Mytinger Principal Speaker On Program Arranged At Nocona

By FRED L. HASKETT
The Record News Staff

ELECTRA, Nov. 18.—A big mass meeting to start the "Opportunity Campaign for Future Prosperity," will be held in Electra, Thursday night, Nov. 20.

The business men and civic leaders of Electra have been busy for the past 10 days laying the foundation work for the campaign. In the work leaders of the chamber of commerce, Rotary and Lions clubs have been quite active. Several preliminary meetings have been held and Sunday every pastor in the city devoted morning or evening sermons to the campaign.

A delegation from Wichita Falls will go to Nocona Thursday night to participate in a better business mass meeting to be held there, according to an announcement Tuesday from the chamber of commerce office.

J. C. Mytinger, chairman of the general committee of the better business campaign here, will appear on the Nocona program as a principal speaker. Mr. Mytinger will be accompanied to Nocona by J. S. Bridwell, president of the chamber of commerce here, L. H. Estes, president of the Wichita Falls Manufacturers' and Jobbers' association, and several cars of Wichita Falls business men.

Texas Scholastic Census Shows 1,563,595 Pupils

AUSTIN, Nov. 18. (AP)—The state department of education today announced the scholastic census of Texas showed a total of 1,563,595 students, of whom 1,305,380 were white and 258,215 colored. This was an increase of 136,736 over last year. The total scholastic population was said to be about 26 per cent of the total population of the state.

Kidnaped Tulsa Man Returns Unharmed

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 18. (UP)—George H. Hurford, wealthy Tulsa sportsman who was kidnaped by gangsters Sunday, returned unharmed to his home tonight.

He had been thrown from a speeding automobile near Chetopah, Kan., late today and was arrested as he walked about the town, dazed by force of the fall. Identifying himself to Chetopah officers, he was returned here.

State Order Halting Drilling On Schoolyard to End Student Strike

Fire Marshal Calls for Suspension of Work at Well to Remove Dangers to Children

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 18. (UP)—An early end to the strike of 800 Wheeler ward school students here because their classes had been discontinued, was predicted by Oklahoma City officials tonight after the Century Petroleum company's well on the school ground had been ordered closed.

Wheeler school had been closed more than a month because of fire hazards caused by the Century well. The order closing the well was filed late today by Frank Davis, assistant Oklahoma fire marshal, after the school children and their parents held a mass meeting to protest discontinuance of their classes.

Parents Back Students

The school children refused to attend schools in other parts of the city as ordered by the school board. Their parents supported them and yesterday crashed down the doors of the closed school to hold a protest meeting.

The Oklahoma City school board has not yet declared the Wheeler school open again but will take action within the next 24 hours, Davis predicted.

The order closing the Century well asserted that the well, drilling at a depth of 5,500 feet, had entered the gas bearing strata capable of producing without warning a daily gas volume of 70,000,000 cubic feet with a rock pressure of from 1,500 to 2,300 pounds to the square inch.

Safety Devices Ordered

The order stipulated that gas detectors be installed at the well and that a safety inspector be kept at the school at all hours.

The Century company was given 10 days in which to file an appeal. The order, the first of its kind ever invoked, may set a precedent that will result in closing other wells within the city limits.

BURGLARS LOOT HOMES AT BURK

Intruders Believed Using Sleep Drug

Special to The Record News.

BURKBURNETT, Texas, Nov. 18.—Burglars looted six Burkburnett homes within a period of an hour and a half Monday night, escaping with money, jewels and clothing valued at around $200.

The theory that the marauders may have used a sleep-inducing drug was advanced when Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Jenkins, victims of the prowlers, arose at 11:30 to find themselves unaccountably ill. Their symptoms were identical and there were other slight indications that a drug might have been used. Two watches, a purse, and a ring were taken from the Jenkins home. Police Chief Bill Garland was investigating that angle of the burglary epidemic Tuesday night.

Among other losers was Grady Ragsdale, employe of the First National bank in Wichita Falls, who lost $37 when the home of his father, I. S. Ragsdale, was raided. Money, watches, and clothing were among the loot collected from the other homes, the exact value of which has not been calculated.

The intruders gained entrance to the homes through the front doors, using keys.

U. S. 'To Go Through Hell,' British Official Says

LONDON, Nov. 18. (US)—During the next four months America is "going to go through hell," the Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, secretary of state for the dominions, told the members of the American Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon here today.

"Never in the experience of America," Thomas told his hearers, "are you going to go through the hell you are going to go through in the next four months.

"America is up against it as we are up against it. There is no use hiding the facts."

A fund of $2,000—representing 20,000 school luncheons—was handed to the needy children of Wichita Falls Tuesday night through the generosity of Tom L. Burnett of Iowa Park, Wichita county capitalist and rancher.

The check for $2,000, which is to serve as the nucleus of a fund to provide school luncheons, was presented to J. B. Marlow by Mr. Burnett at the Marlow home Tuesday night, with the promise, Mr. Marlow said, that Mr. Burnett would "make another contribution later on" if residents of Wichita Falls join in the movement to provide the luncheons.

"I have known Tom Burnett for 45 years, and I have been associated with no man with a more generous heart," Mr. Marlow said.

"He came to my home Tuesday night and said he had heard there were many school children who were unable to buy lunches. He said that he wished to give $1,000 toward a fund for the children. As we talked the matter over, he decided the $1,000 was not sufficient, tore up the first check and wrote another for $2,000.

"It is my sincere hope that other Wichitans of means will join in this movement to provide lunches for needy children."

Mr. Marlow said the check would be turned over to the parent-teacher associations of Wichita Falls for distribution in the purchase of lunches. Arrangements will be made at once to increase the funds by contributions from others, in order that every school child may be provided with a substantial luncheon.

Hijackers Rob Wichitan of $186

C. M. Clisbee, 2208 Holliday street, was robbed of $186 early Tuesday evening when two well dressed men at Holliday and Fifteenth streets forced him at the point of a gun to drive out on the old Henrietta road at the end of Holliday street.

The two men, who were in an automobile, shouted at Clisbee as the latter was driving on Holliday street near Fifteenth. Clisbee stopped his car and one of the men approached, got in Clisbee's car and levelled a gun at him and forced him to continue out Holliday street. The other man followed in the other car. When the end of the street was reached, Clisbee was forced to drive for a mile and a half down the old Henrietta road where the air was let out of one of his tires after the two men had taken his money. After changing the tire, Clisbee drove back to a telephone and called police.

It is believed that the two hijackers saw Clisbee's money when he stopped at a drug store at Eleventh and Holliday streets to make a purchase shortly before the robbery occurred.

Shreveport Gives Site For Huge Airdome

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18. (US)—Mayor J. G. Palmer, of Shreveport, La., today presented to the war department a tract of land on which the largest combat airdrome in the world is to be built. The land, located near Shreveport, is nine miles long and five miles wide. It cost the city of Shreveport about $1,650,000.

Border Patrolmen Join Search for Airplane

EL PASO, Texas, Nov. 18. (AP)—Two border patrolmen from El Paso headquarters left today for Mount Riley, 40 miles west of here, to join in a search for an airplane reported by F. K. Bellinger, Southern Pacific railroad section foreman, to have fallen yesterday.

Bellinger said he saw the plane blazing as it crashed. An effort to find the wreckage had failed.

Other border guards, stationed at Sprouse, a horseback station, 25 miles southeast of Mount Riley, were ordered to participate in the search.

U. S. Grain Markets Ride Storm as Foreign Prices Drop

CHICAGO, Nov. 18. (AP)—The domestic grain markets rode out a storm today while world prices sank in a deluge of selling.

Pits at Winnipeg and abroad were almost demoralized by selling orders, and wheat on the Winnipeg exchange collapsed 8½ cents a bushel for a time.

At Chicago, in sharp contrast, net losses for the day ranged from ½ to 3⅝ cents and December wheat finished the session still at 73 cents, a price maintained for several days despite evaporating values elsewhere.

Buying by government agencies was credited with holding the domestic market on even keel.

1,500 ATTEND SHRINE RITES

Memorial Services Held At Evening Ceremony

Approximately 1,500 out-of-town Shriners and their ladies attended the annual fall ceremonial held by Maskat temple at the Memorial auditorium Tuesday.

Novices registered at the temple auditorium from 8 to 11 o'clock in the morning and the class was organized at the auditorium at 1 o'clock.

The first and third sections of the ceremonial were held at the temple at 2:30 o'clock while the third section was opened at the auditorium at 6:30 o'clock. Novices who registered included James Henry Walker, H. J. Tucker, George Hendrickson, W. W. Ports and Arch Smith, all of Wichita Falls; E. M. Watkins of Graham; James A. Renfro and J. H. Walker of Electra; W. E. Jenkins and W. E. Jenkins Jr., of Nocona; Guy R. Patterson of Rotan; Wilford A. Smith of Olney; F. L. Decker of Munday and Orb Coffman of Goree.

Preceding the entertainment and initiatory work during the evening program, a memorial service in which a tribute was paid to J. A. Kemp and other deceased Nobles was held.

In the business session held at the temple auditorium during the morning, Potentate H. Emory Davis and recorder John F. Linn of Bullat, Abyad temple, Albuquerque, N. M., and George Vickers of Dallas; H. H. Smith of Fort Worth; L. D. Swain of Dallas; L. A. Block of Dallas and Charles Reinken of Plainview were made honorary members of Maskat temple.

A dance at the temple auditorium completed the ceremonial.

Butler Acquitted On Murder Charge

FLORESVILLE, Texas, Nov. 18. (AP)—Dr. C. W. Butler, medical supervisor of the state prison system was acquitted of the murder of R. W. Lorenz of Stockdale in the 81st district court here Thursday night.

Dr. Butler was charged with killing Lorenb at the ranch home of Robert Sells, father-in-law of Dr. Butler, Feb. 12, 1930. Dr. Butler testifying in his own behalf, said that he went to the ranch to remonstrate with Lorenz in regard to the attention Lorenz had been paying Mrs. Butler.

Indian Chief Hunts Bride in El Paso

EL PASO, Texas, Nov. 18. (UP)—Chief White Eagle, 33, of Pawhuska, Okla., was hunting his bride here today.

The chief told police his wife, a member of the Yum Qumatilla, Ore., tribe, fled from their hotel here after a quarrel upon her return from Juarez, Mexico.

Chief White Eagle said he is a grandson of the famous Chief White Eagle Ki-He-Ka of the Wa-Sha-Sha nation of Osages.

WET DISTRICTS TO GAIN SEATS IN CONGRESS

Big City Areas Profit By Reapportionment Under New Census

TEXAS GAINS THREE

Nation's Total Population Put at 122,093,455 By Count

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18. (AP)—The representation of 32 states in the house of representatives will be affected by reapportionment figures announced today by President Hoover unless congress changes existing law by March 4.

Twenty-one states lose 27 seats. Eleven gain including California nine, Michigan four, Texas three and New York, New Jersey and Ohio with two each. Connecticut, Florida, North Carolina, Oklahoma and Washington gain one each.

Political Changes

The new apportionment will result in wide changes in political strength, the electoral college and state delegations to national political conventions. Cities, where the anti-prohibitionists are strong, will have greater power, and some of the agricultural states in which prohibitionists find much of their strength will lose.

Already there are indications that opponents of apportionment will attempt at the short session to bring the contest over the method of division to the house floor. Numerous issues will be involved, ranging from prohibition to the continuous battle between representatives of industrial states and those of farming regions.

The reapportionment figures were determined by the secretary of commerce on the basis of the 1930 census, with the population placed at 122,093,455.

Missouri Loses Three

Missouri loses three members. Georgia, Iowa, Kentucky and Pennsylvania lose two each, and Alabama, Indiana, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Mississippi, Nebraska, North Dakota, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Vermont, Virginia and Wisconsin each drop one.

The reapportionment will be the first since the house seats were rearranged in 1913 on the basis of the 1910 census, after 10 years of effort to carry out the constitutional provision of dividing the membership according to population of the various states. Congress enacted the act of 1929 fixing the number of seats at 435 and providing for automatic reapportionment of them by the secretary of commerce each fifth congress beginning with the seventy-third, unless congress takes contrary action.

Change Automatic

The act specifies the president shall transmit to congress before the end of the first week of the short session the figures he announced today. If congress fails to amend the law by March 4, the reapportionment becomes effective on that date and applicable to the seventy-third congress.

The states will be notified of the number of representatives allowed, and, if their legislatures fail to create new districts, candidates for the house in the seventy-third and succeeding congresses would be required to run for office from the states at large.

Chairman Fenn of the house census committee said today he was inclined to favor the automatic reapportionment under the present law, although the question would be open.

Representative Rankin, Democrat, Mississippi, plans to continue his efforts to secure an increase in the number of seats to take care of the states entitled to additional representation without depriving other states of any of their present representation.

Observatory Sights 170 Leonid Meteors Hourly

WILLIAMS BAY, Wis., Nov. 18. (INS)—An average of 170 leonid meteors an hour were sighted over a three-hour period early today by staff members of the Yerkes observatory of the University of Chicago.

Dr. C. C. Crump, secretary of the observatory, said a number of photographs were obtained under the prevailing excellent atmospheric conditions.

The leonids, supposedly the remnants of a comet, approach the earth every 33 years.

Bar Association Votes 2 to 1 for Repeal Of Prohibition

CHICAGO, Nov. 18. (AP)—The American Bar association announced today that a subcommittee which had polled approximately 75 per cent of the membership tabulated a vote of 13,779 in favor of repealing the 18th amendment, and 6,340 against repeal.

These figures formally will be announced in a statement by Charles A. Boston, president of the association, which will appear in the December issue of the American Bar Association Journal.

The result of an earlier vote to determine whether a referendum should be conducted, showed 14,782 in favor and 5,625 opposed.

HUSBAND SLAIN BESIDE BRIDE

Former Wife Kills Texas Oil Worker

FORT STOCKTON, Texas, Nov. 18. (UP)—The first wife of Claude J. Henderson, who shot him to death as he slept beside his second wife, a bride of two weeks, was held in jail tonight, charged with murder.

The first wife, Mrs. Avis Mae Henderson, was found hiding in a "dog house" on the Phillips Petroleum corporation lease at Irran, where she fled after the killing last night. She was arrested and brought here to stand trial for murder.

She admitted that she drove from Fort Worth to Irsan last night, entered her former husband's home by the kitchen door, turned on the light in a room where another couple was sleeping and walked into Henderson's room.

He was lying asleep beside his new bride. She fired twice, one bullet piercing his breast and another striking him in the chin. Her gun jammed on the third shot, she said.

Henderson rolled out of bed and died 10 minutes later. The bride grappled with her, she said, but she escaped from the house and ran to her car.

When her automobile stalled on a hill near the scene of the killing she abandoned it and sought refuge in a shed in the oil field. She was hysterical when officers arrested her.

"He wouldn't give me what was due," she told officers. The couple had been separated since August. Henderson was an employe in the oil field.

Walters Financier Claimed by Death

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 18. (AP)—Robert H. Sultan, millionaire of Walters, Okla., who moved here recently to look after his interests in the Oklahoma City oil field, died from a heart attack in a hospital here today.

Sultan went to the hospital 10 days ago to take a rest cure and apparently was regaining his strength when heart disease caused his death.

He was a thirty-third degree Mason and active in civic work at Walters.

Funeral services will be conducted here tomorrow. Burial will be at Oxford, Miss., Sultan's birthplace.

His widow, a daughter, Kathleen Sultan, a student at the University of Oklahoma; a sister, Mrs. Henry Faser, Jackson, Miss.; a brother, Col. D. I. Sultan Jr., stationed in Nicaragua; and his mother, Mrs. D. I. Sultan, Oxford, Miss., survive.

Art Exhibitors Back Down on Nude Entry

NEW YORK, Nov. 18. (AP)—The New York World said today that the Union League club had refused to exhibit Antonio Salemme's lifesized nude of Paul Robeson, negro singer, after advertising it as the chief attraction of its art exhibition.

The figure, which depicts Robeson with hands and arms uplifted in invocation, was shown in San Francisco for a year, was rejected in Philadelphia and finally was taken in by the Brooklyn museum. The Union League club borrowed it for display Sunday and yesterday.

Salemme, the World said, was of the opinion that the club had used his work to exploit its exhibition and then withheld it from view because of the membership's objection to nudity and the racial element.

ACTIVITIES OF CITY TO HALT DURING RITES

Knights Templar Form Guard of Honor Until Last Services at 3

HUNDREDS IN TRIBUTE

Unending Line of Mourners Bows Reverently In Leader's Memory

At 3 o'clock this afternoon, while the city halts in reverence and grief, the funeral rites which will be Wichita Falls' ultimate tribute to the life and works of J. A. Kemp, will open at the Memorial auditorium. When services there are complete, the body, under the escort of a guard of honor, will lead a procession to Riverside cemetery, there to be laid at rest beside the daughter who preceded him in death.

City in Mourning

As the words of the first prayer are uttered over the flower-laden bier, Wichita Falls will stop its activities. Every street car, bus and coach operated by the Wichita Falls Traction company, headed by Mr. Kemp for many years, will be halted, to stand motionless for a period of five minutes. The doors of business houses will be closed. The City National bank, which has known Mr. Kemp's leadership for many years, will suspend business throughout the day, and the other banks of the city will close at 1 o'clock. Activity will be stopped in the city and county offices and the chamber of commerce will close its doors during the afternoon.

Flags over the city, at half-mast since the arrival of the body here Tuesday morning, will continue their silent expression of the city's mourning. Children in the schools will stop their classes to hear tributes to the city's first citizen.

Private Services at Home

At 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, a private funeral service for the family will be held at the Kemp home, 906 Grant street. Dr. Nat F. Grafton former pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of which Mr. Kemp was a member for almost 30 years, will be in charge. Mrs. Walter M. Priddy, Mrs. C. Y. Tully, Grover Bullington, and Baldwin Montgomery will comprise a quartet to sing "Lead Kindly Light." Mrs. Lois Parker will sing "Now the Day Is Over." Mrs. Lucille Brooks Huff will accompany the songs.

After the family service the body will be escorted to the Memorial auditorium by members of Wichita Commandery No. 59, Knights Templar, there to lie in state until the hour of the public service. The Knights Templar will comprise a guard of honor during the four-hour intermission.

In the afternoon service, Dr. Grafton will be assisted by Rev. O. L. Powers of the First Baptist church and Rev. S. S. McKenney of the First Methodist church. P. B. Cox, eminent commander of the Knights Templar, will bring the order's message for a member who served for 25 years. A quartet consisting of W. E. Young, Grover Bullington, R. E. Shepherd and Dr. O. T. Kimbrough will sing "Sometime We Will Understand," and "In the Cross of Christ I Glory." Mr. Shepherd will sing alone, "Crossing the Bar." Again Mrs. Huff will accompany the music.

Flowers Bank Home

From the hour of dawn, when the funeral train bearing his body from Austin moved into the station, Wichita Falls Tuesday offered tribute to the man who has fostered its growth through 47 years. Five hundred grieving friends assembled to meet the train and form a procession as the body was moved to the home. Throughout the day hundreds of men and women from every walk of life visited the home.

telegrams and floral tributes poured in. The brilliant flowers of the autumn flooded the house, framing the casket, set in an alcove off the conservatory, lining the rooms, and trailing their garlands up stairways leading from the entrance hall.

At the head and the foot of the casket and in the center of a mantelpiece overhead 21 tapers burned through the day and night Tuesday, casting their soft lines over the flower filled room and on the still, quiet face within the casket.

Visitors to that room during the day told the story of J. A. Kemp's meaning to Wichita Falls. Residents of long standing, newcomers, the rich and the poor, moved silently through its door. Grease stained caps were left on the front steps while their owners tiptoed within. Farmers whose lands in the valley have been enriched by the "father of irrigation" stood shyly within the portals. Financiers, civic, political and business leaders, educators and church men were there. And several times during the day an old-time darky who had looked to J. A. Kemp as an ever-ready friend, tapped at the door.

The driveway to the home was crowded throughout the day with messenger boys and florist's trucks as tokens arrived from the state and nation. These impressive tributes in flowers were significant of the numerous interests and the widespread friendships which filled the 69 years of J. A. Kemp's life. Among them was a trailing double spray of white chrysanthemums from the officials of the First National bank in Dallas, another from the employes of the Boone-Kemp Automobile company, a third from the Laskey sons and daughters. The flowered symbol of Rotary International had its place and everywhere were hundreds of other similar expressions from individuals and groups. The home would not hold the floral avalanche, and most of the tributes will be arrayed at the auditorium Wednesday.

Aged Mother Ill

The life of J. A. Kemp, builder of Wichita Falls and of the Southwest, came to an end at 10 o'clock Sunday night in an Austin hospital. He had been stricken a second time there with a heart ailment which almost claimed his life last summer. At his bedside were Mrs. Kemp, his only son, J. A. Jr., and two daughters, Mrs. Newton Maer and Mrs. Smith Langford. A third daughter, Mrs. Al Booth of Chicago, joined the family here. He is survived also by his aged mother, Mrs. E. F. Kemp, 92 years of age, who was too ill to leave her bed Tuesday and will be unable to attend the funeral.

His sisters are Mrs. Frank Kell and Mrs. M. M. Addickes of Wichita Falls, Mrs. Jim Hill of Comanche, and Mrs. Kemp Perry of Nashville, Tenn.

Rotarians to Occupy Special Seats at Rites

A special section in the Memorial auditorium has been set aside for members of the Rotary club attending the funeral services for J. A. Kemp Wednesday afternoon. Herman Voelcker, president, has announced that ushers will conduct the members to their alloted places. Mr. Kemp was an honorary member of the organization.

Mayor Asks Business to Halt as Tribute to J. A. Kemp Wednesday

Wichita Falls life has suffered a distinct loss, and a host of men and women who loved and admired the man have been saddened by the death of J. A. Kemp.

He brought understanding, culture and a warm human heart into the numerous fields that engaged his attention and he was closely identified with all of the worthwhile things in the history of this city which he loved so much.

In view of the foregoing, and as a tribute to his memory, I, as mayor, request that the wheels of commerce be quiet between the hours of 3 and 4:30 p. m. Nov. 19, 1930, and that during that period all places of business close and all business activity cease.

Witness my hand, this the 18th day of November, A. D. 1930.

WALTER NELSON, Mayor.

Negroes of Wichita Falls Tell of Grief for Loss Of Friend, Advisor and Benefactor

Appreciation for the work of J. A. Kemp and grief of his passing, keenly felt among the negro population of Wichita Falls, found expression Tuesday in the adoption of group resolutions of respect and letters of condolence. Among the hundreds who visited the Kemp home during the day were many of the old-time negroes of the city, men and women who have received his benefactions and felt the support of his kindliness toward the race.

The following statement and resolution was prepared Monday night at a mass meeting held at the Booker T. Washington school:

Resolutions Adopted

The negro citizens of Wichita Falls join with their white neighbors in deploring the passing of Mr. J. A. Kemp, and are endeavoring through the press to let the family and friends know the high esteem in which he was held by every one of our group who had the honor to know him. Mr. Kemp's kindly sympathetic interest in humanity, irrespective of race or color, endeared him to us all alike.

We present these resolutions in condolence and grief:

Whereas, in view of the loss we have sustained by the passing of Mr. J. A. Kemp, and of the still heavier loss sustained by those who were nearest and dearest to him; therefore, be it

Resolved, That it is but a just tribute to the memory of the departed to say that in regretting his removal from our midst we mourn for one who was, in every way, worthy of our respect and regard.

Resolved, That we sincerely condole with the family of the deceased on the dispensation with which it has pleased Divine Providence to afflict them, and commend them for consolation to Him who orders all things for the best, and whose chastisements are meant in mercy.

The negro business league Tuesday adopted the following resolutions:

Knowing Mr. Kemp as we did and his relation to our very being in this city, no other group of citizens can so deeply feel the loss of a man like Mr. Kemp as we do. We knew him best as a Christian gentleman, at all times willing and ready to come to our assistance in religion, education, and business, or any pursuits of life that would help and advance the negro race throughout Texas:

Be it resolved: the loss to all of us is heaven's gain, and we extend to the bereaved our condolences and the hope that they may reconcile themselves with His help to the blessed will of the Master. May they and we by the example of Mr. Kemp, meet God in peace.

A. C. Williams, Lawler Smith, H. H. Means, Dr. King, Howard Dyer, J. P. Clay.

Poem Pays Tribute

Speaking for the negroes of the city, Eddie L. Molden offered her tribute in the verse quoted below:

In Memory of Mr. J. A. Kemp

In memory of a citizen
Who pioneered the Western plains,
In memory of a fellow
Who climbed his way to fame,
In memory of a giver
Who gave his life to all,
He has gone, yes gone.

The verse was followed by the following tribute: "But his memory will be dear to all true citizens in the state and in Wichita Falls."

In his last message to this city which he gave his life to help build he still had hopes and a greater aim for his home town.

If I were given the privilege of inscribing a motto on his tomb, I would say:

"Here lies the giver,
The man who gave and gave."

CLAY COUNTY LAUDS KEMP

Resolutions Cite Service of Departed Leader

The name of the Henrietta and Clay County Chamber of Commerce was added Tuesday to the list of civic bodies in Northwest Texas which have given public expression to their appreciation of the achievements of J. A. Kemp and their sorrow at his death.

The following resolutions of respect were written upon the minutes of the organization in a specially called meeting:

"Whereas, we have today learned with sadness the news of the death of Hon. J. A. Kemp of Wichita Falls, Texas;

"And whereas, we, the Henrietta and Clay County Chamber of Commerce, realizing the great things he has done for this section of the state of Texas which has grown so wonderfully under his intelligent leadership, keenly feel the loss to our section and feeling this and the knowledge that not one thing alone did he do, but many and varied are the dreams of progress and development which have taken practical shape and realization through his unselfish loyalty and devotion to our section and to our state.

"Therefore be it resolved: That the Henrietta and Clay County Chamber of Commerce here assembled, publicly express our profound and heartfelt sympathy to his family, our earnest and sincere tribute to his memory, and to the chamber of commerce of Wichita Falls, Texas, and other public organizations for whose welfare and success he gave the best he had, we tender our sincere regret for the loss they have sustained.

"Be it further resolved: That this resolution be spread upon the minutes of this body, and that a copy of same be transmitted to his family, to the chamber of commerce of Wichita Falls, and to our local paper, The Henrietta Independent.

"Henrietta and Clay County Chamber of Commerce.

"V. Lefevre, president.

"J. P. Williams, secretary."

Childress Interested In Local Business Move

Special to The Record News

CHILDRESS, Texas, Nov. 18.—Childress business men and citizens are watching the results of the efforts of the Wichita Falls business men in their efforts to better business conditions in that city. As in Wichita Falls and other cities, there is a large amount of local improvement needed and if the owners of such property would do the work at this time quite a change would be made in local affairs. Getting the people of the city to realize this is the hardest job about the movement.

Electra Man Faces Vernon Liquor Trial

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Texas, Nov. 18.—T. B. Warren of Electra went on trial in district court Tuesday morning on a charge of manufacturing whisky. He is one of a quartet arrested by Sheriff R. L. Rheay and deputies in a raid on a still on Long creek in the extreme southeast corner of Wilbarger county in October, 1929. The raiding officers took 250 gallons of rye whisky from the still.

CAMPAIGN FOR TRADE SPREADS

Nocona and Electra To Launch Drives

ery leading merchant will take part in.

Present plans call for the campaign to be carried on intensively until Saturday, Nov. 29, and it is hoped that by that time the citizenship will realize the value of the campaign and keep it going throughout the winter.

Tuesday petitions were to be circulated, which pledged the signers to make home improvements at once. Local labor is also being listed that is in need of employment.

The big mass meeting Thursday night will be held in the First Methodist church. The chairman of the general committee, Earl Haltom, is promising an excellent program and some plain spoken facts as regards Electra's position in the business affairs of Northwest Texas will be brought to light. Also, it will be impressed upon those present what must be done to keep the city growing and forging forward as has been done during the past 10 years.

Big Trade Area

Electra has one of the largest trade areas of any city in Northwest Texas, and in addition to the fine farming section along the Red river in Texas there is a vast section of valley farms on the Oklahoma side that should trade in Electra. A concentrated effort will be made to bring farmers into Electra who should trade in the city but have been permitted to scatter their business because of insufficient interest upon the part of the Electra business interests.

An invitation is being extended every merchant and citizen of Harrold and Oklaunion to attend the mass meeting. It is the plan to assist those communities in bettering their condition.

Members of the committees selected for the campaign are as follows:

General—Earl Haltom, chairman; Lloyd Chowning, vice chairman; Ben Tipton, H. T. S. Totten, Ed Moreland, Ed Barr, W. R. Skinner, J. G. B. Totten, W. L. Moore, Ray Cox and Roy Reynolds.

Finance—George Williams, chairman; W. L. Moore, Louis Rosenstein, Paul Brush.

Entertainment—R. E. Scheurer, chairman; W. R. Skinner, J. G. B. Totten, William Austin.

Advertising—S. B. Marchant, chairman; Chris Scheurer, Lee James, H. D. Miller and W. R. Golden.

At a meeting of the committeemen Tuesday it was decided to decorate the streets for the Christmas season early. The streets will be lighted with electric streamers and trees will be placed in front of the business houses. The Christmas party will be held Friday night, Dec. 5, in the downtown section. The festivities will start promptly at 7 o'clock.

Aid to Farmers

In the fight for better business and the desire to create a future prosperity the business leaders of Electra are looking to better farming methods and more farmers in Electra's trade area. Due to a large portion of the trade area being covered with oil fields agriculture has been neglected in past years. It now becomes necessary that the abandoned fields that once grew the finest quality of wheat, cotton and forage crops go back again to the plow.

Electra business leaders are taking an active part in having the farm lands terraced. Through neglect some of the former fields are now damaged but experts from land banks and colleges state most every farm in the Electra area can be made more valuable and as productive as ever in the past, if the fields are terraced.

A terracing demonstration was held recently near the city. A number of farmers attended and the result is a greater demand that the farms be terraced. Land owners living in Electra plan to improve the farms and make them more inviting for their tenants.

Farms that became dilapidated through neglect are to be improved with better homes, barns and buildings. Orchards and vineyards are planned, and other things that will restore the farms to their once prosperous condition.

Oil is still being produced on many of these farms but since most of the wells are on pump the derricks are down and other obstacles that hindered farming have been removed or replaced so as not to hinder operations.

Transfusions Made To Save Wounded Woman

EL PASO, Texas, Nov. 18. (AP)—Two blood transfusions were resorted to today in an effort to save the life of Mrs. W. L. Benton, wife of a well-known Hudspeth county ranchman, who was seriously hurt yesterday when struck by a bullet from a gun accidentally discharged by her 16-year-old son, Lewis.

Benton, who was on a hunting trip at the time of the accident, reached Mrs. Benton's bedside early today. The bullet penetrated her left arm and entered her side. It was necessary to amputate her arm.

Heavy Damage Done By Winds in Hobbs Area

HOBBS, N. M., Nov. 18. (INS)—Thousands of dollars of damages to property was revealed here today following a sand storm which swept over this area, bringing operations in the oil fields to a halt and tieing up traffic on the Texas and New Mexico railroad for three hours.

Oil derricks were twisted, smokestacks were torn loose, 30 tent houses were leveled and tile walls of buildings blown down.

Former State Employe Found Dead in Capitol

AUSTIN, Nov. 18. (AP)—An opinion of death by suicide was returned by Justice of the Peace Frank R. Tannehill in the death yesterday of Jokkie W. Burke, former state employe, who was defeated in the race for land commissioner in the July primary. Justice Tannehill's opinion said Burke died from poisoning. He was found lying under a stairway in the capitol late yesterday and died several hours later in a hospital.

SCHOOLS VOTE TOURNEY PLANS

Round Robin Approved for Basket Ball, Volley Ball

Rules governing basket ball and volley ball competition in the schools of Wichita county for the coming season were adopted Tuesday night at a meeting of coaches and officials at Iowa Park. The meeting represented schools other than Electra and Wichita Falls, which send teams directly into district competition.

Six teams will compete in basket ball for the county championship and seven for the volley ball title, it was announced. In addition to the county tournament, a round schedule will be played, the winner of which will meet the winner of the county tournament a week after the close of the county match. The county tournament will be held at Iowa Park. The final winner of the title will enter the district contest.

The six competing basket ball teams are Valley View, Cashion Clara, Burkburnett, Fairview, and Iowa Park. The same schools will enter the volley ball competition, while Weeth will also enter a volley ball team.

State Rests in Trial Of W. L. Oliver Case

SAN ANGELO, Texas, Nov. 18. (AP)—The state rested in the W. L. Oliver murder trial here late today after the purported dying statement of Lehman Ray Bailey, 17, had been admitted to the record over defense objections. Oliver is charged with slaying young Bailey, his step-son, at Menard last March. Ten character witnesses for the defense testified in quick order before court was recessed until in the morning. Included in it were several peace officers, a banker and the superintendent of schools at Menard.

Women Drys Re-Elect All National Officers

HOUSTON, Nov. 18. (AP)—Nearly 400 women, delegates to the annual convention of the National Woman's Christian Temperance union, pledged themselves this afternoon not to vote for any wet political candidate and warned their parties to nominate only drys. At about the same time they re-elected their officers and adopted the remainder of a platform, on which the ensuing year's work will be based, calling, among other things, for a widespread "educational" campaign in public schools in behalf of the 18th amendment.

Mrs. Ella A. Boole of Brooklyn was kept in the president's chair for her sixth term. The other members of her administration were chosen again.

After the union's general prohibition platform, which declared opposition to "any and all political parties adopting a repeal or modification plank," was adopted and the declarations from the women of Republican and Democratic affiliations were read, the delegates swept to their feet, and, upon the direction of the officials, thrust up their right hands high above their heads and said, in unison: "We'll see this thing through!"

Oklahoma produced over 252,000,000 barrels of oil last year.

HALL CREATES CREDIT BUREAU

$50,000 Company Formed To Aid Farmers

Special to The Record News

MEMPHIS, Texas, Nov. 18.—An organization, known as the Agricultural Credit corporation of Hall county, has been formed in Hall county, with its headquarters at Memphis, and Dr. W. C. Dickey has been named president. This is the first of credit corporations recommended by Gov. Dan Moody as the best means of furnishing farmers with funds in the drouth area, and the organization has been granted a charter by the secretary of state. The organization has a capital stock of $50,000, half of which has been subscribed by citizens of Memphis and nearby towns. Dr. W. C. Dickey and Thos. E. Noel of Memphis, and Olin Stark of Quitaque, are the incorporators.

The $50,000 capital stock is fully paid up, and with the arrangements for rediscount privileges with the Intermediate Credit bank of Houston, a branch of the Federal Land bank, the organization, according to Mr. Noel, should be enabled to provide loans to the farmers of Hall county in the sum of about $400,000.

Following are the officers and directors of the new credit organization: Dr. W. C. Dickey, president; Olin Stark, vice president; Thos. E. Noel, treasurer, and J. Henderson Smith, manager. Directors: S. S. Montgomery, W. B. Quigley, Dr. W. C. Dickey, F. N. Foxhall, all of Memphis; Charles Drake, Newlin; J. W. Clara Bow's Theft Charges Will Be Aired Tomorrow

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18. (AP)—Clara Bow's controversy with her discharged secretary, Daisy Devoe, over alleged embezzlement of fur coats and cash, will be aired before the grand jury Thursday instead of today as scheduled.

The district attorney's office said the inquisitors needed more time to delve into the maze of accusation and contradictions.

Buron Fitts, district attorney announced Friday an agent for the red haired screen actress had requested a criminal complaint against Miss Devoe for the alleged embezzlement of $35,000, an ermine coat, and other personal property. He declared Miss Devoe had made a 30 page confession, admitting the charges.

Miss Devoe denied she confessed to anything, and the following day retaliated with a damage suit against Fitts, three of his investigators, Miss Bow, her actor-friend, Rex Bell and others.

She demanded $5,000 exemplary damages and return of $2,200 worth of jewelry which she declared was seized wrongfully.

MURRAY PLANS TWO SESSIONS

Tax Reformation Calls For Extra Work

ARDMORE, Okla., Nov. 18. (AP)—The Daily Ardmoreite says it has learned from confidential sources that William H. Murray, governor-elect, proposes to hold two sessions of the legislature in 1931.

The first session—the regular biennial meeting—will be devoted entirely to routine matters, the Ardmoreite's informant said, and the second which would be called by the governor as soon as the first is ended, would be assigned one specific task, tax reformation.

The governor-elect believes that the regular session which convenes on Jan. 6 will have enough to do with the appropriation measures and other routine state business, and he does not contemplate loading the ponderous task of revamping the tax system onto that session, the newspaper said.

The story said Murray believes the special session should be concluded by April 30.

Texan Accused Of Scuttling Vessel

MOBILE, Ala., Nov. 18. (AP)—James A. Fulford, former resident of Mobile who was taken into custody at his home at Galveston, Texas, and brought to Mobile a week ago to answer to a charge of conspiring to scuttle the steamship, Rosa Murphy, was released from jail today after he had posted a $5,000 bond.

Fulford was indicted with Capt. John G. Murphy of Mobile, owner of the vessel; Orice Roddy, seaman who died at sea recently while a coast guard cutter was en route to meet the ship on which he was employed to place him under arrest, and two other persons. It is alleged by the government that there was a plot to sink the ship and collect insurance.

Captain Murphy, arrested shortly before Fulford was taken into custody and who is now under bond, and Fulford both have stated they would plead not guilty and fight the charges.

Fulford is scheduled to leave Mobile late this afternoon to return to his home in Galveston, where he now operates a poultry business.

Officer Kidnaped By Oklahoma Rum Runners

HOLDENVILLE, Okla., Nov. 18. (AP)—Bill Votaw, night patrolman, was kidnaped early today by two men he said were liquor runners and after being threatened with death, was ejected from the men's car three miles west of here.

Votaw said he stopped the car in which the men were passing through here, and in an ensuing fight, two bullets grazed him. One of the liquor runners was shot in the foot, Votaw said. The patrolman was disarmed and forced to get into the car. After the two had discussed killing him, saying "dead men tell no tales," they finally restored Votaw's unloaded gun and put him out of the car, he said.

J. W. BENTON

LUEDERS, Texas, Nov. 18.—J. W. Benton, aged 72, died at his home near Lueders Nov. 14, after a brief illness. Interment was made at the Spring Creek cemetery after funeral services conducted by Reverend Raines of Avoca.

Mr. Benton was an old settler in this section and was well known among the oldtimers. He is survived by his widow and seven children.

QUICK COMFORT FOR STOMACH ILLS IN DIAPEPSIN!

"I am eager to tell others about my experience with Pape's Diapepsin," says Mrs. E. L. Lowry, 3253 Nathan Ave., Memphis, Tenn. "I tried a lot of things for indigestion, but nothing really helped until a friend persuaded me to take a few tablets of this wonderful preparation.

"Now I even eat onions without any distress afterwards. They used to cause real suffering. I do not suffer from heartburn or headaches, now; I feel much stronger and better."

A medicine must have real merit to bring forth enthusiastic statements like this. And when not one, but hundreds, even thousands, are telling the same story of success, there seems no reason to doubt the day-in and day-out reliability of Pape's Diapepsin to help stomach sufferers.

These harmless, candy-like tablets, which relieve the heartburn, gas, belching, headaches, nausea, dizziness, and other symptoms of indigestion or "acid-dyspepsia" so pleasantly and quickly, are swiftly becoming the world's most popular remedy for digestive ills. Millions of boxes are used yearly! All drugstores sell them or, if you prefer to try them before buying, write "Pape's Diapepsin," Wheeling, W. Va., and you will receive a sample box, FREE.

Altrusa Club Gives Unique Luncheon Program Tuesday

New members, unusual features and lovely flowers were special features of the Altrusa luncheon at the Wichita club Tuesday at noon. Miss Frances Brooks arranged the exquisite baskets of white and yellow chrysanthemums and Miss Eva M. Wallace, president, acted as hostess and presiding officer in most gracious manner.

The theme for the day was "Interior Decoration," and as the speaker expected to appear on the program was not able to be present, Miss Wallace read an interesting paper and showed a display of antiques that passed an interesting hour. In speaking of pictures on the wall, an old photo of two old fashioned people was shown and an old plush album filled with a pictures of bygone days went the rounds. An antique silver cake stand owned by Mrs. Wayne Holmes held a delicious cake made by the owner, which was served at the luncheon. A seashell over 100 years old was another of the old articles brought by Mrs. Holmes and a genuine caster filled with its various bottles, stood on the table, reminiscent of the '90's.

Mrs. A. H. Mahaffey, a guest of the club, playing her own accompaniment, sang two numbers in her sweet voice, "Minor and Major," and as an encore, an old Irish song, "Moira."

Mrs. Kathleen Nelms spoke beautifully concerning the passing of J. A. Kemp and resolutions of sympathy were voted to be sent to the family.

New members introduced were Mesdames Edna Vogt and Ivy Humphrey and seated with these at the delightful luncheon were Mesdames Kathleen Nelms, Harry Fuller, Wayne G. Holmes, A. H. Mahaffey, Dr. Maude Lindsey, Dr. Fleta Woolsey; Misses Ethel Louise Webb, Carlisle, Ida Catherine Walker, Eva M. Wallace, Maude Thomas, Frances Brooks, Anna Belle Farquhar, Florence Watson and Ruth Downing.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

A party coming home Sunday evening from Fort Worth, told of how sweetly the chimes rang out from the First Methodist church. Like music welcoming them home, they said.

It made us think of the sweet tones we hear early in the morning—bells we believe come from the Church of the Sacred Heart. And the singing bell notes have power to bring to everyone some memory from childhood—that time real and dear to most men and women; and the time they keep wrapped in love and perfumed with the clean fragrance of lavender—for thought.

The chimes ring so sweetly for church services we long to hear the sweeter carillon. Some day we dream of listening to the music of the mammoth one built in Florida by Bok, in those acres of beauty he created. Yet in our memory, nothing has sounded much sweeter than the bell in the belfry of the little white church (great in our eyes then) where we went as a child.

One thinks, when he thinks of warning bells, of Inchcape rock and the lighthouse Robert Stevenson erected there where bells ring incessantly in foggy hours, despite the sirens of the present time.

And how the bells must have pealed thunderous notes on that most terrible St. Bartholomew's eve when the massacre of the Huguenots stands as the most terrible authentic religious massacre of history.

We think often of the Liberty bell that cracked as it rang forth its news of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. Cast the first time in England in 1752, it bears "Proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof." It makes one just a bit superstitious to know the liberty bell has cracked at both its ringings and that the times seem yet enchained in inhibitions.

In almost every old town in the South—(we speak of that old South east of the Mississippi that we know)—there was a town clock in the courthouse belfry which struck the hour and set the clocks for every time-piece and event until Western Union clocks came in. The belfries are moss grown now and the hands of many of the clocks have stopped at hours in years long gone.

Then the bells that have tolled for passing souls. From sleighbells to those, how far a distance!

Bells should, we think, be rung to acclaim. We have thought of the man whom everyone regards as one of ours, J. A. Kemp, and felt that it would be a fitting tribute if the chimes rang for him.

His kindly face and considerate voice told the story of his life. His loss is one that is irreplaceable, but somehow, we feel that his spirit is near the town he loved and did so much to build. We wish he might be greeted with chimes.

Less than a thousand Americans visit Australia annually.

Barwise School Gives 'Good Book' Program

An interesting program was presented at Barwise school Tuesday morning observing "Good Book Week," in which many of the pupils of the school took part.

The first number on the program was entitled "A Letter From a Book," with the following members of the low third grade from Miss Sadie Fisher's room taking part: Geneva Mooney, Edward Evans, John Klien, Lowell Smith, Marvin Baumgartner, Harvey Hatfield, Helen Whitehead, Sammy Hurst and Anita Smith.

Pupils from Miss Louise Pannel's room sang "The Story Book Song" and "Little Papoose," and "The Thanksgiving Song" were given by pupils from the rooms of Miss Mary Austin and Mildred Scudder.

An interesting theme from Tom Sawyer was dramatized by the expression class of Miss Adena Kouri. Pupils taking part in the one-act play were Dixie Jean Kinnard, Louise Wilson, Grace Houston, Joanna Davis, Vera Moore, Decker, Gladys Houston, Virginia Johnson and Cleo South.

Miss Ammalynn Gorman's music classes finished the program with "Five Jolly Fat Pumpkins," and "The Squirrels' Thanksgiving."

Twain Study Class Has Social Meeting

Mrs. W. R. Scott was hostess Tuesday afternoon when members of the Twain Study club of the First Methodist church met to take up the sixth chapter of "The Bible, Its Origin and Growth." The instructor, Mrs. D. A. Cook, gave a beautiful lesson from the chapter.

Cut flowers made the home particularly pretty and after the lesson and business, Mrs. J. W. Hinds was given a pretty miscellaneous shower.

Delightful refreshments were served to Mesdames E. S. Carter, J. R. Amster, Perry McDonnell, Murrell Hooper, A. H. Milsap, W. J. Ranbarger, Cecil Long, H. A. Geyer, J. G. Green, W. R. Johnson, M. A. Jones, J. F. Norton, L. B. Merrick, W. W. Calhoun, J. C. Russell, L. S. McDowell, A. V. Grant, J. W. Hinds, Roy Huff, D. A. Cook and the hostess.

Woman of 50 Tells Dix Why She Fears Age

What are you going to have at 50? A woman said to me the other day that she would hate to go into her 50's empty-handed, as so many women do. "That's the reason we women hate age so badly," she went on. "It isn't because we are vain or have any silly yearning to vamp men that makes us cling with both hands to the last fragment of our youth and that causes us to starve ourselves into anemia trying to attain a boyish figure and that stampedes us into the beauty shops and sends us scurrying to the face-lifters.

"It's because when we look around at the middle-aged women of our acquaintance we see that they have nothing. They are utterly bankrupt, and that is what drives us into a panic when we vision the same fate looming ahead of us. That is why we women dread age more than we do any other calamity on earth. And the curious thing, and the pitiful thing, about it is that the only defense they put up against this awful inevitable doom that they see descending upon them is to rub a little cold cream on their faces and count their calories.

"Consider the history of the average woman. When she is young she is pretty and life is interesting to her because it is filled with rosy dreams and great expectations. She thinks that everything she desires is going to come to her. The future is full of untold possibilities. Romance waits for her down the road, and she lives in daily and hourly anticipation of her Prince Charming coming along.

"Generally he does come. Most girls fall in love and get married and know for a while, at least, the circling wings and the golden glory, and they have everything because they have romance and the thrill of having their own man and the excitement of building their own nests and starting about the business of life.

"Then the babies come and the next 25 years are breathless ones filled with teething and croup and colic and kindergartens and schools and football triumphs and college honors and Mary's debut and Johnny going into business and the children's weddings and their setting up their own homes.

"Then suddenly the woman finds herself sitting alone in the house from which the children have gone, and she realizes that everything that made life worth living for her is gone also. Her beauty and her allure for men is gone. So is her desire to be a fascinator, for men have become just men to her, and mainly uninteresting at that, and she no longer sees them at potential lovers.

"Gone is romance. For marriage strips away al lthe pink chiffons of illusion and the middle-aged husband and wife know each other for exactly what they are and have come to take each other so completely for granted that there is nothing to be said about it either way. Sometimes, alas, even love has gone and there exists between the husband and wife only a numbing, cold, deadly indifference, or a hatred that is a poison in their souls.

"And the children are gone. No more following after toddling little feet. No more filling the cookie jar for hungry school boys and girls. No more planning of parties. No more getting interest and pleasure vicariously through the joyous, excited plans of youngsters. Nothing for her to do that matters. Just empty hands. Empty life. Just emptiness everywhere.

"That's the way it is with so many women at middle age. That is why you see so many peevish, complaining, dissatisfied, restless, neurotic women. That is why so many women at middle age take to doctors and sanatoriums, or join new religions, or get divorces. Did you ever notice how often women in their 40s decide that their husbands don't understand them? Or begin to doubt their husband's love because he doesn't talk gooey sweet stuff to them, or they develop or a bad heart or something?

"It is because the poor things haven't anything interesting to do or think about, and because they haven't anything to look forward to in the future. Life has chucked them out of their old job and they haven't anything laid up for a rainy day. They are in the same case as the improvident people who spend everything they make as they go along and who find themselves penniless when age comes upon them.

"I wonder that young women don't think about this and make some provision for the lean years that are bound to come. I wonder that they don't realize that their beauty is bound to fade and that they must have some substitute to offer for it, when it is gone, and so read and study and keep their minds alert and their interest in the world keen. Nobody notices whether an entertaining and sympathetic woman of 40 has lost her complexion or not. We only observe that she is homely when she is dull.

"I wonder why every woman does not realize that her children are bound to grow up and leave her and so why she does not keep up her friendships and her interest in clubs and people so that she may not be left desolate when they are gone. And most of all I wonder why women do not realize that after their children are gone they will have to depend on their husbands for happiness and companionship and so why they do not bend every effort toward cultivating their affections and interest and keeping them in love with them instead of devoting all of their time and attention to their children. Believe me, husbands are a lot better bet than children are.

"After all, life is what we make it and we women are mighty poor at middle age unless we have laid up something to live on then. And that is why I say I hope I shall not go empty-handed into the 50's."

Junior Business Girls End Lessons With Lovely Dinner

As a climax to the series of food service lessons which the Junior Business Girls have been studying under Miss Pearl Rorabaugh, Red Cross nutritionist, a delicious Thanksgiving dinner was served Monday evening in a beautiful setting. Menus planned heretofore have been of the simplest with simple, good, attractive food that was reasonably cheap.

Monday night the series culminated with the husbands and friends of the club members enjoying the dinner. The table was almost banked with yellow and bronze chrysanthemums with gorgeous oak leaves and miniature turkeys filling the spaces between. Orange candles, and orange nutcups filled with orange bonbons added to the brightness of their color. Favors were Puritan men carrying guns on one arm and baskets on the other with their Puritan wives carrying baskets of food and turkeys. Each bore an orange lollipop.

A delightful turkey dinner with all the accessories was served and Miss Thelma Nell Norvelle with the violin, accompanied by Miss Mildred Rowe, gave a sweet background of music during the evening.

Miss Sybelle Jones, accompanied by Miss Pauline Montgomery, gave clever imitations of movie stars and Faith Galmiche gave a song and tap dance with her mother at the piano. Her dance was so popular that she was called on throughout the evening and was quite generous in response.

Little slips of paper with required stunts had been placed in many of the baskets on the miniature Puritan's arms and the stunts were the cause of much merriment.

Following the dinner, singing and dancing passed a pleasant hour.

Among those for whom covers were laid were Messrs. and Mesdames Orbon Leach, Tommy Brannon, W. R. Brearley, Mrs. Hazel Allday, Misses Hazel Hill, Margaret Kennedy, Lucile Whitman, Dora Blank, Sybelle Jones, Pauline Montgomery, Ola Ficklin, Essie J. Roberts, Marie Thorne, Emma Wall, Carrie Koenig, Ivy Belle Taylor, Jewel Beatty, Faye McBride, Evelyn Kelly, Vera Smith, Maurine Culton, Jean Strickle, Pearl Roarbaugh and Ida Catherine Walker; Messrs. J. O. Dotson, C. M. Ball, R. J. Bird, Jack Williams, O. L. Dockum, Curtis McClure, Jess L. Coker, Wylie Stone and the entertainers.

City Disbursements Show Small Gain

Disbursement for the city of Wichita Falls for the month of October, 1930, totaled $131,236.14, an increase of approximately $6,000 over expenses for the same month for the previous year, according to information received in the office of city clerk, W. E. McBroom.

The increase in the expenditures was due to retirement of bonds for the two months, Mr. McBroom stated. A total of $34,000 worth of bonds were paid during the month this year while only $28,000 were paid during the month last year. A total of $18,294.20 was spent in 1930 for water works improvements and $13,660.98 in 1929, the report showed.

QUARTET HELD IN BANK RAID

Three Men and Woman Are Wanted in Texas

SILVER CITY, N. M., Nov. 18. (AP)—Officials of Mount Belview, Texas, today notified Sheriff O. M. St. John that they believe the three men and a woman being held by him for alleged Arkansas and Louisiana bank robberies may also be the quartet who robbed the bank at Mount Belview on Sept. 15.

Sheriff J. W. Harmon and a deputy from El Dorado, Ark., are en route here to claim the quartet on a felony charge represented to Sheriff St. John in a letter as being a bank robbery of $10,300 in Union county Arkansas.

After the arrest was made at the request of Sheriff Harmon the Silver City officers said they were notified the men are also wanted for a bank robbery at Farmersville, La., in which $10,000 was stolen.

Suspicion was attached to the quartet because of lavish expenditures of money in Silver City, and when arrested they carried more than $1,500 cash.

A telegram from Mount Belview today notified Sheriff St. John the Texas officers have established that three men and a woman of the description of the four arrested were in Mount Belview on Sept. 15 at the time the bank there was robbed.

Mothers, Mix This At Home for a Bad Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough or chest cold. It takes but a moment to mix and costs little, but it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle; then fill it with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. The full pint thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of trouble, loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes away the inflammation. Part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps inwardly to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Class Rivalry High as Electra Students Pull for Queen Candidate

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Nov. 18.—The coronation of the Electra High school football queen will take place Thanksgiving day at Vernon preceding the Tiger-Lion scrap. The queen was supposed to have been crowned last Saturday when the Tigers and Sandstorms played, but when the teams decided to play the game at Amarillo instead of on the local gridiron the coronation was postponed.

Much class rivalry has been shown in the contest since the class that sells the greatest number of tickets to the games that the Tigers have participated in succeeds in electing its candidate. The name of the winner will not be given until a day or two before the game. The five candidates in the race are Leona Parr, senior; Corrine Reed, junior; Doll Williams sophomore; Mildred McDannald, freshman; Mina Ruth Cobb, high seventh grade.

Each class is very emphatic in declaring that his class will win. The usually dignified seniors have lost their dignity for once; the jolly juniors are working hard to defeat their rivals; the supposed to be sophosticated sophomores have forgotten their sophistication; and the fresh little fishermen and the seventh grade have entered into the spirit of the contest. At least the class that wins will not win by a large majority.

The pep squad will take part in the coronation and the members of the squad include Ruth Andrews, Marjorie Bray, Robbie Butler, Pauline Miller, Oneta Culpepper, Katherine McClure, Lois Chambers, Blanche Chowning, Ozelle Cambron, Carrie Mae Dees, Elizabeth Cooper, Marjorie Beasley, Hallie Green, Hazel Biggers, Opal Greer, Doris and Margaret Owens, Frances Ann and Elizabeth Orr, Barbara Hatfield, Josephine Peters, Opal Davidson, Eva Mae Green, Christine Hamilton, Dorlys Adkins, Helen Campbell, Christine Hamilton, Opal Greer, Sybil Williams, Ruby McGlaughan, Roberta Hastings, Corrine Reed, Rosemary Magee, Louise Nelms, Alla Mae Swafford, Reba Lois McKinnis, Janice Johnson, Fay Andrews, Leona Parr, Florice Johnson, Olga Bashara, Loraine Maxwell, Frances Carnahan, Blonnie Wear, Eva Mae Nichols, Oleta Bowling, Mary Alyce Scott, and Rachel Vernon, mascot.

RIVALRY

Bennonine, Texas, Claims Railroad Favors Texola, Okla.

AUSTIN, Nov. 18. (AP)—Rivalry between two adjoining towns, one in Texas and the other in Oklahoma, was brought out today at a hearing at the state railroad commission on application of the Rock Island railroad to discontinue its station at Bennonine, Texas.

Residents of Bennonine, protesting the discontinuance, declared the Rock Island had always "favored" Texola, Okla., over Bennonine. The commission took the application under advisement.

Large Wheat Crop Sown in Childress

Special to The Record News

CHILDRESS, Texas, Nov. 18.—The largest acreage ever sown to wheat in Childress county was put in this fall, and at this time the fields are as green as possible. Considerable acreage was sown before the rains of October, this wheat being grazed at this time.

Those who are in close touch with conditions along this line are of the opinion that at least 10,000 head of cattle outside the county could find winter grazing in Childress county. While no authoritative statement has been made of cattle being shipped to the county for that purpose, it is said that several large ranch owners contemplate shipping cattle to the county for grazing.

As a result of the improved farming conditions the business men of Childress report quite a turn for the better during the past two or three weeks. Many merchants said business is better than at any time during the past year, and they anticipate a continuance of this condition. It is realized that as soon as construction of the branch railway from Childress north is under way business conditions will be much better.

Tillman Farm Clubs To Meet Thursday

Dinner will be served by these clubs: Hollister, Loyal Neighbors, from south of Frederick; Isadore, north and east of Hollister; Tryon, east of Hollister; Leggett in the extreme east part of the county.

The following clubs will have charge of the program: Circle Valley, southeast of Tipton; Tipton Community; Home Cheer, northwest of Manitou; Home Service, Consolidated No. 1 district; Busy Bees, northeast of Manitou.

BURGLARS RAID STORE

Burglars who entered the C. H. Parker Grocery No. 11. at 2501 Grant street early Tuesday morning obtained $1.25 in money and groceries and tobaccos valued at $60.

Two men were seen to leave the store and to escape in a coupe by a street car motorman on his way to work early Tuesday morning. The motorman telephoned the police.

The average rainfall the world over is about 40 inches a year.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18. (AP)—The romance of a member of congress and a former head waitress in the hotel at which he lived materialized today in the announcement of the engagement of Representative Timberlake of Colorado and Mrs. Robert A. Wood Elliott, a widow, of Salisbury, N. C.

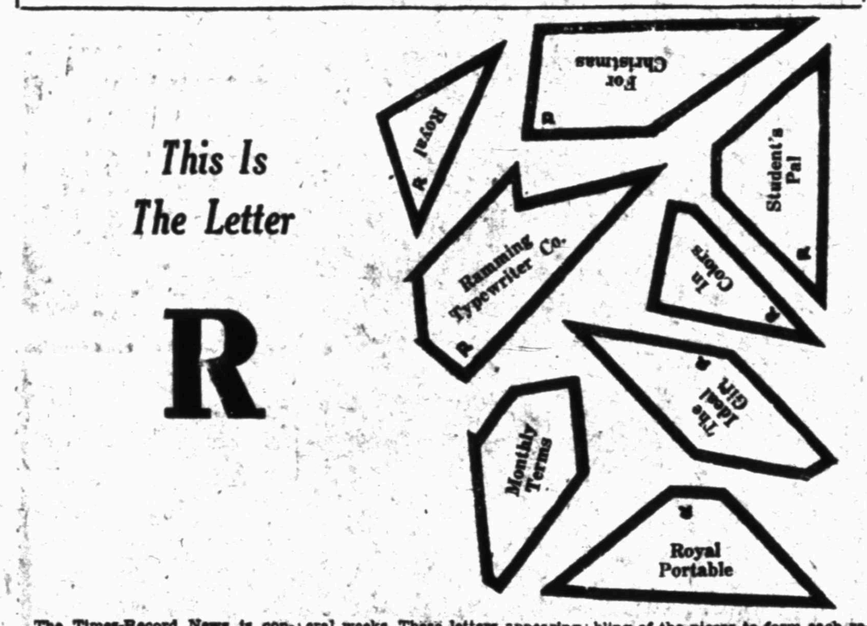

The wedding takes place here Dec. 23.

Mr. Timberlake is in his 70's while the bride to be's age was given as in the early 30's. Timberlake has been married twice previously and Mrs. Elliott was married once, her husband dying about a year ago. Mr. Timberlake's second wife also died about a year ago.

The representative met Mrs. Elliott when she was head waitress at George Washington Inn, liked by many members of congress. She has a young daughter. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Wood of Salisbury, N. C.

THIS IS THE SEVENTEENTH PUZZLE IN TIMES-RECORD NEWS "SCRAMBLED LETTER CONTEST"

The Times-Record News is conducting one of the most absorbing contests ever designed for the entertainment of its readers. To stimulate interest in it, and to make it a profitable as well as an enjoyable pastime for the next few weeks, a grand total of 39 prizes aggregating $100 will be awarded for the winning solutions.

Every other day there will be printed a letter of the alphabet in scrambled form, similar to the "R" above. These scrambled sections, when cut apart and properly assembled, will form the accompanying letter indicated. Each letter will be printed once in The Times and Record News.

This new game is extremely fascinating. It requires a high degree of skill to arrange these apparently simple sections in such forms as to make a perfect capital letter. "Scrambled Letters" has swept the country like a storm. Big business executives have taken it up as a genuine test of their ingenuity. Parties are formed in hundreds of communities to work out the puzzle in interested groups.

Each letter will appear in both papers. Full details about entering the contest are published herewith. Remember, 39 prizes make it well worth your time in matching your wits against this brand new intelligence test.

PRIZES ARE AS FOLLOWS

First prize	$25.00
Second prize	15.00
Third prize	10.00
Fourth prize	5.00
Ten prizes at $2 each	20.00
Twenty-five prizes at $1 each	25.00
Grand total	$100.00

Read These Rules

The Times-Record News Nu-Way alphabet puzzles include the 26 letters of the alphabet. The publication of the various letters of the alphabet will cover a period of several weeks. These letters appearing in the paper are cut into pieces of varying shapes, the object being to place these parts together so they will form the respective letters as illustrated in outline accompanying the pieces.

An outline and its entire parts will be published in the Times and Record News every other day, a different letter of the alphabet being presented. The publication of all letters of the alphabet will cover a period of several weeks.

Anyone who is a resident of Wichita Falls or this section may participate in this profitable fun, except employes of the Times and Record News or their families. You pay nothing to enter. Each letter, as it appears in the Times and Record News may be traced or copied free of charge from the files at the office of this newspaper.

The Times and Record News will pay $100 in cash prizes to the persons who send in the nearest correctly solved complete set of puzzles in accordance with the rules. This does not necessarily mean that you have to solve all the puzzles to win. The prizes will be paid to the persons whose entries rank the highest. Neatness, accuracy and simplicity are the prime requisites. Accurate cutting and correct assembling of the pieces to form each respective letter. Entries that are elaborate will receive no more consideration than the simplest ones. Young and old thus have an equal chance to win.

Take the page of the Times or Record News wherein the puzzles are published. Cut the pieces along the outside of the black border and paste the pieces neatly on cardboard or a piece of paper to form the letter indicated. Repeat this operation every week with the new letters in the Nu-Way alphabet puzzles published in the Times and Record News until you complete the full alphabet. Letters previously worked by pasting on the large letters we formerly published may be submitted in that way.

Puzzle solutions are to be submitted only in complete sets five days after all letters of the alphabet have been published in the Times and Record News. Do not send in each puzzle separately. When you have the complete set of 26 puzzles, or parts thereof, mail first class, postage prepaid, or bring them to the Times and Record News alphabet puzzle department. All entries must be in by midnight five days after the last puzzle has been published in the Times and Record News. The winners will be announced as soon thereafter as possible. Be sure that mailed entries have name and address of sender and sufficient postage is used.

In addition to your entry, you must send an advertisement of one of the advertisers shown on any of the letters clipped from the Times or Record News during this contest period, and a letter not exceeding 50 words in length telling why you can profitably deal with this concern.

The Times and Record News will appoint judges, and their decision will be final. In the event of a tie for any of the prizes offered, the full amount of the prize tied for will be awarded each tying contestant.

RUPTURE INVENTION

If you are ruptured and wear a truss, now is your opportunity to get a FREE TRIAL of the most scientifically constructed Rupture Support ever invented.

William S. Rice, Adams, N. Y., originator of the Rice (Non-Surgical) Rupture Method, is sending his representative to the Texan Hotel, Wichita Falls, Texas, Friday and Saturday, Nov. 21 and 22, to personally explain and demonstrate his wonderful New Rupture Invention entirely free to every man, woman and child who is ruptured.

It is absolutely guaranteed to hold any rupture, large or small, no matter where located and afford proper protection at all times.

It is positively the most comfortable for every day wear at all kinds of work and can be worn nights and at all other times with no discomfort.

It is guaranteed not to slip out of place under any circumstances and the pressure so easily adjusts itself to all positions and movements of the body that there is no cutting or chafing.

It has proven the only properly constructed Rupture Support ever supplied for ruptured women, can be worn with or without the corset and actually improves the abdominal outlines.

It is equally valuable for ruptured children as it allows for full normal growth and development without limiting youthful activities or allowing the slightest protrusion of the rupture.

Pads are made of soft, resilient material, light, durable and comfortable. Hug the flesh snugly yet do not irritate. They are designed and shaped to fit and give pressure at the right spot so the bowel cannot possibly escape.

Hundreds of thousands in use all over the civilized world, and thousands are throwing all trusses on the scrap heap after a brief use of this scientific Rupture Support.

THE FREE TRIAL

is for every man, woman and child who is ruptured. So don't fail to call and test the exceptional merits of this guaranteed Rupture and Weakness Support. It has no equal and is being recommended by physicians and hospitals everywhere. Call any time from 9 to 12 a. m., 2 to 5 p. m., or 7 to 9 evenings. The test, remember, costs you nothing. Now is the time to change to Germ-Processed oil . . . . It's DE-WAXED. That means easy starting . . . . and its Penetrative Lubricity means safer lubrication during the trying months ahead

CONOCO

Is your car hard to start these cold mornings? Let that be a reminder that these are danger months for your motor!

It takes more turning-over to start, and more running to warm-up your motor during the cold months. So now, more than ever, you need the extra protection of this oil with two big cold-weather advantages!

Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil is de-waxed to prevent congealing at low temperatures. That's the first reason. Second, its penetrative lubricity insures instant lubrication at the first touch of the starter. By decreasing friction, Germ-Processed oil adds to the ease of starting.

You may be able to buy some other oils which are de-waxed, but there is only one oil with penetrative lubricity, only one that penetrates metal-surfaces and never drains away from working parts.

It's Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil. Ask for it whenever you the see the Conoco Red Triangle.

The Talk of Peace
An Ironic Joke
Mr. Einstein's Visit
He Will Not Be Mobbed

By EMILE GAUVREAU

In the United States, Mr. Hoover urges the world to unite in mobilizing opinion against a war agressor. General Pershing, on the same day, asked us to prepare for war.

In England, the Prince of Wales espouses the peace spirit. Premier MacDonald likewise makes a grand plea for the same purpose. But he argues for preparedness as a necessary safeguard against neighbors.

In France the new "wall of China" is steadily progressing as a defense line against the possibility of war with Germany or Italy. Japan is building to the limit of the naval pact. Germany is restive under her Republican regime because militaristic preparations are hindered and blocked by it. Mussolini in Italy whips his Fascisti into shape for the inevitable future.

It is tragic to admit that 10 million men spilled their blood for nothing on the battlefields of Europe a decade ago. A decade hence, according to the handwriting on the wall, 20 million more will make the same useless sacrifice. The periodic recurrence of war shows us that, historically, we are still in the age of the primitives.

George Bernard Shaw has consistently refused to visit the United States because of the price he would have to pay in accepting the tributes of hero-worship. The ovation of the Irish satirist, if he came here, would be great enough to imperil his life. As Mr. Shaw loves life, although ripe on the bow, he will remain in London.

Einstein, more important thinker than Shaw, though not as popular, is taking the chance, as he believes, of being mobbed in America, although he asks that as little public notice be taken of his trip as possible. The German savant is due here soon on a three-months' stay at a western observatory.

Mr. Einstein should not be concerned too much about being mobbed. A world champion prize fighter would have more to worry about. A man who tries to make people think has a small funeral. Who would take the day off, for instance, in New York, on a chance of seeing Aristotle, or Galileo, or Isaac Newton, or Mr. Einstein, if, instead, they could see Babe Ruth or Jack Dempsey?

In these days of publicity we have about reversed Shakespeare's maxim that "the evil that men do lives after them the good is oft interred with their bones."

The good that men do now lives after them, and it is the evil that is interred with their bones.

The deaths of General T. C. Du Pont, Marcus Daly, and F. M. Hubbell revive the story of their accomplishments and benefactions. We now know about the millions that Du Pont gave to charity, the war services of Daly, the railroad construction work of Hubbell. The monopolies, the questionable business ethics, the political intrigues in which these men were involved, at one time or another, will be mentioned only lightly in their obituary. The evil will be interred with their bones.

For years Europe and America have been denouncing Russia for its underhand attempts to overthrow the capitalist governments of the world. Now Moscow charges a plot involving high officials of France and England to overthrow the Soviet state. Among those named in the conspiracy are Raymond Poincaire, former French president; Aristide Briand, present foreign minister Sir Henri Deterding, British oil magnate, and "Lawrence of Arabia."

All these men deny knowledge of the matter. But we are not so sure that their denials can be accepted at face value. The word of a diplomat is no security.

(Copyright, John F. Dille Co.)

Lookin' up while drinkin' 'll wrinkle the brow, writes Miss Fawn Lippincut, in her "Hints Fer Fair Lady" column. One fine thing about the economic pinch—business won't hinder anybuddy from goin' to Floridy this winter.

The End of Local Pride

ONE OF THE THINGS that modern America takes pride in is the fact that provincialism and sectionalism are rapidly vanishing. Automobiles, newspapers, magazines, radios and similar contrivances have widened every man's horizon.

In a way this is an excellent thing. It is doing away with narrowness and prejudice. The man who lives on a distant farm is not so apt to think that the city is a fabulous place of rampant sin and gilded wickedness; he has been there himself, and knows better. People are not "sot in their ways" as they used to be, firmly opposed to any change; they know how the world is moving, and if New York takes up a new invention or a new custom today, the rest of the country will have it tomorrow.

However, there is another side to it. Provincialism can lead to warped minds and cramped horizons, but it can also lead to healthy strength and solid, well-rooted traditions. It can be expressed in ignorance and suspicion, but it can also be expressed in a wholesome sectional pride and a broad understanding and appreciation of one's immediate background.

A generation ago most Americans could be recognized at a glance as belonging to one or another particular section. The New Englander was utterly unlike the Carolinian. The middle westerner had nothing in common with the man from the Rockies. A man from California differed profoundly from the Texan.

Of course, there are still differences in speech, in minor customs and sometimes in dress and stature. But the old differences are gone. The man from Vermont and the man from Missouri think very much alike, today. They read the same books and magazines, listen to the same radio programs, buy the same kinds of goods in their stores—and, as like as not, get in their automobiles and tour through each other's states in the summer time.

In some ways, of course, this is a huge gain. But it is not all gain. Those old qualities bred by sectional differences were, in many cases, very fine. It is good for a man to feel that his own section is a place especially favored by providence. A young man growing up under such conditions stays near his home and gives his own native county or state the benefit of his talents. But today, if he lives anywhere in the East, he is apt to migrate at once to New York; if he lives in the Middle West, Chicago is apt to claim him, or possibly Detroit; if he is a west coast man, Los Angeles or San Francisco will get him.

This acts as a drain on vast stretches of the country, impoverishing them of their most ambitious and industrious citizens. It is hardly a wholesome process. A return of a little of our provincialism would not be a bad thing for us.

Already Known by Its Fruits

MATERIAL evidence of the sincerity of Wichita Falls citizens in pledging themselves recently to extensive repair and remodeling of property may be seen in almost any section of the city merely by looking to either side as one drives along the street.

Porches partially or wholly dismantled, awaiting alterations promised by nearby piles of lumber and shingles; foundations being laid for additional rooms; excavations for driveways, curbs, and sidewalks; and numerous instances of renovation both inside and out comprise a citywide index to definite results accomplished by the campaign waged here during the past few weeks for "better business."

Correlative with the beginning of such jobs for local workmen there is a noticeable decrease in the number of men who, contemplating the best place to apply next for employment, stand restlessly on a downtown street corner, a look of serious concern ill-concealed in their eyes.

There is a definite cycle already formed in the business life of Wichita Falls as a result of the city's earnest effort to "put on its own strength." Disbursement of money for needed private and public projects; employment of local labor, skilled and unskilled, for that purpose; and thirdly, a marked improvement in business for local mercantile establishments, in order that the three-sided cycle may repeat itself.

Nor will all the satisfaction come from knowing that much has been done to chase the "depression" hoodoo. Better residence properties, more attractive grounds, better streets and a brighter, cleaner city will constitute an ample reward for the thought and money invested in the campaign.

A Word for Investors

ONE often hears the comment, "This is a swell time to buy stocks," during the present business depression. Prices in many cases are only fractions of what they were 15 months ago. A rebound is not far around the corner. Obviously, someone is going to make a great deal of money when it comes.

Nevertheless, investors need to proceed cautiously. The current investment bulletin of the Alexander Hamilton Institute remarks pointedly:

"If the stock of a company which once sold over 100 sells later at 20 it is because the position of the company has radically changed. If the earning power has declined in the meantime from the equivalent of $10 per share to the equivalent of $2 per share, the stock is no cheaper at $20 than it was at $100. It is true, furthermore, that when extensive changes in earning power have occurred, the full effect cannot be gauged immediately and that recovery rarely occurs with great rapidity. For these reasons it is desirable, as a rule, to avoid the apparent bargains presented by greatly deflated stocks."

A man who is preparing to invest in stocks would do well to ponder that.

Ludendorff's Bad Dream

GENERAL ERICH LUDENDORFF, German army commander during the great war, seems to have established himself as the world's greatest pessimist by his recent prediction that a new war would break out in 1932, with Germany, England, Austria, Hungary and Soviet Russia lined up against France, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Rumania. His added assertion that this would destroy German civilization entirely only intensifies the gloom.

However, it is doubtful if anyone will lose much sleep over this prognostication. Anyone who can visualize Germany, England and red Russia teaming up as allies in the immediate future must have an imagination that is more feverish than healthy; and to imagine France leading a coalition into action against such a weird combination is no better.

There are war clouds enough over Europe, to be sure; but Ludendorff's nightmare hardly seems worth thinking about twice.

Quotations Worth Noting

Prospective war preparations are costing Europe $6,000,000 a day, to say nothing of the billions still unpaid for the past wars.—Representative Fred A. Britten.

Portrait of Man Talking to Himself

I feel so sorry for people . . . I mean those people who are incessantly afraid of something . . . Or somebody . . . Like the radio officials who deleted my opinion of the apple growers the other night . . . "You do not understand," they told me. "Radio is government controlled. The apple growers have power. If you offend them—they will get a congressman to get up on the floor at Washington and make trouble for us. You mustn't say anything about them robbing profits from the unemployed apple sellers" . . . It would be all right, they inferred, if I booted obscure people—those without "power." . . . Omyes! . . . But I must never offend people like the apple growers . . . No? . . . Who says? . . . Who the hell are the apple growers? . . . You don't say??? . . . heheheh . . . Kick the little guy, but be careful of the biggie . . . Izzatso? . . . Well, they couldn't keep it out of the newspaper chain, by golly . . . No wonder the radio "personalities" are dull . . . They are handcuffed by men who are afraid of "power" . . . Schiller knew: "The man who fears nothing is as powerful as he who is feared by everybody" . . . It is safer to be feared than to be loved.

It is more interesting sometimes looking at the audience on first nights . . . At the Cort, frixample . . . I counted at least a dozen married couples who weren't bored with the play as much as they were bored with each other . . . Wonder if this unemployment situation isn't being exaggerated a little? . . . The Club Richman prepared enough food to feed 1,000 hungry people and only 200 showed up. . . . That dame who tells fortunes or whatever it is in the Paramount theater ought to be suggested for Vanity Fair's "We Nominate for Oblivion" page . . . But so should the dopes who listen to her . . . "You think your wife loves you, don't you?" she was telling a sap whose mouth was wide open . . . "Well, she does love you, see? But all women are polygamous. Women may be true to their husbands or sweethearts and never give a thought to any other man, but in their dreams they can be unfaithful!" . . . Wonder how come the rags haven't played up the $16,000 stick-up at that hotel on Lexington avenue over 10 days ago.

Jay O'Brien, the playboy of two decades ago . . . Now 54, who doesn't appear to be over 30 . . . Once the husband of Mae Murray and now Dolly Fleischman's . . . Whose husband gracefully stepped aside, leaving her eight millions, when he realized that O'Brien, his "best friend," loved her . . . And then, two months later, died from grief . . . Love is like that, is it? . . . When an old man marries a young woman it is like buying a book for someone else to read . . . Wonder why love wilts? . . . And men like Russell Sard, who was Renovated the other day, spend $2,500 on a party at Guinan's to celebrate the event! . . . Kay Carroll of "Vanities" is "living" . . . It must be grand being contagious looking like Kay and having one man give you five thousand dollars in a lump every time he sees you . . . And orchids, and goodies and things and stuff and adoring you incessantly . . . Wonder if Kay's head spins every time he puts his paw in his pocket? . . . The yen is mightier than anything.

If they only knew that one of the greatest actresses was accounted a moron when she attended school . . . Jim Tully is an engaging bird, at that . . . His chief regret, he says, is that most of the written knocks are dull . . . And that editors would do much better if they would let him write them . . . "I am such a bad actor," he says, "that I am afraid I will be flooded with offers" . . . Heheheh . . . Didn't George Moore say, "Acting is the lowest of the arts?" . . . And that you can teach a child to act, but you cannot teach it to write or paint? . . . Tully dismisses the remark that he is the most hated man in Hollywood with: "Oh, well, there are a lot of us" . . . It makes me titter every time I read that George Jean Nathan walks out on a new play after the first act if he no likes . . . George usually sticks it out until the very end if it is a poor show—just to observe how low some intellects are . . . Fiction is always interesting, anyway . . . The Chinese romance always ends with the hero triumphantly marrying both heroines.

Funny place Broadway . . . You are never missed. But so few of them realize it . . . "What a guy you are!" groaned one long absent brother last night, "I'm gone from here nearly two years and you don't even welcome me back!" . . . Gone? . . . For two years? . . . Really? . . . "Where the grade is hard and the friends are few—where you're soon forgotten when your time is through—that's where Broadway begins!" . . . He is merely one of the bulbs on the Great White Way and it pains him because no one knew he was gone for two days! . . . Mayor Rolfe of San Francisco was here for a week and what paper mentioned it? . . . Cholly Knickerbocker defends a pet who is slammed in a new book with a long paragraph in his column by calling attention to the rap . . . Who was it that said: "Please never disgrace me with a defense!" . . . The pace is too swift on Broadway to remember things . . . Or people . . . And their achievements . . . Anderson of the Journal, Brown and Waldorf of the Post and I wasted five minutes the other night in front of a theater between acts trying to recall the name of the dramatic critic who led Variety's box score three consecutive times—when he was on the Evening Mail . . . And who was fired!

So New York dramatic critics are tough, eh? . . . In Chicago they're tougher than Capone, considering what one of them said about a star in a N. Y. hit show: "He shouldn't be allowed to wear the U. S. soldier's uniform!" . . . Mary Garden has mellowed. She says she never reads what the critics write about her any more, "because their abuse no longer interests me" . . . I think I understand . . . When you have enough security everything rolls off your knife . . . Wonder why the Dagmar Godowsky mix-up in Paree didn't land on the news cables? . . . Dagmar and her rich Argentinian were nightloafing it, when a waiter "insulted" her. . . . The Arge lost his nut and knifed the waiter through the heart . . . Then Dag and the push were jailed as "material witnesses" until things were silenced.

HEARTBREAK GIRL

By ROB EDEN

Gail Stuart, befriended by Nick Walther after hiking to Hollywood, falls in pictures but becomes secretary to Carla Cross, the star. By a subterfuge she gets Ross Hardy, her fiance, a job as Carla's leading man. He makes good, but fame spoils him and Gail ends their engagement when he becomes infatuated with Carla. Gail is discharged for dining with Walther, whom Carla hopes to marry. Nick loves Gail but she still loves Ross. He persuades her to get a loan for him from Nick. He is living far beyond his means. Knowing Gail loves Ross, Nick throws them together at a houseparty. Other guests are Carla, Norman Frame, a discarded sweetheart of the star, and Sarah Morton. Ross and Frame are insanely jealous because Nick monopolizes Clara, and Gail is panicstricken when she learns someone has stolen Nick's revolver. Frame gives Gail a note for Carla and goes for a walk.

CHAPTER XXXVII

Carla and Nick came in at seven. Gail noticed that Nick went immediately to Wong. She saw Wong shake his head to the question his master must have asked. Saw the frown that cut Nick's forehead.

The girl was puzzled about what she should do. Tell Nick that Ross had taken the gun? Or wait, and watch Ross closely, as she had been doing since he came in from his long walk on the beach? Watch him, she guessed. He glanced up from his book when Carla came in, then his eyes dropped down. He made no greeting whatever to the actress, but Gail knew he wasn't reading, now that Carla was back. Two pages he turned at once, turned them with elaborate unconcern.

Norman hadn't come in yet from his walk, so the party sat down to dinner without him. At 9, they were to go home, as Carla wanted to be in early. She had a trying day Monday, she said, pointedly at the dinner table. Appointments all morning long, and in the afternoon a conference with Mr. Werber at the studio.

"What's the conference?" Sarah asked innocently.

Carla carefully brushed a crumb from the table. "I'm signing a new contract tomorrow. My old one is up today. Three more years." She sipped some water, as if the contract meant nothing in her life. Three more years. Gail wondered if she would be getting more money, but didn't have the nerve to ask the question.

Quarter Million Yearly

Sarah Morton did. "More money, I suppose?" Sarah's tones were smooth.

"Oh, yes. Starting at four thousand and increasing five hundred every six months," Carla yawned.

Gail looked again at the blonde head she knew so well. In three more years Carla would be earning six thousand dollars a week. Over a quarter of a million dollars a year.

She wondered what Carla would have been if she had not gone into the pictures. Married, she supposed, to some Fairview youth, playing bridge morning and night and quarreling with her husband over pretty extravaganoes. Children? No, Gail thought not, Carla was too selfish to want children.

"I'm to have a new bungalow, too. That's in the contract. The hole I dress in now is frightful."

Sarah looked interested. She was dressing in one room with a bath in the main dressing room building at Werber's.

Carla tapped her lips to stifle another yawn. "My new bungalow will be perfect. Six rooms, with a dining room, and bedroom, two baths, living room, reception room, and kitchen. I have to eat now and then on the set—"

Gail knew that Carla never ate on the set. What she wanted a kitchen for she couldn't imagine.

"Mr. Werber is furnishing it just as I want. It hasn't been started yet, but will be as soon as I sign. Right back of Stage 9. It will be the largest studio bungalow in Hollywood. Of course it'll take several months to build—and while it's under construction I'll have to use the old hole. I told Mr. Werber I didn't want it Spanish—I think I'll have it French chateau—something like that. I haven't decided. I'm looking at some plans in the morning." Her hand settled a stray gold lock, and her blue eyes smiled at Sarah.

Gail Shivers

"Could you come to the studio with me tomorrow Nick? I need advice badly—" she looked helplessly at Nick.

"Of course."

Gail saw the look that Ross flashed Nick, and shivered. The gun—must still be in his pocket. She was sitting beside him, but on the wrong side. The pocket where the gun lay was next to Sarah.

At nine Gail was packed and ready to go. She looked around for Norman, for both Nick and Ross were in the living room when she came in. He hadn't come in yet.

"Funny Norman hasn't come in yet—" she remarked idly to Ross.

"Yes."

"Did you see him go away, Gail?" Nick inquired anxiously. Too anxiously Gail thought.

"Yes, he went for a walk on the beach."

"Think I'll have a look for him." He left but came back presently, saying he hadn't seen anything of Frame.

At 9:30, Carla said she had to go. Nick was reluctant to leave, said they ought to wait for Norman. At 10 he hadn't come in yet, and Nick left the house again, this time with Wong.

"All this anxiety about Norman." Carla pouted, and motioned Ross to come and sit beside her. Ross, however, made no move to change his seat. He was staring glumly out the window.

Carla, realizing that after all she might have tried his feelings a bit too much, walked over to him, and flung an arm around his shoulder. He did not move, made no effort to push the arm away.

Gail felt weak, dizzy. Nick flew to her and his nearness gave her assurance.

Carla's new contract flashed again to Gail's mind. The contract which would set her at the top of Hollywood. Carla's white fingers reaching for her money, then throwing it away as quickly as it came. She could get her yacht now, her new car. But after she had these luxuries, she would want something else. Well the girl remembered the day she had heard Carla storm because she couldn't have the things she had always wanted. Storming at Tod.

What had Carla wanted when she was a girl in Fairview? Was she wishing for yachts then? And foreign chrome nickled cars? People in Fairview didn't talk about those things. They didn't think in those terms. They talked of good substantial cars, useful things, whether it would snow the next day, whether Mrs. Jones, or Mrs. Smith or Mrs. Brown would get over her last operation. There were no luxuries in Fairview from the standpoint of Hollywood. None. A few fine houses, yes. One couple went to Europe every fifth summer, the banker. The same family had two servants. Two, mind you.

Cultivated Tastes

Carla had acquired her luxurious tastes from Hollywood. She couldn't have had them in Fairview.

Things she had wanted all her life. She meant things she had wanted since she had come to Hollywood.

The girl thought of what she wanted—now. Ross, most of all. Ross, first of all. If she had him she would be satisfied.

Steps on the porch, quick steps of some one running. Gail looked up in alarm, as Nick came into the room, breathless, his face set, something in his eyes that frightened the girl. He slammed the door after him, and started for the telephone.

"We're going now, Nick?" Carla's

Q.—Is it possible to dye the wood of a tree before the tree is felled? —L. A. M.

A.—Scientists have dyed living trees with different aniline dyes for more than 30 years in order that they may study the flow of sap, and many different methods of injection have been attempted. Several have been made to put this scheme on a commercial basis. The companies working with the material have been particularly concerned with the coloring of birch, beech, and maple, particularly the sapwood. One of the difficulties of the process is that it is almost impossible to get an even color throughout the tree. As a consequence, the material has been cut up into small articles such as colored wooden buttons, umbrella handles, cigaret cases, candlesticks, etc.

Q.—Who called Mark Antony "a gigantic commonplace?"—K. L.

A.—The characterization is from Arthur Weigall's "Life and Times of Cleopatra."

Q.—Why does the flow of water vary at Niagara, when it is really the outlet of the Great Lakes? R. W. F.

A.—The flow of water at Niagara varies with the height of Lake Erie, which in turn is influenced by rain on the territory drained, direction of wind, and diversions from Lake Michigan at the Chicago drainage canal, diversions through the Welland canal and the New York barge canal. The average flow is placed at 191,000 cubic feet per second. The total diversions average 73,000 cubic feet, or considerably more than one-third the average flow.

Q.—Did Kaiser William originate the expression "a place in the sun?"—G. B. C.

A.—Yes. William II used the phrase on June 18, 1901, at Hamburg, with reference to the commercial designs of Germany in China and the Far East.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE APPROVES INSTALLMENT TAX PLAN

MASS MEET TO REPLACE FEAST

Public to Attend Annual Gathering

The general public will be given an insight of the workings of the chamber of commerce here in January when the organization holds its annual meeting, according to the decision of the board of directors which met Tuesday.

The annual meeting will be held Jan. 9 in the Memorial auditorium in the form of a mass meeting, instead of a banquet as in previous years. Wichita Falls, it was said, is going into a new era of development, and it is felt that it is fitting to invite the general public to attend the meeting and to hear a report of 1930 activities and plans for the 1931 program of work.

It is planned to bring one of the outstanding speakers of the United States here to make the principal address and J. S. Bridwell was authorized by the board at its meeting Tuesday to name a committee to make general arrangements.

Installment Taxes

An undertaking of importance to the citizens of Wichita Falls was put under way when the board voted to approve the idea of collecting taxes here in quarterly installments. A committee was named to look into the matter to determine the feasibility of the plan and if practical, to further the move for the collection and payment of taxes on installments. The committee named to investigate the plan is composed of Judge A. H. Britain, chairman; A. W. King, Luther Hoffman and J. L. Jackson Jr. The legality of the proposal will be determined, it was said, and if found practical vigorous steps will be taken to put the plan into effect here.

The board heard a number of complaints on the mail service between Wichita Falls and Lawton and other Oklahoma points, in which it was pointed out that it requires longer for a letter to travel from Lawton to Wichita Falls than it does for mail to be delivered here from New Orleans, which is 10 times the distance of Lawton from Wichita Falls. It was determined that indirect rail facilities between here and the Oklahoma towns was responsible for the slow mail service and to remedy the situation, it was suggested to the traffic committee that motor busses be considered for the transportation of mail and that a conference be held with O. P. Maricle, postmaster, in an effort to obtain faster service between here and Lawton.

World Fair Director

President Bridwell was authorized by the board to designate a director from Wichita Falls to serve on the Texas World Fair commission, which proposes that Texas construct a building at the World fair to be held in Chicago in 1932 and that a worthy Texas exhibit be maintained during the exposition. The directorate voted the cooperation of the chamber of commerce here with the Texas commission.

An appropriation of $100 was authorized toward the expenses of the annual rabbit show to be held here in December by the North Texas Rabbit Breeders association.

An offer by Paul Seeds, local band director, to use his band to provide free entertainment to citizens here during the winter months, was referred to the entertainment committee. Seeds proposed in a letter to provide the services of the band for free concerts as a contribution to the community good, providing that a suitable place for the concerts could be provided. The board went on record as expressing appreciation of the offer.

Seek Convention

Authorization was wired to Max Shumate, Wichita county tax assessor who is attending the 1930 convention of the Texas Tax Assessors association in Laredo, to extend an invitation to the association to hold its 1931 meeting here.

In order to obtain a more representative ballot, it was decided that instead of electing directors at the annual meeting this year, that a mail ballot would be used. Each member of the chamber of commerce, it was said, will be mailed a ballot bearing 20 names, the selections of the nominating committee, of which five preferences are to be indicated. Ballots will be returned to the chamber of commerce offices where they will be placed in a ballot box on Jan. 9 and will be opened at 4 o'clock in the afternoon by a tellers committee, who will tabulate the results in time to permit the announcement at the annual meeting the same night.

A vote of appreciation and a pledge of continued cooperation were given the better business campaign committee following a report of the work and accomplishments of the group by J. C. Mytinger, chairman.

A resolution was adopted approving the plan to dam Red river at a point near Denison and to otherwise utilize the waters of the river for irrigation, power and navigation.

J. W. Chatham reported to the directors on the state-wide movement to encourage the use of Texas made products in Texas. The board endorsed plans of the movement and authorized Chatham to represent the organization at a meeting of manufacturers and others interested at Waco in the near future.

Tribute to Kemp

A. H. Britain, W. M. McGregor, Pat Simmons and J. T. Harrell were named as a committee to write resolutions of respect and regret on the death of J. A. Kemp, who was a charter member of the chamber of commerce here and who for 25 years was a director of the board. Telegrams and letters from numerous chambers of commerce throughout Texas and Oklahoma expressing regrets over Mr. Kemp's passing and appreciation for the work he has done, were read.

The president was authorized to appoint a committee of three to compose a program of work committee to draft the 1931 program of activities for the organization. Mr. Bridwell was also authorized by the board to name a budget committee.

Fourteen of the 15 directors were present for the meeting, the 15th member being out of the city. This is said to be a record.

TACKETT CASE GOES TO JURY

Defendant Tells of Effort To Buy Company

Receiving its instructions from Judge William H. Atwell shortly after 8 o'clock Tuesday night, a jury in the federal court for Northern Texas began its deliberations in the trial of Ben T. Tackett on charges of having used the mails to defraud. The jury retired without reaching a verdict at 9:30 p. m.

Spirited arguments before the jury by counsel for both sides concluded the contest of the case before Judge Atwell Tuesday evening, climaxing a trial which opened about 3 o'clock Monday afternoon and in which most of the evidence was introduced in the form of voluminous correspondence and records. Alec Mood of Amarillo, assistant federal district attorney, opened the prosecution's plea to the jurors at 4:30 o'clock, and was followed by C. C. McDonald and B. D. Sartin, defense attorneys, who finished their arguments at 6 o'clock. Following a 90-minute recess, Assistant United States Attorney General Fred Horwitz of Los Angeles concluded the government's case with a 30-minute plea to the jury.

Tackett on Stand

The defendant was on the stand for nearly five hours Tuesday, being called by his own counsel about 11 a. m., when the government completed its introduction of direct evidence, and finishing his testimony about 4:20 p. m. Under questioning, he detailed his conduct of the matters upon which the prosecution's indictments were based. According to the defendant's testimony, his sole purpose in soliciting funds from the 8,000 or more stockholders in the Buffalo-Texas Oil company was to purchase for their benefit all assets of the concern when they should be placed on sale by the receiver. From more than 1,200 such stockholders, it was set out, more than $27,000 was received, the covering contract stipulating that should the defendant fail to purchase the assets of the defunct company, 75 per cent of such subscriptions was to be returned to the senders.

A government fraud order, forbidding delivery of mail to the defendant, was issued in October, 1927, according to the defendant's testimony. Because of that stoppage of mailing privileges, he said, he was unable to complete the necessary organization of subscribers preparatory to purchasing the desired assets at the receiver's sale, other purchasers obtaining them for something more than $14,000.

Under the contract governing the transaction, the defendant continued, he was compelled to return 75 per cent of the subscriptions, and proceeded to do so. Considering himself barred from the mails, he testified, he made extensive trips to all parts of the United States and Canada for the purpose of returning money to individual subscribers, and declared that of the $20,615.93 so returnable, all but $481.20 had been delivered to those who subscribed it. Persons who contributed the small balance still on hand have not yet been located, according to the defendant.

Government's Case

Following closely the charges set out in the indictment, the government charged that Tackett wrote numerous letters to all of the stockholders of the original Buffalo-Texas Oil company in an effort to obtain funds for his own use, and that he had no intention of buying the company's assets at receiver's sale, nor of returning the money. Detailed examination was made before the jury of a ledger purportedly reflecting receipts of of money for the purpose stipulated in letters allegedly sent out by the defendant. Amounts recorded there as coming from all over the United States ranged in amount from $1.50 to more than $1,100 each.

The defendant was subjected to a grilling cross-examination by the government's counsel, who obtained his admission that he had placed letters dealing with matters other than those involved in the present case in the mails here, without backing on the envelopes, subsequent to issuance of the fraud order by the government. The prosecution also sought to show that letters commending the defendant's handling of the transactions in question were obtained by Tackett as he travelled through the country returning money formerly sent him on subscriptions.

Following a sharp clash between opposing counsel Tuesday afternoon, the court admitted as evidence alleged photostatic copies of two letters said by the defendant to have been written by him in March and September of 1928 to the postoffice department. As presented to the jury, these letters asked for alteration of the fraud order so that subscribers to the fund then in the defendant's hands might write to him, thereby making possible organization of the new group for the purpose of purchasing the Buffalo-Texas company's assets at an impending receiver's sale.

Subscriptions comprising the $27,000 said to have been received by the defendant came to him between June, 1926, and the middle of December of that year, he testified. Affairs of the oil company in question were said to have remained in the hands of various receivers for more than two years. Its producing properties, according to the evidence introduced, consisted largely of its "Douglas lease" near Electra, it was shown.

Ben Greet Players Bring Delightful Evening to Lovers of Shakespeare

By The Record News Critic

Ben Greet and the Ben Greet players held a full auditorium spellbound at the Junior college Tuesday, night.

Russel Thorndike in the part of Hamlet was the outstanding feature of the play from the time he came upon the stage. The slowly moving curtains, chiming of soft bells, and Thorndike's marvelous voice were features that held the audience, where many were high school pupils, rapt in interest. The dialogue between the ghost and Hamlet was acting beyond description.

Ofelia, as she was called in the first quarto given, was a lovely young girl with the sweet voice that matched her appearance. She looked the Ofelia that students of Shakespeare have imagined, youthful rather than the overlarge Ofelia of the stage.

The king had his moment of action when after the play given in the play, he felt some measure of remorse. The queen acted a really splendid part and Ben Greet as Corambis—Polonius to most students, was a masterly character as the garrulous old statesman.

Some surprise was seen in the audience when Hamlet's soliloquy did not follow the lines of the play as students know it. The audience began with him "To be or not to be," and paused aghast when his words changed.

Such a cast is worth seeing and hearing many times. The voice trained by Ben Greet were rich and sonorous, sarcastic and sneering, but always a symphony in voices.

JURORS HOLD ROBSION GUILTY

Manslaughter Verdict Returned at Altus

Special to The Record News.

ALTUS, Okla., Nov. 18.—Verdict of guilty of manslaughter was returned by the jurymen late Tuesday for Vernon Robsion in connection with the death of Elmer Carter, deputy Jackson county sheriff, on the night of Aug. 29, near Altus.

Punishment was left to the court District Judge Frank Mathews has not set the date for announcing punishment or sentencing of Robsion.

Brother Given Life

George Robsion, brother to Vernon, was given a life sentence in the state penitentiary a few weeks ago when found guilty of the murder of Carter.

Ernest Jackson, third member of the party at time of the gun battle with Carter and Joe Whitt, city policeman, is held in the Jackson county jail awaiting trial for which date has not yet been set.

Court's Charge

According to the charge given the jury Monday night by Judge Mathews, the jury found that a definite conspiracy did not exist between the two Robsion boys and Jackson, as charged by the state. In the prosecution of the case, the state's demand for life imprisonment for murder was based upon an alleged agreement between the trio to share equally responsibility for anything which might happen as a result of their admittedly illicit operations.

When accosted near Altus by Carter and City Officer Whitt, Jackson and the Robsion boys were en route to Quanah, according to their earlier statements, where they planned resuming their liquor manufacturing and sale.

William J. Howell, 75, of Weinert, Texas, died in a hospital here Tuesday morning. The body is being held by the Hines mortuary pending the arrival of a daughter, Mrs. Charles Barton of Weinert.

CLOYD PRESTON FARMER

Cloyd Preston Farmer, 1-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Farmer, died at the residence, 1406 North Second street, Tuesday afternoon. The body is being held by the Hines mortuary pending the arrival of the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Blanchard, who are visiting in Arkansas.

Advertising Club Told of Hospital Facilities Here

Members of the Advertising club were made familiar with the facilities offered by Wichita Falls in the way of hospitals and medical service in a talk given by Dr. Q. B. Lee at the organization's weekly luncheon at the Kemp hotel Tuesday noon.

Equipment maintained in local institutions affords the public in this community specialized service equal to that available in much larger cities with larger hospitals, he said.

Another feature of the situation here which he commended is the provision by taxation for charity cases instead of resorting to an annual hospital drive to provide a fund for such patients. Institutions discussed by the speaker included the Wichita Falls State hospital, Dr. F. S. White's sanitarium, the Wichita General hospital, the Walker-Hargrave hospital and the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital.

Burton Coffman, educational director of the First Church of Christ, sang a group of songs, accompanied by Miss Lorene Tucker.

Silent tribute was paid to the memory of J. A. Kemp, whose death occurred Sunday night, following a brief eulogy given by W. S. Abbott.

Iowa Park Chamber Names New Director

Special to The Record News.

IOWA PARK, Texas, Nov. 18.—At a recent meeting of the chamber of commerce, C. H. McDowel, successor to Earl J. Wilson, as superintendent of Texas experiment sub-station No. 18, was selected to fill the vacancy in the chamber of commerce directors, which occurred when Mr. Wilson was transferred to the seed department of the state at Waco. J. W. Yarbro, of Valley View, was selected to represent the organization on the welfare committee that will handle the funds secured in the recent community chest drive which went over the top with over $2,00.00 collected, when the original quota was set at $1,800.00.

In an effort to help unemployed citizens, it was decided to prepare application blanks, in the form of questionnaires, which will be distributed from the chamber of commerce office and will be kept on file there when filled, for reference. This systematic plan was adopted with the hope of assisting both those who need work and those who have work to be done.

The announcement by the agricultural committee of the Farmers short course to be held here in January was received. This will be under the supervision of County Agent G. C. McGown, and the committee plans to work in the meantime to stimulate interest and secure a good attendance. Ernest Birk, who has varied agricultural interests, has been chairman of this committee since the organization of the chamber.

THANKSGIVING

Suburban Day

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 20

What memories Thanksgiving Day revives—the old home, the rows of shocked corn, the golden pumpkin, the open fire, the family group around the festive board.

Thanksgiving is a day for homecoming. Mary back from college—John home from the city. The daughters, sons, grandchildren, the uncles and aunts who respond to the homing impulse on Thanksgiving Day are legion.

How fortunate that Suburban Day, a regular monthly event in Wichita Falls, this month occurs just a week before Thanksgiving. It gives the people of this section the opportunity of supplying their clothing, furniture and home furnishings needs from complete and authoritative stocks and at money-saving prices. Everybody likes to look his best and every hostess desires her home to appear attractive on holiday occasions. The approaching of Thanksgiving calls for a "brushing up" in one's personal attire, for a critical scrutiny of curtains, rugs, chinaware and other household necessities.

Whatever your requirements you will be able to fill them satisfactorily and economically in Wichita Falls. Here you have the advantage of a great central market, a wide variety of selection and the wholesome competition of many stores.

The Suburban Day ads will appear in both The Times and The Record News. Read carefully the ads in these issues. If you will make a pencil list of the things that interest you and the places where they may be obtained it will be of great assistance to you in your Suburban Day shopping.

Get Your Winter Vitamins

Many people are actually starved for protective vitamins during the winter months when sunshine is scarce. You can consider that vitamins are a form of life insurance. When you eat them you protect yourself against various diseases. Probably no one knows just what a vitamin is chemically, but it is known that they are necessary in the diet, and experiments have shown which foods contain the greatest amounts of them. Here is a list of the different vitamins which have been discovered to date and some information about them:

Vitamin A: Those who have colds and are rundown probably need more vitamin A. It enables you to resist certain afflictions of the eyes, sinuses, ears and kidneys. Without it your resistance to infections of the skin and mucous membranes is lessened. This vitamin is stored in the body and is especially needed by growing children. It is found in raw milk, cream, evaporated milk, butter, cheese, egg yolk, raw carrots, codliver oil, bananas, yellow turnips, yellow corn, Hubbard squash, oranges, prunes, green peas, lettuce, canned and fresh tomatoes, sweet potatoes. All of the yellow and green vegetables are good sources.

Vitamin B: This vitamin is not stored very long in the body. Consequently, some of the foods containing it should be eaten regularly. It is needed for a good appetite, and a lack of it brings about a loss of weight and energy. It is vital to the health at all ages. This vitamin has lately been found to consist of two vitamins which are named B1, or F vitamin, and B2, or G vitamin. B1 is destroyed by heat. B2 is relatively unaffected by heat. B1 prevents the disease, beriberi, in humans. A lack of it may bring on nervousness and spasms. B2 is a vitamin which prevents pellagra. These vitamins are contained in whole grain cereals, milk, meat, green leafy vegetables, egg yolks, asparagus, dried lima beans, whole-wheat bread, buttermilk, raw cabbage, carrots, canned green corn, eggplant, fresh ham, lentils, oatmeals, oranges, parsnips, baked Irish potatoes, baked sweet potatoes, green peas, canned tomatoes, turnips, walnuts and yeast.

Vitamin C: This vitamin is not stored in the body, consequently it is needed by everyone every day. Its use prevents scurvy and is essential to healthy gums. Nearly every one with pyorrhea is not getting enough vitamin C. This vitamin is destroyed by too much cooking. A lack of it is thought to predispose to decay of the teeth and rheumatism. It is found in oranges, lemons, grapefruits, raw apples, bananas, raw cabbage, canned pineapple, tomatoes, peaches, raspberries, strawberries, peas, dried peaches, spinach, raw leafy vegetables, raw carrots, potatoes boiled not over 15 minutes, turnips.

Vitamin D: The sunshine vitamin is stored in the body only a short time. It prevents rickets, bowlegs, and swollen joints. Builds bone and teeth by enabling the body to use calcium and phosphorus. Children and nursing mothers especially need vitamin D. Vitamin D is found in the foods containing vitamin A which have been grown in or exposed to the sunlight. The effect of this vitamin is also obtained by using sunbaths. You can obtain certain cereals or foods which are called "irradiated," meaning especially treated to produce this vitamin.

Vitamin E: The absence of this vitamin causes sterility. A full list of the foods containing it is not known, although it is present in vegetables, oils, meats, lettuce and wheat germ. It is stored in the body to some extent.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Baby Won't Drink

Question—Mrs. T. writes: "My baby is three months old and I can't get her to take any water. Someone suggested sweetening the water, but I do not know what quantity of sweetening to use. And should I use honey for this purpose? She is breast fed."

Answer—Your baby will not require a great deal of water if she is taking enough milk. I do not advice the addition of sugar to water for encouraging her to drink it.

Logy After Breakfast

Question—Mrs. J. C. writes: "In following your weekly menus, would it be all right for me to shift the breakfast of one egg, Melba toast and stewed fruit to luncheon, as I feel so logy when eating this in the morning. For a year or more I have made my breakfast of raw fruit only."

Answer—The reason I prescribe the heavy breakfast is to allow a greater length of time to elapse between that meal and dinner, the heavy meals. There would naturally be a slight logginess because of the change of diet.

Instrument for Massaging

Question—Mrs. K. L. writes: "Recently I saw a small instrument that massages the body by hand and it looked very good to me. Wherever it is rubbed over the body it makes the skin very red, and that is said to be good for the circulation."

Answer—Such massage instruments are helpful in the hands of a skilled technician but seldom of much value to the layman as he does not know how or where to use the instrument to accomplish systematic results. Where it seems necessary to stimulate the circulation to the skin or any part, such as the face, vibration, accompanied by massage and hot and cold applications, is helpful in bringin about applications, is helpful in bringing about skin and face muscles.

Accidental Shot Wounds Hunter at Electra

Special to The Record News

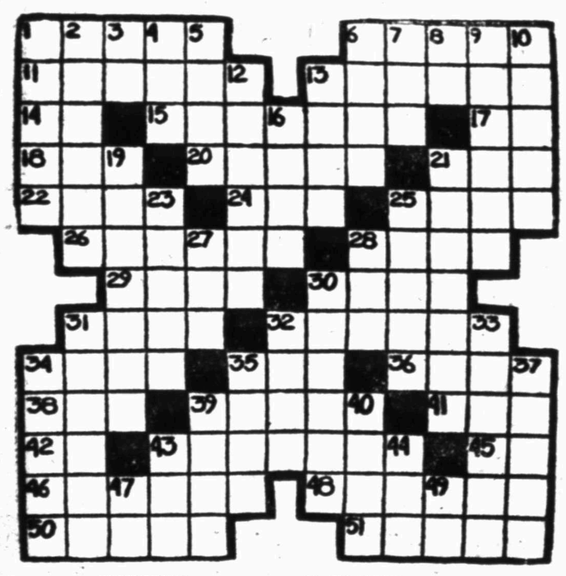

ELECTRA, Texas, Nov. 18.—Roy Mankins of the Electra News accidentally shot himself in the foot Sunday while he was hunting on the Proud farm, north of Electra. He had been lying on the ground watching for the game and when he started to get up he accidentally discharged the shotgun he was carrying. The load of shot went through his right foot and he was rushed to a physician. It was necessary to remove one of his toes.

Mr. Mankins has been connected with the Electra News for several years. He will probably be able to return to work in two or three weeks. He is also the Electra sport correspondent for The Times Publishing company.

Unknown Indian's Body To Be Buried at Cheyenne

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 18. (AP)—The body of an unknown Indian, supposed to have perished in the historic battle between the Cheyenne tribe and General Custer's soldiers near Cheyenne Nov. 27, 1868, will be buried at Cheyenne, with elaborate ceremonies on Thanksgiving day, Della I. Young advised J. B. Thoburn, curator of the Oklahoma Historical society, today. Thoburn accepted an invitation to attend the ceremony and relate the history of the battle.

OLNEY B TEAM WHIPS PACK'S RESERVES WITH AERIAL CHARGE

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

Several times last season we heard Carl Williams criticized for "lack of aggressiveness."

And of late we have heard several make the same indictment against Howard Fitzgerald, who is being talked as Williams' successor.

Frankly, we think the charges in both instances are the bunk.

That being over, I'd like to tell you a story Fred Ankenman, president of the Houston Baseball club, told me when he was here recently.

Once upon a time there was a young fellow down in Central Texas who managed a farm club operated by Ankenman's Buffs. The youngster had great success with his club, whatever the name of it was. I've forgotten. But he could never seem to do anything higher up. Ankenman had a sneaking suspicion that if he could ever get this young fellow with a higher club he would make good. He attended a baseball meeting up East and heard the owner of the Decatur club, in the Three Eye league, howling because he had a punk manager. The Decatur manager, lamented the owner, was full of steam and fire and all that, and could make quite an impression when he strode across the park, but his team never seemed to get anywhere.

So Ankenman suggested the Decatur owner give the young Texan a trial as manager. The Texan, Ankenman commented, was of a quiet, easy-going sort and didn't make much of a noise when he was around the public, but he sure knew how to make baseball players work.

The Decatur owner took a chance and hired the Texan on Ankenman's recommendation.

The Decatur club hadn't won a pennant in something like 15 years. It was a doormat, and some work—through long usage by the boys higher up in the standings. That's the kind of club the young Texan took over.

He started off just like all the other managers had—by losing. But one day there was an upset. Decatur won a game. The papers paid no attention to it, figuring it was a freak exhibition of some sort. The next day, however, the Decatur bunch drubbed their strong rival again. Well, this got mentioned, somewhere down about the bottom of the page. But this went on for two solid weeks, the Decatur outfit whipping all kinds of opposition—and before you could bat an eye the headlines at the top of the page were praising the Decatur bunch, and at the same time wondering whatthell was going on in that neck of the woods.

It went on and Decatur won the pennant. Decatur was amazed. The manager of their team was so inconspicuous that half the fans didn't even know his name. He wasn't anything like the show-offy boy who had preceded him. But he won that pennant—the first Decatur had won in something like 15 years.

Now don't think this story is going to stop there—like a fairy tale with its happy ending. This story has a sad ending.

Decatur fans revered the Texan because he had won a championship for them—but they demanded that he crawl up on the roof and crow about it. Patrons edged in with the directors of the club and allowed as how this young man was all right, a good manager, capable of producing a winning team, but that he didn't have the "punch" to go over with the crowd. They wanted a blustery fellow.

Remember, now, they had had a blustery fellow before the Texan came—and he had never won anything.

Well, time came for signing contracts for the next year, and the Texan was informed he was fired. The public, said the club president, wanted a more "personified" manager.

They got one the next year—and lost the pennant, and kept on losing it.

I hope our baseball public in Northwest Texas and Southwestern Oklahoma will always remember this story when they hear people accuse Williams or Fitzgerald of "lack of aggressiveness." Let their records speak for them.

He's for Howard

"Dear Rambler:

"Here's one vote for Howard Fitzgerald for manager of the Spudders. If he has the ability to build a team I am sure he can handle them as well or better than Carl Williams. Here's hoping we have a manager that will keep his pitchers warmed up and have the nerve to pull one.

McFarlane Claims Bobby Will Return

NEW YORK, Nov. 18. (AP)—Willie McFarlane, the tall, slender Scotch professional who once gave Bobby Jones one of the most surprising lickings of his golfing life, thinks the chunky master of the links will be back in action within three or four years.

"Bobby will be back," he said. "He loves competitive golf too well to stay on the sidelines. He'll see one open championship, and then he'll race to the clubhouse for his bag and his shoes. It'll be the old firehorse hearing the bells again."

MacFarlane, like all other professionals, has a deep affection for the stubby smiling southerner who has shot so many lucrative open championships away from him. With Johnny Farrell, Willie shares the honor of once having beaten out Jones for the national open crown in one of the two most sensational playoffs in the history of the competition.

VISITORS WIN ON PASS, 6-0

Regular Coyotes Entrain For Pampa Tonight

By FRED THOMPSON

After being held to even terms in both the aerial and the ball lugging departments, Coach Albert Acker's B team of Olney unleashed a spirited forward passing attack in the fourth quarter to defeat the Coyote B team, 6 to 0, on the practice field behind the Wichita Falls High school yesterday.

The crowd of some 250 fans, including several from Olney, went away declaring they had seen one of the most entertaining battles of the season. Both teams fought hard, tackling on both sides was hard, and the playing was fast. Both showed aptness in the use of the forward pass, heaves of from 10 to 25 yards being common after the first few minutes of play, when it was found by both the Wichita Falls and Olney quarterback that lunges through the line weren't netting so much.

Coyotes Finish Strong

Attempting a garrison finish, the Coyotes, mainly through the efforts of Rugeley and Parrish, backfielders, had the ball on the nine-yard line, second down and goal to go when the game ended. Parrish, one of the outstanding backfield stars of the game though he played only for a little while, had just received a 40-yard pass from Rugeley. A line plunge failed to gain, and the Coyotes were lining up for the second down, with 10 seconds to play, when the whistle sounded before things could get going.

In their charge to the goal line in the final period, the future Cubs of Olney reeled off five first downs on as many passes, one following the other with clock-like precision. The two stars principally responsible were George Gilmore and Sharp, left end. On one of the passes these two put over, Sharp escaped and charged over the line, but he was unfortunate enough to step out of bounds on the way down. This failed to make the necessary yardage, and the Coyote B's punted, only to have it returned by Olney to the Wichita Falls 20 yard line. Then Gilmore passed to Sharp again, making a 11-yard heave, and Sharp raced the remaining distance without much trouble. A pass for the extra point failed.

Daugherty Stars

Gilmore, fullback, and Rue did most of the ball carrying for Olney, while Daugherty, Jenkins, Seitz and Rugeley toted it in sensational style for the home-towners, Daugherty especially making long gains on off tackle and end runs.

The Coyotes exhibited great strength in stopping the visitors when the latter could breath hard and almost blow some of the white chalk off the coveted goal line. In the very first minutes of the game Rue charged off right tackle for a 15-yard gain, and later made first down on the Coyotes' 10½-yard line. Then, however, the Coyote line stiffened and held the Cubs for downs as the first quarter ended.

Instead of kicking, Quarterback Rugeley called for a line plunge when the second period opened, and it was successful, giving the team a first down right off the bat. They continued this charge until at the end of the half they were on Olney's 40-yard stripe.

The third quarter witnessed a deluge of passes on both sides, most of which were successful, but penalties and fumbles cost both teams heavily. The more costly fumbles were on the Coyote side, and were traced to faulty passing from center by Mauldin. However, Mauldin was not in his right position and could not be blamed. The regular centers, Coach Holton explained, were having difficulties with their classwork, and were forced to devote some extra time in the school room. Mauldin went in as a last resort.

He Made It Up

But whatever losses he incurred from bad passing, he made up for in throwing the charging Olney backfielders for losses. He was one of many hard tacklers amongst the Coyotes. Others were Hanks, Kelly, Harbes and Smith, to mention only a few.

Daugherty and Parrish booted punts for the Coyotes and they were nearly always up to a high standard. O'Brien and West got off some good boots for Olney.

In all, there was a considerable display of good talent in the game. The contest gave fans an idea of what both Coach Acker and Coach Holton would have to work with next year, and the crop on both sides looks very promising.

Coach Holton's first team was on the field between halves for a brief signal drill, and worked out during the game on the sidelines. The mentor announced he would send his men through a strenuous drill today—the last before their game with the Harvesters at Pampa Thursday. The team leaves for Pampa tonight.

The B squad Cubs will meet the Coyote B team again next Monday in a return game at Olney. Meanwhile the Cub reserves will play the Graham B team at Graham Saturday.

The lineup:

OLNEY B's (6)	Pos.	COYOTES B's (0)

'On To Graham—And Victory,' Is Nocona's Battle Cry

Grid Players Fight Fires Between Games

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 18. (AP)—Football players by day, fire fighters by night—it's all in a day's work for members of the grid squad at Oklahoma City university.

The fire-fighting footballers attend classes during the mornings, practice on the gridiron in the afternoons and then shed their heavy football garb to don fire helmets and rubber boots in the evenings.

Thus they get the benefit of firemen's drill to harden their muscles, and earn their college expense money besides. The players say that development of a fireman's ear is an advantage in running football signals.

As for sleep, the smoke-eating pigskin chasers find time to doze when fires are scarce and when they are caught up with their lessons.

Lone Girl With Hefty Left Repels Yale Charge on Princeton Goal

And the Splinters Were Saved, Intact; So Mr. Runyon Concludes Princeton Has Gone Co-Ed

By DAMON RUNYON
(Copyright, 1930, by Universal Service, Inc.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Until last Saturday afternoon I never knew that Princeton is co-ed.

In the gloaming, oh my darling, of that fateful day, with the mists off the New Jersey wetlands shrouding Palmer staudium like a bridal veil, or mayhap a sheet in a Turkish bath, the devoted sons of old Nassau found themselves hurled upon their hip-pockets 'mid a crescendo of crashing flasks, around the north goal posts of their football arbor.

The snarling snoozers of Yay-Hale, flushed with victory, and between-the-halves inhalations of vapor, were clutching at the tall white timbers so dear to the hearts of all loyal Princetonians. The men of old Nassau had fought desperately to preserve these wooden bedposts against the onslaught of the Yalensians, who wished to pluck the pine pillars limb from tree, and carry the splinters back to New Haven.

But now, in spite of their best efforts, the old Nassauers found themselves in a tough spot. In the rude grasp of the maurauders the white posts were shivering like a quarterback awaiting a punt. Up rose Barbara Fritchie then—or at any rate, up popped a doll in black who began smacking Yalensians right and left in defense of the sacred poles.

It was all most surprising, especially to the Yale blokes. Even the Princetonians raised their brows in mild surprise, and some were in favor of stopping the fight for an inning or two until they could consult the college authorities and ascertain if a gal had a right to mix in their battles.

Since as far back as 1873, the year of the big wind, Yale and Princeton young men have been popping each others' smellers, as is their privilege under the constitution of the United States, but never before did a female have the temerity to join with them. However, the lady arrived in such a nick of time that the Princeton swarm rather appreciated her efforts, especially when she shinned up one of the posts, and from that point of vantage defied the Yale guys to do their worst.

One Yale young man, a blond fellow with a slightly peaked chin, and an air of determination, muttered that no dame could intimidate him, and stepped in with a vicious right cross aimed at the Doll, but he was somewhat excited, and missed her so far that he fell on his own wishbone. It is only fair to say that this young man did not fail to observe the proprieties in such case made and provided, and removed his hat before trying to hit the lady.

From the remote press box, it was not possible to determine if the Princeton Joan of Arc is pretty, but the chances are she is. Only pretty gals go to the Yale-Princeton game. She seemed to be a fair jabber with her left, but only an ordinary puncher with her right. Two Yale men grounded by the little lady's right got right up again. A Harvard man once informed me that if you knock a Yale man down with a right hand and he gets up, it is a sign you are no puncher.

The fight for the goal posts was practically stymied until the lady went on home to dinner, because the Yale men are so modest that they hid their eyes behind their hands when a slight display of lingerie seemed imminent as the lady unclimbed the post, and the gallant Princeton gees wouldn't strike them when they weren't looking.

As soon as she retired, however, the fighting resumed, and even after darkness had enveloped the field, and the herd was winding slowly o'er the lea toward the Pennsylvania special trains, a group remained under the north posts, and there was a gabble of voices in the night, and the occasional swush of a flying fist. The goal posts were still upright, the last seen of them, but wobbling feebly in the gentle breeze.

Inquiry at the ivy clad halls of old Nassau failed to disclose the identity of the battling moll. It was denied that the gal is enrolled at Princeton, although it was freely admitted that she was undoubtedly Princetonian in spirit.

"Can we help it" asked one of the faculty, "if even the ladies, God bless 'em, wish to die for dear old Princeton?"

Your faithful operative carefully investigated the rumor that the gal was Mr. Larry Perry Sr., the author, made up as female impersonator, and is in a position to deny same. It is not improbable that Mr. Perry was one of those who rallied to the defense of the Princeton posts, but he was not made up.

I am informed that the Yalensians will take the matter of the fighting frail up with the intercollegiate authorities, and will contend that hereafter if she is to take part in any goal post massacres, she must remove her rings, and frat pins.

By the way, what is this sanguinary spirit that has suddenly entered into our eastern colleges? Can it be the brand of bottled heat they are selling? I shall really have to speak to the bootleggers about this matter. They must eliminate the boxing gloves from their chowder, or someone is apt to get hurt.

The Yale-Princeton scrimmage was not as bloodthirsty as the Harvard-Michigan melee, perhaps, but it lasted longer, there are not many cops around Princeton, and they've got troubles of their own without mixing in college squabbles. The law stepped in on the Harvard-Michigan muss, but no one bothered the boys at Princeton, and for all I know to the contrary, they may be scrapping yet. I think the Harvard-Michigan thing produced the all time master mind of goal post fussing, however, in the person of a tall lanky geek, who had arms like a hat rack.

This fellow would maneuver so that he would have someone between him and his quarry, and then he would suddenly reach over his buffer's shoulder and bat some guy on the chin. He flattened eight by actual count until a smallish red headed fellow observed his strategy, and walked in around him and waited until he threw another masked punch. Then the little man stepped in with a short right hand bop to the tall guy's chin, and high pockets went out like the hired girl on Saturday night.

But I doubt if even the tall guy had anything on the heroine of the Yale-Princeton prom. I hope, however, that none of the boys recognized her. She will never get a husband out of that mob. She hits too hard.

Capt. "Red" Bethea, Florida halfback, carried the ball 109 yards in his first three plays this season.

Billiard Player Breaks Record

NEW YORK, Nov. 18. (AP)—Walker Cochran of Hollywood broke three world's records in beating Willie Hoppe 300 to 132 in the third block of their world's championship 18.1 balk line billiards match today. It was Cochran's third successive victory and gave him a lead of 900 to 387.

Cochran ran in two innings a new record, established a new high mark of 196, and bested the previous record for high average with a mark of 150.

Cochran had wound up last night's block with an unfinished run of 68. He came to the table today to complete the inning and ran 128 before he missed for his new high run record of 196.

He left the balls in good position and Hoppe played his best billiards of the match to run 131. The next inning was productive of little scoring, Cochran getting seven and Hoppe one. Cochran then ran out the block with an unfinished cluster of 165.

NATION'S 'BIG TEN' NAMED

Jones Heads List of Best Amateur Athletes

By TED VOSBURGH
Associated Press Sports Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—With the name of Robert Tyre Jones Jr., leading the rest, a list of America's "first 10" athletes in amateur sport was announced today at the closing session of the Amateur Athletic union convention.

The others on the list of 10 who thus were placed in nomination for the James E. Sullivan Memorial trophy, a gold cup, being awarded this year for the first time, were:

Clarence Demar, veteran marathon runner.

Miss Helen Madison, youthful swimming sensation from Seattle.

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, queen of the tennis courts.

Barney Berlinger, all-round track and field athlete of the University of Pennsylvania.

Miss Stella Walsh, record-breaking girl sprinter from Cleveland.

Ray Ruddy, Columbia university ace and former Olympic team member.

Thomas Hitchcock Jr., captain of America's international polo team.

Harlow Rothert, Stanford university football, basketball and shot put star.

George Simpson, great sprinter from Ohio State.

Although the names were given in that order, it was explained no attempt had been made at ranking the athletes.

The names will be sent to the members of a nation-wide tribunal of prominent persons interested in athletics whose votes will decide which of the 10 is to receive the trophy.

Boxing has been added to the athletic program of North Carolina State college as a minor sport.

RULING MARS DIXIE CLASSIC

Seniors Ineligible for Game Of All-Stars

By GAYLE TALBOT JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Nov. 18.—The future success of the Dixie classic, annual benefit bout between picked elevens of the Southwest and mid-West conferences, will be decided here early in December. The date for the meeting has not been definitely set, but it will be either Dec. 4 or 6.

For the last two years the New Year's day attraction has done very well, realizing a considerable fund for the Scottish Rite home for crippled children here. Attendance at the tilt last Jan. 1 was almost twice that of the first game, and officials were anticipating a similar increase for the next.

That was, however, before the conference faculty committee got together and handed down a surprise edict that barred seniors from participating in the classic. The ruling did not exactly bar them, but it amounted to the same thing. It said they could not play in the all-star fray and then take part in other sports the remainder of the year—basket ball, baseball and track.

As a majority of the conference's best football players also have a flare for one or two other sports and scarcely could be expected to disqualify themselves just to play in one more grid game, the ruling has caused Joe Utay, president of the Dixie classic, some sleepless nights. He has done some tall electioneering the last few months and as a result believes there is a good chance the edict will be repealed.

Should the ruling stand, the Southwest would have difficulty putting a real all-star team on the field against the aggregation to be selected and coached by Bob Zuppke of Illinois. Just to name a few outstanding seniors who would be available for the team, but who also are too proficient in other sports to be lost to their schools for the remainder of the year:

Leland, T. C. U., track; Wilson, Baylor, basket ball; Shelley, Texas, baseball candidate. They are the three outstanding backfield men graduating this season.

Atkins, T. C. U., basket ball; Roberson, T. C. U., basket ball; Koch, Baylor, baseball; Witcher, Baylor, basket ball; McCarble, Rice, basket ball; Skeeters, S. M. U., basket ball and baseball; Creighton, Arkansas, basket ball; Tracy, Aggies, track. All are outstanding linesmen, several of them certain all-conference selections.

If those eleven are made available, the Southwest will be able to put a powerful team on the field New Years day, what with the addition of such stars as Hopper and Long of S. M. U.; Perkins and Emerson of Texas; Griffith of T. C. U.; Morgan of Rice; Paradeaux and Morris of Baylor, and Floyd of the Aggies. Without them, it hurts to think what Mr. Zuppke's warriors might do to the home boys.

Pilots Northwestern

By PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 18.—Coach Dick Hanley reveals the secret of Northwestern university's thrilling victories over pestilence, injuries, jinx and Western conference opposition in the assertion:

"It's a jack of all trades team with the 'Three Musketeer' spirit of 'all for one and one for all.'

"I know sports writers are digging through dictionaries to find adjectives and superlatives for my players for the manner in which they have shouldered their trouble," Hanley remarked.

"But they can sum it up in 'versatility' and 'adaptability.' That's all there is to it. My boys are drilled to play several positions and they do it well."

With that he related how the Wildcats, suddenly confronted with the losses of their two backfield stars, "Hardluck Hank" Bruder and "Reb" Russell, came back to rout Ohio State and Illinois when even their most rabid rooter anticipated a fight to the limit in each game.

"The day before the Ohio game I knew the losses wouldn't stop us. I simply shifted my men about, picked some of them from the third squad and gave the new lineup just 40 minutes of practice.

"That was one of the best examples of adaptability I ever saw. They trounced Ohio 19-2.

"I preached spirit; try to impress upon every player that he must not think about himself; must think about the team. Every player must block for the other. If he does not, out he goes. Right now I have three capable ball carriers on the bench because they won't block.

"In the Minnesota game, one of my best backs forgot about blocking. I called him out and told him he might as well turn in his suit. The second half he went in and you never saw such blocking.

"This team takes each game as it comes; they smile at adversity, and they are the fightin'est bunch of fellows I ever saw."

BOOSTERS PLAN TO SEE GAME

Car Caravan to Carry Fans To Title Scrap Friday

By C. W. GILES
Record News Correspondent

NOCONA, Texas, Nov. 17.—"On to Graham—and Victory" is the cry of the Nocona Indians.

The critical moment is drawing near and the tale can soon be told as to who will cabbage on to the north half championship in class B, district No. 4.

Coach Jenkins is surely leaving nothing undone and the Graham Steers may have the surprise of their life Friday afternoon. All Nocona is behind the Redskins and a large part of the population will be right there to see the fight. An automobile caravan is planned and 300 to 500 fans are expected to make the trip.

The Indians have a good reason to be confident, if their season's record and comparison with Graham has any bearing at all. While both teams have an undefeated record, the Indians have the Steers bested in amount of scores and their success over opponents. Here is the sum and total in a nutshell: Graham has 225 points to its credit and their opponents scored 20. Nocona has 248 points and their opponents only scored seven. These seven points go to the credit of Bridgeport. All the balance drew blanks.

The school colors, in the form of a ribbon with "Bulldog the Steers" printed thereon, will be flying when the caravan drives into Graham. These colors will be black and gold.

The probable lineup of the Indians at starting of game will be as follows: Lindelof, le; Hill, lt; D. Saye, lg; Williams, c; Carado, rg; Perryman, rt; Wall, re; Cunningham, rh; Fenoglio, le; Evans, fb; Zachary fb.

Rangers Close Season With Shamrock Friday

Special to The Record News.

PERRYTON, Texas, Nov. 18.—Many Rangers will be seen in action the last time Friday when they close the grid season in a battle with the fast Shamrock Irishmen on the local gridiron. This should be a real battle. Rangers have lost only one game to a class B team, losing to Spearman while Shamrock appears the strongest team in its section of the district. A large crowd is expected to witness this last game of the season.

Perryton's future Rangers got a real taste of battle here this afternoon against Higgins High school, defeating the visitors by a score of 31 to 0. A number of the youngsters showed up well and look good for next year.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Nov. 18. (AP)—A slight opening advance was followed by declines in cotton here today, with March selling off from 11.45 to 11.27 under comparatively small offerings which appeared to be promoted by the situation in grain, reports of bank suspensions in some of the southern states, and absence of aggressive support. March closed at 11.30, with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 6 to 14 points.

The comparatively small volume of business was regarded by some brokers as indicating a disposition to await the further developments of farm board policies following the recent intervention of the grain stabilization corporation in the grain markets, while the severe break in wheat at Winnipeg appeared to have an unsettling effect on sentiment.

Liverpool said there had been covering with Continental and Bombay buying in that market and reported freer buying of cotton price goods by India. Exports today 66,273 making 2,854,555 so far this season. Port receipts 85,621. U. S. port stocks 3,977,062.

Futures closed steady, 6 to 14 points lower; spot quiet; middling 11.00.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 18. (AP)—Cotton was moderately active here today, and, although the price trend was slightly downward, there was considerable support from December short covering. After a slight gain of 4 to 5 points in early trading on good cables prices gradually eased off in sympathy with stocks on December liquidation. There was some transferring of December to October which caused that distant position to be relatively firm. The market later gradually eased off 13 to 16 points from the highs but rallied some on shorts covering only to drop again practically to the lows in the final trading.

The market closed steady at net declines for the day of 7 to 14 points. Considerable cotton has been sold in a tenderable basis throughout the South it is expected that a good deal of cotton will be tendered on contracts when first notice day arrives.

Port receipts 78,661, for week 209,978, for season 5,506,256, last season 5,208,814. Exports 66,113, for week 171,498, for season, 2,799,534, last season 2,791,180. Port stocks 401,781, last year 2,484,177. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 133,693, last year 123,584. Spot sales at southern markets 27,674, last year 28,317.

Futures closed steady at net declines of 7 to 14 points:

Late Spurt Lifts Prices After Dull Day on Stock Exchange

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Nov. 18. (US)—A late spurt in prices resulted today in a generally higher closing for most issues on the stock exchange. The strength which developed in the final hours of trading succeeded an intensely dull period which in turn followed a rather discouraging opening. Initial transactions were almost without exception representing continuation of the selling during Monday's market. The dullness, which followed the initial weakness, seemingly encouraged constructive forces to renew their activities and in this they undoubtedly took by surprise the bearish element. The recovery in numerous stocks was of substantial proportion measured by recent fluctuations. The railroad shares, however, participated only moderately in the recovery and actually closed the day almost unchanged from Monday's final prices. Wheat, which is causing considerable nervousness, closed somewhat lower at Chicago, but Winnipeg again was off sharply. The internal banking situation affecting smaller institutions in various parts of the South and the West developed no new phases.

The market's new bull leadership, first suspected last week, developed new maneuvers intended toward expanding the short interest as the best "cushion" under prevailing circumstances. This was evident in the renewed encouragement given to short selling in the sharp reaction of Monday and again in the early trading today. The entire improvement of last week was made to appear only accidental, yet when the bear element seemed most confident of its position, dullness developed only to lead to increased activity on the upside. Beyond question, many more bears were enticed into selling stock short. Even the powerful bear clique now "resting" in southern resorts were reported to have increased their selling, but little general liquidation resulted. Whether or not short covering brought about the late rally in prices is less important than that the market, for the first time in a year, appears under control of intelligent bull leadership.

Naturally, even powerful sponsorship will be unable to achieve higher price levels for the market unless backed by concrete constructive news. Thus, the market was inclined to continue confident that further cheering developments are pending in the steel industry, although it is difficult to find any cheer from the prevailing low operations. The price question, however, is considered paramount in analyzing the industry's prospects. Steel common rallied three points and Bethlehem closed somewhat higher for the day. The bear crowd in Bethlehem however continues aggressive and is broadcasting stories of a possible deficit by this corporation for the final quarter this year. Insiders, however, declare that the corporation will show a slight profit, evidence chiefly, they assert, of the benefits accruing to Bethlehem from its huge development program of the last few years. In the meantime, of course, it is fully recognized that the $6 dividend continues in danger until decided improvement occurs in the industry.

Powerful interests now inclined toward the constructive side of the market, though as yet only on modest scale, place great importance on the outcome of current negotiations seeking an agreement among the leading eastern railroad systems with respect to consolidations. Confidence is expressed that the Pennsylvania, New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio and Nickel Plate managements and bankers will agree on a program which can be presented to Washington for approval. The government, it is understood, is displaying a very friendly attitude toward the negotiations. The Pennsylvania railroad, according to reports, may segregate some of its "outside" investments in various roads as part of the new program.

The Copper shares were laggards again, with further easing of the price of the metal to 11 cents emphasizing that the rapid run-up to 12 cents threatened success to the stabilization program so recently concluded by the largest factors in the industry. A sudden and totally unexpected spurt of strength in the starting point of the late recovery, rubber and tire shares proved the Goodyear, which is generally accepted as logical leader of the group, gained almost five points net and others in the industry gained in proportion. Short covering plus hope that the leaders of the rubber industry may be encouraged by the example set in Copper to attempt worldwide stabilization brought about the sharp advances. The utilities were also favored by heavy covering and some members of this group were up over three points from their low of the day.

The decline in the market stopped in the principal stocks at a level representing about 50 per cent recession from their advance last week. It had been generally anticipated in speculative quarters that the market would be tested around the previous lows.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Nov. 18. (AP)—Slow trading continued today to characterize the cash grain market here. All quoted prices were merely nominal with values a matter of agreement between buyers and sellers. World markets for both corn and oats were badly mixed by the day's developments. No. 1 hard wheat was probably worth 79½@80½c, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, with no recent sales posted.

Nominal prices on coarse grains, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid, ranged as follows:

Corn—No. 2 mixed 79@80c; No. 2 white or yellow 84@85c.

Oats—No. 2 red 46@47c; No. 3 white delivered Texas group one points 42@42½c, to which add 1 cent for delivery group three.

Sorghums—No. 2 milo per 100 pounds $1.23@1.25; No. 2 kaffir $1.18@1.20.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 18. (AP)—Separate million-bushel buying orders given to many different houses at once formed an exciting order of procedure in the Chicago wheat pit today. In at least one case, instructions to purchase wheat were absolutely without limit as to the amount. Under such circumstances, failure of efforts to obtain a Canadian government guarantee for minimum wheat prices at Winnipeg was accompanied by a whirlwind 8½c a bushel collapse of wheat values there, while the Chicago wheat market held almost unchanged for the principal delivery, and showed for other deliveries a maximum setback of not more than 4 cents.

Much of the big buying of wheat in Chicago came from United States government-sponsored agencies, but a huge additional aggregate was to reverse gigantic spread trades in which wheat had been simultaneously bought at Winnipeg and sold in Chicago with the recent re-entrance of federal farm board allies into the Chicago wheat future delivery pit as an upholder of Chicago quotations, the proces of selling wheat in Chicago, against equal purchases at Winnipeg became unprofitable, and wholesale undoing of the spreads reached a climax today.

Closing Chicago quotations on wheat were nervous ½@3⅝c a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1⅝@3c down, oats 1⅛@1⅝c off, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 15 cents.

Contributing to relative weakness of Chicago wheat was depression of the corn market here and also of rye values, neither corn nor rye being given any known buying support from farm board allies. A further depressing factor was word of Enlarged and cheaper offerings of new Argentine wheat in Europe and of unwieldy big stocks of wheat already at hand at Rotterdam and elsewhere in Europe.

Corn, rye and oats tumbled as a result of persistent selling out on the part of holders of future deliveries. Corn and rye established new low price records for the season.

Provisions reflected breaks both in hog values and in grain.

Texas Turkeys

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 18. (AP)—U. S. D. A.—Turkey receipts were moderate to light at dressing plants Monday. Prices delivered held practically unchanged at 16@17c per pound for No. 1 hens and young Toms; old Toms, 4c less, and No. 2s, 7@8c less. Some talk of lowering the price. Hill country cleaned up for Thanksgiving. Market for dressed stock fully firm with an active demand. Best quality hens and young Toms 25@26½c; ordinary quality, 24@24½c, few lower.

Livestock

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 18. (AP)—(USDA)—Further strength developed around the 11 market circuit on light weight fed steers and yearlings, but at most centers trade on steers with weight was draggy at values no more than steady.

Eastern dressed markets report demand slow which is an indication packers would be quick to take advantage of any increased supply of cattle to hammer prices. Choice yearling steers in Omaha scored $13.40, while at Chicago medium weight steers realized $12.50. Several loads of big weight steers at Chicago scaling 1,500-1,700 pounds had to sell at $9.50@9.75. Stocker and feeder classes were scarce and fully steady. Aggregate receipts estimated at 35,500 as compared with 37,008 a week ago and 41,476 the corresponding day last year.

Hogs sagged to new low price levels for the season after a slow opening trade at 10@25c lower rates. Packers at some markets on the close broke prices 25@40c. The day's extreme top of $8.40 was paid at St. Louis. Offerings were around 106,000, an increase of 16,500 over last Tuesday and 4,000 more than a year ago.

Fat lambs found a fairly active outlet at values unevenly steady to 35c higher while matured killing classes of sheep held steady. Choice native and fed western lambs at Chicago topped at $7.75 and at some of the river markets choice lambs sold up to $7.35. Supply approximated 31,000 against 54,607 a week ago and 46,810 a year ago.

Prairie to Reduce Oklahoma Purchases

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 18. (AP)—The Prairie Oil and Gas company will reduce its crude oil purchases in the Oklahoma City field by 12,000 barrels daily, effective immediately, Fred Cook, executive head of the company's Tulsa offices, announced today. The company has been taking 15,000 barrels daily from the field.

"We stored 1,400,000 barrels of oil in October," Cook said, "and our steel storage tanks are practically full. We can not afford to store any more oil and for this reason must reduce our crude oil purchases to the level of our pipe line requirements."

Heartbreak Girl

arm slid off Ross' shoulders, as she faced Walther, smiling.

He shook his head, and rattled the receiver, impatiently. "Not yet. Please, all of you, sit down. We're not leaving for some little time—"

"But I must get home, Nick." Carla's voice was imperious.

"I'm sorry, Carla, but you'll have to stay for a while—"

Sarah ran forward and clutched Nick's arm. "Something has happened! Norman! I know!"

Nick nodded, and shook the receiver again, swearing a little under his breath.

"An accident?" Carla asked.

"Yes—an accident." He couldn't get a connection, so he hung up the receiver and waiting a few seconds, before he tried again.

"You might as well tell us, Nick," Sarah pleaded.

Nick looked into Gail's face, as if he were consulting her. "I don't want to frighten you—" he was talking to no one but Gail. How would she feel when he told her about—Norman? The others were older, more experienced, but Gail, so young—

"Nick!" Sarah was hysterical.

"Norman has—I found him down on the beach about a mile from here—" he paused as if he could not tell the rest. "Wong is with him, now—"

"Hurt?" Carla asked.

"Hurt? He is—dead."

"Dead—" someone echoed.

Carla, Gail thought.

"He shot himself—I missed my revolver this morning from my bedroom desk drawer—I always keep it there. I asked Wong to watch everyone. He searched all the rooms but couldn't find it. He even looked through Norman's clothes when he was in swimming, but Frame must have hidden it—"

Gail felt weak, dizzy. Nick flew to her, and his nearness gave her assurance. Then Ross hadn't taken the gun. It wasn't a gun she had felt in his pocket. Something else.

Norman was—dead—.

"I'm calling an ambulance—and the police," Nick announced hastily.

"Not the police!" Carla screamed.

"I must—and all of you should stay for the time being—"

"Call Tod for me then, Nick. Tell him to get out here as soon as he can—call him first so he can get here before—the police come. Hurry!"

Oil Tariff 'Politics' Standard Head Says

DALLAS, Nov. 18. (UP)—Proposed tariffs on imported oils are relegated to the realm of politics by oil men, C. F. Meyer, president of the Standard Oil company of New York, said here while conferring with officials of the Magnolia Petroleum company.

"Although many reasons were given for oil companies exercising a policy of laissez faire in the matter, the principal one was that it is a political question and not one of industry," said Meyer, referring to tariff discussions at the recent meeting of the American Petroleum institute in Chicago.

"Overproduction is the only reason that can be given for the recent decline in crude prices here in Texas," the Standard Oil head declared.

Testimony Opens In Belton Murder Case

BELTON, Texas, Nov. 18. (AP)—Testimony started today in the trial of H. Y. Thompson, charged with slaying Carlton Fewell in 1928, shot to death while he sat as a spectator in a skating rink.

Thompson was arrested a few hours after the shooting and told officers "a man must protect his family." A married daughter of Thompson's was seated by Fewell when he was killed.

This was Thompson's second trial, the verdict of the first jury assessing the defendant 30 years in prison having been reversed and remanded by the court of criminal appeals.

AGENTS' TRIAL SET NOV. 21

Former Officers to Face Charges Here

Trial of J. G. Tyson and William R. Logsdon, former dry officers under indictment on charges of bribery, has been set tentatively for Friday morning, Nov. 21, before Judge William H. Atwell in federal court now in session here, according to Alex Mood, assistant federal district attorney, who will handle prosecution of the cases.

Indicted by the federal grand jury at Amarillo in September, the two men were arrested late in October, were given preliminary hearings and their bonds were placed at $5,000 each.

According to the information given, Tyson was stationed in Wichita Falls for several months in 1927 as a prohibition enforcement officer, and it was during that period that the alleged offense is charged to have been committed. Acceptance of $500 as compensation for alleged aid in frustrating the law with reference to a man under conviction for violation of the federal prohibition laws is the basis for the charges, according to Mr. Mood.

Spence to Prosecute Archer County Cases

District Attorney Sam B. Spence will go to Archer City Wednesday morning to prosecute charges of possession and transportation of intoxicating liquor against V. R. and Topsy Lemon before Judge Allan T. Montgomery in the 30th district court, he announced Tuesday.

The two cases set for Wednesday will complete the criminal docket resulting from investigations of the Archer county grand jury early this month, it was announced.

Today

At the Theaters

By ELEANOR FLEMING

STATE: "Up the River" with Spencer Tracy, Claire Luce, Warren Hymer and William Collier. Lloyd Hamilton in "Prize Puppies," novelty act and sound news.

STRAND: Eddie Cantor in "Whoopee." Screen song and sound news.

MAJESTIC: "The Sea Wolf" with Milton Sills. Short subjects and sound news.

GEM: Will Rogers in "So This Is London." Comedy, "For Love or Money."

Average movie-goers do not like satire, mainly because they feel left out if somebody else laughs at an apparently humorless situation. "Up the River," however, follows so close after "The Big House" at the State and is so well adapted to the numerous prison pictures that a large percentage of the audience gets the proper reaction.

An example of what somehow gets by on the stage and would not be tolerated in a talkie was the rather mechanical action of Elizabeth Love in the leading role of "Strictly Dishonorable." It may be that Miss Love was supposed to exaggerate her movements in order to emphasize the caricature element; if so, she should have made it clear that her exaggeration was intentional.

At any rate, her chief routine seemed to be following directions such as: "From point A run to point B, face audience, raise right arm and say, 'Goodnight, Judge!'" Her voice and her lines were as natural as her beauty and charm, but her action was that of a mechanical doll. Otherwise, the play was beautifully done—especially whenever the Judge was speaking.

Good directing and good sound photography eliminate the chance for such error in screen plays. The star does not have an audience in one direction alone—hers is a battery of cameras which range from north-northeast on around the compass.

No other person can pronounce "whoopee" like Eddie Cantor, accompanied by the Cantor ogle, and those who don't like Eddie won't like "Whoopee." Those who like it will want to hear the opening song at least twice again.

BOYS TO GATESVILLE

J. A. McDonald, juvenile officer for Wichita county, took three boys to Gatesville Tuesday for commitment to the state reformatory there, it was learned at his office Tuesday afternoon.

One of the lads, who lives in Burkburnett, is entering upon his second term in the school of correction, it was said.

WET WEATHER BRAKES
There is nothing more distressing than that helpless feeling when your brakes won't hold. RUSCO linings hold in all kinds of weather, wear longer and cost no more than ordinary linings. Try and be convinced.

All Texas Mourns the Loss of Joseph Alexander Kemp

JOSEPH ALEXANDER KEMP

All Texas mourns the loss of Joseph Alexander Kemp. His faith, vision and energy have played so important a part in the development of Wichita Falls, Wichita County and Northwest Texas that its citizenship will ever revere his name and memory. The citizenship of all Texas joins us in mourning his passing. His heart was in Texas and his inspirations were for the future of Texas and Wichita Falls. He was honest, fearless, patriotic, farseeing, and had a thorough grasp in all affairs commercial, industrial and civic.

All of his broad activities as a merchant, builder, creator of industries, civic leader and Father of Irrigation in Texas have been fostered by a heart and soul which beat in friendly unison with all mankind.

This institution has felt in a very active way his participation in its affairs and has been the recipient of this great benefactor's life of achievement. In the midst of all the interests in which he has actively participated we of this bank with whom he has served so many years as President and Chairman of the Board know that the City National Bank has ever had a dominant place in his heart and has never lacked his alert vigilance and his best thought. This bank can cherish no higher ideal of service than its chief founder, Joseph Alexander Kemp, has exemplified.

We mourn with his family, his loved ones, his friends, his city and his state.
