Police Film Rites For Slain Coeds

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Police promised anonymity to anyone who can provide information in the slayings of Shirley Ann Stark and Susan Rigsby.

The investigation extended to the funerals of the attractive 21-year-old sorority sisters Monday in Dallas, Tex.

Plainclothes officers mingled with about 500 persons at each service. Informed sources said police filmed the congregations and inspected registry books in the church foyers.

Rites for Miss Rigsby were at Lover's Lane Methodist Church and for Miss Stark at St. Matthew's Episcopal Cathedral. They were buried a short distance apart in the same cemetery.

At the service for Miss Rigsby, The Rev. Thomas Shipp said of her violent death: "I'm sure there are tears in heaven over this. This was not the will of God."

The Rev. William F. Forrest was the celebrant at the service for Miss Stark.

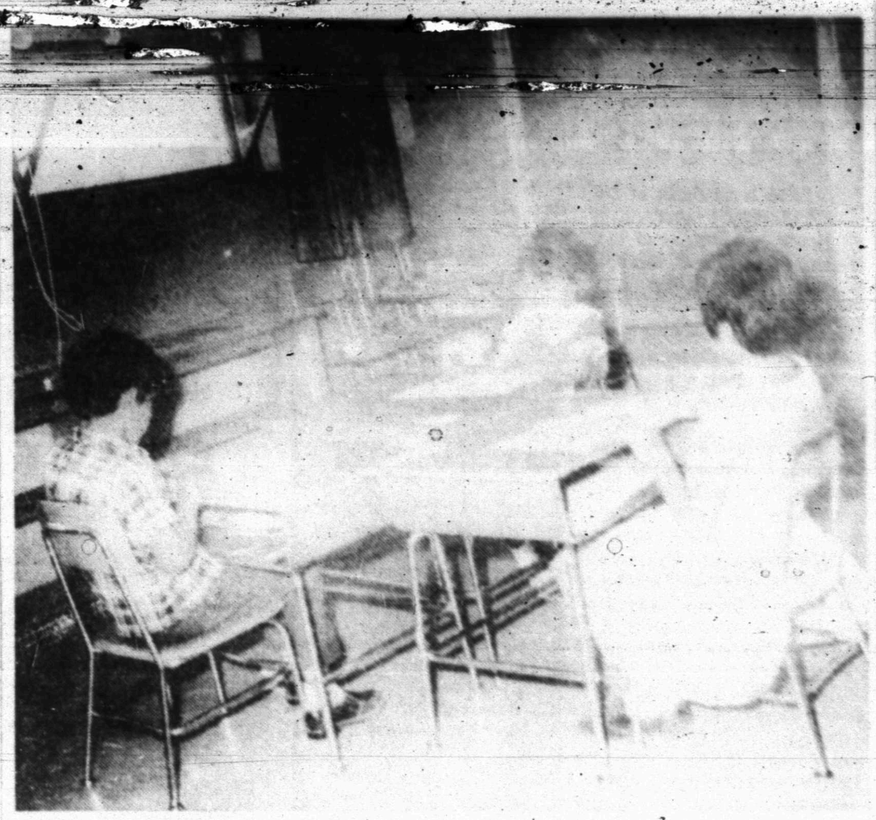

The coeds disappeared July 18 in Austin after driving here from Dallas for Miss Rigsby to enroll at the University of Texas. The decomposed bodies were found last Friday amid high weeds near the north edge of Austin.

The young women changed clothing — presumably in the apartment of friends — shortly before they vanished, but no one has said when or where they changed and this could be a vital clue, Texas Ranger Bill Wilson said.

Police appealed for any information from persons who may have seen the two.

"If they will just come to us, we will guarantee that they will remain anonymous," said Police Lt. George Phifer.

An autopsy report indicated Miss Rigsby was strangled. The cause of Miss Stark's death could not be determined.

OPERATION HEAD START—These three youngsters are among 51 now in their last week of pre-school training in the local "Operation Head Start" program. The program is designed to help prepare pre - school youngsters who have special problems for entry in public schools. In many instances the problem is related to language. For example, one of the classes of 17 here had only five pupils who spoke English. Herman Trigg, principal of Central Elementary School, site of the project here, said he believed children who participated would be much better prepared to begin public school work than would have been the case otherwise. Only three who enrolled failed to attend regularly and one of them was found to be too young for the program.

President Johnson Returns To Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson returned to Washington today after a three-day weekend at his Texas ranch.

The presidential jet arrived at Andrews Air Force Base at 1:56 a.m., and 18 minutes later his helicopter landed on the White House lawn.

Ahead of the President today were a breakfast with Democratic congressional leaders and lunch with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

House Panel OKs Immigration Reform

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee today approved a bill calling for major reforms in immigration policy, including elimination of the controversial national origins quota system.

The 26-4 bipartisan vote for the administration-backed measure indicated it would have strong support when it comes to the House floor. A companion bill is before a Senate subcommittee.

Besides scrapping the 40-year-old system of assigning quotas to individual nations, the bill would set up a new order of preferences for immigrants, chiefly benefiting close relatives of U.S. citizens.

Its major change in present policy, however, would be in its abolition of the quota system, devised to mirror the U.S. population makeup in 1920. Under it, northern and western European nations get most of the available U.S. entry permits, but use only a fraction of them.

The bill would do away with the quota system on July 1, 1968, and until then the quotas unused by any nation would be pooled to reduce the backlog of applicants from low quota countries.

Starting July 1, 1968, a ceiling of 170,000 would be placed on immigration from the present quota countries, under which each country would be treated equally. A maximum limit of 20,000 would be placed on admissions from any one nation.

Western Hemisphere nations, which are now allowed unrestricted immigration outside the quota, would not be affected by the proposed new law.

Also outside the ceiling would be the parents, spouses and children of U.S. citizens.

The effect of the bill would be to authorize total annual immigration of about 340,000—170,000 under the ceiling, 120,000 from the Western Hemisphere and 50,000 parents, spouses and children.

Victims Hold Kidnaper For Police

HARLINGEN (AP) — An escaped Louisiana prisoner, under death sentence, abducted four persons at Corpus Christi Monday night and then was captured by the persons he kidnapped.

Francis Clifton, 27, had escaped the Alexandria jail Saturday.

His kidnap victims said they persuaded him to stop for coffee at a small restaurant near Harlingen in the Lower Rio Grande Valley and in getting out of the car, the four overpowered him and held him until officers arrived.

The persons abducted were Juanita Pennington, Glyndene Untermeyer, C. M. Tally and Bob Ickelberry.

Clifton robbed the four and told them he was trying to reach Mexico.

Clifton was being held in Louisiana for transfer to the death cell at the Louisiana penitentiary. He was convicted for a slaying in a robbery that netted him $20.

Council Has Brief Session

A brief agenda of routine business items resulted in a short session for the City Council last night.

The council authorized the city manager to advertise for bids on three 1966 model police cars.

Also, the city manager was instructed to obtain bids from local banks in order to select a depository for city funds for the fiscal year beginning next Oct. 1.

The accounting firm of Baniskey, Ocker and Anderson was appointed to conduct the annual audit of city funds.

Larry Smith, coordinator of the Neighborhood Youth Corps, reported to the council that approximately 50 youths between the ages of 16 and 22 are now employed in the program.

Attributes 'Leak' To White House

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said today he has suspicion that information on a Viet Nam conference between President Johnson and congressional leaders last week "was leaked from the White House."

The House Republican leader, regarded as the apparent target of Johnson's blast at "a prominent member of another party" over the reports, did not elaborate. But in a television interview (TODAY — NBC) he did deny anew that he was the source of the controversial accounts.

At issue was a published report that a memorandum read at the White House session by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana influenced Johnson's choice not to call up National Guard and reserve units. Johnson said that was untrue, and took the view that the leak was in "perhaps malicious" form.

Ford said most of the significant information on the meeting had leaked from other sources by the next morning and much of it was given at a Pentagon press briefing the following day.

"I broke no confidence," Ford asserted.

He said he thought it would be best to drop the whole thing.

That part of his comment today was about the same thing he had said Monday.

Later Ford relaxed for a few minutes in the Republican cloakroom, puffed on his pipe and talked about GOP policy in the seven months since he and his backers ousted Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana as House Republican leader.

"We have moved," he said, "to a moderate position, both foreign and domestic, aimed at broadening the base of the Republican party, geographically and philosophically."

At the moment, GOP policy on the war in Viet Nam is in the spotlight.

And here the sandy-haired Ford, 52, on July 14, has been urging the White House to strike more aggressively at North Viet Nam by air and sea. And he called for bombing of the Soviet-built missile sites near Hanoi.

The job of House Republican leader calls for long hours and Ford puts them in. He arrives at his office at 8 a.m. and leaves at 7 p.m. More often than not he spends the evening at some official or semiofficial function with his wife, the former Elizabeth Bloomer of Grand Rapids, Mich.

Then there are out-of-town speaking jobs on behalf of fellow Republicans. And Saturdays, when he is in town, Ford works at his House office.

Rusk Says Reds Not Ready To Talk Peace

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk says he sees no indication that the Communists of North Viet Nam and Red China are ready for a peaceful settlement of the Viet Nam war.

While Rusk gave this estimate to a news conference Monday, he also held open the possibility the United Nations would continue to work for peace, despite Hanoi's rejection of this move.

The Pentagon meanwhile acted to make certain the growing flow of military supplies to South Viet Nam will move without obstacles or bottlenecks. Formation of a 10-man task force charged with this responsibility was announced Monday.

The Defense Department, questioned about a congressional report of shortages in Viet Nam, said there are none now and the new move is designed to keep any from developing.

A spokesman also said the list of known antiaircraft missile sites in North Viet Nam still later, the department plans to stands at seven, including the speed up training and increase two hit by a U.S. air strike last combat power of three reserve week. The spokesman did not divisions, six independent bri- confirm reports that additional gades and other combat and sites had been discovered, but support units, deputy Defense remarked, "we are well aware Secretary Cyrus R. Vance said. that others could develop."

The specific units have not yet been selected, the Pentagon reported.

Rusk said at his news conference:

"We do not yet see any indication that the other side — I mean specifically Hanoi and Peking — are ready for a peaceful settlement of this situation.

"The infiltration of men and arms from North Viet Nam into South Viet Nam is the heart of the problem. It should be obvious that in any discussion or negotiation that is going to be the central issue."

The United States would be happy to see the infiltration stopped by words instead of bombs, he went on, but "if it is necessary to do it by military means, we are prepared to help do that, too."

Production Record Set By CRMWD

For the first time, the Colorado River Municipal Water District in July crossed a billion and a half gallons of deliveries within a single month.

The total pumped was 1,510,204,000 gallons, reported O. H. Ivie, general manager. This was ahead of the previous record of 1,490,672,000 for July of 1964.

Member cities of Big Spring, Odessa and Snyder took four fifths of the water produced. They consumed 1,190,797,000 gallons during the month, Ivie reported.

The daily average for July was 48.72 million gallons, and the peak day saw the district producing 57 million gallons. During the last two weeks of the month, production averaged over 50 million gallons per day.

There were no signs of abatement of demands upon the district, the manager reported. Pumps at Lake J. B. Thomas have been going at near capacity during the month, and the all time peak of 692,710,000 gallons for Odessa was made possible by pumping of the Odessa well field and the district's Martin County well field.

Reds Make Acid Attack

GENEVA (AP) — The Soviet Union said today it will never sign a treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons so long as the West continues to bow to what it called "West German blackmail" and goes ahead with the proposed NATO nuclear force.

Chief Soviet Delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin told the 17-nation disarmament conference that the nuclear force proposed for the North Atlantic Alliance is "absolutely unacceptable" to the Soviet Union.

In a strong attack on the United States, he said American "imperialism and aggression" in Viet Nam is a major bostacle to further disarmament agreements.

Tsarapkin's attack caused no surprise although one Western delegate said it was "rather tougher than we expected."

Red Attack Is Repelled

By EDWIN Q. WHITE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Vietnamese forces fought off one Viet Cong attack early today but suffered "heavy" losses in another attack on an outpost manned by six militiamen, a U.S. military spokesman announced.

Nine Communist guerrillas were reported killed in an attack on the district town of Phuoc Binh 75 miles northeast of Saigon. Vietnamese casualties were termed "very light."

The six militiamen were manning the Phuoc Xuyen outpost 65 miles west of Saigon.

The U.S. spokesman gave this report of other action in the war:

Guerrillas shelled the U.S. helicopter base at Soc Trang, in the Mekong Delta. Monday night with eight mortar rounds but no aircraft were damaged and casualties were "very light."

As soon as the 20-minute attack started, the helicopters were flown out. They returned to the base shortly after midnight. Aircraft at Soc Trang, 100 miles southwest of Saigon, were similarly evacuated July 24 after several explosions that were believed caused by two or three mortar rounds.

A regional force company suffered "moderate" casualties and five civilians were wounded when two hand grenades exploded in the market place of Phuoc Toa, a district town, 40 miles north of Saigon in D zone. The terrorists escaped.

Viet Cong casualties rose to 22 killed in a government operation 330 miles northeast of Saigon near Quang Ngai City. Fifteen suspects were detained and one guerrilla captured. Vietnamese casualties were "very light."

In the air war in South Viet Nam, U.S. and Vietnamese fighter - bombers continued heavy strikes against suspected Viet Cong positions. The spokesman said an estimated 137 guerrillas were reported killed but the figure was not confirmed by body count.

The planes flew more than 250 sorties in the last 24 hours. A sortie is one flight by one plane.

Two U.S. Air Force F104s smashed a Viet Cong encampment 70 miles southeast of Da Nang, the spokesman said. Ten Viet Cong were reported killed there.

"We left almost the entire encampment burning," said 1st Lt. Harold R. Alston, 29 of Salt Lake City, Utah.

Hazards Are Cited By Fire Chief

Cleanup Month is an opportune time for Snyder residents to eliminate fire hazards around their homes and business buildings, Fire Chief Alfred Kohl reminded today.

August has been designated as Cleanup Month in the city, with Snyder Jaycees and the city government cooperating to promote the event.

Kohl pointed out that heavy growth of grass and weeds which matured following spring rains has been drying rapidly in recent weeks, providing ideal conditions for costly fires. This type of fire hazard will increase from now through the fall months, unless it is removed, Kohl emphasized.

City crews will be available throughout Cleanup Month to haul trash and rubbish which cannot be handled by regular crews and equipment of the city sanitation department.

Lad Found Unharmed

MARBLE FALLS, Tex. (AP) —Mark Collier, 4, was found today with only mosquito bites, scratches and hunger to show for his night alone in the rugged Hill Country.

Mark, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Collier, turned up missing early Monday night, touching off an all-night search by three dozen men on horseback and afoot. Two helicopters from Ft. Hood joined the search.

Harriman Thinks Reds Want Peace

LONDON (AP)— W. Averall Harriman said today he got the impression in talks in Moscow with Premier Alexei N. Kosygin that the Russians looked to a peaceful settlement in Viet Nam. But he saw tough fighting ahead.

Harriman, who just concluded a tour of European capitals where he talked with government leaders, told reporters before flying home to Washington:

"I got the general impression that Moscow would like to see a settlement. President Johnson has said on many occasions that he is willing to undertake discussions with any government.

"But the Hanoi government continues to say they will not have any part of it. Hanoi thinks it can take over South Viet Nam by force.

"I am afraid we have some tough fighting ahead to prove to them they are not going to be permitted to take over South Viet Nam are going to be able to decide their own future and not at the dictation of Hanoi."

Now Pennsylvanians Can Fire At Will

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — The Pennsylvania House of Representatives repealed Monday a 1751 law requiring Pennsylvanians to obtain the permission of the governor to fire a shotgun.

The law was to curb the practice of firing a shotgun up a chimney to clean it out.

UFO ELUSIVE

City Alerted By Landing Reports

DENTON, Tex. (AP) — Witnesses told of seeing a brightly lighted object land southwest of here late Monday.

Officers swarmed into the area for a search. They reported nothing found.

Two patrolling deputy sheriffs reported the brilliant object "looked like a magnesium flare" and appeared to touch ground near Justin, 11 miles from Denton.

Scores of residents in Fort Worth, Denton and between the two cities told of a bright light that streaked across the sky toward the north.

Several asked Denton officers about a white glare which appeared to touch ground near Justin.

A policeman at Lewisville said a multi-colored object passed within 100 feet of the Lewisville Dam.

A Denton policeman said a vari-colored object moved toward the northeast over the north side of town.

Star-struck Oklahomans also showered authorities with more reports of strange objects in the sky Monday night.

The Air Force said the gazers just had stars in their eyes.

A spokesman at Tinker AFB here said Washington gave two major possible reasons for the rash of reports about unidentified flying objects in recent days.

Some of the reports, the Air Force said, could be observations of a Delta meteor shower occuring from July 26 through Aug. 6.

The Air Force added that during the past two days temperature distribution and wind speeds over the Great Plains were favorable to "scintillation, which causes stars to appear to twinkle or distant objects to appear to dance when viewed through layers of the atmosphere."

Oklahoma UFO observers for the third straight night called the highway patrol, local police and Tinker to report dozens of sightings of flashing, colored objects.

Charles Boyd of Norman said he and four other persons watched a white globe, which they estimated to be 30 to 40 feet in diameter, hover about 20 degrees above the horizon southeast of Norman in Central Oklahoma. Boyd said the object appeared to move forward, backward, then up and down.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I'm so mad and hurt, I'm speechless. I've been friendly with a neighbor for some time although we have different interests. She takes her mail home to read golfer and I am not.

A few weeks ago she was one of the winners in a golf tournament and her picture appeared in our local paper. She cut it out and came right over to show it to me. I was happy for her and congratulated her. I forgot all about it until yesterday when I needed some newspapers for a kitten I was trying to housebreak. I pulled a newspaper out of the stack I'd been saving and noticed it was the one with my friend's picture in it, so I reread the article and laid it down for the kitten.

Later that day my friend came over, and when she stepped on the porch she noticed the newspaper. She became very indignant when she saw that the kitten had wet close to her picture.

She said I was jealous and small and had done it on purpose. I tried to apologize, but she stomped out of the house. When I call her on the phone, she refuses to speak to me. Should I go to her house and try to explain that I meant no harm?

"MISUNDERSTOOD"

DEAR MISUNDERSTOOD: Let her cool off. If your friend was teed off by a small water hazard, she has a bigger handicap than she realizes. Her sense of humor is below par.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I will be a freshman in high school next September and I have a problem I'm sure lots of other girls my age have. I know many girls are too free with their kisses, and people talk about them, and I don't want to become this way myself. What do you think of kissing a boy just out of friendship so he won't think you are being cold with him? I have done this once or twice myself and feel now as though I did the wrong thing. Sign me...

FEELING GUILTY

DEAR FEELING: Your conscience is still your best guide. The only reason for kissing anyone is to express sincere affection.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the volunteer really got me. She resented the secretary who "protected" her precious boss, by insisting on knowing who was calling him and why. She didn't have to say she is not a "professional" woman. It was obvious.

I wonder if "MRS. VOLUNTEER" has any idea how many calls a successful businessman gets every week from someone who is working for a "worthy cause"? And some of these volunteers have the impression that they should be able to see the boss without an appointment, and have their calls put through without delay. I have worked for an attorney for six years and businessmen are so busy during the day that they must take their mail home to read during their few uncommitted hours.

Thank you for telling "MRS. VOLUNTEER" to write a letter. If hers is a truly worthy cause, her letter will get the attention it deserves. And it will be much more appreciated by a busy person than a telephone call at an inconvenient time.

Nuts To You

Don't let the party guests who devour all the peanuts, cashews and almonds in sight worry your budget - conscious mind. Nut-packers have come up with an economical coating process which keeps nuts roaster-fresh for 12 to 18 months in plastic bags. This packaging is cheaper than vacuum packing or canning.

And, Chemical Week says the process leaves the color, favor and odor of the nuts unchanged.

Jury Brings Indictments Of Murder

AMERICUS, Ga. (AP) —The Sumter County grand jury returned first-degree murder indictments today against two Negroes charged in the slaying of a white man.

Meanwhile, about 40 out-of-town civil rights workers arrived despite a plea from Gov. Carl Sanders that outsiders stay out of Americus, which has seen violence and death since demonstrations started two weeks ago.

The demonstrators came from Savannah, Ga.

In Atlanta, Sanders commented: "I ask that leaders of the so-called civil rights groups display good will and not bring in outsiders to stir up emotions and perhaps cause more violence."

Lt. Gov. Peter Zack Geer sent President Johnson a telegram asking him to use his influence to end racial demonstrations at Americus.

Civil rights leaders said picketing of downtown stores would continue. Twenty-three pickets were arrested Monday.

The grand jury convened in special session Monday to consider murder charges against Eddie Will Lamar and Charles Lee Hopkins, both 21.

The two Negroes are charged with slaying Andrew A. Whatley, 21, a white Marine enlistee shot Wednesday night about three blocks from a civil rights demonstration.

Whitey Ford, New York Yankee southpaw, has 42 American League shutouts to start the 1965 season.

Two-Car Mishap Logged In City

The Snyder Police Department investigated a two car mishap at 6:14 p.m. Monday on the Big Spring Highway.

A 1965 Chevrolet driven by Lynnelle Burns was reported to have received $150 in damages while a 1956 Ford driven by Curtis Dale Hall received an estimated $125 in damages. There were no injuries.

Reapportionment Delay Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — A landmark bill designed to assure Southern Negroes their constitutional right to register and vote is set for final house approval today.

But a fight over legislative reapportionment will delay Senate consideration until Thursday. And if Southern senators decide to fire a last barrage at the measure, final congressional passage could be delayed beyond that.

Still, there is no doubt of the outcome. Topheavy approval in both House and Senate of this compromise version of conflicting bills approved by both bodies earlier in the session.

The major aim of the bill is to provide for the suspension of literacy tests and other tests used to keep Negroes from voting.

To accomplish this, special federal examiners would be appointed in states and voting districts where less than 50 per cent of otherwise eligible voters are registered.

And where examiners are appointed, poll watchers could be designated by the attorney general in subsequent elections. Public officials or private individuals who interfere with the voting process could face criminal charges.

Under terms of the bill literacy tests would be suspended in Alabama, Alaska, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, Virginia, in 34 counties in North Carolina and in one county each in Arizona, Idaho and Maine.

An important provision calls for an early Supreme Court test of state and local poll taxes. Poll taxes already are outlawed in federal elections by constitutional amendment.

The House bill would have outlawed outright all state and local poll taxes. But the administration claimed this approach was of doubtful constitutionality and induced the Senate to include, instead, direction to the attorney general to bring immediate court action to have the poll tax declared unconstitutional.

Only Alabama, Mississippi and Texas have such a tax.

The House and Senate conferees who worked out the final bill went along with the Senate.

They also followed the Senate and kept the so-called Puerto Rican amendment. Of interest mainly in New York City, this will permit voters to qualify as literate by meeting educational standards in Spanish.

Police Issue July Report

The Snyder Police Department issued 172 tickets during July, according to the monthly report of Chief Chester Simons.

Sixty-six of the tickets involved speeding violations. The report also listed 19 traffic mishaps which resulted in injuries to four persons.

City police cars travelled 20,311 miles and responded to 350 calls during the month.

Fines levied in corporation court during July totalled $4,923.90, with credit for $317 in fines allowed for time served in jail.

Cool Hand Luke Is Cooled

COOL HAND LUKE. By Donn Pearce.

Its setting and subject matter are grim and crude, and its hero is one of the devil's own, but Pearce's novel is a telling portrayal of a rebellious man's refusal to submit to the fate he has brought upon himself.

It is a story about a Florida road gang, narrated by one of the prisoners.

One of the new arrivals at the forbidding prison camp is Luke, a former war hero sentenced to hard labor for a drunken foray. Luke soon makes himself a major figure among the tough characters of the road gang. He outperforms them at gruelling jobs. He beats them at poker. He wins their admiration by his stubborn contempt for the harsh rules of the camp. He always "plays it real cool."

Gradually it comes out that Luke is mad at God Himself, mainly as the result of the horrors and butchery he saw in the war as a decorated combat man.

Luke outwits the guards and escapes, but soon is picked up in another state — and the brutality begins. Defiantly Luke escapes again, is captured, and the prison officials double their brutality. The other prisoners revel in his refusal to be broken. But Luke goes too far, and inevitable fate brings about his end.

To the lawbreakers, this man's unreasoning defiance makes him a hero. The author leaves it at that, without underlining the point that if Luke had been as cool as he pretended to be, he would have served his original term — despite the harsh discipline — and had his freedom.

This is a first novel, with its quota of flaws, but it is marked by some powerful writing and virile perceptions, pouring from a number of stirring, realistic scenes and rugged episodes.

Three-Way Spray

There is a new hair spray on the market that is like an answer to every maiden's prayer. From just one aerosol container you can dial three sprays of different intensity. Dial one — out comes a firm spray for setting and damp-weather holding. Dial two — a fine spray for combing out. Dial three — a nearly invisible mist for final touch-ups. The secret is a completely new aerosol valve, reports Modern Packaging, which might lead to all kinds of interesting aerosol products. Three-way spray deodorant anyone?

Fiction Is A Real Problem

THE LIBERATION OF LORD BYRON JONES. By Jesse Hill Ford.

We have come a long way from "Uncle Tom's Cabin," a primitive sort of fiction that once stirred a great sociological and political storm.

Today, in a century-old echo, we are getting modern, realistic novels with racial and civil rights themes, and some of them achieve through fiction a far greater illumination of tense issues than a whole shelf of argumentative documents and statistics.

The point is that while Ford's novel is not the first of its kind, it certainly stands out as a searing literary interpretation of current, agonizing issues.

The setting is a small, imaginary town in the swampy lands of western Tennessee. Of all the characters, two stand out.

One is L. B. Jones, a Negro undertaker who has become the wealthiest man in town. By local white standards, Negro marriages are of no consequence, so when Jones insists upon a divorce from his young slut of a wife Emma, there is a shattering uproar.

The other is the town's principal lawyer, Oman Hedgepath, an unreconstructed segregationist and Yankee-hater who still is fighting the Civil War. He has to be shoved into taking Jones as a client, by his young nephew, Steve Undine. But Oman double-crosses his client and tries to protect Emma's paramour — a brutish, corrupt, ignorant policeman — simply because he has a white skin.

There are others. Steve is a disturbed Southerner who had married a Northern girl and feebly begins to realize what a menace Hedgepath's way of life has become. Mosby is a fat and rather stupid Negro whose only idea in life is vengenance against another brutal policeman; there are a drunken mayor, a pitifully subservient old "Uncle Tom," an equally pitiful white storekeeper, a dying Negro madame, a naive youngster from Rhode Island who wants to see for himself what the South is like.

This story is far more than a gothic Southern novel. It is a bitter portrayal of racial fear within a locked enclave of ignorance and prejudice. Written by a Southerner, it will antagonize some Southern readers because it bares whispered subjects. Its events no doubt have parallels in the recorded testimony of official hearings, but here is a more deadly indictment because it carries the anguish of life. Ford is a writer whose high-voltage fiction turns a social problem into powerful drama.

Righters Picket Chicago Mayor

CHICAGO (AP) — Sixty-five civil rights demonstrators, most of them Negroes, chanted and sang around the South Side block where Mayor Richard J. Daley lives and were arrested Monday night.

Police, who had been alerted and were out in force to watch as police hauled the marchers away in police vans.

The marchers, led by Negro comedian Dick Gregory, were protesting the retention of Schools Supt. Benjamin C. Willis. They contend he has maintained de facto segregation in the city's public schools. They have made Daley a target because he has refused to ask the Board of Education to fire Willis.

The marchers, a segment of the Coordinating Council of Community Organizations walked more than four miles from downtown Chicago to Daley's neighborhood. They made the same march Sunday night, but there were no incidents.

After they had walked around the block a few times, Police Capt. Howard Pierson stepped forward and three times asked them to disperse.

Some 15 marchers left and the remaining 65, led by Gregory, were herded into vans and hauled away.

Police said they would be charged with disorderly conduct.

"Do not go limp. Do not give the police any trouble. We have not broken the law," Gregory told his followers.

As the vans pulled away, some 500 white persons who had been watching threw objects at the vehicles. Inside the vans, demonstrators chanted: "We want our freedom."

Pierson said he had not contacted the mayor, who reportedly was inside his red-brick bungalow, before making the arrests.

After the arrests, four plain-clothes policemen stationed themselves in front of the mayor's home, which is guarded front and rear 24 hours a day by uniformed men. The white crowd was dispersed by police.

The demonstrators were hailed with catcalls and jibes as they entered the mayor's neighborhood.

Police Seek Members Of Supergang

PALERMO, Sicily (AP) — International police were asked today to help track down four suspected members of a supergang linking the Sicilian Mafia with the American Cosa Nostra.

Police moved against the international mob Monday, rounding up 10 suspects in a series of predawn raids from Bologna in northern Italy to Taormina in eastern Sicily.

Two of those still at large were believed living in New York City and a third somewhere in California.

Italian authorities said they were Joseph Cerrito, 54, a U.S. citizen residing in California and a friend of the late Charles (Lucky) Luciano; Santo Sorge, 57, a U.S. citizen living in New York, accused in the past of fraud and espionage, and Gaetano Russo, 73, U.S. citizen of New York, also described as a friend of Luciano.

In Monday's raids police teams picked up Giuseppe Genco Russo, 72, reputed head of the Mafia, and Frank (Three Fingers) Coppola, 75, a Sicilian once said to be Luciano's heir. Coppola was deported from the United States in 1948.

The 14 men were charged with associating to commit crime and a variety of individual allegations including drug smuggling and bombings. American and European police had long suspected a link between the ancient Mafia and the Cosa Nostra, but it was the first time authorities claimed enough evidence to obtain arrest warrants.

Woman Found Slain

TERRELL (AP) — Lillian Tholen, 80, a white woman, was found slain today a short distance from her house.

Sheriff Roy Brockway of Kaufman County and Chief of Police Alton Ashworth said first evidence suggested the woman had been raped.

There was evidence of a struggle in the house and at the spot where the body was found at 8 a.m.

Scientists Turn Off Mariner's Recorder

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Scientists have turned off Mariner 4's tape recorder and turned on other scientific and engineering equipment which had been shut down during the spacecraft's rerun of the historic Mars photos.

Spokesmen at Jet Propulsion Laboratory here said the playback of 21 pictures was completed shortly before 9 p.m. Monday when Mariner was 150 million miles from earth.

Scientists say they expect to maintain communications with the craft for another six to eight weeks.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

MEXICO CITY — There is this little book that tells all about how the Aztecs planted and cultivated corn. I think everyone should read it closely because you can never tell when something might happen and you will have to plant your own corn.

It says here at the top of the page that the Aztecs worked small fields. This appeals to me more than the idea of hitching the Lady from Puebla to a plow and having her sweat and groan all over a huge farm.

All land belonged to the Earth Goddess but the village chiefs had the right to say who could grow what on it. Apparently, this was the start of an idea developed a little more fully in Washington.

At any rate, the whole thing was done in a highly scientific manner and was considered sacred. Planting was done just before the rainy season started and tribal priests had to forecast when it was due.

If the season was late, the village priest would lead everyone to the mountains to pray to Tlaloc, the rain god. Then he would burn incense made of little rubber balls.

It doesn't say how anybody got to fresh air once they were unconscious but it does say the dense, black clouds were a kind of rain SOS.

You would have a family working a small patch out behind their hut and the father would walk around punching holes in the ground with a pointed stick. Along came mama with a basket of corn and she dropped a grain in each hole. The kids covered the holes up.

You still see this done in some rural sections of the country. The Head of the House and his sharp stick with the rest of the family trailing along behind him.

Once the work was done, everything was up to Tlaloc. He had to gather up a few clouds and furnish the irrigation.

And it says after the planting everybody would sit around waiting and asking the tribal priests how the stars looked and figuring out sacred things to say that might hustle things along faster.

Then thunderstorms swept the country and the lightning serpents of the rain god flickered their blessings over corn patches. It says here.

Undoubtedly you would have instances where the father would be sitting by the fireplace working chess problems when suddenly he would hear thunder and one of the children would rush in.

The father would ask, "What's with the weather, son, and where is your brother Quincy?"

So the lad would say, "Why Tlaloc is pushing a tremendous front on us and it looks like the crop is made. Also the lightning serpents are flickering their blessings all over the field. One of 'em hit Quincy and he is fried over there by the big pepper tree."

The father would ask anxiously, "Did he get through hoeing them weeds outta the patch?"

So the father would sigh, "Praise be to Tlaloc. Poor old Quincy."

Actually, such things arose from necessity and not cruelty. It's just like today. You got to get corn somehow and if you don't get it from the storehouse, then you're gonna get it in a newspaper column.

New Party Leader Loses Verbal Duel

By COLIN FROST

LONDON (AP) — Two leading British newspapers said today that Edward Heath, making his parliamentary debut as Conservative party leader, lost a verbal duel with Labor Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

"He lost by a knockout," the independent Times of London said. "When it comes to the art of infighting, Mr. Wilson has no peer. By the same token, Mr. Heath has a lot to learn."

"Disappointment was sadly and generally registered by Conservatives when they heard their new leader," said the conservative Daily Telegraph.

The House of Commons debate Monday night centered on a motion by Heath expressing no confidence in the Labor government and deploring Wilson's handling of the affairs of state. With the 10 Liberal members abstaining, the government defeated the motion 303-290.

Heath accused the Laborites of destroying confidence by over dramatizing the extent of Britain's financial crisis and by using piecemeal measures to ease it.

The new Tory chief avoided verbal fireworks in his first major speech as party leader. And Wilson brought the packed benches to a fever by taunting the previous Conservative government with having secretly prepared every kind of emergency measure which they now sought to censure.

He charged that the Conservatives had detailed schemes ready for an imports surcharge of the kind his government introduced last October, and for an imports quota system, which Labor has avoided.

He accused Heath of humbug and political cowardice, and said: "We treat his censure motion with contempt."

Heath sprang to his feet to reply, but his words were drowned out by shouts from the Labor seats.

At one point, both leaders were on their feet pointing their fingers at each other. The debate ended with the speaker appealing to both to stick to the rules.

County Court Pleas Heard

One plea of guilty was heard and bonds were set in two other cases Monday in county court.

Charles Turner was fined $100 plus court costs after pleading guilty to a charge of selling beer. The charge had been filed July 13.

Jesse Neal Johnson pleaded not guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated and was released on $1,000 bond. The charge was filed Saturday.

Shirley Ann Wells was released on $500 bond after pleading not guilty to a charge of illegal possession of alcoholic beverages which had been filed Saturday.

Held For Shooting

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — L. E. Acker was being held without bond today in the fatal shooting of Regan Sammons, 53, at Sammons' home Saturday.

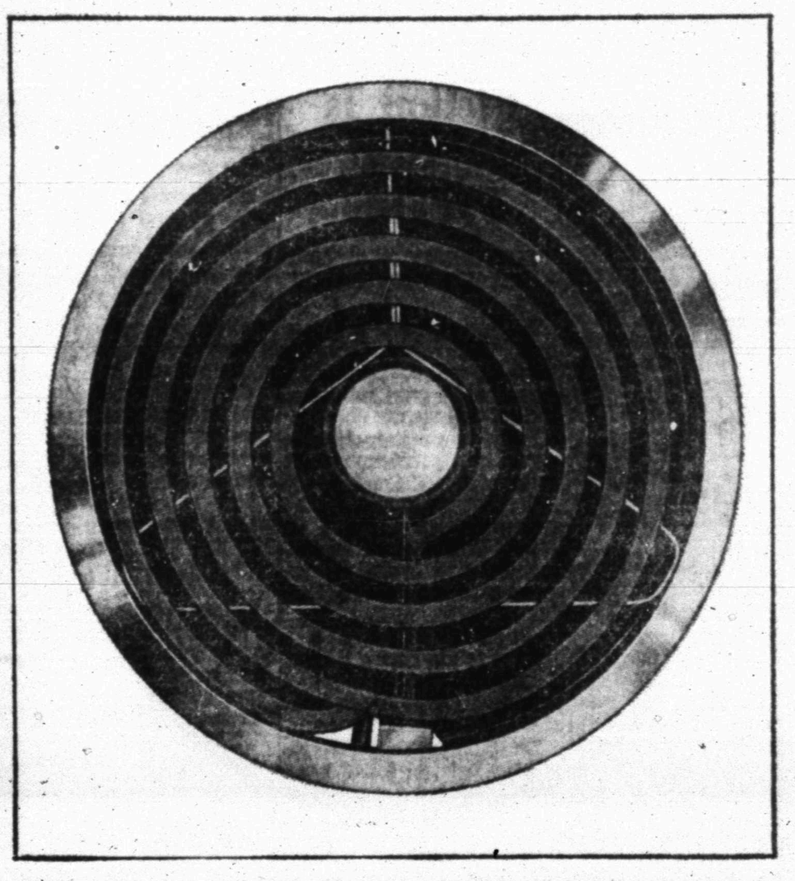

Acker's estranged wife was critically wounded. She and Sammons formerly were married.

Summer cooking make your kitchen "like an oven"?

Change to cool flameless electric cooking!

Women who cook electrically will tell you that electric cooking makes a big difference in kitchen comfort during hot weather. That's because flameless electric surface cooking units transfer heat by direct metal-to-metal contact with utensil bottoms. They send their heat through the utensils and into the food, not into the kitchen air. Electric oven cooking is cooler, too. There's no flame, so no intake and exhaust of air is needed to support combustion. The oven is insulated all around, including the bottom, to keep heat inside where it belongs. See your electric range dealer soon and start cooking the cool, flameless electric way!

wIlLiAmSon'S WiLDneSS

By TERRY WILLIAMSON

For pre-season prognosticators the Southwest Conference is the favorite stomping ground in Southwest for choosing the winner between Arkansas and Texas, but this season has already proved to be a headache for the fortune tellers as most people agree that any of four teams could land in high cotton come January 1.

It's been a long time in the SWC since there has been even a three team race, but this season the league is more balanced from top to bottom than it has been in over a decade. It could prove interesting to look at the four stalwarts that are giving sports writers fits in picking this year's winner.

In most pre-season polls, it is generally accepted that the University of Texas will be the team to beat in order to reach Dallas on the first. It is an understandable choice when you look at the facts. Returning to the Orange and White will be such stalwarts as All-American Tommy Nobis, five - year veteran Mike Kristynik, and halfback Phil Harris. Texas' front eleven men put the other SWC members in the shade, but Darrell Royal doesn't have the depth that he has been blessed with in past seasons. The Longhorns will have to lean heavily on sophomores; sometimes they play like football players and sometimes they play like sophomores. No kidding around, Texas will be strong.

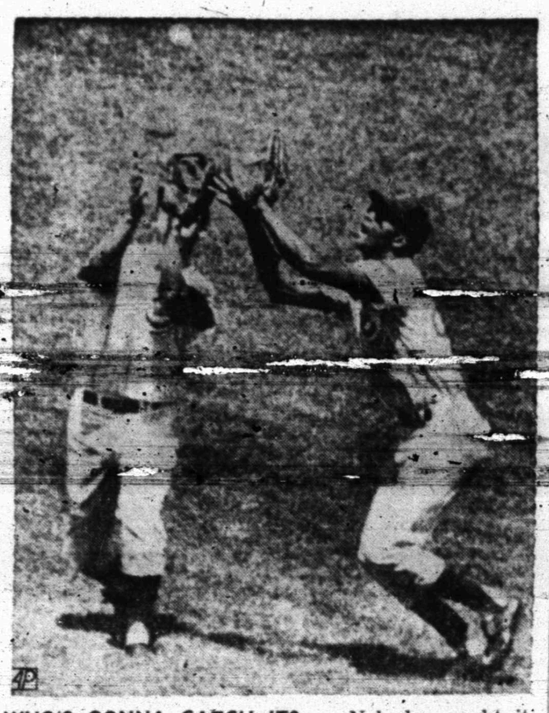

Arkansas will again have to be the number two choice for Cotton Bowl honors. Some people believe that the Porkers are as strong as last year's team which won the Grantland Rice Trophy. The main strength will again lie in defense with tackles Glen Ray Hines and Loyd Phillips leading the way. Jim Lindsey and Bobby Burnett should give punch to a unproven backfield. Arkansas can't help missing players like Freddie Marshall, Ronnie Caveness, and Ken Hatfield. The loss of those three players could make Arkansas a two point poorer team, and if it does, they won't be a repeat in the cotton bowl.

It is generally undecided between most sports writers who will be the number three choice, Texas Tech or Baylor. In fact, some believe that the two offensive minded teams could surprise in '65, and there are some sound reasons why.

There won't be many teams that will stop the pro type offense of Coach John Bridgers. The main reasons why some fear Baylor as a main threat is a free slinging quarterback named Terry Southall and ends Tommy Smith and Harlan Lane. Bridgers can depend on these hopefuls to run his unique passing offensive almost without flaw. The Baylor question is a leaky defense, but if they can patch a few holes, things could be crowded at the top.

Texas Tech's ground crushing crew led by All - American Donny Anderson should light up Jones Stadium scoreboard often this year, and with more depth present this year than ever before the West Texans could prove to be tough. Tech's loss of fullback Leo Lowery from grades could prove frightening, but the Raiders play seven home games this year. One more flaw is Arkansas and Texas are on the road. Watch out if they get past Texas.

With added depth to the other SWC teams, it could be a long season for any of these four if they don't get the breaks. Guessing could prove to be frustrating this year, and then again it will be fun not knowing the final result before the teams take the field.

Baseballs, Spitters Becoming Problem

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

A dip here and a wiggle there and everybody starts pointing fingers. It's getting so that an innocent can't have any fun anymore.

In San Francisco's 4-2 loss at Milwaukee Monday night, for example, a Gaylord Perry pitch was ruled under Ken Johnson and Braves' Manager Bobby Bragan, who's becoming an expert on the subject, screamed spitter.

Detroit's Denny McLain didn't believe teammates Dave Wickersham and Hank Aguirre who complained after Sunday's doubleheader in Chicago that the balls were cold and heavy. Then McLain pitched Monday night in a 2-0 White Sox victory and announced solemnly afterwards, "The balls were cold and heavy."

Bragan, who said that his pitchers got away with throwing 75-to-80 spitters in a 9-2 loss against the Giants Friday night, accused Perry of throwing a super-spitter.

"He was throwing those spitters," said Bragan. "One of them rolled to the infield and Jo Jo White, Braves' third base coach picked it up. There was a spot of slick-um on it. Jo Jo said the ball was almost sticking to his finger."

Bragan theorized that Perry may have had benzoin, a resin compound used to treat blisters, in his glove and was spitting into it to make it adhere to the ball.

Perry denied the charge "Bragan might say anything. You know how he is," the pitcher said.

Johnson, who pitched a six-hitter for his 12th victory and was at bat when White, picked up the ball, was convinced that Perry was using a super-illegal pitch.

Pinch hitter Jesse Gonder delivered a bases-loaded double, driving in three runs as Milwaukee scored all its runs in the fourth inning. Willie Mays hit his 25th home run for the Giants.

American League President Joe Cronin dispatched his umpire-in-chief, Cal Hubbard, on an inspection tour to determine at what temperatures baseballs were being stored, following complaints from several Tiger players that the White Sox were providing frozen baseballs in Sunday's doubleheader.

Umpire Ed Hurley admitted the baseballs were cold but dismissed the matter, saying they might have been stored near an air conditioner.

Pete Ward's [illegible] in the first inning produced both Chicago runs against McLain and Hoyt Wilhelm protected the victory for Gary Peters with two innings of airtight relief.

Minnesota lengthened its American League lead to six games with a 6-5 victory over Baltimore on Jimmie Hall's pinch homer in the ninth.

It was a costly victory though. Twins' slugger Harmon Killebrew suffered a dislocated left elbow in a baseline collision and will be sidelined for 10 days.

Relief pitcher Don Dennis worked out of a bases-loaded, none-out jam in the ninth as St. Louis edged Los Angeles 6-5. The defeat trimmed the Dodgers' National League lead to one game over idle Cincinnati. Ted Savage's seventh inning double triggered the Cardinals' winning rally.

Ken Holtzman May Be Best Free Agent Draft Prospect

NEW YORK (AP) — Kenny Holtzman, a fourth round choice who was preceded by 60 selectees in baseball's free agent draft of high school and college players, could be the biggest bargain of them all.

Scouts back from a tour of the minor leagues, speak glowingly of Holtzman and regard the 20-year-old graduate of the University of Illinois as a tremendous big league pitching prospect.

Signed by the Chicago Cubs, Holtzman was recently promoted to Wenatchee of the Class A Northwest League after winning his first four starts at Treasure Valley in the Pioneer League. he youngster was beaten 2-1 in his first Wenatchee start but he struck out 11, walked only two and allowed four hits.

Joe Coleman Jr., Washington's No. 1 draft choice who was signed to a reported $65,000 bonus, had a rough initiation in the Carolina League. He lost his first four starts at Burlington, three by one-run margins. Despite his defeats, Coleman has pitched three complete games and allowed but eight earned runs in the four outings.

Hal Jeffcoat Jr., son of the former major league pitcher, lost a toughie in his debut with Magic Valley of the Pioneer League. A San Francisco Giant draftee, Jeffcoat Jr., gave up three hits to Treasure Valley, fanning 11, but lost 1-0.

Shortstop Wayne Garrett, drafted by the Milwaukee Braves, made a spectacular debut with West Palm Beach in the Florida Rookie League, rapping four hits in his first four times at bat. Wayne is the younger brother of Adrian and Jimmy Garrett, both Braves' farmhands.

Ken Boswell, a 19-year-old second baseman drafted by the New York Mets out of Sam Houston State College, is hitting around .400 at Auburn in the New York-Penn League. The youngster hit safely in his first 18 games as a professional.

Louis Howell, son of Dixie Howell, former National League catcher with Brooklyn and Pittsburgh, is making his father happy with his play at Johnson City, a Yankee farm club in the rookie Appalachian League. He recently hammered two home runs and batted in nine runs in one game. Like his father, young Howell is a catcher.

Norman Miller, a third baseman drafted by the Houston Astros, may have set an all-time minor league record recently when he drove in at least one run in 12 consecutive games at Amarillo in the Texas League.

Les Rohr, the Mets' No. 1 draft choice, is paying dividends on his reported $60,000 bonus. The 19-year-old left-hander from Billings, Mont., teamed up with another pitcher to hurl a shutout in his debut at Williamsport in the Eastern League. In his latest start, Rohr defeated Reading 4-3 and collaborated with reliever Bunky Warren to fan 18

Cowboys Prep For Pre-Season Opener

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys will spend the next 10 days polishing their play execution and timing in preparation for the pre-season opener Aug. 14 against the Los Angeles Rams.

The Cowboys began their final week of double drills Monday. Coach Tom Landry will cut the National Football League club's practices to one a day next week.

Prior to the workouts, NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle made his annual visit to the training camp and addressed the players.

Rookie flanker Obert Legan suffered a compound dislocation of the little finger on his right hand and will be out for a couple of days.

Coach Landry said he was pleased with the performances of veteran running back Don Perkins and rookie back A.D. Whitfield.

Three rookies were released Monday. They were halfbacks Andy Ireland of Utah and Norm Dockins of Southeast Missouri State and end Ron Duncan of Wittenberg.

Starting Teams Are Taking Shape For North-South Game

DALLAS (AP) — Starting teams for the all-star basketball and football games of the Texas Coaching School were taking shape today.

He will go with John Lerma of Rio rande City and Mike Simpson of Port Neces at ends, Bubba Atchison of Austin Travis and Leland Winston of Spring Branch Memorial at tackles, Pat O'Connell of San Antonio Jefferson and Ronnie Bell of Nederland at guards. Karv Rusk of Pasadena at center, Charley Riggs of Galena Park at quarterback, Chris Gilbert of Spring Branch and Gene Rogers of Victoria at halfbacks and Norman Bulaich of LaMarque at fullback.

North football coach Theo Miles of Dallas Woodrow Wilson wasn't ready to name his starting team but he had some worries over injuries and illness and couldn't settle on his first eleven. It appeared that Donnie Hulse of Newcastle, a back, would probably miss the game due to a virus. If Hulse can't play, Miles said he would move Denny Aldridge of Winters to flanker in his place.

Gene Mayes, the Garland guard, had a slight ankle sprain at Monday's workout and had to leave practice early but is not expected to miss the game.

South basketball coach Bobby Roberts of San Antonio Lee had his starting team ready. He will use Ken Spain of Houston and Lynn Phillips of Houston Jones at the posts and Rox Goodwine of San Marcos, Copie Perry of Rockdale and Sonny Benefield of Sweeny on the outside.

North basketball coach Jack Crawley of Odessa Permian said his practice Monday afternoon was the best he had had and he was feeling better about his prospects of winning the game Wednesday night. But his optimism was dampened somewhat by an injury to Gary Sibley, the all-stater from Hurst Bell. Sibley got a pulled groin muscle and is a doubtful participant.

The most action was in the South football camp where there was a 40-minute scrimmage, but end Larry Holder of Kyle continued to suffer from a sore throat that may keep him out of the game.

Two Lions Are Fined

BLOOMFIELD HILLS, Mich. (AP) — Fined and dressed down, Jo Don Looney and John Flynn of the Detroit Lions were under orders today to avoid any further escapades that would "embarrass" their team.

Coach Harry Gilmer laid down the law to Looney and Flynn Monday night, assessing what the club officially described as "stiff fines" on both following a post-curfew ruckus early Sunday in which police were called.

Teams Picked To Be The State Champs

DALLAS (AP) — Baytown's Ganders and Pharr-San Juan-Alamo's Bears are on the spot in Texas schoolboy football this season.

They were picked to win the state Class AAAA and AAA championships respectively by coaches interviewed at the Texas Coaching School.

Both boast veteran teams and in the case of Pharr-San Juan-Alamo it will be a repeat—the Bears were picked last year but failed to make it.

San Angelo was selected to move through the playoffs into the finals where it would oppose Baytown for the AAAA championship.

District champions were selected as follows:

Class AAAA—Ysleta, San Angelo, Amarillo Tascosa, Irving, Fort Worth Paschal, Dallas Woodrow Wilson, Mesquite, Texarkana, Houston Jones, Spring Branch Memorial, Port Arthur, Baytown, Waco Richfield, Corpus Christi Miller, San Antonio MacArthur and San Antonio Burbank.

Quarterback Is Problem For Graham

CHICAGO (AP) — Who will quarterback the All-Star show?

Coach Otto Graham has a problem choosing the starting signal caller for Friday night's College All-Star football game against the Cleveland Browns in Soldier Field.

Graham, who will direct the All-Stars for an eight straight year against the champions of the National Football League, usually makes his decision well in advance and then zealously guards the secret until the day of the game.

This time Graham has what is probably the finest quartet of quarterbacks ever to grace an All-Star roster. They are John Hurate of Notre Dame, Craig Morton of California, Roger Staubach of Navy and Bob Timberlake of Michigan.

Huarte won the Heisman Trophy last year after spending two seasons on the Irish bench. Coach Ara Parseghian gave him the ball and told him "you're my quarterback."

Morton, a 6-foot-4, 215-pounder, has passed his way to fame and very likely is the most accurate thrower in the All-Star camp. Nobody could dispute his selection.

Staubach won the Heisman Trophy in 1963 and is heralded as the greatest football player to step out of the Naval Academy.

Timberlake, who passed and ran Michigan to championships in the Big Ten and the Rose Bowl, has been a surprise. In the Big Ten he was rated a great runner and a fair passer.

"Not so," says Graham. "I always heard what a great runner this boy was. But Timberlake is a better passer than most people think. He throws the ball very well."

Coaching School Has Gained New Record

DALLAS (AP) — The Texas Coaching School flexed its muscles again Monday and came up with a new registration record, indicating that there may be 4,400 on the line before the big clinic winds up Thursday.

At the close of registration last night, 4,219 had signed up, exceeding predictions of L. W. McConachie, executive vice-president of the Texas High School Coaches Association, on the very first day.

McConachie had forecast 4,200 but now thinks it will reach 4,400.

The previous record was 4,115 set at Fort Worth last year. It was the eleventh straight year for an attendance record to be set.

Hayden Fry of Southern Methodist and Gene Stallings of Texas A&M started lectures on football, Abe Barnett and Dolph Regelsky of Dallas schools on baseball and Don Haskins of Texas Western and Ralph Tasker of Hobbs, N.M., High School on basketball.

Charley Thomas of Texas A&M will be heard on track Wednesday.

Big Viet Nam Operation Brings Miserable Results

EDITOR'S NOTE: U.S. forces carried out a big, five-day hunt over the weekend for a Viet Cong battalion in a jungle [illegible] southeast of Saigon. [illegible] Press correspondents and photographers covered all phases of the operation. In this dispatch, A.P. newsman [illegible] tells of the meager results and some of the reasons.

As AP News Analysis
By PETER ARNETT

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — In a war where the only real index of success is the number of enemy killed or captured, the results were dismally miserable.

Nearly 2,000 highly trained U.S. paratroopers beat the scrubby jungles around a hill outcropping southeast of Saigon for five days.

The largest concentration of artillery yet gathered in the Viet Nam war covered them. Armored vehicles roared near.

Thirty B52 jet bombers flew from Okinawa to attack a suspected Viet Cong headquarters.

Dozens of jet fighters flew support for the five days. A South Vietnamese ground force was available.

The object of all this activity was a Viet Cong battalion supposed to be in the area. It was never found.

At last count, fewer than 10 Viet Cong had been seen. Three of these were killed and three captured along with two rifles.

Not even a series of similar operations launched in the past by South Vietnamese military planners, and roundly criticized by U.S. advisers, had so little result.

This is the fourth such operation staged in the past two months by U.S. military planners in Viet Nam.

Many U.S. observers feel that the U.S. high command may be embarked on a strategy that brought failure to Vietnamese forces before and could bring failure to U.S. forces now.

If the basic strategy can be debated, the implementation as applied to the operation that ended Monday cannot.

There appeared to be a chain reaction of mistakes that made success virtually impossible even before the operation got under way fully.

Because of the elaborate command structure in South Viet Nam, operational plans had to be disclosed to a wide circle of people nearly a week before it began.

Viet Nam is notorious for the leakage of operational plans. Many details of this big para- [illegible] operation were reported [illegible] to the district chief of the operational area days earlier. This nullified the element of surprise.

Associated Press photographer Horst Faas drove down 40 miles of highway with the artillery pieces last Wednesday, 24 hours before the troops came in.

The spouts of the artillery were pointed right into the operational area. The message was probably not lost on Viet Cong agents.

If it was, they would have been enlightened by police who stopped traffic on the road hours before the convoy passed. Everyone knew the Americans were coming. Kids waved joyfully.

Local district troops, usually infiltrated by the Viet Cong, were securing the firing zone.

Later that day, as the artillery fired practice rounds to zero in on expected targets, thereby driving underground any Viet Cong who were there, eight C130 transports flew supplies into nearby Vung Tau.

Even a blind man would have known something big was to happen.

Eventually, on Thursday, it did.

One hundred helicopters began streaming into the battle area. They circled while awaiting the B52 bombers. These arrived, dropped their bombs, and departed.

Air Force jets arrived to soften up the troop landing zones.

Then the troops were at last on the ground. But they moved only 800 yards that day through the tangled jungle. There were two battalions on the ground from the U.S. Army's 173rd Airborne Brigade.

Meanwhile, the artillery and Air Force were at work, hammering a "free bombing zone" that included a Buddhist monastery. Twenty monks were injured.

Photographer Henri Huet spent four days with one U.S. paratrooper company. His unit did not move at night.

This correspondent flew in with the 1st Division battalion that secured the artillery pieces on Friday.

There was very little evidence that the Viet Cong had been there in months. Photographer Huet walked through the jungled area devastated by the B52's bombs.

The jungle was shattered, but there was no sign of anyone dead.

Two Associated Press men, writer Hugh Mulligan and photographer Sam Jones, found the main highway lined with Viet Cong flags when they drove to the operational command post Saturday.

A patrol was sent up the road to investigate. By then the paper flags had been removed mysteriously.

By Monday morning, when the helicopters came in to lift them out, the paratroopers were tired and depressed.

"If our company commanders have anything to do with it, this is the last operation of this kind we'll have," a young officer said.

However, the paratroopers themselves have little say in the matter. The U.S. high command in Saigon handles operational tactics.

Merger Of Units Unlikely

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon "hasn't a chance" of getting swift approval of its plan to merge Army Reserve units into the National Guard, a congressional source said today.

"The best they can hope for is a compromise of some kind," the source added.

Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus R. Vance obviously [illegible] for more than [illegible]

Vance told Rep. F. Edward Hebert's House Armed Services subcommittee Monday in making a strong appeal for the merger.

"We must get on with the job. Every month of no action translates directly into a month's postponement of the achievement of greater usable combat power in the central Reserve."

Vance said Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and the Army chief of staff, Gen. Harold I. Johnson, disagreed with the arguments against drastic realignment of the Reserve elements to cut out low priority units. Opponents have been arguing the change should be put off, at least, because of the Viet Nam crisis.

McNamara and Johnson reviewed the plan again in the light of White House manpower decisions and decided, Vance said, that the merger should "not only be implemented, but be implemented as soon as possible."

Vance disclosed plans to get started next month speeding the [illegible] training and strengthening the Reserve components," Vance said. [illegible] combat power of three Reserve [illegible] divisions, six [illegible] gades and some other units.

"This is being done so that if a call-up of Reserves should become necessary, we will have selected units which can respond even more quickly," he said.

While Vance pushed for approval of the merger, he told the subcommittee the Pentagon was temporarily withdrawing legislation to merge Air Reserve units into the Air National Guard.

"Since the proposal is confined to the peacetime management of the Air Reserve forces, its prompt implementation is [illegible] geared by the need for greater usable combat strength as is the case with the Army [illegible] training and strengthening the Reserve components," Vance said.

"I shall insist with the committee that we dispose of all Reserve plans together, not piecemeal," he said.

Visit To Japan

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally tentatively plans to visit Japan in October with a group of other governors. His office said Monday plans for a visit to South Viet Nam during the trip are uncertain.

Unions Oppose New Proposals

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)— Proposals to enlarge the state Senate and to double the two-year terms of the governor, other statewide elected officials and state representatives drew fire from the Texas AFL-CIO Monday.

Meeting in advance of the labor organization's opening convention session today, its executive board also directed sharp criticism at Gov. John Connally. The board's report called Connally a "spokesman for the anti-labor extremists."

Voters will pass on a state constitutional amendment to increase the size of the Senate from 31 to 39 members in a Sept. 7 election.

"They are trying to hoodwink the people by adding to their numbers and thereby keeping their dominance over affairs of the state on a basis of geography and other factors," asserted state AFL-CIO President Hank Brown.

A redistricting plan for a 31-member Senate will take effect in event the amendment is defeated. Brown did not express a labor position on this plan.

Executive board members likewise took stands against amendments to provide four-year terms for the governor, others elected to statewide office and state representatives. These proposals go before the voters Nov. 2.

About 1,500 delegates to the four-day convention will pass on the board's recommendations.

In addition to censure of Connally, the executive board voiced approval of moves by President Johnson.

"In the last 12 months it has become more and more apparent that Gov. John Connally is the spokesman for the anti-labor extremists in this state . . . that his few pro-labor planks have been just part of his con game," the board's report stated.

"Connally is against repeal of 14B (a section of the Taft-Hartley Act permitting so-called state right to work laws), against fair redistricting of the state, against medicare, suspicious of the war on poverty, against the present minimum wage of $1.25, against demonstrations in the Valley, against public accommodations. . .

"It has become more and more apparent that President Lyndon Johnson has used and intends to use the full power and prestige of his office to carry through the pledges made to the workers of this state and nation. What Connally opposes Johnson proudly endorses."

Neeley Rites Wednesday

Graveside rites will be held here at 5 p.m. Wednesday for Mrs. Maude Neeley, 73, former Snyder resident.

Mrs. Neeley died Monday in a hospital at Wichita Falls, where she had been at the home of a daughter. Mrs. Neeley's residence had been in San Angelo since 1933 and prior to that she lived in Snyder.

Surviving are a son, Wendell Neeley of Mesquite; a daughter, Mrs. Frances Schoefield of Wichita Falls, and five grandchildren.

The rites here will be in charge of Bell - Seale Funeral Home.

Tax Revenue Up

AUSTIN (AP)—Sales of cigarettes, liquor and wine brought $118,478 more into the state treasury in July than in the same month a year ago.

State Treasurer Jesse James said Monday that July stamp sales totaled $10,137,697, including $8,704,104 for cigarettes. This is $280,118 more than a year ago.

GOP's Show No Desire For Encounter With LBJ

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans have felt the sting of President Johnson's political lash and are showing no relish for an eyeball-to-eyeball encounter with him over Viet Nam.

There evidently was no inclination on their side to continue a dispute between Johnson and a top congressional Republican whom the President did not name, but who was widely guessed to be Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr. of Michigan, the House GOP leader.

The issue was whether the Republican, whoever he was, had leaked an account of a White House meeting with congressional leaders in such a way as to make it appear the Senate Democratic leader, Mike Mansfield of Montana, had influenced Johnson against an immediate callup of some reserves.

Ford denied mentioning the July 26 White House briefing on Viet Nam at a background chat with newsmen. He issued a let's-get-on-with-the-work statement in which, however, he did contend that the main opposition to Johnson's military decisions comes from congressional Democrats, especially in the Senate. And he said Communist leaders would be happy to see a name-calling contest develop.

The White House refused any countercomment.

Whether it was a case of mistaken identity remains unclear, but Johnson used one of the world's greatest forums, the presidential news conference, to blast a prominent Republican Sunday.

The President charged this Republican with leaking "perhaps malicious" reports.

Because the President said "an inexperienced man, or a new one" once in a while might break confidence after a White House briefing, several newspapers concluded he was pointing at Ford, who became House Republican leader this year.

Ford told a new conference Monday he wasn't going to be "baited into a verbal donnybrook" with the President. He said that to do so "would play into the hands of Hanoi, Peiping and Moscow."

Sen. Karl Mundt, R-S.D., called Johnson's statement a "rather intemperate attack," but immediately added he thought a "breakdown in communications somewhere between the White House and Jerry Ford's office" was responsible.

In an ABC radio news interview, Mundt went on to say the affair emphasizes that Republicans should be consulted more before plans for Viet Nam are made, "but I don't think that either Jerry Ford or Lyndon Johnson wear hairshirts to the point where one particular disenchanting experience is going to create a permanent schism between them."

Soviet Miss Still Not Whistlebait

By WILL GRIMSLEY

KIEV, Soviet Union (AP) — The Russians may throw a parade of sputniks into orbit and send a cosmonaut strolling through space, but they're a long way from being a threat in the Miss Universe sweepstakes, say a group of American athletes.

In Yankee jargon, the average Soviet miss is not yet whistlebait.

That's the considered verdict of a team of U.S. experts — red-blooded athletes and all paid-up members of the Girl Watching Society of America.

"They're doing much more with their hair now and they're wearing more colorful clothes, but they're not like the girls back home," said Jim Grelle of Portland, Ore., a miler who has made four visits to the Soviet Union with U.S. track and field teams.

"I think it's makeup, too — more cosmetics," added a 260-pound shotputter from Los Angeles, John McGrath.

"Most of them still look like weightlifters," said shotputter Randy Matson of Pampa, Tex., "but they're better than they were in 1963."

The critics are members of the U.S. track and field team which met the Soviet Union here over the weekend. They have spent much of their preliminary time seeing the sight — including feminine talent on the boulevard.

The smartest and best-looking of the Russian girls still appear less colorful than the paraders of Fifth Avenue and the Champs Elysees.

Almost all of them are plump, even husky. Their dresses hang loosely and lack line. Few wear stockings. High heels are a rarity. Instead the girls walk around in squeaky open-toed sandals.

But they definitely are improving.

Brigitte Bardo and contraband American glamour magazines have begun to have an impact. There is a variety of hairdoes — locks hanging loosely over the shoulders, bouffant, over the head and pony tails.

There's still an absence of chic, stylish dresses, but that's understandable.

An ordinary print cress may cost around $20 to $30, in a country where the average worker's wage is $75 a month.

Beauty salons and hairdressing parlors are doing a booming business. It's possible to buy lipstick, rouge and perfume in small booths on the street — like ice cream cones.

This stuff a few years ago was regarded as bourgeoise, and taboo.

New Road Plan Sought

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Highway Commission has directed its state engineer to submit an alternate proposal for relocating a section of U.S. 281 near Edinburg.

Under the alternate plan, two routes will be proposed to extend south from a point about 2 miles north of Edinburg to connections with the U.S. 83 Expressway.

One route would be on the east side of the city, the other on the west side of Edinburg along or near Jackson Road. Both would be four-lane divided highways.

The Highway Department originally recommended one multi-laned highway with controlled access along the east side to a connection with U.S. 281 a mile south of Edinburg.

Negro Churches Burn

SLIDELL, La. (AP) — Two rural Negro churches burned to the ground in predawn fires believed set by nightriders.

Both churches were about five miles outside of Slidell, which is northeast of New Orleans across from Lake Pontchartrain.

Other Negro churches were burned earlier this year in night-rider fires in the Louisiana Delta.

Junior Editors Quiz on THE OLD WEST

QUESTION: Who owned the "open range?"

* * *

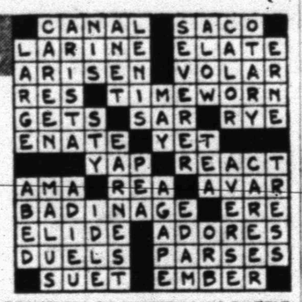

ANSWER: "Home, home on the range, where the deer and the antelope play. . ." The words of the famous song give the feeling of the enormous open areas of western cattle-grazing land, and so does our artist's cowboy picture. Cattle ranching began in Texas. When American settlers came, they found herds of wild Long horn cattle, descended from ancestors brought by the early Spantards. The early ranchers turned their stock loose to graze on land owned by the government, which became called the "open range." After the Civil War came the days of the great cattle drives, when ranchers found it profitable to drive herds across the Chisholm Trail or the Western Trail to railroad shipping centers in Kansas and Missouri. But several factors brought an end to the open range, during the late 1800's. One was the Homesteaders act of 1862, giving every head of a family a right to 160 acres of public land if he lived on it for 5 years and improved it. Another was the invention of barbed wire in 1873, which enabled small farmers to fence in their farms and keep the cattle out (lower picture). The ranchers tried to stop the small farmers from fencing, but failed. They were forced to buy and fence in large ranches of their own.

* * *

FOR YOU TO DO: Learn the rest of the words, and the melody, to "Home on the Range." Even if the open range is gone, the bigness and fascination of the west still remains. 8-3

Criminal Is Just Like Bad Penny

By BEN THOMAS

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Carlos Marcello is the underworld's equivalent of a man without a country.

The federal government has tried to kick him out of the country since 1950. The immigration service succeeded once, but he was back in Louisiana before you could bat an eye.

Finding a place to send him has posed a big problem for the government.

The Justice Department has tried unsuccessfully to send the 55-year-old Marcello to jail. Another attempt is now under way.

Marcello's trial on jury tampering charges went into its second day today before U.S. District Judge Herbert W. Christenberry with efforts to select a jury. Marcello is accused of trying to fix the jury which set him free on fraud charges in 1963.

Marcello, who likes bright suits and dark glasses, claims he's a simple businessman.

The late Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., branded Marcello "one of the worst criminals in the country" when he held his rackets hearings in the early 1950s.

It was established that Marcello was born Calogero Mercari in Tunis, North Africa, of Sicilian parents and entered the United States in October 1940. He had never become a naturalized citizen.

Marcello's father, Joseph, entered the shrimping business in South Louisiana.

In 1960, a birth certificate for Marcello popped up during an obscure Guatemalan visit. A year later, immigration agents nabbed Marcello and whisked him off to Guatemala. He was back in the New Orleans area shortly.

Before that, the government tried to send him to France, Italy, Canada, Mexico or any place that would have him. Italy accepted once, then changed its mind, with the Italian consulate here citing "the political situation."

Marcello once said he definitely didn't want to go to Italy.

"I ain't never been there," he said. "And I don't want to go there. I wish they would deport me to Grand Isle where I could do some fishing."

Grand Isle is on the Louisiana coast south of New Orleans.

Marcello was tried in federal court here two years ago on charges of fraud in connection with the Guatemalan birth certificate. He was acquitted Nov. 22, 1963.

During World War II, Marcello and his brother, Anthony, by their own admission and police records, operated slot machines, juke boxes, horserace wires and gambling casinos in Louisiana.

Carlos Marcello served 4 years of a 9-14 year sentence for assault and armed robbery in connection with a bank holdup in 1929. In 1938, he was sentenced to a year and a day in a federal prison on narcotics charges.

Panelists Are Named

AUSTIN (AP)— Five citizens representing various geographical areas of Texas were named Monday to an interim committee studying problems of inland salt pollution of underground and surface water.

The committee will focus on areas away from the coast and will report to the 60th Legislature. House Speaker Ben Barnes made the appointments and said he will name five legislators to the group later.

He chose former U.S. Rep. Joe Kilgore, once of McAllen and now of Austin; former Texas Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd, an Odessa lawyer; Runnels County Judge W. H. Rampy, a former legislator; Wichita Falls businessman Charles McGaha and former Smith County Judge Harry Loftis of Tyler.

Injunction Continues On Railroad Strike

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — U. S. Dist. Judge Joe Sheehy continued Monday a temporary order prohibiting a Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers strike against the Cotton Belt Railroad.

He postponed until Sept. 13 a hearing on a permanent injunction to ban the strike. Sheehy said a crowded court docket forced the delay.

He issued the temporary restraining order July 23 as enginemen prepared to post pickets.

Businessmen Unsure About War's Effect On Market

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Is Viet Nam a boost to business or a threat?

The stock market first appraised the outlook for increasing U.S. involvement as a threat. And then it decided the moderate, if steady, stepping up of U.S. military effort would improve prospects for some industries while putting few blocks in the paths of others.

So stock prices, which had slumped early last week during the period of rumors, went up again strongly when President Johnson said a state of emergency wasn't called for at this time.

Many businessmen feel that the real answer to how a larger war in Viet Nam will affect the economy won't come until late this year. But for the moment they see little reason to change their forecasts of continuing, if moderating, gains in general activity.

Increased military spending should in time aid the prospects for steel and other metals, for makers of military hardware from planes to bombs, for the railroads who will be carrying raw materials to the factories and military gear to camps or piers.

But stepping up military demands, at least within the bounds now foreseen, should drain little from the rest of the economy.

Even if the cost of the Viet Nam war rises by $10 billion or $14 billion a year, as some congressional leaders forecast, the economy can take it in stride without skimping civilian production.

A look at July performance and August outlook helps explain business confidence.

Such leveling off of activity as July produced scarcely merits the designation of a summer slump.

Example: Steel production slipped from its record highs set in the spring. But this July was the best July the industry had ever had. Shipments through August seem likely to stay at around the July level.

It's September that the industry is watching now — and mainly because of the uncertainty as to contract negotiations under the gun of a Sept. 1 strike deadline.

With both government and business spending rising, this leaves as the question mark the biggest factor of all: consumer spending.

Since consumers have high incomes and a record store of savings — as well as personal debts — whether they spend as much as at present, or increase their outlays, depends on public confidence.

That's a fragile thing and the hardest of all to forecast. At the moment consumer confidence seems holding high. Americans are worried about Viet Nam, but so far show no signs of seeing it as a threat to the general prosperity at home.

Firemen Go To School

Snyder Fire Chief Alfred Kohl and three other members of the fire department have returned from College Station where they attended a week's short course for fire marshals and firemen at Texas A&M University.

Attendance of the local group for such courses qualifies Snyder for a five per cent reduction in its key fire insurance rate.

Attending along with Kohl were Bill McCright, Mickey Nunnally and W. J. (Butch) Martin.

Crude Production Unchanged In Texas

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—U.S. production of crude oil and lease condensate dropped 20,900 barrels a day last week to an average of 7,685,000, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Oklahoma production declined 15,100 barrels to 549,400 barrels daily for the week ending July 31. Kansas produced an average of 286,100 barrels, off 4,000 daily, and California lost 2,300 barrels daily for an average of 864,200.

Production was unchanged in Louisiana at 1,604,000 barrels, New Mexico at 331,100 and Texas at 2,631,000.

Clovis Bank Is Robbed

TEXICO, N.M. (AP)— Texas and New Mexico officers pressed a search today for a stocky young man who robbed the Texico branch of the Citizens Bank of Clovis, N.M., of $5,300 Monday.

Texico is near the Texas-New Mexico state line and about 9 miles east of Clovis.

Bill Christian, manager of the branch, said the man was in the bank earlier getting change.

When the man returned, Christian said, he and Kay Camradit, 34, a teller, were eating lunch.

"You must be kidding," Christian told the bandit when he pulled a .22 pistol and demanded money.

"I'm not kidding—I want your money now," the robber replied.

Christian and Miss Camradit were locked in the vault after they filled a paper bag full of money. They freed themselves with an inside door release.

Nobody saw in which direction the robber fled.

Booth, 3103 Hill Avenue, has completed eight weeks of basic military training at the Women's Army Corps Center, Fort McClellan, Ala. During the training, Pvt. Johnson received instruction in Army history and traditions, administrative procedures and military justice. She graduated from Snyder High Schoc! in 1963.

July Sets Record For Dry Heat

By The Associated Press

Drought-like conditions in Texas intensified during July as hot, dry weather continued to deplete soil moisture.

Rainfall totals generally averaged 1 to 3 inches below normal for the month, but a few South Plains counties had abnormal rains.

It was the driest July in 31 years for Fort Worth, where only .09 inch of rain fell. For El Paso, with only .17 inch fall, it was the driest July in 30 years.

Midland and Wichita Falls each recorded its smallest amount of rainfall for any July since 1954, and at Port Arthur rainfall was subnormal for a fifth straight month.

What rain there was hit the state near the middle and end of July. It was mostly light and scattered, ineffective in checking soil moisture losses.

Temperatures averaged 1 to 2 degrees above normal except in the Panhandle and lower coast, where they were about normal. Wichita Falls sweltered through 22 straight days with temperatures of 100 or more.

A cold front that slipped through the state July 29-30 dropped temperatures to record lows in places. Abilene and Midland gauged 64-degree minimums July 30.

July precipitation figures departure from normal for the month, cumulative precipitation for the first seven months of the year, and cumulative departure from normal through July 31, respectively:

Abilene 1.69, minus 1.59, 15.41, plus .0.85.

SIFTING SAND ON GULF COAST—Melinda Daurice Merritt (center), a senior at Snyder High School, helps an instructor and another student to examine a sieve full of sand on the Mississippi Gulf Coast. Miss Merritt is one of 30 high school students participating in a six-week program of studies conducted by Louisana State University in Ocean Springs, Miss.

Snyderite Is In Science Project

OCEAN SPRINGS, Miss. — Melinda Daurice Merritt of Snyder, who will be a senior next year, is one of 30 high school students and six teachers from around the country who are studying marine life on the Gulf Coast this summer in a Louisiana State University program.

The six-week session at the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory here is supported by a $16,735 grant from the National Science Foundation.

The high school students are divided into five - member teams, each directed by one of the high school teachers.

A staff of four persons, headed by Dr. Harry Bennett, professor of zoology at LSU, conducts a program of lectures, laboratory exercises, field trips, seminars and visits to local industrial plants that utilize marine resources.

"The program is designed to provide practical scientific experience for academically talented secondary school students," Dr. Bennett commented.

"The laboratory, situated in the middle of the northern Gulf Coast, is ideally suited for the students to get a complete picture of marine research and industry," Dr. Bennett said.

"It is near the Louisiana Marsh which is the world's largest natural oyster ground and near the greatest shrimp fishery in the world. All varieties of fauna and flora of the northern Gulf are available at the laboratory or nearby.

The first two weeks of the summer session are being devoted to a study of the geology of the Mississippi Sound and adjacent regions, including the Mississippi River Delta and of physical oceanography. Studies of the relation between organisms and this Gulf Coast environment will occupy the third week.

The classification of marine organisms will receive the attention of the students during the fourth and fifth weeks. The final week will be spent in resume and in the completon of museum collections.

Once each week an all-day off shore field trip is conducted and field trips requiring less time are conducted almost daily.

The program began July 12 and will end August 20.

Committee For Roundup Is Named

Over 100 cattlemen have been named to the Cattlemen's Roundup Committee for Crippled Children, A. C. Morris of Abilene, Roundup chairman, has announced.

The Roundup, founded in 1961 by Coke County Rancher Conda Wylie, is one of the main financial sponsors of the West Texas Rehabilitation Center at Abilene. Each year since the Roundup was founded Southwestern ranches have donated livestock for sale, with the proceeds going to the center. It provides over one-third of the funds needed by the center each year.

Snyder ranchers named to the committee are Scott Casey, Weldon Johnson, R. H. Odom Jr. and Harrie Winston.

The West Texas Rehabilitation Center serves approximately 1,474 patients, with over 200 patients receiving daily treatment. It is a private, non-profit organization dedicated to the rehabilitation of the handicapped. The center has never received any federal or state aid.

Posts Bond For 37 Demonstrators

By AL LANIER

ALLENDALE, S.C. (AP) — A federal government representative posted bond today for 37 civil rights demonstrators who were arrested in the Allendale [illegible] while protesting [illegible] Negroes.

The Rev. C. A. Webster Jr., a baptist minister who works with [illegible] program, initialed blanket bonds of $200 each for 36 demonstrators and bonds totaling $700 for one white youth arrested Monday following a scuffle with state troopers.

Webster told newsmen this was a relatively new procedure for the federal government.

About 50 state troopers patrolled Allendale and Gov. Robert McNair said order would be preserved in South Carolina.

Chief J.P. Strom of the State Law Enforcement Division said an additional 50 troopers were ordered to Allendale Monday night as a preventive measure.

In Columbia U.S. Dist. Atty. Terrell Glenn said FBI agents were in Allendale investigating complaints by civil rights workers that voter registrars deliberately slowed the process while Negroes waited to register.

Gov. McNair, who was reared [illegible] said, "No one will be allowed unlawfully to demonstrate or disrupt activities in any [illegible] in this state."

Those jailed Monday included a Roman Catholic priest and a baptist minister who said they were chaplains at Wayne State University in Detroit, Mich.

Most of those jailed said they represented the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference in a drive to register Negroes during the only day this month the voter registration books were to be opened.

Mrs. S. Wilson, chairman of the board of voter registrars, said 59 Negroes were registered Monday and she had no authority to reopen the books. South Carolina law requires that registration books be open on the first Monday in each month in nonelection years.

The 37 arrested were charged with disorderly conduct.

Says Title Lost Because She's Negro

By TERRI SHAW

NEW YORK (AP) — Gloria Joff charges her title as Miss New York State in the Miss Universe contest was taken away because she is a Negro. But the contest director says she broke her contract and race was not a factor.

The argument broke out Monday night and about the only thing the disputants agreed on is that there will be no Miss New York State for this year.

Miss Jon, 24, who lives in Manhattan, won the state contest May 20. She was the first Negro to win the title.

She was among 15 finalists in the Miss USA competition to pick a winner for the Miss Universe title last month at Miami Beach.

Ted Marshall, contest director who owns the New York franchise in the Miss U.S.A. and Miss Universe contests, said "there's nothing racial here at all." He confirmed the title had been taken from Miss Jon, but said "it's strictly contractual."

In a letter to the 5-foot-5 beauty, he told her:

"You have not fulfilled, nor seemed to have the spirit to fulfill the obligations you took on when you personally signed the official entry form of Miss Universe and the official contract of the New York State Beauty Pageant."

Marshall said Miss Jon had failed to show up for personal appearances he had arranged. He also said she violated her contract by appearing in advertisements for a hair preparation.

In a news conference Monday night in the offices of her attorney, Alfred J. Hemlock, Miss Jon said she had publicized the hair product, but she did not use the title "Miss New York State" in her appearances.

"She never refused to appear anywhere," Hemlock said.

Miss Jon, a former Playboy Club "bunny" who weighs 113 pounds with measurements of 36-22-35, claimed Marshall told her he was surprised that a Negro girl had won the contest.

"I feel that under the circumstances Mr. Marshall had led me to believe he's prejudiced against me for some reason. I don't know why," Miss Jon said. "It has thrown all my plans out of whack."

Trio Ready To Dive For Treasure

LEWES, Del. (AP) — Three men are preparing to probe the murky depths of Delaware Bay for a trove of Spanish gold and silver.

They hope to find captured booty valued at more than $8 million that was aboard the British sloop of war De Braak when it sank in a gale off Lewes, Del., in May 1798.

The searchers, Louis De Cerchio, Mario S. Busa, and Dr. William T. De Feo, a dentist, all of Philadelphia, estimate they have spent $80,000 locating the sunken ship and preparing for the recovery operation. The State of Delaware granted their company a three-year exclusive salvage permit and Monday the U.S. Navy also approved the operation.

According to records, the De Braak was carrying 800 pounds of gold, silver valued at $2.5 million and 270 tons of copper seized from two Spanish galleons. When she sank, legend says, 34 crewmen and more than 100 Spanish prisoners drowned. Four of the prisoners reportedly floated ashore aboard a chest.

Through the years numerous expeditions to recover the treasure have failed.

Drillers Control Wild Gas Well

CANTON, Okla. (AP) — Drillers brought a blown-out gas well near here back under control Monday afternoon. Gas and distillate had spewed high above its 135-foot derrick for 29 hours.

Employes of the Hall-Jones Co. of Oklahoma City, General Drilling Co. and the Halliburton Co. worked carefully to avoid a fire at the well, the No. 1 Scott unit 5 miles east of Canton.

Crewmen wore hard hats and slickers as they moved into the shower of distillate to close the blowout value by hand. Other drillers pumped heavy drilling mud down the well under high pressure.

Progress Reported At Strategy Meet

HONOLULU (AP) — Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said today a strategy conference of military leaders here had settled some details involved in deploying 50,000 more American troops in South Viet Nam.

"We were able to settle some of the details of implementing the President's decision and I feel we are on a sound basis for carrying out the President's decision," Wheeler told a news conference after the eight-hour conference.

At a planeside interview, before returning to Washington, D.C., Wheeler would not comment on the details.

"I feel that if I went into that, I'd be talking about military plans. It's always unwise to tell the enemy what you're planning to do," he said.

In the talks, working out details of the build-up announced last Wednesday by the President, also were Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in South Viet Nam; Adm. U.S. Grant Sharp, Pacific military commander in chief, and a score of other military leaders from Washington, Pearl Harbor and Saigon.

Wheeler said the United States had several alternatives in gaining the troops necessary for the build-up.

"After all," he said, "the military power of the United States is quite ample. We have more than one way of doing this. It is a question of balancing requirements with capabilities and deciding what's best under the circumstances at this time."

Questioned about plans in Washington affecting National Guard units, General Wheeler said, "I'm sure this is a matter the Army is attempting to sort out right now." He declined to name units that could be called, but added, "However, I would say they are well located."

Elgin Boy Drowns

ELGIN, Tex. (AP) — Bobby McCright, 16, was thrown out and drowned Monday when he lost control of a boat on a soil conservation lake north of here.
