Brazil Prepares For Conflict With Oncoming Rebels

Revolt in All Directions Is Being Staged

Loyal Leaders Are Marshaling Forces for Engagement with Revolutionary Chieftains; Government Has Success

Rebel City Bombed

Two Important Strongholds of Insurgents Divided by Strategic Movements Made by General Costa

(By The Associated Press)

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 9. — The Brazilian federal government, faced by revolt in nearly all directions from the neighboring cities of Rio De Janeiro and Sos Paulo, marshaled its forces today for a conflict with the on coming rebels in the state of Parana. This state borders on Sos Paulo.

General Costa of the loyal troops is preparing for an engagement with a revolutionary force commanded by a rebel chieftain of the same name, General Miguel Costa. The Federal General Costa is basing his operations from Florianopolis, state of Santa Catharina and extending his lines into Parana from there. His chief offensive arm is five regiments of calvary, containing 500 men each.

Strongholds Divided

At the same time his use of Florianopolis constitutes an important strategic move as this lies between Rio Grande Do Sul, where the revolt began last week, and the revolutionary contingents now on the march in Santa Catharina and Parana. Thus two important rebel strongholds are divided along the coast line.

Meanwhile, the government re-

Revolution by Radio Latest

SAO PAUL, Brazil, Oct., 9. (AP) —Revolution by radio is the nature if not the title of a broadcast which the government is giving listeners in Brazil every day during the progress of the present internal difficulties.

Radio was for a while the only means of communicating with some of the isolated points, but now everybody having radio sets has been encouraged to listen in on the daily communique to be informed, in all parts of the country, of the struggle for supremacy.

At the same time, citizens have been asked to assist in locating sending stations controlled by the opposition. Radio also is being used to broadcast lists of missing persons and other personal news to families in districts cut off from federal government seats.

Annual Legion Convention Is OverThursday

Ralph T. O'Neil Named Next National Commander; Move to Inject Politics Into Organization Defeated

(By The Associated Press)

BOSTON, Oct. 9. —The 1930 national convention of the American Legion came to a close here today. A seven-hour session during which national officers were elected, important resolutions adopted, and committee reports accepted closed one of the most successful conventions in the history of the legion.

Ralph T. (Duke) O'Neil of Topeka, Kas., was elected the next national commander over Colonel J. Munroe Johnson of Marion, S. C. National vice-commanders chosen were Harry B. Henderson, Jr., Cheyenne, Wyo., Bert B. Hyland, Rutland, Vt., Neal Williams, Excelsior Springs, Mo., Roland B. Howell, Thibodeaux, La., and James A. Duff, Martinsburg, W. Va., The Rev. Joseph Barnett of Oshkosh, Wis., was named chaplin.

Stay Out of Politics

The legion again defeated what many delegates charged was an attempt to drag it into politics by rejecting a proposal for the immediate payment of 80 per cent of the face value of adjusted compensation certificates. Proponents of the measure held it would be great aid in relieving the hardships of veterans who are unemployed but the opponents saw in it a slap at the Republican administration which sponsored the present program of compensation.

A move to bring the prohibition question before the assembly also met with defeat when Commander O. L. Bodenhamer ruled it was out of order.

TO REFUTE CHARGES

Bishop Cannon Prepared to Contest Allegations

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9. (AP)—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., announced tonight he would deny and refute charges filed against him by four ministers of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, when a committee is appointed to investigate the accusations.

In a formal statement the Southern Methodist churchman said he had been informed of the charges and requested the public to suspend judgment until the complaint had been "properly adjudicated n accordance with the procedure prescribed by the church."

Cannon added he was strongly inclined to issue a "clear full sweeping statement" at the present time in denial of the complaints but that the case was not one to be "tried in the newspapers."

STATE BUREAU FAVORED

Fingerprint Department Asked By Sheriff's Association

BRADY, Oct. 9. (AP)—Establishment of a state fingerprint bureau at Austin to facilitate the identification of criminals was recommended in a resolution passed today at the initial session of the West Texas Sheriff's association.

The sheriffs unanimously deplored the present difficulties of identification. Talks were made by Judge Shropshire of Brady, Earl McWilliams, president of the State Sheriffs' association, and by several officials of the West Texas association.

Cotton Yield Is Estimated Above Normal

Texas' Per Acre Yield Is 14 Pounds Below Average for Ten Years U. S. Department of Agriculture Reports

Announce Ginnings

Forecast of 4,275,000 Bales Included in Monthly Cotton Report of Statisticians; Boll Weevil Damage Light

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Oct. 9. —An estimated yield of 4,275,000 bales, representing a condition one point above the ten-year normal, and a per acre yield 14 pounds below the ten-year normal was reported today in the monthly cotton report of United States Department of Agriculture statisticians.

The crop was reported at 54 per cent of normal and the estimated per acre yield 121 pounds, against a ten year average of 53 per cent and 135 pounds. A year ago the yield was 47 per cent of normal and 108 pounds per acre.

Ginnings Announced

Ginnings prior to October 1 were 2,585,000 bales. Boll weevil infestation and root rot were reported considerably below last year. Last year's total production was 3,940,000 bales, the first time in seven years that production had fallen below 4,000,000 bales.

In an area south of a line drawn from Gillespie county east to Shelby county, and east of a line from Gillespie to Kleberg county production will probably be twice as large as last year for that area, the report said. The combined production of Grayson, Fannin, Lamar, Red River, Collin, Hunt, Hopkins and Delta counties probably will exceed or equal last year's prodction. While several scattering counties in the rest of the state may exceed last year's production, on the whole remaining area will be far short of last year, the report said. The northwest still is in doubt and it was considered unnlikely it would reach last year's production, said the report.

Drouth Relief Hopes Dimmed

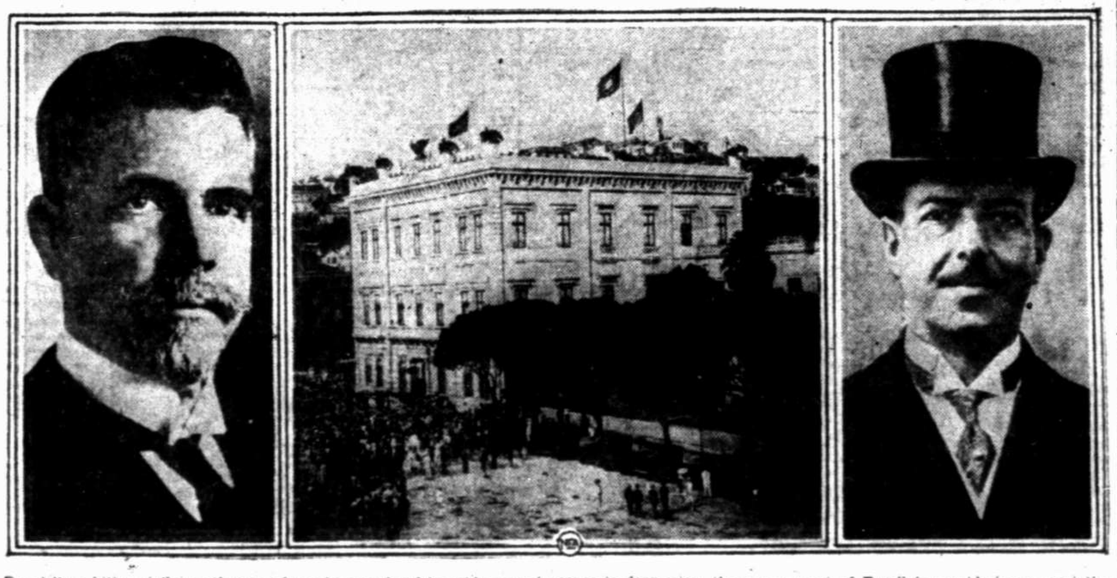

Final Settlement Not Made on Special Session of Texas Legislature; Senator Parrish Meets with Moody

AUSTIN, Oct. 9. (AP)—Although final settlement of the question still was in doubt, hopes of drouth hit farmers for a legislative session to appropriate relief funds were considerably dimmed tonight.

Pink Parrish, state senator from Lubbock and principal proponent of a special session of the legislature, left this afternoon after two fruitless sessions with the governor, at neither of which could he elicit a definite answer.

Earlier today the governor said he still was undecided and that his final decision depended on the seriousness of the situation in West Texas. He said however, he had received many communications since the recent rains saying the need was not now so great, as crop prospects probably would make more funds available locally. Parrish contended that the rains meant that money was needed to enable farmers to buy seeds and feed for live stock.

At Storm Center of Wide-Spread Brazilian Revolution

Faced by a bitter civil war that was brought to a head by wide-spread economic depression, the government of Brazil is considering conscription of all men between 21 and 30 in order to combat the uprising. At the left is President Washington Luis, who is directing the federal forces from the Brazilian "White House" at Rio de Janeiro (center); at the right is Dr. Julio Prestes, president-elect. It is reported that the revolutionists are centering their opposition on him, insisting that he must be kept from taking office.

Boyd, Conner Hope to Reach English Goal

Tried and True Plane Again Braves Ocean After Successful Crossing Three Years Ago; Seeks New Fame

Enveloped In Fog

Hours of Silence Follow First Report of Airmen but No Anxiety Felt; Columbia has Interesting History

(By The Associated Press)

HARBOR GRACE, N. F., Oct. 9. —Another trans-Atlantic flight was under way tonight. Two men who have never made the voyage were winging their way to England

NEW YORK, Oct. 9. (AP)—The liner Lancastria reported to the radio marine corps corporations today that it had passed the trans-Atlantic plane Columbia "Steering East," at 5:40 p. m., (E. S. T.) the position given by the Lancastria was about 400 miles east of Harbor Grace.

in the tried and true Columbia, which flew the ocean three years ago.

Capt. Erroll Boyd, first Canadian to enlist in the Royal Flying corps in the World war, and Harry P. Connor, former lieutenant in the United States navy, took off for London at 11:20 a. m. E. S. T. Fifty minutes later the Columbia, in which Clarence Chamberlin and Charles A. Levine flew from New York to Germany in 1927, flashed over St. Johns and was on her eastward course to added fame.

Silence Follows

At 12:55 she was seen flying only 200 feet above the water by the crew of the steamer Quaker City, 100 miles east northeast of Cape Race. Hours of silence followed, but they were easily explained by fog which lay over much of the North Atlantic and which would have hidden the plane from ships unless she passed very close.

No anxiety was occasioned by this fog, because Lieutenant Connor is an experienced navigator and an expert at blind flying. He was the navigator of the Columbia several months ago when it was flown to Bermuda and back by Boyd and Roger Q. Williams, trans-Atlantic pilot.

Has Varied History

On its flight today the old Columbia is driven by the same engine and the same wooden propellor it had on its first ocean hop. The plane has had many adventures since that day. Mabel Boll was flown in it to Havana. Williams started for Rome in it and cracked it up. Miss Boll came in it to Newfoundland to fly the ocean, but went back when Amelia Earhart got away first. Levine smashed it up some on a rollicking ride over Roosevelt field.

It proved to be a plane that couldn't be spoiled. Through all its trials it sailed with seeming unconcern and after each job of patching gave proof of being just as good as ever.

Boyd borrowed it from Levine last spring and he and Connor had hoped to get away long before this. But one thing and another held

Aviatrix and Boy May Race Across Nation

Laura Ingalls, Robert Buck Both Primed for Takeoffs in California Today for West-to-East Hop Records

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 9. A cross-country air race between a young woman flyer and a boy aviator was in prospect for tomorrow. Laura Ingalls, diminutive St. Louis flier, and Robert Buck, 16 year old continent hopper, made plans today to leave from different airports at 5:30 a. m. (P.S.T.) tomorrow in pursuit of new west-east transcontinental records.

Miss Ingalls, after overhauling the motor of her moth biplane herself, said the government weather bureau promised fine flying in the morning. She will take off from Grand Central air terminal, Glendale.

Waits Until Today

Young Buck, who was ready at the Western Air Express field, Alhambra, to hop off today, was forced by low clouds and rain storms to wait until tomorrow.

Both young fliers planned to make Kingman, Ariz., their first goal, where they will refuel. Both denied any intention of making a race, but each said: "It's all right with me if it's a race."

Miss Ingalls who holds the world's record for 714 consecutive barrell rolls, arrived yesterday in possession of a new "record for my sex to shoot at," the coast to coast in 30 hours 27 minutes flying time. Her return flight will have the same aim in setting a west-east record for women fliers.

The Elizabeth, N. J., boy will seek the junior west-east trans-continental mark. Arriving last Saturday he captured the junior east-west honors.

No Theories Advanced As Youth Shoots Sweetheart And Then Takes Own Life

(By The Associated Press)

COLMESNEIL, Oct. 9.—While two companions sat in the rumble seta of his automobile, Hamilton Bryant of Colmesneil, 23, shot and killed Myrtis Odom; his 16-year-old sweetheart from Jasper, then turned another gun on himself firing a bullet through his heart.

The companions were Eddie Law and Ethel nee Oxford, both of Colmesneil. The slain girl is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Odom of Jasper and had been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Will Tindle, here.

Parks on Roadside

The shooting occured about midnight, according to the two witnesses, who told their story to Justice of the Peace S. H. Meadows of Colmesneil, the four young people had left Colmesneil to attend a dance at Woodville, but learned there was no dance and were returning when Bryant parked the car along the roadside.

He was said to have shot Miss Odom through the heart with a .32 calibre automatic, and then turned the gun on himself. When the gun failed to shoot the second time, he brought out a .38 calibre pistol and shot himself.

Justice Meadows pronounced a verdict of murder and suicide

The witnesses advanced no theories as to the cause for the shootings, declaring the couple had not quarreled during the evening. Law and Miss Oxford hurried to the Oxford home after the tragedy and summoned an officer.

Judge Refuses Capone's Bond

Senior Member of Gangster Brothers Quartet Tossed in Cell to Await Probe as $10,000 Bail Rejected

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Ten $1,000 bills tendered as bond for Ralph Capone were rejected by Judge John H. Lyle today and the senior member of the quartet of Capone brothers was tossed in a cell to await a going over at the pleasure of police interrogators.

"Treat him like any common criminal," was the court's parting command as he delivered Capone to a sergeant from the bureau of identification.

Sought as Vagrant

So No. 9 of the roster of "public enemies" went to the finger-print bureau and the police lockup manifestly crestfallen at the turn of events. Sought on a vagrancy warrant for some time, he had awaited the deposit of bond and its acceptance by a municipal clerk last night before surrendering.

Judge Lyle was outspoken in his condemnation of the bond procedure.

"I can't imagine anybody but a Capone being turned loose on a $10,000 bond without a judge signing it," he said. "I'll have to cancel this bond because no judge approved it."

Miles J. Devine, attorney for Capone, protested that his client "isn't a vagrant. He pays the government income tax. Vagrants don't do that. He is a business man. He owns nine horses that are racing at Hawthorne." (Ralph Capone is under conviction and sentence to Leavenworth penitentiary for violation of federal income tax laws.)

Man and Girl Are Kidnaped

Houston Officers Looking for Gray Sedan with Oklahoma License After Witnesses Tell About Abduction

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, Oct. 9.— Police late today were looking for a gray sedan with an Oklahoma license number, said to have been used in the kidnaping of a man and woman here. Two women witnessed the kidnaping they told police.

Miss Mabel McMahon said she was in the 6500 block on Canal street when she saw a man and woman walking fast along the sidewalk.

"A gray sedan, caked with red clay, stopped beside the couple," said Miss McMahon. "There were two men in the car. One of them jumped out and hit the man on the head." The attacked man appeared unconscious, she said, and was placed in the sedan by his attacker. The woman then was forced into the car and it was driven north.

Cotton Center Constable Is Considerably Improved

S. T. Cox, 49, a constable who suffered fractures of two vertebrae and a fractured skull late Tuesday afternoon when an automobile in which he was riding overturned, was taken from West Texas hospital to his home in Cotton Center early Thursday night.

The accident in which the officer was hurt occurred when the car in which he and four other men were pursuing several Mexicans was forced from the Abernathy road and overturned. The other men were less seriously injuried.

Market Given Severe Shock As Firm Fails

Wall Street Brokerage Firm Goes to Wall Thursday to Upset Trading; Shares Below Last November Bottom

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Insolvency of a Wall street brokerage firm that had been meeting its obligations since the days of Comodore Vanderbilt and Jay Gould was a severe shock to an invalid market today.

Share prices already sinking rapidly when the suspension of Pierce & Whitely was announced from the rostrum of the stock exchange at 12:30 p. m., plunged under a huge wave of selling, and such issues as U. S. Steel common and American Telephone touched lower levels than in the selling panic of last November.

Wall Street Keeps Nerve

Wall street kept its nerve, however, and there was no sign of demoralization on the floor of the exchange, even though the financial community had been under the strain of shrinking share prices for a month. Brokers stated conditions obviously had been greatly stabilized since last autumn, and that a huge volume of stock had passed to strong hands controlled by cool heads.

Although such a prominent firm as Price & Whitney has not failed in years, and announcement of its insolvency was highly unsettling to speculative sentiment, the firm's attorneys stated its customers and creditors may receive every dollar. In the absence of J. Mitchell Hoyt, senior partner of the firm, other partners declined to comment, but the attorneys stated the firm's difficulties appeared to be temporary.

Share prices recorded the sharpest declines since the break of Aug. 8, which was in response to news of the seriousness of the drouth in the farm states. The day's losses in many important stocks ranged from $4 to $8 a share, with a few lightly traded high-priced issues tumbling $10 to $43 a share. The total turnover of 5,050,600 shares was the largest since June 18. The market rallied substantially for a time in the last hour, but again turned downward, and closing quotations were close to the day's lowest.

LEAVES FOR HOUSTON

DALLAS, Oct. 9. (AP)—Charles S. McCombs, secretary of the legislative amendment committee, left today for Houston, where he planned to confer with Senator Walter F. Woodul and several South Texas legislators in regard to the campaign for the legislative amendments to be submitted in the November election.

Fourth Bride and Another Courtship Added to Trail of Want Ad Don Juan

(By The Associated Press)

EAGLE RIVER, Wis., Oct. 9. —A fourth "bride" and another courtship were added today to the honeymoon trail of George (Jiggs) Perry, want-ad Don Juan, wanted for the slaying of his bigamous wife, Mrs. Cora Belle Hacket.

St. Louis police said they learned Perry had been married to Mrs. Harriet Milligan, 40, a St. Louis widow, in Belleview, Ill., on Monday—the same day the decomposed body of a woman found last week in the Lac Du Flambeau Indian reservation near here was identified as that of Mrs. Hackett.

Proposed Marriage

Another St. Louis woman, Mrs. Dorothy E. Hagerty, a divorcee and mother of two children, said Perry had proposed marriage to her and that they were to have been married yesterday.

In both tristances, the usual want-ad insertion — "woman companion, refined, to travel to California"—provided the introduction.

Mrs. Hagerty said Perry told her he was to inherit an $800,000 estate after he had been married a year.

Two other women have claimed to be Perry's legal wives. One is Mrs. Katherine Geblart Perry, of Cleveland; the other, Mrs. Mary Perry, living in poverty in Milwaukee with three children.

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

NIGHT meetings are going to be conducted at intervals this winter by the Junior High school Parent-Teacher association for the specific purpose of giving fathers of children in the school an opportunity to attend.

This plan is not a novel one at all. It has been followed before in Lubbock and it is frequently followed in other places. Sometimes the fathers respond to the invitations to attend, although, whether or not they actually contribute much to the meetings, I cannot say.

There is no reason why fathers of children should not be as vitally interested in the school system and in the development of their children as the mothers are, and I do think that lots of men are interested, although the parent-teacher associations might just as well be mothers' clubs in a lot of instances. Probably more men would take part in the parent-teacher activities if they knew that these organizations are not simply social occasions and gab fests; if they realized that the aim of these associations is to foster understanding between patrons and teachers in order that the child may benefit.

In the majority of homes, it is the mother who has a greater opportunity to influence the child, probably, because she is in the home more, but men should not shirk their responsibilities in training the child and contributing to his development in ways other than financial.

These night meetings of the P.-T. A. offer an opportunity for many Lubbock men to learn more of the methods that are being employed in training their children in the public schools of the city.

NOW BONNETS ARE BACK

OUR fashion note today concerns bonnets, which the debutante may wear today, even if it isn't in grandmother's style. The 1930 bonnets are close-fitting little affairs of velvet, sometimes designed of three harmonious colors, worn well back from the face and finished at the back with a double frill of velvet.

WE'RE NOT THE WORST

WOMEN are positively not the world's worst drivers of automobiles, according to Frank Kreml, traffic chief of the Evanston, Ill., police department, and he goes on to quote figures to the effect that 60 per cent of the drivers in Evanston are women and that only 7 per cent of the accidents are caused by them. This means that 93 per cent of the accidents are caused by men.

I wonder where all this talk of women being the worst drivers got started, anyway. Naturally, I would not be so rash to say that women are better drivers than men and I certainly wouldn't be rash enough to say that men are better drivers than women. I've been driving a car now for so many years that I can't remember when I started and in all that time I've seen just as many men as women who couldn't handle a car.

Women aren't as vainglorious about their driving as men, as a rule, but they drive as well.

I'm not expecting any men to agree with me in this matter. I have yet to meet a man who will admit that a woman can drive a car as well as he can.

LET TEHM CHOOSE

ALREADY the Lindberghs are being interviewed about what young Charles will choose as a career when he grows up. And, as is consistent with the sensibleness of the Lindberghs, they have stated that the boy shall make his own choice.

This reminds me of a conversation I was drawn into last week. A Lubbock mother was asking me about writing as a career for her daughter, saying that she hoped that her girl would enter newspaper work when she finished school. "However, she is taking a pre-med course now and thinks that she wants to be a doctor," the mother continued.

This mother does not feel that the medical profession is a desirable one for her girl and yet she knows that she cannot afford to interfere with her girl's destiny to the extent of having her take up some other line of work.

There are plenty of people who do not know what they want to do, but a lot of young men and women know definitely that they want to follow a specific career and their lives are wrecked if they are forced into another line of business. Even mothers and fathers do not know best in this instance.

We're Back to the Ladylike Clothes of the '90's

Left, black cloth skirt with bolero and blouse of blue crepe marocain; center, brown cloth suit from Jenny trimmed with nutria; black transparent velvet frock with white mousseline de collar and cuffs.

BY LUCY CLAIRE
Fashion Writer For Central Press

Please wear ladylike clothes has been the cry from Paris for many succeeding seasons. Up to 1929 women turned a deaf ear to this plea from Paris. Then they suddenly became tired of frocks of a seam on each side with a hole in the center for the head, which Paris considered so ugly and unfeminine. Paris may dictate what fashions she pleases, but the decision of whether they shall become the mode or not here in America lies with the women themselves. When the time is ripe for a change, they accept, but until that time nothing moves them. The ripening began last fall, but it was not until some timer later that women, as a whole were ready to accept the fru't of Paris labors.

This fall sees every woman accepting the long silhouette, with its natural waistline and abandoning the flapper straight lines for the more feminine and ladylike curves.

Though the corset of the nineties has not returned, the fitted waist and hipline have, and it is quite necessary that frocks be posed over some kind of a close-fitt ng undergarment. Glance, for instance, at the frock at the left. What would it look like posed over a straight princess slip without any other foundation? Here the waist and hiplines are very def nitely defined. The skirt is of black cloth, while the bolero and blouse are of blue crepe marocain, much decorated with veining. The lady-like femininity of the costume is completed with black kid pumps, than which there is nothing quite so feminine.

Femininity Again Evident

The femininity of the nineties is again evident in the tailored suit, by Jenny, sketched at the center. The suit is of brown cloth trimmed with nutria, flat furs being favored by Jenny for her suits. Note the fitted waist and the dipping movement at the back, with a slightly arched appearance at the front. Oxfords of prado brown kid with a close-fitting felt hat of the same shade complete the costume.

The new sleeves are another mark of ladylike feminine trend. Sleeves with elbow width are smart, especially with the scarf or draped neckline. Lingerie details are frequnt in all collections. In fact they are becoming so prominent they all but dominate the costume. Crisp white mouseline de sole is used for the draped scarf collar and cuffs on a black transparent velvet afternoon frock, sketched at the right. The cuffs are in graduated tiered flounces terminating at the elbow, where the widening effect is featured. Note the smooth, flat hipline, the gentle flare of the skirt and the repeat of the seaming treatment used for trim. Black kid pumps with white pipings accompany the frock.

Use of Scientific Methods Supplants Haphazard Ways Formerly Used in Cooking

"Good Cooks Are Made, Not Born," Expert Who Will Conduct School in City, Declares

Until recent years the principles of cookery were handed down from mother to daughter, the inherited vices going along with the virtues. An obligation inspired the former—a resignation to forthcoming drudgery the latter. All arts and intriguing possibility embodied in the tasty preparation of appetizing dishes, were lost in the unhappy prospect of wearisome back-breaking hours from which would emerge the same indigestibles that had scourged that particularly family for generations.

With the assistance in preparation extended by great food manufacturers, added freedom from household drudgery provided by labor-saving devices modern American home cooking is experiencing a remarkable trend toward improvement. The American housewife has cast aside her mantle of martyrdom and with eager eyes and ears, lends every attention toward the development of her own cuisine to the highest possible degree. With the markets of the world available to her, she is able to select from her grocer's shelves the same items that grace the most expensive tables of the country, and from the kitchens made modern by the wonder wand of science, emerge nearly as fresh as when she entered.

Establish Menus

Trained home economists search among the well set tables of the nations, and select their choicest recipes, test them in well equipped laboratories, establish balanced menus and develop through costly and elaborate checking, the most economical means of preparation of these items.

Public spirited newspapers interested in the health and welfare of their community, great food manufacturers who safe guard with jealous care the high standards of their products, are making possible the presentation of these home economists' finding to nearly every housewife in the nation, with a result that there no longer remains the slightest possibility of justification for ignorance. The result of such an organized study of this vital function of dining manifests itself in improved health conditions, good digestion, and homes filled with happiness.

Mrs. Ihrig Famous

One of the most famous culinary experts in America today, is Mrs. Leona Rusk Ihrig, who carries with her no innate powers to cook, beyound those of her neighbor, but who offers a background of years of intensive study of home economics and the combined experience of the most famous laboratories and kitchens of the nation.

"Good cooks are made, not born," says Mrs. Ihrig. "I have yet to find a woman who inspired by the true responsibility of her culinary activities cannot prepare a tasty meal. Some are more ingenious than others in the development of recipes of her own making. As I lecture annually in scores of cities over the United States, I gather from the women attending my cooking schools, these original recipes, and after testing them, include them as part of the benefits which I shall bestow on future cooking enthusiasts who attend my schools.

Mrs. Ihrig is to conduct the Avalanche-Journal's four-day free cooking school this fall at the Uptown Dance Palace, beginning on Monday, October 27. This school is an annual occasion here.

Republican Nominee for Governor of Texas Will Talk Here Next Wednesday in Interest of Campaign

Advocating a return to the convention system of election and describing the Texas primary system as a "wheel within a wheel", Col W. E. Talbot of Dallas, Republican nominee for governor, will speak in Lubbock for the first time Wednesday.

Colonel Talbot's appearance here will mark one of the few times a Republican gubernatorial candidate has invaded the South Plains and Panhandle to gain votes.

To Address Rotarians

The address will be delivered in the district courtroom at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night, it was announced by John L. Vaughan, local Republican. Colonel Talbot will speak at the Rotary club luncheon here at noon Wednesday.

Prior to coming here Col. Talbot will speak at Wichita Falls Monday night and in Amarillo Tuesday. Leaving here he is scheduled to address audiences at Big Spring Thursday and San Angelo Friday. He is making no Saturday engagements.

The candidate, in his platform, urges that the farmer should have a voice in setting the price of his own cotton and should be helped through constructive organization.

Also advocating "Use Texas Products", the slogan of his campaign, Col. Talbot, in all of his public appearances, is wearing a suit of all Texas material and manufacture, underwear, socks, shoes and hat, all made in Texas from Texas-grown products.

Wallace Rewarded In Hankins Arrest

LEVELLAND, Oct. 9. (Special.)—Detective James Wallace of Erick, Oklahoma, has been paid the $100 reward offered for the finding of C. Bailey Hankins, former Levelland preacher-carpenter, who was arrested in Lubbock and subsequently was taken to Amarillo to face trial on a charge of forgery.

Following Hankins' disappearance, the reward was placed in the First State bank here. Friends of the family raised the money and Mrs. C. W. Hankins, mother of the missing man, agreed to pay Wallace's expenses in investigating the case.

Hankins was arrested by E. L. Cannon deuty sheriff of Levelland, and O. B. Conley, chief deputy sheriff of Lubbock. However, Deputy Cannon, who had received information leading to the arrest, stepped aside in favor of Wallace, who had trailed Hankins for weeks, barely missing him in Oklahoma City.

The Oklahoma detective also gathered considerable evidence of Hankins' alleged misconduct.

Abilene Man Tells Experiences

Tried All Kinds of Medicine But Declares Orgatone Is Best Medicine on Market

Not a day passes but what statements are received from local people telling of the great benefits they have derived from the stomach remedy, Orgatone (Argotane).

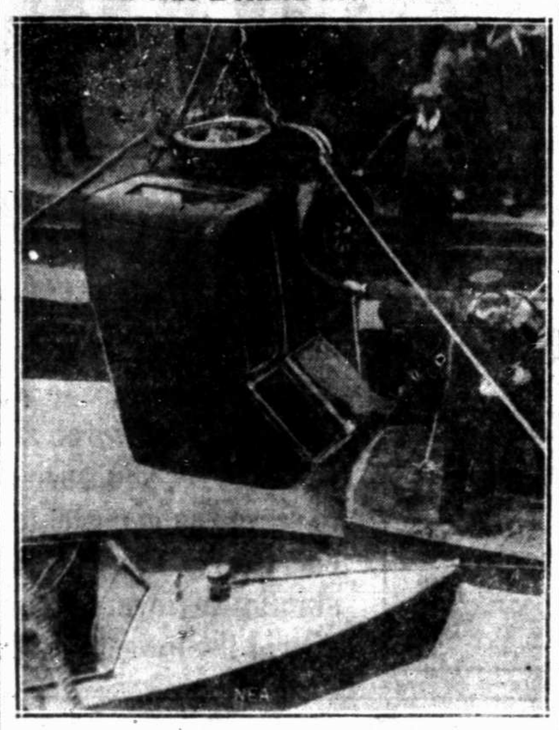

The following statement was recently made by O. Flannagan of 926 Merchant St., Abilene, Texas, and while talking with the Orgatone (Argotane) representative said:

"For about two years I have suffered from indigestion and after every meal would have a lump form in the pit of my stomach and gas would form and bloat me up that would make me so nervous I could hardly do my work. I had dizzy spells and never not a good night's rest. I was in general run down condition.

"I had tried many different kinds of medicine but nothing seemed to give me any benefit until I started to take Orgatone (Argotane) and I am much pleased with the results. In fact, it has done me more good than any medicine I have ever taken and I feel much better in every way. I eat now and enjoy every meal and that bloated feeling has left me and I am gaining strength every day. I'm not nervous as I was and sleep every night. I have certainly improved in health and I give credit where credit is due to Orgatone (Argotane), for it has given me relief and I sincerely believe it is the best remedy on the market.

Genuine Argotane may be bought in Lubbock at the Bowen Drug store.—adv.

Suicide Behind the Wheel

This photograph shows the climax to a Detroiter's unique method of committing suicide. Apparently determined to end his life, an unidentified motorist drove his car at high speed into the Detroit river from the foot of a downtown Detroit street. The police are shown here removing the body from the partially raised machine.

Federals Raid Boston Hotels

One Bootlegger, Large Number of Suspects and a Larger Number of Imbibers Found; Liquor Confiscated

BOSTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—Federal officers, who descended on several Boston hotels early today, arrested one man for bootlegging and seized a small amount of liquor.

The raids were started at the Statler hotel, headquarters of the American Legion. A search of the lobby and upstairs hallways and rooms netted a large number of suspects, a larger number of imbibers, but only one bootlegger, federal officers said. The suspects were ushered out a rear door and sent on their way. The lone seller was locked up in the Bak Bay police station, and the imbibers were left to their desires.

Suspects Numerous

Raiding squads spread from the Statler to other Boston hotels, where no arrests were made. Suspects and imbibers, however, were prevalent all over the city, officers said.

Without notifying the police of the intended raids and with the utmost secrecy, the federal agents met in the Statler lobby shortly after midnight. The entire project was carried out quietly and it was hardly apparently anything out of the ordinary was taking place.

Los Angeles county officials estimate each patient treated at public hospitals there in 1929 cost $5.27.

SHOP NOW
For Christmas

That's our suggestion. You can shop leisurely and pleasantly before the Christmas rush starts. Then too, you have a much larger selection now because stocks have not been picked over.

This does not necessarily mean an earlier expenditure of money as we will gladly "lay away" any items you select in our store until Christmas for you.

Just think how much more pleasant Christmas would be if we didn't have to wear ourselves out this year in those last two or three days trying to finish our shopping.

Our stock is complete with many beautiful things now and you will get a real joy out of seeing them.

We hope to have the privilege of showing you soon.

Death Declines To Claim Life

Aviator Unharmed After His Plane Lands on Power Line and Suspends in Air Until Rescued by Linemen

FREDRICKSBURG, Tex., Oct. 9.—Death looked at Coy Tisdell, 28-year-old flyer of Edinburg, yesterday, and decided to let him live. Tisdel, flying a light, open-cockpit airplane in which he had made a forced landing on the fair grounds here, was attempting a short take-off when the plane failed to gain altitude and caught in a web of high tension electrical wires.

Thousands of volts of electricty crackled with blinding flashes about his planefo r a few moments but the short circuit which was created caused an automatic switch at the plant to shut off the current.

Tisdell remained quietly in the plane until rescued by linemen. He was unharmed.

Tisdell and Gus Manhart, also of Edinburg and owner of the plane, were flying from Brownwood to San Antonio when they decided to land here at the fair grounds, fearing the plane's gasoline supply was low. Then they learned that a regular landing field was only two miles distant.

Manhart remained on the ground, in order to lighten the plane and Tisdell was attempting a take-off from the short runway when the accident occurred.

Razorbacks in Fort Worth to Meet Froggies

To Dedicate Magnificent New Texas Christian Stadium with First and Only Game of 1930 Season Tomorrow

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, Tex., Oct. 9. — Razorbacks of Arkansas University who will help dedicate the new Texas Christian University stadium Saturday will arrive here tomorrow morning.

Coaches Thomsen and Bassett led 23 athetes aboard a train at Fayetteville late today Texas bound. The Porkers will take a light drill on the turf of the new Frog gridiron tomorrow then will rest on the eve of the first conference battle of the season.

The Horned Frogs dug their cleats into the new turf today. Coach Schmidt sent his charges through a 2-hour drill and will confine tomorrow's exercises to light signal drills.

A Championship Team

A vital factor in the Horned Frog's march to last year's conference title was their ability to enter all their important battles at full strength. Had either Leland or Grubbs been out it is highly doubtful the Christians would be raising the championship flag over their new stadium Saturday.

Coach Schmidt's luck promises to hold good this season. If necessary, he will be able to send his strongest line-up against the Arkansas team in the conference opener.

Hog Coach Pessimistic

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 9.—Coach Fred C. Thomsen, university of Arkansas football pilot, expressed the opinion today as his Razorbacks entrained for Fort Worth, that if they "could hold Texas Christian University to four touchdowns, we'll be doing a good day's work Saturday." Their game with the Horned Frogs will raise the curtain on the Southwest Conference football season.

Arkansas will hurl a green and crippled eleven against the last year champions. Holmes, quarterback, and Clark, guard, both are out because of injuries.

The Porkers will arrive in Fort Worth tomorrow morning. They will work out during the afternoon in the Frog's new $350,000 stadium. More than 1,500 Razorback rooters held a pep rally at the railroad station, giving a rousing sendoff to the squad of 23 players and coaches Thomsen and "Chuck" Bassett.

World's Series Leaves Treasure of Memories in Athletic Camp and Headache in Cardinals'; Mack Says A's to Have Virtually Same Team Next Year

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—With the world's series gone leaving a treasury of memories for the Athletics and a headache for St. Louis, clubs in the American and National league are making plans which they hope will get them in a world's series, next year or later.

The turnover in managers will be lighter this year than usual. One change already has been made, Rogers Hornsby succeeding Joseph V. McCarthy as head of the playing forces of the Chicago Cubs.

The genial McCarthy, however, is not expected to remain long in the ranks of the unemployed. In all probability he will be summoned to New York to affix his signature to a contract to manage the Yankees.

Red Sox Need Manager

Two catchers have been mentioned frequently in connection with the Red Sox billet—Steve O'Neill, formerly of Cleveland and St. Louis, who has piloted the Toronto Maple Leafs for two years, and Harold (Muddy) Ruel, an American League regular for 12 years, and the last eight with Washington.

Mack Well Pleased

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9.—Connie Mack, five times winner of the world's baseball championship, said today that the Athletics next year would try for their ninth American League pennant and sixth world title with virtually the same team.

The famous baseball tactician, who had announced during the playing season he would not regard his team as great until it had won its second world's championship in successive years, said at present he did not contemplate any serious changes. The usual strengthening of the club, as is done by most managers, was to be expected, he added, but there would be nothing radical. He expressed his complete satisfaction with the present make-up, which demonstrated its ability to win.

Connie Mack was at his office in Shibe Park tower early today and ready to tackle a pile of work, but he was constantly interrupted by visitors and telephone calls to congratulate him on the victory of the A's over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Rockne Ramblers Become Stay-at-Homes, at Last

Notre Dame's much traveled football team will have its own big home at last with the dedication Saturday, Oct. 11, of the new Notre Dame stadium at South Bend, Ind., with a game with the Navy. Above are three outstanding figures in the game: the two rival coaches and Captain Tom Conley of Notre Dame.

Indians Meet Matadors for Fifth Contest

Local Collegiates Show Real Improvement in Scrimmages with Picadors; Meet Tribe on Tech Field Tomorrow

A touch of summer weather yesterday was just one of the reasons why the Tech Matadors got hot. The other reasons were Coaches Cawthon, Morgan and Smith and the fighting spirit of the Matadors. In one of the fastest and neatest scrimmage sessions of the season, the scarlety-jersied Matadors mixed it with the black-sweatered Picadors for an hour and a half of sure enough scrapping, with every candidate for Tech's varsity getting a chance to show his stuff. First on the offense and then on the defense, with the battle cry of "Sock 'em and Rock 'em," the Matadors showed a brand of football characteristic of winners, and if they carry the samespirit through the rest of the season, Texas Tech will be looking up in the "among those who ran" column.

To say that the Bullfighters, both rookies and regulars, show a great improvement over their practice performances last week and in weeks previous would be putting it mild. It is an altogether different aggregation from the one which reported to the first calls of the Tech mentors at the first of the season—a different team from that which played Wayland and was defeated 6 to 0, a team which shows already an improvement over its public performance last Friday when it whipped the New Mexico Aggies on a rain-soaked field.

"Murder McMurry"

The watchword on the Tech practice field this week is "Injure the Injuns" and whatever hopes McMurry College Indians of Abilene entertain toward breaking a precedent and taking the ball across Tech's goal line fades dimmer, in the estimation of the writer. Special tutoring of individuals in every department, late practice on the field and later ones in the club room, together with a determination to win marks the Matadors as dangerous competition for any team. But lest the seeds of overconfidence are sown, remember that the Mats have a hard fight on hand tomorrow when the Indians come to Lubbock for the fifth game between the schools. It is far from any pushover for the local collegiates. McMurry has been defeated this season—defeated badly by a superior team, but the Indians put up a fight that will long be remembered by Abilene Christian College's gridsters. Though they won, 26 to 0, they were able to score only three first downs against the Indians, while the latter ran and passed down the field for an even dozen first downs.

Westner Out With Injury

Just when he seemed ripe for a backfield position, Earnest Westner, a brainy, 180-pound fullback, received an injury in practice day before yesterday that will prevent him from playing much this season. A hard blow on the shoulder rendered the hefty back the next thing to a pass out check, and his absence, though he has not been tested in exhibitions yet, is due to be keenly felt. Buddy Brothers and C. A. Doose are the two reigning fullbacks. Brothers having been shifted from half back. Wooly Wooldridge is due to start at the signal barking position tomorrow, though Lawrence Franz, not as sophisticated but a better safety man, will be in the game. Hodges and Waller may start at half back positions, but Speed Moffitt will be given another chance to display his wares, which were quite salable last Friday. Moffitt is a great little ball toter, a hustler, and a terror in an open field.

Line Looking Better

The line, which is one of Cawthon's chief worries, will not be up to par tomorrow unless certain measures are taken in the dean's office this morning. Captain Jack Durham will be at home in center, with Darr and Allen probable beginners at guard. There the line breaks off. Big George Langford, the most experienced man on the team, is no longer on the team, due to ineligibility rulings, and there goes the strongest part of the line. Simmons is due to start at one tackle today and Hill or Osborne at the other. McWilliams is not in the best of health this week and may not be in the starting lineup. He is one of the best tackles reporting.

Defend Southwest Title Tomorrow

The gentlemen above, Captain Noble Atkins on the left, and Coach Francis Schmidt, will hold the reins of the Texas Christian University grid team when that aggregation sets about to win their second successive Southwest Conference championship tomorrow. They will start their defense of the 1929 title against the Arkansas University Razorbacks in the dedicatory game at the new $350,000 stadium at Fort Worth.

Westerners to Leave Tonight For Childress

Trip Postponed One Day; to Work Out Today on Usual Field; Entrain at 8:15 for Den of Bobcats

The Lubbock High School Westerners were given another day at home when it was announced that they would not leave for Childress until tonight. Coach Henry Frnka will send his charges against the Childress High Bobcats tomorrow, and it was first announced that the Westerners and their mentors would leave last night, resting this morning and going through a light workout on the Bobcat field.

Yesterday afternoon was spent in a rather hard workout, with a light scrimmage with the Pioneers running Childress plays against the first stringers. So it has been every day this week. The Westerners and their coaches realize that Childress will offer no set up for them, and that they must fight for what they get when the teams meet. It will be Lubbock's third conference game; Childress' fourth. The latter won their first two by decisive scores over Vernon and Quanah, but took a terrific beating last week at the hands of the Amarillo Sandies.

Pioneers To Slaton

The Pioneers, coached by Swede McMurray, will meet the Slaton High school gridsters this afternoon at Slaton. The Pioneers left early today for the home of the Class B Tigers. An age-old rivalry exists between the teams of Lubbock and Slaton and it may be that the Tigers will attempt to display their contempt by beating the Pioneers today. The Westerners are slated to meet the Slatonites here later on in the practice season. It will be the second game for the Pioneers today. They were defeated during the fair by Amherst.

With particular emphasis on pass defense, Coach Frnka has had his charges on the defensive side of the scrimmage line this week. Realizing the successful manner in which the Bobcats of Childress employ the aerial game, Coach Frnka has spent an unusual amount of time training his men to knock down passes. Thirty-three passes were used against Amarillo, and 19 of them were complete, which accounted for most of Childress' gains and the two touchdowns against the Sandies.

After a light workout this afternoon, the Westerners, 23 of them, will entrain for Childress at 8:15. The game tomorrow will start about 3 o'clock. Coach Frnka has not decided upon a definite lineup, since he is not yet sure that one or two men will be able to play. It is almost certain that Co-Captain Dub Lawson, Bert Williams, Britain and one or two others that have been playing in regular games will not be able to play against the Bobcats, which lessens the chances of the Westerners to win by a very comfortable margin.

North Carolina has 198 public water systems serving 900,000 persons, or 30 per cent of the state's population.

JOEY KUHEL WEDS

Senators' First Baseman in Matrimonial Game

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 9. (AP)—Joheph "Joey" Kuhel, 24 year old first baseman for the Washington American League baseball club, was married here today to Miss Willette West, 20, of Kansas City. The Rev. Bernard J. Hale, former minor league baseball player and now pastor of St. Stanislaus church here, officiated at the wedding at St. Francis Xavier Church.

Draft Question Up In Meeting Today

CLEVELAND, Oct. 9. (AP)—The question of universal draft, which the two major baseball leagues wish to apply on players of the minors, will be threashed out in conference here tomorrow at an assemblage of officials of the organizations.

Officials of the International and Pacific Coast leagues, and the American Association will hold a preliminary session to decide a policy regarding the draft and then lay it before big league officials. Officers of the American Association met here today to decide on a line of action which they will propose to the other minors tomorrow.

The American and National leagues wish to draft players from the minors when the players reach major league calibre. The minors have held to the limited draft under which they hold a player if they do not wish to sell him even though he has reached major league calibre.

ONE PERMIT ISSUED

Thursday's only building permit was issued to Mrs. L. C. Tatom for repair of a residence at 2123 Avenue V at a cost of $300. Number of building authorizations and respective aggregate valuations for the week, month and year follow: 6—$14,606; 8—$15,406; 214—$1,352,336.

Constant practice with the ends this week has resulted in a better showing of the candidates for that position. Teal and Vinzant, the two leaders of the department, will be weak tomorrow, if they play at all. Teal is nursing an injured knee, and Vinzant is suffering in the same locality. Tadlock, who seems to be improving, and who was cut out, originally, for a wing but who has had some trouble in getting started, is likely to see quite a bit of service tomorrow. Howell and Whitesides and High, the latter shifted from the backfield, will be given their chances at the wing positions. All of them looked better yesterday afternoon.

Jackie Kid Berg To Meet Petrolle

NEW YORK, Oct. 9. (AP)—Jack Kid Berg, British lightweight, will have a chance to remove the only real stain from his fighting record in a ten round bout with Billy Petrolle, the Fargo Express, in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

Years ago, when Berg was gaining a foothold in the boxing business, before he became the perpetual motion punching machine of today, Petrolle battered him to a technical knockout in five rounds in Chicago. The pair also fought one draw, but since then Berg has come on rapidly until now he ranks as the foremost challenger for Al Singer's 135 pound crown.

Few Cheers Greet Returning Cards

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 9. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals, champions of the National League but deprived of the baseball crown of the world in the series by the Philadelphia Athletics, championsns of the American League, returned to St. Louis today to disband for the winter.

No booming flashlights, nor cheering crowds awaited the Redbirds at Union Station and only a few staunch friends were on hand. The Cards left in taxicabs and the gloom was rather thick.

Talker Cites "Inefficiency

Work for Million Persons in U. S. Can Be Provided with Employe Education, Savings Hotel Heads Are Told

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 9. —(AP)— Work for 1,000,000 persons in the United States can be provided by employe education and the savings effected through more efficient management of hotels and other businesses, Ralph Hitz, of New York City, chairman of the standardized accounting committee of the American Hotel association, told delegates of the national convention today.

"It is doubtful whether American business is more than 25 per cent efficient in spite of all claims made for it," Hitz said, adding that mismanagement is not the only cause in the business depression.

"Loss of thousands of dollars, sufficent to pay the salares of at least 30 per cent of the unemployed in this country, resulting from small leaks which employes do not notice or report, could be prevented by educating them to take an active part in the conduct of any business. The line between executive and employe is too vague to define and efficient management can only be obtained through training both employes and executives."

IMPROVEMENT REPORTED

Hobbs Man Better After Auto Collides with Wagon

Slight improvement was reported Thursday night in the condition of V. L. Wheeler of Hobbs, N. M., who was critically injured early Wednesday night when an automobile he was driving struck a wagon on state highway No. 84, about nine miles west of Brownfield.

Wheeler, who suffered severe lacerations of the forehead and face and possibly a fractured skull, had regained consciousness early Thursday night, although he still appeared drowsy, attendants at Lubbock sanitarium reported.

Driver of the wagon was stunned by the impact but arose a few moments after being thrown from the mule-drawn carrier, which was demolished.

BROWNWOOD, Oct. 9. (AP) — A jury in county court today failed to agree in the cast of J. C. Tunstill, charged with violation of the Sunday closing law by operating a picture show, and was discharged.

City Dads in Routine Meet

Expenditure of $326.85 for Tower, Additional Plumbing at Municipal Airport Gets Approval of Commission

Routine business was transacted at a meeting of the city commission at city hall Thursday afternoon.

Expenditure of $326.85 for a tower and additional plumbing at municipal airport was approved. The construction work has been completed.

Estimated cost of $6,930.64 in construction of a storm sewer on Avenue K by the Panhandle Construction company was approved. Ninety-five per cent of the sewer has been completed, city officials said.

Answering protests of property owners, the city attorney announced his findings in an investigation of the procedure followed in taking sections inside the city limits last year. The process by which the inclusions were made was legal, the city attorney reported.

Two of the property owners who had questioned legality of the act were at the commission meeting Thursday.

DIVORCE RECOGNIZED

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 9. (AP)—Adultery and malicious desertion were definitely recognized by the United Lutheran church in America as the only scriptural grounds for divorce here today. In the absence of previous definite statements on this score, the biennal convention adopted the report of its committee on moral and social welfare as the "position" of the church.

Gridiron Gossip

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Oct. 9.— Borrowing a leaf from a near disastrous experience in 1928, Coach Ray Morrison has worked hard on his Southern Methodist eleven this week in an effort to avoid a too complete letdown for tomorrow's tilt with the Austin College Kangaroos here.

Returning from West Point two Octobers ago after their hair-raising joust with Army, the Ponies ran into the Simmons University Cowboys on the next week end and received the scare of their young lives. It was a scoreless tie.

The Kangaroos have a similar opportunity tomorrow, but it is doubtful they will find the present Morrison machine with its guard so completely down. The mere fact that Austin college scored on T. C. U. two weeks ago is sufficient warning it is not to be taken too lightly.

Baylor Looking Up

Advices from Waco assert the Baylor team and student body are evincing a greater spirit than the school has seen in years as an aftermath of the Bears' strong showing against Purdue last week. The other night they held what was described as the peppiest pep rally on record, with Jake Wilson and other pigskin idols holding forth from the rostrum.

That rousing fray with Purdue might have been just the tonic necessary to make a powerful team out of the Bruins.

Texas Conference Opens

The opening gun in the Texas Conference race will be fired Friday night at Abilene, with the Simmons University Cowboys entertaining St. Edward's university. Both teams appeared strong against Southwest Conference opposition last week, Simmons holding T. C. U. to a scoreless deadlock and the Saints battling Rice on better than even terms as for a half before submitting to the Owl's superior reserve strength.

Three other Texas conference elevens face big time opposition this week, the champion Howard Payne Yellowjackets playing University of Texas, Austin College meeting S. M. U., and Trinity University engaging Baylor.

Gents At Iowa City

University of Iowa, which stirred up all that commotion in the Western conference last season and finally was removed for a time from the big ten roster, will tackle the Centenary College Gents Saturday at Iowa City. Due to their surprisingly strong game against the Longhorns last week a scoreless tie—the Gents figure their tilt the outstanding one in the southwest for the week.

The Texas-Howard Payne tilt at Austin will give the dopesters their first real opportunity to gauge the Longhorns' strength as compared to conference rivals. Nothing much could be gleaned from the Orange's showing against College of Mines and Centenary as neither of those teams had played another member of the "Big Seven."

Tulsa Golfer to Meet Missourian In Title Match

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 9. (AP)—After having been forced to go extra holes in his quarter-final and semi-final matches today, Logan L. Van Zandt, Tulsa, defending champion, will meet Jimmy Manion, St. Louis veteran, for the International Petroleum Exposition golf tournament title tomorrow at the Tulsa country club.

Van Zandt was carried to the nineteenth hole in his morning round with Tom Cochrane, of Wichita Falls, Texas, to win, 1 up and it took twenty holes to eliminate George Johnson district amateur champion, in the semi-final afternoon match.

Manion had a much easier time with his two opponents. The former Trans-Missi.sippi titleholder won his first match without a struggle, defeating H. D. Spokesfield of Tulsa, 10 and 8, and was not exerted in beating Ben Saunders, another Tulsan, 4 and 3, in his semi-final tilt.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Oct. 9. (AP) —The schooner Gertrude L. Thebaud, pride of the Glocester fishing fleet, today defeated the famous Lunenburg, N. S., schooner Blue Nose on the opening contest of a series of three races which will be sailed off this old fishing port. Thebaud now needs only one more victory to win Sir Thomas Lipton International fishermen's challenge trophy and the purse which goes with it.

Attacks Aimed At Racketeers Among Workers

William Green, President of American Federation of Labor, Pledges Aid to Drive Out Grafting Leaders

BOSTON, Oct. 9. —(AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, in a speech before the federation's annual convention today pledged himself to do all in his power to drive labor racketeers from his organization.

"If there is brought to my attention the racketeer moving under the garb of trades unionism, and I can place my hands upon him with convicting evidence, I will drive him from this movement if I can," he declared. "And I know the brave men and women associated with me who try to place this movement upon a plane of honesty will join with me in that noble effort."

Warns On Graft

Green's declaration came after the Rev. J. W. McGuire, president of St. Viator college, Illinois, had warned the convention that the work of "dishonest and grafting labor leaders was being used to discredit organized labor."

Mr. Green defended the reputation of labor in his declaration that "in most of the cities of our land, (in practically all of them with few exceptions) central bodies, and in our states, the state federations of labor, occupy as honorable a position in the life of the nation as do the churches themselves."

James J. Davis, U. S. secretary of labor, in another address before the convention, expressed an optimistic view of the future for labor and industry. "I am one who believes," he said, "that we will soon emerge from this period of depression and enter upon a new and lasting era of prosperity, surpassing perhaps all former periods of prosperity in the history of our country."

Referring to immigration and its effects on the American workman, Secretary Davis said: "I have long advocated the adoption of an elective sytem under which no unattached immigrants should be admitted to the United States except to meet actual needs in this country. In my opinion the American wage earner is fully entitled to the protection such a system would afford and I am confident that before very long you will be found squarely behind the selective immigration and other plans for immigration control which have been advocated by the secretary of labor."

Revolution

ported some success in regions other than southward. Federal airplanes were reported to have bombed Bello Horizonte again today, with the rebels there said to be about to surrender. Bello Horizonte is the capital of Minas Geraes.

In the north the rebels hold the city of Pernnambuco and are reported marching through the state of Alagoas, but General Santa Cruz has been ordered to establish a federal base of operations at Bahia and operate against the insurrectionists in the upper states. The government also hopes to recapture that state of Rio Grande Do Norte and Parahyba, which are north of Pernambuco.

Another Northern state, Amazonas, was reported on the side of the government, with the legislative assembly voting fealty to President Luis. Amazonas occupies a large area divided by the Amazon river in the extreme northwest of the country.

Battles Reported

Far to the northeast the city of Para (or Belem) was reported to have been the scene of a battle, with warships and loyal police firing on soldiers who had revolted.

The government gradually is restoring train service in Minas Geraes, the large state which lies just north of Rio De Janeiro. Federal engineers today opened a line as far as Juiz De Fora, about 100 miles north of the capital, by reconstruction of a bridge over the river Parahybuna, and also took 125 miles of line below Bello Horizonte, which lies directly north of Juiz De Fora.

Manpower is being assembled by a call to reservists. Land reservists between the ages of 21 and 30 were summoned several days ago, while naval reservists of the same ages were called today. They are ordered to prepare for instant duty when a second summons is issued. The first reservest to report was Victor Luis Pereira De Sousa, youngest son of the president.

Other recruits are volunteers and police, as in the revolutionary areas.

Civil War Nears Military Phase

(By The Associated Press)

Civil war in Brazil is approaching a decisive military phase, with engagements between large bodies of federals and insurgents imminent in both the north and south.

Three thousand miles of the country's Atlantic coast line have become the battleground for a struggle between the federal government of President Washington Luis and scattered bodies of insurgents generally acknowledging the leadership of the liberal statesman, Getulio Vargas.

Cities Are Stakes

The stakes are Brazil's biggest cities, Sao Paulo and Rio De Janeiro. The campaign has fallen roughly into three sectors.

In the south large federal and insurgent forces were reported to be on the verge of a possibly decisive battle within striking distance of Sao Paulo. The insurgents, heavily reinforced during their northward drive from Rio Grande Do Sul, are driving for the rich prize of Brazil's commercial metropolis.

In the north, hastily assembled armies are maneuvering for an important encounter. The insurgents report they have an army of 30,000 men in the three states of Ceara, Alagoas and Maranhao, which they have occupied.

Preparing Attack

A federal army, with its base at Bahia, is preparing to attack them. The insurgents have announced an early campaign northward into the vast regions of equatorial Brazil to spread the revolution.

To the west of Rio De Janeiro, in the big insurgent state of Minas Geraes, the federals have claimed important successes. They are attempting to safeguard the capital's food supply as well as to dislodge the rebels.

As the armies prepare to come to grips, the importance becomes increasingly apparent of the role to be played by the air service and the navy, the latter trained by American officers. The rebels claim important adhesion from both.

Cotton Market Declines After Advancing — Livestock Steady Prices Are Given for Cattle — Grain Grain Trading Is Almost Suspended

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 9. (AP)—Cotton was quite active today and after advancing 12 to 16 points in the first part of the morning due to good cables, favorable textile statistics and good trade buying, reacted sharply near noon and continued to ease off in the afternoon to declines from the highs to 25 to 28 points owing to a sharp break in stocks and a serious failure in the New York stock exchange.

The market rallied well in the late trading, recovering 9 to 10 points of the loss on active short covering helped by a bullish statement by a member of the farm loan board. The close was steady at net declines for the day of 3 to 4 points.

Considering the sharp break in stocks and its cause traders believed the cotton market acted very well.

Liverpool came in 3 points better than due and first trades here showed gains of 9 to 13 points. The favorable textile statistics and price fixing caused prices to improve further after the call. December trading up to 10.45 and January to 10.33 or 17 to 18 points above the close of yesterday.

Later in the morning the market turned easier and before the offerings were absorbed December traded down to 10.25 and January to 10.36 or 17 to 20 points below the highs and 5 points under the previous close.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Oct. 9. (AP)—Cotton was irregular today with an early advance followed by declines under selling which appeared to be influenced by weakness in the grain and stock markets. New December contract sold after pulling up to 10.44 early, bruce to 10.20 or 22 points net lower, but there were rallies later on covering or rebuying. The new December closed at 10.26 with the general market showing barely steady net 2 points higher to 4 points lower.

The opening was steady at an advance of 9 to 12 points on buying promoted by relatively steady Liverpool cables, a bullish view of the standard cloth statistics for September, and a feeling that constructive developments might grow out of the meeting of the cotton trade called for Monday in New Orleans.

The standard cloth statistics for September showing a decrease of 11.4 per cent in stocks on hand and an increase of one per cent in unfilled orders for the month were considered one of the chief factors contributing to the early advance, although the improvement was attributed partly to the curtailment of mill production.

Support Ineffectual

Favorite investment stocks, which have been increasingly weak of late, gave ground freely, and many including U. S. Steel and American Telephone, broke through their November minimums on extreme losses that averaged 5 points. Attempts at support were ineffective. The most striking example in this direction was the brief battle at the U. S. Steel post in the forenoon where large buying orders failed to hold the stock at 150.

News from the business world was largely unimportant, so that the market's difficulties come from within.

Stock Market Sweeps Down To Low Levels of Last November Thursday

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 9. (AP)—The stock market swept through last November's lows today.

Weakened by a month of almost steadily declining quotations, the price structure gave way under the unfavorable news of suspension of another member firm for insolvency. However, the market did not collapse. The decline, averaging 5.5 points, was orderly and gave no evidence of demoralization. There was really after the first flood of selling had been exhausted but the recovery enabled the shorts to cover without much sacrifice of profits and the decline was resumed with the closing not far above the bottom.

Total Sales High

The final composite prices on 90 leading shares was 140.3, just one-tenth of a point above the 1929 low established on November 13. It was the largest drop since August. Said the total sales of 3,050,000 shares were the largest since June 18.

Weakness in bonds which had been moving against the trend of the market for equity securities was a noteworthy feature of the day, although much of the selling doubtless came from holders in need of funds for stock accounts.

Wheat and corn joined the downward procession with decline of 2 to 3 cents a bushel. Cotton showed considerable irregularity and was 2 points higher to 4 lower at the close.

Support Ineffectual

Favorite investment stocks, which have been increasingly weak of late, gave ground freely, and many including U. S. Steel and American Telephone, broke through their November minimums on extreme losses that averaged 5 points. Attempts at support were ineffective. The most striking example in this direction was the brief battle at the U. S. Steel post in the forenoon where large buying orders failed to hold the stock at 150.

Cheatham

ney, L. A. Forbes, partner in the rabbit raising business of C. H. Smith; Smith himself, a confessed former operator of a whiskey selling organization and Frank W. Lohn, special prohibition inspector of the United States government.

Sought Postponement

Wishart, testifying against the side represented by his superior, U. S. District Attorney H. M. Holden declared Cheatham had come to him seeking a postponement of an old liquor case against Smith, who yesterday declared he helped carry out the alleged "frame-up" of Edwards. Cheatham himself previously had declared he did not go to Wishart about the matter but had said he said something about it to Mr. Holden.

Forbes swore that a man calling himself "Johnson," whom he identified as Cheatham had called at his home seeking Smith. This, Cheatham had denied.

Smith declared he gave Cheatham a diamond ring, whose stone lacked one point of being a carat, with a "square mounting," and that Cheatham "was to get my old federal case—" and here an objection cut off the rest of his reply. Cheatham had sworn that he got no such ring.

Lohn, who said he came here to investigate Cheatham after the Edwards affair, said the undercover man told him he had no information, prior to seizing a liquor filled automobile assertedly belonging to Edwards, about the matter except the number of the machine and the sort it was. Cheatham had declared on the stand that he knew it was Edwards' machine—that he got the information in an anonymous telephone call. The state has been trying to prove that Cheatham had title to the automobile transferred to Edwards, had the machine loaded with liquor then seized it, causing a complaint to be field against the former airport manager. Some one took Edwards into an automobile eight days after the charge was lodged and "let him have it" with a sawed-off shotgun. His body was tossed under a crape myrtle bush in the fashionable Montrose section.

Cheatham, for his part, had denied he ever conspired with the Smith and the former bootlegger's two alleged assistants—E. T. and Ivey Wharton—to "frame" Edwards and had denied every allegation of consequence. One, in particular, was a "No, sir," to State District Attorney O'Brien Stevens' question: "Isn't it a fact that you had been keeping that case against Smith from being tried because he gave you $100 a month?"

Livestock

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, Oct. 9 (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Fully steady prices were paid for limited supplies of slaughter cattle all classes here today.

Choice heavy fed yearlings topped at $7.60, this price paid for a part load of well finished little cattle. Grassers and short fed slaughter steers moved at 5.25, 6.75 and 7.25.

Real fat cows moved at 5.40. Butcher cows found an outlet mostly 3.25 and 3.75, butcher heifers downward from 6.75.

Very good young stock cows moved at 5.50. Well bred stock steer calves were reported up to 7.50 and medium weight stock calves sold at 6.50.

Good to choice heavy fat calves sold from 7.00 to 7.50. One load of very good heavies moved at 8.00.

The hog top was 10.25. Smooth butchers in the fall section mused 10.00.

Desirable light and medium weight trucks hogs sold from 9.90 to 10.05. Sorts of packing sows at 7.75 to 8.00, were quotably steady.

Breeding ewes brought 4.00.

MIDDLEWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 9. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—No material changes were registered in cattle prices around the 11-market circuit with the exception of light strength at Chicago on finished steers and yearlings. Chicago had a top of $7.75 on choice yearling steers and secured 7.90 for best heavy steers. Receipts were estimated at 25,000.

Opening hog trade was slow at mostly 10 and 15 lower prices while the close to packers at several points was dull at 25 and 40 lower figures. The day's extreme top of 10.00 was paid on early rounds at Chicago for a few choice medium weight butchers. Offerings were around 74,000.

The sheep supply was around 79,000. Killing classes were mostly steady with a few centers reporting light strength on fat lambs.

Grain

FORT WORTH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Oct. 9: (AP)—Following the sharp break in the contract grain markets Thursday, trading on the Fort Worth cash grain market was practically suspended and no sales were posted to the close of that market, making all quoted prices entirely nominal and largely a matter of personal opinion of buyer and seller.

Mills were nominally bidding 87 to 90c for number 1 hard wheat delivered Texas common points but the price failed to interest sellers.

Fair Demand Reported

Fair demand was reported for oats but other coarse grains were hard sale.

Estimated receipts: Wheat 26 cars, corn 16, barley 9, oats 1, and sorghums, 2.

Nominal prices quoted as bids and offers by the trade on, coarse grains ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Corn, No. 2 mixed 84 and 85; No. 2 white or yellow 87 and 88.

Oats, No. 2 red, nominally 50 1-2 and 51 1-2; No. 3 white delivered Texas group one points 46 and 46 1-2, to which add 1c for delivery Texas group three.

Barley, No. 2, nominally 66 and 67.

Sorghums, No. 2 milo, nominally, 1.70 and 1.72; No. 3 kaffir 1.49 and 1.45.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 9. (AP)—Distress selling of large quantities of grain in the late dealings today sent prices spinning downward, especially for wheat and corn. The overturn of values came chiefly after word that Prince and Whitley, a leading brokerage house with a membership on the Chicago Board of Trade, had suspended payment. Earlier, the grain markets received a sharp jolt too by news that United States Steel stock was down to a new low price record, but it was not until the Prince and Whitely failure was anounced that grain gave way in earnest.

Closing quotations on cereals were at about the day's bottom most point, with the wheat market heavy, 1 1-2 and 2 3-4c a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 2 1-4 and 3c down, oats 3-8 and 1 1-4c off and provisions unchanged to 15c decline.

Unsettlement Shown

Severe unsettlement shown by stock market values received far greater notice most of the time among wheat traders today than did factors which as a rule have a direct powerful influence on grain. However during the early part of the day, it was contended in various quarters that grain values already were down to a level where selling promised little profit.

Corn and oats paralleled the action of wheat. Liquidating sales of corn holdings were on a larger scale and carried corn prices down at the last more rapidly even than was the the case in wheat.

FAVORS "TOMATO WEEK"

Col. Talbot Urges Texas to Use Its Own Products

MOUNT PLEASANT, Oct. 9. (AP)—A proclamation of "tomato week," starting the people consuming this vegetable at the proper time, "would make all the difference between profit and loss on the crop," Col. W. E. Talbot of Dallas, Republican candidate for governor, said here tonight, in a public address.

"The governor should proclaim tomato week," he said, "since there often is only a difference of about 40 carloads of tomatoes between profit and loss.

"There are 6,000,000 of us in the state. If we would band ourselves together and buy our own products from our own people, it would go a great way toward relieving the economic condition that is confronting us right now. Canning factories would take care of some of this product, but we should have our own canning factory with a Texas brand."

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 9. (AP)—Recommendation for more stringent federal laws to check communistic activities was made to the congressional committee investigating communists today by Grover C. Wilmoth, United States immigration director at El Paso, Texas.

Wilmouth urged legislation directing the postoffice department to bar from the mails any matter teaching or advocating government overthrow by force or violence and making it a criminal offense to become an active worker in any group advocating such government overthrow. He also urged communist newspapers to be barred from the mails.

BOLTS CANDIDACY

Head of Pennsylvania Railway Not to Support Pinchot

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 9. (AP)—General W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad and one of the most prominent personages in Pennsylvania politics, today bolted the candidacy of Gifford Pinchot for governor. He relinquished his membership in the Republican national committee rather than support Pinchot.

Announcement of General Atterbury's action was made public here by General Edward Martin, Republicaff state chairman. It climaxed a series of developments within the party concerning Pinchot's place on the ticket, which developments began at Philadelphia several days ago, with defection of Charles B. Hall, city councilman and one of the leaders of the Philadelphia Republican organization.

Talkers Bring Fire Subject Before Clubs

City Manager Makes Speech to Kiwanians in Connection with Observance of Fire Prevention Week Here

Loss of life and property by fire and scientific methods of preventing disastrous conflagrations continued to be the subjects dealt upon by speakers before civic clubs and student bodies Thursday in observance of National Fire Pervention week here.

J. Byran Miller, city manager, who spoke before the Kiwanis club Thursday, will address the American Business club at its luncheon in the Hilton hotel today, dealing particularly with local history and conditions relative to fire loss and prevention. O. B. Webb, assistant to the president of the Texas & Pacific railroad and L. C. Porter, of the T. & P. legal department, will speak before the A. B. C. regarding the proposed line of the Texas and Pacific Northern railway.

Fire Chief W. E. Twitty, Fire Marshal Wiley Metcalfe and Wesley Read, fire insurance representative, spoke before the high school student body at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon on fire prevention.

An essay contest is being conducted in the schools this week in connection with the fire prevention program.

Cash prizes will be awarded winners in the different divisions. The competition will close this afternoon and winners will be announced soon afterward.

The Chicago fire of 1871 heads a long list of conflagratious which swept virtually whole cities from the face of the earth, said a statement issued Thursday by the local fire prevention committee.

Fire Prevention week is held during the anniversary of the Chicago fire, in which 17,500 buildings were demolished, causing total property loss of $168,000,000.

"Modern and effectively enforced building codes probably would have prevented to a great extent such disasters as those in Jacksonville, where with a loss of about $11,000,000, practically the entire business section was burned; Paterson, N. J., $7,000,000; Paris, Texas, $10,000,000 and the one freshest in memory, Nashua, N. H. where the loss reached $3,000,000.

"As American cities have increased in size, real estate values have more than kept pace with them, and building construction problems have assumed serious proportions. Many cities have adopted building codes, but all too frequently they have become obsolete.

"Building codes, no matter how comprehensive or applicable to any city's needs are worse than useless unless they are rigidly enforced."

This is equivalent to $1.84 per share on the 4,345,129 shares outstanding.

Net profit for the corresponding period last year was $12,000,000 or $2.94 per share and in the 1928 period it was $8,550,000 or $2.25.

Confiscated Obscene Books Missing In Endless Chain of Solon Borrowers

WASHINGGTON, Oct. 9. —(AP)—Curious borrowers, willing lenders and insistent purchasers of books that have fallen into the customs bureau's category of forbidden literature are producing some interesting complications as an outgrowth of the obscene book controversy that stirred the senate during the tariff debate.

Many of the books confiscated under the old law and which were loaned to various senators as exhibits in the tariff discussion have disappeared. Some have been returned to the customs bureau and some still repose in senators' offices, but a majority of them apparently are following an endless chain of borrowers and lenders.

Has Hands Full

In addition to its difficulties in trailing the books, the customs bureau is having its hands full administering the new law's provisions barring obscene and immoral books and articles. Seizures are being made almost daily and at least half a dozen importers have begun court contests to recover their foreign purchases. Two of these will be fought in Chicago.

Under the old law the customs bureau virtually was a censor, having final authority to seize and confiscate books it regarded as unfit for the American reader, but the new law permits an importer to contest seizures in the federal courts. It also gives the secretary of the treasury discretionary power to allow importation of classics or books of literary or scientific merit for non-commercial purposes.

PESETA SLUMPS LOW

MADRID, Oct. 9. (AP)—The peseta which has fluctuated widely this summer, today slumped to what bankers called the lowest point since the Spanish-American war.

The dollar was quoted from 9.87 to 9.96, while the figure for the British pound ranged around 48.60.

Bankers regarded the strike movement and unsettled political conditions generally as the cause.

Hunting licenses were issued to 65,977 Georgia sportsmen and to 202 non-residents last year. The revenue was $91,583.

Hoover's Law Commission to Make Reports

Enforcement Group Gets Down to Business in a Secret Session; Nature of Discussions Guarded

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—President Hoover's law enforcement commission got down to business today in secret session on the task of formulating its prohibition report but Chairman Wickersham carefully guarded the nature of the first discussions of this controversial subject.

This same group, including Federal Judge William S. Kenyon of Iowa and Kenneth Mackintosh, former Washington jurist, is insisting that there be "no pussyfooting" on the wet and dry report and that the commission go to the bottom of the problem.

Mackintosh said today he did not expect the commission's statement on enforcement would be ready "tomorrow or the next day" but added he was backing Chairman Wickersham's statement of yesterday that the report could be expected for congress "early in December."

This would mean swift action by the commission in coming weeks, since the statement first must go to the White House for the president's approval.

Safeguard of Lives Sought

Efforts to Protect Workers of Oil Industry Cited at Seventh Annual International Petroleum Congress

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 9. (AP)—The oil industry's efforts to safeguard the lives of its workers was emphasized in today's program at the seventh annual International Petroleum Exposition and congress.

Oil company teams met in the annual safety contest of the Mid-continent Oil and Gas association. The safety program, and all-day affair, was concluded tonight with the annual dinner of the association's safety division.

Charges "Fantastic"

Speaking at the association's annual banquet last night, John M. Lovejoy of New York, formerly a Tulsa oil executive, termed as "fantastic" the charges made by George S. Kelly, government land official, against the interior department's administration of public lands. The charges, he declared, have given the public a false impression of oil company's applications for oil and gas rights on public lands.

"The statement has been made," he said "that through the giving away of the fee to lands in the shale deposits areas of Colorado the government has lost or will lose, reserves having the value of $40,000,000,000 and the public left holding the bag.

"Seriously, these fantastic charges vitally concern us. The independent units of the oil industry, which have no connection with, or interest in, these fabulous shale deposits, and no intention of dissipating their capital in acquiring them, should see to it that these charges of Mr. Kelley shall not be allowed to be thrown across the track of progress, and delay of wreck through sensational investigations the necessary work that lies immediately ahead."

ANOTHER TRIP LOOMS

President Hoover May Tour Following Elections

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9. (AP)—The possibility that President Hoover might take another trip after the elections next month arose today at the White House as the chief executive returned from King's Mountain, South Carolina.

The length and destination of the future trip were undisclosed, but it became known that he was considering a proposal for another journey before congress opens in December. No other speeches or trips are on his program before the elections, however, except his week-end jaunts to his Virginia Mountain camp.

Mr. Hoover and those who accompanied him to his speaking swing into Ohio, Massachusetts and the south were pleased with the reception accorded him.

She "Mothers" the Whole United States Army

When Own Son Went Overseas In 1917, Mrs. Davison Went To Work for Soldiers

BY RUBY WEIL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—After 13 years, Mother Davison still is entertaining her "boys," still is mothering the United States army.

Like many other mothers, Mrs. Rachel Frohman Davison turned her attention to mothering soldiers and sailors when her own son, Daniel Frohman Davison, went overseas in 1917. A sister of Charles Frohman, who went down with the Lusitania, and Daniel, the other play-producing brother, Mrs. Davison fouy it natural to do her mothering by organizing entertainments for the training camps.

Unlike other mothers, she continued the work after the armistice. She's still at it—at the age of 67. Throughout the Second Corps area of the United States army, and in the navy, too, they call her Mother Davison, and eagerly await her visits.

Weekly Visits

Once a week she and her troupe go to Port Jay, on Governor's Island, in New York harbor. First in the prison, where she organized a band several years ago, then in the big hall named for her, Mother Davison puts her troupe through its programs of songs, dances and monologues. She may be accompanied by a dozen or so from her list of several hundred volunteer artists, often students,young musicians and dancers.

During the war Sothern and Marlowe and other stars gave their services. But now—

"My brother Daniel offers to get stars for me," she said, "but I always tell him I'll just take my students and young artists. They have plenty of time—don't have to to hurry off to performances. We just have a little home environment, and the boys love it."

The "boys" include everyone from the highest general to the lowliest private, as attested by Mother Davison's trunkful of mementos. During the war Mrs. Davison was so efficient at her work that she knew when transport ships were sailing, and was there with her entertainers for a last performance and a last "goodbye and good luck."

In addition to her entertainments at the army and navy bases and hospitals, Mrs. Davison finds time to cheer the poor and the ill outside the military service. Her energy is unflagging, her cheerful voice giving directions, offering a merry "How are you" to her audiences from army prison to East Side Settlement house.

For all her stage associations, Mrs. Davison herself never has been on the professional stage.

"I married young," she explains. "But before I was married, after an amateur performance in which I took part, my future husband made me promise never to go on the stage."

Home Comes First

Until the war her life was devoted to her home and family. "I was always a home body," she explains. Even now, with all her outside activity, her home receives first attention. It is only a small apartment now; just Mrs. Davison and her husband, Dr. D. H. Davison, and their son, Daniel, live there. The other son and daughter are married, a second daughter died a few years ago.

But there are six grandchildren, so Mother Davison's apartment is a lively place. For that matter, any place where Mother Davison is would be likely to be lively; the woman who has mothered the United States army and navy for 13 years would make it so.

Civil Warfare In China Threatens

SHANGHAI, Oct. 9. — (AP) — Red armies continued to scourge China tonight as cessation of civil warfare seemed near. With the rebellious northern alliance near collapse, communists increased depredations in South China.

Sweeping over southern Kiangsi province, 75,000 outlaws laid waste to towns and countryside. Kian, an important city, with numerous smaller places nearby, was reported fallen prey to 40,000 bandit reds who applied the torch.

It was not known whether the reds simply looted the cities or, as in many other communities, killed many inhabitants.

Many British missionaries in the Kian area have not been heard from since the onslaught.

Lurking behind banks of the Yangtse river, reds continued to fire on foreign shipping between Kiukiang and Hankow, 135 miles, undiscouraged by a losing brief engagement yesterday with the United States gunboat Panay near Yuchow.

SUICIDE CLAIMED

CORPUS CHRISTI, Oct. 9. (AP) —A coroners' verdict of suicide was returned yesterday after the body of Charles F. An inner tube of the car had been cut apart, with one end attached to the exhaust pipe and the other fastened over his nose and mouth.

Probe Origin Of Mine Fire

Three Miners and One Rescue Worker Killed After Poisonous Carbon Monoxide Gas is Underground Tunnel Inhaled

MASSILON, O., Oct. 9. (AP)—The cause of flames which resulted in the deaths of three miners and one rescue worked in a slope mine near Dalton, nine miles east of here, was being investigated by the state bureau of mines today.

The bodies of the three miners were found last night in the rear of a tunnel which ran back 800 feet from the entrance. They had been killed by carbon monoxide gas apparently in half an hour after they were trapped.

The dead miners were Russell Shanlin, 45, part owner of the mine; Robert Douglas, 55, mine engineer; and Harvey P. Sword, 47, father of 11 children. Their bodies were found after firemen battled nearly all day to bring the flames under control and then pumped several hours to clear the tunnel of the water which had been poured in. During the rescue work, Rush D. Hiller, 47, Canton undertaker, removed his gas mask and died from breathing the poisonous fumes.

ONE MINUTE PULPIT

Young men likewise exhort to be sober minded.

In all things shewing thyself a pattern of good works: in doctrine shewing uncorruptness, gravity, sincerity.—Titus, ii, 6, 7.

PEERING 'ROUND THE CORNER

SENATOR PINK L. PARRISH, of Lubbock, is sincere in his efforts to bring state relief to drouth-stricken farmers of Northwest Texas. He frankly opines that, since Federal aid is getting nowhere rapidly, the state can and should come to the rescue of victims of the dry spell—and in so doing is making more friends in the far-flung outposts of the Panhandle-Plains.

As Senator Parrish goes about his business of making more friends, it occurs to The Morning Avalanche that he is certainly doing no harm to himself in other sections of the state—and at the same time is grappling to himself the respect and friendship of hundreds of citizens of this area. Whether or not it has occurred to Senator Parish, his efforts to get Governor Moody's approval on a legislative session will likely rebound to his own advantage in the political days to come.

Senator Parrish came very near announcing, personally, for the gubernatorial nomination last summer. In fact his candidacy was announced by friends, but in loyalty to his Senate comrade, Clint Small, of Wellington, he retired from the lists and flung himself whole-heartedly into the Small campaign. Second guessers, at the close of the first primary, saw that Senator Parrish, had he made the race, would probably have been in the run-off with Mrs. Ferguson—which would have made him governor-elect today. Even those who did not grant that he would have topped Mr. Sterling in the first primary, admitted that his votes would have surpassed the total amassed by the popular Senator Small, for his West Texas support would have been just as great and his votes in other sections greater, by virtue of his being better known than the Wellingtonian.

There are other days coming—days which may yet see Senator Parrish as a candidate for state office. However, it is not state politics toward which The Morning Avalanche turns at the present time, but instead, to district politics and the Congress of the United States.

We have no idea that Senator Parrish will ever oppose Marvin Jones, present Congressman from this district. Further, we have no idea that the Senator, should he run, could ever beat the increasingly popular and efficient Amarilloan, who has served this district long, wisely and well. But should Congressman Jones' great district be split, in keeping with census figures, the south half would be casting about for a representative in the lower house and who can say that the Lubbock solon would not be available for the campaign?

The Morning Avalanche has not discussed with Senator Parrish his feelings in regard to Congress, should the opportunity present itself. He may have other plans—he may never have considered the matter at all. We're merely opining on what might happen, being of the mind that whatever his political plans may be, Senator Parrish is not hurting himself any as he "goes to bat" for the unfortunate farmers caught in the whirlpool of the drouth.

12,000,000 VILLAGERS

The American village once more is coming into its own. In the early history of the country the village played a much larger part than the cities. For the past quarter of a century the village has been lost sight of somewhat because of the spectacular growth and increase in the number of big cities.

But Dr. Luther Fry, who may lay claim to being an authority in sociology, has written a book entitled "American Villagers," in which he makes out a pretty strong case for the desirability of living in the smaller centers of population. He says the number of villages is increasing rapidly and the character of their population changing.

The village population of the country is of an importance not to be slighted, according to Dr. Fry's estimate. He says there are 18,000 villages and their total inhabitants number nearly 13,000,000. That means that about one-tenth of all the people in the United States live in villages.

And Dr. Fry thinks there are decided advantages in village life. There are more home-owners in the villages, he says; a larger percentage of the boys and girls go to school, the ordinary man has a better chance to become his own boss, and women find more opportunities to engage in business and exert public influence.

The future of the American village, Dr. Fry thinks, is highly promising. He estimates that the number of villages in the country increased nearly 45 per cent during the period 1900 to 1920, and this growth, he says, was caused by removal of inhabitants from cities as well as from the country.

"It may be," says Dr. Fry's book, "that America is at the beginning of a new agricultural era in which farmers more and more will come to live together in villages to enjoy greater social advantages."

WASHINGTON DISPLAYS INTEREST IN APPROACHING INVESTIGATION OF BISHOP CANNON BY HIS ELDERS

By Charles P. Stewart
(Central Press Staff Writer)

ASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Investigation by the college of bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church South of charges against Bishop James Cannon, Jr., is looked forward to in Washington with about the same degree of interest that the capital might reasonably be expected to feel in impending impeachment proceedings against (say) a justice of the supreme court of the United States.

Perhaps, parenthetically, it should be emphasized that an impeachment is not equivalent to a removal from office, as many folk suppose; it is only an accusation.

This is just the position in which Bishop Cannon finds himself—accused.

How much importance the country at large attaches to the complaint concerning him filed by the Rev. Drs. Forrest J. Prettyman of Baltimore, Costen J. Harrell and J. T. Marsten of Richmond, and I. P. Martin of Abingdon (Va.), I have no means of estimating. Washington, however, seems to me to rate it as something less than the consequences of a hearing involving the possibility of a president's removal, but as of decidedly more significance than one with no higher secular post than a senate's at stake.

Church folk, I imagine, will point out that such a comparison tends to assume a political angle in connection with a case about which there is nothing political whatever, but the fact is that Washingtonians do assume it.

In a way they have their reasons for doing so. It must be remembered that Bishop Cannon is as well known here as if he were a Washingtonian himself, though his legal residence is in Virginia, and his best friends do not dispute that he has been politically very active—the essential difference between his friends and his accusers being that the former insist he has been no more active than any citizen has a right to be, while his accusers maintain that he has overdone it, among various other things. Anyhow, political "repercussions" (as statesmen express themselves) from the investigation of his record are strongly probable in one direction or another.

The impression appears to be quite general that the bishop was tried at his church's general conference in Dallas last May, and acquitted, and that the present proceedings are in the nature of placing him a second time in jeopardy.

This is a misunderstanding, according to Dr. Prettyman of Baltimore, one of the complainants.

What really happened, it seems, was that the bishop's stock market transactions with the New York brokerage firm of Kable & Company, were called in question, whereupon the bishop expressed his deep regret for these dealings but explained that he had regarded them as legitimate investments—an explanation accepted by the conference, which accordingly voted not to try him.

Drs. Prettyman, Harrel, Marsten and Martin now represent that they have fresh evidence, of a sort at least requiring still more explanations.

They likewise raise the old issue of the bishop's exercise of political influence, concerning which he not only never has been tried but refused even to explain, when called as a witness before the senate lobby investigating committee last summer.

And finally there are charges about "personal conduct."

As to what these may be one person's guess is as good as another's.

They evidently do not relate to the bishop's conduct as a market trader or as a politician, for his trading and his politics are listed separately; plainly they deal with some line of conduct in a distinct category.

Whatever may be the ideas of Drs. Harrell, Marsten and Martin, Dr. Prettyman has made it clear what he considers ought to follow, in the event that the Methodist Episcopal Church South sustains the latest accusaitons against Bishop Cannon.

A culprit who is sincerely repentant should be forgiven, he says, but he argues that the best evidence of sincerity is a willingness to submit to a suitable penalty for transgression.

In brief, he suggests punishment, should the bishop be found culpable.

LIVER IS IMPORTANT AID IN THE CONTROL OF ANEMIA

By Dr. Morris Fishbein, Editor Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

There is another condition in which the destruction of the blood is fairly constant and its formation apparently deficient. It comes on usually after middle age and is apparently associated with any demonstrable infection of the teeth, or the tonsils, or any similar disturbance.

Among the early symptoms are disturbances of digestion, apparently associated with a lack of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. There is weakness and breathlessness; there may be a loss of appetite and severe headaches.

Obviously, one of the chief factors in the diagnosis of the condition is the study of the blood under the microscope. When the cells are counted, it is found that the red blood cells are greatly reduced in number, whereas the red coloring matter of the blood is apparently increased. There are many strange shaped cells which may be an indication of blood destruction, and there are many newly formed cells, indicating the attempt of the body to form a sufficient number of cells to overcome the condition.

Fortunately in recent years studies have been made which are useful for the control of this condition which was formerly almost invariably fatal. If the blood has degenerated so greatly as to bring about a serious condition, it is desirable to give one or several blood transfusions in order to bring him to a satisfactory state. It is, of course, necessary to provide rest until the red cells have increased above 4,000,000.

The step of major importance, however, is the taking of liver and of extracts of the liver or of the stomach wall, which have now been shown to be exceedingly valuable in controlling this disease. In addition to giving from one-fourth to one-half pound of cooked calve's or beef liver daily, or of lamb kidneys the patient also takes a considerable amount of iron-containing vegetables and fruits.

The general diet for such a patient includes about a quarter of pound of beef or mutton, a half pound of vegetables, from one-fourth to one-half pound of fruit, a small amount of fat in the form of butter and cream, an egg if desired, and at least a pint of milk. The patient should have from 2500 to 3000 calories. The necessary amount may be secured by giving dried bread, potatoes and cereal.

When a diet rich in liver is taken, many blood cells begin to form promptly, and it has been discovered that the blood contains a definite measure of new blood formation. Hence examinations of the blood may be made from four days to one week apart and by this method the physician is enabled to know whether or not the treatment is having the proper effect. There seems to be no doubt that the treatment of this form of anemia under modern methods is life saving in the majority of cases and certainly brings about a prolongation of life in every case.

"You've got to get out of that shop, Mrs. Rogers. You've got to ... at once! Fresh air, country life—"

"But doctor!" the woman protested, "I can't stop working!"

Dr. Williams snorted testily. "All right. Then I'm through with the case! I've told you what to expect if you keep on this way. Three months—a year—I won't answer for the consequences."

Margaret Rogers turned her head away.

After a moment's silence the physician went on more kindly:

"Your condition is serious. I don't know exactly yet how far the damage has gone, but I do know that collapse the other day was the first warning. Mrs. Rogers, you can't afford to let this go on. You have a fighting chance. Give up your work go home and rest a few days, then come back to see me next Wednesday."

Mrs. Rogers rose to go. She told the doctor she would "think things over" and see what she could do.

The physician nodded.

"Then I'll see you next week," he said. "Good afternoon."

Going down the hall and out into the bright street, Margaret's slight, black-clad seemed to have shrunk. She had outstayed her lunch time but the thought did not cross her mind. She walked through traffic without seeing pedestrains or vehicles. Automatically she entered Margot's dress shop and climbed the stairs to the fitting room.

Two women were sewing at a large table and athird was stitching on a machine. Margaret took the dress she was working on from a cupboard, laid it on another table and took up needle and thread.

The steady hum of the sewing machine was the only sound in the room.

It was a beautiful coral lace gown that Mrs. Rogers held before her. The silken mesh was fragile and must be touched with expert care.

It was a formal gown with full, graceful skirt and a bodice that was scarcely more than wisps of gossamer. The frock was youthful line and glowing color. Mrs. Rogers was adjusting a rippling flare of lace on the skirt.

* * *

Lenore, who made more sales than anyone else except Margot herself, entered the room.

"Who's working on that evening dress for Miss Spencer?" she asked. "The coral lace?"

"Here it is. I haven't got to the hem yet," Margaret answered.

"Well, you'd better baste it. Miss Spencer just telephoned. She wants to change her fitting from four o'clock to 2:45. Can you have it ready then? She's a good customer."

There was a consultation. Mrs. Mogers was a swift worker and she did most of the evening dresses because she had a knack with such fabrics. There was much to be done to the coral lace. The entire skirt had to be re-fitted. Margaret promised to work swiftly to get the garment to a stage where careful finishing could be done later. She said she would do her best to have the dress ready.

The price tag, clipped to the lining, caught her eye. The mark was was $135.

Margaret put the tag down. How many $135 dresses, she tought bitterly, would it take to pay for a year's rest in the country, doctor bills—

Her efforts that afternoon seemed clumsily ineffective. When at nearly three o'clock she was told Miss Spencer was waiting to try the dress, Margaret brought it, carrying a big cushionn of pins in the other hand.

"I'm sorry—I didn't quite finish," she said apologetically as she came into the daintly appointed dressing room with its huge mirrors.

A tall girl in green silks awaiting. She smiled good naturedly. This was Helen Spencer, as Mrs. Rogers knew. She had fitted many dresses for her before.

"They promised me the dress would be delivered Friday morning."

Rock County Purged of Wizards and Warrant Is Issued for Spiritualist

JANESVILLE, Wis., Oct. 9. (AP)—Rock county today was purged of wizards and a warrant was out for Herman Englehardt, Rockford, Ill., spiritualist, charged by modern Cotton Mathers with practicing medicine without a license.

A two-day John Doe hearing unearthed testimony that Englehardt frightened farmers into believing white haired Henry Dorn, 64, was a wizard who made cows run dry, caused crops to dwindle and brought all manner of misfortune to Leyden township.

Caused By Drouth

Assistant District Attorney Harry Fox agreed with "old Dorn" that the farming ills were caused by drouth and that witchcraft had nothing to do with it. The examiners also cleared William Kluzmyers of charges of having cast spells over hogs and cattle on the Fred Byers farm. That, the examiners said, also was the result of the spiritualistic stories.

"While we're issued a warrant," said Fox, "we hardly expect to extradite Englehardt from Illinois. As far as we're concerned, he can produce all the wizards he wishes if he keeps them out of this state."

"Old Dorn" said he had to leave the home of his sister, where he lived after Englehardt conducted a seance during which he accused the old farmer of bringing misfortune.

Funeral to Be Held Today for R-101 Victims

Ancient Walls of Westminister Hall Echo to Hammers of Carpenters Preparing Catafalque for Coffins

LONDON, Oct. 9. (AP)—Ancient walls and rafters of Westminster hall echoed today to the hammers of carpenters preparing the catafalque on which coffins of the 48 victims of the R-101 disaster will lie in state tomorrow.

The forty-eighth coffin, that containing the body of S. Church Riggeran who died yesterday at Beauvais, will be added to the 47 brought here aboard the airships Tempest and Tribune.

Sentinels To Stand

The coffins will be removed tonight from the mortuary chamber, where they have rested, to the hall and will be placed in double column down the center of the hall, each draped in a national flag and floral tributes ranged around it. Sentinels with reversed arms will stand silently around the catafalque while the public files past.

In view of the intense public sympathy and interest, it is expected that many thousands will enter the hall and that many others will be unable to gain entrance.

The vast grave in which the bodies are to be laid side by side in Cardington churchyard is within sight of the great hangar from which the R-101 went on its fateful voyage last Saturday evening. The coffins will not be lowered in accordance with usual custom, since the grave has a sloping side, down which they will be carried.

The bishop of Saint Albans will conduct the funeral service according to rites of the Church of England. Thereafter a Roman Catholic priest and Presbyterian pastor will read the services of their congregations over the bodies.

Saturday's funeral procession from Westminister hall to Euston station for entrainment of the coffins for Bedford will commence at 10 o'clock.

Speedy Trial Seen for Suit

Champlin Refinery Company Seeks to Enjoin Oklahoma Corporation Commission from Enforcing Oil Proration

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 9. (AP)—Speedy trial of the suit brought in federal court by the Champlin Refining company of Enid, seeking to enjoin the Oklahoma Corporation Commission from enforcing its oil proration orders against the company, was seen today when attorneys for the Champlin company announced they would let their original petition stand.

In denying an injunction to the Champlin company last week, a three-judge court gave the company's attorneys 30 days in which to file a supplemental petition, after which the state attorney general defending the case, would be given additional time to file an answer. The court promised then to try the case on its merit.

Validity Upheld

The oral opinion of Circuit Judge John H. Cotteral, concurred in by Judges Robert L. Williams and Franklin E. Kennamer, upheld the constitutionality of the state oil conservation statutes and the jurisdiction of the corporation commission to administer it. Judge Kennamer commented however, that it was his opinion the Champlin company, owning its own pipe lines and refinery, was entitled to individual consideration.

Meanwhile, the attack of other operators on proration probably will be followed through state departments before the federal court hears the case again. At the request of John Head, attorney for the C. C. Julian Oil and Royalties company, the corporation commission yesterday subponaed 14 oil operators including both proponents and opponents of proration, to appear tomorrow at the hearing on application for a proration order to cover the remainder of the year.

The supreme court still has before it the Julian companys' injunction case attacking the validity of the observation laws, having denied Head's motion to dismiss.

Kingsford-Smith Begins Hop Alone

HESTON, Eng., Oct. 9. (AP)—Wing Commander Charles Kingsford Smith, Australian airman who has flown both Pacific and Atlantic oceans, left the airdrome here today in a light plane on a lone trip to Australia.

The machine had been loaded with so much fuel it was estimated she will be able to fly 2,000 miles without making a stop.

The plane is a two-seater and in one cockpit a large extra gasoline supply was stored. With long hops the airman had confidence he would be able to better the present England-to-Australia record made by Bert Hinkler in approximately 15 days.

Kingsford Smith named his machine "Southern Cross Junior." On previous flights he has been accompanied by one or more birdmen this time he going it alone.

Adequate Aftercare for Children Now Victims of Infantile Paralysis Asked

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—A plea to parents for adequate aftercare of children now victims of infantile paralysis, was made today by Surgeon General Hugh S. Cumming of the public health service.

Remarking the recent spread of the disease, now numbering 648 cases—the highest peak since the disastrous year of 1927—the surgeon general asked nation-wide consideration of "the important work of rehabilitation which is necessary following every such outbreak."

No Royal Road

"There is no royal road to progress in the treatment of the serious aftermath of this disease," he said. "Intelligence, skill, care, perseverance, and courage are all required in the prevention of permanent deformalities."

Parents must share with physicians, he said, responsibility for the slow, painstaking process of restoring paralyzed muscles to normal by carefully directed exercises, orthopedic surgery and physiotherapy.

He warned careful watch must be kept from the very start, to prevent positions which stretch weakened muscles—toe drop, toeing out, or a sagging shoulder.

Sand bags in beds, and cradles to carry the weight of the bed clothes he mentioned as devices useful for this purpose.

Cautions Made

Training of the muscles should begin, he said, as soon as the patient's limbs can be moved freely, without pain. He cautioned that premature manipulations and illdirected exercises have often retarded recovery.

He gave the following rules for directing the exercise:

Assume that every muscle is capable of attaining the normal, since it is impossible to determine how many nerve cells actually have been destroyed, and the child should have the full benefit of the doubt.

"Protect seriously weakened muscles against cold, against too much exercise. Any exercise may be too much at first.

"Require the whole attention of the patient. The presence of other children should be absolutely prohibited and no toys should be allowed."

Heir to Fortune In Overalls

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 9. (AP)—Lee F. Phillips, Jr., heir to an oil fortune computed in the millions, is working in overalls asan attendant at a filling station here. He is the son of L. E. Phillips of Batlesville, Oklahoma, chairman of the executive committee of the Phillips Petroleum company and a member of the tenth district Federal Reserve Board.

Lee explains his employment by saying, "I don't know exactly but I suppose it's a good thing to know the attitude of buyers in the station."

Cheatham Denies Frameup Charges

HOUSTON, Oct. 9. (AP)—Prohibition Agent D. R. Cheatham, on trial in federal court on a state liquor charge in connection with the alleged framing of a liquor charge against the slain W. L. Edwards, flatly denied on the stand today the prosecution's entire hypothesis.

Especially did Cheatham deny the testimony of C. H. Smith, confessed bootlegger and self-styled participant in the "framing." The agent declared he never had promised Smith anything, never had asked Smith to join him in any conspiracy, had never planned such a conspiracy and that he had known Smith chiefly as a man under a liquor charge who vainly sought aid from him, Cheatham.

MAY BE IMMUNIZED

Infantile Paralysis Period of Immunity Claimed

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 9. (AP)—A possibility that children soon may be immunized against infantile paralysis was expressed here yesterday by Dr. Rex L. Dively of Kansas City, in an address before a session of the Kansas City Southwest Clinical society.

The speaker said experiments on monkeys, had proved that these animals could be immunized for a period of six months. Dr. Dively said, should this be established a six month immunization would carry a child through periods of epidemics.

WOULD BAN RESTRICTIONS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9. (AP)—Dr. William G. Morgan, president of the American Medical association, today said many prominent physicians in his organization were cooperating to build up sentiment favoring the removal by congress of all restrictions on the use of whiskey in medical practice.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

LOOK OUT MONKEY!

During the pre-med meeting Wednesday night a monkey, which was being exhibited by the club, got loose and strolled over the campus. Although a thorough search was made for him by pre-med members he was not found until yesterday when he was discovered in one of the small trees near the green house.

A sign in the Aggie building yesterday read: "Monkey found near green house this morning. Thought to be a pre-med freshman."

Students going to the Aggie-Home Ec party tonight will be given a chance to ride when two wagons, partly loaded with hay, will bring students to the affair. One wagon will go down 19th street, go to Avenue Q and return on 14th street. The other will go down 16th and return on Main street. These wagons will leave the Aggie buildings at 7 o'clock.

The affair tonight will be the annual Party given to the Home Ec girls. The party will begin at 8 o'clock at the stock pavilion near the main agricultural building. Aprons and overalls will be worn to the affair. Refreshments will be served.

JUDGE AT ST. LOUIS

Two freshmen, Ellis Henry and Clarence Young, both from Ralls and enrolled in the Liberal Arts school, left yesterday for St. Louis where they will attend the National Dairy Show held in that city. They will enter the judging contest there.

The two won the trip to St. Louis while living at Ralls. They are being excused from their classes in the college, and will be given a chance to make up their work lost on the trip. They will return to Lubbock about Oct. 16th or 17th.

DONATES TO AGG FUND

Thomas P. Chapman, 1929 graduate in the school of agriculture and whose home is in this city, has sent a donation to the Agg loan fund. The loan was unsolicited according to authorities of the Agg school.

ENGRAVED IN TEXAS

Last year's engraving for La Ventana, Tech annual, was done by the Service Engraving Co., of San Antonio, Texas, and the 1929 yearbook engraving was done by the Southwestern Engraving Co., of Fort Worth, Texas, according to Professor Rufus Arthur Mills, chairman of the Tech publication committee. The printing for these books, however, was done by the Economy Advertising Co., of Iowa City, Ia. The same company has the printing for the 1931 annual, while the Fort Worth Star-Telegram has the contract for the engraving and art work for the 1931 book.

It has been previously stated that the engraving of the 1929 and 1930 annuals was done by the Economy Engraving Co.

FAVOR CLASSIFICATION

During a recent meeting of the faculty in the main routine discussion, several of the faculty members made short talks on "Freshman English."

Dr. Alan L. Strout, member of the English department, spoke in favor of classifying the freshmen students in English in regard to their grades. In this plan, all good students would study in one section, the average student would be in a class to himself, poor English students would be in another class.

All forest fires burning in Wisconsin recently were man-caused and preventable, the state conservation department said.

CLEARING the Skin

TO ALL of you who are combating bumps and blotches, and longing for the clear color and fine texture of a healthy skin, this advice is directed.

The simplest and most generally useful of healing treatments consists of my Spotpruf Lotion and Spotpruf Cream used in combination. After you have cleansed your skin night and morning with Cleansing Cream, pat with Spotpruf Lotion. At night, pat a thin film of Spotpruf Cream on the affected areas.

For the oily skin with persistent eruptions, begin with an application of Anti-Brown Spot exactly according to directions.

Remove Anti-Brown Spot with Cleansing Cream and Tissues. Wipe thoroughly and gently. Press out surface gatherings. Pat on Acne Lotion. For daytime, powder directly over the Lotion; at night, follow with Healing Cream, which is left on. Given nightly, this treatment has successfully cleared many cases of acne.

There is not room to give more detailed instructions, but to any of you who are interested I will gladly send my booklet "The Quest of the Beautiful," describing my Preparations fully.

Navy Will Be Reduced with New Movement

Enlisted Personnel Will Be Reduced by 4,800 Men and 120,000 Tons of Ships for Efficiency, Economy

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9. (AP)—For greater efficiency and economy the navy will decommission shortly about 120,000 tons of ships now in service and will reduce its enlisted personnel by 4,800 men.

The fleet and base shake-up initiated by Admiral William V. Pratt, who has just become chief of operations, will detatch all battleships from the scouting fleet on the Atlantic, reduce the number of destroyers in each division from six to four, create a training squadron of two battleships and eight destroyers, concentrate all minelayers and sweepers in one force, cut the number of submarines by 25, redistribute the air force and dispose of numerous miscellaneous auxiliary craft.

Asiatic Fleet Unchanged

Most of the changes will be placed in effect during the winter maneuver off Panama. Only the Asiatic fleet, operating in China and the Philippines will be unchanged.

For the fiscal year ending next June a saving of $3,440,000 is calculated and for the following year $7,758,949. The personnel reduction is to be accomplished by cutting enlistment from 400 to 200 monthly, beginning in November. The navy already has less than the 84,500 men it is allowed.

The destroyer reduction, involving the layup of sixteen of these ships will be primarily, Admiral Pratt said, to reduce as much as possible the tremendous destroyer replacement program with which the navy shortly will be faced. The destroyers in the fleet are becoming old and most would have to be replaced almost all at once unless some were saved by being maintained idle. Many destroyers already are tied up waiting to replace those in service as they wear out.

Will Meet Limits

The submarine curtailment will bring the fleet within London treaty limits in that class, as far as commissioned tonnage is concerned. Nine R-type ships will be kept at New London, Connecticut, the V-type submarines will remain with the battle fleet on the Pacific and the S-type boats will be stationed at Coco Solo, Canal Zone, and Pearl Harbor, Hiwaii. Fifty-one submarines of these three types will remain in service. All O-type vessels will be disposed of and five of the S-type, but eleven K-class boats will be preserved for possible future use.

The training squadron, designed to take from the scouting fleet the burden of training midshipmen and reserve corps organizations also will attend celebrations at various cities, leaving the fleet free to devote all its time to battle training. The battleships Arkansas and Wyoming will lead the training squadron, carrying crews of only 463 each, while their eight destroyers will be manned by 50 each. The squadron will operate on the Atlantic.

At the various naval bases numerous Eagle boats, submarine chasers, tugs, lighters and minor craft are to be laid up, while auxiliary craft with the fleet will be reassigned and reduced.

Jury Dismissed in Buddy Porter Case

Jury in the case of Buddy Porter, being tried in liquor law violation charges in Ninety-ninth district court, was dismissed Thursday morning by Judge Clark M. Mullican after it had failed to reach a verdict.

Although division of the jurors was 7 to 5, it was not learned whether the majority desired conviction or acquittal.

Continuance Asked

Motions for continuances were made in the cases of Hugh Walker and A. H. Beasley, charged with violation of the prohibition law, because of sickness of one of the defendants and of witnesses.

The case of Burton Houston, charged with burglary in connection with the Tumble-N safe robbery, was passed over because of an absent witness. Lindsey Ford several days ago was convicted of burglary in connection with the Tumble-N robbery and sentenced to two years in the state penitentiary.

Val Tudor, who was tried Wednesday on a charge of disposing of mortgaged property, was found not guilty in an instructed verdict.

said Helen Spencer.

"Oh, it will be ready on time! I'm going to pin the part I didn't get basted so you can see exactly how it will look. We'll have it out for you Friday all right."

She slipped the bright lace over the girl's shoulders and carefully eased the folds into place. Helen Spencer considered her reflection in the mirror with satisfaction.

"I'm crazy about this color," she said musingly.

"Beautiful" Margaret Rogers agreed. Then, with the instinct of her trade, she added, "And so becoming!"

"Do you really think so?"

"Indeed I do. You've got the complexion for it."

To hundreds and hundreds of customers Margaret Rogers had said that, "You've got the complexion for it." The thought seemed to flatter womanhood from 17 to 70. A customer who had just received a compliment stood more patiently and was less inclined to be querulous. Margaret Rogers had learned that trick long ago.

"Now if you'll just turn to the left, please—"

Down on her knees Margaret worked swiftly, placing pins in the silken folds. She smoothed, patted, readjusted and then stood back admiringly.

"It's perfect, Miss Spencer," she said. "Just perfect!"

The girl in the flaming sheath of lace studied the mirror.

"Yes," she said finally. "I think it is. I like the way that frill goes and it does make me look divinely slim. I believe I like this better than the blue or white one."

The blue and the white were two other evening gowns which Helen Spencer had bought the week before. They had been altered slightly and delivered without the need of the fitting.

"I can finish it up now the way I've pinned it," Mrs. Rogers said. "You won't need to come in again."

"I know what I'm going to do!" Helen Spencer decided. "I'm going to wear this the first night on ship board."

"Oh, you're making an ocean trip?"

"Next week. Didn't you know? They had my picture in the paper yesterday. Mother and I are to be gone for three months and I'm so excited. You see, I finished high school last month and it's graduation present. I'm so thrilled! Just think of all the grand looking men I'm going to meet. I'm sure European men must be thrilling. Maybe I'll come back engaged—or married!"

Mrs. Rogers smiled.

"What school did you go to?"

"Western. Father thinks I ought to be home to start college this fall but I'm not very much interested in school. I think it would be lots more fun to get married."

The girl talked on but Margaret Rogers was now working mechanically. She did not mention the fact that her own daughter was just graduated from Western.

"That's all, Miss Spencer, thank you. I'll see that the dress reaches you on time. And I hope you have a lovely trip."

"Oh, thank you!"

Margaret picked up the coral frock and went back to the sewing room. She had to go slowly, holding to the wall. She was horribly afraid another attack of weakness was coming on.

She put the dress down, went to the open window and leaned against it. Her fingers gripped the sill.

"You must not! You must not!" Margaret told herself determinedly. She closed her eyes and the cool breeze touched her forehead. It was refreshing. She tried to breathe deeply and when she opened her eyes again the room was not reeling crazily but was steady.

Margaret went to the cooler and drew herself a glass of ice water. She drank it and returned to her place at the table.

A woman across the room watched her uncertainly.

"You don't look like you felt well, Margaret. Is there anything I can get for you? Maybe you'd better go in and lie down."

Mrs. Rogers shook her head. "I'm all right," she insisted. "Nothing's the matter."

"When is it Celia starts to work?" her neighbor at the next table asked.

"Not until a week from Monday." "Well, she's a fine girl," the other said. "I hope she's got a nice job!"

"Yes—I hope so," Mrs. Rogers agreed.

Tillie Dennison had worked in the fitting room longer than either of the other four. She was unmarried, outspoken, generally referred to as "an old maid." Tillie cared nothing for tact. Now she spoke up.

"Well, I've been meaning to say it for a long time and now I'm going to, Margaret," she said. "I think it's a pity. If there's anything I hate to see it's a sweet young girl getting into the rut of working downtown day after day. Wearing out their prettiness and their nerves when they ought to be getting married and raising families—"

"Tillie, don't talk like that!" It was the women beside Miss Dennison who had interrputed her.

"I don't care. I mean it. Why, Margaret, suppose anything would happen to you? Who'd look after Celia?"

Margaret Rogers eyed the wall before her blankly.

"I don't know," she answered. "I don't know!" Then she bent her head to hide the fright that was in her eyes.

The others turned on Tillie Dennison indignantly. They said she had no right to say such things, that girl's who worked in offices met lots of nice young men and plenty of them married. They defended Margaret, privately worrying at the same time.

There was still much to be done on the coral dress when it was hung away for the night. Mrs. Rogers was the last to leave the work room.

Celia had the evening meal ready when her mother arrived at the apartment. She thought that her mother looked tired. Margaret Rogers insisted she was not.

"It's just the heat," she explained. Later Barney came to take Celia for a drive.

"Yes," Mrs. Rogers nodded, "you young folks go alone. I'm going to read the newspaper.

But after they had gone she did not read. She got out paper and pen and ink. For a long time she stared at the blank sheet. Tillie Dennison's words rang in her ears: "Suppose something would happen—"

Margaret Rogers began to write rapidly.

BANK ROBBERS FLEE

Bandits Escape with Loot of $2,500 in Louisiana

CONVERSE, La., Oct. 9. (AP)—Three men today robbed the bank of Converse of between $2,500 and $3,000 in cash, after having forced Cashier R. D. Darnell and his wife into the bank's vault.

There were no customers in the bank at the time. The cashier and his wife were taken by surprise when confronted by the holdup men, armed with pistols. They were in the vault only a short time as the bandits failed in their efforts to lock the combination. The robbers left in an automobile.
