DENVER, Feb. 26 (Sunday) — Claude K. Boettcher stood firm this morning in his decision to seek out and punish the abductors of his son, Charles Boettcher, 2nd., as the zero hour passed with midnight and the lure of $60,000 ransom failed to break the silence of the underworld.

"I have stated my proposition," the wealthy father said. "I have no cause for retreat from it." Boettcher had previously said that if his son was not returned home unharmed by midnight he would spend his life and his fortune to track down the kidnapers, taking "such steps as may seem necessary."

No Word Is Received

Boettcher said he had not heard from the kidnapers since his ultimatum of Thursday that he would pay the ransom demanded if and when his son was released.

"It was a hard decision to make," he said, "but I made it and I will stand by it."

Intermediary Chosen

Boettcher disclosed the selection of the Rev. D. B. Dagwell, dean of the Cathedral of St. John's as an intermediary in the case was made by the extortionists themselves.

"Dean Dagwell knew nothing of it until he received certain letters with enclosures to be handed to me," he said. "He had not volunteered as an intermediary and I had not suggested that he act."

Dean Dagwell in an address last night, asked that the kidnapers release young Boettcher and pledged his word that the ransom would be paid.

Limit On Liquor Lifted By House

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—The house voted today to discard the present limitation on the number of liquor prescriptions a physician may issue, but senate concurrence at this session is doubtful.

Despite the absence of many wets, the measure was sent to the senate by a narrow margin of 168 to 160 on a roll call vote.

Modifying the Volstead act, the bill removes the restriction of one prescription to each person every ten days for one pint of whiskey or one quart of wine. In additon it permits the prescription of beer. It also lifts the limitation of 100 prescriptions to each physician every ninety days.

Two Grocery Stores Robbed At Angelo By Same Bandit

SAN ANGELO, Feb. 25 (AP)—Two grocery stores were robbed here tonight of an undetermined amount of cash apparently by the same armed bandit. Fifteen customers in one of the stores and four in another were unaware that the robberies were taking place. Descriptions of the unmasked bandit indicated both stores were robbed by the same person. The robberies occurred within a half hour of each other.

Explosion Of Gas At Well Kills Man; Damage Heavy

LONGVIEW, Feb. 25 (AP)—Explosion of accumulated gas at a well near Kilgore today killed Dale Fireston, 24, of Oklahoma City, and caused damage amounting to several thousand dollars.

The blast was believed to have resulted from a short circuit in an electric motor igniting the gas, which had collected on the McNeely farm in the Chisum survey.

PRISONER SAILS

COLON, Panama, Feb. 25 (AP) — Henry J. Toussaint, who was arrested here Friday and charged with having escaped from the Darrington state farm, Texas, where he was serving a life sentence for murder, was to sail tonight on the steamship Turrialba for New Orleans.

Mexico Asking That Clark Be Ordered Back

Hoover Accepts Resignation Without Comment; Roosevelt May Rename Utah Man After Taking Office

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 — After considering two days the resignation of Joshua Reuben Clark, United States ambassador to Mexico, President Hoover today accepted his retirement without public comment, efefctive immediately.

There was speculation in the capital tonight Clark might possibly be renamed to this post by the incoming president, particularly in the light of praise given him from Latin American sources. There was no apparent solid base, however, for these reports.

Asks For Return

The Mexican Chamber of Commerce has drafted a resolution asking Clark be returned, but Roosevelt spokesmen here, including Cordell Hull, the incoming secretary of state, have declined to comment upon such a possibility.

The Salt Lake City lawyer and diplomat told newspapermen several days ago he would retire, but said the time of this act was uncertain. He also declined to comment upon suggestions he might be reappointed by Franklin D. Roosevelt. His definite action in resigning, was consdered as a negative factor in this situation.

Drafted For Service

Clark was drafted for service in Mexico by the late Dwight W. Morrow, then the United States ambassador. When Morrow resigned to make a successful run for the senate from New Jersey, President Hoover appointed Clark to replace him.

The Utahan has established a notable record in public service. At one time an under-secretary of state, Clark also has performed important duties under direction of the department of justice.

Senator Walsh Returns To U. S. With His New Bride

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 25 (AP)—Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana and his bride, the former Senora Mina Perez Chaumont de Truffin of Washington and Havana, returned here late today by plane from Havana, where they were married today.

As they stepped from the plane the senator willingly posed for pictures and smilingly said to his wife: "This is what you get, my dear, for being the wife of a man in public life."

West Leads In Congress Race

Brownsville Attorney Is Far In Lead Over Field Of Nine To Select Nominee For Seat Of John N. Garner

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 25.—Wilton H. West of Brownsville, attorney, was far in the lead tonight over a field of nine Democratic candidates in a first primary to select a nominee for the congressional seat of John N. Garner, vice president-elect. Out of 19,445 votes counted from a probable 21,000 in the 15th congressional district, West had 7,411.

In a close race for second place and the right to enter the run-off primary March 15 with West were Gordon Griffin of McAllen, with 3,978, and Charles R. Tips, of Three Rivers, with 3,713.

The run-off primary will determine the Democratic nominee to oppose Carlos G. Watson of Brownsville, Republican.

Hundreds Of Ranchers Attend Funeral Rites For Sheriff

MARFA, Feb. 25 (AP)—Hundreds of ranchmen and neighbors in the Big Bend country journeyed to Fort Davis today to attend funeral rites for Sheriff Lee Sproul of Jeff Davis county, while officers continued to question J. T. Farmer, 19, charged with murder for killing Sproul, and two youths who were Farmer's companions.

Sproul was a member of a posse that had trailed three youths after the looting of the commissary at the ranch of Max Sproul, brother of the sheriff, Thursday night.

Bizarre Plan Of Youths To Steal Plane Revealed

Slaying In Air And Suicide Climaxed In Complaints

(By The Associated Press)

SAN BENITO, Feb. 25.—A bizarre scheme of five youths to steal a plane for use on a flight to Yucatan, Mexico, was revealed by prosecutors today as the background for the airplane slaying of Lehman Nelson, 33-year-old flying instructor, and the subsequent suicide of Erin McCall, 21.

With the filing of attempted theft charges against four men here, D. S. Purl, district attorney, made known that two boys had tried to take the plane from its Harlingen hanger Tuesday night, only two days before Nelson, substituting for Bill Williams, consented to give McCall a lesson to augment his nine hours of flying time.

Four Named

The accusations were filed against Gaylor Pitts, 19, Clois Lawson, 17, Earl Dodson, 17, and Vernon Bryant. Dodson also was charged with murder in connection with Nelson's death while flying the plane over San Benito. McCall and Dodson had been rooming together here for several months.

Purl said that a girl, whose name he refused to divulge, whom he had questioned at length apparently was not implicated directly in murder and suicide but several days earlier had heard several of the youths discussing their plans. Her knowledge of the proposed excursion across the international border, only 30 miles away, was believed to have aided investigators in arriving at their conclusions.

Purl made it clear that he did not believe that Lawson and Pitts were involved in any occurrence Thursday afternoon when Nelson and McCall took off from the Harlingen airport, flew to San Benito for a brief stop, then took the air again.

Shot In Head

Officers held to the theory that once McCall took off, he pointed a pistol at Nelson and fired when Nelson declined to turn the plane over to him. The ship was of dual

George Homer Ball Dies At Family Residence In City

George Homer Ball, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Ball, died at the family residence, 2007 Avenue R, at 1:30 o'clock Saturday morning at a result of a heart attack. He was enrolled as a student at Lubbock High school and had been suffering with a heart ailment for about seven years.

The body was sent last night by Sanders Funeral home to Collinsville, former home of the family, where burial is scheduled. The Balls had resided here about four years.

In addition to his parents, the boy is survived by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Ball of Collinsville.

Former Port Arthur Mayor Acquitted Of Theft Charge

BEAUMONT, Feb. 25 (AP)—A criminal district court jury here tonight acquitted J. P. Logan, former mayor of Port Arthur, of a charge of theft and embezzlement based on the alleged taking of $90 representing the proceeds of two city fire department pay checks.

Logan, in a jubilant mood, shook hands with most of the jurors.

This is the second time the former city official has been acquitted of a felony charge growing out of alleged Port Arthur payroll check irregularities in 1931.

Warning To Conservatives In Both Parties Is Sounded

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25. (AP)—A challenge and a warning to conservatives in both parties was voiced today by eight senate progressives who urge formation of a national-non-partisan organization to work the year round for liberal ideas.

The spokesman for the group was that veteran Republican independent, George Norris of Nebraska, who has openly supported the Democratic candidates in the last two presidential elections.

In a formal statement, he said headquarters for the organization should be in Washington and it should have executive and national committees similar to those of the two major parties.

Brady Rights Are Restored

Former Austin Jurist Granted Rights Of Citizenship By Ma Ferguson; Convicted For Slaying Stenographer

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 25.—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson today restored full rights of citizenship to John W. Brady, former member of the Austin court of civil appeals and former assistant attorney general, who served a penitentiary term for the fatal stabbing of Miss Lehlia Highsmith, a supreme court stenographer.

Brady was convicted in Dallas in 1931 and sentenced to three years' imprisonment. He was given credit for good behavior and overtime work and was discharged from the penitentiary on July 1, 1932, as having served his term.

Tried In Travis

The former jurist was tried in Travis county first, but the jury disagreed, voting 11 for the death penalty and one for acquittal. The case was transferred to Dallas county on change of venue.

Governor Ferguson said in her proclamation restoring Brady's citizenship that she had been informed Brady has been "leading the life of a useful, worthy and law-abiding citizen."

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25. — The Hoover and Roosevelt administrations united tonight to tell the world that America is in "general accord" with the action of the League of Nations in passing judgment against Japan's military policy in Manchuria and recommending peaceful means of settlement.

Out of a conference between Henry L. Stimson and Cordell Hull, outgoing and incoming secretaries of state, there emerged a carefully worded note of endorsement dispatched forthwith to Gneva where the League's momentous action yesterday led Japan to withdraw from its assembly.

The American cablegram was in reply to a communication from the secretary general of the League of Nations, Sir Eric Drummond of Great Britain, addressed to nonmembers of the League who are signatories of the Paris peace pact of the nine-power treaty relating to the orient.

The League cables, to which the American and Russian replies were eagerly awaited, expressed hope "that they will associate themselves with the views expressed in the report and that they will if necessary concert their action and their at-

VERDICT RETURNED

TAHOKA, Feb. 26. (Sunday). A district court jury about 1:10 o'clock this morning imposed a suspended five-year penitentiary sentence upon Mrs. Ola May Redman, charged with murdering Howard Chase, June 8, 1931. The jury received the case about 11:45 p. m. Saturday. A large crowd remained in the courtroom and milled about the corridors until the verdict was returned. Broussard And Long Fight It Out In Senate

Retiring Senior Senator Says Successful Nominee Had Won By Fraud; Bitter Words Are Used In Debate

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Louisiana's two Democratic senators—Broussard and Long—resumed their bitter personal feud today in a forensic dispute on the senate floor.

Broussard, the retiring senior senator, defeated for the renomination by the Long-backed Representative John H. Overton, opened up his attack with the declaration the successful nominee had won by "fraud, trickery and corruption."

Calls Him Friend

Long, who sat quietly by as Broussard spoke in a low voice that choke at times with emotion, waited until he had concluded before replying briefly to his elder in senatorial service, whom he called "my friend" throughout his short answer.

Broussard, leaving the senate after 12 years while Long has just completed his first year, pleaded with members to allow the special campaign funds investigating committee to continue its inquiry into the state's 1932 Democratic senatorial primary.

Trickery Is Charged

"I am not claiming to have been nominated," he said, "but I claim that the other candidate was nominated by fraud, trickery, corruption, intimidation, and by every method known to the racketeer.

"You can't seat Overton and the junior senator from Louisiana (Long) because Overton never would have made a campaign without a sign from the junior senator."

He charged excessive, unreported expenditures for Overton, said the evidence and witnesses were available to prove his points said he had nothing against Overton but that the latter had "fallen in bad company," adding.

"If he is innocent, let the committee prove him innocent."

Attempt To Solve Slaying Aboard Tanker Being Made

PORT ARTHUR, Feb. 25 (AP) — Authorities delved into a maze of conflicting circumstances tonight in an attempt to solve the slaying of John Antrobus, 45-year-old officer, aboard the tanker Harvester, as it lay in dock.

Two fellow-officers were questioned after the body was found in his locked cabin but no charges were filed. Antrobus, member of a prominent Norristown, Pa., family, was killed after returning to the ship from an all-night party with friends.

Public Hearing On Repeal Bill Will Be On Thursday

AUSTIN, Feb. 25 (AP)—Senator W. R. Poage of Waco, chairman of the senate committee on privileges and elections, today announced a public hearing next Thursday afternoon on the Purl-Woodward bill to provide for a state convention to consider ratification of repeal of the 18th amendment.

Poage said the committee would hear discussions of any other bill which might be introduced in the senate by next Thursday. Anti-prohibitionists were opposed to the Purl-Woodward bill because it would delay action until late next year. Convention delegates would be chosen in the primaries and general election of 1934.

Temple Man Informs Treasurer And Comptroller That Claims Must Bear His Signature To Become Valid

Meeting Is Called

Ely Will Ignore Order Issued By Denison; Says He Should Be Certain Of Right Before Issuing Such A Call

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 25.—F. L. Denison of Temple, twice denied confirmation as chairman of the Texas highway commission by the state senate, today set himself up in that office and notified the treasurer and comptroller claims and checks against the department must bear his signature.

Denison visited the highway department, where he exhibited his commission, issued by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, to Gibb Gilchrist, state highway engineer, and requested that W. R. Ely of Abilene and D. K. Martin of San Antonio, other members of the commission, be summoned to a conference for Monday morning.

Members Are Advised

Gilchrist communicated Denison's request to Ely and Martin. Ely has served as chairman of the commission since former Governor R. S. Sterling relinquished that place two years ago to become chief executive. Denison would replace Ely as chairman, but the Abilene man would continue as a member of the commission.

It was considered likely that Attorney General James V. Allred would institute court proceedings with little delay and probably submit the Denison controversy to the supreme court for determination of Denison's right to the office in view of his rejection by the senate.

Visits Two Offices

Charley Lockhart, state treasurer, and George H. Sheppard, comptroller, notified Allred by letter that Denison visited their offices and advised them he had been commissioned chairman of the highway commission and that warrants drawn on the highway funds by the comptroller and honored by the treasurer must be approved by him.

Sheppard asked Allred: "Am I, as comptroller, authorized under the law to issue any further warrants upon claims presented by the highway department without the approval of Mr. Denison as chairman of the highway commission?" And Lockhart propounded this interrogation: "Since the laws of Texas require the chairman of the highway commission to sign and ap-

Girl Uses Bread Knife On Father

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 25 (AP) — Oliver F. Wooten, 43, telegraph company wire chief, was severely wounded here today when, police said, his 15 year old daughter, Lorraine, plunged a bread knife into his back. The girl made a statement to officers saying her father slapped her mother during a quarrel and that she "could not hold her feelings," so she stabbed him. Wooten's backbone deflected the knife, probably saving his life, physicians said. Juvenile authorities are investigating the case.

The quarrel between the girl's parents was said to have started when the mother asked for money with which to buy dresses at a sale.

Minneapolis Bidders Given Red Bluff Reservoir Project

PECOS, Feb. 25 (AP)—After bids for construction of the $3,000,000 Red Bluff reservoir were opened here today, Engineer Vernon L. Sullivan, in charge of the project, announced that the successful bidder was S. J. Grove and sons of Minneapolis.

Terms of the contract were such that the exact amount involved could not be announced at this time. There were 32 contractors bidding for the job.

The dam will open for cultivation 100,000 aces of arid land along the Pecos river.

Oxygen And Blood Transfusion Given Cermak In Effort To Save His Life

(By The Associated Press)

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 25.—Oxygen and a blood transfusion strengthened Mayor Anton Cermak of Chicago today and one of his physicians said at 8 p. m. all present indications are that he will "live through the night."

Cermak's daughters, who went home shortly after 5 p. m. with the cheerful news that father was better, returned to the hospital at 7:45 and resumed their vigil.

Dr. J. W. Snyder—one of the attending physicians—said at 8, p. m. "we probably will allow the patient to rest" and "there probably will not be another glucose inection."

The latest report from Dr. Frederick Tice, Chicago, another of Cermak's five doctors, was that the ultimate outcome of the mayor's condition still is in doubt.

"Oxygen treatments will be continued indefinitely. The patient is sleeping naturally now. Opiates have not been administered.

"Heart stimulants still are being given."

The mayor rallied after the blood transfusion and tonight his doctors said he had maintained the gains made as result of the treatment.

Indiana Governor To Release Liquor Law Prisoners When He Signs Repeal

(By The Associated Press)

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 25. (AP) —Repeal of Indiana's prohibition enforcement law will bring an early decrease in the population of the state's penal institutions.

Paul V. McNutt, young governor, said today that soon after he affixes his signature to the bill erasing the "bone dry" law from the statute books he will pardon or parole about 400 persons serving sentences on liquor charges.

Most liquor law cases in recent years have been prosecuted under the state law, which was more stringent than the federal statute.

Governor McNutt expects to sign the repeal bill early next week. It was passed by the state senate yesterday after having been voted in the house of representatives several days ago.

"If these men were kept in prison after the liquor law is repealed they would be political prisoners," said Gov. McNutt. "I expect to turn them all out. No one will be freed, however, who was convicted of public intoxication or of driving motor vehicles while intoxicated. Those things cannot be tolerated."

Loans Of 1933 Will Be Made

Application Blanks Expected In Near Future; Murray Has Just Returned; Regulations This Year Changed

Taking of applications for crop production loans for the 1933 crop will begin in Lubbock county and over the South Plains, as soon as application blanks are received here, P. F. "Pete" Murray, inspectar for this section, announced Saturday. Mr. Murray has just returned from Dallas where, with other inspectors, he had received instructions from the regional office.

"We are expecting the blanks in a few days," Mr. Murray said. "The county committee has been named and it will pass on all applications.

Regulations Different

"Regulations are different this year. They limit the amount to be borrowed to $300. Loans will be from $25 to that figure, in multiples of $5. The total amount loaned to a landowner will be $1,2000 through his tenants."

Members of the Lubbock county committee are: John Denman, First National bank; L. B. Wright, business man and Earl Davis, Acuff, farmer. In addition the Slaton community committee is composed of J. S. Edwards, banker and A. J. Payne, secretary of the chamber of commerce.

Others Are Announced

Mr. Murray also announced members of the three other counties in this territory: Lynn, A. J. Lockwood, Tahoka banker; Jack Applewhite, business man and J. W. Elliott, farmer; T. J. Shoemaker, jr., O'Donnell banker, community chairman and H. G. Cook, Wilson, community chairman; Cochran county: Gordon F. Morrow, Charles L. Tyler and J. R. Patton. Hockley county: John H. Doyle, banker: Frank L. Adams, business man and C. M Elder, farmer.

Tentative estimates on loans to be made for 1933 crops, include the following: Lubbock county, 175 loans for $30,000; Lynn, 400 loans for $50,000; Hockley, 200 loans for $30,000 and Cochran, 150 loans for $20,000, a total of 925 loans for $130,000.

Counties Are Changed

Terry and Yoakum counties, formerly in Mr. Murray's area, are now in the district with Dawson, Gaines and Borden counties. Fred M. Warren, former banker of Abilene, is inspector.

Loans will be made payable November 1 this year, instead of November 30. Taking of loans will cease May 1.

O. G. Tumlinson, county agent, will assist Mr. Murray in his work of handling applications, under new regulations.

Some of the regulations for the new crop provide the following:

Some Of The Rules

Loans will be made to farmers who are unable to obtain loans from other sources; no loans will be made to individuals who have a means of livelihood other than farming. Neither will loans be made for the purchase of machinery or livestock, or for payment of taxes, debts or interest on debts.

An absolute first lien on all crops grown by the borrower will be required. In counties where fertilizer is not commonly used, the rate of loans must not exceed $3 an acre for general field crops and $12 an acre for truck crops, including potatoes.

Farmers seeking loans are advised a 30 per cent acreage cut is being required, except in certain cases where small acreages of specified crops are to be planted. No loans of over $100 will be made to a farmer who is in arrears on as many as two previous loans made by the secretary of agriculture. All advances will be made in installments.

Borrowers must agree to plant a garden for home use and sufficient acreage of feed crops to supply feed for their livestock.

Elmer Dean, Dizzy's Older Brother, Signed By Buffs

HOUSTON, Feb. 25. (AP)—The signing of two promising rookies—Kelly Scott, former star Rice Institute football player and Elmer Dean, elder brother of the famous "Dizzy" Dean—was announced today by President Ankenman of the Houston Texas League Buffs.

Scott was one of eight football players recently suspended from Rice Institute on charges of violation of rules. He has played amateur and semi-pro baseball for Marshall, Woodsboro and an oil company team. He plays at any position in the infield.

Ankenman expressed belief Dean, six feet tall and weighing 185 pounds, who played in the Ozark league last year, would follow the Dean tradition in the matter of colorful performance. Dean's father came with him here. The player bats left handed and throws right-handed. He is an outfielder.

Ankenman also announced the Buffs had sold Infielder Harold King outright to Elmira of the New York-Pennsylvania league. King was with Denver last year, and requested to be sent to a cooler climate.

The entire Buff roster, save for three pitchers, Harland Wysong, Mike Cvengros and Ralph Judd, is signed.

Much Interest Being Shown In County Play Tournament

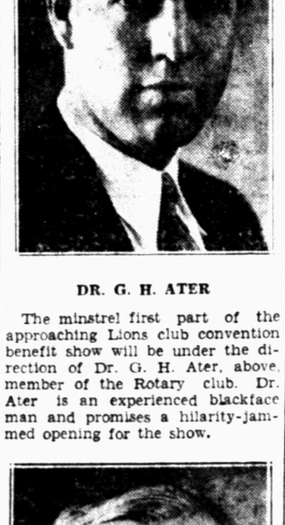

(By Staff Correspondent)

SLATON, Feb. 25.—Much interest is being manifested in the Lubbock county one act play contest of the interscholastic league, scheduled here for March 2 and 3.

Another Rotarian is lending his services to the Lions club in their show. He is W. W. Rix, above, who has charge of the second part of the show, a presentation of the "Hasbeen Opera company". A host of pretty Lubbock girls and leading singers will appear in this part of the show. The show is to be given on Monday night, March 6.

Malone Speaks At Pre-Med Banquet

The romance of modern medicine, beginning about 1860, was discussed by Dr. F. B. Malone at a banquet Saturday night of Pre-Med club members of Texas Tech at Hotel Lubbock.

The modern era of medicine, Dr. Malone said, has four phases, all essential to the progress of medicine, hospital development, and surgery. Although he termed the advance of medicine in the past 50 to 75 years as "phenomenal," he pointed that there were other advances still to be made.

Warren Poole, club president, presided. Dr. Bradford Knapp spoke briefly, Harrison Monroe sang, and M. F. Landwer read. Music was provided by an orchestra.

CONDITION UNCHANGED

TAHOKA, Feb. 25. (Special)—Condition of Mrs. H. C. Crie, about 63, who has been critically ill of a stomach ailment, was unchanged tonight, her physician said.

Mrs. J. S. Rogers and daughter, Miss Minnie Rogers, of Long Beach, Calif., are visting Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Kuykendall and family. Mrs. Kuykendall is Mrs. Rogers' daughter.

About Sixty Young Women Of Lubbock Entered In Contest

Winner Will Receive A Free Trip To World's Fair At Chicago; Votes Are To Be Tabulated On June 30

A round trip to the World's fair in Chicago this summer, with three days there, is the prize for which about 60 young women of Lubbock are working. The popularity contest is being sponsored by ten leading firms here, the most popular entrant being awarded the prize.

The contest has opened and will close on June 30 when the votes are counted. "Every one still has a chance to win as the final tabulation on June 30 will determine the winner," O. W. Ribble, chairman of committee in charge, reports.

Votes With Purchases

Votes are given with purchase at the ten cooperating firms. Ballots are deposited in a box at each place of business and will be counted once a week by the committee. Ballots for any person who has not signed an entry blank will not be counted. These blanks may be obtained at any of the places where ballot boxes have been placed. It is not necessary to make a purchase to get an entry blank.

Any woman or girl 15 yeas of age or over is eligible to enter the contest, with exception of employes or families of employes of direct sponsors.

Money In Bank

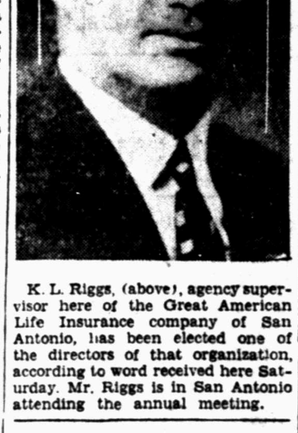

"Money for the trip has been placed in escrow in a local bank." Mr. Ribble said. "Thus, the winner is assured of the trip."

Full details of the trip and regulations of the contest may be obtained from the firms sponsoring the trip. They are: Meinecke brothers, Swint's Food Market, Stephens Dry Goods company, Sawyer's Cafe, Pig's Well, Ribble's Flowers, Bernie Phillips Tire company, Wylie-Jerrett Drug company, Heejy-Cheepy grocery, and Avalanche-Journal classified ads.

PLAINVIEW, Feb. 25 — R. B. Davis, manager of the Plains Cooperative, Inc., and former county agent of Hale county, has been named a member of the Board of City Development of Plainview. He succeeds Sam Weaver who recently resigned from the board.

Chosen Director

K. L. Riggs, (above), agency supervisor here of the Great American Life Insurance company of San Antonio, has been elected one of the directors of that organization, according to word received here Saturday. Mr. Riggs is in San Antonio attending the annual meeting.

Lamesa Residents Are Hurt As Car Overturns Saturday

Mrs. Nelson Cope, her eight-year-old daughter, Helen Ruth, and Mrs. E. J. Yates of Lamesa, suffered cuts and bruises Saturday afternoon en route to Lubbock when the car in which they were riding overturned on Highway 9 several miles from Lubbock.

The car overturned when another car crowded the women off the road in passing them.

The little girl was the most seriously hurt. She received a bad cut on her head besides others on her body.

After treatment at Lubbock sanitarium, the trio returned to their homes in Lamesa Saturday.

Texas University Plans Affair On 50th Anniversary

AUSTIN, Feb. 25 — The fiftieth anniversary celebration of the University of Texas is to be held jointly with the fourth annual Round-Up, April 28, 29 and 30, sponsored by the Texas Ex-Students' association, it is announced by J. A. McCurdy, executive secretary of the association.

Dr. H. Y. Benedict, president of the university, has been named general chairman of the entire program, and Reid Granberry, adjunct professor of electrical engineering is executive chairman. Program for the joint celebration, which is expected to bring a tremendous attendance of ex-students and visitors to the university's "new campus", is being developed by Mr. McCurdy and Mr. Granberry, with the assistance of Charles I. Francis of Wichita Falls, president of the association.

Invitations to the three-day cycle of entertainment and reunion will be sent out to some 30,000 ex-students, dads and mothers, fraternity and sorority groups and others. Plans to attend will be laid by many former students at their annual March 2nd banquets, held over the state on Independence day.

New Fast Freight Service To Oklahoma City Is Established

A new fast freight service from Lubbock to Oklahoma City and Kansas City and other Missouri river cattle yards, has been established by the Fort Worth and Denver, R. E. Stroup, local agent, states. The service also gives better connections with Fort Worth for shippers of this territory.

The Frisco railroad, operating between Quanah and Oklahoma City, has added a special daily stock train, known as the "Red Raven East," from Quanah to Oklahoma City. Departure from Quanah depends on arrival of the Denver train from Lubbock and Plainview.

"We have no layover in Quanah," Mr. Stroup said. "In fact, the departure of the Frisco train is held up until our train arrives. Cars are switched to the Frisco right away."

The Denver is handling considerable cattle and sheep out of Becton and Petersburg, on the Lubbock division. Plainview, Hart, Dimmitt, Sterley and Lockney are other towns where shipments show a substantial gain.

Texas Exes Plan Annual March 2 Reunion Banquet

Approximately two hundred graduates and former students of the University of Texas are expected to attend the annual Independence Day banquet at Hotel Lubbock Wednesday night. The banquet is an annual affair with all Texas exes all over the world.

Judge Clark M. Mullican is president of the local association and has made complete arrangements for the affair. It is scheduled to begin at 7:15 in the hotel ballroom. Plates will be fifty cents each.

An informal program featuring reminiscences of university days has been prepared. Each former student is being asked to bring his or her school yearbooks to the banquet and to read an excerpt from it concerning some other ex-student.

Reservations should be made to Jack Randal, Mrs. Clyde F. Elkins or C. W. Ratliff.

Plainview City Election Is Slated To Be Held April 4

PLAINVIEW, Feb. 25 — A city election has been ordered for April 4 by the city council of Plainview in which two members of the city council will be chosen. The aldermen whose terms expire are D. D. Bowman and J. C. Hooper.

The council also ordered the city attorneys to draw an ordinance to be passed later by the council calling for an election on the same date to pass upon issuance of bonds for the erection of a municipal light and power plant. These bonds are to be supported only by the revenues of the plant, Mayor R. P. Smyth said. This will be submitted to the council March 1, and voted upon in the April 4, city election, he said.

Exhibit Of Reproductions Of Paintings To Be At Slaton

By Staff Correspondent

SLATON, Feb. 25. — An exhibit of world famous paintings are to be on exhibition here at the high school March 6 to 10, Superintendent A. R. Ellis announces. There will be about 150 in the display.

"The Practical Drawing company is bringing the display here," Mr. Ellis said. "We want our pupils to see these famous paintings. There will be a small admission fee of ten cents, charged. Money from the display is to be used in the purchase of more pictures for the schools."

Many Quilts Entered In Show At Hodges; To Open Monday

Ages Range From One Day To 150 Years; Many Different Patterns Are Shown In Display At Store

WITH one quilt entered that was made 150 years ago and several other ancient specimens hanging, the Hodges Brothers-Avalanche-Journal quilt show is ready to open Monday morning.

Entries in the exhibit were received until Saturday afternoon late.

A total of 106 quilts had been entered late Saturday night. Of the entries, one was embroidered by a man, it was said.

The show, which is at the Hodges Brothers store, is to continue through March 10. Awards will be made on March 8. The first show was held last spring and at that time there were more than 100 quilts entered.

One Made In Scotland

In addition to the quilts that have been pieced recently, there are a number of antique coverlets in the show this year. Mrs. W. R. Adams, 1420 Broadway, has entered one that was made in Scotland 150 years ago. It is a flower basket design with a pattern cut out and appliqued on a white background.

A home-spun quilt that was made by a cousin of William Henry Harrison 90 years ago has been entered by Mrs. Gussie Gammill, 2305 Eighth street. The quilt is pieced in a floral design.

Made Before Civil War

Another of the interesting quilts has been entered by Mrs. Bruce Bryan, 1904 Main street. It was home-spun before the Civil war. A different quilt is an all-white one that has been entered by Miss Juanita Price. The intricate design has been quilted into this coverlet, which is in the antique division.

The popular designs for quilts may be seen in many colors and arrangements. Flower garden, fan, dresden plate, around-the-world tulip, floral patterns, double wedding ring, star and other popular designs appear on many of the quilts that have been hung for this show. Besides these common patterns, there are a number of quilts with unusual arrangements of blocks. Many of the coverlets have beautiful handiwork, particularly in the quilting.

Since one woman completed her quilt late Saturday and entered it just as the show was closing, ages of the entires run from one day to 150 years, Walter Smith, who is managing the show, pointed out last night.

M. W. Kerr Is Charged With Violation Of Liquor Laws

M. W. Kerr has been charged with liquor law violation in a complaint filed with U. S. Commissioner Victor H. Lindsey.

The defendants, arrested Thursday afternoon by police, was charged with manufacture and posession of intoxicating liquor and with possession of liquor manufacturing equipment. Bond was fixed at $750. Kerr pleaded not guilty. Police confiscated a quantity of liquor and a small still, they said, in a raid when Kerr was arrested.

FIDDLERS TO COMPETE

LAMESA, Feb. 25.— The annual old fiddlers contest for the South Plains and West Texas will be conducted here March 16, according to local American Legion officials who are sponsoring the event. This will be the fifth contest the organization has sponsored. Prizes will be given, and old fiddlers from all over the section are expected to enter.

Library Plans Book Display

Arrangement Will Be In Observance Of Texas Week; Nine New Books Are Added To Library Shelves

The Lubbock county library will arrange a display of books in observance of Texas week, which begins today and will continue through Saturday, Lola Mae Rozzell, librarian, has announced.

Three books have been added to the rental shelf, and six to the free shelves in the library. A small display will be arranged, Miss Rozzell said, for National Business Women's week, March 5 through 11.

Magazine Added

The library temporarily has subscribed to Business Week, a resume of business trends each week. If enough persons use the magazine, the library will continue to have it, Miss Rozzell said.

Some of the books to be displayed in observance of Texas week are:

Red Heels by Robertson, The Golden Stallion by Bushby, A Vaquero of the Brush Country by Dobie, Legends of Texas by Dobie, The Book of Texas by Thompson, Creative Arts In Texas by Smith, Life of Stephen F. Austin by Barker, The Log of a Cowboy by Adams, A Texas Titan by Oskinson, With the Makers of Texas by Barker, Social and Political History of Texas, and Pioneer Days In the Southwest by Goodnight.

New rental books are:

Forgive Us Our Trespasses by L. C. Douglas, The Years of Peace by Leroy MacLeod, and Invitation to the Waltz by Rosamond Lehmann.

Other new books are:

Human Shows, Far Fantasies by Thomas Hardy, World Almanac, Samuel Seabury by Walter Chambers, Jo's Boys by Louisa M. Alcott, Drifting Sands of Party Politics by Oscar Wilder Underwood, and Fifty Alphabets by W. B. Hunt.

Justiceburg Club Is To Be Improved

By Staff Correspondent

SLATON, Feb. 25.—Justiceburg lake, one of the few fishing properties on the South Plains, will probably have some improvements this summer if plans of officials of the Justiceburg Fishing and Recreation club are carried out.

S. A. Peacy, secretary-manager of the club, reports the organization has some funds and it expects to buy a few more boats and possibly build a cottage or two, if the money holds out.

Has 50 Members

The club is composed of about 50 men, mostly Santa Fe employes. The lake property is owned by the railroad and is leased to the club as a recreation center for railroad men and their friends.

For a number of years the lake has been stocked with fish from the state hatcheries. Last fall about 10,000 friers were placed in the lake under the direction of O. D. Cardwell, Post, deputy fish and game warden.

Closed To Public

It is reported the directors are planning a small charge for fishing privileges to non-members. The lake is closed to the public.

It is said the lake is the largest artificial body of water on the plains. It was built to furnish a supply of water for railroad engines.

A number of Lubbock fishermen as well as from Slaton, own memberships in the club.

Curtis E. Brown, of Slaton, is president of the club.

Slaton C. Of C. Is To Hold Election Of Officers Tuesday

(By Staff Correspondent)

SLATON, Feb. 25.—Election of officers of the Slaton Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development will be held by directors of the group Tuesday night, February 28, S. A. Peavy, president, announces.

Members of the board are: C. F. Anderson, H. G. Stokes, J. W. Hood, K. L. Scudder, J. S. Edwards, S. A. Peavy, W. H. Smith, G. J. Ketchum, O. Z. Ball, A. L. Brannon, W. N. Cates, "Doc" Castleberry, J. A. Elliott, Joe H. Walker and E. L. Hicks.

Junior Class Will Present Play During Commencement

According to Mrs. W. P. Clement, "O, My Stars," a three-act comedy by Howard Reed, is the play which the junior class will present during commencement week.

In keeping with tradition, juniors put on a play each year, the proceeds to help pay for the senior year book, which is published the following year.

Mrs. Clement said that copies of the play will be received this week, and that the try-outs will be held the following week. All juniors who are passing in their work are eligible for the try-out. Mrs. Clement, who was director of the senior play, will be in charge of the play.

Duncan Announces Only One More General Teachers Meet

With spring activities approaching, Superintendent M. H. Duncan announced that only one more general teachers meeting will be held this school term. March 18 was set as the date for meeting.

Departmental meetings, however, will be held every two weeks under the direction of department heads. The weekly meetings of the different schools also will be directed to discussion of the routine work pertaining to each particular building.

It has been the custom to have a general Saturday meeting every two weeks, but since the teachers will be engaged in the spring extra-curricular activities, only one other meeting will be held.

Girl Debaters Win Two Cups

Teams Place First In Speech Arts Tournaments Held At Amarillo And Slaton; Boys' Teams Fail To Place

Two silver loving cups reposing in Lubbock High school's exhibit case this week were won last weekend in speech arts tournaments at Amarillo and Slaton by the girls' debating teams.

A large 18-inch bearing the inscription, "Panhandle Speech Tournament-Girls Debate—Presented by Kiwanis Club," was won by Wildring B. Sherrod and Marguerite Spencer at Amarillo.

Team Spring Surprise

"This girls' team was the dark horse of the tournament. After losing the first debate, no one expected them to even give a hard fight, but the girls went on and won the tournament by defeating Hereford, Pampa, and Amarillo," stated J. W. Reid, coach of debating activities in high school.

If Lubbock high school students are successful in winning the cup the next two years, it will be a permanent fixture in the exhibition case, otherwise it will be given to the winner of the next year's contests.

Frances Simmons and Pauline Hawthorne won the small cup by defeating Ralls and Slaton in the tournament at Slaton. The cup can be kept by Lubbock.

The boys' teams failed to place.

Rules Are Given For Song Contest

Rules and regulations for the home-room song contest, a feature activity for the spring semester, were given out last week by John R. Freeman, chairman of the committee on plans for the contest.

The first elimination will be April 4, the second April 18, and the final contest in assembly April 20. There will be no instrumental accompaniment except in the final contest, and each group of contestants will sing "Sweet and Low" as well as one other song of the room's selection. Not more than three stanzas will be sung, and the home-room teachers may take part. The judges will consider the following points: melody—prominence of leading part, harmony—number and balance of parts, expression—volume, time, attack, and poise, varying numbers in group, percentage of students singing in each group and, differences allowable according as the groups may consist of boys, or girls, or both.

Westerner Cage Lettermen Named

Since the 1933 basketball season has concluded in Lubbock High, Coach McMurry announced the lettermen Wednesday.

The eight men who will receive first string sweaters are Jack Quinlan, Robert Stone, Odell "Possum" Blackwell, Russell Wilkinson, Robert Hale and Joe Lewis.

The 1933 sweater will be Captain Jack Quinlan's third award, while Stone and Blackwell will have second year honors.

Lovell "Peewee" Haynie will be given a sweater for his services to the team.

Intramural Volleyball Will Be Played During Noon Hour

As a follow-up of the intramural basketball tournament, which was held during basketball season, a similar contest featuring volleyball was initiated Thursday morning with each home room entering one team, with the exception of the study halls, from which any number of teams desired may be entered.

The games are scheduled to begin February 27 and are to be played during the lunch hour. Teams will be notified as to the date of the games so the members will be prepared to stay and play at noon as there will be no excuses given at the office if any one fails to bring his lunch.

Annual All-School Exhibit Will Be Held April 28, 29

The annual all-school exhibit is to be held in the Lubbock Senior High school gymnasium April 28 and 29, Principal R. W. Matthews announced.

All Lubbock schools take part in this annual exhibit which is representative of the work done in every department of each school. The gymnasium will be divided into sections, each grade school having a section and each department of high school having a booth.

The preceding exhibits have proved to be successful, giving the parents an opportunity to see what kind of work their children do. Each year has brought large crowds to view the exhibition of work. This is the sixth year that the exhibit has been held in the high school gymnasium, Mr. Matthews said.

Concert Presented By High School Band Tuesday Night

Before a large crowd in the auditorium Tuesday night, the high school band, under direction of H. A. Anderson, made its first public appearance in a concert consisting of twelve selections.

Besides the regular band numbers, six solos and a saxaphone quintet were features of the program. The soloists were Harry Blocker, playing the baritone; Richard Godeke, the cornet; Harold Humphries, the saxaphone; Colby Delany, trombone; M. S. Parks, bass; and George Dupree, accordion. The saxaphone quintet was composed of Harold Humphries, Felix Walker, Billy Lyle, Frank Blankenbeckler, and Robert Broyles.

Seen From The L.H.S. Flagpole

TWO new students enrolled last Monday. They are Carl and Morris Wood from Grovesville. Carl and Morris are prospective members of the 1933 football team.

Students who had their pictures made for the Tennis club were assessed one dollar to help finance the club.

Miss Nell Parmley, dean of girls at Lubbock High school, celebrated a birthday last Monday.

Waymond Newton has been absent from school the past week on account of illness.

The Boys' debating team will hold a practice debate Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock in room 192. Donald Henry, Alton Hankins, Edwin Butler, and Earl Walker are the debaters.

According to a report from the registrar's office, it was found that Wayne Prather was taken home from the hospital Sunday, and Weymond Newton was out of school on account of sickness.

Programs Feature Washington Theme

The home room programs on Tuesday morning, the day before Washington's birthday, were devoted almost entirely to the study of the life of the country's first president, while a few rooms had talks on Texas.

Washington's life was the theme of the programs in rooms 309, 222, 224, 130, and 225. Room 222 had a talk on "The Life of George Washington" by Dorothy Ann Pereau, and selections on the guitar by Felix Hocker.

A Washington program in which talks by Madeline Neves, Elizabeth Fox, James Kimmel, and Doris Townsend were made, constituted the program in room 130. Room 219 heard a football story by Anseth Jones and made plans for a future home room program, after which they practiced the songs for the home room contest.

The life of Washington was reviewed in Room 225.

Songs, and the discussion of poets largely made up the various other programs.

High School Golf Club Working Out

With E. M. Barnett as coach, seven members of the high school golf club have been practicing regularly after school at the Lubbock Country club links.

This club consists of boys of Lubbock High school, some who have had golfing experience. Edgar Doherty, one of the boys, was a member of the club last year, having won the championship in the city golf tournament last year. Other members of the practice team who have done exceedingly well are Rufus Ryan and Claudie Paulger, two boys who have made par on the course several times.

Others who have been practicing regularly are Truman Bradshaw, J. K. Bradshaw, Robert Dowell, and Donald Doherty.

The boys expect to enter a match sometime this spring with Plainview and Amarillo. The place for the contest will be decided later.

Play Is Presented By Honor Society

Before an enthusiastic audience of more than a thousand high school students and teachers, members of the National Honor society presented a one-act comedy, "The Man in the Bowler Hat," by A. A. Milne, in the high school auditorium at the assembly period Wednesday. The play was directed by Mrs. Odell Morgan.

The characters in the play were: The Man in the Bowler Hat, Maynard Knight; Mary, Julia Blackwell, John, Maurice Hughett; hero, Charles Truett; heroine, Frances Simmons; chief villian, Raymond Billings; and the bad man, John McNeill.

Outstanding Men Of History Compared At Latin Club Meet

"Outstanding Men of History Compared" was the subject of the Latin club program last Monday. After members had assembled in Mrs. R. P. Johnson's room, the president brought the meeting to order and turned the program over to the program chairman.

Julian Booker compared the humor of Cicero and Lincoln. He brought out the fact that each man always had time for a humorous conversation. "A Comparison of the Career of Lincoln and Cicero" was the topic discussed by Avey Leeth Smith. Another talk by Elizabeth Whitnack followed in which the careers of Washington and Caesar were shown to be similar. Opal McGaw made a report on "The Title 'Father of His Country' in Rome." The flag salute was repeated in Latin by the club under the direction of James Baker.

The Gens Togata was dismissed after the club had sung "America" and "The Star Spangled Banner" in Latin.

Boys Reorganize Hi-Y Club, Name Officers Tuesday

After being inactive for two years, the Hi-Y club, a high school branch of the Y. M. C. A., held a meeting in the boys' study hall Tuesday at the noon hour for the purpose of reorganizing.

In the business session held, Neil Wright was elected president; Raymond Billingsley, vice-president; Opal McGaw, secretary; and Lee De La Shaw, parliamentarian.

The president appointed Maurice Lloyd, Ellwood Patty, and Lee De La Shaw as a committee to draw up the constitution for the club; and Opal McGaw, Felix Hocker, and Lee De La Shaw as the induction ceremony committee.

Any boy in the high school who is interested in this type of work is eligible for membership in the club. Dues are fifty cents a semester. Meetings will be held each Tuesday in the boys' study hall from 12 to 12:40.

M. E. Witt, head of the science department, is the religious sponsor, while the social sponsor has not been chosen.

The eleven charter members are Raymond Billingsley, Julian Booker, Ralph Brock, George Dupree, Owen Lattimore, Maurice Lloyd Opal McGaw, Lee De La Shaw, O. E. Wilcox, Neil Wright, and Ellwood Patty.

The four new members are Walter Baughman, Gordon Abington, Felix Hocker, and Curtis Woodell.

MAY FESTIVAL PLANNED

Plans are being made for a May festival to be held in the open-air theater of the high school on April 28. Mrs. T. L. Mullican, Miss Velma McCandless; Mrs. Rosa Mae Burford, Mrs. W. P. Clements Mrs. Odell Morgan, and H. A. Anderson are cooperating to make the fete a success.

Librarians Hold Regular Meeting

Members of the Melville Dewey club, composed of librarians of Lubbock High school under the sponsorship of Mrs. R. T. Groves, met at the home of Nancy Jo Haymes, 1419 Broadway, for a regular monthly meeting Tuesday night.

Mary Thomas and Ruth Lewis were co-hostesses.

Miss Elizabeth West, head librarian of Texas Technological college, spoke to the group on libraries of Spain, where she did research work for the federal government for two year.

The club plans to go to Post soon for a regular monthly meeting and gather cactus for the cactus bed in the high school patio.

Those attending were Virginia Newton, Erline Heddins, Lillian Baker, Josephine Powell, Frances Campbell, Willena Nelson, Eloise Smith, Evelyn Spaulding, Sara Sue Stewart, Wildring B. Sherrod, Ruth Wagner, Ruth Black, Madeline Neves, Roleta Izard, and Carolyn Whitworth.

The next meeting will be in March with Ruth Wagner, Carolyn Whitworth, and Alice Graham as hostesses.

E. C. Quigley, noted sports official, once ran 60 yards for Kansas to tie the annual football game with Missouri, 66 to 66.

Moreland And Carlton Reach Finals; Croton Wins Girls' Tourney Here

SPYING ON SPORTS

BY COLLIER PARRIS

A COUPLE of seasons ago Lubbock High school had a star tackle, an all-district tackle, in the person of Rosser Abbott. There were few linemen in West Texas who could put anything over on Rosser. He was one of the steadiest, most dependable players Lubbock ever had. The other day he received the long sought for appointment to the U. S. naval academy at Annapolis.

Abbott got his appointment through the efforts of Congressman Marvin Jones, who considered some 176 applications from Texas athletes. Only two were accepted. The other is Bobbie Edwards, a former Corpus Christi athlete.

There is much speculation on the Abbott family and Rosser as well he might be, is pretty modestly tickled. He talked with Pop Miller, Navy coach, at the coaching school here last summer and made an impression. Miller writes to Pete Cawthon at Tech that he's highly pleased with the Texas applicants. "We need those boys from the southwest," writes Pop. "They've got the fire and the pepper and the ability we need here and I'm mighty glad they're coming . . . and I'll be back for the 1933 coaching school too."

SOUTHERN and eastern resorts soon will find the population increasing as the boys under the big top gather for spring training and another hot stove league season. Already the movement is under way. The Cubs and Giants are in their advance guards in southern California. Others are on their way.

While some of the big time clubs report their rosters full of signed players, others are having their holdout troubles. For instance, the St. Louis Browns have signed to date about two players. One of them is not Samuel West, who carries Lubbock's best wishes to the American League each spring. Sam told us recently he has by no means affixed a signature to the proffered contract. Furthermore he has informed Mr. McEvoy he does not intend to sign unless the ante is raised. He's supposed to leave this week for West Palm Beach, Fla. The exhibition season starts March 18, "and the Browns haven't signed enough players to play," says Sammy. But he's of the opinion that everything will work out okey doke and he's anxious to get started.

West, by the way, is the reason why the West Texas-New Mexico league should [illegible] success. Basing [illegible] on such a high standard [illegible] tion, the new [illegible] profitable [illegible] the best [illegible]

PRESIDENT [illegible] back home and ready to go to work again on the baseball club's program. A great deal of work to be done, by the front office and of the club. It [illegible] over in grand style [illegible] very few have [illegible] buying issue, and the [illegible] has met with [illegible]

From a publicity standpoint, the local baseball project already has paid off, since the news got around that Del Pratt would manage the Lubbock club nearly 200 letters from ambitious ball players have arrived at the local office. When the training season opens about April 15 the local population will pick up to approximately that extent, which should be reason enough to feel encouraged and optimistic.

THE final flourish to an hitherto successful basketball season for Coach Dell Morgan's Matadors will be added Monday and Tuesday nights when the towering Buffaloes of West Texas Teachers come to town.

This series holds much in store for fans who like the big time basketball as played by one of the nation's best collegiate teams. They may, probably will, lick the Matadors, but that's beside the point. The style of basketball as put on by the Buffs is worth anybody's attention who likes basketball at all. It's the kind that wins where the winning is hard, where they play the game differently and more thrillingly. The Matadors, who have improved from game to game this season, should be in fine fettle tomorrow and Tuesday nights. It will be a scrap.

SPEAKING of the Matadors, we are reminded that one of them, of the football type, lay on a hospital bed last week recuperating from a major operation. G. B. Morris, hefty tackle from Seymour, heretofore a trifle heavy on his feet but a fine prospect nevertheless, reduced his weight by the poundage of his appendix, at least. Dutchy Smith is counting heavily on Morris th's fall as a regular lineman.

Gus Wins Over Spec Goldman; Dawson Beaten

Four Down Through First 18, Moreland Rallies To Win By 2 Up Count; Carlton Beats Johnnie Dawson, 9 And 8

By BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

HOUSTON, Feb. 25.—Gus Turner Moreland of Dallas and Ossie Carlton of Houston will meet tomorrow in a 36-hole battle for the 19th annual Houston Country Club invitation championship.

Moreland, whose golf shots and putting stroke last year were good enough for him to win for the second time the Houston Country Club invitation, the Texas amateur championship and for the first time, the Western amateur and Trans-Mississippi titles plus two matches as a member of the United Walker Cup team, swept into the finals today by stunning David Goldman of Dallas 2 up.

Chicagoan Is Beaten

Carlton, a veteran campaigner of Houston, who in the yesterdays was a star Texas amateur champion and three times winner of the Houston invitation, proved today he still can match shots with the ranking players by eliminating that crack par shooter, Johnnie Dawson of Chicago, 9 and 8. Carlton did not plan to enter the tournament, fearing he wasn't shooting well enough to qualify. His professional, Willie MacGuire, insisted that Carlton enter, and tonight found Carlton in the finals as an even favorite tomorrow against Moreland. Their match will be over the 36-hole route. Carlton won the invitation crown in 1924, 1928 and 1929.

Nowhere in the colorful history of the Houston Country Club invitationals can one find a more thrilling chapter than Gus Moreland put there today through his sensational comeback to beat David Goldman, a club mate had defeated the defending championship four times in six matches.

A Grim Comeback

It was a grim and extremely determined Moreland who started the second round four down but who shot birdie after birdie to erase Goldman's lead and eventually emerge victorious.

After losing his lead, Goldman squared the match at the 29th hole with a par four against Moreland's five. Moreland needed three shots to reach the green and two-putted. With the match square, they halved the next two holes, Moreland dropped a putt at the 32nd for a par four against Goldman's five to gain a one up lead. Goldman got a good drive on this hole but he undercubbed and was short with his second.

He required two-putts. Both shot par golf with Moreland clinging to his one-up lead until the final 36th green, where Moreland won the match two-up when Goldman misjudged his drive, was short of the carpet with his second and needed two putts after getting on for a two-putted for a four [illegible] Moreland was on in two [illegible] four cards.

Carlton Takes Lead

The Carlton and Dawson match was everything but close except for the first few holes. Proving himself a wizard with 14 one putt greens, Carlton jumped into an early lead and consistently increased his advantage as the match progressed. Dawson had so many three-putt greens that even Tommy Cochran, referee, lost count of them.

Through the first 18 holes, Carlton was four-up. On the morning round, he shot 36-34—70. Dawson had a 38-37—75.

Many in the huge gallery that followed the afternoon round left the first tee convinced that Dawson would overtake Carlton, but the reverse was true. Carlton went five up with a birdie three at the 19th where he holed out a 15-footer. Another one-putt green gave Carlton a birdie four at the 21st and a six-up lead. Carlton went 7 up at the next with a par five against Dawson's bogey 6, and from the next hole on, where Carlton went 8 up with a par four, it was simply a case of how long Dawson could hang on.

U. S. Ryder Cup Team Selected

Walter Hagen To Captain U. S. Team In Biennial Matches With Great Britain; Gene Sarazen, Craig Wood Named

NEW YORK, Feb. 25. (AP)—The selection of nine members of the 1933 American Ryder Cup golf team, captained by Walter Hagen and including two newcomers, Olin Dutra, Los Angeles, national professional champion and Paul Runyan, White Plains, N. Y., was announced today by George R. Jacobus, president of the Professional Golfers' Association of America, for the biennial matches with Great Britain.

The others named are Gene Sarazen, New York, present British and American open champion; Densmore Shute, Cleveland, Craig Wood, Deal, N. J., sensation of the California winter tournament campaign; Ed Dudley, newly appointed pro at the Augusta, Ga., national golf club; LeoDiegel, Agua Caliente and Horton Smith, Chicago.

May Name Another

A tenth member will be named only if any American homebred outside this list happens to capture the national championship at Chicago in June.

Jacobus sent the list of selections from his winter headquarters, Sebring, Fla., after acting with other members of the executive committee of the P. G. A. The committee, he explained, was aided by the advisory vote of the presidents of each of the 25 sectional groups making up the national association.

Leave On June 14

The team of American professionals is booked to sail from New York at midnight, June 14, arriving in England in time for a week's practice before playing the British team for the Ryder Cup at Southport, June 26 and 27. The series consists of four foursomes and eight singles contests.

The selections, based largely on performances within the past year, contained few surprises except possibly in omission of Johnny Farrell, former National open champion, who was a member of the last three Ryder cup teams, in 1927, 1929 and 1931. Of the team that decisively defeated the British at Columbus, Ohio, two years ago, Wiffy Cox, Bill Burke and Al Espinosa also are missing.

Giants And Cubs Drill On Coast

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 25. (AP)—With their first exhibition game only a week away, the New York Giants pitching staff took advantage of a warm sun today for its second workout.

Manager Bill Terry and his coaches gave the greater share of their attention to the younger hurlers and catchers, although Terry, a bit overweight, had his own problem of getting into condition. He appeared in a rubber shirt today and soon had the perspiration rolling off.

Travis Jackson, who reported yesterday with his injured knees mended, spent most of the morning session instructing his understudy, John Ryan, purchased from Buffalo, at shortstop.

PASO ROBLES, Calif., Feb. 25. (AP)—Manager George Gibson of the Pittsburgh Pirates told his squad here today there would be no Sunday rest for the batterymen. Gibson wants his pitchers and catchers in shape for practice games shortly after the arrival of the remainder of the squad Wednesday.

Two long practices were held under a warm sun today. Hal Finney was relieved of catching duties because of blisters on his throwing fingers. Otherwise the squad was reported in fine physical shape. William Benswanger, a former amateur, is working out in uniform every day with the team.

Dickens Team Wins District Title At Tech

Shallowater Loses To Croton Sextet In Final Game After Beating Lamesa; Fast Games Feature District Tourney

A tall, active, goal-shooting sextet from Croton, Dickens county, defeated the Shallowater team, feminine school champions of Lubbock county and Quadrant 4, last night at the Tech gymnasium to win the first District 2 championship ever awarded a girls team.

The score was 30 to 24.

Shallowater previously had beaten the strong Lamesa team in a first round battle and appeared to have the edge before the final game started. Croton, however, had made a good impression by defeating Ropesville's girl team, 36 to 34, in a first round game. Shallowater beat Lamesa, 27 to 24.

Games Are Close

Fast, close games featured the tournament, which came about after the four entries had won their ways through hard quadrant competition. They all were evenly matched.

The Texas Interscholastic league does not sponsor girls basketball, but the district tournament was sponsored independently because of unusual interest in girls basketball in this section. There is no higher honor available, as but few districts hold girls tournaments.

A long-legged, light-footed lass by the name of White was an outstanding performer for Croton during the tournament. Last night in the final game she scored 16 points to lead the shot-making and help her team to the championship.

Bishop, Todd and McAuley were outstanding offensive players for Shallowater.

One of the closest games of the tournament was played yesterday afternoon when Croton defeated Ropesville, 36 to 34. The score was deadlocked at 34-all at the end of the regular game.

Lamesa Wins Third

Ropesville and Lamesa losers in the first games, played in the first tilt last night for third place. A trophy will be awarded the Lamesa team, which took a decisive 33 to 13 victory in the consolation match. Shallowater received second place.

Texas Tech Freshmen Wins Ralls Invitation Tourney

RALLS, Feb. 25. (Special)—Texas Tech freshmen cagers won the Ralls invitation tournament here tonight by defeating the Ralls All-Stars 34 to 24. Hardester of Tech was high point player with 15 markers.

In the semi-finals, the Tech cagers defeated Ropesville 36 to 33, and Ralls beat Wolfforth 33 to 27.

Ralls high school Jackrabbits defeated the Plainview Bulldogs in a post season game tonight also. The score was 37 to 34. Mabray of Plainview was high point man with 12. Jenkins, Arthur, and Walker of Ralls scored 8 points each.

High School Cage Champs From Texas Mopping Up For South Carolina Team

Tompkins Brothers And Henderson On Gamecock Five

BY DILLON GRAHAM
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

COLUMBIA, S. C., Feb. 25. (AP)—Four players on a Texas high school team which won two national championships have moved a thousand miles or so eastward and now are bringing visions of a Southern Conference title to the University of South Carolina.

In 1929 and 1930 the Athens, Texas, Hornets, coached by youthful Jimmie Kitts, bowled over all opposition in the University of Chicago's national interscholastic tournament.

On this quintet were the Tompkins brothers, Freddie and Bennie; Dana Henderson and John Rowland, Freddie, a forward and Bennie, guard, were voted positions on the "all-time, all-America" high school honor quintet, and Henderson at forward and Rowland at guard were named to the 1930 all-star team.

Through their basketball ramblings, they probably liked the idea of travel, and this may have been the reason they selected the far away South Carolina school as their alma mater. Anyway, they matriculated last year and led the freshman team through an unbeaten season.

It's Different Now

South Carolina didn't even think its varsity team good enough to enter the Southern Conference tournament last year but now it's another story and the Gamecocks have high hopes of their first loop championship of any sort.

Cagey Billy Laval, the little Carolina mentor, took Kitts' "ready-made" veterans added the senior Grayson Wolf as a forward, and has proceeded to clean up.

As the conference teams swung into the February stretch, South Carolina was the only unbeaten quintet. The title always is decided by tournament competition and this suits Laval fine, for his boys have had plenty of competitive experience.

Eight Over Six Feet

Previously, Carolina had lost a close game to Kentucky but the return of Freddie Tompkins, ineligible until February 1, gave the outfit the punch it needed to overcome the highly rated Wildcats.

Eight of the 10 squad members are over six feet, with Henderson the tallest at six feet four inches.

The Gamecocks have a couple of rabbit feet and a buckeye to ward off bad luck that may threaten from now on. Coach Laval and Rowland have rabbit feet rounded up by a negro trainer, while Freddie possesses a buckeye he found three years ago in Texas.

Cage Stars Tried To Enter At Tech

So anxious was the University of South Carolina to keep the former Athens High school cage stars that it would not relinquish the transfer slips on three of them who sought to enroll at Texas Tech last fall.

The Tompkins boys, Freddie and Bennie, and Dana Henderson lived in Lubbock and hung about the Texas Tech gates for three weeks waiting on transfer slips from South Carolina. They didn't come, and the boys went east again.

"We tried it up there and decided we liked Texas better," the lads told Coach Cawthon at Tech last fall, "but it looks like we'll have to like it there, anyway."

Von Porat Knows When To Eat Now

CHICAGO, Feb. 25. (AP)—From his hospital bed, Otto Von Porat today vowed that never again would he disobey his manager's eating orders.

He did yesterday with the result he lost his important fight against Tuffy Griffiths, Sioux City, and landed in the hospital.

The stately Norwegian heavyweight's manager, Ed Stevenson, ordered him to eat his dinner yesterday by 3:30 p. m. so the food would be digested by the time he climbed into the coliseum ring to face Griffiths. Otto rebelled. Instead, he ate a big steak dinner at 4:30, expecting to start fighting not earlier than five hours later. But the preliminaries ended quickly, and he was called in the ring at 9 p. m. After getting a wide margin over Griffiths, the Norwegian caught a stiff jolt in the stomach in the seventh round. He couldn't come back for more in the eighth and Griffiths was awarded a technical knockout.

Von Porat, reeling and helpless with pain in the stomach region, was rushed to a hospital. A stomach pump was used and he was little worse for the illness, but a great deal wiser in digestive matters today. Stevenson said he would leave the hospital late tonight or Sunday.

"Nothing wrong with him now at all," Stevenson said with a half subdued grin. "But he knows when to eat on fight nights."

BRYAN WINS DISTRICT

COLLEGE STATION, Feb. 25. (AP)—Bryan High school defeated Fayetteville High 29 to 18 here tonight to win the district 20 interscholastic basketball championship.

Four members of the great Athens, Texas, high school team of 1929-30, who now are making the South Carolina Gamecocks the scourge of the Southern Conference. From left, John Rowland, Bennie Tompkins, Freddie Tompkins and Dana Henderson. Bennie and Freddie were named "all-time, All-America" high school stars after the national tournaments at Chicago.

Football And Basketball Just Parts Of Texas Tech Athletic Program; Gym Is Full Of Men And Women Each Day

BY ED McKEEVER
Tech Sports Correspondent

THEY do things besides play football and basketball on the athletic side of Texas Tech's campus.

Over a thousand men and women visit the gymnasium and field house daily where they take part in various kinds of athletic activity.

For instance, there are 537 boys enrolled in thirteen classes, who participate in boxing, wrestling, tumbling and physical education and training routine.

Over 200 boys were out for intramural football, 20 for winter football, and approximately 756 boys are reached at least twice a week in all forms of athletics. With the introduction of tennis, indoor baseball, golf, baseball and track an even greater number are expected to join in some form of these sports.

Classes Meet Semi-Weekly

In regard to the physical education classes exclusively; each class meets twice a week and one hour class credit is given, without grade points. The routine work is discussed by the instructors and professor in charge. The chief purpose is to give a variety so that the exercise will not become monotous; calisthenics and basketball may be combined for one class and at the second meeting, relays, boxing, or touch football will be given.

As far as possible, with the limited means of equipment that is available, every individual in the class is reached through some form of exercise.

Shower Baths, Too

The classes last 45 minutes, giving the student time to take a shower, a requisit after exercising.

The girls department including 502 students in 11 classes. A variety is also given so that a girl will have an opportunity of selecting the event or sort that she likes best, giving her a chance to take advance work in that particular field.

The girls have a wide range of sports from which to choose; basketball, bowling, horseback riding, soccer, folk and clog dancing, indoor baseball and tennis.

Despite the limited gymnastic equipment, and with all types of athletics and meetings going on in the gym at the same time, a well rounded and thorough physical education course is given the students of Texas Tech.

Efforts Made To Arrange Post-Season Cage Series

DALLAS, Feb. 25. (AP)—Arrangement of a post-season series of games to determine the North American girls' basketball championship was undertaken today by Col. M. J. McCombs, coach of the Employers Casualty company Golden Cyclones.

He wrote to J. Percy Page, coach of the Edmonton Grads, urging a series in Chicago between the winner of the National A. A. U. tourney at Wichita and the Canadian champion early in April.

He suggested the playing of two games, one under the two-division girls' rules and the other under boys' rules. This would allow each team to play a game under its regular rules.

Canyon Buffs Beat Pasadena Majors, 42-30

Coast Team, Enroute To A. A. U. Tournament, Drops First In History To College Team As Towering Buffs Win

CANYON, Feb. 25 (AP)—The Pasadena Majors, en route to the national cage tourney in Kansas City, paused here tonight for a bout with the Buffaloes of West Texas Teachers college and sustained their first licking in history at the hands of a college five.

The final count was 42 to 30 and the close of the game saw four Buffalo subs playing the touted invaders on even terms.

Before Coach Sad Sam Burton of the winners yanked his regulars, they had amassed a lead of 36 to 13. Giant Joe Fortenberry, center and captain of the winners, led the scoring parade as usual, racking up 18 counts.

The Canyon crew closed its home season with this bout and has contests with Texas Tech in Lubbock Monday and Tuesday before they too take off for Kansas City and the A. A. U. tourney, where they are doped to occupy a favorite's role.

Baylor Loses Another To Razorbacks, 39-30

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. Feb. 25 (AP) Inspired by the spectacular goal shooting of Taft Moody, sophomore forward, the Arkansas Razorbacks wound up their basketball season tonight by defeating the Baylor Bears, 39 to 30. The Razorbacks trounced the Baylor quintet last night also.

Moody was credited with a total of 18 points, nine in each half of the game. It was the second consecutive night he ranked as high individual scorer.

Horned Frogs Down Rice Owls, 37-34

HOUSTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—A couple of students turned against their old teacher tonight in the waning minutes of a basketball game to give Texas Christian a 37 to 34 victory over Rice. Trailing by 34 to 35 with a minute and a half to go, Buster Brannon and "Doc" Sumner threw sensational one-handed field goals to lose for their old coach at Athens high, Jimmy Kitts, a heartbreaker.

Slaton Girls Win Over Roby Sextet, 33 To 30

ROBY, Feb. 25. (Special)—A hustling band of Slaton High school Tigresses swooped down on the unbeaten Roby High school girls basketball team last night and won a 33 to 30 victory.

Roby had not been defeated by a high school team this season, and is laying plans for victory in the Texas A. A. U. tournament.

The Roby team will play a return game at Slaton next Tuesday night. Smith, Roby forward, led the scoring last night with 16 points. Poteet of Slaton was next with 12, Alexander of Slaton with 11 and Saage with 10. The fine play of Slaton's guards was greatly responsible for the victory.

Roosevelt Picks Personal Friends for Cabinet To Insure Harmony

Every one of the nine men and one woman whom President-elect Roosevelt has selected for his cabinet is a personal friend of the next president, chosen in an especial effort to maintain continuous harmony in his official family. The complete cabinet is above: (1) Secretary of state, Senator Cordell Hull of Tennessee; (2) secretary of the treasury, William H. Woodin of New York; (3) attorney general, Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana; (4) postmaster general, James A. Farley of New York; (5) secretary of the interior, Harold L. Ickes of Illinois; (6) secretary of agriculture, Henry A. Wallace of Iowa; (7) secretary of labor, Frances Perkins of New York; (8) secretary of the navy, Senator Claude A. Swanson of Virginia; (9) secretary of commerce, Daniel C. Roper of South Carolina; (10) secretary of war, George H. Dern of Utah. Three were Republicans—Woodin, Ickes and Wallace.

Keller Leaves Lubbock Store

Carter-Houston Manager Will Head Large Store In Baton Rouge; New Executive Here Likely To Be Ellis Carter

R. J. Keller, manager of Carter-Houston department store here since December of 1929, will leave Lubbock this week to associate himself with Farrnbacher's department store at Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

Mr. Keller will become general manager of the Baton Rouge store, which is 78 years old and one of the largest as well as one of the oldest mercantile establishments in Louisiana.

Ellis Carter, of Plainview, manager of Carter-Houston company there for a number of years until the establishment's sale recently to W. O. Stevens, of Lubbock, likely will succeed Mr. Keller at Carter-Houston store here. At least that is the present plan, announced yesterday by James A. King, general manager of Sunset Department Stores, Inc., of which the Lubbock Carter-Houston concern is an integral part.

Keller Active Here

Mr. Keller leaves Lubbock after a successful tenure of residence, having been active in civic as well as business circles here. He is immediate past president of the American Business club, a member of Yellowhouse Masonic lodge and of Allen Brothers post of the American legion.

Mr. Carter, should he take over the Lubbock post, will meet many friends and acquaintances of years standing here. He has been a resident of Hale county his entire life and has been prominent in business and civic circles there for more than a score of years. He is one of the oldest merchants, in point of service, in the South Plains area.

Revue And Minstrel Show To Benefit Annual Dairy Show

PLAINVIEW, Feb. 25—Plans have been launched for the combined revue and minstrel show to be presented here by a group of local citizens for the benefit of the Panhandle Plains Dairy show. J. L. Hathaway is directing the show.

A. E. Boyd has been chosen as interlocutor for the minstrel and is being assisted in forming the show by R. C. Rousey, H. S. Hilburn, J. L. Hathaway, O. J. Sexton and Dr. C. M. Clough. Jack Woodward will serve as master of ceremonies.

FULLER GIN DESTROYED

POST, Feb. 25. (Special)—Fire destroyed the Fuller Gin here Sunday, February 19. Origin of the blaze was unknown. More than 100 tons of cotton seed was saved by Post firemen responding to the alarm. The Saturday night before a small blaze had been extinguished at the plant. It is believed it smouldered and blazed anew.

Dawson Plans Acreage Cuts

Reductions Of From 30 To 50 Per Cent Are Expected If Garland Cotton Plan Gains Passage In Congress

LAMESA, Feb. 25 (Special) — If the Garland cotton plan, introduced by Senator Smith of South Carolina, is passed by the senate and reported favorably by the house of representatives, becomes a law, it is estimated that from 90 to 95 per cent of the cotton farmers in Dawson county will take advantage of the plan to reduce cotton acreage here by 30 to 50 per cent.

Last year, the cotton acreage of Dawson county was approximately 175,000 acres. The usual acreage is 200,000 acres. It is also reported that unless some workable reduction plan is offered, there will be an increase in cotton acreage in the county this year.

The Garland plan is for the government allocate to farmers the surplus cotton on hand under contract that he will reduce his acreage of last year by from 30 to 50 per cent, the farmer to participate in the increased price of cotton as result of this reduction on the cotton allocated to him when it is sold.

Tht idea of this plan was presented to the agricultural department of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce last January by Judge J. E. Garland of this city, and was sponsored by the local organization as a feasible plan. Since than it has been studied by senators and congressmen and the leaders of the country, and is at present a popular topic in Washington.

Rabbit Maranville, 40-year-old second baseman who was playing in the big leagues in 1912, played more games than any other member of the Boston Braves in the 1932 season.

TAKING THE CHASE OUT OF PURCHASE

ADVERTISING benefits the man who buys as well as the man who sells. It is part of the Golden Rule of Business and it works both ways.

Don't miss the advertisements in this newspaper. Many of them are interesting just because of their news and educational value alone.

But more than that: Advertisements take the chase out of purchase and make every penny do its full duty.

This last statement is one particularly to be remembered when commonsense economy is not only a national duty, but an individual necessity.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

10.—Tailors, Hatters, Laundrys

REVIEWING THE SERVICES AT BRAY'S

We have accomplished what we have been striving for in the eight years we have been in Lubbock—A COMPLETE SERVICE IN ALL LINES OF TAILORING . . . below you will see them outlined.

HATS

Cleaned and Blocked

We are bringing right to the fingertips of the people of the South Plains, the very latest methods in hat cleaning and renovating, we have invested several hundred dollars, already, in getting the new equipment necessary for this new method. We know what we have, because we have gone away to the factories, and studied these new methods. We can give you a class of work that is positively not available elsewhere on the South Plains . . . and, you pay no more for these advanced methods. NOTICE—We have purchased a lot of new forms, including all sizes and types for "COWBOY HATS" and we can give factory-class work on these.

WE MAKE HATS

THE COMPLETE JOB DONE BY US

You order "custom-made" suits in Lubbock . . . you order "customm-made" shoes in Lubbock . . . why can't you order "custom-made" hats in Lubbock. We can make you any size, type or color.

Men's Garments

When you put on a well cleaned, carefully pressed suit in the morning you've started the day right. It's poor economy to wear a baggy, shiny suit when we offer the service for men, that we do.

Ladies' Garments

We take particular, individual pains with all ladies garments. You needn't be afraid to trust us with even the most flimsy of them.

We order "Custom-Made" suits for men. The finest quality, at inexpensive prices. We know how to correctly fit you.

ALL IN ALL, we offer you every feature that it is possible for a COMPLETE TAILOR SHOP TO OFFER.

"Just REMEMBER, whatever the job is, if it's in the tailoring line, it can be done at . . .

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 25 (AP)—Following the trend of the security markets, cotton reacted sharply today, keeping on the downgrade for almost all of the fairly active short session and closing with net losses of 17 to 20 points, equivalent to 85 cents to $1 a bale.

The opening was easy with Liverpool lower than due Private cables reported a small narrow market with light trade calling and narrow fluctuations. First trades here showed losses of 3 to 7 points due to the poor cables and in reflection of the Maryland bank holiday. The market continued to ease after the start and continued weak in the second hour due to rather general liquidation. Near the close prices reached lows of the day at 5.90 for May 6.02 for July and 6.22 for October or 19 to 21 points under the previous close. There was a rally of 2 to 3 points at the end on covering. May closed at 5.93, down 17 points net, July at 6.04 down 19 points, and October at 6.22, down 20 points.

Port receipts 10,812, for season 7,153,760, last season 8,397,785. Exports 4,729, for season 5,497,586, last season 5,658,545. Port stock 4,601,806, last year 4,795,311. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 186,115, last year 172,484 Spot sales at southern markets 9,307, last year 18,194.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 (AP)—A decline of about $1 a bale occurred in cotton today under local or Wall street selling and liquidation stimulated by weakness in the stock market.

May contracts broke to 5.91 or 38 points below the high price touched the beginning of the week and within a point of the low level reached on the decline of February 14. That delivery closed at 5.94, with the general market closing steady at net declines of 17 to 20 points.

The opening was 2 to 6 points lower with the decline soon extending some 12 or 14 points below yesterday's closing quotations.

Houses with Liverpool connections were reported among the sellers, and the relatively easy showing of the English market contributed to the decline. An increased trade demand was encountered around or below the six cent level for May contracts.

This checked the decline temporarily and there were rallies of a few points from the lowest, but the market broke again in the later trading. March sold to 5.82 and October to 6.23 making net losses of about 19 to 22 points on the more active positions, with closing quotations slightly up from the lowest on covering.

Brokers with Japanese and continental connections were reported among the buyers at the opening, while the decline naturally attracted considerable covering by shorts.

Liverpool cables reported a small market there with prices steady on trade calling.

titutde with the members of the League."

In expressing the general accord of this nation, the American reply expressed hope world opinion as expressed through the League would bring to a head the long and bloody conflict that has raged intermittently in the far east since midnight of September 18, 1931, when Japanese troops sprang to arms and captured the city of Mukden in Manchuria.

"The American government earnestly hopes," said the note, "that the two nations now engaged in controversy, both of which have long been in friendly relationship with our own and other peoples, may find it possible, in the light of the now clear expression of world opinion, to conform their policies to the need and the desire of the family of nations that disputes between nations shall be settled by none but pacific means.

Short and concise, the American reply began by stating in two sentences the position this government has taken toward the trouble between Japan and China from the outset.

"The purpose of the United States has coincided in general with that of the League of Nations," it said. "The common objective being maintenance of peace and settlement of international disputes by pacific means.

"In pursuance of that objective, while the League has endeavored to give support, reserving to itself independence of judgment with regard to method and scope, to efforts of the League on behalf of peace."

Stock Market

NEW YORK STOCKS
BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 (AP)—Security markets ran into further liquidation today and several commodities declined in sympathy. Government securities again softened, though their losses were smaller than had been declines in some recent markets.

A number of pivotal shares broke through recent resistance levels on extreme declines of 1 to 5 points. However, several of the larger losses were reduced by late short covering and final prices all around proved to be slightly above the minimums. Volume expanded to 987,810 shares, the largest Saturday business since early October.

Offerings of federal securities and other high grade loans appeared to represent selling prompted by the brief banking holiday in Maryland; stocks, in line with their recent habit, followed the investment list. Cotton had net losses of around $1 a bale, while grain quotations sagged.

Shares opened quietly, but were soon going down Widest losses were limited to comparatively few issues in the higher brackets, though selling eventually became general until better support appeared in the last few minutes. American Telephone reduced by a point an extreme loss of more than 4; Allied Chemical, off 5 1-4 at the worst, finished 3 5-8 lower. New York Central, Westinghouse, North American, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, American Can, American Tobacco "B", Woolworth, Lackawanna, Coca Cola and Union Carbide closed with losses of 2 to 3. U. S. Steel, General Motors, General Electric, Sears Roebuck, Baltimore and Ohio, Pennsylvania and Bethlehem confined their reactions to fractions or a point.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 25 (AP)—Cattle trade during the week under review felt the effects of narrow demand at most dressed beef markets. Packers took advantage of Monday's increased supplies to enforce a general decline on most all killing classes. Midweek however there was a reaction at some markets where supplies were meager and some of the early loss was recovered. A few markets reported a little strength for the week on the better grades of light weight fed steers but otherwise killing classes are unevenly steady to 25 lower as compared with a week ago. There was a material increase in the supply of common to medium killing steers while the number of good and choice offerings was relatively light. Stocker and feeder classes found a fairly broad outlet with prices at most centers firm to slightly higher. Aggregate receipts at eleven markets for the week totaled around 143,300 against 137,593 last week and 150,667 a year ago.

Hog prices fluctuated slightly from day to day and current quotations are steady to 25 lower as compared with last Saturday. Chicago had a closing top of 3.60. Total offerings were around 401,700, a decrease of 14,000 from last week and 152,000 short of a year ago.

Fat lambs prices the fore part of the week broke to new low levels for the season but later part of the loss was recovered and values are mostly 25-35 lower than a week ago, other killing classes ruled firm to 25 lower. The supply approximated 288,700 against 319,554 last week and 323,269 a year ago.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, Feb. 25 (AP)—Hogs 450 including 169 directs; market steady with Friday's average; top 3.25 paid by packers for good to choice truck hogs; load medium to good lightweight rail butchers 3.20 with pigs out at 2.50; better grades 185-240 lb truck hogs mostly 3.20-25; few packing sows 2.25-50 or steady.

Cattle 100, calves 200, including 150 through; today's trade nominal. For week: general trade in all classes cattle about steady; slaughter calves around 25 higher. Week's tops: heavy fed steers 4.60, fed yearlings 5.00; fat cows 2.50; stock steer yearlings 4.75; heavy fat calves 4.00; good to choice vealers 5.40. Bulk prices: fed steers 3.25-85; fed yearlings 3.90-4.50; butcher cows 1.75-2.00; cutter types 1.25-50; low cutters mostly 1.00; sausage bulls 1.50-75; stock steers calves and yearlings 4.00-25; heavy fat calves 3.00-75.

Sheep 50; today's trade nominal. For week: fat lambs 25-50 lower; fat yearlings steady to 25 lower; aged wethers steady; feeder lambs around 50 lower; best wooled fat lambs 4.50; most wooled fat lambs 4.25; shorn fat lambs 4.00-25, very few above 4.00; shorn fat yearlings mostly 3.25-50; early week's top yearlings 3.75; shorn aged fat wethers mostly 2.25-50; feeder lambs 3.00-75; latter price paid for wooled feeder lambs.

Grains

FORT WORTH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Feb. 25 (AP)—Good demand for wheat continued to the week end on the Fort Worth cash grain market. Other offerings here were fairly well absorbed.

Prices ranged as follows, basis car loads on track at Fort Worth, freight paid, delivered Texas gulf ports, export rate, or Texas common points Wheat, No. 1 hard according to protein and billing 53-54. Barley, No. 2 nominally 33-34. No. 3 nominally 32-33. Sorghums, No 2 milo per 100 lbs 63-67; No. 3 milo 56-64. No. 2 kaffir per 100 lbs 54-55. No. 3 milo 53-64. Delivered Texas common points or group three: Corn, No. 2 mixed 38 1-2 39 1-2; No. 2 white or yellow 39 1-2 40 1-2.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Feb. 25 (AP)—Adversely affected by Maryland financial developments and by New York stock market breaks, grain prices underwent sharp jolts today.

More than 3,000,000 bushels of wheat were sold by one house alone for a single holder who had run into stock market difficulties. Wheat suffered a maximum fall of almost 2 cents a bushel. All deliveries of corn and oats outdid season bottom price records.

Wheat closed unsettled, 7-8-1 1-8 under yesterday's finish, corn 1-4-1 1-2 down, oats 1-8 1-4 off, and provisions unchanged to a decline of 2 cents.

New Hope Farmer Reports Gathering 118 Bales Of Cotton From 110 Acres

S. D. Pate, of the New Hope community southeast of town, reports gathering 118 bales of cotton from the 110 acres he planted in the spring of 1932.

Most of the bales Mr. Pate gathered weighed well in excess of 500 pounds. The average was well over 500 pounds.

A. P. Tims, gathered 201 bales of cotton that averaged 570 pounds or better, from 300 acres. The acreage produced nearly 350 pounds of lint cotton per acre.

New Low Cost On Terracing Achieved By Hockley County Farmer; Only 25 Cents Acre

LEVELLAND, Feb. 25. (Special)—By using county tractors, for which actual expenses were paid, J. H Goodpasture, a farmer near here built three and three quarters miles of terraces on his farm at a cost of $6.66 per mile. The terraces are 25 feet wide and a foot high.

Around 100 acres were in the terraced field, the cost per acre being estimated at 25 cents. It required seven terraces on the field, which had a slope of 18 feet across the field. Had the slope been 16 feet, three less terraces would have been used.

The commissioners' court is loaning the use of county tractors at cost, when not otherwise engaged, to farmers for terracing work. More acres per day and at a lower cost, is obtained by this method than with lighter machines.

prove such claims I wish to be advised whether the treasurer should honor the same hereafter without the s'gnature of Mr. Denison?"

Allred said he was undecided whether to answer the inquiries of the comptroller and treasurer or to institute court proceedings to settle the controversy. He observed that regardless of what his ruling was, it would not be satisfactory to both sides and that it might be advisable to go to court and let the courts finally determine the problem.

Ely Breaks Silence In Highway Fight

ABILENE, Feb. 28. (AP)—W. R. Ely, state highway chairman, will ignore Frank L. Denison's call for a Monday meeting of the commission, he indicated today. In the controversy raging over Governor Miriam A. Ferguson's attempt to place Denison on the commission, as chairman, Ely had, until today, declined to make any statement. But today he said:

"Mr. Martin"—(D. K. Martin, member of the commission)—"and I do not know of any extraordinary reason why the commission should meet at this time. I recognize the right of the chairman of the highway commission to call a special meeting, but until it is judicially determined that Mr. Denison is a member of the commission I do not feel that I should be running back and forth to Austin at his beck and call, any more than I would that of any other citizen.

"When I have the time I shall be happy to meet with Dr. Denison to discuss matters pertaining to the highway department, or otherwise, but I feel that he ought to be certain of his right to call a meeting before he does so."

Zero Hour

itical parties and by an aroused citizenry, were carrying their search for the kidnapers to every house in greater Denver.

Midnight was the zero hour because Claude K. Boettcher, father of the missing heir, fixed it as the limit of time in which he would treat with the men who accosted young Boettcher and his wife in the driveway of their home the night of Feb. 12, carried off the husband and thrust into the hand of the trembling woman a demand for $60,000 ransom.

Provisions Specified

The elder Boettcher had specified the kidnapers must arrange contacts, collect the $60,000 ransom and release their prisoner by midnight "or else." He explained that "or else" by saying he would spend the rest of his life and all of his fortune relentlessly tracking down the extortionists if they failed him or harmed his son.

But as the 12-day period for negotiations ended, everybody in Denver appeared to be taking the zero more seriously than the kidnapers, if they are here as the Boettchers and police believe.

More Than Hundred Quilts Entered In Show At Lamesa

LAMESA, Feb. 25 — The second annual quilt show in Lamesa registered 105 quilts, said W. B. Collins, in charge of registration. Mr. Collins said 85 quilts were registered last year.

Quilts were entered this year from Lubbock, Seminole, O'Donnell, and Lamesa. The oldest quilt was entered by S. R. Senter, and was made in 1790. Other old quilts were made in 1825, 1829, 1852, 1854, and 1860. Quilts made by a woman 89 years old and a girl 7 years of age were shown. One of the most unique entries was a quilt made by a man, C. N. Eastman, 64 years old. It contains 7,860 pieces. Another quilt, the material of which was gathered from 8 states, was displayed.

Danciger Loses Fight To Halt Panhandle Proration

FORT WORTH, Feb. 25 (AP)—Danciger Oil and Refining company and Petroleum Refractionating company failed in their effort to halt proration of its production in the Panhandle field here today when Federal Judge James C. Wilson denied plea for a temporary restraining order.

Judge Wilson granted injunctions to the state against four East Texas operators. They were Lide-Rowe Oil company, Lide-Tayloe Oil company, Bill and Dave Oil company and Gaynita Oil company.

Tax Payments Half Way In

City And County Owners Have Paid About 53.1 Per Cent; Total Figures Are Announced Past Week

Lubbock city and county property owners have paid about 53.1 per cent of the 1932 assessments of independent school district, city, county, and state taxes.

Figures released last week showed that total payments approximated $317,569, as compared with assessments of $597,843. More than $280,000 in 1932 taxes became delinquent Feb. 1.

Lubbock county's voting strength was cut almost in half by a decline in payment of toll taxes, H. B. Bryan, deputy tax collector said. Bryan reported 3,716 persons had paid poll taxes. He estimated enough permanent and temporary exemptions had been issued to bring the total to 4,000. In 1932, about 7,700 Lubbock county residents were entitled to vote.

Approximately $108,000 of an assessment of $197,000 for school taxes was paid, A. C. Jackson, schools manager, said. He said that 1931 collections had approximated 61 per cent of the assessment.

City and property owners paid 55.9 per cent of current assessments, the largest percentage paid by any one group of the tax payers. R. A. Holland, city assessor and collector, reported current collect'ons of $67,468.78 comparable with assessments of $120,685.99.

Bryan reported collection of $78,441.13 of a state assessment of $154,654.09, and collection of $63,659.94 of a county assessment of $125,503.31. The percentage is approximately 50.8.

Jap Offensive

defending forces, composed of Chinese irregulars and volunteers.

Five thousand Chinese volunteers were defeated near Yiliangpu and were fleeing in confusion toward Hsingmengkungsu, according to word from the front, and the Japanese also reported vanquishing the Chinese at Taotehyingtsu and Chinmungunsu, near Kailu.

Planes Get Busy

Japanese airplanes for the first time in the present campaign got into operation on a major scale. They almost annihilated 1,300 retreating Chinese near Chaoyang, the Japanese reported.

Independent observers said too much significance should not be attached to the Japanese successes thus far because the invaders have encountered only the weak outer fringe of the Chinese forces, composed of tattered irregulars and volunteers, the real resistance will come only when the Japanese reach the Chinese first line of defense running from Chihfeng, about midway between Kailu and Jehol City, to Wukungfu, there Governor Tang Gyu-Lin of Jehol and Marshal Chang Hsiao-Liang, North China war lord, have 80,000 trained regulars.

The object of the big drive is to capture Jehol City, once the site of the summer palace of the Manchu emperors, the southern spearhead is the closest to this objective. From Chaoyang to Jehol City is about 125 miles, but the invaders must make their way over mountainous country excellent for defense.

The army of Manchukuo is participating in the drive with Japanese regulars. Manchukuo headquarters soon will be established in Kailu. Subsequently, according to the army plan, it will be set up at Chihfeng and finally in Jehol City itself.

A public proclamation issued today by General Nobuyoshi Muto, Commander-in-chief over all the Japanese Manchurian forces, was interpreted by some foreign observers as meaning that the eventual invasion of Peiping, the ancient capital of China below the great wall, was inevitable.

"Should the Chinese undertake positive military action against our troops," the proclamation said, "the hostilites may inevitably spread to North China, responsibility for which must be borne by the Chinese authorities."

Japanese officials declare that Chinese who had surrendered already were cooperating with the Manchukuo army to defeat their former comrades. Several thousand Mongolian troops allegedly joined the Japanese at Suitung.

Chinese cannonading in the vicinity of Shanhaikwan, the city at the eastern end of the great wall seized by the Japanese early in January, continues day and night, the purpose apparently being to divert the Japanese who, however, have refused to be impressed by it.

Redman Trial

if she could not have him no other woman could.

The state rested its case at 4:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, and testimony was closed at 9 o'clock tonight. Special Judge J. E. Garland read a usual murder charge to jurors, and arguments began at 9:30 o'clock. Attorneys for Mrs. Redman filed a motion for a suspended sentence.

Nelson Closes Arguments

Arguments were begun by Truett Smith, Lynn county attorney, who spoke 20 minutes. N. C. Outlaw and J. E. Vickers, defense attorneys, each spoke 30 minutes. District Attorney Nelson closed with a 40-minute appeal for conviction. The state did not ask for a specific sentence.

Mrs. Redman, through questioning Friday by her attorneys, testified she was afraid of Chase, and that on the night he was killed she fired one shot.

Don Jones Gives Data On Roadside Tree Planting; Elms Are Preferred

Importance Of Work To Section Cited By Station Man

EDITOR'S NOTE:—This is the second of a series of articles by Don L. Jones, manager of the state experiment sub-station here, on care, planting and pruning of trees. In the main, these articles are taken from bulletin 447, "Trees and Shrubs in Northwest Texas", compiled by Mr. Jones for the state extension service. Copies may be obtained by writing A. B. Conner, director, College Station.

BY DON L. JONES

DURING the past ten years considerable interest has been manifested in roadside planting of trees. Possibly a great deal of the interest can be traced directly to the general use of the automobile, as people returning from heavily wooded sections where the roads are fringed with beautiful trees, have been so impressed that they desired to improve their own highways.

Well planted highways convey the impression of a prosperous and interested citizenship. Fortunately Texas has a highway commission sufficiently interested that they will take care of the trees once they are planted.

Should Have Plantings

In rolling countries the most pleasing effect is produced by irregularly spaced trees and group plantings. Level sections with straight roads like the South Plains should have more formal plantings, with trees spaced a regular distance of not less than 30 feet.

At the present time the two best trees for roadside planting in West Texas are the Chinese Elm and Honey Locust.

Sent To U. S. In 1908

The Chinese elm is native to Northern China and Manchuria where it is used as an avenue, shade and timber tree. Frank H. Meyer, agricultural explorer for the office of foreign seed and plant introduction, U. S. department of agriculture, first collected seed of the species at Fengrai, near Peking, China, and sent them to Washington during March, 1908.

The Lubbock station introduced the Chinese elm into West Texas, determined its adaptability and value and distributed it widely in this region. Before a seed supply was available in this country a number of importations of seed from China were made and thousands of sections were grown and distributed throughout the state.

Foliages Earlier

Leaves of the elm somewhat resemble the American elm, but are smaller and more narrow and give a very dense, dark green appeaarnce. At Lubbock it puts out its first leaves between the middle and last of March, averaging 17 days earlier than the American elm and 23 days earlier than the black locust. Leaves usually fall between November 20 and December 1. It has an extensive surface rooting system, which probably is one of the main reasons it has proved so valuable in all subhumid regions. It is one of the easiest trees to transplant, either as seedlings or even after trees are large.

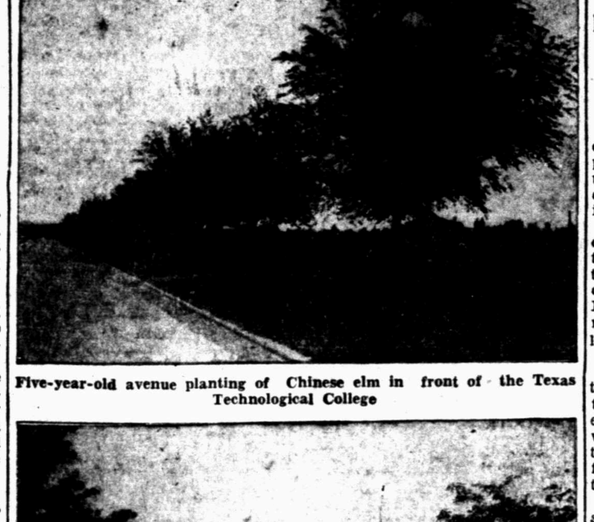

Seed Ripens In April

The seed crop is uncertain because of severe freezing weather often encountered during late March although the trees bloom freely each spring. At Lubbock only three seed crops have been made during the past six years. Seed usually ripens in April and should be planted as soon after maturity as possible.

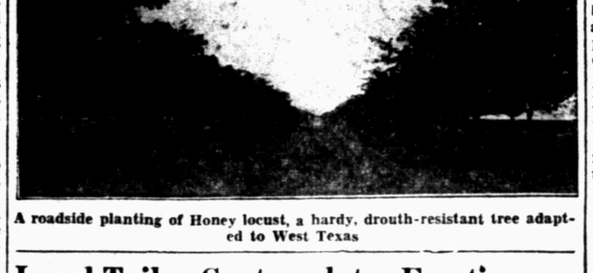

The Honey locust is often confused with the Black locust, which because so readily destroyed by borers, is unpopular in this region. As a result few plantings of Honey locusts have been made. It is a long-lived, fast growing tree with light, feathery, fern-like foilage. It puts out its leaves April 10 to 20 and drops them about the first of November. The white flowers which appear between April 20 and 30 lasting ten days, present an unusually attractive sight and their sweet fragrant odor permeates the atmosphere for a considerable distance. The out-spreading branches with their foliage and the broad, rather loose head, make it a graceful tree, furnishing limited shade.

A number of five to six foot trees, set out in 1918, as a windbreak, spaced 20 feet apart, had attained by 1926 an average height of 25 feet and a diamcter of six inches. By the end of 1931 growing season they were 30 feet high, had a spread of 26 feet and a diameter of 9.6 inches.

Its disadvantage for lawn and avenue planting are the long, sharp spines and the litter caused from seed pods. However, spineless strains are available and if the thornless forms are planted the Honey locust can be recommended as one of the best and most hardy trees.

Local Tailor Contemplates Erection Of Hat Factory Here After Meeting With Good Success On Small Scale

After experiencing unusual activity in the work for the past two weeks, Bill Bray, local tailor, is contemplating the establishment here of a hat factory on a large scale, he said Saturday. Should demand for hand made hats continue in this section as it has in the past ten days, Bray declared he would start negotiations for the factory.

Bray has been manufacturing hats on a small scale since February 10. During that time he has sold 50 "Bray-made" hats in Lubbock and vicinity.

Attended School in Dallas

Recently Bray and several of his employes attended a hat-making school in Dallas where they learned the fundamentals of hat manufacturing in order to be able to give better blocking service.

After returning from the school, Bray purchased approximately $1,000 worth of equipment and begun the manufacture of hats. His small plant has been taxed to capacity since he began the work, he said.

Employes Staff Of Twelve

A number of attractive styles and shapes are being made in the hats, their low price being featured.

Bray has a staff of twelve employed in his two plants here, several of which are engaged in hat blocking and manufacturing. He said he would have to double the staff if the demand for Lubbock hand made hats continued.

Ranges near Vinita, Okla., covering 30 square miles were the scene of the 1932 southwestern field trials.

Improvements Made During Week On Plainview Park

PLAINVIEW, Feb. 25. (Special)—Improvements have been underway this week at the Rotary park, a corner in the city park of Plainview.

Large stones from the caprock have been moved to the park and an ornamental curb constructed from them at two corners of the plat. In one there is a Rotary emblem, constructed of stone and concrete, and in the other the emblem of the Boy Scouts has been similarly outlined.

The park is a memorial to Judge L. S. Kinder, early day attorney and public official. Judge Kinder was faithful and enthusiastic in his labors in behalf of the Boy Scouts of the area and had a close affinity for his Rotary club associates.

Garden Club's Tree Planting Is Progressing

Planting On Highway 24 Nearly Completed; More Trees Are Needed For Planting On Other Routes

The first leg of the Lubbock Garden club's highway tree planting program was almost complete Saturday and preparations were started to plant the second highway leading from the city.

About 600 trees have been planted on Highway 24 east of the city to the state experiment farm. About the same amount will be planted on Highway 137 leading toward Brownfield, work to start sometime next week, Mrs. Clark M. Mullican, president, announced Saturday.

R. F. C. Funds Used

Don L. Jones, superintendent of the experiment station, aided in the planting on Highway 24. Workers were furnished by the local work committee of the Reconstruction Finance coroporation. RFC funds for unemployment were used to pay the men.

Mrs. Mullican said the club was still in need of a number of trees to complete the planting program on five highways leading from Lubbock. Highway 9 north and south and Highway 7 northwest are to be planted after the Brownfield project is complete.

Planting of trees on the Slaton highway and Highway 24 west toward Levelland will be delayed due to right of way developments.

C. D. McGeehee, city park superintendent, is to have charge of the tree planting on Highway 137.

Day Of Prayer Arranged Here For This Week

Local Observance Of World Day Of Prayer Is Planned By Church Federation For All Day Friday

JOINING with other women over Christendom, church women of the city are to observe a world day of prayer next Friday at Saint Paul's Episcopal church. The services are to begin at 9:30 a. m. and will continue until 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

This program is given annually on the first Friday in Lent. It is promoted by the National Council of Federated Church Women.

The Church Women's Federation here is sponsoring the local services and Mrs. C. A. Bickley, president, has announced the following subjects and leaders for the day:

General subject for the program—"Follow Thou Me"; 9:30—Introduction, Episcopal women in charge, with Mrs. J. L. Barstow as leader; 10:30 — "Intercession for Church Leaders", Baptist women, led by Mrs. Campbell; 1 o'clock—"Intercession for Our Nation", Christian women, led by Mrs. R. A. Mills; 2 o'clock—"Intercession for International Relations," Nazarene women, led by Mrs. R. M. Hocker; 3 o'clock "A Service of Consecration", Presbyterian women, led by Mrs. A. H. Leidigh.

Certificates Are Presented Sixty

Certificates for a leadership course in Girl Scout work were presented to 60 at Seaman hall Friday evening by Miss Alice Mulkey, national field worker, who conducted the course last week. Sixty-seven had enrolled. Dr. J. T. Hutchinson showed the group motion pictures of Camp Mary White at Roswell, N. M., and showed pictures that he took when touring Europe.

Miss Mulkey left Saturday morning for Amarillo, headquarters for her work.

There was an attendance of 100 at Seaman hall Friday evening, according to Miss Alma Girand, local executive.

Club Members Attend Picnic

Junior Assembly Club Has Outing At Buffalo Springs Friday Evening; Supper Is Picnic Style

The Junior Assembly club enjoyed an outing at Buffalo Springs Friday evening. A picnic supper was served.

Mesdames C. E. Hunt, Hub Jones and E. L. Klett were chaperones.

Members attending were Durwood Howell, Billie Bob Jones, Katherine Klett, J. B. Wilson, Billy Dykes, Frances Burns, Frank Blankenbeckler, Elva Mae Hunt, Kendrick Green, Beatrice Mills, Dick Cook, Kenneth Leslie, Baxter Bardwell Rufus Ryan, Marion Denman, Marguerite Spencer, Billye Bloom, Bowlden Johnson, Ethel Murray, Tol Terrell, Truman Hutson, Nancy Ruth Leaverton, Kathryn Weaver Dawson Bridgeman, Dinaween Bridgeman, J. Miss Puckett And Mr. Glass Marry

Miss Elizabeth Puckett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Puckett, and Howard Glass were married Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the home of the bride's parents near town with the Rev. W. N. Jackson officiating.

The bride's brother, Raymond Puckett, was best man and Miss Frances Mundell of Amarillo attended the bride. Mrs. John W. Agnue played the wedding march.

Mr. and Mrs. Glass attended Lubbock High school and were in college in Keene. They are at home at 2103 Avenue K.

Among those at the wedding were the bride's grandfather, D. W. Puckett; an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Puckett; the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Glass.

Mesdames Jones And Mitchell Are To Entertain For Group

Mesdames Milton Jones and Don Mitchell will entertain at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon for the Book of the Month club in Mrs. Jones' home, 2302 Main street. Mrs. Gus L. [illegible] will give the book review. Mrs. Clark M. Mullican will discuss the new books of the month and Mrs. A. T. Biggers will discuss writers of the month.

Here Is Something New

Hat, cape, cuffs, belt and handbag of aluminum mesh.

NOTHING NEW under the sun, eh? Well maybe not. These tricky accessories that the young woman wears so jauntily do give one the impression that they got their inspiration from the "days of old when knights were bold."

At any rate the hat, cape, cuffs, belt and handbag are of aluminum mesh and are singularly becoming to Princess Aleka Rostislav, once of the Russian nobility, but now living in Chicago.

The set may also be had in colors. Glittering raiment is fashionable just now, anyway. Molyneux embroiders a white net evening gown, with silver sequins, further embellishing it with a scarf of geranium marquisette and a huge flower to match.

June Hewett, Ruth Elizabeth Houston To Marry On March 8

Bride-Elect Has Been College Student Here Until Monday Of Last Week; Mr. Hewett Is Tech Graduate

Announcement has been made of the approaching marriage of A. June Hewett and Miss Ruth Elizabeth Houston of Plainview, former Tech students, which is to take place Wednesday afternoon, March 8, at the home of the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Houston.

Miss Houston was a freshman student at Tech college until she withdrew last Monday to return to her home in Plainview. She was a member of the college Girls' Glee club.

Mr. Hewett has been associated with the Tuscon Steel company in Youngstown, Ohio, since his graduation from the local college in 1929. He is visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Hewett, in Plainview.

The Rev. J. O. Haymes, pastor of the First Methodist church, is to officiate. Misses Lucille Heggen and Lois McKenzie, Tech students, are to be guests at the wedding.

Tech Pictures In National Exhibit

Two of six drawings which were sent from Texas Technological college to the College Art association exhibit in New York last October have been retained and will be put on a circuit through Canada and the United States. Notice of this fact has been received by F. A. Kleinschmidt, head of the department of architectural engineering at Tech.

The two drawings are a still life study in color pencil by John Foster, who graduated last year, and a water color by Everett Fairchild. This exhibit may come to Texas in May or June, Mr. Kleinschmidt stated.

Last year was the first Tech has entered the College Art association exhibits.

Musical Program Is Scheduled For Two Local Clubs

Easter Is Coming; Choose Your Suit

THE BACKBONE of winter is broken. Spring and Easter are on the way. It's time to think of that spring suit, if you haven't already done so.

If you can't afford a new suit, do something to the old one. A few cents will buy a bit of material to make fresh, up-to-date collar and cuffs, the hat may be cleaned and given a new bit of trimming and a more cocky angle of wear, in accordance with the latest tilt in chapeaux. Let us make up our minds that we will be cheerful and look for something to back up that feeling, and maybe that'll help.

Anyone could be "fat and sassy", of course, with a new suit such as the one shown upper left. It is a black wool with big revers and collar of white ermine, showing that the vogue for black and white has not died. The pleated crepe turban is also new for spring.

Below is the more tailored boyish suit with fingertip jacket and the long topcoat. A matching cape would be even more smart. The suit is made of English type tweed in light tan with brown flecking.

The printed dress will be as popular as ever this season, and is frequently combined with the solid color coat lined with the print in an ensemble. The suit pictured top right is such a combination. The print is green and white and the coat green lightweight wool. The hat, with its "rocking chair" brim, is green, too.

An oxford gray tweed suit with fingertip jacket is shown below, right. The rolled collar is bright yellow angora, and there is a yellow suede belt.

A new and charming dinner dress is shown center. The puffed and ruffled sleeves and shirred round neck of tulle give a dramatic quality to the otherwise simply styled dress, aided and abetted by the flower garniture. It is fashioned of black cire satin.

Lubbock Dancing Club Is To Attend Dance On Wednesday

Eighty Club Women Hear Mrs. J. A. Hill Speak At Luncheon

District President Visits In City Friday As Guest Of The City Federation; Many Hear Her Short Talk

Appearing before about eighty members of the City Federation of Women's clubs, Mrs. J. A. Hill of Canyon, president of the seventh district, Texas Federation of Women's clubs, made a short talk on club work Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Hill was honor guest at a luncheon at the Hilton hotel, which took the place of the regular monthly mid-afternoon meeting of the Federation. Her talk followed the meal.

Mrs. A. T. Biggers, president of the City Federation, presided at the luncheon. The invocation was by Mrs. J. H. Hankins, president-elect of the union. After Mrs. Hill's talk, Mrs. Jed A. Rix played "Rhapsody in G Minor" by Brahms.

Tells Club Needs

After giving a sketch of the origin of women's club work, Mrs. Hill discussed the nine departments of the federation, the needs of each department and closed her talk with a challenge to club women to meet these needs.

She stated that education and fine arts are threatened and urged the club women to work to preserve the traditions and ideals of these divisions of the union.

Later she told of the effort that is being made by Texas women to pay for the permanent headquarters building in Austin.

Mrs. F. G. Sadler of Littlefield, chairman of the American home department in seventh district, was introduced. Two Lubbock women who hold district offices, Miss Mae Murfee, and Mrs. C. B. Powell, were also introduced.

Officers in the City Federation and presidents of affiliated clubs were introduced.

Mrs. H. H. Kight, who has recently moved here from Claude, was received as a member at an executive meeting preceding the luncheon.

College Folk Are Guests At Supper

Dr. and Mrs. E. F. George entertained Friday evening with a buffet supper in their home, 2401 Twentieth street, for members of the physics faculty and Physics club at Texas Technological college.

Those who attended were Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Schmidt, Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Abbitt, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Mast, W. M. Nott, Henry Burkhalter, C. E. Houston, C. E. Mitchell, Miss Mildred Klein, Evans Riley Miss Ena Armstrong, R. P. Roberts, Billy Allison, Dixie Anderson, Terrell Haymes, Arthur Waghorne and Kimsey Miller.

Mrs. Ray Henson Is To Be Hostess To Thursday Club

Mrs. Ray Henson, 1411 Avenue O, will entertain Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock for the Thursday Bridge club.

Miss West Talks Before Business Club Friday Eve

Miss Elizabeth West, librarian at Texas Technological college, talked on business and professional women of Spain Friday evening before members of the Business and Professional Women's club in a dinner meeting at Hotel Lubbock.

Miss West spent two years in Spain recently doing research work. She talked on the status of women, mentioned some of the first women to enter politics and professions, and discussed labor laws of the country.

Mr. Warren Sings

Miss Charlie Jackson presided at the dinner. Champ Warren sang, accompanied by Mrs. Robert Hester at the piano.

Other guests at the dinner were Mrs. J. F. Stennett, Mrs. Dora R. Barnes of College Station, C. T. Jackson, jr., Miss Carrie Scott, Miss Josephine Welmaker and Miss Margaret Turner. Club members who attended were Misses Bessie Harris, Marie Gooch, Elsie V. Link, Ruby Marie Douthit, Irma Claye, Mabel D. Erwin, Isla Mae Chitwood, El Fleda Harrison of Tahoka, Paulene Parker, Lola Mae Rozzell, Jennie Fay Stennett, Marguerite Whipp, Ruth E. Ford, Arvella Wells and Blanche Bean. Mesdames J. F. Leach, Floe Swenson, Lucile Smith, Viola Long and H. A. Wellmaker.

Marguerite Brown Is Party Honoree

Mrs. W. E. Brown, 2904 Twentieth street, entertained Friday evening with a birthday dinner for her daughter, Marguerite, in her home.

Colors of green and white used in appointments and white carnations formed a centerpiece. A five-course dinner was served.

Other guests were Janet Barnett, Virginia Newton, Lucile Carter, Gladys Hall, Ernestine Sumner, Doris Dell Tatom, Brantley Malone, Richard Snyder, Sumner Reed, Bob Stahler, Leon Keen, Bill Lyle and Dale Walker.

Two Baptist Classes Attend Party At Campbells Friday

Members of two classes in the First Baptist Sunday school, the Berean, taught by M. E. Witt, and the Amona, taught by Mrs. R. C. Campbell, were entertained Friday evening by Mrs. Campbell in her home at 1913 Broadway. This was a costume party.

Games were directed by Miss Margaret Carroll Robertson. Some of the guests attended in costumes. There were 44 in attendance.

Primary Parents, Teachers Will Have Supper At Church

There will be a supper meeting of parents and teachers in the First Methodist Primary department Wednesday evening at 6:15 o'clock at the church.

Mrs. F. G. Sadler Offers Essay Prize; Hereford Federation, Which Is To Entertain Seventh District Convention, Features Health, Library Work

BY MRS. T. V. REEVES
Publicity Director

CANYON, Feb. 26. —(Special)—Mrs. F. G. Sadler, of Littlefield, chairman of the American Home Department for the seventh district clubs has announced a prize of five dollars in gold to be given at the district meeting at Hereford. This prize goes to the club member who writes the best essay of 1500 words or less on the subject "The Influence of the Woman's Club on the Home". Competing essays must be in the hands of Mrs. Sadler by April 10. They must be accompanied by addressed envelope and sufficient postage to return is desired.

The Deaf Smith County Federation of Clubs, which will entertain the club women from the 48 counties making up the seventh district, has nine clubs and is one of the most interesting federations in northwest Texas.

Mrs. Rex Tynes, the president, states that recently this Federation has put its greatest emphasis on health work and the promotion of a public library which shall eventually serve all of Deaf Smith county, an area of 1,549 square miles.

Nurse Employed

A public health nurse is employed, the clubs uniting to assist her in her work, which is financed by the Red Cross, the Hereford school district and Deaf Smith county. The major task of the nurse is health education. All school children are examined. A baby clinic is held once each month that mothers may learn to keep their children well and to have weaknesses corrected in their incipiency.

The public library, which is maintained in the Deaf Smith county court house, was used more in January 1933 than in any month of its entire history. Those who contribute to the support and determine the policies of this library are trying to build up a fine selection of reference books, an adequate variety of magazines, and books to meet the tastes and needs of all the people who come to the library.

Another interest in the Deaf Smith County Federation is the national prohibition law. A telegram, expressing views of the members was sent to the chairman of the recent prohibition rally in Amarillo.

Women of the seventh district will have an opportunity to meet the workers of the Deaf Smith County Federation on April 19, 20 and 21 when the district convention will meet at Hereford.

Annual Tea Given

The Twentieth Century club of Amarillo has a way of declaring a short recess from regular routine in the middle of each club year. This recess takes the form of a Colonial Tea which is given annually about February 22. This year the home of Mrs. C. O. Wolflin was the delightful setting for the affair. The reception line was made up of Mrs. Murray Elson, president; Mrs. S. F. Newbold, Mrs. Frank Wolflin, Mrs. Frank Butler, and Mrs. C. E. Palmer who were gowned in lovely cos-

Fifteen Parent-Teacher Associations Plan District Meetings

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE K. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

THERE has long been a question in the minds of many women about whether they will stand a better chance in the marriage market by acquiring an education or by simply cultivating beauty. There is an old belief that men prefer women who are their inferiors intellectually and that they are much more interested in the woman who can dance and look beautiful than in the one who can cook and sew, manage a home and keep up with happenings of the day.

If you have not recognized this question, you have not talked to many groups of women, because it is one topic that is constantly coming up for discussion. Quite naturally, women are interested in knowing what will be expected of them when the time comes to be married.

* * *

Proponents of both sides have information to support their theories. And those on either side have little difficulty in supporting their beliefs with a convincing argument.

Here is some information that will help some believers and give those holding an opposite opinion something to think about. One of the difficulties that is met in home demonstration work is that the women agents marry so soon after entering the work.

Miss Myrtle Murray, who is agent for this district—including many counties in West Texas—says that her county agents have an average stay of about a year on their jobs before they marry.

Now, I don't know what men prefer. I don't know whether it is better for a woman to go ahead and learn all the domestic arts and add, on the side, a good store of information about politics, history, languages and all the rest, or to stay at home and do nothing more than keep her hair curled and her dancing up to date. But those agents know how to do everything about the home. They know how to renovate furniture and clothing, how to cook and sew and do all these things economically. They play the roles of "father confessor" to the rural people and to many in the town.

They are capable and every one knows it, because their talents aren't hidden in any way. Yet, one of the great problems of those who hire these women is that they marry and leave vacancies that must be filled.

Of course, that one instance does not prove anything. But it is something for a woman to consider if she is pondering what she shall do to acquire a husband.

HOME BEAUTY

PERHAPS you are feeling the need of something green around about this time of year. If Everything else has failed, there is always the possibility of growing a sweet potato vine simply by cutting the potato in two and putting the halves in a dish containing a little water.

Perhaps you have gone into living rooms that were not "living rooms" at all but might just as well have been the reception room in a hotel or a funeral parlor.

Such places are frequently well furnished. They are not necessarily barron or severe. They just lack that something that makes a room an inviting place in which to live.

Some decorator suggests that such places lack life and says that something needs to be added. He suggests a pet—a yellow cat curled up by the fire, a dog to wag his tail or a canary that sings out a welcome. For those who do not want such pets about, he suggests a small aquarium or growing plants: Ivy cactus, Wandering Jew, narcissus, begonias or such.

Then, in case none of these fit into the scheme of the room or the likes of those who must live there, he says that there may be a clock with its friendly ticking.

Something to think about! Maybe these living rooms that have a welcome do have some life about to keep them from being chilly and inhospitable places.

tumes. Musical numbers, a playlet, and dances by Lorene Barlow, daughter of a member of the club, were features. Mrs. J. A. Hill, Mrs. Clyde Warwick, and Mrs. T. V. Reeves were district officers who were special guests of the club.

Next week the Arno Art club of Pampa will provide that city with an art exhibit of 150 productions of old masters and modern paintings. In order to reach every person in town and county, the exhibit will be shown in five different school buildings during the week. This is a club activity which all educators will endorse.

PTA Opinions Are Stated By State Worker

Mrs. J. M. Crain Writes Of The Stand Congress Takes In Defending Educational Institutions

BY MRS. J. M. CRAIN,
Publicity Director

CLAUDE, Feb. 25.—(Special)—Fifteen district conferences of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers will be held in fifteen different parts of the state during the months of March and April. An important subject to be discussed at these meetings is life membership.

Texas has more than 1400 life members. The life membership fee is $25 and this fund is used for extension work, thus enabling the fifteen district presidents to go into all sections of the state to organize parent-teacher associations. Each life member is given a framed certificate with the privilege of attending the district and state meetings. For many years Texas led all states in life memberships.

Education or calamity, which is Texas going to have? The Texas congress at its last convention passed a resolution, reaffirming its stand for adequate appropriations for the support of the school system of the state. This organization values its opportunity for co-operation with the public school system of Texas, and it admonishes local units to confine endorsements of educational programs to only those coming through statutory channels—the state department of education, the state board of education and of the teaching profession as is expressed through the Texas State Teachers association.

Attitude Aggressive

An aggressive attitude for the schools must be taken if the children of this generation are to have the advantages of an education. The first charge upon all citizens and local governments is safety for the country with the education of the youth. Educational service should be accorded a high degree of priority in determining the purposes and services which shall be supported by the state during this economic emergency.

The department of superintendence of the National Education association is holding its sixty-third annual convention in Minneapolis February 25 to March 2. The convention theme is "New Frontiers for American Life." The opening session will be broadcast over a nationwide radio network, through the courtesy of the National Broadcasting Company.

Prominent speakers on the convention program include Dr. Joseph Rosier, president National Education association; Dr. Chas H. Judd, dean school of education, University of Chicago; Mrs. Hugh Bradford, president National Congress of Parents and Teachers; Glenn Frank, president University of Wisconsin; David Lawrence, editor of United States Daily; R. S. Wallace, vice-chancellor, Sidney University, Sidney, Australia; and others.

The parent-teacher section meeting will be held Wednesday afternoon, March 1, at the Church of the Redeemer, with Mrs. Hugh Bradford presiding. She will present the theme "The Community and Education Frontiers."

It's Uncanny How Chance Often Brings Stardom To Individuals

BY ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — It's uncanny sometimes, the way chance reaches out and puts individuals before the camera, opening the doors to fame and laying velvet carpets on the path.

HEATHER ANGEL

Heather Angel is coming from England with a Hollywood contract. In a way, she can credit it in the first place to the fact that she is a brunet. Had she been a blond — well, maybe she'd be coming anyway.

As it happened, a British film company was setting forth for an American location, and suddenly decided to replace its ingenue. The ingenue was Italian, and a brunet was needed. The company was leaving immediately, and there was no time to search for an actress. Calls to agencies brought one blond. The blond had a brunet room-mate, who she said was pretty. "Very well, we'll take her—send for her," the blond was told.

So Heather Angel was signed, without a screen test, and made the picture. It might have been, of course, the end of her career, but all she needed was one boost from chance. She made good.

Getting The "Breaks"

BEING in the right place at the right time—how many movie actors credit their opportunities to such mere coincidence!

There's Nancy Carroll, who happened to be arguing with a gate man, trying to get into a studio, at the moment when a writer looked out a window. The writer visualized the redhead in a role, and there began the real rise of Nancy Carroll.

NANCY CARROLL

And Betty Compson. Out of pictures for a year, she was driving along and a traffic signal stopped her at a corner. George Fitzmaurice, director, happened to be standing there. Before the light changed Fitzmaurice had Betty's promise she would "come back." The picture was "The Barker." When they added dialog in certain scenes of this, Betty Compson became a talkie star. But suppose she had made the "go" sign that day. . . .

Sometimes — and this is the dream of many hopefuls—would-be actors break into their "right place at the right time." Frank Melton climbed the fence at Fox studios and got into Henry King's office. Instead of being thrown out as is usually the fate of intruders, he talked himself into a role in "State Fair." He plays the farm boy.

Dentists' Delight

JOE E. Brown has no corner on big mouths in Hollywood. Most actors have them, either naturally or from long exercise, Perc Westmore, who makes up movie faces, tells me.

GEORGE ARLISS

As mouths go George Arliss is as well equipped as the next one. Wally Beery, when he wishes, can show a face cavity as large as the wide mouthed comedian. Even Richard Barthelmess, with long and slightly crooked smile, offers no handicap for the exploring dentist.

"And, adds Westmore, when one considers Clark Gable and Junior Fairbanks, who have done fairly well with big ears, the size of those features doesn't seem to interfere with a career any more than excess tooth room does.

Marjorie Returns

Her "hubby is broadminded," and so Marjorie Rambeau is back in Hollywood. But she insists she'll stay here only long enough to play in one picture.

MARJORIE RAMBEAU

When she became Mrs. Francis Gudger, Miss Rambeau gave up screen and stage — permanently, she hoped — to live with her husband in Florida. Inactivity, she says, hasn't become boresome. In fact, she rather likes the rest she feels she deserves.

"My husband has his hunting and fishing and golf to keep him busy, but I have no such hobbies because I never had time to learn them," Miss Rambeau said.

She was between scenes of "Strictly Personal," in which she has one of the leads. "When this letter came he was good enough to say, 'Let's take it.' So we motored out.

"Funny thing this romance of years," Marjorie said. "Fifteen years ago Mr. Gudger and I were engaged. I had just arrived on Broadway after years of trouping all over the country.

"He didn't want a wife whose heart and soul were wrapped up in being a star.

"So we drifted apart. He married and I married. Later his wife died and 15 months ago he came to Hollywod, that was a little while after I had my divorce. (Her second, incidentally, this one from Willard Mack, the playwright.) In two weeks we were married and on the way to Florida."

"Twenty Thousand Years In Sing Sing" To Be Screened Here

Film Adapted From Book By Warden Lawes

Spencer Tracy, Bette Davis Appear In Leading Roles; George Arliss To Be Seen In "The King's Vacation"

"TWENTY Thousand Years In Sing Sing", taken from the popular book of Warden Lewis E. Lawes, will be screened at the Lindsey for three days, starting today. It is a powerful story of 1,000 men without women, and 1,000 women without who can not get along without their men. Touches of humor and romance are blended into the tragic theme.

Spencer Tracy appears in the leading role as a convict who goes to the chair to save his sweetheart and to protect the warden who has been kind to him. Bette Davis, Arthur Bryon, Lyle Talbot, Grant Mitchell and Sheila Terry head the supporting cast.

George Arliss combines the comedy of "The Millionaire" and the drama of "Disraeli" in his latest starring vehicle, "The King's Vacation", which is booked at the Lindsey for Wednesday and Thursday. The story concerns a man who gives up his wife, child and happiness when called to his country's throne. When peacefully dethroned after 18 years of pomp and power, he leaves his queen consort and returns to the scenes of his earlier happiness. His daughter's affair with an ambitious mechanic and his own mature romance with the deserted queen are parallel love stories of unusual charm. The action takes place amid luxurious settings.

"Broadway Bad," with Joan Blondell and Ricardo Cortez in the principal roles, will be presented at the Lindsey Friday and Saturday.

The recent uncovering of a large organized auto-theft ring in New Jersey is said to have been the inspiration for the story of "The Devil Is Driving," which starts a three-day run at the Palace today. Edmund Lowe, Wynne Gibson, James Gleason, Lois Wilson, Dickie Moore and Allan Dinehart play the leading roles. The film centers about a gang of car thieves who use an apparently legitimate garage as the center of their efforts. To it they drive stolen cars, rebuild them, and resell them. How the gang is broken up provides the climax of the story.

"The Goose Woman" by Rex Beach was the basis for "The Past of Mary Holmes", booked at the Palace for Wednesday and Thursday. Helen MacKellar, stage star, and Eric Linden share acting honors. Jean Arthur and "Skeets" Gallaher head the supporting cast. The story presents a powerful drama which analyzes the strange temperament and torn soul of a woman who has fallen from fame and glory—a woman who nourishes a hatred for her son and then finds, when her testimony has acquitted him of murder, that she loves him.

Tom Mix in "Terror Trail" will be the attraction at the Palace Friday and Saturday.

Constance Bennett is starred in "Rockabye", which starts a three day run at the Lyric today. Joel McCrea and Paul Lukas are featured. Miss Bennett appears as a gamin of the street raised to fame as an actress of sophisticated drawing room comedies under the untiring tutelage of a manager who adores her. Then a scandal smears her fame with notoriety. Frustrated when she tries to adopt a child, she finds a man whose children she would herself bear, only to be driven, by her love for children, to give him up and be satisfied with a man who holds a lesser place in her heart.

"Tomorrow and Tomorrow", Phillip Barry's play of a courageous, unconventional wife to whom marriage is not sufficiently soul-satisfying, will be screened at the Lyric Wednesday and Thursday. Ruth Chatterton is starred and Paul Lukas plays opposite her. The film is a dramatic, philosophical story of a woman who selects a man, other than her husband, to become the father of her child.

Indian attacks on a fort furnish the excitement in "End of the Trail," which will be offered at the Lyric Friday and Saturday. Tim McCoy appears in the leading role as a peacemaker with the Indians. Luana Walters is the girl.

GOOD GINNINGS

CROSBYTON, Feb. 25.—(Special)—The Pinkerton gin at Kalgary, near here, had ginned 2,100 bales this season and according to A. Pinkerton owner, an additional 30 bales was expected. A flea had damaged the cotton considerably last year and the crop was not as large as expected.

The Broadway gin, on the East Plains, has ginned 1,500 bales so far this season, Mrs. Edwin Crausbay, bookkeeper, reported here. Another 25 or 30 bales is expected.

SELL BROWNFIELD STORE

BROWNFIELD, Feb. 25.—(Special)—Homer Nelson and Jim Graves, both formerly with the Alexander Drug store here for several years, have bought the Corner Drug store, in the Brownfield hotel building, from Mrs. J. C. Lewellen, owner. Mrs. Lewellen has conducted the business since the death of her husband about a year ago. Both men are registered pharmacists.

RIGHT OF WAY SECURED

LITTLEFIELD, Feb. 25.—(Special)—Virtually all of the right-of-way for highways 7 and 28 in Lamb counties has been secured, it is announced here. Some properties at Sudan are as yet withheld and two pieces at Olton.

Miss Abernathy

Miss Geraldine Graham, above, won the title of "Miss Abernathy" in a style revue and beauty contest staged by Abernathy merchants last fall. She will compete in the annual South Plains contest at the Lindsey Friday night. She is 18 years old, a brunette, and a high school student.

Beauty Revue Planned Here

Annual South Plains Contest And Fashion Pageant Will Be Staged At Lindsey On Thursday, Friday Nights

The annual South Plains Beauty and Fashion pageant will be presented at the Lindsey theater Thursday and Friday nights.

Twenty Lubbock girls will model in a "parade of fashions" Thursday night. Miss America of 1864 will be presented and the latest styles in bathing suits, evening gowns and pajamas will be shown. Five judges will select the four most charming girls in the revue to compete with out-of-town contestants Friday night. The winner of the Friday contest will be given a free trip to the "Queen of the West" pageant at Roswell, N. M., August 17 and 18, when beauties from over the southwest will compete for a free trip to the World's fair at Chicago. Contestants will be judged on poise, personality and beauty.

Out-of-town contestants will be Miss Carlisle, Miss Wolfforth, Miss Idalou, Miss Wilson, Miss Anton, Miss Abernathy, Miss Sudan, Miss Lamb County, Miss Amherst, Miss Littlefield and Miss Bailey County.

In addition to the beauty contest a juvenile kiddies bathing beauty revue will be staged for girls one to six years old. Green Brothers orchestra will furnish the music.

Hale Woman Nets $1.91 Per Hen On Rhode Island Reds

PLAINVIEW, Feb. 25.—(Special)—Raising chickens that brought a much higher price for eggs than the local market, gave to Mrs. Karl Sammann, of the Providence community, a net of $1.91 per hen for her 300 Rhode Island Red hens last year.

Mrs. Sammann received approximately $700 for her eggs. Her feed costs were $125.90, leaving a net of $573.42. The hens laid an average of 156 eggs per hen for the year.

Eggs were marketed through a Plainview hatchery. Nobel Conner, said Mrs. Sammann had been marketing through his concern for several years and that last year while the average price per dozen for eggs was 8.33 cents, Mrs. Sammann has received an average of 15.9 cents. Her feed costs were three and a third cents per dozen.

The Depression Makes Its Way Into Books Even; Seldes Has Interesting Treatment; Literary Guild Choice Reviewed

THE depression has deflated America spiritually as well as materially. It has destroyed the dream we lived by, with so profound an effect on the American spirit that we are not yet certain that "its character was not weakened and its capacity to live and grow not corrupted beyond redemption."

So says Gilbert Seldes in "The Years of the Locust," which seems to me to be one of the most thought-provoking books of the winter.

Thrice Disillusioned

The depression, Mr. Seldes believes, disillusioned us three times.

The first was when we learned that the official explanations of the crash were not true—that business wasn't as "fundamentally sound" as those in high places claimed and that recovery wasn't just around the corner.

The second was when the French outplayed us in the German moratorium negotiations and pitched us from the height of hope into deep despondency.

The Bonus War

The third was when we found that the United States army could be used, by official order, against ex-soldiers.

These things, combined with our disillusionment about the wisdom of our business and political leaders—business, says Mr. Seldes, which we had adored, "made the fatal blunder of not being infallible"——have left us adrift. We no longer take it for granted that we are the chosen people among the nations. We had prepared for eternal sunshine only to learn that we were in for a long rainy spell.

Our society rests on confidence in the future. Now, for the first time in our history, says Mr. Seldes, our confidence in the future is shaken. And that is the real disaster of the depression.

This book is published by Little, Brown and company.

Brief For Germany

"SHOULD we drift into a great foreign war," wrote Ferdinand Lassalle while Victoria was still a young queen, "our individual governments, the Saxon, Prussian, Bavarian, might well collapse, but like the Phoenix there would rise out of their ashes, indestructible, that which alone concerns us—the German people."

This prophecy Oswald Garrison Villard takes as the motto of "The German Phoenix." (Harrison Smith, Haas).

Chapter by chapter he considers various charges against the German republic, refuting some, mitigating others, admitting a few. Obviously Germanic in his leanings, he still has a Teutonic inability to gloss over frailties; when his people are wrong he says so.

Probably Mr. Willard (who is, of course, editor of The Nation) is angered chiefly by the numerous mistakes at Versailles, and chiefly aroused by the Polish and French irritations. But the whole matter of post-war Germany gets a good airing, and one all the easier to understand because written by a frank partisan.

A Pageant Of Splendor

FOR all its cruelty and its disappointments, life is a pageant of splendor and vast beauty . . . . individuals die, but the life stream flows on, and beyond death there are wild comets to ride, new lives to live, mighty adventures to undertake.

This is the message implicit in "Pageant," by G. B. Lancaster, a novel which spreads out over nearly a century and clothes the life stories of many people in glamour and strange beauty.

Scene Unfamiliar

The scene is an unfamiliar one, for an American audience; Tasmania, that island province of Australia, where England once shipped thousands of convicts as well as a sizeable number of gentleman adventurers, and where the pioneering epic of our own land was rewritten with equal qualities of endurance, heroism and bloodshed.

Chiefly the book traces the fortunes of the family of Captain Comyn, who came out to Tasmania to become a gentleman farmer after the Napoleonic wars. It follows the family down through the pioneer days almost to the present, and is written with rich prodigality; half a dozen meaty romances are intertwined, any of them a novel by itself.

Published by the Century company at $2.50, it is the February choice of the Literary Guild.

GET SCHOOL FUNDS

MULESHOE, Feb. 25.—(Special)—More than $9,000 was received here recently by the county school funds, J. E. Adams, superintendent, reports. One check was for $6,288 for state aid for trucks and teachers; one check was $1,625 for per capita payment for independent school districts and the third was for $1,716 for common school districts. Mr. Adams recently secured an additional $480 truck aid and $196 teacher aid allotment for Longview school, omitted from the first report.

Smiling Through

Apparently Mary Carlisle, screen actress recently selected as a Wampas starlet, has no regrets for the passing of the old year. Crash 1933 with a smile, is her motto, and she's living up to it. Incidentally the cute hat and collar Mary is wearing are of leopard skin.

Fifth Annual Auto Show Dates Are March 4-5; New Models To Be Seen

Eight Dealers Are Preparing For Big Event

Uptown Dance Palace Will Be Scene Of Dazzling Display Of Automobiles And Trucks In City Next Week-End

Big and little cars, long and short cars, gayly colored cars and sombre black cars, dual wheel heavy duty trucks and little prancing panel deliveries; all 1933 models and all of them embodying the latest scientific discoveries and developments of the automobile world...

They will be on display next Saturday in the fifth annual Lubbock Automobile Dealers' association exhibition.

"March 4, the Presidential inauguration day, also is designed to inaugurate a new era in the automobile business," commented George P. Kuykendall, recently re-elected president of the local dealers' association.

Eight Dealers In Group

Eight Lubbock houses comprise the association. These eight dealers will place on exhibition ten different products. There is room in the Uptown Dance palace, site of the show, for approximately 32 automobiles, or four for each agency.

Two new members have been added since the 1931 show when six dealers participated. The new lines represent the International Truck company and the De Soto automobile company.

Last year's exhibition consisted of a parade of new cars over the business and residential districts of the city.

No Elaborate Program

No elaborate program has been mapped out, the association having concentrated on showing the new cars and holding the show for that purpose only. Some special music perhaps, will serve to break the monotony, but the dealers believe their products will be show enough.

Doors to the show palace will be opened at 8 o'clock Saturday morning and closed at 10 o'clock Saturday evening. For the convenience of those who cannot take time to visit the show Saturday, the building will be open from 1 to 6 p. m. Sunday, President Kuykendall said.

All active dealers in Lubbock have cooperated toward making the public exhibition a success, and the show has been made possible only through this cooperation.

Entries Are Listed

New automobiles and trucks to be displayed at the show are as follows:

Buick and Oldsmobile by Ratliff-Rogers Motor company; Chrysler and Plymouth by the Hub Motor company; Pontiac by Scoggin-Dickey Motor company; G.M.C. trucks by E. K. Hufstedler and company; International truck by Weiss Motor company; Ford by Lubbock Auto company; De Soto and Plymouth by Bacon Motor company; and Chevrolet cars and trucks by Kuykendall Chevrolet company.

The following committees are in charge of the show: Decoration committee, Hub Jones and Marlis Ratliff. Finance committee, Charles Bacon and E. K. Hufstedler. Advertising committee, Ray Dickey and J. R. Weiss. Entertainment committee, C. A. Rogers. Building arrangements committee, Harry Morris.

New Fords To Be Presented

V-8 Models, Ready For Buyer In Many Styles, Are To Be Shown In Lubbock On March 4 And 5, Morris Says

New and distinctive lines, longer wheelbase, larger, roomier bodies, faster acceleration and increased power, speed and economy are the outstanding features of the new Ford V-8 models, which are to be exhibited by the Lubbock Auto company at the Auto show next week, Harry Morris, manager, announces.

The car is the roomiest and most powerful Ford ever built, Mr. Morris says. The car has 75 horsepower.

New skirted fenders, full-length chromium-plated bumpers, all-steel bodies on the new double-channel double-drop X-type frame with a lower center of gravity are other features of the new model.

In 14 Body Types

Fourteen body types make up the new models, several of which will be on display at the show. Striking body lines and colors are included in each. Attractive appointments and finishes mark each type.

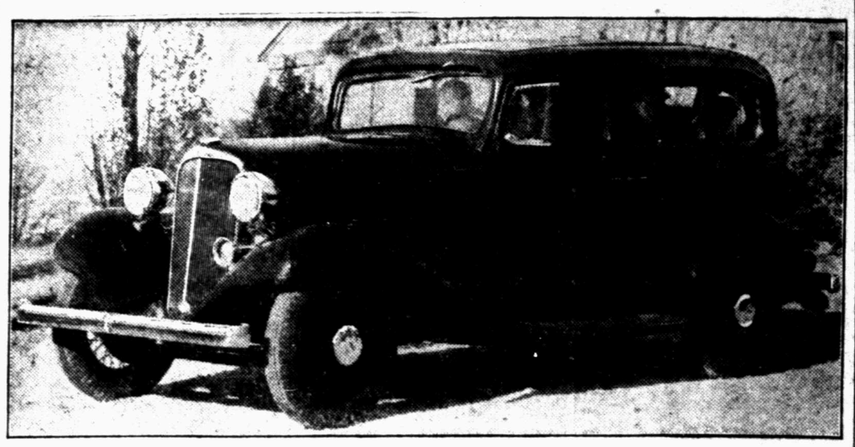

Live rubber cushioned engines, all-aluminum cylinder heads, automatic spark control, silent second speed with silent synchronized gear shift, down-draft carburetor with silencer, torque-tube drive, three-quarter floating rear axle, straddle mounted rear-axle driving pinion, safe, reliable four-wheel mechanical brakes fully enclosed, twenty-degree slanting windshield and a host of other improvements are also featured in the new car.

PLYMOUTHS IN RACE

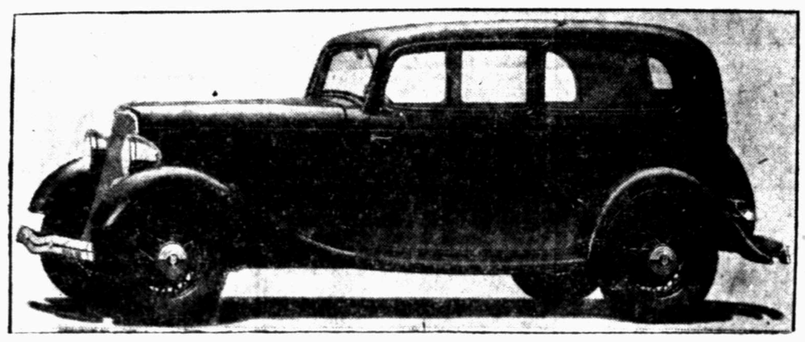

Stealing some of the thunder from the new Fords and De Sotos last week was the new Plymouth coach which arrived at the Hub Motor company's showrooms. It is the first Plymouth coach to be seen here, and has created quite a wave of enthusiasm.

The Hub Motor company moved eight used machines last week.

'Finest Buick' Is To Be Seen

Ratliff-Rogers Will Display Oldsmobiles, Too, At Auto Show In City; Models Are Improved In Many Ways

Ratliff-Rogers Motor company will have a twin display in the Lubbock Automobile show this year, presenting latest models in both the 1933 Buicks and Oldsmobiles. Several cars will be shown in each make.

"The finest Buick ever built" is the slogan for the new 1933 Buick and the 20 models comprising the line are built in four series ranging from 119 to 138 inch wheelbase and priced accordingly.

Cars Are Larger

Basic fundamentals of Buick design and manufacture are retained in the new models but the new cars are longer, lower in height and set new beauty standards for the quality car field. The new styled Fisher bodies include the no-draft ventilators, individually controlled. All closed models are wired for radio reception without extra charge.

New style, beauty, finer performance, greater economy and improved riding and handling best describe the new cars.

Oldsmobile Improved

Two new style leaders, a roomier, more powerful six and a larger, more luxurious eight with reduced prices are outstanding in the new 1933 Oldsmobiles.

The new Olds are faster, smoother at all speeds, steadier on the road with their lower center of gravity due to the new X-type double-drop frame. The Fisher no-draft ventilation system and larger, roomier and handsomely finished and appointed bodies are included in all models.

The Oldsmobile six is in seven types with 80 horsepower motors while the straight eights are 90 horsepowered and made in six body types.

THREE NEW PONTIACS SOLD

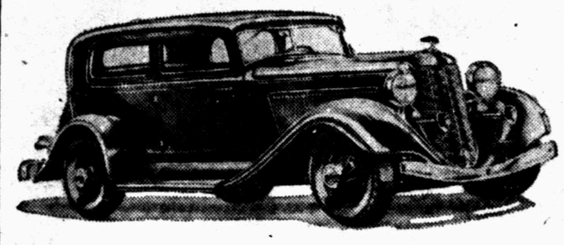

Scoggin-Dickey Motor company moved three new Pontiacs last week to experience one of the most profitable weeks since the 1933 version was introduced.

A new Pontiac coupe was delivered to Temple B. Ingram. M. J. Nelson purchased a Pontiac two-door sedan. A Pontiac coupe was sold to Floyd Swearingen.

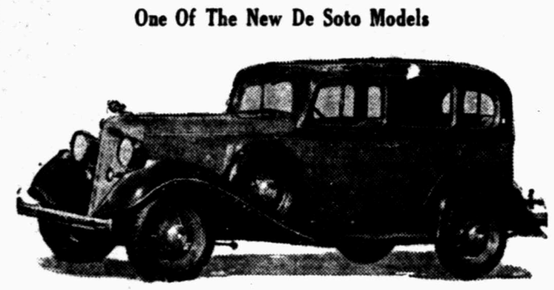

The Pontiac company moved five used machines.

Larger DeSoto And Plymouth Models To Be Displayed By Bacon Motor Co.

A larger Desoto six with improved automatic clutch, free wheeling, all-silent transmission and roomier insulated steel bodies is the new car offering of the Bacon Motor company in the Lubbock Automobile show to be staged next week. A complete line of new DeSotos will be on exhibit in the show, Chas. Bacon, manager, has announced.

The company also offers new Plymouth six models as a part of the show. Plymouths are also being exhibited by the local Chrysler agency.

Other Improvements

Besides the above new features, 1933 DeSoto cars have added improvements in hydraulic brakes with centrifuse drums, a longer wheelbase, coincidental starter, automatic choke, and a double-drop X-girder braced frame.

Full pressure lubrication is feature in the new 79-horse-power DeSoto motor.

NEW CARS EXPECTED

Ratliff-Rogers Buick and Oldsmobile company sold three used machines last week. Arrival of new Buicks and Oldsmobiles to be displayed at the auto show this week is expected shortly.

CHEVROLET NEWS

C. D. Wylie, district representative for the Chevrolet Motor company, has been awarded a free trip to the New Orleans Mardi Gras as a result of his district's victory in a sales contest.

Officials of the Oklahoma City zone, which embraces 200 counties, including Lubbock, divided into 9 districts, offered the Mardi Grae trip to the representative whose district sold more new cars during the first 20 days of February. Mr. Wylie's salesmen in this district, which is comprised of 20 counties, moved more cars than any other district in the zone.

A. T. Cocanougher bought a new Chevrolet coach. A sport coupe was purchased by G. P. Kuykendall. R. C. Carter bought a coach and E. E. Morris bought a long wheelbase truck. A coach was delivered to Mrs. Robert Mays.

Pontiac Sales Climbing High

Increase Of 200 Percent For Year Thus Far Is Reported By Scoggin-Dickey Company Partner; To Show Here

Pointing out that Pontiac sales for the South Plains area increased 200 per cent for 1933 over the same period last year, J. Ray Dickey, of the Scoggin-Dickey Motor company, Saturday said the public response to new automobiles is reflected in cheerful figures pouring into dealers sales room.

"New models, new designs and increased performance and stamina are in one sense responsible for increased business," Dickey said. "But the most important factor is the restoration of public confidence to the extent that people are not afraid to turn loose of some of the money that they have had stored away."

"Made New History"

"Pontiac this year has made new automobile history," he continued, "in that it has brought to the low-priced field a car that many people have been wanting but hesitated in paying up in the thousand dollars for. It's a car now that is within the reach of practically all of automobile purchasers."

Dickey said his commitments had been steadily increased to supply demand for new cars here. The new Pontiacs will be displayed in several models at the Lubbock Automobile show, March 4 and 5.

MAY SHOW LINCOLN

Possibility of presenting a new Lincoln automobile at the auto show next Saturday was announced yesterday by Harry Morris, manager of the Lubbock Auto company. The new Lincolns appeared only recently and have not arrived at the Dallas branch of Ford Motor company. If they can be procured at Dallas, one or more will be shown here, Morris said.

The Lubbock Auto company sold two new Ford V-8's last week and moved three used cars.

Jones To Show New Chryslers

Hub Motor Company Will Also Display Plymouths Here In Auto Show March 4-5, Says Manager; Praises Line

"When the doors of the Lubbock Automobile show swing open on March 4, Chrysler and Plymouth will occupy a position of prominence, a place they have held since their introduction to the public in 1925," Hub Jones of the Hub Motor company, said Saturday. Mr. Jones, oldest dealer in Lubbock county, is local agent and South Plains-Eastern New Mexico distributor for the two cars.

The new Chryslers are strikingly beautiful, carrying on Chrysler's reputation for sleek, sweeping grace and dynamic streamlining. Four complete types, a new six, a new Royal eight, a new Imperial and a new Custom Imperial, are included in the 1933 cars.

Features Are Many

Chrysler's celebrated floating power, free wheeling and a new automatic clutch, luxurious all-steel bodies of armor plate strength, girder-truss frame, hydraulic brakes with centrifuse drums, all-silent transmission in all speeds, new oilite springs and a host of other features are listed in the improvements on the 1933 car.

A bid for supremacy in the low price field is made by the new 1933 Plymouths, Mr. Jones said. Such fine car features as floating power, engine mounting, hydraulic brakes with centrifuse drums, full-pressure lubrication, tubular front axle, automatic clutch, of advanced design, lighter and streamlined bodies and scores of other improvements are commonplace in the new Plymouth.

Mr. Jones was recently made distributor of both Chrysler and Plymouth cars for the territory including the South Plains and several eastern New Mexico counties.

Plymouth models are also handled by the Bacon Motor company.

Seventy Miles on a Gallon!

His mother's dishpan, material from a rubbish heap and a motor from a 1918 motorcycle built Harry Stannard, 14-year-old Los Angeles boy, an automobile. Harry, shown above with his vehicle, constructed his speed wagon all by himself. It will do 35 miles an hour, and run 70 miles on a gallon of gasoline, it is said.

New Truck Models Will Be Presented At Show

Weiss Motor Company Will Display New International

Although only in business here for the past 15 months, the Weiss Motor company, 1009 Avenue G, has built up an International Motor truck patronage that is recognized throughout the entire South Plains area. Several models of the International speed truck including the recently added half-ton pick-up and panel types will be shown in the Lubbock Automobile show next week.

A new two-ton truck with removable cylinders will be one of the highlights of the display of the company at the Dance palace.

Offer Light Models, Too

"The International Harvester company has gone 'motor truck' with the addition of these new models," J. R. Weiss, manager of the company, said Saturday. "The addition of the new half-ton six-cylinder Model D-1 to the International line makes it possible for users of light delivery units to avail themselves of economical transporation in the speed truck line."

Representatives of both the local company and the factory will be present at the show to explain fully all the new features of the trucks, Mr. Weiss said.

GMC Models, Offered By Hufstedler, To Be Seen Here

Joining the family of General Motors products in the Lubbock Automobile show next week at the Dance palace will be the showing by E. K. Hufstedler and Sons of a line of General Motors trucks. Two models of the trucks, Model T-18, in the 1 1-2 to 2-ton range, and Model T-23, 2 to 3-ton range, will be shown.

The GMC "truck built valve-in-head engine" features both models.

Model T-18 has a 221 cubic inch motor developing 69 horsepower and 115-foot pounds torque. Features of the model include elimination of destructive vibration profitable high compression performance, down-draft carburetion, positive high pressure lubrication system, rugged efficient cooling system, rugged truck-type clutch and transmission, sturdy frame, truck axles, reliable brakes and strong body types.

T-23 More Powerful

Model T-23 has the same features on a more extensive and powerful scale. It develops 155-foot pounds torque and is capable of fast getaway in traffic, from five to twenty miles per hour in 11.01 seconds in third gear with 3-ton pay load.

A complete line of bodies to fit any commercial and industrial need is offered in both models of the trucks.

Representatives of both the factory and the local company will be present at the show to explain features of the trucks.

A GMC 1 1-2-ton trailer will also be shown in connection with the trucks, E. K. Hufstedler, announced Saturday.

Lamesa C. Of C. Plans To Have 500 At Meeting

LAMESA, Feb. 25—(Special)—Plans are made to take care of 500 people at the annual meeting of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce, March 2, according to W. H. Wallace, chairman Program and Arrangements. The ticket and entertainment committees have been appointed, and it was announced this week that "Texas Under Six Flags" in pageant form would be presented under the direction of Mrs. Matt A. McCall. The cast calls for more than two hundred people.

The local Lions club and the Lamesa Luncheon club are cooperating with the chamber of commerce in making this a "different" program. There will be no speaking and no other entertainment aside from the pageant, the committees report. The local chamber will have its annual report beside each cover, otherwise the whole affair will take city and county wide aspect.

Slaton's School District Has Had Reduction Of $2,250,000 In Valuations In Past 2 Years

(By Staff Correspondent)

SLATON, Feb. 25. — A slash in valuations of two and a quarter million dollars since 1930 is the record of the Slaton Independent school district, says Frank Drewry, assessor and collector of the district. Mr. Drewry is preparing to begin his assessing work about March 1, for the 1933 assessing year.

"Last year, 1932, our rolls had valuation total of $3,040,000," said Mr. Drewry. "The year before it was $4,130,000. In 1930 we had total valuations of $5,350,000."

The district comprises about 65 sections of land in addition to the town property. Collections for 1932 were about 60 to 65 per cent of the totals.

It is not thought there will be much change this year in the valuations. The board has not announced its plans for the year.

Enrollment in the schools is 1,060 out of a scholastic list of 1,340 for the district last March. Mr. Drewry will take the scholastic census when he begins his assessing work.

Over 70 New Model Chevrolets Have Been Sold By Kuykendall Firm Here

With delivery of more than 70 of the new 1933 model Chevrolets since announcement on December 17th, Kuykendall Chevrolet company is looking forward to 1933 being one of the most successful years of its existence.

In commenting on the acceptance by the public of the new models, R. S. Mays, sales manager, states that for the period—January 1st through February 20th, compared with the same period last year, new car sales of the local concern increased 125 per cent.

Boosts Auto Show

"The auto show this year," said Mr. Mays, "should be the best in the history of Lubbock. The public generally is more automobile minded and all of the local dealers have new models for display. Never before has there been such an array of beautiful new creations with so many new and appealing features. We expect to present several of our most popular body styles and will have on hand a sufficient number of representatives to show and explain the many new features of Chevrolet."

In the past few years Kuykendall Chevrolet company has grown to an organization employing 26 people—one of the largest automobile concerns in West Texas.

ARRANGES HOG SHIPPING

HALE CENTER, Feb. 25. (Special)— C. L. McKinney, stock buyer here, has made arrangements for a direct shipping market for hogs.

Postmasters To Be Named

Lubbock, Idalou And Sudan To Get New Postmasters Soon After March 4, Is Expectation; Others Are Listed

Three South Plains Democrats are expected to be among the 88 Texans who will receive federal appointments as postmasters of their home towns soon after March 4 when President-elect Franklin D Roosevelt goes into office.

Latest list of patronage available, as made public under the McKellar resolution, shows the 35 South Plains postoffices divided into five groups. They are: 1—Immediately after March 4; 2—prior to the end of 1933; 3—for 1934; 4—for 1935; 5—for 1936.

Commissions of all first, second and third class postmasters do not expire at the same time. They are appointed for a four year term and cannot be removed except on trial after filing of charges of alleged misconduct or inefficiency.

Take Civil Service Exam

To fill a vacancy, appointments are made from the three highest in the civil service examination conducted by the civil service commission. When a vacancy occurs the postoffice department notifies the commission and the examination is held. Only qualified residents of a community are eligible to take examinations.

The new president is expected to fill vacancies as soon as the civil service available list has been completed.

Four of the largest offices in the state do not become vacant until 1934. They are: Dallas, $8,000 a year; Houston, $7,000; San Antonio $6,000 and Amarillo, $4,200. Waco's $4,200 job holds over until 1936 and Austin's $4,500 post in 1935. The $5,000 job at El Paso is available this year. It is the highest salaried post to become vacant in 1933.

For some reason the published list shows both Lubbock and Lorenzo in two lists. The former town is in the list of offices to be vacated soon after March 4 and also in 1936. Lorenzo is in both the 1935 and 1936 lists.

For 1933, almost immediately after March 4: Idalou, $1,200; LUBBOCK, $3,600; Sudan, $2,100; Hermleigh, $1,100.

Before end of 1933: Kress, $1,400; Plainview, $3,300; Tulia, $2,400; Aspermont, $1,800; Big Spring, $3,200

For 1934: Anton, $1,500; Crosbyton, $2,000; Hale Center, $2,000; Happy, $1,900; Levelland, $2,400; Lockney, $2,100; Matador, $2,000; Ralls, $2,300; Seagraves, $1,700; Seminole, $1,500; Slaton, $2,400; Tahoka, $2,400; Dimmitt, $2,000; Estelline, $1,800; Rotan, $2,200; Silverton, $1,900.

For 1935: Amherst, $1,900; Floydada, $2,400; Littlefield, $2,500; Lorenzo, $1,700; Meadow, $1,500; Snyder, $2,500; Spur, $2,400; Childress, $2,800; Jayton, $1,500.

For 1936: Abernathy, $1,900; Brownfield, $2,400; Dickens, $1,600; Farwell, $1,800; Friona, $2,000; Lamesa, $2,600, O'Donnell, $2,000; Olton, $1,900; Petersburg, $1,700; Post, $2,400; Wilson, $1,200; Albany, $3,700; Hereford, $2,600; Pampa, $3,300; Roaring Springs, $1,700; Sweetwater, $3,400.

POLL TAXES DECREASE

SPUR, Feb. 25. (Special) — Less than half as many poll tax receipts were issued in 1932 as in 1931, W. B. Arthur, tax collector said in reporting 819 receipts issued this year.

By commissioner precincts, the receipts were: No. 1 255; No. 2 111, No. 3 341; No. 4, 112. In Spur, the four precincts were: Northwest, 124; northeast, 25; southwest, 58 southeast, 54. Dickens had 104 receipts; Afton, 76; Croton, 56 anl McAdoo, 97.

Babson Says Increased "Turn-Over" Essential To Recovery Of Business

By ROGER W. BABSON
Copyright for Avalanche-Journal

BABSON PARK, Florida, Feb. 25.—Rapidity of turn-over is essential to prosperity.

The trouble with business and finance today is that turn-over has slowed down almost to the stopping point. This applies both to goods and money. The inflationists tell us we need more money. They forget that there is twice as much money in the country now as there was in 1914 and yet the volume of business is less than it was in 1914.

Roger Babson

We don't need more money. We need to increase the "turn-over" of what we have. That can come only through confidence, which in turn can be restored by (1) balancing the budget; (2) some direct measure that will really safeguard bank deposits; and (3) an intensive national advertising and selling campaign to move goods, raise the standard of living, and restore employment. In the meantime I suggest investments chiefly in the so-called "repeat" industries—that is industries of quick consumption, like food products, merchandising chain systems, and others where turn-over is most rapid.

Best In "Repeat" Industries

Whether a company does a "repeat" business or an equipment business is a critical factor in determining the stability of earnings. What is true under normal conditions is even more true in times of depression. Moreover, since the first big impulse toward business recovery must come through increased consumer purchases, the so-called consumers' good will benefit first. Hence, the "repeat" business are not only safest at present, but most likely to prosper early in the period of recovery. Also advertising and selling efforts have a more direct and cumulative effect in the "repeat" business than in the equipment business. I do not recommend confining all of one's investments to these companies, but the majority of one's holdings ought to be of this nature.

It is significant that out of twenty-five groups of industrial companies only eight groups showed net profits for 1932. Of these, six were strictly "repeat" industries, namely: food products, merchandising chains, oils, tobaccos, paper, and shoes. Two others—aircraft and chemicals—are partly "repeat" businesses and partly equipment industries. Aircraft transportation is a "repeat" business, as are many chemicals. Outside the industrial groups there the utilities, which distinctly are a consumer "repeat" industry. Electric and gas utilities were among the best earners. Whereas 350 companies of all kinds showed a decline of 75 per cent in earnings from 1931 to 1932, the "repeat" industries as a whole showed a drop of only 35 per cent. Surely, on their earnings' records, the quick turn-over companies have much to recommend them.

Careful Selection Necessary

The same people who foresaw a "New Era" of eternal prosperity in 1926-1929 now see an era of everlasting chaos in the years ahead. They are now just as wrong as they were then. If men could live 300 years instead of 70 they would become excellent investors. With their historical background they would see now, like Baron Rothschild saw in the crisis of the Napoleonic Wars, and as wise men have seen in every major crisis since then, an opportunity to build a fortune. All kinds of equities are selling far below their real value. Any improvement in general business would quickly be reflected in higher prices for bonds, stocks, and commodities. This, however, does not relieve the investor of the necessity for careful discrimination. He should test his holdings and his purchases by certain fundamental tests.

Some tests to apply both to security holdings and purchases now are: (1) Is the company in a "repeat" business? (2) Is there a chronic over-capacity in the industry which must be liquidated? (3) Is the company doing as well as the industry as a whole? (4) In the case of bonds, are they likely to cause trouble through early maturities, or heavy bank loans? (5) Is the security listed and readily marketable? and (6) Is the management honest and efficient? Of course, not all companies in "repeat" industries are necessarily good investments. Also some companies in other industries may do well. However, under present conditions the investor is safer if he sticks pretty closely to the "quick turn-over" or "repeat" lines.

Integrity Is Only Security

No matter how vast an enterprise, its securities are worthless if the management is dishonest. $48,000,000 was lost in New York State alone from outright stock frauds in 1932. Probably ten times as much was lost through dishonesty or inefficiency of management in many so-called legitimate businesses throughout the country. Truly, it pays the investor to discriminate, having in mind as the first principle that his only security is the honesty and integrity of the management.

Business, as estimated by the Babsonchart, now stands at 12 per cent below a year ago.

Texas Independence Day

MARCH 2—which falls on next Thursday—marks the 97th anniversay of Texas independence and the Texas Historical and Landmark association is desirous of the day's being generally and fittingly observed throughout the state.

The association asks that Texas flags be displayed on all public buildings and before as many places of business as is possible and that Texans everywhere within the state's confines wear a miniature Texas flag upon their lapels.

On March 2, 1836, Texas declared its independence from Mexico and for ten years was the Republic of Texas. At the conclusion of the decade, upon invitation of the United States of America, Texas jointed the Union in which it holds an outstanding place today.

We hope Lubbock Public schools and the rural schools all over the South Plains will observe Texas Independence day as it should be observed. We hope school children of Texas, from the smallest frame building to the greatest institutions of higher learning, will be told of the state's glorious history and of the heroes who fought, bled and died for liberty.

Texas' history is unique. No other state has a similar past.

Let us revere Texas independence.

Let us perpetrate its traditions.

A JOB FOR THE TEXAS PRESS

Texas Press association has established a Texas Press legislative bureau at Austin with able Vernon Editor Ray Nichols in charge. Mr. Nichols is sending weekly summaries of the work of the legislature to all papers affiliated with the association and many of the publications are printing the survey.

When the bureau was established it was announced that in no way would the organization or the bureau attempt to sway legislation; that it would not lobby, for or against, any bill. But outside of that little has been offered in the way of explanation for the forming of the bureau—at least as far as we have seen.

The Avalanche-Journal does not charge Texas Press association with having any ulterior motive in the operation of the press bureau at Austin but other concerns and people outside the newspaper business may not be so charitable. Since Texas Press association permits memberships to be held by employes of utilities—something which has always appeared illogical to us—we think a complete and public explanation of the plan is all the more necessary.

The Avalanche-Journal has no crow to pick with Texas Press association. The Editor of these newspapers is a member of the state advisory board which is similar to a directorate. But for the good of Texas newspapers and Texas Press association we urge that the Austin bureau mail to every paper in this state a concise, brief explanation of its activities and its plans so that it can be published all over the state.

Then the public will be in possession of the facts. Then there can be no mistaken ideas.

SIX-YEAR TERM

Easy ratification of the twentieth or lame-duck amendment to the constitution has given the whole camp of constitution tinkerers new hope. Approval by the thirty-sixth state legislature was the cue for reviving innumerable amendment movements, some of which had long been thought dead.

Among the revivals is the proposal to change the presidential term to six years. The theory is that a new president spends his first two years formulating his policies and the next two years working for reelection. Six years, it is argued, would give him a chance to work out his policies.

The fatal defect in this scheme is that six years is too long to keep in office, a chief executive who early in his term loses the confidence of the people. If there were some easy way of removing him before the expiration of his term this would not be such a serious objection.

Moreover, the argument that presidents spend two years of their first term learning the ropes and the next two playing national politics has no basis in fact. President Hoover inherited most of his policies from the Coolidge administration and formulated the others prior to inauguration or as emergencies arose. President-elect Roosevelt is even now preparing to submit his policies to the new congress at a special session shortly after inauguration.

Four years may not always prove sufficient time for presidential policies to demonstrate their efficacy, but if a chief executive cannot find his stride in that time two more years will not help him.

Michigan's governor issued a proclamation to prevent banks from opening. In some states the governors might try proclamations to prevent them from closing.

Anarchists Indifferent

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The chief danger to public men from cranks of Giuseppe Zangara's type lies in the utter indifference of such characters to consequences to themselves, if only they accomplish what they set out to do.

Giuseppe Zangara

One of my best friends for several years was a Spanish anarchist of the name of Vallina, living then in exile in London—in that prewar era a haven of refuge for political exiles of all complexions, provided that they refrained from activity in England.

Comrade Vallina was a delightful individual, as gentle as a kitteen for purposes of ordinary association, admirably educated and excellently connected in Spain. I myself took letters of introduction from him to Premier Canalejas, who, as his lawyer, had helped him out of his native country after an abortive plot against the then royal government; and to members of the family of the late Nicolas Salmeron, president of the short-lived Spanish republic of two generations ago.

Meets Others

Through the same "comrade" I also met several of the brethren in London—Prince Kropotkin, the Russian veteran; Enrico Malatesta, of the Italian school, and Francisco Ferrer, who was shot a year or so later in Montjuich fortress, for participation in a rising in Barcelona.

All those folk were of first rate intellectual attainments, and, in their fashion, of the highest standards. Comrades Vallina, Malatesta and Ferrer classified as reveolutionary anarchists; Prince Kropotkin as a philosophical—though he agreed to the necessity of an occasional "demonstration," in an extreme situation.

In answer to my query, in one instance, by what right the "demonstrator" was entitled to judge he explained:

"He must have earned the right, by self-sacrifice."

Other members of the group, however, while most respectful of the prince, as one of the "fathers of modern anarchy," spoke of him as a "conservative."

Not Communistic

By a man ho had "earned the right" to act, he was prepared to concede that the extinction of a tryrant might conceivably be justifiable, but he opposed "demonstrations" on mere general principlees.

None of the coterie had the slightest sympathy with anything that could answer to present-day Communism. Prince Kropotkin, indeed, though very old, lived to see Communism's triumph in Russia; visited the republic, and has been quoted as seeing no improvement there upon "capitalism".

Since insanity simply is a departure from the average, and inasmuch as anarchistic views certainly do depart from it, as of today probably there is a streak of mental aberration in them.

Nevertheless they are not inconsistent with fine collateral qualities and a deal of likability.

POPULARITY ENHANCED

President-elect Roosevelt's ideally game reaction to the Miami attack on him has enormously enhanced his popularity if the Washington consensus truly reflects national opinion.

Previously the capital's feeling undoubtedly was that the country rejoiced rather at the thought of President Hoover's retirement than at the prospect of the New Yorker's coming White House tenancy. It generally is agreed now, however, that the president-elect has completely captured the public by his cool courage under fire, and will receive a tremendous welcome for himself alone.

It may be queer reasoning to regard an attempt on his life as great good luck for a statesman, but politicians of both parties obviously do regard the Miami incident, considering the way he took it (not forgetting Mrs. Roosevelt's pluck, too) as one of the best pieces of luck the ex-governor ever had.

GANGDOM INSULATED

A federal official whose work brings him into frequent contact with the Chicago gangsters much insulted by suspicions that they would try anything they say would be so pointless in them as to harm Mayor Cermak.

HOW ABOUT BONE DRYS??

Capitol Hill is wondering audibly what will be the fate of senators and representatives who remain dry to the bitter end, if the eighteenth amendment is repealed. Many guesses are ventured that they will lose their appeal even in dry constituencies when prohibition ceases to be a national issue.

INAUGURAL CHANGES

Inauguration day managers are quietly making numerous changes in plans for March 4, with a view to the new president's greater safety. It obviously will behoove visitors, too, to exercise restraint over speech and gestures during the ceremonies. The crowds will swarm with self-appointed vigilantes, ambitious to thwart would-be assassins, and ready to go off at half-cock.

Ladeez and Gen-tlemen—The Next Big Attraction

SPOTLIGHT

by H.W. CORLEY © 1933 NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

SHEILA SHAYNE, whose parents were well known vaudeville entertainers, is in New York looking for a job. Sheila is a dancer. After much discouragement she is hired to substitute for DAISY GLEASON, another dancer, who has sprained an ankle. While rehearsing at JOE PARIS' song shop Sheila meets TREVOR LANE and DICK STANLEY, rich and socially prominent. Dick urges Lane to include Sheila in the program of entertainment at a party he is giving. Sheila declines but Dick comes to the theater later and persuades her to come.

At the party she meets several celebrities, including GORDON MANDRAKE, well known producer. She sees Dick frequently during the next few days and he tells her Mandrake is interested in her and is going to offer her a part in a play. However, Mandrake does not do so.

In a few weeks Daisy Gleason is able to dance again and Sheila is again out of a job. She makes the rounds of the agents' offices without results. Then Mandrake telephones and offers her a part in his new play.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIII

The part Mandrake offered Sheila was a job—but a disappointment as well. The new play, "When Lights Are Low," contained a minor part in which there was an opportunity for specialty dances. There were a few lines, too, Sheila didn't mind learning lines but she did—strenuously—object to these.

"How can you look so innocent and say such things?" the juvenile asked her when, at the first rehearsal, Sheila stumbled through the part.

Sheila nodded and blushed. She was grateful for a friendly word because rehearsal, when parts are first assigned and possibly not permanent, is the coldest spot on earth. She had never seen this juvenile before. He was a young man with striking blond hair. His profile, however, was manly and clear-cut and his mouth rather swetly wistful.

Shila shook her wise little head and told herself she hoped the girls wouldn't spoil him. But they would, of course. The first matinee was to bring him a load of mash notes.

"I hope that they'll change those lines," Sheila told him nervously.

"Why dont you ask them to?" he suggested. "Maybe they don't know you object."

He looked so innocent that Sheila decided he was not joking. She was sitting on a scenic rock, swinging her little feet in her tap shoes.

"I guess you are rather new to Broadway, aren't you?" she asked.

The young man considered, head bent slightly to one side. "Aren't you?" he countered.

She laughed gayly. "That was the answer I deserved. And my answer to that is, 'Yes' and 'No.' I'm new to a part in a Broadway show but not new by any means to the ways of Broadway. Nor to tramping the streets looking for a job." She shuddered, half in earnest, half playfully. "Even in summer this street's the coldest in the world. Worn shoes, head aching from sleepless nights of worry—"

"That must be terrible," he said simply, as one speaking of something he would never personally encounter.

"You mean you don't know how hard it is to find a job?" It was Sheila's turn to stare.

"I mean just that. This job found me. I dare say I was lucky—if you look at it that way. Unlucky if you look at it another. If I don't go over big—that is, big enough to warrant staying here in New York—I've sort of spoiled my taste for the village. Don't you think?"

"It depends upon the village," Sheila said uncertainly. Was this young man kidding her? Certainly no village youth could have such an air, such self-confidence or such a wardrobe. His clothes were expensive, well cut.

"There are two villages. One in New Haven and the other a suburb of Boston."

"And a certain village known as Paris and another called Lodon tossed in!" Sheila added.

He laughed gayly. "Is my bitter past as evident as that? I say, let me introduce myself. You are Sheila Shayne, I know, for when you were dancing I heard some one say so. Well my name is Jim Blaine. I suppose they'll change it on the program, provided I ever get that far. That's not flossy enough. Meanwhile I want to call you Sheila if I may. So why not try Jim?"

"Oh—Shayne!" a raucous voice interrupted them. "Do you think this is a pink tea? That's your cue?"

"My fault," whispered Jim, shamefacedly rising from the bit of scenery where he had been seated at her feet. "Never mind that old bozo. He praises you when you are not around!"

"I may not be around tomorrow if he changes his mind," Sheila whispered back.

The pianist, a slender, bent young man in shirt sleeves who appeared completely bored, again struck the music cue. Mike, the owner of the voice, stepped back, spreading his hands to clear a group of inquisitive ladies of the ensemble from underfoot. "Da da da!" he hummed, swinging an authoritative forefinger.

Sheila translated herself instantly into liquid motion. She had learned the routine in half a dozen painstaking sessions with Bill Brady who had gone to some length to inform her that they were not paying him extra to teach her the steps, nor would he dream of doing it for anyone but her.

As a routine it was one of Bill's best. Flashy, intricate, yet appearing to the uninitiated far more difficult than it really was.

To Jim Blaine this fresh-faced, dark-haired girl dancing on the cleared stage was poetry itself. The loveliest dance he had ever witnessed.

"Say, you are wonderful!" he told her, a smile spreading over his face, when, panting, Sheila dropped back on the seat she had recently vacated.

"It takes wind, that's sure. I'll have to keep on practicing."

"It was exquisite. It was beautiful."

She and Jim soon became great friends. He was not dependent on his salary, even when it began—which would not be until after the show opened. His car was a long greyhound affair, parked well out of sight of the stage door when it was not brought around to the drug store some blocks away by a garage mechanic.

He was—and Sheila liked this—neither ostentatious concerning his worldly goods or over-modest. Frequently he took Sheila to dinner but oftener than not he was "tied up." He lived somewhere vaguely beyond Fifth Avenue and did not proffer Sheila his telephone number, though he requested and frequently used hers.

That he was—or would be—a successful actor was beyond doubt. The faintly British tinge of tone and manner served him in good stead. His singing voice was excellent.

The star, with whom he appeared in love scenes, liked him. He had paid her courtly attention and concealed his preference for Sheila with dexterity.

There was no doubt in his own mind, though, that he liked Sheila. He tried to find ways to save her money—inviting her to dinner or to lunch when rehearsals released them in time. The fact that they received no salary during rehearsals surprised him. " think I'll ask for a salary during rehearsals and offer to work free while the show runs," he said whimsically, and although she knew that there was no financial stress on his own part, Sheila laughed.

Then the rehearsals ran into seven weeks and there was a salary. Sheila replenished her wardrobe, exercised, waited. She was letter perfect in her part. Even Mike grudgingly admitted her dances could not be improved. Bill Brady said the same thing.

One afternoon Mandrake dropped in and Sheila's offending lines were changed speedily. For this she was grateful.

The play was to open in two weeks in Atlantic City. Then it was a week. Then tomorrow. Bustle and scurry everywhere. Costumes completed and packed by short-tempered wardrobe mistresses, scenery shipped, the arrangements for the company's transportation made final.

Jim Blaine offered to drive Sheila down in his car. She wasn't certain this was a wise plan either for herself or him and finally he decided to go in the train with the rest of the company.

The great night arrived at last. The show went off beautifully. Critics praised it abuandantly.

"They noticed you. Did you see that?" Jim asked Sheila over the telephone next morning.

Sleepy-eyed, she laughed. "I haven't seen the papers."

"And you're dying to know what they said about you but wouldn't ask for the world!" Jim went on. "Well, here goes!" He read, "A certain little newcomer to the terpsichorean ranks—"

"Why, I've been dancing for years!" Sheila protested.

Jim continued. "—Sheila Shayne, handled the part of Sally in an urbane and delightful manner. Marion Randolph, who was adequate, had best look to her laurels!"

"Adequate—wow! Did they say anything about you?"

"Plenty!"

"Read it to me, will you?"

"Meet me for breakfast and I'll let you read it for yourself."

They were very merry half an hour later in the hotel breakfast room. Then, at Jim's direction, the waiter brought the newspapers.

Letters To The Editor

Veal Manly Writes On Prophecies; Reader Gives Views

Editor The Avalanche-Journal: Prophecy is wonderful and hard to understand. That there are prophecies in the Bible describing the airplane I wish to set forth in this article.

Ezek. 38-9: "Thou shalt ascend and come like a storm, thou shalt be like a cloud to cover the land, etc." And the 16th verse: "And thou shalt come up against my people of Israel as a cloud to cover the land: it shall be in the latter days". Notice here that Ezekial tells when this shall occur.

Isa. 5-28: "Whose arrows are sharp and all their bows are bent, their horses' hoofs shall be counted like flint, and their wheels like a whirlwind. Their roaring shall be like a lion, they shall roar like the young lion." Verse 30: "And in that day (same day as above) they shall roar against them like the roaring of the sea" etc. Read it.

Isa. 66-15: "Who are these that fly as a cloud and as the doves to their windows?" "For the Lord will come with fire and with His chariots like a whirlwind". That is, flying in a circle. Read it all.

Jer. 4-13: "Behold He shall come up as clouds and his chariots shall be as a whirlwind." His horses are swifter than eagles". Here they are all called chariots and horses.

Heb. 1-8: This is a long one so I will just give you the escence of it and see if you can discover the nose-dive. But you had better read it all. "Their horses are swifter than the leopards and are more fierce than the evening wolves, and their horsemen (pilots) shall spread themselves and their horsemen shall come from far; they shall fly as the eagle that hasteneth to eat".

Dan. 11-40: "And at the time of the end (there is my date again) shall the king of the south push at him and the king of the north go against him like a whirlwind with chariots and with horsemen."

In Ecl. 10-20: "Curse not the king, no not in thy thoughts, and curse not the rich in thy bedchamber for a bird of the air shall carry thy voice and that which hath wings shall tell the matter".

Now the richest one of all. Isa. 31-5: "As the birds flying so will the Lord of hosts defend Jerusalem: defending also He will deliver it, and passing over He will preserve it." This beautifully describes the deliverance of Jerusalem into Gen. Allenby's hands in 1917 after she had been "trodden under foot" of the Gentiles for many centuries, the greatest event in modern history.

Now note the similarity of the language of these six different authors covering a period of some 400 years. Isn't it wonderful?

My conclusion is that the airplane is a living witness to the Devine inspiration of the prophecies.

Veal Manly.

ON RECENT EDITORIAL

Editor, Avalanche-Journal: In your editorial, in last Sunday's paper, under the title, "Despised Lender U. S. A" it appears to the writer that you take a very one-sided viewpoint against the farmer.

Is it not a fact, that given a fair chance, that almost 100 percent of farmers would gladly pay the loan on their homes? This seems reasonable, considering the solid, dependable type of citizens the land-owning class of farmers are, that they would pay an honest debt if at all possible for them to do so.

Really, did the farmers buy, or borrow on farms as you say, "At double or more their real value?" Most loans on or purchases of South Plains farms, were made when wheat, corn, maize, cotton, livestock and other farm products were at least four times the present price.

Your statement, quoted above, shows a low estimate of and lack of confidence in values of farms on the South Plains. And, by the way, farms constitute the basis of all values in this section of country.

Would you hold that the farmer should have been able to foresee the downward trend of farm lands and crops? If you say the farmer should have foreseen the present low prices, are you not exacting of him a superior intelligence to that shown by any other class in this nation?

Now, let us take a typical case of a farmer who bought quarter section of land near Lubbock at $40. per acre in the period between 1925 and 1929 paying we will say as down payment $20. per acre, and at present he is supposed to owe $20. per acre at 7 percent interest. But any man that thinks, knows that in effect, (because of the drop in prices of crops) the farmer now owes not $3200., as principal, but instead he owes $12,800;. and not 7 percent interest but instead 28 percent, which is rather a heavy debt on one quarter section of land. In fact it is impossible for the farmer to live and pay that amount of debt with crop returns from the farm.

No reasonable man, or Shylock loan company could hold that the farmer is responsible for this condition. It is generally agreed that the farmer's trouble is not brought about by over production.

Of course the farmer cannot pay his rebts, unless there is a reduction made, or unless there is a loosening up of the hoarded wealth held by the international bankers, so that the farmer may receive a fair price for his crops.

Neither can European countries pay the full amount of their debts with the unequitable value of money as at present. But as money is worth so much more than when debts were contracted, creditors in both cases can well afford to reduce the amount due them without any loss whatever.

Unless one of these two things is brought about, without much more delay, we are going to be swept into a wholesale repudiation of public and private obligations. Our people are victims of conditions for which they are not responsible, conditions that could be remedied if Congress would only act in the interest of all the people, and stop yielding to the dictates of the money changers of Wall Street.

Active Settlement Of South Plains Area Is Predicted By Land Dealers

Better Prices To Be Impetus For Movement

Number Of Leading Agents Of Large Land Companies Express Hope In Future Of Area; Changes Made Now

BY J. SAM LEWIS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

WHEN and if the farmers of the Southwest get better prices for their products, the South Plains will see the greatest influx of new people and the greatest settlement ever known. This is the consensus of land men over the section based on the inquiries for farms for rent and for sale during the past several years and especially 1933.

The number of new families this fall and spring will be relatively small largely due to lack of cash with which to make the first or down payment on a farm. Not much land is being broken out, at present no more than has been the case for several years.

Few Farms For Rent

Few rent farms are available. There were from a dozen to a score or more of renters for every farm. As a result a number of substantial farmers who were replaced by owners went to other sections, when they were unable to rent another place.

One hopeful sign is the relatively small number of foreclosures on the part of loan companies. Other concerns, forced by circumstances to take over a farm, have frequently rented it to the former owner.

Hopeful Picture Presented

Real estate men from over the territory, contacted as to their local situation, have presented a rather hopeful picture of the future. While admitting they could "and would like to" sell more land, these men are anticipating a few sales this spring, with prospects of more in the fall especially if crop prices are higher.

"There can be no prosperity as long as farm products have to be sold at present prices," W. H. Badger, of the Yellowhouse Land company, said in a statement. "There must be a change and when it comes we will not have to hunt buyers for South Plains land, for the people want to come here, as the records show it is the best diversified farming section in Texas where lands are still cheap, produce more and can be cultivated at less cost than in any other portion of the state.

Foreclosures Are Few

"Very few foreclosures are being made in this section—none where the owner is trying to do the right thing, you might say. Applicants for farms are mostly farmers, but some are trying to get back to the farm who have been in other occupations."

H. H. Mann, vice-president of the First National bank at Levelland, who is in close touch with the situation in that country, reports "no general or widespread back to the farm movement in our section."

"Very few landowners, heretofore non-resident owners, are moving in on their places here. Sixty per cent at least of the new people are tenants. Some half a dozen new families have moved in to our trade territory."

"Perhaps there would be a larger back to the farm movement if money was available to equip these new people with farming teams, tools etc. While there perhaps is less money in the country than last year, yet we believe people have more canned goods stored away from last year; we know there is more meat in the smokehouse than ever before in the history of this county and for these reasons the farmer is in the best shape to really live at home he has ever been in."

Gaines Area Has Increase

W. H. Steele, Seagraves, agent of the Santa Fe land company, reports new new farmers in that section and also in Gaines county as a whole. "All farms are rented—we had more applications than ever for the farms we had," he said. "Not many new people are coming in and not much raw land is being broken out this spring."

"Everybody is trying to get back to the land and there is more demand by renters than ever before and we are selling more land at this time," R. L. Brown, Muleshoe "land man" states referring to sales of the past three years. "More inquiries for farms to buy and rent this year and some are purchasing. Our little valley, the Blackwater valley, is going to have more new wells this year and as many small tracts are being sold as at any time in the last three years."

Rent Places In Demand

"We have had a big demand for rent places—hundreds more than we could supply and while we sold a few farms during the call, most of our demand was from tenant farmers from other sections of Texas and a few from Oklahoma," J. H. Lucas, manager of I. C. Enochs lands at Littlefield, said. "Among these are some good substantial men with teams, tools and equipment and money to run through and make a crop. Many of this class of people were not able to locate here on account of there not being land sufficient to take care of them.

"In our case, on the Enochs lands we have some 17,000 acres in cultivation, 5,000 acres of which are occupied by owners of the land. We expect to make a few sales this spring, as some men have lined up who will buy land subject to being rented for 1933. These will be completed in the next 60 days."

Rush Just About As Usual

Terry county is not having any more of a back to the land rush than usual, reports J. E. Shelton, of the chamber of commerce, who is in close touch with the situation. "Some people are moving to the farm but not in any greater percentage than in other years," he said. "People who are coming either desire to rent or are moving to their own farms which have previously been rented. No sales of land but a few exchanges. Owners are displacing tennants but not in any greater per cent than usual.

"A considerable number of people are moving to this country from other sections and we do not have a sufficient number of farms to supply the demand. But, this is nothing unusual as in fact we have not been able to supply the demand for several years."

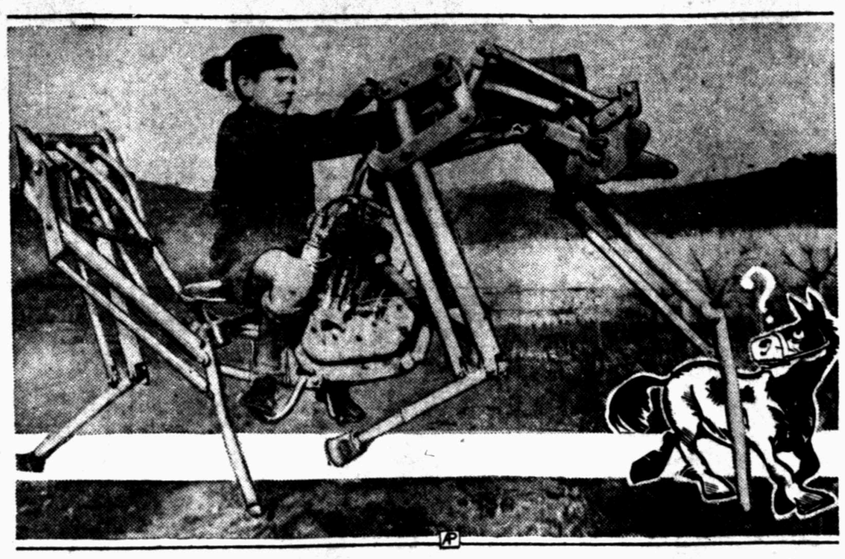

Few Changes Made

Frank Rodgers of the Halsell Land company, Amherst, said his concern had "few places to rent and there were very few changes." The company has not closed any contracts for sales and there are no prices now being made on land. "We had a lot of farmers calling about places to rent," he added.

Percy B. Ralls, of Ralls, stated there were few property changes in his section. There were some moves, as usual, with some new land being broken out this year and perhaps land that was not in cultivation last year being put out this year.

Here's Latest Thing In Horses

New Five Horsepower "Horse" Trots And Pulls Light Farm Vehicle; May Be Plowing Next

This isn't a Technocratic nightmare—only a horse, 1933 model, shown trotting along at Spezia, Italy, home of its inventor, Signor D. G. Alzetta. Its motor is 5 horse power, and the next step may be to increase this in the hope that it will pull a plow. Already it has drawn a light farm vehicle.

SPEZIA, Italy, Feb. 26 (AP)—A mechanical horse, designed to substitute for the farm animal or even light tractor, has been invented by an engineer here, Signor D. G. Alzetta.

Propelled by a motor of only 5 horse power, the uncanny mechanical animal not only carries a person but pulls a light farm vehicle over rough ground.

Is Weird Looking

The metal beast presents a weird appearance as its long skinny legs carry it along at a fair speed. It reminds the spectactator of a huge grasshopper, or, better still, of something seen in a bad dream.

The mechanical animal is made entirely of light steel tubing. The joints have been carefully worked out. Signer Alzetta says he studied equine anatomy to produce them.

Can't Gallop

The driver sits amidships, on a spring-equipped motorcycle saddle. The motor is directly in front of him. Ahead rises the ominous-looking head and shoulders. He controls the "critter" by motorcycle handle-bars and a lever. He starts it off at a walk and can get it up to a trot, but not a gallop.

Signor Alzetta's next development is to equip his quadrupped with a high-powered motor, to see if it will draw a plow.

Why Not?

"I see no reason why legs should not be as fundamentally a motive force as wheels," Signor Alzetta said.

"Practically everything that nature permits to move except the enormous forces of the sea and glaciers, gets there on legs. Wheels were the invention or afterthought of men."

Predicts Frost
February Thunder Is Blamed

TAHOKA, Feb. 25. (Special).—Because it thundered on February 6 this year, it will frost on April 6, says John Ray, of Magnolia, near here.

Last February it thundered on a certain date and Mr. Ray made the prediction of frost 60 days later, on a corresponding date in April. According to E. I. Hill, the frost came about that time.

CROSBYTON, Feb. 25.—(Special)—College avenue here from the end of the brick paving west to the high school, is being paved. The city plans an eight inch caliche base, with a hot top layer.

New Style Cotton Harvester Is Being Shown By Plainview Man; New Method Being Used

PLAINVIEW, Feb. 25. (Special)—A new style cotton harvester is being shown here by A. R. Nisbet of Plainview. The machine is very simple in design and uses an entirely new method for gathering the open cotton.

As the machine passes over the row a blast of air pressed the cotton against a revolving roll hard enough to extract the open boll.

Portales Area's Broomcorn Crop Being Moved To Market

PORTALES, N. M., Feb. 25 (Special)—The broomcorn crop is moving out of here more rapidly than earlier in the season. The larger part is said to be trucked to Dallas, Fort Worth and other Texas markets.

The Roosevelt county crop is estimated at 160 cars by H. W. Davidson, buyer. Present prices range from a $22.50 to $25 a ton. Earlier in the season the price was $35. Rains in the season caused stains on the corn, farmers said.

Miss Frances Mayhugh Will Be Plainview's Princess In Show

PLAINVIEW, Feb. 25. (Special)—Plainview will be represented in the colorful Rainbow Pageant on the evening of March 6 at Amarillo by Miss Frances Mayhugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Mayhugh.

The pageant, incident to the Amarillo Fat Stock show, will be attended by princesses from all Panhandle-Plains towns with their maids of honor and escorts.

EMERGENCY FUND

FLOYDADA, Feb. 25.—(Special)—An emergency measure, approved by the Floyd county commissioner's court, sets aside $30 a month more for salary for a deputy sheriff at Lockney. Sheriff E. S. Randerson has named Morgan Wright to the post.

Farmers' Day Is Scheduled

Tuesday, February 28, Will Be All-Day Event For Farmers Of Area; Motion Pictures To Be Shown

Motion pictures featuring the manufacture and development of modern farm machinery are a part of the entertainment planned for "Farmers' Day", to be held in Lubbock, Tuesday, February 28. The event is sponsored by J. H. Hackfield, local dealer for J. I. Case farm implements, and will be held at the firm's headquarters at 603 Broadway.

Coffee and doughnuts will be served to guests attending the all day program. Large displays of the newest J. I. Case farm implements will be shown and several factory representatives will assist Mr. Hackfield at the event.

To Accept Cotton

"Farmers' Day", Mr. Hackfield has announced, will inaugurate a new cotton exchange offer on the sale of J. I. Case listers and cultivators. Cotton will be accepted at eight cents per pound on the full purchase of these implements in the local territory.

"In offering to exchange Case listers and cultivators for cotton at eight cents", Mr. Hackfield said, "I am gambling on low cost production made possible by quality implements and on increased cotton prices during 1933.

Each purchaser of a Case lister or cultivator on "Farmers' Day" will be given a large assortment of groceries, including a 48 lb. sack of flour, 10 lbs. of sugar, 10 cans of fruit, 12 bars of laundry soap and 1 lb. of coffee.

Hitch-Hiking Bird
Rooster Rides On Car Bumper

TOLEDO, Ohio, Feb. 25.—Morris Van Wormer, who lives in Temtemperance, Mich, and who drives to work here every day raises prize roosters as a sideline. Recently Van Wormer drove up before his place of employment, got out of the car, and heard a rooster crow. The sound had a familiar note, and the driver got out and investigated. One of his birds had hitch-hiked all the way into town on the rear bumper. And the temperature hovered around zero!

Old Henry Tract In Hockley County Is Being Put Into Farms; Dozen Or So Of Men Are Improving Holdings

LEVELLAND, Feb. 25. (Special)—More than 2,000 acres on what is known as the old Henry tract, several miles northwest of town, will be put out this spring into crops for the first time. A dozen or so men have purchased a labor or two of ground and are already building improvements and breaking the sod.

Some of the owners will have modern homes built right away while others will erect temporary structures or dugouts, planning for permanent homes later. Two or three do not plan to move onto their place for a year or two.

Three Farmer Tenants

Three of the new land owners were former tenants on the Whiteface farms near Whiteface; one business man is building a farm home and several other former tenants are starting in for themselves. One man whose renter bought a farm is buying two more himself and improving them.

Last year the land was open for sale. It is only a few miles from town.

W. S. Hayes and his brother, Milt, former Whiteface farms tenants and "Shorty" Harris are the three former tenants there now starting homes. Clifton Newton, who rented an A. N. Riley farm near Pettit, bought a farm and then Mr. Riley purchased two labors. All three are building improvements.

Ira Wright moved the old Clem Lumber company office here to his place and is building a windmill; L. A. Bacon, gin man here. G. C. Perry of Levelland and Mr. Smith of Levelland have purchased farms, Mr. Perry bought 200 acres.

John Randolph is another farm purchaser and Elzie McInturff, who recently sold a farm near Pettit bought one on the new location. Another man is reported making improvements on a labor.

The national fire loss in 1931 was almost $50,000,000 less than in 1930.

Today's Programs Of Religious Worship Announced By Local Churches

Seek Increase In Attendance

Baptist Services Will Be In Keeping With Third Anniversary Of Rev. Campbell As Minister Here

Services at the First Baptist church today will be in keeping with the third anniversary of the Rev. R. C. Campbell as minister here. Rev. Mr. Campbell is to speak on "Mercy for the Merciful" at the morning service. Tonight he has chosen "Refreshing Christians" as his sermon subject.

A goal of 1,500 has been set for the Sunday school services at the church. The Down Town Bible class, sponsored by this church, is to meet at 9:30 o'clock in the Lindsey theater. A goal of 300 has been set. Rev. Mr. Campbell, teacher, will speak on "Storms and Calms". Marion Ford will play a miramba solo.

Enrollment Increased

During the three years that Rev. Mr. Campbell has been pastor here there have been 1,386 addition to the church, increasing the enrollment to 3,000.

There is to be a meeting of ministers and laymen of the Lubbock Methodist district in Levelland on March 10, beginning at 10 a. m. This date was formerly announced to be March 15.

Church benevolences and spring revivals will be the main topics for discussion, according to Dr. C. A. Bickley, presiding elder, who is to be in charge of the meeting.

Thanks Professor

Sandy is sitting up and thanking Professor Joseph McCaskill for his life. Contrary to usual precedent it was man saving dog, rather than dog saving man, for the professor was walking along the shore of Massasoit Lake at Springfield, Mass., and saw Sandy drowning in the icy water. McCaskill dove in, swam to the dog and brought him back to shore. Both are doing well. The terrier is owned by G. T. Turbin.

Nearly Sixty Per Cent Of Slaton's Taxes Collected

(By Staff Correspondent)

SLATON, Feb. 25.—Nearly 60 per cent of the taxes of the city of Slaton for 1932 have been collected according to Harvey Austin, city collector.

Valuations for 1932 were cut nearly a million dollars from the 1931 figure. The valuations were reduced to $2,175,000. Tax rate is $1.50 per $100 valuation.

Assessing work will not begin until May, Mr. Austin said. The city commission probably will not set the rate until the new officials are chosen April 4. Terms of the mayor and two councilmen expire in April.

HOT WATER FAILURE

Mr. Harrison's experience with a Self-Action Gas Water Heater is typical of the reports of other users. For the past three years his home has been supplied with 24-hour hot water service, instantly ready at the turn of the tap. Every time a member of the family needed hot water for bathing—shaving—scrubbing—dishwashing or the laundry there was plenty on hand. hand.

How many hot water failures have you endured in the past three years? What would it be worth to your family to have instant hot water at all times?
