Q.–Who is paying for those Garry Mauro (Texas land commissioner) billboards?

A.–According to Robert Mead in the land commissioner's office, the space has been donated by the billboard companies. The only cost was approximately $9,000 for printing which was paid for out of Garry Mauro campaign funds. No tax money was used.

In Brief

13 recovered

PEKING (AP) — The bodies of 13 men have been recovered after a coal pit blast in southern China which killed 21 miners, the official English-language China Daily reported today.

Lack of safety precautions caused the huge gas explosion last Wednesday in the Nianziping Mine in Qinzhou, Guangxi Zhuang Autonomous Region.

2-alarm fire

DALLAS (AP) — A two-alarm blaze which raced through a restaurant caused about $100,000 in damage, a fire official says.

No one was injured in the fire Sunday morning at the Manhattan Restaurant, said fire investigator K.G. Miller. He said the restaurant was not open when the fire broke out at 11:12 a.m.

Miller said the blaze was "a suspicious fire." He said the fire had spread throughout the restaurant when firefighters arrived.

Miller said flames and smoke destroyed all the furnishings and damaged the inner structure of the building.

The fire, which was extinguished at 11:40 a.m., caused about $100,000 in damage to the contents and about $200,000 to the interior structure.

Local

Trailer theft

Scurry County Sheriff's officers are investigating the theft of a trailer from a local oil field service firm reported Saturday afternoon.

Employees of the Lease Equipment Service Company Inc. called authorities at 2:35 p.m. Saturday and told investigators that a 16 foot shop made flat bed trailer was missing from the company yard.

The trailer was apparently taken from the yard sometime Friday night or early Saturday morning.

Investigators had no estimate for the value of the missing trailer.

Lebanon...

22 killed in car explosion

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A car bomb ripped through a restaurant in Moslem west Beirut today, killing 22 and wounding 77 and triggering fighting along the Moslem-Christian dividing Green Line, police said.

The blast came a day after Christian militia commanders vowed revenge on their Moslem foes for a car bombing that killed 55 people, mostly women, and wounded 119 in Christian east Beirut's Antelias suburb on Saturday.

That was the fourth car-bombing in the Christian sector since May. Altogether, 118 people were killed in those attacks.

Moslem-controlled radio stations reported another explosion today in Beirut's Shiite Moslem suburb of Ghobeiri, and the Christian Voice of Lebanon radio said the second blast was also caused by a car bomb. Police could not immediately confirm the reports.

Police said they believed that today's first explosion, in the residential Karakol el-Druse neighborhood, was caused by a bomb-laden green Peugeot car.

The explosion, just after noon, wrecked the first two floors of a six-story building, including the Hamadeh restaurant, and set three floors of an adjacent nine-story apartment building on fire.

AP newsman Samir Ghattas, reporting from Karakol El-Druse, said the force of the blast hurled passing cars on top of each other. At least 15 were set ablaze.

The residential district is controlled by Druse militiamen, who Christian leaders blamed for Saturday's supermarket bombing.

The Ghobeiri area where the second explosion was reported is controlled by Shiites, allies of the Druse against the Christians in Lebanon's 10-year-old civil war.

Within minutes of the Karakol explosion, Christian and Moslem gunners began shelling each others positions along the 3-mile Green Line that bisects the city in Moslem and Christian territory.

There were no immediate reports of casualties from the fighting, but the clashes forced the closure of the Museum crossing, the main gateway between Christian and Moslem sectors of the embattled Lebanese capital.

Ghattas said a filling station near the devastated restaurant was blackened by smoke. He said local Moslem militiamen cordoned off the area around the blast, firing in the air to clear the streets for ambulances.

The owner of the wrecked restaurant, Ihab Hamadeh, told Ghattas there were no customers in his place when the car bomb exploded. His staff survived with minor cuts from flying glass shards.

Civil defense rescuers and Moslem militiamen on the scene said most of the casualties were passing motorists.

Season champions named following the AJRA finals

Snyder and area competitors made a strong showing at this year's AJRA National Finals Rodeo, as evidenced by Saturday's short-go and awards presentations.

Season champions in each event were determined Friday evening and announced Saturday. The final show of the five-day rodeo pitted the season's top cowboys and cowgirls in each event as they competed for prize money.

Snyder's Adam Brewster, who had won championship in bareback and narrowly missed in bulls, faired well Saturday. He won the short-go of the bull riding with a 77 and finished second in the bareback with a 73.

Another Snyder and Western Texas College cowboy, Mike Carrillo, won the bareback competition. Carrillo was also the season's bareback champion.

Gail's Kelly Jo Ogden and Ralynn Key also did well Saturday. As 12 and under and 13-15 barrel racing champions, respectively, they both won the short-go Saturday. Ogden clocked the fastest time of the rodeo with a 14.49. Key flashed a 15.04.

Ogden also took reserve champion in the 12 and under polebending for the year. She has some tough luck and took on no-time in Saturday's short go, however.

Western Texas College-bound cowboy Don Eddleman of Graham also had a fine finals night. He won both the ribbon roping and the tiedown roping in the short-go, with times of 5.18 and 9.90, respectively. Eddleman was also the season ribbon roping champ and the tiedown roping reserve champion in the 16-19 age group.

Season champions received one of the many saddles donated for the rodeo. Reserve champions - second place winners - took home AJRA buckles.

Special awards were given to Mendy Dobbs of Paris as rookie of the year and to Carrillo and Brewster as champion and reserve champion bareback riders.

The Roy Cooper Traveling Trophy went to the top 16-19 tiedown calf roper, Cory Priest of Lane, Okla.

Another award presented this year, the Jeff Betchel Memorial Award, was presented to Tom Wilson of Lampasas. The award, voted on by bull riders competing in AJRA, was presented in the memory of Betchel, a contestant from Andrews who died in rodeo competition earlier this summer.

WTC staffers to get service awards

Twenty-three staffers and one board member at Western Texas College will receive service awards tonight during the annual faculty and staff dinner set for Willow Park Inn.

The dinner begins at 7 p.m. and guest speaker will be Dr. Edward O. Daniel, vice president for investments with Prudential-Bache, Inc. in Fort Worth.

Daniel, a former college teacher, has made hundreds of presentations and is noted for his humorous approach to life. He holds a doctorate degree from North Texas State University.

Staffers scheduled to receive 15-year awards are Dr. Ben Brock and Rex Hopkins. Ten-year plaques will go to Diane Beard, Wanda Falls, Dr. Gil Fleer and Sue Lyon.

Five-year awards will be presented to Howard Sterling, Robert Adams, Travis Burleson, James Eby, Dave Foster, Ann Galyean, John Garcia, Martha Gist, Lanelle Hammond, Zelma Irons, Marilyn Lancaster, Bill Mitchell, Barbara Preston, Sue Sewell, Carl Stewart, Vernest Tippens, Frank Williams and Bonnie Young.

WTC faculty and staff began in-service for the fall semester Monday morning. Charles Burnside, executive secretary of the Texas Junior College Teachers' Association, addressed the WTC faculty Monday morning.

New faculty members were welcomed by Dr. Don Newbury, WTC president. Burnside was introduced by Jim Rambo, president of the WTC faculty association.

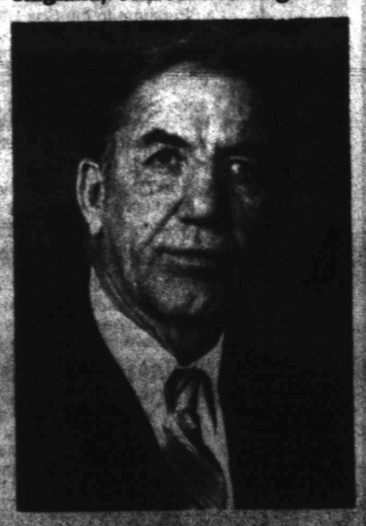

WTC faculty workshops continue through the week and Monday and Tuesday of next week. Registration for the fall semester will begin at 1 p.m. Aug. 28 and will continue on Aug. 29. Evening classes beginning Aug. 29 and day classes start Aug. 30.

Charlie Yoast chosen manager of coliseum

Charlies Yoast, former Scurry County Commissioner and assistant coliseum manager for the past three years, Monday morning was named manager of the Scurry County Coliseum.

The decision came shortly after noon Monday following an hour-long executive session in which the court interviewed four finalist for the position.

Last Wednesday, the court interviewed all 17 persons who applied for the post which became vacant following the resignation last month of Phil Ragland. Ragland, coliseum manager for 7½ years, resigned to purchase Snyder Athletic Center.

CHARLIE YOAST

Prior to the vote Precinct 2 Commissioner Hassie Sneed characterized the decision as one of the toughest the court has had to made. "We had a lot of good people apply for the job."

The selection of Yoast, a 34-year resident of Scurry County, was unanimous. In addition, the court named Les Partain, currently manager of the Scurry County swimming pool, as assistant manager.

Yoast, who came to Snyder in 1952 with Mobil Oil, was elected precinct 3 county commissioner in 1972. Yoast served two four-year terms and was defeated in 1980 by B. J. Bartels who served one full term before being named county auditor.

Yoast has been employed at the coliseum the past 4½ years, three of those as assistant manager.

In other court action Monday, commissioners passed a resolution calling for the U.S. Department of Labor and the U.S. Congress to exempt counties and municipalities from overtime pay requirements of the Fair Labor Standards Act.

Counties across the U.S. are experiencing budget crunches due to a February, 1985 court ruling that requires all counties to pay overtime rather than give time off compensation.

The court also approved a resolution for the county to forward state funds to the state comptroller on a 30-day basis. These are funds due the state collected by the country for various fees.

Counties with more than 50,000 population must make the transfer of funds each week. The court voted to make the transfers every 30 days, as has been the practice in the past.

At 12:15, the court recessed for lunch and were due back in session at 2 p.m.

Weekend storm rips roof from area barn

A brief but vigorous thunderstorm swept through the Snyder area Saturday afternoon, dumping up to an inch of rain in a short period of time. Light hail and an apparent tornado accompanied the storm.

The roof of a tractor shed and barn, owned by Tommy Davis, was ripped off around 5:15 p.m. when the storm hit Davis' place, nine miles northeast of Snyder on the Ennis Creek Road.

Davis said he thought it was a tornado; however by the time a Department of Public Safety trooper arrived in the area there was no tornado to be seen.

Just before it hit, Davis said it started "raining very, very, very hard," and he recorded an inch of rain in about 10 minutes.

Snyder proper officially recorded .05 of an inch, bringing the year's total to 19.34 inches.

Other rain reports included five miles east of town, .80 of an inch; Dermott, .20; and Lake Thomas, trace; Hermleigh, trace; Fluvanna, .25 of an inch; and Dunn, .75 inch.

Jury selection underway

Jury selection procedings for the murder trial of Bharat N. Bhakta of Snyder got underway on schedule this morning in the 132nd District Court.

At noon, District Attorney Ernie Armstrong and defense attorney Leland W. "Pete" Greene were still engaged in preliminary remarks to the prospective jurors and no jurors had been seated at that time.

Bhakta is on trial for murder in connection with the death of his 25-year-old wife, Kumud, in

Reagan urges specific reforms

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration is urging South African officials to "put their money where their mouth is" and offer specific reforms toward ending apartheid and the massive violence it has sparked.

President Reagan also believes black leaders in South Africa would be taking only a "low risk" by accepting the government's offer to negotiate, said Robert C. McFarlane, the president's national security adviser.

"It seems to the president that it is a reasonably low risk for people to challenge the (South African) government now" in negotiations, he said.

Storm formed fast, but was still avoidable

GRAPEVINE, Texas (AP) — The sudden, violent storm that caught Delta Flight 191 could have been spotted and possibly avoided before the jumbo jet crashed, killing 134 people, the Dallas Times Herald said Sunday.

The storm apparently formed spontaneously on the airport's north side, increased in intensity, then disappeared entirely in less than an hour.

Although crash investigators still don't know if violent winds caused the Aug. 2 crash, weather radar records show the quickly forming storm could have been spotted in advance of 191's arrival and avoided, the newspaper said.

In analyzing records from the National Weather Service radar station in Stephenville, about 75 miles southwest of Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport, the newspaper said the records confirm witnesses' reports that the storm struck suddenly.

Despite the storm's untimely appearance, the radar tapes indicate it had developed well before the jet reached it, the newspaper reported.

The weather information also suggests that although fast in developing, the storm was not unusual for Texas summers, the newspaper said.

The L-1011 jumbo jet entered the storm and slammed into the ground short of the runway, killing 134 people. Dangerous winds spawned by storms and known as wind shear are suspected as a factor in the crash.

Witnesses and others interviewed by federal investigators say the storm turned deadly too fast for a timely warning and evasive action.

But National Transportation Safety Board investigators are still probing whether the plane's radar or tower controllers who were informed of the cloud formations could have provided enough warning of possible wind shears.

Fourteen minutes prior to the crash when the storm was first spotted on weather radar "certainly is not too fast to take action if a pilot knows it's there," NTSB chief investigator Rudolf Kapustin told the Times Herald.

The radar tape was obtained last weeek by the Times Herald and analyzed with assistance from meteorologist Ross Dixon, vice president of Metracom, a weather consulting firm in Oklahoma City.

The tapes show the storm first appearing as a tiny dot at 5:52 p.m. By 6:04 p.m., it had become intense, Dixon said.

The Delta jet crashed at 6:06 p.m. The storm remained on the radar screen for the next 43 minutes, moving a few miles southeast before dissipating entirely by 6:49 p.m., the tapes show.

Runaway teenager killed in accident

HOUSTON (AP) — When 14-year-old Michael DeClaremont first entered a camp for troubled youths, he vowed never to run away.

When he broke that vow Friday, he had been doing so well, he was close to being sent back home.

But on Saturday morning, he and two other residents who ran away from the Hope Center for Youth Therapeutic Wilderness Program were struck by a 109-car freight train.

DeClaremont was killed and his companions, Sebastian Fields, 12, and Shannon Williams, 13, were seriously injured.

Fields and Williams, whose right arm was amputated, were listed in guarded condition Sunday with multiple traumas at Hermann Hospital in Houston, a hospital spokeswoman said.

"Mike had been doing real well and was real close to going home," said Lyndon Langford, director of the center located near Apple Springs in Trinity County.

He said the threesome had run away from the center, in the Davy Crockett National Forest, about noon on Friday.

Williams had been upset because he wanted to be dismissed from the camp but the group of youngsters he worked with had recommended he stay, Langford said.

The so-called client groups are the first to rule on a youth's request for release from the private, non-profit program, which deals with emotional and delinquency problems, officials said.

Langford said counselors and other youngsters thought Williams had accomplished a great deal during his six-month stay, as had DeClaremont, who had been at the center for 10 months.

Fields had been in the program for four months and "hadn't gone as far" as the two others but was "doing good things," the director said.

The trio was returning to Houston on foot and fell asleep on railroad tracks just north of Moscow, Texas, in Polk County, Department of Public Safety spokesman Mike Cox said.

About 2:40 a.m., a Southern Pacific freight train enroute from Lufkin to Houston roared through, hitting the youths and traveling about half a mile before stopping, DPS officials said.

Gland problem can be serious

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My nephew, who is 7, does not perspire. He never did, even as a baby. His pediatrician says his sweat glands have not developed yet. In hot weather, he is not comfortable and he has to be watched very closely so he does not get too warm. Can you shed some light on this?

DEAR READER — I hate to use this column to invoke little-known diagnoses; I feel more comfortable giving what used to be known as "common-sense" advice. However, your question raises the possibility that your nephew has an unusual abnormality known as anhydrotic ectodermal dysplasia, which means that his sweat glands have never developed.

This genetically transmitted disease is carried through the female, like hemophilia, but affects only male offspring. Anhydrotics usually cannot produce tears, either, and they show distinctive changes in skin, hair and nails. Because sweat is the body's air conditioner, the disease can result in unacceptably high body temperatures. Therefore, anhydrotics must avoid heat and strenuous exercise and must be treated promptly for any condition that causes fever.

Of course, I'd be presumptuous to diagnose a serious condition solely on the information you have provided. Your nephew's family undoubtedly has had him thoroughly examined by a qualified pediatric specialist. One of the most important services the pediatrician can supply is to define ways of handling the youngster's condition. Like many childhood diseases, it probably will stay with him for a lifetime, and he should learn to cope with it by modifying his behavior.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am a senior citizen. I had an ostomy operation two years ago and wear a pouch. I have trouble because the pouch fills up with gas. I am taking all kinds of pills to help this, including charcoal pills, with no success. What else can I do?

DEAR READER — The gas that troubles you probably is secondary to dietary factors. Try eliminating certain foods to see if gas production can be lessened. Start by cutting out carbonated beverages, cabbage, beans and peas. If that doesn't help, avoid yeast products, milk and cheese. Do not consume the artificial sweetener sorbitol.

Your doctor may be able to give you further suggestions, or you might talk to a person trained in dealing with colostomy problems. Such professionals are known as endostomal therapists; most hospitals use them and can refer you to one.

Charcoal pills, an old and sometimes effective modality, are used to control odor, not gas. If you need to take medicine for the gas, simethecone is a more specific gas reducer.

Send your questions to Dr. Gott at P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101. Due to volume of mail, individual questions cannot be answered. Questions of general interest will be answered in future columns.

Yeast very useful

NEW YORK (AP) — Yeast, that single-celled fungus that puts the bounce in bread and bubbles in beer, is now offering biologists food for thought.

According to researchers, yeast is quickly rising as the medium of choice in the field of biotechnology. Yeast cells can be engineered to produce not only vaccines and medicines, but to provide fundamental understanding of the disease itself, especially cancer and AIDS.

Dear Abby

Abusers of Language Get Rapped on Their Knuckles

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1985 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Cheers for your column on language abuse! May I submit my own pet peeve? The use of the word "lady" instead of "woman."

"Woman" is a perfectly good word and refers to any adult female, whereas the word "lady" is a particular type of woman--one showing "refinement, gentility and good manners."

Particularly ridiculous is the word "bag-lady."

JEERING IN JERSEY

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for pointing out the monotonous "right?" tacked onto the end of every sentence as though it were a question.

When someone says, "I went to the store, right? I bought a bag of potatoes, right? Cost me $3, right?" I say, "Left!"

HAROLD B.
IN BROCTON, N.Y.

DEAR ABBY: My pet peeve concerns using the word "so" in place of the word "very."

Advertisers do it constantly. Example: "Our (whatever) is so soft, so beautiful, so tasty, so affordable, etc." If a product rates particular merit, the "so" is lengthened, and it becomes "sooooo beautiful, sooooo tasty, etc." My name is Robert J. Vanden-Heuvel, but you may sign me ...

SO TIRED OF "SO"
IN SHALIMAR, FLA.

DEAR ABBY: Let's put a stop to using the word "hopefully" as follows: "Hopefully we'll be there soon." The sentence should be, "I hope we'll be there soon."

I hope we soon rid ourselves of the earsore "hopefully." Please add this to your collection.

SMALL-TOWN LAWYER

DEAR ABBY: I'd like to put in two cents regarding the misuse of the English language.

The nonsensical double negative "irregardless" is now so widely used that I actually found it in the dictionary!

TOM KITTERMAN,
PITTSFIELD, MASS.

DEAR ABBY: Let's get to work on the word "got." My dictionary says "got" is the past and past participle of "get."

When one has said, "I have, he has, she has, they have," why "got"? "I got, she got, you got, they got" grates on my nerves. Got the idea?

NO MORE "GOTS"

DEAR ABBY: How about people who say they feel "badly"? People can feel good and they can feel bad, but the person who feels "badly" feels with his fingers and is doing a poor job of it.

And please deliver me from all these "feelers" who say, "I feel you should do it," instead of, "I think you should do it." Feeling is not the same as thinking.

FEELING FEISTY

DEAR ABBY: Please start a campaign to do away with meaningless phrases such as "by and large." What does it mean, anyway? Absolutely nothing! Put that one in the same class with "each and every." Another waste of words.

FORMER SCHOOL TEACHER

DEAR ABBY: When are they going to bury that corny expression, "Have a good day"? I am so tired of it. It's insincere, meaningless and puts the recipient of that overused "wish" in an awkward position. What is the proper response? "You have a good day, too"?

A simple "Thank you" or "Goodbye" is quite enough, thank you.

TIRED OF H.A.G.D.

DEAR ABBY: Speaking of misusing the English language: When someone answers the telephone and hears: "This is Dr. Smith's office calling," I am tempted to respond, "And this is Mrs. Karney's house answering." When a secretary says, "I'm sorry, he's tied up right now," I want to ask, "Any suspects? Or did you do it?"

Also, when I hear "At this point in time," I want to say, "Time doesn't have points; it's continuous, it keeps moving, it doesn't stand still."

There's more, Abby, but I wish there weren't.

WESLEY VAN BUREN
KARNEY, OLYMPIA, WASH.

DEAR ABBY: If I hear one more person say, "Well, the bottom line is ..." I am going to hit the ceiling!

RICHARD S.
VENTURA, CALIF.

DEAR ABBY: I object to the perpetual use of the word "pretty" to qualify adjectives, e.g. "pretty good, pretty bad, pretty late, pretty early," and so on to eternity.

Your Birthday

Aug. 20, 1985

Advancement in your chosen field will occur in the year ahead. Now you will probably get that position you've coveted.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You've heard the old adage, "If you want something done right, do it yourself." Keep this in mind today if a delicate matter requires prompt attention. Major changes are ahead for Leos in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your mental prowess will give you an edge over people you deal with commercially today. However, to your credit, you won't take advantage of them.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) History has a way of repeating itself. In your instance you could know be fortunate financially in situations similar to those from which you profited in the past.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov.22) Your point of view is far more important to others today than you may realize, so don't be bashful about airing your thoughts on important issues.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Even if things appear a bit bleak for you financially today, have faith that all will work out well in the long run. Prosperous undercurrents are stirring.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Someone who was not fond of you is being converted into an admirer. This new attitude may be a response to your newfound respect for him.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) The lines will be drawn today and you may find yourself in competition. However, if you do as instincts direct, you won't come out second-best.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 19) Normally it's unwise to offer unsolicited advice, but today could be an exception. If you think you have the answer to a close pal's problem, speak up.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Bold thinking followed by appropriate action will pay off for you today in matters that you've been anxious to change.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You can gain the cooperation of others today if you first show a willingness to be cooperative. Initial gestures set the tone.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Follow through on career matters today. Don't leave loose ends.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you have authority over others, command by example today instead of showing force. Save muscle-flexing for the gym.

An exercise in end play

By James Jacoby

As part of the Jim Jacoby Bridge Workout Program, the exercise today is in suit elimination and end play. An inspection of the card layout reveals that declarer has to lose the ace of trumps and two club tricks. To bring home the bacon, he must avoid the loss of a diamond trick.

So declarer wins the ace of spades and plays the heart king. West wins and continues spades. Declarer takes the spade king and draws trumps with the heart jack. He then ruffs a spade and continues with the club ace and a small club. The defenders can cash one more club, but then they must either give declarer a finesse in diamonds or give him a sluff and a ruff by leading a black suit. That's the basic exercise.

Now let's examine the defenders' options. Best for them is to allow West to win the third club. He should now lead the diamond queen, just as though he also held the jack. If declarer falls for that ruse, he will win the king and then lose a trick to the jack in the East hand. But the right decision for declarer is to play for the diamond honors to be split between the two defenders' hands. If they weren't, an alert defender with the Q-J of diamonds would have allowed his partner to win the third club, and a small diamond would have been led up to the Q-J combination.

Tooth decay germ targeted

NEW YORK (AP) — Tooth decay can begin with a mother's kisses, but dental researchers hope that vaccinating children will one day beat Mom's decay-causing germs to the punch.

A cavity vaccine wouldn't replace toothbrushes, floss and fluoride, researchers say, but it could help further reduce cavities, provide a boon in areas without good dental care, and perhaps point the way to blocking other diseases whose germs enter through the mouth or nose.

Vaccine research is focusing on a bacterium called streptococcus mutans, the main cause of cavities. With the help of sugar from the diet, it colonizes teeth and produces tooth-eroding acid.

Babies are generally exposed to the bacterium by the mother, "usually through kissing (and) close intimate contact," said Dr. Michael Cole, visiting scientist at the National Institute of Dental Research.

But the bacterium can't settle in until the baby gets teeth, he said. That gap would give a vaccine the chance to go to work first to fend off bacterial colonization on teeth.

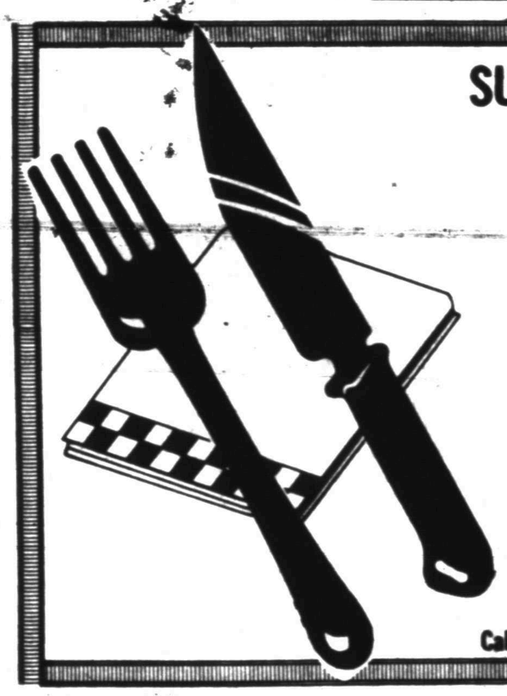

"Then you have established a foothold," said Daniel Smith, an immunologist at the Forsyth Dental Center in Boston. "If you wait until a kid enters school, they already have the bug."

Smith's group has targeted a bacterial enzyme called glucosyl transferase for its vaccine research.

Schroeder stars for Redskins; Dallas derails Chargers in OT

by The Associated Press

Jay Schroeder's status may be that of a second-year professional quarterback, but in the opinion of Washington Coach Joe Gibbs the former UCLA player is showing poise belying his youth.

"For a guy who hasn't played very much, he's very poised and seems to know what you're talking about," Gibbs said after Schroeder marched the Redskins 70 yards to a touchdown in the final period of Sunday's 14-9 National Football League preseason victory over the Los Angeles Raiders before a national TV audience at the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Michael Morton capped the decisive 11-play drive with a 3-yard run with 4:55 remaining as Washington won for the second time in as many starts. The Raiders have an 0-2 record.

In Saturday's games, it was Indianapolis 24, Chicago 13; Cincinnati 24, New York Jets 20; Cleveland 28, Philadelphia 14; Minnesota 41, Pittsburgh 34; Atlanta 23, Tampa Bay 17; Miami 27, Buffalo 17; New York Giants 10, Green Bay 2; Houston 23, New Orleans 20; New England 31, Kansas City 13, and Dallas 27, San Diego 24 in overtime.

On Friday night, it was Seattle 28, Detroit 3. The weekend's action began on Thursday when the Los Angeles Rams defeated St. Louis 39-7, and will end tonight when Denver visits San Francisco in a nationally televised game.

Cowboys 27, Chargers 24

Rafael Septien, who three minutes earlier had missed from 39 yards, kicked a 48-yard field with 8:06 left in overtime as Dallas boosted its preseason record to 2-0. The game was extended to overtime when Duriel Harris caught a deflected 14-yard touchdown pass with 11 seconds left. San Diego fell to 1-1.

Giants 10, Packers 2

New York, 3-0, moved on the passing of Phil Simms, who completed 12 of 22 for 157 yards. Running back Maurice Carthon scored the only touchdown on a two-yard run in the second period. Backup quarterback Randy Wright hit on 17 of 22 passes for injury-riddled Green Bay, 0-2 with just five points scored.

Vikings 41, Steelers 34

Minnesota, 2-0, which thrived in its glory days on defense and special teams, beat Pittsburgh on a 68-yard punt return by Eric Robinson after nose tackle Byron Jones returned an interception 32 yards for a score. Mark Malone completed 12 of 18 passes for 147 yards and three scores for Pittsburgh, 1-1.

Falcons 23, Bucs 17

Atlanta, 1-1, had 339 yards of offense and limited Tampa Bay, 0-2, to 120 - including -3 yards passing. Steve Bartkowski, who tossed an 18-yard touchdown pass to Billy Johnson, led a quartet of Falcon quarterbacks to a combined 19 of 32 for 204 yards. Mick Luckhurst kicked three field goals.

Oilers 23, Saints 20

Rookie Mike Akiu returned a punt blocked by Jeff Donaldson 17 yards for a touchdown with 1:35 left. Houston, 1-2, moved behind Warren Moon, who passed for for 212 yards and two scores and picked up 50 yards rushing. Quarterback Richard Todd had passed New Orleans, 1-1, to a 20-16 lead in the final period.

Hatfield predicts SWC title up for grabs now

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) - The Southwest Conference football championship is up for grabs in the wake of much-favored Southern Methodist's three-year NCAA probation for recruiting violations, University of Arkansas Coach Ken Hatfield says.

"I think a lot of teams think they can win the title this year," Hatfield told reporters between freshman two-a-day practices this weekend. "But everybody kind of liked SMU ..."

SMU has been prohibited from going to bowl games after the 1985 and 1986 seasons, and the team cannot appear on live television in the 1986 and 1987 seasons. The Mustangs must also forfeit a total of 45 scholarships in the 1986 and 1987 seasons.

Hatfield turned in two schools to the NCAA for recruiting violations last spring - SMU was not one of them - and said the SMU penalties convey a message: "If that doesn't get your attention, nothing will. The message you're trying to get across is that the end does not justify any means."

The Arkansas coach said he feels sorry for SMU's players.

"I'm sick about a situation where the players who are not involved have to suffer and be deprived of so many things that college football has to offer. I feel saddened for them. They're the ones who are really having to pay the price for this," he said.

Conference rules prohibit any team on probation from eligibility to win the SWC championship, Hatfield said, but added that a decision will probably come this week from the conference athletic directors and faculty representatives on whether SMU's 1985 games will count in SWC standings.

"If they're not eligible to win the championship, why should their games count?" Hatfield said. "If they were to go 11-0, I think it would make all of college football look pretty stupid.

"They shouldn't be ranked or recognized in the media. They ought to be left to clean up their act. Then when they're eligible, they can go whole hog," Hatfield said.

White suffers injury; doubtful for Chicago

White sustained the injury in overtime during Saturday's 27-24 pre-season victory over the Chargers when he was sacked by San Diego linebacker Linden King.

X-rays taken Sunday morning at the Cowboys training camp showed White had no broken bones, said team trainer Don Cochren.

Doctors diagnosed the injury as rib cartilage separation on his left side, Cochren said.

King visited White in the Cowboys locker room after the game and apologized, saying he didn't intend to injure the Dallas quarterback.

After returning to the Cowboys training camp with the team at about 12:30 a.m. Sunday, White spent the night at Los Robles Hospital in Thousand Oaks. Cochren said White probably would spend Sunday night in the hospital as well.

Team officials said White is doubtful for the Cowboy's pre-season game against the Chicago Bears Monday.

Mixed softball tourney slated here Aug. 24-23

A mixed doubles softball tournment will be held August 23 and 24 at Winston Field, it has been announced.

Teams will consist of five men and five women.

Entry fee is $90: Blue Dot balls are required.

Deadline to enter is Aug. 21 at 8 p.m. For information, or to enter, call (915) 573-7998.

Green finally wins on tour

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP) - Ken Green ended four years of frustration on Sunday by making the Buick Open his first victory on the PGA Tour. He beat another non-winner, Australian Wayne Grady, by four shots and set a tournament record in the bargain.

Green walked away with $81,000 and the use of a new car for the next year.

"The money comes in handy," the 28-year-old Green said frankly. "I'm not what you'd call Jack Nicklaus-rich or anything. Earlier this year, in fact, I was just about broke.

"A friend had to loan me $1,000 to play Hilton Head. I paid that back and now I've won THE tournament. I'm going to have a good time tonight. I deserve the celebration."

Tiger girls slate scrimmage; open 1985 campaign Tuesday

Snyder's varsity and junior varsity volleyball teams were to scrimmage in Seminole today, preparing for Tuesday's season opener with Levelland here.

Today's scrimmage was scheduled for a 1 o'clock start. Tuesday's matches, at 6:30 and 7:30 respectively, will be held at Snyder High School Gym.

Tuesday's action will be the only home matches for the varsity unit until they open District 2-4A play on Sept. 14 with Fort Stockton. The girls will get plenty of playing time in on the road, however. They are scheduled to play Midland and Abilene Cooper, and compete in the Monahans, San Angelo and Breckenridge tournaments.

Junior varsity players include Carrie Fortune, Monica Hinojos, Julie Williams, Jennifer Alarcon, Yolanda Anderson, Becky Becerra, Paula Caldwell, Brinda Gonzales, Denise Overton, Holly Page, Kelly Walker, Meredith Goodwin, Lafon Williams and Melinda Tucker.

Coaches are Vicki Nelms and Patty Grimmett.

Schroeder stars for Redskins; Dallas derails Chargers in OT

by The Associated Press

Jay Schroeder's status may be that of a second-year professional quarterback, but in the opinion of Washington Coach Joe Gibbs the former UCLA player is showing poise belying his youth.

"For a guy who hasn't played very much, he's very poised and seems to know what you're talking about," Gibbs said after Schroeder marched the Redskins 70 yards to a touchdown in the final period of Sunday's 14-9 National Football League preseason victory over the Los Angeles Raiders before a national TV audience at the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Michael Morton capped the decisive 11-play drive with a 3-yard run with 4:55 remaining as Washington won for the second time in as many starts. The Raiders have an 0-2 record.

In Saturday's games, it was Indianapolis 24, Chicago 13; Cincinnati 24, New York Jets 20; Cleveland 28, Philadelphia 14; Minnesota 41, Pittsburgh 34; Atlanta 23, Tampa Bay 17; Miami 27, Buffalo 17; New York Giants 10, Green Bay 2; Houston 23, New Orleans 20; New England 31, Kansas City 13, and Dallas 27, San Diego 24 in overtime.

On Friday night, it was Seattle 28, Detroit 3. The weekend's action began on Thursday when the Los Angeles Rams defeated St. Louis 39-7, and will end tonight when Denver visits San Francisco in a nationally televised game.

Cowboys 27, Chargers 24

Rafael Septien, who three minutes earlier had missed from 39 yards, kicked a 48-yard field with 8:06 left in overtime as Dallas boosted its preseason record to 2-0. The game was extended to overtime when Duriel Harris caught a deflected 14-yard touchdown pass with 11 seconds left. San Diego fell to 1-1.

Giants 10, Packers 2

New York, 3-0, moved on the passing of Phil Simms, who completed 12 of 22 for 157 yards. Running back Maurice Carthon scored the only touchdown on a two-yard run in the second period. Backup quarterback Randy Wright hit on 17 of 22 passes for injury-riddled Green Bay, 0-2 with just five points scored.

Vikings 41, Steelers 34

Minnesota, 2-0, which thrived in its glory days on defense and special teams, beat Pittsburgh on a 68-yard punt return by Eric Robinson after nose tackle Byron Jones returned an interception 32 yards for a score. Mark Malone completed 12 of 18 passes for 147 yards and three scores for Pittsburgh, 1-1.

Falcons 23, Bucs 17

Atlanta, 1-1, had 339 yards of offense and limited Tampa Bay, 0-2, to 120 - including -3 yards passing. Steve Bartkowski, who tossed an 18-yard touchdown pass to Billy Johnson, led a quartet of Falcon quarterbacks to a combined 19 of 32 for 204 yards. Mick Luckhurst kicked three field goals.

Oilers 23, Saints 20

Rookie Mike Akiu returned a punt blocked by Jeff Donaldson 17 yards for a touchdown with 1:35 left. Houston, 1-2, moved behind Warren Moon, who passed for for 212 yards and two scores and picked up 50 yards rushing. Quarterback Richard Todd had passed New Orleans, 1-1, to a 20-16 lead in the final period.

Hatfield predicts SWC title up for grabs now

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) - The Southwest Conference football championship is up for grabs in the wake of much-favored Southern Methodist's three-year NCAA probation for recruiting violations, University of Arkansas Coach Ken Hatfield says.

"I think a lot of teams think they can win the title this year," Hatfield told reporters between freshman two-a-day practices this weekend. "But everybody kind of liked SMU ..."

SMU has been prohibited from going to bowl games after the 1985 and 1986 seasons, and the team cannot appear on live television in the 1986 and 1987 seasons. The Mustangs must also forfeit a total of 45 scholarships in the 1986 and 1987 seasons.

Hatfield turned in two schools to the NCAA for recruiting violations last spring - SMU was not one of them - and said the SMU penalties convey a message: "If that doesn't get your attention, nothing will. The message you're trying to get across is that the end does not justify any means."

The Arkansas coach said he feels sorry for SMU's players.

"I'm sick about a situation where the players who are not involved have to suffer and be deprived of so many things that college football has to offer. I feel saddened for them. They're the ones who are really having to pay the price for this," he said.

Conference rules prohibit any team on probation from eligibility to win the SWC championship, Hatfield said, but added that a decision will probably come this week from the conference athletic directors and faculty representatives on whether SMU's 1985 games will count in SWC standings.

"If they're not eligible to win the championship, why should their games count?" Hatfield said. "If they were to go 11-0, I think it would make all of college football look pretty stupid.

"They shouldn't be ranked or recognized in the media. They ought to be left to clean up their act. Then when they're eligible, they can go whole hog," Hatfield said.

White suffers injury; doubtful for Chicago

White sustained the injury in overtime during Saturday's 27-24 pre-season victory over the Chargers when he was sacked by San Diego linebacker Linden King.

X-rays taken Sunday morning at the Cowboys training camp showed White had no broken bones, said team trainer Don Cochren.

Doctors diagnosed the injury as rib cartilage separation on his left side, Cochren said.

King visited White in the Cowboys locker room after the game and apologized, saying he didn't intend to injure the Dallas quarterback.

After returning to the Cowboys training camp with the team at about 12:30 a.m. Sunday, White spent the night at Los Robles Hospital in Thousand Oaks. Cochren said White probably would spend Sunday night in the hospital as well.

Team officials said White is doubtful for the Cowboy's preseason game against the Chicago Bears Monday.

Mixed softball tourney slated here Aug. 24-23

A mixed doubles softball tournament will be held August 23 and 24 at Winston Field, it has been announced.

Teams will consist of five men and five women.

Entry fee is $90: Blue Dot balls are required.

Deadline to enter is Aug. 21 at 8 p.m. For information, or to enter, call (915) 573-7988.

Green finally wins on tour

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP) - Ken Green ended four years of frustration on Sunday by making the Buick Open his first victory on the PGA Tour. He beat another non-winner, Australian Wayne Grady, by four shots and set a tournament record in the bargain.

Green walked away with $81,000 and the use of a new car for the next year.

"The money comes in handy," the 28-year-old Green said frankly. "I'm not what you'd call Jack Nicklaus-rich or anything. Earlier this year, in fact, I was just about broke.

"A friend had to loan me $1,000 to play Hilton Head. I paid that back and now I've won THE tournament. I'm going to have a good time tonight. I deserve the celebration."

Tiger girls slate scrimmage; open 1985 campaign Tuesday

Snyder's varsity and junior varsity volleyball teams were to scrimmage in Seminole today, preparing for Tuesday's season opener with Levelland here.

Today's scrimmage was scheduled for a 1 o'clock start. Tuesday's matches, at 6:30 and 7:30 respectively, will be held at Snyder High School Gym.

Tuesday's action will be the only home matches for the varsity unit until they open District 2-4A play on Sept. 14 with Fort Stockton. The girls will get plenty of playing time in on the road, however. They are scheduled to play Midland and Abilene Cooper, and compete in the Monahans, San Angelo and Breckenridge tournaments.

Junior varsity players include Carrie Fortune, Monica Hinojos, Julie Williams, Jennifer Alarcon, Yolanda Anderson, Becky Becerra, Paula Caldwell, Brinda Gonzales, Denise Overton, Holly Page, Kelly Walker, Meredith Goodwin, Lafon Williams and Melinda Tucker.

Coaches are Vicki Nelms and Patty Grimmett.

'Gunfighters' are married in show

CLIFTON, Texas (AP) — Tina Thompson of Hallsburg married a horse thief and saved him from the gallows.

But she didn't mind her groom's shady past. She's a gunfighter herself.

Miss Thompson is a member of the Waco Gunfighters, a club that puts on gunfighting skits at an Old West town at Texas Safari. Her husband, Paul Clemons, is the club's president.

Because they both enjoy the make-believe so much, they decided to tie the real-life knot in one of the gunfighter skits Saturday.

"Since I was president of the Waco Gunfighters, I thought it would make them (club members) feel good to be part of something like this," Clemons said.

"This way, we could have our friends around," said the bride.

Even the parents said they liked the unorthodox idea.

"I thought (my son) was pulling my leg at first when he told me about it," Velma Clemons told the Waco Tribune Herald. "I was real thrilled when I heard about (the wedding)."

The "wedding" skit opened with townspeople chatting in front of the row of stores. The judge and a sheriff's deputy walked out of the sheriff's office, marching a horse thief toward the gallows.

Arriving at the top of the platform steps, the judge and deputy discovered they didn't have a rope for hanging. Their alternate punishment, they announced, would be to force the thief to marry one of the women in town. A recent war had left the city short of men, they explained.

A widow spoke up for the thief, saying she had work for him on her ranch.

"I think I'd better get back up there (to the gallows)," responded the thief.

But the judge brought out his "daughter," whom the bridegroom agreed to marry. As the justice of the peace read, "If any man can show just cause why they may not lawfully be joined together," a woman in the crowd held her hand over the deputy's mouth.

"I was just delighted when they called me and asked me to do it," said Alicia Sheffield, a real-life justice of the peace in Clifton. "I think it's been a lot of fun and it's different. It's certainly an experience."

One of the spectators, Mike Motthart of Dallas, said, "We just happened to be here. I thought it (the wedding) was part of the act."

"I thought it was a lovely ceremony," said his friend, Rick Hennig of Dallas. "It was a real surprise for us, and we still don't believe it's true."

Mary Lou Smith of Dallas described the skit as "unusual" and "bizarre."

After the wedding, the bride said family members also took part in the skit.

'CRAZY' RAY JONES

'Crazy' Ray Jones to highlight event

COLORADO CITY--"Crazy" Ray Jones, the Dallas Cowboys mascot, will headline activities at a Day in the Park scheduled for Saturday, Aug. 24, at Colorado City's historical Ruddick Park.

"Crazy" Ray will be visiting with park goers and signing autographs during the entertainment at the fund raising event for the park.

Other activities planned for the day include break-dancing and aerobics demonstrations, a talent show in the park's amphitheater, a band concert and a performance by the men's singing group Colorado.

Also, Roy Thackerson, known as the "Fingerless Fiddler," will give a performance. A variety of food booths and games for the entire family also are on tap.

Money from the event will be used to help build a new swimming pool and renovate the park.

"Crazy" Ray bills himself as the world's greatest whislter and is a whiz at making animals out of balloons. His fame spread nationwide after he began helping a friend sell pennants at Dallas Cowboy football games. His popularity has become so great that a football game would not seem right without him to many Dallas Cowboy fans.

Day in the Park activities will get underway at noon August 24 and will last until dark. Ruddick Park may be reached by turning east on Eighth Street from Highway 208.

Boeing disdains bulkhead theory

TOKYO (AP) — Boeing Co. technical experts were reported today to have discounted a theory that the failure of a cabin pressure bulkhead caused the Japan Air Lines 747 disaster in which 520 people died.

JAL's own chief 747 technician, Hiroaki Kohno, meanwhile, told a news conference that yet another theory was being studied — that the plane's vertical tail fin was initially damaged by "external pressure" rather than from a sudden rush of pressurized air from inside the plane.

He did not say what might have struck the tail fin from the outside hard enough to cause it to break apart. Officials originally suspected it had been hit by a flying door, but the door was found in the wreckage, still intact.

A 14.7-foot panel from the front edge of the tail fin, found floating in Sagami Bay south of Tokyo, gave investigators their first clue that the tail had disintegrated in flight. The top edge has never been found.

All but four of the 524 passengers aboard the Boeing 747 were killed in the crash Aug. 12, the worst singe-plane crash in history.

Investigators had theorized that cracks in the dish-shaped aluminum aft bulkhead, which helps contain pressure inside the plane's cabin, may have caused a sudden decompresion that ripped up the ail and disabled the aircraft's hdraulic systems.

An airline source, asking not to be identified, said five Boeing Co. experts expressed strong doubt about the cracked bulkhead theory after a visit to the mountaintop crash site on Thursday, along wth four U.S. government aviatidon experts and Japanese officials.

A senior government investigator, Hiroshi Fujiwara, also said pieces of the bulkhead had "numerous cracks" that might have been there before the crash.

"The Boeing people said there was nothing to indicate that the damage to the bulkhead was due to anything but the crash itself," said the source. "We know that is what they have told the Japanese."

The Boeing team members and the U.S. officials have refused to comment on any aspect of the investigation since arriving in Japan.

A JAL spoksman, Geoffrey Tudor, said on Saturday that the bulkhead had been inspected five times since being repaired following a 1978 landing mishap involving the plane, and that nothing amiss was ever found. Kohno said there had never been a problem with 747 bulkheads in five years of JAL service.

Bishop D. Tutu refuses delegation

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) — Bishop Desmond Tutu, rebuffed in his bid for a one-on-one meeting with President P.W. Botha, refused to join a delegation of churchmen meeting today with Botha to discuss ways to end racial violence.

Meanwhile, police said anti-apartheid rioting flared up in a half-dozen black townships around the country, but no new deaths were reported. Three blacks died in clashes over the weekend.

Also, police said they had 998 people under detention today, up sharply from the 746 that were held on Thursday and 786 on Friday.

Tutu, the winner of last year's Nobel peace prize, said earlier that he did not believe Botha genuinely wanted to talk to blacks "who don't agree with him."

The black Anglican bishop of Johannesburg and this country's best-known foe of apartheid sought a one-on-one meeting with Botha in late July after the white government imposed a state of emergency on 36 troubled black townships and cities.

Four minor traffic mishaps reported

Four minor traffic mishaps — including three hit-and-run incidents — were reported in Snyder Saturday.

The first was reported at 4:48 p.m. by L. L. Lewallen of 2707 Ave. J.

He told police that his 1978 Chevrolet pickup had apparently been struck by an unidentified vehicle while parked sometime earlier in the afternoon. Location of the mishap is unknown.

George Garcia of 1409 30th St. filed the second accident report at 4:50 p.m.

His 1972 Pontiac had apparently been struck by an unidentified vehicle while parked at the Rollin' Wheels Skating Rink at the traffic circle in far east Snyder.

The third hit-and-run incident was reported by Rosaio G. Vela of 2402 Ave. L at 8:46 p.m.

Vela's 1979 Chevrolet was apparently struck by a hit-and-run driver while parked in the 1100 Block of 24th St.

Saturday's fourth accident occurred inside the Central Fire Station at 9:35 p.m.

A 1969 Ford — owned by fireman Ronnie Clawson of 3110 Hill Ave. — was reportedly sitting unattended inside the garage area at the fire station when it rolled away and struck an interior wall and desk owned by the City of Snyder.

No injuries resulted from any of the Saturday accidents.

Misdemeanor theft under investigation

Snyder police detectives are investigating a misdemeanor theft report filed Sunday afternoon.

Mike McKinney of 711 30th St. called police at 5:23 p.m. Sunday and reported the theft of a case and some 50 cassette tapes from his 1982 Chevrolet pickup.

The tapes are thought to have been taken from the vehicle while it was parked at K-Bob's on south College Ave. earlier in the afternoon.

Police also took a misdemeanor assault complaint Sunday evening after answering a call to a domestic disturbance in the 1900 Block of Coleman Ave. shortly before 8 p.m.

No arrest has been made in connection with the incident.

In other weekend action, city officers jailed a total of 10 subjects on various misdemeanor charges.

Five of those were charged with public intoxication with one additionally charged with misdemeanor possession of marijuana.

Three suspects — including one juvenile — were jailed for driving while intoxicated over the weekend and three others were jailed on warrants issued for unpaid traffic citations.

Obituaries

April.

Mrs. Bhakta was found seriously injured — apprently the victim of a strangulation attempt — in room 9 of the Strayhorn Motel which Bhakta managed on the morning of April 25.

Bhakta was charged with murder and subsequently indicted for that offense after she died in Cogdell Memorial Hospital that night.

Immigration flack

WASHINGTON (AP) — Forceful lobbying by Western fruit and vegetable growers will strongly influence, and may decide the fate, of Congress' latest attempt to stop the ragtag army of illegal immigrants who cross U.S. borders looking for work.

Festering disputes over amnesty, employer sanctions and discrimination against Hispanics are still unresolved in this year's immigration debate, but the argument over foreign agricultural workers threatens to eclipse them all.

The Western growers demand that new immigration legislation permit an ample supply of highly mobile foreign laborers to pick perishable crops now harvested by undocumented field hands.

Scientists look for answer to mystery of wind shears

OLIVE BRANCH, Miss. (AP) — A North Mississippi soybean field has been turned into an observation post in the hunt for a method to warn airliner crews about deadly wind shear.

Using an advanced radar system and an array of computers, scientists are peering deep into summer rain storms to find out how wind shears develop.

"The data we are collecting will be used, we hope, to develop some sort of warning device that will get information about hazardous conditions to the aircrews," said Dr. Ronald E. Rinehart, the head of the field team from Lincoln Laboratories of Lexington, Mass.

Lincoln Laboratories, a research arm of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, is conducting the wind shear study for the Federal Aviation Administration. Another team from the University of North Dakota has set up a cooperative study about five miles away.

Wind shears have been blamed for dozens of major airline crashes, including an accident that killed 154 people near New Orleans on July 9, 1982.

"Wind shear is a general term for a change in wind direction or speed," Rinehart said in an interview last week.

Most wind shears are harmless, he said, but they become dangerous when they occur over a short distance.

Pilots of heavy jet planes can find themselves forced into the ground when they run into wind shears at low altitude during take off or landing.

A form of wind shear, known as a microburst, is suspected as the cause of the crash of a Delta Air Lines Lockheed L-1011 earlier this month in Dallas.

"All microbursts are wind shear events," Rinehart said. "But all wind shears aren't microbursts."

Microbursts occur in or near rainstorms as a column of air, cooled by the rain within it, strikes the ground.

"It's been compared to pointing a garden hose straight down," Rinehart said. "Only the air, instead of going into the ground, strikes the earth and sprays outward in all directions."

The resulting sudden shift in wind can throw large planes out of control at a time when they are most vulnerable — at low altitude and relatively low speeds.

Accident investigators suspect that a microburst struck the Delta jet as it was landing at Dallas and slammed it into the ground short of the runway.

The three-engined Lockheed passed through a heavy rainstorm as it was approaching the airport.

The Lincoln Laboratories station is set up in a series of trailers and temporary structures next to a radar antenna rotating beneath an inflatable dome, about eight miles southeast of Memphis International Airport.

Inside, Rinehart and other members of the team aim their radar beam at rainstorms and study a trio of displays depicting precipitation, wind velocity and turbulence in bright colors.

By varying the sweep and elevation of the radar antenna, Rineheart and his colleagues can collect data on different parts of a storm as it develops and then decays.

"We scan at various elevations and keep repeating," Rinehart said. "We're getting different layers of a storm and from that we can reconstruct it later on and compare that with data on other storms."

The radar pictures are stored on computer tapes to be studied in detail after the field study is completed.

Last week, while the remains of Hurricane Danny drenched the Mid-South, the Lincoln Laboratories team went on 24-hour duty to collect samples of the sometimes violent weather.

Manges loses airplane

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A man who says he "can't subsidize a millionaire" has repossessed a twin-engine Beechcraft Baron from South Texas oilman Clinton Manges.

Jackie E. Hinson, the owner of Sunjet Aviation in San Antonio, said the six-seat plane was reclaimed after Manges allegedly failed to make good on a $100,000 promissory note for the purchase.

"I like him personally," Hinson said. "But I'm just a small fry. He can't just use up my airplane. I can't be subsidizing a millionaire."

Manges signed the note July 5 with the stipulation that he would pay the full purchase price for the plane in cash within 30 days, Hinson said.

Hinson said he and two other pilots flew to nearby Stinson Field by helicopter on Thursday, seized the plane and returned it to Sunjet.

Sanctuary worker says he has no regrets about work

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — As he finishes his term in a halfway house for aiding two Salvadorans, a sanctuary movement worker says he hopes to return to the Rio Grande Valley to work with groups helping Central American refugees.

"I think the border area is a real important area for the whole state and the whole country and it's going to be coming under increased scrutiny," said Jack Elder. "The churches are becoming more involved in identifying with the poor and oppressed and doing something about it."

Elder, who is scheduled for release Tuesday after serving 133 days of 150-day sentence, also said he will continue protesting U.S. government policy in Central America.

The rangy Vietnam veteran said he has no regrets for defying immigration.

"The government is doing what governments always do. They tend to be tyrants. They tend to step on people's rights," Elder, 41, told the San Antonio Light.

Elder was convicted earlier this year of conspiring to help two Salvadorans enter the country and of transporting them from the shelter to a bus station in McAllen.

"I've paid my debt and go back to being a regular citizen. And an ex-convict," he said.

U.S. District Judge Filemon Vela of Brownsville had earlier sentenced Elder after he refused two years' probation that would have limited his activities in the sanctuary movement.

But Vela later decided to reconsider the sentence when told Elder could not meet other restrictions placed on his sentence, which would have prevented him from speaking out on Central American issues.

The former San Antonio school teacher, wearing a white T-shirt with a portrait of the namesake of Nicaragua's Sandinistas and the legend, "Sandino Vive," told the newspaper he was contented with what he had done.

"I think that Diane (his wife) and I and Stacey Merkt, for the period we were down there, we were the right people for the job," he said.

"We were direct and honest and dignified with the media. That helped get the issue out. We didn't try to exploit it, yet we didn't back down either when it came time to speak out," he said.

Ms. Merkt, Elder's co-defendant, received a probated sentence.

Elder for almost two years was the director of Casa Oscar Romero, a Catholic Church-sponsored halfway house for Central American refugees.

His case was a rallying point for the national sanctuary movement, a loose-knit collection of religious groups that shelter Central Americans who come to this country.

"The whole experience has been, in effect, a kind of a retreat to reflect and read and just get my batteries recharged. So it's been real helpful in that respect," Elder said.

Elder, until Tuesday, will continue his job as a maintenance handyman for the four dwellings operated by the halfway house, which requires all residents to work fulltime.

Elder said restrictions during his confinement have been loosened, allowing him to spend evenings with his family and stay out as late as 1 a.m. on weekends.

He said he has dinner at home on most weekends.
