STINGING NORTHER WHISTLES IN TEXAS

LOW READINGS FOR SEASON SET TODAY

MERCURY SKIDS DOWN TO 23 IN LUBBOCK BUT RISES LATER

(By The Associated Press)

A stinging norther whistled through Texas today, forcing voters to brave the coldest weather of the year to participate in the general election.

Flurries of sleet and chilling rain fell over the northern part of the state and temperatures sagged far below freezing on the Northwest Texas Plains. It was down to 17 above zero at Amarillo—a 44-degree overnight fall.

To Engulf State

The frigid blast from the snow-bound Rockies was raging below San Antonio and was due to entirely engulf the state in a few more hours. It hit San Antonio just before dawn, the temperature abruptly dropping 22 degrees to a minimum of 48. Traces of rain dampened the San Antonio area.

At Wichita Falls the temperature tumbled 48 degrees to a low of 30 this morning, accompanied by light sleet. There was a high northeast wind whipping through the city.

Low Readings Set

The mercury was down to 37 at Dallas, 35 at San Angelo, 34 at Fort Worth, 38 at Corsicana, 37 at Paris, 33 at Sherman, 32 at Abilene, 42 at Longview and 44 at Texarkana.

Rain and sleet fell at Fort Worth as the temperature sagged to a new low level for the season. Overcast conditions, with light rain were re-

EDWARD MAKES PEACE PLEA

PARLIAMENT IS OPENED BY BRITAIN'S KING THIS MORNING

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov. 3—King Edward today pledged his nation to do all in its power "to further the appeasement of Europe."

Standing in front of the throne in the house of lords, garbed in the heavy state robes of gold edged crimson velvet, the 42-year-old bachelor monarch made this significant plea for peace to the bristling armed camps of troubled Europe.

Opens First Session

The new sovereign, opening the first session of parliament in his reign, announced that after the coronation in London next May he would go to India to be crowned emperor.

He also called an imperial conference to meet in London next May.

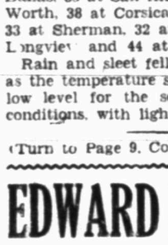

The state opening was robbed of part of its brilliance by a heavy rain which forced cancellation of the scheduled procession from Buckingham palace.

Stand In Rain

Thousands of his subjects, jamming the mall and the horse guards' parade in Whitehall, stood in the

TWO OF FOUR BABIES BORN MONDAY DEAD

(By The Associated Press)

SENATH, Mo., Nov. 3. — Two of the quadruplets born last night to Mr. and Mrs. James Bridges died today in their isolated two-room river valley cabin.

Dr. F. W. Speidel, 67-year old country doctor who delivered the one boy and three girls last night, left for the home of the sharecropper family shortly after he was informed of the deaths.

First Born Dies

He said the child born first died about 8 a. m., and the fourth child delivered succumbed a short while later. He said he could not elaborate until he had visited the cabin where a trained nurse from Memphis was on duty. An ambulance in which she came provided the facilities for a battle to save the other two children.

The condition of one was believed critical.

Dr. Speidel considered transfer of the survivors to a Jonesboro, Ark., hospital.

The boy who died, was born first at 6:30 p. m. and the third

GINNINGS ARE ON INCREASE

TOTAL FOR 1936 MORE THAN DOUBLE MARK SET LAST YEAR

Cotton ginned in 18 counties on the South Plains up to October 18, was more than double that ginned to the corresponding date in 1935, the report issued by the U. S. department of commerce, bureau of the census, shows. Ginnings were: 116,571 bales this year; 56,595 last year.

Lubbock, with 23,299 bales ginned, ranked 23rd in the state. It also led the South Plains, with Dawson second with 15,378 bales and Lynn a close third with 15,289 bales.

State Total High

State total was 2,083,094 bales, compared to 1,599,227 a year ago. Nueces led this year, 80,476 bales, 4,000 bales under a year ago. Ellis with 72,194 bales was second, its ginnings being double that of last year. Hill county was third, 59,527 bales, and Collin fourth with 58,343.

Thirteen South Plains counties exceeded their mid-October ginnings of last year. Only Briscoe, Dickens, Floyd, Hale and Motley showed fewer bales this year.

47 Per Cent Of Total

Lubbock's ginnings to date represent 47 per cent of the total for all of the 1935 season. Last year up to the mid-October total, the ginnings represented slightly over 23 per cent of the season.

In many of the counties where the 1936 totals were greater than a year ago, they ranged from double the 1935 figure up to as much

Wolfforth School Building Entered

Four band instruments valued at about $150 were taken from Wolfforth school building last night, but the thief dropped the neatly wrapped loot at a fence near the school building.

A check by school officials revealed that nothing other than the instruments, all of which were recovered, had been molested.

Deputies Sheriff Bedford F. Carpenter and Grady Harrist were investigating the break-in.

The officers said the four instruments had been wrapped in a piano cover and tied with heavy cords. A shoulder strap from a snare drum had been hooked onto the bundle to facilitate carrying.

It was not determined why the burglar, or burglars, believed to have been afoot, dropped the valuable loot.

Lubbock police last night were informed of the burglary Saturday of the G. E. Turner residence at 2211 Ninth street. A woman's brown fur coat, valued at $60, was stolen.

BLOCKADE FOR EVERY PORT IS SOUGHT

THREATS BEING HEARD TO USE NON-UNION MEN ON SHIPS

(By The Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3—Leaders of the Pacific coast's general maritime strike today called for a tie-up of all American ships as they sought to extend the blockade to Atlantic and Gulf ports.

The "new policy" instructions issued by the joint committee representing seven dock and seagoing unions ordered crews of Pacific coast ships to walk-off at "any United States port."

Seek Tight Blockade

Crews of all other American ships were urged to "sit down" and draw the blockade tight around the entire United States.

A hearing here by the federal maritime commission from which union representatives bolted yesterday, was postponed indefinitely by Admiral Harry G. Hamlet.

Assistant Secretary of Labor Edward F. McGrady continued efforts to bring about resumption of settlement negotiations. The immediate critical issue was the employers' demand that "safety crews" remain on tied-up ships.

Take Necessary Steps

"We will have to take whatever steps are necessary," said Thomas G. Plant of the employers' committee, "to put men aboard for the safety of the vessels."

His statement was interpreted by

FASCIST GUNS MOVE CLOSER

REBELS DRIVE WITHIN SEVEN MILES OF BIG OBJECTIVE IN WAR

(By The Associated Press)

Fascists planted their guns today almost in the shadow of Madrid.

Insurgents under Gen. Jose Varela, sweeping toward the capital from the south, entered the village of Uenlabrada, seven miles away and less than three miles from a government military airport at Getafe, a Madrid suburb.

Another Is Occupied

They also occupied the village of Pinto, about ten miles south of Madrid at the opposite end of a contracting fascist semicircle of men, artillery, tanks and warplanes.

Preparations were speeded for an attack on Madrid which insurgent officers said they were confident could be taken in no more than four days.

Fliers Are Killed

Three fascist fliers were killed near Talavera De La Reina when their tri-motored Martin bomber was shot down by government warplanes. They bailed out from a low altitude but crashed to earth under half-opened parachutes.

Fascist officers, literally within sight of the towers in the center of Madrid, said the government defense line was melting. They declared the Madrid militiamen were abandoning the fight and running back to Madrid.

Demos Lose Votes Of The Keys Quads

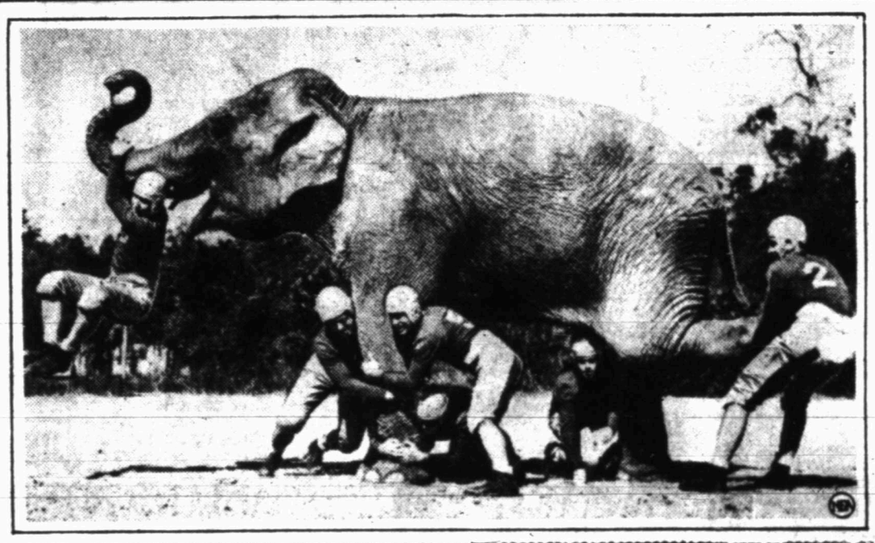

WACO, Nov. 3. (AP)—Roosevelt and Garner were short four votes today because the Keyes quadruplets chose to attend Baylor university here instead of an Oklahoma school.

The four, Mary, Mona, Leota and Roberta, voted in the Democratic primary but had made no plans for the long trip to Hollis, Okla., their home, to cast general election ballots.

They said today, after expressing regret at missing their first opportunity to vote: "We're sorry to let Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Garner down, but we think they'll win anyway."

PRESIDENT IS 312TH TO CAST VOTE IN HIS DISTRICT; FAMILY ON HAND

(By The Associated Press)

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Nov. 3—President Roosevelt and eight members and friends of his family cast their votes shortly before noon today in a little green and white town hall in this village's first election district.

The president, wearing a gray suit and blue tie covered with white donkey designs, walked into the hall on the arm of his third son, Franklin, jr. He also wore Andrew Jackson's heavy gold watch chain, a gift in the last few days.

He was the 312th to vote in his district, which has 768 registrants.

Tonight in a first floor dining room of his mother's stone and stucco house, he will receive the election returns over wires set up in an adjoining study. Half a dozen White House aides will carry bulletins to him as he sits at a large oval table ready to chart the trend and to compare results with his own advance predictions.

In closing his campaign last night, the chief executive told a nationwide radio audience from his study that because the mind of the American citizen had been "sharpened" by the exercise of freedom he had "no fear—either of the threats of demagogues or the ambitions of dictators."

LANDON CASTS VOTE EARLY; GREETED BY LARGE CROWD AT HIS HOME TOWN

(By The Associated Press)

INDEPENDENCE, Kas., Nov. 3.—Governor Alf M. Landon, Republican nominee for the presidency cast his vote in his home precinct here this morning at 8:40 o'clock.

The governor, Mrs. Landon, his daughter, Peggy Anne, 19, and his father, John M. Landon, arrived here on the presidential candidate's special train from Topeka at 8 a. m.

The governor and his party stepped from the train to be greeted by Mayor Ralph Mitchell and a group estimated by Fire Chief Ray Pitts at 2,000 persons.

The Independence unit of the Kansas national guard gave the nominee a 19-gun salute as he emerged onto the rear platform of his private car.

Friends in the crowd of home town folk shouted greetings of "Hello Alf." The governor responded smiling, calling friends he recognized by their first names.

One admirer called out, "Alf, where's your high hat," apparently referring to a promised gift of a silk hat Mayor Mitchell had said he would give the governor.

"I don't have a high hat," Landon replied. "And I still wear the same size."

"CACTUS JACK" IS NO. 13 TO VOTE; FAMOUS GARNER ROUTINE UNCHANGED

(By The Associated Press)

UVALDE, Nov. 3—Vice-President John Nance Garner cast the thirteenth ballot in the general election here today. Informed of the number he grinned and said nothing.

Mrs. Garner's ballot was No 14.

The vice-president and his wife voted in improvised booths on the south side of a two-story frame school while a cold wind whistled from the north. They marked their ballots in about three minutes while movie cameramen ground their machines and other cameras clicked.

Despite the short lapse of time, Mr. Garner registered impatience.

"Hurry up," he told his wife.

"I need a little more time," Mrs. Garner objected.

"Oh, just put an X after every Democrat," Mr. Garner said.

"I'll do my own voting," Mrs. Garner rejoined.

Election day did not change the famous Garner routine. The couple arose at 6 o'clock as usual, breakfasted and the vice-president read his newspaper.

A "blue norther" arrived during the early morning and Mr. Garner misjudged its severity. When he first left home he wore no overcoat, but on his second trip out was persuaded by Mrs.

HOPES AND FEARS ARE RESTING IN HANDS OF THE VOTERS

BY BYRON PRICE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3—Election day finds the two major parties locked in combat across a no-man's land of disputed states unequalled in total area and importance in recent political history.

Not in forty years, at least, have last minute hopes and fears encircled so large a proportion of the electoral vote. The crucial Cherokee strip of fiercest election day effort stretches from the Atlantic to the Rockies, embraces a score of states including the most populous, and gathers within its vast expanse almost evey type of local interest known to the American continent.

Figures Are Smaller

From New York to Colorado, even the estimates of both Democrats and Republicans are spoken in terms of smaller-than-ordinary state pluralities. Their private and confidential information differs from what they say for publication only in degree of certainty.

The Democrats think they see a chance that Mr. Roosevelt will carry enough of the disputed sector to assure him, with what he has elsewhere, of a landslide electoral college majority. The Republicans think

Father Of Lubbock Woman Is Claimed

DALLAS, Nov. 3. (AP)—Dan Harston, 60, who served three terms as sheriff of Dallas county, was buried yesterday. A boyhood friend, the Rev. W. H. Wynn, officiated.

Harston died Saturday. He had been in the gravel business since withdrawing from politics.

RETURN THIS WEEK

Mrs. Lewis Price of 2624 Twentieth St., a daughter, and her husband attended funeral services for Mr. Harston. They left Saturday and are to return this week.

J. O. Harston of Waco, a son, and Mrs. B. L. Jones, jr., a daughter, of Dallas, other survivors, are former Lubbock residents. Harston and B. L. Jones, jr., were associated here in the J. & J. sporting goods business.

Grand Jury Given Recess Here Today

A 99th district court grand jury, impaneled Monday by Judge E. L. Pitts, was recessed today because of the general election.

S. C. (Smiley) Wilson was named grand jury foreman. The jurors, who will meet again Wednesday, will be assisted in their investigations by District Attorney Daniel A. Blair and Burton S. Burks, assistant district attorney.

Twenty-three cases alleging felony violations were sent to the grand jury by Justices of the Peace J. T. Trigg and J. T. Inmon.

BALLOTING IN COUNTY SLOW

FINAL PLEA FOR BIG TURNOUT IS ISSUED BY ELLIS TODAY

A ballot total for Lubbock county sharply below the voting in Democratic primaries this summer was indicated today as the electorate trekked to the polls.

In Lubbock's seven boxes, which tabulate a majority of the county's

TOTAL GOES HIGHER

Voting totals at 1:15 o'clock this afternoon in the seven city boxes, the only ones of 33 in the county on which a check was available, had reached 1,774. The total at noon four years ago was 1,352 of approximately 5,000 ballots cast that day.

votes, the total at 11 o'clock had slowly mounted to 829.

Vote By Boxes

By boxes, the votes were: No. 1, courthouse, 180; 2, courthouse, 73; 3, courthouse, 54; 4, courthouse, 199; 27, Dupre school, 132; 28, K. Carter school, 128; and 33, Junior High school, 143.

Rapidly rising temperature during the morning, however, gave better opportunity for a sustained march to the polls this afternoon until the closing deadline, 7 o'clock.

A final plea to vote was issued shortly before noon by L. C. Ellis, county Democratic chairman.

He reported the county funds raising campaign "over the top." A telegram was forwarded Roy Miller, state director of the money campaign, with the information that

Party Leaders Predict Great Victory Today

FATE OF NEW DEAL RESTS WITH MILLIONS OF AMERICANS; VOTING STARTED AT 1 A. M. IN SOME AREAS; ENDS AT 10 P. M. IN WEST

(By The Associated Press)

With the first sparks from the election anvil showing little of how the resulting fire will spread, millions of sovereign voters today pounded out at an increasing tempo their choice of national and state leaders.

First returns from New England, some of them cast shortly after midnight and others before the sun was well risen, gave a few-vote edge to Republican Landon. Hardly had these ballots been recorded when a handful of Texas precincts came in with a majority for Democrat Roosevelt, swinging the tiny margin the other way.

But with statisticians figuring that an all-time record of 45,000,000 voters may record their choice before 11 o'clock tonight—despite snow and rain and lowering clouds in widespread sections—the first few hundred ballots of course told little.

Battle Is On

In tiny Millsfield, N. H., where the polls were opened at 12:01 a. m., the vote was Alf M. Landon 5; Franklin D. Roosevelt 2. Within a

BIG VOTE FOR DEMOS LOOMS IN TEXAS

MAJORITY OF AROUND 650,000 FORECAST FOR ROOSEVELT

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Nov. 3—Heads of the regular Democratic organization in Texas expressed confidence this state would furnish President Roosevelt with his largest majority today as it did in the 1932 election.

Roy Miller, director of the Roosevelt campaign, predicted a total of around a million ballots, which would be the heaviest general election vote in Texas history. He said the president's majority would be approximately 650,000.

Victory Conceded

Republicans and Jeffersonian Democrats conceded Mr. Roosevelt would carry the state but contended his margin would be less than two to one. They asserted Landon would lead in Bexar (San Antonio) and several other counties.

Aside from the size of the president's majority, chief interest was in the congressional contest in San Antonio between Rep. Maury Maverick, outspoken liberal Democrat, and Ernest W. Clemens, Republican nominee. Clemens' supporters claimed he had an excellent chance to become the first Republican congressman from Texas since the late Harry Wurzbach, who also was from the San Antonio district.

Amendments Are Up

The voters wrote their decisions on six proposed amendments to the state constitution. The amendments would provide for a state monopoly on hard liquor sales, limit the legislature representation of big-city counties, authorize state aid to a teachers' retirement fund, transfer clemency powers from the governor to a non-political board, authorize workmen's compensation for state employes and increase salaries of the governor and other state officials.

United States Senator Morris Sheppard had Republican, socialist and union party opposition, and Gov. James V. Allred was opposed by Republican, socialist and communist candidates but neither was in any danger. Allred spent the last days of the campaign speaking for President Roosevelt in New Mexico.

Norther Is Blowing

Some believed a "norther" and the usual general election apathy would hold the vote total considerably below a million. That of four years ago was approximately 855,000.

William M. Dykes And Miss Alta Gene Taylor Of Big Spring Are Wed In City

Supper Is Served To Wedding Party

William M. Dykes, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Dykes, 2120 Broadway, and Miss Alta Gene Taylor of Big Spring were married Monday afternoon with the Rev. L. N. Lipscomb, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating with a ring ceremony at the parsonage.

The bride, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Taylor, Big Spring, wore black crepe with matching black suede accessories. She wore a corsage of tiny pink sweetheart roses.

Attending the couple were two childhood friends, Wayne Prather, Lubbock, and Miss Roberta Lee Hanson, Big Spring. Miss Hanson wore navy blue with similar accessories.

Supper Is Served

After the ceremony a supper was served for the wedding party at the Hungarian restaurant. Those present included the bridegroom's mother and sister, Miss Cathryn Dykes, Misses Hanson, Helen Lehmberg, and Alta Mary Stalcup, and Messrs. Prather, Kenneth Rollo, Baxter Bardwell, and Robert Overton.

Both are former students of Texas Technological college, having been enrolled last year as freshmen in the business administration department, division of arts and sciences. Mrs. Dykes pledged Las Chaparritas club, a girls' social club. The bridegroom, a graduate of Lubbock High school where he was affiliated with Theta Kappa Omega, young men's fraternity, was a member of Silver Key club, men's social club at Tech. He is now associated with the government in the agricultural department and is stationed at Brownfield, where the couple will live.

Reorganization Is Held By Auxiliary

Officers were elected at a reorganization meeting of the Calvary Baptist Young Woman's auxiliary with Misses Billie and Muriel Lewis, 2705 Twenty-first street, Monday night. They are as follows:

President, Miss Thelma Findley; vice-president, Miss Fannie B. Bratcher; secretary, Miss Gladys Schantz; treasurer, Miss Frankie Mae Bell; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Glenn Harris; pianist, Miss Billie Lewis; chorister, Miss Thelma Ruth Harris; personal service chairman, Miss Muriel Lewis; reporter, Miss Bonnie Bell. Mrs. J. H. Comer is Bible teacher and Mesdames E. F. Bell and R. D. Harris are sponsors.

The auxiliary will meet Tuesday night at 8 o'clock with Miss Harris, 1914 Dixie Drive.

Plans were discussed for a Thanksgiving banquet.

Others attending were Mrs. W. V. Lewis and Miss Elsie Duff.

Tech President Is Speaker To Group

To a group of farmers restricted in attendance because of work entailed in getting out cotton and cutting of feed, Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Technological college, Monday night addressed a recently-organized National Grange chapter at Southwest Ward school.

Dr. Knapp stressed the importance of farm organization in abetting the farmer's sale of produce and general living conditions. He referred to the Grange as a wedge to that end.

Members of R. L. Burdette's vocational agriculture classes of Lubbock were presented in a program. Billy Brown appeared in two tap dance numbers, and Leroy Swift sang.

Ritual had not arrived, so the Grange chapter did not attempt a representative program.

Man Now Wants Watch Returned He Gave To FDR

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3 (AP)— If it's all right with President Roosevelt, Ernest E. Myers would like to have back the $60 gold watch he tossed into the chief executive's car during his campaign visit here Thursday.

Myers, unemployed boilermaker, went to William Landyright of the secret service, today and explained that when Mr. Roosevelt's car passed him and others in a cheering crowd near city hall, he was "simply carried away by enthusiasm."

News dispatches from Washington Thursday, after the president's return to the capital, said Mr. Roosevelt wished to know who tossed the watch to him.

Alton Miller And Miss Maddux Wed

Miss Virginia Maddux, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Maddux, 1911 Dixie Drive, and Alton Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Miller of Hereford, were married Sunday morning at 10 o'clock at the Maddux home with the Rev. Cecil R. Matthews, assistant pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating.

The bride wore a brown ensemble with corresponding accessories and a shoulder corsage of talisman rosebuds.

Only members of the immediate families and several friends were present. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Mildred Dixon of Hobbs, N. M., sister of the bride; F. H. Oberthier, jr., and Robert Drake of Clovis, N. M.

After a snort wedding trip the couple will be at home in Hereford where Mr. Miller is manager of the Texas Utilities company office.

Since graduation from the Ralls High school, Mrs. Miller has been employed by the Texas Utilities company in Hereford and Clovis, N. M. Mr. Miller is a graduate of Hereford High school and Texas Technological college.

LOCAL WOMEN BACK FDR

FEW SUPPORTERS FOR GOV. LANDON ARE FOUND IN CITY

"Don't change horses in the middle of the stream," seems to be the cry of Lubbock business women as regards the presidential election. Roosevelt definitely is going to be elected, according to the majority of the working fair sex, and he is getting almost all their votes.

A few staunch supporters of Gov. Alf M. Landon were found, vigorously lauding their candidate and his principles. Mrs. W. O. McCullough of the Myrick Investment company is an Ohio-born Republican who says, "We can never have prosperity under a Democrat because the large money-holders will not invest their money. This election is one of the masses against the classes."

Issue Is Attacked

Mrs. McCullough attacked the issue that will affect the working women. "These working women do not seem to realize that the Social Security act will deduct one per cent from their salary, from which they will probably never get the benefit."

Just as firm in her convictions regarding Roosevelt was Mrs. C. M. Ballenger. "I am voting for Roosevelt mainly for the principles for which he stands. He has succeeded in his program and has given the middle class of people a chance for which they will show their gratitude at the polls."

What Would He Do?

Many women asked the question, "What would Landon do if he were elected?" The general opinion seems to be that only Roosevelt can finish the job he has started and that he can carry on better than any other. He has only begun and will do better if he is given a chance, say his supporters.

One Democrat thinks Roosevelt has meant well in his efforts but she is disappointed because so many people are on relief. "The laboring class, which is receiving government aid, will not work and someone who could change that is the one for the president's office."

Best Of All

Miss Anne Ford, dealer in women's apparel, fervently declared, "Roosevelt is the best president of all, and I know he is the only intelligent candidate in the race."

Living up to the saying that it is a woman's privilege to change her mind, a few admitted to "sitting on the fence." But the majority believe that Roosevelt will be elected because he feels responsible for the needs of the people.

He is another Woodrow Wilson—only better!

Only one out of twenty women interviewed was against re-election of the president.

DIAMOND CUTTER SOUGHT AT TECH

Wanted: Experienced diamond cutter.

That notice has been placed on a bulletin board at Texas Technological college by the information office, in attempt to find the diamond cutte. said by Mrs. C. E. Ray of O'Donnell to be attending the college.

Mrs. Ray wrote to Cecil Horne's office: "Please send me the name and address of the diamond cutter who is enrolled in your school."

SIXTEEN LISTED IN COLLEGE BOOK

Students at Texas Technological college chosen to be listed in the 1936-37 edition of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities received letters Monday notifying them of their selection.

Sixteen students had been recommended by several college officials for the honor. They were chosen on basis of leadership, interest in the school, and scholastic standing. All of the students recommended have been chosen in other years for the book.

The book is edited at the University of Alabama and has listed several Tech students in the last two editions.

Students recommended for listing this year were: Claude Thompson, Lubbock, president of the student council. Jim Lindsey, Lubbock, editor of the Toreador, student newspaper; Demp Cannon, Slaton, captain of the football team; Arch Lamb, Fort Worth, head cheer leader; Elmo Knudson, Clifton, president of the Engineering Society; Winston Reeves, Plainview, editor of La Ventana, student yearbook, and cameraman for the college; Conner Russell, Tyler, president of the Young Men's and Young Women's Christian associations; Wilmot Eaton, Rule, vice-president of the student council and president of the Inter-Club council; Helen Lehmberg, Mason, secretary-treasurer of the student council; Jeannette Jones, Clarksville, president of the Women's Dormitory association, president Las Chaparritas social club; Lois Spraggins, Sherman president of the Association of Women Students; Doris Townsend, president of Home Economics club; Lillian Heard, San Angelo, participant in dramatic activities; Winburn McAlister, manager of La Remuda, show sponsored this fall by the Block and Bridle club; George Tate, Lockney, president of the Aggie club; John King, Lubbock, manager of the Engineers' show.

Lindsey also was chosen last year for the honor.

FLASHES OF LIFE

Edict

WATERTOWN, Mass.—There'll be no more red apples or fresh posies from pupil to teacher in the Watertown schools.

The school board has ordered that teachers accept no gifts of any nature from children in their charge.

Some Fawn

WALSENBURG, Colo.—A five months old deer, found near death and nursed to health by Pete Goemmer, has taken up with Goemmer's dog. They're such good friends they sleep together every night, the deer using the dog as a pillow.

Budget Gone

SAN FRANCISCO — Police handed Jailer Daniel Collins a problem when they arrested John Aasen, 42-year-old circus giant, who stands eight feet, nine inches and weighs 330 pounds.

The jailer said his prisoner, arrested on a drunk charge, drank two gallons of coffee and then called for food, saying he wanted to fatten up to his normal weight, 480.

Sour Note

ATLANTA, Ga. — Burglars broke into Mac Preston's restaurant, and smashed a $500 mechanical piano to get the coins inside it.

Their loot was 65 cents.

Return Call

DURANT, Okla.—For some time, teachers in a nursery school here took the children on regular visits to the zoo. Suddenly the visits were stopped. A week later a zoo monkey broke out of his cage and headed directly to the nursery.

No Business

FRANKLIN, Pa. — The Utica Anti-Horse Thief association met for its annual get-together and found there was nothing to get together about.

So the members elected Ellis Smith president and went home.

They think maybe some one will steal a horse next year.

Idea Of Beauty

PITTSBURGH — Doreen Haber, asking for a divorce, told Judge Frank P. Patterson that her husband said he "couldn't love a girl who didn't wear glasses."

And, she continued, the spectacles he prescribed for her hurt her eyes.

HALE CENTER IS TO HOLD BANQUET

HALE CENTER, Nov. 3 (Special)—This city's seventh annual Octogenarian banquet, given in honor of all residents 80 years old or over, will be held Armistice Day, Nov. 11. Dr. S. J. Underwood, who originated the yearly event, estimates that at least 25 will attend this year. There were near 30 present last year, but death has robbed the ranks of some of the honor guests. Business men of Hale Center provide the octogenarians with complimentary tickets to the banquet.

The meal will be prepared and served by Methodist missionary women, in the local Methodist church. Program has not been arranged yet, but an outstanding Panhandle citizen will be invited to deliver the main address, Dr. Underwood said.

CAUSE MUCH DAMAGE

DALHART, (AP) — Swarms of small yellow bees were costly to T. M. Mitchell, Dallam county farmer. Not only did the bees damage his vegetables, but 60 hens drowned trying to peck the bees from the surface of water tanks.

LEVIATHAN CHIEF WILL SPEAK HERE

Telling of his startling experiences as commander of the S. S. Leviathan, Commodore Herbert Hartley will address members of the Tech home economics club Tuesday evening Nov. 10, at 7 o'clock in the lobby of the home economics building.

For thirty five years Hartley has followed the sea, serving his apprenticeship on the S. S. St. Louis, and becoming chief officer in 1914 and captain in 1917. When the United States entered the war in 1917, Commodore Hartley was made a lt. commander in the navy. Later he became the commander of the Leviathan, the largest liner in the world at that time.

To Tell Of Fight

"Some of the high lights of his talk will be the fight between a sword fish and a whale, the free for a' battles between firemen on the ship and about the first ship to shore mail service, inaugurated from the Leviathan by Clarence Chamberlain," Doris Townsend, president of the home economics club announced late yesterday.

In a letter to Miss Townsend, Hartley said, "Sailors are notoriously short memoried about events that take place on land, but they can remember every detail of the things that happened years before at sea. Life at sea being full of raw light and wide horizons, bites deeper pictures into the memory."

Mustangs Preparing For Aggie Struggle

FARMERS TRY TO FORGET THEIR DRUBBING AT HANDS OF ARKANSAS; WORK ON NEW PLAYS

(By The Associated Press)

Southern Methodist, pacing the scrambled Southwest conference race by virtue of a victory in its only start, began heavy work today in preparation for the Texas Aggie struggle Saturday.

Coach Matty Bell let the Mustangs off with a light drill yesterday but carded more strenuous workouts for the remainder of the week. The Ponies emerged from the Texas contest without serious injuries.

The Texas Aggies tried to forget their drubbing at the hands of Arkansas by working on new plays. They scrimmaged against Southern Methodist plays as executed by the freshmen.

Coach Dutch Meyer warned his Texas Christian Horned Frogs against over-confidence after their rout of Baylor. The squad was intact for the first time since the season started. The Frogs meet University of Texas Longhorns Saturday.

The Longhorns, holding down the cellar position with three conference losses, mapped strategy against Texas Christian's pass-slinging Sammy Baugh.

At Houston, Coach Jimmy Kitts allowed the Rice Owls a holiday yesterday but warned there would be no more rest before the Arkansas game at Fayetteville Saturday.

The Arkansas Razorbacks engaged in intensive practice against Owl formations. Saturday's game will climax home-coming day activities and the Porkers worked to prevent a defeat from spoiling it.

Baylor's Bears limbered up bruised muscles and began preparations for Oklahoma City's Goldbugs in the conference's only intersectional tilt of the week.

Northwestern Is Placed 'On Spot'

SPORT GOSSIP OVER NATION

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP)—Here's southern hospitality for you: When Eddie Reed, Loyola (New Orleans) coach, went to Tuscaloosa to scout Alabama, it was insisted he must stop at the home of Coach Frank Thomas . . . Andy Kerr of Colgate and Lynn Waldorf, head man at Northwestern, always have fine November team. . . . Kerr's Red Raiders have dropped only one November decision since the little magician went to Hamilton and Northwestern has been set back just twice in that month since Waldorf took charge. . . . They must have got their dates mixed Saturday, for both teams got hot a day ahead of schedule. . . . Jack Dempsey, who can't keep busy running a restaurant, building a boxing stable, making political speeches and heading a hospital drive, has entered a team in the American bowling congress.

Must have been pretty tough on Referee Johnny Getchell, a Minneapolis boy, to have to go back home and face the music after calling that slugging penalty against the Gophers Saturday . . . Scouts from 23 major colleges are angling for Leslie Dodson, fullback on the Columbus (Miss.) high school team, who gained 9,167 yards in 44 games . . . 20,000 seats have been sold for the Sugar Bowl game in New Orleans January 1 and nobody knows what teams will be contesting.

Before the season began the Minnesota coaches figured the Nebraska game would be a lot tougher than the one with Northwestern.

Rope, made waterproof by a treatment of rubber, is being turned out by a British process.

GRIDIRON PLUM SAID HANGING RIPE FOR A GOOD KNOCKOFF

CHICAGO, Nov. 3 (AP)—Northwestern's gridiron plum is "hanging ripe from the bough, ready for the knockoff."

That was the feeling today of Lynn Waldorf, the man who coaches the team that stunned the football world by ending mighty Minnesota's reign. Calm and serene through the first five games of the Wildcat schedule—all of them, even Minnesota, taken as they came—Waldorf admitted today a full set of worries had caught up with him since Saturday.

Really On Spot

"Now we really are in a spot," he rumbled this morning as he listened to volley after volley of cheers from a huge celebration of the triumph of the Gophers.

"As fast as a team has gotten up this fall, it has been licked. It has been that way all over the country. Now, maybe our turn is coming. It looks as though we are hanging ripe from the bough, ready for the knockoff."

TOUCHDOWN TWINS TO GET BIG TEST

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP)—Purdue's "touchdown twins," rated by many as the greatest pigskin toters in college football, will get their greatest test Saturday when the Boilermakers run up against Fordham's seven granite pillar line.

When Purdue toppled Fordham from the ranks of the undefeated by a convincing 20 to 0 margin last fall Cecil Isbell and John Drake were on the bench.

They have been setting a ground-gaining pace that has left most of the other middlewestern backs in the ruck this fall. Isbell, a swivel-hipped junior with a baffling change of pace, has carried the ball from scrimmage 31 times for a total of 487 yards, an average of 9 1-2 a crack. Drake has cracked through opposing lines 44 times for 328 yards, an average of 7.45 a thrust.

Largest crowd yet to attend a meeting of the "Touchdown Club" was treated to an enlightening, entertaining "talking picture" last night at the Hotel Hilton ballroom. The crowd of approximately 400 included the football squads of Lubbock High school and Texas Tech.

The film, ordered from New York by Coach Pete Cawthon of Tech, is a four-reel explanation of football made by a commercial company of New York under the direction of Coach D. X. Bible of University of Nebraska. Bible himself provides the "sound," maintaining a constant oral explanation of the shots.

The picture includes posed and actual games shots designed to show elementary and technical behavior of every player in a football lineup. Players and their duties are explained in regular and slow motion according to their positions. Bible taking up the positions one by one.

Cawthon told the assembly of men that if "the women folks" would like to organize such a club, he would hold the picture over a few days.

Members of Coach Weldon Chapman's Lubbock High school and Berl Huffman's Texas Tech freshmen grid teams were introduced from the stage. The Tech varsity also was present.

Cawthon said there would be no meeting of the club next Monday, since the Tech team would be enroute to Los Angeles and the Westerners would be preparing for the holiday tilt with Amarillo here.

BAYLOR, FROGS BREAK MARK ON PASSES

IF YOU FIGURE DOPE THEN TAKE A LOOK AT CONFERENCE

BY FELIX R. MCKNIGHT

DALLAS, Nov. 3 (AP)—Razzle-dazzle department: Baylor and Texas Christian shattered the Southwest conference passing mark with 72 heaves . . It bettered, by one, the total in the Texas Christian-Arkansas game . . . The conference, as a whole, had a big afternoon o. 151 aerials, Arkansas compiling the neatest average with 14 out of 24 attempted . . . Texas Christian completed 12 out of 25 . . . Baylor's 47 topped the attempts.

Added cell department: Texas Christian whips Arkansas, loses to Texas A. and M. and then Arkansas smothers the Aggies . . . Rice loses to Louisiana State, Texas ties L. S. U. and Rice trounces Texas . . . Baylor ties A. and M., victors over Texas Christian and then the Christians plaster Baylor, 28-0 . . . etc.

Baugh Department

Sammy Baugh department: In six of the seven games the Christians have played, Baugh has fired six touchdown passes . . . The Christians have scored ten . . . He has gained some 650 yards by air . . . He did not play in the Mississippi State game.

Add Baugh department: Jinx Tucker, Waco sports commentator, says: "They should handicap Baugh like they do horses . . . Against Baylor, for instance, he should be forced to carry 30 pounds on his back on the offense, shedding the weight only on the defense . . . Defeating Baylor with those Christian receivers snagging Baugh's passes was like shooting quail in a cage."

Score Duplicated

Odds and ends department: Texas Christian duplicated last year's Baylor score, 28-0, in exactly the same manner. . . . They scored 56 points but did not cross the Baylor goal line on a single running play . . . San Benito high school's Greyhounds reached the one-foot line in a game with Edinburg and failed to score on five attempts!

Two Harlingen high players collided with each other on the kickoff of the McAllen game and had to be carried from the field—Not to return . . . Football season is only half over but Southwest conference basketball squads have already started light drilling . . . Rice will be a good pre-season bet in the conference cage chase — But there's always Arkansas.

Screen Star On Sidelines

Spanky McFarland, the juvenile screen star, was on the sidelines when Rice trounced George Washington . . . He was tossing mean passes to Bo-Bill Kitts, Coach Jimmy Kitts' youngster and Owl mascot . . . Three Amarillo Golden Sandie teams managed for 450 yards from scrimmage in that 66-0 rout of Plainview . . . All Texans will be eligible to enter the Fort Worth Star-Telegram's Golden Gloves boxing tourney, starting in late winter.

Southwest fox hunters will gather at Crockett Nov. 9 for the forty fourth renewal of the Texas Fox and Wolf Hunters annual field trials . . . Some 3,000 hunters are expected to visit Camp Jim McLean during the five days the hounds are competing.

Joe Louis Fights Next In Cleveland

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP)—Joe Louis is to make his next ring start December 7 against Johnny Risko in a ten rounder in the Cleveland auditorium.

Terms have been agreed on and Ed Bang, Cleveland sports editor, who will promote the show, will come here Friday to sign contracts with Mike Jacobs.

KEARNS RESTRAINED

CHICAGO, Nov. 3 (AP) — Jack Kearns, former manager of Jack Dempsey, ex-heavyweight boxing champion, was enjoined today by Judge Francis B. Allegretti of superior court from claiming any rights under a contract Kearns held with Edward Henry (Hank) Bath, young Fort Morgan, Colo., heavyweight.

Each species of whale has its own characteristic spout. Whalers thus can identify the various species at great distances.

Football Tintype

Vincent McCormick, a referee of 1876, gives final instructions to Paul Brown, Pennsylvania captain with the pigskin under his arm, and George Kelleher, Princeton leader, before an old-time mock game celebrating the 60th anniversary of the football competition between the two institutions. The game was played on Franklin Field between halves of the 1936 edition of the real thing. Penn students composed both clubs.

SPORTOGRAMS by COLLIER PARRIS

New York 14; Detroit 7.

That isn't the score of an American League baseball game because, really, we're not quite that far behind in spite of the constant rumblings of Robby Robertson. We are, however, a couple of days behind, because that was the score of Sunday's game between the New York Giants and the Detroit Lions of the National Professional Football league.

The score is reprinted because of a letter and a newspaper clipping we have received, the same having bearing on the game in question. While the stories we've seen carried little individual mention, and while guards are rarely named in the headlines anyway, we feel pretty sure that one Gaines Davis had quite a bit to do with that score.

Gaines plays guard for the New York Giants.

He used o play guard for the Texas Tech Red Raiders.

He was a great college guard; apparently he's a great pro guard.

A letter came from Gaines, and omitting the salutation and other parts, here's the section most of you should appreciate:

"Up until the last two games I have been playing pretty good ball, but at Boston the other day I was hit so hard I bet you could have heard my back pop if you had been listening. But now I am back in shape. Didn't get to play against Mule (Mule Dowell, another Tech ex who cavorts for the Chicago Cardinals) but he had been injured, too, and didn't play but a few downs against us.

"At present we are on top of the East division, but we have a tough one Sunday with Detroit." (The score was 14 to 7, New York).

"Cal Hubbard joined us today. You remember him as line coach at A. & M. He weighs 270, plays line backer and end.

"Mule stayed in New York a week, and luckily we got in touch with Spencer Wells (the local merchant who just returned from a shopping trip to the Big Town) and together we had a great time talking about Tech.

"I have seen some great college games here, and this week will see Pitt and Fordham. The type of football here is distinctly different from that of the Southwest. As the S.M.U.-Fordham game proved, it's all defense."

There follows, in Gaines' letter, a few personal messages, and the following clipping, modestly slipped in, we imagine, gives you an idea:

"Gaines Davis, brilliant, colorful, fighting yearling guard of the New York Professional Football Giants," the clipping, from a New York paper, reads, "was back in harness today determined to bowl Potsy Clark's world champion Detroit Lions all over the Polo Grounds Sunday afternoon. He's just the type that may do it, too.

"When an experienced, careful team like the Lions come to town it's pretty good to have youth and enthusiasm on your side. The Giants have it in Davis."

That was the lead to the story, which went on to say that the Lions, who won the pennant last year, had been installed as favorites to beat the Giants.

A few letters have come from Mule Dowell, one of Tech's greatest halfbacks but who was a few points shy of Jim Neill's present accomplishments, who plays for the Chicago Cardinals. Mule is in his second year with the Cards, and is one of their outstanding players. The club has had trouble winning games this season, and in one of his recent letters Mule wrote that the club probably would undergo a great change this season, but that he felt sure he would remain.

An interesting note in connection with Dowell's letters refers to his room mate, Jimmy Lawrence, former Texas Christian university star and one of the men who made Sammy Baugh look so good last year. Mule, rooming with Lawrence, collected quite heavily, we imagine, after the Sept. 26 game at Tech Stadium. In fairness to Lawrence, however, Mule quoted him as saying that if Tech played 60 minutes of real football against T.C.U., Tech would win. Jimmy was just about right.

Mule is playing end and halfback for the Cardinals. In the game with Detroit, he played the first half at end, and one quarter at fullback. Then he came a cropper with a broken hand, and was on the sidelines for a while.

HERE'S A YARN that might be of interest to you guys and gals who try to beat the football percentages. Here the outstanding "guessing" contests are confined to Red Grange's and Coca Cola's prize businesses. In certain sections, and maybe here for all we know, grid guessers undertake to beat the football pools."

The following is lifted from an (AP) yarn that didn't quite get in as an official story:

"Dr. R. A. Hefner of Georgia Tech's mathematics staff, whose hobbies include dissecting the law of averages, was handed a typical pool ticket listing seven close games for the week.

"On the ticket, the purchaser is admonished that 'all teams selected must win,' and invited to pick from four to seven of them.

"If he picks four — and all win — he is paid 7 for 1 on his bet; if five, 10 to 1; if six, 20 for 1, and if all seven, 25 for 1.

"'Well,' he said, 'there are 16 possible ways to lose, and only one to win on the first set—the four team one — assuming the teams are evenly matched. That means that over a long period of time, a player will lose 16 times for every time he wins.

"'For him to break even, the odds should be 16 to 1 — not seven'."

The same principal applies when you fill out a blank hoping to shag a new automobile or case of Coca Cola — only in the case of the former the odds are about three times greater. The difference is, you don't have to pay to enter the automobile or soda pop contests, except for the stamp.

COWHANDS TOP ANTON TEAM

CLASS C CHAMPS FALL BEFORE LOCAL CLUB IN MONDAY GAME

Shooting to touchdowns in the first, second and fourth periods, Coach Walker Nichols' Lubbock High school Cowhands defeated Anton High, District Class C champions, 25 to 13, here yesterday.

The Cowhands didn't wait long to get started. Rusty Johnston caught a punt in the first quarter, raced 40 yards with it and put it down across the Anton goal line.

In the second period, Harold Parsons took the ball on fourth down for an end sweep, ran 35 yards to score.

Anton had its inning in the third, an end sweep producing a touchdown after a 70-yard sprint had placed the ball on Lubbock's 1-yard line.

Parsons Goes Again

Parsons added twelve points for Lubbock in the fourth period, the first touchdown coming on an off tackle thrust for six yards, the second as a result of a pass from Johnston. Foster added extra point after the fourth touchdown, other attempts being lost.

Anton scored in the fourth with a forward pass that sailed 30 yards, was caught and carried another 30 for touchdown.

Lloyd Sanders, plucky little guard, was one of the most outstanding players on the field. The Cowhand lineman was an offensive as well as defensive star, mixed up in nearly every play.

NEW FACES IN MAJOR LEAGUES WILL LEAD THE LINE AT PAYOFF WINDOWS

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP)—Having made good in their first real try in the big time, 10 new major leaguers, headed by Joe Di Maggio of the Yankees, Bob Feller of the Indians and Jimmy Ripple of the Giants, lead this winter's line at the baseball payoff window.

Well armed with impressive batting and pitching averages, the other newcomers expected to be raised when the 1937 contracts come out are Johnny Mize, who batted .329 for the Cardinals; Les Scarsella, Reds' first baseman, who finished with a mark of .319; Bill Atwood and Walter Millies, catchers for the Phils and Senators, respectively; Harry Gumer and Frank Gabler, Giants' pitchers; and Harry Kelley, who won 15 and lost 12 for the A hletics.

Di Maggio, with an average of .323 to present to a world championship management, is almost certain to get a substantial boost. Feller, center of baseball's most interesting current controversy, likely will get what he wants without haggling; and Ripple, who batted .306 and practically replaced Hank Leiber in center field for the Giants, will probably get his reward when young Horace Stoneman mails the 1937 contracts.

TECH RAIDERS CUT LOOSE MONDAY

NO LET DOWN LOOMING FOR MATADORS WHEN THEY MEET AGS

Texas Tech's Red Raiders cut loose with a wild whoopee and a merry workout yesterday, after three days of rest, in one of the most energetic offensive drills of the season.

The outburst of feeling and physical attitude was pleasing to coaches, who have been having qualms of fear lest the Red Raiders "let down" this week after tasting victory over Centenary.

No Time To Let Down

It is not a time to let down. The Oklahoma A. & M. College Cowboys, a heavy, versatile, ambitious crew of raw-boned individuals who are just now getting into the spirit of Coach Ted Cox's coaching regime, are coming over from Stillwater Friday with the intention of claiming revenge for a 14-0 setback suffered a year ago.

Although humbled at St. Louis last Saturday by a ready Washington university eleven, the Cowboys are expected to be "hot" when they bear down on the Raider camp this week.

Figuring it out on the basis of comparative scores, the Cowboys are actually favored to lasso the Matadors Friday afternoon. They defeated Washburn, the Central conference club that defeated Wichita university, and Wichita university is the team that defeated Texas Tech. Had it not been for that upset, Tech would today be in the select class of undefeated and untied teams.

Aggies "Can't Be Beat"

The Oklahoma Aggies are taking heart from Tech's loss to Wichita, and since that disastrous evening Coach Cox's team has been thinking more of Texas Tech than their intervening opponents, and their watchword, widely advertised in circulars, newspapers and programs, is "we can't be beat at Lubbock."

Tech's workout yesterday was devoted to offense as Coach Cawthon shifted his plans and postponed defensive work for one day.

"We're going to shoot the works," he said, "no matter how many scouts are in town."

The Red Raiders are priming themselves, judging from yesterday's workout, for their most colorful offensive demonstration of the season. They have played under wraps in two games, stayed with solid principles of football in the two major games without "going fancy."

But "make it nifty" is the theme this week, and fans attending the "parents day" celebration are going to see some fancy ball playing, forward passes, laterals, double and triple laterals.

Oklahoma's Aggies also play an open game. They have developed a passing game that, for number of passes, will outdo anything local fans have seen this season. The Aggies are strong believers in laterals, and with fair weather prevailing the air should be fairly full of pigskin Friday.

Prices for the game are $1.50 for reserved seats, $1 for general admission, and these prices include all taxes. Tickets are on sale at Walton's Men's shop here.

Top Ranking Teams Will Have Respite

NORTHWESTERN'S WILDCATS TODAY LEAD THE PIGSKIN PARADE AFTER A SPIRITED FIGHT

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP)—There'll be a respite Saturday for the football teams that have been selected by sports writers and editors as the week's best. Except in one contest they don't come to grips with one another, but that doesn't necessarily mean they face "set-ups."

The weekly Associated Press poll puts Northwestern's Wildcats, upset victors over Minnesota, at the head of the pigskin parade for the week. They got there only after a voting battle almost as keen as the one they played against the previous pace setters at Evanston. The final count, on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis, with 43 experts voting, gave Northwestern 412 points and Minnesota 371.

A total of 31 contributors ranked the Wildcats first while ten remained steadfast in selecting Minnesota despite the defeat. Fordham, moving up to third with 227 points, was picked for No. 1 by two voters.

The Wildcats take on Wisconsin this week and may have a hard time. Minnesota faces the same situation against Iowa while Fordham is rated only a slight favorite over Purdue.

Marquette, which advanced from tenth to fourth place, meets an old but apparently inferior rival in Creighton. The only game which brings together two teams ranked in the first 20 sends Tulane, tenth, with 93 votes, against Alabama, 14th with 16. Santa Clara, ninth on the list with 145 points, has an open date.

Westerners Are Ambitious Crew

FIRST DRILL IS HELD AND IS BEING AIMED AT SANDIE TEAM

The workout was light, confined to signal and passing drill, but the spirit was different, breezy and ambitious, as the Lubbock Westerners returned to the practice lot yesterday.

The drill was the first aimed exclusively and directly at Amarillo's Golden Sandies, kings of Texas high school football for two years and favorec to retain the crown.

But dope means little to the Westerners, who realize only that their backs are to the wall and that they've got to fight like demons to keep the Amarillo score from soaring. Nor do they admit defeat—yet.

The Westerners have until next Wednesday week to think about and prepare for Amarillo. The Sandies come here for the Armistice day game, which is to be played at Texas Tech's new stadium.

From all indications, it appears that Lubbock and Amarillo high school teams will be the first to fill the new stadium, capable of accommodating 15,000 spectators. Rain and bad weather broke into Tech's feature games, limiting the crowds to considerable less than capacity. If good weather prevails next week, the stadium doubtless will be jammed.

Tickets for the game continue to go like hotcakes at the official downtown agency, Sam Rosenthal's Hub Clothiers. The price is $1 for reserved seats. A block of 3,000 tickets sent to Amarillo is reported all but exhausted.

With more than a week in which to prepare for the game, it appears probable that Coach Weldon Chapman will be able to toss his full strength at the Golden Sandies, which means that Harold Ingley must be ready to go. He has been little more than an innocent bystander in Lubbock's last two games, playing little in the Pampa game, none at all against Borger last week. An injury which all but broke a rib or two for Ingley appears well on the way to healing.

While practice this week and the early part of next will be rigid and strenuous, Chapman probably will take few chances in scrimmage work.

BUCK O'NEIL AND HADDOCK TO MEET

Buck O'Neil, the barrel-chested, roly-poly ex-halfback from Chicago, gets a test of his wrestling strength tomorrow night when he engages Dale Haddock, the Detroit Destroyer, in the semi-windup event of tomorrow night's mat show at Sled Allen's Auditorium.

O'Neil, in his last two appearances, has captured the fancy of the fans by his fast, clean work. But he has demonstrated symptoms of being able to make it rough. So rough it'll be Wednesday night, because that's the only way Haddock fights.

They're chief supporters on the card that brings Dory Detton and Jerry Markus together in the main struggle.

Dory faces another demoniac grappler, though maybe not so fierce as Danny McShain, in the main go. Markus claims the Hebrew middleweight championship of the United States, and is ready to show proof. He was going in a good way last week, suddenly showing his rough side after a smooth start in his match with Bob Cummings. When he did get rough, it was so bad that Referee Clements had to almost break his jaw and forfeit the fight to Cummings.

The preliminary billing has not been announced.

As a whole, the world's tin supply comes from the Federated Malay States, Bolivia, China, India, Siam, the Congo, South Africa, Nigeria Austria, and Alaska.

FARMERS PLAN FOR STORAGE

SOUTH PLAINS MEN TO BE READY FOR THE NEXT DROUTH

HALE CENTER, Nov. 3 (Special)—Hale county farmers are getting ready for the next drouth. They won't be caught short of feed when heat and too-little moisture reduce their acreage.

More than a million pounds of ensilage has been sealed in three trench silos on G. G. Gilliland's farm, six miles northwest of Abernathy.

New Machine Used

Chopped with a new type machine, an ensilage harvester, cane and other green feed was packed in the large trenches with a tractor. The trenches are 100 feet long, eight feet deep, and are eight feet wide at the bottom and 12 feet wide at the top. The three trenches were filled to over-flowing, two feet above the ground. A layer of dirt 18 inches deep covers the feed.

The three trenches full hold 300 tons each. A fourth trench of the same size will be filled later.

The ensilage harvester cuts feed on the order of a row binder, then chops it and loads it on a truck for hauling to the trenches.

Another farmer, Jack Barton, in the Bartonsite community, southwest of Hale Center, plans to fill trenches of the same size of Gilliland's. He has one full now, and two others to fill.

Both Feed Sheep

Gilliland and Barton will both feed sheep. Gilliland has 1,300 head on his farm now. Barton states he will also feed cattle from the trench silos.

J. L. Mann, farmer near Cotton Center, exhibited maize heads here the other day that had cured during the last 30 days in a trench silo. He harvested the grain before the first fall rains, and the grain, stacked on the ground, began sprouting. Twenty-five tons were placed in a trench silo and the entire amount saved. Mann is now filling another trench with 50 tons of green bundle feed.

Other farmers of this region storing feed in trench silos include George Harrell, Mayfield community, west of here, who has just completed digging two 40-ton silos.

FILM STAR WINS BEAUTY CONTEST BUT SHE MANAGES TO FINALLY LIVE IT DOWN; WAS OFTEN DISCOURAGED

BY HUBBARD KEAVY

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 3 (AP) — In three months, Ann Sheridan has had leading roles in four pictures. That is the same number of pictures she appeared in during her first three years in Hollywood.

"I was a beauty contest winner," says Ann in a that-explains-everything tone of voice. "It took me three years to make people forget that I merely won a contest."

During the last few months of Ann's three-year siege, she got awfully discouraged. She thought several times that she should go back to Dallas, where she used to sing with an orchestra, and forget the whole thing. Ann thought she'd better hold out as long as she could for that phone call she just knew would be made by some studio any minute. As in all success stories, she got the call in the nick of time.

Free-Lanced For A Year

"I was free-lancing during that last year," Ann explains. "Mostly I listened for the telephone. I played in one picture. During the time I was with Paramount, I had small parts in three pictures. Fortunately for the Sheridan appetite, I collected two years' salary."

Ann is 5 feet 5 inches and "in spike heels I look mountainous." Her leading men, so far, ha: been tall. They include Pat O'Brien, in "The Great O'Malley" and "San Quenton," and Humphrey Bogart in "Black Legion." She says she'd be terribly embarrassed to play scenes with a man shorter than she.

Ann thinks high hats for women are "atrocious" and she refuses to wear them. However, she wears tallish hats—Russian things that I think she calls "toques."

She'd like to wear coq feathers, a la Dietrich, but with "a round face like this, I'd probably look stupendous." Otherwise she doesn't accentuate her height; prefers plain colors in clothes, like blacks, browns and whites.

Ann doesn't pretend to know a great deal about dramatics. She took dramatic training in high school and college (North Texas State Teachers, at Denton) because they were cinch courses. She really wanted to be an artist and for awhile she studied landscapes, probably because there is an abundance of them in Texas.

No long ago, Ann eloped to Mexico with Edward Norris, young actor, whom she met through a friend a year ago. She tried to keep her marriage secret, but somehow it got out two weeks after it took place.

Ann isn't making any plans for the future. Her philosophy is one has enough to do looking after the present.

SHE GETS RESULTS
Ann Sheridan says a fast game of badminton is a perfect conditioner, and here she is practicing what she preaches.

More Workers For Drive Are Chosen

W. H. Carpenter, chairman of the annual Salvation Army drive, announced additional captains for the solicitation teams. The drive opens Wednesday morning.

L. E. Davis, major of the Kiwanis club, announced O. J. Sexton would head work in district 14; Marion Sanford in district 13 and W. E. Boyd in district 12. Each captain will name his assistant.

H. E. Logan will be captain for district 6 and Ed S. Wilson for district 7. Both are on the American Legion team. L. C. McLurkin will be in charge of district 5. He is a Lions club captain.

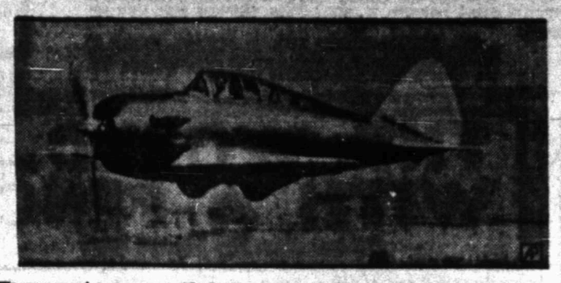

Carpenter said that the drive will begin after a "kick-off" breakfast in the dining room of the Hilton hotel Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock.

"Every indication points toward a successful drive. There is a splendid feeling of co-operation," Carpenter said.

U. S. DROPS OPEN PLANES WITH COLD WEATHER BIG HINDRANCE TO PILOTS

Transparent covers provide both warmth and good vision in new fighting planes like this being purchased by the U. S.

BY STEPHEN J. McDONOUGH
Associated Press Science Editor

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP) — Fear and panic generated in military pilots by extreme cold when flying at high altitudes is forcing abandonment of the old open cockpit type of airplane.

Captain Harry G. Armstrong, director of the Army's physiological research laboratory at Wright Field, writing in the Military Surgeon, declared that as cold increases the heavy winter flying suits used by service flyers become ineffective and "we find progressive mental distress, loss of morale, indifference or distaste for the mission, a tendency to panic and finally stupor and death."

Lose 19 Per Cent

For this reason, he declared, tests on 35 pilots and observers have shown that the higher efficiency of planes with open cockpits is more than offset by a loss of efficiency in the men who handle them, the net loss in efficiency being about 19 per cent.

Heavy flying clothing is definitely a handicap, Captain Armstrong said, and protects the flyer only from freezing temperature down to about 10 degrees above zero. "Most pilots lose some degree of confidence while wearing winter flying clothing, being conscious of the fact that they are not then so able to control the airplane, operate equipment, or 'bail out' in an emergency."

New Planes Covered

In contrast, it was recalled that on the first flight of Admiral Richard E. Byrd's party over the south pole the group wore comparatively light clothing in their cabin plane and Pilot Bernt Balchen flew the ship without gloves or mittens.

Many planes purchased by both the army and navy recently have retained the old open-cockpit construction but the new high speed heavy bombers and many observation ships are cabin type or are constructed with transparent covers over machine gun compartments and cockpits to provide good visibility and warmth.

Birds are very sensitive to light changes. They stir at the break of dawn and nest at the first sign of darkness.

IN the current Armistice Day edition of the magazine "The Grenadier", published in Amarillo as an official voice of exservice men in the Panhandle-Plains area, there is a semi-humorous platform upon which "The Grenadier" says Gene Howe, "The Tactless Texan" of the Amarillo Globe-News, will run for the United States senate.

"Old Tack" has taken cognizance of the article, written by Joe Omlor, in his inimitable fashion, saying that he will adopt the platform for his campaign when he runs for the senate "two years from now".

Of course, "Old Tack" and everyone else who stops to think knows there will be no senatorial campaign in Texas "two years from now"; that the next campaign will be pitched in 1940 and in all probabilities, will find Senator Tom Connally, seeking a third term, pitted against James V. Allred, who will leave the governor's office at the beginning of the calendar year of 1939.

Although Writer Omlor's "campaign" for "Old Tack"—and the accompanying "platform" is offered by "The Grenadier" in a more or less humorous vein, and although "Old Tack" has commented upon it as such, Mr. Omlor tells us that we'd be surprised how many people have suggested that Editor Howe, in all seriousness, point his guns at the upper house in Washington and really get into the race.

The Plainsman, for one, is of the opinion that Editor Howe would make a great senator—if he were elected.

But getting him elected, as Editor Howe knows as well as anyone, might be a pretty big job, since coming from the sparsely settled Panhandle-Plains country he would be hampered, from the start, in the very important matter of vote-getting.

BECAUSE he is a man of broad experience, a man with uncommon sense as well as of great native intelligence, "Old Tack" would make an outstanding senator—or governor, either.

But he is in the same position of Clifford Jones, of Spur, Amon Carter, of Ft. Worth, Cliff Caldwell, of Abilene and of many another great and good West Texan, in that people vote for men who best wave the campaign flag, who best carol of "heaven, home and mother", rather than for the men who wouldn't promise anything or who wouldn't split a single hair to gain 10,000 votes.

Politics has become a science based upon a candidate's ability to say the proper thing at the proper time, whether he really means what he says—or not.

And that, incidentally, is the greatest weakness in our form of government.

"All right, dear, all right", said the husband. "It will be as you say. In fact, Mary and I have already agreed upon it."

"The hell you have!" ejaculated the sick woman—and she got out of bed and outlived her husband for 10 years!

FOR the consideration of Dr. Kenneth E. Oberholtzer, who is an up and coming young man in the public school world and as superintendent of the Lubbock schools has instituted many a change for the good, we print the following item:

"Indiana high schools grant credit toward graduation in a course in automobile driving. Twenty hours of instruction are given in connection with the course."

That sounds like a pretty smart move, doesn't it, Doctor, especially when one considers that ability to safely drive an automobile these days is far more important than the ability to conjugate a verb or recite, from memory, "Gallia est omnis divisa en partes tres"?

THE WORLD WITH A FENCE

A New Novel by Marian Sims

SYNOPSIS: Carol realizes that although she has tried not to fall in love with her employer, Blake Thornton, that is exactly what she has done. And he with her. But Blake is married to a selfish woman, years older than he, who will not divorce him, and there seems little that they can do about the matter. Carol just has been wakened early in the morning by a telephone call from the husband of one of her college friends, obviously in distress.

Chapter 34
DISASTER

"They've just taken little Hal to the hospital to—be operated on. Mastoid. . . ."

The word reverberated in her sleep-clogged mind. Mastoid. She whispered, "Oh, Harry. . . ." and was silent.

"Marge—wanted to know if you'd come and sit with her while they—operate. I'll have to go back and stay with Dollie until the girl comes. It's after five now. . . ."

"Of course I will! Where are you?"

"St. Martin's. Would you take a taxi? I'll come back here as soon as I possibly can."

"Of course. But wouldn't you rather have me stay with Dollie so you can be with Margery?"

"No. I'll stay at home." She guessed that the blow had so staggered him that he wanted to be sure of Dollie.

"I'll be there inside half an hour."

She hung up the receiver and snapped on a light, then called a taxi before she began to dress.

The taxi was waiting when she came down ten minutes later. At St. Martin's the switchboard girl said: "Third floor, sitting-room at the end of the corridor. . . ." and she ran for the elevator.

Margery was a small frozen figure huddled into a lumpy couch. She whimpered: "Carol!" and began to cry.

Carol sat down and took her in her arms. "Hold it! Don't do that, darling." She sat still, holding Margery tightly. "Have they—started yet?"

"A few minutes ago." The gates were down, and Margery found momentary relief in words. "He's complained of earache for two days, and I took him to Dr Howard yesterday. He said to watch it carefully and let him know at once if the pain got worse. . . . He waked up about half-past three, screaming, and when I called Dr. Howard he came right out, and we brought him here. . . ." Her voice faded.

"Then you must have gotten hold of it promptly, and that's the main thing."

She wondered if that was true. She knew nothing of the ways of mastoid, but the words had a confident, comforting sound.

"Have you had anything to eat?" Carol demanded.

"Oh, no. I—it would make me sick."

"Not coffee. I'm going and see if I can't rustle some."

She found a young nurse who said, Yes indeed; she would see that they had coffee right away.

Minutes stumbled past. Coffee came, and inside and outside the hospital the world stretched and yawned and made noisy preparations for another day. Sunlight stole between two walls and poured its pale gold on the floor at their feet. At intervals Margery asked from the loneliness of her anguish:

"What time is it?" and her voice was small and unmodulated, like a child's.

"Twenty-five minutes of eight."

"He said it would take about two hours probably." She turned to stare at the doorway. "Harry ought to be here before long. I—wish I had my knitting; I was making him a sweater to wear to kindergarten. . . ."

Harry came a few minutes later, looking gray and drawn, walking unnecessarily on tiptoe. He went to the couch and put his arms around Margery, and Carol got up and stood at the window with her back to them.

"Shall I clear out now?" she asked without turning.

"Please don't," Harry said. "Unless you think you really ought to. If he—stands it all right—I'll have to keep two appointments this morning."

Business as usual. Because, Carol knew, he would need his commissions more than ever, to cope with all this. Well, having to carry on would perhaps be better than this.

A sound in the doorway brought them to their feet, white-faced and silent and questioning. Dr. Howard stood there, dragging a white cap from his head.

"So far so good," he said, and his steady voice sounded loud and clashing in the hushed room. "He went through it better than we could have hoped for. We got it just in time. . . ."

Margery whimpered with relief, and Harry's arm tightened about her shoulders.

"How soon will we know anything?" he asked hoarsely.

"I can't exactly tell. He won't be out of the ether for some time—maybe an hour." He eyed them keenly. "Why don't you go home and get a hot bath and some breakfast?"

They stirred and sighed. Harry said: "I guess we will do that. Thanks, Doctor."

In the car Margery said: "Carol, can't you come home and have breakfast with us?"

She shook her head. "No. I'll get a bath and put my clothes on properly, and have breakfast downstairs in the tea-room. Would you like for me to sit with you while Harry is away?"

"Oh, if you would!" Margery whispered. "Mother will get here late this afternoon, but I'd be so glad to have you if the office can spare you."

"I'm sure it can."

She was immeasurably touched by the fact that Margery had turned to her.

At nine she called Blake and told him, as steadily as possible, what had happened. "I hope it's all right?" she concluded.

And tomorrow Blake's reserve breaks.

TODAY'S JOURNAL EDITORIAL

MORE "IMPOSSIBLE" THINGS HAVE HAPPENED

George Hubert Wilkins, explorer, has now as the "central object" of his life the establishment of weather observation stations in the Arctic and Antarctic regions. The purpose is to "solve the mystery of changing weather conditions."

At first thought, that seems rather silly, for, having solved the mystery of changing weather conditions, what is one going to do about them? Storms come and storms go, the thermometer goes up and it goes down, the winds whirl, the snow buries us and the rain drenches us, and the most that man has been able to do so far is to put on his galoshes or turn up his coat collar or open his umbrella.

But Mr. Wilkins has other thoughts. Suppose you should at some time solve this mystery. Suppose that through that solution you should be able pretty accurately to forecast the weather a year in advance. Suppose you should be able to say that next year is to be a year of excessive rains or to look ahead and see a period of drouth. "If we could tell about a year in advance," says Mr. Wilkins, "then farmers could be prepared for any condition, industrialists could determine their output to meet the weather situation. The whole economic structure would be saved from much punishment."

One might gather from Sir Hubert's remarks that, in addition to being an explorer, the Englishman also is a dreamer.

Yet people laughed at Edison, at Franklin, at Henry Ford and his "horseless carriage", as well as at that fellow, Columbus, who was "crazy enough to believe the world is round!"

A THOUGHT

Yea, let none that wait on thee be ashamed: let them be ashamed which trangress without cause.—Psalm 25:3.

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 3—"The Thin Man," which turned out to be one of the best pictures of 1934, was cheaply and quickly made. Executives never expected it to amount to much—for one reason because it dealt with marital felicity. Hollywood hadn't dreamed that a good feature could be woven about people who were happily married.

After Director W. S. Van Dyke had made it his masterpiece, and fans and critics everywhere had acknowledged it with huzzas, there was talk of a sequel. Dashiell Hammett would write the story, of course. Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett would, as before, make the adoption, Van Dyke would direct. William Powell and Myrna Loy would star.

So today, 2 1-2 years after "The Thin Man" was released, they are shooting "After the Thin Man." It is not being made hastily or cheaply. In fact, production has been so long delayed that two actors brought here for secondary parts in the picture have subsequently established themselves as celebrities. One is Joseph Calleia, the heavy. While waiting for "After the Thin Man," he appeared in four other features. But he won't be in the picture for which he originally was brought here. The second is Jimmy Stewart, who in six pictures has assumed the stature of a leading man.

The sequel begins where "The Thin Man" ended, with Miss Loy and Powell going to San Francisco to rest from their hectic adventures. Of course they encounter more excitement, and a murder.

"9-to-6 Hubby"

Miss Loy is really married now. She is Mrs. Arthur Hornblow, jr. Put Powell likes to assume credit for having taught her how to be a good wife. He points out that this is the fifth picture in which they were supposed to be married, and calls himself her "9-to-6 husband."

Fact is, the two really are very good friends, and Powell has been giving her tips on modern housewifery. How to mix cocktails, for example, and how to make crepes suzette.

Asta, the wire-haired terrier which will be remembered by all "Thin Man" enthusiasts, is in this picture. He still responds to the squeak of a rubber mouse carried by Mr Powell. But two years seem to have made him a little nearsighted. During the shooting of some location scenes in San Francisco, Asta lit into an iron deer on the lawn of a mansion. His ego was badly dented.

Colony Rink-Minded

Most popular spot in Hollywood lately has been the big sound stage, converted into an ice rink, on which Sonja Henie has been skating her principal scenes for "One in a Million."

Visitors throng the floor behind the cameras. Luckiest people, though, are the 600-odd extras who draw $7.50 a day each for the privilege of watching Miss Henie perform. The rink has been converted to a reproduction, first, of the Olympic skating stadium in Germany, then as Madison Square Garden.

The same crowd, differently clad, will watch performances in both places. Of course 600 people don't make an Olympic throng, so behind the first 10 rows of cheering, applauding watchers rises a huge screen on which scores more rows of people have been painted. Even to visitors on the sound stage, the illusion is astonishing.

The mad Ritz brothers, who clowned in "Sing, Baby, Sing," will have parts in "One in a Million." One of their acts is a bull-fight on the ice, with matador and bull on skates—not ice skates, either, but rollers.

Sonja Is Herself

Miss Henie doesn't behave like a star. When not working she stands among the visitors and chats or giggles at the antics of the Ritzes. She usually tosses a mink coat over her scanty costume, and doesn't even remove her skates when she walks on the wooden floor behind the cameras.

She works out her own routines of skating as the shooting progresses. Director Lansfield will ask: "Well, what do you want to do now, honey?"

And she'll answer: "Now I do thees—" and whirls away, spinning, leaping, swirling. The prop spectators don't have to be told when to applaud.

Shirley Garrison To Receive Medal

Shirley Garrison, Benton a 4-H club boy, is to receive a medal for winning the rural electrification contest for Lubbock county club boys, Charles A. King, jr., assistant county agent, said.

Twelve boys were entered. They were required to write a 1,000-word theme on the value of rural electrification, tell the story of an exhibit and then draw a plan of their farm in relation to the nearest high line.

The invention of photography is not credited to any individual, but is the development of discoveries by several men, among them Daguerre, Nicephore, Niepce, and Talbot.

Negro Vote, Highly Important In Doubtful States, May Tell Election Tale Today; Both Parties Fought For It

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3—The big battle for the Negro vote, marked by a desperate effort of Republicans to regain the bulk of it from the Democrats and by the obviously political aspect of Roosevelt's speech at Howard University in Washington, has not been waged with any exaggerated idea of the Negro's political importance.

Dutcher

In a close election contest, a swing of sentiment among Negroes from one party to the other could easily be decisive. It is estimated that Negro voters in northern and border states number upward of 2,000,000.

There are heavy concentrations of them in such large and doubtful states as New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, and Michigan, to say nothing of such states as Indiana, Maryland, New Jersey, Missouri, Kentucky, West Virginia, and others where Negro leaders like to claim their race has a "balance of power."

Politicians are saying that the northern Negroes "have been voting for Abraham Lincoln for 70 years and now they think they've got another one." At Democratic Negro rallies everywhere, Roosevelt has been heralded as "the new Lincoln."

More For F. R. Than In 1932

Negroes represent about the only large voting group, with the probable exception of labor, which appears to be more pro-Roosevelt today than in 1932. Some Republicans have professed to believe that this would not prove true on election day, but analysis of the vote in certain areas will tell.

Reports of defection are responsible for the long corridors of offices at Republican campaign headquarters in which Negro workers were employed to wean back the Negro vote.

Almost identical reports have come from nearly all the big northern industrial centers. Negroes, at the bottom of the heap during the depression and the great majority of them in poverty, were grateful for FERA and WPA.

Both national and state Democratic machines, many Negroes felt, had given them more than accustomed recognition in appointments and other matters. And many resented the way a photograph of Mrs. Roosevelt escorted by Negroes at Howard university had been used at anti-Roosevelt propaganda in the South.

Experienced Republicans felt the liberal use of money could "save" much of the Negro votes.

Turn Democratic In Cities

In Pittsburgh one heard that it was no longer safe for a colored man to appear in Negro sections wearing a Landon button. Cincinnati, many Ohions believed, would desert her traditional Republicanism through a colored swing to Roosevelt.

In Detroit the Negro vote was registered 63 per cent Democratic as against 86 per cent Republican in 1932. New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, and Cleveland all agreed a majority of their Negroes were for Roosevelt.

The effectiveness of Republican effort to swing the Negroes back can be judged only by the returns. Landon declared for an anti-lynching law, but didn't indicate whether he was for a federal or state law. He could hardly call for the former, in view of his state's rights position, although an endorsement of state anti-lynching laws wouldn't mean much.

Republicans got Jesse Owens to make Landon speeches and stressed the claim that the south was "in the saddle" at Washington. Roosevelt, a week before election, countered with the assertion that there must be "no forgotten races."

Swing Away From Hoover

The swing of Negroes away from their old-time Republicanism began in 1932 because of resentment against depression and Hoover. The most important question has been whether Roosevelt got as much of

CREDIT TO THE LEGION

Dear Plainsman: Noting from the press reports that both major parties in the national election this year endorse the perpetuation of the Civilian Conservation corps, I wish to call to your attention the locale of the birth of that idea and as proof for my assertion I herewith quote to you a resolution as was passed and made a part of the minutes of a meeting of Allen Brothers post, the American Legion at Lubbock, on February 4, 1932:

RESOLUTION

"1. Whereas, it has been brought to our attention that the 72nd Congress of the United States is now considering the appropriations that shall be made for our national defense for the fiscal year 1932-33, and,

Whereas the Director of the Bureau of the Budget has recommended certain drastic cuts in the appropriations which virtually mean an amendment to the National Defense act, reducing the amount of training to be given the National guard, and other components of the Army, and,

Whereas, we believe that the national defense is at the minimum; that any reduction in the efficiency, training, and equipment, of any component of our defense, during this period of political unrest, is unwise and unjustified, and,

Whereas, we believe that it would be wiser to strengthen, rather than weaken our national defense, in view of the conditions mentioned, therefore,

Be it resolved, That Allen Brothers post, No. 148, The American Legion, Lubbock, Texas, condemn such actions and tendency, and demand that this Congress, in no wise, or by any means, pass or consider any legislation or appropriations that will reduce the national defense, or the efficiency, training, or equiping of the Army, Navy, Marines, or Air corps, and,

2. Whereas, there is now being urged upon the Congress of the United States the appropriation of vast sums of monye for the relief of our unemployed, with no definite plan in view for its expenditures, therefore,

Be it resolved, That Allen Brothers post, No. 148, The American Legion, Lubbock, Texas, urge upon our government, for its profound and deliberate consideration, that such necessary appropriations for the relief of our unemployed be made, and directed to the following purposes, within the limitations of our National Defense act, to-wit:

(a) The voluntary enlistment of all unemployed men of military age and qualification in the Army, Navy, Marine corps and Air service for a period of one, two and three years;

(b) The intensive military training of such volunteer American manhood, for American defense, under supervision of the regular armed services, aided by such necessary and qualified officers of the National guard and Officers' Reserve corps as may volunteer, or be called, for assignment to regular units during such training period.

(c) The immediate enlistment or employment of all necessary labor in the building of cantonments at such locations and of such permanent nature as to readily permit of their conversion, in the future, into government controlled hospitals for the poor and indigent.

Furthermore, that copies of this resolution be forwarded by the post to our Congressman and Senators, state and national Headquarters of the American Legion, and to each American Legion post in this vicinity, and that a copy be placed in the minutes of the post."

And the same was placed in the hands of our Congressman and Senators and on February 18, 1932, at the next meeting of the American Legion post, the acknowledgment from Rep. Marvin Jones was read and in time the same was acknowledged by our Senators, and,

Thereafter in due course in 1933 this idea was brought into effect.

The writer has nothing to do with the drawing or with the presenting of this resolution but I do write this letter with the purpose of giving credit where credit is due and to let you know that it is our community that should have the credit for the origin of this idea.

Yours very truly,
Geo. S. Berry,
Lubbock.

GRIDIRON HEROES

SOUTHERN California's Trojans have turned out some brilliant stars in their glamorous football history, and one of the greatest was big Ernie "Foots" Smith, All-America tackle in 1934.

A big six-footer, whose solid foundation in the line made him a bulwark around which Troy's backs could skid for big gains, he still was agile enough to be a big help to his ends on wide plays. He had a great head on his shoulders, and seldom was fooled on cutbacks at the inside of his position.

Ernie's value to the Trojans was immeasurable in that, added to his stellar work in the line on offense and defense, he could boot points after touchdown and field goals with uncanny accuracy, and seldom missed sending the oval over the end zone on kickoffs.

WHAT IS PUPIL DILATION AND HOW IS IT PRODUCED? Nature provided muscles to regulate the size of the pupil to control the amount of light entering the eye in proportion to the intensity of the light. Excessive light is very injurious. Reaction of the pupil is to contract, reducing the amount of light entering the eye. Light of less than normal intensity necessitates more light entering the eyes, to maintain normal or near normal vision. These muscles act involuntarily.

Fixed abnormal pupil dilation is produced by a drug instilled into the eyes which paralizes the muscles, hence Nature is interferred with, preventing the regulation of the size of the pupil as required by light stimulation. In this condition, eyes cannot be used for near work. Remember this, no drug can refract light or the human eye. Our Modern Scentific Optometrical Eye Examinations Are Safe and Free From Pupil Dilation.

STATE TAX IS TO BE PAID

REVENUE STAMPS ARE TO BE AFFIXED TO ALL INSTRUMENTS

You have been paying revenue to the federal government on conveyances of title—50 cents for each $500 represented in cash consideration—and now you will pay the state, 10 cents per $100 or fraction thereof over the first $200 on all notes and obligations secured by chattel mortgage, deed of trust, mechanic's lien, etc.

The omnibus tax measure recently passed by the legislature and which becomes law upon signature of the governor provides that county clerks must see that revenue stamps are affixed to instruments such as conditional sales contract and all instruments of a similar nature which are filed or recorded in their offices.

Based On Amount

The state revenue will not be based on consideration, but on the amount represented in liens.

After the effective date of the act, no instruments creating a lien of any character to secure payment of money or reserving title to any property until the purchase price be paid, shall be filed or recorded by any county clerk in Texas until there has been affixed to such instrument stamps in accordance with the provisions.

Provisions of the new section shall not apply to renewals or extensions of any notes or obligations and, specifically, to refunding or existing bonds and obligations.

Notes Are Exempt

Another provision exempts notes and obligations or instruments securing notes and obligations taken by or on behalf of the United States or any corporate agency of the government.

The state treasurer shall be authorized to have engraved or printed stamps necessary to comply with the section and to sell them to all persons upon demand and payment. They will be marked "Note Stamp."

Each week results in from $25 to $100 in federal revenue stamps being sold here; it is estimated several times that amount would be taken in in state taxes under the recent act.

BABIES DEAD

girl was born at 6:36 p. m. Dr. Speidel said they were nine-month babies, normal except in size and number.

Father Faints

"I guess they're about two and one-half to three and one-half pounders," the white-haired physician stated. "We had no scales, and besides, I didn't have time to weigh them."

The father, a share cropper, fainted when told the news.

"I don't know what we're going to do," Bridges said when he recovered. "I have no money to take care of them, but I sure want 'em to live."

Mrs. Bridges is 35, her husband 44. They have had five other children, but only one, a 4-year old girl, is living.

PEACE PLEA

driving rain to catch a fleeting glimpse of Edward as he passed in a closed motor car.

It was an uncrowned king who opened parliament. Not authorized to wear the imperial crown until after the coronation May 5, Edward followed the glittering jeweled emblem of the nation and empire in the procession from the robing room. The emblem, along with the sword of state and the cap of maintenance, was carried before him on cushions.

Youth Is Charged In Fatal Accident

Charged with negligent homicide as a result of the accident death early Monday of Henry Edwin Horlock, 23, of Wichita Falls, Cecil Gaines, 23, of Rogers posted $750 bond at Tahoka Monday afternoon.

Gaines, driver of a truck which was in a collision with an automobile operated by Horlock, pleaded guilty of operating a motor vehicle without a driver's license. He paid a fine in that case.

A negligent homicide complaint filed against Gaines was signed by Sheriff B. L. Parker and was filed with Justice of the Peace W. S. Swan at Tahoka, said Jack Reaves, state highway patrolman. Reaves and Highway Patrolman J. C. Ferguson, both of Lubbock, investigated the case.

Body of Horlock, a salesman for a flour milling company, was sent to Navasota late Monday by Foster Funeral home of Slaton.

The mishap occurred in Lynn county, about five miles south of Slaton on highway 7.

VOTER COLLAPSES

RADIO CLUB WILL MEET IN LUBBOCK

A banquet of members of the Panhandle Amateur Radio club and their guests will be conducted in Lubbock hotel the night of Nov. 11 and is expected to have an attendance of approximately 100 persons from over the area, U. V. Blake of Lubbock, vice-president of the organization, said this morning.

The club meets monthly in Amarillo and once a year meets at some other place. Lubbock was chosen as location for the banquet at a meeting about two weeks ago in Amarillo.

Plan Entertainment

Speeches will be given and some other entertainment will be planned, said Blake, who is assisted by Bob Goodson, Ed Reed and George Dotson in making plans. Wade Hilliard of Memphis is president of the organization.

The group has members in Lubbock, Plainview, Amarillo, Pampa, Childress, Vernon, Memphis, and Clovis, N. M. Approximately 80 per cent of the membership is composed of licensed operators.

COLD WAVE

ported all over North Texas and extending rapidly southward as the sudden "norther," carried swiftly by a 30-mile wind, tore into the gulf coast region.

It was sleeting in Denison, with the temperature close to freezing.

Sleet At Abilene

Abilene's freezing temperature was the lowest reading this season and sleet was falling there intermittently.

Unseasonably warm weather, such as prevailed all over Texas before the "norther" swept in, still lingered at Corpus Christi this morning, with the temperature around 76, but was not expected to last more than a few hours. The norther was due there this afternoon, and the forecast indicated 45 degree weather for tonight, accompanied by rain.

The "norther", reaching Borger late yesterday, drove the temperature down 36 degrees to a low of 20. It clung there today. The minimum at Vernon was 30.

Tyler had a heavy rain and a low of 43. Half an inch of rain was reported at Longview and Texarkana likewise had a downpour.

The Austin temperature touched 49 this morning and a cold drizzle was adding to the election day discomfort. Houston also reported a light, chilling drizzle. The temperature there fell from 74 to 52 overnight.

The sun was shining brightly in Pampa today, but the temperature was down to 16.5 degrees above zero—by far the coldest reading this year.

VEGETATION OVER THIS AREA KILLED

All vegetation apparently was killed during the night by the "blue norther" that swept over the South Plains, forcing the mercury at the state experiment sub-station down to 23 degrees.

"It was more of a freeze than a frost," Don L. Jones, superintendent of the station, said in reporting the minimum. "A freeze, especially if cotton is wet, is more dangerous than a killing frost."

Monday's maximum was 70 degrees. The fall of 47 degrees came in a little more than 12 hours. The norther struck Lubbock about 7:30 o'clock Monday night and within half an hour the mercury had dropped 10 degrees. As the cold continued, the mercury dropped steadily during the night.

Railroad dispatchers stated that reports indicated similar conditions prevailed all over the area. The freeze was general.

Most of the late feed has been cut and shocked. Very little was uncut, except the second growth after early harvesting. Cotton is now expected to open, as the leaves will fall off and all growth stop.

observers as the first threat from employers to replace strikers with non-union crews.

The first official action against strikers came in Philadelphia where Mayor S. Davis Wilson declared the "sympathy" walkouts of seamen illegal and ordered the arrest of pickets. His police "strike squad" jailed seven men who refused to "move on."

Paralysis Increases

Vessels in paralyzed Pacific coast ports increased to 150 or more and Joseph Curran, head of the seaman's defense committee at New York, claimed 133 ships were idle at Atlantic and Gulf ports.

David Grange, third vice-president of the International Seaman's Union, threatened at New York to meet "force with force" if Curran's rank-and-file followers attempted intimidation of sailors deciding to remain at work.

Regular union officers also sought to check the spread of the rank-and-file sympathy actions at Philadelphia, where they were shouted down, and at Houston, Tex.

Maritime workers at Galveston, Tex., decided at a meeting to work for a general waterfront strike at Gulf ports.

North Carolina, twelfth state to join the Union, now is twelfth in population ranking.

PARTIES LOCKED

they see a chance that Mr. Landon will carry virtually all of this sector, and be elected.

Roosevelt Favored

Thus does the basic mathematics favor Mr. Roosevelt, as it favors every Democratic nominee who can start with the ostrich-size nestegg of the solid south. But it does not, in itself, exclude Mr. Landon. Losing the south, the border and the far west, he still could collect a majority by sweeping New England and the New York-Colorado front. Naturally, it would have to be a genuine sweep. If Mr. Landon loses, for instance, New York, his friends will retain little hope for him. If he loses both New York and Pennsylvania, they will send their condolences.

The answer to this situation will be written by that celebrated figure, the "silent voter," whose intentions have not been easy to fathom in a year when party lines are in collapse. The tremendous increase in the number who have qualified to vote, amounting to some 8,000,000 or more than 15 per cent, has caused both sides a great deal of thoughtful calculation. The Democrats hope that in this treasure chest is locked an overwhelming flood of zealous approbation for the New Deal. The Republicans hope the larger prospective total means a devastating "protest vote" is in the making.

Democrats Cocky

Throughout most of the contest, the cockiness has been on the side of the Democrats, the apprehension on the side of the Republicans. As much as a year ago, Mr. Roosevelt's supporters succeeded in instilling into their campaign workers a very definite psychology of victory. At the same time, the feeling of defeatism became so strong in Republican ranks that it was spoken of openly in speeches by party leaders who were seeking to restore some semblance of morale. There have been moments in the campaign when this rule did not hold, as will be noted hereafter; but unquestionably it did set the motif at the very beginning.

Discouragement put its stamp plainly on the Republican convention at Cleveland. Many brave words were spoken there by men who wondered whether this might not be the last gathering of a once-glorious party.

But within a week, they began to feel differently about it. The demonstration of harmony which led to unanimous nominations, and the repeated appeals to party pride broadcast from the rostrum of the convention hall, had some resounding echoes. By the time the Democratic convention met at Philadelphia ten days later, the psychology of the Republican leadership definitely was turning optimistic.

No Touchdown Club For Lubbock Women

The women are not as interested in learning the principles of football, so that they may follow more closely the game as played, as are the men.

That was the conclusion which was reached after an effort was made to conduct a meeting for women football fans. A gathering similar to Monday night's meeting of the Touchdown club, attended by women only, was planned.

Because of lack of interest the meeting was called off and a motion picture shown to the men will not be held over here.

Chess is played in every country on earth.

ELECTION DAY

box at Independence, Kas.

But with 55,427,000 voters registered and the nation's interest whipped up by a tense, month-long campaign that ended only last night with eleventh-hour appeals by President Roosevelt and Governor Landon, the experts warned that conclusive returns may be much later than usual. They cited the mountainous stacks of ballots in prospect, and the fact that New York, which usually goes as the country goes and formerly has cleaned up its tally early, has extended the poll-closing time three hours, from 6 to 9 p. m., EST.

Nominees Cast Ballots

Led by the presidential nominees, who arranged to cast their ballots early, the voters repaired to 122,000 polling places to say whether the Roosevelt New Deal to have another four years at the capital, or whether Governor Alf M. Landon and his followers shall supplant it.

But this was not all the sovereign citizens had to decide. At stake were the vice-presidency, the governorships in 33 states, 35 seats in the senate, the control of the house of representatives; thousands of lesser state office holders, and a large number of questions of state policy, submitted to the electorate in referenda.

Candidates At Home

All the nominees were on home ground for the ceremony of entering the polling booths amid the clicking of photographers' shutters; President Roosevelt at Hyde Park, Governor Landon at Independence, Kas., after an overnight train ride from Topeka; Col. Frank Knox, Republican vice-presidential nominee, at Chicago; Vice-President Garner, Democratic nominee for relection at Uvalde, Tex., and the other candidates at their respective home towns.

Last night they said their final pre-election words. Mr. Roosevelt speaking from Hyde Park by radio, told his listeners they should not be afraid to vote as you think best for the kind of a world you want to have."

Governor Landon, in his final speech from Topeka, urged the voters to go to the polls "resolved that the American way of life shall not fail."

Victory Predicted

The high commands of both major parties continued to predict victory.

With both sides making tremendous efforts to get out the vote, opposing captains of campaign forces watched each other's tactics warily. Warnings of prosecution for any voting frauds were heard.

ROOSEVELT LEADS IN LANDON'S STATE

TOPEKA, Kas., Nov. 3 (AP)—Incomplete, unofficial returns from scattered precincts in Kansas today gave President Roosevelt an early lead over Gov. Alf M. Landon in the Republican nominee's home state.

Returns from 55 precincts in eight cities, including 33 in Kansas City, Kas., gave Roosevelt 1,300 votes to 1,069 for Landon.

The 33 Kansas City precincts gave Roosevelt a heavy advantage of 652 votes to 368 for Landon.

Man Faces Charge In Shooting Case

PARIS, Nov. 3 (AP)—Conner Spears was under $1,000 bond today on a murder without malice charge in the slaying last night of T. N. Roueche, 31.

Three pistol bullets and a shotgun charge struck Roueche.

Spears told Sheriff Clyde Shelton Roueche had threatened him.

SUSPECT RELEASED

AUSTIN, Nov. 3. (AP)—A suspect held here in connection with the killing of G. L. "Ace" Houston near Amarillo last week was released today when a witness called to identify him. A woman, arrested with the suspect, also was released.

BUSINESS AS USUAL

CHICAGO, Nov. 3 (AP)—Frank Knox, Republican vice-presidential nominee, cast his vote at 9 a. m. (Eastern standard time) and went to work for a day of "business as usual" in his newspaper office. Aides said he planned to watch the election returns in his office tonight.

BANS SKYSCRAPERS

HONOLULU, T. H. (AP)—Honolulu's new building code places an unusual height limit on buildings. None can be higher than twice the width of the street on which it faces.

YOUNG MOVIE PLAYERS ARE THRILLED AS THEY CAST FIRST BALLOTS TODAY

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Nov. 3. (AP)—More thrilled than they were by their first movie contract, some two dozen motion picture players are casting their vote today.

Most of them were too young to mark a ballot in the last national election.

Newly-acquired citizenship makes two of them eligible to go to the polls for the first time. And another, while an American citizen, is living in the United States for the first time since he came of age.

Great Sensation

He is Frank Forest, actor-singer. During the past ten years, he was in Italy, studying music. He returned some months ago on a film assignment.

"Gee, it's a great sensation," he gloated. "When you're living in a foreign country, and election day comes along at home, you feel more like an exile than at any other time."

Ernst Lubitsch, German-born director, and Gregory Ratoff, actor, a native of Russia, recently received their final citizenship papers and were literally counting the hours until the polls open.

"It's impossible to describe the significance of this to me," Lubitsch said. "What a privilege! I hope I can live up to it."

Deserves Two Votes

Blonde Jean Muir, pretty actress, missed the last national election by a scant few weeks. In 1932, she was still on the wrong side of 21. "I really ought to be given two votes, this time," she laughed.

Others who will mark their first ballots are Beverly Roberts, Nick Foran, June Travis, Barbara Pepper, Robert Cummings, Thomas Beck, Douglas Fouley, Robert Kent, Tyrone Power jr., Harold Tannen, Alice Faye, William Henry, Betty Furness, Cecilia Parker, Jean Chatburn and Arline Judge.

And while excitement and partnership was running high in the movie industry, as a whole, it was particularly heated among those making their debut as voters. The most pronounced arguments broke out between them, usually capped by strange and wonderful election bets.

It will be a great day for the "younger generation" of the movie colony.

Gerald L. K. Smith Is Released Today

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 3. (AP) — Gerald L. K. Smith, former organizer of share our wealth clubs for the late Huey Long, early today stalked angrily from a jail cell in which he and three supporters were placed after denouncing the state administration in a radio address.

Smith, taken into custody with three others at his hotel room last night, was booked on charges of disturbing the peace, reviling the police and using obscene language. He denied all accusations.

QUICK ACTION ON CALL TO POLICE

LUBBOCK'S COPS ARE AT SCENE FROM ONE TO TEN MINUTES AFTER RADIO CALL SOUNDS

"Calling patrol car! Calling patrol car!"

That broadcast went out last night at 9:30 o'clock over Lubbock's police radio station, KGZW, reporting the theft of a car from Floydada several days ago. At 10:30 p. m. a call from Oklahoma City reported police there had recovered the car and were holding its driver in jail.

How many people in Lubbock know that they can call for a policeman, or a carload of policemen, and get him, or them, in from one to 10 minutes? At 7:02 p. m. the patrol car was ordered to go to a wreck at 16th street and Avenue H; at 7:04 p. m. they were at the scene of the accident. The patrol car had been only a block away when the call was received.

Installed In 1933

KGZW, a short wave station, was installed in the city light plant November 26, 1933. It was a 50-watt station, in operation during the day and until 2 a. m. At present, KGZW, now 150 watts, is operated for 24 hours a day. There are five operators: Clarence J. Rollo, first class; C. E. Luce, Don Reeder, Ralph T. Portwood, and Glen W. Smith, all third class.

There is also a system of lights on buildings to be used should the radio fail. Those lights flash when the operator at the police station wishes the patrol car to call in.

"If the people would only turn in the nature of the call to the man at the desk it would facilitate their getting service more promptly," said C. E. Luce, City police judge. "If the call is really an emergency call, then the desk man can rush it over minor alarms."

PARENTS' DAY IS PLANNED

STUDENTS ARE URGED TO BRING PARENTS HERE FRIDAY

Students of Texas Technological college were urged to bring their parents to the college for the Parents' day program to be conducted there Friday at a convocation this morning in the gymnasium.

Dr. Bradford Knapp, college president, asked that parents of Lubbock students attend, as well as those from other towns.

Plans Explained

Plans for the day were explained by the president.

An amendment permitting three assistant cheer leaders was voted. One is allowed under the former arrangement. Students were not asked to vote on donation of 25 cents from each breakage deposit to finance a trip of the honorary cheering unit, the Saddle Tramps, to the Tech-Loyola football game in Los Angeles Nov. 11.

The board of directors of the college does not approve of requests for the students to donate funds from their deposits, Doctor Knapp said.

Best Not To Go

Arch Lamb, head cheer leader, Claude Thompson, student council president, and Doctor Knapp decided that "all considered, it is best for the cheering unit not to go to Los Angeles."

Doctor Knapp read rules for ringing of the college Victory bells in the east tower of the administration building. A representative appointed by the president will supervise ringing of the bells, which will not peal more than 15 or 20 minutes for ordinary victories and not more than one hour for major victories.

LOCAL VOTING

the county total had reached $1,696.

Ellis and A. C. Jackson, steering committee chairman, issued the following statement: "We want to thank everyone who had a part in this campaign, those who contributed no matter how large or small, and those who worked on committees."

Appreciation for meeting the quota and an appeal for a record Democratic vote was expressed in a return message from the state director.

Votes in the July and August primaries approximated 6,800 and 8,600, respectively.

"CACTUS JACK"

Garner to wear one.

"I would pick out my lightest suit to wear on a day like this," he laughed.

The vice-president was in fine spirits, but, as usual, refrained from talking politics. Friends said, however, he had every confidence the Democratic ticket would win.

He planned to spend the day about the house and to receive election returns tonight at home, possibly with a small group of friends.

Four years ago he voted and then went fishing, but this year decided to stay at home.

Mrs. Garner also was "feeling fine," but commented she would be glad "when it is over."

BIG VOTE

the outcome were John N. Garner, the vice-president, and Elliott Roosevelt, son of the president. Both intended to vote early, Garner at Uvalde and Roosevelt at the Benbrook church near Fort Worth. Garner was hopeful the result would be apparent by 9 o'clock tonight so he wouldn't be tempted to stay up past his usual bedtime. When he was elected four years ago, he turned off the radio and went to bed at his customary hour.

Dead Woman Found Sitting Up In Bed

GREAT DODDINGTON, Eng., Nov. 3 (AP)—When the death bell tolled from the church tower of this Northamptonshire village, word went round that Mrs. Margaret Bonham, aged 62, had died.

Two hours after the bell had ceased tolling and the funeral was already being discussed, Mrs. Bonham's daughter found her mother sitting up in bed.

She had been in a coma which had deceived even the nurses at her bedside. Now she is recovering.

Inquiries Made On PWA Applications

Officials of Texas Technological college disclosed yesterday that an inquiry has been received from Julian Montgomery, state PWA director of Fort Worth, regarding four applications filed about a year and a half ago with the PWA for funds for constructions on the campus.

The four applications filed with the PWA are for a dairy manufacturing building, $80,000; recreation building (auditorium and gymnasium), $300,000; two dormitories, $350,000 each.

The inquiries were routine, concerning ability of the college to pay back the loans and other such matters.

The PWA applications were discussed by President Bradford Knapp and Wyatt Hedrick, Fort Worth architect, during a visit Hedrick made at the college Saturday. Hedrick drafted plans for the structures for which applications were made.

LODGE SESSIONS SLATED IN CITY

Knights of Pythias of the Panhandle and several state K-P officers will come here tonight for a regional meeting to be held in the Lubbock K-P hall. Glenn D. Chase of Plainview, district deputy grand chancellor, will preside.

Frank E. Smith of Abilene, grand master-at-arms of the state organization, will explain the five-year program, which will be instituted in this region tonight.

A banquet will be conducted at 7 o'clock and will be followed by a meeting. Others on the program are Theo Yarbrough of Weatherford, state grand keeper of records and seals, and John Lee Smith of Throckmorton, supreme representative.

Between 75 and 100 persons are expected to attend from Wellington, Childress, Paducah, Spur, Perryton, Pampa, Borger, Channing, Amarillo, Big Spring, and Midland, said Dr. G. H. Ater, grand chancellor representative for the region.

the Negro vote then as he could expect in 1936, as some Republicans say. There are a few indications.

Hoover ran much stronger in Harlem in 1932 than in the rest of New York City. Large Negro wards in Chicago voted 3 to 1 for Hoover, while Chicago as a whole went for Roosevelt.

The Baltimore Sun poll shows big Roosevelt majorities in Negro sections, although Maryland Negroes—with the largest proportionate colored population of any state where most Negroes vote—have always been conceded to be Republican in national elections.

The Negro vote in Delaware has been one of the chief reasons given for reports that that state, for Hoover in 1932, would vote for Roosevelt.

Democratic Chairman John J. Raskob surprised everybody by trying to get the Negro vote organized for Smith in 1928, but made little headway.

The first big political protest of the Negroes followed Hoover's nomination of Judge John J. Parker to the U. S. Supreme court. Parker had been quoted as opposing participation of Negroes in politics.

His defeat in the Senate was largely due to a storm of protest received by northern and border state senators from Negro constituents. Many Negroes continued to hold the Parker nomination against Hoover.

Sergeant Taylor Is Recruiting Officer

Sergeant and Mrs. Rex A. Taylor, El Paso, arrived in Lubbock Monday morning. Sergeant Taylor succeeds Sergeant T. W. Mattson, local army officer, who resigned from the service to enter business.

Before going to El Paso the new recruiting officer had some service at Big Spring as recruiting officer. He has had more than 12 years experience in the army and is now on his fifth enlistment.

Mattson said before leaving he had a number of offers of opportunities and will decide on his future plans after spending several weeks at El Paso.

MANSIONS GLUT MARKET

DUBLIN (AP)—So many ancestral mansions are being put up for sale in Ireland that they are becoming a glut on the market. The only bid for the ancestral home of the O'Bierne family, Carrick-On-Shannon, County Leitrim, was $1,500. Hugh O'Bierne, a British ambassador and the last of his family, drowned when the Hampshire sank with Kitchener on board.

Terrible Pains In Hands And Arms

R. U. X. Gave Welcome Relief After Very First Dose

IF YOU are suffering from stabbing, aching, rheumatic pains, you will rejoice in the knowledge that a new preparation, known as WILLIAMS R. U. X. COMPOUND, is proving unusually effective in giving relief, even in the most stubborn cases. Just read this letter from Mr. T. D. McMennamy in relating his experience:

Texan Wishes He Had Found R. U. X. In 1931.

"In 1931 my hands, arms and shoulders began to pain me at night. It gradually grew worse, breaking up my sleep at night and interfering with my work during the day. The Pinson Drug Store here recommended WILLIAMS R. U. X. COMPOUND to me, and I noticed results with the very first dose.

"I continued to take it, and after two bottles the pain in my muscles stopped and the numbness of my arms and hands disappeared." MR. T. D. McMENNAMY, Hale Center, Texas.

Money-Back Offer

Other sufferers from rheumatic pains can try WILLIAMS R. U. X. Compound without risking one penny. Your own local druggist, the well-known John Halsey Drug Store, guarantees to refund every cent you paid if you return the empty bottle and carton within ten days and can honestly say that you have not found relief. AFFECTS WHEAT SEEDING

URBANA, Ill. (AP)—University of Illinois entomologists say that, considering infestations of hessian fly, three days' difference in the time of seeding wheat may make a difference of from five to fifteen bushels yield to the acre. This conclusion is based on surveys in Illinois and elsewhere where hessian fly infestations threaten the wheat crop.

Bolivia ranks second in world production of tin, producing about one-fifth of the total supply.

"Gly-Cas Is Real Blessing To All"

Years Of Suffering Entirely Eliminated For Mrs. Maples; Eats And Sleeps Good, Kidneys Fine, Work A Pleasure Now

"For years before I knew of Gly-Cas I had been badly constipated, poisons clogged by entire system," said Mrs. Henry Maples, 2022 West 11th Ave., Pine Bluff., Ark., "Gas would form after every meal I ate, my heart would burn, become short of breath and terribly nervous at times. The poisons soon affected my kidneys, up all hours of the night, could not get my proper rest or sleep and I was miserable at all times. I was hardly able to do my work when the rheumatism settled in my joints, limbs were so badly crippled I could hardly walk at all. But In spite of all the failures of other medicines in my case and my stubborn case of suffering — this new Gly-Cas made my case look easy."

"Gly-Cas showed me real improvement from the very first," she continued, "My stomach and kidneys were easily regulated, bowels fine and soon I was eating and enjoying my meals without any distress afterwards. I now sleep fine the entire night through, headaches and dizzy spells have gone entirely and I am feeling like a new person. Even that dreadful rheumatism has practically left me entirely, have new strength and energy and my work is a pleasure I feel so well again. No wonder so many people praise Gly-Cas—it is one medicine that does all that is claimed for it."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Store, 1217 Broadway and by all leading drug stores in surrounding towns.

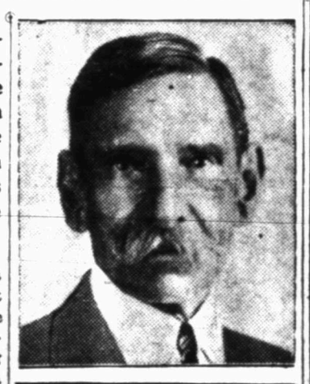

Gly-Cas $1.00 per box—6 boxes $5.00. Add 2c postage for each box ordered. Send money orders made payable Mark Halsey Drug Store. Don't send cash. Checks not accepted—No C. O. D. Mail Orders—Adv.

A PIONEER TEXAS LAW OFFICER SAYS VAN-TAGE ENDED 25 YEARS MISERY

Mr. Bransford, Aged 81, Widely-Known El Paso Man, Suffered 25 Years With Horrible Sourness and Gas in Stomach —Kidneys Got Him Up—He Says Van-Tage Made Him Feel Years Younger — Gas and Bloating Gone—No More Night Rising!

Mr. J. C. Bransford, of 3029 Pera St., El Paso, Texas, is the latest widely-known resident to come forward with a statement PUBLICLY praising and endorsing VAN-TAGE, the Amazing Formula of Natural Herbs and Other Splendid Medicinal Agents which is creating such a SENSATION here in Lubbock, and which is now being introduced to crowds daily in this city by a Special Van-Tage Representative, direct from The Van-Tage Laboratories, at the Mark Halsey Drug Store, 1221 Broadway.

Mr. Bransford is 81 years old, and all his life he has been a law officer. He holds the distinction of being the first Marshal of Alamogordo, N. M. He first came to Texas 60 years ago, when the West was still young, and during his long period of law enforcement he has witnessed the passing of many of the famous characters who made history in the West. He is known by almost everyone throughout this entire section. An endorsement from such a widely-known and highly-respected man really MEANS SOMETHING! His statement about VAN-TAGE and the amazing relief it gave him after 25 years of suffering will be read with interest by every sick and ailing person. His Remarkable Statement follows:

MR. J. C. BRANSFORD, 81, Veteran El Paso, Texas, Officer, Who Says: "VAN-TAGE Is Wonderful to Help a Man of My Age! It Ended 25 Years of Stomach and Kidney Misery for Me!"

Suffered 25 Years With Stomach and Kidneys!

"For the past 25 years I suffered terribly with my stomach and kidneys," said Mr. Bransford. "Everything I ate seemed to turn sour in my stomach and put me into an awful state of pain and misery, and the horrible stomach gas would bloat me up and press up against my heart until I thought it would drive it right through my ribs! Had to be taking soda all the time to relieve this awful pressure inside of me. My tongue was always coated, I had awful headaches, and dizzy spells would come over me so bad I would have to hold on to something to keep from falling! My kidneys gave me all kinds of trouble, too, as I had to get up at all hours of the night to relieve them. This loss of sleep made me feel tired and wornout when I got up in the morning.

"I read and heard so much about Van-Tage and what it was doing for other suffering people, so I made up my mind to get some of the medicine and try it, and I'm here to say it was a lucky day for me when I did, because it certainly put a stop to my 25 long years of misery! It had such a wonderful action on my stomach organs that I can eat ANYTHING I WANT now and my food digests like it should. No more of that awful soreness in my stomach, and the gas pains and bloating are GONE! What a relief it is to be able to eat again without all that suffering afterward! This medicine also worked on my kidneys and helped them so much that I can sleep all night long without having to get up to relieve them. The headaches and dizzy spells don't bother me like they used to. I am 81 years old and I think it is WONDERFUL to find a medicine that will help a man of my age. Van-Tage has made me feel years younger, and I want all my friends, and everybody who suffers like I did, to know about the amazing relief it has given me."

Costs Only Few Cents A Day To Take Van-Tage

SUFFERERS! The price of Van-Tage is reasonable, due to the immense volume in which it sells. You can actually take this Amazing Formula for just a few cents a day. So, if you are a victim of sluggish, irregular bowels; inactive liver; swollen, gaseous stomach; sluggish kidneys or the awful pain of rheumatic or neuritic afflictions, don't put it off any longer! Get Van-Tage—TODAY—and start feeling like a Real Human Being once again!

A special Van-Tage representative, direct from The Van-Tage Laboratories, is now at the Mark Halsey Drug Store, 1221 Broadway, Lubbock, daily meeting crowds of people and introducing and explaining this Remarkable Compound.—Adv.
