Sunken M-2 Rolls At Bottom Of English Channel While Frantic Rescue Crews Fight Turbulent Seas

Scene Is Shifted

Great Patch Of Oil Is Found On Ocean By Destroyer And Obstruction Also Discovered In Channel Depths

(By The Associated Press)

PORTLAND, Eng., Jan. 28. — The sunken submarine M-2 holding three score men within her steel hulk still rolled at the bottom of the English channel tonight and the British admiralty announced possibility of saving any lives was "almost beyond hope."

Desperate efforts were being made, nevertheless, to reach an object 18 fathoms below the surface off Portsmouth which naval officials believed might be the ill fated craft.

Signals Are Heard

The battle against choppy seas and swirling tides was spurred on by reception of "sub-surface signals" on the hydrophone of the destroyer Thruster and by a great patch of oil discovered by the destroyer Sabre.

The official estimate of from 48 to 56 hours in which the crew could remain alive expired about 6:30 tonight, but with exceptionally favorable circumstances it was believed they might have a few hours more.

Vessels Gather About

A number of vessels clustered around the site of the newest discovery and four great lifting cylinders were towed out from Portland in case the submersible was located.

Three divers were sent down during the afternoon and early evening. One failed to reach bottom, but the others succeeded only to be swept off their feet by a strong tidal current. The water was jerky and they could see only a few feet in front of them. Other divers were ready to take their places.

The discovery of the obstruction about which efforts were centered came as a consequence of information to the admiralty. The master of the coastal vessel Tynesider was

Police Probe Kidnap Story

Lack Of Cooperation On Part Of Woolverton Family Draws Officers' Ire; Grand Jury May Get Case

(By The Associated Press)

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Jan. 28. — Ignoring the desire of Howard A. Woolverton, South Bend business man, that there be no further inquiry made into his story of being kidnaped and of his sudden return, city and county authorities tonight pressed separate investigations.

Adding to the complexity of the inquiry was a statement by Otto Bartels, conductor of the south shore interurban on which Woolverton said he returned to South Bend last night. Bartels told a South Bend newspaper he did not remember any person corresponding to photographs of Woolverton having entered the car at Michigan City.

Samuel P. Schwartz, St. Joseph county prosecuting attorney, said he would question and, if facts warranted, would place the matter before the grand jury Monday. Police Chief John B. Juespert, smarting over what he termed the lack of cooperation of the Woolverton family with his department, said the fact the man had returned home late last night unharmed and reporting he had not paid any of the $50,000 ransom demanded, would not halt his investigation.

Il Duce Opposes Slender Figures

(By The Associated Press)

ROME, Jan. 28.—Premier Mussolini has called on Italy's physicians to discourage women's desire for a thin figure as weakening the race. His criticism of the extremely slender feminine silhouette called it a harmful "prejudice of fashion."

He proposed that each Italian eat two pounds more of rice a year, thus helping to solve the rice production problem.

"Another fallacy," he said, "is that maternity diminishes womanly beauty, while precisely the reverse is true, as you all can testify. The result is the birth rate is diminishing in Italy."

Mistrial Now Is Looming In Trunk Slaying

Ruth Judd Makes Very Morose Appearance In Court; Case May Be Halted By Illness Of Several Jurors

(By The Associated Press)

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 28.—Winnie Ruth Judd, accused "trunk murderess," made a morose court appearance today and saw the legal battle for her life teeter on the brink of mistrial because of illness of three jurors.

Superior Judge Howard C. Speakman convened his court briefly to consider the situation, then ordered a recess until tomorrow morning. He hopes tomorrow to be able to determine whether the two least ill of the jurors will be able to carry on.

Sulks Obviously

Mrs. Judd sulked obviously when she entered the court, and declared she was running "a temperature" because Sheriff J. R. McFadden would not call a hairdresser to her cell.

The jail matron said she slept soundly last night, displayed her usual "good appetite" for breakfast and lunch, but flew into a tantrum when she was not allowed professional aid in obtaining a blonde rinse and a new wave for her hair.

Today her short tresses were several shades darker than at her first court appearance ten days ago. She had her bobbed locks waved and their color lightened just before she went on trial.

To Dismiss Juror

Juror M. T. White, who walked shakily from the box yesterday threatened with influenza, will be dismissed, the court said, if physicians' reports indicate the other two who have fallen victims to colds, Joseph L. Standage and P. J. Lassen, are physically able to proceed.

Dismissal of White would leave the jury without an alternate, and

Federation Asks A Federal Probe

DALLAS, Jan. 28. (AP)—The Texas Farm Bureau federation today adopted a resolution calling for a congressional investigation of the private cotton and grain trade and exchanges as well as the federal farm board and the agricultural cooperatives.

"We demand that the private cotton and grain trade submit to a complete investigation and show their comparative operating costs, salaries and services, as they are asking of the cooperatives so that the public may have all the facts and obtain a clear picture," the resolution said.

The federation also adopted resolutions calling on Texas members of congress to support strengthening amendments to the agricultural marketing act. The farm board, the act and the cooperatives were indorsed.

Cone Johnson Asks Federal Aid In Road Construction

AUSTIN, Jan. 28. (AP) — Cone Johnson, member of the Texas highway commission, today wired Jesse Jones, member of the federal reconstruction finance board, to determine if bonds for highways construction will be available for loans or discount with the reconstruction bank.

He told Jones that some twelve to fifteen millions in county and road district bonds in Texas, some sold and others held by counties for aid in highway construction not yet contracted, are "largely frozen" and that unless relief is afforded highway construction work in Texas must, of necessity be cut short by several million dollars.

Lifting Of Military Rule In Oil Field Is Forecast

Meeting Is Called Of Operators On February 12

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Jan. 28.—Machinery incident to supplanting military rule of the East Texas oil field with civil authority was set in motion here today.

The Texas railroad commission, normal time administrator of state conservation laws, called a meeting of operators in the area for February 12, having in mind issuance of an order to regulate the approximately 4,000 wells drawing from the big pool.

The hearing will be preparatory to complying with Texas statutes in assuming jurisdiction over the field when Governor R. S. Sterling lifts martial law.

Sterling Asks Action

Governor Sterling had urged the commission to call the hearing so that it would be prepared to function when he decided to turn the responsibility back to it or in event legal action forced him to abandon his position as supreme administrator through his power as commander in chief of the state militia.

The governor's authority in sending troops to East Texas last August 17 and his subsequent order of Oct. 13 taking regulation of the field completely from hands of the railroad commissioners has been attacked in United States district court.

Certain operators in the field sought to prove in court that the governor did not act to suppress "riot and insurrection," a cause sanctioned by the state constitution for military interference, in occupying the East Texas area, comprising the counties of Rusk, Gregg, Smith and Upshur.

The allowable of the field now is

Senate Favor Granted Trio

Dawes, Jones And Couch Given Vote Of Approval As Hoover Selections; Parties Unite On Budget Problem

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Out of the many words spoken on capitol hill today, there came approval by the senate of three of the men who will direct effort of the reconstruction corporation to enliven business. The senate gave its approval to the appointment of Charles Gates Dawes, Chicago, Jesse H. Jones, of Texas and Harvey C. Couch of Arkansas, while the house was discussing a variety of subjects under the very general caption of general debate on the interior supply bill.

The day saw separate agreements by Republicans and Democrats that they would unite in working out a non-partisan measure to balance the budget and that the tax increases it would carry would not be retroactive.

Two other less spectacular actions came in the house and the senate. Both completed action on the first of the annual supply bills, the $126,250,000 deficiency appropriation measure, and sent it to the White House.

Truck Law Injunction Given In Panhandle District Court

AMARILLO, Jan. 28. (AP)—An injunction to restrain enforcement of the state law of 7,000 pounds maximum truck loads was granted by District Judge E. J. Pickens in the 84th district court at Panhandle tonight in favor of the Universal Oil company with offices here. It is said to be the first restraining order of its kind in the Texas Panhandle, and notices served on peace officers of the state, including Attorney General James V. Allred and L. G. Phares, chief of the highway patrol, were made returnable at Panhandle on July 25.

Linda Watkins May Retire To Role Of Wife

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Jan. 28. — Linda Watkins, a "sob sister" of the motion picture screen was married here today and she gave her newspaper sisters-by-proxy a "break."

The 23-year-old blonde, who stepped from the New York stage into a starring role as a newspaper reporter in "Sob Sister," her first picture, yielded gracefully when reporters found her wedding rendezvous in a down town hotel. She posed for photographers with her husband, Gabriel L. Hess of New York and answered questions as to her future plans.

Miss Watkins said she did not know whether she would return to the films which she renounced last week after severing her contract with Fox company.

Hunter Case Now In Hands Of Jury

ANSON, Jan. 28. (AP)—The case of Cecil Hunter, on trial the second time for the slaying of Ralph Shirley at Stamford last July, was placed in the hands of the jury in district court here at 9 o'clock tonight, following a night session to complete arguments. The body retired for the night without reporting.

Shirley, a Stamford filling station operator, died of a single-tree blow on the head, received at the home of J. B. (Red) Fare. Hunter, a Jones county farmer, testified he struck Shirley as the latter was advancing to attack him, following a controversy in the Fare home.

The case resulted in a mistrial in 104th district court here last fall. The jury being unable to agree.

AUSTIN, Jan. 28. (AP)— H. Walker, state land commissioner, testified today in the state's suit to test title to 2,468 acres of West Texas oil land that most of the sections involved in the dispute over a vacancy had received more than their allotted acreage. Walker stated the average of the sections was 670 instead of the usual 640.

His testimony was aimed at refuting defense contentions that the sections did not receive their full acreage quotas when originally surveyed. The state hoped to complete its direct testimony tomorrow.

County Poor House Will Be Constructed In City

Commissioners Vote For Project On Thursday

BY A VOTE of two to three, the Lubbock county commissioners Thursday authorized construction of a county poor house here. Commissioners Claude A. Burrus of precinct 1 and W. L. Brashear of No. 3, for the construction, were opposed by votes of L. C. (Claude) Denton of No. 4 and J. T. Pinkston of No. 2, County Judge E. L. Pitts, for the project, broke the tie.

No plans have been prepared for the structure, but it is understood that the improvement will represent an expenditure of about $6,000. On motion of Commissioner Pinkston Commissioners Burrus and Brashear and Judge Pitts were named to secure plans.

Money In Pauper's Fund

The home will be erected with money from the pauper's fund, which Auditor J. Y. Boyd yesterday said approximated $8,950. A two acre tract of land in northeast Lubbock, purchased about two years ago for the home, will be the site.

County Judge Pitts explained that the money in the fund could be used for no other purpose and that its use to build the poor house would not increase the county taxes. About $250 per month is being expended now by the county for room and board of inmates of the poor house, said Miss Evelyn Richter.

Earlier this week, Commissioner Denton was named to select possible houses for the county to rent for a poor home, but the buildings represented at yesterday's session did not meet approval of the group.

Unemployed Will Now Be Protected

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 28. (AP) — Wisconsin today served notice on its industries that workmen receiving less than $1,500 annually must be protected against unemployment.

Governor Phillip F. La Follette signed the unemployment insurance law, making the Badger state the first to put such legislation into effect.

The law requires industries to set up reserves to insure against idleness those workmen earning less than $1,500 a year. The sponsor of the law, Assemblyman Harold Groves, University of Wisconsin economics professor, felt that persons earning more are more able to guard themselves against unemployment.

Jones was then taken down the Corsicana highway and tied with barbed wire to a fence. His cries for aid were heard by a farmer.

Four American Ships Ordered As Protection

Will Join Seven Other Boats On Yangtse River North Of Shanghai; State Department Assent Is Given

May Enter Harbor

Should Danger Threaten For American Citizens In City Gunboats Will Be Ordered To Halt At Shanghai

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. — Four American warships were directed from Manila tonight toward the strife-stricken Chinese coast, prepared for any eventualities in which their sturdiness might be needed to protect this country's citizens and interests.

Their announced orders were to join the seven American gunboats patrolling the Yangtse river, many miles north of Shanghai where Japanese and Chinese forces have plunged into combat.

May Halt At Shanghai

But should danger engulf Americans in the barricaded international settlement at the seaport, Admiral Montgomery M. Taylor — in command of the Asiatic squadron at Manila—is free to command that the four destroyers put in at Shanghai. He ordered them to the far east at the request of Rear Admiral Y. S. Williams, head of the Yangtse patrol.

What prompted the Williams request has not been made known.

State department assent was given before the orders were delivered. Officials there interpreted the move as one in anticipation of interior repercussions from the Shanghai conflict.

To Keep Contact

En route, officers of the destroyers leaving Manila will contact by wireless with Admiral Williams, aboard his flagship, the Luzon, in the Yangtse, for instructions as to what stations to take up along that river. It has long been infested by bandits.

Admiral Taylor himself apparently will remain at his post in Manila. Whether he is under specific instructions to retain that vantage post in the turbulent far eastern theatre is unknown.

Proposal To Allow Four Per Cent Beer Is Attacked By Two Witnesses Before Senate Subcommittee

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. — Opponents of proposed legislation to legalize four per cent beer today began the presentation of their case before a senate manufacturers subcommittee.

Louis J. Tabor of Columbus, Ohio, president of the National Grange, said that "to say we can have beer and the eighteenth amendment at the same time" is "preposterous."

Fosters Bootlegging

"Modification to allow beer and wine does not eliminate bootlegging, but fosters it," said Mrs. Arthur C. Watkins, of Washington, secretary of the education division of the national congress of parents and teachers.

She said that "agitation about bringing back booze" has served to increase drinking.

Referring to applause from spectators, Taber said "it's so new to me to find women on the other side that it startles me, it paralyzes me."

Huey Long Is To Be Favorite Son

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 28. (AP) — Huey P. Long is hurrying back to Louisiana tonight in the midst of political turmoil created by his surrender of the governor's mantle for a senator's toga.

Deadly Bombs Dropped Upon Stricken City

Japanese Invaders And Chinese Defenders Fight Bitterly; International Settlement Is Being Threatened

Battle Alternates

Formidable Japanese Fleet In Harbor Ready For Action As Other Ships Are Anchored In Striking Distance

(By The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Jan. 28. (Friday) Chinese troops broke into the international settlement today, threatening its security, but were driven out by British defense troops.

The Chinese broke through the defense lines around the foreign settlement from outside the western residential section. After a short skirmish with British troops manning the lines, the intruders were driven out.

(By The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Jan. 29. (Friday) — Japanese invaders and Chinese defenders fought bitterly today for the mastery of Shanghai.

Above them five Japanese planes whirred, dropping deadly bombs on the native Chapei district. Fire tore through the warren-like slums.

The Japanese occupation, begun at midnight, led to the most menacing situation since the seizure of Mukden by Japanese soldiers last November set the spark to a new conflict between the Oriental powers.

Troops Stand By

In the international settlement, where the greatest anxiety prevails, troops of three nations and volunteers, stood by for defense. The American consul general, Edwin S. Cunningham, expressed indignation at the Japanese attack.

He said Japanese Consul General Murai had assured the foreign consul that Japanese did not plan to use force, at least until after today. Wu Teh-Chen, Chinese mayor, protested to Consul General Murai that the resort to force was "unwarranted and illegal" inasmuch as the Chinese had made acceptable replies to demands for an end to anti-Japanese activities.

Recapture Station

The battle alternated. The Chinese, forced from the important Nanking railway station soon after Japanese marines occupied the city at midnight, recaptured it eight hours later as its Nipponese defenders were diminished by calls for reinforcements to other sections of the native city.

Shortly afterwards the Chinese military headquarters fell to the Japanese marines.

The Japanese early in the day extended their way across the Whangpo river to Pootung, where Japanese cotton mills were declared to be in danger, and there was every indication they would continue to advance into Chinese territory.

A formidable fleet of twenty-four Japanese warships lay in the har-

Texas Leading With Visitors

Slightly More Than One-Half Of Visitors To Carlsbad In 1931 From Texas; New Mexico Comes In Second

CARLSBAD, N. M., Jan. 28. (Special)—Slightly more than one half of the 80,144 persons who went through the Carlsbad Caverns here in 1931 were from Texas, the report of Colonel Thomas L. Boles, superintendent of Carlsbad Caverns National Park, just issued, shows. There were 40,345 Texans who went through the caverns last year.

At the same time the number from the Lone Star state was 11,045 fewer than in 1930 when 51,390 people from that state were here. The loss is 21 per cent for the state. In fact, had as many Texans made the trip in 1931 as in 1930 there would have been less than 300 fewer than the total for the year before.

Fifteen Show Losses

Fifteen states showed losses for 1931 as compared with 1930, while one state, Maryland, had the same. States decreasing in visitors were: Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, New Hampshire, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, South Dakota, Texas, Vermont, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

Foreign countries and territories increased their visitors from 449 to 621.

New Mexico visitors were 25 per cent fewer than they were in 1930. Last year there were 9,365 registered from the home state of the caverns and the year before 12,573.

New Mexico Second

Annual statement shows New Mexico followed Texas with the largest number, with Oklahoma third. California, home of much natural scenery, ranked fourth; Colorado, another scenic state, fifth; Kansas sixth; Illinois, seventh; Missouri, eighth and Arizona, ninth. All of these states had more than 1,000 visitors here.

By states, the yearly visitors were:

Musical March To Health

Demonstrating for the first time since her arrival in the United States the manner in which she achieves her perfect health and physique, Miss Edit Mezey, famous Hungarian physical culture expert, is shown going through her repertoire of calesthenics at New York. Miss Mezey declares that five minutes each day of systematic exercise will keep one normally fit all year round. In order to make her stunts rythmical, the eye-pleasing young woman does her "one-two-threes" to the music of a phonograph.

Minnesota Budget Commissioner Has Habit Of Practicing Her Budgeting

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 28. (AP)—Mrs. Jean Wittich practices at home what she preaches at the office—more and better budgets.

It's easy for Minnesota's first state woman budget commissioner to keep household expense books because she apportioned $29,000,000 in state funds the last six months and because budgetnig was—and still is—her hobby.

But the hobby, started as recreation when her husband's professional duties (he is a physician) left her alone frequently, has turned into a job; a good paying one. She is one of the few if not the only state woman budget chief in the United States.

She chuckled, her dark eyes glistening as she recalled her appointment by Gov. Floyd B. Olson more than a year ago.

"I was scared to death when I realized the tremendous responsibility, but I'm not a bit now. My background helped me immensely. And I get such great cooperation from department heads. They are so eager to help."

She is that way herself; eager, enthusiastic. She went on a "food budget" in the same spirit and the diet cut down her weight. "I used to be quite a bit heavier," she confessed.

"It takes a tremendous shove to put things through but I get a big kick out of it," she explained.

She has definite ideas on finance in government, too.

"I believe if public finances could be put on a business basis, we would solve our biggest governmental problem. Government affairs have not been managed."

Her "background" began as a mathematics teacher in her home town, Hazelton, Pa. Then followed marriage and the beginning of her hobby that has made her an authority on finance and taxation.

Amherst Farmer Has A Good Average Yield From Tract

(By Staff Correspondent)

AMHERST, Jan. 28. — B. J. McGee, who owns 107 acres of land on the north side of the Santa Fe next to the highway leading from No. 7 to Amherst, has one of the best average cotton yields of any in the county, according to D. A. Adam, county agent.

From a 107 acre tract of land, Mr. McGee has raised 68 bales of cotton and 30 tons of feed. The cotton is 82 acres in extent and the feed 25 acres.

"I think there is about another bale of cotton there," Mr. Adam said. "He terraced the land. The yield is a little better than four-fifths of a bale to the acre."

DICKENS, Jan. 28.—Dickens county does not qualify as a "Reno" where divorce actions are popular, Robert Reynolds, county clerk, said.

Records of the county clerk's office for the past year show that 47 marriage licenses were issued.

At the same time there were 12 divorce actions filed in district court.

FARM INCOME DROPS

Seven Marriage Licenses Issued In Bailey County

MULESHOE, Jan. 28.—Seven marriage licenses were issued in Bailey county the past year, J. L. Alsup, county clerk, said.

During the same time, six divorce applications were filed. Of these, four were granted at hearings in the 64th district court by Judge Charles Clements of Plainview; one was continued to the May, 1932 term and another non-suited.

"Not a one of these parties was married in Bailey county," Mr. Alsup explained.

Commander Harold Saunders Is Of Opinion That Members Of Crew Of Submarine Will Not Be Found Alive

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. (AP)—The man who directed salvage work when the U. S. submarine S-4 sank with a loss of 40 lives, shook his head sadly today over prospects for the crew of the British M-2.

"If the men are going to get out at all," said Commander Harold E. Saunders, 'they should have been able to come to the surface with their safety devices by this time And if the crew had been able to make repairs and raise the boat, it should have been up by this time."

It was in December, 1927, off Provincetown, Mass., that the S-4 tragedy occurred. Now Saunders is on construction duty at the Washington navy yard. He knows about as much on submarines as anyone in the navy.

"Any number of things could have happened," he went on. "Perhaps when the M-2 dove it struck bottom so hard it was damaged, or maybe it encountered a submerged wreck that might have ripped a hole in her."

In any case he could not conceive that some of the crew could not have been able to escape with their safety devices.

"Perhaps some of them did," he ventured. "Probably a few came to the surface at night, floundering in icy cold water and there were no ships to rescue them."

He paused a minute.

"Believe me, I wouldn't want to come up in the English channel in January weather."

The chance he conceded the M-2 men was a dreadfully slim one.

Business Affairs Are Scrutinized

BELVIDERE, Ill., Jan. 28. (AP)—The business affairs of "King Midas" are under investigation again, the state's attorney's office revealed.

The "king" is Alfred W. Benham, who won this nickname as well as "Fifty Per Cent Al," because his business reputedly paid that much interest. That was about a year ago.

Subsequently 14 indictments were returned, charging for the most part operation of a confidence game and Benham announced he was retiring from the business world. He said he dealt in bankrupt stocks and bankers complained his high rates of interest paid investors caused the withdrawal of approximately $310,000 from local banks.

The investigators from the state's attorney's office said his latest project has to do with notes, sold for $199 and repurchased for $120 at the end of 30 days.

A complaint from the Rockford Ill., Chamber of Commerce prompted the present inquiry, they added.

Cotton Ginnings Greater For 1931 Than For 1930

Cotton ginning in Lubbock county from the 1931 crop virtually was 100 per cent greater than from the 1930 crop, a department of commerce report, issued by C. M. Oakley, special agent, reported.

Tabulation of the number of bales ginned in the county for the 1931 crop to Jan. 16, 1932, was 67,346 bales as compared to 33,328 to the same period of last year. Round bales were counted as half bales in the estimate, Oakley explained.

The average American schoolboy of today receives two more years of school than the boy of 1914.

"NECESSITY IS THE—

NECESSITY is the mother of invention, we suppose. These inventions that women displayed recently in Chicago at the Tenth Exposition of Women's Art and Industries indicates all this. For, in addition to those inventions which are in the field of industry, the women displayed things that had been fashioned to meet needs in the home.

A former ladies' maid demonstrated an iron that will work in an upside position as well as the usual upright one. It will press seams on heavy fabrics, press a sleeve from the inside, press tied bows, shoulder seams and all kinds of delicate fabrics such as beaded and embroidered articles. A woman showed a luminaire" that she had been inspired to build after her attention was constantly called to uneven lighting in a room. A woman invented a little "pat" to relieve that pressure shoes make on the instep. Women had fashioned an electric fan shield, a device for teaching children to tell time, a new ice cream freezer, a cooking utensil that will steam four vegetables at once without blending flavors and then fold up to go in a drawer.

The women exhibited a device for turning matresses—the inventor probably had as hard a time at it as I have—a crib gown that will keep a child in bed and allow him to turn over, a rapid spinach rinser and an under-bed wardrobe for small apartments with compartments for every variety of wearing apparel.

The wonder to me is that women don't invent more things than they do. We struggle along with a lot of handicaps in everyday work in spite of all the help that inventors have been to us.

Today's Poem

Mary had a little job
Juggling the boss's figures
She scrambled them, Oh, very bad.
The memory of Mary lingers.

FOR 1933

YOUR summer vacation for 1933 can include a trip to Chicago if you are interested in women and in what women are doing. It should be an instructive thing to go there during the Chicago Century of Progress Exposition for an international congress of women is to be held during the summer and each country is being petitioned to send its outstanding women to appear there.

For those of us who are enjoying the benefits of a century of progress among women, the visit should hold a double interest.

The character of an exhibit to be fostered by plans to utilize 2,400 feet of floor space for a visual demonstration of what organized groups of women have done in the past century to further cultural, educational and social development in the United States. A permanent record is to be prepared in the form of a book to be written by a foremost woman author of America and nation-wide research will be conducted in preparing material for this volume under the direction of Dr. Kathryn McHale, secretary of the American Association of University Women. The third project is the international congress of women.

That exhibit is a thing to see and the congress is something to attend because each will have a lot to offer. It is during the last century that women have begun to discover "careers" outside the home. It has been during the last century that nations started recognizing their great women. So that those who come to Chicago at that time will be pioneers.

A lot of people who blindly insist that organized women can bode nothing good should prepare to make that trip up to Chicago. Somehow I have a feeling that the worst skeptic will be converted.

New Establishment Embodies Latest In Restaurant Features And Equipment; Mr. Puckett Pioneer Here

Embodying the latest in restaurant features and equipment, a new cafe is being opened at 1116 Broadway today by J. H. Puckett, pioneer cafe man of Lubbock. The new establishment is to be known as Blondie's Cafe, the name of a smaller eating place formerly operated by Mr. Puckett at 905 Broadway. The latter place was closed Thursday.

The new unit will be one of the most modern on the South Plains and will offer a seating capacity of 85 persons. Tables for parties, private booths and a banquet hall are also provided. The interior of the new house is attractively decorated and the walls are hung with hand-painted pictures.

Mr. Puckett, an experienced cafe man, will be actively in charge of the business. He has been engaged in the business here and in other cities since 1907.

A force of fourteen persons will be employed in the new establishment, Mr. Puckett said.

Slaton Planning For A New Bank

SLATON, Jan. 28. (Special.)—Slaton business men Thursday were at work on plans to reorganize their two closed banks into one strong financial institution.

The First State bank, oldest of two financial institutions doing business in Slaton over a period of recent years, did not open its doors Thursday. A sign prominently posted read: "Closed and in the hands of Examiner for the protection of depositors." The Slaton State bank suspended operations Sept. 21, 1931.

The First State's January statement showed deposits of approximately $75,000. Mayor T. M. George said today. The Mayor also reported that re-organization plans were well under way. John Brewer was president of the First State and R. J. Murray of the Slaton State.

Condition Of Burn Victim Remains Serious In City

Condition of E. B. Dickson, 25, who was burned in an explosion and fire near Tatum, N. M., nearly two weeks ago, remained critical at West Texas hospital Thursday night. Dickson was admitted at the hospital yesterday, and his wife and two small children, slightly injured in the fire, are here.

Mr. Dickson was burned severely over virtually the entire body, except for a part of the lower legs, attendants said. Bynum-Morgan ambulance took the four to Lubbock from a Tatum tourist camp, to which they had been moved following a blaze which destroyed their farm home, four and a half miles northwest of Tatum.

Roy S. Watts, mechanical superintendent of the Avalanche-Journal, spoke at the Kiwanis club luncheon Thursday at Hotel Lubbock in observance of the anniversary of the bringing of the first printing press to America. C. W. Ratliff was in charge of the program.

Mr. Watts gave a brief outline of the history of printing and told of the various improvements made in the profession since its origination. He paid tribute to Benjamin Franklin and called him the greatest of all American printers. Dean A. H. Leidigh made a short appeal for payment of poll taxes, pointing out the privilege of voting which he said should be used by all citizens.

"I have known John Garner a good many years, and certainly I should be proud to vote for him for president of the United States", he said. "I am convinced he is nationally an outstanding man and in my opinion the people of this nation would not make a mistake in placing him in the White House."

Governor Sterling said he likely would attend a Garner-for-president rally planned for Feb. 22 in San Antonio.

CEREAL RELIEVED HIS CONSTIPATION

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brought New Health

Every one who has suffered from constipation should read Mr. P. M. Fisher's letter:

"For many years I suffered from constipation and used, for relief, all kinds of laxatives. After a few days' treatment, I would only find my condition the same as before and at times worse.

"Some time ago I started to use Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly, once a day as directed. Since doing this, I have found that I do not need any other medicine to procure the desired result, and it keeps me in a very healthful condition."—Mr. P. M. Fisher, 352 Evergreen Place, Ridgewood, N. J.

Constipation is caused by lack of two things in the diet: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN supplies both—and also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears out the wastes.

How much safer this is than risking pills and drugs—so often harmful. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in serious cases, with every meal. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved in this way, see your doctor.

Equally tasty as a cereal, or used in cooking. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

HOOKS AND SLIDES

by WILLIAM BRAUCHER

Are You Smiling?

If you were offered the choice of lopping $10,000 from Babe Ruth's $80,000 salary, or reducing the $55,000 stipend of Judge Landis by the same amount, which would you prefer doing? (It's a kind of a nasty question, at that, and you don't have to answer unless you want to.)

Think Now—

If the bout that Jack Kearns proposes to stage between his man Mickey Walker and his former man, Jack Dempsey, materializes, just what are we going to call it? (Write your answer somewhere on the sand.)

One Vote for Baseball

A recent poll of sports writers revealed that golf required more skill than baseball. The essential difference between the two games, viewed from this corner, seems to be that golfers only have to hit the ball, but ball players not only have to hit it but to catch it. Cannot the golfer's drive be likened to a long base hit? And the approach to a well-placed single over second? And the putt to a drag-bunt? Well, just look at the other department of baseball requiring skill on the part of a player. Ask Babe Ruth. He never threw to the wrong base—or caught a pop fly in his teeth.

Such Obstinancy!

Freddie Lindstorm, opening the mails and gazing upon his contract for 1932, which showed a substantial cut, affixed thereto some warm words and mailed it back. A day or so later he received another contract from the Giants' offices, showing a less substantial cut. He signed. Such is the career of the holdout.

Few Have Done It

Holding out is one of the hardest things a ball player can call upon himself to do. The proof is that few have done it. Edd Roush held out for a whole year, and when he tried to come back, found he was missing fire on a couple of cylinders. Frank "Home Run" Baker remained out a year while a member of the Macks—and came back to the game as a Yankee to find it very hard to break in again. Dickie Kerr held out for a year as a member of the White Sox, tried to come back and couldn't. Joe Genewitch, Giant pitcher, was out all of last year, but now has been reinstated and will try again.

A Baseball Plan.

Tom Swope relays from Cincinnati tidings that E. J. Steele, basketball coach at Wilmington (O.) College, has a new idea for playing the game which is aimed against stalling. Steele would make 30 points constitute a game. The team that reaches 30 first wins the game. The teams play until one has scored 15 points, which brings an intermission. The big advantage in Steele's plan, as Swope points out, is that a game in which both teams were trying to score, instead of one team freezing the ball to protect a lead, would be more intergsting to watch than many of the games played these days. It sounds like a good plan, worth trying.

Harvesters In 2-Game Series At Local Gym

Westerners, Hampered By Flu Not In Best Shape; Games To Start At 7:30 O'Clock Tonight And Tomorrow

Lubbock vs. Pampa.

The Westerners and the Harvesters will resume athletic struggles tonight and continue tomorrow night in the fifth and sixth conflicts between the high school teams of Lubbock and Pampa over a period of three months.

With the players one type of rivalry is just as important as another, even if the fans crave their football and can sleep through basketball. The Westerners measured the Pampans twice last fall on football fields here and in Gray county. The Harvesters measured the Westerners twice two weeks ago on the Pampa high school basketball court. It is now Lubbock's time to win, say the Westerners.

Start At 7:30

The game tonight starts promptly at 7:30 o'clock, and again at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night, both contests to be played on Lubbock High school's new gymnasium court.

Slight attacks of 'flu' early this week finds the Westerners today in a somewhat weakened condition, but chances are that the lineup will be able to function properly tonight. Unless the regulars—Gene Brown and Jack Quinlan at forwards and "Possum" Blackwell and Chester McCarty, guards, have improved sufficiently to play, Coach Swede McMurry must count on his reserves and members of his "B" team.

Played Plainview Last

Coach Odus Mitchell and his Harvesters come to Lubbock at the conclusion of a series with Froggie Lovvorn's Plainview High school Bulldogs, seekers after the state schoolboy title this season.

The Pampa attack features the scoring work of Captain Morris Enloe, high point man so far and one of the best cagers Pampa High has ever had. Robert Woodward, Miles Marbaugh, Jess Patton and Wayne Woodward dare the other regulars. Coach Mitchell is also carrying on this trip four reserves. Hoot Fullingim will be an alternate guard. Parker Brumley will be eligible for the center relief job and Bill Kelley can handle either forward or guard position.

Two weeks ago this weekend the Westerners were in Pampa. The Harvesters took both games, but needed overtime periods after each game to win, the scoring being tied at the end of the official time.

Tonight's and tomorrow night's game at the high school introduce a series of home games that will feature the Matadors of Texas Tech and the Lubbock Westerners for almost the remainder of the season. The Matadors return home Sunday after a ten-day trip over Texas and Oklahoma and will meet the University of New Mexico Lobos Monday and Tuesday nights at the Tech gymnasium.

Navy league spends $30,000 annually broadcasting for a big navy.

Coming Monday

He who coaches the University of New Mexico Lobos is none other than your old track and field favorite, Tom Churchill. He brings the Lobos here Monday for a two-night series with the Texas Tech Matadors. Churchill, a native of New Mexico, achieved athletic fame at the University of Oklahoma, lettering four sports. His favorite is track and next is basketball. His cagers divided a series with the Matadors in Albuquerque last winter.

Martindale And Moore To O.C.U.

PAMPA, Jan. 28. (Special)—Two more of Pampa High school's gridiron luminaries of days gone by have joined the college ranks with hopes of carrying on under football coaches. Lloyd "Dinty" Moore, regular end on the 1931 team, and Durwood "Pest" Martindale, one of the most popular backfield men in this section, are in Oklahoma City University this week matriculating as freshmen. They completed their high school work last week.

Moore and Martindale were basketball players on the regular Harvester team until their graduation at the end of the last semester. Martindale has been one of the most important factors in Pampa's football publicity, he having been the quarterback who helped make Harvester history while in school.

Four other regulars of the 1931 Harvester team enrolled at Texas Christian university last week. They were John Pafford, all-state guard, Paul Hill, fullback and Freeman and Burch, linemen.

Bat Battalino Is Fined, Suspended

CINCINNATI, Jan. 28 (AP)—A $5,000 fine and indefinite suspension were imposed by the Cincinnati boxing commission on Christopher (Bat (Bat) Battalino, Hartford, Conn., featherweight, for his "no contest" match with Freddie Miller, Cincinnati southpaw here last night.

Gulf Fishermen Hang Up Dozen New Records With Large And Small Tarpon

(By The Associated Press)

BROWNSVILLE, Jan. 28. — Not less than a dozen all-time records for size, quantity and variety of fish landed in the waters of the Gulf of Mexico in this section were hung up during the season just past — one of the most unusual seasons the section has experienced.

It is estimated that sport fishermen caught no less than four times the number of fish during the season as during any previous year.

Statistics just compiled by sportsmen in the Valley show that approximately 700 tarpon were landed in the waters of the Gulf in this section, probably more than twice the number ever landed any previous year.

The largest tarpon ever caught was landed during the year, as well as the smallest, and many other records were hung up.

Season Not Over

The unusual feature of the tarpon season was that it has not yet ended. Sportsmen in this section expressed the belief that if the winter remains as mild as it has been up to now, the water will not get cold enough to drive the tarpon on south to Tampico.

Absence of the usual fall floods of the Rio Grande kept the water clear and aided fishing greatly.

The increase in number of fishermen, particularly the hundreds of tourists fishing in this section, was also a big factor in the many records.

The records show that Rufe Irick on April 16 caught the largest speckled trout ever landed here, one measuring 34 inches, and weighing 13 1-2 pounds.

A 14-Footer

The largest fish of the year was a 14 footer, 4-inch sawfish, landed by Charles Kenedy, Valley man.

A world record for the largest jewfish ever caught on regulation tackle was established by O. C. Gaskill, Ohio tourist. He landed one weighing 547 1-2 pounds.

The largest tarpon ever landed in the Gulf waters near Brownsville was brought to gaff by H. J. Berney of South Bend, Ind. It measured 7 feet 6 inches. Berney also landed a shark with legs, a curiosity never before seen here.

To A. Cueto of Brownsville went the doubtful honor of landing the smallest tarpon ever hooked on tackle. It measured 9 1-2 inches.

C. W. Deter of Cleveland, Ohio, set an all-time record by catching three tarpon in 20 minutes. Another similar record was set by George Greer of Dallas, David M. Lide of Shreveport, La., and Clyde Tandy of Brownsville. Fishing together, they each hooked a tarpon, and each landed his fish, a feat never before recorded here.

J. W. Gardner of Harlingen set a record for the largest tarpon ever caught by hand. He saw a six-foot tarpon stranded in shallow water near a sand bar, and plunged into the water, catching the fish under the gill.

A Big Kingfish

The largest kingfish on record here was caught during the year by J. C. Maxwell of Fort Worth. It measured 4 1-2 feet.

Joe Wells of Brownsville made a record catch of a tarpon on light tackle, landing a 5-foot, 7-inch tarpon on No. 9 line.

A number of other unusual and novel records were made during the year, such as the introduction of night fishing for tarpon, which proved a success.

There were also a number of catches of fish which are not frequently found in the waters here, such as dolphin, bluefish, kingfish and others.

Matadors Lose At Ada; Lobos Are Here Next

East Central Tigers Defeat Matadors, 41 To 24; Tech Team Meets Southeastern Teachers Saturday Night

ADA, OKLA., Jan. 28. (Special.) — The powerful East Central State Teachers college Tigers leaders in the Oklahoma Collegiate Conference, deefated a scrapping team from Texas Technological college, Lubbock 41 to 24 here tonight.

The Matadors were unable to cope with the airtight defense and the scintillating offensive plays which have brought the Ada Teachers to the top of their conference standing. The work of Tadlock and Fisher, guard and center, for Tech was outstanding.

The Texas team leaves here early tomorrow for Durant where they are scheduled to meet the Southeastern State Teachers college Savages Saturday night.

Coach Del Morgan and his Matadors are scheduled to arrive in Lubbock Sunday after the ten-day cruise over Texas and Oklahoma. They will engage the strong University of New Mexico Lobos in the first of a two-game series at home Monday night, the second to be played Tuesday night. The games are scheduled to start at 8 o'clock.

Plainview And Crowell Cage Teams In Important Contest

CROWELL, Jan. 28. (Special.) — Plainview High school and Crowell meet in a basketball game at Plainview Friday night that should be one of the cage classics of the Panhandle this year. Crowell High is the only team that has defeated the powerful Bulldogs this season. The Wildcats accomplished this feat to the tune of a 38 to 31 score at Crowell last week.

Crowell was the champion of District 3 last year, while Plainview won the championship of Districts 1 and 2. The game at Plainview Friday night will mark the first appearance of a Crowell athletic team in the Panhandle.

Crowell's chance for a victory will be weakened considerably as the result of the absence of Captain Bill Middleton, forward, from the lineup. He is in bed with the influenza. Coach Grady Graves, who is just recovering from the flu, will likely be able to make the trip.

Frogs absorb water through the skin; never drink it. They do not breathe, but swallow air. When the skin splits as the frog grows old, he pulls it off and swallows it.

Here He Is, Signed And Satisfied

You can tell by the grin that Pepper Martin, hero of the 1931 world series, is signed and satisfied. He recently put down his shotgun, called off a hunting trip and departed for St. Louis where he signed a bigger, fatter contract to play with the world champion Cardinals. Judging from the Martin smile, the salary figure must have been at least double the $4500 that Pepper made a year ago.

Indian Athlete Of N.M.U. Improves

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Jan. 28 (NEA)—If Wilson (Buster) Charles, husky Oneida Indian athlete, does not perform for Uncle Sam in the Olympic games this summer, blame it onto football. Three fractured vertebrae are the penalty Charles is paying for his football at University of New Mexico last fall. He's still in a plaster cast, but if his recovery is rapid he may perform in the all-around championship in the international games. Charles formerly starred at Haskell where he won the national decathlon championship in 1930.

Schaefer's Bid For Billiard Title Gets Severe Setback

CHICAGO, Jan. 28. (AP) — Jake Schaefer's bid for the world three cushion billiards title suffered a setback today when he failed to get by Jonnny Layton, Sedalia, Mo. The Sedalia veteran trimmed Schaefer, 50 to 25 in 50 innings. The match left each with three victories and three defeats.

Bud Westhus, St. Louis, also was responsible for an upset in defeating Jay Bozeman, Vallejo, Calif., 50 to 33 in 48 innings. It was Westhus' third victory in seven matches, and Bozeman's fifth defeat in eight starts.

Gar Wood Plans To Speed Again

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 28. (AP) —Unworried by possibility that his application for recognition as the world's speedboat champion might be held up by the Yachtmen's Association of America, Gar Wood, who averaged 110.785 miles an hour with his Miss America IX here yesterday, is proceeding with plans to shove the speed mark still higher.

He claimed the world's record after driving his craft over the Indian creek course in two runs against the recognized record speed of 100.223 miles an hour established at Lake Garda, Italy, last July, by Kaye Don of England.

Meanwhile in Detroit, W. D. Edenburn, chairman of the Yachtman's association racing committee, said Wood apparently had not exceeded Don's speed by the required half mile an hour.

Wood and his mechanics worked today to lower the Miss America's nose so the craft will split through ripples on the water instead of shooting over them at high speed. This would add at least a mile an hour to the boat's speed, Wood said. He plans another trial soon.

Oriental Flavor Touches Big Golf Event When Jap Shoots Five Below Par; Sarazen Is Second In Running

BY BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 28. (AP)—The eleventh annual Texas Open Golf tournament took on an oriental flavor here today in the amateur-pro event. Tomeskichi Miyamoto, open champion of Japan, and Tom Rue, San Antonio amateur, won first prize money of $75.50 with a low best ball of 32-32—64.

Although qualifying the eighteen money prizes will not start until tomorrow, today was one of the most colorful in the history of the open with Miyamoto the newest sensation. Miyamoto comes from the Ibaragi Country club near Osaka, Japan. He made his American bow a month ago in the California winter tournaments.

The 130-pound Japan open king bowed to a tremendous ovation at the starting tee when introduced and proceeded to blister the Brackenridge course with an individual card of 33-33—66. It was five under par. It would have been better, but he found trouble and a six on the unlucky 13th hole.

Only twice did Miyamoto slip and both times his amateur partner was there with par to balance the card. Revealing a keen sense of distance and a fine putting touch, Miyamoto was a smooth golf machine. He was long off the tees, proper with his iron and at the conclusion, the major golf word had a new star shining.

Nation's Stars Thrilled

Gene Sarazen, Abe Espinosa, and Joe Kirkwood, American stars, admitted they thrilled to the five under par and seven birdies the Oriental fairway ruler turned in. His 66 tied the Brackenridge course record.

Miyamoto is in America on a special invitation from the Professional Golfers Association of America. He was sent over by the Japan Professional Golfers Association along with two other stars. The others have been recalled to their native country.

Trailing in the wake of Miyamoto and Rue for second place money of $50 was Ben Hogan, Fort Worth professional, and Edgar Quinn, San Antonio amateur, with 35-32—67.

There was a three-way tie for the third place. Cecil Newman, Cuero, Texas, Amateur, and Dave Hackney, Lowell, Mass., professional, had a best ball of 36-32—68. This score was Hackney's individual card.

Another 68 was turned in by Byron Nelson, Fort Worth, amateur, and Willie McGuire, Houston professional.

Gene Sarazen, New York, missed a long putt on the 18th green to tie for second place, but got a tie for third along with his partner, L. D. Ormsby, San Antonio, 35-32—67.

Let's Hope For Peace!

ALTHOUGH the situation in the Far East is loaded with dynamite, The Morning Avalanche cannot bring itself to believe that United States and Japan will permit themselves to be swept into war.

Both nations—and the world at large—remember too well the last war, its futility, its trials, tribulations and sorrows. It is too easy to recall that war—any war—costs more in men, money and denial than it is worth.

Whatever may be the potentialities of Manchuria, they are not great enough to warrant this nation's entry into armed conflict—nor are they great enough to warrant Japan to force American troops to take the field against her.

Thinking people in this country, and we presume in Japan, as well, fully realize the danger of war, its cost and its long and torturous hangover. The populace of this nation, and of Japan, as well, must be opposed to conflict if they only stop to consider it.

INSANITY PLEAS AGAIN

John M. "Pete" McKenzie, found guilty of the slaying of Police Captain Sam Street, of San Antonio, was snatched from the electric chair by a plea of insanity.

But McKenzie was sane, enough to outwit Bexar county officers and escape from the cell which held him by fashioning a key to open the door and by sliding down a clothesline to freedom.

The incident, as we see it, is just another indictment of the insanity plea; it is just another example of how our statutes can be twisted to thwart justice.

McKenzie may be recaptured. He may not. If he is, he may do for another officer, seeking to protect society against a criminal.

We have trouble in drawng a line between the sane and the insane when they take human life and endanger the lives of others. The situation gives rise to the thought of "Insanity! Insanity! How many crimes are committed in thy name?"

ON "THE HOUSE BEAUTIFUL"

Just to let you know that all the praise for "The House Beautiful," which will show here Monday night at the High school auditorium, is not coming from Lubbock, here's reprint of an editorial in the San Angelo Morning Times. Declares The Times:

"West Texans are soon to have the opportunity to see a New York state success that is really worth while, that carries a message, and at the same time is great entertainment. It is Channing Pollock's 'The House Beautiful' which the women's auxiliary of the Emniuel Episcopal church is bringing to the municipal auditorium twice Saturday.

"Cosmo Hamilton said that in 'The House Beautiful,' Mr. Pollock knighted 'Mr. Average Man.' Mr. Pollock replied that was what he had set out to do. The play is a glorification of the ordinary husband and the ordinary wife, whose efforts to keep their place in life and give their children a fair upbringing constitutes an adventure no less valorous than those attempted by the historic knights. Pollock is best known in the theatre by his very successful play of some years ago, 'The Fool'. Judging from press comment and dramatic reviews, 'The House Beautiful,' is none the less outstanding.

"Since the play is based on the average marriage institution it is certain to appeal to all classes. Its successes on tour in addition to the Broadway run have proven that it has an appeal which should not be denied. It is not often enough that such an opportunity is offered here. West Texans should attend the presentation."

ON PAYING THE POLL TAX

The deadline for payment of poll taxes is only two days away! Thus far only little more than half the qualified voters of Lubbock county have paid the tax—and the figures for the balance of the South Plains are as low or lower.

A stirring appeal for poll tax payments has been published by The Corpus Christi Caller-Times, which is being reproduced here. Under the heading "Most Valuable $1.75 Ticket," The Caller-Times says:

"It is the most important political year, perhaps, since the black-haired Boy Orator of the Platte flashed across the political heavens a generation ago; and a good many Texans are going to find themselves impotent, if not innocent, bystanders when the guns begin to shoot. They won't be in that thin red line o' heroes whose bayonets are ballots and whose reward is the consciousness of civic duty well done.

"It takes a poll tax receipt to vote in Texas. Persons who reached the age of 21 in 1931 or who will attain that age in 1932 are intitled to vote, but they must first obtain a poll tax exemption certificate—which costs nothing. The same rule applies to persons who become 60 years of age before January 1. An exemption certificate will make a voter out of any person who is deaf and dumb, blind in one or both eyes, or has lost a hand or foot, or is totally disabled.

"You can't pay your property tax without paying your poll tax, but you can pay your poll tax without paying your property tax. If you can pay your poll tax before February, do so by all means. When you do get around to paying your property taxes, you are entitled to have the poll tax payment deducted.

That dollar and six bits will entitle the holder of a ticket to a seat in the grandstand at the greatest political show on earth. It will last six months or longer, and there will be something doing every minute. As if that were not inducement enough, one dollar of that sum goes into the school fund of the state—and the school fund needs the money."

Count On Personality

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Charles G. Dawes' appointment to the presidency of the new $2,000,000,000 Reconstruction Finance corporation is accepted by everyone, in Washington official circles, as ample proof that the Hoover administration intends to lose no time in utilizing this latest piece of governmental machinery to force a business revival, if it is humanly possible.

Chas. G. Dawes

It is confidently admitted, by folk in touch with the White House, that the credit organization, established under admnistration auspices last summer, has given less satisfactory results than was hoped from it.

Financial critics attribute this disappointment mainly to the lack of a sufficiently strenuous personality to make the plan "take" as its originators thought it would.

GENERAL DAWES generally is referred to as likely to be chiefly useful on account of the publicity he is relied on to stir up, to the Reconstruction Finance corporation's advantage.

Actual direction of the corporation's activities, it generally is assumed in the capital, will be principally in the hands of Eugene Meyer, transferred to the chairmanship of its board from his post as governor of the Federal Reserve system.

But Meyer is no advertiser.

Success of the reconstruction scheme is regarded as about 50 per cent dependent on capable technical management; about 50 per cent on psychology. Meyer's task, seemingly, is to furnish the right kind of management; General Dawes' assignment is to furnish the right kind of psychology.

SPEAKING very guardedly (for it is not deemed overly discreet to hint at the prospect of any trouble in carrying out the reconstruction program), treasury experts predict that the corporation will experience its greatest difficulty in keeping to a middle policy—between extending credits so conservatively as to afford less than the desired relief, and extending them so liberally as to cause undue inflation.

Though it was heresy to say so three or four years ago, it is no secret now that, during the boom period, many industries floated securities to a far larger amount than the industries themselves were good for.

Holders of such securities, acquired at peak figures, naturally cannot realize on them at present prices without losing heavily.

If the Reconstruction Finance corporation is not generous in estimating today's value of these securities, its loans on them, as collateral, will be inadequate to rescue their possessors from embarrassment. On the other hand, if the corporation is injudiciously generous, it will boost prices again to a dangerous level.

IT IS all very well to say that the corporation must be very cautious—but it may be, supposing it to be reasonably and yet not excessively cautious, that business will not revive.

And with a presidential campaign looming right in the offing!

Of course one takes it for granted that the corporation's management will be entirely uninfluenced by political considerations. Indeed, it will be nonpartisan. That is, it will be as nonpartisan as a management can be, which is chosen all alike, by the same appointive power.

But anyway, it quite properly will be bent on effecting a business revival. In case business fails to revive at first, will the corporation's managers not be considerably tempted to loosen up a little?—and a little more?—and still more?—until business does revive?

Even if tempted, they may not yield, to be sure.

THERE ALSO are certain to be differences of opinion as to what is and is not inflation.

Administration spokesmen deny any inflation of securities is intended, but they do explain that there has been a shrinkage of security values "beyond justifiable limits"—and argue that nursing them back to justifiability will not be inflation.

Yet Senator Brookhart, for example, points out that, despite the depression, stocks are not down to pre-boom quotations—which he insists were the normal ones.

It likewise is noteworthy that European critics—the London Financial Times, the London Financial News and all the Paris papers—call it an inflationary campaign."

However, looking at the situation from so far off, there is no special reason to suppose that those papers know what they are talking about.

Practical Health Problems

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, And of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

JAUNDICE merely refers to the yellow color of the skin and the other tissues of the body due to abnormal content in the blood of material derived from bile. Bile is the material which is found in the gallbladder, but which is developed in the liver. The liver is the largest organ in the body. In the liver the brokendown material from red blood cells is converted and sent to the gallbladder through the bile channels. When the bile is not properly eliminated, the person develops a sallow complexion with slight yellowness of the whites of the eyes, the undersurface of the tongue, and occasionally of the palms of the hands and the soles of the feet. In some cases the entire body may be quite yellow.

Jaundice may, therefore, result from an excessive formation of the bile material, from damage to the liver so that the liver cells do not pour out the bile, but let it get back into the blood, and finally from obstruction to the excretion of bile through the bile tract.

In case of obstruction due to stones in the gallbladder or to other conditions which block the bile passages, the method of treatment is obviously an attempt to unblock the passages by surgical or by other means. In certain infectious diseases the amount of bile formed may be so excessive as to throw undue burden on the liver and bile passages.

The toxic type of case in which there has been damage to the liver, demands the most careful study as to the cause of the damage and to the elimination of such causes if the condition is to be cured. The cause may be an infection, it may be the result of poisoning with various metallic poisonings or with the by-products of bile formation.

In any instance the toxic substances must be eliminated. For instance, in jaundice due to intoxication by arsenic, it is customary first to stop the administration of the arsenic, and second to give a preparation which counteracts the arsenic. In case of infection, treatment must be directed toward building the body's resistance to the infection. When the infection is overcome the jaundice disappears.

THE TREE THAT SWALLOWED A MILL WHEEL:

The famous Grito de Independencia was uttered by Carlos Manuel de Despedes on the site formerly occupied by a sugar mill at Demajagua, Yara, Cuba, on October 10, 1868. After the mill was destroyed a centrifugal wheel of the mill was left lying on the site. Through the wire spokes of the wheel a jaguey tree (species of liana) grew, until it is now in the complete embrace of the wheel, permanently gripped by the tree.

MAD MARRIAGE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

GYPSY McBRIDE, 19-year-old typist in a New York office, meets JIM WALLACE at the home of her wealthy cousin, ANNE TROWBRIDGE. Gypsy is miserable because she has learned ALAN CROSBY, back from a year and a half in Paris studying art, no longer cares for her. Wallace tells Gypsy that he has been jilted by his fiancee. To spite the girl he cares for he asks Gypsy to marry him. She first refuses but later accepts. They are married next morning and depart for Forest City, his home town.

At Jim's home they are greeted by his aunt, MISS ELLEN WALLACE, who immediately becomes hostile to the girl. After a few days Miss Wallace moves to a cottage down the street. She arranges a family dinner party at which Gypsy meets the other relatives, MRS. SOPHRONIA NICHOLSON, who is Jim's aunt, and LUCIA WALLACE, his cousin, snub Gypsy. This enrages Jim and the couple leave. Next morning Gypsy receives a letter addressed in familiar handwriting.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXIII

Upstairs, securely locked away in the lowest dresser drawer in Gypsy's bedroom, there was a package of letters tied with cord. They were addressed in the same bold handwriting as the envelope in her hand. The difference was that this letter had been directed to "Mrs. James Wallace."

For one long moment Gypsy's heart seemed to cease beating. Then it began to pound tumultuously.

There were the familiar initials, "A. R. C." in the left-hand corner. There was the same funny little curley-cue Alan always made when he wrote a capital "M." Gypsy turned the letter over, noting the New York postmark. Slowly she went back into the house.

She dropped the other letters on a table in the hall and climbed the flight to her bedroom. Inside the room she closed the door behind her and sank to the edge of the bed.

After all these days it had come! All this while, Gypsy suddenly realized, she had been praying for this letter. It was as though she had suddenly awakened from a long nightmare.

She held up the envelope and started to tear one end open. Something made her hesitate. "Mrs. James Wallace" — she read the name over again. "Mrs. James Wallace."

"Alan!" the girl sobbed convulsively. "Oh, Alan—!" She flung herself face down against the pillows, and tears came unchecked. They dampened one corner of the letter to which she clung tightly. They were hot tears, wrenched forth with great shaking sobs. "Alan, I want you—I want you!" the girl moaned. "Oh, what am I to do?"

Presently she sat up, groping for a handkerchief to dry her red and swollen eyes. She still held the letter unopened.

One part of her yearned feverishly to read what Alan had written. The other part—it was fear—cautioned "Don't do it! You'll be sorry." Gypsy held the envelope and stared at it.

Yes, of course she must open it! There were a thousand things that could have happened since she left New York. Alan might be needing her.

Gypsy jumped up and crossed the room. "You're Jim Wallace's wife," she told herself. "You married him to get away from all this. Alan Crosby doesn't love you. He never did love you. Open that letter and you'll regret it. What if he should say he's sorry now? What can you do about it? It's too late!"

She heard a knock at the door. Gypsy stood motionless. After a moment she called out:

"Who is it?"

Matilda answered in her heavy accent. "It's Miss Christopher, Ma'am. She's downstairs waiting. She said you was expecting her."

"Tell her I'll come in a few minutes," Gypsy directed. She was still wearing the suit coat and hat she had put on to go out marketing. Gypsy tossed aside the hat, fluffed out her hair and went to the bathroom to dash cold water on her eyes. She could not entirely conceal the swollen lids but powder was helpful.

The last thing she did before leaving the room was to drop Alan's letter into the desk drawer. She gave it a wistful glance, then hurried down the stairs.

Miss Christopher was slender and trim and gray-haired. She sat in a straight-backed chair and as Gypsy entered the living room she arose, smiling.

"How do you do, Mrs. Wallace?" she said. "I hope I'm not too early. I've just been admiring the lines of that fireplace. You know we're going to make this into a beautiful room!"

"Good morning. I hope you'll excuse me for keeping you waiting." Gypsy's smile was mechanical.

Miss Christopher opened her handbag and took out bits of dark-colored cloth. "Of course I understand you're busy," she said. "Now here are the samples and I do think this mulberry is lovely. If you prefer a lighter shade I'd recommend the buff. You could have the same color in this brocade if you'd rather. They're sun-proof of course. Notice the quality—"

Gypsy fingered the little squares of fabric, frowning.

"I'll show you what I have in mind," Miss Christopher continued. "Here—perhaps I'd better make a sketch. By crossing the overdrapes you get the effect of a valance in a

Japan Replies That She Has No Intention Of Aggravating Situation; Says United States Unduly Alarmed

TOKYO, Jan. 28. (AP)—The United States government asked today for an explanation of just what Japan purposes to do in dealing with the controversy with the Chinese at Shanghai.

The inquiry, contained in a note from Secretary of State Stimson, was answered with the assertion that Japan had no intention of aggravating the situation. A foreign office spokesman, commenting on press dispatches rather than on the Stimson note itself, said the United States "seems unduly alarmed."

The exchange of inquiry and answer at Tokyo took place before the Japanese had occupied Shanghai.

Was Not Protest

It was authoritatively said the Stimson note could not be considered as a protest. The communication pointed out, it was understood, that the United States has large commercial interests in Shanghai, that there were conflicting reports about the Japanese intentions, and that the American government, in common with other governments, was eager to avoid any measures that might jeopardize its interests.

The Japanese government ordered three more warships to Shanghai. When they arrive the total Japanese naval strength there will be 40 vessels.

A foreign office spokesman declared fears of Japanese action within the Shanghai international settlement were groundless.

Violence Regretted

"Since the authorities at Shanghai have promised to close the headquarters of the anti-Japanese movement in the international settlement," this spokesman said, "Japan's action will be confined to closing the offices of the associations outside the settlement, by force if necessary, and to recovering goods illegally seized by those who are responsible for the Japanese boycott."

The spokesman asserted with emphasis that Japan hoped it would be unnecessary to employ violent methods, and expressed regret at the "misapprehension under which the United States government seems to be laboring."

The indignation of Japanese residents of Shanghai, he said, "has reached such a pitch that they might try to take matters into their own hands if nothing is done."

"The United States seems unduly alarmed," the spokesman declared in commenting on newspaper dispatches. "We have only a handful of bluejackets in Shanghai. There is no reason why their presence should be considered alarming."

Dramatic Editor Has Praises For House Beautiful

"If the public does not appreciate a play of this sort then it is folly to waste any more sympathy on the public. 'The House Beautiful' has a transcendent beauty that is seldom seen in the theatre.' So wrote Edward C. Stein, dramatic editor of the Brooklyn Standard Union.

That the public has shown its appreciation for "The House Beautiful" is evidenced by the tremendous audiences attending Mr. Pollock's play wherever it has been shown.

Local theatregoers may be happy in the knowledge that "The House Beautiful"—sponsored by Crosby Gaige and played by an all star cast will be presented at the Senior High school auditorium next Monday evening at 8:20 o'clock.

"The House Beautiful" is a story of thirty years in the life of a wife that loved her husband in an old-fashioned way, loved the pains as well as the joys of living and striving together. The husband, Archibald Davis, was just one of the common run of heroes whose struggle and battle with each problem as it comes along, while they win no particular acclaim, achieve the respect and love of their fellow men.

newer way. Do you see what I mean?"

Miss Christopher's voice was birdlike. As she drew the diagram she chattered on. Gypsy, trying to listen, found that she was hearing the high, chirping syllables without the slightest realization of their meaning.

The girl nodded when an answer seemed to be expected of her. Twice Miss Christopher repeated questions. She was certainly energetic. From curtains she turned the conversation to furniture and rugs and she rose from her chair and darted across the room to show just where she would place the Georgian chest she recommended. Gypsy heard such phrases as "modern treatment" and "light values."

How had Alan learned where to send the letter? How long had he known that she was married? Gypsy puzzled over these questions. Most of all she wanted to know where he was and what had made him write to her. She had felt so brave when she had left without a word of farewell. Now she knew it had been running away.

Miss Christopher's voice broke in upon the girl's thoughts. "If you'd care to show me the upstairs rooms now—" she began, but Gypsy interrupted.

"I'm sorry," she said. "I'm afraid we'll have to make it some other time. I have some appointments that I really must keep."

"Oh, I hope I haven't delayed you! Suppose I telephone early next week. Would that do? It's such a pleasure to work with you, Mrs. Wallace. I'll follow out your suggestions about the curtains and when I come again I'll let you know the best price I can get on that chest. Well—I must run! Goodby."

Gypsy went to the door with her. After that there was a conference with the man from the electric shop who was waiting in the kitchen. It was 12:30 when he was gone and Matilda announced luncheon was ready. Gypsy was not hungry but she had told Matilda what to prepare so she went to the dining room. She was still at the table when the door bell rang.

"It's a lady to see you," Matilda announced. "She says her name's Mis' Manley."

Gypsy rose and hurried to the hall. Abbie Manley came toward her with both hands out. "My dear," she exclaimed, "I hope you'll forgive me for coming at such an outrageous hour. If I've disturbed your luncheon please go on with it. I was so anxious to see you and this was the only chance I had—"

"I'm glad you did come," Gypsy told her. "Do sit down."

She led the way into the living room Abbie sank into an armchair and Gypsy sat opposite her.

Mrs. Manley paused an instant and then words rushed on. "I want to tell you how dreadfully I feel about what happened last night. Lucia and Ellen deserved every word Jim said to them. Oh, yes, they did! Lucia Wallace is a cat and the whole town knows it. Only you mustn't think we're all like her. Ben's a good sort but he lets his wife tell him what to do. Charles and I want you to feel that we're your friends."

"It's lovely of you to come and tell me this," Gypsy said, her lip trembling.

"You poor child! And I'm afraid you've been crying this morning. Now just forget the whole thing! Wipe it out of your mind. I want to know what evening next week you and Jim can have dinner with us."

"Why—I'm not sure—"

"How about Wednesday? If anything comes up so that you won't be able to make it you can telephone. My dear, I've spent two hours at the dentist's and I'll declare I'm worn out!"

"Then you haven't had lunch? Why didn't I think of that!" Gypsy was on her feet but Mrs. Manley stopped her.

"I couldn't eat a bite. No, I really couldn't. But a cup of coffee would be a heaven-sent blessing. Not a thing with it—just coffee!"

Gypsy went to tell Matilda to prepare the coffee. When she returned Mrs. Manley launched forth about her difficulties with a dressmaker. Gypsy warmed to Abbie's frank friendliness and forgave her garrulity. The coffee was served and still Abbie chatted. It was nearly three o'clock when she departed.

As the front door closed Gypsy heard Matilda's heavy footsteps.

"Mis' Wallace," the cook complained, "the groceries haven't come yet. Do you think maybe they've forgotten to send them?"

Gypsy's exclamation was sharp and low. "I didn't order them!" she wailed. "After that woman came this morning I forgot all about it."

"If you're going to have baked halibut it ought to be here," Matilda insisted. "I was just getting ready to mix the dressing."

"I'll go and bring the things back with me," Gypsy decided. "There's no telling when they'd come if we waited for delivery service. I'll go right away."

She ran upstairs for her hat and coat. The letter from Alan was waiting in the desk drawer where it had been since morning. There was no time to open it now. Gypsy threw on her wraps and hurried out of the house. Pat was in the side yard and at sight of her he came galloping.

"You can't come this time," Gypsy told him. "Now go back!"

The dog's head dropped and he eyed her appealingly. Instead of turning the terrier came toward her slowly.

"Go back!" Gypsy repeated sternly. Pat's bright eyes were fixed on hers. The girl walked away. She had nearly reached the street when she gave a quick glance over her shoulder. There in the middle of the walk was Pat, picture of dejection. It was too much for Gypsy. She relented.

"Come on, old fellow," she called. With wriggles and bounds the little black and white figure shot forward.

It was 15 minutes' walk to the market district. They made the rounds of the vegetable and fruit stalls and Gypsy's arms were soon piled with bundles. After the white-coated fish salesman had weighed and wrapped the halibut they started home. Pat was on good behavior, keeping close to the girl's heels all the way.

When they reached the house the girl's arms were aching. She could not open the door and rang the bell. Matilda appeared and relieved her of the bundles.

"Get the fish on at once," Gypsy instructed her. "Never mind about dressing. You can bake it without this time. I brought the eggs and vegetables. The rest of the things will be delivered in the morning."

"Yes, Ma'am."

What a day! Gypsy sank down on the davenport to rest for a moment. Pat's little cold nose touched her fingers. She let the dog climb up beside her and slipped her arms around him.

She was there when Jim Wallace arrived at five o'clock. He came in briskly.

"Well," he said, "you two look comfortable. Say, Gypsy, I've got another estimate on the new roof for the garage. What did you do with those figures I got from Bradley?"

"They're upstairs in the desk in my room. Do you want them?"

"Don't bother! I'll find them for myself." Wallace turned. A moment later she heard him going up the stairs.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 28. (AP) — The cotton market was a little more active today and prices fluctuated within a narrow range and without definite trend. After declining 6 to 7 points during the morning and around noon, prices recovered all the loss in the late trading on a reported settlement of the railroad wage conference. The close was at or near the top, the general market closing net unchanged to 1 point down.

March closed at 6.82, down 1 point net for the day, May at 6.80, net unchanged and July at 6.96, down 1 point net.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Jan. 28. (AP)—Trading in cotton was more active today with recoveries following early declines of small proportions.

May contracts after selling off to 6.74 or 6 points net lower, rallied to 6.81 and closed at 6.80 with the general market closing steady, net 1 point higher to 1 point lower.

The opening was steady at a decline of 1 to 2 points under comparatively small offerings from the south and local or Wall street selling. March sold up to 6.64 and July to 6.97 with the market closing within a point or two of these figures.

Operations Shifted

At the same time the master of the schooner Crown of Denmark put into Portland and related he had seen strange, bright flares at almost the same spot early Tuesday evening, followed by explosions like the bark of big guns.

Although the two observations could not be thoroughly explained, authorities recognize the possibility they had been searching the wrong part of the chanuel and operations were shifted seven miles to the west.

Stocks See-Saw Uncertainly, Trying To Make Best Of Inconclusive News

BY JOHN I. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 28. (AP)—Stocks seesawed uncertainly today, trying to make the best of the inconclusive news that came to hand during trading hours.

Late selling of the rails unsettled the general list which had been steadying after a dull sag around the noon hour. Sales for the day amounted to 1,267,343 shares.

Net losses were moderate, averaging just under a point for the 90 issues used in the averages, some rails, notably New York Central, Union Pacific, Santa Fe and Southern Pacific were down a point or more. American Telephone was still heavy, off 2 5-8 at the worst and 1 3-4 net. Auburn sagged 4. A number of preferred shares reacted rather substantially, emphasizing the thin market which has long existed for such stocks.

the court without recourse from mistrial should any one of the remaining 12 men be unable to continue in the box for the week or more of trial remaining. No testimony has been heard since early yesterday afternoon.

Taps Foot Impatiently

During the 10 minutes she spent in the courtroom, where for eight days attorneys had wrangled over Arizona's demand that she forfeit her life for killing her friend, Agnes Anne Leroi, Mrs. Judd tapped her foot impatiently. She also snubbed the sheriff, and poured her troubles into the ear of J. B. Zaversack, one of her counsel.

"It's made me ill, too," she asserted. "I'm running a temperature, and I've got that pain in my chest."

She also muttered to her counsel that she liked blonde hair better.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Jan. 28. (AP)—Zigzag action of grain values today ended in a draw. Both buyers and sellers were thwarted from any material progress.

Possibilities of a crop scare resulting from a cold wave tomorrow or next day in domestic winter wheat territory gave an advantage at times to wheat bulls, but this influence was largely counterbalanced by relative weakness of securities. Warlike complications in the far east introduced an element of nervousness among grain traders, though apparently without other notable effect.

Wheat closed irregular at 1-2 decline to 3-8 advance, corn unchanged to 3-8 lower, oats unchanged to 1-8 off, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 7 cents.

Shanghai Is City Of Terror As Guns Bark Death; Japs Continue Invasion

bor itself, ready for action, while others were anchored within striking distance.

It was almost impossible to determine the situation in Chapei, for all communications between the international settlement and the native quarter had been cut save for the Japanese telephone lines that communications detachments laid down immediately behind their advancing troops. Fires smouldered but almost continuously the rattle of machine guns could be heard.

In the international settlement all was anxiety. The business community, at least that part not concerned directly in defense, found itself unable to undertake the normal duties of the day, so great was the tension of events.

Marines Patrolling

The bitterest fighting of the occupation, which was carried on with the same machine-like precision displayed by the Japanese when they pushed their Chinese enemies out of the cities of Manchuria, took place at the very edge of the international settlement.

Within the barbed-wire boundaries of the settlement patrolled United States marines and the military forces of other nations, backed by artillery and tanks. Advancing along the boundaries, the Japanese attempted to break through these defense lines but were refused passage.

The civilian male population of the foreign city was mobilized, armed with rifles and put on guard in the business district. No clashes between Japanese troops and the soldiers of any nation except China were reported, but Shanghai was tense with apprehension.

Counter Attack Seen

Several hours after the first wave of the Japanese advance moved through the tiny streets of the native city, Chinese reinforcements were rushed up for a counter-attack of major proportions.

Two armored trains brought these reinforcements and they were deployed and hurriedly put into action in an effort to stem the inexorable Japanese advance.

It was then that Japanese airplanes were brought into play. The planes flew high but the roar of their motors was deafening to observers in the international settlement. Among the aircraft were three from the carrier Notoro.

After a brief bombing expedition, the planes were recalled, while a great fire blazed in the Chapei area. It was reported they would resume their operations after day break.

The Japanese, it was said, had suffered unexpected reverses and the Japanese command ordered reinforcements into this district.

Civilians Killed

A headquarters announcement put the number of Japanese killed at eight and the wounded at 29. No figures were available on the Chinese losses. But they were reported to be heavy. Many civilians were believed to have been killed.

The occupation was effected by two waves of invaders, totaling 2,000 men. The first started exactly at midnight from positions outside the Chinese sections of Hongkew and Chapei. Many of the men were crowded into motor trucks for the push into the territory of China.

They operated efficiently. As they moved along the boundaries of the Chapei section they dropped a strong detachment at the head of every alleyway. These detachments in obedience to a signal, moved as one to the interior of Chapei, brushing back the lines the Chinese raised against them.

Resistance Vicious

The movement caught the Chinese between the boundaries of the international settlement and the on coming Japanese line. When the pincer action began to be felt, the Chinese put up vicious resistance. Reinforcements were rushed to them. But the outcome appeared certain. There seemed no possibility the Chinese would be able to provide any more than a temporary barrier against what promised to be a greater penetration into the Chinese territory than the mere occupation of Shanghai.

One of the Japanese tricks was to plunge the whole Chinese city into darkness. All street lights were shot out—a measure taken, a Japanese officer explained, to protect the advancing soldiers from the rifles of Chinese snipers.

Heads down, rifles at the ready, with bayonets fixed, the Japanese shelled Woosung, the fort 18 miles from Shanghai which commands the Whangpo where it flows into the China sea. After the shelling a Japanese detachment landed there.

In those sections of the Chinese part of Shanghai where no resistance was made, Japanese residents crowded the street to cheer their soldiers and Japanese photographers took pictures of the troop movements.

But for the Chinese it was a night of terror. They remained in their houses, hiding behind barricades as the streets outside were swept by the machine gun fire of the advance guard. It seemed certain many civilians were killed.

Three hours and a half after the first wave of the attackers got into action Japanese headquarters announced that virtually every position outlined in their original plan had been seized. But heavy fighting still was going on.

A detachment of marines was dispatched along the railroad leading from Shanghai to Fort Woosung. The Japanese plan seemed to be to seize the road in order to prevent Chinese troop movements.

The long-threatened occupation of Shanghai, declared by the Japanese to have been necessary to stop anti-Japanese agitators, was looked upon as the most critical complication of the Manchurian conflict because of the foreign interests in this port. It was undertaken after the Japanese had served two ultimatums on the Chinese municipal authorities.

The original ultimatum expired at 6 p. m. yesterday. Two hours before that deadline Japanese Consul General Murai presented another one, demanding removal of all Chinese armed forces stationed in the city, the immediate release of all Japanese goods seized during the boycott and the freeing of Chinese merchants held as prisoners by the anti-Japanese association.

The original ultimatum, called for suppression of anti-Japanese societies, already had been accepted by the Chinese authorities when the new demands came. This acceptance was contained in a communication to the consul general from Mayor Wu Teh-Chen, but the consul replied by remarking it remained for the Chinese to make effective their promises.

How Doctors Treat Colds and Coughs

Medical writers agree that the important point in the treatment of a cold, or cough due to a cold, is to relieve the congestion in the nose and throat, thereby preventing serious complications which may follow a neglected cold. To stop this congestion calomel was the accepted and standard remedy until Calotabs, the improved calomel compound tablet was introduced.

Now that science has robbed calomel of its nausea and danger, making it pleasant to take and perfectly safe for general use, over forty million Calotabs are consumed in the U. S. yearly with only the most pleasant and satisfactory results.

In millions of homes Calotabs have proven their superiority in the prompt relief of colds and coughs due to colds.

One or two Calotabs at bed-time with a glass of sweet milk or water. No salts necessary. No nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, work or pleasure. Next morning the congestion has subsided, your cold or cough is relieved, your system is thoroughly purified and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you wish.—no danger.

Get a family package of Calotabs, containing full directions, only thirty-five cents. Trial size, ten cents. At any drug store. (Adv.)

Snyder Financial Statement Given

SNYDER, Jan. 28.—The 1931 financial statement for the city of Snyder, just completed by A. G. Preuitt, secretary, reflects one of the soundest conditions to be found in any municipality in Texas, Mayor H. G. Towle and the commissioners believe.

A cash balance of $33,442.18 was shown in the report. The city's total indebtedness, according to Mr. Preuitt, is much less than the salable value of the city-owned water and sewer works alone. The city government operates strictly on a cash basis, having no outstanding warrants of any description. This enviable record will continue through 1932 if the present rate of tax payments continue.

The water and sewer department showed a net operating profit of $7,631.31, despite a heavy decrease in the use of water last year.

Snyder commissioners are as follows: J. R. Hicks, G. H. Leath, L. T. Stinson, Dwight Monroe, W. J. Ely, and Sam Casstevens.

S.S.S.

...sparkling vitality and a clear skin

reflect rich, red blood cells

NATURE has its own way of making a strong body and a clear skin . . . by its use of the red-blood-cells.

So often the pressure of work and worry or some sickness "burn up" these precious red-blood-cells—then the hemoglobin percentage begins to fall and we wonder "what is the matter."

If this is your trouble, why not take steps to overcome it—remembering that a "tired feeling" may be a warning . . . so are pimples, boils and paleness.

For generations S.S.S. as a tonic has been helping people gain New Strength, better health and happiness. Its successful record of over 100 years in restoring strength and vitality to the blood surely warrants your giving it a good trial. Why not start taking S.S.S. today?—the larger size represents a price saving.

"WHAT I know about making cigarettes...doesn't amount to anything at all! But I'm a good enough cook to be sure of this...You can't get a thing to taste good...unless you use fine ingredients.

"And what's more...you have to know just how to combine them.

"It must have taken an amazing knowledge of tobacco flavors...to work out that recipe for Chesterfield's good taste.

"Just as in a pudding...the proof of any cigarette ...lies in the taste.

"Recently I tried Chesterfields for the first time. Right away, I knew that such taste and fragrance had to come from grade A ingredients...to say nothing of a carefully worked out recipe for combining them.

"Then, too, I found Chesterfields milder. I didn't know a cigarette could be so mild and at the same time so good-tasting.

"And have you noticed the paper? Pure white. I'm told it's the purest paper that can be bought.

"Even the package is whiter and cleaner-looking. Little things, I suppose, but I'm cook enough to know that purity and cleanliness must count in cigarettes too."
