Risk War To Keep Peace, States LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says the United States "must be prepared to risk war" to keep its freedom, yet ready to "seek just compromise" to achieve peace.

This was Johnson's keynote message Sunday as he ended a three-day trip into Michigan and Minnesota. He took up the matter of war and peace in his only non-political speech of the trip, at a Swedish Day festival in Minneapolis.

Facing thousands of cheering Minnesotans who stood under shade trees in Minnehaha Park, Johnson said:

"Today, as always, if a nation is to keep its freedom it must be prepared to risk war. When necessary, we will take that risk. But as long as I am president, I will spare neither my office nor myself in the quest for peace."

BRUTAL STRUGGLE

In South Viet Nam, Johnson said, "We are engaged in a brutal and bitter struggle for the freedom of a friend" and "we will stand firm to help maintain freedom and give them counsel and advice and help as necessary." This was a change from his prepared text, which read, "There too, we will use the force necessary to help them maintain their own freedom."

Johnson had this to say about compromising East-West differences in the interest of peace: "We must remember that differences with others do not always flow from a desire for domination. They can come from honest clash of beliefs or goals. In such cases our strength does not entitle us to impose our interest. Rather, our desire for peace compels us to seek just compromise."

In discussing "the several paths we take to peace," Johnson made some pointed statements about the civil rights problem at home in talking about "the ability to adjust disputes without the use of force."

RULE OF LAW

Johnson said that in the pursuit of justice, the nation can find guidance "here in our own country's historic pledge to the rule of law."

Speaking as much about civil rights as the quest for international peace, Johnson said: "As a president of the United States, and as an individual citizen, I stand totally committed to the integrity of justice and the enforcement of the law."

Johnson said the United States is pledged to "abide by the law and accept its settlements . . . to submit to courts and be satisfied by court decisions . . . to respect, uphold and obey the law of the land."

If anyone takes a grievance or dispute into his own hands, Johnson said, "the safety and freedom of all is imperiled."

Speaking specifically of racial unrest, Johnson said: "Today, the key to peace in our own land is obedience to the great moral command that no man should deny to another the liberties the Constitution creates, as the law defines those liberties."

Johnson flew to Minneapolis Saturday afternoon from Detroit and, that evening, addressed a Democratic fund-raising dinner.

St. Augustine Race Strife Truce Looms

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — The possibility of a truce in St. Augustine's racial conflict loomed today for the first time in nearly two weeks.

A new effort to establish a biracial committee of two whites and two Negroes to seek peace was reported nearing success.

Community leaders predicted that any group would have a difficult time because the middle ground has all but disappeared in the furious, month-long push for integration by Negroes and the equally determined resistance by whites.

COMMUNICATION

There has been almost no communication between the two races for more than a week, following collapse of the first effort to find a settlement.

In the first fruitless attempt, a St. Johns County grand jury called for a 30-day truce in public demonstrations, after which a biracial committee would have been established. The Negro leader, the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., rejected this and sought immediate formation of the committee.

The grand jury refused to negotiate along these lines.

The pace of demonstrations by both Negroes and whites was stepped up. Fist fights and other violence became a daily occurrence as integrationists were met on the beaches and city streets by fist-swinging whites.

CONTEMPT CASE

Gov. Farris Bryant clamped on a curfew to end public parades at night. That brought him into U.S. District Court faced with a possible contempt citation in a case to be decided Tuesday.

The climax to the violence came Thursday night when hundreds of whites brushed aside police guards and routed a Negro parade.

The outbreak brought the governor here the next day. He has been in the forefront in reopening lines of communication.

There were no public parades by either group Sunday but each held a meeting. Rain cut attendance at the white rally. The Negroes held an indoor meeting and were told by a spokesman for King that a biracial committee would be watched closely and that integration efforts would be resumed if no progress was being made.

Cigarettes Down By 6 1/2 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans cut down on their smoking by about 16 billion cigarettes since a government report linked health hazards to smoking, the Agriculture Department reported today.

The cut-back was 6.5 per cent below the first six months of last year.

The department said more cigarettes are now being smoked in the United States than in the period just after the report was released last Jan. 11, but probably not as many as before the report.

Meanwhile, cigars, pipes and roll-your-own cigarettes are becoming more popular. Sales of regular and small cigars are up about 12 per cent.

Duty To Party Most Vital, Says Lodge

Viet Nam Policy 'On Right Track'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry Cabot Lodge declared today that he considered it a higher duty for him to return home and fight for the Republican presidential nomination for Gov. William Scranton than to remain as U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam.

He told a White House news conference, after receiving a flowing farewell from President Johnson, that he felt the war in South Viet Nam was "on the track," while "I felt the Republican party is not on the track."

Affirming that he did not believe it was too late for Scranton to head off the front-running Sen. Barry Goldwater for his party's presidential nomination, Lodge strongly indicated he would attempt to enlist former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's active support for Scranton.

a ticket for the convention.

Asked for comment on Sen. Barry Goldwater—whose defeat Lodge seeks in the nomination fight—the retiring envoy said he did not want to comment because he wants to take a constructive line, not a negative one.

Lodge said he does not expect to become the campaign manager for Scranton "but I expect to do a little telephoning."

He thus disclosed his intention to work directly among delegates to the Republican National Convention trying to switch their support from Goldwater to Scranton.

Told by newsmen that there has been a certain lack of support for Scranton among the delegates, Lodge replied, "I hope that is going to change now."

Lodge got into his comment about "prudent" men this way:

"Having been in a vital post and seeing how the President makes decisions on life and death matters, with the President having control over the atomic bomb, I believe both parties must nominate prudent men—not impulsive men, and I think Gov. Scranton is one of our best men."

TO PRESIDENT

Lodge reports to Johnson today on his 10 months in the embattled Southeast Asian nation.

As for the assignment from which he is retiring, Lodge said he is confident of eventual victory over the Communists in South Viet Nam.

Lodge was asked what he thinks about proposals which figured in the developing political debate for using atomic weapons to defoliate forests in Viet Nam and thus strip the cover from Communist supply routes and hiding places.

WEED KILLER

"We defoliate every day," Lodge replied. "Using an atomic bomb to defoliate is like using an atomic bomb to light a cigarette. We use weed killer."

Lodge resigned 10 days ago to come home and help Scranton.

ROBERT KENNEDY, WIFE RECEIVE POLES' CHEERS

Bobby Asks Poles Aid In Thawing Cold War

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Encouraged by wildly cheering Polish crowds, Robert F. Kennedy called on Communist Poland Sunday night to help promote the new thaw in the cold war.

The U.S. attorney general told Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki that Poland has a unique opportunity to supply a bridge of understanding between the United States and the Soviet Union.

U.S. sources said Kennedy told Rapacki that Poland could play a key role in improving relations because of its membership in the Soviet bloc and the strong ties between the Polish and American peoples.

estimated 6,000 Poles jammed the narrow streets around St. John's Cathedral as Kennedy emerged from Mass.

THROUGH STREETS

Shouts of "Long live Kennedy" and "Long live America" greeted the attorney general, his wife, Ethel, and two sons as they rode through Warsaw streets.

"I am not running for president, but if I were, I wish you could all come to the United States to vote," Kennedy told a crowd in front of Warsaw University.

The Kennedys sat on the roof of U.S. Ambassador John M. Cabot's limousine and waved when swelling crowds stopped the car. The roof partly caved in and they switched to another car.

FIRST NEWS

Polish television carried the first news of Kennedy's Saturday arrival on Sunday night. Newspapers carried short descriptions of his activities to date, describing the visit as private.

Despite the press silence, temperatures in the 90s and a violent rainstorm, crowds surrounded Kennedy all day.

Bus Pioneer's Funeral Held

HOUSTON (AP) — Funeral services were held today for Carl Frazer, 63, the man who replaced Houston's street cars with buses.

During 38 years in Houston he served in the management of the old Houston Electric Co., the street railway system, Houston Transit Co., and its successor, Rapid Transit Lines, Inc.

DON'T STOP

"It's just not smart to "stop" your Herald when you go on vacation. A lot of things can happen while you're gone, and the only place to find out about them is in The Herald.

The smart thing to do is call Herald circulation, AM 4-4331, and ask for "Vacation Pac." Your papers will be saved and delivered upon your return in a handy, usable plastic bag. There's no extra charge for this service, of course.

Remember "Vacation Pac."

Roadblocks Used In Probe Of Trio

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP) — The Mississippi Highway Patrol and FBI agents questioned motorists at a roadblock today whether they knew anything about the three missing civil rights workers.

The latest report from the roadblock on Highway 21 about 12 miles northeast of Philadelphia, said no useful information had been obtained.

The roadblock was set up near where the civil rights workers' burned out station wagon was found last Tuesday. Each driver was asked whether he knew anything about the disappearance, or whether he knew anyone who did.

Officers explained that the state highway is only lightly traveled and that some of the drivers who passed that area today might have passed there last Monday.

YOUNG MEN

Authorities also probed a report that two young white men were seen standing beside a station wagon similar to the one used by the three civil rights workers shortly before they vanished eight days ago.

The widespread search for clues in the baffling disappearance of Michael Schwerner, 24; Andy Goodman, 20, both of New York; and James Chaney, 22, a Meridian Negro, continued in this red clay hill section of east-central Mississippi.

One hundred sailors from the Navy's airfield at Meridian rejoined the highway patrol and FBI to search west of this town of 5,000 as other officers dragged small lakes and streams.

SIDE ROAD

Chief investigator Gwin Cole of the highway patrol said one witness had reported seeing a station wagon near a side road in the Bogie Chitto swamp near the spot where the burned vehicle used by the missing trio was found last Tuesday.

The witness, Cole said, spotted the station wagon and two men, whom he described as "of similar appearance" to Goodman and Schwerner, last Monday before noon.

At least six persons have told authorities they had passed the site around 11 a.m. last Monday and saw nothing.

Choctaw Indians confessed they stripped the hubcaps off the burned-out vehicle about 5 p.m. last Monday.

Some 275 more summer volunteer civil rights workers poured into this racially tense state over the weekend. Goodman had arrived the previous weekend in the advance guard of about 175 colleagues from the north and west.

VOICE REGISTERING

The students will work with the Council of Federated Organizations' Negro education and voter registration projects. The council coordinates activities of the major civil rights groups operating in the state.

The FBI planned to question workers at Philadelphia's two main plants individually today for possible clues.

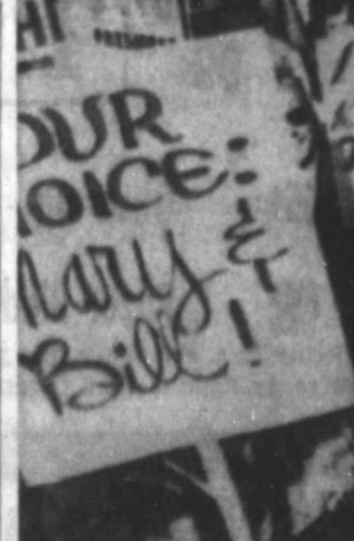

An FBI spokesman said roadblocks would be set up on all roads leaving to the U.S. Motors division of Emerson Electric and Wells-Lamont Corp., a glove manufacturer.

Each worker on every shift will be asked if he knows anything connected with the disappearance.

Another roadblock will be set up near the spot where the charred hulk of the trio's station wagon was found to question all passers-by.

Goodman, Schwerner and Chaney were last seen late on the night of June 21 when they posted a $20 bond after being arrested here for speeding.

Scranton Opens Nine-State Push

DALTON, Pa. (AP) — Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania launches today a nine-state, cross-country quest for support of his bid for the Republican presidential nomination after saying on television that his chief opponent lacks qualities for the high office.

Scranton leaves for Charlotte, N.C., on a campaign tour that will take him to Atlanta, Ga.; Knoxville, Tenn.; Chicago; Salt Lake City, Utah; Eugene, Ore.; and North and South Dakota.

Addressing a national television audience from his Georgian-style mansion at Dalton Sunday night, Scranton listed three reasons why he didn't think Sen. Barry Goldwater ought to be the Republican candidate for president.

"In the first place it is clear that he lacks public support. Goldwater would run far behind President Johnson this November," Scranton said, citing public opinion polls made by him and by independent agencies.

Scranton added, "Goldwater has developed the unfortunate reputation of being impulsive with the great question of whether we shall have war or peace."

He said the Arizona senator complained that he is being misunderstood. This, said Scranton, "raises the question of how could he be expected to change were he president. The thought of the American chief executive constantly misunderstood by his fellow citizens, by our allies, and by our enemies, is not a comforting one."

"We need in the White House a leader who thinks clearly, who doesn't shoot from the hip, who understands that his every word and action will influence for better or for worse mankind's hopes and work for peace with freedom."

"The fact is that Sen. Goldwater has not shown these qualities."

Laos Premier Fears New Communist Onslaught

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Laotian Premier Souvanna Phouma says the Communists are preparing to attack his badly outnumbered neutralist army at its last stronghold in the strategic Plain des Jarres area.

Souvanna said the Communists have 17 battalions—about 8,000 men—and heavy artillery massed for a five-pronged assault on Muong Soui, 110 miles north of Vientiane and just northwest of the plain. The neutralists have about 3,000 men at Muong Soui.

The Communist Pathet Lao and their North Vietnamese allies drove Gen. Kong Le's neutralist forces off the plain earlier this month, then halted their advance.

"We will try to resist," Souvanna told a news conference Sunday.

The loss of Muong Soui, on Highway 7, would give the Communists an important advantage for an assault on the royal Laotian capital of Luang Prabang and bring them closer to the administrative capital of Vientiane.

Souvanna showed newsmen aerial photographs taken by U.S. reconnaissance planes which he said showed movements of troops from North Viet Nam to Pathet Lao positions.

"Nobody can deny North Viet Nam's interference," he said.

Souvanna said the Laotian air force's T28 fighter-bombers—U.S.-supplied propeller planes—were continuing their strikes against the enemy but were hampered by bad weather. He said poor visibility also was preventing U.S. reconnaissance planes from flying as often as he wants.

The neutralist premier again called for a summit meeting of the leaders of the three factions in Laos. Prince Souphanouvong, his half-brother and the Pathet Lao leader, has called for such a conference on the Communist-held Plain des Jarres.

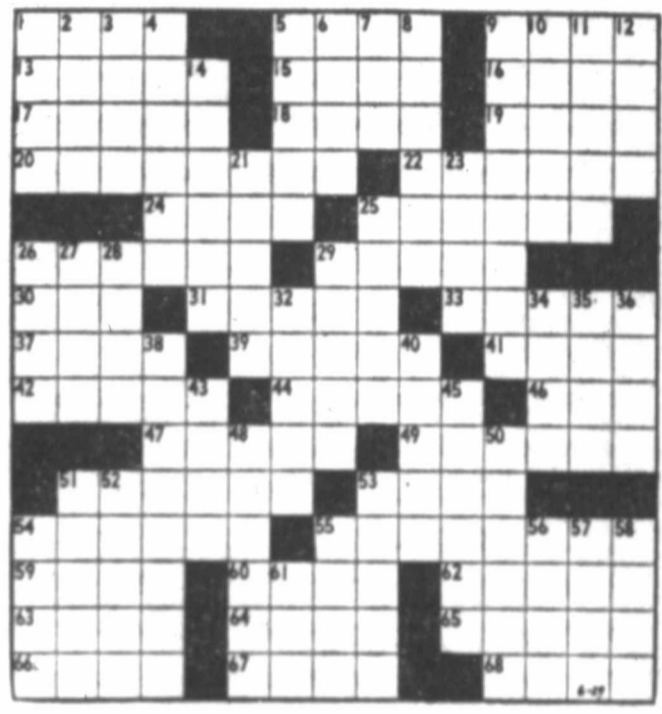

But Souvanna said he would only consent to a meeting on the plain if the Communists withdraw from the positions they have taken from the neutralists since the Red drive began May 18.

Dog Owners Plan Puppy Match Here

Detailed plans for an unsanctioned puppy match July 19 were made at a meeting of the Big Spring Kennel Club Sunday.

Entry invitations have been sent to kennel clubs at Midland, Odessa, Lubbock, San Angelo and Abilene. Entries will be accepted until 1 p.m. at Birdwell Park.

Club officials have stressed that anyone owning an AKC accepted breed, whether registered or not, can enter, with Big Spring dog owners especially urged to take part.

Women members of the club will form a concession committee for the show, and Bill Tubb will build a concession structure.

Invitations to dog owners have pointed out that all dogs entered must be inoculated against distemper. Local veterinarians have indicated the distemper epidemic has ended and it would be safe to hold the show.

Appointments were made at the meeting Sunday for Dr. Bruce Sanders, program chairman, to take movies of member's dogs this week, for showing at the club's next meeting, at 7:30 p.m. July 9, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Griffin. Members will explain the origin of their breed and give pro and con characteristics of each breed.

Posters advertising the show were presented for acceptance by the club Sunday. The posters were constructed by Mrs. Tubb and Mrs. Griffin and will be placed in Big Spring businesses. The meeting Sunday was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tubb, Western Hills Addition. Mrs. Tubb served refreshments to the 15 members present.

T. N. Culwell Funeral Set

Thomas Newton Culwell, 69, died at 5 a.m. Sunday at his residence, 1908 Scurry. He was born April 20, 1895 at Gunsight and moved with his parents to Big Spring in 1899. He married the former Miss Jewel Creighton Jan. 14, 1935, in Big Spring. A veteran of World War I, he was a member of WWI Barracks No. 1474, and a member of the East Fourth Street Baptist Church.

Mr. Culwell had been employed for about 20 years in the car maintenance department of the Texas and Pacific Railway Co.

Services have been set for 2 p.m. Wednesday at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home chapel. The Rev. D. L. Green, pastor of East Fourth Street Baptist Church, will officiate, assisted by the Rev. Billie Ruid, assistant pastor. Burial will be in City Cemetery under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Jewel Culwell, Big Spring; two daughters, Mrs. Katholene Pierce, Midland, Mrs. Jeanette Williams, Lamesa; three sisters, Annie Mae Culwell, San Angelo, Mrs. Abbie A. Anderson and Mrs. Lizzie Millaway, Big Spring; and six grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home chapel. The Rev. D. L. Green, pastor of East Fourth Street Baptist Church, will officiate, assisted by the Rev. Billie Ruid, assistant pastor. Burial will be in City Cemetery under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Beef Buying To Continue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department is expected to continue for some time its weekly purchases of beef even though cattle prices have shown some improvement recently.

Bids for possible additional purchases this week must be submitted by noon, EST, Tuesday. Purchases last week totaled 2,483,610 pounds, considerably below amounts bought in most previous weeks since the buying program started in March.

This brought to 119.7 million pounds the amount purchased so far, at a total cost of $67 million. The beef is being donated to needy persons and the school lunch program.

Officials attributed the recent cattle price improvement to its purchase program, promotion and merchandising activities by the food industry, and reduced imports.

Screen Actors Nearing Strike

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Screen Actors Guild has announced that contract negotiations with television film producers have broken down, and the guild is preparing to strike.

Strike ballots have been sent to 15,000 members of the AFL-CIO union. If 75 per cent authorize a walkout, it will come anytime after midnight Tuesday, a spokesman said.

The union is seeking higher pay for film reruns and foreign exhibition of television films.

Family Nights Are Scheduled

STANTON (SC) — Superintendent Beryl Clinton announced a good turn-out for family night Friday night at the high school gymnasium. The family nights will be a weekly affair during the summer months for a varied program of activities.

Clinton is in charge and said all types of games will be available, including basketball, volleyball, table tennis and other types of games. There also will be table games, such as dominoes, forty-two, and checkers.

Second Auto Mechanics Course Opens At HCJC

The second class in automobile mechanics, authorized under the Manpower Training and Development Act of 1962, began this morning at Howard County Junior College.

The first 52-week school began in March, 1963. There were 13 graduates of the first class, according to James Banks, instructor, who said the second class also will continue 52 weeks.

The act primarily was designed to retrain persons, whose jobs were eliminated through automation, school dropouts or others who are unemployed. Under its agreement with the government, HCJC furnishes facilities for the instruction, and the government pays the costs of the school. Students are selected by the local office of the employment commission. The government pays the students a stipend while they attend the school, but it forbids them to work so long as the training is in progress. The amount given each student is determined by his period of unemployment, number of dependents and other factors.

Banks said the second school, unlike the first one, has been designated an area school. This means several of the students are from out of town. Six of 18 students enrolled for the school are from Big Spring, but four are from Odessa. Other area towns represented are Midland (three students), Abilene (two), and Anson (one). Within the week, the number of students will be raised to 20. All instruction is given at the Industrial Arts Building on the HCJC campus. Marshall Box, director of industrial arts for HCJC, is director of the program.

New students are: Big Spring — Jimmie Ellison, Eddie Long, Robert McGowan, Tommy Parks, Gerald Teague and Doyce Todd; Odessa — William Jump, Alonzo Martinez, Manuel Nabarrette and Joe Wilson; Midland — James Coats, Roy Harris and Billy Lloyd; Abilene — Bentley Carier and James Stanfield; and, Anson — Billy Fletcher.

It was Capt. Appleton's second graduation from the same school within a month. He was earlier graduated with highest honors after winning first place in a class of 22 who completed the seven months Signal Officer Career course. For that achievement he received, in addition to his honors diploma, a letter of congratulation from the commanding general and the Army Association's Award for Academic Achievement.

In March, while still a student at the Signal School, Capt. Appleton was decorated with the Army Commendation Medal for meritorious service while assigned as advisor to the Second Corps of the Army of the Republic of Vietnam in 1963.

A 1954 graduate of Coahoma High School, Capt. Appleton received his Bachelor of Science degree in 1959 from Texas A&M. Mrs. Appleton is the former Miss Jeanette Petterson, South Houston. The Appletons have two children, a two-year-old son, Robert, and a one-year-old daughter, Joan.

Mrs. Vestel T. Ruggless, an employee at Seymour Johnson AFB, N.C., was recently presented with a superior performance award. A native of Big Spring, she works in the base commercial transportation division.

She was presented this award for the way she handled non-temporary storage billing files. She has been in civilian service work 18 years. Mrs. Ruggless is married to M. Sgt. Gale V. Ruggless. They reside in Capehart Housing on base.

Women Invade Colgate Campus
HAMILTON, N.Y. (AP) — A 145-year-old barrier fell today amid the sweet scent of perfume and female voices on the Colgate University campus. A select group of 16 women were the first women admitted as full-time students at the all-male university. The women are enrolled in the university's graduate teaching-intern program. The summer session began today.

Cyprus Peace Offer Called 'Empty Words'

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Dr. Fazil Kuchuk, Turkish vice president of Cyprus, described today as "empty words" a second peace offer by Gen. George Grivas, Greek Cypriot hero of the guerrilla war against Britain.

Grivas repeated his offer Sunday in his first public appearance since returning to the island he helped win independence for in 1959. He called for peaceful coexistence between Greek and Turkish Cypriots in a "free Greek Cyprus."

Grivas promised friendship and amnesty for the island's Turkish minority, which has been locked in a bitter struggle with the Greek Cypriots since December.

While Grivas was speaking, he said, Greeks and Turks were exchanging gunfire in a nearby village and one Turk was killed. "Is this the kind of treatment the general wishes to offer the Turks?" Kuchuk asked.

In a long list of charges he said the Greek Cypriot government had armed thousands of terrorists, brought in others from Greece and kept the Turks under siege.

"Can the general really believe," he asked, "that they who have been so merciless toward the Turks will now suddenly change their mood and become angels?"

Grivas spoke to thousands of Cypriots crowded beneath the walls of Nicosia, on rooftops and in trees. He stood next to Arch-

MRS. DANNY BEN STEWART

Stewart, Reed Vows Read In San Angelo

LAMESA (SC) — Miss Kathryn LeRuth Reed of Sterling City and Danny Ben Stewart of Lamesa were united in marriage Saturday in the Johnson Street Church of Christ in San Angelo. Darrell Flynt, minister of the Forsan Church of Christ, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee R. Reed, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Stewart, all of Sterling City.

The bride was escorted and given in marriage by her father. She wore a white silk peau de soie bridal gown designed with a scalloped neckline, molded bodice, elbow length sleeves and bell shaped skirt. The bodice was enhanced with re-embroidered alencon lace applied with beads. Her chapel length train was bordered with beaded lace which fell from her waist line.

Her ballerina length veil of silk illusion was attached to a headpiece of beaded lace which matched her gown. Short white beaded gloves and a pearl necklace completed the attire. Her bouquet consisted of a cascade of white roses and stephanotis with sprays of seed pearls.

Mrs. Phil Erickson, cousin of the bride, Houston, was matron of honor. Kenneth Wiedenfeld of Comfort was best man.

MISS BECKY CROUCH. Manhattan Attractive To 1964 Miss Mohair

NEW YORK (AP)—A 19-year-old Texan who grew up bottle-feeding orphan goats on her father's ranch—not far from President Johnson's—is one of this season's most attractive fashion models.

But Becky Crouch, who is "Miss Mohair of 1964," is finding New York City just as attractive as it finds her.

In fact, with her official week-long "Miss Mohair" duties over, she is going to spend another whole week on her own, just seeing New York.

Becky, a tall (five-eight), slim, (34-24-35) brown-eyed blonde, is from Fredericksburg, Tex. Her father, Hondo Crouch, raises Angora goats, the source of mohair, on a ranch adjoining the ranch of her maternal grandfather, Adolf Stieler, who was the "goat king of America" in 1945.

The ranch is about 20 miles from the President's, and Becky has often seen the LBJ plane fly overhead.

Becky recalls times when she was caring for as many as 20 "little orphan kids"—of the goat family—because their mothers had died giving birth or from pneumonia. "They're very delicate animals," she explains. Becky has never modeled, but she's a "clothes fiend" and has seen many a "Miss Mohair" selected to represent the Texas Angora Goat Growers Association. So it was the fulfillment of a longtime dream when she was crowned "Miss Mohair" last April at Brownwood, Tex.

For the rest of the year, sandwiched in between classes at the University of Texas, Becky will be modeling a collection of morning, afternoon and evening gowns designed by Charles Dickey of Texas and made out of mohair.

She'll model the clothes all over Texas, in California, Mexico, Oklahoma and elsewhere. When the year is over, she can keep all the clothes.

An art student who would like to do fashion designing, Becky hopes during her free week to see more art museums, more of the city's sights, and "eat as many different kinds of food as possible."

Fine Soil Needed

A level, loose, moist layer of fine soil over a firm seed bed is important for a good garden.

Miss Ranson Marries John Dale Lewis

LAMESA (SC) — Miss Martha Ann Ranson and John Dale Lewis were united in marriage at 3 p.m. Sunday in the chapel of First Baptist Church here. Dr. Guy H. Ranson, uncle of the bride, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Ranson of Lamesa, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lewis of Coleman.

The bride was escorted and given in marriage by her father. She wore a full length bridal gown of hand-clipped Chantilly lace designed with a scalloped portrait neckline and bracelet-length sleeves.

Re-embroidered lace dotted with seed pearls graced the neckline and the princess bodice flowed into a bouffant skirt which swept into a full-length chapel train. A teardrop crown of pearls enhanced her fingertip veil of silk illusion. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid.

MRS. JOHN DALE LEWIS

ATTENDANTS
Miss Linda Jean Ranson served her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Jan Jordan, cousin of the bride, Miss Sally Lewis, Coleman, sister-in-law of the bride, and Miss Ingrid Stone.

Gale Ann Ranson, niece of the bride, was flower girl.

Best man was David Petree of Abilene. Groomsmen were Bill Blythe, Dumas, James Drake, Hobbs, N.M., and Devin McNally of Albuquerque, N.M. Ushers were Jay Sanders, David Willis, Hart, John Cotton, Breckenridge, and James Harvey, Lubbock.

A wedding reception was held in the church parlor following the ceremony.

Following a short wedding trip the couple will make their home in Breckenridge. For traveling the bride wore a white lace suit. White accessories and a corsage from the bridal bouquet completed her ensemble.

The bride is a graduate of Lamesa High School and McMurry College. She was employed by Garland public schools during the 1963-64 school term.

A graduate of Coleman High, the bridegroom is a graduate of McMurry College. He is presently employed by the Breckenridge school system.

Forsan HD Given Crafts Program

Mrs. J. F. Skalicky gave a program on crafts made from inexpensive materials to the Forsan Home Demonstration Club last week in the clubhouse.

Mrs. Skalicky demonstrated scrub puffs made of nylon net, plastic match boxes of plastic tile, decorated coffee cans and an ear screw holder made from a bed spring.

Mrs. Charles Spurgin was hostess and served refreshments to eight members. Mrs. Janet Duffer was a new member.

Mrs. M. D. Coates Honored At Party

Mrs. M. D. Coates was honored at a bridal shower Friday evening. Hostesses were Miss Linda Myrick and Miss Nelda Myrick, 1105 Mulberry. Refreshments were served to seven guests.

Turnabout

A chance to find out how the other half lives was given to members of the Big Spring Country Club Saturday evening when the men donned women's clothes and the ladies were attired as the stronger sex. Mrs. H. J. Zinn, pictured at top, holds a gun on her "senior-it", and gay-nineties bathing beauty, Bill Ball, is protected from the beach boys by the distaff side of the family, who is nattily attired in a casual sports costume. The affair was held by the pool where barbecue was served by the reigning chefs, left. They were Odell Womack, Dr. H. F. Schwarzenbach, Morris Patterson and Tom South. Picnic tables dotted the landscape where guests visited informally over plates of chicken, red beans, salad and fruit appetizers.

HINTS FROM HELOISE
Starch Nurses' Caps To Get Perfect Results Every Time

Dear Heloise:
Here's my helpful hint which applies to washable nurses' caps.

After the caps have been washed and dried, submerge them in a heavy starch solution sufficient to cover them. Then lay them out on a smooth, flat surface, such as an aluminum or stainless steel cookie sheet, and smooth out perfectly with your fingers. Then expose the caps to the sun and when dry, "peel off." No ironing is necessary, and the caps stand up perfectly and the sun bleaches them.

The results are miraculous!
Charlotte Gross, R.N.

HELOISE

Ever tried using a window pane? It's fantastic. But be sure the window is clean. If the window is on the sunny side of the house, the sun will also bleach the cap. Heloise

Dear Heloise:
For those who braid or hook rugs, here's a hint for house cleaning time.

While sorting woolen garments—some of which are too good for the rag bag, I wash them, cut them into strips and fold.

I save plastic bags and put different colors of wool strips in each one. Thus, color and amount is visible.

If the bags are put away with moth balls for winter sewing,

the moths cannot get to them. Grandmother

Dear Heloise:
For mothers of two and three-year-olds who need entertaining while mother gets her work done, here's a trick I discovered:

I have a little girl, two years old, and I give her a handful of my colored quilt scraps, and she will sit for hours just sorting and playing with them.

It's amazing how much washing and ironing I can get done. Mother

Dear Heloise:
My husband and I have found that the large, hard-cover check book is best suited to our personal needs—the kind with three checks to each page that you tear out one by one—but we had a hard time keeping track of our deposit slips.

Then I hit upon the idea of pasting an envelope to the inside front cover. Now when a deposit is entered in the book, the slip goes into the envelope and there's no danger of losing it. Betty

Dear Heloise:
Skirt hangers with clips are excellent for drying nylon stockings. They end the trouble of picking up nylons that have fallen.

Commissioners Study County Audit Report

Wade Choate, Howard County auditor, was complimented for the improvement he has achieved in the work of his office in the past year in the report made to the Howard County Commissioners Court Monday by Neil G. Hilliard, accountant. Hilliard had been employed to make a complete audit of all county offices and records for the year ending Dec. 31, 1963. The report, covering 72 printed pages, was being studied by the commissioners court Monday morning. No important discrepancies were revealed in the audit, Hilliard told the court. In general, the affairs of the county are good and the records are in satisfactory shape. The report did recommend that the commissioners give serious consideration to installing machine bookkeeping in the office of the auditor. Such a machine, Hilliard pointed out, will enable the office to keep far more complete records and accounts with no more employees. Stress was again laid upon all officials to reconcile their bank statements and check books each month to keep an up-to-date record on financial conditions of each account in all offices. It was noted an improvement in this has been made since the last audit. A closer control on all physical properties of the county should be maintained, the auditor said.

LODGE

in his campaign to win the Republican nomination away from Goldwater. President Johnson accepted his resignation a week ago.

Lodge left Saigon on Sunday and flew directly to Washington with a refueling stop at Honolulu. He looked fresh and fit when he and Mrs. Lodge stepped down from the military jet tanker.

Lodge was met by his successor, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who will be going to Saigon in a few days; William P. Bundy, assistant secretary of state; William Sullivan, chief of the Vietnam task force in the State Department; and Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Alexander and their two daughters. Mrs. Alexander is the sister of Mrs. Lodge.

Lodge said he would see President Johnson and would confer by telephone shortly with Scranton. He did not know for the moment when he would see Scranton and he said he had no plans to get in touch with Goldwater.

Of the war in Viet Nam, Lodge said "We had some favorable developments in the last few days."

"Just before I left, I received reports that for the first time people were not feeding the Viet Cong. These reports came from persons who have always been reliable in the past and who have not been particularly optimistic," Lodge said.

"The Viet Cong have stepped up terrorism against women and children. They have always been politically smart in the past and they have generally spared women and children."

"Essentially this is a contest over who can win people over. I think these are hopeful surface signs. Obviously there is no victory yet. But I believe that if we persist there isn't any question at all that there will be a victory in South Viet Nam."

Lodge was asked whether he thinks Viet Nam will be an issue in the campaign.

"Generally speaking any matter of public policy is subject to debate," he said. "I don't see how it is practical to make

New Medical Facility Opens At State Hospital

A new Medical and Surgical Building at the Big Spring State Hospital, which was completed June 5 at an approximate cost of $385,000, opened its doors for the first time today to patients.

The one-story red-brick structure, which is in the same style of architecture as the rest of the buildings on the grounds, was begun June 10, 1963, and although completed over three weeks ago, was not opened until today to give doctors and other persons in the building time to move in equipment.

Olen L. Puckett, Big Spring, was architect on the structure along with Page - Southerland-Page, Austin. The construction was done by J. W. Cooper Construction Co., Odessa.

Completely air-conditioned, with a 120-ton year-round unit, patients using the building will be taking advantage of an estimated $50,000 of new equipment spread around the spacious 22,000 square feet of floor space. Some of the equipment in the operating rooms and labs is the

WASHINGTON (AP)—The two leading candidates for the Republican presidential nomination plunge into the last two weeks of the pre-convention campaign today, still trying to line up convention delegates.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, the front runner who can win on the first ballot if he keeps the delegates credited to him in an Associated Press survey, meets tonight with the big New Jersey delegation in Trenton.

Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, battling hard to forestall a first-ballot victory by Goldwater in hopes that he can win it himself on a later roll call, heads south today for chats with delegates from North Carolina, Georgia and Tennessee.

Tuesday both men address the key Illinois delegation in Chicago.

The AP survey of the 1,306 delegates to the GOP convention starting July 13 in San Francisco showed this first-ballot breakdown based on primary election commitments, instructions, pledges and stated preference:

- Goldwater 689
- Scranton 137
- Nelson A. Rockefeller 105
- Henry Cabot Lodge 13
- Margaret Chase Smith 13
- Richard M. Nixon 6
- Favorite sons 210
- Uncommitted 111

The nomination requires 653 votes. None of the 137 listed for Scranton are bound to him. Of Goldwater's total, all are committed, instructed or pledged except some 251 delegates who say they favor the senator but are not necessarily bound to him.

These are the delegates from whom Scranton has been seeking support in his travels across the country.

Hair Dressers Visit Hospital

Following its regular custom, members of the Big Spring Chapter of the Texas Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association, went to the Big Spring State Hospital Sunday to provide permanents, hair cuts and shampoos for patients.

Eight of the town's beauty shop workers were on hand to give 15 permanents, 10 haircuts and eight shampoos to as many patients.

Jewel Wheeler is president of the local chapter of the association. The group goes to the hospital each three months for these services.

only old equipment transferred to the new building. The professional staff in the building will consist of two doctors, one dentist, one lab technician and two X-ray specialists. Dr. Ralph Lydic will be the dentist, Robert Seyverin will be the lab-man and Mrs. Ruby Frieron and Mrs. Ita E. Nole will be in the X-ray room. There will be a neurologist and surgeon assigned to the building, but they will not arrive at the hospital until early in July.

There will be room to handle 56 medical and surgical patients. A trained corps of nurses will be on duty at all times to serve in the hospital part of the building.

Other parts of the building include a medical library which currently has 325 books and will be added to in the future; a dietetic kitchen; and an out-patient clinic which will be capable of taking care of 285-300 outpatients a month.

The head of the building will be the Chief of Medical Services, a position at the hospital which has not been filled, but for which someone is expected to be named in the next week.

An open house for the public will be held after different sections of the building begin functioning smoothly.

Damage Suit Asks $26,925

Bobby Key has brought a damage suit in his own name and for his minor son, Maurice, against Nalco Chemical Co. for $26,925. The suit was filed today in 118th District Court.

The suit stems from a traffic mishap of April 8 when Maurice, getting out of a school bus which had pulled into the driveway of a store on the Snyder highway, raced across the highway south only to be hit by a vehicle owned by the defendant.

Funeral Set Tuesday For Man Hanged In Jail Here

Funeral rites will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday at Sanders Memorial Chapel, Lubbock, for James Robert Rich, 26, of 2411 Colgate, Lubbock. He was found hanged in a cell at the Big Spring police station about 11:30 p.m. Saturday.

The body was discovered by Officers Pedro Montemayor and Bernard L. Johnston, who opened the cell to imprison another man.

Rich had been placed in a holding cell on the first floor of the police station about 9:15 p.m. Saturday. Police Chief Jay Banks said that charges of drunkenness and disturbance had been lodged, in addition to a count of aggravated assault filed with Justice of Peace Walter Grice.

Banks said that Officers Walter Johnson and Harold Bull had been called to 206 Mobile Saturday and took Rich into custody. The complaint had resulted from an incident with Rich's estranged wife, according to the police chief.

Police said no statement had been obtained from the widow. Grice ruled death by suicide after Dr. Roscoe Cowper examined the body, which was taken to Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home and later transferred to Sanders Funeral Home in Lubbock. Banks said Rich apparently hanged himself with his shirt. It was tied around his neck and one end attached to a window bar of the cell. The medical examination indicated Rich had been dead about 1 1/2 hours when found.

Rev. R. Max Maguire, chaplain of the Big Spring State Hospital, will officiate at services and burial will follow in Wolf- forth Cemetery.

Born Aug. 9, 1937 at Wolf- forth, James Rich was a graduate of Freshup High School in Wolforth. He also attended Howard County Junior College in Big Spring. He was social director of the Big Spring State Hospital three years before moving to Lubbock over a year ago. Since moving to Lubbock, he was employed by Midas Muffler Co. as an auto parts salesman.

Surviving are his wife, Mary; one son, James Austin Rich; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Rich; Wolforth; three brothers, Dr. Charles C. Rich, Big Spring; David Rich, Wolforth; and Daniel Rich, Wolforth; and the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Rich, Wolforth.

Pickets Walk At White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

WASHINGTON (AP) — Several hundred pickets from the Congress of Racial Equality held "a vigil for Mississippi freedom workers" in front of the White House Sunday night, holding lighted candles and chanting, "We shall overcome."

On a separate part of the sidewalk, 15 pickets from the American Nazi party paraded, carrying the American flag, the swastika of Nazi Germany and placards that read, "Who needs niggers" and "Send troops to New York to protect white victims from black crime."

There was no word on whether President Johnson, who had returned to the White House earlier from Minneapolis, watched any of the picketing.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury Department plans to raise production of coins by 73 per cent during the next six months and double it within a year.

The moves, announced Sunday in an effort to overcome a national coin shortage, will bring annual production by next June to a rate of more than 6 billion, compared with 4.3 billion for the fiscal year ending Wednesday.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postal officials say they are happy with the progress of the zip code, launched a year ago Wednesday.

Some 40,000 large-volume mailers have agreed to zip code their mail and pre-sort it to speed handling. Large-volume mail accounts for 75 per cent of first-class mail.

Man Seriously Injured In Shooting Early Sunday

A knifing incident on a Big Spring street late Saturday night precipitated a family brawl and a shooting in which one man was seriously wounded early Sunday morning.

Charges of assault with intent to murder have been filed against Maximo Cuellar, 27, Knott Route, for shooting Alex M. Sandoval, 54, Sandoval, in the Howard County Hospital Foundation, was shot through the left lung. Attendants said he was improved today, but his condition Sunday was regarded as serious. Cuellar has been released on $7,500 bond set by Walter Grice, justice of the peace.

A charge of aggravated assault has been prepared in county court against Jessie Barrientes, 18, who is alleged to have slightly wounded Jessie Sandoval, 21, son of Alex. Barrientes is also at liberty on $7,500 bond previously set when it was planned to file a more serious charge in his case. Jessie Cuellar, 20, arrested in connection with the shooting-knifing episode, will be released, according to Aubrey Standard, deputy sheriff. Jessie was with his older brother and Barrientes, but apparently had nothing to do with the difficulty.

The tangled story of the standoff, according to Standard, who with Jack White, patrolman, investigated the case, when Lupe Barrientes, aunt of the Cuellars and young Barrientes, was slightly wounded in an episode in the 400 block on NW 4th.

Chino Joe Sandoval, 18, a son of Alex, said he cut the woman about 11:30 p.m. At 2:30 a.m. Sunday, Standard was told, the two Cuellars and Barrientes showed up at the Alex Sandoval residence on the Knott Route. The persons involved are all related, Standard said.

They were admitted to the house and sometime later an argument over the knifing of Lupe Barrientes developed. Standard said that he was told knives were drawn. There was a scuffle and Jessie Sandoval was cut on the left arm and in the stomach. His injuries were minor. As the trouble grew, it is alleged that Maximo Cuellar pulled a pistol and fired four shots. One struck the elder Sandoval in the chest. The three wanted in the case were arrested later by Standard and White.

Rotary Installs New Officers

Hicks Allen, Snyder, incoming governor of District 573, Rotary International, will be in charge of installation of new officers for the new year beginning July 1, when the Big Spring club meets at noon Tuesday.

Wives of Rotarians are invited to attend the meeting, which will be the last for the present year, E. P. Driver, outgoing president, said Monday.

Jerry Worthing, who has just returned from the Rotary International convention in Ontario, Canada, is incoming president.

Lee Key's Father Dies Friday

Isaac E. Key, father of Lee A. Key, Big Spring, died Friday night at Breckenridge. He was 86 and a retired farmer. He was preceded in death by his wife a year ago. Services for Mr. Key were held Sunday afternoon in Breckenridge. Besides his son here, Mr. Key is survived by another son, Orville J. Key, Weldon; three daughters, Mrs. Bill Stone, Breckenridge, Mrs. Hazel Ritter, Clovis, N. M., and Mrs. Dale Barton, Southgate, Calif.; and 12 grandchildren.

Weather Forecast

Rainfall Monday night will be limited to widely scattered areas over the Southeast and the central and southern Plains. It will be warm and humid over the eastern half of the nation. Warmer readings are expected over the Pacific Northwest and Northern plateau. Little change is expected elsewhere with the exception of cooler temperatures over the northern Plains. Mussel Shell Trade Slack In Alabama

STEVENSON, Ala. (AP)—Lee Garner, whose Tennessee River mussel shells have buttoned dress shirts and spawned pearl necklaces for two decades, was clad in overalls — and on his knees.

Instead of one of his 40 out-board engines, Stevenson's mussel man was fixing a power lawn mower—and his position is symbolic.

Digging for mussels in the Tennessee, once a million dollar yearly industry providing jobs for 1,000 fishermen, also is on its knees. In the past 10 years, musseling slumped before the plastics industry, rose again with postwar Japan—and now is threatened with the disappearance of the oyster-like mussel itself.

KILLING MUSSELS
"Something is getting into the river and killing all the mussels from Chattanooga to Savannah, Tenn.," says Garner, at 39 a grandfather who has been musseling since he was 18. "Things got so bad about a year ago that I bought myself a little hardware store in town."

That explains why Garner was fixing the lawn mower, instead of one of the engines powering his fleet of flat-bottomed river boats. And the Tennessee Valley Authority is spending $50,000 to try to explain why things got so bad. As yet, TVA has not embraced Garner's theory that pollution is killing the shell fish.

PEARL SEED
Whatever the trouble, the pig-toe mussel which grows on the Tennessee River bed from Chattanooga to Savannah is the key to Garner's fortunes and that of the industry of which he is a part. Its hard, nearly flawless, white shell has been used in recent years by Japanese growers as seed or nucleus for the cultured pearls produced by their captive oysters.

For some reason, shells from the many other varieties of mussels in the Tennessee, or from pig-toe shells found in other rivers, seem to lack the qualities needed to promote first-rate pearls. And because mussels look alike to the uninitiated, it takes an experienced eye like Garner's to separate the good from the bad.

When he began musseling 21 years ago, he shipped his shells mostly to Muscatine, Iowa. There, tons of shells were turned into pearl buttons.

RISE OF PLASTICS
By 1955, plastics had popped pearl buttons from the market, as nearly all button manufacturers in Muscatine converted to man-made materials. But the shell game bounced back with the appearance of a new market in the Orient.

The Japanese found that bits of Tennessee pig-toe shell, hand-rolled into tiny balls and inserted into oyster shells, formed a perfect pearl nucleus. The result has been virtually a direct link between the Tennessee River and Japan's Inland Sea. Mussel shell prices rose as high as $180 a ton.

"In good years, I've shipped up to 400 tons of shells to Japan," said Garner. He exports the shells in 25-ton lots, but "this year, I doubt if we've shipped more than 50 tons."

One reason is the price, which currently is quoted at $47 a ton, the result of a backlog of shells in Japanese warehouses.

House Nears Rights Windup

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House takes final congressional action on the civil rights bill this week as it pushes toward a recess in advance of the Republican National Convention.

The sweeping bill is slated for approval Wednesday or Thursday. Then it is to go to President Johnson's desk in time for a Fourth of July signing ceremony.

Ahead of civil rights on the House calendar is the annual foreign aid appropriations bill, which at $3.3 billion has been cut less than any previous bill.

Rep. Otto E. Passman, D-La., defeated in his own subcommittee on efforts to slash it more, will take his fight to the House floor.

The Senate takes up Wednesday the federal pay raise bill, which raises many categories of federal workers' pay, including a big boost for congressmen and senators. The House bill gave members a $7,500 raise to $30,000 a year.

Also slated for Senate action are a proposal to expand the federal food stamp plan, several annual appropriation bills and extension of the federal highway program.

Senate and House conferees meet today to work out a compromise in excise tax bills. The Senate bill included repeal of taxes on such items as costume jewelry, handbags and cosmetics and reduction of others.

Cactus Paints Stand Up In West Texas Weather

The hot weather coming at this time of year makes home owners take a good look at the paint on their homes. It is also a good time to give all buildings, not recently repainted, another coat of paint manufactured for West Texas weather and conditions.

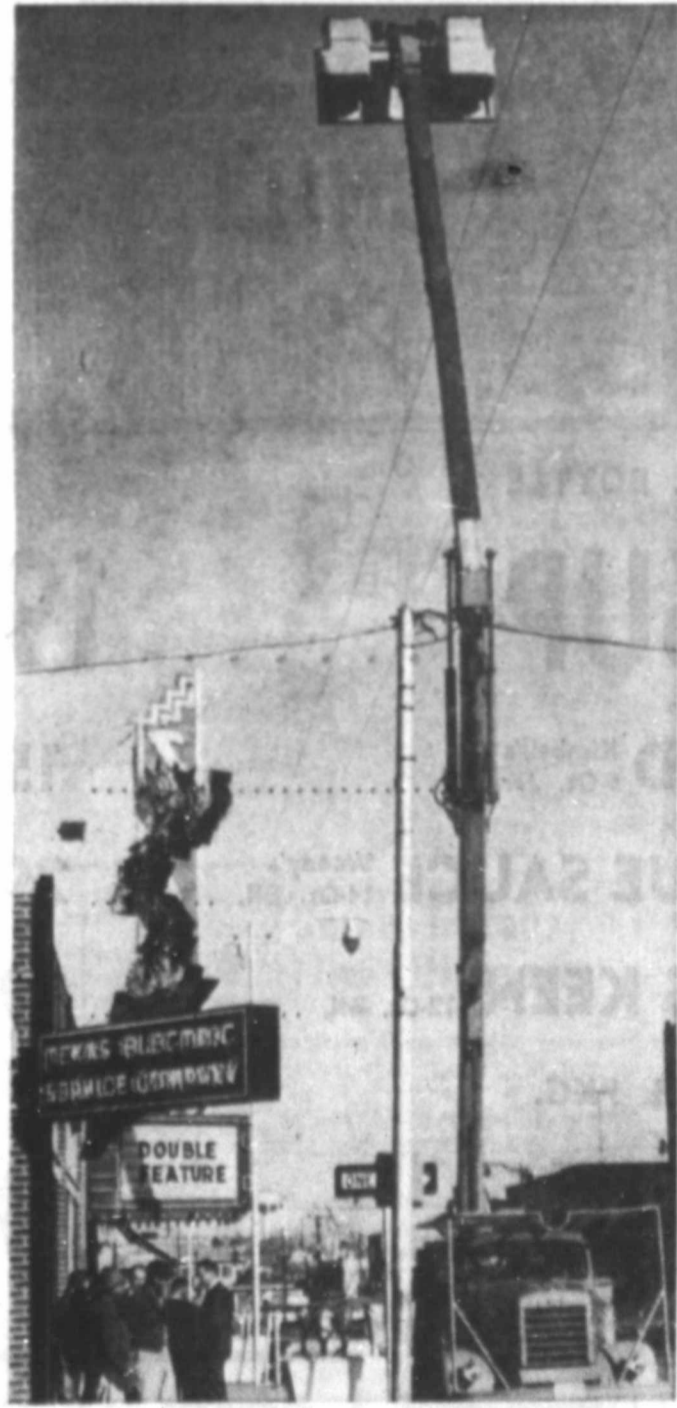

Cactus, a local industry, manufactures paints for homes, both interior and exterior, business buildings, and all uses, to stand up under the weather conditions of this area, including the dust storms.

The home with paint beginning to crack or peel or look "dingy" should be made to take on a fresher look to match the beautiful lawn and shrubs around it, and about the only way to get that look is with Cactus paint. A detailed system of testing and analyzing goes into the work of manufacturing paint before it is put on the market, and it must meet high standards before Cactus Paint Co. approves it for use. Take a look at some of the testing frames placed outside the plant to take the beatings weather hands out.

If you want a room painted to match the rest of the house, a Cactus job will give you what you want. If you need a color not shown on the color cards or charts, or if it is one of your own choosing, or if you need to match a present color, Cactus men can help you.

Paint is used to serve two purposes. One is to give a desired and pleasing appearance outside and inside, and the other is to preserve building materials, whether used for the complete house, or for trim.

Cactus has men experienced in making paints. They know what basic ingredients must go into the mixture in addition to the colors. They know what is required to make the paint stand up in all kinds of weather.

Riding High!

Two men in the buckets at the top of this 65-foot bucket lift truck, can do better and faster work at high elevations than they formerly could do with their climbing spikes and belts, when tools and equipment had to be pulled up by ropes. Texas Electric Service Company has added this truck to its ever-increasing fleet of modern trucks and equipment for faster service in building and maintaining transmission lines.

NIKITA KHRUSHCHEV ... arrives in Oslo

Topless Suits Rival Nikita In Norway

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev arrived today in Norway, a country solidly committed to the Atlantic alliance and more interested in topless swimsuits than in Soviet-Norwegian relations.

A ragged cheer went up from a crowd in front of the Oslo City Hall as Khrushchev, bareheaded and looking rested after his two-day sail from Sweden, stepped ashore.

Norwegian Premier Einar Gerhardsen, who says Khrushchev's five-day visit has absolutely no political significance, greeted the Soviet leader on the last leg of his Scandinavian tour.

"I am glad your visit finally has been arranged," Gerhardsen told Khrushchev. Earlier visits were called off because of hostile newspaper comment.

The Norwegian premier has described Khrushchev's trip as "nothing more than a good will trip to return the visit I made to the Soviet Union in 1953."

In his welcoming remarks the premier said Norway and the Soviet Union have a common border "which never has given occasion to strife."

"I am also glad about economic cooperation across the border, cooperation which I hope will help create good relationships between good neighbors," Gerhardsen added.

"As we came to Denmark and Sweden, we come to your country with an open heart," the Soviet premier said, rattling through a brief speech with an air of disinterest.

One elderly woman in the crowd shouted "murderer" until a policeman clamped a white-gloved hand over her mouth.

Khrushchev's talks with Gerhardsen Tuesday probably will deal with nothing more than the general state of world affairs and include a perhaps lengthy discussion on disarmament. Foreign Minister Halvard Lange has made it clear that Norway's security policy and relations within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization would not be a subject.

Soviet Envoy Visits Parks

GRAND TETON NATIONAL PARK, Wyo. (AP) — A smiling tourist and his wife, traveling alone in a rented car, toured Wyoming's scenic peaks unnoticed Sunday.

The man was Anatoly Dobrynin, Soviet ambassador to the United States. After viewing an illuminated eruption of Old Faithful geyser at Yellowstone, Dobrynin and his wife drove on to Grand Teton. Several hours later they left quietly for Denver.

NEW YORK (AP) — French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville said Sunday night he believes the United States cannot "win that war" in South Viet Nam.

Speaking on the first interview program ever transmitted across the Atlantic by the U.S. satellite Telstar, Couve de Murville said the Viet Nam war is "political and psychological," with its real purpose to "win the people."

"You must take account that ... it is not a military war," he said.

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Billie Sol Estes, onetime financial wizard whose farm empire's collapse created a national scandal, presided quietly at the opening of a new import-export business bearing his name.

Previously the shop was called the Rio Loan, a pawnshop operated by Paul Stone. Paper bags covered the firm's sign. When they were removed Saturday, Rio Loan had another title added to it: Billie Sol Estes Import and Export.

Valley Couple On Honeymoon After $250,000 Celebration

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Fausto Yturria Jr., fled out of Brownsville early today on their honeymoon, leaving in their wake hundreds of empty champagne bottles, 1,000 celebrating friends and a wedding rumored to have cost $250,000.

The group crowded into Sacred Heart Catholic Church here Sunday night to watch Sandra Longoria, 19, of Matamoros, Mexico, and Fausto Yturria Jr., 28, of Brownsville exchange wedding vows.

Caterers estimated more than 1,200 persons attended the wedding reception.

MAJOR CITIES

They would not reveal the itinerary of their trip, but family members said the couple would visit major cities in the United States, and tour the 29 Mexican states.

The new Mrs. Yturria is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Longoria.

The banker-industrialist Longoria and his four brothers are the leading cotton merchants in Mexico. They also own Banco Longoria, S.A. (Longoria banks incorporated).

The banks' 22 branches and Longoria cotton and flour mills are scattered all over Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Longoria denied the wedding reception cost a quarter million dollars, but she conceded:

"By the time I get through with the clothes, accessories, the reception and everything else, it may not miss it far."

Longoria said: "This is my only daughter, and I wanted her to have a nice wedding."

FARMS, RANCHES

Yturria is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fausto Yturria Sr. The family owns farms, ranches, cattle and other real estate in the United States. The groom's ancestors settled in what is now South Texas when it was owned by Mexico.

More than 300 bottles of champagne for the reception were chilled in a small swimming pool at the hotel. In a larger pool, life-size figures of the bride and groom rowed in a boat which floated among flower blossoms and lighted candles.

Two long buffet tables supported about 30 dishes including huge salmon flown in from Alaska, hams, turkey and huge roasts of beef barbecued in the hotel garden before reception guests.

The wedding cake was almost four feet high. Each of its five tiers was lighted by lamps built into cake stands.

Farm Smells Clash With Urban Sprawl

WASHINGTON (AP)—Agricultural sanitation and its effect on the so-called urban sprawl is becoming a serious problem, according to the Extension Service of the Agriculture Department.

In a report, it states:

"When urban sprawl rubs shoulders with poultry, dairy and other livestock farms, human friction occurs because of animal odor, dust and flies."

The report said the California Extension Service has been facing up to this problem in an effort to find what can be done to reduce such friction. The department said the program is growing in many other parts of the country.

"Agricultural sanitation is not a problem of agriculture alone," it said. "It can be an irritant and an economic factor both on the farm and in the urban area."

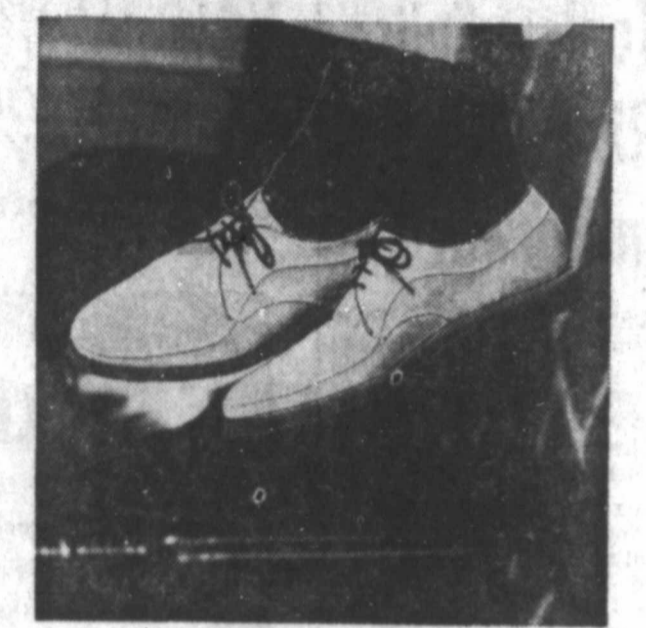

The report, prepared by John J. McElroy, California Extension Service program leader, said:

"Conflict at times has become serious, including charges and countercharges, difficulties between neighbors, ordinances and economic stresses."

"Lawsuits have not been limited to city dwellers suing the farmer. The farmer has objected to farmer, charging that lack of sanitation affected the production of crops."

The report said that in California, research covering a wide range of problems is under way. Involved, it said, are entomologists, engineers, agronomists and soil experts.

In Los Angeles County, two cattle feedlots became sources of odors that resulted in lawsuits. The idea of a "smell panel" was conceived and put to use. People in the surrounding urban areas were selected to sniff the air systematically and record reactions in accordance with a schedule.

Human Fears Hampering Use Of Airborne Vaccine

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Whole populations can be immunized against disease without the use of needles or pills, a Denver scientist said today, but human fears prevent use of the new technique.

"We have become accustomed to being injected," lamented Dr. Gardner Middlebrook, director of research at National Jewish Hospital in Denver.

He said that mass immunization through airborne vaccines is possible as a means of preventing tuberculosis, polio and measles.

A pioneer in the research of immunizing by inhaling vaccines, Middlebrook developed an airborne infection apparatus several years ago. The device is being used to test this technique on animals at several research centers.

Since 1951 U.S. scientists have made great strides in developing the technique which they call aerogenic immunization.

The basis of such inoculation depends on the use of attenuated organisms, living germs which are weakened but which are highly infectious. The organisms are sprayed into a chamber in closely controlled amounts.

A single sniff by a human, Middlebrook says, and he's immune.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN
(1964; By The Chess Tribune)

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:
♠A Q J 6 3 ♣A K 10 7 2 ♢Q 8 4 ♠6

The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1♠ 2♦ 3♠ Pass
2♥ Pass 4♠ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Five spades. You should have enough material to produce 12 tricks, but you are faced with the possible loss of two tricks in diamonds. The five spades bid should convey this information or message. If partner can control the second lead of diamonds, you wish him to bid a slam. A Blackwood call would be ineffective if partner acknowledged only one ace.

Q. 2—As South you hold:
♠A K Q 8 7 ♠6 3 ♣J 10 3 ♠A 10

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1♦ Pass 1♠ Pass
2♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Three clubs. You should lay some foundation for investigation of slam possibilities. If partner has a good diamond suit and some kind of heart control, there may be an easy slam. Your next move will depend upon partner's reaction to your three club bid.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
♠6 4 ♠5 ♣A J 10 8 ♠A J 10 8 6 4

The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1♠ Pass 2♥ Pass
3♠ Pass 3♠ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Three no trump. Showing the diamonds at this point would not meet with our approval. Partner's blood pressure has obviously been raised to a high point and a four diamond bid might induce him to take unduly drastic action. A slightly discouraging note should be injected into the proceedings at this time.

Q. 4—You have 80 part score and as South you hold:
♠A Q J 10 8 6 4 ♠Q ♣A J 5 3 ♠6

The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1♠ Pass 2♠ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Three spades. This strongly suggests to partner that you are looking for further information which may lead to a possible slam. It is not necessary to bid any more than three spades and it would be premature to show the diamonds at this stage.

Q. 5—As South you hold:
♠A K Q 10 ♣A K 10 8 7 4 ♢8 3 ♠K

The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
2♠ Pass Pass ?

What do you bid?
A.—Our first choice is a bid of four hearts. This is by no means a preempt, but announces that you would like to play at four hearts even if partner has a very weak hand. If he has any strength, he is at perfect liberty to go on. The only other choice is a take-out double.

Q. 6—As South you hold:
♠K Q J 8 5 4 ♠K J ♣A Q 8 5 ♠A K

The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
2♠ Pass 3NT Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Six no trump or six spades. Partner is marked almost to a certainty with the king of diamonds and an ace. This is practically the only holding which would justify a jump response to three no trump.

Q. 7—As South you hold:
♠A Q J 5 ♠Q J 6 3 ♣K ♠A K 5 4

The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1♠ 1♦ 1♥ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Two spades, forcing to game. A mere jump rebid in hearts would be inadequate. Partner needs very little to produce a slam and an effort should be made to describe the great power of your hand. On the following round it will be time enough to show your fine heart support.

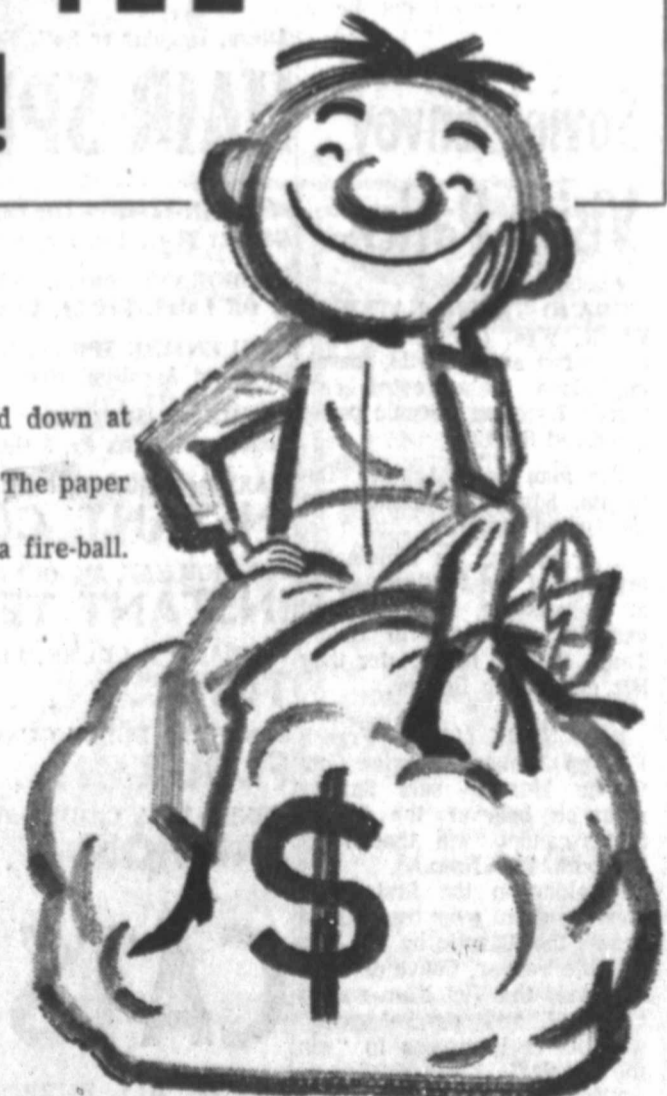

Q. 8—As South you hold:
♠J 7 ♠Q 9 ♣K 10 8 7 4 3 ♠A J 2

The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
3♠ Pass Pass 4♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Five clubs. Partner has announced a powerful hand on which he can win most of the 10 tricks in his own hand. You may have just enough to bring the total to 12. This will show the adverse suit's ace and also a willingness to play at hearts.

Pistols Not Involved In Fatal Crash On Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Two pistols found in the wreckage played no part in the plane crash in central Formosa June 29 that killed 20 Americans and 37 others, police said today. Officials of the Civil Air Transport line had urged an investigation to see if the pilot had been shot. Col. Chang Chen, the spokesman for provincial police, said tests showed neither of the pistols had been fired.

ment to end Italy's 25th post-war government crisis. Moro's Socialist, Democratic Socialist and Republican allies in the old Cabinet issued statements Sunday calling for a renewal of the coalition with the Christian Democrats.

Tax Equalization Board Members Talk Procedures

A conference on procedures to be followed when the boards of equalization for the county, city and schools convene July 1 was held Monday morning in the county commissioners courtroom.

The Howard County Commissioners Court will sit as equalization board for the county, junior college and state.

Bill Sheppard, Lawrence Robinson and Bill Sheppard will serve jointly as equalization board members for the school district and for the City of Big Spring.

They were present at the meeting along with Novis Womack, tax employe for all three agencies, Perry Johnson, representing the city, and J. O. Hagood for the schools.

The equalization sessions, to be held in the county commissioners courtroom and the county judge's chambers starting Wednesday, will be to hear arguments or inquiries by property owners relative to the valuations laid against their property for tax purposes.

PARIS (AP)—Premier Ion Gheorghe Maurer will lead a Romanian government delegation on a visit to France next month for economic and political talks.

The trip comes during a rift over economic policies between Moscow and Bucharest. The Romanians have refused to be integrated in the Kremlin's economic design for Eastern Europe.

The Cabinet resigned and Moro was named caretaker premier last Friday after the Christian Democrats lost a parliamentary vote on its proposal to give additional aid for church schools. The leftists abstained on doctrinal grounds.

SINGAPORE, Malaysia (AP)—Police have arrested 54 persons for Communist subversive activity in a crackdown at the Chinese-language Nanyang University, informed sources said today.

The roundup began Saturday. Another 20 left-wing students are still sought, informants said.

Gasoline Truck Rolls Into Pickup

A gasoline truck operated by Cleveland Shaffer, Richmond, slipped from its parked position at the Wagon Wheel Restaurant, 803 E. 3rd, about 9:30 a.m. Sunday, and was in collision with the parked pickup of Richard Kunkel, Lamesa. Damage was minor, according to police.

Locations of other accidents that occurred during the weekend, that were not previously reported, and drivers involved: Tenth at Lamesa, Virginia Seza, 700 NW 10th, and Gordon McGuire Jr., Lamesa; 1218 W. 3rd, Alvin Baker, 1703 W. 2nd, and Sam Baker, 1218 W. 3rd (parked); Fourth at Benton, Valentine Levaino, 1709 Meadow, and Dave Brown, 404 Benton; Bennett House parking lot, parked car of Frances Fisher, 900 Runnels, and unknown motorist.

Bomb Blasts Punctuate Troops Leaving Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The last United Nations troops are leaving the Congo with a bang, from exploding grenades lobbed by terrorists into polling stations and the wedding feast of a chief of the Baluba tribe.

The bombs injured nearly 100 people Saturday as the Congo opened a nationwide referendum on a new constitution. Agriculture Minister Constantin Tshila-Mwana was among the wounded.

"National reconciliation" was the keynote of frenzied politicking. It was sounded most loudly by ex-President Moise Tshombe of Katanga, back after a year of self-imposed exile in Europe.

"I am convinced that a total and sincere reconciliation of all Congolese is the only chance of saving this country from misery and anarchy," the former secessionist told hundreds of cheering Congolese a few hours after he returned Friday.

FROM BRUSSELS
On Saturday, Security police chief Victor Nendaka was amazed to see South Kasai's deposed "Mulopwe," or god-emperor, Albert Kalonji, step from a plane from Brussels.

"I am still the Mulopwe," Kalonji told newsmen. Kalonji had been a fugitive for more than two years from a 30-month sentence for torturing political enemies. Officials said the charges "had all been fixed."

One Baluba leader won't be around for the reconciliation maneuvers. Messages from the east said North Katanga Provincial President Jason Sendwe had been hacked to death by rebels some days ago when they seized Albertville, his provincial capital.

Sendwe, 47, was cut down with machetes along with Provincial Vice President Fortunat Kabangi-Numbi and several of Sendwe's aides. Sendwe was Tshombe's arch enemy, but he apparently was slaughtered as revenge for the massacre of about 200 anti-Sendwe youths when the Congolese army took Albertville away from the rebels for awhile in May.

SEPARATIST
Tshombe was greeted by delirious cheers when he demanded freedom for Antoine Gizenga, Communist-backed separatist leader in Stanleyville.

Gizenga has been detained for two and a half years on the island of Bula-Bemba at the mouth of the Congo River. Informed sources said he rejected a government offer of liberty if he would join a "round table of reconciliation."

Gizenga's supporters were believed responsible for the grenade attacks Saturday. The terrorists were thought to have been acting on orders from the Communist-supported "National Liberation Committee" of exiled extremists in neighboring Brazzaville. They seek to overthrow Premier Cyrille Adoula's regime.

Absent from Leopoldville's political cockpit are pro-Communist leaders of two rebellions which the Congolese army has not been able to check—Pierre Mulele in Kwilu Province and Gaston Soumialot in Kivu Province.

PACKING CASES
In the dim corridors of the U.N. Congo force's headquarters on the fourth floor of the Hotel Royale, packing cases were being nailed shut and colonels wandered aimlessly about. Come what may in the Congo, there is nothing they can do about it now.

The U.N. force once numbered more than 20,000 men, but only a few remain. They will fly away Tuesday, the Congo's fourth independence day. The last man to leave will be Gen. J. Aguyi-Ironsi, the Congo's last U.N. force commander, a towering Nigerian who carries a stuffed baby crocodile under his arm instead of a swagger stick.

Business View Brightens In '64

NEW YORK (AP)—So far 1964 has been a year for the books — certainly for the front pages.

—A year that has seen Uncle Sam rather than the boss sweeten many take-home paychecks.

—Seen investors scramble for shares in a space venture and for rights to buy the biggest of ever of down-to-earth corporate common shares.

—Seen the Dow-Jones industrial stock average go above the 800 point level.

—The job total climb above 71 million but with unemployment only slightly nicked.

—Corporate profits soar to a surprisingly high record.

—Personal incomes and spending and debt set new highs — and also the cost of living.

—A business upturn set a postwar record for long life without assistance of government spending for armed conflict.

PREDICTIONS

—Businessmen steadily revising upward their predictions for output, sales, profits, spending for expansion.

Each of the six months has had its quota of news of special interest to businessmen and consumers.

President Johnson predicted in January that the total output of goods and services this year would reach $623 billion, or $40 billion more than in 1963. He also caused a stir in business and taxpayer circles by proposing to spend a bit less in the fiscal year starting July 1 and to cut the next Treasury deficit to half of the estimate for the current year.

In February the President signed the federal income tax cut bill, estimated to save taxpayers $11.5 billion, with corporations benefitting by $2.4 billion. American Telephone & Telegraph stirred the investment market with a 2-for-1 stock split and an offer to its stockholders of rights to buy $1,223,000,000 more, at a price $46 a share below the market price at that time. It was the biggest common stock offer on record, and gobbled up.

STOCK MARKET

On the rise for months, the stock market in March finally pierced the 800-point level of the Dow-Jones industrial price index. It was at a record 839.99 by June 24, and other popular averages also were at their highs.

Americans, accustomed for several years to large deficits in international payments, were told that a surprising turn had all but brought the books with the rest of the world into balance. The first quarter ended with corporate profits after taxes soaring to $31 billion annual rate, up $5.7 billion in a year; the Gross National Product at an annual rate of $609 billion, compared with $571.8 billion the year before; and wages and salaries at $323.6 billion against $304.5 billion.

Steel companies in May joined the parade of large corporations notably in the auto and oil industries, announcing big expansion spending plans. And the rails pleased stock traders by reporting that earnings were picking up after a long drought. Industrial output went to a record high of 130.3 per cent of the 1957-59 average.

Stock of the Communications Satellite Corporation was snapped up by the public in June. Auto plants sent the first half output above the previous record, 4,257,150 cars in 1955. Effects of the tax cut began to appear in retail sales as well as in increasing business ordering and planning.

Farming—The Red Flop

Communism's most spectacular economic failures to date have been in farm output. This is doubly embarrassing to the Communists, for upgrading agricultural productivity is the most pressing problem facing most of the underdeveloped countries which are now the prime target for Communist expansion.

Communist sensitivity on this subject was recently revealed by Soviet Premier Khrushchev's resentment over what he considered the patronizing attitude he encountered in Denmark, one of the most intensely cultivated lands in the world. Conceding that "we cannot permit people to point at us and say the Communists cannot solve their agricultural difficulties," he was irritated into declaring that "I will tear up my party card" if the Soviet Union has not solved its farm problems within seven or eight years.

Under Khrushchev, Russia has tried decentralized management of collective farms, opening of "virgin lands," and heavy mechanization. Now he is banking on chemical fertilizers and irrigation. But the wily 70-year-old premier allowed more time that he himself perhaps has left to deliver on his new claims.

Old-line Communist Carlos Rafael Rodriguez, Castro's farm chief, was less cautious. He declared that Cuba will have its most urgent farm problems solved in two years and be producing record 10-million-ton sugar harvests within six years. Rodriguez is counting on mechanization and crop diversification by specialized areas. He seems to be optimistic about policies that have already failed in Russia.

Communal agriculture hasn't worked for Russia, China or Cuba as yet, and probably never can be made productive enough to free the necessary manpower for an advanced industrial society. Its basic flaw is that it does not provide farmers incentive for productivity beyond the imperatives of subsistence. The underdeveloped nations of the world need a farm system that will do much more than that, and the fact that the Communist countries are compelled to import vast quantities of food to feed their urban populations should not be lost on the peoples of Southern Asia, Latin America and Africa who are struggling for self-sufficiency. Nor should we fail to remind them of this elemental fact.

Republican Upper Echelon Still In Turmoil

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans are reaching the point where they will have to find some agreement among themselves—on a party platform—but until then they will continue rubbing sandpaper on their wounds.

Next week the 100-man resolutions committee meets in San Francisco to hold hearings on what form the platform should take when the Republican presidential convention opens there July 13.

It has been a confusing Republican year. Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam won the New Hampshire presidential primary although he was far off in southeast Asia and said he was not a candidate.

SEN. BARRY Goldwater of Arizona and New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller had campaigned hard in that unpredictable New England state. Then Rockefeller, by the polls, wasn't supposed to win in Oregon but he did.

While the polls said Rockefeller would win in California, it was Goldwater who won. When the Republican governors met in Cleveland in early June and some talked of stopping Goldwater, none stuck his neck out. Then Pennsylvania's William W. Scranton suddenly did. He announced he would be a candidate for the Republican nomination. He has been scotching around the country ever since, trying to make inroads on Goldwater but doesn't seem to have made any impressive ones yet.

Then last week Lodge resigned as ambassador, announced his sole reason for doing so was to come home to help Scranton stop Goldwater, and in the process got into a disagreement with other Republicans, including Scranton.

LODGE, WHO had been ambassador in Southeast Asia under the Democratic administrations of Presidents Kennedy and Johnson, said the war against communism there on the right track and should not be a political issue this year.

But Goldwater, who has been criticizing the Democrats' Southeast Asian policy for months, said it most definitely is an issue. And Sunday he did Rep. William E. Miller, chairman of the Republican National Committee.

Even Scranton disagreed with Lodge. He said "as far as I am concerned, it is an issue."

Where this is leading is hard to say.

SINCE GOLDWATER is a conservative and some of the other top Republican leaders are not—men like Scranton, Lodge, Rockefeller and Michigan's Gov. George Romney—they want a voice in the direction the party takes, even if the convention nominates Goldwater.

Lodge, Romney and Rockefeller are going to appear before the committee in San Francisco to say what they think the platform should contain. Goldwater has said he would like the platform to be merely a statement of principles rather than a list of specifics.

But if he gets the nomination, and at this moment his chances look unexcelled, he will need broad Republican support, not only from party leaders who now disagree with him but from rank-and-file Republicans, too.

THIS MAY induce him to compromise on the platform's contents.

For example: While a majority of Republicans in both houses of Congress voted for the civil rights bill, Goldwater voted against it. This may help him with some Southern Democrats but it angered some Republicans.

Most Americans Take Vacations

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Few people are more boring than those who brag they haven't taken a vacation in years. Actually, 65 per cent of U.S. families now enjoy an annual vacation.

Women can hear higher-pitched tones better than men—but not as well as dogs. One out of every 10 children, sooner or later in life, will be incapacitated by a mental illness.

TODAY'S HIGHLY paid television entertainers might be startled to know that one of the highest fees ever paid a performer was the $30,000 that pianist Ignace Jan Paderewski received during the 1920s for a single concert at Madison Square Garden. That was in the era when money was worth money.

It is estimated that some 25,000 unqualified "psychological experts" rake in $375 million a year from gullible victims.

It isn't nagging wives who drive husbands to drink. A medical study of the wives of alcoholics and nonalcoholics found no marked differences in their temperaments.

QUOTABLE notables: "Real merit of any kind cannot long be concealed. It may not always be rewarded as it ought;

but it will always be known."

Lord Chesterfield. Some 50 million Americans have difficulty proving they were born because their birth certificates either were not filed or have been destroyed by fire, flood or other cause.

Strawberries got their name from the fact that in the old days it was the custom to cover the plants with straw in winter to protect their roots from freezing. Please do not ask why the gooseberry is called the gooseberry, as we will have to duck that query.

Quips from our contemporaries: "Definition of the articulate: Describing an accordion without using the hands."—Catholic Digest. AS A NATION we are getting older, but as a people we are getting younger. It is estimated that in 1975 half the U.S. population will be under age 26.

Folklore: It is bad luck to get up out of bed backward rather than face forward. Wearing a piece of red woolen yarn around your throat will protect you from the nosebleed. If you carry a horse chestnut in your pocket it will ward off rheumatism. A potato in the pocket will also absorb rheumatic twinges.

It was Finley Peter Dunne who observed, "One of the strangest things about life is that the poor, who need money the most, are the very ones who never have it."

Around The Rim

Keep Your Brakes Dry

This and that: Automobile brakes react in different ways, if they are soaked. And for the information of West Texans who dimly recall such things, they can be soaked by flood waters. Some cars stop when you touch the brakes, as if paralyzed with fright. Others keep going even if you press the brake pedal to the floorboard and keep pumping them.

Why are the reactions so dissimilar? Those who profess to know say it is because of the vehicles' different makes and conditions.

THE WATER might glaze the lining of one set, turning them slippery, while other may have swollen rough spots that cause them to grab when wet.

A light push with the foot is all you need with brakes that are tighter than usual. For those which have loosened up dangerously, our authority suggests you depress the brake pedal a little and drive a short distance. The friction will quickly dry them out.

CONSIDER THE case of Max Tidmore of the neighboring city of Lubbock. Elected to the office of mayor recently, he drove to city hall for the swearing-in ceremonies. When he returned to his car, it had a ticket on it for overparking.

ONE PLACE our space rockets probably won't be going is the planet Jupiter.

Scientists now say it is essentially a great ball of gas. Its density is about that of the sun and the major elements probably are hydrogen and helium. Jupiter is more than ten times the size of the earth.

Time was when the astronomers reasoned Jupiter's surface features were mountains, plains and etc. Now it's thought they are gigantic cloud formations.

SOMEONE said recently that if you play golf and bridge as if they were games, you are about as well-adjusted as you can get.

I SEE BY the papers where a group of fox hunters in England paid $1,400 to a farmer whose cow they had scared to death just as she was about to give her 10,000th gallon of milk.

Nobody asked the fox how he felt.

Where Men Are Not Boys

WASHINGTON — It was Sherman, William Te-cum's (1820-1891) Am. gen., who correctly characterized war as an earthly visitation of hell, but close scrutiny of the scrolls leads us to conclude that old Uncle Billy was right for the wrong reasons.

He was thinking about downy-cheeked drummer boys being shot through and through, brave men far from home perishing badly, poor food and worse lodging, toil and hardship—grubby by-products of war such as that. But had as these things can be they are not what makes war such an unpleasant prospect.

THE REAL REASON war is hell is that no one has ever been able to keep civilians out of it, and particularly civilians who call all soldiers, sailors and airmen "boys."

That was a wildly outrageous insult, calculated or not, and it is no wonder my colored brethren universally regarded it as a term of patronizing derision. We were not "boys" in any accurate sense of the word; we were old enough and big enough to kill or be killed, which is work for men, not boys.

SAILED INTO Boston in the winter of 19 and 43, if memory serves, and Beantown was about as cold as any place on earth, and certainly a lot colder than the place I'd left, which was Ellersmere Port, in the Mersey Estuary not far upriver from Liverpool. There was a pub in Ellersmere Port where a man could cross paths with a toothsome WRAF, and maybe idle away an hour or two.

These young ladies knew we'd just sailed in on a ship overloaded with wheat and a deck cargo of ambulances, in waters where a shipwrecked mariner could live maybe 10 or 15 minutes. These female RAF types understood it was men's work we'd been doing, and not boys'.

ANYWAY, the old S.S. Urban Blight had no more than made fast her lines than I was ashore, disconsolate at being so far from Ellersmere Port, and wondering if by chance there were any WRAs to be found in Boston. Best I could do was to find a Good Woman in a USO, who called me a boy and offered me a cup of cocoa. It wasn't the same.

THIS IS NO knock at Boston—a man wasn't safe from being called a boy anywhere in the United States in those days. I later sailed with an old chief who had done so much time in the Navy that his vocabulary did not contain one word that was intelligible to a landsman and, in point of fact, not more than a dozen or so that could be used in genteel mixed company. A lady bartender in Key West, Florida, whom we called "the gunner" due to a pronounced unilateral squint she was afflicted with, made the mistake of calling the chief a "boy" one evening and the old man suffered a cerebral accident on the spot, and was carted off by the shore patrol, raving a shocking series of oaths in a species of China-station lingua franca that was fortunately understood by few of those present.

I AM PERFECTLY willing to admit that the people who seem to be following the flag nowadays are very young indeed, but this does not license civilian types to brand them with a shameful sobriquet that should be reserved for a lad who drives a ricksha in some pestiferous port out in the Somerses Maughan country.

Getting Tough In Southeast Asia

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's appointment of General Maxwell D. Taylor to be ambassador to Viet Nam means that the United States wishes to serve notice on all concerned that the war in Southeast Asia has to be won, even if it takes more and more American military forces on land, sea and in the air.

There comes a time in nearly every world crisis when firmness and resoluteness must be asserted, though there is always a risk that the other side may miscalculate and compel an intensive war to be fought.

THE UNITED STATES has been patient for many years now about the Southeast Asia situation. If the Red Chinese take over Southeast Asia, they will become a much more threatening factor in the entire Western Pacific, which includes not only Formosa but the Philippines and Japan. It also could mean a disruption of the situation in the whole of Asia, particularly in India and Malaysia.

The simple truth is that the Washington authorities are not going to let the Communists take over in Southeast Asia. The United States now is deeply in earnest, and it may be expected that the leaders of both political parties will back up the government.

THE AMERICAN viewpoint has recently been expressed privately by high officials in many conferences with newspapermen.

There has been too much talk in the past few months of appeasing Red China with promises of enlarged trade as well as diplomatic recognition or membership in the United Nations. Apparently Peiping got the idea that the United States was willing to pay almost any price for peace. But a distinct turn in the whole situation occurred recently when President Johnson decided that he was tired of vacillating policies. He is not interested in trying to achieve a status quo in which the Communists would retain the benefit of their aggressions in Southeast Asia.

ALL THAT the American government wants is that the countries in Southeast Asia shall become truly independent and not be controlled from the outside by designing governments interested only in provoking more and more conflicts, particularly revolution, whether in Viet Nam, Laos, Cambodia or Thailand, in all of which infiltration by the Red Chinese has been steadily increasing.

GENERAL TAYLOR, as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, has been spending a good deal of his time studying the military problem in Southeast Asia. He knows the background of it thoroughly and, having himself served in Korea, he is familiar with the problems of land warfare in the Asian world. It isn't customary for a military man of such prominence suddenly to be chosen as ambassador. Theoretically, an ambassador reports only to the Secretary of State, but in this case, General Taylor sees eye to eye with both Secretary of State Rusk and Secretary of Defense McNamara on all phases of the problem.

GENERAL TAYLOR, therefore, with his experience on the military side and with a foreknowledge of just how far the United States government will go to achieve its point, is virtually taking command of the whole situation. The President and his Cabinet here will be guided largely by what General Taylor reports and advises. The mere fact that a military man has been chosen for this post indicates that a turn has come and that the dilatory process of negotiation has been abandoned in favor of direct action.

The United States has apparently already determined that the risk of war has to be taken if the entire Western Pacific is not to be lost to the Red Chinese.

Worth The Risk

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — J. R. McAfee, a retired Methodist minister, recalls the time a young girl rode to church on a horse and was left in an embarrassing position.

As she started to dismount, her dress caught in the saddle and she hung suspended, feet off the ground, in a sea of petticoats.

The minister, noticing a bunch of teenagers gawping at the spectacle, warned them to "look the other way, or you're liable to be struck blind."

One of the bigger boys smiled as he stepped a hand over his left eye. "I think I'll risk one eye."

Uniform Extradition Laws Needed

Crime should not be a game of hide-and-seek that allows an accused or convicted offender against the laws of one country to gain sanctuary in another if he can "make it across the border."

This principle is recognized in the process of extradition, which has its roots in antiquity but has developed as an international institution only since the 18th Century. It is still far from universally and uniformly respected.

Brazil, one of the few Western nations with which the United States has lacked an extradition treaty in modern times, has for years been a haven for U.S. criminal offenders. After Texas insurance promoter Ben Jack Cagle, convicted in Dallas of embezzlement in 1957, skipped to Brazil, negotiations for an extradition treaty were pressed. The treaty was ratified by the U.S. Senate in 1961, but was not approved by the Brazilian Senate until June 4 this year. It will be in force soon, and it is expected that Cagle will be extradited.

Grotius, great Dutch jurist and a founder of international law, held that nations have an obligation to punish or extradite, but extradition has become more a matter of international comity than law. Reciprocity is the principle governing extradition treaties, which the United Nations International Law Commission found in 1949 were not yet sufficiently developed for a general codification.

There are general extradition conventions of regional application in Europe and Latin America. The United States should, it appears, work for an inter-American convention that would make extradition processes more uniform and effective in this hemisphere.

Extradition treaties and conventions usually recognize that nations will not extradite their own nationals. (Cage's Brazilian citizenship postdates his U.S. offense, so this rule is not expected to apply even though it is a constitutional guarantee in Brazil.) They also usually ban extradition of political offenders (political asylum) and require that trial and punishment be only for the offense for which a person is extradited.

Extradition has become a judicial, rather than executive, process, and most Western nations have statutes defining extraditable offenses and prescribing extradition processes. So negotiating broader uniform conventions must be a difficult, gradual work. Meanwhile it is well to plug such glaring gaps as the previous lack of a bilateral extradition treaty between the two largest nations in the Western Hemisphere.

The British Election

LONDON, England—Britain's October election has public and private commentators very much in the hedging mood.

The Conservatives have been weakened by a series of sex-and-subversion scandals, and their big man, Harold Macmillan, is hors de combat. Their new man, Sir Alec Douglas-Home, hasn't quite acquired the nickname he hopes for—Smart Alec. The Tory prosperity is very real, but turning a little shopporn, and the suspicion is that the British people might be in a mood for change.

BUT WITH the polls showing the Socialists as summer book favorites, the same swing vote of Undecideds which keeps American elections in doubt is operative in Britain. American officials, though officially neutral, incline to believe that Sir Alec, while no wall of fire, is superior to the Laborite Harold Wilson who, while no odd ball, may get hurt by some of the zany company that Socialism forces him to keep.

THE TIMES of London seems to think that the old issue of public ownership is now a dead one, in that the Socialists are not so much interested in nationalizing businesses as in controlling them. Since the Conservatives do pretty much the same thing, and don't hesitate to promote public enterprise where private enterprise fails to serve the people, there is only a difference of degree in the regulation of industries.

It's noticeable to a reporter returning to England after more than a year's absence, that the term "socialist" is becoming somewhat a term of abuse here, as it is at home. The London Observer comes at this point a little obliquely by finding that the Labor Party's hope for victory in October lies partly in the hope of destroying its own image as acquired during the years.

IT HARDLY PAYS any longer for an American to attempt to predict an American election. Still less should he dare to mind-read as secretive a race as the British.

The only safe forecast is that this political contest, like the recent California primary, will be subject to a last-minute trend, which no man is wise enough to anticipate.

Billy Graham

Is it necessary to confess our sins to God in order to be saved?

It is not that we must give God information about our sins—He already knows them. But facing up to the evil in our lives is part of redemptive process. Sins not only need forgiving, but they need to be brought out into the open and acknowledged. But, according to the New Testament, our sins are to be confessed to God. The Bible says, "If we confess our sins, He is faithful and just, to forgive our sins, and cleanse us from all unrighteousness." God hears our confession; He does the forgiving, and more. He cleanses us at the source of sin, and gives us the power to live victoriously over it.

All great Christians have had a sensitivity to sin. David said, "If I regard iniquity in my heart the Lord will not hear me." We must leave our sins before our sins leave us.

Dropped Out

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The Louisville school system and civic organizations made a special effort last summer to get dropouts to return to school. They persuaded 261 who had left junior and senior high to return. Before the school year was over, three-fifths of them had quit again.

To Your Good Health

Chronic Yawning Could Be From Low Metabolism

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. Dear Dr. Molner: What causes me to yawn all the time, or to take deep breaths.

Could my metabolism be off balance? I had a chest X-ray and the result was fine. I'm not short of breath, but I am a little overweight.—M. K.

What makes people yawn? Or have to take a deep breath once in a while? The deep breath is really a sort of slow-speed yawn. And a real yawn is a concentrated deep breath.

Physiologically, a yawn results when there is a relatively high amount of carbon dioxide in comparison to the amount of oxygen in your system.

This doesn't necessarily mean that anything is wrong, of course. Babies yawn. Animals yawn. They lie quietly and don't breathe very hard. Eventually the oxygen-carbon dioxide balance becomes such that they need to correct it. So they yawn, meaning that they take a deep breath, exhale, then go back to ordinary breathing.

If you are sleepy and tired, you yawn. Why? Because you haven't been active, and you haven't been breathing very vigorously. Can you imagine a baseball player, up at bat, stopping to yawn? Of course not! He's keyed up, and all his physical responses have been extra-active to respond to his emotional desires to get a hit.

It is quite conceivable that low thyroid activity can have its impact on yawning. This means low oxygen consumption. Therefore a chronic yawner might well find it in order to have some metabolism tests.

One yawn doesn't mean anything. Nor a dozen yawns. But chronic yawning may mean that your metabolism is below par, and that you consequently are bored and languid.

WORRIED MOTHER: I wish I knew how to put a stop to this, but it still keeps on. Salesmen continue to tell the wheezy old story that aluminum cooking ware is harmful, so they can sell new pots and pans. Well, aluminum is NOT harmful.

Headaches! You can beat them. Write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for a copy of the booklet, "How To Tame Headaches." Please enclose a envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dear Abby

Petty People

DEAR ABBY: Our 12-year-old son took our power lawn mower to his aunt's house, which is near us. He told her that her lawn needed cutting, and he would be glad to cut it. She asked how much he charged, and he said he wouldn't charge her anything. She told him to go ahead. (They have close to one acre.) Just as he was finishing, his uncle came home and asked our boy if he had been paid for the job yet. He said he wasn't charging anything. Then his uncle FORCED two dollars on our son. This evening, the wife called me and said she thought it was pretty cheap of our son to accept the two dollars for a job he agreed to do for nothing. Then she reminded me for the fiftieth time of all the clothes her son had outgrown and she had given me for our son. What do you make of this? How should it be handled?
BURNED UP

DEAR BURNED: Auntie is "pretty cheap." And should she again offer you hand-me-downs, suggest that she make the Salvation Army or Good Will Industries the objects of her generosity.

DEAR ABBY: Years ago my father was also faced with the problem of having the neighbor's chickens wander into our yard. This is how he solved it: He pierced tiny holes in dry corn kernels. Then, using a fine silk sewing thread, just long enough to reach the chicken's craw, he threaded each kernel of corn and attached a note to the other end of the thread. It read: "PLEASE KEEP ME HOME. I FEEL FOOLISH."

This didn't hurt the chickens, but they did look mighty silly walking around with those messages hanging from their beaks. The chickens never visited us again, and relations with our neighbors remained friendly.
L.S.H.

DEAR L.S.H.: And therein lies a moral: Never underestimate the power of corn.

DEAR ABBY: Back in 1905 my mother thought up a good way to keep the neighbor's chickens out of our yard. She soaked bread crusts in Dad's corn liquor (much to his displeasure) and she scattered these crusts around our yard, where the chickens visited daily. The chickens came over as usual, ate their fill and promptly passed out just like humans all over our yard. My mother went out, picked them up and threw them back into their owners' yard. When the neighbors saw their chickens lying there like dead, they got the hint. No more chickens for mother. It was much cheaper than calling a lawyer, too.

More Warm Readings Seen

By The Associated Press
Warm temperatures continued a light assault on Texas today. Readings were expected to reach again into the middle and higher 90s across the state, except in isolated areas cooled by afternoon thundershowers.

An even 100 degrees was recorded Sunday at Presidio, and readings ranged down to 84 at Galveston.

Pre-dawn temperatures today ranged from 69 at Dalhart and Amarillo in the Panhandle to 82 at Del Rio far to the south. Skies were generally clear over Texas, except for partial cloudiness in the southwestern sections.

Scattered thundershowers played across scattered areas of North Central and Northeast Texas Sunday, but dissipated by midnight.

Forecasts called for partly cloudy skies in the southeast quarter of the state through Tuesday, with clear to partly cloudy skies elsewhere.

Widely scattered thundershowers were predicted in across East and South Central Texas and the eastern fringes of North Central Texas.

Hohertz Tops Harris, 6-5, In Golf Tourney

Daryle Hohertz exuded confidence all the way Sunday while flashing a red-hot putter as he carved out a 33 for the first nine holes of the Big Spring Country Club en route to cutting down the champion of last year's Fourth of July tournament, Eddie Don Harris, 6-5.

Kiwanis Raps ABC's, 12-2

The Kiwanis nine maintained its tight hold on first place in the Hi-Junior League Saturday night as Kirby Horton's bat broke loose for two home runs and pushed the league-leaders to an easy 12-2 victory.

Abilene Shooter Wins Top Prize

PAT WASHBURN'S The Roundtable

Several members of the newly organized Big Spring handball club, the Killshots, are beginning to wonder if the organization even exists any longer. Two meetings were held early in the year, with handball films being shown and quite a few $1 membership dues being taken up.

ARNOLD PALMER

In order for a player to win the National or American League batting championship, he must have the highest average and appear at the plate 500 or more times a season.

NOTES FROM GOLF:

FRED McLEOD is the lightest player, at 188 pounds, to ever win a U.S. Open championship. He doesn't seem likely to lose the honor for quite a while to come, either. CHI CHI RODRIGUEZ, at 126 pounds, is the smallest player on the pro circuit today.

Persons not belonging to the Big Spring Country Club will have one more opportunity to play in a tourney this year over the course. That, of course, is the Labor Day tournament, September 4-7.

The 1964 Woman's International Bowling Congress tournament in Minneapolis, Minn., was the largest and richest in the organization's 47-year history. There were 5,071 teams and a prize fund of $248,924.

THEY SAID IT: TED TINLING, designer of women's tennis fashions, on the possibility of topless tennis dresses being used by female contestants at Wimbledon in the future.

"The British public is not ready for it, but you can't discount it as a long range possibility."

"There are no major or minor sports. The way a man participates in sports makes it major or minor."

cutting down one of the best young local golfers, Jodie Thompson, by a 3-2 count. In the other match, Koger whipped past Sam Thurman, 3-1.

The four men will meet in head-on matches Saturday in the semi-finals — Hohertz meeting Ramsey and Wallace playing Koger — with the winners meeting for the club championship Sunday. It will be new faces all the way around, no matter what the outcome, since both Jack Cook and Harris, the tandem that played in last year's finals, have been ousted.

In other matches in the four flights, the youngest player in the tourney stayed alive, Bill Schwarzenbach, as he ripped past Max Green, 5-4, in fourth flight action. Schwarzenbach comes up against Dr. Jack Zinn Saturday and will be the underdog in that match.

Two of the matches were postponed until Thursday — Charles Sweeney vs. Gil Gindog and Jerry Jenkins vs. Raymond Smith.

Will Braves Trade Spahn?

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Rumors of a whopping trade with the New York Mets drew Braves' officials and some ire from Eddie Mathews, one of the players supposedly involved.

According to a story Sunday in a New York newspaper, Mathews, Warren Spahn and Frank Bolling were to be surrendered to the Mets for $200,000 and three players.

"I'm getting sick and tired of all those trades coming out of some sports writer's imagination," said Mathews. "It's not only ridiculous but pitiful. I bet the writer a steak that it was a lie."

Mathews has been hitting well lately, getting three hits in seven times up in Sunday's twin victories over the Mets. He and Spahn are the only survivors of the original team which moved here from Boston in 1953.

Spahn remarked, "I don't know what's ahead so I'm not going to say anything." However, the 43-year-old veteran pitcher insisted he was far from being traded through as some have claimed.

"I wouldn't be here if I thought otherwise and you can bet on that," he said. "Physically, I feel great. That's all I'm going to say."

Locals Win Swim Medals

SAN ANGELO — Five girls representing the Big Spring YMCA Aquatic Club placed in the finals of the San Angelo Invitational Swimming meet Saturday.

Linda Cathey took a first place in the 50-yard breaststroke, second in the 200-yard individual medley and third in the 100-yard freestyle. Vicki Morrow garnered a fifth place medal in the 50-yard butterfly while Robert Duncan took a second place in the 50-yard backstroke and sixth in the 50-yard freestyle.

Others swimming were Gina Swift who got a fourth place in the 50-yard breaststroke and a fifth place finish in the 100-yard freestyle and 200-yard individual medley, and Carrie Bizell who came in fifth in the 50-yard backstroke.

The youngsters also placed in the finals of both the 200-yard freestyle relay and 200-yard medley relay.

O'Hara Bests Rival Runner In Time Trials

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — Skinny Tom O'Hara, the pale Chicagoan who thrives on peanut butter sandwiches and looks as though a stiff Windy City breeze would blow him clear across Lake Michigan, has finally given the back of his freckled Irish hand—and heels—to his arch-tormentor, Dyrrol Burleson.

Like a playful leprechaun pulling a sudden disappearing act, O'Hara gave Burleson a slight sniff of victory and then pulled away down the stretch for a record-smashing 1,500-meter triumph Sunday at the National AAU Track and Field Championships.

In six previous meetings—four at a mile and two at 1,500 meters—Burleson had never tasted defeat from O'Hara. But the lanky Oregonian couldn't match red-haired Tom's finishing kick this time as O'Hara pounded home in 3:38.1, an American record and the equivalent of a 3:55.1 mile.

O'Hara, Burleson, Jim Grelle and gangling Jim Ryan, the incredible 17-year-old Wichita, Kan., schoolboy, all bettered the American mark of 3:39.3 set only three weeks ago by Cary Weisiger. Burleson's time was 3:38.8, Grelle's 3:38.9 and Ryan's 3:39 and Weisiger himself could do no better than 3:40.9, good for eighth place.

The two-day meet gave America's Olympic hopefuls a chance to qualify for the trials in New York next weekend. The first six Americans in each event who had not previously qualified won the right to compete in the Olympic trials and the first two will face Russia in a dual meet at Los Angeles next month.

Texans Vie For Berths

DALLAS (AP) — There will be nine Texans in the Olympic Trials at New York next weekend and most of them appear capable of making the squad that goes to the final trials at Los Angeles in September.

Three of them will get into the Russian-U.S. meet next month on the basis of their finishes in the National AAU Saturday and Sunday at New Brunswick, N.J.

They include Randy Matson of Texas A&M, who won the shot put with 64 feet 11 inches, and Fred Hansen of Ohio, who took the pole vault with 17 feet. Both were AAU records.

Ollan Cassell, former University of Houston star, wound up third in the 400-meter run and got into the U.S.-Russian meet.

Other Texans qualifying for the Olympic Trials Friday and Saturday at Randall's Island, N.Y., are Jerry Dyes of Abilene Christian, javelin; Bill Miller, McMurry, broad jump; Billy Pemelton, Abilene Christian, service meet 400-meter champion; Bobby May, Rice, 110-meter hurdles, and Ed Red, Rice, javelin.

Six men in each event will qualify for the final Olympic trials.

Giants Grab Lead By Thumping LA

By The Associated Press

Billy O'Dell has a pain in his neck and the Los Angeles Dodgers hurt every time they look at the National League standings. O'Dell, sidelined most of the season with the neck ailment, put the crimp on a ninth inning Dodger rally Sunday and preserved a 1-0 San Francisco victory which vaulted the Giants into the league lead and dumped the world champion Dodgers into ninth place.

Ron Herbel had blanked the Dodgers for eight innings before the Giants got a run off Don Drysdale on two hits, a walk and Orlando Cepeda's sacrifice fly. Herbel needed just three more outs for the victory. He didn't get any of them.

Ron Fairly and Frank Howard opened the Dodger ninth with singles and Giant Manager Alvin Dark lifted Herbel. O'Dell came on and when John Roseboro bunted for a hit loading the bases, Billy might've wished he was any place except the Candydick Park mound. But O'Dell bore down and fed

Jim Gilliam a slider which the Dodger infielder popped up. Pinch hitter Lee Walls fanned on a fast ball and Maury Wills bounced out, leaving the three runners stranded.

The Phillies slipped to second in a disastrous 8-2 nightcap loss to the Cardinals after Chris Short hurled a five-hit shutout winning the opener 5-0.

Elsewhere in the NL, Milwaukee swept two from New York 7-6 and 9-4; Cincinnati ended a five-game Pittsburgh winning streak with a double victory, 6-2 and 6-5 and Chicago and Houston split, the Cubs winning the first game 10-2 and the Colts taking the nightcap 4-1 in 10 innings.

The Giant run came in the eighth after singles by Harvey Kuenn and Willie Mays and an intentional walk to Duke Snider loaded the bases.

Cepeda cracked a Drysdale pitch deep to right field and Howard made a spectacular catch saving an extra base hit. But Jesus Alou, running for Kuenn, scored after the catch, giving Herbel, O'Dell and the Giants the only run they needed.

The Phillies made six errors in the second game and the Cards unleashed a 14-hit attack, four of them by Bill White, for the second game victory. Short overcame three Philadelphia errors for his first game victory.

The Braves scored six runs in the first inning against Met rookie Darrell Sutherland and then held off a late New York rally for their first game victory. Ron Hunt had four hits for the Mets.

In the second game, Rico Carly and Hank Aaron ripped three-run homers and Tony Cloninger fired a six-hitter to beat Frank Lary.

Pete Rose stroked three straight singles to pace Cincinnati's first game victory. The Reds' second baseman had a string of seven straight hits broken when reliever Roy Face fanned him in the fifth inning. Cincinnati pounded five Pirate pitchers for 11 hits in the opener.

The Reds completed the sweep exploding for five runs in the third inning and then holding off a late Pirate surge paced by homers by Willie Stargell and Jim Pagnaroni.

Chicago got home run power from Ernie Banks, Billy Cowan and Dick Bertell to make Bob Buhl's ninth victory easy against the Colts in the opener. John Bateman and Walt Bond connected for Houston.

Bon Santo tied up the nightcap with a two-out homer in the ninth but the Colts won it with three runs in the 10th, two of them on Bond's second homer of the day.

Allison Boosts Loop Average

By The Associated Press

Bob Allison hasn't done much broken field running since his college football days but his leading a merry chase today.

The former Kansas fullback is showing his heels to the AL.

Allison cracked a single and his 20th home run in the Twins' 9-3 victory over Chicago Sunday, extending a consecutive game hitting streak to 19 and lifting his batting average to .346, tops in the AL.

Allison's season average has zoomed 50 points, from .290, during the burst. He has hit seven homers and as many doubles, driven in 11 runs and scored 14 for a league-leading total of 55.

After Zoilo Versalles' eighth homer snapped a 3-3 tie in the seventh inning, Harmon Killebrew preceded Allison's shot with a two-run 416-foot wallop—his 27th—into the bleachers.

Elsewhere, Baltimore extended its winning streak to six games and its league lead to four with a 6-4 victory over Washington while second place New York divided a doubleheader with Detroit. The Yanks took the opener 8-6, the Tigers the nightcap 6-5.

Boston swept a pair from Cleveland 8-5 and 4-3 and Kansas City blanked Los Angeles 4-0 in a single game.

Minnesota scored six runs in all during the seventh inning uprising, assuring reliever Al Worthington, who joined the club only a few days ago, of his first American League victory.

The White Sox did all their scoring in the sixth on four singles and a hit batsman. Gerry McNettrey drove in two runs and Dave Nicholson the other.

The Orioles sent Washington reeling to its sixth straight loss by pushing over a pair of unearned runs in the eighth. John Kennedy booted a grounder and Don Lock dropped a fly ball after Brooks Robinson's leadoff single. Willie Kirkland drove in one run with a sacrifice fly and the other scored on Lock's miscue.

Tom Tresh hit a grand slam homer in the eighth inning of the opener as the Yanks overtook the Tigers. Two homers by Don Demeter and another by Dick McAuliffe had powered Detroit to an early 6-2 lead.

Bowler Rolls 300 In Tourney Game

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Ray Bluth of St. Louis rolled the second perfect game of the $21,000 Spokane Pro Bowling Open finals Sunday night in winning his first PBA championship.

Bluth opened the evening round in fourth place, 132 pins behind Les Schissler of Denver, who rolled a 300 in the afternoon session, and ended as the halfway leader.

Coahoma Inks Dykes As New Head Coach

COAHOMA — William T. (Spike) Dykes, assistant football coach under San Angelo's Emory Bellard for the past two years, has been hired to take over as head football coach at Coahoma High School, replacing Jimmy Spann who recently resigned. He was given a one-year contract.

A graduate of Stephen F. Austin College, Nacogdoches, in 1959, where he played football, Dykes spent one year at Eastland as line coach and two years at Ballinger with the same position before coming to San Angelo.

He will bring one assistant with him.

CLEVELAND OPEN

CLEVELAND (AP) — Arnold Palmer will be a bit more careful in the future about lending putters to competitors.

About six weeks ago Tony Lema broke the weapon he had been using on the greens, and big-hearted Arnie lent him one of his own.

Sunday, in a great come-from-behind effort, and in an extra-hole sudden death playoff, Tony used the borrowed club to beat Palmer out of the $20,000 top prize in the $100,000 Cleveland Open Golf Tournament. Palmer settled for second place and $12,000.

Arnie and Jack Nicklaus, at the end of 54 holes, were deadlocked at 11-under-par 202 and three strokes ahead of the field. Nicklaus fell out of it on the first hole of the final round, taking a bogey to Palmer's birdie—and never came close to making up the two strokes.

But Lema, waving his putter like a magic wand, then stepped into the act. He sank putts of 15, 15, 8, 5 and 18 feet for five straight birdies to end the front nine—and he was deadlocked with Palmer. He birdied No. 14 with a 40-footer, and got down in two strokes from 45 feet for another No. 16.

He was one ahead coming to 18, where he stuck his approach six feet from the hole. He was shooting for a course-record 63 if he could sink it, and he could also force Nicklaus, who was a pair of threesomes back, to battle the last two holes to tie.

But the putt rolled eight inches past the cup. He was careful about it—but the eight-inch; stayed out and he had a bogey. Palmer parred in to tie, and almost won it when his putt hit the back of the cup on 8 and stayed out. They finished at 270, or 14 under par for the Highland Park layout.

Lema birdied the first extra hole with a 15-footer, giving him the verdict and reversing last year's decision in the same tourney when Palmer beat him 67 to 70 in a playoff.

Nicklaus finished two strokes off the pace at 272, deadlocked with 25-year-old Terry Hill of Muleshoe, Tex. The latter's $6,250 payoff was the biggest of his career.

Former Aggie Great In Workout
John David Crow, running back for the St. Louis Cardinals pro football team, is shown working out at his home in Pine Bluff, Ark., to strengthen a knee which sidelined him most of last season. "I just want to get my job back," says Crow, a Heisman Trophy winner at Texas A&M. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Lubbock Wins Twice From BS Merchants
LUBBOCK — The Big Spring Merchants suffered a cruel fate here Sunday in the West Texas Traveling Softball League as they were handcuffed in both ends of a doubleheader by a local nine, 5-4 and 3-1.

Aussies Winning At Net Tourney
WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Two Australians, top-seeded Roy Emerson and last year's runner-up, Fred Stolle, led the way into the men's singles semifinals of the Wimbledon Tennis Championships today.

Stolle, runner-up to Chuck McKinley of San Antonio, Tex., last year, gained a comfortable 6-3, 7-5, 6-3 over Germany's Christian Kuhnhue, one of the left-handers who have been plaguing the tournament's stars.

E. C. Smith Takes Two Loop Contests

San Angelo came to town Sunday for two games in the West Texas Traveling Softball League and got its ears pinned back by the local E. C. Smith nine as Troy Wetsel turned in one of the finest pitching performances of the season.

Wetsel went both games, a total of 14 innings, and shackled the visitors to the tune of 5-4 and 5-1 scores. The San Angelo locals could manage only five hits over the distance of his offerings, all being singles except for L. Menchaca's grand slam home run in the first contest.

Radatz Pulls Sox To First
BOSTON (AP) — Move over Jim Konstanty, here comes The Monster.

Laver, Davies Win In Doubles
MILWAUKEE (AP) — Rod Laver and Mike Davies won the doubles title of the $10,000 Milwaukee Open Tennis Tournament Sunday by defeating Pancho Gonzalez and Alex Olmedo 6-4, 6-3.

Ken Rosewall of Australia took the singles crown Saturday with a 6-4, 3-6, 6-2 victory over Gonzalez.

Disillusioned Oswald Called Top Leaders Of Russia 'Sick'

DALLAS (AP) — Lee Harvey Oswald, the cold war double turncoat accused of assassinating President Kennedy, grew so bitter about the Soviet Union he once embraced that he called its leaders "sick."

This and other comments on his two and a half years in Russia were reported during the weekend by the Dallas Morning News in copyright stories based on Oswald's diary and other writings.

He was so disillusioned that when arrested Nov. 22 last year he would only call himself a "Marxist"—in effect retaining Communistic theory but rejecting the form practiced in the Soviet Union.

Oswald, 24, was shot to death Nov. 24 by Jack Ruby, Dallas night club operator, at the accused man was being transferred from the city jail to the county jail in Dallas. Ruby, 34, is now a county jail inmate under a sentence of death assessed him in March for the slaying of Oswald.

wrist but was saved by an in-tourist guide who found him unconscious in a blood-smeared hotel bathroom.

He went to the U.S. Embassy after he recovered, and renounced his U. S. citizenship. Embassy officials called him a fool.

The Russians permitted him to remain and assigned him a job in a radio factory in Minsk southwest of Moscow.

Oswald boasted in his diary of conquests of two young women. But when he fell in love with a fellow worker, Ella Germain, she laughed at him.

MARRIED MARINA
To hurt Ella, he wrote, he married Marina, then fell in love with the petite pharmacist.

The disillusionment began creeping upon him before his marriage. He was shocked when a minor Russian official told him Russia is great in nothing but literature. A fellow worker, Andrei Tovil, "says many things and relates many things I don't know about the U.S.S.R. . . . I begin to feel uneasy inside . . ."

He was asked by officials in January, 1961, if he wanted Soviet citizenship. Oswald said he did not, that he only wanted his residence permit extended.

The dread Russian secret police paid him 700 rubles a month disguised as a Red Cross contribution. This was equal to his factory pay. He had one of the rare private apartments. Before he lost faith in the Soviet Union he wrote, "I am living big and am very satisfied."

TO RETURN
On Feb. 1, 1961, he wrote the U.S. Embassy in Moscow asking to return to the United States.

About that time his diary recorded: "The work is drab. The money I get has no where to be spent. No nightclubs or bowling alleys, no places of recreation except the trade union dances. 'I have had enough.'"

The Oswalds were married in late April or early May. His diary, filled with spelling errors, said they were married

April 31 but there is no such date.

Marina told him to do as he wished about leaving the U.S.S.R. or staying. When he continued to seek a return to America, the Communists browbeat Marina. Oswald said this just made her stubborn. After months of delay, the Russians permitted the family to leave. The Oswalds now were parents of a daughter.

CRITICISM
Some of Oswald's writings after he left Russia are not dated. Their theme is criticism of U.S.S.R., although at one point he tries to see himself as the Russians saw him.

He said the secret police started subsidizing him "after the Russians had assured themselves that I was really the naive American who believed in communism."

He added, "what it (the secret police pay) was, was payment for my denunciation of the U.S. in Moscow." The payments stopped when he began negotiations for return to the United States.

INVESTIGATION

Publication of Oswald's writing brought a demand for an investigation by William A. McKenzie, lawyer for the widow, Marina Oswald.

In a formal news statement, the lawyer said Mrs. Oswald feels that the material should not be made public until the Warren Commission, investigating the assassination, reports its findings.

McKenzie said he telephoned J. Lee Rankin, chief counsel for the commission, and asked for a probe and was assured by Rankin that the commission did not release the material.

Reached by telephone in New York, Rankin declared, "we don't tell what the commission does" when asked about McKenzie's statement.

Joe Dealey, president of the A. H. Belo Corp., which publishes the Dallas Morning News, said publication of the diary came with the "public's right to know."

Oswald kept the diary from the time he arrived in Moscow Oct. 16, 1959, until about the time he left Russia in early 1962.

CITIZENSHIP

It tells of how he applied for Russian citizenship immediately on his arrival and that the police told him to get out of the country.

"I am shocked! My dreams! . . . My fondest dreams are shattered because of a petty official," Oswald wrote.

In despair, he slashed his left

Stricken India Chief Better

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Ailing Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri was reported in generally good condition today but more of his official schedule was canceled.

For the first time there was a public suggestion that the 59-year-old prime minister, who reportedly was stricken with a mild heart attack Friday night, should delegate some of his responsibilities.

The Times of India said no prime minister can afford to do without a full-time foreign minister, as Shastri does. The paper called for "a more liberal delegation of responsibility."

Shastri, like his predecessor, the late Prime Minister Nehru, retained the foreign minister's portfolio when he formed his government. He also serves as minister for atomic energy.

A government spokesman issued this statement on Shastri's condition: "The prime minister's temperature is near normal now. He slept well last night. His general condition is good and he is cheerful."

"In a couple of days the prime minister may be in a position to attend to the business of government," an authoritative source said Sunday night. Shastri's son, Hari, said his father would need at least a month's rest, and there was speculation some of his aides would take the reins of government temporarily.

Shastri, 59, is officially reported ailing from "overstrain and temperature," but authoritative informants said he suffered a mild heart attack Friday.

The diminutive prime minister almost died of a heart attack in 1949. The government's statement on his present condition did not allay fears that he was critically ill.

Shastri had been working up to 18 hours a day, attempting to give new impetus to solving the country's monumental problems.

Pioneer Texas Aviator Passes

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The man said to have built America's first single-winged plane died here Sunday.

He was Prentice A. Newman, 94, also believed to have been the first pilot of a heavier-than-air ship in the Southwest.

He made that flight in a biplane Jan. 2, 1909, from a parade ground at Fort Sam Houston, and later turned to developing his monoplane.

With the help of contributions, the former automobile salesman built a biplane with wings 32 feet long. Towed behind a car, the plane reached an altitude of 70 feet before the rope broke and the motorless craft crashed.

Newman's flight drew worldwide publicity. The same year Bleriot flew across the English Channel. A year later Benjamin Foulois made the historic first military flight at Fort Sam Houston.

Attempts to set up a company to manufacture and further improve Newman's plane failed, and he moved to Brownsville, Tex., to work on a plane at the request of the Chamber of Commerce.

There Newman constructed a monoplane designed to lift off the ground under its own power. But it needed improvements in the tail section, and in the attempted takeoff, a propeller blade was broken off.

Newman abandoned efforts to revamp the plane because of lack of money.

Newman also was believed to be the first man to build a plane with all of the controls at the rear of the plane, thus removing obstructions in front of the pilot.

He gave up his machine shop in Brownsville in 1941 and lived in Guatemala and the Honduras until about nine years ago when he returned here.

Basic Training

DETROIT (AP)—Future missionaries to Africa need to have "rubbed shoulders with Negroes who can think as well as they can" before they go to work as partners of the black man, the Rev. John R. Compton, a Cincinnati Negro pastor who recently spent a period in Africa, told a Disciples of Christ meeting here.
