HALE CENTER, Oct. 23. — Between 2,500 and 3,000 persons to night attended the county-wide celebration staged by Hale Center in honor of the completion of the city's paving program and also that of the county's north and south paving program, the first all county north and south road on the South Plains.

Starting at 7:30 with a program at the corner of Clark and Cleveland streets, the celebration lasted until after midnight, with a dance on the Cleveland street paving in which several hundred took part, bringing the affair to a close. Following this the Hale Center theater staged a midnight matinee with many attending from Plainview and other towns.

Speakers on Program
Speakers from Abilene, Plainview and Lubbock, expressed the congratulations of their respective communities at the work done by the town in its paving program. Two rural schools also joined in the affair with places on the program.

Dr. Smith J. Underwood, president of the chamber of commerce, was master of ceremonies. A platform was erected on the north side of West Cleveland, from which the speakers delivered their messages. The chamber of commerce had named a committee, headed by W. O. Sears, to arrange for the program and Chairman Sears assisted.

Rails Hearing Nearing Close

Temporary Cessation Looms in Railway Battle Before I.C.C. on Application to Consolidate Two Lines

(By The Associated Press)
DALLAS, Oct. 23. — The interstate commerce commission hearing on the application of the Southern Pacific to buy control of the St. Louis Southwestern (Cotton Belt) neared a temporary cessation today. The applicant concluded its direct testimony and most of the short lines had presented their views.

The Groveton, Lufkin and North-South lines, extending from Groveton to Lufkin, Tex., the Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas, from Shreveport to McKinney, Tex.; Waco, Beaumont, Trinity and Sabine, a Texas road, and the Paris and Mt. Pleasant, another Texas road between those towns, were asked to be included by purchase in the proposed system. Another Texas short line, the Burlington-Rock Island, formerly the Trinity and Brazos valley, was asked for a continuation of the present interconnection of traffic with the Cotton Belt and the Southern Pacific.

Favors Consolidation
With the interstate commerce commission favoring the consolidation of railroads into a limited number of groups, the short lines took the position they were doomed unless they were embraced in one of the groupings. Each tried to show that it was to the benefit of the public for the road to continue to operate.

Torreblanca And Tipica Orchestra of Mexico Please Audience in Lubbock

Orchestra Leader Is Colorful Figure of Music World

BY MARGARET TURNER
Avalanche Staff Writer

SMALL wonder it is that Senior Torreblanca, leader of Mexico's Tipica orchestra is known and loved by natives of Mexico and hailed as being to that country what Sousa is to the United States.

To begin with he has the love and respect of all of the members of his orchestra whom he has had with him for nine years. The crook of a finger and shrug of shoulders are magnificent gestures to these musicians who keep their eyes on him from the beginning to the end of a selection.

Known As "El Maestro"
It was impossible to see "El Maestro" as he is known prior to the concert last night. The company arrived in Lubbock barely in time to get into their costumes for the afternoon performance which lasted until dark.

Following a hasty dinner the Mexicans returned to the Tech gymnasium where the concerts were given and prepared for their second entertainment.

As soon as the final notes of their last score had died the huge crowd left the building but the musicians remained and packed their instruments which must have been loving care.

But where is "El Maestro"? They shrugged, they hurried to look in the dressing room, two ran to the door and peered into the darkness.

First Artist Course Number Presented Thursday Night

PLAYING before a capacity auditorium in the Texas Tech gymnasium Torreblanca's Tipica Mexican orchestra scored another success in Texas last night as the initial number on the college's artist course.

The concert was unlike anything ever heard in Lubbock and an appreciative audience listened and applauded from the beginning while all stood first to the strains of the Mexican national anthem, followed by the Star Spangled Banner to the final notes of the much-loved La Paloma.

Instruments Hand Made
The instruments were hand-made with the exception of the violin, cello, drums and harp and typical of Mexico.

The first part of the program consisted of numbers by the orchestra and included "Rapsodia Mexicana," "Briseno," "Berecuse," "Castro," "Danzas Orientales," "Padre," "Malaguena," "Lecun," and "Anita Lucy" appeared to delight the audience with their graceful dancing.

Apparently unconscious of the many eyes which were upon their every turn, the two swung through their steps with abandon and grace. They were beautiful and danced beautifully.

Forecast GOP In Control of Next Congress

Chairman Fess of Republican National Committee Is Sure Party Will Be Victorious Over Democratic Ranks

Two Major Political Organizations Intensify Their Efforts to Gain Votes in November 4 Elections

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 23. — Republican control of the next congress was predicted tonight by Chairman Fess of the Republican national committee as the two major parties intensified their efforts to gain votes in the November 4 election.

"The country is republican," Fess asserted in a statement through the Republican national committee. "In the past 70 years the administration has been Republican save two exceptions. During that time both branches of congress with but few exceptions were Republican."

Fess asserted that Democrats never win "except when Republicans are divided in some off-year when political interest is inactive."

Party Not Divided
"In this off-year," he added, "the Republican party is not divided. Local issues here and there divide Republicans, but not more so than Democrats."

A claim that Democrats would gain control of the house was made last Sunday by Chairman Fess of the Democratic national executive committee. He added that if the Democrats won in three of five states classed as doubtful they would have a majority of one in the next senate.

"General apathy incident to an off-year election," Fess continued, "rapidly is being dissipated by the character of the campaign conducted to break down the program of the president of the United States."

Tunnel Cavein Fatal to Two

Third Trainman Is Seriously Injured When Victims Are Buried Under Debris; Bodies Recovered by Rescuers

(By The Associated Press)
STEVENSVILLE, Oct. 23. — Two men lost their lives and a third was injured seriously in the cavein of a railroad tunnel that buried a freight train near Adams, 25 miles southwest of here today.

The dead were E. Duga, 55, Dillonvale, and Jerry L. Sells, 40, a conductor. The injured trainman was Al Romano, 35, who suffered a crushed hip and a broken arm and leg.

Rescuers dug several hours in debris before the men were removed. Sells' body, buried by dirt and stone, was the first recovered. Romano was saved by supporting timbers that separated him from the crumbling tunnel roof. Duga and Sells, caught under the heaviest part of the cavein, apparently were killed instantly.

The victims were trapped in the train's caboose which was demolished when it was caught within six freight cars about 300 feet from the east end of the tunnel. The cars were pulled from the tunnel by a locomotive.

Stepmother of Denver Child Admits Crime

Mrs. Pearl O'Loughlin Given Right to Confer with Her Attorneys After Extended Questioning by Officers

(By The Associated Press)
DENVER, Colo., Oct. 23. — Mrs. Pearl O'Loughlin, stepmother of 10-year-old Lorna O'Loughlin, found dead in a city park lake, today obtained a court order permitting her to confer with counsel a few hours after Bert Clark, detective captain, said she had assumed responsibility for the slaying.

Other developments in the strange case were announced in rapid succession. Frank O'Loughlin, the woman's brother-in-law who lives in the prisoner's home, also was taken into custody. Captain Clark said Mrs. O'Loughlin, after an all night grueling shouting, "get Frank and give us a sanity test. We must both be crazy."

To File Charges
District Attorney Earl Wetzel, reiterated his decision to file a first degree murder charge against the step-mother tomorrow. He said he also was considering taking similar action against Frank O'Loughlin.

Some uncertainty concerning the reported confession resulted from a statement by Mrs. Suzanne Armstrong, matron of the city jail. Mrs. Armstrong said when the prisoner left the detective captain's office she remarked she knew nothing of the slaying of her step-child.

Mrs. O'Loughlin has been held by police five days and subjected to frequent questioning. The body of the little girl was found last Friday in the lake, bearing bruises and gashes on the head.

Eight local unions were represented at the meeting. J. E. Calland, president of the central union, presided.

The Labor temple was chosen as permanent meeting place. Meetings will be held the second and fourth Thursdays of each month, it was decided.

Negro Escapes Electric Chair
Governor Commutes Jackson Death Sentence to Life Imprisonment on Eve of His Scheduled Execution

(By The Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Oct. 23. — Presentation of evidence raising "serious doubt" as to whether Monty Jackson, negro, fired the fatal shot in the murder of E. C. Cornwell, night watchman at Simonton, Fort Bend county in 1928, saved Jackson from going to the electric chair after midnight tonight.

Governor Dan Moody late today commuted his sentence to life imprisonment. This action had been recommended by the parole board. Jackson pleaded self defense at his trial, although he told others that he had no gun, had fled from the scene of the shooting and had not fired the shot. Two other negroes were with him, one of whom turned state's evidence and the other died in jail.

To Increase Jobs

Government Departments Plan to Provide Employment for Number of 3,500,000 Idle Americans at Present Time

By CECIL E. DICKSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23. (P) — The federal government took concrete steps today to stem the tide of unemployment as the Hoover cabinet committee set up to handle the problem began functioning.

Coinciding with a call from Colonel Arthur Woods, the relief director, asking industry to cooperate, government departments announced plans to provide employment to a number of the 3,500,000 idle Americans.

The postoffice department took steps to suspend over time work to regular employees in order that substitutes may obtain employment. Orders to this effect will go forward tomorrow.

Abandon Reduction
Plans of the shipping board to reduce its domestic force by 500 and its foreign personnel by 250 in its reorganization program have been abandoned to prevent an increase in the number of jobs.

Secretary Hurley moved to have the army engineers adopt the "stagger system" of employment on rivers and harbors work, particularly along the Mississippi river. He also is seeking cooperation of contractors to aid in increasing the number of jobs on certain projects.

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHER E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

After trying out her own theories for many years without success, the writer of this column has decided to call on her public for help. How does one go about gaining a few pounds?

Of course, she hadn't intended to let her public know just how much she needed to gain and she doesn't expect to put out any exact figures on what the scales reveal. But she can't seem to remain out of sight and she needs some help in acquiring some unholiness and curves to put in her new fall dress.

Since the Plainman, who writes a column for the Daily Journal, has been receiving so much aid in his campaign to lose weight, she feels that some of her readers will be glad to send in advice on how to acquire a few pounds. She has been looking over his mail thinking that probably she could operate on a reverse system and gain, but doing without chestnuts didn't get her anywhere and his reducing machines and medicines didn't say anything about how they could be employed for gaining weight.

She feels sure that there are ways. A lot of people seem to have found a method of maintaining one of these bathing-belly type of figures and this columnist is filled with envy. She's tired of having acquaintances stop her on the street on windy days and suggest that she put rocks in her coat pockets; she's tired of always being seated on fragile chairs and given the crack between the bed at slumber parties.

That there are ways of gaining, she is pretty sure, as she remembers hearing a few people mention them. But she was always so engrossed in pursuing her own schemes that she failed to put them down and now that her plan is unsuccessful, she needs to know of another method.

This columnist and the Plainman have found an ideal weight, discovered through adding their two weights and dividing the total by two. Now he is attempting to come down to the figure and she is attempting to get up to it. He is setting a lot of help and now she is wanting some assistance too, so won't some one who knows a way, tell her about it?

THE NEW BLOUSE
Satin blouses which the around the throat in scarf effect take preference over square necked or "V" decolletes with a Paris dressmaker whose town suits make style history, a fashion note says. Colors favored are pale turquoise, powder and white.

KITCHEN EQUIPMENT
Kitchen shears are always handy for preparing lettuce, for mincing parsley, for shredding orange peel and meat. And then there are the poultry shears, which have strong enough blades to cut the bones of birds.

AND, HERE'S WHY
ANNOUNCEMENT of a carnival that is to be given this evening under the auspices of the various Camp Fire groups in Lubbock probably elicited the same question from me that many other people have wanted to ask. Thinking that Camp Fire is a Community Chest project, I went to Mrs. Mike Barker, president of the Guardian's association, with my query of why the groups are finding it necessary to raise more money.

Each group of Camp Fire has certain expenses which must be met, Mrs. Barker explained. Honors must be brought to be awarded to the girls, certain paraphernalia is necessary for crafts and nature lore study and for other plans of the groups during the year. Hence, the girls and their guardians find it necessary to enter into some scheme to raise funds. The carnival this evening, which is to be open to the public, is the outgrowth of such a plan.

The Community Chest Camp Fire fund is dispensed through the counsel of the organization, Mrs. Barker pointed out, and is used for salaries, summer encampment and other such things. The Camp Fire council and the Association of Guardians are distinct organizations promoting different phases of Camp Fire activities in Lubbock.

APPLE TAPIOCA
Now that the ice cream season is practically over, other desserts need to be sought for meals. Here is a recipe for apple tapioca: One half cup pearl tapioca, cold water, 2 1/2 cups boiling water, 1 teaspoon salt, 5 apples, 1-2 cup sugar. Soak tapioca one hour in cold water to cover; drain; add boiling water and salt; cook in double boiler until transparent. Core and pare apples; arrange in buttered baking dish. Fill cavities with sugar, pour over tapioca and bake in moderate oven until apples are soft. Serve with lemon sauce.

Many Plan to Be at School For Each Day

Inquiries Indicate Larger Attendance of Housewives at Annual Cooking School Next Week

Many housewives of Lubbock are planning to attend the annual cooking school sponsored by the Aviancine Journal publications, which will be conducted by Mrs. Leona Risk Thrig beginning next Monday. The lectures will be given each afternoon for four days in the Uptown Dance Palace starting promptly at 2:30 o'clock.

Judging by the inquiries at the Journal office, every indication points to the fact that Mrs. Thrig will come close to setting a new attendance record for cities the size of Lubbock when she opens her school.

Discusses Cooking Methods With all the intimacy and informality of a close friend revealing her favorite secrets in her own kitchen, Mrs. Thrig strips the perplexities and worries of cooking from this most ancient of arts. In a clear, graphic manner she discusses the development of balanced menus based on intimate knowledge of the scientific calculation of food values in various items; the recipes of the world's most famous chefs; the essential virtues of tried and tested nationally advertised food products; and above all, extends a personal, intimate interest in every housewife's problems by inviting her questions, either from the floor or at the end of the class. She will endeavor to work out for each woman desiring to counsel with her, the little items that transform what otherwise could be drudgery, into one of the most fascinating and exact of the arts.

Admission Is Free There is every indication that Mrs. Thrig's forthcoming appearance will inaugurate a new era of higher cooking standards and greater home happiness for the housewife and the general health of the family circle. The Aviancine-Journal company, through its women's department, wishes to extend to every housewife in Lubbock and vicinity, an invitation devoid of strings or qualifications, to attend not one, but all of Mrs. Thrig's discourses. Subjects fascinating to the feminine heart, make up each of her interesting daily presentations, and while there is a unity running through all four, each day's subject is entirely different from that of the preceding day. Admission is free. The lectures will begin promptly at 2:30 daily. In order to expedite seating it is urged that as

Letter Written by Mrs. Fine Tells Of Dallas Fair Trip for 4-H Girls Who Were Sent by Lubbock County

Four Lubbock county girls who are in Dallas to attend the 4-H encampment at the State Fair ground are thoroughly enjoying the occasion, according to a letter from Mrs. C. Z. Fine, who accompanied them.

Awarded the trip through the courtesy of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce for their winnings in the exhibits at the Panhandle South Plains fair, the personnel of the group is Misses Guyrene Horton, Virgie and Beadie Moore of Hurstwood, and Miss Marie Squires, of County Line. The letter from Mrs. Fine follows:

"Dear Folks: We are having a wonderful time at the encampment. No one can properly appreciate what this work means until he comes and sees for himself. There are 250 girls and 20 chaperones here. We are seeing some of the wonderful exhibits of the state. (We are very proud of our own county's exhibits.)

"The whole state, it seems, has contributed to make this week a memorable one for the standpoint of both pleasure and profit. We saw 'Sons-O'-Guns' last night and this afternoon we are going to see Byrd's exhibit. Also, the wonderful picture 'The Battle of Gettysburg.' I am sure club work will be boosted when we get home.

"Too much cannot be said for Miss Edwards, Miss Hill, Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. Cunningham and Mrs. Clayton for their unselfish labor in promoting this work. We shall have many things to tell when we get home."

Predict Niagara Falls to Be Outdone By Seawater Cuban Power Plant

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, October 23. —(AP)—Georges Claude tonight predicted Niagara Falls would be outdone as a power source by a future seawater plant, which would be an improvement of his experiment at Matanzas, Cuba.

Niagara water falls less than 200 feet, but Claude told a meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers he could produce power equivalent to sea water "falling" at an unlimited measure as wanted in a cataract, 300 feet high.

Figures Given The scientist, who is on his way to France, gave the engineers technical figures of power produced in his small Cuban plant, which he said proved his claims. At Matanzas he obtained 125 kilowatts of power from a difference of temperature of 10 1-2 degrees Centigrade between surface and deep water.

But, he said, this power jumped to 22 kilowatts with an increase of only 3 1-2 degrees in the temperature difference. He explained the efficiency of a sea water plant grows as the square of the temperature difference.

"And," he said, "there is a difference of 24 degrees available most of the year in the region of Santiago de Cuba."

The temperature difference, he said, is not the only source of additional power expected. It will also come from ironing out mechanical imperfections which he described in the Cuban plant. He said his experiments showed that

DIES OF INJURIES

GRAND SALINE, Oct. 23. (AP)—Harry Malone, 28, of Mineola, died here today after he had been picked up unconscious and badly bruised, on the Big Sandy highway. Malone was said to have stopped a passing automobile after a truck he and another man were riding in had overturned. His body bore evidences of having been beaten, officers said.

DIES OF INJURIES

FRANKFORT, Ind., Oct. 23. (AP)—Robert M. Freeman, 14-year-old junior high school student, died here yesterday from injuries received while playing football. A chest infection, which resulted in pneumonia, caused death.

"In large plants of the future" it will be possible to obtain more than 500 kilowatts of power from every cubic meter of cold water passing per second through the works. Of this power four-fifths, he said, will be net, the other fifth being required for operation.

The fragrance of these BEANS brought the town flocking

On Saturday nights, when Uncle William served his famous beans in his Western eating house, the whole camp came flocking. They liked the teasing, different taste of these mountain beans, cooked to rich and flaky tenderness in a wonderful sauce.

Today those mountain beans are famous far beyond the confines of that Western camp. Brown Beauty Beans are on your grocer's shelves, ready for tonight's supper. There are no other beans like them—they are different in variety from the lowland beans—different in color—different in their hearty, mellow, delectable flavor. Serve them hot in their own delicate sauce. Make them into chile con carne—salads—or combine with other ingredients in wonderful dishes that are different and satisfying. Ask your grocer for recipes when you order a can of Brown Beauty Beans today.

Order, too, some Dairy Maid Korn Kernels. The very hearts of Pearl corn, with all their full food values retained. Light, fluffy, and snow-white kernels. Steam creamed and appetizing. May be served either as a breakfast cereal or as a vegetable with lunch or dinner. Your grocer has them. Ask for free recipe folder.

MOTOR MISHAPS

TWO fatal motor accidents and a third near-fatal mishap of the same type have occurred in and near Lubbock during the past week. Hardly a day passes but that Lubbock papers have to report an automobile accident of some kind or description and the same situation holds good in every section of the country.

Motor mishaps, in direct ratio with population, have become a part of our daily routine and while efforts have been made to decrease them those efforts appear to be little short of futile.

Millions fear to venture into the skies because of the apparent dangers of flying, yet few avoid the highways because of dread that is produced in them by the knowledge that 1,000,000 persons are killed or injured each year in motor accidents. Reliable statistics in this field are unobtainable, but there are many who believe the traveler is just as safe in an airplane as in an automobile.

At the rate that has been maintained this far, there will be about 36,000 deaths from motor accidents in 1930. There were 33,000 deaths last year, and 28,348 in 1928.

Nor is this alarming increase merely keeping pace with the rise in motor vehicle registration. Facilities have multiplied more rapidly than the instruments causing them. Moreover, the national population is not climbing as rapidly on a percentage basis as highway fatalities.

Last year's figures were keenly disappointing for much work was done that year in making the roads safer and in educating the public in highway safety rules. With an estimated increase in deaths of 3,000 this year, or 90 per cent less than the 1929 increase, the country may feel that it has made some gains.

It is difficult for the average motorist and pedestrian to understand why the toll continues to grow in spite of the fact that the risks of the road are recognized as one of the most serious and immediate of public problems and in spite of improvements in roads, cars and traffic control methods. That is what disturbs them.

INSPIRATION

Artistic taste and inspiration approach art from opposite sides, but they mingle in the hearts of children, who like to draw objects as soon as they see them. A grown person may contemplate a statue, a handsome animal, a tall building, or a bird in flight, admire and appreciate the beauty to be found in it, without feeling an irresistible desire to record that grace with his own hand.

Most children, restlessly trying everything that gives an outlet to energy, go through a period of drawing or copying the things that take their fancy. What they like may not be subtle or profound, but it is apt to be lively, suggesting motion, speed and spontaneity, and frequently it is humorous.

It has been observed that many children use the comic pages of the Sunday papers as models in their drawing. All the absurd figures quarreling through the "strips," all the fantastic animals with their more than human expressions, appeal to the child's liking for action and fun. But these are not the best models for cultivating artistic taste and a love for beautiful pictures in the mind of the child.

There is a world of harmless amusement for children in the Sunday "funnies" and the "comics" in the daily papers, but not even those who draw them would recommend them as models for youngsters with the common instinct for drawing. Parents, schools and libraries can do the pencil-wielding child a lasting service by guiding it to the works of the great masters.

Neither can one begin too early to direct the child to good books. The proportion of trash in juvenile reading is probably as large as that in adult reading, and the child who begins with the trash often goes through life without knowing what good literature is.

DISCIPLINE, THEN AND NOW

Whether or not the world is growing better, it is at least growing a little less brutal. Brief news items in nearly any newspaper will prove that. The other day, for instance, a dispatch told of some insubordination on a British battleship. The skipper was a firm disciplinarian, and the crew resented it; so three or four score bluejackets went A. W. O. L. one night and had a gay time on shore. Taken back aboard ship by the patrols, they are now awaiting court-martial.

These sailors will be punished, of course—probably by the loss of privileges and by fines. But a century ago, in the British navy or any other, what would have happened? Their ring-leaders would have been hanged and the rest would have been flogged until they were fit for the hospital. That was the universal law of the way to maintain naval discipline 100 years ago.

The modern age, with all its faults, isn't quite as rough as the age of our great-grandfathers. For genuine severity, suppose there were a vice-presidency of Italy.

STEWART SEES ROBINSON AS CHOICE OF DRYS IN DEMOCRATIC PARTY

(This is the second of a series of three articles on the next presidential election).
By Charles P. Stewart
(Central Press Staff Writer)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Two eventualities can snuff out Franklin D. Roosevelt as leading 1932 Democratic presidential possibility.

He will be pretty effectively snuffed out if Charles H. Tuttle, the Republican candidate for governor of New York, beats him for re-election in November—and Al Smith will be mighty thoroughly snuffed simultaneously.

The snuffing will be about equally decisive if this year's state elections fall to bear out the assertions of a national wet trend which anti-prohibitionists have been making lately—for Roosevelt climbed upon the wet bandwagon at just the psychological moment to cause the maximum amount of annoyance with him in dry Democratic circles.

On the theory that only drys are entitled to classification among 1932's Democratic presidential possibilities, Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas becomes possibility-in-chief without any further argument.

That is to say he is possibility-in-chief at least until other dry aspirants announce themselves, a formality which Senator Robinson's friends already have attended to in the Arkansas behalf—indeed, going so far as to add that Governor Roosevelt also favors him, next after himself, and that Governor Ritchie of Maryland has expressed himself similarly.

It is true that Governor Roosevelt's and Governor Ritchie's spokesmen immediately qualified this statement with a couple of hot denials that either Roosevelt or Ritchie ever said anything of the kind, but the incident goes to show that Senator Robinson is in earnest, anyway.

However, Robinson is sure of dry competition as 1932 draws nearer.

The Arkansas stock in trade includes his leadership of the senate Democrats and his record as a loyal, hard-working vice presidential campaigner on the ticket with Al Smith in 1928. He is a fine, orthodox chap, of passable ability.

Not yet in the race, but beginning to be suggested, is another Democratic dry of really first-class merits—Representative Cordell Hull of Tennessee, 1921-24 national chairman and one of the foremost authorities on taxation problems in America. Hull has been a presidential possibility before—not a particularly strong possibility, but this year he is a senate candidate. His geography makes his election look extremely probable. In the senate he will show to better advantage the crowded house of representatives has obscured him unfairly.

But Frank Roosevelt's defeat by Charles H. Tuttle in New York (a supposition simply conjured up for the sake of argument) will not necessarily strengthen the dry wing of the Democratic party.

Tuttle now is as wet as Roosevelt.

Auntie Democracy indisputably needs New York this fall—needs it like sixty—to make her 1932 chances look adequately promising. Nevertheless, the loss of it would be as likely to drive her to drink as upon the water cart.

Illustratively, suppose the Democratic wets, Franklin Roosevelt and Alexander Simpson, are beaten in New York and New Jersey, respectively; after all, it will not prove anything as to the wet-and-dry issue, for their G. O. P. opponents, Charles Tuttle and Dwight W. Morrow also are wets.

But suppose that, simultaneously, the wets, Democratic Marcus A. Coolidge, Thomas F. Bayard, Robert J. Bulkley, Thomas P. Gore and James Hamilton Lewis win respectively in Massachusetts, Delaware, Ohio, Oklahoma and Illinois; that will be highly significant for their Republican opponents—William M. Butler, Senators Daniel O. Hastings, Roscoe C. McCutcheon and W. R. Pine, and Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick—are all very dry except one, and she is a poorfoot. And suppose, for good measure, that Democracy's long-time Montana dry, Senator Thomas J. Walsh, is beaten for re-election by the wets, Republican Justice Albert J. Galien.

SCIENCE NOW ABLE TO CONTROL THE MANUFACTURE OF BLOOD

By Dr. Morris Fishbein, Editor Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, The Health Magazine

"From time immemorial," the Harvard lecturer, Dr. Lovell Gulland, said, "it has been recognized that blood is essential to life, but ever since man began to think there seems to have been a rocking notion that there was more in it than a mere nutrient fluid."

The story of the gradual changes of opinion of mankind concerning the nature of the blood is one of the most fascinating histories in science. It involves all sorts of confused ideas, attempts at magic, and extraordinary theories which were only destroyed by the development of the microscope and our modern knowledge of the blood.

It is interesting to realize that some of the torned elements in the blood were discovered only within the last 100 years, and that actual knowledge of these torned elements has been available only for the last 50 years. For instance, the man who first described pernicious anemia in 1822 apparently never looked at the blood, but concerned himself only with the gross symptoms.

The first record of a microscopic examination of the blood, but concerned himself only with the gross symptoms.

The first record of a microscopic examination of the blood in disease was apparently dated about 1845 when an Englishman named Hughes Bennett, and the great German, Virchow, simultaneously described the appearance of the blood in the condition called leukemia, a disease in which the manufacture of the white blood cells runs wild.

Actually most of our modern knowledge of the blood depends on the fact that the great Ehrlich, who first discovered salvarsan, began to develop stains which are applied to specimens of blood withdrawn from a vein and dropped on a slide, these stains having the power to bring out the various elements within the blood cells.

The manufacture of blood goes on constantly in the human body. In some diseases, such as pernicious anemia, the destruction goes on rapidly. By the giving of liver, the manufacturing rate may be speeded up to such an extent that it is possible to make a number of red blood cells far beyond the usual requirement. If the blood cells, more work is required on the part of the heart to push the blood around the body. The blood must be sent to every part of the body in order to maintain its health and nutrition.

The white blood cells are increased in times of infection and greatly lowered in certain diseases. Thus the number may vary from 500 cells for each cubic millimeter of blood to 2,000,000 cells for each cubic millimeter. The white cells are concerned with the defense of the body against germs, against the poison's developed by germs or by chemicals, and against any foreign material.

SMOKING WAS COMPULSORY IN A SCHOOL
Long after the introduction of tobacco into England, it was used almost exclusively as a medicinal agent. It was generally believed to possess wonderful curative properties. Its compulsory use as a prophylactic in the Harrow school in England occurred in the 17th century, during the Great Plague.

TOMORROW—THE LITTLE BOG LAUGHED TO HEAR THE SPORT

Heart Hungry

by LAURA LOU BROOKMAN
AUTHOR OF "RASH ROMANCE" © 1930 by NEA SERVICE, INC.

CECILIA MITCHELL, 17, faces a new life when she leaves the home in Baltimore where she has lived for her seamstress mother, MARY-ANN MITCHELL, and her father, JOHN MITCHELL, and her grandmother in a stately New York dwelling.

The girl had not even known her father was living until the day he came to the Baltimore apartment. Cecilia had supposed BOB ROGERS, her mother's second husband, to be her father. Mitchell offers the girl a life of wealth and immediately everything changes. She leaves her mother, unaware that Mrs. Rogers is seriously ill, and she leaves BARNES SHIELDS, young newspaper photographer, who just as they are leaving a servant pressed something into Cecilia's hand.

The girl is lonely and ill at ease in her new home. Mitchell finds her in tears and is worried. He calls on MRS. EVELYN PARSONS, a beautiful widow whose husband was Mitchell's close friend. Mrs. Parsons agrees to introduce Cecilia to the right set of young people. It is obvious she is interested in the girl as a means to gain Mitchell's affections. To this end she invites Cecilia to spend a week and at her home. Just as they are leaving a servant pressed something into Cecilia's hand.

Now GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XVII

The motor car turned into a wooded lane and ahead, set well back from the road, Cecilia saw a large white house. Mrs. Parsons waved a hand toward it.

"That's the place," she said. Then glancing at a wrist watch she added, "we've made good time driving."

"It looks lovely!" Cecilia murmured.

"I'm fond of it. This is where all my happiest hours have been spent." Evelyn Parsons' voice seemed so sincere, so sweetly brave that sympathy swelled in the girl's heart. She had been told that Mrs. Parsons was a recent widow. And she had no idea that practically every visitor to Larchwood had heard the same speech about Evelyn's "happy hours."

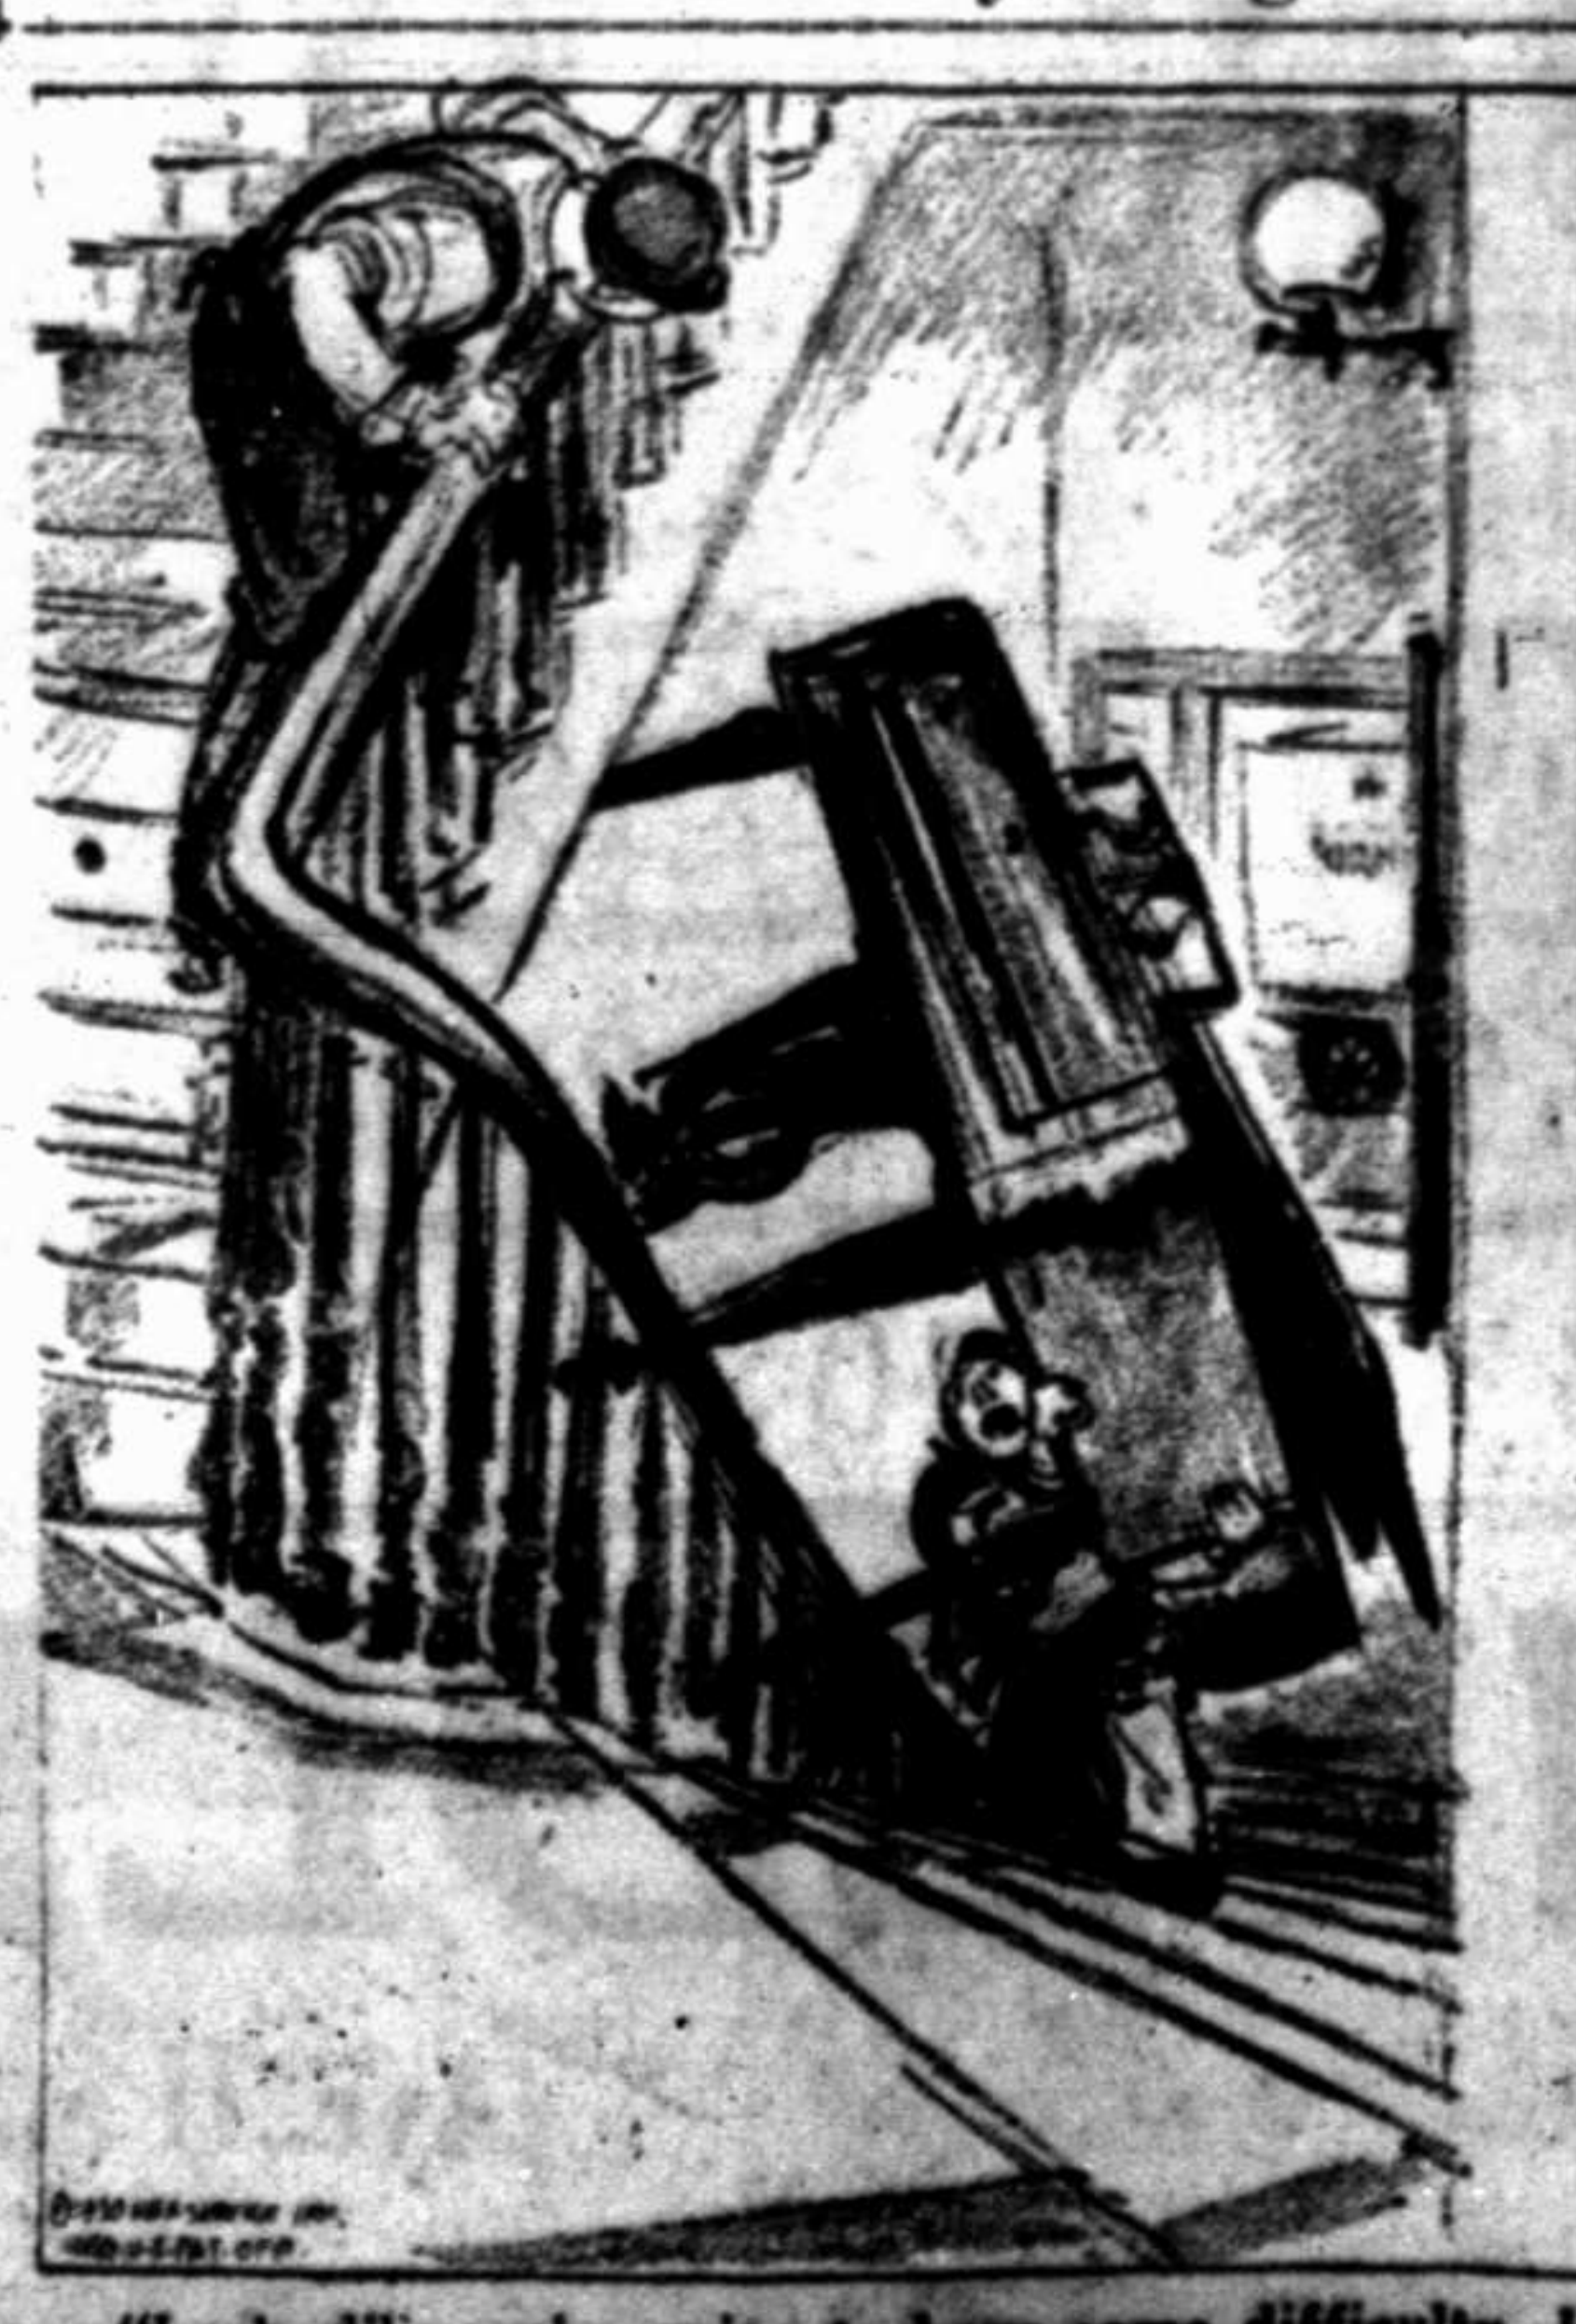

The house was named for this double row of trees. Mrs. Parsons explained. "It was built by Dwight's father years ago."

Cecilia, feeling she was in the presence of grief, remained silent. The car swung into the driveway. Close-cut rolling lawn stretched to either side and beyond, shading the rambling colonial house, were more of the larch trees. There were hollyhocks, larkspurs and other old-fashioned flowers at each side of the entrance. Green and white striped awnings covered the windows. Larchwood appeared delightfully hospitable.

"What a beautiful home!" Cecilia Mitchell exclaimed. She was contrasting it mentally with the Mit-

Hobbs Paving To Be Started

Construction Is Expected to Begin Next Week on Paving of Ten Blocks in Business District of City

(By Staff Correspondent)

HOBBS, N. M., Oct. 23.—Work on the paving of ten blocks of streets in the business section of Hobbs is to start next week, probably on Monday, it was said today. The contract was let last week to the Louthan Construction company of Brownfield, Texas, by the city council, after bids had been opened for the work.

Paving will include five blocks on Carlsbad street through the central portion of the retail section of Hobbs, four blocks on Taylor street, the first street north of Carlsbad and one block on Turner street connecting the two east and west streets.

Warrants to the amount of $58,355.55 were authorized issued by the city council in payment of the work. The construction company agreed to take the paving and, as soon as Hobbs is assured an income based on an ad valorem tax on a specified assessment, it is expected bonds will be issued to take up the warrants.

Double bituminous surface will be used over a six inch caliche base. The caliche is to be laid on the dirt and then rolled. The double coating will be several inches thick, topping the base.

Curb and gutter work will be of concrete.

Members of the Louthan Construction company are: J. G. Louthan, Saddle and C. E. Thrasher, the company announces.

Harvey O. Garst is the city engineer. He drew the plans and specifications for the paving and probably will supervise the work.

Amarillo Fireman Makes Decision

Another Railroad Man Has Gained Wonderfully On Two Bottles Of Argotane

"I'm just finishing my second bottle of Argotane and I have gained wonderfully in health," said W. N. Worford, at his home a few days ago. Mr. Worford is a stationery fireman at the general office at the Santa Fe railroad and lives at 2302 Tyler Street, Amarillo, Texas.

"For twenty years," continued Mr. Worford, "I have suffered from indigestion and my stomach was in such a bad condition every thing disagreed with me and I couldn't digest the foods which my system demanded. A short time after eating my food would sour and gas would form and bloat me up so at times I could scarcely breathe, many a night I would have to get up out of bed and take a dose of soda as I could get momentary relief. I would get up in the morning feeling as tired and worn out as if I hadn't gone to bed."

"I decided after reading the highly endorsements to try Argotane and it certainly was a wise decision. My stomach is now in better shape than it has been in years and my food digests properly. I am relieved of constipation and that tired and aching feeling has left me as if by magic. Argotane has certainly proven to be a great medicine for my case and I highly endorse it to any one suffering as I have done."

Genuine Argotane may be purchased in Lubbock at the Bowen's drug store.

Dry Plank in GOP Platform To Be Sought

Declaration Against Repeal of Eighteenth Amendment to Be Demanded by Dry Leaders of Republican Party

By FRANCES M. STEPHENSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Republican dry chieftains are preparing to insist that their party's 1932 platform contain a plank declaring against repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

They are biding their time quietly awaiting meanwhile the returns from the congressional elections two weeks hence, but already intimations are heard that unless this plank against repeal is incorporated in the Republican platform a third party movement may be started.

Democrats Worried
The Democrats, too, are having their worries over prohibition in contemplating the 1932 prospect, with their leading presidential possibilities divided widely on the issue.

However, in spite of the political aridity of the southern states, Republican prohibitionists are less hopeful now of repeating their 1928 successes in the south, even though the Democrats should select a wet nominee. Also the Republican candidates in New York and New Jersey this year are campaigning for repeal and there is every indication that the delegations of these states to the next convention will carry with them wet demands.

Ranks Divided
The Democrats, although speculating on the 1932 effects of possible victories this year by such repeal candidates as Governor Roosevelt of New York, and Robert J. Buckley, the party's senatorial nominee in Ohio, have powerful dry leaders. Among them are such presidential possibilities as Senator Robinson of Arkansas and Senator Glass of Virginia.

The report of the law enforcement commission on prohibition is expected at the capitol to precipitate campaigning on a national scale. That report will not be drafted until after the election. There is no definite indication of the lineup of

One Man Dies In Running Battle

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23. (AP)—

Two men attempted to hold up a jewelry salesman in the heart of the shopping district today and in a running pistol fire one of them was killed.

The salesman was Walter Hayman, who was about to enter the jewelry store of J. E. Caldwell & Co. Two men backed him against the wall of the building. Hayman shouted and attracted the attention of Joseph McCabe, jewelry store guard, who attacked the men with his fists.

The holdup men broke away and ran into the arcade of the Widener building in which the jewelry store is located. Policemen joined the chase and the fleeing men fired at their pursuers as they ran. Policemen opened fire and the two men fell. They were removed to a hospital where one died.

A red sunset, with clouds lowering later, is said to indicate rain.

The commission on the subject although Washington is filled with rumors.

Some Republican dries are wondering whether the commission's report may affect the stand of President Hoover, who in the 1928 campaign declared against repeal of the prohibition amendment.

Meanwhile, Senator Capper, Republican, Kansas, already has called for a prohibition battle in 1932 and has asserted the Republicans will champion the dry cause.

The prohibitionists are mobilizing such party stalwarts as Vice-President Curtis and Senator Fessenden of Ohio, now national chairman, as well as Senator Borah of Idaho for leadership.

Terrill Prep Tigers Oppose Tech Frosh Here Today

Tech Matadors In Fort Worth For Annual Tilt With T.C.U. Frogs

Tech Gridiron Scene of Hard Contest Today

Game Will Start at 3 O'Clock Sharp; Picadors Stronger Than Last Week; Tigers Are Nationally Popular

A great treat is in store for local lovers of football today when Coach Dabney Smith sends his Texas Tech Picadors against the Terrill Prep Tigers of Dallas. Recognized all over the nation as a leading academy team, the Prep Tigers invade the local precincts today without need of an introduction. Special admission prices of 25 cents to everybody, with no reserve seat sale, is due to bring one of the largest crowds of spectators of the season to the Tech stadium today.

Tech game will start at 3 o'clock sharp, giving plenty of time for fans to catch the Texas Tech Special train to Fort Worth where the Matadors and T. C. U. Horned Frogs meet tomorrow.

Two Powerful Teams Meet Two of the strongest teams of their class in the state come to grips this afternoon on the local field. It was with some particularly trying negotiations that the Terrill team was brought to Lubbock today, and as a result local fans, as well as a number of out of town visitors, will see a gridiron battle that will be hard to watch.

The Tech frosh made a most creditable showing in their first home game last Saturday when a large crowd saw them go down fighting before a more experienced Amarillo Junior College eleven. But the frosh are more capable winners today than they were last week. Five days of extraordinarily hard practice against the Tech varsity, coupled with the desire for blood after their defeat last week, has inspired the local freshmen to the heights of fighting spirit, and they will be battling for vengeance and prestige today.

Big Crowd Expected "We are lowering the admission price and caring little about the returns, financially, of the game, but we want every student and every loyal Tech supporter to come out today and see Tech's future football team in action against one of the most powerful clubs of the state," Coach Smith said yesterday.

Pete Cawthon, head coach of Tech athletics, was once coach of the Dallas school, and is profuse in his comments regarding the perennial strength of Terrill Prep teams. Coach Smith attended Terrill Prep and played football there under Cawthon. The Terrill assistant coach, Bud Price, is a former pupil of Cawthon's and a mate of Smith's. Harry Faulkner, former freshman coach at S. M. U., is head coach at Terrill Prep, and has gathered a powerful aggregation of gridiron talent there this season.

Picadors Out to Win Although they enter the game as underdogs, the Tech Picadors are by no means considered as losers of today's contest. W. L. "Crip" Gollightly, Tech coach and scout, who last year was assistant coach at Rice Institute, says that the present Tech freshmen team looks to him as powerful as the Rice freshman team of last year, and Rice's varsity this season is composed almost wholly of sophomores.

The Terrill Prep Tigers need no introduction to followers of Texas football. The team is recognized throughout the United States as the outstanding academy team, and for 12 years were not defeated by an academy or high school team. Sherman High school, with Pest Welch and Ebb Caraway of Purdue fame, Redman Hume of S. M. U., and Dug Laster of Tech defeated Terrill Prep to break the latter's string of victories. The Tiger team of 1927 gained national fame when they defeated Whitworth Military Academy at Lexington, 61 to 0.

Were Powerful Last Year Last year the Terrill Prep Tigers won the national academy championship at Madison, Wisconsin, representing the entire south. Several Southwest Conference freshmen teams fell before the Tigers in 1929.

"Let us know," Coach Smith said yesterday, "that we expect the greatest crowd that has ever witnessed a prep school or freshman game in Texas—that the frosh need us, and are going to put out more than they did last Saturday. It should be a 2 to 1 better game than the Amarillo Junior college contest."

Probable Starting Lineup Coach Smith said that he would send his strongest team in against the visitors today: Vance Price and Bob Woodward at ends, McWilliams and Owens at tackles, Baker and Greer at guards, Anthony at center, Smith at quarter, Crites at full, and Nichols and Collins at the half-back positions. Most of these men are former high school and junior college stars.

Coming with all-around and all-state honors from leading high schools of the state, the backfield will differ in that of last week in that men capable of driving power rather than light and fast players will start today.

FIRE CAUSES DAMAGE

RAVAGE DOCK, Oct. 23. (AP)—Fire in the boiler room of the steamship company did considerable damage last night.

T. C. U. Coach, Backfield Who May Start Against Matadors Tomorrow

Advance information has it that Coach Francis Schmidt, upper left, will start his sophomore backs against the Matadors tomorrow. Dennis, upper right, is due to start at one half, with Red Oliver, lower left, at the other half. Doc Sumner, lower right, has been suggested to start at full-back. Darryl Vance Woolwine is the probable starter at quarterback. This combination composes almost as much strength and speed as the regular "A" team, many members of which are due to see service against the Matadors tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23. (AP)—A demand by six of the star players on the George Washington freshman team that they be paid for their football services today resulted in their dismissal from the squad.

No Pay, No Play, and Seven Gridsters Of George Washington are Given Gate After Asking for Raise in Salaries

James W. Pixlee, director of athletics, said five of the players had come in a group, stating that unless the university reverted to its former practice of giving room and board as well as a means of getting spending money they would leave school.

Forewarned of the move, Pixlee sent out an answer that they could leave immediately. Later another player joined the "pay or no play" group and he, too, was invited to leave the university. Meanwhile six other freshman athletes were under investigation.

Don't Pay Athletes Dr. Floyd Heck Marvin, president of George Washington, reiterated Pixlee's answer as the group came to him asking honorable dismissal. He said "George Washington would rather have no football team than have one where the players were receiving money to represent the institution." It had not been decided tonight whether the players would be expelled. The players announced late today they had withdrawn from the university.

Four of the group constituted Pixlee's first string freshman backfield. They were Frank Walin, Duluth, Minn.; John Hobbes, Mexico, Mo.; August Newcamp, Erie, Pa.; and Charles Robinson, Newark, N. M. The Others were Vance Joviol, Butte, Mont., and George Generosa, Pittsburgh.

Lubbock Sooners Defeated, 12 to 6

BROWNFIELD, Oct. 23. (Special)—The Lubbock High School Sooners led the Brownfield High second team by a six point margin through the first half yesterday, but lost the contest, 12 to 6, to a heavier crew in the last part of the third and fourth quarters. After trailing for nearly three quarters, the Brownfield team was bolstered by fresh and more experienced material and scored two touchdowns to win. One of the winning touchdowns was scored on a long pass and the other on a blocked punt.

Rice Owls to Try Trouncing Texas

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 23. (AP)—"Trounce Texas" is the ambitious slogan adopted by the Rice Institute body for Saturday's football classic here against Coach Littlefield's powerful Longhorns. Pep rallies this week will be climaxed tomorrow night with a mammoth bonfire celebration in the triangle in front of West Hall. While their fellow students were making light talks, the Rice grid squad, working in a driving rain, went through one of the best workouts of the season.

Cawthon Takes Score of Mats To Meet Frogs

Frogs Outweigh Matadors 22 Pounds to Man; Teams Meet for Fifth Time Tomorrow; Special Train Tonight

Coaches Pete Cawthon and Del Morgan and twenty-five Texas Tech Matadors entrained last night at 8:30 for Fort Worth, where they meet the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs, 1929 champions of the Southwest Conference. There was no great display, no accompanying band, to see the Matadors

PORT WORTH, Tex., Oct. 22. (AP)—The Texas Tech Matadors will be outweighted Saturday when they take the field here against Texas Christian University for their annual football game. The Horned Frogs probably will have an average advantage of nearly 25 pounds per man.

With the exception of Captain Noble Atkins at center, it was not considered likely that any of the men who started against A. & M. last week will be in the lineup at the start of the tilt but the "B" and "C" men, filling the positions, will be just as large if not larger than the regulars. Len Evans, 230, and Jack Shackelford, 200, at tackles will add poundage, as will Bob Burg at guard and Red Oliver at half.

A Hefty Line The starting line probably will be composed of McCulloch and Pruitt at ends; Shackelford and Evans at tackles; Burg and Lambert at guards and Atkins at center. J. W. Townsend, sophomore center, is likely to give Atkins a lot of relief.

off, for students and fans are busy making preparations to follow their favorite gridsters tonight in the Tech football special.

Tomorrow at 2:30 the Matadors and Horned Frogs will meet for the fifth time in as many seasons. The athletic relationships between the institutions were opened in the fall of 1926, when Tech was one year old, when the local collegians went to Fort Worth, unheeded and unsummed in a football way, and almost took the Christians by surprise. They scored 10 points in the opening minutes of the game before the Frogs could realize just what it was all about, and came back in the second half to score another touchdown.

Days of Ransom Walker Those were the days when Ransom Walker composed much of the punch of Tech's football teams. Walker ran 80 yards in that game to score a touchdown just after the game started. Blackie Williams.

Big Six Teams Involved In Charges Of Breaking Professionalism Ruling

(By The Associated Press) COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 23.—Charges and counter charges of subsidization and proselytizing of athletes tonight involved half the members of the Big Six conference. Solution of the problems rests with conference faculty representatives at a regular meeting here tomorrow and Saturday.

First centering on James J. (Jarring Jim) Bausch, Kansas halfback who has been a perennial subject of investigation since he forsook the University of Wichita for the University of Kansas, the charges tonight involved not only Bausch but his football coach, H. W. (Bill) Hargis; William H. (Bill) Messinger, Kansas Aggie halfback; and Chester L. Brewer, athletic director, and Dr. H. A. Huff, track coach, both of the University of Missouri.

George C. Shadd, Kansas faculty representative on athletics and president of the conference faculty group, admitted today he had received formal charges against Bausch and Hargis but declined to reveal their nature. It was understood, however, Bausch is charged with professionalism and Hargis

Several additional members will join the squad from the Arkansas special train that will go down to the state capital tomorrow night. Stressing an overnaked game, Thomson drilled his charges in a final practice on the home sod for two hours with "Chicken" Holmes on the "Hiring end" of passes that topped to all corners of the field. The Razorbacks also were groomed on aerial defense.

Start Work on City Building At Hobbs, N.M.

Brick and Concrete Structure Will House All of the City Employees; to Be Finished by First of Year

(By Staff Correspondent)

HOBBS, N. M., Oct. 23.—Preliminary work on Hobbs' new city building was started this week when the first load of sand and gravel for the structure was unloaded on the location on Taylor street just west of Shipp street.

J. T. Harris, local builder and contractor, has the contract to erect the structure, which will be of brick and concrete, with reinforced steel.

The building will be 50 feet wide and 80 feet deep. It will house all of the city officials, the clerk, mayor, judge, police headquarters, city hall and fire department.

All of the first floor will be given over to the fire department. There will be room for the new big Seagraves pumper, recently received from the Seagraves and company plant at Columbus, Ohio, with quarters in the rear for the firemen. There will be room for more equipment also.

On the second floor will be located the office of the chief of police, a room for officers and the jail, with a steel cell block and quarters for men and women prisoners. The police court also will be housed on this floor, with a court room and private office.

In addition the city attorney will have an office here and there will be room for the city clerk and other officials and a meeting place for the city council.

"We do not expect to get the building ready for use until about the first of January," George T. Harris, city police judge, said.

"The city is building a temporary steel and concrete building in the rear of the new building. It will be used later for a store room after we get into our new jail."

Frog backfield ace, led his Purple and White Warriors down the field in a disastrous manner in the second half to score a 28 to 16 victory over the crimson-jerseyed sons of Tech. In 1927 the Matadors again went to Frogland, with 500 fans and lots of ambition. The final score was 16 to 0.

In 1928 the blood-thirsty Matadors went back and Ransom Walker crossed the Christians' goal line after another 80 yard run to mark the initial score against the Frogs for the season. The final score, however, went 28 to 6 in favor of the Frogs.

Frogs Here Last Year

Last year the Frogs came to Lubbock. A weak Tech team failed to get within the T. C. U. 25 yard line even once, and the final score for 22 to 0.

Only four of the present lineup of Matadors have opposed the Horned Frogs in previous games. They are Floyd Woodruff, quarterback, Captain Jack Durham, center; J. C. Hodges, half; and Buddy Brothers, half. All of them are due to get in the game tomorrow.

Matadors Work on Defense

The Matadors have been working this week against the T. C. U. offense, and have been thrown on the defense against Coach Dutcher Smith's Picadors nearly every day this week in scrimmages, with the Horned Frogs playing. But the Matadors do not intend to spend their entire Saturday afternoon on the defense. They have a few offensive stunts of their own.

The comparative record of the two teams this season indicates that the Frogs will win the game decisively, but the Matadors may upset expectations. They are a team of indomitable fighting spirit and if the Frogs go into the game too confident they may be given a rude shock by Pete Cawthon's charges.

Reports from Fort Worth indicate that all of the T. C. U. regulars, with the exception of Grassy Hinton and Ben Boswell, are expected to be ready for action Saturday.

Schmidt still plans to use his "B" team, which has, when given a chance, shown as much skill as the regular starters.

To Give Hard Battle

"We are going against the Frogs with everything against us," Coach Cawthon said last night before leaving, "but when the T. C. U. boys get through with us they'll know they've been in a game. It

Lubbock High Prepares for Sandie Visit

Pioneers Meet Brownfield Cubs Today at 4 at Fair Park Field; Westerners to Work Hard Next Week

After a week of comparative rest after a hard series of road trips that carried them to victories over three contenders for District 1 honors, the Lubbock High School Westerners will continue the work started this week, but with added zeal and effort, next week toward the coming game with the Amarillo Sandies. Five games in as many weeks, with one defeat to mar the otherwise perfect record, finds the Westerners at home and ready today and tomorrow.

The Pioneers, second team candidates coached by Steve McMurry, will meet the Brownfield High school Cubs, seekers after Class B honors in this district, this afternoon at 4 o'clock on the Fair Park field. The game, in the nature of a Class B contest, should prove interesting and exciting. It will be the third game for the Pioneers and the seventh for the Brownfield griders. In six past games, the Cubs have won five and tied one in a fast race for the Class B title of District 2.

Coach Henry Franks of the Westerners has outlined his form of preparation for the invasion of the Amarillo Sandies next Saturday, and, starting Monday, will send his charges through a fast week of strenuous drills. Secret practice has been the order all this week as the Westerners went through the fundamentals of a new form of offense and defense to be used against the Sandies.

The U. S. Bureau of Mines has four helium wells near Amarillo, Texas.

will be quite a feather in their helmets if they run over the Matadors like they did last year. The Tech boys are not very big, but they are willing. They are fighters, and they'll be at their best Saturday. Nobody need be ashamed of them, and I'm sure that I will not," he said.

LAURA LOU BROOKMAN
AUTHOR OF "DEAR PAPA"

open and drew forth the folded sheets. The smile vanished. Celia read feverishly.

"Dear Celia: It was certainly a laugh break that was handed to me Saturday. Do you know where I was when your train pulled out? Half way to Glen Burnie chasing Joe Park, the guy who escaped from the penitentiary last week. We didn't get him, but it was an exciting afternoon."

"You see, I had everything lined up so I could finish early Saturday. Bradford was supposed to take my assignment after three o'clock. I was just about ready to beat it when the tip came in. Morgan yelled at me and said, 'You take this child.' Well, of course there was not any use arguing. I didn't even have time to bluff."

"Casey went with me. It was a private tip to the city. The park could be found at a house out there where a girl lives he used to see with before he was sent to jail. All the papers in town have been playing the Park story all week. It seemed like a hot lead, and we sure burned it on the road. Well, that's about all there is to tell. It turned out there wasn't any such house number, and after two hours we decided there wasn't any such girl either. Finally when we called the office Morgan decided the whole thing was phony. There was my afternoon gone—and you know, too!"

"I called up your mother that evening, but I guess she didn't get my message. Anyhow, I wasn't able to see her until last night, and that's why I couldn't write before. She gave me the address. I hope we've been having a fine time in New York, and that your new relatives improve on acquaintance. I haven't got the raise yet. If it isn't on this week's pay check guess I'll have to have another session with the M. E."

"There isn't anything else to tell you except that it seems about a million years since you were here. I don't any fun driving alone evenings. Looks like a long summer ahead. I certainly was not able to be able to say goodbye to you at the station. Hope you'll write soon and tell me you haven't forgotten a certain evening I have in mind. Believe me, I haven't. It's awfully homesome here. Honey."

Lots of Love,
BARNES.

There was a rustle of motion in the hallway. Celia Mitchell, intent on the letter did not hear it. The sound was repeated: then there came a knock at the door.

"The glow faded from Celia's cheeks. She stood up, backing away from the door and jamming the page into her pocket.

"Who's there?" she demanded.

"Your luggage, ma'am."

She recognized the chauffeur's voice. Celia breathed a sigh of relief and then said: "Bring the bags."

"The interruption reminded the girl that downstairs Mrs. Parsons could be waiting. Already it was a quarter after one. She could not resist, however, reading the last two paragraphs of Barnes' letter again before she folded it and hid it away at her purse. Then with a heavy sigh she took a dash of powder on her nose and she was ready for luncheon."

"She and Mrs. Parsons were the only two who were present for the meal. The other guests, Mrs. Parsons said, would arrive that afternoon and evening."

The house seemed even larger, viewed from the interior, than outside. Off the entrance hall there was a huge living room with a fireplace, bookcases and a great many comfortable over-stuffed chairs. The dining room, on the other side of the house, had broad windows looking out over the garden. Celia glimpsed other rooms opening from these. She was particularly pleased by the wide porch reached by French windows in the living room. Surely if the house had been built long ago Evelyn Parsons had done much to modernize it.

"You must do just whatever you like this afternoon," Evelyn said as dessert was being served. "Kate and Laid Dupont are driving over with Walter Carr. They'll be here any time. Eve and Courtney Brooks promised to come by tea time. They're not really much older than the rest of the crowd, though they've been married three years. We used to be Eve Carpenter. Courtney's dabbles at being an artist, and they spend as much time as they do here. By the way, I understand you and your grandmother are going to France in September."

"Yes," Celia said. "I can hardly believe it, though."

"How I'd love to be the one to show you Paris!"

"Oh, Mrs. Parsons—that would be wonderful!"

The older woman smiled.

"I'm glad you think so. We ARE going to be friends, aren't we, Celia dear? Good friends!"

Celia felt she should proclaim loudly that this was true. The situation called for it. And yet infrequently—but at this particular moment—Celia Mitchell was aware of a sharp, uneasy distrust of Evelyn Parsons. It was almost as though the lovely widow was too sweet, too eager to befriend her. After such moods passed Celia was always ashamed of them.

"I appreciate everything you've done for me," she answered now.

"I want to be friends, Mrs. Parsons."

Evelyn Parsons patted the girl's hand.

"Sweet child!" she said. "Isn't it fine your father is going to be able to come down tomorrow? He's such a dave to his work, poor man! I suppose that's the price of brilliance."

Again Celia felt that twinge of doubt. She gazed up at her hostess and encountered serenely blue eyes, smiling lips surely incapable of deceit. Celia banished her fears and branded them evil.

But though Mrs. Parsons had insisted the girl should choose her own entertainment, she kept her young guest beside her through the afternoon. There was no opportunity for Celia to slip away and write the letter she was so eager to send. Instead she inspected the garden with Mrs. Parsons and finally welcomed guests with Mrs. Parsons. A good share of this time (though Celia did not notice it) was devoted to conversation concerning John Mitchell.

The Duncan girls and Walter Carr came late. It developed they had stopped to see some tennis matches. Eve and Courtney Brooks drove up at four o'clock in a handsome car of foreign make. Jimmy Webster, who joked a great deal about his career as a young bond salesman, did not arrive until just before dinner.

There was one other guest. Celia noticed his dark hair and erect shoulders the minute he appeared. She was sitting at the far side of the living room. She saw Evelyn go forward to meet him with outstretched hand, but she could not hear Evelyn's words.

The tall youth with the dark hair bent his head. He had understood perfectly.

"Which one is she?" he asked.

Will Continue Deportation of Aliens in U.S.

Rush Made to San Francisco
Seeking Return to Native
Lands Due to Unemployment
Conditions in America

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23. (AP)—Deportation of aliens unlawfully in the United States will be continued in a normal manner, Harry E. Hull, immigration commissioner, said today in commenting on the voluntary rush of aliens in San Francisco seeking return to their native lands. J. D. Nagle, immigration officer in the California city, said yesterday so many aliens were giving themselves up for deportation his office could not handle all of them. The rush was attributed partly to unemployment in this country.

The last congress appropriated approximately $1,500,000 for the current fiscal year which allows 1,500 individuals to be deported monthly.

"Of course we try to use discretion and center the available funds on the removal first of the criminals and detected persons of those aliens deportable," Mr. Hull said.

"The others are warned to leave and generally go of themselves. However, we could always speed up deportation with more funds, and congress has been for several years increasing annually the total allowed to carry on this work."

FREIDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Oct. 23. (AP)—The huge German airplane Do-X will not begin its flight to the United States early next month, as at first planned, but will take off for the new world about November 15.

Recently November 3 was set by German postal authorities as the last date for posting mail on the Do-X, but today the limit was moved up to 11 p. m. November 8. The airplane will take off for the United States from Lisbon. It plans stops at the Azores and Bermuda.

Priests Flee From Warfare

Several Americans Forced to Run for Lives as Chinese
Reds Carry on Bloody War Against Christians

SHANGHAI, Oct. 23. (AP)—Several American priests were forced to flee for their lives when communists carried their bloody war against foreign and Chinese Christians to the Lazarist mission at Jaochow, Kiangsi province, last week, Chinese press dispatches said today.

Details of the raid, which took place October 14, were sent by Father Verdini, Italian priest, who escaped from Jaochow.

Fleeing 100 Miles
Verdini said Bishop Sheehan of Sreator, Ill., director of the Jaochow mission, fled to Fuchow, 100 miles south, where last Tuesday Verdini believed the bishop was safe "but in a highly dangerous red infested area."

Stationed at Jaochow assisting Sheehan were three American priests—Leo Moore of Perryville, Mo., Father Altenburg, Milwaukee, Wis., and Father L. J. Coyle of Lincoln, Nebraska.

Verdini believed Altenburg had fled eastward from Fuchow Tuesday, possibly taking refuge in Wuyuan, on the southern border of Anhwei province, where a few native Christians lived.

Coyle, said Verdini, escaped toward Nanchang, capital of Kiangsi, while Moore, Verdini and Father Meyer, a Dutch priest attached to the Jaochow mission, fled abroad a Chinese junk on Poyang lake, hoping to evade reds who infested the lake shores until an avenue of escape appeared.

Seven Temporary Buildings Used

(By Staff Correspondent)

HOBBS, N. I., Oct. 23.—Seven temporary school buildings are now in use for the Hobbs school system with between 1,300 and 1,400 pupils.

enrolled. L. A. Daniels, a member of the school board, said:

"We are going ahead with our plans for a permanent building but I cannot say how soon we will start it," Mr. Daniels said. "We plan to build a 22 room brick structure, modern in every way, with an auditorium and a gymnasium."

"I think we have the finest school in the state, bar none. Our boys and girls can graduate from this school and go into any college in the state without an examination. Our school is fully accredited."

The new building will cost approximately $200,000, it is estimated. It is expected that the structure will be started some time this winter and will be ready for occupancy in the fall of 1937.

Mr. Daniels said that the Hobbs school system had 44 instructors including 12 in the high schools. There are 164 students in the high school, with 12 instructors. The senior class is composed of 25, one of the largest senior classes for a new school Mr. Daniels said. He had ever seen or heard of in any field town.
