will also work on plans for the major event of the spring term program, which will be a kidnaping case.

The feature of the fall quarter was a breach of promise trial in which Doris Ladd Johnson and Solon Clements were the principal figures. The second term project was a murder trial in which Mary Elizabeth Dryden was found not guilty of the murder of Garland Smith.

Six Tech students attended the 1931 meeting.

SENIORS MEET TONIGHT

"It is very important that all seniors attend the class meeting Wednesday night," Jack Durham, president, said Tuesday. The class will meet in room 302 at 7:30.

PREPARE STUNTS

Electrical engineers are working on several tricks and stunts which will provide amusements for the hundreds of visitors who are expected to attend the fourth annual Engineers' show Friday and Saturday. A personality meter which registers all degrees of personality will be in operation for everyone to discover his own rating; a magnetic race track is also expected to be popular. Another device which mystified visitors last year was the strength machine, and it will again be shown.

The electrical students will also exhibit more practical things, such as the tesla coil and motor tests. In the engineering drawing department classes will be in session so that visitors may see the students at work. Here they will also see how blue prints and white prints are made, and a feature display will be an aerial map of the Brownwood water project made by a student.

The mechanical engineers' part of the show will be guarded by the student-created dog, "Belcher," whose steel jaws emit flames. This department will run tests on boilers, refrigeration plants, steam engines, and so on, during the show.

SOPHS TO GIVE PICNIC

Harriette Roach and Mrs. C. C. Corry are in charge of plans for entertainment for the sophomore class picnic which is to be held April 22 at the Country club.

One hundred tickets will go on sale and must be disposed of before next Thursday, class officers say. Stag bids will sell for 35 cents and date bids for 50 cents. The picnic will be held out of doors and then dancing will follow in the club house.

Expression students of Mrs. Ray C. Mowery will provide the program for the next meeting of Sock and Buskin dramatic club, which is to be an open house next Tuesday evening for club members and their friends.

The program will consist of a Japanese costume play and a group of dialect impersonations. Seven students will take part in the program.

PRACTICE TENNIS

Tennis practice, under the auspices of W. A. A., is held at the college courts each Tuesday and Thursday afternoon from 4 until 6 o'clock. The practice is in preparation for the annual spring tournament for girls which will be held the last part of this term.

Trophies to the winners of the tournament are given each year by Dean Doak and Dean Weeks. Three divisions are made, beginners, intermediates, and advanced players.

FISH GIRLS PLAY

Freshman girls in third term physical education classes are to have a basketball tournament Thursday afternoon in the gymnasium. Students in Miss Zella Riegel's classes have challenged those in Miss Johnnye Gilkerson's. Two teams of six girls each will be selected by each teacher and the two best teams will be matched next week for the championship of the 103 section.

This tournament marks the closing of the basketball period for the spring term work. Volleyball and basketball will be played after this time and tournaments for those games are also planned.

Net Scholastic Gain Seen In Wilson Area For Year

WILSON, April 12.—A net gain of 33 scholastics for 1932 over the 1931 total is reported by A. L. Faubian, school superintendent, who announces the scholastic enumeration this year shows 427 of school age. Last year the total was 394.

The Wilson schools have an enrollment of about 400. The high school has 22 1-2 credits of affiliation with the state system.

"We have about 11 in our senior class this year," Mr. Faubian said. "The commencement will be June 10. School was closed last fall for cotton picking and that is why we are so late."

Mr. Faubian has been here for six years.

PALACE Now—

The Crystal Gazing Period Has Passed

Only Fifty Years Ago the Electrical Industry Was Born

TODAY, we communicate electrically; we travel electrically; we have the benefits of electricity in our factory operations, we service our homes electrically, and we entertain ourselves electrically.

Seventy-five per cent of our people and sixty-five per cent of industry have, literally, at their fingertips a constant supply of electrical energy.

The living conditions of mankind have been vastly improved. In place of the poorly lighted, poorly ventilated factory of yesterday with its now recognized dangers to the workers; its hand-stoked, hand-fed engines and machines, and its crowded, unattractive surroundings, we are building, with the aid of electricity and advanced mechanical knowledge, pleasant and safe places where men and women may earn a living and be happy in doing so.

These benefits, undreamed of when many of us started out in life, are realities today.

In view of these accomplishments, it can safely be said that the crystal gazing period of electricity has passed.
