4-H Awards Banquet Monday

Set District FFA Contest Meet Here

For the second straight year, the Hereford High School vocational agriculture department and Future Farmers of America Club will host the Amarillo District FFA Leadership Contests Tuesday.

Over 300 agricultural students from 18 area towns will enter the six contest events, lasting throughout the day Tuesday.

Jess Robinson, FFA advisor at Hereford High, stated that Hereford would enter teams in all six divisions of the contest, along with other Panhandle towns including Amarillo, Pampa, and Borger, as well as many smaller towns.

Winners of the district contest Tuesday will advance to Regional contest at Plainview Nov. 18, and eventually to the state Leadership contest in Huntsville.

Contests will include junior and senior chapter conducting, junior and senior farm skills, farm radio, and the FFA quiz. Judges will come from throughout the area, with the only local judges coming from radio station KPAN in the farm radio contest.

Teams from the Hereford chapter, under the direction of Wyatt Harmon and Jess Robinson, will compete in all divisions. Last year, the senior chapter conducting team from Hereford won the state championship.

Consisting of a demonstration of parliamentary procedure, the chapter conducting event is divided into two divisions. The junior team is composed of boys in their first year of vocational agriculture, while juniors and seniors compose the senior team.

In the farm skills demonstration contest, each team demonstrates a particular farm skill, such as calf dehorning. The radio contest consists of a fake radio broadcast concerning agriculture, while the FFA quiz is a test on the Future Farmers manual.

Contests will get underway at 9 a.m. Tuesday, and will last until late Tuesday afternoon. Over 300 agricultural students are expected to participate in the annual event.

Around Town

It was a long, cold night for Hereford football players and fans, alike. Neither could seem to get warm. We were disappointed, of course, with the outcome of the game but haven't lost any of our pride in the team. They were simply out-manned and, for the first time this season, out-hit. The thin 34 from Hereford has had a good year, even a great one considering the lack of depth and experience, and we look for them to bounce back strong Friday night in their final game.

A great many fans from Hereford were at the game. A few others weren't able to get there, but were still interested. Henry Aycock called from Albuquerque, N. M., Saturday morning to find out the score.

AN ICY, WONDER-LIKE LAND was created Thursday as Hereford and Deaf Smith County received their first snow of the winter. The wind whipped snow toward a blast of frigid, arctic air which pushed across the Panhandle late Thursday afternoon. Temperature in Hereford dropped from a pleasant 62-degree reading to a low of 20. As temperatures climbed back into the 50's here Friday, most of the snow melted. Little damage was reported to crops remaining in the fields. (Staff Photo by Gardner Collins)

Gold Stars Cap County Honors

More than 90 Deaf Smith County 4-H Club members will reach the highlight of the club year as awards are presented during the annual 4-H Achievement Banquet here Monday night. Over 300 4-H'ers and their parents will attend the banquet at the high school cafeteria. Highlight of the evening's program will come

Report Meeting For United Fund Slated Monday

A report meeting for all division chairmen of the Deaf Smith County United Fund has been called for 2 p.m. Monday.

Campaign chairman Henry Sears asked for the meeting, which will be held in the directors' room of the First National Bank.

Also on hand will be two representatives of each of the eight member agencies of the county United Fund.

Sears said that Monday's meeting would be concerned with the amount collected during the current drive and an estimate of what action might be needed to conclude the effort.

UF president J. W. Robinson Jr. announced that about $19,250 had been collected by Friday afternoon with many workers still to make final reports.

Mark Woodall, UF treasurer, said that he expected more than $21,000 would have been turned in by the time of Monday's meeting.

Goal for the drive this year is $26,440, which will provide operating expenses for eight local agencies that participate in the United Fund.

as awards in 28 divisions of 4-H club work are presented following the banquet.

Climaxing the evening, the treasured "Gold Star" award will be presented to the outstanding 4-H boy and girl. Chosen on the basis of leadership, citizenship, and achievement, the two 4-H'ers must have been active club members for at least three years. "To Make The Best Better," the 4-H club slogan, is exemplified in the achievements represented by the awards to be presented Monday night.

Master of Ceremonies for the evening will be Sharon Bezner, member of the Ford Girls' 4-H club. In charge of the program are Miss Loreta Fowler, girls 4-H club advisor within the county, and J. W. (Lefty) Thomas, boys club leader.

Chairman of the program committee is Mrs. Melvin Sumner, with Mrs. H. H. Miller and the county advisors also serving on the committee.

Each family attending the banquet is asked to bring a basket supper consisting of a meat dish, vegetable or salad, and a dessert to the banquet.

Awards will be presented to blue-ribbon winners in the 4-H Share the Fun Contest, the county contests, bake show and dress revue winners, and to outstanding record project book entries.

National and state organizations sponsor the state awards which will be presented, while the First National Bank, the Hereford State Bank, and the Hereford Credit Union sponsor county awards.

State awards may be won in only one division by each 4-H'er, while county awards may be claimed in as many fields as achievements allow. Although requirements are the same, outstanding 4-H'ers may thus be presented more than one award in the various programs.

Almost 200 medals will be presented in the 28 achievement divisions Monday night. Awards to be presented will be divided into the following categories: achievement, agriculture, beautification of home and grounds; Beef, clothing, dairy foods, dog care and training, dress revue, electricity, field crops, foods and nutrition, garden, home economics, home improvement, leadership, news-writing, public speaking, recreation, safety, swine, tractor, vegetable preparation and (Continued on page 3)

First Snow Hits With Frigid Blast

The first snow of the winter hit Hereford Thursday evening as a frigid blast or arctic air swept across the Texas Panhandle dropping temperatures from the high 50's to a low reading of 20 degrees here.

Rain, hail, sleet and snow were triggered by the fast-moving cold blast in the area Thursday afternoon and evening. As the front passed Hereford, rain moved into the area. Later, the rain turned to sleet and snow.

Heavy snow, whipped by strong north winds, began falling here about 5:30 p.m. and continued until 10 p.m. Accumulations ranged up to an inch and a half in the city. Most of it melted as it hit the ground.

The rain, snow and freezing temperatures followed on the heels of rainy weather which plagued farmers most of the week. Harvesting operations throughout the county are at a standstill waiting for drying conditions.

Sunshine in the area Friday sent temperatures soaring up into the high 40's with a high of 50 degrees reported here. Most of the snow on the ground melted during the day.

Below freezing temperatures were reported here again Friday night as the low dropped to 20 degrees.

Moisture for the month of November totaled 1.28 inches as rain, fog and drizzle continued through to Wednesday night. Showers moved across the county as the front approached. Moisture from the rainfall and snow totaled .73 of an inch.

As the worst weather so far this season hit, approximately 40 per cent of the grain sorghum and two other major crops — cotton and sugar beets — was still in the fields. "I don't believe there was any damage done to milo," said one grain elevator operator here. "The freeze will kill the stalk and allow all milo to mature. This will normally take from four days to a week if we have good weather."

The milo harvest was described by grain elevator operators last week as being from 30 to 80 per cent complete. With the good weather during the fall, grain was ripening slowly, work at elevators was steady and long lines of waiting grain trucks at elevators had not formed.

Deaf Smith County cotton, described as one of the best crops in years, suffered some damage from the wet, cold weather.

Some cotton will be damaged, said a gin operator, but with good weather, the damage probably will not show up.

Dry, windy weather is needed to dry out cotton, he continued.

Dodson Renamed To Red River Valley Authority

Virgil Dodson of Hereford was notified Friday that he has been re-appointed to the board of the Red River Valley Authority for a six-year term.

Dodson currently is completing a two-year term on the board, having been named to the Authority when it was formed.

The Red River Authority was formed to help clear up pollution and arrange for dams along the Red River and its basin, which includes Deaf Smith County and Tierra Blanca Creek.

Its authority extended through North Texas and part of the Panhandle and into the southwestern part of Oklahoma.

Dodson reported that areas of work extend throughout the 38,291 square miles included within the Authority. Since its formation, the Authority has succeeded in having more than 4,000 oil well pits filled to avoid pollution from salt water of the Red River.

But there is a lot more work yet to do, Dodson said, since there are about 40,000 oil well pits in the Authority's area and most of them are polluted.

He also said that he believed more damage was done to the open soils by the rain than the snow. But, he stated, "I can't believe it will be hurt very much."

According to gin operators, cotton in this area needed a hard freeze. Farmers have begun defoliation to kill the

Herd Stamped By Rugged Dumas Demons Friday, 38-6

Dumas scored two first-period touchdowns after grabbing fumbles and then steamrolled to an easy 38-6 victory Friday night at Demon Stadium.

The weather was cold and so was Hereford as it suffered its second defeat of the year and its first in District 1-AAA. Dumas now has two victories and is an odds-on favorite to pick up all the marbles, while Hereford needs to win its final outing for the runner-up spot in the conference.

Big Mike Boxwell lived up to his rating, and then some, as he ran, passed and engineered the Demons to their sixth win of the year, compared with two early losses. Boxwell scored three touchdowns and ran for two point-after tries while his teammates held the usually-strong Hereford offense to a mere pittance.

Hereford took the opening kick-off and ripped off a first down as Mack Cansler got two and Arnold Powell slammed for ten. But Cansler fumbled on the next play and Dennis Gearhart recovered for Dumas.

Dale Vick got five and Scotty Baldwin hit for nine. Boxwell circled right end for 11 and Baldwin scampered for 12. Baldwin then hit left tackle for the final two yards with 8:27 left in the first period. Boxwell went around right end for two and Dumas had an 8-0 lead.

Cansler and Powell again gave Hereford a first down, but a penalty cost them five. Three plays later Joe Mack Hale was hit trying to pass and fumbled with Kelly Baker recovering for the Demons on Hereford's 35.

Baldwin and Boxwell carried for 11 and John Whiteside found daylight for 17. Boxwell went the final seven around left end but was short on the run (Continued on page 3)

HIT HARD BY THE DEMON SECONDARY, the Herd's Mack Cansler (22) goes down after a 7-yard gain in first quarter action at Dumas Friday night. Hereford lost the heart-breaker to Dumas 38-6 in the third district battle for the Whitefaces. A top contender for the state AAA crown, Dumas kept the Herd bottled up throughout the game. On bottom of the dogpile is full-back Arnold Powell (40), while Demons Mike Boxwell (10), Kelly Baker (80), and Joe Casas (40) were in on aid on the tackle. (Staff Photo)

Credit Union Plans Branch For Labor Camp Residents

Hereford Texas Federal Credit Union services will be extended to the Labor Camp on a limited basis with the opening of an office there in the near future, it was announced jointly Friday by Mrs. Dyalitha Benson, manager, and R. L. Thompson, president.

The step was approved Wednesday at the regular board meeting of the credit union here. A meeting of the Labor Camp committee the following day also approved the extension service.

Ultimate aim of the program, said Mrs. Benson, is to teach the Latin-Americans how to manage their own finances and to save.

Eventual goal of the program, she continued, is to set up a separate credit union at the camp with the Latin Americans taking over its operation in the future.

Plans are being made now to open an office in the camp. Classes will be held on thrift and basic finance with the opening of the savings service.

Many Latin Americans are already members of the credit union, said Mrs. Benson, but only a few Labor Camp residents find their way to a savings institution.

If all are to learn how to save and manage financial affairs, she explained, saving must be taken to the camp as other programs have.

Programs planned for the evening training sessions will include films on savings in Spanish. However, all lectures will be given in English.

A counseling service will also be a part of the program offered at the camp.

Preliminary plans now call for the office to be open only one afternoon a week. No date has been set for the opening yet.

Royal Rose, Chapter I, Unusual Romance Unfolds Future Homemakers Meet As Girls Study Futures

The Royal Rose and Chapter 1 chapters of the Future Homemakers of America met Monday evening, Oct. 23, in the high school auditorium.

A panel discussion on city government was given by the city officials. On the panel were Mayor Ray Cowser, City Manager Dudley Bayne and city commissioners, Troy Moore and Bill Davis. Mrs. Jim Neill served as moderator. The panel answered questions the girls had asked about city government. Some of the topics discussed were the three forms of city government; the type of government that Hereford has; when it was formed; how tax money is used; what the city commission is and what its duties are; the duties of the city manager; zoning laws, and many other items of interest. The questions covered a great area and the girls learned much about city government and what they can do to participate in city government.

After the panel discussion, a business meeting was held. Chairmen for the committees for Daddy Date Night were announced. They are Linda Jones, decoration; Dieder Thomas, setting up tables; Terry Anderson, food; Janey Noland, clean-up; and Judy Rowland, invitations. Daddy Date Night will be Nov. 17 at 7:30 p.m. at the Community Center.

The FHA girls are selling cans of Pecan Party Cakes this year to raise money for the exchange student program, one of the main projects of the FHA.

'Freedom To Know' Topic At United Church Women Meet
The United Church Women of Hereford met Friday afternoon, 3 p.m., Nov. 3, in Ward Hall of the First Methodist Church for the annual World Community Day. Mrs. Joel Treadwell spoke to the group on "Freedom To Know."

The United Church Women's program for the year is to promote peace, education and action. The women are making an effort to help women of the Latin American countries to help themselves and their children. School supplies were brought to the meeting to be sent to Chile. Adult education is stressed in the program as the first effort, and then the recipients of this adult education then presenting their newly learned knowledge to their children and the children of their neighbors.

Latin America has before it a colossal education undertaking, if it is to meet the needs of this new period of its history. The task includes providing opportunities for forty-four million illiterates and about fifteen million children of school age not in school. Primary schools are lacking, secondary education is insufficient and out-of-school education for adults is lacking in the areas where there is the greatest need. It is this need which the United Church Women helped meet on World Community Day.

West Germany has spent more than $500 million during the last 10 years on road improvements and new road construction.

NOTE GOT HOME
PRATT, Kan. (AP) — May be one teacher has solved the problem of little Johnny and Mary losing notes to parents on the way home from school.

One girl had stamped on the back of her hand, "PTA Tonight."

from an ordinary past toward an unusual future.
Two have decided to do medical research. One will become a doctor.

Sometime around the age of 10 Jo Ann read a medical journal in her doctor's office ("It was very difficult to understand."); Joan came across a magazine article on heart surgery; Janet read a scientific volume that a World Trade Fair book stall proprietor gave to her. ("He gave it to me, so I felt like I had to read it.")

In the years since, Jo Anne, Joan and Janet filled their lives with girlhood's expected piano lessons, pets, school, play, work, friends, family and hobbies. They've also done further reading in medical and scientific journals, articles and books.

Getting in the Swim
But this summer, as 3 of the 22 New York area high school juniors accepted into the Summer Training Institute in Biomedical Science, they actually have dipped their teen-age toes into the main stream of working medical science. And all three have decided to go on in the water's fine.

The annual summer institute is sponsored by Yeshiva University and the National Science Foundation. Students attend classes and lectures in the morning and in the afternoon scatter to eight Manhattan laboratories where they work with that lab's personnel on research projects.

Not a Summer Romance
Jo Anne is testing the effects of a newly developed product—now called a stain, it may prove to be a drug—on cell growth this "could be" cancer research.

Joan is working to discover whether cancer cells form in the blood when a tumor is growing elsewhere in the body. Janet, whose conversation is so loaded with technical terms that it made it known her experiment requires translation, finally involves the process by which sodium passes through the cornea plus impulse conduction by corneal nerves. This summer her work interested her so that she has decided to make research on the physical and chemical properties of the eye her life's work.

Jo Anne wants to become a doctor.
"I'm thinking of specializing in pediatrics, I'd like to be a surgeon but it takes six or eight years residency after internship to be a surgeon."

"And I think I will marry. But I think I will practice medicine at the same time."

They Plan for Future
Joan and Janet also will navigate toward a future that they hope, will combine marriage and family with career.

Joan says, "That's why I believe I'll go into research. I feel that while my children are young, I can give it up for two or three years. If you're practicing, it's harder to give up all your patients."

"The way I feel right now, I want to do research on the heart."

The three girls report varying amounts of parental enthusiasm to the announcement that daughter will henceforth be found among the test tubes.

What Do Parents Think?
Jo Anne says her father, a lamp manufacturer, is pleased with her decision. Joan, a stockbroker's daughter, is skilled at drawing caricatures and her mother would like her to be a cartoonist. While Janet's mother and electrician father "still do not think I'm going to do it," she has an ally in her brother who is working on his Ph. D. in biophysics at Columbia University.

"We're very much alike. Around the house I talk ophthalmology (eyes) and he spouts biophysics."

"My parents just go crazy."

BUTCH WALTERSCHEID UPSETS Dumas full (60). Losing their first district bout after back Dale Vick after a gain of 11 yards two wins, the Whitefeaces toppled to the late in the third quarter at Dumas Friday night. In the background are Hereford's John Bob Drake (68) and Troy Don Moore (Staff Photo)

Formby was down in Lubbock this week in his post as president of the Texas Tech alumni group. He was instrumental in bringing Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson to the campus for a speech at the Tech Century Club meeting Friday night. Also, that voice that sounds familiar over KPAN should be familiar. Steve Thompson is back on the radio staff after a sojourn in Dallas. This time, however, he returned with an engineering ticket and will help set up the operation in the new station building in addition to his mike work.

Dimmitt Gun Club will have a turkey - ham shoot on Sunday, Nov. 12, from 1-6 p.m. at the fairgrounds in the southeast part of town. The club has just completed a regulation trap range and is one of the most active gun clubs in the Panhandle.

Last Thursday we reported that Col. Homer Garrison was predicting an increase in traffic deaths the last two months of the year. But it won't be without a fight. We got a news release from his office this week announcing that Highway Patrol units are being told to "redouble their efforts to remove reckless and dangerous drivers from the highways," step up spot checks on driver's licenses and will soon be equipped with new - type mobile radar units, like the one used here in Hereford.

About $300 was raised with the tamale supper at St. Anthony's school Sunday. Mrs. George Turrentine was general chairman, with Mrs. Ar-mondo Perez and Mrs. Carlos Tijerina heading the cooking committee. E. O. Reinaser won the door prize. Proceeds will be used to help buy a station wagon for the nuns.

A study-meeting of the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet committee has been called for Tuesday, Nov. 7, at 9 a.m. in the C-C conference room. The speaker has been signed up and now the other details need to be ironed out.

Farm and Home Management Group will meet Tuesday, Nov. 7, in the Community Center at 8 p.m. Hal Geldon, manager of the social security office in Amarillo, will show a film "Before the Day" and talk about social security for farmers. The public is invited to attend.

Kiwanis Club's annual pancake supper will be held Tuesday, Nov. 7, in the Jim Hill Hotel ballroom. For a stack of hotcakes, just show up between 5-9 p.m. with a small amount of money for the ticket.

We always enjoy going to the 4-H Club Achievement Banquet, but this year should be much better since it will be held Monday night in the high school cafeteria, instead of in the Bull Barn as in the past. Invariably, it has been too cold to be comfortable during the meal and presentation of awards.

District Grand Jury is scheduled to meet Tuesday, with a number of charges to consider.

At the game Friday we nearly froze. From our toes to the tip of our nose.

We were supposed to be warm and inside. But Bill Patton had the windows open wide! He claims he can't film a run or long pass while shooting movies through dirty glass.

Serving on the committee are Mrs. D. M. Armstrong and Mrs. R. L. Wilson. In charge of the hospitality committee is Mrs. J. V. Perrin, and Mrs. Norman Minks, along with junior leaders of the 13 county 4-H clubs.

Food committee members included Mrs. Alvis Jolly, Mrs. Earl Plank, and Mrs. Bertram Jack. Clean-up committee members are Mrs. M. J. Koelzer, Mrs. Harold Rudd, and one member from each club.

der will also discuss the sedimentation test which is to be used in testing wheat in 1962. The test is to be the basis for premiums paid for grain with superior milling and baking qualities. The new wheat program was put into effect recently following a national referendum by farmers. Farmers must now divert ten per cent of their wheat acreage to conservation practices. Farmers are now signing up for the program and can divert an additional 30 per cent of their land. The deadline is Dec. 1, said Collier.

All growers must sign up to receive price support and payments for land diverted. Full credit on the acreage history will apply in the establishment of all future farm, county and state wheat allotments.

Revised regulations have stiffened the penalties for excess production. However, wheat growing on diverted land may be grazed until May 1, 1962. All over-planting must be destroyed by May 10.

All farmers in Deaf Smith County are urged to attend this meeting, stated Collier.

reported. A special effort is being made to complete these within the next few days.

Rural chairman Bill Thompson said that Ward, Daniel, Fairview, a large part of the Frio community and a few families in the fringe areas between communities have not been contacted yet.

Campaign workers originally scheduled to visit families in these areas have, for one reason or another, found it impossible to participate in the drive, Thompson said.

Any residents of these areas who could give a day's pay in the interest of the many agencies dependant upon the United Fund are asked to contact Thompson at the Chamber of Commerce office. two points. The Demons then had a commanding 14-0 lead with 4:28 left in the initial period.

Dennis Hodges and Arnold Powell carried and penalties aided Hereford in picking up two first downs. But Cansler's run after a fake punt on fourth down netted just one yard and the ball went over.

Dumas drove deep into Hereford territory, sparked by a 26-yard pass from Boxwell to Baker, who was dropped on the one. A 15-yard penalty moved the ball back and Butch Walterscheid intercepted Boxwell's next aerial on the goal line and ran it back to the Herd's 30.

Once again the Whitefeaces got a first down and then couldn't advance.

The Demons cranked up their next offensive drive from their own 42, aided by a 15-yard penalty against Hereford.

Dumas covered the distance in short order as Boxwell hit Baker on a six-yard aerial and tossed to Whiteside for 28. Vick, Boxwell and Whiteside carried for short bits of ground until Boxwell rammed in from the one to make it Dumas 20-Hereford 0 with 2:47 left in the second quarter.

Then started a small comedy of errors as Dumas was nicked for 15 yards and Hereford got a 17-yarder as the flags flew. Vick blasted across for the two points.

Hereford failed to move and punted. Darrell Garrett recovered a Demon fumble on the next play, but Hereford was unable to take advantage of it as hard-rushing Dumas linemen caught Hale twice behind the line for losses as the half ended.

Hereford couldn't go and punted. Boxwell and Vick moved into Hereford territory before Vick fumbled. Jim Haney recovered for the Herd. Dennis Hodges ripped off 11 yards and Cansler got five but then the drive bogged down.

Mickey Stevens punted at the start of the game's most controversial play. Boxwell ran under the ball, then backed up Harvesting of the 1961 sugar beet crop in Deaf Smith county was due to begin last week with the opening of the dump near the Santa Fe tracks on Nov. 1.

Rain and damp weather have kept farmers out of the fields, but no damage has been done to the crop. Area farmers are expecting a good crop this year. Sugar content of the beets grown here normally is around 15 per cent. Growers here are hoping for a higher percentage this year.

A GOOD SKATE

HANCOCK, Wis. (AP) — Charles W. Christianson got a lifetime pass to Lo Nor Roller Rink on his last birthday — when he turned 85.

The gift is more generous than it might appear to be. Christianson, a native of Copenhagen, Denmark, skates at the rink nearly every evening and is usually the first to arrive and the last to leave.

Christianson almost never misses a night in the winter and misses very few in the summer, despite his cultivation of a half-acre cucumber patch. He says, "Picking cucumbers all day and then roller skating at night equalizes me. I'm not tired after skating. I usually go home and read for two or three hours."

slightly as the ball hit and bounced toward the sidelines. Garrett fell on the ball and officials signaled that it was a fumble and a Hereford recovery.

As it turned out, the protests didn't matter since Hereford still couldn't turn the breaks into points. Interference was called as Hale passed, moving the ball from the Dumas 19 to the Dumas four.

Hale lost four, Cansler gained three and two passes from Hodges into the end zone were incomplete.

Dumas really turned on the power then. Vick got two and Baldwin zipped for 36 before Boxwell passed to Baker for 22 more. Boxwell got nine, Whiteside seven and Baldwin eight. Whiteside went the last ten yards for the score and Boxwell again ran for two points as Dumas had a 30-0 lead with 1:06 left in the third period.

Boxwell's kick-off was dropped on the sideline marker and Hereford was back on its own eight. Four plays later Stevens' punt was gathered in by Boxwell who zoomed down the sideline, then cut to the center for a 48-yard scoring run to open the fourth quarter. Vick went over left tackle for the extra points.

Hereford started its only drive of the night from its own 32. Hodges and Cansler carried for all the yardage, including a 22-yard jaunt by Cansler.

The drive started against Dumas reserves who had come onto the field, but ended with Dumas' starters back as they tried to shut out Hereford.

But Hale kept on a bootleg around right end and slammed over for the score with 4:03 left in the game. Hodges' pass for points was incomplete.

Hereford held the Dumas reserves and Boxwell returned to punt.

Hale hit Walterscheid on a 17-yard pass but Boxwell grabbed off the next Hereford aerial as the ball went back and forth.

Dumas fumbled and Hereford recovered but couldn't move.

Dumas moved to Hereford's 28 during the final seconds. But a pass from Joe Parson was intercepted by Whiteface Charles Kelly who returned from his own 10 to his 17 as the game ended.

Dumas was ranked as high as third in the state before the game and deserves at least that spot. The Demons have a huge, fast line, a fine stable of fleet, hard-running backs and a great defense.

Hereford, on the other hand, played its least impressive game and failed to move the ball as it has in other games. Before Dumas, the Herd had lost only to Roswell, 7-6, but had controlled the game throughout. Hereford now has a 7-2 record.

Hereford captured four of Dumas' five fumbles and grabbed off two passes, but failed to take advantage of any of its opportunities.

Next week, Hereford will close out its first winning season since 1955 with a home stand against the Littlefield Wildcats. Dumas will be at Levelland.

Other conference game this weekend was a Saturday afternoon game, matching Levelland at Phillips.

Year around job for experi

BY JIMMIE GILLENTE
Woe is a lot of women — especially those with husbands who do not cotton to household chores and responsibilities. More especially, I am thinking of Halloween night and the spooks who stormed our place in droves. My wife would hardly get seated before the door bell would ring again. I really didn't pay much attention until around 9 o'clock, when she left for a few minutes, and I had to start answering the door. Clara got back within 15 minutes, but I managed to wipe three noses and pass out a half bag of gum and candy. After that I appreciated her a lot more.

If I were a girl and thinking of matrimony, I would fix up a questionnaire and find out a few things about the guy. It is more important, for instance, to have a husband who will mow the lawn than to have one who is a good dancer, or who can bowl 280; keeping the door latches in shape, painting the fence and digging flower beds are some of the other little chores that can run a woman

Stanton Seventh Defeats Friona Tuesday, 24-14

In non-conference action here Tuesday night, the Golden Spread Conference Champion seventh grade Dogies defeat Friona 24-14 on a muddy gridiron.

Their final game of the year, the Dogies completed the season with five wins, one tie, and a single loss to Canyon.

Stanton's seventh graders begin their basketball season Monday as they travel to Dimmitt. Coaching the seventh grade in both football and basketball is Archie Souter.

While defeating Friona Tuesday night, the Dogies took to the air quite often, with winning results.

crazy. And if you find an old boy with all of these things, who likes to cook and wash dishes, don't let him get away! You have a diamond in the rough.

Back to spooks. I was reading about Danny Keathley, a Dumas boy who took out on his first Halloween jaunt and got in early. Right after leaving the house, Danny met up with a black and white "kitty" — and the young man right then and there learned about skunks. He made it back home, half sick and no little frightened, following which came the true test of motherhood and fatherhood as his parents striped away his wildly reeking costume and did their best to clean him up. About the only way you could sum up the situation would be to say that it was truly a "stinking night."

Howard Gault and Mrs. Lee Cocanougher are a couple of people who read about Deaf Smith County's open season on pheasant, and got upset; they both agree that we will be killing off our breeding stock if the birds are slaughtered this year. Howard came here from a pheasant country, and he says we have none to spare if we expect them to increase. There were several other calls about this, and quite a few people have written to the Texas Game and Fish department and to Senator Andy Rogers at Austin in protest. I doubt if anything can be done for 1961, but we need a closed season for the next two or three years to give the birds a chance. The more letters the better.

I do hope the farmers will put up some posted signs and refuse to allow hunters on their places this year. This seems to be the only way to save the small foothold we already have. A few good years, and this could become a regular hunter's paradise. Right now, it's like killing the hen that laid the golden eggs.

J. C. McCracken was telling me that he remembers when they planted pheasant in Nebraska — and they now have some excellent shooting. The birds were also planted in South Dakota. Until the soil bank land provided some cover, they never did too well; this is the first year they have shown any indication of becoming abundant.

Eugene Naugle says he hopes someone is enjoying this cold front, because he sure isn't — and if the Bull Column is the cause of it I can retire so far as he is concerned. It really is a shock after all of the pretty fall days we have enjoyed.

The weather put an end to at least one golf match this week when Pick Harman, Neil Cooper and Gerald McCaskill played a couple of holes Thursday afternoon before the storm hit. They finally found shelter in an old barn on the Alton Fraser property for an hour or so, then got soaking wet on their return trip to the pro shop. I guess when the snow gets too deep to drive those little go-carts, they will probably give up. At least I am sure they won't walk.

Coming in conjunction with the cold weather, it is safe to bet that the November Dollar Day Monday will be a big one. Most of the merchants are well stocked — and they really do have some good bargains listed for the event. But come early; there's bound to be a big crowd.

Agency. We hate to lose Jack, but Don is a mighty nice fellow, and Jack was telling me that he has an unusually good deal in Dimmitt, where he is moving. With George McLean and Buddy Hutson already out of the business, after their sale to J. W. Robinson, it looks as if October was a rough month on the insurance men.

Housing is still tight in Hereford. I know of two families who have been waiting more than two weeks to move here, but just cannot find houses. Everyone keeps telling them that it is seasonal, due to the lettuce business, but they are beginning to wonder. Hereford has many new homes, lots of them fancy, but when it comes to plain old rent houses, two and three bedrooms, I doubt if there is a greater scarcity anywhere in the United States. Furthermore, it was exactly the same way when I moved out here in 1937.

Paul Harvey is just back from Oklahoma City, and he says things are good in that part of the country, but not so good as here. The pheasant hunters who went into South Dakota tell much the same story. All in all, this should be one of the best years in the history of Hereford and the High Plains. This is indicated by bank deposits, by crop production, and by business in general. More and more people complain because they are unable to find adequate, interested help. I heard one old boy say he believed it was a better back during the depression in 1931-32 — but I didn't agree. I remember those days too well.

Violets Get Sun From Bookcase

BY VIVIAN BROWN

When the man of the house begins a remodeling job, something has got to give — as this homemaker found out:

"I've had a bay window filled with African violets for a number of years. I keep them on antique saucers for a colorful display in an early American dining room that is decorated in mulberry and pink. My husband, aided by an architect, has decided the bay window seat must go in the interest of a remodeling plan. The dining room table will be put in that area when the dining room is made smaller, and there will be no room for my plants. I can't use glass shelves as it will throw the room off balance and spoil the window. Do you have any suggestion? I have 78 plants that need the light from this window."

Why not have the shelves made and set up like a movable book case. It could be cut to the width you need, assuming the tiles are available in that size. Vinyl tiles are available in charming patterns such as Della Robbia and Delft designs that would maintain an old look in the room and go well with violets. Ceramic tiles also would be pretty, and obtainable in the solid color that would blend well in the room. Be sure the shelves are not so high however that you couldn't conveniently water them.

Another husband-window problem is this one:

"My husband insisted on putting a large window on the sunny side of a house because he wanted the view. Now we are left with the alternative—screening out the view with draperies or blinds or having the room too sunny. Have you run into a good solution on this one?" Most people up against this problem use attractive blinds during the sunny hours. Another suggestion includes toning down the brightness by painting the room with colors that absorb a great amount of light, such as blue and green.

Here's a chair cleaning problem:

"How do you clean splint chair seats?" One cleaning mixture that also protects against wear and may be used on cane, rush and splint seats is made by mixing one fourth gum turpentine and three fourths boiled linseed oil. Put the mixture into a jar and shake. Pour hot water into a cup and enough of the turpentine-linseed mixture over it to cover the hot water. Dip a cloth into the oily mixture on top of the water and apply it to the top and bottom of chair seats, using a brush to remove accumulated dust and dirt and to scrub the splint. Each time the hot water in the cup cools, it should be discarded and a new bath of the fluid made. The mixture is flammable so it should not be reheated. Wipe the mixture off with a cloth wrung out of warm water.

Careful attention should be given to the selection of colors, especially in the kitchen. A woman spends a good part of the day in that part of the house, and if she dreads facing her chores because the kitchen is depressing, the menu will suffer.

"We are having a kitchen remodeled. It is on the north side of the house, and gets light from north and east. It has always been a dreary kitchen as it is of dark wood. The linoleum on the floor is gray. What colors could I use to liven up this kitchen? We are using ceramic tiles on the walls, vinyl on the floor and light birch wood for cabinets. We have not decided on the color of the appliances. Do you have any suggestions for a colorscheme?" I would do the entire kitchen in yellow with white accents. This should give you a great lift as it is a sunny, cheerful color. You could use the white with yellow in the floor tiles.

Color is an enigma to many inexperienced decorators, and often the home is a hodge-podge because one has difficulty in deciding on a color scheme, buying whatever one sees and likes without a thought as to how it will blend with other colors in a room.

A woman asks: "Is there any rule of thumb when selecting colors for a room? How many different colors can you use?" Decorators like to think in terms of a maximum of three colors in a room. There can be many shades of colors as in a print, for instance. Some decorators believe that an amateur can't go wrong if you use certain guides such as slipcovering a sofa and two chairs in the same fabric, and using it in the draperies. One color from the pattern is used on the walls, and perhaps even the rug. Another is picked up in the accents of the room. The most important consideration is to make a good choice of the fabric that will control the room.

Information Week On Alcoholism Slated Nov. 26

Alcoholism Information Week, an educational and informational campaign emphasizing that alcoholism is a treatable disease, will be observed in Hereford from Nov. 26 to Dec. 3. It was announced today by Frances Hardwick, president of the Deaf Smith County Council on Alcoholism.

The campaign in Hereford is part of a nationwide observance being sponsored by the National Council on Alcoholism, the national voluntary health agency in the field of alcoholism.

"Alcoholism is one of America's four major health problems, along with mental illness, cancer and heart disease," Hardwick said. "It is estimated that there are 5,000,000 alcoholics in the country. We have 500 in Deaf Smith County, of which 300 are men between ages 30-50, 100 are women."

However, there is help for the person suffering from the disease of alcoholism, he continued. "During Alcoholism Information Week we hope to call this fact to the public's attention."

The Deaf Smith County Council on Alcoholism maintains an Alcoholism Information Center. For further information write to Box 643.

TRANSITION FROM fall to winter came abruptly in Deaf Smith County with the arrival of a brief, but vicious, snowfall Thursday evening. Caught with their blooms out were these chrysanthemums, known as the fall flower. They, like most residents, found the switch from one season to another a little too quick to be prepared. TOO MUCH BUMP
MIAMI — Automobiles were traveling 'too fast' around the University of Miami campus, so the engineering department built a series of asphalt bumps at strategic locations.

Recently, they trimmed the bumps. Not only did student drivers complain of bumped heads and bent frames, but sports car owners said they had trouble getting over the bumps.

EASY LANGUAGE
HOBART, Okla. — Six men here are translating the Bible into the Kiowa Indian language. Kiowa is described as a guttural language.

Mose Poolaw, one of the translators, says it is easy to learn. He says one student learned it in seven days.

TOURISTS TOOK TRAIN
DURANGO, Colo. — The nation's only narrow-gauge passenger railroad, running through the Animas River Canyon, had its most successful summer operation in history this past summer.

More than 38,000 persons made the trip, compared with a little more than 37,000 in 1960.

Stanton Claims Seventh Victory

Winning their seventh game of the season, Stanton Junior High's eighth grade racked up a 34-26 win over Friona in the last game of the season for the Dogs.

Stanton begins its basketball season at Dimmitt, Tuesday night under the direction of Coach Jerry Don George.

After getting off to a six-point deficit, the Dogs came back to lead 14-12 before the end of the first quarter. Dogie Wynn Buck and Jimmie Gutierrez alternated in scoring efforts to place Hereford ahead 22-12 before the close of the first half.

After an exchange of fumbles early in the third quarter, Steve Hodges completed a pass to end Mike Moore for the fourth Stanton marker from 40 yards out.

Following a defensive stand by Stanton, Jimmie Gutierrez took over and scored the final Dogie score to place Stanton ahead 34-12.

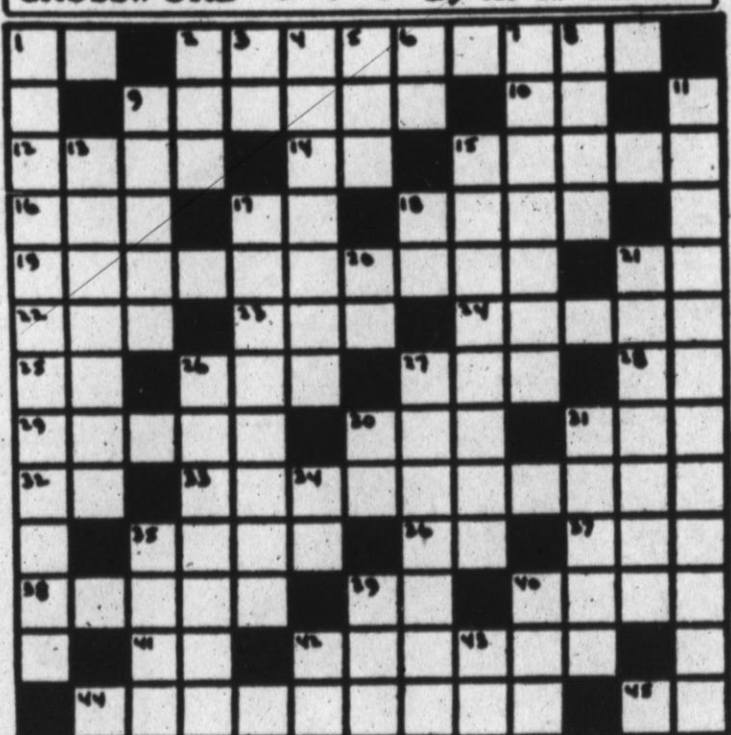

Friona came to life late in the fourth quarter, to score after blocking a punt on Stanton's 20. Shortly thereafter, the Chiefs marched from their 40 to score once more.

Friona was undefeated until encountering the determined Dogs. The visitors had defeated Canyon, the only team which was able to fell Stanton this year.

Dogie halfback Wynn Buck set a record for the Dogs this season while running back six kick-offs to score for Stanton.

Women Are More Tolerant Than Men

BY MARY CAMPBELL
NEW YORK AP — Does college have a different effect on the prejudices of men and women?

Yes, says Charles H. Stember, who recently finished a year-long sociological study. "I hate to say so, but college-educated women are more tolerant than college-educated men."

Stember's work, commissioned by the American Jewish Committee, consisted of analyzing data from 26 national surveys measuring racial and ethnic prejudice. Some answers college graduates gave to typical survey questions:

Seventy-six per cent of the women and 59 per cent of the men were optimistic that young children would get along well together in an integrated school.

Fifty-one per cent of the women and 41 per cent of the men said they would vote for a well-qualified Negro for president.

Twenty per cent of both sexes indicated they would accept the marriage of a close relative and a Jew.

Not A Woman's Nature
Why do women have less prejudice than men?

Basically they don't, Stember says. "There is nothing in the nature of women to be more liberal. There is no appreciable difference between the attitudes of men and women who are grammar school or high school graduates. The difference is definitely the function of college attendance."

Why does college have a different effect on the prejudice of men and women?

Stember has a theory: "Where education sets a person apart from his group, it makes more difference in his attitudes."

He says, "The educated woman is not traditional. A woman who goes through college feels distinctiveness. She is apart from the housewife and the working girl. College is a more profound experience for her, so it has more effect on her attitudes."

"Men are shaped by their experiences. The educated man is the traditional man. Education doesn't get a man apart from other men. It is just one of a number of institutions which influence him."

Stember says his theory about the differing effects of education on the prejudice of subcultures applies to the rich and poor and Northerners and Southerners as well as to men and women.

For example, he says, it is more common among Northerners than among Southerners to have college education. Stember's findings show that the prejudice at approximately the same level as all adults in the Northern United States while an educated Southerner has much less prejudice than the average of all persons living in the South. (Even so, he says, the educated Southerner has more prejudice than the educated Northerner.)

Actions Don't Change
One major finding of Stember's study concerns the idea that a college education causes a great general lessening of prejudice. Stember's conclusion is that college reduces prejudice in impersonal but not in personal areas.

"The educated person is likely to take a firm stand on policy issues. He favors desegregation of schools and transportation."

"But in what he's willing to accept on a personal basis, such as sending his own children to an integrated school, education doesn't seem to increase his tolerance."

Colleges Should Lead
Stember, a 45-year-old professor of social psychology at Rutgers University, also is willing to comment on the situation depicted by his study.

"I think, now that colleges are really in the driver's seat, with more students applying than they can accommodate, that they should take a lead in social attitudes. They can insist on non-discrimination as well as preach tolerance in the classroom."

"When I was an undergraduate at Wisconsin, the girls dorm had a section called the ghetto. All the Jewish girls were put there; they said they'd be happier among themselves. I think that is a horrifying thing for a college to do. They thought they might lose some of the majority group students, but they're not going to lose them now."

Jaycees Collect Grain Sorghum For Boys' Ranch

The Hereford Junior Chamber of Commerce kicked off a drive here recently to collect grain sorghum for Cal Farley's Boys' Ranch near Channing.

Goal of the Jaycee Club here has been set at 20,000 pounds of grain. The quota was agreed upon by Panhandle clubs meeting at a tri-regional conference at Plainview last summer.

A report last week at the regular meeting of the club showed that between 3000 and 4000 pounds of milt has been donated by area farmers.

Club members are continuing to contact area farmers and elevator operations for donations. The drive will end on Nov. 15, said Dale Barkley, club president.

Those who have not been contacted by a Jaycee and wish to donate grain may call Wayne Fuller at EM 4-0230, he continued.

The club hopes that each person contacted will donate at least 500 pounds of grain sorghum to Boys' Ranch, he stated, but, lesser amounts will be accepted.

Grain donated will be picked up at the elevators and trucked to Boys' Ranch by Jaycee members.

Panhandle Jaycee clubs began the new tri-regional project to furnish feed grain for ranch livestock. The grain will also be used to feed livestock which are Future Farmers of America and 4-H projects.

Business Woman Looks At World

BY MARY LOU LOPER
LOS ANGELES (AP) — When Marjorie Fisher asks big business executives — acquaintances she happens to meet on plane trips to New York — "Why did your stock sell off today?" they do double takes.

But when she gets elected president of the Los Angeles Society of Security Analysts by 190 men and three women, none of her fellow analysts is surprised.

Marjorie Fisher, a bright-eyed, vivacious woman who wears hot pink suits with the flair of a Chanel model, is the first woman to be elected president of such a society in the United States.

Way Up There

She is also vice president of a company which does investment research for four mutual funds. Assets of the companies total 400 million dollars.

Miss Fisher lives in Parklambrea, loves cats and hopes to get to Hong Kong "before the tourists ruin it." She grew up in Toronto and heard stocks and bonds discussed "since I can remember."

Always Treasurer

Her economics professor at Mt. Holyoke College should have guessed she would become an analyst: she was treasurer of everything she belonged to, including the International Club.

Her first job upon graduation (1945) was with "Dun's Review," published by Dun & Bradstreet in New York. She wrote business reviews for the experts on Wall Street. Looking back, she says, "I'm amazed that I had the nerve to do it!"

She made $30 a week.

Next she spent two years as an assistant field director with the American Red Cross in the Philippines. Then she joined Babson's Report, investment advisory service. In 1951 she became a junior analyst for the firms she is now with.

She is the only woman analyst among eight, in her company.

"I work with common stocks, learn the financial situations of companies, where they stand, and their competitive positions within their own industry."

Marjorie Fisher specializes in chemical, drug, food and insurance stocks. And four times a year she calls on top financial officers to investigate companies her mutual funds are interested in.

She always arrives for interviews well-briefed, and armed with annual reports and lists of questions.

Timing Difficult

The difficult part of the current market is the question of timing, she maintains.

"An analyst may have a very comprehensive analysis, but when it comes to the question of buy, sell or hold, that's the hard part. This is an art, I guess you'd say, not an exact science."

What does it take to be a security analyst?

A good background in economics, ability to communicate easily, write concise reports, ferret out the important facts in a mass of information. In addition, says Miss Fisher, the analyst needs curiosity and a knack for evaluating new products.

"You've got to be feminine, yet talk their language," she said. "There's no place for the cute and the coy. You're dealing with large sums and busy people."

THE LONG NAP

MEMPHIS (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Billy Van Winkle knew what they were doing when they named their son.

Rip Van Winkle, 15 months old now, goes to bed early at night and sometimes sleeps until 10 the next morning. In addition, he enjoys a daily three-hour nap.

ENTIRELY LEGAL

MEMPHIS (AP) — Despite its unusual appearance, the will left by the late Mrs. Blanche T. Williams of Memphis was accepted without a quibble by probate court.

Mrs. Williams had scrawled her will — covering an estate of about $40,000 — on a small paper towel.

Miss McCarver, Ronnie Thomason Pledge Vows

Mrs. Ronnie Thomason nee Miss Anne McCarver (Angel Photo)

Miss Anne McCarver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill McCarver of Hereford, and Ronnie Thomason, son of Mr. D. C. Thomason of Wellington and Mrs. Jack Knowles of Floydada exchanged wedding vows on Friday afternoon, Nov. 3, at five o'clock in the Joseph Hill Chapel, West Texas State College, Canyon.

Mr. Gordon Downing, minister of the Church of Christ Bible Chair, West Texas State College, read the double ring ceremony as the couple knelt on a prayer bench covered with white satin, before an arch formed by candelabra holding white tapers and flanked by two baskets of white gladiolus. A gold cross, with an open Bible in front, flanked by gold candelabras was the background for the ceremony.

The organist played traditional wedding selections and accompanied the trio as they sang "Always" and "Because."

Miss Judy McCarver, sister of the bride, attended the bride as maid of honor. Miss McCarver wore a teal blue street length jersey dress with a full skirt and carried a bouquet of pom-poms.

Troy Thomason of Wellington attended his cousin as best man. Jerry Lacy of Wellington and Richard Carter of Shamrock served as ushers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a semi-formal wedding gown of white chiffon, designed with a short full skirt and short sleeve white lace jacket and white lace mitts. Her small hat was white, sequin trimmed and with a coiff veil. Her only jewelry was a single strand of white pearls. The bridal bouquet was white roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. McCarver, mother of the bride, wore a teal blue sheath dress, small white hat with feather trim, white leather gloves and black shoes and matching bag. The groom's mother wore a blue sheath dress with matching accessories.

Immediately following the ceremony, the bride's parents hosted a reception at the Church of Christ Bible Chair in Canyon. Parents of the couple and members of the bridal party formed the receiving line.

The bride's table was appointed in crystal and silver and was covered with a blue taffeta cloth overlaid with white net trimmed in satin. The wedding cake was white, trimmed in blue and complemented with arrangements of white spider chrysanthemums, that carried out the chosen colors, by the bride, of blue and white. Mrs. Jimmy Howell and Miss Linda Moore, sisters of the groom, assisted at the bride's table. Miss Jona Lee Blocker of Hereford registered the guests.

When the couple left on a trip to points in New Mexico, the bride was attired in a green wool suit, white hat, white leather gloves, black suede shoes and matching bag. She wore a corsage lifted from the bridal bouquet. The couple will be at home at 1811 West First in Canyon after Nov. 5.

The bride is a 1960 graduate of Hereford High School where she was chosen band queen and was an active member of Future Homemakers of America. She attended West Texas State College, studying secretarial science, and now is employed as a bookkeeper for Lockney Co-op Elevator in Lockney.

Thomason is a graduate of Wellington High School and is a senior at West Texas State College, majoring in agriculture. He is a member of Alpha Chi Honor Society and president of the Agriculture Club. He will graduate from the college in the spring. He is employed as a lab instructor of entomology and agronomy at the school.

PARENTS OF GIRL

STUDENT VISITS

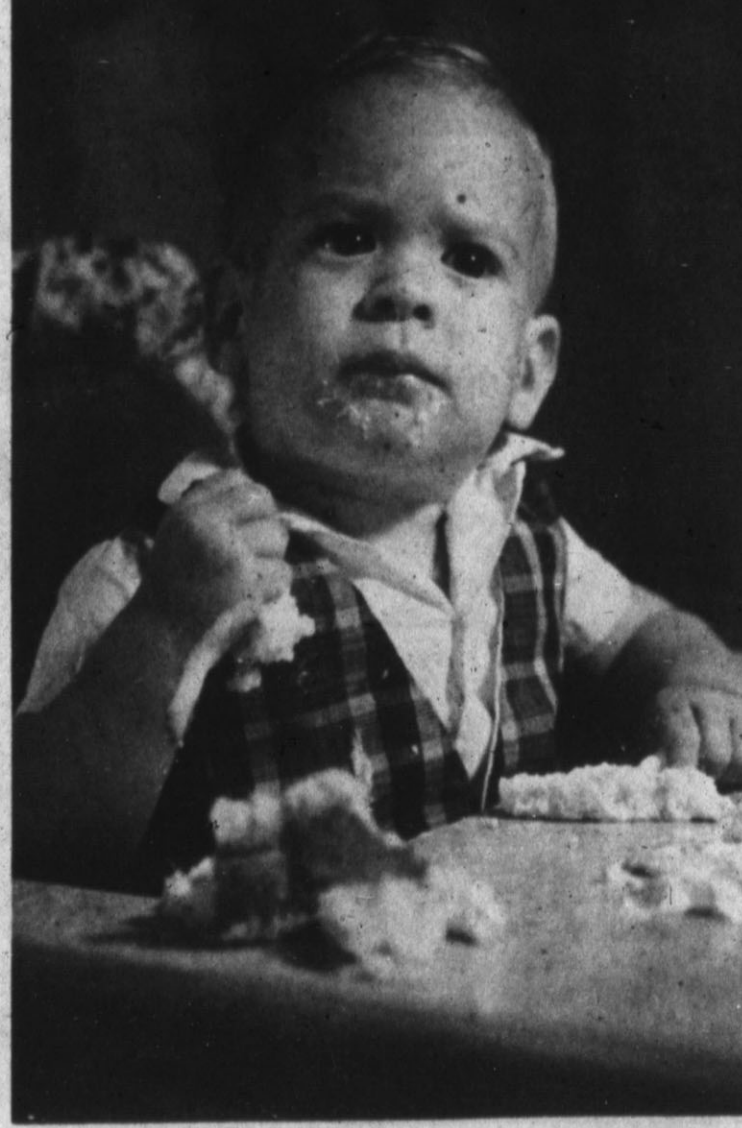

Lewis Block, a student at Oklahoma State University, Stillwater, Okla., was a weekend visitor in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Block.

After a diet of milk, prunes and baby food, cake is pretty rich fare. But, after all, a fellow's first birthday comes but once and he's entitled to participate in the celebration.

The first samples are taken rather apprehensively, since Brian Lee Thompson often gets scolded for eating things that he shouldn't. A critical appraisal is made of the taste, much different than Pabulum.

"Whatta ya mean I can't squeeze it into a ball?" he asks his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Thompson. "It goes in my mouth a lot easier that way."

"Hey, I like this stuff. How's about some more, Mom? And while I'm thinking about it, why don't we celebrate this birthday business every day instead of just once a year?" (Staff Photos by H. A. Tuck)

'Deaf' Smith Says

TO: The Spirit of General Sam Houston
FROM: The Spirit of Erasmus "Deaf" Smith
SUBJECT: Retail Trade Promotion

The largest single group of people supporting the work of the Chamber of Commerce in my County, and in most areas, is the retailers. The retailers, individually and collectively, have more at stake than perhaps any other group of people. The growth of the trade territory, either physically or economically, has a direct relation to the growth potential of every business.

When the new budget of the Chamber of Commerce was developed three projects were appropriated funds. The first received by far the largest consideration "Support with general advertising the advantages of trading in Hereford not only during special sales events but throughout the year." To this project was assigned $1,500.00. Within its scope, plans will be made to carry on an extensive advertising program over both radio and newspaper pointing out the services, the brand names, and the selection of merchandise available from Hereford businesses. Communications with customers and potential customers is perhaps the most important factor in building a community's trade territory.

The second project is to "Conduct such training courses as may be desired to help the retail and service personnel better serve the public." Such courses have been sponsored each year in conjunction with the University of Texas Extension Service and the Distributive Education department of the schools. These courses are largely self-supporting but do require some promotional expense. The third project is to "Do such research as may be necessary to define the retail and service trade territory." Customer research has become a very important factor in the modern economy. The retailer must know what services, what price ranges, what quality the consumer wants. He can benefit by constructive criticism of the community as a shopping center.

He also needs to know where his advertising dollars can be most effectively employed to hold his present customers or to gain new ones. It may well be that this particular project should be preliminary to the first one and should have a larger share of the budget, at least in the first year.

The total appropriation for the Retail Trade Development department is $2,000. It is probable that the demands upon this phase of the Chamber's work are far beyond this amount but even in a $35,000 budget the requirements of the different departments must be reconciled and brought into balance with the total program.

That is my report on one more phase of the Chamber's new budget, Sam. Before closing my report, though, I want to report on three new members of the Chamber of Commerce, signed up by Marcus Latham. They are Welcome Wagon International, Hereford Produce and J. F. Martin. The membership committee has gone back to work and hopes to help "ripen the carrot" to the goal of $35,000.

Want to also report that first returns are coming in on the Congressional Forum to be held here Nov. 14. The Hale County Sugar Beet Growers Association took 250 tickets, Hereford Lions took 100 and the Kiwanis has agreed to attend the meeting in force. Scattered other ticket requests are starting to come in. It is probable that there will be well over the anticipated 1,000 in attendance the day of the meeting. That's my report for this week, Sam.

FILLING UP IN SPACE
CASE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Attendants who man space "filling stations" of the future won't get by with just a friendly smile and the uncomplicated question: "Regular or ethyl?" An astronaut might steer his space ship into a filling station orbiting the earth and say: "Fill 'er up with inhibited red fuming nitric acid and unsymmetrical dimethyl hydrazine."

The first part, Irina, is an oxidizer, a chemical with high oxygen content. Because there is no oxygen-laden air in space, rocket engines can't depend on it to ignite fuel as earth-based automobiles can. The second part of the order, UDH, is the actual rocket fuel.

When another space pilot pulls in and asks for hydrogen peroxide, it won't be used to bleach his wife's hair. It will be his oxidizer. The fuel to go with it could be any of the following: aluminum-enriched polyethylene, boron trimethyl, cyanogen, diborane, lithium aluminum hydride or pentaborane.

"Mission 66," a program to improve the National Park System, takes its name from its target date for completion: 1966. That year will mark the 50th anniversary of the founding of the National Park Service.

Let's Be Proud Of Those Kids Who Spent Halloween 'Helping Others'

In these days of screaming headlines, magazine articles and blaring TV sets which publicize and denounce juvenile delinquency, it is not difficult to find people who sincerely wonder "what this new generation is coming to."

Meanwhile, last Tuesday evening 300 teenagers voluntarily gathered in organized groups in Hereford, Texas, and collected $1,225 in donations for Christian Rural Overseas Program to aid those less fortunate than themselves.

This is the way the youngsters chose to celebrate Halloween and, we must agree with their critics on one score: It truly was a mammoth variation from the way most of their parents once celebrated the occasion. The oldsters, who are most often the critics, generally spent Halloween turning over outdoor privies, putting cows on top of buildings, wrecking wagons and generally contributing to an organized program of destruction and vandalism. All in all, it is a point worth pondering.

Today there are juvenile delinquents, but we suspect that they also existed in the past generation, and in the generation before that if you would carefully check into the matter. In fact, since the day when Cain slew his brother, it is safe to assume that there has existed a percentage of juvenile delinquents.

These days our law enforcement policies are unquestionably more efficient than in past decades, and it is safe to say that fewer juvenile cases are "covered up" than in the past. Likewise, we have more youngsters today and, consequently, we can expect more juvenile offenses. Transition of population from rural and farm areas to crowded cities, slums and congested living quarters is another factor which contributes in a large measure to the juvenile delinquency problem.

When you weigh these things carefully, it seems to us that the youngsters are actually becoming better, instead of worse. There were very few families which cannot delve a bit and come up with at least one "black sheep" — even when dad and grandfather were youngsters.

Frankly, we are mighty proud of today's crop of youngsters. Most of them are industrious, ambitious, intelligent — and we are glad to note among them a general swing toward church and Christianity, which is the only sound basis to combat communism.

In fact, when we hear some old timer start a soap box oration on the younger generation, which is "surely going to the dogs," we are always reminded of the father who remarked:

"John gets into some trouble, all right, but if I ever catch that kid doing some of the things I did, he is really going to get his pants blistered."

America Needs More Candidates

America, as the world's leading democracy, has faced numerous problems but, perhaps, none so important or so great as the present shortage of candidates for office at the grassroots level. Very few people, it seems, can find time to serve on county, city, and school posts.

The salaries, though not high, are reasonable in many instances — but the shortage of outstanding men to fill the various posts is growing more and more acute.

Some people contend that we should jump the pay scales sharply to attract better qualified people; others say that all salaries should be eliminated and the posts should be filled on the basis of community service. Both arguments have merit, depending largely upon the position to be filled. Offices such as county judge, sheriff, clerk and other full-time positions cannot, obviously, be placed in the same category with those of city commissioner, school board member or county commissioner. It is possible that a combination of the two ideas might well provide a practical answer.

We are faced at the same time, with numerous obsolete state, county and city requirements which make public office unattractive to many qualified citizens. "Why," they ask, "should I waste my time bucking a horse and buggy system when there is no chance to improve things?" Without doubt, many points of our state, county, city and school government plans do need re-vamped and modernized.

Filling one of these important offices, especially at the request of one's friends and neighbors, should continue to be the highest honor which any American can receive. Local office holders especially should be considered by the public as community heroes, rather than downgraded as "politicians."

We have always felt that grassroots government, that nearest the people, was the best government America can have. This is still true, provided we continue to attract capable, conscientious people — and treat them as honored citizens. Otherwise, we have little to anticipate.

This problem is greater than most Americans realize. It could easily produce more troubles for our nation than communism and scores of 50 megaton bombs.

The POWER of FAITH by Howard Brodie

"and they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning hooks: nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more."

Voicing the hopes of Americans then and now, President Wilson spoke of the first Armistice Day in 1919, now called Veterans' Day, to honor all veterans:

"The victory of arms foretells the enduring conquests which can be made in peace when nations act justly and in furtherance of the common interests of men... with solemn pride in the heroism of those who died in the country's service and with gratitude for the victory, both because of the thing from which it has freed us and because of the opportunity it has given America to show her sympathy with peace and justice in the councils of the nations."

Communism Is Actually A Religious Challenge

(Editor's Note: This is the fourth in a series of five articles, presented as a public service, about the threat and challenge of communism. They are the result of study and travel by the author, who spent last summer in the Soviet Union. He was born in Mission, Tex., and received his B. A. degree from the University of Texas, the B. D. degree from Vanderbilt University and did two years of graduate study at Harvard and Boston Universities. His church affiliation is with the Southwest Texas Conference of the Methodist Church and he is ordained in The United Church of Christ. He is minister of The Federated Church, Sherborn, Mass., a union of all Protestants in the town.)

BY JAMES E. TURNER

Thus far, we have discussed the economic and educational threat and the challenge of Communism. We turn now to the religious threat and challenge. Here lie the roots of the power behind modern Communism, and here are the reasons why the threat and challenge are so intense. This is the reason the situation presents more than just another fanatical dictator in a drunken rage.

Communism is a great power. It is a great power armed with the most terrible of modern weapons. Also, it is inspired and disciplined by the most formidable secular religion which has challenged Western civilization since the rise of Islam. And there is no chance that our immensely formidable rival will disarm or disappear. The competition with the Soviet Union is in the whole field of national power. It is a competition in all forms of power, in the power to produce wealth, in the power to use wealth wisely, and for national ends, for education, for the advancement of science, and for public as well as private aims.

Our ability to meet the whole challenge depends upon our success in learning to use our growing wealth for something more than mere private satisfaction. It depends on our being able and willing to use it for imponderable and immaterial ends, that is, to serve even spiritual ends.

For, you see, our struggle is deeply religious. Indeed, Communism can only be understood as a religion. Some will object to this use of the word. But isn't religion really that cause to which one gives his total allegiance, that area where our ultimate concern is placed?

This is to say, then, that every person is religious — that is, every person has that for which he is ultimately concerned, which he believes in, and for which he lives. The more vehemently we deny that we are religious, the more religious we are. There is no escape from this. Man is incurably religious. He either lives for something, or else he is psychotic or completely disorganized.

It should be said that religion can be either good or bad, and there is probably more bad religion than good.

As Arnold Toynbee has pointed out, "It is impossible to understand the conflict in our world unless we understand that the basic issues are religious. It is not so much a conflict of armed might as it is a battle of ideologies, a contest between two great faiths. Communism can never be understood until it is seen for what it is: A great nonsupernaturalistic world faith. Communism is avowedly and officially atheistic, but though it may have thrown away the trappings of traditional religion it has erected in their place a faith that has all the elements of a religion."

The failure of our leaders to recognize this truth is the deep reason that we are generally failing to come to terms with the threat and challenge of international Communism. And this failure is so evident that it needs no elaboration here.

The teachings of Karl Marx are holy writ to one-third of the world. This year, the writings of Marx surpassed the Bible in copies distributed. For the first time in the experience of the American people, the nation is confronted with a rival and sinister power which denies the theory and the practice of (Continued on page 5)

CIVIL DEFENSE COURSE IS PLANNED

Registrations are now being accepted by Glen Reeves, superintendent of Littlefield Schools, for a 12-hour course in disaster survival. "Experienced disaster workers contend," Reeves said, "that in times of stress, often as many as half the casualties are needless. They are caused by people who do foolish, illogical things or who don't know what to do." The public can learn about personal and family preparedness for survival during and after emergencies by attending these Civil Defense courses. The 12-hour course is sponsored jointly by the Texas Education Agency and the Littlefield Public Schools. Included in the course is subject matter in six divisions pertaining to "Education and Survival."

CITY GETS FALLOUT SHELTERS

Levelland may be a long way from the primary target areas in the event of a hydrogen war, but three Levelland businessmen have launched a fall-out shelter construction company and now have four shelters under construction. They frankly admit that they have more in mind than protection from Soviet bombs. They call their units "fallout and tornado" shelters, keeping in mind the vicious natural enemy from which South Plains residents have been fleeing underground since they first settled the prairie land.

MASONIC CORNERSTONE CEREMONY HELD

Public ceremonies for the laying of the cornerstone in the Dalhart Schools new Health and Physical Education building were held Wednesday. Ceremonies were conducted by the Grand Lodge of Texas, under the sponsorship of Dalhart Rock Island Masonic Lodge. Masonic member John Collard leveled the cornerstone at the northeast corner of the construction. The building will include 23,112 square feet of floor space, with a seating capacity of 745 in the stationary bleachers and 252 in the folding bleacher sections. The need for additional physical education space was announced last January, with the gymnasium to be concluded in four to six months.

LOW RENT HOUSING NEARLY READY

Claude Tipton, secretary of Levelland's Public Housing Authority, said Tuesday that the city's long-stalled low rent housing project should have something to show for its efforts within the next 90 days. Tipton stated, "I know of no reason why the project shouldn't be started soon. We are now at a point where we can proceed with its development." The Public Housing Commission was appointed in May of 1959. Red tape and delay associated with the government program have postponed construction of the 40 low-rent housing units which have been approved by the city. The city has approved ten white, 14 Negro, and 16 Latin American housing units, which will probably be located separately. The housing will be financed by a 40-year government loan, with tenants to pay the cost of the loan retirement.

POSSIBILITY OF JUVENILE OFFICER SEEN

Possible appointment of a combination county Civil Defense and Juvenile Officer was discussed here Monday by the city commissioners. County Judge Don Hancock, who submitted plans for the office, stated that in his estimation it would facilitate the resolution of various juvenile problems which arise in the county by centralizing duties pertaining to special children, including dependent and neglected youngsters, and at the same time provide for a permanent office to cope with the county's increasing activity with the national Civil Defense program.

THE BOOTLEG —Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm tells where he wouldn't like to live, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editor:

I have long since given up arguing with people over whether it's better to live in the country or in town, on account of it dawned on me that's one argument a man in the country ought to lose, because the more people there are in town, the less there are in the country, and that's a pretty good arrangement.

At any rate, I got to thinking about places to live the other day and while this bindweed farm out here suits me, I'm pretty well dug in and I don't know of anything that could pry me loose outside of a tax eviction notice from the sheriff, I suppose there are other people who feel the same way about their location.

Then I got to thinking about places I wouldn't want to live, and heading the list is Alaska.

Now I haven't got anything against Alaska, if she wanted in the Union to help us share the debt burden that's her lookout, but you couldn't pay me enough to live there, and I'll tell you why. It's not because of the climate. Even if they changed the temperature up there and made it pleasant to live the year-round, I still wouldn't be interested.

The reason I wouldn't be interested is on account of the scientific ability of mankind. I don't trust it yet. I mean I don't trust its aim, and when I say aim I mean shooting aim.

That is, say Russia and the United States get into a push-button war, as most civilized people figure they will. All right, which is the shortest route for guided missiles between the secret launching pads of each country? Right over Alaska, of course. And how good is the aim of these missile scientists? Well, it ain't good enough to make Alaska a safe place to be.

Two out of three successful and accurate launchings of a missile is considered a pretty good batting average these days, which means a third of the missiles from both countries could fall in the lap of Alaska, just by accident.

A good portion of Alaska may be like this bindweed farm—it's not worth wasting a bomb on—but if I lived in Alaska, I'd either move or push hard for more accuracy among the missile scientists.

Man is going to have to improve his aim a lot before it's safe to start a missile war.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Teacher Shortage

There's more than one way to skin any cat, including the one that has been meowing loudly about a "teacher shortage." Rashi Fein, economist with the President's Council of Economic Advisors, told a 19-nation education conference the other day: "There is no shortage of teachers, only a shortage of effective teaching."

This is in direct contrast to previous propaganda from the Kennedy administration that public schools have a shortage of 500,000 teachers.

Mr. Fein spoke against utilizing teachers for baby-sitting duties. Another U. S. speaker told the conference teachers they should not have to "help the children off with their snowsuits or erase blackboards."

A group of teachers not long ago protested here against having to spend much of their time on non-teaching duties. In some localities, growing use is already made of educational television, classroom clerks, teacher aids, assistant teachers and other means of stretching professional teaching talents and energies. This trend makes sense because it is a local solution at a local level.

Commie...

our way of life. This contradiction is one between tempers as well as between ideas, between the HOW as well as the WHAT we and they think.

The Communist temper is zealous, dogmatic, revolutionary, violent, amoral, and elitist. It is supremely confident of its own righteousness and its ultimate triumph as the way of light and hope. It is this self-righteous idealism that makes them so dangerous. Their prideful arrogance, which believes they have a monopoly on Truth, and that history is on their side, makes them an almost impossible adversary. These are all symptoms of a fanatical religious mentality. This is just another case, on a colossal scale, where the use of reason is of no avail.

Communism is the most radical of all religions. Tolerance is not in its vocabulary. Things are seen only as black or white. Shades of gray are impossible. If we can appreciate the radical religious fanaticism that motivates present-day Communism, this "mystery wrapped in an enigma" might become more intelligible to us.

For example, Marx's judgments on our whole way of life were savage. We have no institution — church, family, property, school, corporation, trade union, and all the agencies of constitutional democracy — that he does not wish either to destroy or to transform beyond recognition. We have no ideas or ideas — from the Christian ethic through patriotism to individualism — that he does not condemn out of hand. If you have seen narrow-minded religious bigots in action, you ought to be able to appreciate the Communists — except that they're more so!

According to an article in a Peking magazine, believers in Communism cannot share any kind of human relationship with those who do not believe in Communism, even when a person's own parents are involved. The article makes it quite explicit that when you become a member of the party you cease to be a member of any other group that is not affiliated with the party, even though that group be your own family.

The article was written and sponsored by a group of young Chinese intellectuals in Peking University, and they justified their position by saying that mother-love is a bourgeois concept, and that homesickness, which many of the young Chinese have suffered when they have been sent away from home to work in national camps, is a bourgeois sentiment that has no place in the new society.

It is important to know our enemy by analyzing the nature of the Communist evil — both for the sake of those who take its evil for granted but do not bother to diagnose its nature or trace its sources, and for the sake of those deluded spirits who imagine that Communism is but a different version of a common democratic creed.

Let us never be so foolish as to let Communist leaders mislead us about their intentions and the noxious demon of this world-wide secular religion. We should allow nothing to befog our knowledge of history which has shown and continues to show in their actions, the deleterious effect of absolute power, and the progressive moral deterioration of such absolute power over other men. It always results in evils which are worse than injustice. Yet these people sincerely pose as the liberators of every class or nation which they intend to enslave. They exploit every moral and political weakness of the civilized world as if they had the conscience of civilization in their keeping. It provides a moral facade for the most unscrupulous political policy.

They feel morally justified in suppressing and sacrificing, with gross carelessness, immediate values for the sake of reaching so "ideal a goal." Herein lies the horrible danger of this movement: its ruthless power operates behind a screen of pretended ideal ends a situation which is both more dangerous and more evil than pure cynical defiance of moral ends. It is dishonest through and through.

This illusionary faith has brought forth dedication which can only be compared to the early Christian martyrs. Writing in a French Communist newspaper on "A Challenge to Christians," a young communist wrote: "The Gospel is a much more powerful weapon for the renewal of society than is our Marxist philosophy, but all the same it is we who finally will beat you. We are only a handful and you Christians are numbered by the millions. But if you remember the story of Gideon and his three hundred companions, you will understand why I am right. We Communists do not play with words. We are realists, and seeing that we are determined to achieve our object, we know how to obtain the means. Of our salaries and wages, we keep only what is strictly necessary, and we give up the rest for propaganda purposes. To this propaganda we also consecrate all our free time, and part of our holidays. You, however, give only a little time and hardly any money for the spreading of the gospel of Christ. How can anyone believe in the supreme value of this gospel if you do not practice it, if you do not spread it, and if you sacrifice neither time nor money for it? Believe me, it is we who will win, for we believe in our Communist message and we are willing to sacrifice everything, even our life, in order that social justice may triumph. But you people are afraid to soil your hands."

Our world today is sick. It stands on the brink of desolation and destruction. The question ought to be raised today in your own life, what are you living for? Is your cause worth dying for?

Let me suggest that the religion of the New Testament is a total answer to the threat and challenge of Communism. Our "American way of life" has become depressingly shallow, meaningless and materialistic. Our wealth has not filled a deep emptiness in our own lives; rather, it has served to corrupt us individually and collectively. It has nothing to offer a sick world in deep need of spiritual healing.

To use increments of our growing wealth wisely and prudently for immaterial ends: That is the spiritual goal, I believe, toward which our attention and our efforts have now to be directed.

ALGAE GO TO WORK
STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — A professor with a string of ponds is testing an idea that nature can take care of man-made wastes — then clean up her own backyard.

The professor, Dr. Troy C. Dorris of Oklahoma State University, explained his idea simply:

Wastes from factories, refineries, etc. are collected in ponds. Algae grow in the water, manufacturing oxygen for bacteria which eat the wastes.

When the wastes are gone, the bacteria turn on the algae. When the algae are gone the bacteria die. Result: relatively clean, waste-free water.

Dr. Dorris has one problem — will the algae produce enough oxygen for their own destruction? More research will tell.

'Dragging Main' A School Custom

BY LINDA LONDON

Have you ever heard, "Let's drag Main once more," or "Once more around the Double K and then home, James." If you're a parent, friend, or even brother or sister of a teen ager, I'm sure you've heard one or more expressions just like these.

The Double K and Main Street are both part of what we call the "Main Drag." Just what is the "Main Drag?" Well, it's a few places where all of the kids go when they go ridin' around. Here's the route: up and down Main Street, down Park Avenue, around the Double K, and around the Dairy Mart, and back up Park Avenue. Of course, there's always somewhere special to go such as by a boyfriend or girlfriend's house to find out where a certain person is or to see who's at the show.

It takes approximately 15 minutes to run the "Main Drag" on a typical Saturday night; about ten minutes on a Sunday afternoon or Sunday night after church, and less than that on week nights. But by all means, there's an exception on a Friday night after a victorious ball game. Then you'll never know how long it might take. While horns are honking and kids are yelling, there's no telling what will happen!

What is the "Main Drag?" I hope you have some idea what it is now and there'll never be another doubt in your mind about it.

Fodder Box

BY JUDY CRUME

There has been a lot going on in junior high since the last paper. The first part of this Fodder Box will be reserved for local gossip.

Frank C. thinks he has a new way to work equations. How about it Frank? C. P. what happened Thursday, Oct. 26, after the ball game with J. D. Mc. Nancy B. you can't wear your blouse with sewn up sleeves, or can you? . . . Girls, how is it so many of you are crazy M. J. Elmo? I haven't met him yet. . . Any special reason for wearing your sweater backwards, J. M.? . . . Cynthia L., how's your star gazing coming along in fourth period? . . . Somebody said that Gayland W. had been listening in on his party line, heard anything interesting lately? . . . Bill J. G. is working on a biology project. He traps life flies. . . Have I seen Phillip S. running from someone lately? . . . Everytime I see him, he's running in and out of hiding places. What's coming off. . . How come C. P. played Sara Skinny in the play? Anybody know? . . .

We know J. M. appreciates the coaches. . . RAH!! Here's an interesting item. There has been a report that F. F. A. boys burn pop corn. . . Say there, Mr. Harmon, only children play with matches. . . Mrs. Jones, English I Third period, we know you were only doing your job: "Quiet in the halls!" . . . Gail W. it has been reported you lost something the other night. Look in your closet. . . By the way B. S. are you going steady or not, and how about Sunday night Oct. 29? . . . Say, C. W. and P. S. What were you doing in Lynn Cook's bathroom?

Well, that's enough nonsense for one paper. We've other things to mention. Last Monday, Oct. 23, Stanton held open house. More than 500 people attended, which is the greatest number that we have had in about two years. Quite a number of junior high students helped out in the trick or treat campaign for CROP on Halloween night. We would like to offer condolences to Gary Stagner who as everybody knows has a broken leg and are glad to see him back at school.

Well, that's all for now — look for the next edition of the Dogie.

Seventh And Eighth Grade Cheerleaders Are Lively

BY VINITA PITTS AND KATHY POOL

Seventh and Eighth grade cheerleaders were elected in assembly on Sept. 15. Donna Hill and Cherrie Hill were chosen by the seventh graders and Mandy Moore and Karen Blackwell by the eighth graders.

What Kids Do On Halloween

BY GARY PAYNE

Most of the children go "trick or treating." This is all right if you just take the treat and leave off the trick. Some of the kids think that Halloween is a night that you can do bad things if it is not against the law, but this is not right.

Some of the older kids go trick or treating for CROP. That is really nice because CROP is a good cause. There were about 300 students who were out collecting on Halloween.

Some of the thoughtless kids take a bar of soap and write on every car and everything else that they can. On Halloween the police have to have more men on duty to patrol the streets to see if any pro-and gals it is all right to go trick or treating if you just take the treat and leave off the trick.

Band Personality For This Month

BY ANN MERCER

Lonnie Mac Coker, one of the drum majors, and sixth chair cornet player for the Stanton Junior High School Band, is the band personality for this month. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd V. Coker. Lonnie is in the eighth grade. His ambition is to work in the agriculture field in some respect, and his hobby is collecting model cars.

His comment about band is that it is a lot of fun with many opportunities. His advice to the kids just starting in band is to try out for drum major if possible, and that band gives one many opportunities for traveling which are a lot of fun. The reason that he joined band last year was because he could play at the football games and try out for drum major.

Jimmy Roberts Gives TV Set

BY LINDA LONDON

Mr. Jimmy Roberts of Roberts Appliance has given a T. V. set to Stanton. The T. V. is located in the library and caused quite a stir during the World Series. Everyone begged their teachers for permission to go watch it. Just recently the eighth grade science class got to watch the firing of our largest rocket, the Saturn. We want to thank Mr. Roberts for giving us this T. V. and we will look forward to using this set to view coverage of special news events.

Introduce More New Teachers At Stanton

BY GAIL WITHERSPOON AND CINDY LOERWALD

(Editor's note: The following concludes the series of articles begun with our first edition this year which was designed to better acquaint everyone with our new teachers this year.)

One of our new teachers this year is Mrs. Ray Todd. Mrs. Todd teaches seventh and eighth grade reading in Stanton. Mrs. Todd was born in Brownwood. She attended both elementary and high school in that city. She received her B. S. degree from Mary Hardin Baylor College. Her husband teaches in high school. They have two daughters. Mrs. Todd taught in the Moody Schools last year.

Another of our new teachers in Stanton this year is Mrs. Emma Jean Combs. Mrs. Combs teaches special education in our building. She isn't new to Hereford because last year she also taught special education at Central. She holds a B. S. degree. Mr. Combs teaches at Shirley. Mr. and Mrs. Combs have three children. She was born in Sulphur Springs and received both elementary and high school education there.

Mr. Ray Hennigh, one of Stanton's Special education teachers, was born on May 12, 1939 in Ruthven, N. M. He lived there until he was two years old and then moved with his family to Darrouzet, Tex. Mr. Hennigh left Darrouzet to attend college at West Texas State. There he majored in speech therapy. Besides being a special education teacher he also teaches speech therapy in some of our elementary schools.

Mr. Hennigh was married to Edna Mae Johnson August 13, 1958. They are very proud of their two - year - old daughter, Susan Raylene. Mr. Hennigh says that his favorite pastime is playing golf.

Mrs. Ruth Bullard was born in Denton. She attended school at Texas University where she majored in speech. Later she obtained her Master's Degree at Trinity University in San Antonio. Mrs. Bullard is a remedial teacher in Stanton Junior High. She has taught in Gainsville, Plainview, San Antonio, and she came here to teach from Grand Prairie. Mrs. Bullard married R. L. Bullard on Nov. 23, 1960. Mrs. Bullard says that her favorite pastime is interior decorating.

World-Wide Art Exhibit Shown

BY ANN ATCHLEY

During the two - week period of October 3-17 our library had a new look, an art exhibit. The exhibit, sponsored by the Red Cross, came to us from St. Louis, Mo., where it was returned after its presence here.

The pictures were painted by children from the ages of 11 to 17 and from all over the world. The international exhibit contained water color pictures, ink, tempera, and a few pastels.

The art students from here at Stanton Junior High are painting pictures for either the local exhibit or for the Junior Red Cross scrapbook.

The scrapbooks from Japan and Thailand are on exhibit at the high school library.

The Dogie

Published monthly by the students of Stanton Junior High School

The Sunday Brand, Hereford, Texas, Sunday, Nov. 5, 1961

Roving Reporter

BY PHYLLIS WARRICK

This month the roving reporter asked several Dogies the question, "What do you think about the grading system of Stanton Junior High?" Following are some of the answers and comments of the students.

Karen Blackwell is one of the eighth grade cheerleaders. She is the 13 - year - old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Blackwell of Route 1, Hereford. Karen's life's desire is to become a professional barrel racer. Her most embarrassing moment was when she nearly got pushed into the boys' restroom. Her answer to this month's question is, "I like the grading system because you have to work for what you deserve." Karen's pet peeve is when somebody tells about a show or television she is watching. Her pastime is riding horses and her hobby is riding her horse. Some of her favorites are food: hamburgers; color: blue; show: Gone With the Wind; book: Horse in Her Heart; song: Big Bad John.

Mike Paschel is an eighth grade student at Stanton Junior High. He is the 13 - year - old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Paschel of Route 4, Hereford. Mike has green eyes and brown hair. His life's desire is to be in the Marine Corps. He has no comment on his most embarrassing moment. This is what Mike thinks about this month's question, "I think the grading system is very fair, because you really have to work to make an 'A' and this is the way it should be." Mike's pet peeve is grouchy teachers. His pastime is tinkering with real cars or model cars. Mike's hobby is collecting model cars and hunting. Some of Mike's favorites are food: steak; color: blue; show: The Ten Commandments; book: The Beardless Warriors; song: A Wonder Like You.

Andre Corley thinks that our grading system is a stiff one but is very good and will help the students in their later life, because now they will study harder to make their grades.

Future Homemakers Serve At Open House

BY DOROTHY FRERICH

The Future Homemakers of America served refreshments to visitors during the annual open house held at junior high school on October 23. Punch and cookies which the home-making girls had made were served. The girls who worked at the open house received points to go on their records.

Group Objects To Textbooks State Will Use

Representatives of the Hereford "Texans for America" group met with J. Everett Haley in Canyon Thursday morning to discuss plans for action against textbooks which have been recommended by the State Textbook Committee.

Haley, a prominent rancher and area historian, told the group that the goal of Texans for America was to get "good" textbooks written and published. Haley, along with other members of the organization, expressed concern over a number of "inferior and subversive textbooks" which were recently recommended for use by the state.

Those attending the meeting from Hereford Thursday morning in Canyon were Mrs. Clarence Hicks, Mrs. Leroy Williamson, and Mrs. C. F. Newsum.

Elect Bill Angel Head Of PPPA

Bill Angel of Hereford was elected president of the Panhandle Professional Photographers Association Sunday during the association's third and last meeting of the year held at the Herring Hotel.

Approximately 80 photographers and their wives from the Panhandle area attended the one-day meeting. The next meeting will be held in Amarillo in February.

RAINING FISH

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California air-dropped 3,729, 877 fingerling trout into 804 remote lakes in a high mountain country during 1961.

Fish and game officials figured the cost of the aerial stocking program at $1.41 per thousand and trout against $20 per thousand when the fish had to be hauled in by pack train.

INFORMED VISITOR

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — Mrs. Edwin Betts, official hostess at the University of Virginia's famed Rotunda, regularly tells visitors of the great fire that destroyed the building in 1895.

Dr. James B. Bullitt, of Chapel Hill, N. C., turned out to know more about it than she did. He was a student from 1895 to 1899 and helped save a statue of Thomas Jefferson from the flames.

Guest Speaker At Church On Sunday

BY MRS. OWEN ANDREWS
Guest speaker at the Frio Baptist Church Sunday morning was George Amegin, of Lorenzo. He is Russian, was born in China and came to this country with his parents when he was a child. He told of the hardships endured by his family under Communistic - controlled governments, and said that he felt that the only real defense against Communism is a strong Christian faith.

Amegin was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. David Hutchins and daughter, and Mrs. Hutchins' brother, Tommy Rossen, of Sudan. Amegin and Rossen were students together at W. T. S. C. last year.

Visiting the David Hutchins on Sunday were George Amegin, Tommy Rossen, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Rossen, Mrs. Hutchins' parents from Sudan, and her sister, Ellen Wade of Whithart.

A Halloween party was held at the Weldon Stephens barn on Saturday night. Guests came costumed and played games.

REMEMBER WHEN?

BY CHARLIE SEEDS

The dramatic events of that year came to a head on April 5th, when Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Commander of the United Nations forces in Korea, replied to a letter from Representative Joseph W. Martin, House Minority Leader. In his reply, MacArthur backed the use of Chiang Kai-shek's troops to open a second front against the Communists in Asia, and advocated the bombing of "protected" Red Chinese bases in Manchuria, from which the Reds were able to send planes against U. N. forces without fear of counterattack.

On April 11th the electrifying announcement was made. President Truman announced that he had concluded that Gen. MacArthur was unable to give the wholehearted support to U. S. and United Nations policies. MacArthur was fired from all commands, an action which sparked one of the greatest controversies in our history.

Remember the year? In spite of the Korean War, that was a boom year in the automobile business. Americans were clamoring for new cars, even though the new models weren't much different from those of the previous years.

The year was 1951. You'll see a tremendous difference in the new 1962 Ford. You'll feel the difference in surging power and handling ease. See it in advanced styling that's years ahead. And we're trading high, selling low, right now, at CHARLIE SEEDS MOTOR CO. Inc., W. Hwy. 60 at Miles, Phone EM 4-2727.

Halloween Party For Episcopal Children Held

The smaller children of the St. Thomas Episcopal Church Sunday School were entertained with an old-fashioned Halloween party on Tuesday evening, Oct. 31, from 6:30 to 8 p.m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Kirby.

A welter roast in the fireplace of the Kirby home started the festivities. "Witches' brew" boiling in an old cast iron kettle over a make-believe fire fascinated the little children. Dry ice had been added to the water, around a smaller kettle filled with punch, causing steam to rise giving the illusion of a "boiling pot."

Games of musical chairs, bobbing for apples and pinning the stem on the pumpkin were played. Prizes were awarded for the most frightening costume, a skeleton, worn by Jody Treadwell; the cutest costume prize was won by a little one dressed as "droopy dog;" and the most original costume prize went to Sabra Traweck, dressed as a princess. Sixteen children attended the party.

SHADES OF THE FRONTIER
MEMPHIS (AP) - Housewife Mrs. Edward Storer wanted to be a pioneer.

So in her spare time she went through musty files and faded maps of the Army Engineers and she traveled up and down the Mississippi River.

Mrs. Storer now has her reward. A notice posted in the courthouse announces her as the owner of an island on one ever claimed before.

Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson earned $75 in his first professional fight in 1952. In his fourth and final bout that year his purse was $1,500.

TOO SMALL to take part in the games and activities, this tiny goblin still enjoyed attending the Halloween party at the Casa de Amigos on Tuesday night. When she found that her mask was interfering with her view of the proceedings, she just pulled it down so she wouldn't miss anything. About 100 youngsters attended the party. (Staff Photo)

BIGGER BOMBS
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The atomic bomb which devastated Hiroshima in World War II is a firecracker in comparison with the immense payload capability of the United States' big military rockets.

The Hiroshima bomb packed a punch equivalent to 20,000 tons of dynamite. The Atlas and Titan intercontinental range missiles, if fired in anger, would deliver 4 megaton bombs — equal to four million tons of TNT. An advanced Titan now under development will carry 10 megatons. The smaller Minuteman and Polaris missiles have warheads with the explosive power of 500,000 tons of dynamite.
