HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

We hate to see Mr. and Mrs. Neal R. Oakes move from Winters. Our town can ill afford to lose any citizen, and the Oakes' move is a big loss to Winters and a big gain for Coleman.

During the approximately 17 years they have lived in Winters, where they owned and operated the Piggly Wiggly supermarket until about two years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Oakes have been more than active in the affairs of the community. He has served on the board of directors of the Winters Chamber of Commerce, and was president of the organization in 1967. He was also an early member of the Winters Livestock & Agriculture Association, and was also president of that organization. He also was active in many other community projects and endeavors, and could always be depended upon to boost "his" town. She has also been active in women's affairs.

We're glad to have had you with us, Mr. and Mrs. Oakes, wish you every happiness in your new home, and join the community in saying, "Y'all come back now, y'hear!"

It is now possible for a person to drive all the way across this country of ours without carrying with him one cent in actual cash. Credit cards are available for just about everything needed for a cross-country trip: car expenses, lodging and even meals. Except for the toll turnpikes and occasional toll bridge, no cash is needed, and these can be avoided if need be. And these cash-demanding booths probably will begin accepting credit cards before long. Only if a person wants to purchase cold drinks and cigarettes and other items from vending machines, is cash absolutely necessary.

One can envision the day when everything will be under the so-called "credit-card" system—even the little items. With master credit cards it is not improbable that even small change will be a thing of the past within a few years—even for the vending machines. We as a people have the technical know-how, and it would take only a little further planning to turn this into a cashless society.

For instance, a person could be issued a master credit card, which when inserted into a recorder practically anywhere—even a lowly vending machine—could record and transmit the information to a centralized giant computer where it could be assembled faster than it takes to mention it, and further relayed to the card-holder's "bank" or central address.

We're already a nation of "numbered" citizens, and the fact is apparently acceptable. The final step would seem to be not in the too-distant future.

We even could have a giant "locator" system, whereby the whereabouts of every man, woman and child in the nation could be determined within a few seconds and pinpointed to within a small circle. Traveling by airplane, bus or train, the passenger's whereabouts could be traced exactly. The automobile traveler, when entering up on a highway, would insert his number card—the only one like it in the world—into a recorder, punch a button indicating his destination, and upon reaching his destination, insert his card into the recorder again. The giant computers would file this information and keep track of the traveler along the way.

In fact, when speaking of a "locator" system, it is not too far-fetched to visualize that in the not too distant future that each of us will be required to make known our exact whereabouts at all times, when going from one place to another or from one section of a city to another. It is not foolish to believe that one day this will happen... it has not been too long ago that we thought we would never be required to do many of the things we now are required to do. We've got the sophisticated equipment and machinery to make it possible... and equipment without a definite purpose is useless. We're not giving odds that it won't happen!

RETURNED HOME

Mrs. Gene Virden has returned from Charleston, South Carolina after several weeks visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Gray.

First Bale '69 Cotton Weighed

W. F. (Bill) Kornegay Tuesday brought in the first bale of 1969 cotton ginned in the Winters area. The cotton was ginned at the Winters Gin.

Unginned cotton weighed 2220 pounds, produced 555 pounds of lint and 780 pounds of seed.

Kornegay received the $50 cash premium offered by the Winters Chamber of Commerce for the first bale of cotton ginned in the area and brought in to the Winters Warehouse. He also received a premium price from Floyd Grant Sr., cotton buyer.

Cattlemen's Round-Up Set For Sept. 29

Abilene—in trucks, trailers and pickups loaned by other ranchers, volunteers are busy driving all over the state picking up stock donated to the cattlemen's round-up for crippled children.

The round-up, the unique fund raising event which annually provides a bulk of the operating funds for the West Texas Rehabilitation Center, is set for September 29th at ranchers and farmers livestock auction here.

One of the top donations already in the WTRC's holding pens is a four-year old, 2,600 pound tested charolais bull given by Mrs. L. O. Tarrant of the L. T. Ranches at Richmond. Bidding for the spot on the auction block, too, will be a registered Santa Gertrudis bull from the 9-bar ranch at Cypress; two registered Santa Gertrudis from R. W. Briggs of San Antonio; and a registered Hereford bull from J. Fike Godfrey of Spur, the president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

The King Ranch at Kingsville has also sent one of its top steers to the sale.

Conspicuous in its absence this year is the support of Fort Chadbourne rancher who earned the title "Father of the Cattlemen's Round-Up" before his death last spring. He annually kicked off each year's round-up with the donation of as many as 100 head of his top cross breedstock.

Persons wishing to donate stock to the sale are asked to contact their area chairman, or the West Texas Rehabilitation Center, 4601 Hartford St., Abilene Texas, 79605, according to General Chairman, Charlie Morris.

MOVED TO COLEMAN

Mr. and Mrs. Neal Oakes moved Saturday to their new home in Coleman.

AROUND THE 7-AA FOOTBALL LOOP

Seven of the Loop teams mixed up with outsiders over the past weekend, with one squad, Ballinger, celebrating an open date. Five of the seven won their contests, with Anson and Winters each taking their second loss of the season.

The Winters Blizzards were unable to move against the Coahoma Bulldogs Friday night, dropping that contest 0-34 to the strong state top-ranking Class A team. This was the second time the Blizzards had gone up against a top-heavy Class A team—each of which are strong contenders for the big crown in their division. The Blue Bunch from Winters, an inexperienced and light squad, still showed the same determination and effort in this second game of the season, but were out-weighted 25-30 pounds per man and could not stand against the heavier and more experienced Bulldogs at Coahoma. The Blizzards go against Clyde at Winters Friday night.

The Anson Tigers also took their second defeat of the season Friday night, this time at the hands of the Hornets from Aspermont. The Hornets ran away with that game, which was played in Aspermont, both in stats and on the scoreboard—25-12. The Tigers will visit Albany this week.

Bollinger had an open date last week, but will meet Sonora at Ballinger this week.

The Coleman Bluecats, fairly evenly matched with the Bulldogs from Brady, took that contest in the final minutes for an 18-13 victory at Brady Friday night. Although reported as a neck-and-neck game, stats show that Coleman outdistanced Brady considerably: 22-11 first downs, 117-87 yards rushing, 318-127 yards passing. The score was tied until the fourth stanza, then the Bluecats went ahead, and then Brady went out front. With only a minute and 40 seconds left, Coleman scored from the one to go ahead but failed to PAT. Coleman hosts Commerce for the last non-con game this Friday night.

The Pied Pipers from Hamlin evened their season's record 1-1 when they hit Clyde 21-8 Friday night. There was no scoring during the first half, but Hamlin got on the board in the third and last quarters: Clyde made their lone TD in the final. Hamlin hosts Cisco this week.

Haskell went against Seymour last Friday night, and came up with the long end of the tally 34-13. They were outdistanced in yards rushing—245 to 183, but led in the air 153-61—to conquer the Panthers. No threats were made by either team in the first quarter, and Seymour was out ahead at halftime. The Indians came back to lead, but for only a short time before Seymour went ahead 13-7. But that was all for the Panthers for the night, as the Indians began to collect scalps for the final win. Haskell plays Munday at Haskell this week.

Merkel waited until Saturday night to play their week's game—against Baird, and racked up their second win of the season. The Badgers salted their 21-6 victory with two fourth-quarter teedies in their homecoming event. The Baird Bears kept a lead until the third, when Tommy Anderson, who scored all of Merkel's counters, galloped for 76 yards for Merkel's first counter and two-pointed to go ahead. Merkel will play Aspermont at Aspermont this week.

The Stamford Bulldogs kept their winning way as they edged a 6-0 victory over Olney Friday night. Stats show that Olney was a tough cookie, but high stats don't always mean a higher score-board figure. Both teams played defensive football throughout. The lone score of the game was on a 10 and 10 pass play. Olney advanced to Stamford's three-yard stripe twice, but failed to do anything about it. Stamford goes to Jacksboro this week.

WINTERS HIGH SCHOOL BLIZZARDS—1969 EDITION

Winters' Puckett Shooting For Big Season At McM.

Richard Puckett, McMurry College's all-league quarterback, let it be known last Saturday night that he is healthy and shooting for the best season of his college football career.

In the Indians' season opening 38-15 romp of Tarleton State, the Winters product passed for 253 yards and three touchdowns and gained another 24 yards on the ground, breaking a 13-year-old school mark for one-game total offense. His 277-yard out-pipe wiped out a 260-yard production by John McCrary in 1956.

Puckett, a three-year letterman who took 2,975 yards total offense into the Tarleton State game, now has 3,252 yards over the past three seasons, plus this year's opener.

Puckett hit split end Jerry Andrus on a 41-yard TD bomb in the second quarter and then connected with tailback Archie Smith on a perfectly executed screen pass for 24 yards and a second touchdown. His third TD pass came on the same play to Smith, this time from 53 yards away.

"Richard had an outstanding game," said head coach Buddy Fornes, a former Winters High star of the late 1940s. "He is the best in the Lone Star Conference as far as I am concerned. He is a winner."

The victory was the fifth straight for the Indians, who won their last four in 1968. The Indians entertain Angelo State College Saturday night in Abilene. Kickoff time is 7:30 p.m. in P. E. Shotwell Stadium.

The Beauty Center Now Featuring Two Lines of Cosmetics

Two complete lines of beauty products are now featured at The Beauty Center on West Dale Street, according to announcement made this week by Mrs. Leona Mathies, owner of the beauty salon. Both products, the Holiday Magic and KOScot KOSmetics are relatively new lines of cosmetics and beauty treatments.

The Holiday Magic line of make-up features four basic steps to a lovelier skin—cleansing, conditioning, lubricating and protecting. Holiday Magic will help women to perform these vital steps. The line of cosmetics, now available at The Beauty Center, makes these four steps easy, quick, economical and above all pleasurable.

KOScot KOSmetics puts luxury of mink in the skin. The precious oil of mink is used as the base of the beauty products. The oil is an unused portion of the same oil which enhances mink pelt itself. It has several outstanding qualities which were important to its selection as the base of KOScot products.

Mink oil has been found to be the nearest oil known to our own natural skin lubricant. It is very easily absorbed and very beneficial to the skin. A free facial demonstration will be given with each purchase of the line of beauty products.

Mr. and Mrs. J. U. Jernigan returned home Saturday from Jacksonville, Florida where they had been visiting the past month in the home of their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Shook and little daughter, Kathy.

City Spraying For Mosquitoes

Following the wet weather, mosquitoes have once again become a problem. City of Winters employees are combating the menace, with spraying operations going on around the clock. Mayor Wade White said this week.

Residents have been asked to help in this fight by making sure that trash is not left to become breeding places for mosquitoes, and that weeds and grass are kept down as much as possible.

Mayor White also said efforts are being made to fill holes in the city's streets, but the wet weather has hampered this operation. When the weather is better, crews will be working to get the streets back in good condition, he said.

Farm and Ranch Field Tour Held In Runnels County

Directors of the Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District, and several county farmers and ranchers, made an annual field tour Thursday of this week.

In years past, it had been the custom for the tour to cover areas outside the county. Last year, however, the tour was confined to the county, with such good results the group decided to hold the 1969 tour in the county, according to W. W. Hoffman, Soil Conservation Service technician.

The group made at least one stop on a farm or ranch where they could study parallel terraces, waterways, brush control, range seeding, Bermuda grass planting in salt seeps, and various other conservation practices.

The touring group left the Ballinger SCS office at 8:30 a.m. Thursday, and had lunch in Winters. The tour was concluded at about 5 p.m.

Pastor Education Course Set At B. Spring Hospital

An Introductory Clinical Pastoral Education course will be offered at the Big Spring State Hospital Oct. 9-Dec. 4, according to Lee Butler, chaplain of the hospital.

Winters is in the area served by the Big Spring State Hospital, and patients from this area often are hospitalized there.

The course will be held one day per week, on Thursday, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The course will include unit assignments in learning better how to relate and work with emotionally disturbed people. Chaplain Butler said. The pastor will be introduced to various kinds of treatment in mental illness including milieu therapy, somatotherapy, and psychotherapy. One major emphasis of the course will be group therapy in which the minister becomes better acquainted with his own identity and theological role, the chaplain said.

There will be no cost for the course itself, it was explained.

Juveniles Involved In Station and Home Burglaries

Seven juveniles have been turned over to Runnels County juvenile officers after having been involved in burglaries and break-ins of homes and stations in Winters within the past several days, according to Winters Chief of Police Joe Stevens.

John Key's Service Station on South Main Street was broken into a few days ago, and candy and chewing gum was taken. No money was reported to have been taken, according to Chief Stevens.

At least two homes also were entered by the juveniles, the chief said, with about $50 reportedly taken.

All the juveniles reported to have been involved were under 12 years of age, it was stated, with one older youth being filed on for having received stolen articles.

Cancer Society Met Tuesday To Plan Crusade

The North Runnels County Cancer Society met Tuesday at 5:30 p.m. at the Chamber of Commerce office, and made plans for the annual Crusade to be held next April. Fourteen were present for the meeting.

Jeff Miller, field representative, explained the new area covered by District 4, which includes 31 counties.

The Cancer Crusade will be held in April, 1970, with the North Runnels County Society to hold their Crusade April 14, which is the date set for the National Crusade. A goal of $1,000 or better was set.

Following the program, Miller made several presentations. One was to the North Runnels County group for exceeding previous Crusades. An award also was made for excellent all chapters in District 4 for distribution of life-saving information by leaflets, pictures and talks. George Beard, principal of Winters Elementary School, is chairman of the education committee.

Also, the group received a certificate of Authorization and a certificate for Better than the Best.

A special award was presented to Mrs. Wayne Solomon for outstanding work on the 1968-69 Cancer Crusade.

Blizzards Hosts To Clyde Friday

The Winters High School Blizzards will meet the Clyde Bulldogs on Blizzards Field Friday night, September 26, for the last non-conference football game of the season. Kickoff at 8 p.m.

The Blizzards, shaken up to some extent during their first two encounters with big Class

A teams, have undergone a slight lineup change. Hudon White will be starting quarterback this week, replacing Ronnie Wilson, who received a shoulder injury in the game with Coahoma last Friday night.

Availability of Alton Pierce for Friday night's game also is still in doubt. Pierce has been suffering from an ankle sprain and injured ligaments in the ankle. Arlon Barnes may or may not go Friday night against Clyde, according to Coach Jerry Gibson. He has been suffering from an ankle sprain.

The 1969 Blizzards, one of the lightest squads to wear the blue in some years, have lost their first two encounters so far this season. Both losses have been to big Class A teams, one of which was the state championship team last year and returning almost intact, and the other a top-ranker in Class A, striking for the championship this year.

The Clyde team is the first Class AA team the Blizzards have on their schedule this year, and this Friday's game will be the last non-conference game. Beginning next week, with the game against Anson here, all games will be with District 7-AA teams.

Highway Dept. To Hold Open House At County Office

The Runnels County office of the Texas Highway Department will hold Open House at the county headquarters in Ballinger, Friday, September 26, from 1 to 4:30 p.m.

The open house is in observance of Texas Highway Week, Sept. 21-27. All equipment used to maintain highways in this area will be on display for the public, according to spokesmen of the Highway Department. Refreshments will be served, and the public is invited to visit the county office, which is on the old Winters-Ballinger highway in Ballinger.

Theme of this year's Highway Week is "Highways Bring Better Living," and safety features built into Texas highways will be highlighted during the observance. The Texas Good Roads Association, sponsor of Highway Week, has found that the Texas Highway Department's policy of built-in safety has paid off by decreasing highway fatality rates.

One of the main reasons Texas highways are safer is that the Texas Highway Department invests more than $1 million annually in safety research.

THE BOOMING RECREATION MARKET

By Babson's Reports, Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass.

Over the past decade or so, the sport in all forms of leisure time activity has been phenomenal. Because of the public's penchant for travel plus the popularity of skiing, bowling, and other wintertime activities, the leisure time field is now a year around affair. It is estimated that the annual overall recreation market in the U. S. is currently worth around $100 billion, and by 1975 will rise to $250 billion.

WIDE AREAS

The field of leisure and recreation extends far beyond the makers of sporting goods, boats and camp trailers. To be all-inclusive, one would have to regard as being at least partially in the general recreation area the producers of sports clothes, photographic supplies and television sets, publishing companies, hotel and motel operators, auto and tire firms, transportation companies, motion picture firms and many other companies and industries that benefit directly or indirectly from the public's yen for amusement or entertainment.

A CLOSER LOOK

Two groups that are directly related to the recreation boom are naturally those in the sporting goods business and those who produce pleasure boats. It is estimated that the market for sporting goods is around $4 billion with about $250 million of this being spent on golfing equipment (excluding club membership, greens fees, etc.) and over $25 million for tennis rackets and equipment. Many additional millions are expended for fishing and hunting items, ski equipment, billiard tables, bowling products, archery equipment, etc.

As for boating, it is estimated that there were nearly 8.5 million boats in operation last year. Total boat and retail engine business was in the area of $3.15 billion. By the middle of the next decade, boating expenditures could approximate $4.5 billion.

FURTHER GAINS LIKELY

The boom that has occurred in the recreation field for more than a decade shows no sign of abating; all factors point to further good progress. Among the more positive factors are: high and growing personal incomes; a shorter work week; more long weekends; and an increased population (especially in the under-30 age group). Obviously this growing and lucrative industry has attracted a great many companies so that competition is severe.

Among the better known entries in the field are American Machine & Foundry, Bangor Punta, Brunswick, Chris-Craft, Coleman, Fuqua, Outboard Marine, and Wilson Sporting Goods. All of these firms should continue to benefit in coming years from the expected growth in the recreation market.

THREE "BUYS"

Three other companies that appear to be favorably situated in the leisure time field are Gladding Corp., Questor Corp., and Warnaco. We recommend purchase of the stocks of these companies.

Gladding Corp. is an important though relatively small producer of fishing equipment and accessories. Through acquisitions, it has expanded into toys, sleeping bags, campers and recreational vehicles, specialty textile fibers, sporting goods, and marine electronic equipment. Earnings are on the up-trend. The stock has good appreciation potential.

Questor Corp.'s well known trade names are Spalding, Dot, Reach, Kro-Flite, Wright & Ditson, and Executive. It is a leader in the field of sporting goods; recently it also entered the education products market through acquisition of Child Guidance Toys, and the infant feeding field. Company is also a large producer of automotive parts.

Warnaco is an important producer of men's and women's sportswear. Ski clothes, tank suits, and tennis outfits are all included in the Warnaco line. Clothes are sold under the Peerless, Hathaway, Puritan, and White Stag labels. Company has a good past record and we expect further sales and earnings progress. In the judgment of the Babson's Reports research staff, both the common stock and the $1.50 convertible preferred may be purchased for appreciation.

More Permits Due For Aoudad Hunters

WHEELER—Aoudad sheep permit issuance to landowners in the rough, boulder-cluttered Palo Duro Canyon area will be upped approximately 23, from the 93 of last season to 116 this year, says Dick DeArment, project leader for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

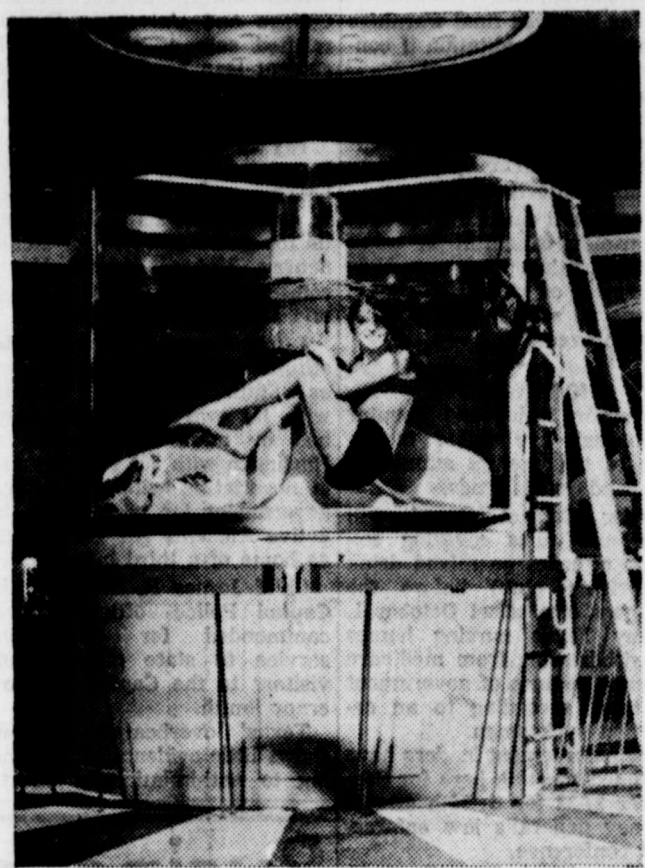

Hunting the hefty exotics, originally from the Atlas Mountains of Africa and the only wild sheep on that continent, is for the intrepid and the stalwart, DeArment said, since the sheep range runs in two directions: straight up and straight down. Hunters have spent as much as 26 hours in bagging their trophy, and few of the big animal that may weigh as much as 300 pounds on the hoof are bagged with the well-known one-shot treatment. Even when the trophy is spotted and bagged, getting a 40-pound head and cape up a mountainside isn't easy, and other trips are necessary for the meat.

Since the Department made the initial 1957 sheep release of 44 animals, trucked from the McKnight Ranch near Picacho, New Mexico, offspring of Hearst Ranch stock from San Simón, California, biologists have noted both the increase and spread of the herds. By 1961 the population was estimated at 200, and the aoudad was declared a game animal under SB 171 on March 4, 1963. That same year landowners were issued 42 permits and 36 were utilized by hunters who tallied up 9 trophies, 6 rams and 3 ewes, for a 25 per cent success.

Jack Parsons, wildlife supervisor, said last year's hunt totaled 93 hunters who saw 278 sheep and harvested 33 of them after spending 2.5 shells per animal, and an average time for each animal of seven hours. Last year also produced the maximum ram horn length of 32 inches, a respectable size since the world's record head had 34-inch horns from an aoudad found dead in the home African mountains.

Biologists have kept a sharp eye on the sheep each year, in part by a hold-your-breath helicopter census, and spreading of the herds is an obvious thing. Records reveal one large ram bagged in Armstrong County during the 1964-65 hunt that field-dressed 270 pounds, a year when 49 of the 50 permits issued were used.

WASHINGTON

"As it looks from here"

OMAR BURLESON
Congressman
17th District

Washington, D. C.—The decision of the Supreme Court, banning the use of prescribed prayer by the New York State Board of Regents, continues to be subject to interpretation in its application.

There is no question that the court said in this particular case, that an official body at any level of government, could not prescribe a set prayer or scriptural reading. This, coupled with the assumption that the attendance of students was compulsory, was the basis of that decision.

The question immediately arose, and remains undetermined in spite of subsequent cases, as to whether the New York case became "the law of the land" or just the law in the particular case. Does it prohibit any sort or kind of religious practice in public schools established by custom and tradition in the particular community?

The opinions and threats of Mrs. Madalyn Murray O'Hair notwithstanding, there appears to be a number of plans which may keep her and the Courts busy, if they decide to bring more suits.

In 1963, following the New York case, the Supreme Court again ruled that Pennsylvania and Maryland could not constitutionally require reading of verses from the Bible and recitation of the Lord's Prayer in public schools. In the New York case the key word seems to be "prescribed." In the latter cases the word "require" appears determining.

The elimination of these two factors should satisfy the courts. A school committee in Leyden, Massachusetts, has developed a plan, believed by those giving careful study to the issue, to overcome the legal technicalities raised in the above mentioned cases.

Essentially the plan provides that on each school day, before classes begin, a period of five minutes shall be available to those teachers and students who may wish to participate voluntarily in the free exercise of religion as guaranteed by our Constitution. The plan specifically states that "This freedom of religion shall not be expressed in any way which will interfere with another's rights."

Under such an arrangement it would seem exceedingly unlikely that a reasonable mind could find legal fault. It will not please the Mrs. O'Hairs and those who wish to deny students and teachers the opportunity of even recognizing the existence of a Divine Being. Mrs. O'Hair and her kind want the Astronauts, who read scriptures while in space, to be censured. It is suggested that no one become too exercised that anything of the sort will be done—any more than the historic practice of opening each Session of the Congress with prayer will be abandoned. Neither will the motto "In God We Trust" be removed from the National Legislative Halls nor from our money.

Back to the "Leyden Plan" either the teacher or the pupils may offer the prayer. Those who do not wish to take part will be allowed to leave. The committee which offered this solution makes it perfectly clear that non-participation shall not be evidence of non-religion. The program is not to be supervised, controlled or directed by any religious group and students and parents will be notified that whatever is done is non-compulsory. All that is being done in the school system is providing the time and place for the conduct of a brief period of prayer and devotion.

If the word "prescribed" in the New York case and the words "require" in the Pennsylvania and Maryland cases, hold legal logic then let the objectors challenge the words "voluntarily" and "freedom of worship" in the "Leyden Plan."

No life is so strong and complete, but it yearns for the smile of a friend.

Austin, Tex. — Gov. Preston Smith has signed into law a $5.8 billion 1970-71 state budget. This was after vetoing $4.4 million in miscellaneous spending items. Yet the expenditure set an all-time record.

Earlier, Smith approved a new record $348.6 million tax bill which takes effect October 1. (In addition to state revenue, cities will get an estimated $6 million a year due to extension of the sales tax to beer and liquor. Sales tax rate goes up from 3 to 3.25 per cent.) Smith also signed other acts of the special session, including legislation creating 28 new Texas district courts. He will name all judges to serve until the next general election. This may be the largest single amount of judicial patronage assigned a Texas governor at one time in state history.

Tax bill as passed by the Legislature provided plenty of revenue to fill the State's needs, but Smith said his vetoes are "justified for the sake of economy perhaps more than for anything else." Many of the items vetoed, he noted, were not part of the original House or Senate appropriations acts, and some were not even requested by agencies.

Governor Smith vetoed the following items as now "unjustified or non-essential": Construction funds totaling $2.9 million for the Dallas Neuropsychiatric Institute; $262,717 for the Department of Public Safety sub-district headquarters in McAllen; $250,000 for the Junction adjacent of Texas A&M; $160,000 for Texas Maritime Academy; Pelican Island Development.

Also an appropriation of $225,000 for contracts of private lawyers to assist the Attorney General in tort claims cases in 1971; $172,000 for park land acquisitions in Hardeman and Motley counties; $207,500 for acquiring land and development of Port Lavaca Causeway State Park; $50,000 for drilling a water well at Lyndon B. Johnson State Park in Gillespie County; $25,000 for Longhorn Cavern State Park; $29,000 for completion of a master plan for the Red River Authority; $60,000 for a fish raising facility at Stephen F. Austin College in Nacogdoches, and $65,000 for environmental pollution control studies at Prairie View Agricultural and Mechanical College.

BARNES FOR SENATE?
Is Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, 31, about to become a candidate for the U. S. Senate against Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, 66? Nobody can truthfully claim to know the answer to that, including Barnes himself, who says he has not yet made up his mind.

Yet, Governor Smith opened up new speculation on the subject during the recent Southern Governors' Conference at Williamsburg, Va. Asked by reporters if he thinks Barnes could beat Yarborough, Smith said he believes that is possible—depending on the kind of races run by each, their financial resources and a lot of imponderables.

Smith didn't claim to know, but the fact he was willing to discuss the prospective race at all was an indicator of the widespread circulation of the Barnes-Yarborough contest rumor. Smith also told newsmen he feels Yarborough is in the best political position he has enjoyed since he went to Washington more than a decade ago.

Smith will, he emphasized, take no hand in the Senate race no matter who the candidates are.

APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED

Major and minor appointments came thick and fast during the last week.

Veteran State Securities Commissioner William M. King resigned his post to enter private banking here, and his longtime deputy, Truman G. Holladay, was named to succeed him.

Former State Sen. Dorsey B. Hardeman of San Angelo was selected executive director of Texas Water Rights Commission succeeding Frank Booth who resigned to enter private law practice.

Sen. Criss Cole of Houston was sworn in as president pro tempore of the Texas Senate on September 22.

Smith named a nine member board of regents for East Texas State University. They include Houston H. Harte of San Antonio, Raymond Middleton Holliday of Houston, Joseph Zeppa of Tyler, William Garland Button of Dallas, Cam F. Dowell, Jr., of Dallas, Joel Thomas Williams Jr. of Dallas, Leon Jackson Coker Jr. of Texarkana, Thomas Brazelton Stealy of Paris and Luther Preston Johnston of Lubbock.

Smith placed on the new State Board of Landscape Architects Robert Hall Green of Houston, Otto Erwin Scherz of San Angelo and Leonard Morrison Riggs of Longview.

He named Gerald Hicks Smith of Houston and James L. Lindsey of College Station to the State Finance Commission and reappointed Rex G. Baker Jr. of Houston to the Commission's banking section.

Buster Eugene French of Dayton was named to the board of directors of the Coastal Industrial Water Authority. Smith re-named Johnnie Glen Jennings of Baytown and Robert Clayton Lanier of Houston to same agency. Malcolm J. Henley of Lindale was placed on the Sabine River Authority board of directors and Tom R. Pegues of Mineola and Charles T. Wick-ersham of Orange were reappointed to the Sabine Authority.

Berl E. Godfrey of Ft. Worth, Davie James Lawson of Dallas and Gus S. Wortham of Houston were assigned by Smith to six-year terms on the board of regents of North Texas State University.

Smith selected Mrs. Elaine Byron Cominsky of Pasadena and Mrs. Helen Ruth Cox of Lubbock for the board of nurse examiners. He appointed Roy L. Fowler of Austin to the board of barber examiners.

Dr. Stewart Wolf will head

the marine biomedical institute at Galveston. Mrs. Marie Schulz has been named program director of the library systems act for the state library. Eleven new Texas Rangers were designated by the Department of Public Safety.

LEASE SALES SET

A total of 338 tracts of University of Texas lands (111,812 acres) in West Texas will be placed on lease auction, December 16, November 4, some 768 tracts totaling 496,871 acres will be offered in a school land sale.

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler said 125 tracts of university land in Hudspeth County will be offered at bonuses of not less than $1,000 per half section and at annual lease rentals of $1.50 an acre. This was reduced from former requirements of $5,000 per quarter section and $2 per acre. Former requirements will govern other tract leases.

In school land sale, 37 tracts in El Paso County had acceptable bonus reduced to $5 an acre and annual rental to $2. Other upland and riverbed tracts will command a $20 per acre bonus and $5 per acre annual rental. Those lying under bays, inlets and Gulf of Mexico lands will go at $25 an acre and $5 per acre annual rental. Most of school land is in Gulf Coast submerged areas.

ATTORNEY GENERAL SPEAKS

University of Texas cannot strip Dr. James McCrocklin, former Southwest Texas State University president, of his Ph.D. degree and court action would be necessary to annul it, Atty. General Crawford Martin said.

Another recent opinion, Martin concluded that: "Commercial feeding lots 'finishing out' cattle for market must provide county tax collector a list showing the numbers of cattle they need for each owner, on January 1.

"New type liquor wholesalers permit does not discriminate against other permit holders, and is constitutional.

"Harris County commissioners may grant the county sheriff and his deputies the same authority DPS officers have, to remove vehicles from county roads.

"Depository interest earned on special constitutional fund or federal trust funds created for specific purposes should be deposited to the credit of those specific funds rather than the general revenue fund.

Housewives Who Work Part-Time Must Withhold Tax

It's customary for a lot of housewives to take a part-time job shortly after they have bundled the kids off to school in September. This contributes to the family budget and gets mama back into the excitement of the business world and away from housewifing chores for at least a little while.

Surprisingly enough, mothers who work part time create more than their share of tax problems. First, the employer figures that the housewife won't earn enough to be required to pay any tax, and he doesn't withhold. But, unfortunately the housewife—due to community property law in Texas—has already earned enough to owe taxes—due to her half of the husband's income, and the law requires withholding regardless of the amount.

The second problem comes from the housewife claiming her own exemption on her W-4 form without having her husband drop her as an exemption on his W-4. This usually results in the family owing a tax at the end of the year. It is better on a part-time or temporary job of this type for her to claim "0" as her exemptions and let the husband's withholding continue unchanged.

And, finally, some housewives happily sign the joint return with their husband on his earnings, and file a separate return and claim a refund on their temporary or part-time earnings. The computer has a program all ready to send the housewife and her husband a notice of audit. You can't file separate returns in Texas without splitting the income and the withholding and deductions for both spouses.

CARD OF THANKS

Words cannot express the appreciation we feel for the many acts of kindness and thoughtfulness you have shown for Lance during his stay in the hospital in Dallas and since his return home. The many prayers, cards, and gifts made his stay so much shorter. A special thanks to the Southside Baptist Church, Junior Training Union department, First Baptist Church and to the many, many people of Winters who donated their time and efforts to make the cake and garage sale a success. Thanks again.—Obie Dee, Rozanne, and Lance Bradford, ltp

Health Column

Austin — People who suffer with hypertension, or high blood pressure, nowadays have more reason for optimism than they would have had a generation ago, says the Texas State Department of Health.

In itself hypertension is not a disease. It's a sign that something is wrong, like the stuffy feeling that comes with a cold. The danger accrues because of the possibility of stroke or serious heart or kidney damage when blood pressure is consistently high.

But even mild elevations in the blood pressure considered normal for the person involved—if the increase persists—may cause the walls of blood vessels to thicken, exactly as callouses are formed on hands by regular use of an axe or hoe. Research has shown that temporary increases in pressure do not really make much difference.

In the most common type of high blood pressure, called "essential hypertension," the tiny branches of arteries which carry blood to all body tissues (called arterioles) begin to tighten up. Blood passages become smaller and smaller, and the heart has to work harder to push the blood through. After a time the blood vessels lose their elasticity and the heart muscles thicken with the extra work load. Result: high blood pressure, and ultimately heart damage.

What causes the arterioles to tighten and constrict? No one knows.

High blood pressure sometimes goes up for a period of days or weeks—or even longer—and then drops back to normal. Sometimes it may jump from pure nervousness while your physician is examining you. Perhaps there is a connection between hypertension and the strain of modern life. People who work under constant stress, who worry too much, are often susceptible. Heredity is a probable factor, and the condition occurs most often in persons between 30 and 50.

The thing which will count most in adding years to the life of hypertension sufferers is the willingness to change their living habits, following the rules of moderation in everything. By securing a doctor's care and following a few simple rules for moderate living, they can probably work and enjoy life as long or longer than their next-door neighbors without high blood pressure.

There is nothing to gain from worry about your chances of developing hypertension. Just make it a point to have a physical examination at least once a year. And worry and argue as little as possible.

Low blood pressure, on the other hand, seldom causes trouble, afflicting relatively few people to a serious extent.

A cigarette cough. Who worries about that? Plenty of people these days.

Coughs that don't disappear are something to worry about. And to do something about. For a starter, see a doctor.

UNDER THE BIG TOP, 11-month-old Christie Spencer can't see too far ahead, but as long as she can see her feet, she keeps going in Salinas, Calif.

Cigarette smoke irritates the bronchial tubes, among other things. The tubes connect the windpipe with the lungs. When bronchial tubes are irritated by smoke over a long period of time, excessive mucus is secreted and produces a cough. The flow of air into the body is also cut down. The lungs are in trouble.

Some research indicates that chronic bronchitis, if unchecked, may lead to emphysema. A severe respiratory disease which makes breathing extremely difficult, emphysema has no known cure.

These are the facts. For more of them—about chronic bronchitis, emphysema, TB, other respiratory diseases, smoking, and air pollution—get in touch with your Big Country Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association. It's a matter of life and breath.

SS Benefits Not Limited To Aged And Retired Persons

"Most people think of elderly people and retirement benefits when social security is mentioned," commented Ted F. Moellering, San Angelo social security district manager.

Social security does provide retirement benefits, but it also means financial security to the younger worker by providing monthly benefits to survivors of deceased workers and also to disabled workers and their families.

Many changes have been made in the social security disability program since it began. Now, if a person has a disability which is expected to last 12 months or more, he may qualify for monthly benefits.

Amendments signed into law in 1968 reduced the work requirement for persons disabled before age 31. Although those disabled at age 31 or later must have worked under social security at least 5 out of 10 years ending with the date the disability began, a young person can now qualify for disability benefits with less work, and those disabled before age 24 with as little as 1½ years work in the 3 years before they become disabled.

Anyone needing further information about the new disability requirement or any other part of the social security program may contact the Social Security Office at 3000 West Harris Avenue in San Angelo, or see the representative when he is in your area.

Funeral Tuesday For Mrs. Hagar Who Died Tuesday

Funeral services for Mrs. I. H. Hagar, 58, were held Tuesday at 2 p.m. from the Assembly of God Church, with the Rev. Lindell Warren, pastor, and the Rev. Jack Davis, pastor of the Pentecostal Church, officiating. Burial was in Lakeview Cemetery under the direction of Spill Funeral Home.

Mrs. Hagar died at 5:55 p.m. in the Winters Municipal Hospital following an illness of several weeks.

Mrs. Hagar was born at Palmer, Texas, June 20, 1911. She was a nurse's aide for many years. Prior to moving to Winters in 1958, she lived for a number of years in Eastland and San Angelo.

She was married to I. H. Hagar in Winters, Jan. 9, 1960.

She was a member of the Assembly of God Church in Winters.

Surviving are her husband; three brothers, Roy Wade of Wichita Falls, Eddie Wade of Kansas City, Mo., and Clyde Wade of Houston; three sisters, Mrs. C. H. Woolsey of Dallas, Mrs. Lottie Rudd of Italy, Tex., and Mrs. Thelma Rudd of Waxahachie; and seven stepchildren.

Pallbearers were Cecil Stephens, T. W. Norman, Frank Gore, Bobby Stagg, Walker Tatum and T. A. Smith.

To the young, friendship comes as the glory of the spring—a very miracle of beauty, a mystery of birth; to the old it has the bloom of autumn, beautiful still.

Exotics Released In Bell, Fannin Cos.

TYLER—The Texas Parks and wildlife department recently released 400 gray francolins and 225 Korean pheasants in separate portions of the State.

The francolins were released in pasture lands near Holland in Bell County.

Most of the pheasants were released in farming areas adjacent to the Red River along the northern edge of Fannin County. A few were liberated in an area south of Bonham.

The release of these 10 to 12 week old birds, which were reared at the Department's Management and Research Station near Tyler, is a continuing effort which could mean new game birds for the hunter's game bag.

Exotic birds are introduced into game deficient areas and areas where native game birds have diminished due to habitat destruction.

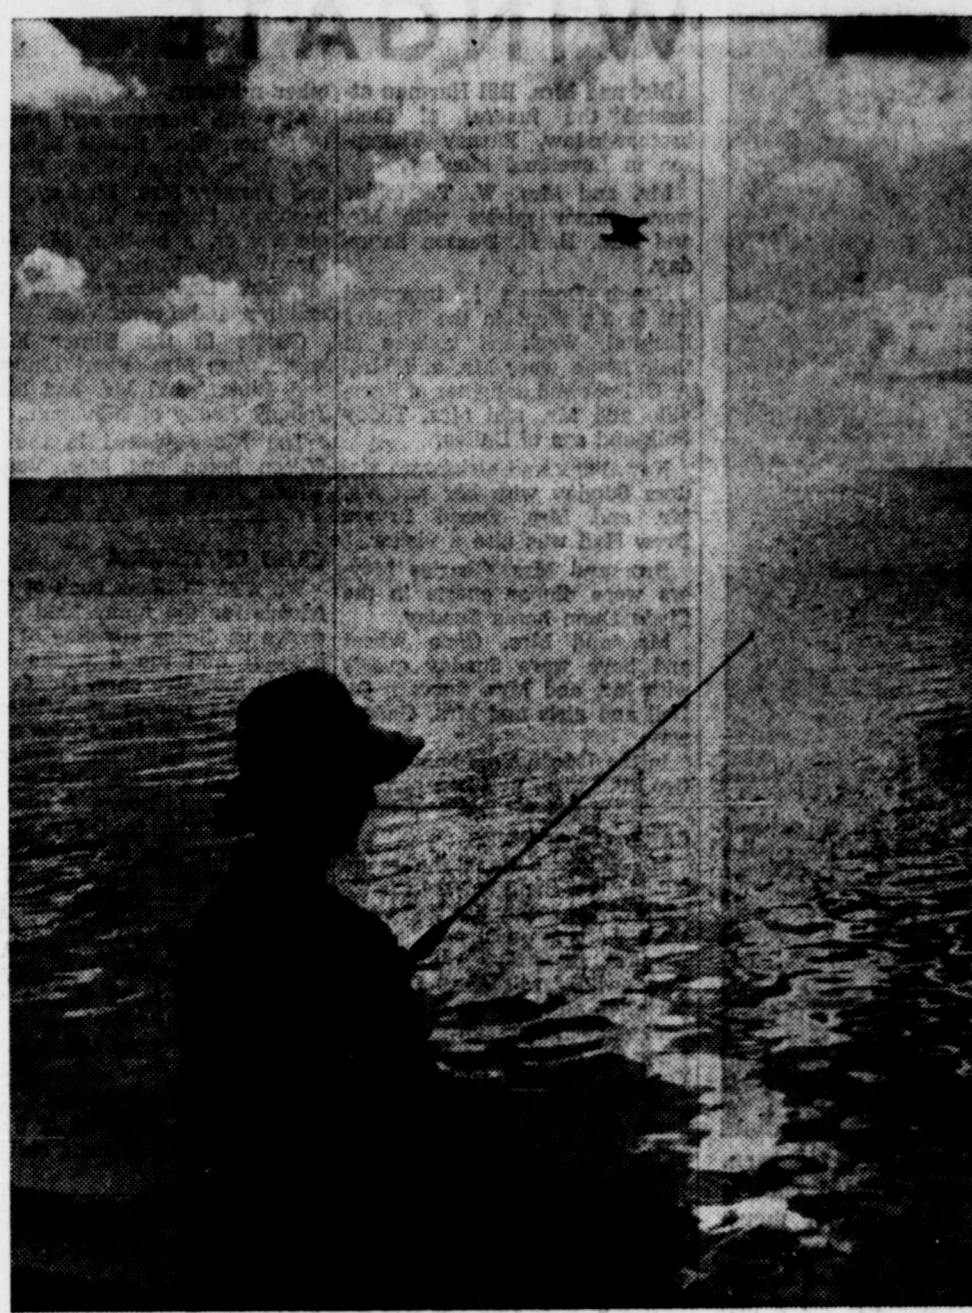

Different birds require different habitat, according to Department biologists. For example, rather than roosting together in a small circle on the ground as does a covey of bobwhite quail, francolins seek roosts several inches above the ground. Therefore, brushy areas are important to their well-being.

The Department hopes the pheasants will establish themselves and multiply enough to make a hunting season possible within a few years.

But for the time being the season on these birds is closed in Bell and Fannin Counties.

If a man is going to be an American at all let him be so without any qualifying adjectives; and if he is going to be something else, let him drop the word American from his personal description.

Blizzards Lose Non-Conference Game Friday Nite

Displaying the same rugged Class A football that confronted the Winters Blizzards last week, the Coahoma Bulldogs soundly defeated the Blizzards at Coahoma Friday night 34-0.

The Blizzards held the Bulldogs quite well in the first quarter but were forced to punt after an unsuccessful offensive effort. In short order Coahoma's halfback Dean Richters ran for a 34-yard touchdown and James Dunn added two points extra.

Although the Blizzards had difficulty moving the ball after the kick, they were able to get a first down before fumbling. Richters recovered the ball and went over four plays later for the second touchdown.

Failing to get an extra point the Bulldog's final offensive effort in the first half was a long drive that started deep in their own territory. Richters grabbed a pass on the 15-yard line to give Coahoma a 20-0 lead with but a few seconds left in the first half. Their effort at the extra point failed.

After a defensive third quarter Coahoma's scoring revived as Dunn intercepted a Blizzard pass and ran 52 yards for another Bulldog score. Failing to get their extra point the Bulldogs added six more points as Toby Green intercepted another Blizzard pass on their first play after the kick. A pass to Green for the two point conversion ended Coahoma's scoring at 34 points.

The Blizzards had a final offensive effort in the last quarter under Hudon White's direction but were unable to go past the Bulldog's 16-yard line. The ball game ended with Coahoma in possession of the ball and a 34-0 victory.

HEALTH COLUMN

Folk rock and frug, Watusi and waltz. But is there music in sneezes and coughs?

Somebody thinks so. This spring at a choral concert of modern American music, held at the Whitney Museum in New York City, one of the specialties on the program was "Sneezes and Coughs." No lyrics to this number. Just "a-chcos" and a staccato series of hacking sounds in the throat.

The music, so-called, got a laugh from the audience. But the song says something about modern American life.

The sounds are familiar, for one thing. More familiar than the sound of silence, a delicious state celebrated in song by Simon and Garfunkel.

More than 16 million Americans have asthma or hay fever—or both. Millions more have other allergies punctuated by sniffles and wheezes. More than 4 million have chronic bronchitis with an almost ever-present cough. Then there's the cigarette hack. Chronic coughs—and the jagged rhythmic sounds produced by the cold viruses—are all around us.

Sneezes and coughs, except in song, are nothing to laugh about. Respiratory infections are the major cause of time lost from school and work in America. People consult doctors for acute respiratory disease more often than for any other group of acute ailments.

And sneezes and coughs spread plenty of germs, including the TB germ.

This kind of music nobody wants to hear—in real life. And your Big Country Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association is doing everything it can to help rub out the sounds of respiratory disease. Check with them for more information to keep down the din.
