Darvon Debated

WASHINGTON (AP)-A group of drug experts says Darvon appears no more effective than common aspirin and says abuse of the popular prescription pain reliever has been implicated in a number of deaths.

The Senate Small Business subcommittee on monopolies was to hear further viewpoints today on the drug, once the most popular pain reliever prescribed by doctors.

Deportation Delayed

SEMINOLE (AP)-A last-minute plea on behalf of about 550 Mennonites by Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, has temporarily removed the threat of deportation for the religious farming community, whose temporary residence status expires today.

Bentsen asked immigration officials Wednesday to postpone action against the group until he has a chance to reintroduce a bill in Congress allowing the sect to stay in West Texas.

Food Prices Up

By The Associated Press

Families hoping for some relief in 1979 from soaring grocery bills found little cause for encouragement during January. An Associated Press marketbasket survey showed sharp price hikes, particularly for basic items like meat and eggs.

The AP found that grocery bills rose last month at a rate more than double that in December. Prices increased in almost every city checked by the AP and the hikes more than offset scattered declines, mostly for coffee, butter and tomato sauce.

Teng On Tour

WASHINGTON (AP)-China's Teng Hsiao-ping has seen the nation's leaders. Now he sees another side of America. His coast-to-coast tour beginning in Georgia today was as central to Teng's state visit as his talks with President Carter and key members of Congress.

There will be a bit of barbecue in Texas on Saturday, but Teng won't be spending a lot of time with ordinary people. Instead, he will be seeing captains of industry, space officials and newspaper publishers on his trip to Atlanta, Houston and Seattle.

The SDN Column

We have come to the conclusion that there is nothing more mysterious than a leaky roof.

The SDN office has had its roof problems over the years, but possibly none so irritating as the past three weeks. The basis for our problem, we are told, is the fact that a big portion of our roof is the flat type, which means that water collects in low places and somehow it usually finds a way to soak through.

So, when the sleet storm occurred back in late December, there was a good supply of moisture just waiting to be freed by thawing. And the thaw stretched over so many days that the ensuing drip-drip-drip into the office was a prolonged ordeal.

But the mysterious factor is the location of the drips. They seem to move about. This season's drips are not in the same places as last year's drips, which means that you can't make advance preparations when drippy conditions arise. You just have to wait and see where the next drip is going to fall and by the time you discover it, chances are that it already has dampened a desk top or a typewriter.

School Election Called; Two Candidates In Race

Snyder School Trustees officially set April 7 as the date for the annual school election and amended the current school calendar at a special session Wednesday.

The election will fill Places 1 and 2 on the board and this morning, a candidate had filed for each place.

Vera McSpadden, the Place 1 board member, filed for re-election, and Bill Seale filed as a candidate for Place 2. Max von Roeder, the present Place 2 board member announced at the meeting Wednesday that he did not plan to seek re-election. He is completing his 13th year on the board. Mrs. McSpadden is completing her second term as a member of the board.

Seale, who heads Bell-Seale Funeral Home here, is a former Snyder mayor and former president of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce. He has a son, Kris, who is a student at Snyder High School.

The school calendar revision will make up four days of classroom time lost due to weather in January. It calls for regular classes on April 9-10, which were included in the spring vacation in the original calendar. The other two days will be made up at the end of the term with classes on May 31 and June 1. Graduation ceremonies will be held

Sunday Gas Sales May Be Banned

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government officials, faced with continuing shortages of Iranian crude oil, are considering a ban on Sunday gasoline sales and a variety of other measures reminiscent of the 1973-74 Arab oil embargo.

Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger said Wednesday the Carter administration will decide by April 1 whether to impose mandatory conservation measures. But he said such actions would not be needed if the public voluntarily saves fuel.

Among the mandatory measures that might be taken are allocating gasoline from refineries to distributors and suspending evening and Sunday sales, government officials said.

Also under consideration is limiting motorists' purchases to alternate days.

Direct rationing has been ruled out, officials said.

So far, Schlesinger said, "the position of the U.S. has not been dramatically affected" by the upheaval in Iran that forced the shah to leave that country. The virtual shutoff of oil exports from Iran "is just beginning to bind now," he said.

The United States normally gets about 5 percent of its crude oil from Iran.

Other oil producing countries, most notably Saudi Arabia, have made up for much of the Iranian loss. But there have been reports the Saudis would produce an average of only 9.5 million barrels a day in the first four months of 1979. The normal daily average is nearly 10.5 million barrels.

Schlesinger said he had seen nothing from Iran that would indicate a return to normality is imminent.

Pope John Paul II Returns To Rome

ROME (AP)—Pope John Paul II returned to Rome today after a week-long tour of Latin America in which he appealed for greater social justice but told the clergy of the Roman Catholic Church to stay out of politics.

The pope landed three hours behind schedule at Leonardo da Vinci Airport aboard a Mexican jetliner. He had made a stop en route to Nassau, Bahamas.

The 58-year-old pontiff, clad in long white overcoat and white skull cap and slightly tanned from the Mexican sun, walked down the ramp smiling.

He was greeted by Premier Giulio Andreotti and Rome's Communist mayor, Giulio Carlo Argan.

Their presence symbolized the volatile new political situation to which the pope was returning in Italy.

Andreotti, of the church-backed Christian Democrat Party, resigned as head of government Wednesday because the Communists withdrew their support of his minority Cabinet. He is staying on in a caretaker role. New elections or a drawn-out political crisis are in prospect, and Italians will watch to see whether the Polish-born pontiff will try to influence the outcome, as some of his Italian predecessors have.

During his trip, the pontiff spent one day in the Dominican Republic and five days in Mexico.

Khomeini Back After 14 Years

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Ayatullah Ruhollah Khomeini returned home Thursday after more than 14 years of exile to pursue his dream of replacing Iran's 2,500-year-old monarchy with an Islamic republic.

As the chartered Air France jetliner landed the bearded, 78-year-old religious leader of the revolution against Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, a million excited followers lined the 11-mile route he was to take from the airport to Tehran's largest cemetery where he was to speak.

Six tanks guarded the entrance to the airport, and the crowd made no attempt to get on to the field. But the army was keeping a low profile, leaving the policing of the airport to the normal security force there, while 50,000 "Islamic police" designated by the welcoming committee maintained order along the route to the cemetery.

However, in advance of Khomeini's arrival, leaders of the armed forces paraded tanks and troops through Tehran Wednesday to show that the decision to allow him to return did not signal surrender by the government of Prime Minister Shahpour Bakhtiar.

Khomeini issued a brief statement before leaving Paris, thanking the French government and saying, "I leave your country to go and serve my country."

A spokesman for Khomeini conceded that, after reports reached Paris of troops taking up new positions near Tehran's airport, some followers urged him to postpone his return.

"But the ayatullah has made his decision and that is it," the spokesman, Sadegh Ghotbzadegh, told reporters earlier Wednesday in Paris.

Before it was announced that the ayatullah had left, Bakhtiar said Iran was in a "very critical and dangerous period." He told Iranians in a radio and television broadcast that the government would "resist chaos and doubtful elements."

Ask Us

Q--The crowd at Tuesday night's basketball game between Snyder and Lamesa was the biggest I ever saw in the Scurry County Coliseum. Did it set a record?

A-No. Although it is one of the larger crowds for the coliseum, the record was set on Feb. 22, 1968, and, incidentally, Lamesa's basketball team was involved. Lamesa and Lubbock Dunbar met in a playoff game to determine the district champion after Lamesa won the first half and Dunbar won the second half of regular-season play. There are 3,054 permanent seats in the coliseum and all were filled that night, plus 240 chairs were set up in the arena around the basketball court and these were filled, making a total of at least 3,294 seated. Still there were a few standing. E.D. Flynn said paid attendance at Monday night's game was approximately 1,850. On two or three occasions back in the early days of the coliseum, the SHS team drew 2,000 or more to games.

Clements Eyes Court Changes

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Bill Clements said today he is not ready to recommend that criminal cases be handled by the courts of civil appeals but he will be influenced by Chief Justice Joe Greenhill of the Texas Supreme Court.

Greenhill urged a joint session of the Legislature Wednesday to give voters a chance to allow the 14 courts of civil appeals to hear criminal appeals. He said the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals is swamped.

"That's the first time I have heard Justice Greenhill on the subject," Clements told a news conference today. "I am not well informed on the subject at present but I would have to admit that my judgment will be influenced by Justice Greenhill. I will discuss it further with him."

Clements signed the first bill sent him by the Legislature, an emergency appropriation by Sen. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, to provide $48,000 for three new courts of civil appeals.

Clements also announced the appointment of two new aides.

Joe W. Kirven, 46, a black businessman from Dallas, will become an administrative assistant. "He will be responsible for our equal opportunities program and also with recruiting other appointees," Clements said.

Kirven, a Wiley College graduate, said he ran an unsuccessful race for the Legislature as a Republican in 1968, the same year he was chosen by the Texas Junior Chamber Commerce as one of five outstanding young Texans.

Former State Representative Hilary Doran Jr. of Del Rio, who said he considers himself a conservative Democrat, was named an administrative assistant for legislative liaison.

Proposal Draws Criticism From AFL-CIO President

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)-House Speaker Bill Clayton said today he probably would support a bill creating a presidential primary on a separate day from regular party primary elections.

That proposal, advanced by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, immediately drew criticism from Texas AFL-CIO President Harry Hubbard.

Hobby says he is having a bill drafted that would set the presidential primary the second Tuesday in March and the regular party elections in July, with runoffs in August.

Clayton said the bill is one "I might be able to support and probably will support."

Holding the presidential primary in March would "let Texas be a trend state instead of New Hampshire," Clayton said. He also endorsed holding the regular primary elections in July and August instead of in May and June as they now are.

Clayton theorized that one reason for Texas' usual low voter turnout was "because we have such long campaigns," which usually start in January and last until November.

The speaker said he had talked with Gov. Bill Clements about Hobby's proposal.

"I can't speak for the governor, but I think he would look with favor on a presidential preference primary that is not tied to the state primaries," he said.

Hubbard, meanwhile, issued a statement saying it would cost $2 million in tax dollars to separate the presidential primary from the primaries to nominate legislators and members of Congress.

"This proposal is being made solely for the benefit of individual politicians, such as announced presidential candidate John Connally, and we don't need to be spending all this tax money just so they can hold a beauty contest before the regular primary," he said.

Conservative Democrats have been reluctant to support a presidential primary bill because the hot Republican contest between Ronald Reagan and Gerald Ford drew many conservatives away from the Democratic primary in 1976.

Texas' primaries for statewide officials, such as governor and attorney general, are not held in presidential years. Only races for the Legislature and Congress are involved in those primaries.

Speaking with reporters after a routine House session in which no bills were debated, Clayton also expressed support for a state-financed deepwater port for supertankers - a concept that is in trouble with the House Appropriations Committee.

too much power

For many years it has been no secret that stepped-up production of coal was necessary to keep this nation's supply of energy flowing. Dramatic moves by the OPEC nations only added to the realization that all alternate fuels must be made available as the supply and price of imported oil would continue to be a major insoluble problem.

Tremendous increases in the production of coal was early indicated as our first bet to fill the gap. White House economists and officials of the Department of Energy (DOE) are at long last taking a stand against the Interior Department as it plays along with pseudo environmentalists in moves to hamstring the coal industry's expansion plans.

The federal strip mining law of 1977 was a major victory for the anti-industrial activists. The law now is being subjected to the usual rule-making within the Department of Interior and this agency is allowing no input from other agencies in the administration.

The final rules, if they resemble the proposed rules will add billions of dollars to coal-acquisition costs at a time when the Carter administration is trying to promote the use of coal.

The main reason is that the regulations set "performance standards," or engineering criteria, as well as stating desired results. White House critics and many others argue that the coal industry should be able to reach the desired results the best and least costly way possible, rather than follow a government "cookbook."

Energy Department analysts say that going by the performance standards will add about $6 per ton to the cost of mining Appalachian coal and $2.60 per tone for Western coal. And this, without helping the environment in any significant way.

The president's Council on Wage and Price Stability issued a cost analysis and in it the report said the Interior Department proposed rules "appear more stringent than the strip mining law requires."

There is also worry that extending the rules to existing mines might cut total production of coal by one-sixth.

It appears to us that right now is the time for Congress to repeal the law which gives this overbearing agency the legality to stab us all in the back.

another ripoff

For years the Chamber of Commerce of the United States has been asking Congress to repeal a depression-born law known as the Davis-Bacon Act because it is inflationary. The law, which once had an entirely different purpose, is still on the books.

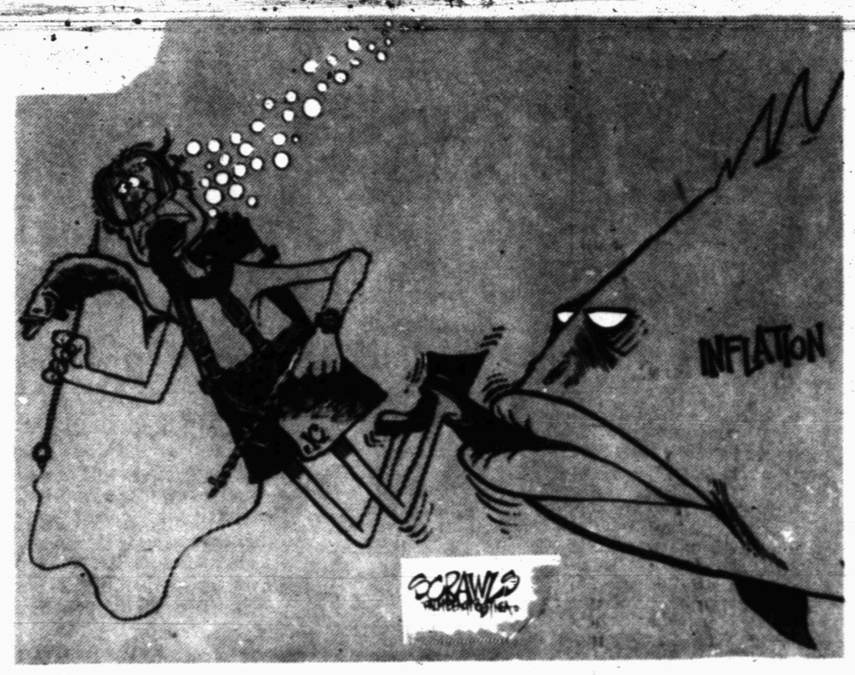

Congress again is being asked by the Chamber to repeal it. Similar appeals are being made by other construction and business groups.

Only this time the Congress is hearing also from its watchdog agency, the General Accounting Office (GAO).

A still-to-be-released GAO study reports that the Act adds an estimated $500 million yearly in inflated costs on federally funded or assisted construction projects.

The Act is supposed to regulate wages on such jobs to keep them in line with prevailing wages.

In reality, it guarantees union scale wages, even when there are no unions in the locality.

One has to wonder if there is any sanity left in the world.

Take the case of the 16-year-old girl in California who killed two people and injured nine others in a schoolhouse shooting spree. She said she didn't like Mondays, and shooting people livened things up.

Or consider the case of the New York hijacker who commandeered a jet and demanded that one of three noted entertainers be contacted to read a note to the press.

Then, there are reports of various other incidents in which people barricade themselves in homes and have a shootout with police, or walk into a courtroom armed with a knife and start stabbing bystanders.

In a way, it makes me appreciate Snyder. Here, at least, we have been spared many crimes of personal violence. Although we have an occasional murder, it is not like it is in a larger city. I used to live in Lubbock, and there I subsisted on reading accounts of murders, rapes, muggings, and robberies on a daily basis.

I am inclined to wonder if people are not becoming increasingly amoral in our world today. Of course, there have always been crazy people and, what is more, there always will be. There is no getting around that issue.

But the mass murder of people, be they victims children in Illinois or derelicts in California, is another matter. I wonder how the perpetrators of such offenses can live with themselves. It amazes me to think of the rationalizations they must make to explain their actions.

Nor is the scope of the issue limited to simple murder. One hears talk of overkill in discussions of nuclear war.

I am reminded of the answer a centurian gave when asked how he was able to live so long. He said, "Well, I lived most of my life before the world went crazy."

anti-american americans

Eugene Ionesco, the Paris playwright, recently visited the United States; he says he spent most of his time trying to cheer us up.

He returned to France to report that Americans not only have a very poor opinion of themselves but appear to like it like that.

In a word, we are "masochists."

He says the United States is masochistic, likes to torture itself.

Ionesco uses an expression I expect to hear used frequently from now on even if I have to do it myself. He refers to "anti-American Americans."

He says the United States imagines itself responsible for all that is wrong in the world--in Indochina, Asia, Africa. Whatever unhappiness there is must somehow be "our fault."

Ionesco says that if we Americans had a proper historical perspective we would be patting ourselves on the backs for such accomplishments as civil rights, rehabilitating post-war Europe--the good things we have done.

Instead, he says, we are obsessed with guilt about Vietnam, Indian rights, Watergate, and so forth.

Ionesco says Europeans do not consider Richard Nixon's faults all that serious; that we, at least, should be able to put that chapter of history behind us and desist from further self-flagellation.

But, he says, one has to conclude that Americans must prefer the self-torment since they continue to blame themselves for everything that is wrong in the world.

George Wallace will be satisfied with an epitaph for himself reading: "I told you so."

Of all the bittersweet memories of his 59 years--the last six in a wheelchair--Wallace says that, even knowing the price he would have to pay, he would do it just that way all over again.

Even the shooting that disabled him, he says, led to a "great religious experience in 1972" which otherwise he might not have had.

He says, "The Lord works in wondrous ways sometimes to get our attention."

Those of us who have experienced enough public adulation to realize what a narcotic applause can be have wondered if George Wallace--a three-term governor, four times a presidential candidate--would be happy in his new job: director of development of rehabilitation resources for the University of Alabama.

But he's proved he's tough. And he may also be able to manage this inevitably painful withdrawal.

Wallace finds satisfaction these days in having "changed the complexion of American political philosophy"--as he puts it. It was Wallace who first identified "segregation" as a "mostly Northern problem."

Nowadays politicians of both parties are protesting that there is too much national government; taxes are too punitive; there is too much bureaucracy. These were the battle cries of Wallace campaigns more than 10 years ago.

So if we can't do better, George Wallace will be satisifled with a political epitaph which says, "I told you so."

WASHINGTON (NEA) - Much as they might like to, congressional leaders see no safe way to ignore the mounting political pressure for a balance-the-budget amendment to the Constitution.

Such proposals have been kicking around Capitol Hill for years, mostly under the sponsorships of conservative Republicans, but have never received serious scrutiny.

Now, with public antagonism towards big government at an all-time high, 22 states have petitioned Congress for a constitutional convention to consider a balance-the-budget amendment. If 12 more states follow suit, such a convention - the first since the Constitution was written - might have to be held.

Many legal scholars fear that a constitutional convention, even if called for a single purpose, might open up the entire document to amendment. Since there is no precedent for such a gathering, the ground rules are anybody's guess.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., chairman of the Senate Judiciary subcommittee on constitutional amendments, now plans to schedule hearings later this winter or early in the spring on the ramifications of a possible constitutional convention and on the balance-the-budget amendment itself.

Bayh may ask Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, and members of his Senate Budget committee to participate in the hearings insofar as they address the pros and cons of the proposed amendment.

Most congressional budget experts believe there is no way to write a constitutional requirement for a balanced federal budget without either dangerously straitjacketing the government in times of military or economic crisis or permitting so many loopholes that the amendment is meaningless.

They are hoping the Bayh hearings may drive that point home before too many more states petition Congress for a constitutional convention on the issue.

For public consumption, the fight over selection of a site for the 1980 Republican National Convention was waged in purely logistical terms - which city of the seven vying for the convention could provide the best meeting facilities and hotel accommodations.

But as anyone attending last week's GOP National Committee meeting here can testify, the real battle turned on political considerations.

Minneapolis-St. Paul was the only site eliminated for a purely non-political reason: inadequate hotel space. Miami Beach, New Orleans and Kansas City (the 1976 convention city) fell by the boards because they are located in states which have not ratified the Equal Rights Amendment. New York has no prominent local GOP officeholders (e.g. governor or mayor), and got a bad name for excessive work space and equipment charges to the 1976 Democratic National Convention participants.

That left Detroit, and Dallas, GOP Chairman Bill Brock, who has consistently sought to broaden the party's base and demonstrate its concern for blacks, the poor, and the cities, opted for Detroit. Party conservatives, especially supporters of Ronald Reagan, fought for Dallas - although mostly they wanted anyplace except Detroit.

After a bruising struggle, Brock and his moderate allies won. So Detroit it will be - starting July 14, 1980, which is likely to mean the Democrats wait until August, after the summer Olympic games in Moscow.

Ronald Reagan, who spent three days in Washington last week courting Republicans of all stripes on Capitol Hill, appears on the surface to be following the Ed Muskie strategy of 1972 by seeking early public support from party establishment types.

Muskie, of course, had scads of big name Democratic endorsements heading into the primaries six years ago - only to discover that George McGovern had out-organized him on the ground.

Reagan aides insist their man is in a different position, having fought the GOP establishment in 1976. They feel he needs to prove his acceptability to all wings of the party, even if he doesn't garner outright endorsements from many moderates or liberals.

congressional comment

by charles stenholm, mc

WASHINGTON, D.C.—I come to Washington with feelings of optimism and appreciation--appreciation for the people who sent me here and optimism for the people whom I will work with in the 96th Congress. I am happy to be a part of the younger and increasingly more conservative leadership of this Country. This leadership has been elected by constituencies that are frustrated by inflation, excessive regulation, and high taxes. The People of this land desire stability and a chance to live more productive and satisfying lives. Too often this has proven an illusion. Discontent has been so widespread that many writers have called this the era of the "Tax Revolt."

The 95th Congress reacted to their cries--although with some reluctance. An airline deregulation bill was passed that sunset a whole government agency and will do much to increase competition and decrease air fares. Congress also passed a budget that had a deficit $20 billion lower than the administration had predicted. Certainly these pieces of legislation are important in analyzing the direction of Congress, but more significant is what the 95th Congress did not pass: regulatory nightmares such as hospital cost containment, the Consumer Protection Agency, the Labor Reform Act, and Cargo Preference never received final approval. Several fiscally extravagant measures such as counter-cyclical funds, welfare reform, and national health insurance also did not pass.

Our job will be to continue this trend. Government regulation can be averted by sunseting such agencies as OSHA, the Consumer Products Safety Commission, and the Department of Energy; together with limiting the authority of the IRS, EPA, and FTC, among others, to interfere uneconomically in people's lives and businesses. Federal spending can, and must, be reduced in many places. We also need to furnish better services in areas that only the government can provide--services such as defense, construction of highways and public works can be more cost effective.

While serving in this body my goals will be to reduce government spending and regulation; work toward a sound agricultural policy that will provide a reasonable return on investment for our farmers; and take the government out of the energy industry allowing market forces to guarantee a supply and price we can afford. Hopefully, with your help, we can accomplish these goals. Now is not a time for the paternalism of big government but the rugged individualism of private initiative. Our foremost goal should be to insure that each person is allowed to reap the benefits of his labor without the government constantly standing in the way.

Mrs. Lassiter remembers when the dwelling was built as she had just moved from Quitman to Sweetwater.

The Hermleigh Quilting club met on Tuesday instead of Monday, due to icy weather. This group of ladies have been quilting four years and four months and have quilted 220 quilts.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Herrley, Tina, and Melissa of Snyder were recent visitors in the Ivey Herrley home.

Ricky Mark Bowen, son of the late Fred Bowen, and Mrs. Ross Jones of Midland, and a former Hermleigh student is among 51 Southwest Texas State University students who have been chosen for listing, in the 1978-79 edition of Who's Who, among students in American University and Colleges.

Bowen, is a junior music major at S.W.T.S.U., He is a member of the school's Chorale, German Club, Opera workshop, and Reader's Theatre, and has performed in several operas.

Outstanding students are selected for Who's Who honors on the basis of both their academic accomplishments and extra curricular leadership and achievement.

The designates are selected by a national committee from local nominees.

Sunday was a most memorable day for Mr. and Mrs. Homer Gannaway as their children honored them by hosting a golden wedding reception for them at the Hermleigh Community Center. One hundred sixty attended and guests were there from Albany, Aspermont, Brady, Slaton, Haskell, Lubbock, Odessa, Sweetwater, Roscoe, Clyde, San Angelo, San Elizario, Ira, Loraine and Hermleigh.

Mrs. Eva Mae Brackeen and Mrs. Lloyd Reeves have been working in the lunch room at Hermleigh High School during the illness of Mrs. Carrie Lou McQuaid and Mrs. Glenda Kincaid.

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

Sam Fry (life master number 10) was Sam Fry Jr. back in 1931. His partner the late Edward Hymes Jr., became life master number 23.

Their bidding of today's hand is indicative of how experts had to use imagination back in 1932.

Sam's opening club bid was normal and sound then as it is now. West might have made a weak jump overcall, but that bid was invented by 28-year-old Oswald Jacoby some six months later.

Hymes could not force with two hearts. He would have had to jump to three to force, so he elected to cue bid two spades. Sam should probably have bid just three clubs. But even at 69 (his current age) Sam is a most aggressive bidder, so he tried three hearts.

Eddie, who always looked for something brilliant, decided that seven hearts would be the most brilliant bid at his disposal. He bid it:

Sam didn't think it was brilliant when he saw the dummy and realized that it would take a lot of luck to bring home all the tricks.

He won the spade, cashed dummy's king of clubs, drew trumps with two leads and cashed his ace of clubs in the hope that something really good would happen in that suit. But West showed out.

Now he needed real luck in diamonds. He cashed his king, noted the fall of the jack from East, finessed against the queen and everything had come up roses.

Snyderites Attend GS Annual Meeting In Abilene

Mrs. J.B. Cooper, Jr., Roscoe, council president, presided at the annual meeting of the West Texas Girl Scout Council held Jan. 29, in Sweetwater.

New officers for the council were elected. They are Mrs. J.B. Cooper Jr. of Roscoe, president; Jack Holden of Abilene, first vice president; Jerry Riggs of Sweetwater, second vice president, and Mrs. Neil Daniel of Abilene, third vice president.

Mrs. Cooper presented special awards to four volunteers, Mrs. Dick Burton and Newt Newberry of Abilene (Thanks Badge), Mrs. Guy Burrow, Big Spring (Daisy award) and Mrs. Felix Dooley, Roscoe, (A Silver Tray).

Bill Bradford, Big Spring, program committee awarded two appreciation plaques to Peggy Vernon; ten year pins to Joan Tate, Jack Chastain, Emma Belle Gaston; and 15 year pins to Elois Pruitt, Faye Chastain, Dianne Scott and Debbie Magness, all of Snyder.

Newt Newberry, camp committee chairman, presented awards to his committee. Snyder members receiving recognition were Carl Voss, Jr., Larry Anderson, Pauline and Alvin Wimmer.

In an adult First Class Scout Recognition ceremony Margaret White and Elsie Anderson of Snyder were among the 27 adults cited for achievement as Girl Scouts. They were presented with a First Class pin.

Highlight of the dinner program was the slide presentation by the girls who had participated in the wider opportunity trip to Our Cabana, an international Girl Scout Center at Cuernavaca, Mexico. The 16 girls were surprised with "Our Cabana," 1978 charmer. Christine Ramieriz, Snyder Cadette Troop No. 266 was present.

Those attending from Snyder were Mr. and Mrs. Larry Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Randy Rodgers, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gaston, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Chastain, Mr. and Mrs. Scotty Scott, Peggy Vernon, June Meuer, Kay Clawson, Margaret White, Barbara Hamlett, Joan Tate, Lou Voss, Thelma Deere, Kim Baldwin, Julie Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. Don Tucker, and Margaret and Jean Anderson.

The annual cookie sale will begin at 4 p.m. Friday, Feb. 2 and continue through Feb. 17. The cookies will sell for $1.25 per box.

According To Tobacco Industry Study...

Only Difference In Smokers Is They Die Sooner

By DANIEL Q. HANEY
Associated Press Writer

BOSTON (AP)—An 11-year study of 4,004 people has failed to turn up any support for the tobacco industry's argument that smokers die younger because of some hidden weakness other than cigarettes, researchers say.

Gary D. Friedman, who directed the study, said "I think this adds more evidence that smoking is indeed a casual factor leading to death."

Tobacco industry supporters, among others, have argued that smokers may have a higher death rate than non-smokers because of unidentified genetic or environmental differences, not the cigarettes themselves.

"We set about to try to test that idea by looking at as many characteristics as we could of smokers as compared to non-smokers," Friedman said. "We wanted to see if they could explain the relationship that we found between smoking and mortality, and they did not."

A report on the research, conducted at the Kaiser-Permanente Medical Care Program in Oakland, Calif., was published in today's issue of the New England Journal of Medicine.

The study was funded by the Council for Tobacco Research U.S.A., an organization financed by tobacco companies.

The researchers kept track of 4,004 middle-aged men and women for 11 years. They found that overall, the death rate among the smokers was 2.6 times higher than among non-smokers.

The researchers took into consideration 48 characteristics of the people's jobs, health and personalities. Among these were alcohol consumption, blood pressure, occupational exposure to chemicals, use of sleeping pills and complaints of insomnia and depression.

"None of them explained away the smoking-mortality relationship," Friedman said in an interview.

For instance, if the smokers had emotional disturbances, their death rate was 2.8 times higher than non-smokers with similar problems; if they did not, their rate was 2.5 times higher than emotionally stable non-smokers.

If the smokers were exposed to industrial hazards, their death rate was 2.9 times higher; if not, it was 2.4 times higher.

In Washington, a spokesman for the Tobacco Institute declined comment on the findings.

Friedman said some people may criticize the study for not taking into account more variables, "especially possible genetic differences between smokers and non-smokers.

"It's very hard to disprove something," he said. "Others should probably try to continue doing this to see if they can find some explanatory variable other than smoking."

Star's Legal Problems May Be Near End

NORWALK, Conn. (AP) —Actress Linda Blair's troubles with authorities in Connecticut may be coming to an end.

A drug charge against the 19-year-old Miss Blair will be dropped if she can prove authorities in Calgary, Alberta, have dismissed a marijuana charge against her, a judge says.

Miss Blair's lawyer, Martin Garbus, told Superior Court Judge Scott Melville on Tuesday that the Calgary City Court had dismissed the marijuana charge. Melville continued the hearing until Feb. 13 to give Garbus time to document his statement.

The star of "The Exorcist" was arrested in Calgary in August. At that time, she was on a program here which provided charges of possession of amphetamines would be dropped if she stayed out of trouble.

When Miss Blair was arrested in December 1977 on a Florida fugitive warrant, Connecticut police said they found amphetamines in her purse. Extradition proceedings are pending against her on Florida charges of conspiracy to buy or sell cocaine.

INFLATION FIGHTING ideas — A Safeway service in support of suggestions from the U.S. Office of Consumer Affairs

2. "What's in a Name?"

The U.S. Office of Consumer Affairs states: Most large supermarket chains sell private label foods and household products. These private label or house brands are usually less expensive and equal in quality to national brands. In many cases supermarkets purchase their house brand goods from the same companies that manufacture nationally advertised brands.

Because of various cost savings including lower promotional cost house brands can be sold for less.

Safeway generally prices its own top-quality (S) Brands lower than national brands of comparable quality and you can always depend on their consistently high quality. Every (S) Brand is unconditionally guaranteed to please.

Each product in the entire (S) Brand line is identified with the red (S) and the words "FINEST SAFEWAY QUALITY." Rigid quality specifications must be met before the familiar (S) goes on the label. Customers acquainted with (S) Brands know the products are comparable to top national brands . . . but they cost less.

Get to know Safeway's family of (S) Brands including Town House, Bel-air, Lucerne, Edwards, Safeway, Mrs. Wright's and many others. They're your staunch allies in the battle against inflation!

Next week's Inflation Fighting Idea "WHAT COST CONVENIENCE?" together, we can be INFLATION FIGHTERS!

Officials Blast Plan To Cut Texas Train Routes

By The Associated Press

A proposal that Texas' two north-south passenger trains be eliminated has drawn angry blasts from Texas officials although some grudgingly concede the lines offer little economic return.

Transportation Secretary Brock Adams suggested Wednesday that 11,800 miles be chopped from Amtrak's national route. He cited the railway's "staggering" costs to taxpayers.

Adams asked Congress to approve the cutback, which would do away with the Lone Star, which runs between Houston and Chicago, and the Inter-American, which runs between Laredo and Chicago.

The Sunset Limited, a tri-weekly route between New Orleans and Los Angeles through Houston and El Paso, would continue in service.

U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen and U.S. Rep. Jim Wright said they would go along with the requests to cut the service, because of the unprofitability of the lines.

But other Texans greeted the news with anger.

"They're gutting service to the Southwest," said Dan Monaghan of Garland, Texas, an officer of the Texas Association of Railroad Passengers.

He echoed the sentiments of others, who claim the proposal is representative of Transportation Department bias toward the Boston-Washington, D.C. corridor.

"It's a northeastern mind set," said Dr. Bill Hamilton, chairman of the Amtrak Committee of the Austin Chamber of Commerce.

"I think primarily Amtrak management is not interested in spending any money except in the Northeast corridor. We seem to think the Northeast corridor is their sacred cow."

Hamilton said 120 trains run daily through the northeastern section of the country, making up 2 percent of the system's route miles but causing 27 percent of the system's deficit.

Adam's proposal would eliminate 43 percent of the system, but he says 91 percent of the railway's business is in the Northeast corridor.

Wright, the House majority leader, said it would be difficult to justify Amtrak's economic losses while trying to cut federal expenditures.

"I'm not going to ask the transportation department to continue service which is costing the taxpayers $22 million a year," Wright said.

Bentsen agreed.

"I will support termination of those routes, in Texas and across the country, which cannot be justified on sound economic principals," Bentsen said.

Rep. Jim Mattox, D-Texas, said the service might be able to save money by rerouting trains and providing better schedules.

"Lawmakers can be expected to take a critical look and might reject the recommendations," Mattox said.

"Amtrak never wanted this route, and made attempts to kill the route and since its inception had bad equipment, poor scheduling and extremely poor management," said Rep. Marvin Leath, D-Texas.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Co-workers will resent you today if you try to con them into doing your work. Production should be your purpose, not flowery prattle.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Things in general will come easily for you today. That could work to your disadvantage. You might take an opportunity for granted and fail to exploit it properly.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You know what needs doing today, but you may have problems in getting your initiative into high gear. Be lively, not lethargic.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) It's best to let others boast of your accomplishments today, rather than tooting your own horn. If you've done something worthy they'll mention it, so relax.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Even though you'll be money-conscious today, you're still likely to spend beyond your means for things which aren't necessities -- and feel guilty in the process.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) In competitive situations it will take more than your charm and good looks to get by today. If you coast, your competition will glide past you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Normally you make cautious assessments before you involve yourself. Today, however, you may ignore this procedure and do something impulsively.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Take care today not to labor under the illusion that an influential contact is prepared to pull off all types of miracles for you. Unfortunately, he can't.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) An associate may not feel the same urgency that you do today regarding a collective objective. If it means that much to you, go it alone.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Instead of being your usual industrious self, you're more prone to rationalizing and postponing things today. Neglected tasks will plague you later.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't attempt to manage something for another today where you feel inept. You could cause all concerned unnecessary problems.

Twins Now Mayors Of Neighboring Towns

WATERLOO, Iowa (AP)- Whoever would have thought those twin brothers - one blue-eyed, the other brown-eyed- from Weatherford, Texas, would sprout into mayors of neighboring communities in faraway Iowa?

It certainly never crossed the minds of the Pentecost boys, Weston Maury and Wesley Maurice, who showed no particular flare for politics while growing up. The closest thing to a portent of their political fate was a shirt-tail cousin on their mother's side who once was governor of Texas.

Nevertheless, today it's Mayor Maurice Pentecost of Independence and Mayor Maury Pentecost of Jesup. Both defeated incumbents to be elected in November 1977.

The 44-year-old brothers deny their election to office was the result of an orchestrated endeavor to spread their name and influence through northeast Iowa. The fact is, they both were surprised to learn the other was running for mayor when they read about it in the newspaper.

Maurice ran for mayor of Independence, population 1,900, because he "felt the taxpayers weren't getting a fair shake." His brother in neighboring Jesup, population 5,900, was drafted by a group of people who thought he should run.

Being mayors of neighboring communities has provided the brothers an opportunity to see more of each other than they did before the election.

"Before we were elected mayors, we didn't see each other more than once a month," says Maurice. Now they are thrown together at various governmental meetings throughout the area.

The brothers both work at John Deere Waterloo Tractor Works - Maury the second shift, Maurice the third.

Maury says he relies on his brother to give him advice because Maurice is more familiar with city government. Maurice served on the Independence City Council for four years before becoming mayor.

Philosophically, however, the two appear to be miles apart.

"I'm a redneck," says Maurice. "I'm very conservative. My philosophy is that if you need something and can get along without it, don't replace it."

The Independence mayor says he's often accused of being anti-business, but it's not so.

"The guy with the lunch bucket is paying the bills in this country, but I have nothing against the businessman," he says.

Maurice is up for re-election next year, and Independence voters may do well to be aware of some unorthodox, yet winning tactics he's employed in the past.

Just two and a half years ago with the birth of his first son, Pentecost announced the fact over the local radio station, then proceeded to buy some tubs of Kentucky fried chicken, and handed it out to anybody he saw, telling them who he was.

Mutilated Girl Dies In Dallas

DALLAS (AP)-An eight-year-old Dallas girl, severely beaten Jan. 12 in an attack that also caused the death of her older brother, died early today at Baylor Hospital.

A spokesman at the Dallas County Medical Examiner's office announced the death and said an autopsy will be held.

Aimee Gray had been listed in critical condition while she was being treated for multiple injuries, including a skull fracture and punctured lungs.

Clifford Cecil Gradi, 11, her brother, died Monday of multiple injuries he suffered in the beating.

Kathleen Gradi, 32, mother of the children, is being held in lieu of $200,000 bond on a charge of attempted murder. Dallas County prosecutors went before a grand jury here Tuesday to present evidence in an attempt to upgrade the charge against the mother.

Prosecutors were not immediately available for comment following the death of the girl early today.

Responding to a call for help at the apartment where the children lived with their mother, police found the boy huddled beneath a staircase. A screwdriver had been driven into his skull through an eye.

The medical examiner's office ruled that the boy died of stab wounds to the brain.

The girl was found unconscious on the living room floor.

Says Texas Prison Director...

'Risk Population' May Rise With Prosperity

By [illegible]
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP)—Sunbelt economic prosperity could have a bad side effect in Texas as younger persons who are more likely to commit crimes move into the state, says prison director W.J. Estelle Jr.

Estelle said Wednesday statisticians have placed the criminal "risk population" at age 17-28 and predict it will peak nationally in 1985-86 and may decline.

"The risk population is the most mobile, however, and with the Sunbelt - especially Texas - offering opportunities, the mobile population will come to this state," said Estelle.

"It (the risk population) may taper off nationally but not in Texas," he said.

Estelle presented the 1980-81 budget request of the Department of Corrections to the Senate Finance Committee.

The department is seeking nearly $220 million, [illegible] $40 million more than recommended by the Legislative Budget Board.

Estelle pleaded with the committee for more money for guards' salaries. He said the 64 percent turnover rate, coupled with the crowded conditions, is as severe a problem as "we have ever faced."

He said he loses as many as 200 guards a month, and he blamed the losses on salaries that are so low sergeants with two children are eligible for food stamps.

Among the differences in the department's request and the board's recommendation is the reduction of 689 proposed positions.

"In my estimation, this is a dangerous cut when you have a climbing prison population," said Estelle.

Texas prisons now hold 24,547 inmates, which is more than any other state, Estelle said.

A total of 105 inmates are on Death Row, and Estelle said "more and more inmates have committed violent crimes."

He noted, too, that only four states commit more people to prison per 100,000 population than Texas.

He said there are six federal guards making $200 a month more than state guards "although only 75 percent as much work is demanded of them."

Estelle suggested tying the state guards' salaries to that of department of Public Safety troopers. He said troopers make $175 more a month.

The prison population has grown so fast, Estelle said, that 800 prisoners are sleeping on mattresses on the floor. An additional 890 prisoners are out of prison on bench warrants and could return, he added.

Yet, Estelle said, "for 30 years we have been relatively free of major disturbances and destruction."

There was a record low of three escapes in 1978, he said. The average number of escapes is nine a year, and at least half walk off from work release programs, he said.

"Our officers," he said, "are the best in the country."

Keeping fat balance down

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Is it always true that consuming more food than is necessary for the upkeep of your body causes "overweight"? I am a small eater and I have a medium-large frame. I am 5 feet 6 but I don't seem to be able to lose any weight. I don't drink beer and I eat very little bread, potatoes or peanut butter. What else can I do?

DEAR READER — You need to learn to evaluate properly how many calories are in the foods you eat. I see you avoid starches, sweets and, apparently, alcohol.

The other major source of calories in the diet is fat. There are nine calories for every gram of fat as opposed to only four calories for every gram of carbohydrate or protein. If you want to limit your calories, I suggest you limit your fat.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-7, Weight Losing Diet, to give you some basic information on how to plan a balanced diet that is limited in calories. Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

This diet will give you between 1,200 and 1,300 calories a day. I don't like to see people go on a diet that is much more restricted than this one unless they are under careful medical supervision. A person shouldn't stay on a strict diet more than two to six weeks, depending upon how severe it is. Such diets may cause serious problems.

Yes, it's always true that your body acts like a checking account. If you deposit more than you can use, the balance will accumulate. The balance in this instance isn't quite so attractive because it's deposited as fat.

The other side of the basic balance system is how many calories you are using. I might ask if your lifestyle permits you to use enough calories.

If you are not physically active, you might try to gradually develop a physical fitness program — even if that is walking an hour a day. You can divide such a walk into two parts if you don't want to walk too much at a time. You can decrease your balance (fat tissue) by spending more calories.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Just what is meant by "passing sounds"? What is the purpose for it? My doctor has done this three times and I don't know why. He said the opening to my uterus should be opened. I am 60 years old and have had some uterine bleeding. I am taking hormones.

DEAR READER — You can think of a sound as a rod; different sounds are made from different substances. They are used literally to dilate openings such as your doctor has done in your case. They may be used to dilate the opening in the esophagus if it becomes constricted. They're often used if there is a stricture of the urethra in both men and women.

There is no way I would know what is causing your uterine bleeding, but you have done the right thing in seeing your doctor. I would like to take this occasion to tell all women who have an unexplained bleeding, particularly between periods or after they have completed the menopause, to see their physician immediately. Sometimes this can be an early sign of cancer. Never ignore unexplained bleeding.

To Night Bikers: Stop and Reflect

By Abigail Van Buren

1979 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: MISERABLE IN OHIO was miserable with good reason. He had struck a 12-year-old boy on a bicycle and wrote to express his anguish as he waited six hours for the lad to come out of surgery.

He said: "I wasn't going very fast, but it was night and the poor kid was wearing dark clothes and there wasn't a light anywhere on his bike. I didn't even see him until I hit him. I was told that his chances for survival were slim. You can't help me — or the boy — but if you print this, maybe parents will see it and make sure their kids have the proper lights on their bikes so accidents like this can be avoided."

Abby, you are to be commended for printing that letter, but I submit this as a follow up:

Dear Miserable:

Since your letter appeared in my column last October, hundreds more pedestrians and bicyclists have been struck and killed or injured by motorists — mostly at night because the drivers couldn't see them in time to stop.

This is senseless and needless because there are many reflective materials on the market today to make people more visible at night.

Sew-on trim for clothing, or entire garments made of fabric that glows in the dark are available at many retail stores. If you can't find them where you shop, ask for them. Insistent consumer demand can help make this life-saving feature easily available to all who need it.

J.K.G. IN ST. PAUL

DEAR J.K.G.: Thanks for an illuminating letter.

DEAR ABBY: I went shopping for a dress but couldn't find anything I wanted to buy.

I told my friend about it, and she said, "Oh, when you get our age, nobody looks at you or cares how you look anyway."

Abby, is that the way most people feel about us old folks? We are both in our 70s, but I always notice how people are dressed regardless of how old they are.

Maybe I'm just an old fool to feel as I do, and should quit caring how I look. I'd like your opinion.

GRACE

DEAR GRACE: Your friend can speak only for herself. She certainly doesn't speak for any of the older folks I know. Don't ever stop caring how you look, dear. Pride in one's appearance is the hallmark of self-respect.

DEAR ABBY: What do you do with a guy who seldom brushes his teeth and hates to shower?

VAL

DEAR VAL: Nothing.

Are you the lonely face in the crowd? Friends make you a winner, and Abby tells you how to win them in her booklet, "How To Be Popular: You're Never Too Young or Too Old." Send $1 with a long, self-addressed, stamped (28 cents) envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

High Beef Prices Cut Dairy Herds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Recent high beef prices have been a big inducement for many dairy operators to reduce their milking herds or sell out altogether, says Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland.

And Bergland says he can't blame anybody who does that.

The high market prices for cow beef used to make hamburger has been "really cutting in on the dairy industry," Bergland told reporters this week.

Bergland, who farmed in northern Minnesota before joining the cabinet two years ago, said that relatively low feed expenses and high milk prices are meaning some profits for dairy farmers.

"They're making money in the dairy business, and they ought to because it's pure slavery from my point of view," he said. "I used to milk 10 cows, by hand, and I said if I ever get out of this mess I'll never milk cows again — and I kept my word."

Bergland said that for some older producers this has meant an opportunity to sell out and retire.

"If we make an error, we pay the penalty. And the interest."

Henry W. Block

H&R Block preparers are carefully trained. But if we should ever make an error that costs you additional tax, you pay only the tax. Block pays any penalty and interest. We stand behind our work. That's another reason why we should do your taxes, whichever form you use, short or long.

Shootout Between Hogs And Steers Tonight

By The Associated Press

Basketball victories over anyone, much less over the once-powerful Houston Cougars, have been hard to come by for the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs.

The Frogs got one Wednesday night, beating Houston, 77-71, at Fort Worth. It was only the third TCU victory over Houston in 20 games, including the era before the Cougars joined the Southwest Conference.

In other SWC action, Texas A&M got revenge for an earlier loss by romping to an easy 92-56 victory over slumping Southern Methodist.

The word "showdown" perhaps is used too often in sports, but another SWC "showdown" is on tap at Austin tonight when the Arkansas Razorbacks visit the Super Drum for an encounter with Abe Lemons' Longhorns.

Texas has never lost in the Super Drum and needs the victory tonight to regain their full one-game lead over the Aggies, who pulled to within one half game again with the victory over SMU.

Freshmen Ed Weininger and Jon Mansbury combined for 42 points in leading TCU to the upset victory over Houston. The Horned Frogs are no 1-8 in SWC play and 6-13 overall. The Cougars, winners of last year's conference post-season tournament, dropped to 3-7 in league play and 11-11 overall.

Wineinger had a career high 23 points and Mansbury dropped in 19.

Speaking of the freshman-laden team, TCU coach Tim Somerville said "It's been tough for our freshmen coming into a situation where we haven't been a winner in a while, but they are mentally tough. They believe they can win."

Houston coach Guy Lewis said "We didn't expect it to be easy. I've been here before with good teams and it hasn't been easy."

Texas A&M moved to within striking distance of the conference lead with bench help from David Britton, who scored 13 to lead the Aggies to the easy victory over the Mustangs.

SMU played without freshman sensation Billy Allen, who is recuperating from the flu.

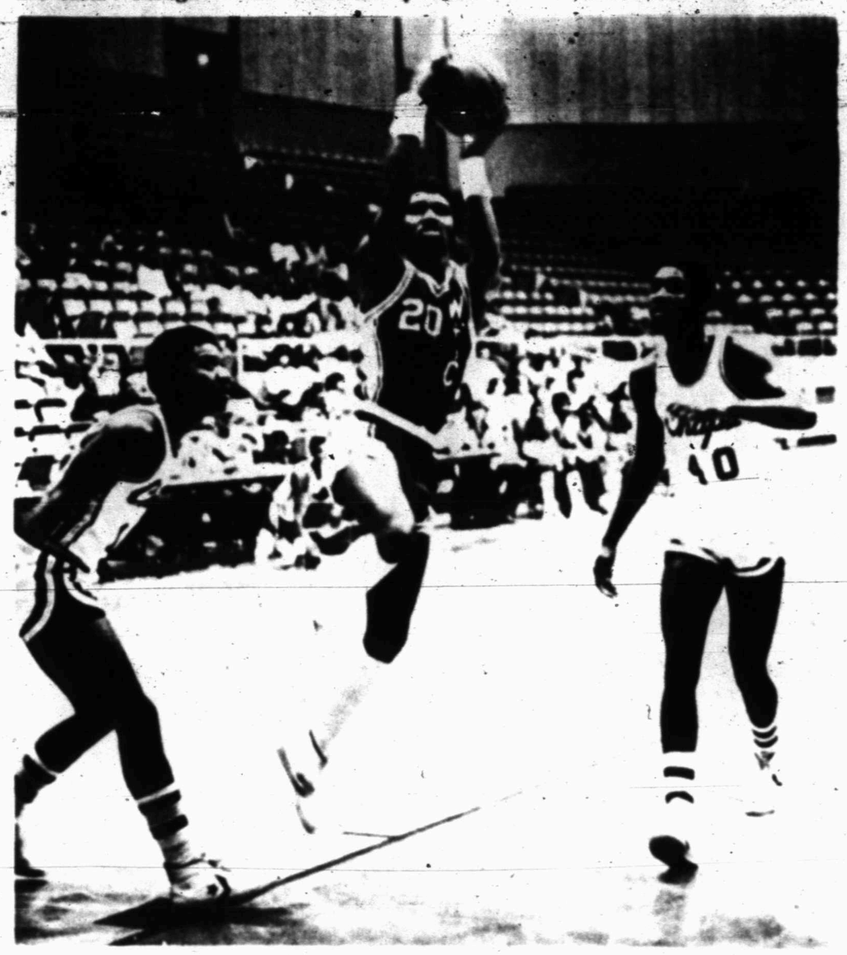

The Aggies, now 8-2 in conference action and 19-4 for the season, never trailed as they jumped out to a 39-25 halftime lead and never looked back.

It was revenge of sorts since SMU upset the Aggies, 78-76, earlier in the season at Dallas.

Aggies coach Shelby Metcalf said he didn't have to jog the memories of his players to get them to remember the earlier game against the Mustangs. "Most of our guys are smart enough to remember," he said.

Metcalf acknowledged that the Mustangs were hampered by the loss of young Allen, son of SMU coach Sonny Allen.

Noting the 36 point difference, Metcalf said of young Allen, "He would have made a difference, but not that much of a difference."

NCAA Investigators Out In Force...

Checks Recruiting Violations

MISSION, Kan. (AP)- Armed with a list of the nation's top 100 high school football players, NCAA investigators are fanning out across the country this week in hopes of catching cheating recruiters red-handed.

This is a radical departure from past NCAA procedures and an NCAA spokesman said privately it was "already bearing fruit."

College coaches, just now entering the frantic final weeks of the football recruiting season, were not told investigators would be in the field with them.

"It really is a dramatic change in procedures," David Berst, director of the NCAA enforcement department, told The Associated Press. "We may be noticed by some schools out there. They may find themselves tripping over us on their way to violate a rule. The next knock on the door could be us."

All pending infractions cases and investigations have been halted while the NCAA pours all its energy into the new program. The national signing date for football recruits is Feb. 21.

"We're going to get after it," Berst said. "In effect, we're tired of just building cases. We want to go on the offense a little bit. We're just like another college coaching staff, figuring out who the great prospects are and going out there to talk to them."

Berst said the NCAA compiled a list of the top 100 prospects, including junior college players, about three weeks ago and plans to do the same when basketball recruiting season reaches its climax in April.

"We want to do more than just react to old charges, react to things that filter in to us a year or two after the fact," Berst said. "For instance, we're going to University X and talking to them about all the people they think are cheating right now.

"Then we go to University Y and ask them the same questions. Then we get an overlap on various schools and find out the ones we ought to be watching."

Berst admitted the NCAA's eight field investigators may have difficulty checking up on 100 players between now and Feb. 21.

Weather Hampers Tri-Crown Start

RANCHO MIRAGE, Calif. (AP)—The scheduled beginning of the $100,000 Triple Crown match play golf tournament today was uncertain because of Wednesday's rare snowstorm, freezing temperatures and heavy rain.

An LPGA spokesman said a decision would be put off until shortly before play was slated to begin at the Mission Hills Country Club. Wednesday's program was canceled because of the inclement weather.

The spokesman said the 16-player, four-day event could not be shortened because of the match-play format. He added that scheduling two rounds in one day might not be practical because of the early tee times and a frost problem on the course.

Defending champion Jo-Anne Carner and Nancy Lopez, the 1978 Ladies Professional Golf Association player of the year, head the field.

Snyder Hosts Team Tennis

Snyder High School will host team tennis - weather permitting - Friday and Saturday. Participating schools are to be Sweetwater, Pampa, Brownwood, Seminole, Brownfield and Snyder.

"Team tennis has become very popular in the state the past year because each team member gets to play at least five matches whether they win or lose, making it 'more--for--the--money' where entry fees are concerned," noted Tiger Coach Bill Boles.

Only the top six girls and boys on each team play, with each player capable of netting the same number of points for his team.

There are district, regional and state team tennis matches in all classifications.

"Team tennis will either live or die for 12 Snyder players this coming month," stressed Boles. "Emphasis must be on the TEAM with just about every Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday during February having matches scheduled."

This past week coaches in the 3-3A district picked Snyder as the team to beat in conference play, causing Coach Boles to comment, "We certainly have our work cut out for us now, with all this pressure they've put on us."

Below is a tentative schedule of the meet.

FRIDAY

9 A.M. - Snyder vs. Sweetwater
10:15 A.M. - Brownwood vs. Brownfield
11:30 A.M. - Snyder vs. Seminole
12:45 P.M. - Pampa vs. Sweetwater
2:00 P.M. - Brownwood vs. Seminole
3:15 P.M. - Pampa vs. Brownfield

Texas Free Agents Include 'Too Tall'

By The Associated Press

Ed "Too Tall" Jones of the Dallas Cowboys and five Houston Oilers became free agents today, but all are expected to be back in their same uniforms next season.

National Football League players who did not sign contracts with their clubs last season became free agents at 12:01 a.m. today under terms of the collective bargaining agreement.

Free agents can negotiate with other NFL teams until April 15. The Oilers and Cowboys, shown the best contract offered one of their players by another team, could still retain the rights to the player by matching the offer.

Joining the free agent ranks from the Oilers were cornerback Greg Stemrick, safety Mike Reinfeldt and guard Ed Fisher, all starters, and reserve runningback Ronnie Coleman and defensive back Kurt Knoff.

Jones was the only Cowboy who played last season without a contract, and by midnight Wednesday he still hadn't inked a contract.

Tex Schramm, president and general manager of the Cowboys, said he is optimistic about the prospects of Jones remaining with the organization.

"Yes. I think he wants to play for the Cowboys, and I think hopefully and eventually he will sign," Schramm said.

Pat Peppler, assistant general manager of the Oilers, was equally sure the five Oilers will play for Houston again next season.

Fisher, who came from obscurity to earn a starting position last season, is about ready to sign, said Peppler, who foresees no stumbling blocks.

Coleman was the Oilers' leading rusher for three straight seasons before playing a backup role last year to rookie Earl Campbell, who won the NFL rushing title and was named the league's most valuable player.

WTC Entertains Howard College, 8 p.m.

Tonight is Howard Night at Scurry County Coliseum - and that's worth free admission to a handful of Snyder and area citizens.

The Western Texas College Westerners, 19-3, host Big Spring's Howard County College at 8 o'clock, in an important WJCAC contest.

Tickets for the affair - normally $2 and $1 - have been slashed to half price for residents of Big Spring, Snyder and all area communities.

In addition, anyone named Howard - first or last name - will be admitted free upon presentation of a driver's license or other indentification.

Howard College comes into the tilt with an 8-17 season record, and is 1-8 in conference play, making WTC the favorite in the match.

However, the game is an important one for Coach Nolan Richardson's Westerners, who at 7-2 are tied for the conference lead with Midland College.

Boy's Club Slates Cage Tournament

A Boy's Club Invitational Basketball Tournament will be held Feb. 23-24 in the Scurry County Boy's Club here.

Entry is limited to the first 16 teams entering before the Feb. 10 deadline. Entry fee is $50 per team.

The tournament is for players age 18 and over. No one with high school elgibility remaining may participate. Teams will be limited to 10 players.

Entry fees should be mailed as soon as possible to P.O. Box 127, Snyder Texas, 79549. For further information, call 915-573-3344 between 2 and 7 p.m.

All teams will be guaranteed at least two games. Awards will be presented for first, second and consolation winners.

Some Top Names On The List...

Football Free Agents Recognized

By The Associated Press

Wide receiver Ahmad Rashad of the Minnesota Vikings, the most valuable player in Monday night's Pro Bowl, became a free agent today, along with Super Bowl rivals Too Tall Jones of the Dallas Cowboys and Roy Ferela of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Midnight Wednesday was the signing deadline and the National Football League was to release the names of all free agents today. The list figured to be approximately half the size of last year's, which contained 126 names.

Besides Rashad, defensive end Jones and placekicker Gerela, an Associated Press survey turned up such names as Buffalo guard Reggie McKenzie, St. Louis center Tom Banks, San Francisco running back Wilbur Jackson, running back Mike Thomas and safety Ken Houston of Washington, Green Bay defensive back Willie Buchanon and Chicago quarterback Mike Phipps.

But chances are good that many of these players will be back with their teams next season.

Under terms of a bargaining pact between the NFL Management Council and the NFL Players Association, if a free agent signs with a new team, his old club has the right to match any offer.

Under the compensation agreement, if a free agent signs for between $50,000-$65,000, his new team must give his previous club a third-round draft choice. The cost is a second-round draft choice for a contract between $65,000-$75,000.

From $75,000-$125,000, the cost is a first-round choice. From $125,000-$200,000, the price is a pair of first-round picks.

In addition, running back Larry Csonka of the New York Giants and 39-year-old defensive end Ron McDole of the Washington Redskins became free agents able to sign with any team minus compensation when their 1978 teams declined to pick up their 1979 option seasons.

Tigers Travel To Brownfield

Friday At Eight

BROWNFIELD—Coach Jack Stephenson's Snyder High School Tigers will get the closest thing to a breather they are likely to see from now on in here Friday, but the No. 4 ranked team can ill afford to look ahead.

The Tigers - who slipped past round-one District 3-3A champion Lamesa earlier in the week 43-41 - need a victory in each of their upcoming three contests to clinch the round-two schedule and make the conference playoffs.

On the outside, Snyder's 8 p.m. game with Brownfield appears to be a laugher. The Cubs - chalking only one season win all year - have been outscored 291-228 by district opponents (72.8-57) ave.). Their coach has resigned, effective at the end of the school year, and they are lacking in talent.

Still, it would be an easier season for the Cubs to live with, if they were to chalk a upset over the highly-touted Tigers, and stranger things have happened.

"Andrews got beat by Pecos last night," commented Stephenson on Wednesday. "You never can tell about this crazy game of basketball."

Andrews was ranked No. 4 in the state at the time. Pecos wasn't even supposed to give the Mustangs a decent game.

"People have asked me where the playoff is going to be held. Man, I don't even want to think about it. We've got Brownfield, Sweetwater and Lake View to worry about first. We need to win 'em all. We'll worry about Lamesa (the playoff) when the time comes," noted Stephenson.

Snyder goes into the game 23-5 on the season and with 3-1 first-round and 1-0 second-round records. Brownfield is 1-24 for the year and 0-4 for the first round. Friday's game will open second-round play for the Cubs.

Another important battle takes place Friday in Lamesa as Sweetwater meets the Tors at 8 p.m. Both teams are 0-1 in round-two play, and posted a 42-41 outcome - the edge to Lamesa - in the first round.

A 6:15 junior varsity game will precede both varsity matches.

Bjorn Heads Net Meet

RICHMOND, Va.-Top-seeded Bjorn Borg of Sweden crushed Russell Simpson 6-1, 6-2 in the second round of the Richmond Tennis Classic.

In other second-round matches, Tom Wilkison ousted fifth-seeded Corrado Barazzutti of Italy, 6-3, 6-4, and Pat DuPre defeated Marty Riessen 3-6, 7-6, 6-2.

Dribblers Register Feb. 3-9

Registration for Scurry County Girls Little Dribblers will be held Feb. 3-9 from 4:30-6 p.m. at the Scurry County Boy's Club, it has been announced.

The recently-formed organization will have two leagues, junior - 9 to 10 year-olds, and major - 11 to 12 year-olds. Ages are effective Aug. 31, 1979.

Girls must be accompanied by a parent or guardian, and must bring a birth certificate or other proof of age. Registration fee is $3.

On Feb. 12, all registered girls will meet at 4:30 at the Boy's Club to set practice times and form teams.

Fratianne Leads Skaters

CINCINNATI - Defending champion Linda Fratianne, seeking her third consecutive women's title, grabbed the lead after the compulsory figures in the U.S. Figure Skating championships.

The 18-year-old Northridge, Calif., native received seven ordinals and 92.90 points to open a big lead over fellow Californian Lise-Marie Allen, who had 17 ordinals and 87.90 points.

Tai Babilonia and Randy Gardner held a commanding lead after the short program in the pairs competition. The California couple received seven ordinals and 79.70 points.

Sheryl Franks and Michael Botticelli were second with 15 ordinals and 74.90.

Stevens Upsets Kiyomura

CHICAGO-Unseeded Greer Stevens of South Africa upset fifth-seeded Ann Kiyomura 6-4, 6-3 in a $200,000 women's professional tennis tournament.

In other second round matches, Nanne Smith downed South African Yvonne Vermaak 6-4, 6-3; and Mima Jausovec of Yugoslavia beat Sharon Walsh 7-5, 7-5.

NTSU Hires Two Coaches

DENTON (AP)—North Texas State has added two more coaches to the staff of new head coach Jerry Moore.

Harold Richardson of TCU was named Wednesday as defensive coordinator, and John Levra of Kansas was named offensive coordinator for Moore, who became head coach here Jan. 5 after six years at Nebraska.

Richardson, 34, played tight end on SMU's Southwest Conference championship team when Moore was an assistant coach at the school. He is a graduate of Houston Jones High School. Richardson coached at SMU, Oklahoma State and TCU.

Levra was head coach at Stephen F. Austin at Nacogdoches from 1971-74, then went to Kansas, where he was offensive coordinator the past four years.

Dallas Tors Sign Argentine Player

DALLAS (AP)-The Dallas Tornado has announced the signing of Omar Hugo Gomez, one of Argentina's top young soccer players.

Al Miller, head coach of the Tornado, called Gomez "technically the best player ever to sign with the team."

Gomez, 23, known in Argentina as "El Indio," scored four game-winning goals in an end-of-the-season streak that saw Quilmes jump from fifth place to the championship.

The 5-10, 175-pound attacking midfielder scored 19 goals in 40 games last year while helping lead Quilmes, Argentina's oldest professional team, to its first Division I championship ever.

Soviet Parents Accused Of Spoiling Teenagers

By NIKKI FINKE
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP)-A generation gap of sorts has come to the Soviets.

This is apparent from the complaints of journalists, teachers and sociologists who are blaming it not on the youngsters but on parents - who they say are spoiling their teenagers with rock albums or jeans and not teaching them about work and the value of the ruble.

The problem - which seems to echo what's been going on in the United States for years - could intensify as the Soviets become more affluent and parents keep trying to make their childrens' lives easier than their own.

"There are families in which parents renounce everything for themselves, yet try to dress their children in the latest fashions and buy them new radios and tape recorders," said the newspaper Kemsemelskaya Pravda.

"Don't these parents ever think about the fact that their children are growing up like parasites?" the newspaper asked. "We must show more concern about the younger generation so it won't put material things ahead of life's real valuables."

An example listed in another paper was a farm family whose breadwinner walked seven miles each way as a lad just to find enough good grass to feed his animals. But his granddaughter wouldn't dream of soiling her hands with farm work.

"She cannot milk a cow and has never held a shovel piled with manure or carried a bucket of water from a well," the Literaturnaya Gazeta said.

"Why? Because her parents protected her from hard work. And her hardest task is to wash the dishes."

One journalist wrote about another household where the father was forced to look after his brothers and sisters at age 14 after his own father was killed in World War II and his mother fell ill.

"But now, he can't cope with his own children," the writer noted. His 23-year-old son jumps from job to job. His daughter, already divorced, spends the winter in Leningrad and summers in the country, knowing her "daddy" will take care of her.

"But daddy has never had a vacation in his life and works very hard to break his back for his children even though they are already adults," the journalist said.

"There is a widespread delusion that because we suffered very much and worked very hard, let's make it easier for our children. But easier from what? From worry? From work? For adults, this is the normal condition of life - to work and to worry."

Typing Class Starting Date Is Changed

The starting date for an Adult Vocational Education (AVE) course in Beginning Typing at Western Texas College has been re-set for Feb. 6.

An AVE course in Basic Bookkeeping is also planned for the near future, with a starting date still to be announced.

The Beginning Typing class will meet on Tuesday and Thursday evenings through May with Carol Martin as instructor. Mary Killam will be instructor for the bookkeeping course. Fees for each course will be $20 and students will furnish their own textbooks.

Students in AVE classes do not receive college credit and are not graded on their work.

Persons wishing to enroll for either course, or to receive information about AVE courses, are to call the Community Services office at 573-8511, extension. A minimum of 10 students will be required to form the Beginning Typing and Basic Bookkeeping courses.

Angie Amato In SWT's Touring Band

SAN MARCOS—Angie Amato of Ira is a member of Southwest Texas State University's 62-member Symphonic Band, which will tour seven Central and north Texas towns and cities during its annual concert tour scheduled for Sunday through Thursday (Feb. 4-8).

After its opening concert at 3 p.m. Feb. 4 in SWT's Evans Auditorium, the band will visit high schools in Seguin, Austin, Belton, Temple, Cleburne and Duncanville before climaxing the tour with a performance for the membership of the Texas Music Educators Association at noon Feb. 8 in Fort Worth's Tarrant County Convention Center Theatre.

Trio Quizzed In Burglary Of Car Here

Three juveniles have been questioned by police in connection with a Jan. 21 burglary of a car owned by Jim Parmer.

Reports filed with the complaint indicate the car was struck in the mud when entry was gained and a quantity of costume jewelry and some tools were taken. Police report some of the merchandise has been recovered.

The youths were questioned by officers last night.

One minor traffic accident was also reported. It took place at 10:50 p.m. at the Handy Hut. Reports indicate a parked 1979 Ford owned by Glen Dayton Kennemer slipped into gear and struck a gas pump at the convenience store. Only minor damages were reported.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Chambers

Mrs. Nancy Merritt Chambers, 46, who lived at 2705 34th St., died at 7:45 p.m. Wednesday in a Houston hospital.

Funeral service will be held Saturday in Columbus, Ga., with Striffler-Hamby Funeral Home in charge. The time of the service had not been set this morning.

Mrs. Chambers was a native of Columbus.

She is survived by her husband, Kenneth Chambers of Snyder; two daughters, Joanna Chambers and Mrs. Cathy Smith; two sons, David and Randy Chambers; her father, Tom K. Merritt of Columbus; a sister Mrs. Virginia Pitts.

She was a member of the United Methodist Church.

Torres Rites

Funeral rites were held at 10 a.m. today at Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church for Lupe Torres, two-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Juan Torres. The child died Monday.

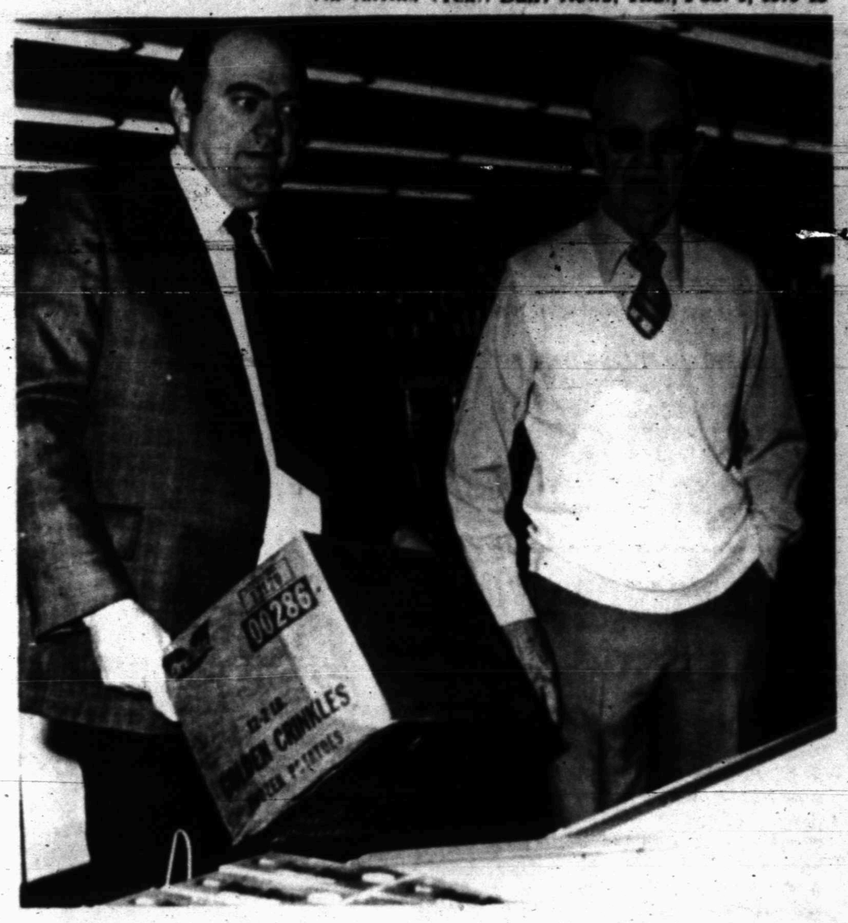

Burial was in the Snyder Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

In addition to the parents, survivors include four sisters, Aurora, Antonia, Monica and Angelia Torres; two brothers, Juan Torres Jr. and Robert Torres; the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Yanez of Rotan; the paternal grandfather, Frank Torres of Snyder, and a great-grandmother, Demitra Yanez of Rotan.

Shopper Helps Herself To Rings

HOUSTON (AP)-Clerks paid no particular attention to one female shopper at the Neiman Marcus speciality store.

She apparently found what she wanted - $150,000 in jewelry - without a clerk's helping hand. She also didn't bother to stop at a cash register. Police said the woman evidently pried up prongs holding a protective glass case, then lifted the top to get the jewelery. A surveillance camera caught a woman standing near the case, but the film was fuzzy. Authorities said 24 rings are missing.

PREPARING FOR GRAND OPENING--Jack Lawrence, co-owner of the new Piggly Wiggly in Snyder, took a personal hand in preparing merchandise for the store's grand opening event, which began today. At right is J.M. Lawrence, who, with his sons, Jack, Jere and Tere, own the store. The grand opening event will continue through Saturday.

Grand Opening Begins At New Piggly Wiggly

Snyder's all-new Piggly Wiggly launched its grand opening event today in the Highland Shopping Center.

The local Piggly Wiggly store, one of the largest retail food outlets in West Texas, was purchased last November by the Lawrences, who formerly operated a Piggly Wiggly franchise here and now have major food markets in several West Texas cities.

J.M. Lawrence of Sweetwater, who has been in the grocery business for some 50 years acquired a store here in 1946, which he sold some 12 years ago, and he, along with his sons, Jere, Jack and Tere recently expanded their operations by purchasing Piggly Wiggly stores in Snyder and in Andrews.

The grand opening event will continue through Saturday, with a list of attractive prizes featured during the celebration.

The top prize will be a free trip for two to Las Vegas. Second prize will be a 19-inch color television and the third prize will be a $150 shopping spree at Piggly Wiggly. There will be 15 fourth prizes, each to receive a sack of groceries.

The drawing for prizes is scheduled for 7 p.m. Saturday.

Since purchasing the store here last November, the Lawrences have been busy revamping facilities, increasing the stock of merchandise and generally upgrading the store's services.

SCHOOL

on Friday, June 1, as a result of the revision.

The two days shaved from the spring vacation means that the spring break will begin at 2:30 p.m. on Tuesday, April 10, with classes to resume on Monday, April 16.

Supt. Bill J. Hood said the school district had already been advised by the Texas Education Agency that the district itself would have to make up the days lost because of weather. TEA "forgave" some weathered out days last year when there were widespread closings over the state, but warned that it did not plan to do so again.

If any other days are lost because of weather this year, they will be made up be taking additional days out of the spring vacation.

Candidates may file for places on the school board at least 30 days before the election. Candidates' applications will be accepted in the office of the board secretary, E.D. Flynn, in the school administration building. A candidate must file for a specific place on the board.

Absentee voting will be held in the school tax office in the administration building from Monday, March 19, through Tuesday, April 3. The school election on April 7 will be held at the city hall. W.T. Falls will be the election judge, and Ray Peveler is the absentee voting clerk.

The board agreed to hold a special meeting on Feb. 8 for a curriculum discussion. Also discussed was tax rendition forms for personal property, but no action was taken.

Patty Hearst Free At Last

PLEASANTON, Calif. (AP) — Patricia Hearst walked out of prison into bright sunshine this morning on the arm of her attorney, a free woman after a five-year odyssey of kidnap, crime and punishment.

Miss Hearst was met at the prison by attorney George Martinez and her fiance, police officer Bernard Shaw, while a strengthened security force patrolled the area and a California Highway Patrol helicopter hovered overhead.

Miss Hearst was smiling broadly as she halted briefly to talk to reporters. She held her head and thanked her parents, her sisters, the people on the committee, which worked for her freedom, her attorney and her boyfriend.

She told reporters she was going on a trip, but would not say where or when. Then she climbed into the back seat of a station wagon between Martinez and Shaw and drove away. In front were two bodyguards and Ingrid Martinez, wife of Miss Hearst's attorney.

It was a sunny but chilly morning at the federal prison about 30 miles southeast of San Francisco across San Francisco Bay.

The family's last reunion outside the prison was May 15, 1977, when Miss Hearst was sent to Pleasonton after unsuccessful appeals of her bank robbery conviction.

Her release was three days before the fifth anniversary of her kidnapping by the Symbionese Liberation Army, and three days after President Carter commuted her seven-year sentence for joining the SLA in a San Francisco bank robbery.

Miss Hearst, who marks her 25th birthday Feb. 20, served a total of 23 months behind bars.

George Martinez, Miss Hearst's attorney, said she sent her personal belongings home Wednesday in three cardboard boxes. Included was a flowered afghan she crocheted in prison and dubbed her "clemency blanket" as she hoped for release by Christmas, he said.

Park Wants To Shoot Burros

WASHINGTON (AP) — Burros roaming freely in the Grand Canyon National Park may be in for some trouble from the National Park Service.

In a draft environmental impact statement, the park service said Tuesday it would like to shoot about two-thirds of the 300 burros inside the park because of their threat to plants and other animals. The remaining burros would be fenced in on land outside the park. The park service estimated about 45,000 acres of parkland has been "severely disturbed by burro activity."

Farm Prices Rise But Tractorcade Continues

By BRIAN B. KING
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — As the tractorcades of the American Agriculture group drove toward Washington last month to protest low farm prices, the prices themselves were setting a new record high and recording the biggest jump in 53 months.

The Agriculture Department reported Wednesday, with some of the caravans within 20 miles of the capital, that the prices farmers received for their raw products as a whole rose 5 percent between the end of December and the end of January.

The price report, regularly issued on the last day each month, came a week after Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland disclosed that net farm income rose 40 percent in 1978 and farmers' net equity increased 11 per cent.

Bergland noted that while statistics do not reflect the hard times of many individuals, they do show trends and averages.

The Crop Reporting Board said price increases of 26 percent for vegetables and 9 percent for meat animals led the way. Soybeans prices also rose, while cotton, eggs and orange prices fell slightly.

Damage to lettuce crops, for example, sent prices up by $10 to $22.60 per 100 pounds and nationwide average prices for all beef cattle went up 57 cents a pound on the hoof to a new record of $59.80 per 100 pounds.

Milk stayed at the record level of $11.80 per hundredweight that was set in December.

Even though production costs, taxes, interest and regular consumer items increased 3 percent from December, the report showed the theoretical balance between prices and costs to be even for the first time since mid-1976, using an index based on 1967 prices.

The board said that farm prices were up 25 percent from January 1978, while over-all costs for farm families were up 11 percent.

Revised figures in the new report showed farm prices in December, up 22.7 percent from a year earlier, broke the all-time record set in August 1973, instead of matching it as reported at the time.

The commodity price index was 232 percent of a 1967 base used as a standard, compared to 222 percent the month before and the previous peak of 221 percent.

The parity ratio for farm commodities was 75 percent, compared to 74 in December and 67 a year ago. the board said. At 100 percent, the parity indicator would mean that farmers theoretically had the buying power farmers had in 1910-14.

Farm prices dropped in July 1978 after a nine-month climb, rose again in September and October and then slipped before starting the present escalation, which is expected to help produce a 1979 retail food price rise of 6 percent to 10 percent.

Food prices rose about 10 percent last year. A 6.3 percent hike in 1977 was largely due to imported coffee prices and increased costs for manufacturers and retailers.

Infiltrators Hustled From Teng Welcoming

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Maoist demonstrators with press credentials may have diverted some attention from President Carter's welcome for Teng Hsiao-ping, but it was White House press secretary Jody Powell who got in the last word.

Hours after the two "reporters" were hustled away because they shouted anti-Teng slogans, Powell impishly approached journalists awaiting the departure of the Chinese vice premier following his second round of talks with Carter.

"The president asked," said Powell, "if any of you had any announcements, make them now!"

Chain-smoker Teng, before meetings at the Capitol with groups of Senators and House members, asked Carter if perchance Congress had passed a law against smoking in meetings.

"They won't as long as I'm president," said the non-smoking Carter, who added that his home state of Georgia produces considerable tobacco.

Smiling, Teng pulled out a pack of Chinese Panda-brand cigarettes and declared, "Very good."

Hamilton Jordan is one of the very few White House aides who is secure enough in his position at Carter's right hand to venture occasional irreverent cracks that might get others into hot water.

Before Carter delivered his State of the Union address last week, Jordan was asked by a reporter to say something, anything, about the forthcoming speech.

Without hesitating a moment, Jordan responded, "It's a poor address but it will be very well delivered."

The address did get something of a ho-hum reception, but Carter's delivery was more than adequate and for good reason. He rehearsed beforehand.

Carter's "new foundation" surely hasn't caught fire yet and, in fact, may have a far shorter life span than President Richard Nixon's New Federalism.

But selling labels like these can be tough, as President Lyndon B. Johnson discovered. Before a Chicago audience in 1964, LBJ cried out:

"We've been called upon — are you listening? — to build a great society of the highest order."

Alas, nobody was listening. It took nearly a year and about a dozen additional presidential references before Great Society took hold.

Wants Blank Space On Ballot

PIERRE, S.D. (AP) — "None Of The Above" ought to be last choice on the South Dakota ballot in 1980, a state senator says.

Sen. Don Frankenfeld, R-Rapid City, says people should be able to vote for a blank space if they don't like any of the candidates.

"Voters often feel they are given a choice between Tweedledum and Tweedledee," Frankenfeld said.

He has introduced a bill requiring the number of votes for "none of the above" to be tallied and published with the official election results.

"In fact, the winner of a race may find out he might be only slightly less distasteful than his opponent," Frankenfeld said.

LAFF-A-DAY

"My financial position is VERY liquid. I'm going slowly down the drain."
