State troopers prove big help

Highway landing turns out OK

By MARJ CARPENTER

A Webb AFB captain, at the controls of his private Mooney Super 21 single-engine plane, made an emergency landing on Highway 87 near Carlsbad, Tex., around midnight Sunday with the help of state troopers.

"The motor of my plane stopped when I was ten miles out of San Angelo," Capt. Guy B. Olney recalled, after arriving at Howard County Airport about 9:45 a.m., today. "The fuel pump quit and the emergency one didn't kick on. I notified Mathis Field (in San Angelo) and Midland that I was going to attempt to land on the highway.

"The state troopers were out there in nothing flat and had traffic stopped. They were really nice about it. They helped me drag the plane off the highway while I checked it out."

The captain checked his plane and managed to get the emergency fuel pump operating. He said three motorists stopped and offered assistance, and added laughing, "Two went by in a huff."

Olney got the emergency fuel pump operating and requested permission to take off and return to the field in San Angelo.

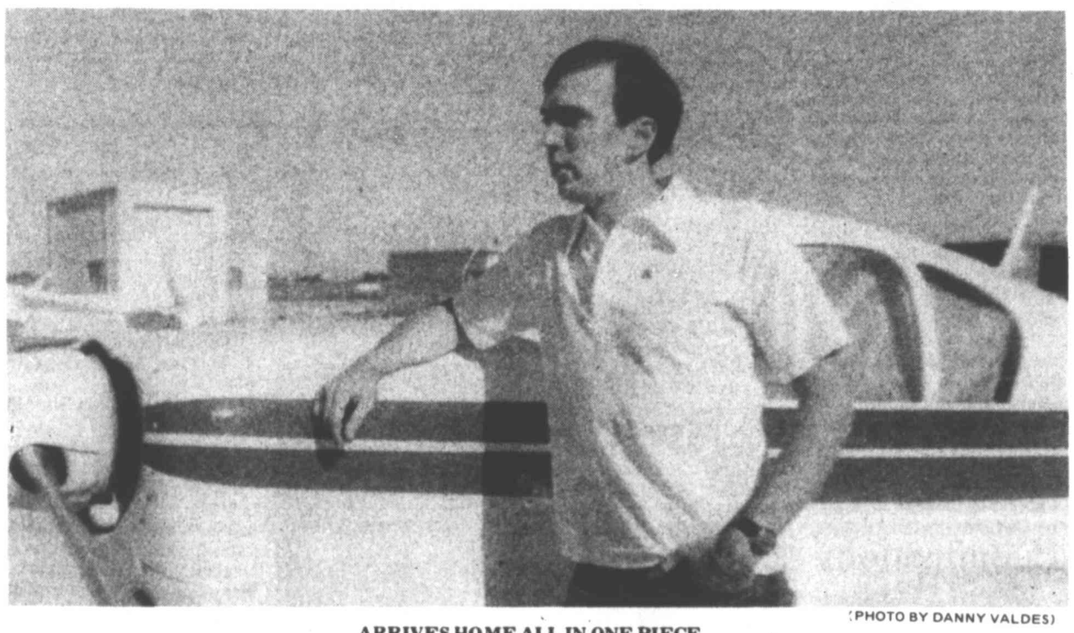

"I didn't want to leave that airplane sitting by the side of the highway all night," Capt. Olney stated.

"The state troopers, who were very cooperative, held traffic back for 3,000 feet and I took off," he related. Capt. Olney then returned to San Angelo, where he installed a new fuel pump this morning.

He said that ordinarily it took 30 minutes, at the most, to fly from San Angelo, but in this case, "It took me all night."

The captain had spent the weekend in San Angelo with a friend. As he put his plane in the hangar at Howard County Airport here this morning, he stated, "I've got to call my boss out at Webb. I'm late to work."

Needless to say, the pilot felt pretty fortunate about being around to report to work.

No threat to society, Judge says

Patty Hearst gains probation

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Patricia Hearst, who pleaded no contest to assault and robbery charges, was given five years probation today by a judge who said she was no threat to society.

Superior Court Judge E. Talbot Callister acted after the prosecutor joined the defense in asking that Miss Hearst spend no further time in jail.

Callister said, "I don't think there is a heart in America that isn't full of compassion for the parents." He called Randolph and Catherine Hearst "good people who love their daughter."

Probation does not necessarily mean freedom for Miss Hearst, since she is under a seven-year prison sentence for robbing a San Francisco bank. She was freed six months ago on $1.25 million bail pending appeal of that conviction and the 9th U.S. District Court of Appeals is expected to rule soon in that case.

If her appeal is rejected, she could return to serve at least 14 months before being eligible for probation.

The slender, 23-year-old Miss Hearst stood surrounded by her attorneys as the judge pronounced sentence. All four members of her original defense team came to court for the sentencing. Her parents sat in a front row in the packed courtroom.

Callister told Miss Hearst she would have to make restitution to those whose property she damaged when she fired two machine guns in a wild, sporting goods store fracas May 16, 1974.

Miss Hearst spoke not a word during the procedings. She was hustled in and out of court under private guard.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Sam Mayerson said he felt that there had been too much effort by law enforcement "not to show favoritism to this defendant." Thus, he said, she stood the risk of being punished too harshly.

"It would be wrong to satisfy those who say there is special treatment for the rich by punishing this defendant inordinately," he said.

He declared: "There has never been another case like this and I sincerely hope there will not be again."

Both Mayerson and Miss Hearst's attorney, F. Lee Bailey, stressed that the newspaper heiress was a kidnap victim when she committed crimes. The judge said that was a mitigating factor in his decision and he had ample evidence that she would commit no further crimes.

He struck from the court record two allegations of use of a firearm which could have intensified any sentence against Miss Hearst. The five years probation applies to both counts to which she pleaded no contest, a plea the judge said was tantamount to guilty.

She allegedly fired the guns to provide cover for escaping Symbionese Liberation Army "comrades," William and Emily Harris.

The potential sentence for the convict heiress who joined forces with her revolutionary abductors could have ranged from as little as straight probation to as much as 15½ years to life in prison.

At her San Francisco trial last year, Miss Hearst insisted she had fired out of fear instilled by the terrorist SLA. But the Harrises, at their trial, said they gave her no orders and the gunfire was so surprising that they had to duck to avoid being hit.

The Harrises, convicted of kidnaping and robbery but acquitted of Miss Hearst's six machine gun assaults, are serving sentences of 11 years to life in state prison. They are awaiting trial in Oakland on charges stemming from Miss Hearst's Feb. 4, 1974, kidnaping.

Since her release from prison last November, Miss Hearst has lived with her parents and a platoon of bodyguards in the San Francisco area. In recent months, she has been seen at San Francisco restaurants and night spots, always accompanied by bodyguards.

Senate money bill writers clear way for warm debate

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Senate spending bill writers cleared the way for debate later today of a record $15.6 billion general appropriations bill.

The Senate Finance Committee voted 10-0 to substitute the committee's version for the $15.4 billion appropriations bill approvedd by the House last week.

"The lieutenant governor wants to run with this today, so I plan to bring it up this morning," said Sen. A.M. Aikin, D-Paris, chairman of the Senate committee. "I hope to have this bill in conference committee by this afternoon."

Sen. A.R. Schwartz, D-Galveston, said he was worried because the House bill allowed only $35 a month for Aid to Families of Dependent Children, compared to $32 in the Senate bill. "This doesn't leave us much to work with in conference committee (which is supposed to concern itself only with House-Senate differences)" Schwartz said.

Aikin said he would consider AFDC changes in conference committee but he did not want an amendment to be offered on the floor.

The House scheduled a 1:30 p.m. session while House leaders prepared for Tuesday's planned debate on teachers pay raise and retirement measures.

The House appropriations bill sent to the Senate totals $15.4 billion from all funds, leaving an estimated $1.1 million in state funds for other spending, such as public school financing and teachers pay raises and retirement.

The Senate Finance Committee has been holding in committee a Senate version of state spending that totals $15.6 billion, leaving $856.7 million for other spending.

There were numerous differences in the two bills including a 6.8 per cent state employes pay raise granted in the Senate bill compared to 3.4 per cent in the House bill.

After the Senate approves its general appropriations bill, the final version likely will be drafted by a 10-member conference committee negotiating the differences between the two houses.

And after the Senate completes work on the appropriations bill, it is scheduled to take up the House-approved $695 million public school financing bill, which also likely will end up in a conference committee.

Trans Regional's request to suspend service voted

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Aeronautics Commission has granted Trans Regional Air's request to suspend its service between Big Spring and Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport.

Director Charles Murphy signed the order, which could be reversed by the full commission if objections are received.

Trans Regional said it had received insufficient business over the route and requested suspension until market activity and clientele would make service profitable.

It also said it had encountered difficulties with county officials who run Howard County Airport but might restore service if the city takes over Webb Air Force Base as a municipal airport.

"To require the carrier to continue serving the route despite economic losses and lack of community support might well result in the carrier's economic collapse," the commission order said.

It said if Trans Regional has not given notice of intent to restore service by April 6, 1978, the commission then will begin proceedings to cancel its certificate to serve the Big Spring-DFW route.

Minimum road standards demanded by commission

The court voted unanimously to introduce minimum standards of 22 feet width with 60-foot right-of-way and a six-inch layer of rolled caliche on all roads before they will be accepted by the court. The move standardizes what has been court policy since February, 1975 when the court resolved to cease accepting plats for undeveloped roads.

County Engineer Neel Barnaby also brought another situation to the attention of the court.

"For the past 25 years," he said, "due to agricultural development in the county, farmers have been changing the course of water across their land. What this means is that the water is usually sent down a county road seven or eight miles until it backs up on someone else's property."

Barnaby said to relieve the problem the county would either have to get a lot of easements or condemn a lot of easements.

"My recommendations is to construct drainage courses," he concluded, "but that will be an expensive project, and one the county can't perform with just its present equipment."

Barnaby also discussed problems with the upkeep of the fairbarns and Dora Roberts building.

"Nine out of ten people believe it belongs to the county," pointed out Commissioner Bill Crooker of the Roberts building. "And we have some responsibility to help clean it up, but we don't deserve the whole job."

Barnaby told the court he was ashamed of the appearance of the area, especially with the square dance festival held there over the weekend.

The court agreed to approach the city to reach a joint solution.

Youth achievement finalists chosen

Finalists to be honored this year at the May 11 Zale's-Herald Youth Achievement contest were announced today by Oliver Cofer, director of advertising at the Big Spring Herald.

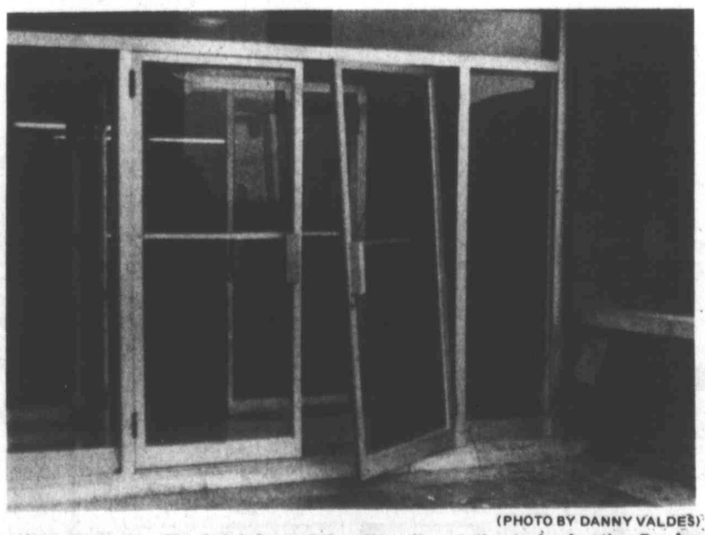

There are four finalists from each high school in the county and they and their parents will be guests of honor at a dinner at the Big Spring Country Club.

From Big Spring High School, the honorees are Jill Odom, Scott Sullivan, Steve Evans and Denise Crenwelge.

From Coahoma, the four finalists include Kenny Fryrear, Laurie Choate, Donna James and Patricia Ferguson.

BREEZEWAY — The front door at the city police station took a beating Sunday evening when an irate woman slammed it after being told she could not see a boy friend who had been arrested on a driving charge. As it turned out, her friend was in the custody of the sheriff's office at the courthouse at the time. Later, Hasana Komati was charged with destruction of city property and released on $200 bond.

Offbeat: Spring snow

Light snow fell in parts of the Northeast today, forcing some schools to close and creating hazardous highway conditions.

The unusual spring storm was attributed by the National Weather Service to a cold front that began pushing across the mid-Atlantic coast states Sunday afternoon, bringing high winds and causing gusts of up to 58 miles an hour in Washington, D.C.

In Massachusetts, several schools shut down and numerous power failures were reported after up to five inches of snow fell on higher terrain in the Berkshires.

The speed limit on a section of the Massachusetts Turnpike was reduced to 40 miles per hour because of snow on the highway.

Residents of some inland sections of Connecticut found snow covering their freshly fertilizied lawns and budding spring flowers today.

One inch of snow was reported in Rochester, N.Y., two inches reportedly fell at Carmel in Putnam County and Poughkeepsie in Dutchess County got one inch.

New York City, meanwhile, missed record cold by only one degree Fahrenheit this morning. The National Weather Service said the mercury dipped to 36 degrees, a notch warmer than the 35 degrees recorded for May 9 in 1947.

Cannibal connection?

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A routine investigation is being conducted by police to determine if there is a connection between a mutilation slaying Thursday and an unidentified dismembered body found here more than a year ago.

Gregory W. Canatis, 21, is undergoing psychiatric examination after he was arrested near where his father's mutilated body was found in Midwest City last week.

Authorities said the dismembered body had apparently been cooked and partially eaten.

Canatis has been charged with first-degree murder in connection with the death of his father, Theodore, 47, at their apartment.

Detective Ken Smith said police were checking to see if the defendant was in the area about April 1, 1976, when a surgically dismembered body was found.

The identity of the woman found in an abandoned northeast Oklahoma City house was not determined. But examiners said the body was dissected and certain organs were missing.

Police said they had no specific reason for thinking the two incidents were related, but were investigating as a routine matter.

TI fares whack announced

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas International Airlines announced reduced fares today for passengers travelling between Midland-Odessa and Dallas-Fort Worth And Houston.

Reduced one-way fares of $15 and $25 that had been offered on two daily flights between Midland-Odessa and Dallas-Fort Worth will be broadened to 10 daily flights, effective next Sunday. Texas International said this offers savings of up to $64 for a round trip. The regular coach fare has been $47.

One-way fares between Houston Hobby or Houston Intercontinental will drop from the regular $58 to $25 and $40. Offering savings of up to $66 on a round trip, the reduced fares will vary by flight and by the day of the week.

Texas International had previously offered no substantial discount fares on flights between Houston and Midland-Odessa.

'The battle of Seabrook'

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — While Gov. Meldrim Thomson claimed to be winning "the battle of Seabrook," attorneys for the anti-nuclear protesters were taking Thomson and other state officials to court on charges of mistreatment. U.S. District Court Judge Hugh Bownes was scheduled to hear arguments today in a civil suit against Thomson and five other state officials. The suit claims the demonstrators' constitutional rights have not been protected while they have been in custody.

Plot for disaster film?

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — The people shout for "more food," "more heat." World leaders watch as nuclear waste destroys the environment and supplies of fossil fuels run out. A pessimist's vision of the future? The plot of a new disaster movie? No, it's all part of a computerized course at the Air Force Academy to teach students what could happen if energy and other resources aren't used wisely.

Police beat

Guard dogs no deterrent

Burglars somehow got past the guard dogs at the 1410 E. 4th Texaco Station Saturday night or early Sunday morning, and got out with over $250 in cash.

According to reports the thieves broke out the window on the west side of the building, and took the cash from a money bag in the desk drawer. The cash is all the thieves bothered with, and damage to the window is estimated at $2.

After enjoying 18 days of lodging by the American Motor Inn, an unknown man left without paying his bill.

The subject stayed at the Inn from April 19 to May 8, his tab amounted to $234.26.

Q.T. Coates, 1012 Baylor, reported to police that he saw four white subjects threw a rock at his pickup as windshield of his car about 9:45 p.m. Saturday when parked at the Sands Restaurant. Damage is estimated at $250.

Coats told police that the four vandals left the scene in a light-colored GMC van.

Tom McMurtrey, 1517 Vines, also suffered a broken windshield when valdals threw a rock at his pick up as it was traveling on the 600 block of W. 18th. McMurtrey saw no one, and damages are estimated at $200.

A prisoner, arrested for possession of marijuana, attempted an escape from police as he was being escorted into the booking room of the police station.

The incident occurred about 2:45 a.m. Sunday. The man fled south down Nolan, but was apprehended shortly thereafter.

Detective Avery Faulkner arrested Cecil Allen Land in Athens, Ga. at 9:30 a.m. Sunday.

Land had been charged with theft by exercising control in connection with the Town and Country robbery last month.

Bond was set by Justice of the Peace Bobby West, at $10,000.

Two mishaps mar trip of band to festival

The Big Spring Band collected four first divisions at the big band festival in Lake Charles, La. and crowded Permian of Odessa, who won outstanding band at the festival.

Big Spring was close behind the neighboring school's band in total points. They were the only two bands from this part of the state and outstanding among 54 bands from 41 communities in five different states.

Big Spring collected a first division in concert, stage band, parade marching and field marching. Bill Bradley and Gene Curry are directors.

They had two mishaps mar the perfect occasion.

A group of Big Spring bandsters were enthusiastically building a human pyramid on the beach, apparently thinking they would all fall in the soft sand.

A junior drummer, Bruce (Stumpy) Ziman, fell from the top and broke both forearms. He marched in the parade anyway carrying his drum, but could not wield the sticks.

On the final day when 55 bandsters were overcome from carbon monoxide fumes from a large number of buses backed up in the street, two of them were from Big Spring.

Debbie Butler and John Burroughs, among the band members who passed out in the street, were hospitalized and released.

On the way to the festival, the Big Spring band visited in the homes of Cameron, La. band members. In return, the Big Spring band honored the Cameron Band at the Chatteau-Chailes Sheraton Inn on the final night of the festival.

Skyjacker subdued with ax

TOKYO (AP) — A 25-year-old American was charged with attempted hijacking today after trying to force the pilot of a Northwest Airlines jumbo jet with 261 persons aboard to fly him to Moscow.

The hijacker, Bruce Trayer, held a razor to the throat of a Japanese stewardess until cabin attendant William Vanheuven hit him on the head with the butt of a fire axe. The hijacking attempt lasted about 10 minutes.

Trayer told Japanese police he was from Prairie du Chien, Wis., and decided to go to Moscow on the spur of the moment. He said he had heard about the Soviet capital from his father, a police spokesman said.

The hijacking occurred Sunday about an hour after the jetliner took off from Tokyo for Honolulu. The pilot, Capt. Homer Sutter of Minneapolis, radioed a hijacking was under way and requested directions for a flight to Moscow.

About 10 minutes later, the pilot reported the hijacker had been subdued and the plane was returning to Tokyo because the hijacker was injured.

Trayer was conscious and shouting, with a bandage on his head, when the Japanese police removed him from the plane. He was treated at a hospital, and the doctors said his injuries should be healed in about two weeks. The police took him away for investigation.

The flight took off again for Honolulu early Monday with all but three of the original passengers and a new crew on board. Capt. Sutter and his crew remained in Tokyo to assist in the police investigation.

Trayer told police he was drafted by the U.S. Army in 1971, discharged in 1973 and worked for a cement company until he quit last December, a police spokesman said.

When the plane landed in Honolulu, one of the passengers who witnessed the incident said Trayer was subdued after the captain told him to take his hands off a stewardess.

After Trayer lowered his hands, Vanheuven struck him with the butt of the fire axe, said U.S. Army Col. Roland Sevigny.

Top executive qualifications

NEW YORK (AP) — Qualifications for chief executive officers in the future will be quite different from those of today, finds International Management.

The reason, says J. Russell Boner, editor-in-chief of the magazine, is that the next few years are expected to bring accelerating change to the business scene, "creating problems for which firms have had neither precedence nor experience."

The idea candidate, the publication says, should; understand the inner workings of legislative and administrative units of government at all levels; have demonstrated ability to deal with militant environmental and consumer groups; possess extensive international exprience; have proven ability to generate profits and protect shareholder investment through strong centralized financing controls; be responsive to worker demands for job security, and be willing to share management decisions and authority with employes.

New inn open for business

The final completion and the offical grand opening of the Mid-Continent Inn is yet to come. However, because of demand from people stopping off the highway, they opened partially for business Sunday.

Alton and Jo Taylor, managers, began to take customers for the downstairs rooms of the facility Sunday. "We haven't opened the club or the swimming pool or the upstairs portion of the motel at this time," Mrs. Taylor stated.

An official grand opening of the new motel next to Rip Griffin's Truck Stop will be held in the near future.

Weather

Strong winds rip San Angelo area

By The Associated Press

Heavy rain, marble size hail and strong winds struck the San Angelo area early today as thunderstorms spread northward out of the Lower Rio Grande Valley into West Texas.

Wind gusts of up to 45 m.p.h. were recorded near San Angelo at about 3 a.m.

Many areas of the state were under severe thunderstorm warnings during the night. Hail was also reported in West Central Texas.

Skies were cloudy over most of the state early today and temperatures ranged from near 50 in the mountains of Southwest Texas to the middle 70s along the gulf coast. Some early morning readings included 58 at Amarillo, 68 at Wichita Falls, 64 at Texarkana.

FORECAST

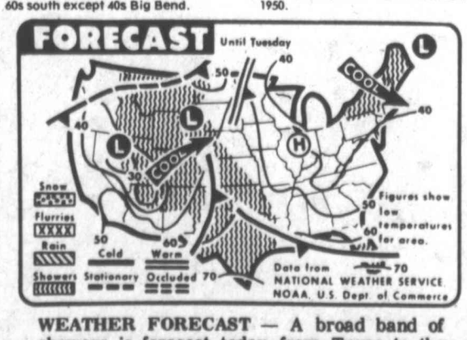

WEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy through Tuesday with scattered afternoon and nighttime thunderstorms. Not as warm north Tuesday. Highs today 78 north to 97 Big Bend. Lows tonight 54 north to 65 south except 45 mountains. Highs Tuesday 70 Panhandle to 93 Big Bend.

EXTENDED FORECAST

WEST TEXAS: Scattered showers and thunderstorms mainly north Wednesday. Partly cloudy Thursday and Friday. Temperatures continuing near normal. Highs 70s north 80s south and 90s Big Bend. Lows 50s north 60s south except 40s Big Bend.

Light showers hit in area

The thunder rolled and rumbled and a light shower fell around 10:30 p.m. Sunday, netting only .04 on the official rain gauge at the Big Spring Experiment Station.

This brings the year's total to 6.2, well above the average of 4.4 at this time of year.

Farmers, who are beginning to plant throughout the area, are not particularly wanting a hard rain to crust over the ground at this time.

Many farmers are waiting a little later to plant in an attempt to battle the increasing boll weevil.

Farmers around St. Lawrence got their cotton in the ground early and already have cotton up, according to Oliver Werst, Glasscock County Agent.

Most land is either ready for planting or in the process of being planted in Dawson, Martin and Howard Counties.

WEST HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Hartt College of Music at the University of Hartford will present the seventh annual International Contemporary Organ Music Festival June 6-10.

Square dance festival here lures 350 persons

Over 350 persons from an estimated 30 communities square danced off and on for two days and nights at the Dora Roberts Building at the Fair Barns.

The Big Spring Squares hosted the event and dedicated the festival to Frenchy and Erma Steward, local couple who will serve as state president of the Square Dancers Association for the coming year.

Square dancers can spot a square dance festival from a great distance. Mr. and Mrs. John Branch, who used to reside in Big Spring when he worked for the VA Hospital here, were on the way through town when they heard about the festival.

The couple now resides in Mercedes, in the Rio Grande Valley, where they say there is a lot of square dance action for the winter tourists.

Another couple, en route from Monahans stopped at a roadside park to change a tire. They saw a trailer with a national square dance festival sticker on the windshield.

The Monahans couple woke up the Washington state square dancers in the middle of the night and said, "There's a square dance festival up here at Big Spring."

The square dancers cranked up and came along to enjoy the two days of activity here.

The event ended late Saturday night when the local squares hosted a late supper following the square dance activity. The show chairman, Walter Alexander, reported, "We had a bigger audience watching than we have ever had and really were glad to see them out."

Recycling saves water

CHICAGO (AP) — Of the 120 billion gallons of water per day used by industry in 1975, 78 billion were recycled, according to a Commerce department study.

Ecodyne Corp. points to savings in fresh water bills and wastewater surcharges as major incentives to recycling.

Many reporters spend a lifetime trying to place in the Texas Associated Press Managing Editor's Contest, the toughest news competition in the state.

But Herald city hall reporter James Werrell did it in his second year by turning what might have been a routine feature story into an excellent piece of writing.

James uses his talent at the typewriter for the readers of the Herald, whether he is just back from the corridors of city hall or is running down rumors of a nuclear waste dump in the Permian Basin. His writing can help you to understand the things you want and need to understand.

Women pressure lawmakers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scores of farm women have flooded Congress with letters and their own voices in recent weeks in a desperate effort to goad action on raising 1977 wheat supports much higher than it seems likely will be approved.

But most of the women from Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado and other big wheat states say they are not giving up until Congress finally makes up its mind on new farm legislation.

Some will admit, however, that theirs is a formidable task and that while most farm officials in the Carter administration and members of Congress express sympathy none apparently is able to make solid promises.

Mariann Johnson, who helps run a family farm near Medford, Okla., was among about 100 in the Agri-Women's Group which visted congressional and administration farm representatives here last week.

"We feel that they listened to us, but they made no promises," Mrs. Johnson told a reporter.

After meeting with Deputy Secretary of Agriculture John White and others, Mrs. Johnson said, "We were told that they are working on it but that they have just so much money in the budget and it has to cover all of agriculture."

What Mrs. Johnson and most other wheat farmers want is for Congress and the administration to agree on substantially higher government loan rates for 1977 wheat instead of the $2.25 a bushel which seems to be in the works.

Mrs. Johnson said that while the group had good in most cases in getting so present their views up and down the halls of Congress, the Senate and House agricultural committee were another matter.

"We're wondering just exactly what they think they're doing with us, and we're not having a whole lot of luck getting in to see them," she said.

Mrs. Johnson said that wheat supports have got to be raised and that "it's got to be not less than $3 a bushel for the loan rate for the 1977 crop. Some of us can make it on $3, some of us are going to have to have $3.50 or even up to $4" a bushel, she said.

The loan rate is how much a wheat producer can borrow from USDA by using his crop as collateral, normally paying off the loan if the cash market price is higher later on. If not, the crop is forfeited, the loan cancelled and the wheat becomes the property of the government.

Another support mechanism is the so-called target price. The Senate committee has approved raising it to $2.90 a bushel from $2.47 which currently is in effect for the 1977 wheat crop. If market prices fall below the target, government subsidies are paid growers to make up the difference.

Grady students attend FHA State Conclave

GRADY — The Grady and Borden County Future Homemakers of America participated in the FHA State Convention, which was held recently, at the Astro arena in Houston.

Those attending from Borden County were: Mrs. Shirley Kountz, FHA sponsor of Borden and Elizabeth Ledbetter, second vice president of the Borden FHA chapter. Mrs. Kois Hunnicutt, FHA sponsor of Grady, Emelda Gamboa, FHA president of 1976 and 77, and incoming president at Grady, Debbie Romine, incoming parlimentarian for the chapter of Grady.

The first general session the House of Delegates met, which included Emelda Gamboa, of Grady and Elizabeth Ledbetter of Borden County. House of Delegates approved on the changing of Article II Section II and on the nominees of the officer of the upcoming year.

Later that evening a talent show was presented by Areas Six through Ten. "People are Shining Stars," was the theme for the show.

The FHA State Choir closed the first session by singing songs.

Following the first general session Mrs. Kountz held a workshop at the Chapparal room at the Marriott Hotel for advisors from the following chapters, Midland Lee High, Big Spring High, Snyder High, Ector County School, Sterling City, and Marathon. While the advisors were at the workshop, the FHA members of each chapter went to the Grady and Borden County rooms where a workshop was conducted by Elizabeth Ledbetter, Emelda Gamboa and Debbie Romine.

Friday the West Texans attended the Encounter Awards Breakfast, held at the Grand Ball Room at the Astroworld Hotel. At this breakfast, Elizabeth Ledbetter, Emelda Bamboa, and Debbie Romine received awards.

Second general session started later with the presentation of colors. Later in the session Rev. Dan McBride of Jacksonville gave a speech on "Enjoying Life."

In the afternoon workshop-luncheon was held, in which Miss Gamboa attended "I am Me Uniquely," Debbie Romine was present for "Dating," Elizabeth Ledbetter attended "Living One Day at a Time," and Mrs. Hunnicutt was among those at "Bits and Pieces," which was conducted by Mrs. Kountz.

Third general session was presided over by Carolyn Morgan, vice president of FHA-HERO. During this session Phyllis Cecero presented an address entitled "The Times of Your Life." Joe Sorrentino, lawyer from Los Angeles, spoke on "Up From Never." The installation of officers of 1977-78 took place following the speech.

Iran outlet for food items

WASHINGTON (AP) — Oil-rich Iran has developed into a promising market for U.S. grocery items ready for the consumer as well as a major outlet for raw farm products, the Agriculture Department said today.

Last year, the department's Foreign Agriculturl Service said, Iran bought $4.6 million worth of processed foods, including frozen vegetables, poultry, breakfast cereals and fruit juices. In calendar 1969, sales were about $1 million.

The sale of consumer-ready foods still represents only two per cent of last year's total U.S. farm-food exports to Iran, some $239 million worth. However, the report said that further economic expansion probably will lead to further demand for such consumer food products.

Winter wheat estimate due

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department is preparing to issue a new estimate of 1977 winter wheat production, including breakdowns by states.

The report is scheduled to be released Tuesday, May 10, at 3 p.m. EDT. It will be the first new estimate of 1977 winter wheat output since the initial estimate was made last December.

At that time, USDA forecast the crop at about 1.44 billion bushels, down eight per cent from the 1976 harvest, reflecting a cutback in plantings last fall and an outlook for smaller yields.

Mahon heads for Texas to attend conference

Congressman George Mahon met in his Washington office today with Dr. Eula Bingham, the new Assistant Secretary of Labor for Occupational Safety and Health (OSHA), just prior to his departure for Lubbock where he will testify at the field hearings on the OSHA cotton dust exposure standards.

Mahon requested the meeting with Bingham to urge the new secretary to abandon strict cotton dust exposure standards, pointing out that they would paralyze the entire cotton industry.

"I reminded Dr. Bingham that OSHA is the most unpopular agency in the federal government because of some of the foolish and irresponsible actions it has taken in the past," said the Congressman, "and I urged her to abandon the proposed cotton dust standards for cotton gins and cottonseed oil mills."

"I told Dr. Bingham it would be indefensible for OSHA to require cotton gins and cottonseed oil mills to spend an estimated $½ billion in plant equipment when adequate proof is unavailable that a genuine health hazard exists in these industries," said Mahon, "and I am appearing at the hearings to impress this fact upon OSHA officials responsible for writing the proposed standards."

In March, Mahon insisted that OSHA officials conduct field hearings in Lubbock so that the people who would be most affected by the proposed standards would have an opportunity to be heard.

Mahon commented further that he and other Members of Congress would not tolerate impossible standards that threaten the viability of the cotton industry.

The Congressman said, "If strict cotton dust standards are imposed, cotton will be placed at a serious competitive disadvantage and textile mills will make a sharp turn toward the further use of synthetic fibers."

Ricky Mitchell was named outstanding Texas Tech bandsmen of the year in Lubbock at their annual banquet.

He has been a member of the Tech marching band four years, stage band and concert band, three years.

Mitchell will receive a bachelor of music education degree Saturday, May 14.

He is a member of Phi Eta Sigma, freshman honor scholastic fraternity; Kappa Kappa Psi, band service fraternity and Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, professional music fraternity. He plans to be a school band director.

Ricky is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Mitchell, 1505 Stadium and was active in the high school band in Big Spring. He is also a former Herald carrier.

26 members of Texas high school band hysteria victims

ENID, Okla. (AP) — A doctor says hysteria was apparently the cause of a malady that struck about 26 members of a Texas high school band here Saturday.

The students had complained of upset stomachs, headaches and dizziness.

Authorities first believed that the students from Northwest High School in Justin, Tex., were suffering from gas inhalation when they reported the symptoms while participatingin the Tri-State Music Festival here.

"We didn't find any evidence of gas inhalation," said Dr. Cecil Reinstein. "We didn't feel they had a real illness. Apparently it wasn't that big a deal."

Dr. Reinstein said none of the students was hospitalized. All were sent home.

Your town . . .

. . . needs your help

With the fall closing of Webb Air Force Base, Big Spring must attract new industry and jobs for its people as never before.

This requires that the Big Spring Industry Foundation be recapitalized to support such an effort. Location of new industry in Big Spring takes money for interim financing, utility placements and countless other expenses.

At this crucial time in Big Spring's history, the Industrial Foundation must be in a position to meet these kind of needs for the next three years.

The Industrial Foundation has launched a drive to capitalize. This campaign needs the support and investment of every Big Spring business, of every Big Spring citizen.

Tax on coal drawing heat

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A proposed 30-cent-a-ton tax on surface-mined coal would discourage the development of lignite in Arkansas and elsewhere, the Southwest Regional Energy Council says.

The proposal is in the land reclamation bill currently pending in the U.S. Senate.

The council adopted a resolution Saturday opposing the proposed method of levying the tax and of allocating the revenues from it.

The resolution was adopted at the suggesting of Arkansas state Sen. J. A. "Dooley" Womack of Camden.

Lignite has less heat value than coal, thus more tons of it must be mined to obtain the same heat value that a lesser amount of coal would have.

This would force lignite-producing states to pay a disproportionate portion of the tax, the resolution said.

The resolution also said Congress should be interested in providing incentives for the gasification and liquefaction of lignite and coal rather than imposing penalties like the proposed tax.

Also Saturday, New Mexico state Rep. Bob Grant said President Carter's energy plan emphasizes conservation too much at the expense of providing incentives to provide more fuels.

Grant appeared to summarize the council's feelings. His statement was directed to Scott Bush of Washington, the deputy associate administrator for policy of the Federal Energy Administration.

Bush explained the president's program to the five-state panel.

Five or more legislators from Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma make up the council, which was formed two years ago to counteract the lobbying in Congress by the northeastern states.

Grant said higher prices for fuel wouldn't bring the decline in consumption that the President wants.

He said a $1 tax on each imported barrel of crude oil would produce billions of dollars that could be used to develop alternate fuel systems, such as solar energy systems.

Wildcat gas wells drilled

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission reported Monday that 18 wildcat oil wells and 24 wildcat gas wells were drilled in Texas during the last half of April.

The oil discoveries included eight in southeast Texas, three in South Texas, two in North Texas and singles near Refugio, in the Panhandle, East Texas, west central Texas and near Midland.

A total of 202 wildcat oil wells have been drilled this year, 11 more than a year ago.

The new gas strikes included eight in the Refugio area, six each in southeast and South Texas and two each in the San Antonio and San Angelo areas.

A total of 228 gas discovery wells had been drilled through April 30, 62 fewer than by that date last year.

The commission said 2,697 oil wells have been completed this year, 176 more than by the end of April 1976. A total of 1,422 gas wells have been completed, 19 fewer than a year ago.

Ammonia cloud fumes send two to hospital

HILLJE, Tex. (AP) — Two men were in good condition at an El Campo hospital this morning after breathing fumes from a deadly ammonia cloud that hovered over a farm service center on U.S. 59 here yesteday.

El Campo Fire Chief Charlie Orsak said a faulty hose coupling while a tank truck was being unloaded caused the break.

Authorities said Service center manager Edward Wendel and truck driver Robert Hathcock of Texas City were admitted to the hospital in fair condition.

Two firemen and an elderly man who drove through the cloud were treated and released at the same hospital.

State police said some farms in the area were evacuated as a precautionary measure. However, the residents were allowed to return to their homes a short while later.

The incident occurred one year to the day after an ammonia truck fell from an upper deck of U.S. 59 at a Houston interchange, exploded and sent deadly gas into a crowded area. That accident cost several lives.

Cloud watching serious matter

The story in Friday's newspaper about the Big Spring rush to get under the covered parking area at the site of the old Malone-Hogan Clinic reminds me of my youth.

Fear of clouds (whatever kind of phobia that is) was a very real part of my boyhood life in Knox City, Tex.

Knox City is located about 70 miles south of Wichita Falls, right on the bottom portion of the box which the National Weather Service calls "Tornado Alley."

I WAS YOUNG when a tornado ripped through the town in the early 1950s. It hit the hospital; it cut a wide swipe through the heart of the residential area; it killed and injured a number of people.

The cellar business boomed.

Whenever Knox County was included in what we would now call a tornado "watch" zone, meaning that the conditions are such that a tornado is possible, the nervous policeman would trigger the super large siren which had been placed upon the top of city hall.

This siren, which replaced a more modest one, would almost cause hearing damage at two blocks and it could be heard at my house in the country two miles awav.

The blowing of the siren began a reaction in the town that was similar to what London must have been like during the days of the German bombings in World War II.

The town suddenly came to life as people locked their businesses, leaped into their automobiles and headed for the underground shelters. School was even turned out early on occasions, so great was the worry.

In East Texas tornado "watch" conditions may exist in any one given area three or four times a spring month, so the race to the cellars was a common occurrence.

Not everyone preferred the cellar as a defense. I knew several claustrophobic families who chose to "run" from the tornadoes.

THESE FAMILIES would round up their children, wherever they might be, and load them into the vehicle. After heading for the highest ground, they would try to find an intersection where the road went in four different ways for getaway purposes. Then they would assign each family member one direction to watch.

In the unlikely event that a tornado was spotted the father would fire the family auto into "the great escape" by driving perpendicular to the cloud's assumed path.

Mv immediate family, especially my father, was from the "que sera" school of cloud watching. He showed only the mildest interest in the storms, and that was related only to possivle rain or hail.

No matter how imminent our neighbors felt the danger to be, father refused to be moved from his dinner table or reading chair.

As a boy, I had been somewhat caught up in the general fear, but I could not persuade father to invest in a cellar — or even to use the neighbor's for that matter.

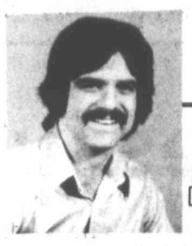

I went to the cellars a number of times when I would chance to be visiting friends when the siren blew, and I even joined a family once that sought to "run" from the cloud.

But if I was at home with father, we sat in the living room and waited our fate as if nothing would happen, and nothing did.

Slowly, my fear of clouds went away. The panic at Knox City has gradually lessened, too, as the years eased memories of the disaster.

I am happy now that my father had the attitude of indifference toward storms. If one lives in West Texas, it doesn't do to be scared of thunderclouds.

Plants feel hurts

Around the rim

Danny Reagan

(Cont. from last week)

Before we look at the effects pyramids have on plants, I thought I'd detail a couple of more experiments dealing with plant responses to certain stimuli.

Seventy-five years ago, Sir Jagadis Chandra Bose, India's foremost physical scientist said, "Love, hate, joy, fear, pleasure, pain, excitability, stupor, and countless other appropriate responses to stimuli are as universal in plants as in animals."

ACCORDING TO SCHUL and Pettit in "The Secret Power of Pyramids," Bose came to this conclusion after his experimentation with a Crescograph, a machine designed to measure and record nervous impulses in animals.

Also using a Resonant Recorder, which measures the speed of transmission of excitatory response, and the Oscillating Recorder, which registers the pulsations of a plant, Bose demonstrated the similarity between plant impulses and the pulse beat of the animal heart.

In fact, Bose showed that when a plant was pricked with a pin, its growth rate was immediately depressed to a fourth and that it took about two hours for the plant to recover.

Schul and Pettit continue that in "Autobiography of a Yogi," Paramahansa Yogananda relates how he watched Bose jab a sharp instrument through a section of a fern.

Looking at the fern shadow on the Crescograph's screen, which could magnify impulses 10 million times, he saw the fern tremble spasmodically at the instant of injury and then saw it die, trembling violently, as Bose sliced through the stem.

According to Yogananda, the death contraction in the plant appeared to be similar in every respect to the death contraction in the animal. This interested Schul and Pettit very much.

In their early experiments with plants inside pyramids, the two noticed a "significant difference in the growth rate" of the experimental plants and the control plants outside the pyramids.

They believed that there was an energy force captured or generated by the pyramid which was affecting the plants. They sought to prove this theory by the use of time-lapse photography.

WHAT THEY SAW, and what was subsequently observed by a number of scientific and lay observers, were plants gyrating in "a symphonic dance as though orchestrated by an unseen conductor."

Their first film showed a sunflower approximately six inches tall, slender, with two well-formed leaves placed at the center of a glass pyramid at the level of the King's Chamber, one-third the distance from the base to the apex.

The plant followed an east-west cyclic movement. It bowed to the east nearly touching the base, swept a semicircle to the south and back to the west and finally straightened to the vertical before starting the dance once more.

The movement was repeated every two hours according to a clock placed beside the plant. The experimenters have since used time-lapse photography a number of times over a period of two years.

For more than two years the east-west movement never changed; always the pattern was the same. Then suddenly in July 1974, the east-west movement stopped and the plants started moving in a north-south arc.

(Next week: Why?)

Communist reality

Evans, Novak

ROME — The spic-and-span Communist headquarters of Western Europe's richest Communist party, in both votes and money, would make an American politician drool. But the illusion that here is a Communist party with "a human face" vanishes the instant party operatives reveal their doctrine on life-and-death questions of world politics.

Indeed, the decision of the Carter Administration — though unquestionably backed by Italy's democratic parties — to issue its manifesto of non-involvement in the political "processes" of Western allies harboring Communist parties, may have come with undue haste and exaggereated emphasis. Party leaders here make preposterous claims out of it ("Carter is looking at Italian reality in a new way," one told us).

MORE IMPORTANT, the party's real view of the U.S.-Soviet struggle, offered with refreshing candor, is chillingly anti-American, yet the Carter "non-involvement" policy issued April 7 now makes it difficult for the U.S. to advertise that fact without violating its own edict.

Thus, Sergio Segre, a leading party specialist in foreign affairs and member of the ruling central committee, found himself unable to say whether the U.S. or the Soviet Union gives the "higher expression" to human rights. Calling it a "senseless comparison," Serge told us in a rebuke to Mr. Carter that "to be avoided at all costs" was any U.S.-Soviet "confrontation" on the human rights question — for example, pitting the condition of American blacks against the plight of Soviet dissidents.

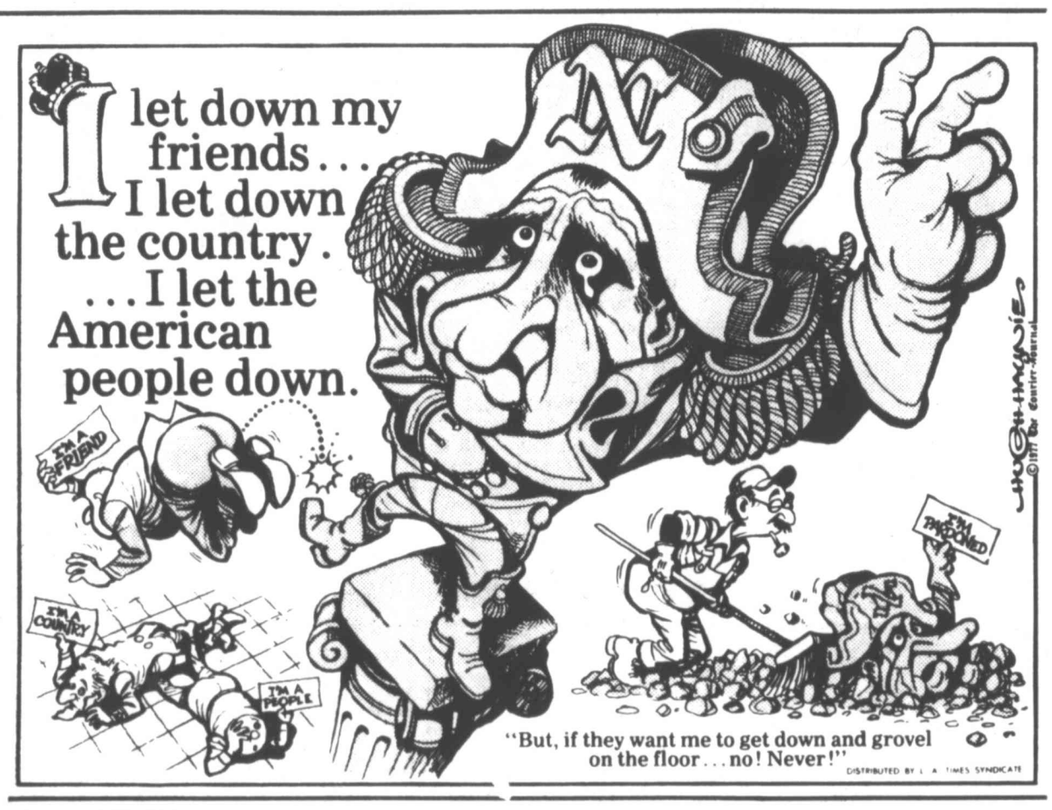

How about imperialism, a much-favored slander against the U.S.? We asked Segre to consider not just Soviet military control of Eastern Europe but also current Soviet activities in southern Africa and elsewhere, compared to last year's flat refusal by the U.S. to get involved in Angola.

The response was quick and confident: "Even your own officials like (UN Ambassador Andrew) Young and President Carter himself have said that Communist troops in Angola created stability, and that is not imperialism."

AS FOR EASTERN Europe, Segre told us, Moscow has troops there as part of the Warsaw Pact, just as the U.S. has troops in Western Europe as part of NATO. But, he was asked, is not the purpose of Soviet troops in East Germany, Poland, Hungary and Czechoslovakia to guarantee Moscow's military control and economic domination of those countries?

"There is a question about what functions Soviet troops have in Eastern Europe," Segre said. He added the party's routine disclaimer on the Soviets 1968 occupation of Prague.

Embroidering that curious perception of imperialism, Ugo Pecchioli, an articulate, 52-year-old executive committee member with growing influence in the party's foreign policy apparatus, came close to equating U.S. membership in NATO with "imperialism."

Drug-dealing underworld

Jack Anderson, Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — The subterranean world of the narcotics trade is populated with shadowy tycoons who are able to operate at all levels of commerce. They consort with cutthroats and prime ministers alike.

More often than not, the top drug dealers operate behind a screen of respectable businesses. But out of the back door, they deliver heroin shipments to fog-sheathed waterfronts, distribute satchels full of cash in high places and deal in death in the back alleys of the world.

A STARTLING SECRET intelligence report describes how one of the world's biggest heroin rings, for example, is protected by Thai officialdom. Thailand forms the base of the notorious Golden Triangle, which produces a heavy flow of heroin into the United States and Western Europe. Thai Premier Thanin Kravichien has solemnly vowed to wipe out his end of this dirty business.

Yet the intelligence report charges that Thailand's top narcotics trafficker is on excellent terms with Thai officials. He is identified in the secret reports as Chang Kai-cheng, a man of many tentacles, who operates hotels, trucks and shops. But his biggest business, according to the intelligence document, is drug smuggling.

The document also alleges that his chief lieutenant, Chang Ching-chen, "has contacts with many Thai officials and . . . takes care of Chang's narcotics business in Bangkok."

Chang Kai-cheng came out of China in 1949, settled in Burma for a spell and then, relates the intelligence report, "moved to Chiang Mai, Thailand, in 1965 and became a small narcotics dealer." But within five years, he clawed his way to the top and "became a prominent figure in the Thailand narcotics community."

Now he is reported to be "the head of the largest heroin distribution organization in Thailand," with "narcotics connections in Holland, Singapore, Malaysia and Hong Kong . . . a major violator suspected of being heavily involved . . . " Yet he poses as a respectable businessman and drives grandly about the streets of Bangkok in a white Mercedes.

THE INTELLIGENCE report listed his private telephone numbers, which we used to reach the startled Chang Kai-cheng is his Bangkok hideaway. Speaking through an interpreter, we got Chang to confirm the background information provided in the report. But he stopped cold when we brought up the subject of narcotics. He claimed not to know what we were talking about.

The secret report charges, however, that Chang "provides a major portion of the financial support and handles the shipment of narcotics from Bangkok to international markets." His narcotics empire extends from a heroin refinery in Burma to a morphine plant that produces the prized "999" brand. He formerly used a Laotian gold company as a front for narcotics trafficking, the report alleges.

Chang still masterminds "but the larger quantities of narcotics should be sold," according to the report, but underlings now take all the risks.

Urinary tract disease hard to spot

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Any answer you could give me would help. My 5-year-old girl has a recurring urinary infection. She had this first when she was 2½, then again when she was 4. She has had it continually since.

Her doctor puts her on medication for eight weeks, but as soon as she is off it for a few days it returns. She says it hurts when she urinates.

X rays were taken last month and everything was normal. I've done everything I know, including what you recommend — avoiding bubblebaths, keeping her clean, making sure she wipes herself the right way, etc. Nothing seems to work. Can you offer any suggestions further? — Mrs. P.R.

There's no doubt about it, recurrent urinary tract infection is one of the most trying problems a physician confronts. This applies particularly to little girls, who have it 14 times more frequently than little boys. One must make sure (by culture) that the medication being used is actually effective against the offending germ. Prolonged use of medicine is important, and you are doing that.

The X-ray studies may have only involved the upper urinary tract, kidneys and outlet tubes (ureters). Examination of the lower tract is important also to rule out problems such as a narrowing of the urethra or of the urinary bladder itself. The urethra is the outlet used in urination.

A common cause of recurrent infection is a condition called "ureteral reflux." This causes urine to back up into the ureters from the bladder.

Make sure she does not have pinworms. They can imitate urinary tract infections in a youngsters.

A rough problem for her. Hope you can get to the source of it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is Neosporin powder? My doctor prescribed this for a skin irritation that occurs a couple of times a year.

My problem is that my doctor has retired and pharmacies here will no longer fill the prescription since my doctor is no longer in practice. No physicians are presently available in our town. I could travel 30 miles to see one, though. What do you recommend? — E.F.

It is a mixture of potent antibiotics, which is why prescriptions are needed to buy it. The powders should not be used for prolonged periods, because such drugs overused permit the growth of other organisms against which they are not effective.

So you would be wise to make the 30-mile trip, both to have your prescription refilled and to have a doctor take another look at your skin irritation. I suggest you wait until it reappears to make the trip so the doctor can get a firsthand look at it.

He may have others thoughts about the condition. Medical knowledge is not a static thing. What your previous doctor prescribed years ago may no longer be appropriate — a good lesson for others as well.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My doctor says I have inflammation of my gall bladder. Will I get gall stones from this? — H.D.

Studies show that in about 90 per cent of patients with inflammation of the gall bladder, stones also are present, in fact, may cause the inflammation.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have this problem of geographic tongue quite often. My doctor wasn't too clear about it. It is quite painful and Mercurochrome is the only thing I've found to ease it. My tongue cracks open and bare spots appear.

The name comes from the map-like appearance of the tongue. The surface consists of tiny elevations (papillae), which you can see if you look closely. Normally the elevations are uniform in height and the tongue appears smooth. When groups of papillae become enlarged, strange-looking patterns develop. Irritation or infection are common causes.

An allergy, as to nuts, can cause a cracking of the tongue. Too, anemia can be a factor as can a vitamin deficiency, usually of the B group. These should be investigated. The pain suggests a vitamin problem. Forget the Mercurochrome — it won't help.

Avoid spicy foods and practice careful oral hygiene. You can brush your tongue with a soft tooth brush to remove debris that collect around the papillae.

Are you having a gall bladder problem? To find out how the gall bladder works and what kinds of trouble to look for, read Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "You and Your Gall Bladder." Write him in care of the Big Spring Herald, for a copy, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I saw a movie recently about the people who were searching for Noah's ark. Do you think there is any truth to this? W.R.T.

DEAR W.R.T.: I have also seen the film to which you refer, and have been reading some of the stories that have recently been published. I think there is a very good chance that Noah's ark has been discovered, although there is still much work to be done before we can say conclusively. Part of the problem is that the object being investigated is in an extremely area near the borders of Turkey and Russia.

If the object does turn out to be the ark of Noah, it will certainly be one of the greatest archaeological discoveries of all time. Many skeptics have dismissed the story of Noah as a myth, but this would give startling confirmation to the Biblical account found in Genesis 6-9. It would help many people realize that the Bible is not just a collection of fanciful stories, but tells accurately about actual historical events.

Whether or not the object is confirmed to be the ark of Noah, there have been so many discoveries that have confirmed the accuracy of the Bible that I don't see how anyone can fail to accept its trustworthiness. "For we have not followed cunningly devised fables, when we made known unto you the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ" (II Peter 1:16). More than just satisfying our curiosity, the search for Noah's ark should make us turn to the Scriptures and search them for the truth about God.

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Editor:

I would like to inform all veterans of the 2nd Armored 'Hell on Wheels' Division about our July 13-16 reunion at Killeen, Fort Hood, Tex.

Our WW II roster has been lost and this is our only way to tell the veterans who know nothing about it, and there are thousands of them.

The present 2nd Armored Division has reconstructed the 2nd Armored Museum with help from Gen. George Patton III and hundreds of the Hell on Wheelers. That will be one of our features.

Veterans may write to Robert Pryor, president, 2nd Armored Division Association, 8562 Ariel St., Houston, Tex.,77036, Phone 713-774-6837.

A few of the 'Hell on Wheelers' in Texas we would like to locate are Frank D. Hendrishson, a mdeic named Zelisko, Milton O. Newton, SSgt. James W. Clark (wounded Dec. 27, 1944) all of Fox Company, 41st Inf., Jimmy McElroy and his brother, who rode motorcycles for the 41st Inf.

Dear Editor:

For all concerned people who really care about what happens to the wild animals of North America and the habitat on which they depend, there will be an opportunity to learn what can be done about the worsening situation.

June 1-5 in St. Louis, Mo., there will be a public symposium entitled Wildlife Survival: Orientation for Action hosted by the Wild Canid Survival and Research Center.

Stewart Udall, Marlin Perkins, Michael Fox, Cleveland Amory, Brian Davies, Wild Horse Annie . . . representatives from World Wildlife Fund, National Wildlife Federation, Wilderness Society, the United Nation's I.U.C.N., Greenpeace . . . and state and federal conservation agencies . . . media, civic organizations, educators . . . will participate in this landmark gathering.

At this action-oriented meeting we will explore what each concerned citizen can do to preserve wildlife and wilderness habitat. What options are open to the people who really want to help? What can we hope to accomplish? How do we reach our government leaders?

Please write for information — and for symposium reservations — to WCSRC, P.O. Box 16204, St. Louis, Mo. 63105.

Mob peddling dope in prisons?

McALESTER, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma state prison warden Richard Crisp said he has no knowledge of a drug ring that a newspaper says peddled drugs at the state prison here and at prisons in four other states.

But Crisp added, " this sort of stuff doesn't surprise me at all."

Crisp said there have been many attempts at smuggling illegal drugs through the mails to the prison here.

But because of staff watchfulness, "there's very little drugs inside this institution," Crisp said.

"We're not allowed to read letters so all we do is open the letter and shake the pages to see if there's any contraband," Crisp said. "We turn each page of a newspaper or magazine because one time we found two pages glued together and discovered 200 amphetamine pills. And another time marijuana was sent in a hollowed-out Bible."

A total of 12 guards at the state prison have been fired or forced to resign in the past year for smuggling, including the most recent case where a guard allegedly smuggled a pistol and marijuana into the prison.

A spokesman for the Oklahoma Bureau of Investigation, Dick Wilkerson, and Crisp both said there is no indication that the gun and drug smuggling case has any connection with the reported drug network.

The Courier-Journal and Times in Louisville, Ky., reported Sunday in a copyrighted article that the arrest of two persons who allegedly tried to smuggle drugs into the Kentucky State Penitentiary led to the breaking of the five-state prison drug ring that used the U.S. Postal Service as its main transporter.

The racket's collapse began last August, the newspaper said, when a Kentucky prisoner told officials that Thomas Pugh, 39, a native of Oklahoma, was running the network at the prison at Eddyville, Ky.

However Pugh, a transfer prisoner from the Arizona State Prison where he was serving a 25 to 30-year sentence for armed robbery, escaped from Eddyville on Oct. 25, 1976. He is still at large.

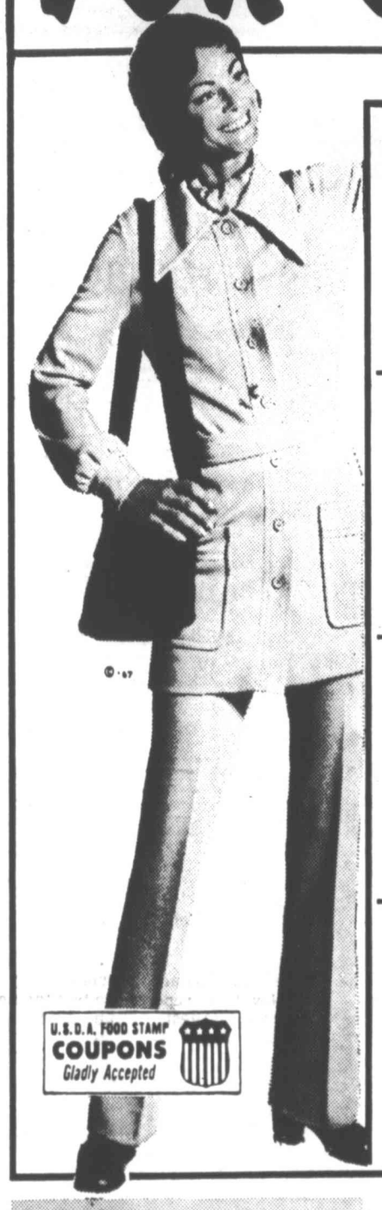

Pugh was convicted in Tulsa in 1972 and sentenced to life in prison for the 1971 shooting death of a Tulsa County grand jury witness. He still faces trial in Oklahoma in connecton with the 1970 killing of Mrs. Cleo Epps.

Pugh also faces trial in Oklahoma in connection with the 1970 bombing of then Tulsa District Judge Fred Nelson's car, which seriously injured the judge.

The Louisville newspaper quoted Kentucky corrections officials as saying the narcotics syndicate may have been doing as much as $1 million worth of business a year.

AT HOME ON THE RANGE — Front rank of 12 Essex policewomen take careful aim at targets on windswept firing range at Fingringhoe, England recently. They are volunteers, being trained to join the marksmen of the Essex Force's Central Firearms Unit. The unit is a special body called out with a magistrate's permission in any situation in which police must use firearms.

Mrs. Bill Bodin initiated into High Plains Salon

Mrs. Bill Bodin, member of American Legion Auxiliary Unit 355 of Howard County, was recently initiated into the High Plains Salon 719 of the Eight and Forty. This is a subsidiary organization of the A.L.A. organized in June, 1922, and membership is limited to women of the A.L.A. who have been members in good standing for at least three years and who have, in the judgement of the Salons Departmentaux and Petit Salons, qualified for membership by outstanding service to the American Legion Auxiliary.

Mrs. Bodin was accepted on a basis of her dedication to the local unit. She has been a member of Unit 355 for seven years, during which time she has served as vice president, secretary, treasurer, chaplin, historian, and sgt. at arms. She has served on the Executive Committee for six years. In addition she has been Bluebonnet Girls' State Chairman for the past four years, membership chairman for two years, publicity chairman for two years, Americanism chairman for one year, finance committee chairman for one year, education & scholarship chairman for one year, building committee chairman for one year, and 19th District Convention co-chairman. She has also served on the by-laws committee, the annual birthday parth committee, and is a regularly scheduled volunteer worker at the VA Hospital.

Initiation ceremonies were conducted by Le Chapeau Florence Highsmith of Lubbock at a luncheon meeting held at the local Holiday Inn. Others initiated with Mrs. Boden were Ms. Martha Collis of Plainview and Miss Debbie Ryan of Lubbock.

The main purposes of the Eight & Forty are to assist in the prevention and control of tuberculosis, cystic fibrosis, lung and other respiratory diseases in children. Their objectives are fun, fellowship, and service; such service to be particularly concerned with child welfare. This year's special project for High Plains Salon 719 is donations for the National Jewish Hospital in Denver, Colorado, which specializes in care of children with lung problems and respiratory disorders.

Couple Commends Clinic Counseling

DEAR ABBY: My spouse and I were in desperate need of counseling and we knew it. We saw three therapists, who charged $40, $27 and $17.50 per hour respectively. We could afford none of them. They all said that we indeed needed help and that they would be glad to wait for their payments. It was kind, but the weight of the anticipated financial burden created one more problem for us.

Six months passed, things got worse and I took your recommendation to contact the local mental health clinic. The cost was based on our income, which for us came to $9.90 a visit. We could pay each time we went or at the end of the month.

It is such a good feeling to know that we are not charity cases or indebted to the tune of one to two thousand a year.

We feel that our progress is part of a joint effort. This particular center also cared enough to ask us how well we felt we were doing with a particular therapist. We switched a couple of times and hit a bonanza with our third. He was nearer to us in age, a product of similar social forces and we've seen him every week for six months now. At first, things got worse, but the last couple of months have gone from good to better, and now I couldn't be more optimistic!

So thanks, Abby, for your recommendation. And to your readers in similar situations, our advice is "go." It's an investment in your future!

BUD AND CARLA

DEAR CARLA: Thanks, I needed that! I'm frequently accused of copping out when I refer readers to their local mental health clinics.

I hope your testimony will encourage others who know they need professional counseling, but keep putting it off because they can't afford it.

DEAR ABBY: You printed a letter concerning a 13-year-old boy being in trouble for getting a 14-year-old girl pregnant.

My high school teacher who studied such things says that no 13-year-old boy is able to get a girl pregnant.

Did you consult your doctor advisor?

JUST WONDERING

DEAR JUST: I did. And be assured me that it is possible for a 13-year-old boy to father a child.

DEAR ABBY: I read your column every day and have yet to see a problem like mine. I get up at 5 a.m. and fix my husband a good breakfast with homemade biscuits, sausages and eggs. I do the washing and ironing, and clean up the house spic and span. I look after a vegetable garden, feed the livestock and bring in the firewood. And when my husband comes in from work, I bathe and shave him.

But he chases other women. What for?

AGNES IN INDIANA

DEAR AGNES: It's not to fix him breakfast, do his washing, ironing, or housecleaning. And it isn't to look after the vegetable garden, feed the livestock or bring in the firewood. And it's not to bathe him and shave him, either. What's left?

DAR meets in home

The Captain Elisha Mack Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution met May 2 in the home of Mrs. David Duke. Mrs. W.A. Riley, regent, presided.

Mrs. Helen Dawson Cobean gave a report on the state meeting, which was held in Houston in March.

Mrs. Stanley Reid of Stanton gave a report on the preparedness of our nation. She stated that the only reinforcement of our troops abroad was in the Philippine Island whereas there was a decrease of troops in Germany while Russia was increasing their forces in the European theatre.

Bill Steagald was guest speaker. He told of the many avenues open to those who wish to trace their ancestors. Steagald has traced the Steagald name back, through Germany to Norway and he offered to advise or assist any person who is interested in tracing their family. He is a member of Permian Basin Chapter Sons of the American Revolution of Midland and stated that membership requirements for the SAR are parallel to Daughters of the American Revolution in as much as proof of a direct line ancestor had to be involved in the Revolutionary War. He also explained the meaning of indenture as applied to our ancestors during the founding days of our nation.

Hostess was Mrs. David Duke with Mrs. Bob Wren as co-hostess.

The chapter will not meet again until September.

Miss Parsons is elected

Dana Dorn, president of the Westbrook High School National Honor Society, presided for the regular meeting Wednesday.

Clark Sweatt gave the invocation and Georgeann Smith gave the treasurer's report.

The nominating committee presented the report for the new officers for the ensuing year. Those elected were Pamela Parsons, president; Bobby Moody, vice president; Janice Ritchey, secretary; Roy Geiger, treasurer; Tracy Brookover, reporter; Clark Sweatt, historian; Daryl Rich, parliamentarian.

Pamela Parsons is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H.R. Parsons of Colorado City.

In behalf of the NHS members, Dana Dorn was presented the gold NHS pen as a gift from the Westbrook NHS members by Preston C. Lightfoot, sponsor of the chapter.

Bobby Matlock was in charge of the program. Two films were viewed by the members: "Who's Responsible?" and "Self Esteem."

Refreshments were served to the teachers, administrators, auxiliary personnel and the NHS members. The social committee consisted of Georgeann Smith, chairman, Linda Anderaon and Dana Dorn.

Necessity

Research indicates most women who work away from home do so out of necessity — only seven per cent said they work to keep busy, reports Debby Johnson, family life education specialist, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Negative views

Most old people in the United States seem to hold negative views toward aging, themselves — and life in general. They share these negative views with the young, although it appears that old people are no more or less gloomy about age than are young people, according to Mrs. Vivian Blair, family life education specialist-aging, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

American Legion group meets at post Thursday

The American Legion Auxiliary met Thursday evening in the Post Home on Driver Road. It was decided that a Mothers' Day gift would be presented to the adopted mother of the unit at Mountain View Nursing Home.

Ms. Leta Metcalf, President, reminded members that the 4th Division Convention will be held May 14-15 at The Inn of the Golden West in Odessa. Mrs. Harvey Holcomb, fourth division president, will preside at the business meeting. Delegates elected to represent the local unit at the convention are Ms. Metcalf, Mrs. Troy Melton, Mrs. Aileen Earley, Mrs. Bill Bodin, and Mrs. Earnest Grubaugh. Alternates will be Mrs. T.A. Trevino, Mrs. Raymond Gonzales, Mrs. Farrell Hamill, Mrs. Louis Casillas and Mrs. Wanda Wiley.

The Department Convention will be July 15-17 in Amarillo. The National Convention will be August 24-25 in Denver, Colo. Members are urged to keep these dates in mind and plan to attend if possible.

The Girls State Banquet will be held in Lubbock at the Big Texan Steak Ranch on Friday, lmay 20, at 7:30 p.m. Any member who would like to attend should contact Mrs. Bodin as soon as possible for reservation deadline is May 9.

Two applicants were accepted for membership. They are Mrs. Albert Rodriquez and Mrs. Trini Arsiaga. Initiation for all new members will be held at the next meeting on May 19 at the Post Home. Any member who has not been initiated is urged to be present for this ceremony.

Mrs. Grubaugh announced that the unit will sponsor a bingo party at the VA Hospital on May 24. Anyone wishing to help with this project should report at 6:30 p.m. to the recreation room.

Several thank you notes were read from various places thanking the unit for its hospitality at the recent 19th District Convention hosted by the local unit.

Mrs. Jimmy Leal volunteered to donate a cake decorated for Mothers' Day to be raffled as a fund raising project.

It was announced that the nominating committee is drafting a slate of officers for the coming year. Anyone who desires to run for any office should contact Mrs. Troy Melton, Mrs. Bill Bodin or Mrs. T.A. Trevino.

At the movies

NEW YORK (AP) — Alan Bates and Jill Clayburgh will star in Paul Mazursky's new movie, "An Unmarried Woman." The 20th Century-Fox production, written and directed by Mazursky, is the story of a woman and her daughter after the breakup of a 15-year marriage.

Twentiety Century-Fox also announced the production of two other films, "The World's Greatest Lover," starring Gene Wilder, Carol Kane and Dom Deluise and "The Other Side Of Midnight," with Marie-France Pisier, John Beck, Susan Sarandon and Raf Vallone. "Midnight," with a score by Michael Legrand, is slated for a June release.

Bell Bottoms return?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adm. James Holloway, chief of naval operations, has just about decided to recommend a return to the sailor's traditional uniform of bell bottom trousers, jumpers and little white hats.

A recent Navy poll heavily influenced Holloway's thinking on how to resolve one of the most fractious internal issues in the fleet.

That official poll confirmed less scientific but clear indications that the new uniform of coats, white shirts, black ties and peaked caps is massively unpopular in the enlisted ranks.

The new uniform became compulsory nearly two years ago.

The Navy's sampling of opinion among more than 8,500 sailors produced a vote of about 86 per cent or 87 per cent in favor of restoring the old-style uniform.

Navy officials said sailors of all ratings were polled at major bases in San Diego, Calif.; Norfolk, Va.; Charleston, S.C.; Yokusuka, Japan; Rota, Spain, and Subic Bay, the Philippines.

Detailed results are not yet available, officials said, because experts are still analyzing replies to 36 questions asked each sailor. The questions sought reasons for opinions on uniform style, as well as views on personal appearance, uniform cleaning problems and related matters.

According to present indications, Holloway may approve the old-style uniform for the five lowest enlisted ranks.

That would leave senior petty officers with the coat and tie uniform, which was a cherished badge of distinction for them before Adm. Elmo Zumwalt ordered all enlisted men to wear it.

Holloway's recommendation will go to the new Navy secretary, W. Graham Claytor Jr., who normally can be expected to ratify the admiral's judgment on a matter involving morale.

Cruise completed

Navy Aviation Electronics Technician First Class Jackie W. Lowry, son of Verbie Lowry of 1607 N. 14th, Lamesa, has returned from an eight-month deployment in the Western Pacific and Indian Ocean.

He is a member of Tactical Electronic Warfare Squadron (VAQ)-134, home-based at the Whidbey Island Naval Air Station, Oak Harbor, Wash. His squadron was embarked aboard the aircraft carrier USS Enterprise during the deployment, and operated as a unit of the U.S. Seventh Fleet.

During the cruise, he and his fellow squadron members participated in several joint training exercises with military forces from Singapore, Iran, New Zealand, Australia and the Republic of the Philippines.

Additionally, he had the opportunity to visit Hawaii; the Republic of the Philippines; Tasmania, Australia; Hong Kong and Mombasa, Kenya.

The squadron flies the EA-6B "Prowler" jet attack bomber. The squadron's planes are specially equipped to conduct electronic warfare ("jamming") operations in addition to their all-weather ability to detect enemy targets. He joined the Navy in January 1970.

Sergeant adds ribbon

WICHITA FALLS — Technical Sergeant Wayne E. Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie E. Nelson of 3525 Charlton St., Waco, is now wearing a distinctive service ribbon as a member of an organization which recently received the U.S. Air Force Outstanding Unit Award.

Sergeant Nelson is a refrigeration and air conditioning systems instructor at Sheppard AFB, at the USAF School of Applied Aerospace Sciences that earned the award for meritorious service from January 1, 1974 to December 31, 1975.

The sergeant is a 1962 graduate of University High School. His wife, Wanda, is the daughter of Mrs. Beryl Richardson, 1612 Bluebird, Big Spring.

Training completed

Marine Private Leon Sanders Jr., son of Leon Sanders Sr. of 1204 S. Lynn and Ida M. Canady of House 10 S. Tenth Place, both of Lamesa, has completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego.

During the 11-week training cycle, he learned the basics of battlefield survival. He was introduced to the typical daily routine that he will experience during his enlistment and studied the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by Marines.

He participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills, including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline were emphasized throughout the training cycle. He joined the Marine Corps in January 1977.

McManus trial may be moved

HOUSTON (AP) — Defense attorneys were expected to request a change of venue when the capital murder trial of Vernon Eugene McManus gets under today in state district court.

McManus, 34, a former college assistant football coach, is charged in the last July 25 strangulation-beating deaths of Paul and Mary Cantrell. The bodies of the electrical contractor and his wife were found in their Baytown home.

Police claim the couple was killed in a scheme to collect insurance money.

Paula Cantrell Derese, 26, a daughter of the Cantrells, also was charged in the case. She has pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of murder and is scheduled to testify for the state in the McManus trial. She is to be sentenced following the trial.

Mrs. Derese entered her plea on the morning testimony was to have started. The plea came after two weeks of jury selection.

It required nearly seven weeks for attorneys to select a jury in the McManus trial. Then, on April 24, the day before the start of testimony, McManus disappeared and his blood-smeared car was found abandoned in east Harris County.

He was found six days later in Jacksonville Beach, Fla., and was returned to Houston. State District Judge I. D. McMaster revoked McManus' $50,0000 bond and ordered the trial to begin today.

Defense lawyers Don Smith and Mark Vela are expected to renew motions for a change of venue, claiming news stories generated by the flight from prosecution has made it impossible for McManus to receive a fair trial in Harris County.

However, prosecutors Mike Hinton and L. H. Stewart are expected to argue that the lengthy case should get under way.

The case became the first in Harris County under the new death penalty law to allow defendants to become free on bond. The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals reversed the withholding of bond on Mrs. Derese and the state elected to allow bond for McManus.

If McManus is convicted he could receive the death penalty or a life prison sentence.

Mrs. Derese is scheduled to have her punishment assessed by State District Court Judge Joe Guarino after the McManus trial. Her punishment could range from probation to life in prison.

Rangers take Royals 5-2

Horton handy with bat and fists

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Willie Horton showed his versatility as an athlete with the Texas Rangers over the weekend, first beating on the Kansas City Royals with his fists and then with his bat.

Horton, who built a reputation as an enforcer during a long career with the Detroit Tigers, was ejected from Saturday night's game between the Royals and the Rangers after a 15-minute brawl between the two teams.

After that game and Texas' 5-2 victory over the Royals Sunday in which Horton hit two two-run homers, Horton admitted openly that he wouldn't mind some more fisticuffs with the Royals, particularly catcher Darrell Porter.

"What happened (Saturday night) probably won't be the last time," said Horton. "These two teams are going to fight for the championship."

Horton hit his fourth and fifth homers in the second and eighth inning to help Bert Blyleven to his sixth straight victory over the Royals since September 1975.

But despite his apparent willingness to resume the battle with the Royals later, the veteran slugger was adamant that the fight Saturday night psyched him up Sunday.

"I wasn't even thinking about last night," he said. "I haven't thought about last night since last night."

Porter was hit by a Blyleven pitch nearly two weeks ago in a game that started the tension between the two teams. Blyleven was fined $500 and suspended three days for admitting he threw at Porter, but he said it was in retaliation for what Blyleven called a deliberate brushback of Texas' Juan Beniquez.

"Fighting is just not fun," said Porter. "I don't think anybody wants to fight out there. But last night released a lot of tension. There was no problem out there today. They went after me last night, but I hope it's over. What all this leads to is someone getting hurt."

Porter was kicked out of Saturday night's game along with Horton, Claudell Washington and Bump Wills of Texas, Ranger Manager Frank Lucchesi and Texas coach Pat Corrales. In addition, Kansas City third baseman George Brett hurt an elbow in the fight and made only a pinch running appearance Sunday.

Portland blazes trail through LA's defense

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Portland Trail Blazers, with a different hero in the first two games, proved a team can beat a man as they return home with a 2-0 lead over the Los Angeles Lakers in the National Basketball Association semifinal playoffs.

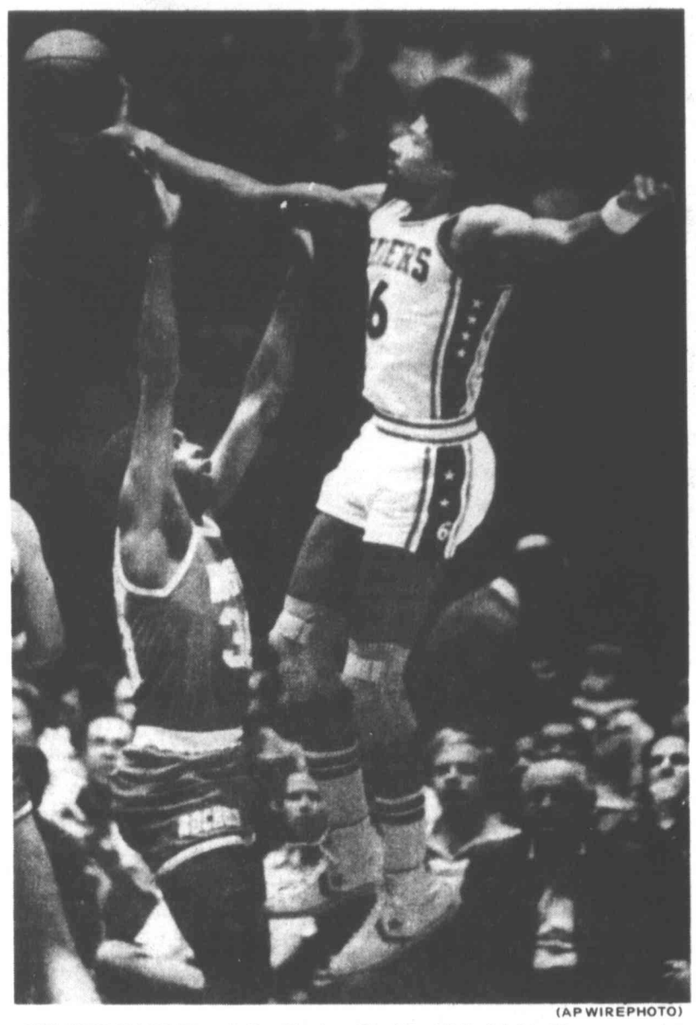

Reserve guard Herm Gilliam pumped in 14 points in the final quarter, including the go-ahead basket with less than two minutes to go, as Portland edged the Lakers 99-97 in the second game at the Forum Sunday.

Gilliam had averaged just 4.8 points in this season's playoffs, but scored 24 in Game Two. In the opening game of the semifinals, Maurice Lucas scored 28 points, pacing a 121-109 victory. Sunday, Lucas was held to 16 points.

The teams travel to Portland for the next two games in the best-of-seven series. Game Three will be Tuesday night and Game Four Friday night.

"It was a hard, hard game to win, but a great effort," said Portland Coach Jack Ramsay. "We are going to enjoy both our wins in Los Angeles.

"We call Herm 'Little Trickster.' He is typical of the players on this team who can stay on the bench for games at a time and then come in and do a super job."

HELPING HANDS? — Julius Erving (6) of the Philadelphia 76ers seems to be getting an assist from Eugene Kennedy (30) of the Houston Rockets as Erving floats toward a second half layup in Sunday's second NBA Eastern semi-final playfall game in Philadelphia. The Sixers won, 106-97.

Floyd wins Classic, no surrender on links

DALLAS (AP) — Ray Floyd showed why he will be professional golf's next millionaire soon because he wouldn't let himself surrender at the Byron Nelson Golf Classic Sunday when it appeared young Ben Crenshaw had bagged the $40,000 first prize with a spectacular eagle.

The 35-year-old Floyd said "I heard the crowd reaction when Ben made eagle at No. 15 but I just gave myself a subconscious kick in the rear. I could have quit but I didn't allow myself to quit. Then I made one helluva eagle."

Floyd made up five strokes in the final three holes with a cross-country 40-foot putt for an eagle on No. 15 and an 8 foot birdie putt on 17 for a final round two-under par 69 over the Preston Trail Golf Club.

Crenshaw, 25, folded on the final two holes, finishing bogey, bogey for par 71 with such miserable shotmaking that had him commenting: "I could hit better irons and tee shots when I was 15."

The victory for Floyd—his first of the year—put him in the World Series of Golf and on the U.S. Ryder Cup.

It also brought Floyd's lifetime earnings to $955,256 and "gave me and my wife a good start on paying for the home we're building in Miami."

Floyd's 276 total was 8-under par over the toughened up 6,983 Par 35-36 layout which featured briar patch rough and slick greens.

Crenshaw, who earned $22,800, was two shots back at 278.

"I'm just tickled to death ... I can't recall coming from that far behind on such a few holes," said Floyd. "Usually, I've been in the front and galloped to my other wins. I'm so tired I could drop."

Floyd, who came off a twoweek vacation, said "That eagle putt I made was the prettiest thing I've ever seen. I just told myself to keep hitting good shots and I might have a chance."

Crenshaw was crestfallen when he came off the final green, saying "I let my fans down and it hurts a lot."

He perked up somewhat by the time he made his way to the press tent, saying "after looking over the way I played I can't feel too bad with second place.

"I sure opened the door for Raymond and you can't give him an opening. He has worked hard on his game and is dedicated and he's one of my good friends."

Crenshaw, hoping for his fifth tour victory, said "I have to go to work on my game to get consistent. I never really had any confidence like the confidence I've had when I've won tournaments."

HIT SNAGGER — Felix Martinez, third baseman for the Big Spring Cardinals snags a hit from a rival Kermit batman in the fourth inning. The Cards swept a doubleheader Sunday to extend their winning streak to seven games.

Leaves ring for Mom

Prayer replaces pugilism

HOUSTON (AP) — Rejoicing and prayer replaced road work and the heavy bag at the George Foreman home this Mother's Day.

The former world heavyweight boxing champion had announced the day before he was leaving the ring partially because of religious beliefs and partially because of his love for his mother.

"I feel like this is what he wanted to do," said Mrs. Foreman, a plain-spoken woman with deep religious convictions. "Whatever George wants is fine with me."

Foreman, 28, said his mother never really wanted him to fight and was always worried when he entered the ring. Mrs. Foreman acknowledged her concern during a telephone interview Sunday but added, "George was always a big boy and could take care of himself."

"He never came out and said it but we talked some," she recalled. "But after the vision— he saw Christ in his dressing room before and after the (Young) fight—that was it."

Mrs. Foreman said Mother's Day was spent quietly at the Foreman house with an early breakfast, small talk and considerable "prayer and rejoicing.

"This is the first day he's rested in a long time," she said.

Foreman leaves the ring with a 46-2 professional record. His two losses are to Muhammad Ali and to Young. He won the championship Jan 22, 1972 in Kingston, Jamaica by knocking out Joe Frazier, but lost the crown to Ali in Zaire in October 1974.

Mrs. Foreman said son George joined the Church of Jesus Christ here about two weeks ago.

"He's quit the fight business," she said, "but now, he's fighting for Jesus."

DINNER TIME — Heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali eats his one meal of the day in his hotel room in New Carrollton, Md., Sunday. Ali usually dines on steak with fresh vegetables prepared by his cook. He is slated to meet challenger Alfredo Evangelista in a title bout on May 16.

Collins expert at mouth shot

76ers take first two

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia 76ers Coach Gene Shue almost choked on a soft drink when he heard that Doug Collins was still shooting in the dressing room — with his mouth, not the ball.

"Right now our thoughts are on a sweep," said Collins, who shoots quick and talks in machine-gun style.

"We're trying to do it in four," he added.

Shue gulped at what coaches consider heresy — feeding the opposition propaganda. He could just see the Houston Rockets reacting to Collins' remark.

"Sweep?" asked Shue. "I'm worried only about the third game. You all know the respect I have for Houston. When they get hot, I haven't seen any team like them."

Three times Sunday the Rockets crawled back from deficits to look the Sixers in the eye. And three times Philadelphia left them running on a treadmill. Philadelphia won 106-97 and took a 2-0 lead in their best-of-seven National Basketball Association semifinal series.

Collins, who scored 20 points, labeled the 76ers a team of spurts, both good and bad. On the good side they scored 14 straight points in the first period and went on to build a 57-45 halftime lead.

Astros downed 2-1, Atlanta big loser

By the Associated Press

You think things can't get any worse for the Atlanta Braves? Check the schedule.

Saddled with a 14-game losing streak — second longest in the National League since 1963 — following Sunday's 6-3 loss to the Chicago Cubs, the injury-riddled Braves invade Pittsburgh tonight for a four-game series with the Pirates. The Pirates are merely the hottest team in baseball — hotter than the Los Angeles Dodgers — with eight victories in a row and 13 in their last 14 outings.

"One pitcher giving us a good game and we can snap it," says Braves Manager Dave Bristol, who suffered through a 13-game skid right around this time a year ago.

Pirates 6, Reds 4

Dave Parker, leading the majors with a .421 batting average, rapped a tie-breaking tworun double in the seventh inning to cap a three-run rally. Trailing 4-3, the Pirates tied the game against Fred Norman on Rennie Stennett's single, Norman's wild throw on Phil Garner's bunt, a walk to Frank Taveras and pinch hitter Fernando Gonzalez' infield hit.

Cardinals 2, Astros 1

RBI singles by Bake McBride and Keith Hernandez gave St. Louis two runs in the third inning and that was enough behind the pitching of John D'Acquisto, winner Buddy Schultz and Clay Carroll. The run-scoring hits followed Jerry Mumphrey's leadoff triple and propelled the Cards from behind after Houston scored in the opening inning on doubles by Enos Cabell and Willie Crawford.

Giants 4-10, Mets 2-0

John Curtis, making his first start of the season, pitched twohit baseball in a rain-shortened second game. Curtis also contributed three hits to a 12-hit attack against Jon Matlack.

In the opener, San Francisco backed Jim Barr with 12 hits, including three by Willie McCovey and run-scoring hits by Marc Hill and Terry Whitfield in a tie-breaking fourth inning.

Cards take doubleheader

The Big Spring Cardinals swept another doubleheader at Steer Park Sunday, extending their winning streak to seven games after dropping the opener.

Big Spring stifled Kermit 3-2 in the first game and 8-1 in the second.

Both starting pitchers for the Cards shone brightly, not only with hurling victories, but also wielding heavy bats. Jody Flores, lefthander, drove in Ernie Garcia from third in the last inning to win his own game.

Frank Rubio, Big Spring High Steer star, pitched a strong first game for the Cardinals. Rubio also slugged two homers into State Street in addition to showing prowess at the mound.

Coahoma High touts athletes

The award for most valuable boy athlete, who participated in three out of four sports, went to Kenny Kelsoe. The most valuable girl award was presented to Donna James.

The top football player award went to Bobby Fryer. The basketball awards went to Edwin Dickson, for the boys and Donna Parish for the girls.

The outstanding tennis players were Tim Barbee and Kathy Brooks.

The outstanding booster award went this year to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Dickson.

Bryan Hall, former kicker for Texas Tech, gave the address to the group.

The cheerleaders were also recognized for their efforts during the year.

Varsity cheerleaders include Melinda Reid, head cheerleader; Donna Parish, Janet Smolko, Becci Rowden and Sherry McCuthceon.

Little League results

Cards spank Yanks

The Cardinals of the National Major scored 10 on 10 hits to down the Yankees who only managed two.

For the Cardinals, Keat Wilkins got two triples, George Bancroft bagged a double and a triple and Matt Warren belted a home run. Yankee Eggleston, losing pitcher, banged a triple.

George Bancroft was the winning pitcher. Season records show the Cards at 2-1, and the Yanks at 1-2.

Printers ink Eagles

The Printers of the National Minor League cleaned up on the Eagles 13-9 to maintain a 3-0 season average Saturday.

Mark McMullen won his first game from the mound in as many starts, but gave up 17 walks to account for the Eagles' nine runs. Printer Rodney McMillian hit the solo homer for the day with one on, and Roy Abney was leading hitter for the Printers with two connections.

The Eagles have a 0-3 season record so far.

Pirates pound Hawks

The Pirates of the American Major League buccaneered a 6-3 win over the Hawks to even out their season record at 2-2. The Hawks hold a season record of 1-3.

Winning pitcher was Marty Rodriguez, keeping his record perfect at 2-0. Losing moundman was Jay Pirkle. Leading hitters for the Hawks were Tony Shortes, Rusty Churchwell and Jay Pirkle. Tim Pike was chief batman for the Pirates.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, MAY 10, 1977

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are now able to exercise your skills in such a way to bring greater efficiency to your work. Be sure not to neglect important paper work that has been piling up.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Good day to discuss plans for the future with associates. Come to a quick decision regarding a puzzling situation.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Make plans to be more successful in your chosen career. Don't neglect to handle an important civic matter during the daytime.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Study new ventures that interest you and pick out those that are most suited to your talents. Take needed health treatments.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Figure out a better way to handle your most pressing obligations. Show more enthusiasm for your work.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Although annoying, be sure to handle an important civic matter today. Be careful of one who is very hypocritical.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) If you do more work than is expected of you by associates, you find that you will gain more benefits. Not a good day for pleasure.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Good day to make arrangements for a vacation in the days ahead. Get together with congenials in spare time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Eliminate small problems at home and establish a more constructive way of living. A new venture needs more study.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Become more efficient at your daily work and put new ideas in operation quickly. Be careful of a troublemaker.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Ideal time to engage in monetary affairs that are important to your future welfare. Avoid a tendency to exaggerate.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Be as self-engrossed as you wish now and make your personal life much better. Know exactly where you are headed.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Attend to those accumulated tasks without delay. A clever adviser can give fine ideas. Follow them and get good results.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those gregarious persons who should be encouraged to have as many friends as possible, but of the right kind. Teach to complete whatever has once been started. The field of research is fine here.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Recalls Fasken Railroad

with Marj Carpenter

Lloyd Thompson recalls that at one time, there was a railroad through Andrews and Gaines Counties. He called after we mentioned that the two counties never had a railroad. Thompson used to haul gasoline out there to Florey and remembers that the railroad ran from Seagraves across the western part of Gaines and Andrews counties to Midland.

The two counties have never had a railroad run through the county seats of Seminole and Andrews. But they did have the Fasken Railroad that Thompson recalls that went to Seagraves and to Florey, which was farther west than the present Florey Post Office.

The railroad ran along the area of the road through these county which is the bone of contention to many Seminole residences. There is a one-mile stretch that is unpaved and Seminoleans maintain that Andrews won't pave it because they want them to have to drive through Andrews to get to the airport.

There is a road from Terminal Airport paved all the way to the Andrews-Big Spring Highway which connects nine miles west of Andrews and is called Telephone Road.

Then there is a paved cutoff to the highway between Lamesa and Andrews. On that cutoff, at one time, there was an attempt to begin a town on that old Fasken Railroad and they were to call it Fasken.

The lots were platted off and the prospective city fathers planned quite a city which would have been just nine miles toward Big Spring from the city of Andrews.

On the day that the land promoters were trying to sell lots, they held a big picnic and had the train come in and everybody had a good time. As the day progressed, they had an even better time as they ran out of drinking water. Everybody that was thirsty drank beer and almost everyone was thirsty.

But as it turned out, the township promotion failed, and the railroad failed. Thompson recalls that people hauled off the cross ties. He said all of this happened in the "teens" in the early 1900s.

Thompson has lived most of his life in this area, and presently lives in Big Spring. For 25 years, he operated the Lamesa Pump and Equipment Co. He married on Sept. 28, 1923. He trucked all over West Texas, hauling gasoline, hydraulic jacks and all kinds of things.

And as he traveled, he watched some areas grow and some areas die.

He resides here now near two of his daughters, Roydala Bearden, who works for the Texas Employment Commission and Mrs. Lavera Mitchell, who works for Reeder Insurance.

Thompson and his wife, Blanche were to be married in a home wedding on Sunday in that September of 1923. They were buggy riding on Friday and her little sister was in the back seat when they decided to get married that day.

Their car had broken down and so they had taken the buggy. The little sister insisted on going along, and when she found out what they were up to, she intoned, "I'm going to tell Mama."

The young couple found a preacher at his home near Lamesa who agreed to marry them. He conducted the ceremony out in the yard under a tree.

Little sister remained firmly in the back of the buggy and every few minutes would say again, "I'm going to tell Mama." "I guesss that was our bridal music," Thompson recalled, and laughed, "Several verses of 'I'm going to tell Mama.'"

Thompson worked for T.B. Fulterson and McGuire Oil Co. and used to load up gasoline as a Cosden consigner back when "all there was out there was a loading dock and a gasoline tank".

Thompson has seen them come and seen them go, seen them shrink and seen them grow as he went about his business of hauling gasoline around West Texas.

"I remember a lot of things," Thompson recalled this week when I was out ridin' fence.

Hustle 3

Missions are varied

By Bill Albright

Executive Vice President, Big Spring Area Ch. of Commerce

Last week I spent some time gathering information and ideas at the annual Discover Texas Association meeting at Kerrville. As we're all aware, Big Spring is situated in a really advantageous location at the intersections of US 87 — north and south and Interstate 20 East and West — literally the crossroads of West Texas.

And since tourism and the travel industry represent a 5 billion dollar industry in Texas, we surely want to get our share of that revenue for our community ecnomic base. Well, the DTA is the orga. zation which has done much to attract the visitor to Texas and since we are going after these "travel dollars" in earnest I wanted to see how the professionals do the job. I was particularly impressed with the work shop on organizing a Convention and Visitor Bureau and on Area Promotions. Also high on the list of surprising facts and information was the various methods other communities use to advertise.

There is no limit to the articles, brochures, media stories and releases, plus image building publications that our neighbors all across the state use to attract the visitor. I collected as much as I could put together and will display them at the Chamber Office.

While we're not ready to employ a professional convention manager at this point in time, we are ready to expand our operations in the convention and visitor business in a more professional manner and thus increase the number of travel's dollars to Big Spring.

SHOP BIG SPRING FIRST

My journey then took me east to the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the U.S. at Washington D.C. This conference is one of the most interesting and stimulating events of the year. More than 2500 business and professional people, including chamber executives, legislators and government officials gather to exchange views and discuss ways and means to overcome problems and work for a better quality of life.

This year's theme "the value of freedom" was particularly appropriate in the face of excessive government regulation and the creeping socialism being experienced by our country.

I chose the work shop on OHSA, EPA and Internal Revenue Service as having the most impact on our chamber and community.

Energy was a major topic and the general feeling was praise for the conservation goals of the President's energy program. But a strong emphasis was placed on increased production in an unregulated market.

Freedom of enterprise was stressed in every session and economic education was highlighted throughout the meeting. A series of audio visual aids and publications and program materials were displayed.

I attended a small business seminar and dinner on Sunday evening and on Monday, I was priviledge to visit with our Texas legislators at a reception and dinner sponsored by the Texas Chamber of Commerce Managers.

I was motivated by the positive attitude of business across the country and yet I detected a strong sense of concern regarding the direction of Big Government versus Free Enterprise. We must make our voice heard in the Halls of Congress if we are to continue our quality of life and our economic well-being.

The annual meeting impressed me with the overall value of your chamber in promoting and defending and perpetuating our American way. It will take a lot of effort, resources, ideas and work but we can maintain a free economy in a free America — providing we HUSTLE — HUSTLE — HUSTLE!

Three drowning, three shooting deaths listed

By the Associated Press

Traffic deaths accounted for eight of at least 17 persons who died violently in Texas this Mother's Day weekend.

In addition to the traffic deaths, The Associated Press tally, beginning at 6 p.m. Friday and ending at midnight Sunday, accounted three stabbings, three drownings, two shooting deaths and one fire death.

Late Sunday night, The count included the following fatalities:

Lillian Dorre High, 29, of Detroit, Mich., was killed when the bus in which she was riding rolled over on rain-slick Interstate 40 about three miles west of Amarillo. Authorities said the victim was traveling with a group from the Full Gospel Church of Detroit en route home from California. The bus belonged to the church.

State police said 18 persons on the bus were injured, but only three had to be hospitalized.

Three persons drowned in San Antonio Sunday afternoon when a young girl slipped beneath the water of the San Antonio river and three others jumped in to save her.

The dead include Sheila Ellison, 13, Darrell Cunningham, 12, and Archie Gawlik, 45. Police said the girl was on a picnic with friends and decided to go wading when she was swept under.

Richard Blackburn, one of those in Miss Ellison's party, also jumped into the water but was rescued himself, when several passersby formed a human chain out into the water and dragged him ashore. He was taken to a local hospital for observation.

Several hours earlier, San Antonio police were called to the home of elementary school teacher Camilo DeLeon. They reported finding the 40-year-old instructor lying naked in a pool of blood in his living room. He had been stabbed five times about the face and neck.

Police said several household items were missing. No one was in custody late Sunday night.

Port Arthur police said they found the body of Thomas Coleman, 18, about noon Sunday on a small bridge spanning a drainage ditch. Officers said the Port Arthur youth had been shot once in the chest with a small caliber weapon.

Alfred Lee Staten, 43, of Dallas, died early Saturday of a shotgun blast while wrestling with a woman, police said. The woman was arrested.

Charles Johnson, 28, of Lufkin, was found stabbed to death in his car Saturday night. Police arrested a woman.

Lester Edward Martin, 41, of Mesquite, died early Saturday when the station wagon he was driving went out of control, left a Dallas freeway and overturned.

Two persons died in a two-car accident at Arlington early Sunday. They were identified as Craig Dean Baldwin, 23, of Arlington, and Julian Lawrence Taylor, 19, of Euless.

John Ellis Lowe, 19, of Baytown, and Keith Bettinger of Waco died early Saturday in a two-car accident at an intersection in Waco.

A one vehicle accident at Bruni in South Texas claimed the life of Alfredo Luis Reyna, 24.

Gregory Preston Gordon, 26, of El Paso, was found stabbed to death Saturday morning when a bus reached Abilene from El Paso.

Wellsprings of a nation

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — The Worcester Art Museum is presenting an exhibition focusing on the intellectual foundations of the American Revolution. "Wellsprings of a Nation: America Before 1801," which includes printed documents from the 17th and 18th centuries as well as manuscripts, paintings and artifacts, will be on display through June 5.

The exhibit and accompanying catalogue were maded possible through support from the National Endowment for the Humanities, the Massachusetts Council on the Arts and Humanities, and the Worcester Bicentennial Commissijon.

Football death

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Ruben Diaz, 18, died early Sunday after being injured playing football at a local park.

A friend, Carlos Tiapa, told police that Diaz was knocked unconscious for about five minutes, regained consciousness, then passed out again. Several youths took him to Tiapa's house to rest, but after efforts to revive Diaz failed, an ambulance was called.

Diaz was hurt about 7 p.m. and was pronounced dead at 12:30 a.m. at Brackenridge Hospital.

Grand jurors probing state insurance unit

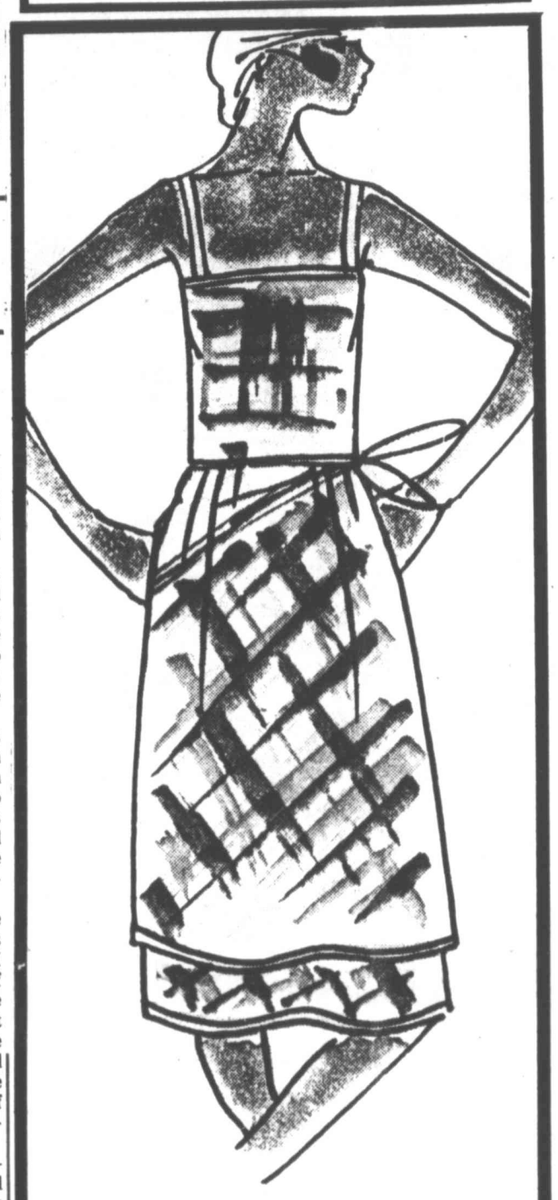

DALLAS (AP) — Alleged irregularities within the jurisdiction of the State Insurance Department are being investigated by a Travis County grand jury with assistance from the Texas Attorney General's office, according to The Dallas Morning News.

In a copyright Sunday story, the newspaper said among the probe targets are papers relating to the department's regulation of Great Commonwealth Life Insurance Co. of Dallas, which has been under state supervision since December 1975.

State Insurance Board Chairman Joe Christie said his department is "eager" to cooperate with any such investigation, but added that no one from Attorney General's office or the grand jury had contacted him concerning the probes.

Asst. Atty. Gen. David Pace confirmed his office has been "asked to assist the grand jury on a couple of different matters." Pace said further comment would have to come from the grand jury foreman.
