Mavericks Skim Clyde

Football Sweetheart Sharon McCloud
Gary Wheat And Billy Daniel

BY STEVE HAINES

The game Friday night in Maverick stadium between the Eastland Mavericks and the Clyde Bulldogs was one that was filled with excitement and anticipation. The Mavs squeezed by the Bulldogs with a narrow margin of 7-6.

One might say the game was actually two games in one. The first half being controlled primarily by the Bulldogs, and the second half dominated by the Mavericks. Although both teams experienced their fair shares of miscues and penalties the game was very evenly matched—the Bulldogs with a strong runner by the name of Johnny Arms, and the Mavs with Tommy Morren.

Arms proved to be a very versatile runner and also had a very good throwing arm, and was the key of the Clyde ball club. Morren, who Mav fans have watched throughout the year, had somewhat of a less than par night, not so much in his running or kicking but he had some trouble hanging onto the ball, due perhaps to the cold night. This made stiff hands, which might have caused the three fumbles.

Clyde won the toss and elected to receive from the north end of the field. The Bulldogs started their first drive on their 20 yard line and moved quickly down field to about the Maverick 20 yard line, where on a pitch from Arms the Bulldogs fumbled and an army of Mav linemen fell on the ball.

The ball was placed on the Mavs 20 yard line where the Mavs started with a 1st and 10. But three downs later it was time to punt. Morren got a kick that went to about mid-field where the Bulldogs got their second crack at putting points on the board.

From the 50 yard line Arms displayed his talent, with short carries around both ends, and several straight up the middle, which got them to the Maverick 15, where Arms did it once again and went in for the touchdown. The extra point conversion play was for two points, but the pass from Arms to his intended receiver was batted down by 72 John Hart for the Mavs.

The first quarter ended in the midst of the Bulldog drive for the TD and following the score at the first of the second quarter, there was little ground gained in either team's favor. And at the end of the first half the score remained Clyde 6, Eastland 0.

A performance by the Maverick Marching band that was well up to standards preceded the presentation of the band sweetheart. Elected band sweetheart for the current '74-'75 year was Kathy Jordan and presenting the award was band president Robert Hallmark.

Following the Band award the senior members of the Mavericks awarded Sharon McCloud football sweetheart. Sharon is head cheerleader for the Mavs and is the daughter of Judge and Mrs. Austin McCloud. Kathy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jordan and is a senior in the Maverick band.

Second half action got underway with the Bulldogs kicking to the Mavericks. The Mavs

Christmas Plans Being Made By C of C Committees

Big Christmas celebration plans and a system to thwart hot checking and shop lifting in Eastland are being made as the result of a planning session this week.

Big holiday doings are in the making with Christmas holidays opening to be the Friday after Thanksgiving.

The chamber will have the lighting ready and the pretty sparklers will be turned on Thanksgiving evening to officially mark the season.

In a joint meeting of Clint Bray's Retail Trade Committee and Wade Freeman's Special Events Committee Friday details were worked out.

Santa will come to Eastland on Saturday, Dec. 14, and Saturday, Dec. 21, and there may be a free kiddy movie on the 14th also. Santa will distribute candy and visit with youngsters on local streets.

Dollar Days for December will be Dec. second, third and fourth.

The Chamber will "candy cane" wrap the parking meter posts, too, a repeat of last year which proved so pretty and popular.

In an effort to curb soliciting, a policy will be adopted wherein a letter from the chamber of commerce authorizing soliciting will be required in the future. This system has been used in the past and held to be very effective in discouraging those questionable fund-raising projects.

A telephone hot-line system will be instituted through the chamber in which a chain of calls will be set in motion should any merchant be hit by a sudden rash of hot checks or shop lifting. The program would provide that each merchant will immediately call two other merchants, so that word can be passed throughout town as quickly as possible, to warn other merchants of possible fraud.

The fighting in World War I ended at 11:00 a.m., on November 11, 1918. Two years later, France and England chose November 11, then well known as Armistice Day, as the time for placing an unknown soldier of that war in each nation's highest place of honor. France chose the Arch of Triumph, and England selected Westminster Abbey. The following year, on Armistice Day, November 11, 1921, an American soldier whose name was "known but to God" was buried at Arlington National Cemetery. In 1926, November 11 was officially designated as Armistice Day in the United States. Twelve years later, in 1938, a Congressional resolution made the date a national holiday.

If the idealistic hope had been realized that World War I was "The War to End All Wars," November 11 might still be called Armistice Day, but only two years after the date was proclaimed a national holiday, World War II broke out in Europe and shattered the dream. More than 16 million Americans served during the war, and 406,000 of them died. The families and friends of these dead longed for a way to honor their memory, and in 1954, a proposal was made by Congressman Edwin K. Rees of Kansas, to change Armistice Day to Veterans Day. The proposal by Representative Rees was approved by the Congress, and the date of November 11 was established as the time each year that we would honor our war veterans in the U.S.

When President Eisenhower signed the bill proclaiming November 11 as Veterans Day, he called for Americans everywhere to rededicate themselves to the cause of peace. He proclaimed the day an occasion for honoring veterans of all wars, a group that numbers more than 43 million, of whom more than 29 million are still living. Living veterans and their families, plus the living dependents of deceased veterans, make up more than one-half of the total population of the United States.

Additional significance was added to Veterans Day in 1958, when two more unidentified American war dead were brought to Arlington Cemetery from overseas and interred beside the World War I soldier. One was killed in World War II, the other in Korea. A law passed in 1973 provides for the future interment of an unknown soldier who lost his life in Vietnam, if unidentified remains are discovered. To honor these men, symbolic of all Americans who served and who gave their lives in all wars, a U.S. Army honor guard - the First Battalion, Third Army (Old Guard) - keeps day and night vigil at Arlington.

Public Law 90 - 363, signed by the President on June 28, 1968, changed the national observance of Veterans Day from November 11 to the fourth Monday in October. Needless to say, this decision by Congress did not meet with the unanimous approval of all living veterans. Those who served in World War I still have sentimental recollections of November 11, and rightfully so, as it was a special day for them. Each state has jurisdiction over the holidays it wishes to observe, and some 42 of the 50 have already enacted legislation to return the observance of Veterans Day to the traditional November 11. It is clear now that similar efforts will be made in Texas when the Legislature convenes in January, 1975. Whether you are to consider October 28 or November 11 as Veterans Day, remember that it is a time when we remember, and honor, all veterans of our Nation.

Thursday Afternoon Club Federation Day

The Thursday Afternoon Club observed Federation Day at its regular meeting on Nov. 7 in the Woman's Club. Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins was Program Leader and the quotation from the yearbook, "The past is gone and the future is not here so project our thinking to present day things" set the pace for the discussions which followed.

After a short business session Mrs. H.L. Hassell, President, showed slides and discussed CITGO, Business for Beauty, an effort co-sponsored by Cities Service company and the General Federation of Women's Clubs to overcome visual pollution as shown by improving the appearance of abandoned business buildings, doing away with junk heaps along highways and improving the appearance of towns. Mrs. Perkins read an interesting letter from the President of the Federated Clubs, and Mrs. L.E. Corbell gave a report on the release of MIA's and also on the Health Division workshop from the recent annual Fall Board Meeting at San Angelo. She stressed the national program against alcohol and dope. Mrs. Pat Crawford gave a talk on helping the handicapped, and the program was concluded with films on scenic Texas.

Hostesses Mrs. Charles Terrell, Joseph Perkins and Roy Young served delicious cake, olive cheese biscuits, nuts and coffee from a beautifully appointed refreshment table.

Guests were Mrs. Gene Boney and Marcus O'Dell from the Las Leales Club. Members present were Mrs. W.L. Bourdeau, L.E. Corbell, Pat Crawford, J.O. Earnest, Herman Hassell, James Horton, H.H. Humphries, Iral Inzer, D.L. Kinnaird Sr., Arthur Murrell, Joseph M. Perkins, E.G. Rice, Floyd Robertson, Chas. E. Terrell, E.R. Townsend, Roy L. Young and C.L. Bigby, Reporter.

This is Children's Book Week, Nov. 11-17. The first Children's Book Week was established 55 years ago with the intention of improving the quality of children's literature. The Centennial Memorial Library still emphasizes better reading for children and thru Children's book Week the community is being informed about their books.

Our young readers have a wide choice of books, including history, biography, nature, mysteries, fiction, folklore and fairy tales. The old favorites are still being read but there is a definite trend towards factual books.

The Thursday Afternoon Club invites you to visit the library this week, see the Children's book exhibit and new books. Just arrived are the following very fine children's books: "The Wizard of Oz" which replaces our old worn copy; "My Mother is the Most Beautiful Woman in the World"; "Spook Tricks"; "Duffy and the Devil".

Refreshments of cookies, cupcakes, and punch was then served to the children.

Auto Visitors Flocked Texas

AUSTIN-Out-of-state campers flocked to Texas during June, July and August, according to a quarterly report on auto visitors just released by the Texas Highway Department.

The report also cites variations from previous averages which may indicate significant effects of inflation and the energy crisis on the Texas tourist industry.

Camping, which has shown steady increases over the past several years, continued to grow by an additional four per cent in the latest survey. In fact, 37 per cent in the latest survey. In fact, 37 per cent of summer auto visitors named camping and trailers as their primary accommodations while in the Lone Star State.

Reflecting apparent concern about fuel conservation, the report shows the average tourist trip was 979 miles this summer compared to nearly 1,300 miles last year. In addition, more travel parties cited specific destinations as opposed to regional or unplanned touring trips.

Expenditures per day were down sharply from more generous levels in the spring quarter, but were still ahead of 1973's year round average.

The department's summer quarter report is based upon thousands of questionnaires returned by auto travel parties who visited Texas during the peak summer season. They stayed 5.8 days compared to an average of 5.7 days throughout 1973. Tourist party spending was up to $53.69 per day from last year's average of $45.18.

The profile of summer visitors shows that Texas continues its popularity for family travel. The average summer party consisted of 3.08 people. Head of household was likely to be in his middle years (31 per cent between 35 and 49); 29 per cent between 50 and 64). Average family income was more than $12,000 per year.

This is the first summer quarter report issued by the Highway Department. Whereas the department has long prepared annual tourism summaries, quarterly studies were initiated this year to maintain a closer watch on the state's tourism industry. All reports are based upon questionnaire responses from actual travelers during the survey periods.

Complete details about origin, destinations, purpose of visit and expenditure of the travel dollars are contained in the summer quarter report. It is available free from the Texas Highway Department, Travel & Information Division, P.O. Box 5064, Austin 78763.

BICENTENNIAL CELEBRATION

WASHINGTON, D.C.—"Just as religion has made a major contribution to the founding and growth of this nation, the religious community is making important contributions to the observance of the nation's Bicentennial," says John W. Warner, Administrator of the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration (ABRA).

Mr. Warner's comments refer to the deep involvement of religious organizations in projects and events relating to the commemoration of America's 200th anniversary.

The efforts range from special prayer days in local churches to two-year long national programs focusing on the role of religion in the future.

In New York, Project FORWARD '76 (Freedom of Religion Will Advance Real Democracy), is working to "facilitate planning for strong spiritual and religious emphasis in observances of the American Bicentennial, 1774-1976". The project was officially recognized as a national Bicentennial program by the ABRA on September 27, 1974.

Formed by the interchurch center which houses offices of Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish organizations, Project FORWARD '76 offers research and technical help to other groups around the country interested in religious observance of the Bicentennial.

Services available include: a national information bank with plans, programs and materials; a newsletter; planning assistance by national and regional staff personnel and scholarly research.

"Liberty and Justice For All" is the Bicentennial theme of the Catholic Church in the United States. Announced by the National Conference of Catholic

Bishop's Committee for the Bicentennial, the program begins this September and will culminate in a national conference in the fall of '76 tentatively scheduled in Michigan. The central purpose of the program is to "elicit from the Catholic Community an expression of the meaning of 'liberty and justice for all'."

The National Conference of Christians and Jews is putting special emphasis on "Human Relations In Century III". Along with forums conducted throughout the country on that subject, the Conference plans to issue a Declaration of Interdependence in 1976.

An Ecumenical Task Force within the National Council of Churches is issuing a series of Bicentennial oriented publications and plans to produce a film, "Right of the People".

helping you change things for the better.

Texas is full of surprises. Like coal.

In certain areas of Texas there are sizeable deposits of a soft coal called lignite.

Several years ago Texas Electric, along with two other companies, began acquiring rights to some of this lignite because we saw that new supplies of natural gas and oil, our basic fuels, could become increasingly expensive and difficult to obtain.

Today, Texas Electric is using this lignite to generate electricity in our Big Brown plant near Fairfield. Two more lignite plants are under construction.

Using this lignite will help reduce our dependence on natural gas and oil. And one other advantage of using lignite for the generation of electricity is that it isn't being used extensively any other way.

But plants that use lignite cost a lot more than gas/oil plants.

While this means electricity will have to cost more in the future, the cost won't be as much with lignite as it would be with natural gas and oil, even if we could get adequate new supplies.

At Texas Electric, we're continuing the orderly development of our power system so that you'll continue having the electricity you need.

Texas Judges Must File

AUSTIN--Texas Supreme Court Chief Justice Joe Greenhill announced today that Texas judges are operating under a new code of ethics which requires them to file a copy of their federal income tax returns with the State Judicial Qualifications Commission.
"The Supreme Court has gone well beyond the requirements of the ethics bill passed by the Legislature", Greenhill said of the Code of Judicial Conduct which was published for the first time in the Texas Bar Journal's September issue.
"It requires the filing of judges' income tax returns with the Judicial Qualifications Commission in addition to the disclosure to the Secretary of State", Greenhill said.
The Supreme Court adopted the new ethics code, the first revision since 1963, to take effect Sept. 1. The Court met Sept. 24 to adopt several minor amendments aimed at exempting county judges from the code's requirements. Greenhill said the county judges should not have been included in the code because they perform so many non-judicial functions as county administrators.
The new code is based on a set of standards adopted by the American Bar Association and 28 other states. Supreme Court Justice Jack Pope was chairman of a committee of the State Bar of Texas Judicial Section which drafted the code.
Greenhill said the code also provides:
1. A prohibition against judges engaging in most commercial and business enterprises.
2. A prohibition against political participation except on his own behalf as a candidate for election or re-election.
3. A ban against holding any

The excess rain during the last month has not been welcomed by most Eastland farmers. Peanut farmers are receiving the most damage. Over 80% of the county's peanut crop is still in the fields. With the threat of a freeze getting near it seems time is going to run out before the fields are dry enough to support the harvesting equipment. Some farmers tried to combine peanuts last week when the weather was good, but the soil was too wet for the tractors and combines.
There were a lot of pecans lost the last of October when high winds followed by heavy rains hit the country. Several growers who own native pecan groves said they lost their crop. The pecans were hanging in the trees ready to fall. The high winds knocked the pecans down and the water from the flooded rivers swept them away.
Hay is another crop that got caught in the wet weather. More hay is needed to feed livestock this winter, but again the fields are too wet to get tractors and hay baler in.
Someone at the beef cattle feeding meeting Tuesday night asked about the danger of grazing johnson grass after the first frost. A killing frost can spell danger for livestock producers that have cattle grazing on sorghum stubble or any of the sorghum sudan hybrid, or johnson grass pastures. The reason is prussic acid poisoning of the animals.
The danger of prussic acid poisoning exists mainly in pastures and fields where

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER

By Michael A. Guido, Metter, Georgia

A watchmaker just finished a masterpiece, and he placed it between two older clocks.
"I'm sorry for you," sighed one of the older clocks. "You're ticking bravely now. But you'll be tired enough when you get through thirty-three million ticks this year."
"Thirty - three million ticks!" gasped the frightened clock. "I can't do that!" And it trembled to a stop.
"Don't listen to such words," said the other clock. "You've only got to make one tick at a time. There, now, isn't that easy? And now another."
"Is that all?" replied the new clock. "That's easy. So here I go!" It started bravely on again, just one tick at a time. And at the end of the year it had made thirty-three million ticks without knowing it.
We are not to worry about next week. We are to follow the Lord today, just one step at a time. He knows the circumstances we are in, and He will help us.

office in a publicly-owned business.
4. A prohibition against a judge soliciting funds for a charity.
"This will remove us from the political activity except in our own races", Greenhill said.
The financial disclosure requirement would allow the judicial qualifications commission to keep the income tax information sealed until a majority of the commission votes to review the information upon receipt of a complaint about the judge involved.
Adoption of the code by the Supreme Court has the effect of incorporating the code into the standards used by the judicial qualifications commission in its role of policing judicial ethics.

Community Resource Questionnaire To Assist School Personal

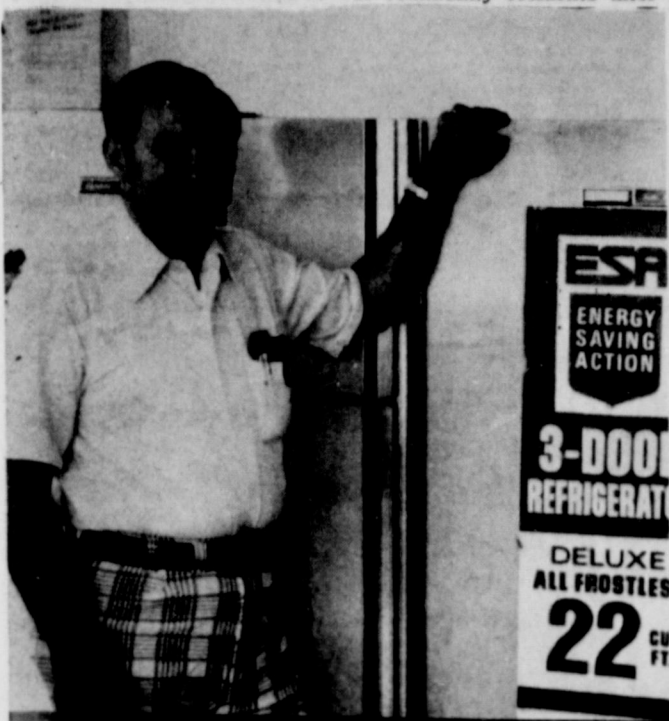

As part of the Eastland School program, the Community Resource Questionnaire appearing below is being published to find interested community personnel to assist teachers in furthering the education program at the three Eastland schools. The Questionnaire is designed to assist personnel with location of community residents interested in assisting and sharing their experiences with students. Eastland administrators are attempting to pool the resources of community residents to supplement class presentation and special programs based on the conviction the Eastland Ind. Sch. Dist. has a vast supply of talent that could enhance the education of its students.

If you have a special skill, hobby, travel experience, profession or vocation, slide show or any other types of activities which would be willing to share with Eastland school children, please fill out the questionnaire and return to Ray Pruitt, Superintendent, Eastland I.S.D., Box 31, Eastland, Texas 76448 as soon as possible.

It will be impossible to call upon each person to assist in the Community Resource Project immediately, but you can be assured that your name and information will be available to teachers in the event your assistance would supplement the regular "teacher lecture textbook" type program at the school.
