REWARD FOR BRAVE BATTLE FOUND AT LAST

DALLAS, Sept. 23 (AP)—Forrest W. Clough, 27, who has battled nearly insurmountable physical handicaps through life and still achieved success, left here today to become radio news commentator, announcer and continuity writer for the Abilene Reporter-News.

Paralyzed when 4 months old, Clough, son of Dr. G. A. Clough, Southern Methodist university's director of extension, went through high school and college in a wheel chair.

He took a B. A. degree in government, a B. S. in journalism and lacks only his thesis toward a masters at Southern Methodist. The college work took him from 1927 until 1936 because of absences due to a nervous breakdown, appendicitis and a venomous insect bite.

Despite his crippled condition Clough played in the Mustang band. He travelled 60,000 miles with the organization, including three coast-to-coast trips.

SECOND JAUNT IS ON TODAY

FAIR BOOSTERS VISIT TOWNS TO EAST AND NORTH OF HERE

Twenty-two Lubbock business men and 25 members of the Lubbock High school band, traveling in two buses back of the fire chief's car driven by W. E. Twitty, left Lubbock at 7:30 o'clock this morning on a goodwill trip to 13 towns east and north of here.

Morning stops were scheduled at Idalou, Lorenzo, Ralls, Crosbyton, Spur, Dickens, Roaring Springs and Matador, where lunch was to be served. The afternoon route included Floydada, Lockney, Plainview, Hale Center and Abernathy.

Final Trip Thursday

A third and final trip to advertise the Panhandle-South Plains fair will be conducted tomorrow on a route to Clovis, N. M., and return by way of Morton and Levelland. Three buses will be filled.

The following persons were to have made the trip as representatives of firms: Estell Hendrix, for Dalby Motor Freight lines; Dwain Rogers, Goodrich-Silvertown stores; A. J. Delahunty, Works Progress administration; Buster Fluke, Lubbock Hotel Barber shop; V. H. Moore, Southwestern Bell Telephone company; Ray Higgins, Star Tire company.

E. K. Hufstedler, E. K. Hufstedler & Sons; K. T. Thomas, First Federal Savings and Loan bank; Clyde G. Tatum, Economy Mills;

CASH BENEFIT PAYMENTS TO BE FAVORED

NEW DEAL PLAN SAID TO BE A STOP GAP AND SUBTERFUGE

BY HUGH WAGNON
Associated Press Staff Writer

DES MOINES, Ia., Sept. 23—Governor Alf M. Landon stepped personally into Iowa Republican party organization work today after a farm address pledging "a free and independent agriculture."

Cash benefit and conservation payments were endorsed by the presidential candidate last night amid the cheers of an audience at the state fair grounds estimated by Police Captain F. E. Timmons at from 15,000 to 18,000.

Back Where It Started

Cheers greeted his declaration that after four years the New Deal was "right back where it started from" and that its conservation plan was "a stop gap and a ubterfuge."

Landon asserted that in his opinion the New Deal had no farm policy and outlined his pledge for a "settled, workable national policy for agriculture."

He promised to fulfill all outstanding obligations to the nation's farmers incurred by the present administration and to continue relief checks, drawing applause with the declaration "we will not allow needless suffering in this country — either on our farms or in our cities."

Program Outlined

The agricultural program outlined by the Kansan included:

Cash benefits "limited to the production level of the family type farm" and paid upon domestically consumed portions of surplus crops in order to make tariffs effective and to offset foreign commercial policies.

A farm storage plan "for removing the depressing effect of surpluses" by amending the federal warehousing act so that reserves could be carried on the farm. The farmer, with insurance storage of grain, would be entitled to a warehouse receipt on which he could borrow with any banking agency.

RACE DRIVER WHIRLS OVER SALT FLATS AT DIZZY PACE

(By The Associated Press)

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, Sept. 23—David Abbott Jenkins, redoubtable speed-maker, whirled over the salt flats at a dizzy pace today, piling up miles in a dash toward a 48-hour world land speed record.

Barring unexpected trouble, the gruelling drive will end today at 7:52:32 p. m. Central standard time.

Records Claimed

Already in the Jenkins ledger are records for 3,000 miles, 4,000 kilometers, 5,000 kilometers, 24-hours, 4,000 miles, and 5,000 miles, snatched from a pair of Englishmen who crossed the Atlantic to win brief glory on the famous salt beds.

"Ab" and his relief driver, Babe Stapp, veteran Los Angeles knight of the roaring road, were confident of victory. After a slow start they gradually built up the average, tumbling the first record—3,000 miles

Fascist Horde Now Driving At Madrid

TIRED LOYALISTS, WITH ONLY WATERMELONS AND GRAPES FOR FOOD, ARE BLOCKING WAY

(By The Associated Press)

A three-pointed fascist horde reached out today for Madrid and Toledo, on the 67th day of Spanish war.

Tired government militiamen, with only grapes and watermelons for food, blocked the 38-mile road to Madrid.

Seek To Stem Tide

Reinforced government armies, with loyal Toledo and the beleaguered insurgent Alcazar at their backs, sought to stem a second onslaught, south from Torrijos, just 18 miles from Toledo. Torrijos fell yesterday to the fascisti and their Moorish spearhead.

A third insurgent column struck out straight north of Maqueda, determined to subdue the hostile regions west of Madrid.

Only sporadic resistance, said the headquarters of General Francisco Franco, had been encountered so far. But a different story appeared in the making as the insurgents neared Santa Cruz Del Retamar, Madrid's newest "Verdun."

To Risk Everything

There, the hungry and tattered government militia planned a counter-offensive, risking everything.

They took heart at reports a western government force had broken through the fascist rearguard behind Talavera De La Reina, headquarters of the insurgent southern command.

From southeast of Torrijos, too, the government hoped to take the offensive.

Discontent Rising

Discontent was rising in the government ranks. There was but one answer; the firing squad. Eleven would-be deserters were shot at Santa Cruz.

While the southern insurgents branched out from the vital crossroads of Maqueda, their northern armies, intent on Bilbao, assaulted government lines 20 miles east of the Biscay bay seaport.

Madrid announced the capture of three small southern towns. A fascist column chased 600 government militiamen over the unsympathetic Portuguese border. Tiny Andorra, nestling in the mountains between France and Spain, considered an appeal to France against threatened anarchist invasion.

PARTY CHIEFS DEFEND FDR

BROWDER AND THOMAS ATTACK HEARST FOR HIS STATEMENTS

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—The socialist and communist presidential candidates, Norman Thomas and Earl Browder, today attacked the Hearst newspapers and the "reactionary camp" for characterizing the Roosevelt administration as socialistic and communistic.

Browder said the issue this year is not socialism against capitalism, but Democracy against fascism. But Thomas said "true Democracy" depends "upon the victory of socialism over capitalism."

All Are On Program

In a day devoted to political issues, Thomas and Browder addressed the forum of the Herald-Tribune. All of the presidential candidates were on the program today and tonight, with President Roosevelt and Governor Landon broadcasting their messages to the forum at tonight's session.

Declaring the fundamental issue in the campaign, according to the communist viewpoint, "is the choice between progress or reaction, Democracy or fascism," Browder said:

Forces Are Divided

Miss Mary Stokes Succumbs In City

Miss Mary Stokes, born in Sulphur Springs, Tex., nearly 67 years ago, died of a stroke of paralysis about 1:30 o'clock this morning at the home of a sister, Mrs. W. O. Sheely, 1601 Main street.

Miss Stokes, who had lived in Lubbock about 20 years, had been in excellent health until the fatal illness came Tuesday night, relatives said.

Funeral services will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon at Sanders Funeral chapel, Dr. L. N. Lipscomb, pastor of First Methodist church, officiating. Burial will be in Lubbock cemetery.

A second sister, Mrs. C. W. Bernard of Sulphur Springs, survives.

WILMINGTON, Del., Sept. 23 (AP)—D. P. Edwards, a seaman of Port Arthur, Texas, drowned last night while bathing with two companions from his ship, the oil tanker Oregon.

American Stabbed In Home At Tokyo

TOKYO, Sept. 23 (AP)—Earle R. Dickover, first secretary and charge d'affaires of the United States embassy, was stabbed in his home today by a burglar who escaped.

The invader went first to Mrs. Dickover's room while the household was asleep during the early hours. Dickover, answering her screams, grappled with the invader and was stabbed in the left arm with a dagger. His wound was believed not serious and a physician said it should heal within two weeks.

Packey McFarland Claimed By Death

JOLIET, Ill., Sept. 23 (AP)—Patrick (Packey) McFarland, member of the Illinois State Athletic commission and ranked as one of the greatest lightweight boxers of all time, died at his home today.

McFarland was attacked by a strange illness, believed by specialists to have been a streptococcic infection localized near the heart, about six weeks ago. For the past several days he had been in a coma. He was unconscious up to the time of his death.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT

SAN ANGELO, Sept. 23. (AP)—J. B. Luton, formerly owner of the Walker hotel here, now owner of a 5,000-acre ranch near Campwood, was killed accidentally this morning as he and his wife went out to shoot a polecat. Mrs. Luton heard a shot as she trailed her husband and saw him slump to the ground, dead. The body was being taken to Uvalde. Results of an inquest are not known here.

SENTENCED IN KIDNAP PLOT AND MURDER

MAN COMPLAINS ROPE IS TOO TIGHT AND HE CAN'T PRAY

(By The Associated Press)

DORCHESTER, N. B., Sept. 23—Two brothers—Arthur Bannister, 19, and Daniel, 20—were hanged together today for killing a woodsman-squatter during the kidnaping of his infant daughter for their mother to use in the "baby doll" extortion plot.

Resigned to death after rejection of the appeals for clemency, the brothers walked silently to the gallows where they stood back to back as the nooses were placed over their heads.

Traps Sprung Together

"It's too tight, I can't pray," complained Daniel shortly before the traps were sprung simultaneously at 2:06 a. m., Atlantic daylight time (11:06 p. m. Central standard time).

The brothers were convicted of killing Phillip Lake, 30-year-old woodsman living near Pacific Junction, N. B. The crown charged the Bannister brothers were responsible for Lake's death during the abduction of his four-months-old daughter last January.

Extortion Planned

Mrs. May Bannister, their mother, wanted the baby to aid in an alleged extortion plot against two men who, the crown charged, were under moral obligation to her.

The prosecution during the brothers' trial asserted Mrs. Bannister attempted to fake motherhood by

LIQUOR CASES FILED HERE

FIVE COMPLAINTS ARE FILED; FINES GIVEN ONE DEFENDANT

Five complaints charging violation of the liquor control act were filed in county court this morning, said Madison S. Rayburn, assistant county attorney.

Joe Cox, charged in one complaint with possession of five cases of beer and in a second complaint with possession of two cases of whisky, pleaded guilty of each charge when arraigned before County Judge J. J. Dillard. Cox was fined $100 and costs, the minimum, in each case.

Had Pleaded Guilty

The defendant told Judge Dillard that he had pleaded guilty here under the old Dean act, drawing a 4-year suspended sentence.

ETHIOPIA WILL RISE UP AND OUST ITALIANS

"Ethiopia has just fallen into a political, economical and military slumber from which it will rise before the spring of 1937 and drive the savage hordes of Mussolini out of the oldest Christian territory," said C. F. Checlzzli, Ethiopian priest of the Progressive Coptic church of North America, here for a lecture Friday night at Bethel African Methodist Episcopal church.

Checlzzli, D. D., D. Litt., M. A., was the first man of color to be graduated from Balliol college, University of Oxford, he claims, saying he was finished there 43 years ago. His age, he says, is 78. He has lectured in leading colleges and churches of numerous denominations, say newspaper stories.

Italy Is Tempted

"Ethiopia has been Christian territory for 4,000 years. Italy is tempted by Ethiopia's gold, oil and other mineral resources, but before she takes such a land blood will have to be her price," the speaker said in an address here last night.

"God, Whose eyes are open to see that justice cannot fail" shall "exalt Ethiopia, the land of the Queen of Sheba, the land of the ark of the covenant, and cause the Italians, whose savagery and brutality have caused the deaths of hundreds of helpless men, women and children by bombing planes and mustard gas, to feel

RIVER ROLLING ON TO GULF; WARNINGS IN LOWLANDS GIVEN

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Sept. 23.—Flood waters of the Colorado river rolled on toward the Gulf of Mexico today with the force which devastated upper reaches of the stream somewhat diminished but still carrying a threat to low-lying areas.

After days of anxious waiting while the muddy torrent poured down from West Central Texas, the capital breathed easier, believing the crest that swept to record heights upstream had flattened out and serious damage was unlikely.

Warnings Are Given

Meanwhile, a detachment of coast guardmen from Del Rio soared over areas downstream, dropping notes to bottomland farmers warning of the approaching waters. To their activities and those of city, county and state agencies was ascribed the small loss of life.

Two persons had been drowned and damage estimated at $500,000 caused by the Colorado, fed by a

Teachers To Meet In Ralls Tonight

Crosby county teachers interested in an extension course from Texas Technological college will meet tonight in Ralls High school auditorium at 7:30 o'clock with J. F. McDonald, Tech director of extension.

Extension classes are organized over the South Plains each fall for teachers desiring courses. Several requests have been received this fall for classes, McDonald said.

A class will be organized tonight at Ralls if teachers agree on a course.

FORMER HOBBS OIL MAN IS CHARGED

JAMES W. OSBORNE IS ARRESTED IN DENVER BY FEDERAL MEN

(By The Associated Press)

DENVER, Sept. 23—Charges of robbing the First National bank of Sudan, Tex., August 27 of about $2,400 were filed here today against James W. Osborne, former Hobbs, N. Mex., oil man by the department of justice.

Federal officials said they filed the charges for Texas officials and did not know details of the robbery.

Victim Of Frameup

Osborne, arrested for Hobbs authorities on a charge of selling mortgaged property, said he was the victim of a "political frameup."

At Hobbs Sheriff Cam Cain last night said he would attempt to extradite Osborne's former stenographer, Wanda Wingo to New Mexico on a charge of selling a mortgaged automobile. She was arrested here a short time after Osborne was taken into custody last week.

Federal authorities said Osborne would be returned to Texas for trial.

LONE BANDIT TOOK CASH FROM BANK

Approximately $2,400 of cash from the Sudan First National bank was carried away in a grocery handbag by the lone gunman who staged the robbery Aug. 27.

The stolen automobile which had been used in the holdup later was recovered at Monahans, Tex., where it had been abandoned.

NO REDUCTION TO VETERANS

HINDS SAYS FEDERAL BENEFITS ARE TO BE CONTINUED

(By The Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, Sept. 23.—Gen. Frank T. Hines, U. S. administrator of veterans affairs, told the American Legion today his bureau contemplated no reduction in veterans' benefits but warned ex-service men to go slowly in seeking additional governmental aid for themselves and their dependents.

"It is my advice that in the consideration of future proposals for the enactment of additional legislation beneficial to veterans and to their dependents," he said, "due recognition be given to existing benefits and care exercised to avoid the possibility of claims of injustice to that group of citizens not falling within the classification of war veterans and their dependents."

Ouster Demanded

Hines addressed the eighteenth annual convention of the Legion whose host, the Ohio department, had demanded Hines' ouster from the veterans' bureau in a resolution at the state convention, asserting Buckeye veterans had "lost confidence" in him.

"It should, I believe, be our first thought," the administrator continued, "to scrutinize carefully our present structure and, if necessary, take

GROUND BROKEN THIS MORNING FOR MUSEUM ON TECH CAMPUS; STRUCTURE TO BE COMPLETED IN DECEMBER

Members of the West Texas Museum association and representatives of other groups gathered this morning to see ground broken on the site on which a long-sought museum will be constructed in the next 60 working days on the campus of Texas Technological college.

The museum building will be completed the first week in December, said W. G. McMillan, contractor, who last week received a $24,000 contract which includes all construction except installation of heating equipment.

The museum will be located directly west of the men's dormitory, facing southwest, toward the tract encircled b the main campus driveway.

Spencer Wells, vice-chairman of the college board of directors, Dr. Bradford Knapp, college president, and others shoveled dirt this morning as photographs were taken.

Others present this morning included Hubert L. Allen, president of the museum association; R. C. Hopping, chairman of the building committee of the association; Dr. W. C. Holden, curator of the museum; F. A. Kleinschmidt, head of the college architectural department, who drew plans for the museum; A. B. Davis, secretary of the museum association; Joseph R. MRS. CHILDS IS ACCUSED BY LOVER AS ACTUAL SLAYER OF HER HUSBAND

(By The Associated Press)

CARTHAGE, Sept. 23.—Rebuttal witnesses today said Mrs. Reable Childs could not have fired the shot which killed her husband, Marlie Childs, unless she stood on a box or other object.

The testimony was intended to shatter the accusation made by Terrence Bramlett, 21-year-old defendant, that he was not Childs' killer.

Grover Poplin, deputy sheriff of Shelby county and former Ranger Lucky Pleasant both said the angle at which Childs was shot through the bathroom window of his home at Center showed the gun was held by a tall person.

The witnesses said the shot might have been fired by someone of small stature only if there was an object to stand on.

The defense closed its case early today. Bramlett, former CCC worker, described Mrs. Childs as the "only woman I

Pot plants must be entered during that time, but cut flowers are to be received until noon Monday. Those exhibiting cut flowers must bring their own containers, Mrs. Frank L. Winn, superintendent, has announced.

Breads and cakes will be received in the culinary division Monday until 1 p. m.

Judging of all entries except perishables will take place Friday afternoon. Perishables will be judged Monday.

Mrs. Clark M. Mullican, chairman of the textile division, said crocheted bedspreads and dresses will be featured in textile displays will be fetaured in textile displays this year. The committee in charge will welcome as many entries as possible, she said.

Grey Is Highlighted For Fashion

Grey has caught the fashion world's eye and is getting more attention than it has for many seasons. For street wear an American designer (Kane Weill) has created a two piece frock of grey wool homacking flecked with white and accented by a white collar and carnations. All the accessories—beret, suede gloves and bag—are deep wine red.

Miss Lillian Fette, Air Stewardess, Explodes Legends Concerning Flying

Miss Lillian Fette, air stewardess, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. C. W. Ratliff, believes there are several legends concerning flying that should be debunked. One concerns the attitude of passengers who are so called "important people" in their own element, who, contrary to what might be supposed, are humble once they are 10,000 feet above ground.

The young stewardess has had very little difficulty with her passengers, but on the contrary has found them to be courteous and eager as well trained children to make the trip pleasant for themselves, the crew and fellow passengers. Actors are agreeable, and as conversational as ordinary passengers she observed. Her youngest charge was a baby 3 weeks old; her oldest an El Paso capitalist and cattle owner past 85 years of age.

As soon as a broken right arm knits sufficiently, Miss Fette will report to Los Angeles, where she will serve on a sleeper plane to Dallas. This flagship is very luxurious, being the first to be equipped with kitchenette with meals to be served on china with silver. The four-course meals feature southern fried chicken. The broken arm was received when a horse bolted with the young flier as she was enjoying an off day.

Several other legends concerning flying and motion pictures of flights were exploded by Miss Fette. In the first place, the passengers are not jittery because the pilots choose an altitude that is not bumpy; not more than one in fifty becomes nauseated and after the first flight none is ever frightened. As far as the movies are concerned, the airplane crew enjoys watching them much as anyone else because they are interesting "stories" but not true to life. Miss Fette said she had never seen a pilot or a radio operator at an airport grow "panicky" because the wireless connection was lost during a storm.

She has had pleasant experiences during her year. Foreign passengers provide amusement, although of course she doesn't let them know it. For instance, tipping is not allowed, but she had found foreigners feel duty bound although their offering, which is politely declined, is rarely over ten cents. They are more formal than Americans, she believes.

Likes Her Job

Miss Fette is thoroughly sold on her job. If anything, she likes it better than when she began and then she was "thrilled to death" over it. She had never had a forced landing, never had a motor to go dead and never been in an accident, which may account for some of her enthusiasm.

Qualifications for a stewardess are: She must be a registered nurse, be between 21 and 27 years of age, between 5 feet and 5 feet, 4 inches tall; not weigh less than 100 or more than 118 and be single.

Miss Fette, an attractive ash blonde, attended Texas Technological college as a student in the home economics division and later was on the nursing staff at the West Texas hospital.

Miss Yeager Is To Be Honored At Tea

Miss Pauline Yeager, bride-elect of Aubrey Edwards, is being honored with a twilight tea in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Ratliff, 2413 Nineteenth street, between 5 and 7 o'clock tonight.

Hostesses are Misses Pauline Hooser, Jeannette Jones, Nell Montague and Charlotte Ratliff.

Asters and other fall flowers are decorations.

Mrs. Anna Burt Gibson and Miss Jean Ayres are to preside at the refreshment table.

Mrs. J. B. Edwards, Mrs. W. B. Yeager, Mrs. Ratliff, Miss Mary Burke Yeager and Miss Zella Riegel will assist in receiving the fifty guests.

The bride-elect will be presented with gifts of silver from Las Chaparritas club and from the four hostesses.

The Edwards-Yeager wedding will take place Sunday.

Priscilla Club Has Party Tuesday

Priscilla club members were the guests of Mesdames Lilla Ford and Alton Lindley Tuesday afternoon in the home of the former at 1012 Ninth street.

Special guests were Miss Jewel illiams and Mesdames Hunter Bryant, Bailey Wright, Don Stevens, Frankie McDonald, B. A. Maddox and S. H. Bain.

Members present were Mesdames C. A. Henderson, Cliff Elliott, H. B. Adams and R. R. Holmes.

Forty-two was the diversion.

Girls Have Pledged Two Sororities

Two Lubbock girls are included in the list of 375 University of Texas co-eds who have pledged social sororities at the University of Texas, Austin.

Miss Kathryn Weaver, daughter, of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Weaver, had pledged Kappa Alpha Theta, while Pi Beta Phi was the choice of Miss Betty Blankenbeckler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Blankenbeckler.

Julius Caesar wore a laurel crown because he was sensitive of his increasing baldness.

Mrs. Land Received In Needle Club

Mrs. Effie Land was received as a member in the Sew-A-While club at a party given by Mrs. W. S. Jones, 1602 Twenty-third street, Tuesday afternoon. Rosebud names were revealed and new names were drawn during the afternoon.

Guests were Mesdames Bill Hamilton, Earl Kerr, Clyde Rogers, George Long, Craig Bond and Homer Moss.

The club will meet with Mrs. Hamilton on October 6 at 2:30 o'clock in her home, 1943-B Avenue N.

Exhibits To Include Old Photographs

Those who have photographs of a by-gone era are asked to bring them Thursday or Friday to place in the museum exhibit in the industrial building at the Panhandle-South Plains fair. The committee, headed by Dr. W. C. Holden and Mrs. J. T. Hutchinson, is anxious to obtain historical, archaeological and other specimens that later may be placed in the West Texas museum under construction on Texas Technological college campus.

MAN HELD FOR CAR MISHAP

HALE COUNTY MAN IS FACING CHARGE IN CLOVIS ACCIDENT

CLOVIS, N. M., Sept. 23 (Special)—Sought for more than a year and a half in connection with the hit-and-run death of 9-year-old Arlist Chandler, jr., of Clovis, Jack Daniels of Plainview has been returned here to face trial.

Daniels, about 30 years old, was arrested by Sheriff J. Kelly Hooper of Plainview, and waived extradition.

The child was killed Feb. 19, 1935, near city limits west of Clovis, and his body mangled. Daniels was connected with the case by H. C. Barrows, whose car had been borrowed by Daniels and which later was found upon examination to have a bent fender, and to have on a fender dried blood and blond hair.

Daniels disappeared and did not return for clothing he had left.

A murder warrant was issued in March, 1935, and a $50 reward for apprehension of the person responsible for the child's death was posted.

Plainview authorities were asked to be on lookout for Daniels.

COTTON RECEIPTS BEING CANCELLED

Upon orders of Judge E. L. Pitts of 99th district court, District Clerk Floyd Jackson Tuesday cancelled 10 warehouse cotton receipts. Union Compress and Warehouse company, in a suit against M. Aura and others, had asked for cancellation of the receipts.

The cause arose from burglary in 1935 of the company's office at Littlefield and theft of approximately 200 blank receipts.

The 10 receipts ordered cancelled Tuesday bore the forged signature of C. O. McIvor, superintendent of the warehouse company.

Eight forged and counterfeit Bankhead certificates and two bona fide certificates had been attached to the 10 receipts, which with draft attached, came to the First National bank from South Texas Commercial National bank of Houston and, by injunction issued in 99th district court, were ordered impounded, said court attaches.

J. M. Penney, a witness, testified he formerly was associated with the secret service and that it had been found the eight spurious Bankhead certificates were not printed on paper used for that purpose by the government. He said the paper stock originally had been a different color and that chemical treatment had been employed to make the certificates look like the authorized ones. The counterfeits also had several misspelled words, as well as other discrepancies from the bona fide certificates, it was explained.

Amount involved in the cause was $550.84.

Short Program Set At Church Session

A short program of talks will be given at the monthly meeting of men of the First Presbyterian church tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the church social rooms.

Short talks will be made as follows: "Rally Day, October 4," Jack M. Randal, chairman of the Sunday school rally day committee; "The Inspirational Value of Men's Work," Dean O. V. Adams; "What a Man Owes His Church," R. ". McDonald.

R. W. Wright will preside as chairman. There will be group singing. Coffee and doughnuts will be served at the close of the program.

The session of the church is to meet, following the program, Rev. Jack M. Lewis, pastor, announced.

MARBLE BOARD OPERATORS CLEANING UP MACHINES; READY FOR BUSINESS

HOUSTON, Sept. 23. (AP)—Some 5,000 nickel catching marble machines moved from cafes, drug stores and other places of business when a drive to "clean up" Houston was launched last week are being overhauled.

Machine owners said today the marble boards were being painted and put in first class mechanical condition.

The owners said they wanted to be prepared to "serve the public" when and if the "heat" is turned off. They said they expected the current drive against gambling to play out within a week or two and that they wanted to be ready for any possible business.

Meanwhile criminal District Judge Whit Boyd, who, with the Harris county grand jury, ordered the drive against gambling, declared that the grand jury should take a hand if the district attorney's office "does not do something about" prosecution of "digger" machine operators.

Annual Visit Here Planned By Woman

A 14th annual visit in Lubbock is being made by Mrs. Blanche Welch, representative of the Volunteers of America home in Fort Worth.

The home, Mrs. Welch said, placed 100 babies in 1935, and has others which may be adopted. A complete history of each child's parents is available.

Mrs. Welch said more girls than boys are requested of the home. She said she believed heredity is not stronger than environment and that adopted babies often grow to look like their foster parents.

The home is supervised by the Texas state board of control, division of child welfare.

TRIAL OF CASES SET BY DILLARD

Trial of criminal cases during the week beginning Oct. 5 and of civil cases for two weeks following was scheduled for the current term of county court Tuesday by Judge J. J. Dillard.

Cases for the second week, beginning Oct. 12, will be heard in absence of juries, and include: Grand Commandery, Knights Templar of Texas against Margaret Milby Shook and husband; E. P. Ellwood and W. F. Eisenberg, independent executors, Estate of W. L. Ellwood, deceased, against A. M. Hughes.

The third week, beginning Oct. 19, is civil jury week, and includes: J. R. Bundrant against J. T. Trigg, American Indemnity company; Geraldine King against Mrs. Louise McCullough and others; William Barnard against Lubbock Burial association; Lubbock Production Credit association against W. W. Era Welch; Clyde F. Zikins against J. O. Pope; E. F. Huff against A. G. Odom; R. J. Fisher against Pete Bridgeman; W. R. Adams against Citizens National bank; P. O. Brock against T. C. Calley; R. J. Allen against Citizens National bank; Hilda Goff against South Plains Coaches, Inc.; O. W. Rogers against Lubbock Cotton Growers association.

Judge Dillard said a civil case, First National bank against B. C. Linn had been set for Oct. 5, subject to any criminal case set for that day.

Coach Cawthon To Speak At "Smoker"

Head Coach Pete Cawthon of Texas Technological college will lead a discussion regarding football rules and rule changes for 1936 at a free "smoker" Thursday night in Hilton hotel Chimayo room. Members of the Matador club, football officials and interested fans of Lubbock and the South Plains are invited.

Cawthon especially invites football officials, or aspiring officials, of the territory. All changes in the rules will be discussed and interpreted.

GREEN GROW the FROSH

by

Nard Jones

"And here," went on Lindsley, "is what he's going to get in return." He took Butch by the lapel, dragged him to his feet, and then promptly knocked him to the level of those feet.

Every man has his rebellion point. Young Mr. Smithson takes his hazing like a soldier — but there are things that even a freshman won't stand for

Illustrated By WALT SCOTT

"HEY there, Frosh!"

Lindsley Eagles Smithson whirled at this imperative command. Squinting against the sun which hadn't quite slipped behind Warwick's historic memorial tower, he perceived a tall and fierce-looking young man whose dark blue sweater was fortified with an imposing W.

Lindsley cleared his throat uncertainly. "You mean me?"

The tall young man made a sound of disgust and resumed his way toward Lindsley. "Is that the way you were taught to talk where you come from?"

Young Smithson reddened. "I guess I should've said 'I' . . ." He paused dubiously. "Anyhow, what I mean is—I didn't know whether you were talking to me or not."

"Oh, you didn't?" The fierce blue eyes glowered down. "I wasn't referring to your grammar, Frosh. But you left out a word. Haven't you seen the rules for freshmen that were posted on the bulletin board?"

"Oh, sure. I—" A great light dawned suddenly. "I mean, yes sir."

"That's better. Never forget the 'sir.' And another thing to remember is that midnight is the deadline for funny hats like you got on there."

He who had been known as Smitty back in Crestmont was faintly angered at this ill-bred remark. After all, the gray felt had been one of the best Sorenson's dry goods store offered; and certainly it was smarter than the nondescript headgear crowning this insolent tormentor. Then Lindsley—just in time—recalled Rule 3 of the "frosh rules" tacked on the bulletin board of Memorial Hall: "Each and every freshman shall keep his skull covered with an emerald cap as a symbol of his verdant stupidity. It shall be doffed whenever said freshman encounters one or more members of the upper classes."

"Yes, sir," said Lindsley. "I intended to go right down town after dinner and get a green cap."

"See that you do. By the way, where are you having dinner?"

"At the dormitory, I guess . . . sir."

"Listen," said the tall young man. "I don't like you very well. Where I eat they have terrible food—and because I don't like you I'm going to take you there for dinner, see?"

"Yes, sir."

"My name is Butch Malarkey."

"Mine is—"

"Listen, Frosh. Nobody cares what yours is. Anyhow, I know already. It's Lindsley Eagles Smithson. Nobody knows why. I suppose they called you Smitty."

LINDSLEY'S jaw dropped. "Why, yes. Yes, sir, they did. But how'd you know my name?"

"I'm a member of the W club—the winners of the block letter. We know everything. If you smoke on the campus or take a co-ed for a walk, we know about it. That makes it tough for frosh." Malarkey looked down at Lindsley. "You went to Crestmont high school. You were on the debate team, and played second base, and were considered pretty smooth stuff as a student. Right?"

"Well," said Lindsley, "I don't like to brag, but—"

"Don't," suggested Butch. "Furthermore, don't even think about what you did at Crestmont high school. We don't like to look backward around here. You're in Warwick College now, and as far as we're concerned you're just a big bust. In fact, I don't think you'd be called a bust. I think you're more like a faint, metallic ping."

They had been walking briskly during all this. Butch Malarkey apparently preferred to walk briskly, and Lindsley found it necessary to walk that way in order to keep abreast of him. Presently Butch stopped before an imposing house with a wide veranda on which were scattered, in various attitudes of nonchalance, a dozen young fellows slightly older than Lindsley. Then his startled eyes encountered a crest on the front door, and beneath it a baffling trio of Greek letters.

"This is the Delt cabin," said Butch. "The food's awful." He sauntered up the steps and addressed the group. "Brought this along, men," he mentioned casually. "Name of Smithson, Lindsley Eagles. Graduated from Crestmont high school."

To Lindsley's intense relief, these were much less terrifying than Butch. They all got up, shook his hand warmly, and offered their names. One even took Lindsley aside and said, "Don't mind Butch. He's stayed a senior for four years just so he can bait freshmen."

"I don't mind," said Lindsley.

"You don't mind what?"

"Why, what you just said. I don't mind Butch acting like that."

The other grinned. "What you mean is, you don't mind, sir."

"Oh . . . yes. I mean, yes sir."

Lindsley discovered that Butch had been in error about the food. It was very good food indeed, well cooked and attractively served, and there was a lot of it. With 26 healthy appetites around the big table there had to be a lot of it. On one side of Lindsley sat Malarkey, and on the other Harvey Mackinnon, the youth who'd advised him not to be disturbed about Butch.

BUT Lindsley was catching on. He ate—and spoke only when spoken to, not forgetting the "sirs." This was a fraternity, and if you made the right impression they asked you to join. Furthermore, it was Delt. He remembered that Ted Davis' brother, back in Crestmont, was a Delt—and Lindsley knew it was pretty hot.

Dreaming over the custard pudding, he thought of himself returning to Crestmont at Christmas vacation wearing proudly a jeweled Delt pin on his vest. That would make old Ted Davis' eyes pop.

"What," the Malarkey interrupted his flow of thought, "are you planning to do after dinner?"

"Why . . . I was going to write a letter, sir."

Butch gave the group a look of mild astonishment. "He can write, men!" Then to Lindsley: "Why don't you write it here? We got a nice writing room upstairs where you won't be bothered."

"That's awfully nice of you, sir, but I—"

"Go ahead," Mackinnon invited. "I know how it is trying to write a letter at the dormitory, especially the first week of school before study hours go into effect."

AFTER coffee the brothers in Delt stood behind their chairs and sang rousing songs which thrilled Lindsley to the marrow. There was one about Warwick College and the maize and blue. There was one about passing the loving cup around, and another about the golden chain of Delt brotherhood.

"I'll show you where the writing room is," said Butch. "When you get your letter written just give it to me. I'll have the steward stamp it and mail it for you."

"Thank you, sir. Mind if I write two letters?"

"Write a dozen if you won't get cramps. We got plenty of stamps."

Comfortably seated in a pleasant little cubicle whose desk gave him the choice of pen or portable typewriter, Lindsley wrote first to his mother, then began a note suitably headed "Dearest Linda." When finally he emerged into the outer hall he discovered Butch languidly perched on a window sill, pipe in hand.

"Okay, frosh. I'll see they're mailed. Now my advice is to beat it down town—keeping off the grass all the way—and buy yourself a green lid."

"Thank you, sir. You've all been very nice to me."

"It's just to soften you up for what's going to happen, frosh. I'm telling you your life won't be worth a nickel on this campus."

NEXT morning, returning from his 10 o'clock class in History I, Lindsley found a note in his dormitory room: "Telephone Mr. Malarkey at the Delt house." Trembling Mr. Smithson complied.

"Got that green cap?" a lazy voice wanted to know.

"Yes, sir. I'm wearing it now."

"Good. You'll need it tonight. We're throwing a dance for you at the Purple Goose. Know where that is?"

"No . . . I mean, no sir."

"Any taxi driver will tell you. Come at nine. I've got a babe for you. We make everything simple, see?"

"D-did you say—you didn't say the dance was for me, did you, sir?"

"Sure I did. Crestmont's the livest high school in the state, isn't it? And aren't you its prize graduate? The boys thought they could do no more."

"Thank you, sir. I'll be there at nine."

Attempting to replace the receiver Lindsley missed the hook three times. Who were "the boys"? Not—not the Delts. But if not the Delts, who else? Certainly not the W club. But maybe it might be, because after all, hadn't he been the best high school second baseman in the county?

He fought against a desire to ask Crib Stevenson about it. Crib had the room next to his and had come from a big town where they had fraternities in the high school. Crib owned a copy of Baird's Manual so he could "get the lowdown on this tong racket before they button a pin on me."

But somehow Lindsley didn't trust Crib too much. Perhaps the thing to do was keep quiet. Perhaps that was the code. "Keep your pores and ears open and your mouth shut," had been Mr. Smithson's advice to his son. "I've never been to college myself, but I doubt if you can go wrong on that philosophy—even in college!"

TAKING his father's advice—a rarity which would have shocked Mr. Smithson into at least partial paralysis — Lindsley kept quiet. But at eight-thirty he climbed into his dark blue suit, rubbed his shoes to a mirror-like finish and sauntered blithely toward the campus taxi stand.

When Lindsley said, "The Purple Goose," the driver examined him over his spectacles and said, "You sure you got the right place, son?"

"Of course," said Lindsley with dignity.

A couple of miles later he wasn't so sure. For the cab had wallowed into a static sea of parked cars, and beyond was a huge barn-like structure from which emanated bright lights and the raucous sound of a swing band. Plainly and unmistakably, it was a roadside public dance hall.

His quandary was solved by the magical appearance of Butch. "Hi, frosh! You're a minute late. I suppose you lost your button-hook."

"I'm sorry, sir."

It was hard going inside. The dance floor was jammed—with people of ages both below and above college years. However, with Butch running interference, he managed to reach a booth in which were half a dozen young men with as many young women. As Lindsley caught the direct, questioning glance of one of the girls his heart swung abruptly into his throat, spun wildly, and dropped like a plummet into his stomach. It had occurred to him that she must be "the babe" Butch had mentioned over the telephone. She was dark and pretty and, it seemed to Lindsley, awfully sophisticated. She wore something white and shimmering, and—and—what the dickens would Linda say if she could see him now?

Butch introduced him to the gang in his brusque, offhand way. With disappointment, Lindsley noticed that Harvey Mackinnon wasn't present. He felt on his arm the touch of the dark-eyed girl. "Let's dance, shall we?"

"W-why, yes sir. I mean—yes."

In a moment they were lost in that milling mob. But guiding the dark-eyed girl was no trick at all. She was lighter than air. There was a faint, intriguing perfume hovering around her shoulders. "Gosh," thought Lindsley, "I wonder if a lot of the co-eds are like this!" The idea was vaguely frightening.

"TELL me, Lindsley—you don't mind my calling you Lindsley, do you?—you aren't taking Butch Malarkey too seriously, are you?"

"I don't know just how to take him," Lindsley confessed.

"Butch has a pretty heavy sense of humor. This did sound like fun tonight. But I'll have to confess now that I underestimated myself."

"What do you mean?"

The girl put back her head and gazed at him out of those dark pools. "You came here because you thought the party at the Purple Goose was for you, didn't you?"

Lindsley grinned. "Sure. I didn't know it was a public dance hall, and I guess I was crazy enough to think there was really going to be a dance for me. I didn't know it was a little party just coming here to dance. I guess a frosh is pretty dumb, all right."

"Not as dumb as some seniors," the girl said. "Butch still imagines you think the whole affair is for you. The truth is—" she stopped, seemed uncertain as to whether to go on. Lindsley waited, and at last she laughed. "I don't know what I was going to say. It just flew out of my head."

Lindley's mouth drew into a thin line. "I think I know what the truth is. The truth is that not even the little group is for me. Butch just figured he'd have some fun. Isn't that it?"

The girl nodded silently, stopped dancing, and looked at him. "I'm sorry. It—it isn't very funny, after all. I'll go back to the booth. Lindsley, and you can slip out."

"Slip out?" repeated Lindsley. "Why should I do that? I'm having a good time."

She broke into a slow smile. "Come on," she said, holding out her hand. "We'll go back together."

The gang was all back at the booth, with Butch at one end of the table. "How're you doing, frosh? Mighty nice party, eh?"

"Yes, sir," said Lindsley, seating the dark-eyed girl. "I certainly appreciate it."

"Oh, by the way," mentioned Butch, reaching into his pocket. "Of course you know we got a censor board at the house. One of your letters didn't get by. But I was thinking maybe it might be reconsidered. I'm on the censor board, and so is Pete here. And this is a kind of delicate letter, and maybe the girls can help us."

Lindsley reddened. "I didn't—you mean you opened the letter?"

"Don't forget the 'sir,'" said Butch imperturbably. He unfolded the letter. "Listen to this, guys and gals. 'Dearest Linda: I am dropping you this hurried note from the Delt house where I have just been the guest of honor at dinner. I guess maybe they would like to have me join, but I don't like to rush into these things. Another thing is that a fraternity costs money, and I figure that anything I can save will be just that much better for us when we get married. You remember—'"

"GIVE Lindsley that letter!" It was the dark-eyed girl, and her tone had been so incisive and cold that Butch stopped, staring.

Lindsley put a trembling hand on her shoulder. "That's okay," he said evenly. "He's going to give it to me." He reached out and snatched the letter from the startled Butch. "And here," went on Lindsley, "is what he's going to get in return." He took Butch by the lapel, dragged him to his feet, and then promptly knocked him to the level of those feet.

Pandemonium broke instantly in the Purple Goose. What should have been a neat and localized argument spread with the swiftness of an oil fire. It happened because Butch, in disappearing below the table edge, struck a belligerent couple. In the interests of the management two waiters took up the fray, and in half a minute there was chaos. Lindsley felt something sudden and queer at the back of his head—and when he opened his eyes he was staring at the ceiling of the Warwick College infirmary!

"Feeling better now?"

Painfully Lindsley turned his head. It was the dark-eyed girl again, and beside her was Harvey Mackinnon. Lindsley groaned. What a sap Mackinnon would think him now! What a fat chance he had with any Delt now they knew what he had written to Linda.

"Sis told me what happened. I'm sorry—and it's all going to cost Malarkey three months suspension from the house."

All Lindsley could think of to say was, "Is—is she your sister . . . sir?"

Mackinnon grinned. "Sure. But that's not what's important right now. There was a fraternity meeting this afternoon and—well—" Harvey Mackinnon reached into his pocket, then held his hand out toward the trembling Lindsley.

There was a Delt pledge button on the palm.

ROTARIANS IN MEET HERE

INTER-CITY SESSION HELD LAST NIGHT; JONES SPEAKS

An estimated 125 out-of-town persons were among the 200 South Plains Rotarians attending an annual inter-city meeting sponsored by the Lubbock club last night at Texas Technological college. Ten clubs were represented at the gathering.

Clifford B. Jones, Spur Rotarian, gave a first-hand report of international good will during a session, presided over by President Kenneth E. Oberholtzer of the Lubbock club, which followed a chicken barbecue.

Club presidents attending included James Harley Dallas, Brownfield; Henry Brown, Canyon; W. J. Baldwin, Levelland; T. Wade Potter, Littlefield; Rev. J. Pat Horton, Plainview; R. S. Bouchier, Post; James M. Rankin, Ralls; W. M. Cates, Slaton; and L. R. Burrow, Spur.

James M. Willson, Floydada, past district governor, was the only representative from that club.

Others Talk Briefly

After a brief welcome, President Oberholtzer introduced John Kirkpatrick, Edinburg, an International Rotary field worker and District Governor Fred Wemple, who spoke briefly. James Williams, chairman of the inter-city relations committee, introduced Dr. L. N. Lipscomb as presiding officer, after mentioning committee members who handled details of the arrangements.

A Plainview quartet, composed of Rev. Horton, Floyd Covington, Roy Neil and Louis Kiker, sang. Mr. Horton led the group in several songs.

Reviews Recent Trip

Mr. Jones, chairman of the board of directors of Texas Tech, reviewed some incidents of his recent trip to Europe, in a discussion of Rotary International service. "Politics, as such, have no rightful place in Rotary," he said by way of introduction.

"Men united in ideals of service," characterize Rotary clubs the world over, he said. He told of attending the club in Honolulu, at the "crossroads of the world," where the club meets many men from many lands. Its part in bringing together many nations, was pointed out.

In London the past summer, he attended a London Rotary club. Its fine program of work, including the sending of 125 boys every summer to a camp, was outlined. Also, the many courtesies extended by the club to international visitors were commented on.

A trip to The Hague, where a Dutch Rotarian was of service to him, was detailed, as well as a visit to Germany. "The most courteous nation on the Continent," he described Germany. A visit to French battlefields, where graves of American soldiers are cared for, closed the trip.

Because of the inter-city meeting last night, the club will not hold its regular session today at the Hotel Lubbock.

Funeral Services Being Held Today

Funeral for E. L. Tarver, jr., 16, was to be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at Abernathy Baptist church with Dr. W. F. Fry of Lubbock officiating. The youth, a senior student in the Idalou High school, died here Tuesday in a clinic.

Burial will be under direction of Rix Funeral home.

Pallbearers will be Sam Kernnev, Gene Depauw and Kenneth Fowler of Smyer, Melvin Harvey, Kelsey Blair and Earnest Shelly of Idalou.

Survivors are the parents of Becton; Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Tarver of Abernathy, paternal grandparents; Mrs. Josephine Beall of Meadow, maternal grandmother; two brothers, Joe Frank and Billie Earl; three sisters, Elizabeth, Lucille and Ruth, all of Becton.

Monument Proposal Committee Chosen

A proposal to construct a monument to war dead will be studied by a committee appointed Tuesday night by Veterans of Foreign Wars in a meeting at Hilton hotel.

Appointed were Robert J. Allen, Clyde A. Speight and J. B. Jones. The committee will report Oct. 13, at the next meeting of the VFW.

Delegates to a recent national convention at Denver made reports.

A. I. Glassman, commander, read a historical sketch of the organization.

Work Farms Sought For Bums In Jails

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 23 (AP) — Metropolitan police chiefs last night urged the creation of prison work farms to stem the annual fall influx of the "jail bum" — a type of petty criminal who contrives to spend his winters in a warm county jail cell.

Every county jail has its quota of loafers who deliberately commit small crimes so they can winter at public expense, the officials said, adding:

"Work farms would cure 'jail bums' of their illusion that jail is a haven of rest."

LOUIS BLASTS AL ETTORE

BROWN BOMBER SENDS ITALIAN DOWN FOR COUNT IN FIFTH

BY PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23—Steering his way with a sure left arm, Joe Louis has passed the second human milestone on the road back.

The Brown Bomber whose ring fortunes were crushed by Max Schmeling three months ago as a stunned fight world gasped, simply breezed by his second objective at the Philadelphia municipal stadium last night by knocking out Al Ettore, home town pride, in the fifth round before a throng of 40,407 customers. The fans paid $210,117.25 to see the show.

Getting Ring Smart

Louis was expected to beat Ettore as he did the leg-weary Jack Sharkey a month ago. The result didn't prove that the Detroit negro was a "great" fighter, but the way he went about his job, his coolness under fire, and the devastating, precise lefts he threw, did convince the majority of unbelievers that "Big Joe" was getting ring smart.

As the barrel-chested Philadelphia youth rushed at him, aiming a few of Schmeling's copyrighted rights at Louis' jaw, the negro stepped back, took his time like a great ring master and then, seeing his chance, dug in.

Ettore, a rugged fellow who never was noted as a ring killer, was game throughout and fought his best but it just wasn't good enough. He was floored for a count of three in the first round and for a toll of nine in the fourth. Except for puzzling Louis with his characteristic rushes and a fine showing in the third, when he made the negro miss, the bushy-haired Italian was outclassed.

Coughlin Explains His Political Aim

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 23 (AP)—The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin asserted last night that he was actively engaged in the current political campaign because the encyclicals of Popes Leo XIII and Pius XI contain a "mandate to every priest" to seek the eradication of "the evils of modern capitalism."

"I prefer as a priest to do as Pius XI ordered me to do," he said in an address to a Missouri rally of the National Union for Social Justice and other supporters of William Lemke, Union party candidate for the presidency.

Preceding Father Coughlin on the program, Lemke asserted that his "first act as president of the United States," would be "to fire the brainless trust and the bureaucrats that have been living on the taxpyers and tell them to go earn an honest living."

NEGRO IS TAKEN TO STATE PRISON

Elmo Banks, giant negro who is condemned to die in the Huntsville electric chair Oct. 22, was removed from Lubbock county jail yesterday and carried to Huntsville.

The negro was transferred by Deputy Sheriff Bedford F. Carpenter of Lubbock, Sheriff B. F. Parker of Lynn county, and Jack Reaves, state highway patrolman.

A recent tendency of the slayer to make odd noises and do eccentric actions, such as refusing to wear clothing, was not observed when he was told Tuesday his transfer moment had come. Clothing handed him was donned without protest and he apparently was satisfied to leave.

His death date was fixed at Tahoka Monday, in 106th judicial district court, by Judge Gordon B. McGuire of Lamesa. He gave no reason why sentence should not be carried out, declining to answer.

DON'T SCRATCH, SOOTHE THE IRRITATION

Quick relief from the maddening itch of eczema, psoriasis, poison ivy, and irritation about the rectum or personal parts is obtained by applying an ointment called Resinol. Leave it on over night. It lessens the desire to scratch, and eases the irritation.

The soothing effect of Resinol takes the sting out of the irritated parts and makes you comfortable. The skin heals sooner, too, with the help of Resinol.

The oily base of Resinol Ointment is ideal for penetrating the outer layers of the skin and securing deeper action. Bathing the affected parts first with Resinol Soap hastens the effectiveness of Resinol Ointment. Many nurses suggest and use Resinol — why don't you try it?

Buy Resinol Ointment and Soap in any drug store. For free sample, write to Resinol, Dept. 4, Baltimore, Md.

One Recipe

that makes all your cooking taste better!
A MODERN AUTOMATIC GAS RANGE

There's Nothing like GAS for . . .

Broiling

Gas gives you the intense heat needed to brown meats so fast that loss of juices is prevented. Full flavor is saved.

Roasting

Gas gives you the oven ventilation which produces crisp, juicy roasts. Excess moisture is allowed to escape, preventing that flat 'steamed flavor."

Baking

Baking requires even heat throughout the oven and unlimited range of baking temperatures, for light, evenly browned cakes, pies, breads. Gas gives both!

Frying

Perfect, speedy frying requires instant high heat—even spread of heat under the skillet—numberless heat variations. Gas gives all three!

Boiling

Faster! Gas brings foods to a boil in 2-3 the time or less of other fuels. More flexible, it gives you the exact shades of heat you need.

INJURIES ARE STRIKING AT SW TEAMS

HORNED FROGS STILL STRONG; DRILL ON DEFENSE PLAYS

(By The Associated Press)

The prospect that the outstanding right halfbacks at Rice, Johnny Neece and Roy Royall, would not be able to play against Louisiana State Saturday worried Coach Jimmy Kitts today.

Kitts said Royall definitely was out with a sprained ankle and that a leg injury Neece suffered in scrimmage last week had failed to respond to treatment.

Bell Pessimistic

Coach Matty Bell became pessimistic as the Southern Methodist Mustangs drilled for their game with North Texas Teachers college Eagles Saturday. He said he would be pleased to win by a single touchdown.

Stiff scrimmage sessions continued the order of the day at Fayetteville where the Arkansas Razorbacks concentrated on blocking and running plays.

The Texas Aggies began a slow tapering off process for their opener with Sam Houston State Teachers college Saturday. Bill Stages' consistent 50-yard punts brought smiles to the face of Coach Homer Norton.

Line Suffers Blow

Line prospects at the University of Texas suffered a blow when Coach Jack Chevigny announced Louis Oliver, veteran guard, would be out all season because of a sprained elbow.

At Fort Worth the Texas Christian Frogs worked on a defense for the Texas Tech Matadors' Notre Dame system of play. The Frogs and Matadors clash at Lubbock Saturday night.

The Baylor Bears, who open their season this week against the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys, continued brisk scrimmage sessions.

Rain Threatening Texas League Game

TULSA, Sept. 23 (AP)—The weather gods willing, Tulsa and Dallas will tangle here tonight in the opening game of the final Shaughnessy playoff for the Texas league championship and a place in the Dixie series with the Southern association winner.

Dallas' Steers, who finished top-o'-the-heap in the regular season, gained their finals berth by tripping up the fourth place Oklahoma City club, the Oilers, third place finishers, won the initial playoff series with Houston.

Rain fell most of yesterday, and the field was muddy. Further showers were forecast for today.

Marty McManus, Oiler manager, indicated he probably would start Max Thomas, a portsider. Pacing him would be Curt Fullerton, Dallas screwball wizard.

IN QUARTER-FINALS

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 23 (AP)—The tenth annual Pacific southwest tennic championships moved into the quarter-final round today, with Fred Perry of England and Francis X. Shields of Hollywood, fast rounding into old time Davis cup form, picked to win their respective matches.

Perry was matched against John McDiarmid of Princeton and Shields against Mort Ballagh, Los Angeles.

Guess The Score Of Grid Battle And Get Ticket

A free ticket to the theater will be given the person guessing the score of Saturday night's game between Tech's Red Raiders and Texas Christian university at Tech stadium.

Hal Grady, manager of the Palace, Lindsey and Texan theaters here, is cooperating with the Avalanche and Journal in a guessing contest calculated to discover Tech's chances against T.C.U.'s fine team.

You simply fill in the blank here, or write your guess on a post card, and send it to the sports department of the Avalanche-Journal.

The rules are simple: Your guess must be on the sports desk by 10 o'clock Saturday morning. Each person is allowed one guess. Ten tickets to the Palace attraction starting Sunday, "Anthony Adverse," will be given to the ten persons guessing the nearest correct score.

My guess on the outcome of Saturday night's Tech - T. C. U. football game is:

T. C. U. ..... Tech .....

RASSLE CARD IMPROVES

GENTLE HERB PARKS ENTERS RING TO MEET DETTON

While the rout squad stands by in Sled Allen's auditorium tonight to quell disturbances, the promoter is attempting to give the customers a bit of real wrestling in the main event with that gentle but fearsome Herb Parks matched against dynamic Dory Detton.

From prelim to main event, the card tonight is balanced with meanies against the calm, clever boys and those who go into the wrestling seriously and in a business like manner.

The middleweights go to it here tonight in a well balanced card that should produce enough fighting and wrestling to please the most stubborn of fans. Clean, clever wrestlers, who stay within the bounds of the arena and of the rule book, are matched in the main event. It's a variation from the recent main event procedure, and for a change the fans may sit peacefully in their ringside chairs and smoke and cheer without fear of having a 165-pound bunch of perspiring humanity tossed into their laps.

That holds true unless something unexpected happens to cause one or the other to get rough. But it's an improbability.

Customers who like it rough and rowdy will get their stomachs full tonight if they're there in time to watch the preliminary proceedings.

Danny McShain and Gene La Belle need no introduotions. They're well known in and around this wrestling stronghold. They do not meet each other tonight, but the evening looks dark for the persons they do meet.

On the other hand, Yaqui Joe, the tough-skinned, clean fighting Indian from Mexico is considered a fair means to an end of McShain. They clash in the opening engagement of the evening, and it should be a joyful occasion.

La Belle and Bob Cummings are the semi-finalists, and it promises fast and furious action, with Cummings figured to finally grow angry at Gene's repeated meanness and throw a few right hooks, as only Cummings can throw them.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

RED RAIDERS TACKLE SCRIMMAGE FIRST THING; HS OUT

The rain ceased yesterday and the Red Raiders, Picadors and Lubbock high Westerners went back to work.

Coaches of the three teams didn't lose any time in getting into scrimmage work, and the program for this afternoon will be secret with more scrimmage and dummy practice.

For Texas Tech, there wasn't anything wide open except the atmosphere; visitors were barred from the practice session as Coaches Cawthon and Smith hustled their Red Raiders through the first outdoor workout of the week, a heavy scrimmage on the tricky footing of a water soaked practice field.

At Lubbock High school's practice field, conditions were better. The moisture left the turtle-backed gridiron quickly as the sun came over, and the Westerners scrimmaged for two hours in preparation for their fight next Friday at Abilene against the Oil Belt Eagles.

SAMMY IN ACTION

FORT WORTH, Sept. 23 (AP)—Sammy Baugh demonstrated passing under pressure here yesterday as the T. C. U. Horned Frogs whirled through another long session in preparation for Saturday night's skirmish with the dangerous Texas Tech eleven at Lubbock.

Today and Thursday, they will concentrate on working out a defense for the Red Raider's versatile Notre Dame system of plays.

Westerners Okay

Coach Chapman reported that all hands would be ready for Friday's game, barring further injuries. Co-Captain Wilburn Piercy, injured in last week's opener with the El Paso Tigers, is expected to recover in time to play. Harold Ingley, fleet halfback who was ill during last Saturday's game but who didn't show it on the field, apparently is in fine spirits and physical condition. One or two other players nursed minor bruises after the inaugural, but all hands are expected to be on deck when the Eagle screams at Abilene Friday afternoon.

A possible change in the Westerner lineup may send Herb Leaverton to center and the mammoth Rafe Nabors to tackle. Nabors ordinarily plays offensive center and defensive tackle, but may stay put at the tackle position to insure better blocking. Leaverton has been showing up well at center.

"Bring On The Frogs"

Out at Texas Tech, the Red Raiders displayed a great spirit that was "heard" all over that end of town.

TECH'S PICADORS PLAY CHRISTIANS

The Picadors of Texas Tech serve the first grid course to the local grid fans Saturday afternoon when they open their season against the Abilene Christian college freshmen. The game will be played in Tech stadium, commencing at 2:30 o'clock.

Brightening up prospects for a better balanced ball club, Coach Berl Huffman was tickled pink yesterday when Charley Calhoun and Dixie White, two of his high school proteges, reported for practice. The two former Westerners will help the ine situation plenty. White, who announced sometime ago that he would enter Tech and then tripped off to foreign parts, suddenly appeared back in town last week and sought out Coach Huffman. The freshman coacher plans to use White in a guard position against the A. C. C. Kittens.

Charley Calhoun is playing his first college football after graduating from high school two years ago. Calhoun will probably be one of the end starters in Saturday's game.

The Picadors have a pretty fair array of prospective backs; however, Coach Huffman has been sweating blood over the looks of his passers. The opening backfield against the ACC team will probably find Bob Flowers, the Big Spring flash, at quarter; Dexter Walthal and Gene Boswell, halfbacks; and big Jim White, Midland, at the fullback slot.

The line hasn't been decided on as yet, however, in scrimmage against the varsity, the Picadors have been making a name for themselves.

SPORTOGRAPHER

by COLLIER PARRIS

THIS PARKS BOY, named Herbert, demonstrated to everybody's satisfaction last week that he belongs in the upper bracket of middleweight grapplers.

The way he mauled and manhandled Sailor Watkins in the main event, at the same time doing his own refereeing, was convincing.

Herbie prefers to wrestle. He can fight when he has to, but he's at his best when the other fellow is going straight, too.

Which leads up to the natural conclusion that tonight's main event between Herbie and Dory Detton ought to be a honey.

Detton was quite miffed last week when Referee Joseph Bauer refused to let him take care of the situation in the bout with Danny McShain. The Mormon was doing all right for himself, although he wasn't in his best physical condition. He had taken quite a mauling from the Masked Marvel in Amarillo the previous week, and several sore spots hadn't had time to get well. But he was ready and anxious to carry on with McShain when Bauer stopped the fight and gave it to Dory on a foul.

Dory's in better shape now, and he loves a match like tonight's promises to be.

McShain is on the card again, due to meet Yaqui Joe, the tough Injun, in the preliminary. This ought to be good. We rather expect Joe to get right rough with old Danny. Gene La Belle is another villain who may get some nifty socks to the whiskers when he sashays into Bob Cummings, the clean fellow from California. Cummings is slow to anger, but once inspired he can swing a wicked right. Big Gene doubtless will provide the inspiration.

COMPARING THE TEAMS

Beginning today on the sports page of the Morning Avalanche is a series of "dope" stories concerning the Texas Christian university Horned Frogs and the Texas Tech Matadors.

These teams—or had you heard?—are scheduled to play a game of football Saturday night at Tech's new stadium. The game is due to attract the largest crowd that ever saw a football game in Lubbock.

This series is to be in the form of general and specific comparisons. The dope this morning, for example, dealt with linemen, the left side of Tech's line compared with the right side of T. C. U.'s line.

Weights, experience, thumbnail sketches of each man and his substitute were offered, and the yarn was topped off with the 1935 results of each team.

The series continues tomorrow morning, with more linemen and more records. We regret that this feature can not be reproduced for you Journal readers, but lack of space forbids it. However, extra copies of the Morning Avalanche are available if you care for stories of comparisons. More general reviews will be offered in this column or in some other on this page.

ABILENE BOUND

While the Tech footballers and their fans are fretting about T. C. U., over in another part of town Coach Weldon Chapman and his Westerners are getting ready for their first road trip of the season. They are to slip quietly into Abilene this week for a go at Dewey Mayhew's big Elephants Friday.

Numerous fans plan to follow the Westerners south. Chapman's crew fairly sold itself to local fandom last Saturday by thrashing the El Paso Tigers in a right good ball game. Abilene will be tougher, much tougher.

Erroneous stories regarding the manpower of the Westerners have been circulated, emphasized, exaggerated and reprinted until one not familiar with the facts would be inclined to give Lubbock the state championship without further ado.

For instance, Mayhew at Abilene is quoted: "Lubbock's line averages 195 pounds from end to end, so you see what I'm up against with my kids. With a line like that, they will not be a set-up for anybody, including Amarillo."

Bear with us while we set the wailing Mayhew aright. We have never caught Chapman cheating on weights, or anything else. These are the true weights of Lubbock's No. 1 team, as it appeared for last Saturday's game against the Tigers:

Ends—H. L. Gantz, 143, Ralph Letsinger, 138. (Arvie Lee Oden, who may soon be listed as a No. 1 end, weighs 166.)

Tackles—Babe Ritchie, 210, and Virgil Simmons, 185.

Guards—Sterling Short, 197, and Wilburn Piercy, 155.

Center—Rafe Nabors, 224.

Quarterback—Earl Ince, 143.

Wingbacks — Harold Ingley, 147, and Max Rutledge, 145.

Fullback—C. L. Storrs, 179.

So the line averages minus 179 pounds, the backfield 153 plus, and the lineup, 169 plus.

Yeah, you could have fooled us, too. The boys have shrunk since early fall training.

In the same story which quotes Mayhew, the following weights are given for Abilene's Eagles:

Ends—McAdams, 161, and Powell, 165; tackles—Motley, 176, and Joeris, 198; guards—Beams, 148, and Sheppard, 163; center—Virden, 186; quarter—J. Beams, 125; halfbacks—Galbraith, 131, and Cumpton, 142; fullback—Herman, 165.

With tongue in cheek, that gives Abilene's line an average of 166 plus, its backfield, 140 plus, its team, 163 plus.

Washington Choice For Coast's Title

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23 (AP)—University of Washington's football team is the overwhelming choice of western coaches to win the Pacific coast conference championship this season.

The University of California Bears are favored for second place and the University of Southern California is the third place selection.

A dozen leading mentors were polled. Nine gave Washington first place votes, three listed the northern school for second choice, California gained five first place ballots, six for second position and one for third.

LUBBOCK HIGH FACING TEST ON FRIDAY

BATTLE WITH EAGLES WILL UNCOVER FATE FOR WESTERNERS

Whether Lubbock's Westerners are adequately equipped for district title talk or not rests with their fate against the powerful Abilene high school Eagles at Abilene Friday afternoon.

Inasmuch as the high schoolers last week gave the Lubbock fans a smattering of what they can do, in their victory over the El Paso Tigers, the inter-district classic with the Eagles of Coach Dewey Mayhew can't be considered a practice skirmish. The Warbirds are the tops in the Oil Belt, according to district 3 experts. They have the speed, power, and experience, and the Abilene coach is about due for another successful year. If the Westerners slide through the Friday afternoon melee with a win, then they can consider themselves "in" as the threat to Amarillo's two-year district one reign.

Eagles Laying For Lubbock

And Coach Chapman isn't fooling when he tells the Westerners that Coach Mayhew's prime desire this year is to beat Lubbock. It will be the Eagles first game, and the Abilene eleven is laying for the Westerners to make their opener mean something toward a district title.

The Eagles are said to be without formidable opposition in the Oil Belt this year, and Coach Mayhew, reluctant as ever when asked about the Eagles' apparent strength, is looking forward to greener pastures than the Eagles have enjoyed since the great team of '31.

There are boys on the Warbird eleven that lack weight, but they have that Abilene habit of being aggressive. But the head man is known for his soft pedaling, something terrible, and the Eagles, usually five to 10 pounds underweight on the program, will more than likely be able to match beef with beef against the hefty Westerner forwards.

If Coach Mayhew's weights are hiked several pounds per man then the Eagles should tally up to the Westerners in every position but the center. The Abilene center is a 170 pounder, but he is said to be the best in the Oil Belt circuit.

Strengthens Backfield

The secondary lined up by Coach Mayhew after the Eagles returned from their two weeks stay at Kerrville's Camp Stewart is heavy compared to Lubbock's. To strengthen an already powerful backfield, Coach Mayhew sent his all district end, Odell Herman, 175 pounder, into the fullback post until John Kimbrough, a transfer from Haskell who has been giving the Oil Belt protesters something to get their heads together, is ready for action. Originally, Herman was a back, and his speed and blocking should bolster the Eagle backfield. Together with Bob Beam, a mighty little backfield strategist, R. B. Galbraith, speedy ball carrier and passer, and Jack Cumpton, playing his third year as the blocking back, the Eagles have a nifty quartet to pit against the Westerners.

In all Coach Mayhew has seven lettermen, more than he has had in five years. With a large crop of last year's reserves on hand, the Eagle mentor won't lack in help from the bench, the main advantage he will have over Coach Chapman's aggregation.

The game the Westerners turned in against El Paso was gratifying to expect the locals to have something in view when the season campaign gets underway, but Coach Chapman knows and the Westerners have been told that the outcome of the Abilene game will solve their fate for the district title.

DISTRICT ONE GETS ACTION

PLAINVIEW ONLY TEAM NOT SCHEDULED FOR CLASS A ENEMY

Opening district one results, which, as usual, find the big shots belching touchdown parades in their pre-campaign warmups, get still another chance to prove their metal and iron out wrinkles that beset their machinery in opening tuneups.

All members but Plainview tackle class A opposition this week.

Amarillo's Golden Sandies, breathing heavily after their close call victory over the powerful Norman, Okla., team get a chance at Oklahoma's very best this week when they meet the Pauls Valley eleven, claimants to the Texas and Oklahoma titles. Their Texas claim is based on a one sided victory over the Breckenridge Buckaroos. But the Pauls Valley aggregation will give Coach Blair Cherry's twice-crowned state champs more than an afternoon of experiments. CARDS RETAIN CHANCES AT THE FLAG

GAS HOUSE GANG NOW PROVING THORN IN SIDE OF GIANTS

BY ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

It may be all over but the shouting as far as the Giants' fans are concerned but they'd breathe a lot easier if their boys would do something mighty soon about getting rid of those pesky Cardinals, who are hanging like leeches to their fading National league pennant hopes.

The Giants still hold a four and a half games lead over the gas house gang. They need only two victories or one triumph and a Cardinal defeat to clinch the pennant but things don't look too rosy following yesterday's happenings at Philadelphia and St. Louis.

Giants Drop Two

Just when the Giants were all set to clinch the pennant by taking the Phillies twice, Jimmy Wilson's men rose in all their might, lelied their last place rating, and smote the league leaders in both games of a doubleheader, 11-7 and 6-2. At the same time the Cards trimmed the Reds 6-3 while even the Cubs retained their mathematical chance to tie for the pennant by hitting the third-place hopes of the Pirates with a 11-4 victory.

The Detroit Tigers turned in a pair of shutout victories over the Browns, 12-0 and 14-0, to run their string of consecutive victories to nine and strengthen their hold on second place in the American league.

Battle To Draw

The other two contestants for runner-up honors — the White Sox and Indians — battled 12 innings to an 8-8 draw after Earl Averill had tied the score in the ninth with his 27th circuit drive.

The Yankees had no trouble beating the Athletics 10-3 although Pat Malone was touched for 15 hits. Joe Cascarella outpointed Rube Walberg as the Senators whipped the Red Sox 4-0.

In the other National league encounters, the Boston Bees took two close ones from the Dodgers, 4-3 and 3-2.

GLADEWATER WINS

GLADEWATER, Sept. 23. (AP)—The East Texas league pennant rested today with the Gladewater Bears as a result of an 11-inning 2 to 1 victory over the Tyler Trojans last night.

TEXAS AGGIES DEPEND UPON DICK TODD

NORTON BELIEVES HE HAS ANOTHER JOEL HUNT FOR CLUB

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLLEGE STATION, Sept. 23. (AP)—Have they another Joel Hunt at Texas A. and M.—a "modern Moses" to lead the fightin' Aggies back from a decade in football's wilderness?

Only Dick Todd, a wiry, 170-pound sophomore halfback who spread touchdowns and terror with his nimble feet in high school days, can give the answer.

Inferiority Complex

Not since D. X. Bible and his Joel Hunt team of 1927 have the Aggies had a shining star to lead them. An inferiority complex has gripped semi-lethargic Aggie teams for nine lean seasons.

Todd and the Aggies are definitely "on the spot." The modest, blond youngster, a triple-theater who amassed something like 700 points during a three-year grid career at Crowell high school, got there through proven ability and heavy publicity. The Aggies got there because of Todd.

"You can't expect a club to jump from the bottom to the top overnight—but the fans do," is the comment of Head Coach Homer Norton. "I have a better club than I had last year, it's true, and we'll be hard to beat—but they've put us on the spot.

Count Heavily On Him

"Todd is the greatest freshman I've ever had on my squad and we're counting heavily on him. He should be the spark needed to fire a club."

Sophomore Todd will be only one of a fleet array of backs. His running mate at the right half position will be Jim Shockey, a 175-pound southpaw passer and kicker who blossomed out in the latter stages of the 1935 season. He's a junior.

Dick Vitek, junior, a jackrabbit on broken field dashes and a brainy quarterback, will direct the club, Coach Norton said.

Two Line-Thrusters

Completing the backfield are two veteran line-thrusters hard at it for the fullback post. Les Cummings, 180-pound senior, and Bruno Schroeder, 200-pound junior, are toss-ups at the position. Both are hard blockers and good for short gains at the line.

Out of this bunch only Cummings will be lost by graduation. Another great set of backs includes Owen Rogers, soph sensation from Temple high school; Doc Pitner, veteran punter and runner; Waylon Manning, junior speedster; Bob Nesrsta, junior, one of the shiftiest runners on the squad and Bill Boyd, a 156-pound sophomore broken field specialist.

Johnny Morrow, senior end and outstanding last season, may be a surprise in the Aggie backfield, the great wingman has been throwing bullet passes and may be shifted on the offense. Rankin Britt, Lanky, 215-pound sophomore, will handle one of the ends with Bill Stages, husky senior, and Bill Seago, sophomore, pushing for berths.

Has Heavy Line

Johnny Whitfield, 219-pound senior and Roy Young, 202-pound junior, are slated for the tackles. Martin (Bomber) Lindsey, junior whose work disappointed last season, will be forced out for the year with injuries. Selmer Kirby, 204-pound senior, may grab a regular tackle job.

Norton likes his two regular guards, Joe Routt, 185-pound junior, and Walter Pythian, 186-pound third-year student. Behind them are Virgil Jones, 179-pound junior letterman, and Bill Minnock, classy, 210-pount soph.

A senior and a sophomore will have it out for the pivot post. Charley Deware, 180-pound veteran scrapper, has Zed Coston, the 210-pound sophomore of Dallas, to beat out.

INVADE TECH STADIUM WITH HORNED FROGS

Here are three of the stars from Texas Christian university who will invade Texas Tech's stadium Saturday night when the Sugar Bowl champion Horned Frogs from Fort Worth tangle with the Red Raiders.

ROBERTS - T.C.U. FULL

CAPT. WALTER ROACH, END OF THE 1936 T.C.U. HORNED FROGS — SUB-CAPT. DREW ELLIS, TACKLE

PRACTICE

Glad to be back on the ground, however muddy, the college varsity boys splashed through a rough scrimmage and were released early for "army drill."

Cawthon and his squad took the spotlight of the Palace theatre stage last night, the coach serving as master of ceremonies to introduce his players between shows.

They'll really be in the spotlight Saturday night when Coach Dutch Meyer brings his Texas Christian university Frogs to the plains. It'll be T. C. U.'s first visit since 1930, and the first game between the teams since then. The Frogs scampered away with a 26 to 0 victory then. It was the first year of football here under the Cawthon regime.

The coaches and the fans remember that stinging defeat, even if the current crop of players do not, and there will be the added incentive for Tech's Raiders to sally forth in triumphant endeavor.

Byrd May Play

If weather stays clear, the Matadors will be at it hard and fast for at least two more afternoons, tapering off Friday.

Cawthon announced yesterday that Fred Byrd, fleet ball carrier injured in scrimmage last week, was coming around fine and probably would be ready to play against the Frogs. Tech can use Byrd's willing efforts and his scatting feet. The coach also said that Maurice Chernosky, fine blocker and ball carrier and not a bad passer, probably would start against the Frogs. Chernosky was the only casualty in the T. W. C. game last week, suffering a broken nose. But the nose is healing fast, and by Saturday night should be ready to smell out the weaknesses of the Frog offense and defense.

IN Lubbock public schools today there are 461 boys and girls whose parents cannot equip them with the necessary school supplies.

Those figures were gathered by Dr. K. E. Oberholtzer, superintendent of the local system, and they are not "padded".

Some way, somehow, those kids must get rulers, pencils, tubes of paste and tablets.

Harold Buford (but better known as Hal) Grady, manager of the Lindsey, Palace and Texan theaters, has offered a way.

Hal and Cliff Lindsey, secretary of the Lindsey Theater Enterprises, are staging a "school supplies" matinee at the Lindsey theater between the hours of 3 and 6 p. m. Friday, at which time kiddies 12 years of age and younger will be admitted to the show in exchange for a tablet, a pencil, a tube of paste or a ruler.

Only stipulation is that the supplies offered in exchange for a ticket must be new supplies.

MESSRS. Grady and Lindsey will turn the supplies thus gathered over to Doctor Oberholtzer, who, in turn, will see that they are distributed to the boys and girls who need them.

If Lubbock parents will co-operate their children will see a good show for supplies costing only a nickel or a dime—and the needy youngsters will be equipped to get the most out of their school work.

Feature picture at the Lindsey Friday afternoon is "The Lonely Trail" with John Wayne, a "horse opera" which will appeal to boys and girls. A cartoon comedy and an episode of the serial, "Custer's Last Stand", will round out the program.

VIC LAMB, the versatile editor of the Hale Center American, was in yesterday with a couple of puzzles which he says are so intricate that even a Philadelphia lawyer has a hard time with them.

In fact, Vic says he doesn't even know the correct answers himself but that probably some Lubbock attorney can give the information.

Here's one of the propositions.

A traveler set out across the Sahara desert with a big goatskin full of water. During the third night out an enemy slipped to the camp and poisoned the water.

Early in the morning a second enemy slipped up and, not knowing the water had been poisoned, cut a hole in the goatskin and let the precious fluid trickle into the sand.

The traveler died of thirst before reaching a waterhole.

Who was actually guilty of his death—the first or second enemy?

Vic's second proposition has to do with an English case.

A man disappeared and while his body wasn't found, circumstantial evidence was so strong than an enemy was tried and convicted of murder, and sentenced to serve a 30-year penitentiary term.

After spending the 30 years in jail the convicted man returned home and a few days later his supposed "victim" likewise turned up again, chortling over having "put one over" on his foe.

So enraged was the man who had served the prison term, that he shot and killed his tormentor.

Should he have been arrested and tried for the actual killing since he already had been punished in advance?

Come on lawyers! Do your stuff.

THE current edition of The Reader's Digest has a good one and gives the correct answer.

"At a recent fire a fireman stood on a middle rung of a ladder directing water into a burning building. As the smoke diminished, he stepped up three rungs and continued his work from that point. A sudden flare-up forced him to descend five rungs. Later he climbed up seven rungs and worked there until the fire was out. Then he climbed the six remaining rungs and entered the building.

"How many rungs were there in the ladder?"

The correct answer is printed a couple of paragraphs below.

A Lubbock mother was lecturing her 'teen age daughter.

"Don't you", she asked, "want to be the kind of a girl people look up to?"

"Naw", said the youngster. "I want to be the kind they turn around to look back at!"

ANSWER to the puzzle from The Reader's Digest: "If the middle rung is labeled 'zero', then the fireman went up three rungs to No. 3, down five rungs to No. 2 below zero, then up seven rungs to No. 5 above. Finally, he went up six more rungs to the top. So the top must have been No. 11 above the middle. Add to this the 11 rungs below the middle, and the middle rung itself, and the answer is 23."

THE WORLD WITH A FENCE

A New Novel by Marian Sims

SYNOPSIS: To her family's horror, Carol Torrance has left Meredith, Ga., flat. She has taken a job teaching history and French in the Ashboro, Ga., high school as a first step toward an indefinitely visioned career—and perhaps partly to get away from Don Richards. Now she has found, at the preliminary teachers' meeting in Ashboro, a girl who seems to be likely to make a good companion. The meeting just has ended.

Chapter Five
BOARDING HOUSE

The meeting was over. Carol glanced towards the dark girl and smiled again, and they met in the doorway.

"Are you walking?" Carol asked.

Mary Ellen Sands nodded. "Are you?"

"Yes. Should we stay and get met again, do you suppose?"

"I don't see why. It's about dinner time and I'm hungry."

She would be. They went down the steps and turned towards town. Mary Ellen said:

"You're Caroline Torrance, aren't you?"

"I was. It's been Carol for a long time now. Which are you: Mary or Ellen?"

"Both."

Carol laughed. "Don't think I'm going to call you all that. Which had you rather?"

"Ellen, I guess."

"Ellen it is, then. Thank goodness for somebody that knows how to walk."

Ellen grinned. "It's my business. Good thing, too; we'll probably have a lot of it to do in these nine months. Is this your first year of teaching?"

"My second. The first was four years ago; I was drafted into this at the eleventh hour. Are you new at it?"

Ellen Sands grimaced. "Yes: I just graduated in June. I'm scared to death."

"You needn't be. Bluff it out."

The pavement was hot beneath their feet and an occasional tree laced the sidewalk with shadows. The grass smelled hot and dusty, like the golf course at home. Nostalgia swept Carol again, washing away her confidence. She said quickly:

"Tell me about you. Where you went to school, and all that."

"G. W. C. One sister—younger—a mother, and a father who's in the drug business and too generous for his own good."

Carol matched her information and then said: "Do you know where you're going to live?"

"I haven't the faintest. I just came this morning. Do you?"

"No, but I've got a list of prospects. After lunch we might go on a hunt . . ."

The search was not encouraging. The first house on Carol's list was filled; the second frowned on them as they went up the walk.

It was a beautiful shell of a house, with boxwood bordering the walk, and paint flaking from the Doric columns.

"It looks sort of bleak," Ellen whispered.

Carol shrugged. "Twelve foot ceilings and black walnut Empire furniture and a two foot grate in each room. I know its kind by heart."

She was right. The house and its owner gave off the sick, sweet odor of decaying gentility. They made a quick escape.

Carol looked thoughtful. "What do you say to hunting a place that's commoner and has steam heat?"

"Suits me, if you think our social position can stand it."

In the end they found a house on the street leading to the high school, a nondescript house that lived for the present and cast no longing glances over its shoulder. The landlady was youngish and friendly and intentionally blonde. She had two vacant rooms, she said; a large one at twenty dollars a month and a smaller one of fifteen. They inspected the rooms, both as nondescript as the house but light and with apparently adequate heating, and engaged them at once.

The living-room, Carol noticed in passing, was discouraging: gilded cat-tails in a pottery jar, a chromo of Notre Dame de Paris with mother-of-pearl windows, an ungainly cabinet radio blaring unheeded jazz. All it needs, she thought, is Venus with a clock in her stomach.

But after all, it wasn't her living-room, and she wouldn't be using it.

Mrs. O'Connor followed them to the porch, where a little girl of eight or nine sat on the steps sorting autographed photographs of movie stars.

"This is my little girl, Rosavel," she said. "Rosavel, this is Miss Torrance and Miss Sands."

Rosavel muttered, "H'lo," without interrupting her rapt contemplation of Clark Gable's quizzically uplifted eyebrow.

Just after supper Ellen burst into Carol's room. Ellen Sands didn't move like other people; she seemed to breast the air, suggesting the figurehead of a ship.

"Well, for Pete's sake . . ." She stared at the room.

Carol looked up from the letter she was writing to Milly. "What . . .? Oh."

The room did look better. She had replaced the thin, mossy rugs with hooked ones from her own room, and covered the bed with a wool coverlet of faded rose. The "Stag At Eve" and "The Melon Eaters" had bowed to German lithographs, and a dozen books stood on the table in the mellow glow of a lamp.

"I couldn't have stood it the other way," she admitted. "If only I could do something about the Great Lakes on the ceiling . . ."

Ellen sat down.

"You certainly are good-looking," Ellen said impulsively.

She looked impersonally at herself and supposed she was. Her eyes were smoky blue and wide-spaced, with thick lashes and straight dark brows that weren't quite in line, and her mouth was wide and well-cut. The nose wasn't much, but the general effect was good. Her hair was light brown, and because it had a slight wave and was cut very short she never bothered with permanents.

She said honestly: "I guess so. I'd swap it any time for your zest for living."

Ellen grimaced. "That's what you think. I stay in hot water all the time because of it. I act first and then think, and half the time I can't tell what I'm going to say until I hear it, and then I'm more surprised than anybody else!"

Carol laughed. "I wish I was like that." She ran a comb carelessly through her hair. "Let's go. I've got a hunch you'd better not be late to meals at our establishment."

And tomorrow, Ben Tyler shows up again.

TODAY'S JOURNAL EDITORIAL

GOOD NEWS FROM IDAHO

Good news from Idaho is to the effect that Senator William E. Borah, who left the last session of congress wondering whether or not he could retain his seat, is almost certain of re-election.

Senator Borah's Democratic opponent, C. Ben Ross, has been losing a good deal of support and, handicapped by ill health, is not able to make much of a campaign.

As an Independent Democratic paper, The Journal should be expected to be hoping for the defeat of Republican Borah, but we are not. Sometimes—and may we suggest that it is not often enough—the record, the service and the personality of a candidate transcend political lines to such an extent that party feeling is forgotten. That is the way it is with The Journal in regard to Senator Borah. And that's the way it is with thousands of Idaho Democrats who are supporting "the Lion" and without whom he could not be returned to Washington.

For 30 years in the senate, Borah has been a great American first, a Republican second. His example of voting for and working for principle in government, rather than for mere party supremacy or pie, is one which might well be followed by many another in congress.

We want to see Senator Borah returned to Washington not because he is a Progressive-Republican; not because he has been in the senate for 30 years, but because he is a real statesman, an indefatigable worker and the physical embodiment of the type we need in high public places.

From Hollywood MOVIE SIDELIGHTS

Behind The Scenes With The Stars Of Talkietown

BY ERSKINE JOHNSON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23—Short takes: Grease and oil splattered all over slapstick comedians to make audiences laugh, aren't the real thing. They're faked with glycerin and flavored with wintergreen, and wash off easily. Likewise, whipped cream doubles for soapsuds and cakes of soap are carved of cheese.

Helen Broderick's married name, auto license, house number, mail box number, and telephone number, all add up to 13. But she isn't superstitious. Dixie Dunbar will do a bubble dance a la Sally Rand in a forthcoming picture.

Acting Jobs Scorned

Times have changed. A majority of the newcomers to movietown today want jobs inside studios doing anything at all except acting. Amazing, yet true, according to William Hendry, personnel manager at the M-G-M studios. Says Hendry:

"Figures in my files show that five years ago, of every 5000 people who came to the studio for work only 100 or less applied for jobs other than acting. Last week I interviewed at least 300 people. Every one of them wanted a non-acting job." Reason, according to Mr. Hendry: "Acting jobs don't last long enough."

For the first time in history, a president of the United States will get screen credit on a forthcoming movie. F. D. R.'s name will appear over "The President's Mystery," the plot of which he, conceived for a national magazine. Henry Wilcoxon heads the cast.

Orientals "Sclammed"

Chinese and Japanese houseboys have practically disappeared from film folk homes. Filipinos have replaced 'em. Dick Powell actually served as master of ceremonies at the opening of a Los Angeles doughnut shop the other day.

Movietown tragedy: A feminine film star of 15 years ago appears regularly at the big film city premiers. She hovers about close to the lobby microphone, hoping to be introduced to the fans. So far none of the announcers has recognized her.

Nelson Eddy draws pictures while talking on the telephone. Two divorced couples, Lillian Hellman and Arthur Kober, and Miriam Hopkins and Austin Parker, are working for the same Hollywood producer. No casualties yet.

Grace Moore just had a horse named for her by Theopholis Hansen, Danish sportsman. Mary Astor's recent court trouble hasn't turned Hollywood producers against her. She has already started a new picture.

Famous Shoes

Robert Montgomery still harbors the pair of oil-soaked shoes that he wore when he worked his way to California from New York on an oil tanker. William Powell has worn the same pair of leather slippers between scenes in every picture in which he has appeared. Bill Robinson has a pair of dancing shoes which he bought 28 years ago. They have been resoled about 20 times.

Most directors are pretty nervous guys during film making. (They might get fired if the picture is rotten.) John Ford is a handkerchief puller. He wears out seven or so on a picture—pulling 'em between his teeth. Eddie Sutherland is a paper clip biter. He carries 'em around in his pockets. Irving Cummings takes off his tie, rolls up his sleeves, and looks like a guy about to make out his income tax.

Screen censors are at work again. The Will Hays office has just banned the phrase "bumped off." Other taboos are being hatched. A dozen or more old-time pictures are being shown at Hollywood theaters. They range all the way from the pre-war "Hearts of the World," starring the Sisters Gish, to "Hell's Angels," the flicker that put Jean Harlow on the cinema map.

FIGHT BEET PARASITE

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP)—Successful experiments are being carried on here with a new type of sugar beet seed immune to attack by white flies. Excellent crops on both large and small tracts resulted from fly-resistant plantings.

CORNS REMOVED WITH CASTOR OIL

Say goodbye to clumsy corn-pads and risky razors. A new liquid called NOXACORN ends pain in 60 seconds. Dries up peskiest corns or callus. Contains pure castor oil, camphor and corn-asprin. Absolutely safe. Winner of Good Housekeeping Seal. Easy directions on label. 35c bottle saves untold misery. Druggist returns money if NOXACORN fails to remove any corn or callus.

D. A. R. Leader Defends New Deal As Pioneer Of 'Changing Social Order'

"Tories Of 1776-1936" Are Rapped By Mrs. James McDonald; Franklin Roosevelt Is Praised As "Trail Blazer"

BY MRS. JAMES H. McDONALD
Vice President General, D. A. R.

FRANKLIN ROOSEVELT is the first president in the tradition of the American pioneer since Woodrow Wilson. True, the frontier no longer swarms with native Indians. But it is still a frontier where hunger and cold and ruthlessness menaces Americans.

It is the frontier of a changing economic order. And right here let nobody say that a changing economic order is not the American way. The American way began with sanguinary changes in the then economic and political order. For 300 years the American way has been the way of live, vivid struggle for better things. A way which seeks no change is a dead way. It is not the American way.

Is the economic order not changing? Governor Landon at his birthplace in Pennsylvania the other day seemed to admit that it is. But he seemed to indicate also—it is always a little difficult to tell just what the governor means—that, the final frontier geographically having been reached about 1896 when he had reached Kansas, the final economic frontier had been reached in the succeeding 18 years, when he was growing up and his father was making a fortune out of luck in oil. The era ending with 1914 seems to be the Utopia towards which Governor Landon would lead us in what he calls the American way.

McDonald

"Tories"—1776 And 1936

FORTUNATELY there is good American experience in the light of which we may examine that state of mind and even give it a name. Back in the days of 1775 and 1776 many men were in that state of mind. Most of them were prosperous merchants. Most of them were prosperous because of some connection with the royal proprietors of the colonies. After the battle of Lexington they, shivering, urged caution. Men called them Tories. The tide of progress, in the American way, eventually swept them into an unhappy oblivion.

EDITOR'S NOTE

The accompanying article is one of a series, "Both Sides Of The Campaign," in which leading American figures argue for or against the elections of Messrs. Roosevelt and Landon.

On alternate days, arguments of both major parties are presented.

There are 12 articles in the series which takes the place of Rodney Dutcher's Washington column, while Mr. Dutcher is vacationing prior to plunging into the last days of the national presidential campaign.

The likeness between these men and the men who are supporting Governor Landon is obvious. They would lead us forward by going back. "Crabs" would perhaps be a better modern name for them than Tories.

Governor Landon is their perfect voice. In tones as ringing as he can make them he cries "Back to the American way . . . But!"

It is truly hard to know just what the governor means. If the direction of his progress is crabwise the words in which he describes it are weak words. His every demand for a return to what he calls freedom of enterprise, 1896-1914 model, is qualified by some concession that perhaps the Roosevelt administration is right about government regulation, about doles, about increase of the federal power.

Signs Of The Times

WHILE the governor and his backers are thus twittering about one thing and another, Franklin D. Roosevelt and his administration have done things. And every non-political sign, the signs of actual national progress, shows they were the right thing to meet the changing economic order. The increase in the public debt has been more than justified by the increase in the national income. Few corporations can show such a record of sagacity in return on their borrowings. Few are in as healthy a condition as the Treasury of the United States, whose policies they venture to criticize.

As this is written the Pennsylvania Railroad reports that for July its net railway operating income has increased 56.6 per cent over the same month of 1935. This was one of the roads that protested most loudly against the New Deal's insistence that the railroads cut passenger fares to two cents a mile. The protest, and the result, are typical of that state of mind that calls the New Deal un-American.

It is not the American way, nor the American mind, nor the mind of the true pioneer of either yesterday's or today's frontier. It is the mind of the Tory.

The American way, the way of the frontier, new or old, is to go forth and meet difficulties gallantly, to meet them and to beat them whether they be scalping Indians of the Kansas prairies or the equally savage gentlemen of frenzied finance and special privilege who are likewise unmindful, when they shear their victims, whether the scalp comes away with the hair.

Roosevelt — "Trail Blazer"

FRANKLIN ROOSEVELT even enlisted his own modern type of Indian scout. When he sought to save Wall Street from the scalpers he sent ahead of him that leader of many a financial war party of the old days, Joseph P. Kennedy. And though he was denounced for it at the time, the very men who are now denouncing him for something else are admitting that the system for controlling the stock markets of the country set up under Joseph P. Kennedy has restored the confidence of the public in this system so vital to our economic life.

When he sought to save the farmer from the savages among his ranks he enlisted that trusted chief of farm movements, Henry Wallace. And however politicians may denounce such words

DEFORMED CHILD IS GIVEN CHANCE

CHICAGO, Sept. 23 (AP)—An operation surrounded by dramatic circumstances saved five-day-old Julian Tafel, jr., from death from starvation Tuesday and gave him a "good chance" to live.

Breaking down the father's insistence that "nature take its course," the infant was placed on the operating table. Five surgeons bent over him. An incision was made in the baby's side about an inch above the hip. A "bottomless colon"—the malformation that had doomed the blue-eyed child—was brought out through this opening. It will be left in that position to drain, said Dr. Lewis R. Eastman, head of the Danish-American hospital, until it is returned to its proper place in a second operation.

Carried To Mother

The tiny patient was carried to the room where his mother, Mrs. Eva Tafel 22, and his father, Julian, sr., 24, waited.

Dr. Eastman said the baby would not be bed-ridden. He pointed to "hundreds of similar cases" wherein the subjects recovered and led near normal lives.

DISCREDIT STRIKERS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (AP)—E. L. McDade, of Chicago, told a senate investigating committee today he had been frequently employed by strike-breaking agencies to create disorders for the purpose of discrediting union strikers.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 23. (AP)—Selected motors, farm implements and specialties shook off profit takers in today's stock market and climbed fractions to 2 or more points.

Corporation bonds, especially secondary rails, edged forward. Commodities and foreign currencies were mixed.

Shares conspicuous on the upside included Chrysler, General Motors, J. I. Case, Deere, International Harvester, Crown Cork, Union Carbide, Zenith Radio, Electric Auto-Lite, Westinghouse, Du Pont, U. S. Rubber and U. S. Smelting.

A shade either way were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, National Distillers, Schenley, Hiram Walker, American Telephone, Western Union, Consolidated Edison, General Electric, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Socony-Vacuum, N. Y. Central, Baltimore & Ohio and Southern Pacific.

Off about a point were Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, International Nickel, American Smelting and Kennecott.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Sept. 23 (AP)—Profit-taking on price advances eased the Chicago wheat market late today, and overnight gains were more than wiped out.

Wheat closed unsteady, at the same as yesterday's finish to 1-2 cent lower, Sept. 1.16 3-8, Dec. 1.15 1-2 to 5-8, corn 3-4 off to 7-8 up, Sept. 1.10 to 10 1-2, Dec. 94 1-4 to 3-8, oats unchanged to 1-2 down, and provisions varying from 15 cents setback to a rise of 22 cents.

TWO BROTHERS

appearing with a life-size baby doll. Her effort to get money from the two men with the doll failed. it was charged, and she, her two boys, and her 15-year-old daughter, Frances, devised the plan to kidnap the Lake baby.

Two Are Killed

During the kidnaping Lake was killed, his common law wife fatally injured, and his young son left to die outside their lonely cabin in midwinter, the prosecution alleged.

The brothers were charged with killing only Lake and were found guilty in separate trials. Mrs. Bannister was convicted of harboring the stolen child and was sentenced to serve three and one-half years in the penitentiary. Frances Bannister has been charged with abducting the Lake baby and her trial set for Friday.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, 3 to 7 points advance on higher Liverpool cables and trade and foreign buying. Oct. 11.87; Dec. 11.95; Jan. 11.95; March 11.93; May 11.90; July 11.75.

Trading was active at the opening with buying on the higher Liverpool cables met by hedging and realizing on the advance.

Domestic and foreign trade connections and prices were ruling steady after the first half hour with active months about 5 to 8 points net higher.

The market continued firm later in the morning. Dec. sold up to 11.98 and May to 11.93 late in the morning with prices showing net advances of about 7 to 11 points at midday.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 23 (AP) — Working back within striking distance of the 12-cent level, cotton futures were bid higher in active dealings today.

Oct. opened at 11.86, Dec. at 11.90 and March at 11.91, and during the first half hour were traded in around these levels.

Selling proved a little too much for the market during the morning and part of the early gains were lost, but options managed to hold small net advances through the first half of trading.

Oct. dipped back to 11.86, Dec. sold at 11.89 and March at 11.87.

NEW RECORDS

—with a sustained speed of 153.6 miles an hour. The old record, set only two weeks ago by John Cobb of England, was 150.04.

Another Is Shattered

Another Cobb record of 151.48 fell at the 4,000 kilometer mark, when the ruddered racer crossed the line with an average of 152.6. A new mark of 153.95 eclipsed Cobb's record of 150.21 for 5,000 kilometers.

And then Jenkins thundered on to crack Cobb's 24-hour record of 150.16, by setting an average of 153.76—45 miles an hour faster than the top speed chalked up by drivers in the 500-mile classic at Indianapolis speedway.

Sets New Average

Captain George Eyston's record of 144.81 for 4,000 miles tumbled after Stapp relieved Jenkins at the start of the second night's run. The new average was 150.4.

Jenkins drove his mechanical masterpiece to another new record, for 5,000 miles with a sensational average of 149.41, far surpassing Eyston's mark of 142.61.

Ethiopians To Be Given League Seat

GENEVA, Sept. 23 (AP)—The credentials committee of the League of Nations decided tonight to recommend that Ethiopian delegates continue to sit in the assembly, and reversed a previous decision to submit the question of Ethiopia's sovereignty to the world court.

The committee decided in favor of Ethiopian participation in the assembly because of existing doubts as to the delegates' credentials. The Ethiopians, the committee held, should be given the benefit of these doubts.

TECH MUSEUM

J. A. Fortenberry, city commissioner.

Supervising architect of the structure will be W. L. Bradshaw, who assisted Kleinschmidt in drafting plans. R. I. Lockard, assistant professor of architecture, and several students also assisted Kleinschmidt.

The college publicity department, of which Cecil Horne is head, made photographs this morning. Winston Reeves was cameraman.

The ground floor of the museum will be constructed with $25,000 allocated by the Centennial commission board of control and will serve as a West Texas memorial. Completion of the structure would cost $200,000, according to plans which have been drafted.

The structure will extend seven feet above the ground and will be of light colored brick of the texture of other campus buildings, said McMillan. Walls will be of reinforced concrete faced on the outside with brick.

It was stressed that the building will be entirely fireproof and valuable relics in this section may be loaned to the museum with no danger of their being destroyed by fire.

The ground floor will have 8,000 square feet of floor space. It will have 24 steel windows. The building will have two wings, each 101 feet long and 38 feet wide. It will be L-shaped except that the corner, where the entrance will be located, will be sliced off.

The entrance steps will lead to the top of the ground floor and visitors will cross the top and enter the museum by way of stairs at the back.

Plans for the finished structure include a memorial hall. The hall will be placed above the room which will serve as a machinery room in the building now being constructed.

Provisions have been made for a great deal of material which may be placed in the museum as soon as it is completed, said Doctor Holden. Many persons plan to place their relics in the museum exhibit at the Panhandle-South Plains fair and leave them here for the museum. There will be guards at the fair exhibit, said Doctor Holden. Cooperation of West Texans in filling the museum was asked.

McMillan's contract, which was let by the state board of control, includes electrical and plumbing fixtures. The subcontracts have not been let. The state board of control will award a contract next week for installation of heating equipment.

ETHIOPIA

the pains of retribution.

"Europe's brutality to Africa and the League of Nations' treachery to Ethiopia will not be easily laid aside. A conflagration, Armagedon, will issue from Spain and France's civil and radically socialistic wars, giving Ethiopia her political and military opportunities. . . .

"It is my belief that before December of this year Italy will realize her foolish act, when the 12,000,000 Ethiopians, of whom two-thirds were ignorant of the Italian invasion because of the lack of communications, come to know of the attempted subjugation of their land."

Checlzli left Ethiopia eight months ago to make a world tour for acquainting the nations with what his country faces, he said.

TEXAS FLOOD

flood on the North, Middle and South Conchos, to the northwest, which previously had inflicted between $2,000,000 and $5,000,000 damage in the vicinity of San Angelo.

Precautions Taken

Although weather bureau officials estimated the crest would not attain the 41.5 feet reached in Austin last year, city authorities took full precautions, advising residents in some houses along the river to evacuate and preparing to rescue any laggards if necessary.

The weather bureau said high water might continue for several days, but early forecasts of record heights probably would not be borne out due to backing up in tributaries and the retarding influence of the Buchanan dam, 100 miles above Austin.

As the river gauged 24 feet at the Congress avenue bridge and continued to rise slowly, officials predicted the crest would not exceed 30 feet and might fall short of that mark. At that time, it was reported falling at Marble Falls, 74 miles upstream, after recording 30.8 feet.

Several bridges up the river were washed away, but a suspension structure at the half-completed Buchanan dam weathered the flood. The Regency bridge, 17 miles west of Goldthwaite, and a bridge at Tow, 20 miles above the Buchanan dam, went out.

Lubbock Day Will Be Held At Races

Officials of the annual Midland Downs races and horse show have designated Oct. 8 as Lubbock day, the chamber of commerce here has been advised. The day has also been set aside to receive special delegations from Brownfield and Lamesa.

The downs will be conducted Oct. 2-10 at Midland.

PARTY CHIEFS

the reactionary side, the forces gathered around Landon and Knox—Hearst, the Liberty league, the Jeffersonian Democrats, and Wall street; on the progressive side, all the mass organizations of people which are moving in the direction of a new party, a farmer-labor party.

Almost at the outset of his address, Thomas said:

"I hereby acquit Mr. Roosevelt of being a socialist."

The socialist candidate said "both Roosevelt and Landon have been called fascist, and neither of them is a fascist."

Among Capitalist Forces

Placing both the Democrat and Republican candidates among the forces of capitalism, Thomas said neither one "stands for true Democracy."

"I affirm," he continued, "that the difference between them is not enough to keep us out of war or fascism in the hour of new disaster, any more than the difference between Wilson or Hughes in 1916 kept us out of war."

Thomas and Browder were followed by the presidential candidate of the parent Marxist party in the United States, John W. Aiken, of the socialist labor party.

"The socialist labor party," he said, "proposes to use the ballot box for the purpose of determining the right of the working class to collectively own, as it now operates, all the means of production."

BANK ROBBERY

robbery had followed many clues. One involved a suspect at Odessa, who was believed at one time to have participated in the robbery. L. L. Anthony, assistant cashier, who was in the bank during the robbery, was unable to identify a picture of the Odessa man.

Investigators said they were informed that the lone bandit had met confederates near Sudan.

Others May Be Involved

Early this afternoon it was not known whether other men would be involved in the bank robbery case.

Anthony and two tellers, Mrs. Mozelle Sparks and C. M. Furneaux, were in the bank when the gunman entered. The man first asked for the bank's president, P. E. Boesen. Informed Boesen was not there, the bandit turned the gun on Anthony, forcing him to pack the money, in bills, into the bag the gunman carried.

The bank's loss promptly was paid by an insurance company.

Damages Are Given In Woman's Death

DALLAS, Sept. 23. (AP)—W. B. Stokes, whose wife, Mrs. Hazel Stokes, sister of Governor James V. Allred, was killed in a highway accident near Mineola last March 21, was awarded $4,450 under an agreed judgment entered in Judge Royall R. Watkins' court here today.

Mrs. Stokes was fatally injured when the automobile in which she was riding with her husband was in collision with a truck driven by J. R. Johnson. The judgment was against Johnson and W. E. and L. P. Ellis, owners of the truck.

The judgment also awarded $25 each to Rene Allred, sr., and Mrs. Mary M. Allred.

INFORMATION FOR CITY DIRECTORY BEING COLLECTED

Work of collecting information for the 1937 edition of the Lubbock city directory, has been started by Hudspeth Directory company of El Paso, said Lothard Holt, in charge of the crew here. It is the tenth volume issued for Lubbock by the company.

Eight men will be employed for about nine weeks in gathering and compiling the information. The door-to-door canvass has started and will be completed about the first part of November.

The ten directories issued record the story of the growth of Lubbock from a population estimated at 15,500 in 1926 for the 1927 volume, to 27,528 for 1936. The latter figure, it was pointed out, includes Texas Tech students, but many of them are bonafide residents of the city and all of them are residents for the greater part of the year.

Mr. Holt began his work for the company here in compiling the 1927 volume. He said that many times it was necessary to make one or two callbacks in order to get the full information. Night calls also are made frequently, he added.

Mr. Holt may be reached at postoffice box 1622, he said.

TWO TRANSFERRED TO COUNTY JAIL

Two men arrested Tuesday night by police for investigation into the reported robbery of Leslie Pace, about 21, of New Boston this morning were transferred to county jail pending filing of charges.

One suspect gave his age as 46 and his home address as Jordan, N. M. The other, who said he was 43, said he lived in Lubbock.

Pace said the men approached him from his back and commanded him to put up his hands. He said they took from him a quarter, a nickel, and an inexpensive watch.

Arrested in 800-block Avenue H, the men were searched when they were carried to police station. One had two nickels, the other no money. A watch, which Pace identified as his, later was found in the police patrol car in which the suspects had been carried to headquarters.

not guilty. His bond was set at $500, returnable Oct. 5. Cox did not enter a plea in that case.

Deputy Sheriff Grady Harrist signed the complaints against Cox and Pierce.

A similar complaint was filed against Vada Laird and was signed also by Hilyard.

over loved," but maintained throughout direct testimony and a rigid cross examination she fired the shot which took her husband's life.

Mrs. Childs was given a 25-year sentence in connection with the death last week. Childs was a former Shelby county treasurer.

Bramlett said he took the gun to Mrs. Childs, with whom he admitted having an illicit love affair.

"I walked to the back of the house," he testified, "and she came out and said 'did you bring the gun?' Marlie Childs came to the back of the house and Reable killed him, then threw the gun down and said 'my God, what have I done'?"

Bramlett said the third time he had seen the woman was at Childs' office.

"She locked the door," he said. "She pulled me close to her and embraced me, and it was there our illicit relations started."

He said they met frequently after that in tourists camps, hotels and at the Childs' home.

The defendant repudiated a confession that he killed Childs. He said he made it because "I knew Reable was in the hands of those rangers and I did not feel she was safe with them."

MILITARY LAW IS ORDERED

FOREIGN POLICE ARE SUPPLANTED; THREE MARINES SHOT

(By The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Sept. 23—Commanders of a Japanese naval landing party declared martial law tonight in a huge area in the northern section of the international settlement where three Japanese marines were shot, one fatally.

The Japanese marines, less than three hours after the shooting, occupied the entire Hongkew area and assumed full control, supplanting the international police.

Similar Action In 1932

Similar action was taken during the siege of 1932.

Japanese authorities, reinforcing their permanent landing party of 2,000 with additional marines from the flagship Idzumo, now in the Whangpoo river, sent blue jackets also into the Chinese area adjacent to that part of the international settlement where the shootings occurred.

Authorities of the international settlement immediately called out a Russian company of 60 men, part of the settlement defense corps. They were standing by, ready for instant duty in the event of an emergency.

Police Reserves On Duty

All police reserves also were called for duty.

One alleged Chinese gunman was seized and taken to Japanese marine headquarters immediately after the three marines were shot. Later, hearing a second suspect was hiding in a motion picture theater near the scene of the shootings, Japanese marines took over the theater, stopped the film, and forced the audience to submit to individual search.

The suspect was not found, it was understood.

Thrown Into Uproar

The local Japanese colony was thrown into an uproar, with residents protesting continued incidents in which their nationals have been slain throughout China and demanding that Tokyo undertake immediate and forceful action to crush what they termed a reign of anti-Japanese terror.

Tonight's killings brought the number of Japanese slain by violence in the last 30 days to five. Four others have been injured in the incidents, which have occurred at Chengtu, Pakhoi, Hankow and now Shanghai.

DEFORMED CHILD IS GIVEN CHANCE

CHICAGO, Sept. 23 (AP)—An operation surrounded by dramatic circumstances saved five-day-old Julian Tafel, jr., from death from starvation Tuesday and gave him a "good chance" to live.

Breaking down the father's insistence that "nature take its course," the infant was placed on the operating table. Five surgeons bent over him. An incision was made in the baby's side about an inch above the hip. A "bottomless colon"—the malformation that had doomed the blue-eyed child—was brought out through this opening. It will be left in that position to drain, said Dr. Lewis K. Eastman, head of the Danish-American hospital, until it is returned to its proper place in a second operation.

Carried To Mother

The tiny patient was carried to the room where his mother, Mrs. Julia Tafel 22, and his father, Julian, sr., 24, waited.

Dr. Eastman said the baby would have to be bed-ridden. He pointed to "hundreds of similar cases" wherein the subjects recovered and led near normal lives.

DISCREDIT STRIKERS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (AP)—E. J. McDade, of Chicago, told a senate investigating committee today he had been frequently employed by strike-breaking agencies to create disorders for the purpose of discrediting union strikers.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 23. (AP)—Selected motors, farm implements and specialties shook off profit takers in today's stock market and climbed fractions to 2 or more points.

Corporation bonds, especially secondary rails, edged forward. Commodities and foreign currencies were mixed.

Shares conspicuous on the upside included Chrysler, General Motors, J. I. Case, Deere, International Harvester, Crown Cork, Union Carbide, Zenith Radio, Electric Auto-Lite, Westinghouse, Du Pont, U. S. Rubber and U. S. Smelting.

A shade either way were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, National Distillers, Schenley, Hiram Walker, American Telephone, Western Union, Consolidated Edison, General Electric, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Socony-Vacuum, N. Y. Central, Baltimore & Ohio and Southern Pacific.

Off about a point were Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, International Nickel, American Smelting and Kennecott.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Sept. 23 (AP)—Profit-taking on price advances eased the Chicago wheat market late today, and overnight gains were more than wiped out.

Wheat closed unsteady, at the same as yesterday's finish to 1-2 cent lower, Sept. 1.16 3-8, Dec. 1.15 1-2 to 5-8, corn 3-4 off to 7-8 up, Sept. 1.10 to 10 1-2, Dec. 94 1-4 to 3-8, oats unchanged to 1-2 down, and provisions varying from 15 cents setback to a rise of 22 cents.

appearing with a life-size baby doll. Her effort to get money from the two men with the doll failed. it was charged, and she, her two boys, and her 15-year-old daughter, Frances, devised the plan to kidnap the Lake baby.

Two Are Killed

During the kidnaping Lake was killed, his common law wife fatally injured, and his young son left to die outside their lonely cabin in midwinter, the prosecution alleged.

The brothers were charged with killing only Lake and were found guilty in separate trials. Mrs. Bannister was convicted of harboring the stolen child and was sentenced to serve three and one-half years in the penitentiary. Frances Bannister has been charged with abducting the Lake baby and her trial set for Friday.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, 3 to 7 points advance on higher Liverpool cables and trade and foreign buying. Oct. 11.87; Dec. 11.95; Jan. 11.96; March 11.93; May 11.90; July 11.75.

Trading was active at the opening with buying on the higher Liverpool cables met by hedging and realizing on the advance.

Domestic and foreign trade connections and prices were ruling steady after the first half hour with active months about 5 to 8 points net higher.

The market continued firm later in the morning. Dec. sold up to 11.98 and May to 11.93 late in the morning with prices showing net advances of about 7 to 11 points at midday.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 23 (AP)—Working back within striking distance of the 12-cent level, cotton futures were bid higher in active dealings today.

Oct. opened at 11.86, Dec. at 11.90 and March at 11.91, and during the first half hour were traded in around these levels.

Selling proved a little too much for the market during the morning and part of the early gains were lost, but options managed to hold small net advances through the first half of trading.

Oct. dipped back to 11.86, Dec. sold at 11.89 and March at 11.87.

NEW RECORDS

—with a sustained speed of 153.6 miles an hour. The old record, set only two weeks ago by John Cobb of England, was 150.04.

Another Is Shattered

Another Cobb record of 151.48 fell at the 4,000 kilometer mark, when the ruddered racer crossed the line with an average of 152.6. A new mark of 153.95 eclipsed Cobb's record of 150.21 for 5,000 kilometers.

And then Jenkins thundered on to crack Cobb's 24-hour record of 150.16, by setting an average of 153.76—45 miles an hour faster than the top speed chalked up by drivers in the 500-mile classic at Indianapolis speedway.

Sets New Average

Captain George Eyston's record of 144.81 for 4,000 miles tumbled after Stapp relieved Jenkins at the start of the second night's run. The new average was 150.4.

Jenkins drove his mechanical masterpiece to another new record, for 5,000 miles with a sensational average of 149.41, far surpassing Eyston's mark of 142.61.

Ethiopians To Be Given League Seat

GENEVA, Sept. 23 (AP)—The credentials committee of the League of Nations decided tonight to recommend that Ethiopian delegates continue to sit in the assembly, and reversed a previous decision to submit the question of Ethiopia's sovereignty to the world court.

The committee decided in favor of Ethiopian participation in the assembly because of existing doubts as to the delegates' credentials. The Ethiopians, the committee held, should be given the benefit of these doubts.

TECH MUSEUM

J. A. Fortenberry, city commissioner.

Supervising architect of the structure will be W. L. Bradshaw, who assisted Kleinschmidt in drafting plans. R. I. Lockard, assistant professor of architecture, and several students also assisted Kleinschmidt.

The college publicity department, of which Cecil Horne is head, made photographs this morning. Winston Reeves was cameraman.

The ground floor of the museum will be constructed with $25,000 allocated by the Centennial commission board of control and will serve as a West Texas memorial. Completion of the structure would cost $200,000, according to plans which have been drafted.

The structure will extend seven feet above the ground and will be of light colored brick of the texture of other campus buildings, said McMillan. Walls will be of reinforced concrete faced on the outside with brick.

It was stressed that the building will be entirely fireproof and valuable relics in this section may be loaned to the museum with no danger of their being destroyed by fire.

The ground floor will have 8,000 square feet of floor space. It will have 24 steel windows. The building will have two wings, each 101 feet long and 38 feet wide. It will be L-shaped except that the corner, where the entrance will be located, will be sliced off.

The entrance steps will lead to the top of the ground floor and visitors will cross the top and enter the museum by way of stairs at the back.

Plans for the finished structure include a memorial hall. The hall will be placed above the room which will serve as a machinery room in the building now being constructed.

Provisions have been made for a great deal of material which may be placed in the museum as soon as it is completed, said Doctor Holden. Many persons plan to place their relics in the museum exhibit at the Panhandle-South Plains fair and leave them here for the museum. There will be guards at the fair exhibit, said Doctor Holden. Cooperation of West Texans in filling the museum was asked.

McMillan's contract, which was let by the state board of control, includes electrical and plumbing fixtures. The subcontracts have not been let. The state board of control will award a contract next week for installation of heating equipment.

the pains of retribution.

"Europe's brutality to Africa and the League of Nations' treachery to Ethiopia will not be easily laid aside. A conflagration, Armagedon, will issue from Spain and France's civil and radically socialistic wars, giving Ethiopia her political and military opportunities. . . .

"It is my belief that before December of this year Italy will realize her foolish act, when the 12,000,000 Ethiopians, of whom two-thirds were ignorant of the Italian invasion because of the lack of communications, come to know of the attempted subjugation of their land."

Checlzzli left Ethiopia eight months ago to make a world tour for acquainting the nations with what his country faces, he said.

TEXAS FLOOD

flood on the North, Middle and South Conchos, to the northwest, which previously had inflicted between $2,000,000 and $5,000,000 damage in the vicinity of San Angelo.

Precautions Taken

Although weather bureau officials estimated the crest would not attain the 41.5 feet reached in Austin last year, city authorities took full precautions, advising residents in some houses along the river to evacuate and preparing to rescue any laggards if necessary.

The weather bureau said high water might continue for several days, but early forecasts of record heights probably would not be borne out due to backing up in tributaries and the retarding influence of the Buchanan dam, 100 miles above Austin.

As the river gauged 24 feet at the Congress avenue bridge and continued to rise slowly, officials predicted the crest would not exceed 30 feet and might fall short of that mark. At that time, it was reported falling at Marble Falls, 74 miles upstream, after recording 30.8 feet.

Several bridges up the river were washed away, but a suspension structure at the half-completed Buchanan dam weathered the flood. The Regency bridge, 17 miles west of Goldthwaite, and a bridge at Tow, 20 miles above the Buchanan dam, went out.

PARTY CHIEFS

the reactionary side, the forces gathered around Landon and Knox—Hearst, the Liberty league, the Jeffersonian Democrats, and Wall street; on the progressive side, all the mass organizations of people which are moving in the direction of a new party, a farmer-labor party.

Almost at the outset of his address, Thomas said:

"I hereby acquit Mr. Roosevelt of being a socialist."

The socialist candidate said "both Roosevelt and Landon have been called fascist, and neither of them is a fascist."

Among Capitalist Forces

Placing both the Democrat and Republican candidates among the forces of capitalism, Thomas said neither one "stands for true Democracy."

"I affirm," he continued, "that the difference between them is not enough to keep us out of war or fascism in the hour of new disaster, any more than the difference between Wilson or Hughes in 1916 kept us out of war."

Thomas and Browder were followed by the presidential candidate of the parent Marxist party in the United States, John W. Aiken, of the socialist labor party.

"The socialist labor party," he said, "proposes to use the ballot box for the purpose of determining the right of the working class to collectively own, as it now operates, all the means of production."

BANK ROBBERY

robbery had followed many clues. One involved a suspect at Odessa, who was believed at one time to have participated in the robbery. L. L. Anthony, assistant cashier, who was in the bank during the robbery, was unable to identify a picture of the Odessa man.

Investigators said they were informed that the lone bandit had met confederates near Sudan.

Others May Be Involved

Early this afternoon it was not known whether other men would be involved in the bank robbery case.

Anthony and two tellers, Mrs. Mozelle Sparks and C. M. Furneaux, were in the bank when the gunman entered. The man first asked for the bank's president, P. E. Boesen. Informed Boesen was not there, the bandit turned the gun on Anthony, forcing him to pack the money, in bills, into the bag the gunman carried.

The bank's loss promptly was paid by an insurance company.

Damages Are Given In Woman's Death

DALLAS, Sept. 23. (AP)—W. B. Stokes, whose wife, Mrs. Hazel Stokes, sister of Governor James V. Allred, was killed in a highway accident near Mineola last March 21, was awarded $4,450 under an agreed judgment entered in Judge Royall R. Watkins' court here today.

Mrs. Stokes was fatally injured when the automobile in which she was riding with her husband was in collision with a truck driven by J. R. Johnson. The judgment was against Johnson and W. E. and L. F. Ellis, owners of the truck.

The judgment also awarded $25 each to Rene Allred, sr., and Mrs. Mary M. Allred.

INFORMATION FOR CITY DIRECTORY BEING COLLECTED

Work of collecting information for the 1937 edition of the Lubbock city directory, has been started by Hudspeth Directory company of El Paso, said Lothard Holt, in charge of the crew here. It is the tenth volume issued for Lubbock by the company.

Eight men will be employed for about nine weeks in gathering and compiling the information. The door-to-door canvass has started and will be completed about the first part of November.

The ten directories issued record the story of the growth of Lubbock from a population estimated at 15,500 in 1926 for the 1927 volume, to 27,528 for 1936. The latter figure, it was pointed out, includes Texas Tech students, but many of them are bonafide residents of the city and all of them are residents for the greater part of the year.

Mr. Holt began his work for the company here in compiling the 1927 volume. He said that many times it was necessary to make one or two callbacks in order to get the full information. Night calls also are made frequently, he added.

Mr. Holt may be reached at post-office box 1622, he said.

TWO TRANSFERRED TO COUNTY JAIL

Two men arrested Tuesday night by police for investigation into the reported robbery of Leslie Pace, about 21, of New Boston this morning were transferred to county jail pending filing of charges.

One suspect gave his age as 46 and his home address as Jordan, N. M. The other, who said he was 43, said he lived in Lubbock.

Pace said the men approached him from his back and commanded him to put up his hands. He said they took from him a quarter, a nickel, and an inexpensive watch.

Arrested in 800-block Avenue H, the men were searched when they were carried to police station. One had two nickels, the other no money. A watch, which Pace identified as his, later was found in the police patrol car in which the suspects had been carried to headquarters.

ever loved," but maintained throughout direct testimony and a rigid cross examination she fired the shot which took her husband's life.

Mrs. Childs was given a 25-year sentence in connection with the death last week. Childs was a former Shelby county treasurer.

Bramlett said he took the gun to Mrs. Childs, with whom he admitted having an illicit love affair.

"I walked to the back of the house," he testified, "and she came out and said 'did you bring the gun?' Marie Childs came to the back of the house and Reable killed him, then threw the gun down and said 'my God, what have I done'?"

Bramlett said the third time he had seen the woman was at Childs' office.

"She locked the door," he said. "She pulled me close to her and embraced me, and it was there our illicit relations started."

He said they met frequently after that in tourists camps, hotels and at the Childs' home.

The defendant repudiated a confession that he killed Childs. He said he made it because "I knew Reable was in the hands of those rangers and I did not feel she was safe with them."

MILITARY LAW IS ORDERED

FOREIGN POLICE ARE SUPPLANTED; THREE MARINES SHOT

(By The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Sept. 23—Commanders of a Japanese naval landing party declared martial law tonight in a huge area in the northern section of the international settlement where three Japanese marines were shot, one fatally.

The Japanese marines, less than three hours after the shooting, occupied the entire Hongkew area and assumed full control, supplanting the international police.

Similar Action In 1932

Similar action was taken during the siege of 1932.

Japanese authorities, reinforcing their permanent landing party of 2,000 with additional marines from the flagship Idzumo, now in the Whangpoo river, sent blue jackets also into the Chinese area adjacent to that part of the international settlement where the shootings occurred.

Authorities of the international settlement immediately called out a Russian company of 60 men, part of the settlement defense corps. They were standing by, ready for instant duty in the event of an emergency.

Police Reserves On Duty

All police reserves also were called for duty.

One alleged Chinese gunman was seized and taken to Japanese marine headquarters immediately after the three marines were shot. Later, hearing a second suspect was hiding in a motion picture theater near the scene of the shootings, Japanese marines took over the theater, stopped the film, and forced the audience to submit to individual search.

The suspect was not found, it was understood.

Thrown Into Uproar

The local Japanese colony was thrown into an uproar, with residents protesting continued incidents in which their nationals have been slain throughout China and demanding that Tokyo undertake immediate and forceful action to crush what they termed a reign of anti-Japanese terror.

Tonight's killings brought the number of Japanese slain by violence in the last 30 days to five. Four others have been injured in the incidents, which have occurred at Chengtu, Pakhoi, Hankow and now Shanghai.

BLACK-DRAUGHT

For Clean System Helps To Prevent Sickness

One of the advantages of Black-Draught is that, if it is taken at the first disagreeable feeling of constipation, one or two doses usually bring relief. Prompt relief, such as that, is well worth while. Constipation is too dangerous to be neglected.

"A clean system for health" plan has saved thousands of people much useless sickness. They keep a package of Black-Draught in the family medicine cabinet and take this purely vegetable laxative at the first sign of constipation. They say the relief it brings is mighty hard to beat.

Find out, by trying it, why so many people prefer Black-Draught when it comes to buying a laxative. Adv.

as "regimentation," "control," "reduced production," the indisputable fact is that in 1932 the total net profit available for living expenses to the families of six and a half million farmers was $1,460,000,000. In 1935 it was $4,110,000,000 — almost quadrupled!

Similar examples might be chosen all the way through the business scale from farm to stock market. The indisputable fact remains that at a time when every savage tribe of the new frontier seemed bent on this nation's destruction, Franklin Roosevelt strode out through new paths. He did things. And they worked.
