Charges Filed In Aftermath Of Accident

Charges of transporting alcoholic beverages in a dry area were filed Friday in the aftermath of a one car turnover on Interstate 20 in Colorado City.

J. C. Washington, 1006 W. C. Ave., Sweetwater, was charged in Mitchell County Court. Washington entered a plea of not guilty to the charge and his bond was set at $500 by County Judge Elmer Martin.

Washington was traveling east on Interstate 20 near the Highway 228 overpass when his 1959 model Oldsmobile ran off the right shoulder of the road. The vehicle struck a highway sign and then veered further off the road into some sand and overturned.

The occupant of the car was taken to Root Memorial Hospital by police car and later released.

Airport Pavement To Be Discussed

City Receives Cost Estimate For Pavement

City Council is expected to make a decision on the paving of the local air strip in their regular meeting Monday night in City Hall.

Cost estimates on the possible paving project have been received by the city and some decision should be forthcoming.

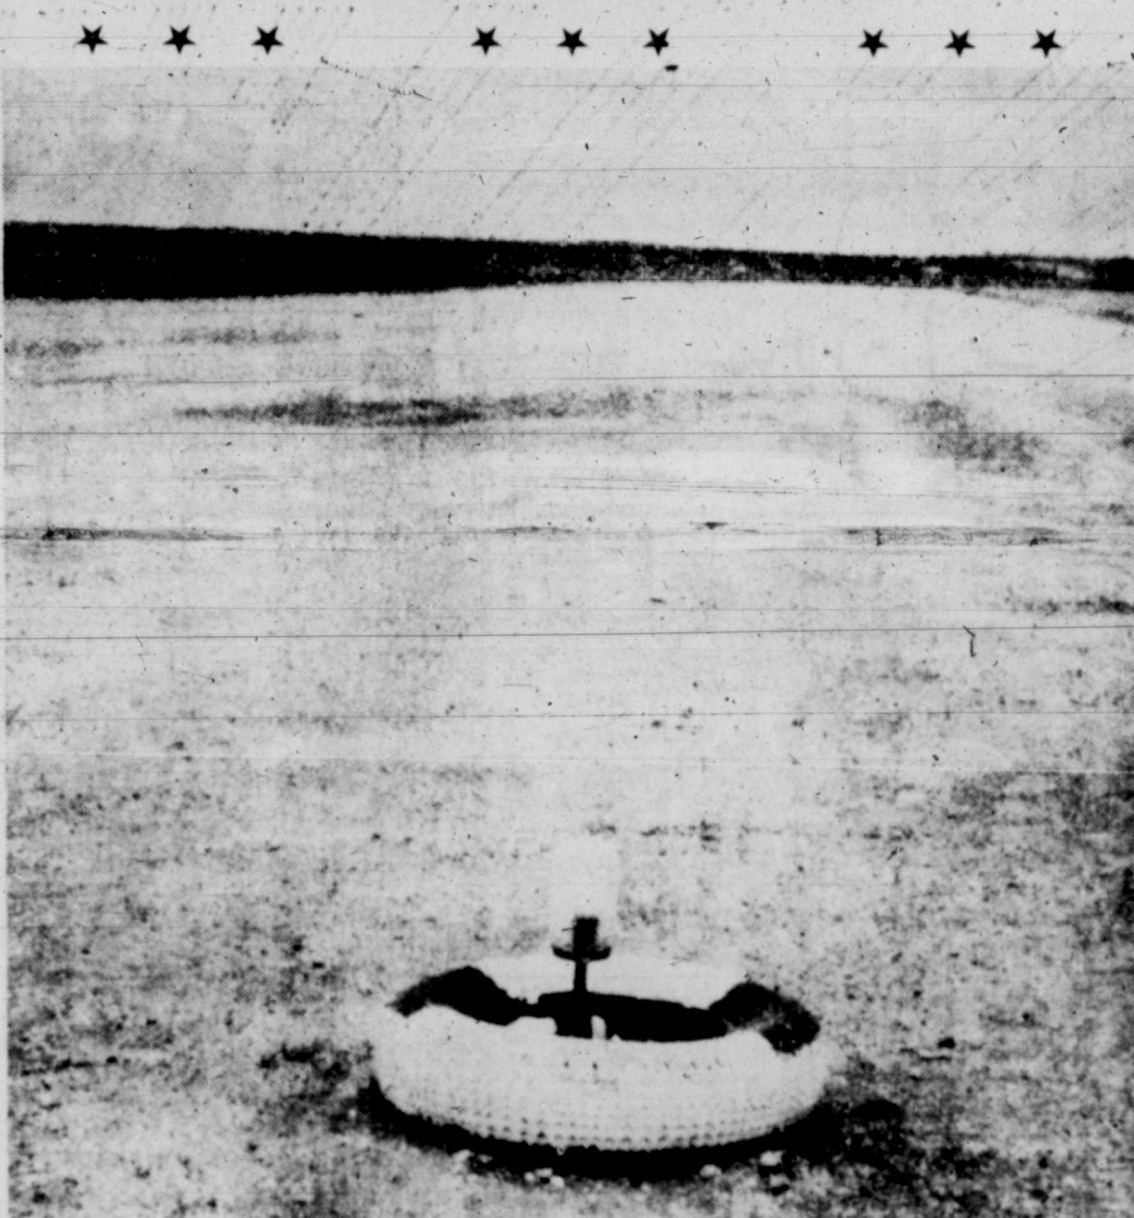

On Feb. 19, 1965, many stipulating jobs to be performed and costs to be paid was discussed at a joint meeting of the City Council and Mitchell County Commissioners Court.

The city was to purchase all base materials in addition to buying and applying the asphalt to the base. Also, the city is to pay for all engineering costs on the project.

At the time of the last meeting the commissioners stipulated that they would need one week's notice before beginning work on the strip.

It was estimated that the job would take the county at least two weeks for hauling.

LONG EXPANSE OF RUNWAY at the local airport is pictured. City Councilmen meet in regular session Monday night to discuss the possibility of paving the strip. Previous discussions have brought forth the possibility of a joint project by the city and the county. Cost estimates are to be discussed in Monday's meeting.

ON COTTON PROGRAM

Signup Continues

Advance payments again version of eligible cropland to this year are available to growers signing up to participate in the feed grain program.

The advance payments will represent one-half of the estimated total diversion payment to be earned under the 1965 program. The rest of the diversion payment and all of the price-support payment earned under the program will be made next fall.

The 1965 feed grain program again covers corn, barley and grain sorghum. Payment will be based on the helpants in the program may per-acre use which applies to qualify for a payment for the grain diverted.

approved conserving uses, and also for a price-support payment on the normal production of the 1965 feed grain acreage. They will also be eligible for price-support loans from their entire production from the feed grain acreage. Each farm has a total feed grain base, representing the combined acreage of the three feed grains grown on the farm. A producer may divert one or more of the feed grains, and his diversion payment will be based on the helpants in the program may per-acre use which applies to qualify for a payment for the grain diverted.

While participation in the 1965 feed grain program is voluntary, the price-support payments and loans, as well as the diversion payments, will be available only to growers who sign up and carry out the program's provisions.

Signup for the program started Feb. 8 and will continue through March 26.

Barbie Vardy Fund Awaits Hospital Bill

Barbie Vardy Fund trustees have not received, to date, a bill for hospital care given the Colorado City baby from Feb. 17-Feb. 27.

When the bill is presented by University of Minnesota Hospital and paid by the Barbie Fund, trustees here plan to return all donations to the Barbie Fund on a pro rata (percentage) basis from the fund account after hospital bill, still outstanding, is settled.

Organizations and individuals alike will be given back money when donors are known. Many gifts were made anonymously. Donors may so instruct trustees if a favorite charity—or cause—if preferred to a check for their rightful share of the amount remaining in escrow.

Full accounting of the fund will appear as soon as possible in the Colorado City Record, trustees announced here shortly after the baby's death. Only check drawn, so far, is one for $208 plus some cents for return trip of Mrs. Vardy and the baby's body.

"It is a public trust fund," said George Womack, trustee, "and will of course be returned, accordingly, to the fullest extent possible."

Theft Report Made Friday

David Teakell reported to Colorado City Police Friday that a tire and wheel were missing from his pickup.

FOR BARBIE'S SAKE

Vardy Family Thanks Public

Mrs. Bobby J. Vardy, mother of the baby Barbie whose funeral was held here Monday, attempted Friday to speak her deep gratitude for the concern shown her, and her baby, by the Barbie Vardy Fund.

The mother and body of the birth defect baby who died in University of Minnesota Hospital in spite of desperate efforts to save her life, were flown to Abilene Saturday night, Mrs. Vardy first expressed appreciation for the speed and comfort of the long return trip home. She and members of her family issued, through the Colorado City, the following statement:

"We do not know quite how to say all the things we so want to say.

"We feel so much we can not express about the life and death of our Barbie. She gave our own lives new meaning.

"She could have been anyone's baby. And in the last days she was everybody's baby.

"The generosity, the almost unbelievable success of the Barbie Vardy Fund makes us grateful, makes us humble, gives us peace of mind. Everything was done for Barbie that could have been done in the way of human care and medical skill.

"For the fund itself, money so unselfishly set aside for Barbie's hospital care, we want to try to say thank you. Thank you friends, neighbors, strangers, churches, school pupils, civic organizations, individuals. Thank you George Womack and Ruth Coffey.

"Thank you everyone everywhere for every loving kindness.

THE VARDY FAMILY.

Feedlots Up Production 227 Percent

During the past calendar year, 1964, 969 thousand head of cattle and calves were marketed from Texas feedlots, says Edward Uvacek, Extension livestock marketing specialist and assistant professor at Texas A&M University.

This is a 227 per cent increase over the number of cattle marketed in 1958.

Uvacek explains that most of the increase has been in the feedlots of over 1,000 head capacity. And at the present time, slightly over 90 per cent of all Texas cattle on feed are in these larger feedlots.

Uvacek points out that the majority of the large feedlots are in the Panhandle and Gulf Coast areas of the state.

Of course, the Panhandle area still has the greater percentage of large feedlots, but the Gulf Coast region is increasing rapidly. Both in the number of head on feed and in the number of large feedlots.

He said that in 1958, the Gulf Coast area had 13 large feedlots, while at the present time there are 42 such feedlots located in that area.

While the number of large feedlots is increasing, the smaller operations are holding fairly stable in the numbers of cattle and calves fed.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

Governor Is Opposed To Labor Directives

By Vern Sanford Texas Press Association Gov. John Connally served notice on the U.S. Labor Department he doesn't like its directives that unskilled high school students in War on Poverty program jobs must be paid more than some of their parents make.

Connally, needed by an unnamed Labor Department official, indignantly denied he is scuttling the new Neighborhood Youth Corps job project. But he made clear he won't approve applications of some 23 local school districts for participation in the program until he is sure they know what they are getting into.

NYC offers part-time jobs (10-15 hours a week) around schools and public agencies to youngsters 16-21 who are on the verge of dropping out of high school.

Fed. civil government pays 90 percent of the cost and local participating units 10 percent. But next year the cost will be shared 50-50.

Connally spoke out against the Labor Department ruling that students must be paid $1.25 per hour, the federal minimum wage.

The 23 districts, before ruling was announced, proposed to pay rates ranging from 60 cents to $1.20 an hour. Originally, Labor Department had notified the districts wages 'should be a little below the prevailing entry rates for inexperienced workers in similar occupations.'

The $1.25 order came out after applications were filed. 'This action,' protested Connally, 'would place local school districts in the awkward and unrealistic position of paying inexperienced school age students of underprivileged families a rate of pay for casual chores that in many cases would exceed that of adult employees working in the same facility, the average earnings of their own parents, and the wages he himself might reasonably expect to earn in the days immediately following school.'

Furthermore, Connally noted, a directly parallel program for potential dropouts among college students administered by Department of Health, Education and Welfare pays 75 cents an hour upward.

House of Representatives applauded Connally's stand but specified it did not intend to criticize the President or his War on Poverty program.

Coordinating Board Approved - Governor Connally's number one project of the session - creation of a powerful 18-member coordinating board to supervise all aspects of higher education in Texas - swept through both houses of the Legislature with the speed of a blue norther.

Legislators who opposed it - and there were only a few - had as much chance of stopping it as they would of forestalling a gathering storm.

After being guided through the House by Rep. Dick Cory of Victoria, the bill was picked up by Sen. Bill Moore of Bryan in the Senate, where it went through without an amendment and was passed on to the governor for signing.

Connally has until Sept. 1 to choose the 18 members of the board. They will replace the Texas Commission on Higher Education and will take on the task of directing all higher education institutions from junior colleges through the university systems.

Board will decide what courses are to be offered by each institution. It was given the most far-reaching authority granted by the Legislature since the Railroad Commission was authorized to grant railroad permits. Present college boards of regents will continue to serve. But they will be responsible to the new overall coordinating board.

Another of the governor's education plans to replace 12 separate boards of regents which govern the 22 state colleges and universities with three boards of university systems, had not yet been introduced when the coordinating board plan was adopted.

Some legislators feel that the system board plan may have served to lessen the opposition to the coordinating board particularly among representatives from the colleges whose board would be abolished.

Pesticide Protested - A cheap poison used against roaches and rats in many homes and in grain storage bins and warehouses can cause loss of hair and mental disturbances, physicians testified in a House committee hearing. In heavy doses, it can kill a person or leave him mentally incompetent, they said.

Doctors appeared at a public health committee hearing on a bill which would outlaw the sale, use or possession of poisons based on thallium compounds.

They said the poison can take effect upon even very brief exposures and that its symptoms are hard to diagnose. Some persons have been interned in mental hospitals before the real reason for their illness was discovered, they said. At present there is no known antidote to the poison except time.

Medical Aid Planned - Strategy designed to quickly pass a medical assistance bill as soon as Congress passes its expected new legislation has been announced by Rep. Charles Wilson of Lufkin. He is sponsor of a House bill to extend Kerr-Mills payments to elderly persons not on old-age pensions.

Wilson asked a House committee to report out his bill quickly so it could be passed on the floor and sent to the Senate. A Senate bill will not be considered until the federal legislation is enacted, he said. In this way, the Senate version can authorize participation in the new federal plans and the details can be worked out to the satisfaction of House members in a conference committee.

Old-age pensioners already are eligible for help on their medical bills through the federal-state program.

Liquor, Racing Bill Hearings Set - Horse racing and "small bottles" liquor bills are expected to turn out some of the biggest crowds at legislative hearings this month.

Bill by Rep. Maurice Pipkin of Brownsville to legalize parimutuel betting on horse races will be heard by House State Affairs Committee on March 29.

Edinburg Sen. Jim Bates' bill to permit sale of two-ounce bottles of liquor by restaurants will get hearing before Senate Jurisprudence committee on March 16.

San Antonio Rep. V. E. (Red) Perry has introduced a proposed constitutional amendment of his own to legalize horse racing on a local option basis in Bexar, Cameron, Dallas, Hidalgo, Harris, Galveston, Midland, Tarrant and Webb counties.

Only teacher pay raises attract more mail to lawmakers than parimutuel watering and liquor-by-the-drink legislation. This year there's strong support on, as well as opposition to, both propositions.

Governor Is Opposed To Labor Directives

pay bills until last 20 days of the session - or until the budget is adopted and certified by the comptroller.

Teachers fear the delay will be used to gain support for Connally's long-range, graduated pay bill, which they claim gives them far less than their own $45-a-month across-the-boards raise proposal.

Cities Ask Sales Tax - Spokesmen for cities urged a legislative committee to recommend that cities be given authority to levy local sales taxes up to one percent if citizens vote approval in special elections.

They said they have gone about as far as they can with raising property taxes and need additional sources of revenue to provide necessary services.

Union representatives argued there still is plenty of mileage left in property tax. Also a local sales tax would hit little people harder and lighten the load on those most able to pay.

In House revenue and tax committee hearing at same time, tobacco industry spokesmen said a bill to raise the cigarette tax a penny a pack would be a serious blow to them.

Both bills went to subcommittee.

Redistricting - Legislators got a sampling of public views on congressional and legislative redistricting during a four-hour public hearing before the House Districts Committee.

As expected they didn't get much help since every plan advanced met opposition from some quarter.

House committee members heard lengthy testimony on four congressional redistrictment proposals and two bills to realign the state House of Representatives.

Eight more measures remain to be heard. Chairman Gus Mutscher of Brenham said he hopes to set all of them next week and get the job into the hands of subcommittees as the Senate districts committee already has done.

In the Senate, Sen. Ralph Hall of Rockwall is interviewing individual senators on how congressional lines should be redrawn. House subcommittees are moving into their second week of similar contacts with the 150 representatives.

SHORT SHORTS Top bill to oil and gas industry - forced lease pooling - already has approval of both houses and is on the governor's desk.

A bill assuring Lower Rio Grande Valley waters that they will continue to receive water under a present court order until a pending suit is finally decided was enacted.

Bills to create a navigation district which would open the Sabine to barge traffic from Longview to the deep water port at Orange got a friendly reception in committee.

Governor Connally has proclaimed May as Senior Citizens Month.

The governor, as chairman of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission, will testify before the Secretary of Interior on March 10 and 11 on the entire-oil imports situation.

Feedlots Up Production 227 Percent

During the past calendar year, 1963, 969 thousand head of cattle and calves were marketed from Texas, feedlots says Edward Uvacek, Extension livestock marketing specialist and assistant professor at Texas A&M University.

This is a 227 per cent increase over the number of cattle marketed in 1958.

Uvacek explains that most of the increase has been in the feedlots of over 1,000 head capacity. And at the present time, slightly over 90 per cent of all Texas cattle on feed are in these larger feedlots.

Uvacek points out that the majority of the large feedlots are in the Panhandle and Gulf Coast areas of the state.

Of course, the Panhandle area still has the greater percentage of large feedlots, but the Gulf Coast region is increasing rapidly. Both in the number of head on feed and in the number of large feedlots.

He said that in 1958 the Gulf Coast area had 13 large feedlots, while at the present time there are 42 such feedlots located in that area.

While the number of large feedlots is increasing, the smaller operations are holding fairly stable in the numbers of cattle and calves fed.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

Governor Is Opposed To Labor Directives

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

Gov. John Connally served notice on the U.S. Labor Department he doesn't like its directives that unskilled unskilled high school students in War on Poverty program jobs must be paid more than some of their parents make.

Connally, needled by an unnamed Labor Department official, indignantly denied he is scuttling the new Neighborhood Youth Corps job project. But he made clear he won't approve applications of some 23 local school districts for participation in the program until he is sure they know what they are getting into.

NYC offers part-time jobs (10-15 hours a week) around schools and public agencies to youngsters 16-21 who are on the verge of becoming high school dropouts because of financial difficulties. Federal government pays 90 percent of the cost and local participating units 10 percent. But next year the cost will be shared 50-50.

Connally spoke out against the Labor Department ruling that students must be paid $1.25 per hour, the federal minimum wage.

The 23 districts, before ruling was announced, proposed to pay rates ranging from 60 cents to $1.20 an hour. Originally, Labor Department had notified the districts wages "should be a little below the prevailing entry rates for inexperienced workers in similar occupations."

Connally noted a directly parallel program for potential dropouts among college students administered by Department of Health, Education and Welfare pays 75 cents an hour upward.

House of Representatives applauded Connally's stand but specified it did not intend to criticize the President or his War on Poverty program.

Coordinating Board Approved - Governor Connally's number one project of the session - creation of a powerful 18-member coordinating board to supervise all aspects of higher education in Texas - swept through both houses of the Legislature with the speed of a blue norther.

Legislators who opposed it - and there were only a few - had as much chance of stopping it as they would of forestalling a gathering storm.

After being guided through the House by Rep. Dick Cory of Victoria, the bill was picked up by Sen. Bill Moore of Bryan in the Senate, where it went through without an amendment and was passed on to the governor for signing.

Connally has until Sept. 1 to choose the 18 members of the board. They will replace the Texas Commission on Higher Education and will take on the task of directing all higher education institutions from junior colleges through the university systems.

Board will decide what courses are to be offered by each institution. It was given the most far-reaching authority granted by the Legislature since the Railroad Commission was authorized to grant railroad permits. Present college boards of regents will continue to serve. But they will be responsible to the new overall coordinating board.

Another of the governor's education plans, to replace 12 separate boards of regents which govern the 22 state colleges and universities with three boards of university systems, had not yet been introduced when the coordinating board plan was adopted.

Some legislators feel that the system board plan may have served to lessen the opposition to the coordinating board particularly among representatives from the colleges whose board would be abolished.

Pesticide Protested - A cheap poison used against roaches and rats in many homes and in grain storage bins and warehouses can cause loss of hair and mental disturbances, physicians testified in a House committee hearing.

Doctors appeared at a public health committee hearing on a bill which would outlaw the sale or possession of poisons based on thallium compounds.

They said the poison can take effect upon even very brief exposures and that its symptoms are hard to diagnose. Some persons have been interned in mental hospitals before the real reason for their illness was discovered, they said. At present there is no known antidote to the poison except time.

Medical Aid Planned - Strategy designed to quickly pass a medical assistance bill as soon as Congress passes its expected new legislation has been announced by Rep. Charles Wilson of Lufkin. He is sponsor of a House bill to extend Kerr-Mills payments to elderly persons not on old-age pensions.

Wilson asked a House committee to report out his bill quickly so it could be passed on the floor and sent to the Senate. A Senate bill will not be considered until the federal legislation is enacted, he said. In this way, the Senate version can authorize participation in the new federal plans and the details can be worked out to the satisfaction of House members in a conference committee.

Old-age pensioners already are eligible for help on their medical bills through the federal-state program.

Liquor, Racing Bill Hearings Set - House racing and "small bottles" liquor bills are expected to turn out some of the biggest crowds at legislative hearings this month.

Bill by Rep. Maurice Pipkin of Brownsville to legalize parimutuel betting on horse races will be heard by House State Affairs Committee on March 29.

Edinburg Sen. Jim Bates' bill to permit sale of two-ounce bottles of liquor by restaurants will get hearing before Senate jurisprudence committee on March 16.

San Antonio Rep. V. E. (Red) Perry has introduced a proposed constitutional amendment of his own to legalize horse racing on a local option basis in Bexar, Cameron, Dallas, Hidalgo, Harris, Galveston, Midland, Tarrant and Webb counties.

Only teacher pay raises attract more mail to lawmakers than parimutuel wagering and liquor-by-the-drink legislation. This year there's strong support on as well as opposition to both propositions.

"Spending" Rule Row Flares - Tightening of a joint House-Senate rule banning consideration of single-purpose spending measures ahead of the general appropriations bill may mean the difference in the type of pay raise teachers get this year.

Senators adopted 22.9 a "committee" session making the rule more strict, or House passed a similar rule 9 A. M. during the session. The House is expected to agree.

Opponents say the rule still will prevent even a committee hearing of teacher pay bills until last 20 days of the session - or until the budget is adopted and certified by the comptroller.

Teachers fear the delay will be used to gain support for Connally's long-range, graduated pay bill, which they claim gives them far less than their own $45-a-month, across-the-boards raise proposal.

Cities Ask Sales Tax - Spokesmen for cities urged a legislative committee to recommend that cities be given authority to levy local sales taxes up to one percent if citizens vote approval in special elections.

They said they have gone about as far as they can with raising property taxes and need additional sources of revenue to provide necessary services.

Union representatives argued there still is plenty of mileage left in property tax. Also a local sales tax would hit little people harder and lighten the load on those most able to pay.

In House revenue and tax committee hearing at same time, tobacco industry spokesmen said a bill to raise the cigarette tax a penny a pack would be a serious blow to them.

Both bills went to subcommittee.

Redistricting - Legislators got a sampling of public views on congressional and legislative redistricting during a four-hour public hearing before the House Districts Committee.

As expected, they didn't get much help since every plan advanced met opposition from some quarter.

House committee members heard lengthy testimony on four congressional reapportionment proposals and two bills to realign the state House of Representatives.

Eight more measures remain to be heard - Chairman Gus Mutscher of Bronham said he hopes to set all of them next week and get the job into the hands of subcommittees as the Senate districts committee already has done.

In the Senate, Sen. Ralph Hall of Rockwall is interviewing individual senators on how congressional lines should be redrawn. House subcommittees are moving into their second week of similar contacts with the 150 representatives.

SHORT SNORTS
Top bill to oil and gas industry - forced lease pooling - already has approval of both houses and is on the governor's desk.

A bill assuring Lower Rio Grande Valley users that they will continue to receive water under a present court order until a pending suit is finally decided was enacted.

Bills to create a navigation district which would open the Sabine to large traffic from Longview to the deep water port at Orange got a friendly reception in committee.

Governor Connally has proclaimed May as Senior Citizens Month.

The governor, as chairman of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission will testify before the Secretary of Interior on March 10 and 11 on the entire oil imports situation.

Roy Hester Bandsman Succumbs
Friends in Colorado City have learned of the death in Colorado Springs, Colo., of Roy Hester, director of the Colorado High School band and of a town band here during the decades of the thirties.

Hester died at 2:30 a.m. in Penrose Hospital Feb. 16. Requiem mass was said in Grace Episcopal Church, Buena Vista, Colo., Feb. 18, with burial in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Surviving are his wife and a daughter, Mrs. Frank Wilson of Buena Vista. A son, Harold Feaster, lost his life while on military duty as member of a submarine crew.

Sunday afternoon at 3:30 representatives of the Inter-mediate and Young People's Department will meet in First Baptist Church.

The meeting is planned for organization of a Youth Council for the church. The new Council, when organized, will become part of the church organization and will have a voice in the church program.

Republicans Discuss Problems and Issues

DEEP IN A SERIOUS DISCUSSION of current problems and affairs are three representatives in attendance at the district meeting of Republicans from the 24th Senatorial District. From left are Don Butler, Colorado City, Marcus Anderson, Abilene, and Don Oatman, also of Abilene. The meeting was attended by over 50 GOP members from over the district.

Methodists to Show Traveling Art Gallery

Great Religious Art of the Masters, an exhibit can be seen here Sunday, March 14, in Fellowship Hall, First Methodist Church, between the hours of 1 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

The traveling gallery is being shown here under sponsorship of the Board of Education, Methodist Church Educational Division, and the National Gallery of Art, Washington, D.C.

Arrangements for the viewing in Colorado City were completed by Northwest Texas Conference Board of Education. The twelve masterpieces will be arranged from Plainview to Midland when the one-day exhibit can be viewed here in Colorado City.

Methodist churches sponsor the exhibit to introduce into Methodist classrooms and homes... appropriate reproductions of the art of the masters treasured in the famous galleries of the nation and world.

All Colorado City and Mitchell County art lovers and lovers of the Bible are invited by First Methodist Church to view the exhibit.

Pictures to be hung here for the special exhibit are replicas of The Adoration of the Shepherds, No. 1 by Giorgione; Adoration of the Shepherds, No. 2, by Botticelli.

Insects Battle Helps Farmers

In their desperate fight to control cotton insects, growers are enlisting the good bugs to fight the bad bugs.

Over the past few years, cotton insects have developed resistance to a number of chemicals. This dilemma has sparked research that is turning up an amazing new array of cotton insect controls, among which a key feature is treatment that favors the good bugs — encouraging them to feed on those insects which menace the cotton crop.

An article in the Farm Quarterly's Spring issue details the advances being made in this area.

Move away from pure chemical programs has several advantages: It reduces the risk of insect resistance, crop contamination, and residue problems; it promises to be less expensive since beneficial insects are supplied by nature; and it has already proven more effective and flexible than sledge hammer chemical applications.

The grower puts insects to work controlling cotton pests simply by selecting chemicals and applications that will let helpful insects thrive.

Development of systemic insecticides has made this approach feasible. The chemical is usually applied to the soil, and from there it is drawn by the plant into the sap stream, going to the roots, stems, leaves and bracts. An insect feeding on the plant receives a fatal dose of insecticide. Since the insecticide is inside the plant system it is effective only on those insects that attack the plant. The best known systemic is Di-Syston. Three other chemicals now being tested are: Niagara 10242 Stauffer 10497, and Union Carbon Carbide 21149.

Systemics have no effect on bollworms, but they will kill lygus bugs, leafhoppers, perforators, and are partially effective on spider mites. They leave the beneficial insects to combat the bollworm. Researchers have also found a

Using insect control can be an every experience for the grower. As one man said, "I had $30,000 worth of cotton in my fields, and I walked out one morning and saw insects crawling everywhere. Insects are insects to me, and it took a lot of courage to believe the cotton scout when he said they were beneficial. I lay in bed at night just thinking about those bugs crawling over my cotton. But the scout was right, because I had much less trouble with bollworms."

Systemic controls thrips, aphids and mites, leaving beneficial insects free to control other cotton pests. If fleahoppers and lygus bugs appear in heavy numbers, Dyltox, a selective insecticide, is applied.

Most far-ranging single program of systemic control is one promoted by the Chemagro Corporation of Kansas City, Mo. They have based their program on chemical applications in the beginning of the season and support treatments to aid the beneficial insects for later control. The program is known as the Practical Cotton Program, or PCP, and takes the following steps: Di-Syston, a systemic insecticide, is applied in the furrow at planting time. If overwintered boll weevils are present, Guthion is applied at minimum rates.

Systemic controls thrips, aphids and mites, leaving beneficial insects free to control other cotton pests. If fleahoppers and lygus bugs appear in heavy numbers, Dyltox, a selective insecticide, is applied.

EVER NOTICE how it is that wants and wishes are as changeable as styles for the Miss and the Missus?

Some of the wants and wishes we once knew, we managed to get . . . to enjoy . . . to have and to hold . . . or to wear out. Do not regret a single one . . . except maybe those four-inch-heeled satin slippers with pointed toes in which we limped one whole college semester.

Other wants, wishes and wait-fors never did materialize. And it's amazing to remember some of them here and now. Suppose you could wake up and find all the things you wanted . . . and did not get . . . stacked around by some magic in your house?

FIRST thing we'd spy would probably be that pink ostrich feather fan. It was swooshed and flirted with by the beautiful singer in the first vaudeville show we ever saw at the old Majestic in Dallas.

Ah! It was lovely. The lady was singing "Every Little Movement" and she looked and sounded divine . . . So on that must-have, someday list there was marked down in a little girl heart's one pink ostrich feather fan to swoosh. The bigger, the pinker and the curlier, the better.

What on earth could be done, now, with one pink feather fan?

WHAT would you find if you could wake up to realize all your list of wishes from never-never land? We'd find a spotted Shetland pony with a silver-trimmed saddle . . . a seakskin muff with violets pinned on the top . . . biking boots that laced to the knee . . .

A roadster with a rumble seat . . . red satin lounging pajamas with floor-length trousers two yards wide . . . an eight-inch mother-of-pearl cigarette holder . . . that jewel-encrusted lorgnette . . . a tea cart . . . and a delphinium chaise lounge.

Holy cow. Wouldn't all that make one honey of a garage sale?

FUNNY how it is. Once you grow UP . . . you start growing OUT . . . out of all the little foolishness of wanting to be, live and look like some current heroine or ideal. Or former fatale.

When you grow out of wanting to go on the stage . . . walk like Gloria Swanson . . . talk like Tallulah Bankhead . . . sing like Mary Garden . . . look like Greta Garbo . . . and act like Helen Hayes . . . then all your wants and wishes come down to earth, too.

ALL WE want right now is three dozen new stereo records . . . a quick trip to Big D . . . a new shoe wardrobe . . . two or three spring suits . . . one spring hat . . . and maybe a pole lamp for the living room. And that ought to prove how wise the years have made us.

How wise. How adult. And how oblivious to wishes for the frivolous wiles of this world.

IN CHILDRESS, last week, the family of Mrs. E. L. Biggerstaff helped her celebrate her 96th birthday Feb. 28.

Among the guests there for the party were Mary (Biggerstaff) Lee and her husband J. Ralph Lee . . . and Mary's sisters, Misses Ethel and Kate Biggerstaff.

That reminds us to say that Mary and Joe Bill Randle and Boyd C. Vardy all grew up in that town called Estaline, near Childress.

HEAR TELL, that our Mrs. U. G. Hardison is in Houston, again, visiting her daughter Ruth Glover, Ruth's husband and son, Big and Little Ross, and the family of R. M. Hardison.

Hear too, that our Mrs. Alva Hickman is showing great improvement . . . and that the J. D. Whites are on vacation in Ft. Worth.

SEEN LATELY were Bob and Dr. H. Jene Steakley, PC (Favorite Couple) . . . Darris Ecker, that MM (Methodist Minister) everybody likes . . . Cute Susie Smith (Mrs. Mike) . . . Mrs. Homer Jameson, proud great-grandmother . . . and Mrs. Cecil Erwin.

Saw Viola Erwin (Mrs. Curtis Sr.) too . . . and Lorraine's Mrs. Thomas Riden in something of what Amos and Andy used to call "a picklement." She'd locked her car and left the keys in the ignition, here in C-City.

BRIEF ENCOUNTERS included a chat with Toby Deafen whose son Dee Deafen had visited Austin College with his parents.

Talked a minute with Mrs. Elmer Pickens whose son Gene, twin brother of Jane (Webb) is to present his senior organ recital in Lubbock today.

Saw for the first time in many moons Willie Grace Vardy Franklin who lives in Midland . . . Ruth and Calvin Johnson.

OFFICE VISITORS, in and out, were Parness Hart (Mrs. Chester) . . . Blanche Bell (Mrs. Willie A.) . . . Joe Earnest . . . Don Benson . . . Ed die Kissinger . . . Dick Wisstrand.

Over from Midland Thursday on business was Eleanor Thomas Wheeler (Mrs. Cub.) Hear tell our Mary Lee Moore is coming home from Midland to stay, Monday.
