HAWAII 'HONOR SLAYING' CASE GOES TO JURY

Girl And Two Men Confess Robbery Of Indiahoma Bank After Capture

BANDITS GIVE IN TO OFFICERS WITHOUT FIGHT

Bank Official and Family Held in Home Until Bank Opened

LOOT RECOVERED

Trio Commandeer Farmer's Auto When Own Machine Develops Trouble

FREDERICK, Okla., April 27. (AP)—Charges of robbery with firearms and kidnaping were filed by Tillman county officials tonight against Leon and Glenn Wilderson, who, with an unidentified woman, are alleged to have kidnaped J. D. Henderson, farmer, after robbing the Indiahoma State bank.

No charges were filed against the woman.

The trio were brought here after their arrest at Rule, Texas, where they waived extradition. They were held in jail here tonight.

Henderson and two Indiahoma bank officials, who also were kidnaped, were released unharmed.

Both men said they were from Britton, Okla.

RULE, Texas, April 27. (AP)—Six hours after they had robbed the Indiahoma State bank of Indiahoma, Okla., kidnaping two bank officials, Glenn Wilkerson, Clyde Meadows and a young woman companion, who refused to give her name, were arrested here, had made a confession, waived extradition, and were waiting for Oklahoma officers to come get them.

Wilkerson confessed the robbery in a signed statement made to Fred Robertson, Haskell county attorney. Meadows, according to Robertson, had agreed to sign the statement. The woman had nothing to say.

Loot in the robbery, approximately $2,000 was nearly all recovered. The trio had $1,922 left.

Gave Chase to Car

Alert Knox City peace officers upon being advised by Oklahoma officers to be on the lookout for the three, began inquiring at filling stations on the highway. Hobb Smith, Knox City hardware man recalled seeing a car with an Oklahoma license at a filling station containing a woman and two men and the officers gave chase down the highway. The officers came upon the trio on the outskirts of Rule when they stopped to inquire the way to Haskell. They offered no resistance.

They were turned over to Oklahoma officers late today and were returned to Tillman county tonight.

Told of Robbery

Wilkerson in his confession, detailed the robbery.

Calling at the home of Arthur Moore, president of the Indiahoma bank last night about 9:30 they pretended to be looking for work. Then, Wilkerson said, he pulled a gun and informed the banker they intended to rob the bank. Moore protested it was impossible for him to open the vault as the time lock had been set. They then decided to wait till morning and the three made themselves comfortable in the banker's home, taking turns at sleeping and guarding their victims.

Commandeered Car

This morning at 9 o'clock they forced Moore, his wife, three children and a maid into their car and drove to the bank. The cashier already had opened the doors and Moore, at the point of a pistol, was forced to tell him to hand over $2,000. Meadows guarded the women

Reveal Amazing $32,000,000 Pool

Bernard Smith Senator Glass Thomas C. Bragg

The senate's investigation of the stock exchange has uncovered the startling history of a $32,000,000 "bull" pool in copper in which many prominent persons lost fortunes and which include such men as John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee; Percy A. Rockefeller; W. C. Durant, once General Motors head. Testimony given by Bernard Smith and Thomas C. Bragg, New York financiers, resulted in the disclosures. Senator Carter Glass of Virginia is chairman of the senate banking and currency committee conducting the investigation. The above pictures were snapped during hearings by the committee.

Hoover Urges Governors To Cooperate For Reduction of Government Expense

Conference of Chief Executives Hears Address by President of Need of State Economy

RICHMOND, Va., April 27. (UP)—President Hoover journeyed into the frontiers of the old South today and in this historical capital, rich in the nation's traditions, earnestly urged the governors of the states here in annual conference to cooperate in making the cost of government cheaper to the taxpayers.

The president bit off his words as he bluntly told the governors the federal administration was not alone in running up expenses.

"The economic safety of the republic," he said, "depends upon the joint financial stability of all our governments. That stability is to be attained not alone by the financial integrity of the federal government. It lies equally in the financial integrity of every state, county and municipal government."

Frequently Applauded

The president spoke in a voice vibrant with emotion. He was frequently applauded by the audience which packed the auditorium in John Marshall hotel, and paused but did not smile as he stood on the flag-bedecked platform and then went on:

"Gentlemen; the purpose of my address is to express a desire for greater cooperation and coordination of our mutual problems."

The president then told the governors they were spending too much money—that the federal government was in the same fix and open to the same criticisms, but that it was also up to the state, county and municipal governments to find out why they were spending more money than ever before in the history of the country, and reduce costs.

Government Cost

The president declared that government had come to cost 20 per cent of the nation's entire annual income. He said that was entirely too much and that it was time to follow the example of business and "overhaul the methods and practices of government."

Otherwise, he intimated the nation was headed for the poorhouse.

The president asserted in no un-

Theater War Blamed For Man's Murder

GARY, Ind., April 27. (INS)—A war between Gary theater owners and motion picture machine operators today was held responsible for a murder and an attempted kidnaping.

Joseph Leslie, 45, whose body was found near the Pennsylvania railroad tracks, was declared to have been the "contact man" between higher-ups and a crew that spread terrorism by bombing. Leslie had been beaten to death. Nearly a dozen trains ran over the body before it was discovered.

Police announced they obtained a confession from Antone Rubio, 38, one of the alleged plotters of the abduction.

Rubio was arrested with two others when Nicholas Bikes, proprietor of the Roosevelt theater, said the three had attempted to kidnap him.

Farm Board Head Denies Row With Grape Growers

WASHINGTON, April 27. (US)—The federal farm board has no part in the controversy between the department of justice and California grape growers over the question of grape concentrate, it was said today.

"We have acted in good faith with the department and the growers and have no part in this row," Chairman James C. Stone declared.

BYBEE DRAWS DEATH PENALTY

Paducah Jury Convicts On Robbery Charge

Special to The Record News.

PADUCAH, Texas, April 27.—The death penalty was assessed Hilton Bybee by a jury here today after Bybee had been found guilty of charges of robbery with fire arms in connection with the shooting and hijacking of Ernest Slape here the night of Feb. 28.

Under the name of William H. Bybee, the defendant is under a life sentence for the slaying of Deputy Constable Ollie Parks in a dance hall disturbance at Breckenridge, March 16. He was found guilty of murder in court at Breckenridge April 6.

Death sentence was returned by the jury after slightly more than an hour of deliberation.

Allegation of the prosecution was that during the course of the robbery Bybee came to Slape's home and forced the victim outside the house at the point of two guns. The robber fired two shots at Slape when Slape attempted to run after coming outside. One shot took effect in the victim's neck. The robber took about $104 from the man's pockets as he lay wounded on the ground.

Slape has partially recovered from the wound, although the bullet has not been removed. He is suffering from partial paralysis.

PENNSYLVANIA LEAD REGAINED BY ROOSEVELT

Keystone State Democrats Favor Governor Over Al Smith

BAY STATE IS AL'S

Roosevelt Fails to Capture Single Delegate In Massachusetts

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 27. (US)—As the final tabulation of ballots neared completion tonight, the pendulum of Pennsylvania's Democratic presidential preference vote swung definitely away from former Gov. Alfred E. Smith to Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Returns from 4,867 districts gave Roosevelt 73,504 and Smith 60,168—a lead of more than 13,000 for Roosevelt.

While it was apparent that a majority of the state's Democratic delegates will go to the national convention in Chicago in June favoring Roosevelt, the vote was not nearly as overwhelming as the Roosevelt campaign managers expected.

Roosevelt Gets 45

In fact, it was surprisingly close and exact division of the state's delegates has not yet been determined, although it is claimed Roosevelt will have at least 45 of the delegates.

Meanwhile, in the Republican primary increasing significance was attached to the overwhelming vote with which United States Senator James J. Davis was renominated on an anti-prohibition platform and as the opponent of Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, former marine commander.

ROOSEVELT BLANKED IN MASSACHUSETTS

By JOHN T. LAMBERT

BOSTON, April 27. (US)—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt said he would be satisfied if he got 10 or a dozen delegates out of Massachusetts.

He got no delegates.

Alfred E. Smith, his erstwhile pal and political mentor handed him a three-to-one drubbing, quite thoroughly administered from Cape Cod to the Berkshire hills, including the industrial cities and the Democratic stronghold of Boston.

High Average

The Smith slate of 12 delegates-at-large, headed by United States Senator David I. Walsh and Marcus A. Coolidge and Gov. Joseph B. Ely, polled an average of 142,000 votes, according to the final returns compiled this afternoon.

The Roosevelt slate, headed by his son, "Smiling Jim" Roosevelt and Mayor James M. Curley, of Boston, attained a joint average of 48,000 votes.

Democratic Boston went for Smith 52,000 to an average of about 26,000 for the Roosevelt delegates.

Mayor Curley's old home ward was the single section of the city captured for Roosevelt.

Total of 36 Votes

Every congressional district was won by Smith over Roosevelt with relative ease. As a result, Massachusetts sends to the Chicago convention 42 delegates with a total of 36 votes for Smith and it gave to Roosevelt the first serious reverse he has sustained since he set his net for delegates all over the country.

Roosevelt had been urged by his canniest advisors to keep out of the Bay state, which, with Rhode Island, was the only state north of the Mason and Dixon line won by Smith four years ago. He is understood to have been tempted into the contest in the flush of his early victories in Maine and New Hampshire, where he had had the benefit of a thorough and well-financed organization.

His followers were obviously dismal here tonight, fearing that the consequence of his Massachusetts defeat would dishearten the scramble for delegates being made for him elsewhere in the country. They are saying that Smith should have been allowed such consolation as he might get from winning again the one state that was conspicuously for him in 1928.

Bitter Contest

The contest between the rival slates was bitter and acrimonious. The ugliness and the scars remaining from the inter-party struggle will prevent the Massachusetts delegates now from turning to Roosevelt despite any attractive contingencies that may arise in the convention at Chicago.

Hoover, unopposed, captured 33 of the Republican delegates, but not the 34th. This delegate is William F. Whiting, Holyoke paper manufacturer, who succeeded Hoover as secretary of commerce and who refused to pledge himself to Hoover or any one else. Running unpledged, he easily outstripped the two Hoover-pledged delegates in his

Coalition Writes Highest Taxes Since World War Into Money Bill

WASHINGTON, April 27. (AP)—The highest tax rates since the financial crisis of the world were written into the new revenue bill today by a combination of Republican and Democratic votes in the senate finance committee.

This bipartisan coalition doubled the normal individual income levies, raised the corporation tax to new heights; and accepted the higher inheritance and gift taxes voted by the house.

The day's burst of speed carried the committee's work so near to completion that predictions were made of a report to the senate by Friday. The coalition was expected to produce solid support for the revised budget balancing legislation on the senate floor.

Here is what the day's proceedings produced:

Increase in normal income taxes to 3 per cent on the first $4,000 income; 6 per cent on the next $4,000; and 9 per cent above $8,000. Present rates are 1½, 3 and 5 per cent, respectively. The house voted rates of 2, 4 and 7 per cent.

New brackets were added to the graduated surtax schedule to provide for a maximum of 45 per cent on incomes in excess of $1,000,000. The house had voted a maximum of 40 per cent on incomes over $100,000. The present maximum is 20 per cent.

Reductions by the house in the personal exemptions from $1,500 to $1,000 for single persons and from $3,500 to $2,500 for married were approved. This adds a million or more taxpayers to the rolls.

The corporation income levy was raised from 12 to 14 per cent. The house voted 13½ per cent. The added tax of 1½ per cent on consolidated returns by affiliated corporations was eliminated.

A two-cent stamp tax on checks of more than $5 was approved.

The house provision subjecting corporate stock dividends to the normal tax was eliminated.

The exemption from the gift tax was raised from $3,000 to $5,000 and the house rates retained.

DOOMED NEGRO WAITS CHAIR

Appeals Court Upholds Death Penalty

Sentence will be passed on Richard Brown, negro, after a lapse of 15 days if defense attorneys do not file an application for a new hearing before the court of criminal appeals, District Attorney Sam B. Spence said Wednesday night.

The death sentence assessed Brown on a charge of robbery with firearms after A. N. (Ted) Nodurft had been slain and his fiancee attacked and robbed here last September, was affirmed by the higher court Wednesday.

The law allows 15 days for an application to be filed after a sentence is acted upon by the higher court and no mandate is issued from the court until that period has passed. Date for execution of the sentence, in this case death, must be not less than 30 days from date of the defendant's appearance before the judge of the trial court. Brown was tried before Judge Allan D. Montgomery in district court at Graham on the robbery with firearms charge.

The appeal of Richard Johnson, negro companion of Brown, also sentenced to death, was not passed upon by the court. Johnson was tried in Wichita county and given the death penalty.

C. O. Taylor, local attorney, and Bev King of Graham, were appointed defense attorneys for Brown by the trial court. Mr. Taylor could not be reached Wednesday night for a statement regarding filing an application for a new hearing in the higher court. However, in view of the extreme penalty involved a motion is expected

Death Of Wichita Falls Girl And Another O. U. Co-Ed Under Inquiry

Mrs. Frank Lee, Former Nancy Joe Seay, and Iowa Girl Succumb in Oklahoma City Hospital

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 27. (AP)—Circumstances surrounded the deaths of two University of Oklahoma co-eds in hospitals here early this week were being investigated by Oklahoma and Cleveland county authorities tonight.

The initial stage of the inquiry led to a search for two boys reported to have brought the girls to Oklahoma City. The bodies of the co-eds, Virginia Lee Wyckoff, 21, of Iowa, and Nancy Joe Seay, registered as Mrs. Frank Lee, 17, Wichita Falls, Texas, were sent to their out-of-state homes without the recording of proper death certificates Lewis R. Morris, Oklahoma county attorney said.

Funeral at Bonham

Mrs. Lee's body was sent to Bonham, Texas, while the body of Miss Wyckoff was sent to Centerville, Iowa.

Morris started an investigation of the deaths when a question arose at the city hall over the form of the death certificates, both giving "general sepsis" as the cause of death, without elaborating on contributing causes. "General sepsis" is commonly known as blood poisoning.

Dr. Curt von Wedel, listed as a consulting physician in the case of Mrs. Lee, declined to discuss the case today. Dr. Kenneth Wilson, listed as her physician, was reported to be in California.

The death certificate of Miss Wyckoff listed Dr. G. H. Kimball as her physician. He said he was called to the hospital after the girl was taken there in a private automobile.

Marriage Secret

The secret marriage several months ago of Frank Lee, University of Oklahoma athletic star, and Miss Seay, was believed to have accounted for the name under which the Texas girl was admitted to the hospital. Her father, a physician, came to Norman to investigate his daughter's death. Lee was under-

Burglars Halted By Chlorine Gas

Burglars who attempted a raid at the J. M. Radford Wholesale grocery store, 409 Fifth, at 9:23 o'clock Wednesday night were met with a blast of chlorine gas as they crashed a rear window and promptly changed their plans for a robbery.

The grocery store is wired with a burglar alarm system, consisting of a siren and gas, which is released when any entrance is made at the store. The burglars had climbed a tree at the rear of the store and broken a window near the top of the building, Night Police Captain W. E. McDonald and Officer Fred Stengel reported. Signs are placed on the building announcing, "this building protected by war gas."

Seven Official Weighing Stations Named For Annual Fishing Contest

Seven official weighing stations for the annual Opening Day Fishing Contest sponsored by The Record News and Daily Times and sporting goods dealers of the city were designated Wednesday.

Efforts have been made to locate the stations so that anglers may weigh their big fish in the contest with the least possible inconvenience. Four of the stations are located on Lake Kemp, one at Diversion lake, one at Lake Wichita and one in the lobby of the Times Publishing company building. It is possible that other stations may be designated, and if so announcement will be made of additional weighers.

Members of the staffs of The Record News and Daily Times will act as weighers for the station in the newspapers' office. At Lake Kemp one station has been located in the Wichita colony, with Mrs. Mike Anglin, official weigher at the same station last year, in charge. The many residents of the colony led to the decision to retain at least one station there.

At the Seymour entrance of Lake Kemp, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Cox, who served for the station last year, will act in the same capacity this year. Mr. and Mrs. Cox have charge of the gate house at the Seymour entrance, and Wednesday announced all in readiness for the opening.

TRUCK CASE IN HIGHEST COURT

Texas Law Argued Before Supreme Tribunal

WASHINGTON, April 27 (AP)—The validity of the Texas law regulating the size and load of commercial motor vehicles was argued orally today in the supreme court. The controversy reached the highest tribunal in an appeal by Ed Sproles and other owners of motor vehicles who protested against the 7,000 pound limit.

Charles I. Francis, Frank H. Rawlings and Larue Brown, counsel for operators, contended the restrictions as to size and load would work a great injury to their clients. Not only would it render it difficult for them to operate but was discriminatory because it granted privileges to others withheld from them. It was declared the act would drive from the roads vehicles aggregating $150,000,000 in value.

Elbert Hooper, as counsel for T. Binford, sheriff of Harris county, where the case arose, insisted the regulations were required because of the material increase in traffic and the impossibility at this time to provide roads and bridges which would stand heavier traffic. He pointed out that while some roads and bridges would permit heavier loads, it was necessary to place the limit where the transportation would not endanger some of the bridges and some of the roads.

Convicted Business Man Starts to Prison Alone

FORT WORTH, April 27. (UP)—Chester R. Bunker, Fort Worth, convicted of fraudulent use of the mails in a promotion of stock in the Bunker Printing Products company departed alone for Leavenworth, Kan., tonight to begin serving a three-year penitentiary sentence.

Bunker was allowed to make the trip without a marshal's escort and carried his own commitment papers. He was denied a review of his case recently by the supreme court of the United States. He also faces a mail fraud charge at Sioux City, Iowa, in connection with promotion of the World Oil company, a Delaware corporation.

Head of College Quits When President Released

WEATHERFORD, Okla., April 27. (UP)—Miss Rowena Wellman, Southwestern Teachers college head, resigned today upon receipt of word that E. E. Brown had been released as president.

"The sole reason for my quitting is Mr. Brown's dismissal," she said.

Brown said he expected that several faculty changes would be made, "all for the worse."

DARROW AND KELLEY MAKE FINAL PLEAS

Aged Veteran of Bar Urges That Race Not Influence 12 Men's Decision

MRS. MASSIE WEEPS

Kelley Asks That Justice Be Meted in Island's Famous Slaying

By DAN CAMPBELL

HONOLULU, April 27. (UP)—The case of four white persons accused of the second degree murder of Joseph Kahahawai, half-caste and asserted assaulter of the wife of an American naval officer, went to its jury of mixed races late today.

Submitting the case to the jury following brilliant closing arguments by Clarence Darrow, famed Chicago attorney, who pleaded that the defendants be set free, and Prosecutor John Kelley, who demanded they be sent to prison for from 20 years to life.

After these two finished arguments, Judge Charles Davis read his instructions and the case was turned over to seven Caucasians, two Chinese and three islanders that composed the jury.

They began deliberations at 4:25 p. m. (8:55 p. m., Wichita Falls time).

Four Possible Verdicts

In his instructions, Judge Davis said they might return any one of four verdicts against those charged with shooting Kahahawai to avenge assaults upon Mrs. Thalia Fortescue Massie.

He said the defendants, Mrs. Massie's husband, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, her mother, Mrs. Grace Fortescue, and A. O. Jones and E. J. Lord, enlisted seamen, might be found guilty of second degree murder, as charged, or of manslaughter or not guilty by reason of insanity or not guilty.

Mrs. Massie, in court for only the second time since the trial opened, brokeout in hysterical weeping while the judge read the instructions.

Courtroom Cleared

As soon as the jury retired the judge ordered the courtroom cleared of all save newspaper men. He said he did this as a precaution against any outbreak.

Prosecutor Kelley was the last of the attorneys to speak and he bitterly scored the defense and its tactics.

Kelley claimed the four defendants killed merely to satisfy the "ego" of Lieutenant Massie.

"There is no defense for them under the law," he said. "The defense claimed Massie was insane when he shot and killed Kahahawai but I tell you he was as sane as any of you jurors.

"Clarence Darrow, a great attorney, appealed in his final argument for sympathy. You must not listen to him. You must put sympathy behind you," Kelley thundered.

"Hawaii, itself, is on trial," he continued. "You must determine whether there is one law for us and another for others. Can others take the law into their own hands?"

Woody Townsend's Case Is Reversed

AUSTIN, April 27. (AP)—Failure of the trial judge to define the term "wilful" in his charge to the jury caused the court of ciriminal appeals today to reverse and remand the conviction of Woody Townsend, Bastrop county sheriff, on a charge of extorsive collection of fees of office.

Townsend, first of the sheriffs and former sheriffs to face a Travis county jury on indictments growing out of alleged fee irregularities, had been sentenced to two years in the penitentiary and removed from office. Court officials said they believed the decision autmatically restored Townsend to office pending a new trial.

The Bastrop sheriff was convicted of making an excessive charge of $3.40 in serving a subpoena on a witness. He was tried last October.

HONOLULU JURY RECEIVES CASE

Darrow Delivers Masterful Defense Argument

came today from the rugged, old Darrow.

"Place human pity above the law!" Darrow shouted, his fists flailing the air. "Free a tortured husband, a tortured mother and two seamen who were faithful to those they liked.

"I tell you Massie's brain cracked under the strain," he thundered another time. "Any man's would have under similar conditions. He wasn't sane when he shot Kahahawai."

"If you want to send Mrs. Fortescue to prison, it's easy," he said again, almost sobbing. "She only did what any other mother would do. She came to the aid of the daughter she had borne. Gentlemen of the jury, I repeat, if you want to send that mother to prison you can do it."

Darrow said before court he feared his strength might not be equal to the long plea he must make.

Certainly, no territorial court ever saw such an exhibition of energy as the 75-year-old barrister bounded between counsel table and jury box, pounding his huge fists, and pointing his long fingers at the jury.

Darrow also offered the jury "bargains in truth."

"The prosecution said it didn't believe Massie's story that he himself killed Kahahawai," Darrow said. "The prosecution didn't seem satisfied. I thought it would please them to know who actually killed Kahahawai since they had no knowledge of it themselves.

"Maybe Massie didn't fire the shot, I wasn't there. But I can think of only one reason why he would assume the responsibility, if he did not. That would be a soldier's devotion and love.

"Isn't Important"

"That also would be so idealistic that it hardly sounds possible.

"In any event it isn't important who fired that shot."

"Tommy wasn't responsible for the consequences of his act—it just happened, I called Lieutenant Massie 'Tommy' for he always will be that to me. I know him for myself. I love him. But Tommy was out of his mind when Kahahawai was shot."

The defense claimed that Massie, already under terrific mental strain because of the assaults on his wife, killed Kahahawai when the half caste admitted leading a band of five islanders in assaulting Mrs. Massie.

State Doubtful

The state, without naming any other, intimated it was one of the other three defendants.

Darrow said he did not intend to "characterize" Kahahawai.

"I wouldn't do anything," the attorney said, "to add to the sorrow of Kahahawai's mother who sits in this courtroom."

Darrow's argument was filled with references to "humanity," and "human feelings."

Darrow's plea—he has said it will be his last—was made in a setting equal to this island drama.

Courtroom Crowded

Outside the sky was blue and a hot sun beat down. Inside was a motley crowd, a typical cross section of island life. Representatives of practically every race and mixture were in the spectators' seats.

No breeze came into the stifling court. The heat was terrific. It obviously affected Darrow.

He drew an immense handkerchief frequently to mop the perspiration that gathered as he paced up and down, his arms swinging in the air and as he stood pounding with his fists on the jury rail or counsel table.

Mrs. Massie Weeps

Mrs. Massie was present to hear this final defense argument. She was ill at ease and nervous and she wept openly as Darrow went over the story of the assaults upon her by the native gang.

Lieutenant Massie tried to comfort her but he, himself, was strained and nervous.

It was her second trip to the court since the trial started. The first was when she went on the stand and told of her night of horror.

Jury to Get Case

It was announced that the courtroom would be cleared as soon as the case went to the jury. This, it was said, was to prevent any demonstrations. The jury should receive the case sometime tomorrow.

Darrow concluded his address with an appeal for the jury to put aside race prejudice in deciding this decidedly racial trial.

"I never knew the meaning of a feeling against any race," he said. "I defy any one to show that I did. I think the people of the Pacific islands must learn to lure peace. Otherwise the Pacific will run red with the blood of man.

Asks Understanding

"I have no feeling against those that assaulted Mrs. Massie because of their race. I am a Caucasian but that means nothing. The jails are full of Caucasians with whom we can live. It is full of them even in Chicago.

"I put this case above race and nationality. I ask every one in this jury box to forget everything but the human angle. Please consider the terrible mishaps of this family and understand them."

Darrow in Tears

Darrow was in tears as he closed this final address. His voice had lost all its fire. He looked like a tired old man.

"I would like to think, gentlemen of the jury, that I had done a small part in bringing peace and justice to these islands," he said.

He picked up his papers and walked to his seat. Mrs. Massie was weeping. Mrs. Fortescue got up and walked over and shook hands with the veteran barrister.

When Darrow finished there remained only the final argument of Prosecutor John Kelley and the instruction of Judge Charles Davis before the case went to the jury.

Kelley Argues

After a short recess, Prosecutor John Kelley, middle-aged, bald and vigorous, started the last of the closing arguments.

He promised to be brief because he knew "the strain under which the jury is laboring."

"I'd like to refer first to the speech of Mr. Darrow, a great lawyer," Kelley said. "Mr. Darrow appealed to your sympathy. But sympathy is not the plea advanced for his client. That plea was insanity.

Claimed "Forced Hand"

"Darrow told you also that it didn't make any difference who fired the shot that killed Kahahawai," Kelley continued. "They thought they could fool you and us (the jury and the prosecution). But we forced them to show their hand.

"I'll paint you a picture of a vain, selfish person who was responsible for what happened.

"It was the selfishness of the man who insisted upon his wife going to parties when she didn't want to go," Kelley, red-faced now, shouted. "Lieutenant Massie insisted upon her going to the Ilawai inn. Then they put that poor girl there (Mrs. Massie) on the altar of his ego. They put her on the stand here to make a Roman holiday in this courtroom."

Mrs. Massie began to sob bitterly as Kelley shouted on.

"Here is the thing you jurors must decided," Kelley said. "You must decide whether you are going to follow the law of the territory, or whether you will follow the plea of Clarence Darrow.

Native Not Convicted

"You must remember that so far as the territory was concerned Joe Kahahawai went to his grave an innocent man. He was not convicted of anything."

Kelley commented on the fact that Darrow said Massie was an excellent witness.

"That's true, he was," Kelley virtually roared. "But he wasn't good enough. When I asked him if he had put the ropes used to bind Kahahawai's body under the davenport, he started to make the answer that was correct but he quickly changed it because he saw it would damage his own story. I tell you you can't take Massie's story in full faith."

"If Massie had not intended to kill Kahahawai as he testified he did not, why then did he stoop to get enlisted men (Jones and Lord) to help him?" Kelley continued. "He didn't want to have brother officers along or he didn't dare have them along."

Kelley assured the jury at this point that he expected to wind up his argument shortly. Judge Davis promised to give the case to the jury late today if Kelley finished early enough.

Kelley Accuses Sailors

Kelley's closing, which took only one hour, was considered one of the most brilliant closing arguments the territory has heard.

He told the jury there is "a God who said 'Thou shalt not kill'"—and get away with it.

"They let a man bleed to death, inch by inch," he said.

"Killing is their business," Kelley shouted. "Jones and Lord were taught to kill and they were to render first aid. But they didn't use the latter. They dragged Kahahawai into the bathroom like a dog.

"I expected this brilliant defense," he said with sarcasm, "to say he confessed as he died. But no, they told you he said: "'Yes, we done it.'" will be in charge of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Wilkins at the Moonshine entrance. Mr. and Mrs. Wilkins acted as weighers last year in the contest, and said they will be ready to serve anglers again this year. A complete stock of supplies has been ordered for visitors entering the Moonshine gate, and an ample supply of minnows provided for opening day anglers.

The fourth station on Lake Kemp is located at the Flippen creek entrance, a new station, and will be in charge of C. M. Wilkinson. Mr. Wilkinson is in charge of the Flippen gate house, and said he will be in readiness for the opening with complete stocks of supplies and minnows.

Diversion and Wichita

At Diversion lake, Glenn Cox will again serve as official weigher at the north side entrance gate. Mr. Cox has charge of the gate house store and also will add minnows to his supplies this year.

Ray Walker will be in charge of the station located at the pavilion at Lake Wichita. Mrs. E. A. Ohlenberg, manager of the Lake Wichita concession, announced Wednesday that piers are being overhauled and everything put in readiness for the opening day rush. Pilings of the piers are being replaced, new boards laid in the floors and new awnings provided. Considerable painting is also under way as well as improvements for the fishing office on the pier. Present plans are to make the Lake Wichita piers among the best boat and fishing docks in the state, Mrs. Ohlenberg said.

A tour of the three laks Wednesday revealed that waters of all have been badly roiled by the heavy winds of the last two days. Lake Kemp appeared in best condition, due to its large number of protected bays, but unprotected portions of the lake lacked a good deal of being in good fishing condition. Diversion lake also has suffered from the high winds as has Lake Wichita. Two days of comparatively calm weather, however, will allow all three lakes to clear sufficiently for fishing, and three days without heavy winds will put all three in fine condition, observers said.

Roads in Good Shape

Roads to all three lakes are in good condition, and perhaps better than in many years at the same season. Much work has been done on the roads inside the pasture at both Lake Kemp and Diversion lake. Gravel and crushed rock have been used to fill holes in the roads from Seymour and Moonshine, and there is little choice between the two routes so far as condition is concerned. From Wichita Falls, however, the route by Moonshine is approximately 10 miles shorter than the Seymour route. Roads leading to Diversion lake as well as those in the Waggoner estate have been well graded and dragged and were in excellent condition. At Lake Wichita, the question of road conditions was unimportant, due to the number of hard surfaced routes to the lake.

Prizes in the annual contest this year are greater in number and value than ever before. A total of 29 awards, valued at $150, await the efforts of fishermen in the three lakes on opening day. The list of prizes follows:

and children in the car outside, Wilkerson related.

After getting the money the bandits put the women and children out of the car and, forcing Moore and the cashier to accompany them, fled south.

About 40 miles outside Indiahoma the car developed trouble and they commandeered one being driven by a farmer. The bandits released their two captives at this point.

They continued south into Texas until captured.

OFFICERS WITHHOLD FIRE TO PROTECT CHILDREN

Arrest of two men and a woman, who robbed the Indiahoma State bank Wednesday morning, was prevented at Haskell when officers spotted them near a public school ground. Failing to stop the bandits the officers did not shoot because of fear of striking pupils who were dismissed from the school at the time.

Sheriff W. T. Sorrels of Haskell county said he believed the pursuing officers would be able to stop the bandits a short distance from Haskell but the speed of the bandit car outdistanced them to Rule, according to Special Officer H. G. Ellis of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway, who was in Frederick, Okla., when reports of the bandit's capture were received. The fleeing trio had spent $3.87 of the $1,927 taken at the bank for gasoline in Vernon, Mr. Ellis added.

certain terms that the state governments were putting a tax on real estate "wholly out of proportion to that upon other forms of property and income."

"There can be no farm relief more needed today," he said, "than tax relief, for I believe it can be demonstrated that the tax burden upon the farmer today exceeds the burden upon other groups."

Hoover said it was no use "hiding our heads in the sand by borrowing to cover current government expenses," and then gave an outline of how he could curtail expenses.

Urges Cooperation

The president declared that cooperation among the states and local governments in cutting costs of government was the "sure highway to national recovery." In outlining the ways money could be saved, Mr. Hoover stressed three points:

1. Postponement of "less urgent matters" during this crisis.
2. Abolition of obsolete government functions still mandatory under existing law.
3. Consolidation and merging government jobs that overlap, in the whole structure of government from federal down to hamlet.

The president warned that government economy was not only a need, but a "universal demand." He read a table which showed that government expenditures in recent years had increased from a total of $13,200,000,000 in 1913 to $30,600,000,000 in 1930, or 20 per cent of the entire nation's yearly income.

Clerks Association Asks Abolition of Fee System

SAN ANTONIO, April 27. (AP)—Abolition of the present fee system as it applies to county officers and the placing of all such officers on a straight salary basis were recommendations in a resolution adopted at the final session of the County and District Clerk's association of Texas here today.

Hart McCormick, district clerk of Bexar county, was elected president of the association for the coming year.

Bishop Hughes, of the Methodist Episcopal church, says that every living person has had 16,777,216 ancestors.

stood to be in Bonham with his wife's parents.

At Norman, Dr. W. B. Bizzell, president of the state university, announced he would investigate thoroughly the circumstances surrounding the deaths of the students. He said he would call a meeting of the university discipline committee, and would ask the Cleveland county attorney to join him in learning the identity of the persons who took the girls to the Oklahoma City hospitals.

County Attorney Morris went to Norman late today to confer with County Attorney Woodal, of Cleveland county.

Murray Orders Probe

Governor Murray ordered C. A. Burns, chief of the state bureau of criminal investigation, to investigate. Burns was told to make his report to the governor personally.

Dr. Bizzell said the girls' deaths had caused "grave concern" at the school. He admitted questioning parents of both girls, and their friends. He withheld results of his investigation.

Miss Wykoff's last statement, written on her chart at the hospital, was made to Dr. Kenneth Wilson, and an interne.

Both young women were brought to the hospital suffering from blood poisoning in advanced stages, hospital authorities said.

SERVICES FOR GIRL HELD AT BONHAM

Funeral services for Mrs. Frank Lee, University of Oklahoma student who died Tuesday, were held at Bonham Wednesday afternoon, it was said at the home of Dr. Joe A. Seay, the girl's father. Dr. Seay, who had gone to Oklahoma City the night of the girl's death, was in Bonham Wednesday.

Dr. Seay, a well known specialist here, resides on the Iowa Park road.

Mrs. Lee, known here as Nancy Joe Seay, came to Wichita Falls in 1928 to make her home with her father and to attend school here. She was graduated from the high school in 1930 and entered Oklahoma university the following term. High school officials said Wednesday the girl was a good student and friends recalled that she was a popular member of the high school social set. Many of her friends here had not learned of her marriage.

Besides her father and husband, Mrs. Lee is survived by her mother who lives at Clarksville, Texas, and by a sister, Miss Virginia Seay, a substitute teacher in the Wichita Falls schools.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee were married at the home of Mrs. Lee's parents in Wichita Falls, last Feb. 2. The marriage had not been announced on the Oklahoma university campus. Lee accompanied the body to Bonham, and is expected to return here with the family.

14 Initiated By DeMolay Chapter

A class of 14 candidates was initiated into the Hope chapter Order of DeMolay Wednesday night with ceremonies at the Faith Masonic lodge rooms. The initiatory and DeMolay degrees were conferred by the chapter degree team.

The class included W. A. Bachman, Emery Davis, J. G. Dixon Jr., Randall England, Rufus King, Campbell Lindsey, Dan Lundien, Billy Mitchell, Allen Robinson, Harry Strief, Robert Souther, George Thorburn, Robert Williamson and Charles Parker. A large group of Master Masons attended the initiation.

The Hope chapter of DeMolay will hold a public installation of newly elected officers Wednesday evening, May 4, according to Dan White, master councillor. The installation will be in the Faith lodge rooms.

DEATHS

R. FRASIER

R. Frasier, 67, 1308 Fifth, died at 11 o'clock Wednesday night at his home after a short illness. The body is being held by the Hines mortuary pending completion of funeral arrangements. Services will be held Thursday or Friday from the Lamar Avenue Baptist church with burial in Riverside. The widow; two sons; a daughter; a brother, J. T. Frasier of Petrolia; and a sister, Mrs. Mary Hammond of Copperas Cove, Texas, survive.

RAIN COVERS SOUTH PLAINS

Farmers Enabled to Begin Planting Crops

A thunder shower accompanied by an electrical display struck Wichita Falls shortly after midnight Thursday morning and precipitation continued early this morning. At midnight the temperature was 61 degrees, with the lowest reading for the 24-hour period 49 degrees.

(By The Associated Press)

Heavy rainfall swept the South Plains of West Texas Wednesday night. It was estimated to be sufficient to enable farmers to begin planting crops.

At Lubbock the precipitation was three-fourths of an inch. Early in the morning .65 inch fell. The rain was accompanied by a severe electrical storm.

A total of 1.43 inch rain fell at Amarillo, and the report was that what wheat had been left would be greatly benefitted. No damage from hail was reported.

Light rains fell in the San Angelo area, while traces were received at Abilene, where showers were forecast for Thursday. There was no rain in Wichita Falls.

Through the northern and western part of the state, the rain was accompanied by lowering temperatures. The minimum at Lubbock was 41 degrees.

MOCK CONVENTION "NOMINATES" ROOSEVELT

LEXINGTON, Va., April 27. (AP)—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt will be the Democratic candidate for president in 1932, if the usual prophecy of Washington and Lee university students is correct.

Roosevelt was nominated on the ninth ballot at a mock Democratic convention today after Newton D. Baker, on the eighth ballot, had shown amazing strength, when California, Louisiana and Texas swung their votes to the New Yorker's side.

In four out of five mock conventions, the Washington and Lee "conventions" have foretold the actual course of history, and unofficial observers from both parties were present today to watch the balloting.

Richard Brown's Trial Approved

to be filed for the new hearing, associates of Mr. Taylor said Wednesday night.

ALSUP SENTENCE REVERSED BY COURT

AUSTIN, April 27. (AP)—The death sentence conviction against Richard Lee Brown, negro, charged with robbery in connection with the holdup slaying of Ted Nodurft, Fort Worth oil man, near Wichita Falls last September, was affirmed by the court of criminal appeals today.

Brown was convicted for the robbery of Miss Vera Smith, Nodurft's fiancee, with whom the slain man in the holdup was sitting in an automobile when two negroes appeared, robbed the couple and attacked Miss Smith. Nodurft was shot by one of the men and died of his wounds. Miss Smith's engagement ring was taken by the robbers and later its recovery was the means of fixing the identity of the perpetrators of the crime.

Brown was tried in Young county on a change of venue from Wichita county.

John Alsup, convicted in Wichita county on a change of venue from Tarrant county, for the slaying of Issac Tate, who, with George Terrell, both negroes, was shot to death while allegedly making an attempt to rob the Polytechnic bank at Fort Worth in 1930, won a reversal of his 10-year sentence. It was the second time Alsup's case had been to the appellate court, a former conviction having also been reversed and remanded.

Alsup had been acquitted of the slaying of Terrell. The state claimed Alsup had conspired to frame the negroes in the bank robbery in order to collect a reward offered by the Texas State Bankers' association for "dead bank robbers."

Reversal was ordered on account of error in the trial court's charge on the competency of testimony of accomplice witnesses.

The appellate court's opinion stated neither of the negroes had any of the bank's property in their possession when killed.

Asylum Inmates Make Good Escape

Searchers late Wednesday had failed to find trace of Leonard Poole, declared criminally insane July 10, 1931, in a district court at Dallas, and two other inmates of the Wichita Falls State hospital who escaped about 11 o'clock Tuesday night.

The trio escaped by prying off a grating from one of the dormitory windows. Poole was setnenced to five years in the penitentiary on a charge of burglary at Dallas, March 26, 1931. He apparently became insane while awaiting transfer to the state prison from the Dallas county jail.

Poole escaped from the hospital during the past winter, but was returned after he was arrested in Fort Worth in connection with a burglary, Dr. C. W. Castner, hospital superintendent said.

The other two inmates, admitted from Clay and Grayson counties are harmless, Dr. Castner said.

Hurrying to a garage to have his lights fixed and avoid arrest, an Oklahoma City motorist was arrested and fined for running through a boulevard stop.

How to Relieve Headaches In Three Minutes

When you have one of those violent, nerve-racking headaches, from inorganic causes, you can get soothing relief in three minutes with "B. C.," a reliable, pleasant-to-take remedy. "B. C." is prepared by a registered pharmacist, compounded on a different principle from most relief-giving agencies in that it contains several ingredients, so blended and proportioned as to accomplish in a few minutes what we believe no one drug formula can do in so short a time. "B. C." should also be used for the relief of muscular aches and pains, common colds and neuralgia; for reducing fever and quieting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics or such habit forming drugs. Get "B. C.," in 10c and 25c packages, wherever drugs are sold.—Adv.

STATE SUES TO TAX HEIRS

Judgment of $10,151 Asked From 23 Beneficiaries

HOUSTON, April 27. (AP)—In a friendly suit filed in district court today by the state, a judgment for a total of $10,151 in inheritance taxes, plus interest, was sought from 23 individual beneficiaries of the late Will C. Hogg, who bequeated a total of $193,481 in his will.

Mr. Hogg, Houston financier and philanthropist, died in Baden-Baden Germany, Sept. 12, 1930. He left an estate valued at approximately $3,000,000, most of which was willed to charitable and educational institutions, which, the petition said, are exempt from inheritance taxation.

The petition, signed by Attorney General James V. Allred, Assistant Attorney General F. O. McKinsey, and District Attorney Obrien Stevens, was filed by Sam Lewis, assistant district attorney.

To Settle Law

Lewis said the suit was a friendly one filed at request of William G. B. Morrison, attorney for Mike Hogg, brother of the late Will Hogg and executor of the estate, in order to settle a question of law.

He said Mike Hogg was unwilling to pay the inheritance taxes until he was certain the law required it. Lewis added the 23 beneficiaries and Mike Hogg claimed that as the beneficiaries were not relatives of Will Hogg, the inheritance laws did not apply. The state contended the law applied.

"Attorneys on both sides have agreed on the facts and a written agreed statement of facts will be submitted which will leave the court nothing to do but pass on the question of law," Lewis said. "No witnesses will be heard."

Mike Hogg also was named as a defendant, He was sued as executor of the estate.

Beneficiaries Named

The beneficiaries and their individual bequests and the amount of taxes due on each bequest, as listed in the petition: Raymond Dickson, $25,00, tax claimed, $1,375; David M. Picton Jr., $31,666, tax $1,908; Stephen L. Pinckney, $30,000, tax $1,775; Mrs. J. W. McDugald, $19,346, tax $1,035; Arthur Lefevre Jr., $26,000, tax $1,375; Mrs. Marie Hogg, $2,675, tax $105; Mose Walton, $4,500, tax $200; W. B. Ferguson, Leo St. Cyr, J. E. Key, and E. E. Farm Board Leader Heard by Committee

WASHINGTON, April 27. (INS)—A continuation of open-market operations, cooperative marketing and more effective financing of commodity exports was advocated today by James C. Stone, chairman of the federal farm board, as the most practical method of meeting the present emergency in agriculture.

"Purchasers of our wheat and cotton in other countries lack the means with which to buy our surpluses," he told the senate agriculture committee. "Inquiries which have already been received indicate that export sales of 15 to 25,000,000 bushels of wheat and 500,000 to 1,000,000 bales of cotton could be arranged before the end of this crop year if effective financing were available. These sales cannot be made unless the necessary credit is provided."

Rivers and Harbors Group Calls Meeting

WASHINGTON, April 27. (UP)—A call for a special session of the national rivers and harbors congress to "resist the organized effort which threatens seriously to impair or cause the abandonment of the entire national system of waterways" was sent out today by the congress' president, Representative Frank R. Reid, Republican, Illinois.

The meeting will be held in the gold room of the Congress hotel, Chicago, June 13 and 14.

BAD AND WORSE

Unique Charges Hurled In Los Angeles Divorce Suit

LOS ANGELES, April 27. (INS)—Charges unique in Los Angeles divorce annals were aired today in the contested suit of Goodfellow vs. Goodfellow.

"She hasn't bathed for 10 years," charged Alexander Goodfellow, "and she used many weird cooking utensils."

"He taught our 6-year-old son to smoke cigarets and he made home brew," Mrs. Bertha Goodfellow asserted.

Gov. Murray Gives In To 'Blackmailer'

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 27. (UP)—An Oklahoma City fireman, member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, called Gov. W. H. Murray on the phone today.

"You say you want me to come to your bridge game?" said Murray. "I don't gamble."

"No, I'm not going to buy any tickets for your gambling outfit!" the governor barked into the telephone after the caller had argued several minutes.

Then, indignantly:

"You invite me to violate the law? I will have every one of you arrested.

"You say it's a bridge party at the Biltmore hotel for entertainment?"

Then, another interruption.

"Where are you going to get $10. You're assessing me $10?

"Ah, hell, send your blackmailers up here and I'll give 'em $10."

Murray hung up the receiver. "It's some charitable proposition for the foreign wars." Some benefit," he exclaimed.

Compulsory Education Defended in Wisconsin

MADISON, Wis., April 27. (INS)—A suggestion that compulsory physical education be abolished at the University of Wisconsin today met with opposition from the board of regents and President Glenn Frank.

Prof. V. A. Henmon, who made the suggestion, said he believed students entering the university have had sufficient physical training and that further participation in sports should be voluntary. He claimed there are 50 high schools in the state that have better equipment for physical education than the university.

University of Detroit Mourns Its President

DETROIT, April 27. (AP)—Students and alumni of the University of Detroit today mourned the very Rev. John P. McNichols, S. J., under whose administration as president the university enjoyed its greatest development.

When he assumed the presidency in 1921, the university was housed in a few downtown buildings.

At his death, which came last night in St. Joseph's hospital, Ann Arbor, the institution embraced 80 acres at the outskirts of the city and his dream of a $40,000,000 college plant had been one-fourth realized.

MISSOURI PACIFIC INCOME.

ST. LOUIS, April 27. (AP)—Net railway operating income of the Missouri Pacific railroad for March was $939,127.18, compared with $1,358,799.47 in March 1931, the railroad announced today. Total operating revenues for March, 1932, were $6,360,600, compared with $8,621,537 in March last year.

Records of the steamboat inspection service for 1931 show that 1,065 lives were saved by means of life saving equipment.

TREATY ENDS DOUBLE TAXES

Tardieu and Edge Complete Negotiations

PARIS, April 27. (AP)—An agreement by which American corporations doing business in France will save millions of dollars in taxation was signed today by United States Ambassador Walter E. Edge and Premier Andre Tardieu.

The agreement eradicates the double taxation burden which has been carried by American houses with branches in France since 1926. Under this tax regulation, all foreign corporations doing business in this country have been assessed from 16 to 18 per cent on that part of their dividends ascribed to French operations.

Numerous American organizations will be affected, among the outstanding being the American Telephone and Telegraph company, General Motors, Ford Motors, the Guaranty Trust, the National City bank, the Chase National bank and Boston Blacking company. Few American houses have paid the tax this year. Instead, they awaited outcome of protests made by the United States government. One United States business organization is said to have $50,000,000 involved and another $30,000,000.

"The imposition of double taxation has been an outstanding source or irritation and misunderstanding between France and the United States for a number of years, and I am particularly gratified with the agreement," said Ambassador Edge after the document had been signed.

"This friendly action will do much toward improving Franco-American relations during this difficult economic period."

Receiver Asks to Sell Julian Personal Property

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 27. (AP)—An application to sell personal property of the C. C. Julian Oil and Royalties company was filed in federal court today by J. W. Harreld, receiver.

A proposal to sell 1,065 units of the Julian Syndicate in California for $2,500 to F. B. Penn, who also has interest in Julian's property here, was set out in the application.

Warehouse Employe Slugged by Bandits

HOUSTON, April 27. (INS)—Henry Russell, employe of a dry goods warehouse, was slugged early today by a bandit who forced him to open the warehouse safe, which contained $35.

The bandit explained as he struck Russell over the head with a blackjack that he wanted Russell to know that he "meant business."

Unusual Programs Feature Wednesday Study Clubs

Club programs, though nearing the end of the season, are still as replete with interest as at any time in the year. Members of the Readers club who met Wednesday morning with Mrs. Darrold Kahn, had a session of unusual cleverness. Miss Dorothy Nolen opened the program with an original skit, "The Society Editor," cleverly arranged and presented.

Miss Catherine Sue Ralston gave "The Vision of Sir Launfal" from James Russell Lowell; Miss Marjorie Bright talked on the Greek drama and poetry and Mrs. Sterling Crumpler gave as illustrations of modern poetry, three short readings, "One Version," by Leon Steyer; "The Gossips," by Miss Nathalia Crane and "The Modern Woman Speaks to Her Lover," by Margaret Widdemer.

In the business meeting, it was planned to have as the last meeting of the year, a picnic in Iowa Park with Miss Catherine Sue Ralston, on May 11.

Members present included Mesdames Ella Merle Mathis Bristol, Sterling Crumpler, E. L. Fulton, A. D. Longley, J. T. Harrell, Darrold Kahn, Homer Karrenbrock, James G. Oakley, Charles Reid, John Thomas, Misses Marjorie Bright, Dorothy Nolen, Jeannette Moore and Miss Catherine Sue Ralston.

1922 Study Club

Mrs. W. W. McCarty was hostess to members of the 1922 Study club in a pleasant morning session when following the business session roll call was answered by quotations from South American novelists.

Mrs. John L. Gibbs gave an interesting paper on "Argentina, Her Land and People," and Mrs. W. H. Newell gave a clever review of Hugo Nast's "Peach Blossom."

An interesting report of the first district T. F. W. C. was given by Mrs. J. M. Spoonts.

Members present were Mesdames Ira Cain, Ray Keith, T. A. Bradley, Clyde Gibson, R. A. Lincoln, W. W. McCarty, W. H. Newell, S. H. Rider, J. M. Spoonts and John L. Gibbs.

Junior Alpha Club

Mrs. G. W. Curd was hostess to members of the Junior Alpha Story Telling club and presided in a business meeting; roll call was answered with current events.

An interesting program was given with Mrs. Jack Cravens as leader. Mrs. S. E. Williams gave the "Legend of the Trailing Arbutus," and Mrs. W. B. Adams, "The Wonderful Cap That Mother Made." Mrs. W. E. Hickman told the story, "The Little Brown Herb" and Mrs. N. L. Doris of "The Robin That Did as He Pleased."

Dainty refreshments were served to Mesdames Bob Haley, G. M. Curd, W. H. Ramey, T. A. Crosby, J. B. Meissner, N. L. Davis, N. B. Adams, W. E. Hickman, S. E. Williams C. P. Brandon, Jack Cravens, T. S. Andrews, W. R. Hammond, Eugene Wilson, W. A. Scarbrough, Webster Walker and the hostess, Mrs. G. W. Curd.

Texas Study Club

Mrs. Noel Brashear was hostess to members of the Texas Study club and members answered the roll call with the work of the Red Cross.

The book studied was "The Road Pack" by Eric Maria Remarque and Mrs. J. L. Burns gave an interesting paper on the life and character of the author. Mrs. J. W. Miller told of the horrors and after effects of the war as presented by the author.

In the social hour, Mrs. H. J. Hughey won in a "I Am Lucky" contest. Dainty refreshments were served to Mesdames W. B. Featherston, J. L. Burns, O. H. Gideon, Merle Thompson, R. M. Stinson, J. W. Miller, Jake Harris, Dell Brasher, J. S. Clary, J. E. Duke, Tom Pruitt, Hal Kennedy, H. J. Hughey and the hostess.

Luncheon Honors Music Chairmen Of Nearby Towns

W. M. McGregor presided and presented the speakers when a luncheon was held at the Wichita club at noon Wednesday honoring the out of town chairmen of the North Texas Civic Music association. Mrs. John F. Lyons of Fort Worth was the speaker of the day and laid before the chairmen the plans of a civic music organization, telling them what had been accomplished in Fort Worth.

Harry Hines, organization chairman, extended his thanks for the cooperation shown, stressing the need of continued cooperation for a successful organization.

The out of town chairmen present included Mesdames M. E. Lewallen, Burkburnett, E. R. Prideaux of Archer City, Y. H. Babasin, Vernon, L. B. Moore, Bellevue, Koethe, Henrietta, Miss Bertha Taylor of Holliday; Mesdames W. H. Perkins of Petrolia and Gordon Clark of Iowa Park. Members of the association working in Wichita Falls who were seated included Mesdames Walter Robbins, Newton Maer and Pearl Calhoun Davis and Messrs Harry Hines and W. M. Mcgregor. Mrs. Lyons of Fort Worth was the speaker and special guest.

Candidates Presented At Methodist Banquet

Following an old-fashioned Methodist banquet at the Scotland Methodist church Tuesday evening, candidates for office were introduced by E. J. Johnson after a motion made by Judge P. A. Martin that no speeches be allowed.

More than 125 members and guests were served the delightful menu and bowls of roses and poppies, with runners of roses and honeysuckle down the center of the tables, made effective decoration.

Rev. W. D. Craig gave the invocation; a quartet was given by junior boys, including H. M. Martin, J. T. Carr Jr., Bevis McCown and Aubrey Craig. Beautiful numbers were given by a mixed quartet, J. T. Carr, Juanita Carr, Weldon Johnson and Mrs. C. A. Jackson. Two entertaining surprise numbers were hymns sung by the candidates.

Candidates presented included W. D. McFarland, Harry Bunnenberg, Wayne Somerville, P. A. Martin, W. W. Cook, Irvin Vogel, T. A. Hicks, W. L. Bass, Roy Bland, Walter Friberg, M. W. Friberg, E. D. Trevathan, J. M. McFall, Miss Elizabeth Hall, Perry Browning, Fred K. Smith, Jim Robinson, Fred P. Hodge, M. A. Bundy, Lee Cooper, Geo. W. Lawler, O. L. Gibbs, C. L. Bradford and M. H. Coker.

Alathean Board Has Business Meeting

Members of the executive board of the First Baptist Alathean class met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. G. Stewart on Brown street.

Mrs. Homer McGregor opened the meeting with prayer and a beautiful devotional was given by Mrs. W. H. McDonald.

After the short business session, a dainty ice course was served to nine members.

Crippled Children Clinic Conducted at Mangum

MANGUM, Okla., April 27.—Twenty children were examined at the annual clinic for crippled children of Greer county held here Monday. Remedial defects were pointed out and treatment recommended.

Members of the clinic staff were Dr. Kelly west and Dr. R. J. Reichart, orthopedic specialists on the staff of the state crippled children's hospital in Oklahoma City; Miss Nell Carl, nurse; Joe N. Hamilton, executive secretary of the state society; C. W. Richards, state director of vocational rehabilitation and president-elect of Southwestern State Teachers college at Weatherford, and Lee Osborne, district supervisor of vocational rehabilitation. Local physicians assisted in the examinations and found an unusually large number of children's defects which are susceptible to treatment.

Parents Visit Ben Franklin School Rooms

Parents' visiting day at Benjamin Franklin school Wednesday had as its keynote "the community." There were 125 mothers registered who visited the various rooms, each of which displayed a phase of industrial life of the community.

Misses Ellen Hooker and Norma Rollins, first grade teachers, featured a miniature farm and a cotton field; cattle, windmills, vegetable gardens and cleverly dressed dolls were used in the scene.

Miss Elizabeth Keller, teacher of the second grade, had on display a model park and the children told of their visits to parks and to the zoo. In the high second grade, Mrs. Grace Pickens used "stores" as the feature of nidustrial interest. In the third grade room where Miss Marjorie Patrick is teacher, the children showed the result of their study of homes by a complete modern six-room home; even the furniture was made by the pupils.

Miss Elizabeth Latimer, teacher of high third and low fourth grades, featured a cotton field and miniature bales of cotton and the study and care of animals was featured in Miss Fay Rackley's rooms.

Miss Laura Simer directed the fifth grade children in the construction of a postoffice, and foreign stamps, money orders and methods of delivering mail were demonstrated. "The Growth and Development of Wichita Falls" was the subject featured by pupils in Miss Florence Cullins' and "Safety" in Miss Bernice Ewing's room, where the pupils constructed a small city and emphasized the traffic signals.

"The Movies" were the theme in the low sixth room where Miss Lillie Carney had her pupils report on the early history and development of motion pictures. Transportation posters and other art work made Miss Betty Tribble's room attractive and a miniature Mount Vernon, made by eight boys of the school was a special attraction.

The special meeting was featured at Ben Franklin so that the school might attain the standard of excellence. Visiting day is a requirement of the state and national program.

Mrs. J. P. Chastain has returned from Baylor hospital at Dallas and is reported to be still quite ill at her home 2402 Kemp boulevard. She is unable to receive visitors.

Junior Travel Club Honored With Beautiful Luncheon

A luncheon that featured the spring theme in irridescent colors was given by Mrs. W. A. McCarty Wednesday, honoring members and guests of the Junior Travel club. Pretty lace covered tables were laid with crystal service in rainbow colors and each table had a center of pink roses and bluebonnets. Even the dainty place cards stressed the spring theme and at each place, the new yearbooks of the club, completed a charming motif. A delicious four-course menu was served.

Mesdames John Humphrey, N. H. Downing and Jozach Easley, members of the program committee, chose for the yearbook cover, one of the most artistic in the club's history. The meeting place of the club, the Forum clubhouse, features the upper half and the name of the club is written in script at the lower corner with a monogram featuring the center. The club study for the coming year was announced as "American Literature."

Mrs. David G. Gray was leader in the program following the luncheon and reviewed "The Way of the Lancer," in a masterly fashion. The tragic episodes of life in war regions when more than 200 Polish lancers, fighting that Poland might be freed, were lost in Russia were told in graphic manner.

The balanced reading that has featured the club work in the past year was demonstrated in two unusual reviews, both, as it happened, featuring frustrated lives. "The Clairvoyant," by Lothar, was handled beautifully by Mrs. Wilson Gray, who told the story and emphasized the character in a charming manner.

Mrs. Grover C. Johnson, reviewing Emily Bronte's "Wuthering Heights," gave a magnificent bit of characterization. The atmosphere of the weird story was transmitted to her audience and their interest was held to the last. Mrs. Johnson has established a reputation as a reviewer which was demonstrated in her interpretation.

Mrs. G. K. Wilson gave an interesting report of the first district conference, T. F. W. C. at the Forum clubhouse, April 20, 21 and 22.

Members for whom covers were laid were Mesdames E. A. Deaton, E. T. Duff, O. T. Ailes, D. G. Gray, Luther Wright, Wilson Gray, O. W. Wilson, G. H. Watson, C. G. Hughes, W. J. Morgareidge, Wayne Somerville, Thelbert Martin, C. G. Brannan, Jozach Easley, Horace Lankford, A. J. Longley, G. K. Wilson, John Humphrey, F. T. Datson, N. H. Downing, and the hostess, Mrs. W. A. McCarty. Guests included Mesdames Julian McFall, L. N. Cason and Miss Nan Duff.

FOLGER'S COFFEE

A Really Good Cup of Coffee..
Only 2 Homes in 5 Ever Have It
.... Say Domestic Science Experts
Due To One Simple Fact About Coffee
That Not One Woman In 50 Knows
Because Almost 70 Per Cent Of All Coffee ... Regardless Of The "Brand" You Buy, Has Exactly The Same Kind Of Taste Because It Is Grown In The Same Country
HAVE you ever wondered why it is so hard to get the kind of coffee that really "makes a meal?" The kind people talk about.
The reason there is so much "average" coffee and so little exceptional coffee is very simple.
It is because almost 70 per cent of all coffee sold in stores comes from the same producing country. It all has the same taste. It's just put up in different packages, that's all.
That's why changing the "brand" you used in the past, has not made the coffee you serve any better. Few people in a lifetime ever have a chance to enjoy the rarer, richer coffees that grow in other producing countries. And that's why thousands are turning to Folger's every day.
From Central America
The world's choicest flavored coffees, as any expert will tell you, come from a few tiny districts. They are grown chiefly along the West Coast of Central America. From this famous region we procure coffees with a rare tang and rich mellow body, utterly unlike any coffee you have ever used before.
This is the coffee that Folger brings you today packed in vacuum. It's not only delicious, but thrifty. Its extra richness and quality makes it go much further. And its rare flavor is kept fresh from the roaster right to your coffee pot by the latest type of key-opening vacuum sealed tins. If you want a real change—in coffee—and not merely in name, try it.
Folger flavor comes from rare mountain coffees grown in Central America. Here's a shipload starting on the way.
A 3-Day Test of Flavor
Just go to your grocer and buy a pound of Folger's. Drink it tomorrow morning.
Next morning serve the coffee you have been using. The third morning serve Folger's again. Then choose between them.
If for any reason you decide against Folger's, your grocer will refund your money. We'll pay him. That's fair, isn't it? 141

FLOWERS GIVE CITY COLOR

Galveston Transformed By Imported Oleanders

GALVESTON, April 27. (AP)—O. Henry once called it "the white city by the sea," but that was before oleanders lined Galveston's streets and brought their same rainbow hues to its yards.

Today brilliant colors have transformed the glaring semitropic city of white houses that the writer knew. Every street is planked by rows of the tall flowering shrub that has brought Galveston fame as "the oleander city."

Each spring the people of the sea-walled city that faces the Gulf of Mexico observe several days of celebration in honor of the flower, brought to the island in 1841 by a trading schooner from Jamaica, where it was called the South Sea rose.

When oleanders first reached the island city there were only two colors—red and white. Now there are more than 30 delicate shades, most of them developed by oleander enthusiasts who have adopted the flower as their own.

Shades Improved

The oleander in its native state is a single petaled flower, about the size of a silver dollar. The two natural shades have been cultivated and improved until they have double and even triple rows of petals and are almost as large as the blossom of an American beauty rose.

Some of the crossbred varieties, nearly all of which are double petaled, are red, scarlet, pink, soft peach, delicate salmon, yellow, white and pink and a number of other variegated combinations.

The odor is undeniably tropical and sweet.

The leaves of the oleander, dark green in color, add beauty to the streets and gardens even during the winter months.

The shrub, although usually ranging from five to eight feet in height, sometimes grows to a height of 15 to 20 feet.

Oleanders Give Galveston Rainbow Hue

Colorful oleanders line Galveston streets and make its yards cool retreats of beauty. Brought from Jamaica 80 years ago as a single-petaled flower, the oleander has been cultivated until it rivals the rose in size.

Bryn Mawr Farm Wife Seeks Office in Iowa

DES MOINES, April 27. (UP)—Mrs. Miriam P. Johnson, who has carried the culture of Bryn Mawr's exclusive collegiate halls to an Iowa homestead, today launched a "heart-to-heart" appeal to the rural women of the state to place her in the state house as secretary of agriculture.

Mrs. Johnson, mother of three children and wife of a farmer has, as she put it in an interview with the United Press, "weathered the heart-rending tortures of agricultural reverses," and with the same courage has stepped out to invade that department of state politics until now sacred to the masculine sex. No other woman ever has sought the agricultural portfolio in Iowa state government.

Mona Lisa Portrait May Be Shown at Fair

PARIS, April 27. (US)—A suggestion by French artists that the famed Mona Lisa portrait be housed in the French building at the Chicago World fair is being favorably considered by the foreign office, it was learned today.

REAL BATTLE GROUND

Hunan, province of China, is about the size of Idaho. It has about 400,000 bandits, and one of its cities, Iyang, has changed hands between gangs about 70 times in a recent 12-month period.

NONE BETTER

When Modern Science tells you that St.Joseph's Aspirin is both genuine and pure, it means just that. St.Joseph's conforms to every government standard, and its economical price of 10c for 12 tablets, makes it neither economical nor necessary to pay more for genuine pure aspirin. In addition, St.Joseph's Aspirin is wrapped in moisture-proof cellophane, an exclusive feature that always assures you of getting fresh, full strength aspirin when you demand St.Joseph's. Be safe, be sensible and always ask for the original, genuine and pure cellophane-wrapped aspirin, the largest selling aspirin in the world for 10c—demand St.Joseph's. Why pay more?

GRAIN GROWERS FIGHT RATES

Western Trunk Lines Want 25 Per Cent Hike

CHICAGO, April 27. (AP)—Growers and shippers of wheat today attacked proposals of western trunk line carriers for general rate increases that averaged, in some heavy grain areas, as high as 25 per cent.

James F. Cherry, of the western carriers rate committee, was questioned at a hearing before the Interstate Commerce commission examiners by representatives of the Kansas City Board of Trade and the Omaha Grain exchange. The commission rates were thrown out by a supreme court ruling granting the carriers' petition for a rehearing.

Walter Scott, of the Kansas City Board of Trade, clashed with Harry Ames, of Iowa, over whether these changes were the "collective judgment of the carriers."

Scott brought out there was no unanimous rate agreement among the carriers but that the proposal was the "best possible one that could be agreed upon by the carriers."

These were the words of Examiner Arthur Mackley, who said it was pertinent for the commission to know if all the carriers had agreed the commission could be so far wrong in its scale.

Examiner George Hall said the carriers would "have to show me reason for the radical differences from the commission findings before I can change my stand."

Grape Grower Tells Of Talk With Hoover

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27. (AP)—Donald D. Conn, managing director of the California Vineyardists association, disclosed today that President Hoover, while secretary of commerce, tentatively approved the grape industry rehabilitation plan including the marketing of grape by-products.

"I laid the plan before Mr. Hoover in a personal conference while he was secretary of commerce," Conn said. "The conference was on the broadest aspects of the program, and the reference to grape by-products was merely an incident of the conversation.

"The discussion did not go into the specific item of sale of concentrated grape juice specifically for the marketing of so-called non-intoxicating fruit juices in the home. Concentrated grape juice is only one of many grape by-products.

"Mr. Hoover realized the plan bade fair to be the salvation of the grape industry, and he encouraged it personally, but advised me to ascertain first that it was entirely legal."

Secretary Of Navy Gives Economy Plan

WASHINGTON, April 27. (US)—Secretary Adams today presented to the house naval committee an economy schedule calling for the closing of principle naval shore facilities on the Atlantic coast, except in the New York, Philadelphia and Hampton Roads areas.

Approximately $2,700,000 annually can be saved, without detriment to the needs of the fleet, Adams said. He warned, however, no reduction could be made on the Pacific coast without injury to naval efficiency.

Principal shore establishments which would be effected are at Boston, New Orleans, Portsmouth, Charleston, S. C., Key West, Newport and Baldwin, L. I.

About 4,000 employes are now carried on the rolls of the naval bases marked for closing. The discharge of practically all would follow, Adams said, but the transfer of work to other yards would mean increasing employes at the active yards by about 1,900.

Secretary Adams also suggested decommissioning the four naval reserve training ships on the great lakes. The naval appropriation bill now before the house provides for such action.

Vermont has been carried by every Republican nominee for president since the organization of the party.

Abilene Taxpayers Ask Salary Cuts

ABILENE, Texas, April 29. (AP)—Reduction in current expenses of $100,000 from city of Abilene expenditures for the fiscal year ending Sunday, were urged upon the city commission yesterday by a citizens committee of 39 taxpayers, which presented a suggested new budget containing drastic cuts.

It was recommended that the number of city employes, now 140, be largely reduced and that salary reductions be put in effect covering all city workers, at 10 per cent for all receiving less than $100 monthly and at 15 per cent for all receiving $100 or more. The mayor and four commissioners were asked to share in the percentage cut. The former now receives $150 monthly and the latter, each, $75 monthly.

The committee recommended total over-all expenditures for 1932-33 of $474,910, against $650,377 total in the budget for the year ending April 30, these totals including all capital charges.

Munday Chamber Banquets Tonight

Special to The Record News.

MUNDAY, Texas, April 27.—The Munday Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual banquet here Thursday night and will elect officers for the coming year.

Several addresses will be delivered. Each will be limited to five minutes, it was announced today on completion of the program.

Nominations for office are as follows: R. B. Davy, president; W. R. Moore, vice president; W. E. Bralley, treasurer; R. D. Rawls, secretary (re-election); and directors, Mat Dillingham, W. V. Tiner, M. F. Billingsley, John C. Spann, G. R. Eiland, Charles Foyt, E. H. Bauman, J. A. Kennedy, F. L. Decker, E. W. McGlothlin, W. A. Baker, and R. D. Atkeison. John Spann is the retiring president.

Music for the banquet, which will start at 8 o'clock, is in charge of Mrs. Joe Davis.

Brazilian Official Hurt in Fatal Crash

BAHIA, Brazil, April 27. (US)—Jose Americo, secretary of transportation, was seriously injured, and three members of his party were killed today when the plane in which they were returning from an inspection flight into the interior of the state of Parahyba crished near here.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Former Governor Smith's decision not to enliven the Massachusetts primaries by personal participation was open to speculation as to its bearing on his Jefferson day challenge to persistence in demagogic appeal by unnamed presidential aspirants.

ALFRED E. SMITH

The Smith decision was ascribed to advices from the front that the campaign in his behalf in Massachusetts did not require his personal attention.

Meanwhile, in the Bay state, the Smith vs. Roosevelt bout was nearing its decision in the primaries on April 26, a date scheduled to settle a similar contest involving the two in Pennsylvania.

A New "Translation"

On the very day Smith made known his purpose not to depart, as yet anyhow, from his passive role as to his own candidacy, Governor Roosevelt, supposed target of Friend Al's verbal blast, was home again from his St. Paul adventures.

And what was Mr. Roosevelt doing? He was repeating, almost word for word, that bit about the forgotten economic under dog to which Mr. Smith was alleged to have taken such violent exception.

But there was this difference. The Roosevelt idea had now to be translated in the light of his conciliatory attitude at St. Paul.

Thus viewed, it would seem that Mr. Smith found in it not sufficient hint of demagoguery to cause him to doff his coat and vest for a finish fight. Otherwise Boston probably would have seen and heard Mr. Smith.

For the moment Friend Al seemed not to have completely scorned Friend Frank's bid for at least a truce between them.

These must be difficult days for a man of Al Smith's temperament. He did not arrive at the top of his party political heap by a passive attitude.

If there ever was a political fighting man, Smith fills that bill. Yet he has elected to sit almost silent in a political clash, probably for the first time in his life.

No wonder he boiled over at the Jefferson day doings.

Glee for the G. O. P.

Nor is the end in sight. Republicans of note hailed that affair with shouts of glee. Director Lucas of the Republican national committee remarked in Washington that Democrats were picturing the national deficit as a "Hoover deficit" to conceal their own "family brawl."

That Republican sage from Emporia, Kan., William Allen White, hailed Mr. Smith as a "Republican asset" and the Smith antidemagogue speech as "the first ray of hope we Republicans have had since 1929."

To accept all this in "unsmithesque" silence must have been very hard on Friend Al.

Charges Against Escobar Dropped

TUCSON, Ariz., April 27. (AP)—Charges of conspiracy to violate the United States neutrality laws filed against Gen. Jose Gonzalos Escobar, commander in chief of the Mexican revolutionary forces in the spring of 1929, and 16 of his aides were dismissed in federal court today.

The action was requested by John C. Gungl, United States attorney for Arizona, acting upon orders from the department of justice.

Twelve of the men were arrested after the collapse of the anti-Calles movements and released on bond but five, including Escobar never were apprehended. They were charged with having planned the revolution while in the United States and later with smuggling arms across the border.

An Interesting Discovery

SOME time during the next few years some uncommonly interesting new histories of the revolutionary war ought to be written.

The William L. Clements library of the University of Michigan has just acquired a vast bundle of letters, diaries and other documents written by Hessian officers who served with the British troops in America during the revolution. For a century and a half these papers rested in a trunk in a German castle, and no historian ever saw them. Now they are to be made available for presentation to the public.

The Hessians have always been the villains of the revolutionary story. But even the most unimaginative student must have wondered about them occasionally. What did these hired soldiers think of the epoch-making struggle in which they had been paid to take part? What sort of a time did they have in America? How did they get along with their red-coated comrades in arms, and what were their opinions of the ragged continentals?

So far we have never been able to do anything but guess. There has been an indication or two, of course. It is known, for instance, that of 30,000 Hessian soldiers brought to America during the war, only 17,000 returned to Germany after peace had been signed. Many, of course, had been killed in action; but many more, sick of the war and attracted by the open new country, had deserted and had become pioneer settlers. How many old American families, one wonders, could trace their ancestry back to some disgruntled hireling of the Landgrave of Hesse-Cassel who went A. W. O. L. and forgot to return.

Now we are about to find out in considerable detail just what the Hessians felt about everything; and it ought to make mighty absorbing reading. As the quaint old tombstone in the Boston cemetery says, the Hessians came 3,000 miles and died "to keep the past upon its throne." They failed; and so far they have been mute actors in the drama. History will be the richer when their private thoughts are finally spread upon the record.

Sterling Defends His Acts

GOVERNOR STERLING in his Alamo speech declared that his administration had succeeded in saving $75,000 a month to the people "through a check of expenditures and collections of fees of office" and pointed out many cases in which he said that legal charging of fees by county officials had been discovered and the practice eliminated. He attacked the fee system of paying county officials and, according to the Alamo newspapers, declared that "many of the men now in the penitentiary were there now because of that system."

Speaking of the fee system, he made this sweeping declaration. "Men are serving prison sentences because somebody needed the money and could not get it would conviction. The entire system is wrong and should be eliminated." He defended the parole system of rewarding convicts and let it be known that since he has been governor he has pardoned but five men but has paroled more than a thousand. Of those paroled only 34 have been returned to the prison according to the record. Moreover, pardon attorneys have been eliminated and clemency granted to those who have earned it by good behavior.

Bus Regulation

THE Interstate Commerce commission seems to be moving wisely in recommending gradual formation of a federal code to govern interstate transportation by motor bus and truck.

As the commission remarks, this is a new field, and it is important that the government, in entering it, move slowly and feel its way from point to point. It is not quite plain, yet, just where the public interest chiefly lies in this matter, and precipitate action must be avoided.

But it is clear that some sort of regulation is needed. Interstate commerce is interstate commerce, whether it moves by bus or by train; if one variety needs governmental supervision, it seems obvious that the other variety needs it also.

Hoover Named to Hold the Bag

AND it has come to pass that the Democratic house economy committee unanimously voted to grant President Hoover's power to reorganize the government, "subject to congressional approval."

President Hoover asked for such authority in a special message to congress. Democratic leaders had opposed it. Then the house economy committee voted its approval of the presidential demand. However, there is a clause under which the changes ordered by the president could be voided by congressional action within 60 days. Now, was it an abject surrender on the part of the house economy or a very adroit bit of buck-passing to the occupant of the White House?

SO THEY SAY!

WALTER WINCHELL On Broadway

(Copyright, 1932, Daily Mirror, Inc.)

(During illness of Mr. Winchell this column is being conducted by Paul Yawitz)

Things You Probably Never Cared To Know!

(Proving you're a lot better off not reading the papers.)

That Sidney Lenz, the bridge authority, never arranges his hands in suits. He plays them just as he picks them up. (What a fool 13 spades would make of that system.)

That an Eskimo baby wears no clothes, but is carried in a seal skin sack on its mammy's back.

That seagulls break the shells of clams by dropping them from great heights and then swoop down for the feast.

That as recently at December, 1926, the French academy determined by a vote of 8 to 5 that dogs have memory and soul. (Somebody must have tipped them off!)

That John Tyler holds the White House record for ringing the stork bell, having had 14 children by two marriages.

That a man born in San Francisco and dying in New York is three hours younger than his actual age at death. (Another way of killing time.)

That half of Broadway is in the Hudson river, having been dumped there when the street was paved. (The other half is in my hair.)

That King Charles I of England (1649) ws the last monarch on the English throne to have an official fool. (But how about the unofficial ones?)

That Babe Ruth's real name is George Herman Ruth, although it is generally believed to be George Herman Ehrhardt, the latter being the name of the uncle with whom he lived as a boy. (But opposing pitchers still call him Poison.)

That the reason feminine undies are usually pink or blue is that white turns yellow too soon after being laundered. (Of course, this is just hearsay to a fellow like me.)

That Disraeli, who fearlessly ruled empires, always got a rash on the back of his paws when he touched violets.

That the odor of roses always made Voiltaire faint.

That Emperor Charley Vth of Spain spent 10 years trying to make seven clocks tick in absolute unison and finally gave up in despair. (How can a guy be a success when he's always watching the clock?)

That the only time you get a break in Scotland is when you buy land. The Scotch acre has 6,150 sq. yds. against the American 4,840.

That there are less than 10 buildings on Times Square, Broadway, which are over eight stories in height.

That the average weight of the male brain is 48 ounces and that of the female is 43. (But oh, what a difference a few ounces make).

That the bones of canned fish are softened by heat, not by oil, as is popularly supposed.

That any coin dated between the years 55 to 60 B. C. is counterfeit. (Catch on?)

That there are no native snakes in Ireland and that when a harmless two-foot reptile was found in Dublin a few years ago it was placed on exhibit in the national museum.

That the U. S. biological survey says there is no reason to doubt the statement of the French writer who said he once heard a parrot repeat the entire Lord's prayer.

That Frederick Fradkin, the violinist, recently smashed his $42,000 Stradivarius by sitting on it accidentally.

That it is impossible to tell the difference between the taste of an apple and a piece of onion if the nose is stopped up. (Go ged a code in da head and fide oud!)

That because of the limited vocabulary it would be impossible for anybody to carry on a satisfactory conversation on modern topics in pure Latin. (Console yourself! There are plenty who can't do it in English either).

That yawning restores the equilibrium of the air pressure between the middle ear and the outside air and the result is often a relaxation. (Is that why I've enjoyed Mourning Becomes Electra?)

That the pronunciation of the does not change when it is written ye and that it is incorrect to pronounce it yee. (Oh, yeah!)

That fish never sleep. (Another name for Broadway columnists).

That the new English drape in men's fashions is not English at all, having been introduced by Basil Durant, the 5th Ave. style designer who once danced professionally with Margaret Hawksworth. (Up on everything, that's me!)

That they've discovered a tree-climbing fish in Asia. (There'll be no privacy for the tree-sitters this summer).

That when Paul Whiteman played the Palace theater, minus 100 pounds of weight, six of his musicians saw an audience for the first time and fainted of stage-fright.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE LONELIEST SKIPPER OF THEM ALL—Capt. William A. Andrews was not a real captain at all, nor did he ever have a lesson in navigation in his life. He was a piano factory worker when he embarked on the adventurous career of a professional lone skipper. With a few lonely crossings of the ocean to his credit, he conceived the idea of celebrating the 400th anniversary of the discovery of America by reciprocating Columbus' visit. Sailing from Atlantic City in a tiny 14-foot boat on July 20, 1892, the lonely skipper landed 35 days later at Palos, the very town from which Columbus had sailed on his great expedition. He was the object of great adulation by the people of Spain, and was made the guest of the crown all during his stay in Columbus' country.

Wanted—Love! The Story of an Unemployed Girl

By ETHELDA BEDFORD Author of "BROADWAY BRIDE"

CHAPTER XXXVIII

"Laura, baby. You've got to have a doctor. You're sick," Eve tried to humor her.

"No . . . no. . ."

"She'll need more than a doctor if you don't hurry," said Mrs. Morris, an old flannel bath robe pulled grotesquely about her.

"I won't have a doctor!" moaned Laura, writhing from her pain. Her face pasty and drawn. Her eyes stretched with terror. "I won't!"

"I'd rather die than have one!" screamed the tortured Laura.

Now she was doubled up with pain. The little bed squeaked with her incessant motion.

"I haven't any money—no money to pay for a doctor," Laura said through her clenched teeth. "No money—"

"We'll get some money, somehow—" Eve said, looking at Mrs. Morris.

"We'll pay him, Laura—"

"I'd rather die than have bills to pay—I have no money!"

"We'll get some money, Laura," Lillian pleaded.

"No money . . . no job . . . how can I pay . . . how can any of us pay!" Laura gasped the words.

Mrs. Morris pushed past Lillian and Eve, through the doorway.

It seemed but a few moments before she returned and with her came a sleepy-eyed little man, carrying a doctor's kit in one hand while he pulled his coat together in the front, attempting to hide his pajamas.

"There she is," said Mrs. Morris, with an air of authority.

The man sat on the side of the bed; his quick, muscular hands moved beneath Laura's hands.

"There? That's where it hurts?"

They knew by the way Laura jerked it was.

He looked up at Mrs. Morris and nodded. Lillian and Eve knew that Mrs. Morris had diagnosed the case correctly. Appendicitis!

"She won't have to go to the hospital, will she, doctor?" breathed Eve.

The sleep-swollen eyes of the doctor were kind but stern. He said: "Yes. Right away."

"You won't let him send me to a hospital, Eve? Don't—don't!"

"Laura, honey. The doctor says you must go."

Lillian put a freshly cooled towel on Laura's head. For a second or so it seemed the terrific pain stopped. She stopped writhing and struggling.

Her voice became natural in its tone, as she said: "A girl without a job can't afford to get sick. I can't even afford that. I've known for a long time . . . that pain was scaring me. But I needed my money for car fare—"

The doctor stepped out of the room and Mrs. Morris followed.

Above the noise of early taxi cabs and milk carts they could hear the incessant dinging of the ambulance bell. It sounded in the little upstairs room so plainly.

And when the white-coated internes hurried up the stairs and pushed into the room, with the stretcher between them it was like some horror scene in a movie . . . one from which you could look away just by turning your head . . . and when you turned your eyes back again there would be smiles and soft music, romance where the horror scene had been.

Laura screamed and spent much strength trying to resist.

Long after they had carried her down the stairs Lillian and Eve could hear her crying she wouldn't go . . . she'd rather die.

Lillian kept thinking over Laura's story of her long night away from them—that last night in Laura's life—and she could not find an answer to the question it inspired . . . which bobbed back and forth in her mind:

"When a girl hasn't car far and she's took sick and tired to walk—what then?"

Lillian went with Eve to Laura's mother and stepfather that afternoon and broke the news.

"Yes," her stepfather said, "we'll take care of the funeral and everything."

Eve almost thanked him, he accepted the responsibility so amicably. Laura's mother, a tired, sad-eyed little woman, covered her face and scarcely said a word.

It was a week later, when they saw her, that she let out why her husband accepted the task as he had.

"Laura carried insurance," she said, "and when she couldn't keep up payments any longer he had her make it out to him, and he had it paid up."

"Will the money help you, too?" Eve asked.

The sad eyes became a little sadder as the little woman answered: "We paid the rent for the first time in three months. My husband has been out of work—and it takes so much to clothe and feed four little children and keep them in school."

Lillian and Eve came away from the small apartment in the Bronx feeling that Laura would have been pleased to know she had contributed to the little family, even by her death.

That afternoon when they reached their room Mrs. Morris had packed up Lillian's and Eve's clothes and placed their suit cases in a smaller, darker room at the far end of the hall.

There was a room-for-rent sign on the outside door as they came in.

"Girls, I'm sorry, but I'll have to have that room," Mrs. Morris told them. "You owe me over two weeks' rent as it is, and I've lost rent on you."

Eve, who had been looking out for herself since she was 16, understood what the road signs of poverty on the highway of jobless, friendless girls were. She knew that they had to pay or leave Mrs. Morris' soon—

"I think we'd better leave," Eve told Lillian when they had shut the door of the dark, sultry room.

"We could go to that Girls' Home a few streets over. I noticed the sign."

They didn't say it in so many words, but the real reason they wanted to leave Mrs. Morris' house was the memory of Laura.

"She said we could stay here for a few days until we could get some money for her," Lillian said. "This bed looks as if it would fall apart should both of us get in it—"

Eve walked to the one small window and drew up the shade. It opened on a narrow iron fire escape which led into an alley two floors beneath.

"She knew we'd want to leave when she told us the price—four fifty each for this!" said Eve.

"And we only paid two and a half each for the other room," said Lillian.

"Yes, you see, she thought we would raise the dickens and then she would tell us to get out—and she would keep our clothes for what we owed."

Lillian said she never would have thought of that.

Eve began pushing up the little window easily.

"Laugh," whispered Eve, "talk! Make all the noise you can so she won't hear me raising this window."

Lillian scraped a chair and then kicked it over on the floor, making a fuss, which muffled the sound of the window being pushed as high as it would go.

Eve lifted the suitcases out on the landing and motioned for Lillian to follow her onto the steps.

So they tripped down the narrow iron stairs and let themselves down into the ash-canned cluttered alley.

"We'll let her worry, now," said Eve.

But she and Lillian were far from free of their problem. They were faced with finding a bed for the night and between them they had but a dollar and a half!

Nicknames Barred On State Ballots

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 27. (UP)—Gov. W. H. Murray couldn't get on an election balot in Oklahoma as "W. H. 'Alfalfa Bill' Murray," Atty. Gen. J. Berry King said today in placing an official ban on nicknames for candidates.

King held that unless H. M. Curnutt, Barnsdall, adopts "H. M. Buck Curnutt" as his full legal name, he cannot get on the Democratic ballot for state senator in the 34th district with the extra name.

Curnutt first filed with Secretary J. William Cordell of the state election board as H. M. Curnutt. Later, he sent another filing, asking that "my middle name appear in full."

King expressed the opinion "Buck" is not a middle name but a nickname and cannot be used.

He pointed out that Champ Clark was elected to congress after his name had been changed from Beauchamp and that Ulysses S. Grant became president after he adopted this name and abandoned his original cognomen "Hiram Ulysses Grant."

Murray Grants Clemency To Prison Convicts

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 27. (UP)—Gov. W. H. Murray today granted clemency to three men serving terms at McAlester for manslaughter.

He signed 10 other acts of clemency.

B. O. Shepherd, war veteran, under 35 years sentence for manslaughter in Tulsa county, was given an extension of his leave of absence for one year, at the request of nine jurors who said, "our verdict was a miscarriage instead of a furtherance of justice." Shepherd was committed July 7, 1931. Murray said he is seriously ill.

Jim Jeffries, serving four years for manslaughter from Okmulgee county, was given a similar extension to care for his large family. He was committed Aug. 21, 1930.

Murray granted a parole to Doty Herndon, who on Dec. 19, 1929, began a four-year manslaughter sentence from Carter county.

When troublesome questions arise, avail yourself of the service of this department. It costs you nothing—you have only to send two cents for postage on the personal letter you will receive in reply. Any question on any subject of fact will be answered. Address your letter of inquiry to the Record News Information bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C.

Q.—Do they play winter rules on the golf courses in England?—S. D. F.

A.—Within recent months a few British golf clubs have adopted winter rules when their courses are soft and muddy, and other clubs are considering that action. In the past, however, British golfers have adhered to the "play the ball as it lies" rule under all conditions, the lie to be improved only under penalty.

Q.—What musical instrument are mentioned in the Bible?—T. E. J.

A.—Harp, lute, psaltry, sackbut, viol, cornet, dulcimer, flute, organ, pipe, trumpet, shawn, bells, cymbals, tabret and timbrel.

Q.—At what age does the soft spot on a baby's head harden?—H. L.

A.—A baby's skull hardens at about 2 years. However, the pulsation stops between 1 and 1½ years.

Q.—How does the heating value of shelled corn compare with that of coal?—D. K.

A.—Shelled corn has a heating value of approximately 6,000 B. T. U. per pound while coal has a heating value of about 13,000. At this rate it would take between 60 and 65 bushels of corn to equal one ton of coal.

Q.—What does Innisfail mean?—H. McC.

A.—It is the Irish name applied by the bards to Ireland. It means the Island of Destiny.

Q.—What are the dimensions of a Phi Beta Kappa key?—S. W. B.

A.—The Phi Beta Kappa key usually worn by men is 11-16-inch wide and 12-16 inch long. That worn usually by women is 9-16 inch wide and 10-16 inch long. The keys are of 14 carat with 10 carat rings.

Q.—What books besides his Life of Washington did Parson Weems write?—H. P.

A.—A book of his own writing which he offered for sale was The Drunkard's Looking Glass (6th ed., 181). His Life of Washington by which he is best known, first appeared in 1800, and during the 19th century the number of its editions exceeded 70. His other publications include Life of General Francis Marion (1805); The Philanthropist (10th ed., 1809); God's Revenge Against Gambling (3d ed., 1816); Life of Benjamin Franklin, with Essays (1817; Life of William Penn (1819); Hymen's Recruiting Sergeant (7th ed., 1821); and The Bad Wife's Looking Glass (2d ed., 1823).

Q.—How much gold has been produced in the United States—C.S.W.

A.—The United States started producing gold mining operations in approximately 1792 and has produced approximately $4,142,000,000.

Q.—How many miles of federal aid highway were improved last year?—C. T.

A.—Approximately 11,000. Of the 197,000 miles on the federal aid system, 76,300 now have high type surfaces.

Q.—What is a wand shoot in archery?—L. A. C.

A.—This is a form of competition. The number of arrows shot is determined by local rules. For men the distance is usually 100 yards. The target is a "wand" two inches wide and six feet high from the ground. The wand is made of wallboard or soft pine. The one who has most arrows in wand wins.

Q.—What is a statutory award?—O. W. K.

A.—A statutory award is an award that is enacted, acquired, or imposed by statue. The award is permanent in that no one can take it away but it is not necessarily continual. For instance if a statutory award of $25,000 is made, there is no further claim when the $25,000 is paid.

Q.—What are the stars on the shield of a coat-of-arms called?—M. F. B.

A.—They are referred to in heraldry as mullets.

Q.—What Indian school corresponds to the colleges of the white race?—T. H.

A.—Haskell institute most nearly approaches college standards.

Q.—How many voters will be qualified to cast ballots in the presidential election next November?—P. E.

A.—On the basis of age and registration, approximately 58,800,000 men and women will be eligible to vote.

Q.—Was Washington confirmed? Did he receive Holy Communion?—S. K.

A.—Canon Dunlap says: "George Washington, although never confirmed, received the communion as often as circumstances permitted."

GEOLOGISTS HEAR LINDSLEY

Bureau of Mines Official Speaks Here

At the regular meeting of the Wichita Falls chapter of the American Petroleum Institute held at the Wichita club Tuesday night, Ben B. Lindsley of Bartelsville, Okla., of the United States bureau of mines was the principle speaker.

Mr. Lindsley used as his subject "Solubility of Gas in Oil" and illustrated various points by the use of slides. The slides showed the amount and kinds of gas in solution in the different samples of crude oils secured from the Kettleman Hills and Venturia pools located in California. Slides were also shown of samples from the Oklahoma City field. The relation between the amount of gas absorbed in the oil with the pressures up to 2,000 pounds per square inch were explained, and also how the gravity of the oil effects the amount of absorption that takes place.

Mr. Lindsley explained that four to five degree higher gravity of oil could be obtained from a flowing well by liberating pressures by steps. It was also discussed that when vacuum was applied that a certain percentage of gas was liberated with a corresponding reduction in the gravity of the oil, usually three degrees.

The point was brought out that when a new pool was drilled that back pressures should be used and only enough gas produced to lift the oil. Many pools liberate the gas within a short period of time with a resulting high initial production and a very short life.

The following members were appointed as a nominating committee: W. B. Nicholson, chairman; G. E. Kerr, A. M. McPherson, M. A. Rutis and O. R. Burden.

Hoover Vetoes Vets' Pension Bill Because Some Not 'Worthy Of Bounty'

WASHINGTON, April 27. (US)—With a tart message, President Hoover today vetoed a veteran pension bill because a number of the proposed beneficiaries "are not worthy of public bounty."

The bill contained 367 individual names. The president made a study of each, and found meritorious cases. But because of the others he was forced to veto the entire bill. He said:

"Most of these undeserving cases have been previously rejected by the pension bureau as having no sound basis upon which to construe any obligation in equity for the granting of special benefits. As I do not wish to reflect upon any individual, I cite some instances in the bill without mentioning names the facts as to which have been furnished to me by the government agencies."

Urged New Bill

The president urged congress to consider the bill and sumbit one providing for the deserving former soldiers.

Among the cases he cited as reasons for the veto were:

"A proposed pension for a man who was discharged without honor because of chronic alcoholism.

"A proposed pension to a man guilty of desertion and dishonorably discharged.

Attempted Suicide

"A proposed pension for a man for self-inflicted injuries incurred in attempted suicide.

"A proposed pension for a widow whose husband gave eight days' service with no disability relating to the service.

"A proposed pension to a man who still suffers from a wound in the throat self-inflicted with a razor.

"A proposed pension for the loss of a leg as the result of being struck by the fender of a street car while claimant was lying on the track in a completely intoxicated condition."

The president said that in a number of other cases men were asking pensions for diseases not contracted in the line of service.

Stone Offers Plan To Sell Surpluses

WASHINGTON, April 27. (US)—Sale of American farm surpluses abroad by providing adequate credit facilities to foreign purchasers was suggested as an agricultural relief measure today by Chairman Stone of the federal farm board.

He told the senate agricultural committee that purchasers of American wheat and cotton in other countries lack funds to buy surpluses flooding the American market and added:

"We recommend to meet this condition provision of adequate credit to move these surpluses out of this country into consumption in places where they would not otherwise be used."

He also recommended, as a means to stimulate farm prices, "a continuation of the vigorous banking policy of credit expansion to increase consumer buying power and turn the course of commodity prices upwards."

If effective financing were available, Stone said that export sales of 15,000,000 to 25,000,000 bushels of wheat and 500,000 to 1,000,000 bales of cotton could be arranged before the end of the present crop year.

STOCK INQUIRY TO GO DEEPER

Senator Norbeck Promises New Revelations

WASHINGTON, April 27. (US)—New revelations which will expose stock manipulation to hoodwink the public were promised today by Senator Norbeck, chairman of the senate banking and currency committee.

Norbeck made his declaration after a meeting with the "steering committee" which is outlining the course of the investigation into the New York stock market.

Hearings before the committee were temporarily suspended today while the committee reviewed the astounding mass of evidence and prepared to dig deeper. Norbeck said:

"We are working in secret on a program that will best develop the abuses of the system that every one knows to exist but are so hard to prove. There will be a temporary indefinite postponement until the committee has laid out positive plans."

Whitney to Be Recalled

Although the summoning of witnesses will be left for future decision, Norbeck indicated that Richard Whitney, president of the New York stock exchange, will be recalled and asked about his extraordinary innocence concerning exchange abuses.

Norbeck said:

"Matthew C. Brush, the first witness we called, ruined Mr. Whitney's testimony in five minutes. These fellows like Whitney told us there was a second heaven up in Wall street and that it was as perfect as it could be made. While we had to listen we knew better.

"The worst things we suspected are being brought out as the testimony develops. The evidence offered by Representative LaGuardia disclosed that in some instances the most disreputable financial writers could get their stuff into the most reputable papers."

Townsend Named

The vacancy on the "steering committee," a group of five designated by the full banking and currency committee to determine the course of the investigation, was filled by the appointment of Senator Townsend, Republican, of Delaware.

While Townsend was one of those who first suggested a probe of Wall street, it was considered highly significant that he was placed on the steering committee instead of Walcott, Republican, of Connecticut, who was looked upon as President Hoover's representative when he demanded an expose of the "bear traders."

Nervousness Evident

For the past few weeks, a certain nervousness has been evident among administration senators over the determination of Norbeck to push the investigation to the limit. They fear the probe may last all summer, keeping market prices down, and preventing the upward swing in security values so necessary during campaign time.

Norbeck has the backing of Brookhart of Iowa, and Blaine of Wisconsin, in demanding that the investigation go on indefinitely.

The steering committee will meet tomorrow with William A. Gray, committee counsel, to outline plans.

Crusading Reporter Killed By Gangsters

CANTON, Ohio, April 27. (US)—The Canton underworld, which six years ago assassinated Don R. Mellett, today caused the death of another crusading newspaper man.

Returning from work before daybreak, Harry Bouklias, reporter and circulation manager for the weekly Ohio Examiner, was ambushed near his home by two men with shotguns.

Bouklias fell critically wounded under their fire.

The Examiner which is published by Grover Fleming has been conducting a campaign against vice and racketeering in Canton and other Ohio cities as Don Mellett had been doing when he was shot to death six years ago.

The paper has aroused particular hostility among certain elements of the population by seeking to trace a definite connection between some of the leading underworld characters and members of the police force.

Bouklias is understood to have furnished much of the information for these articles.

Thornberry Family Wins Wichita Church Prize

When the family of G. W. Pemberton of Thornberry goes to church it makes quite a noticeable increase in attendance. For example, Monday night Mr. and Mrs. Pemberton and children attended the revival being conducted at the Lamar Avenue Baptist church by Dr. W. W. Chancellor of Mineral Wells. A handsome Bible had been offered as prize by the Men's Brotherhood Bible class for the largest family attending. When the call came for families present, Mr. and Mrs. Pemberton and the younger Pembertons stood up and the Bible was theirs. Mr. and Mrs. Pemberton are well-known residents of the Thornberry community. Mr. Pemberton is a deacon of the Baptist church. In the picture are Mr. and Mrs. Pemberton and children, Kyle, Ludene, Millard, Dorris, William, Hurbert, T. C., Luella, J. Wilson and Billy Jerrel.

Houston Fireworks Jobber Willed Part Of Eccentric Woman's Fortune

HOUSTON, April 27. (AP)—Carl Wood, a novelty fireworks jobber said today he had received notice he was an heir to a $1,000,000 estate in New York City.

"Of course, mine is a small part—between $30,000 and $35,000," said Wood. "I don't mean it is small to me. I can certainly use it."

The estate, he said, is that of Mrs. Ida E. Wood, who died in the Herald Square hotel in New York City March 12 at the age of 93. She was the widow of Benjamin Wood, editor of the Old Daily News, a Democratic newspaper published during Lincoln's administration.

Mrs. Wood was an eccentric woman who vanished from the sight of her relatives a quarter of a century before her death. Relatives found her in a small hotel. Money was found sewed in her dresses, hidden in a mattress and other places about her tiny room. Jewelry and securities were in her trunk and hidden in other places. In all the cash, jewels and securities were valued at $1,000,000.

Wood, a great nephew, said he received a letter from a sister, now in New York, saying he had been named by a court as one of the heirs. He will leave in a few days for New York to be present when the estate is settled." He is married and has two young sons

Negress Fined $25 on Charge of Theft

Two pleas of guilty each in both the county court at law and justice court were recived Wednesday, according to County Attorney Louis V. Abernathy.

A fine of $25 and costs was imposed by Judge Irvin J. Vogel upon a negro woman who pleaded guilty to a charge of theft. She was the second of two sisters arrested last week by city police under accusation of stealing many small articles of merchandise from local stores. The woman had been held in jail since last week but elected Wednesday to enter a plea of guilty.

A man who pleaded guilty to drunkenness was fined $1 and costs. The two negro youths against whom complaints charging assault were filed Tuesday afternoon were fined $5 and costs each in justice court upon their pleas of guilty. Both were returned to the county jail in lieu of payment.

In a quarrel over a girl, one of the defendants had sustained painful knife wounds.

Senate Audit Committee Reports Favorably

WASHINGTON, April 27. (AP)—The senate audit committee today reported favorably the Dickinson resolution ordering a senate investigation of presidential and senatorial campaign funds and leaders prepared to seek its early adoption.

Senator Dill, Democrat, Washington, told newspaper men of reports of "excessive expenditures in yesterday's Pennsylvania primary" and urged the senate inquiry.

The audit committee cut down from $50,000 to $25,000 the amount to be expended by the committee. Senator Dickinson, Republican, Iowa, the author of the resolution, said he would ask early senate action on it, possibly later today.

Spanish Premier to Make Important Army Decree

MADRID, April 27. (US)—Premier Azana today announced he will introduce in parliament "the most important military decree since the republic was established."

It is expected to authorize the government to make army promotions regardless of seniority rights, thus further breaking with monarchial army customs.

STEERS WALLOP FERRELL AND FLORRID TO TAKE FINAL, 13-8

SPUDS MEET BUCS TODAY

Shivering Audience Sees Dreary Contest

In a typical early spring Texas league baseball game played in typical football weather before a shivering crowd of about 200 fans who braved a near-blizzard, the Dallas Steers yesterday afternoon defeated the Wichita Falls Spudders, 13 to 8, in the closing game of the series.

It was a dreary exhibition lasting just three minutes short of two hours and a half, and was featured by miserable pitching. It was the Spudders' turn to go haywire on the mound, and Marvin Ferrell and Dick Florrid saw that the job was well done. The Steers, who lost the first two games of the series, were not so hot as to pitchers themselves, but after Lefty Fuhr had been removed in the third Lou Garland, who suffered a severe lambasting by the Spudders Tuesday as a relief hurler, finished the game; and although he didn't master the situation by any means, he at least kept his hits scattered.

Byram Goes In

The Steers pounded Ferrell and Florrid for 15 hits. Rebel Byram had to go to Florrid's rescue in the eighth with one down, after two runs had been scored. The Reb got the next two out and set 'em down in order in the ninth.

Owens gave the Spudders a lead with a home run in the second, but it was obliterated when Ferrell was slammed for five runs in the third. He kept on until the fifth, when after two more runs had filtered in, Florrid came to the mound.

The Spudders today open a two-game series with the Galveston club, with Tot Pressnell the likely starter.

Spuds Muff Chance

After James and Brower had flied to center in the first Langford beat out an infield hit to second, but Radcliff grounded out, second to first. Fuhr got in a hole in the Spudder half, but climbed right out. After Garms had hoisted to right, Scharein and Fuss singled to left in succession, but Fuhr struck out Badgro and Green forced Fuss at second, third to second.

Bonura walked to start the second, but was forced at second by Loepp, Clift to Scharein. Loepp then was thrown out stealing, Owens to Scharein, and Ferrell fanned Holman. The Spudders took the lead in their half when Owens led off with a home run over the left field fence. Euller followed with a single to center. Clift flied to left. Ferrell lined a single to left, but Euller was thrown out at third, left field to third, and Garms grounded out, second to first, to prevent further scoring.

Steers Take Lead

Ferrell opened another inning by walking a batter, Styles being the pedestrian in the third. Fuhr lined out to left, but James singled to center, Styles advancing to second. Brower then singled to left, scoring Styles and advancing James to third, and himself took second on the throw-in. The Steers then took the lead when Langford singled to center, scoring both James and Brower. Radcliff grounded out, second to first, Langford taking second. Bonura hit one over the left field fence, scoring Langford ahead of himself. Loepp walked but Holman fouled out to Euller to retire the side after the Herd had scored five times.

Badgro Triples

After Scharein had popped to short to start the last of the third, Spudder bats got busy. Fuss doubled to left and scored on Badgro's triple down the right field foul line. Green scored Badgro with a double to left. Owens then doubled against the left field fence, scoring Green. Garland replaced Fuhr on the mound for the Steers. Euller hit to the box. Garland threw to Holman at third, who chased down Owens between second and third. Euller was out stealing a moment later, catcher to short, retiring the side.

Styles, who had walked to open the third, also walked to open the fourth. He took second on Garland's infield out. James hoisted to center and Brower rolled out, second to first. Garland retired the Spudders in order in the last half, Clift popping to third, Ferrell fouling out to first, and Garms grounding out, short to first.

Langford Doubles

Langford doubled to right to open the fifth. He took third when Radcliff grounded out to first, unassisted, and scored on Bonura's fly to center. Loepp singled through the box, and scored on Holman's double against the center field fence. Florrid relieved Ferrell on the mound for the Spudders. Styles walked, but was forced at second, Clift to Scharein, to retire the side. With two out in the home half Badgro walked and continued to third on Green's single through second. Both were stranded, however, when Owens flied to center.

James doubled to center to start the sixth, and took third on Brower's sacrifice. Langford doubled down the left field foul line, scoring James. Radcliff grounded out, second to first, Langford taking third. Bonura struck out.

Euller Scores

In the last half, Euller walked. Clift rolled one toward third and apparently had it beat out, but Umpire Steve Basil ruled him out at first on Pitcher Garland's throw to Bonura. Euller went to second on the play. Florrid fanned. Garms singled to center, scoring Euller. Scharein forced Garms at second, third to second, retiring the side.

Loepp started the seventh with a single to left and took second when Holman walked. Both advanced when Florrid threw wild to second trying to pick Loepp off. Styles rolled out to short. Garland doubled to left, scoring Loepp and Holman. James flied to right. Brower singled to left, scoring Garland. Langford flied to right for the third out. In the last half, Fuss grounded out, short to first. Badgro grounded out, Bonura to Garland, who covered first. Green was called out on strikes.

Radcliff flied to right to open the eighth. Bonura reached first when Scharein overthrew the bag. Loepp doubled to left, Bonura going to third. Holman singled down the left field foul line, scoring Bonura and Loepp. Byram replaced Florrid on the mound for the Spudders. Holman swiped second. Styles grounded out, second to first, Holman taking third. Garland grounded out, second to first for the third out.

More Tallies

In the last half, Owens grounded out, second to first. Euller singled through the box. Clift doubled to left, Euller taking third. Byram fanned. Garms was safe on James' boot, Euller scoring and Clift taking third. Scharein beat out an infield hit to third, Clift scoring and Garms taking second. Fuss singled through the box, scoring Garms, Scharein taking third. Badgro walked, loading the bases. Green fanned to kill the rally.

In the ninth, James fouled out to third. Brower fanned and Langford grounded out, second to first. In the last half, Owens opened with a single to right, moved up to second on a passed ball and took third on Euller's infield out, but was stranded when Clift popped to second, and Bejma, batting for Byram, fanned.

South Texas C-C Moves Offices to San Antonio

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, April 26. (AP)—Ray Leeman, manager of the South Texas Chamber of Commerce, said today that headquarters of the organization would be moved to San Antonio May 1. Corpus Christi has been headquarters for four years.

The change will be in accordance with a recommendation of the executive committee and a vote of the board of directors, Leeman said. Officials decided upon the move in the interest of economy and in the belief the chamber could serve its territory better from San Antonio.

RAIN STOPS TRIBE'S GAME

Redskins and Shippers In Scoreless Tie

SAN ANTONIO, April 27. (AP)—Trying to beat the rain, the San Antonio Indians and Beaumont Exporters took the field for the third and final game of the present series today, and played through a slow steady drizzle for five innings, at the end of which it was called on account of rain before either side could score so that a doubleheader will be necessary when these teams meet here again on May 23 and 24.

Fabian Kowalik and Joe Sullivan, the latter a southpaw from the Arizona-Texas league, were the opposing pitchers and the hits were 3 and 2, Fitzgerald getting both of the Indian blows while Holley got two and Taiby one for the Exporters, all singles. Score:

Iowa Park Lions Plan To Join Baseball Loop

Special to The Record News.

IOWA PARK, Texas, April 27.—Iowa Park Lions at their luncheon Tuesday noon made plans to organize a Lions club baseball team to become a member of the Iowa Park Twilight Baseball league sponsored by Iowa Park firemen. The Rev. Cicero B. Fielder introduced the subject to the club and Dr. Gordon G. Clark was appointed manager of the team.

Curtis Sewell, chairman of the Lions' sign committee, reported that welcome signs were being made and that one would be installed within a few days at the city limits.

Crafty Mike Cvengros Hurls Buffs To 6 To 2 Victory Over Galveston

HOUSTON, April 27. (AP)—Mike Cvengros was too crafty here today for the Galveston Bucs, Manager Joe Schultz' Houston Buffs winning a well played game, 6 to 2. Despite the cool weather, a large ladies' day crowd turned out to bid farewell to the Buffs who Thursday open an extended road trip.

Darrow, Galveston wrong-hander, hurled fair ball; but Houston bunched its safeties in the fourth and sixth. Hal Funk played a big part in the victory, coming through with a double in the fourth to score two tallies. Homer Peel drove out three hits in four times at bat, scoring two runs. Medwick accumulated two blows, one of them a homer over the left field wall. It was Medwick's seventh round trip wallop. Cvengros singled in the sixth with the bases loaded to knock in two tallies. Crowell Gridders Beat Departing Stars, 6-0

Special to The Record News.

CROWELL, Texas, April 27.—A pass, Mullins to Cooper, enabled the out-going football players of Crowell High to score a 6 to 0 victory over next season's prospects in a football game here Monday afternoon, thus bringing to an end the spring training session of the past few weeks and the high school careers of several outstanding football stars in Crowell history.

A good crowd was present for the contest which was played on very even terms. A scoreless tie would likely have resulted had it not been for a fumble in the second quarter, which a departing gridster recovered on the 15-yard line, followed by the historic Mullins to Cooper touchdown producing combination.

The lineups:

OUT-GOING	Pos.	UP-AND-COMING
Crowell	L.E.	C. Carter
J. Todd	L.T.	L. Patton
Glover	L.G.	Callaway
Ashford	C.	Middleton

NEWPORT, Texas, April 27.—The Newport baseball team of the South Clay County league hasn't lost a game since the beginning of the season, April 1. Newport will meet Windthorst next Saturday afternoon on the Newport diamond and this game is expected to bring out the largest crowd of the season. Newport has never played the Windthorst team.

CATS RALLY IN EIGHTH TO WIN

Fort Worth Whips Sports, 6 to 4

FORT WORTH, April 27. (AP)—A rally in the eighth inning that scored six runs on two hits when the Shreveport infield blew up gave the Fort Worth Panthers a clean sweep of the series here this afternoon, 6 to 4. The Panthers got but four hits all day, two of them by Hooks but a series of errors and miscues donated the Cats the game in the wild eighth.

Lester Willis, a southpaw, started for the Shreveport Sports and held the Cats helpless until the eighth when he retired for Biggs. Biggs threw the game away when he tossed the ball into center field trying to catch a man off second base, when the bases were loaded. Harry White started for the Cats and was also stingy with hits but went in the seventh for a pinch hitter. Pickrel finished. Score:

HE-MEN ASK US THIS QUESTION

● Here's a real bit of news we've never before disclosed—the answer to a question "heavy-bearded" men frequently ask. They want to know why no razor blade equals the double-edge Probak for shaving stubborn bristles smoothly. It's really very simple. We won't bore you with technical detail, but microscopic examination reveals this fact—Probak edges are entirely different from those of any other blade. They are especially honed for heavy duty service on tough bristles. This is the reason for Probak's popularity among regular men. Try Probak on our guarantee. We are sure you will like the way this blade feels as it shears wiry hair. CUBS WHIP PIRATES TO TAKE OVER NATIONAL LEAGUE LEAD

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

Old Rubber Arm

George Washington Payne lost his first ball game of the season last Tuesday night when the Galveston Pirates bumped him out of the box and won, 7 to 3.

Many folks believe old George is at the end of the rope, as a pitcher. He hasn't started this season in any such manner. He won his first three starts. Three victories and one defeat in the very first weeks of the season is a pretty auspicuous beginning.

Five for Five

In last Tuesday's slugfest here with the Steers, Harry Green, Spudder first baseman, rapped out five hits in five official trips to the plate for a perfect day at bat. His total included two doubles and three singles.

Correct me if I'm wrong—but I believe Green is the first Spudder first baseman to turn in a five for five record since Jack Burns turned the trick in the first play-off game at Fort Worth in 1930.

I'm probably wrong, but the first thing I thought of when Green ripped out his fifth hit in the Dallas game, was the day Burns got his five in Fort Worth; and I couldn't for the life of me remember Stanton pulling exactly the same act during the 1931 season.

The Rambler will never forget Burns' five hits in the Fort Worth play-off contest. Neither will I forget his complete inability to hit the next day.

Baseball seems to be just that way. A slugger one day can rap out five for five, six for six, or what-not, and the next day dribble into double plays, break up rallies with pop-ups, or accommodate the enemy outfielders by hoisting right into their gloves, without them having to move a step.

Of course all this is just general rambling, but please, Mr. Green, keep on hitting five for five, and don't imitate your illustrious predecessor!

Color Is Right

The Beaumont club owners at the start of the year insisted on having a colorful club. Given a literal interpretation, the club was just that the first day it donned the new road uniforms. The uniforms, according to reports, are red, trimmed in white.

The Thundering Herd

The Dallas Steers entered the Texas league race this season to the accompaniment of imposing announcements from the Dallas press gallery that the team would be the leading contender for the pennant. There was much fanfare and to-do about it all, with trombones and cornets tooting loudly.

Well, in the first two games with the Spudders here this week the Morsemen looked anything but like pennant contenders. Their new pitchers couldn't pitch, and neither could George Murray, ace of the staff. The much-talked-of Zeke Bonura, batting in the clean-up position the first game, trickled into three double plays in succession, as we have noted before. The next day Manager Morse changed his batting order, and relegated Zeke to fifth place. The change seemed at first to have accomplished something, for on his first trip up against Vincent Bonura rapped a double. But thereafter Vincent was a mystery to the Dallas "slugger," who made two infield outs and forced a runner on his next three times up.

But you can say this much for the steers—they have one of the best combinations around second base in the league. We refer to Shortstop Brower and Second Baseman James. It was through no fault of these two splendid fielders and hitters that Dallas lost the series to Wichita Falls. As this is written we have watched the pair in two games only—but that was enough to convince us that they are two of the prettiest fielders in the minors.

Both James and Brower during the first two games of the series, came up with startling stops to rob our Spudders of more than a few hits.

In those two games at least, it was James who got the most chances, and he made the most of practically every one.

Do You Remember?

Gene Lucas, veteran Western Union telegraph operator who has been "filing" play-by-play reports of Spudder baseball games from Athletic park for years, was telling the other day of a 22-inning game Rube Marshal of the Spudders won here back in 1921.

Or was it 1920?

And who did Marshal win the game from? Fort Worth?

Those are some of the questions Gene would like to have answered. For though he saw every play in the game, and sent the story of the complete contest over the wires, he has forgotten who the visiting club was that day. It is hard for a man like Lucas to remember details of even such a momentous game as this 22-inning affair, when you consider he sends play-by-play reports of close to a hundred games a year from the local park.

Dallas Starts Playing Night Games Saturday

DALLAS, April 27. (AP)—Sol Dreyfuss, president of the Dallas Steers, announced that night baseball would be started here Saturday night. All games except those on Sundays and holidays will be played under the floodlights. Houston will oppose the Morsemen in the first nocturnal conflict.

Malone Settles Down After Wild First Inning

CHICAGO, April 27. (AP)—After giving up a home run, triple, double and single in the first inning today, Pat Malone held Pittsburgh to one hit thereafter, and the Cubs won the final game of the series, 8 to 4, to go into first place in the National league.

Gus Suhr got the Pirate homer in the first, but Malone and Lance Richbourg each came up with four-basers to help the Cubs to victory. The victory made it five in a row for Chicago. Score:

Memphis Golfers Win Matches With Pampans

Special to The Record News.

MEMPHIS, Texas, April 27.—Memphis golfers were host to Pampa in the second game of their schedule in the Caprock league and acted in a very unhostly fashion by defeating them in all 15 matches played. Memphis won 14 matches and one by default. Memphis journeyed to Childress April 17 and defeated them. The local players will play a Scotish tournament here Sunday as May 1 is an open day in the schedule.

White Sox Defeats Detroit, 4-3, To Drop Tigers In Second Place

DETROIT, April 27. (AP)—The Chicago White Sox perpetrated six errors today but in spite of them defeated the Tigers, 4 to 3, dropping Detroit to second place in the American league standings. The New York Yankees, idle because of weather, now have an eight-point margin for first place.

Three of Chicago's errors figured in the Tiger scoring, but some good pitching by Sam Jones stilled the Detroit heavy artillery when hits meant needed runs. Hodapp, late of Cleveland, playing his first game in a White Sox uniform, committed three bobbles. A high wind caused most of the errors.

Jones wavered in the ninth and Bump Hadley, former Washington Senator, replaced him with two men on base and one out. He passed one man, then struck out the next two. Score:

Wichitans Join Fishing Information Bureau

Wichita Falls sporting goods stores have joined a national fishing information bureau which will provide anglers with reliable information on fishing conditions in any section of the country, it was learned here Wednesday.

The bureau, sponsored by the South Bend Bait company of South Bend, Ind., one of the prize donors in the annual opening day fishing contest, has enrolled more than 5,000 dealers for the furnishing of free information to sportsmen. The bureau is known as the Oreno Fishing bureau and personal answers to questions concerning fishing conditions in any section of the nation will be given. The bureau is expected to give valuable service in helping fishermen make vacation plans. Inquiries will be handled by South Bend dealers or may be addressed direct to the company.

Wichita Falls dealers recently have received several letters concerning conditions here. These have been from points in Texas from as far as 250 miles away, from Oklahoma and one one inquiry from a middle-western state.

BALLYHOO FOR FIGHT STARTS

Sharkey Ducks Away From 'Ceremony'

By HENRY M'LEMORE
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, April 27.—Madison Square garden "turned on the heat" for the June joust between Jack Sharkey and Max Schmeling today.

The "heat," or publicity, or ballyhoo, didn't amount to much, being devoted almost entirely to photographing Sharkey's classic profile as he wandered hither and yon over what is going to be the new garden bowl.

But, as Jimmy Johnson said, "We just started to ballyhoo this thing yesterday. When we get going full blast practically the whole nation will be Sharkey-Schmeling conscious in no time."

Just what method of attack the garden will use when it "gets going full blast," only Mister Johnson and his Mister Walter St. Denis can say. But certainly it will be more original than that of today. With half a dozen reporters, 200 cameramen (most of them wired for sound) Sharkey, and his manager Johnny Buckley, in tow, Johnson paraded to Long Island City where some 100 workmen are toiling night and day in an effort to have the bowl ready by June 12.

Some Crowd

"This," Mister Johnson said, pointing to a tremendous hole in the ground upon which steam shovels were busy steam-shoveling, "is the place. Now Jack you go over there and pose with a shovel. Then go over where the ring will stand and, when I ask you what round you are going to knock Schmeling out in, you answer 'the fourth.'

"Then when that is done we'll let you stand up on that hill with the crowd and take a panneramer."

The crowd consisted of a couple of dozen idle laborers, 25 or 30 dirty-faced urchins, two mounted policemen, and a black dog.

Sharkey, aching to go to a moving picture, put up with the posing as long as he could. Not until Johnston suggested that he get up in a steam shovel and actually operate it, did the sailor balk. But when he balked, he did a thorough job of it. He grabbed his hat and coat, slipped a red-haired, pug-nosed Irish kid a dollar, and ducked away from the proceedings.

Hand Bruised

He later turned up at the garden press room where, minus the photographers and Johnston, he agreed to talk a little.

The only thing that is bothering him is a bruised knuckle of the little finger of his left hand.

"That bruise is the one that bothered me when I was in training for the Carnera fight," he said. "You remember I wanted the fight postponed, but they insisted I go on. Well, I did, and I got a permanent injury for my trouble.

HOSSES TRAIN FOR BIG RACE

East-West Derby Rivalry Grows Intense

By WARREN BROWN
(Copy't, 1932, by Universal Service, Inc.)

CHICAGO, April 27.—Two weeks remain for the 3-year-olds of America to get themselves in readiness for the Kentucky Derby.

And when the field goes to the post at Churchill downs, May 7, the traditional rivalry between eastern and western thoroughbreds is liable to be keener than it has been in either of the past two years when the favorites, Gallant Fox and Twenty Grand came out of the East, expected to win, and did not disappoint.

This year, the favorite is coming out of the East, too, but the West is inclined to rate its chances of delivering the winner of this 58th Kentucky Derby considerably higher than it did in the years when Gallant Fox and Twenty Grand were 3-year-olds and well nigh unbeatable.

West's Chances Strengthened

Last year, the West managed to split out the East from running one-two, though the consensus was that if Twenty Grand, the favorite, did not win, Mate, another easterner would. But Sweep All, a westerner, managed to finish in between Twenty Grand and Mate.

This year, Top Flight, the favorite, and Tick On, the second choice in the future books, are both of the East. But within the past week, a strengthening of the West's derby chances has been noticeable.

Sensational works by Burning Blaze, Liberty Limited, and Cold Check have startled the hard-boots of Kentucky. Burning Blaze, owned by the Nash brothers of Chicago, is conceded to have a splendid chance to "take it all." So is Liberty Limited, the pride of the Waggoners of Texas, while Cold Check, owned by J. W. Parrish of Kentucky, gives the denizens of the downs whatever inspiration the performance of Col. E. R. Bradley's Pair, Brother Joe and Burgoo King has not supplied.

Burning Blaze, Cold Check and Liberty Limited have not been under colors this spring. The Bradley pair have, and recently over a mile and 70 yards, Brother Joe and Burgoo King finished one-two, which, of itself was sufficient to make Derby dopesters thoughtful.

Good Performances

This performance of Brother Joe and Burgoo King was more remarkable than any of the eastern performances of Derby eligibles this spring simply because it was over a route. The easterners have been content with short dashes as their preliminary training, but out of these some imposing performances have been turned in by Brandon Mint, which beat a fair field within the week, by Stepenfetchit, Over Time, Towee and Ladino.

Top Flight is expected to take part in the Wood Memorial, on April 30.

It is probable that the next week will see some of the other ranking eligibles engaging in actual races instead of contenting themselves with workouts.

The elimination process, which was going on even when the 115 names of the eligibles were announced, has taken care of a flock of the original nominations. But at this stage of the proceedings there is still something to be said for at least a score of colts, and the filly, Top Flight.

Among those that haven't been counted out, as yet are Top Flight, Tick On, On Post, Burning Blaze, Liberty Limited, Cold Check, Delivered, Lucky Tom, Universe, Faireno, Mad Frump, Economic, Sweeping Light, Brandon Mint, Brother Joe, Burgoo King, Cathop, Gallant Sir, Ladino, Overtime, Stepenfetchit, and Morfair.

Perhaps the Derby winner isn't in this list, at all.

But if it isn't, then the mutuel price on the 58th Derby will surpass even that 91 to 1 that Donerail paid, 'way back in 1913.

GOLFERS ORGANIZE

LUBBOCK, Texas, April 27. (AP)—The South Plains Golf association has been organized here with six clubs as charter members. Teams have joined from Slaton, Post, Littlefield and Tahoka and from the Meadowbrook Golf club and the Lubbock Country club of this city. Teams will consist of eight players each.

BOWLING TOURNEY

ODESSA, Texas, April 27. (AP)—Announcement has been made that on May 30 and 31 the West Texas Bowling tournament will be held in Odessa. Two separate tournaments will be staged in connection with the American Legion rodeo which will be in Odessa on those dates.

Heath and Diet Advice

The Thumb-Sucking Habit

Sucking is one of the first reflex acts of the newborn infant. In fact, the young baby tries to test everything within grabbing distance with his mouth, and promptly carries anything placed in his hands to the mouth at the first opportunity. Some psychologists state that grownups who are always chewing gum, sucking on cigar stubs or smoking cigarets are merely indulging in the same type of sucking pleasure which the infant enjoys.

Young babies often form the habit of sucking various objects such as corners of blankets, clothing, pacifiers, or their thumbs. Every mother should keep a watch to see that her baby does not go to extremes with this habit. Babies are born without habits as they are without teeth. It is the mother's task to train the child in these best habits possible and to prevent such undesirable habits as thumb-sucking.

Harmful Results

Once the thumb-sucking stunt is really started it takes a long time to stop it. The habit of placing miscellaneous objects in the mouth is unsanitary, much dirt and filth may be carried into the baby's mouth where a direct entrance into the delicate stomach, nasal passage and throat may follow. The habit may grow until the child wants to suck the thumb continually. Persistent sucking may deform the shape of the mouth and jaws and push the teeth out of line until they protrude. For this bad effect to occur, the child must suck the thumb until 5 years of age or over; however, many children keep up the habit until they are 8 or 9.

While an occasional sucking of the thumb is to be expected in a young baby, the same thing in an older child causes an unpleasant situation in the home for all concerned. Moreover, when an older child finds himself chained to a baby habit like this, he is made fun of by other children and tends to become shy.

A common cause of thumb-sucking seems to be that the child is not getting all the food elements to completely satisfy him. Something is lacking in his diet and to still the craving he keeps sucking on anything handy, usually the thumb. When the baby starts sucking his thumb, the best thing to do is to examine his diet to see if he is getting enough to completely satisfy him; especially in regard to the food minerals. The next thing to do is to spend enough time each day to pull the thumb out of the mouth. To keep the hand busy, and to distract his attention, gently clasp the little fingers around a toy such as a rattle.

Some Remedies

Where this does not accomplish your end, or where the habit is strongly formed, the best plan is to loosely wrap a piece of cardboard around the elbow so that the baby will not be able to bend his arm sufficiently to put the hand to the mouth. I do not find painting the baby's thumb with ill-tasting fluids very successful. Sometimes tying the whole hand up in a loose bag of cotton material so that the baby cannot get at the thumb will be successful.

With older children breaking this habit takes much time and patience. Do not nag, scold, spank, or ridicule the youngster, but try generous amounts of praise when he is not sucking his thumb. Encouragement from some one the child looks up to, such as a favorite teacher, may often do more good than any method the parents can employ.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Fear of Poison Poisonous

Question—Mrs. Lil H. writes: "Please tell me if a poison fed to chickens to kill hawks will hurt a person. I have heard that you can feed chickens something that, when eaten by a hawk, kills it but never hurts the chickens. For several months I have become sick every time I ate chicken, and I am afraid to get something that is poison to me."

Answer—I do not know of any poison which can be fed to chickens to kill hawks without harming the chickens. I feel sure that there may be some other reason for your condition and would suggest that you consult a reliable physician and get his opinion. Possibly your fear of poisoning is poisoning you.

Lime Water in Child's Diet

Question—Mrs. F. writes: "I have been putting lime water in the milk for my children. Is this all right, or doesn't it take the place of calcium in vegetables, etc.?"

Answer—It used to be customary to add lime water in a child's diet with the supposition that it made more calcium for the bones; however, it has been proven that milk contains more calcium than a saturated solution of lime water. Furthermore, the lime in milk and vegetables has been organized so that it is easily assimilated.

Wife Suffers From Adhesions

Question—Mr. S. DeW. writes: "My wife has suffered very much from adhesions and was interested in your article on the subject. Whom could you recommend to give the treatments as you tell about them in the article. My wife has had several operations; each one left her in worse condition than before."

Answer—Any doctor who is skilled in giving manipulative treatments should, after reading over my article carefully, understand the means of giving the treatment.

Bond Forgeries In Oklahoma Sifted

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 27. (AP)—Herbert K. Hyde, United States district attorney here, tonight ordered a federal investigation of a bond forgery ring, operations of which are believed by officers to be nation-wide.

Seven alleged members of the ring are held under heavy guard in jail at Tishomingo, charged with the murder of Jim Wood, wealthy Indian rancher who was killed at his home by four men April 5. County authorities say Wood was killed when he refused to trade property for worthless bonds.

Hyde said assistance of government agents in running down evidence on what is believed by county officers to be a robbery, liquor and bond forgery ring, has been requested.

County authorities here said additional arrests may be made tomorrow in connection with the slaying of Wood. An eighth man has been sought since the arrest of the seven held at Tishomingo.

Roxton Farmer Shot Dead on City Street

PARIS, Texas, April 27. (AP)—Five charges fired at close range from an automatic shotgun killed Silas Thompson, 54-year-old farmer, as he stood talking to a friend Tuesday on the main street at Roxton, 15 miles southwest of Paris.

Aubrie Click, 40, a laborer, surrendered to Constable Clyde Shelton. As he handed over the shotgun, he said, "any man would have done as I did." He declined to discuss the shooting further.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, April 27. (AP)—A slight opening decline in cotton today, was followed by rallies on trade buying and covering promoted by light offerings and reports of a steadier tone in the stock market.

July contracts closed at $6.24, with the general market closing steady at net advances of 8 to 10 points.

Buying was by no means active or aggressive, but offerings continued light and after holding very steady during the middle of the day, prices worked up a little more sharply in the late trading, when there appeared to be covering by near month shorts, and rather a more active demand for later months, which was supposed to include some trade and commission house buying. May sold up from 5.95 the low point of the morning to 6.09, while October advanced from 6.37 to 6.49 and closing quotations were within a point or two of the best.

The weekly report of the weather bureau indicating progress with planting during the week attracted comment, but evidently failed to bring in any appreciable volume of selling as offerings were light during the day. Reports from Texas, said there was a better spot demand at the ports, with the basis steady.

Exports today 12,327 making 7,400,023 so far this season. Port receipts 33,408.

Futures closed steady, 8@10 higher. Spot steady; middling 6.25.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, April 27. (AP)—Cotton ruled quiet most of the day but became more active in the late afternoon. Prices showed a slight upward trend influenced mainly by an improvement in stocks. The close was steady and at or near the top the general market showing net gains for the day of 7 to 8 points.

The market opened easier as Liverpool cables came in 1 penny point worse than due, although cables were lower. Manchester cabled that trade in cloths and yarns was slow.

Near mid-session prices rallied a little with stocks and made new highs at 6.21 for July and 6.44 for Oct. or 8 points above the earlier lows and 4 to 5 points above the previous close.

The market turned firm and more active in the late trading owing to a further advance in stocks and on a report that the president's special message to congress would not touch on the stock market.

Shorts covered freely and prices for active months made new highs for the day with July at 6.25 and Oct. at 6.48, up 12 points from the lows. The market closed at the top with July 7 points net up for the day and Oct. 8 points net up.

Liverpool is due tomorrow on New Orleans 2 to 3 penny points up.

Port receipts 33,408, for week 69,028, for season 9,436,869; last season 8,639,362. Exports 12,773, for week 58,452, for season 7,264,681, last season 5,814,606. Port stocks 4,184,530; last year 3,584,450. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans Galveston and Houston 126,355, last year 69,289. Spot sales at southern markets 5,863; last year 4,655.

Futures closed steady at net advances of 7 to 8 points:

Liverpool Cotton

LIVERPOOL, April 27. (INS)—There was a better demand for spot cotton at the opening today with prices easier. Receipts totaled 13,000 bales, including 12,400 American bales.

At midday, middling fair was quoted at 5.95, strictly good middling 5.50d, good middling 5.10, strictly middling 5.00d, middling 4.95d, strictly low middling 4.90d, low middling 4.80d, strictly good ordinary 4.30d, and good ordinary 4.30d.

Futures were quiet at the opening with May quoted at 4.64d, July 4.64d, October 4.66d, and January 4.70d.

CHICAGO COTTON

CHICAGO, April 27. (AP)—Cotton market closed unchanged to 6 points net higher. Liverpool cables were lower than due, and outside markets were easier. Chicago market opened 1 to 3 points lower. In early trading the market recovered and in the afternoon further gains were made. The close was at top prices for the day. Showers fell in northwest Texas. Cloudiness prevailed west of the Mississippi. Temperatures were rather too low for best results from planting. Spots were steady and higher.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, April 26. (AP) (U.S.D.A.)—Trade on fed steers, yearlings, fed heifers and mixed yearlings was slow to get under way, and when a trading basis was finally established, values were considered as steady to 25c lower than yesterday's business. Fed steers made up a large percentage of offerings with the majority of quality to sell within a spread of $5.00@6.75 and a few loads at $7.00@7.60. Chicago scored $8.00 on best medium weight beeves. Fed heifers and mixed yearlings turned at $4.50@6.00, a few at 6.15@6.50. Replacement steers sell largely at $4.25@5.75, occasional lots at $6.00 or above. Kansas City had a six-car string of 484 pound Texas stockers at $6.00.

Various hog markets developed in an uneven basis of trading. Chicago listed a top figure of $4.00 on choice around 200 pound weights.

Lamb sales lacked uniformity but generally speaking values were steady to 25c lower. Wooled lambs sold within a range of $5.75@6.90, clippers bulked at $5.25@6.25. A spread of 6.25@7.00 took most springers, a few consignments moved at $6.25@8.25, in Chicago.

CHICAGO, April 27. (INS)—Hogs—Receipts 14,000; steady to strong. Top $4.10; bulk $3.60@4; heavy $3.50@3.65; medium $3.75@4.10; light $3.80@4.10; light lights $3.70@4; packing sows $2.65@3.10; pigs $3.50@3.80; holdovers 6,000.

Cattle—Receipts 9,000; steady. Calves 2,000; steady. Beef steers, choice $7@8; medium $4.50@7; yearlings $5.50@8; butchers, heifers $3.50@6.50; cows $3@4.50; bulls $2.50@4; calves $4@6; feeder steers $4.50@6; stocker steers $4@5.75; stocker cows and heifers $3@4.50.

Continued Improvement In Stocks Brings Volume Up To Million Shares

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, April 27 (US)—Improvement continued in the stock market today as volume expanded above a million shares for the first time this week. Quietness still prevailed throughout the list, but the firm tendencies of the previous day were more than maintained. Net gains were modest, but this was entirely satisfactory, since a quiet and orderly market was the major objective of constructive interests. If the current calm spell can be maintained, it would do much to overcome the previous nervousness among investors and speculators.

Investment thoughts are too greatly disturbed during periods of wide price fluctuation; this has been one of the major difficulties of late in attempting to win back investment confidence or even speculative confidence. Should the price structure remain firm, even without advancing much further, there will be induced a new study of the market, perhaps with a conclusion favorable to the prospects. A few days of relative firmness obviously are insufficient to warrant definite conclusions. The fact is, however, that sentiment in speculative circles has been considerably heartened by the past few days' experience.

The market naturally was not called upon to register either surprise or disappointment in the omission of the U. S. Steel common dividend. This had long been anticipated. The common shares closed almost a point net higher. Steel preferred, on the other hand, dropped almost two points. The real worry of late has been over the preferred dividend's safety, although few expected any alteration at this time. Deficit of $13,000,000 for the first quarter very plainly suggests that directors of steel will hardly dip into liquid surplus resources to maintain even the preferred dividend unless conditions improve or promise betterment within the next two quarters.

Pennsylvania stock was weak and its directors did the expected in omitting the dividend. What made the Pennsy action particularly discouraging was the fact that it marks the first omission by this road in payments on its stock in 85 years. However, the directors plainly intimated the omission some time ago. The rail shares as a group closed higher.

In various stocks where the short-interest supposedly is fairly large, compared with current activity, advances were the rule. Thus, American Telephone, Standard of New Jersey, American Can, Consolidated Gas, North American and Allied Chemical all advanced a point or more.

General Motors was noticeably a laggard. It closed unchanged and Du Pont, despite a fair-sized short account, closed up a slight fraction. Auburn was down almost two points. Railroad shares were helped by the increase in car loadings and the broad attack against the proposed bonus legislation was cheerful to the market.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, April 27. (AP)—Very good demand for wheat was reported on the cash grain market here today but other commodities were slow sale.

Quotations ranged as follows, basis carloads, freight paid: Delivered Texas gulf ports, export rate, or Texas common points: Wheat, No. 1 ordinary hard milling 61@62c; No. 1 hard 13 per cent protein 62@63c; 14 per cent 64@65c; 15 per cent 66@67c; 16 per cent 67@68c. Barley No. 2 nominally 41½@42½c. Sorghums, No. 2 yellow milo per 100 pounds 69@70c; No. 2 white kaffir 70@71c.

Delivered Texas common points or group three: Corn, No. 2 mixed 40@41c; No. 2 white 41@42c; No. 2 yellow 47½@48½c.

Delivered Texas common points: Oats, No. 2 red 27½@28½c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 27. (AP)—Sensitive to upturns in securities, the grain markets late today scored a recovery from early weakness.

Transient setbacks in wheat prices were associated with failure of frost predictions that had threatened further damage to crops Southwest and West. Besides, export demand for North American wheat was the smallest in some times. Curtailment of domestic country marketings of wheat, however, suggested no burdensome stocks on farms.

Wheat closed unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to ⅛c lower, corn unchanged to ⅛c up, oats unchanged to ⅛c off, and provisions unchanged to 7 cents down.

Houses identified with farm board allies were persistent sellers of the May delivery of wheat, but the offerings were well absorbed. A factor which gave some stimulous to bulls was that reports from the Northwest indicated the seeded acreage of spring wheat would be much less than originally intended in the drouth sections. On the other hand, numerous traders were inclined to ignore winter crop damage advices and to await May official reports that were expected to determine accurately whether injury was as sensational as claimed.

Forecasts that wheat shipments from Argentina this week would be of large volume attracted some notice as a bear influence, and so too did recent sharp setbacks in British exchange rates, although sterling today showed more or less recovery.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, April 27. (US)—May liquidation is placing no appreciable weight on the wheat market, but prospects for further pressure from that source coupled with the slow export demand prevent new speculative interest. Some further widening of the discount for May under the deferred months is looked for by the elevator houses.

Export demand has been a disappointment to bulls who had looked for an increase in the buying. The sharp break in sterling has tended to restrict demand from England, while the continent is buying less following recent heavy purchases as well as the taking of substantial quantities from "ports of call."

Increased country marketings of corn have prevented upturns on a greatly improved shipping demand. However, the good movement through the market for the first time this season has tended to strengthen the situation throughout, checking the bearish sentiment which has predominated in this market since fall.

Weather in Europe remains too cool for satisfactory crop progress, but so far conditions are not alarming.

DRY GOODS MARKET

NEW YORK, April 27. (AP)—Cotton goods were quiet today with a light demand reported for cloths for bag purposes. Silks are selling at low prices in moderate quantities. Rayon sales in April were 20 per cent under march. Wool goods are very quiet. Burlaps are easier following easing in sterling.

BOSTON WOOL MARKET

BOSTON, April 27. (AP)—A few dealers report more inquiries but actual trading is extremely quiet. A slightly more optimistic feeling is noted in some quarters, as orders for goods in the near future are anticipated. At the same time buyers show very little interest in offerings of wool.

W. T. C. C. TRAIN DRIVE OPENS

150 Reservations Sought For Jubilee Special

With a goal of 150 reservations in 10 days for the "golden jubilee special train" to Sweetwater, May 12-14, for the annual West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention, the Junior chamber special committee went into action Wednesday. No check up on results will be made until Thursday morning but unofficial reports received by W. R. Creamer, drive chairman, indicated much enthusiasm in the city for the trip.

The drive was launched following a meeting of Chairman Creamer's "golden jubilee special train" committee at the chamber offices in the Hamilton building at 11 o'clock. The special has been dubbed the golden jubilee train in view of plans to make the primary purpose of the trip an advertisement of the big party here Sept. 26-28.

The committee members opened the drive for reservations with a list of 160 prospects and instructions to develop new prospects during the campaign. Special invitations to all chamber members have been issued as a basis for making up the train, but the special is a community-wide project for issuing invitations to the golden jubilee party.

It is a part of the duty of every citizen as well as of chamber members to boost the golden jubilee and at the same time aid Wichita Falls in keeping the best attendance record at regional conventions, Mr. Creamer said. The drawing room price for reservations of $75 may be divided between three persons, while lower berth rates are $21 and uppers, $16.50.

Members of Mr. Creamer's Junior chamber committee who attended the drive opening are Pat Hardage, Harold Story, Ralph Pond, H. B. Dudley, Gerald Coffey, Morgan Gillum, George Gardner, P. S. Richardson, Vernie Leggett, Linden Jones, Floyd Randell, Ralph Roden, and Russell Morgan and Eli Morgan notified Mr. Creamer they were out of the city but would serve on the committee later.

Negro Boys Nabbed In Thefts Here

Boldness of two negro boys in conducting a pillaging tour of residential Wichita Falls Wednesday resulted in their capture by police. They were placed in charge of Juvenile Officer J. A. McDonald Wednesday for further investigation.

One of the youths was armed with a baseball bat. The pair followed a system of knocking at back doors and entering if no one answered the knock. When Mrs. G. C. Pace, 2410 Tenth, delayed in going to the rear door she found the boys on the back porch. She notified police when they ran and officers searching for them found several homes which had been visited by the pair.

Prowlers struck with new force Tuesday night when they raided the home of Charles Veros, 1400 Kemp boulevard, netting $27.50 and a purse.

Officers recovered a Ford roadster Wednesday morning near Holliday creek at the Municipal golf course, which was stolen at 11:30 o'clock Tuesday night from D. R. Allen, 2108 Garfield. The car was stripped.

Other losses reported to police Wednesday included a tricycle taken from the Ray Anderson home, 1113 Alma; and a large pair of hedge shears missing from the home of W. B. Wood, 1206 Twelfth.

Roses for Lions Come From Dr. Graham's Garden

Talks on the principles of Lionism and a musical program given by high school and Junior college students featured the weekly meeting of the Lions club at the Wichita club Wednesday noon.

W. B. Featherston talked on the history of Lionism, H. J. Hughey on the organization's "Code of Ethics," and William Marshall upon the principles of the movement. J. S. Minton was master of ceremonies.

Misses Nell Grounds and Ruth Tucker, George Napier and Bob Carey comprised the quartet of singer who presented several numbers with Miss Sue Elliott as accompanist.

Each member present received from Misses Frances Tyson and Lillian Graham a rose from the garden of Dr. R. H. Graham, past president and district governor, who has been confined to his home since an automobile accident about two years ago.

Students Asked To Aid School Board In Economy Program

Members of the Wichita Falls board of education are going ahead with formation of definite plans for operation of the public schools for the 1932-33 session and sounded an optimistic note Wednesday in view of rigid economy plans for the term.

Board members appeared at two schools Wednesday morning for short addresses to pupils emphasizing economy in use of all school materials and in care of property. A direct appeal for assistance in holding down expense was made to the students. Carter McGregor spoke at the Austin school and Luther Hoffman at the Alamo school.

The school board has made definite plans to operate for the full nine-month term of 1932-33, and although the year will probably be a difficult one, no intention of cutting the efficiency of the system is evident.

The fact that Wichita Falls has more than 10,000 pupils makes it evident that the board must take care of them and to this end the budget was cut $130,000 under the 1931-32 term and all types of economy measures have been adopted.

Strong appeals have been made to taxpayers to meet payments for the current quarter, due April 30, in order that the 1932-33 budget will not be embarrassed by a debt from the current semester.

REALTY BOARD HEARS HUNTER

New System of Taxation Urged by Wichitan

Tom F. Hunter, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, took serious exception in a talk delivered Wednesday noon before members of the Wichita Falls Real Estate board to the transfer of profits on Texas products to the North and East.

"Texas is one of the few states that procures no money from other parts of the country except through agriculture, oil and other raw materials," he said, "and then all our profit is sent back to northern and eastern financial centers."

Mr. Hunter predicted the disappearance of home ownership from this state unless our system of taxation is revised to relieve owners of real estate. He urged a sales tax on imported articles, and "a new system of taxation which will reach the group which now is avoiding taxation."

Mr. Hunter was introduced by Ray Keith, president of the board.

Rotary Club to Honor Ladies at Annual Party

Wives and sweethearts of Rotary club members are to be guests of honor Thursday night at the annual party of the local club at the Wichita club at 7:30 o'clock, it was announced Wednesday.

Novelty both in program numbers, and in the gifts scheduled for distribution to the ladies present, has been promised by those in charge.

President Linton Estes has asked that members telephone him their reservations at the earliest possible hour.

Deaths

ED H. McCARTY

Funeral services for Ed H. McCarty, 51, of Guthrie, Okla., were held at Illinois Bend, Montague county, at 1:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Mr. McCarty died at his home Tuesday afternoon. He had resided in Wichita Falls until five years ago.

Survivors include the widow; two daughters, Mrs. Henry E. Ford of Oklahoma City, and Mrs. Roy Shaw of Enid, Okla.; a brother H. A. McCarty of Carnegie, Okla.; a half-brother, H. Bulkeley of this city; and a sister, Mrs. R. A. Chisholm of Hillsboro, N. M.

JAMES DAUGHERTY

Funeral services for James Daugherty, 54, of Blossom, Texas, were held in Blossom Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Daugherty died in a local hospital Tuesday and the body was forwarded by the Hines mortuary. His father, Alex Daugherty, survives.

IDA GEORGE HANSON

Funeral services for Ida George Hanson, 9-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Hanson, 2123 Holliday, were held from the South Side Baptist church at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon with the pastor, the Rev. A. C. Turner, officiating. The Hines mortuary directed burial in Riverside. The girl was fatally injured Monday night in an automobile accident near her home.

Survivors are the parents, two brothers, L. E. Hanson Jr., and Joe Lynn Hanson; her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Flemister of this city and G. L. Hanson of Water Valley, Texas; and several uncles and an aunt.

Nudist Won't Study In Fort Worth After Arrest

FORT WORTH, April 27. (UP)—R. Clark, 40, short story writer, straddled his motorcycle when released from jail here today for taking a nude sunbath in a public park and announced he was headed for Shawnee, Okla.

He said he would enter a school of theology there. No charges were filed against him here.

"I rode a motorcycle all the way from Los Angeles to enter theology school and write short stories in Fort Worth," he said. "I have changed my mind. It would be too embarrassing to go to school here.

Last Services Held for Dr. R. E. Huff Jr.

Funeral services for Dr. R. E. Huff Jr., who died Monday at Kerrville, were held Wednesday afternoon from the First Baptist church, Dr. O. L. Powers officiating. A male quartet sang "Come Ye Disconsolate" and "Abide With Me." Members of the Wichita County Dental society of which Dr. Huff was secretary for many years, were pallbearers.

Attending from out of the city were Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Huff of McAllen, Mrs. Arthur Burroughs, Mrs. C. C. Huff of Dallas and Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Burroughs of Dallas and Robert Huff III, aged 14, of Chicago.

Burial was in the family plot in Riverside.

SCHOOLS PLAN SENIOR RITES

280 Listed in College And High School Class

Plans are now under way in the public schools of Wichita Falls for commencement exercises for the 1931-32 session to be held next month. The long session will close Friday, May 27.

Baccalaureate services for the Junior college and senior high school will be held Sunday, May 22, with the commencement program to be the night of May 27. Present indications are that more than 40 Junior college students will be graduated and the senior class of the high school lists 240 pupils. Speakers and other details will be announced later.

W. A. Franklin, Reagan Junior High school principal, named a commencement committee Wednesday to plan for a program at 11 o'clock Friday morning, May 27. The largest class in the history of Reagan will take part in the exercises this year with 203 pupils. The committee includes Miss Margaret Morgan, A. D. Beck, Miss Rachael Davis and Mrs. E. F. Noe.

Commencement exercises for the Zundelowitz Junior High school will be held at 10 o'clock the morning of Thursday, May 26, for 150 pupils. Principal T. W. Brumbalow said Wednesday.

Camp's Dining Hall Opens Here Saturday

Camp's Dining Hall, Wichita Falls' newest restaurant, will open for business at noon Saturday in the basement of the City National bank building. The opening was previously scheduled for Thursday noon but on account of an unavoidable delay it was postponed. Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Camp will operate the dining hall. Family style meals will be featured in addition to regular dinners and counter service. Mrs. Camp formerly operated the Matthews dining hall at Eleventh and Scott.

Montgomery Undergoes Appendicitis Operation

After a sudden attack suffered Tuesday afternoon, Judge A. D. Montgomery of the 30th district court underwent an emergency operation Wednesday morning at the Wichita General hospital for the removal of his appendix.

He was reported Wednesday evening as resting well.

Donnell Reviews 25 Years Of Newspaper Editing In Club Talk

Highlights and amusing incidents recalled from 25 years' experience in newspaper work in this city were reviewed by B. D. Donnell, editor of The Daily Times and Record News, before members of the Optimist club Wednesday noon.

Mr. Donnell styled his talk "Confessions of a Newspaper Man," and told briefly of his first newspaper experience, and of his first day in Wichita Falls when he became associated with the Times Publishing company. The speaker recalled the first edition of The Times, published on May 14, 1907.

A singsong was led by Ralph K. Pond, with Miss Mildred Anderson as accompanist. The program was arranged by Jess McLarry.

Plans for the coming year were outlined by Leon Horn, the new president. Robert Flechtner, membership committee head, told of a campaign to be waged for new members, and for reinstatement of inactive ones.

'FIFTY YEAR CLUB' PLANNED

Pioneers Asked to Register For Celebration

All long-time residents of Wichita Falls and pioneers of Wichita county and of the adjacent trade area have been asked to write to T. J. Waggoner Jr., of Wichita Falls as soon as possible, giving their names and addresses.

The information will be used in honoring pioneers of the territory during the 50th anniversary celebration of the city, Sept. 26-28, when all pioneers will be honor guests of Wichita Falls. Mr. Waggoner is chairman of the registration of pioneers subcommittee of the 50th anniversary association.

At a meeting of the committee Wednesday afternoon at the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, members voted to organize a "Fifty Year club" of all residents of the city and nearby area who have resided here for 50 years. Mr. Waggoner is anxious that all pioneers, not only those who were residing in the area 50 years ago, but others who came to this part of West Texas in the eighties and nineties, write him, giving names of other pioneers they recall.

Members of the committee present Wednesday were Mr. Waggoner, Joe Ward, vice chairman, W. T. Harris, Joe Marlow, Dillard Anderson, Bob McFall and George Ancell of Electra.

"You're Right
They're Milder and they Taste Better too"
Chesterfield

THERE'S SOMETHING DIFFERENT about the flavor of CHESTERFIELDS — something about the blending and cross-blending of fine tobaccos—that gets to you, every time.

THERE'S SOMETHING DIFFERENT about their mildness, too. It is the mildness that comes from the ripest, sweetest, mellowest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos. There is no bitterness in them . . . no harshness.

THERE'S SOMETHING DIFFERENT about the taste. It is that good, pleasing taste that comes from the right kind of tobacco, cured in the right way—cured for two years or more. It means that to make CHESTERFIELD Cigarettes, millions of dollars are tied up in tobacco leaf—but it's worth it.

THERE'S SOMETHING DIFFERENT about CHESTERFIELDS—THEY'RE MILD AND YET THEY SATISFY!
