

On The Beam

By J. W. King, Sr.

Maybe we can't spell correctly. You will perhaps notice more errors than usual in The News this week. We were never very good at spelling, but this week some of the letters on our Linotype took a notion to run in a channel other than the one in which they were supposed to run. If you see an i where there should be an o, a t where there should be an e, an l for a d just lay it onto the Linotype. We hope we finally got all the wild letters out.

Tons of top soil changed hands in these parts late Tuesday in one of the biggest blows we have seen in a long time. The wind came off a cloud that brought only a sprinkle but the sand was thick, at times an object across the street could hardly be seen. We don't know how strong the wind was, but it must have been 40 to 60 miles an hour.

Conservation District Buys Equipment

Additional equipment was made available to farmers and ranchers for conservation work by action of the Mitchell County Soil Conservation District board of supervisors at their regular meeting recently.

An automatic pickup hay baler was requisitioned from the State Board of Control. Restrictions on the use of State appropriated funds for district use provide that any unit or machinery that costs over $1000 must be purchased through the State board.

This baler is being used to harvest alfalfa hay crop as well as that of other conservation crops of the area.

Supervisor R. H. Bennett was authorized to purchase two manure distributors for the district. They will be available at a rental charge of $4.00 per day. One will be stationed at supervisor M. A. Webb's farm near Westbrook. The other will be kept at the Loraine Cheese Plant under the direction of August Hackfeld. These machines will be needed to spread barnyard fertilizer on "thin" or eroded areas to increase their organic content and make them more productive.

Chairman W. A. Taylor pointed out that Governor Shivers had declared May 6-12 as soil conservation district week in Texas. The board decided to hold the tri-district grass judging contest during that week. This is a contest participated in by the FFA and 4-H club boys and girls of the area covered by the Upper Colorado, Upper Clear Fork, and Mitchell County Soil Conservation Districts.

Taylor also stated that Soil Stewardship Sunday is designated this year as May 20.

K. T. Lofton, Soil Scientist of the Soil Conservation Service, demonstrated to the board a group of visual aid devices being used with district cooperators to illustrate the basic fundamentals of the soil.

The board of supervisors approved agreements on the Sam Thompson and T. L. Holman farms.

J. H. Cuthbertson, whose farm is located three miles south of Westbrook, recently constructed a complete terrace system, a diversion and a small water spreader. This work was done with heavy equipment.

Five of the twelve miles of terrace lines run on W. C. Hooks' farm have been constructed.

Approximately eight miles of terraces are being constructed on C. C. Thompson's farm.

Three and one-half miles of lines were run and marked on the J. W. Sherrill farm three miles north of Loraine.

Seven miles of lines were run and marked on E. B. Stewart's farm. The Stewart farm is seven miles south and one mile east of Loraine.

Ag. Boys Host Barbecue Supper

The Loraine F. F. A. boys held a western style barbecue April 24, at the high school gym for their mothers, fathers, school board members, teachers, chapter sweethearts and others who have contributed to the agriculture program.

The gym was decorated western style. The invitations were corn yellow boots. Tables were covered with western paper with blue writing and the programs were white booklets with a cowboy on front. The food was served buffet style and old pots and pans were used to serve from. The serving girls dressed in western style in blue jeans and white shirts.

The menu consisted of barbecue, potato salad, ranch style beans, onions, pickles, white bread, coffee, ice tea, pie and cake.

Western records were played before and during the meal. The program opened with the invocation by Glen Coon. Three honorary members, Bob Horton, August Hackfeld and W. H. Narrell were presented. These men were selected by the Ag. boys because of the outstanding contribution they have made to the Ag. program.

The chapter sweetheart, Georgia Miles, was also presented. The Ag boys presented Mrs. Crawford with a corsage for the work she had done on the plans for the barbecue.

Thanks was given by L. D. Crawford to each and everyone who had contributed to the agriculture program throughout the year. The initiation of freshmen boys was held by senior boys.

The barbecue was attended by 134 people and enjoyed by all.

Intruder Enters Adams Home Here

When Mrs. Sharon Adams looked from her bed to investigate a noise on her back porch about 6:15 Saturday morning she looked into the face of a man who was standing inside her screen door and the door open.

Her mother, Mrs. McCloud, and daughter Angie Lou were in an adjoining room and had seen the man as he passed their window. Mrs. McCloud quickly dressed, went to the door and asked the man what he wanted. He was mumbling and all they were able to understand was that he was trying to determine the dimensions of the room, and acted as if he were crazy.

Mrs. McCloud walked to the door and slammed it in his face. He kept trying to get in the door and knocked on the window.

Mrs. Adams dressed and the three ran across the street to the Richards filling station. Mr. Richard called officers and before the officers came and while they watched from the station the man came around the house and got in a car parked nearby and the driver who was in the car, drove off. They watched the car drive east without stopping in town. Mr. Adams was away from home at the time.

GENERALS HAVE NOTHING ON HIM—First Sergeant Clintons Nagel, of Peru

SCANNING THE WEEK'S NEWS of Main Street and the World

Truman Relieves Gen. MacArthur From All Commands in the Far East

MACARTHUR RELIEVED—To millions of small-towners across the nation to whom Gen. Douglas MacArthur has become something of a legend, his removal from all his commands by President Truman was a shock not easily understood.

According to grim, stubborn MacArthur, he was fighting Europe's war with arms in Asia while Europe's diplomats continued to fight communism with words.

But above all, it has caused confusion and uneasiness in the mind of the average Main Street citizen whose common sense tells him there is no end in sight for the Korean conflict.

GRAPES OF WRATH—The people in the big cities of the nation know little about the "Okies" so vividly described in John Steinbeck's novel of the depression, "The Grapes of Wrath."

There are millions of them in the United States, working from the south toward the north as the crops ripen for harvest.

At last, much to the relief of millions of home towners, the federal government has stepped in and made a survey of their problems.

ATOMIC SPIES—In what was probably one of the most dramatic and moving scenes in a federal court in the history of this country, Judge Irving Kaufman sentenced Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, husband and wife atomic spy team, to die for treason.

Said handsome, 41-year-old Kaufman, one of the youngest judges on the federal bench: "I have searched my conscience to find some reason for mercy.

Never before in a civil court of the United States had native-born spies been sentenced to death.

Morton Sobell, 34, fellow conspirator, was sentenced to 30 years in prison. The fourth member of the conspiracy, Mrs. Rosenberg's brother, David Greenglass, 29, was sentenced to 15 years in prison.

KEEP 'EM ON THE FARM—The old question of "how are you going to keep 'em down on the farm" showed up again in preliminary figures from the 1950 census of agriculture.

The census bureau announced that the tentative count of the number of farms in the country came to 5,379,043, a "real" drop of at least 280,000 for the first five postwar years and at least 500,000—or about 8 per cent—for the last decade.

THE LEVELING OFF—His Michael V. DiSalle, price director, said in his latest statement that his callings have brought "some stability" into view, but that higher taxes and tightening of money and credit supply are needed.

THE QUESTION IN THE MINDS of home town housewives was whether or not the line will hold, or whether there will be another upward spiral in late summer as predicted by many economists.

LABOR POLICY COMMITTEE At Truman's invitation labor returned to the Defense Board. U.M.T. DROPPED—The house armed services committee dropped efforts to write a universal military training program that would have reached into the home of every family in the nation.

THE HIGH SCHOOL PROBLEM Large Numbers of Students Quit Classes According to a national survey of home town high schools, boys and girls are dropping out of their classes at an increased rate.

persuade students to remain until the completion of their courses. Major reasons for school-leaving were said to be increased employment opportunities, expectation of the draft, economic need, lack of interest in academic work, and restlessness, insecurity or social maladjustment.

Love Story Ends When Romeo Is Sent to Prison CANEA, Crete—The final chapter in Crete's modern "Romeo and Juliet" story, which made the headlines of newspapers throughout the world, was written recently when "Romeo" was sentenced to two years in prison.

A five-judge court convicted Costas Kefalouglanis, 32, of having carried arms illegally when he whisked away the daughter of a rival clan leader. In addition, he was fined 2,000,000 drachmas ($167).

THE READER'S DATE BOOK Fishing Tackle Is Main Street's Big Business as Season Opens

On any warm afternoon in May millions of home towners will be walking along Main Streets of the thousands of small communities across the nation. They'll be walking slowly, glancing in store windows as they pass. And suddenly they'll stop and stare. A dreamy, far-away look will come into the eyes of some; others will mirror excitement.

Ninety-nine chances out of each hundred, those home towners who stopped so suddenly will have caught the glimpse of a display of sporting equipment ranging from fancy rods and reels to bamboo poles in the local sporting goods or hardware store window.

For May is "Let's Go Fishing Month," and the fishing fever rises to the boiling point in neophyte and expert. The most popular sport in America, fishing attracts young and old alike.

Americans, who nearly go wild over basketball, football and baseball, go completely overboard for fishing.

From the oldest to the youngest there's a youtopic fascination about rods, reels, lines and lures that they can't resist. Americans spend millions for fishing equipment and it's the wise Main Street merchant that displays it prominently and attractively.

The amazing thing about fishing is the attraction it holds for millions of children. It might be just a cane pole, a hook, a line, and a sinker they have for equipment, but it spells adventure and thrills.

In this connection, many towns in the country have encouraged fishing during recent years as one of the ways to curb juvenile delinquency. Many local Kiwanis and Rotary clubs have picked up the idea of Better Fishing Inc., a national organization with headquarters in Chicago, dedicated to introducing boys and girls to the fun and thrills of the angler's art, and sponsor Better Fishing Rodeos later in the summer.

The Rodeos, one day affairs, are preceded each year with weeks of fishing fiestas, which are a warm-up period for the national celebration, when youngsters are taken on organized fishing trips by parents and civic leaders who believe in teaching children the art and benefits of good sportsmanship while they are most susceptible to learning.

On the big day, National Boys and Girls Better Fishing Day, moppets sporting equipment ranging from rods and reels to plain bamboo poles troop to local lakes, ponds, and streams to compete for the national "Kings," and "Queens," titles and collect the BFI and local merchant donated prizes that go with victory.

Any boy or girl can compete if he or she is under the legal fishing license age of 16. Ages usually run from a toddling four years to the er America is to continue strong and able, or whether it will start down that long trail from which no people—no civilization—has ever returned.

The world at large is in even worse shape than the United States, for there are only about four billion acres of land available for a total population of more than two billion—or slightly less than two acres per capita. This means that a considerable portion of the earth's population already is undernourished, and this as much as anything probably is at the bottom of the world's current unrest.

Plant breeding, reforestation, and improved utilization of soil and fertilizers were among the methods by which Dr. Camp proposed to meet the imminent challenge to America's economy.

New hybrid varieties of corn which have increased production by 25 per cent, and new species of grass which have raised the forage yield by more than 100 per cent were cited by the speaker, who said tree breeders also have developed hybrids promising quality lumber in one-third to one-half the usual time.

These more efficient plants, however, impose new demands on the grower, who must supply them with enough mineral nutrients through the more efficient use of fertilizers. Proper administration of minerals may make it possible to restore to production some of the acreage which has been despoiled.

Even if all the available measures for protecting cropland, increasing yields, reforestation and the like are taken, the world's population seems likely to continue to increase to the point where ultimately it cannot be fed by crops of the type used today.

Dr. Camp believes. When that time comes the yeast plant and the seaweed will hold man's best hope for survival for they can provide the basic food—protein from yeast and fats and starches from algae. "At present, these vital-cultured carbohydrates, fats and proteins may not be easily assimilable into our notions of bread and butter, ham and eggs, or steak and potatoes, but they are basic food substances, and because of them I do not see yet set ahead on any distant horizon the darkening shadow of Malthusian twilight and the stagnation and end of the race," Dr. Camp said.

Yeast, Seaweed May Feed Civilization Even if all the available measures for protecting cropland, increasing yields, reforestation and the like are taken, the world's population seems likely to continue to increase to the point where ultimately it cannot be fed by crops of the type used today.

It's Wonderful the Way Chewing-Gum Laxative Acts Chiefly to REMOVE WASTE - NOT GOOD FOOD

Here's the secret millions of folks have discovered about FEEN-A-MINT, the modern chewing-gum laxative. Yes, here is why FEEN-A-MINT's action is so wonderfully different!

Doctors say that many other laxatives start their "bubbling" action too soon... Right in the stomach where food is being digested. Large doses of such laxatives upset digestion, flush away nourishing food you need for health and energy. You feel weak, worn out.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS WASTE

When kidney function slows down, many folks complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headache and dizziness. Don't suffer longer with these discomforts if reduced kidney activity is getting you down—due to such common causes as stress and strain, over-exertion or exposure to cold. Minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

THIRSTY LAND 5,000,000 Acres of Farm Lands Are Irrigated in Western U.S.

This is the second of two articles on California's world-famous Central Valley irrigation project. The prime objective of the Central Valley project is an equalization of the fabulous agriculture empire's water resources between the surplus area of the north and the water-deficient southern two-thirds, providing for irrigation of more than one million acres of fertile farm lands.

Reclamation projects provide additional recreational features for thousands of Californians. Bass and trout fishing are especially good in Shasta Lake. The water is picked up by the Delta Cross Channel and flows south to the Tracy Pumping Plant on the rim of Central Valley's western foothills. There the water is lifted 200 feet into the Delta-Mendota Canal, to flow another 120 miles south to Mendota pool on the San Joaquin river.

At this point the imported northern supply takes over the job formerly done by the San Joaquin river. By this exchange, San Joaquin waters can be retained behind Friant dam and diverted still further south by the 153-mile Friant-Kern Canal for irrigation use in the critically water-deficient areas along the east side of the San Joaquin valley as far down as Bakersfield.

At the Friant dam another canal moves water 37 miles north for irrigation purposes in Madera county. The initial features of the project, which will be completed and in operation this July, will cost an estimated $400,000,000, of which 87 per cent will be repaid through sale of water and power developed by the project over a sixty year period.

ALTHOUGH THIS is a vast project, it is only one small part of the nation's reclamation program that has already proved to be a fruitful source of new wealth from the development of the west's great natural resources. Reclamation opens new opportunities for people of this nation to build new farms, new homes, new industries and new business establishments in our best and oldest American territory.

Today some 5,000,000 acres of arid and semiarid land are irrigated with crops produced on these lands averaging in excess of $500,000,000 per year in value. Since the first reclamation project was started in 1903, the west has been provided with 95 dams with combined storage capacity of 82,780,000 acre-feet of water; 35 power plants with more than 3,000,000 kilowatts capacity; 16,000 miles of irrigation canals; 3,000 miles of electric transmission lines.

In return, reclamation projects have produced $500,000,000 worth of crops per year; $33,000,000 in power revenues; $2,000,000,000 in federal taxes between 1916 and 1949; and $1,500,000,000 which is spent in every section of the United States each year.

GRASSROOTS Farmers Are Enjoying More Prosperity Than Ever

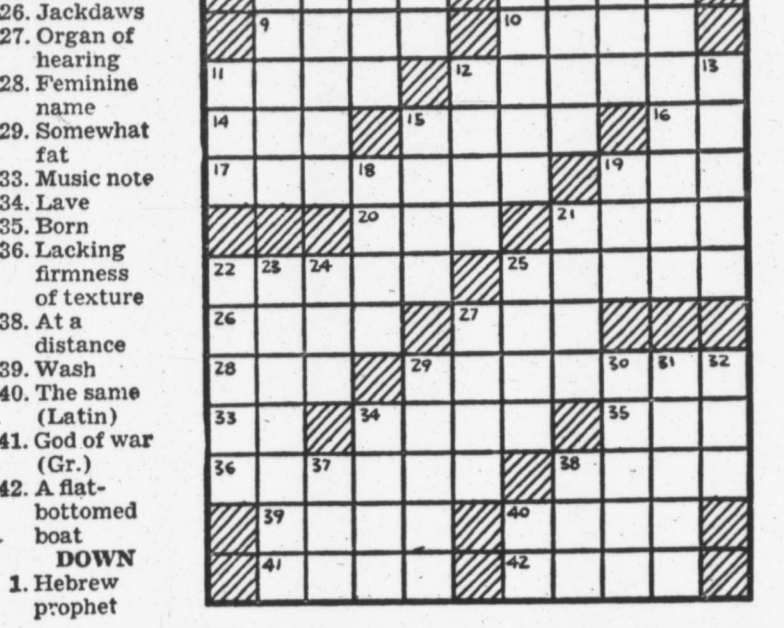

THE FACTS AND FIGURES used in this column were provided by a national life insurance company.

As compared with the conditions of the mid-twenties and early thirties, those operating the 6,372,000 farms of to-day are following the sunny side of the farm prosperity road, thanks to a beneficent government. Farm mortgages are not now being foreclosed by the thousands each day or week, as was true of that time—mortgages representing farm purchases made at exorbitant prices for land. By last year, 1950, mortgage foreclosures were practically over. The farm had grown from an average 146 acres in 1900 to an average size of 195 acres in 1950, and the mortgage had dropped to an average of only $850 per farm, a mere 8 1/2 per cent of the value of the farm and its equipment.

That reduction of the farm mortgage represents but one evidence of farm prosperity. That average American farmer of 1950 was 49 years old. His 195 acres of land and his farm buildings were worth $18,000. His farm machinery and motor vehicles, with live stock and poultry to a value of $2,100, represented a total plant value for each of the 6,372,000 farms of $14,900. For each farm there was produced in 1950 crops representing a cash value of $4,350, plus $359 worth of the products of each farm used by the farm

THE ROMANCE IN ELEVATOR

THE professor had been elevator starter in the six story Brent building ever since Tod Davis could remember. He clicked his castanets, guiding people into one or another elevator. Sometimes he said, "Car going up," or "Step in, please," but usually he just clicked his castanets and motioned.

As the elevator zoomed past the fourth floor he took her in his arms and proposed. stubborn. First floor and everybody out as a new stream crowded in. Just enough confused time for Tod to stop beside her. "It's that job," he said urgently, "I'll be making enough for us to be married on Steady work."

With the elevators all in use, he turned to Tod. "How's college?" "I'm quitting for a job at $2.70 an hour." "So you can get married?" "Valerie says she won't marry me unless I finish college." "Smart girl," the professor said quietly, turning back to the impatient people, castanets clicking, arm waving.

KEEPING HEALTHY Another Branch of Medical Science

FROM TIME TO TIME we see new branches of medicine being raised to the standing of the two main branches, medicine and surgery. Within the past few years, for example, psychiatry has reached an equal footing. It may come as a surprise to learn that what is known as physical medicine and rehabilitation has now been placed among the branches of medicine. In the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. Frank H. Krusen, Mayo Clinic, chairman section on physical medicine and rehabilitation, in an address to the last session of the American Medical Association at San Francisco, stated: "It is with a feeling of great pride we interest to the combined specialty of physical medicine and rehabilitation gather here for the first meetings of this new section of the American Medical Association."

MIRROR Of Your MIND Success Depends On Listening

Is learning to listen worth while? Answer: Very much so. Your success in almost any field depends upon your understanding other people and the only way to do this is to listen to what they say closely enough so that you will grasp the meanings which they cannot always express clearly. (This applies particularly to your children.) Again, the surest and easiest way to make people like you is to make them feel that you are enough interested in them to pay real attention while they're talking to you. Since they're almost certain to talk about themselves, they'll like you doubly for listening.

Does alcohol increase blood pressure? Answer: No. If anything, it has the opposite effect. "Persons with high blood pressure need not avoid liquor," says Public Affairs Pamphlet No. 108, "Your Blood Pressure and Your Arteries." But as to whether alcohol can prevent as well as relieve hardening of the arteries, the pamphlet quotes Dr. H. M. Marvin,

R. A. BOYS PRESENT PROGRAM AT COLORADO
The Alvin Hatton Royal Ambassador chapter of the Loraine Baptist Church presented their missionary program Monday afternoon to Mrs. C. P. Conaway at her home in Colorado City. Mrs. Conaway, grandmother of Mrs. D. W. Haralson, counseled of the boys, celebrated her 90th birthday on April 6.

Those taking part on the program were Garrett Boyd, Billy Ray, and Hal and Dale Haralson.

Other boys attending were Ronald Stewart, Dale, Gale and James Vineyard, Robert Prescott Weldon Claxton, Garry Parnell, Elmer Miles, Roy Little, Jr., Ken Haralson, Clovis Hale and Mrs. Haralson.

Mrs. Conaway gave the R. A. a quilt top she had pieced recently and they gave it to be quilted for the orphans home.

CARD OF THANKS
Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Huntsman pastor and wife of the Cannon Baptist Church of Loraine, wish to express our thanks to the many members and friends for the wonderful party they gave us last night and thanks for the man nice gifts. What you have done will always be treasured in our memory. How sweet, how heavenly is this sight, that we who love the Lord; on one another's program we take delight, to help carry on the plans of God. When we asunder part but may we still be joined in heart, and hope to meet again. May God bless you all. Yours in Christ, Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Huntsman

 L. H. S. is very proud today. And for a good reason, too. Two of its members are going to the State Interscholastic League meet. Patsy Ruth Green won second in typing and Lowell Richardson won first in broad jump at the track meet. They will go to Austin to compete in the finals on May 3, 4, and 5. L. H. S. says "Good luck to you, Patsy and Lowell."

The senior play was presented April 19. At that time a carnation corsage in the class colors of red and white was presented to Mrs. Ison and a brown, gold and green tie was presented to Mr. Parish in appreciation for their work on the play. Thanks to all others who helped to make an Arizona Cowboy a success.

H. E. News

Hello! Here we are again. There isn't much happening a week. But we are trying to get the Mother and Daughter Banquet under way. A certain date hasn't been set yet. It will have to be pretty soon though, because the last six weeks of school started Monday (three cheers.)

We sponsored a bake sale Saturday at the Lions Club. You people that missed coming by and buying a cake or pie sure missed something. We made a round $24. The proceeds will help send the incoming president of the H. E. Club to Fort Worth to a meeting, and also some of it will go for the Mother and Daughter Banquet.

Miss Scott has been making home visits to some of the girls' homes. They have enjoyed her coming very much. See you next week.

Junior News

Well, here it is Monday again and it looks as if everyone is here. Everyone seems quite happy over the meet at Brownwood, which was held there this last week. One of the Juniors, Don Martin, who placed in the tennis matches, won the first game, but was defeated in the second. He played doubles with one of the Seniors, Billy Martin.

Some of the Juniors are telling tall tales about how very good campers and fishermen they are. What about that Bruce? And by the way, I don't think some of the boys thought much about Bennie's cooking!

Perhaps you noticed the bouquet of flowers on the piano. The seniors thank Mrs. Hines for those, and for the attached card of good luck wishes. We are also grateful for the lot lar donated to the class by Mr. Ed F. Neinst. Thanks!

Last of all, we thank each and everyone who attended the play and everyone who loaned us equipment for it.

Seniors Reminisce

The story of our life reads like a thrilling tale of a western movie, or a story in a true story magazine. Modesty forbids our doing justice to the story of our life. The brave deeds and great accomplishments we have failed to record in this brief narrative would fill all the shelves of the Congressional Library. We have omitted many of these facts for the benefit of those English students who dislike reference works, and out of respect for the wishes of the history students who dislike the idea of remembering dates.

Before continuing with the main plot we shall tell you some of the things that we have not done. We have not endorsed any tooth paste advertisement. We have not written any best selling novels. We have not yet achieved stardom in the talkies. We have not invented a way for students to get high grades without working, although we have figured out a method that works fairly well under certain circumstances.

Before you begin to think this is a game of "Guess Who" we shall get into the plot proper of this story. We first started on our road to fame as youngsters only six years of age. Our first lessons in reading, writing, and arithmetic were taken under the direction and supervision of Mrs. Georgia Johnson in 1939, who showed us how to make a, and b and c; told us how to count from 1 to 10, and many other interesting things.

Be sure and be with us next week when we shall continue the story of our lives in the great adventure of school life.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stalcup and children Glen and Mona of Coahoma were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Stribling Sunday.

Rev. Wayland Boyd was speaker at a father-son banquet sponsored by the Baptist Brotherhood at Snyder Tuesday night. He was accompanied by Rev. W. D. Green, Roy Little and Clifton Henderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Taylor of Spade visited in the Frank Taylor home Sunday.

Senior News

The senior class play was presented Thursday, April 19, and around $90 was cleared. The seniors are very happy because of the large crowd attending and the large amount that will go into the fund. Our thanks go to quite a few people for work they did for us and for kindness shown us. First of all, our sponsors deserve praise. Mrs. Ison gave her services in directing and by coming to play practice every night for three weeks. Although Mr. Parish was unable to attend many play practices because of his other responsibilities, we would have had a difficult time with our stage scenery without his assistance. Our thanks go to Miss Hyde for "making" us up and offering helpful suggestions, and to Miss Scott for also helping with the makeup.

The seniors also thank Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Cope for taking up money at the door, and the Junior Band, Mr. Hughs, Marie Beights, Bobbie Mote, and Freddie Bowlin for their between acts numbers.

Perhaps you noticed the bouquet of flowers on the piano. The seniors thank Mrs. Hines for those, and for the attached card of good luck wishes.

We are also grateful for the lot lar donated to the class by Mr. Ed F. Neinst. Thanks!

This group were guests in the Jim Green home Tuesday night. Mr. Alford returned to Lovington with the Hallmans Wednesday.

YESTERDAY'S QUEEN—The beautiful Boyan Djauidan is shown at right as she appeared in 1910 when she was Queen of Egypt and commanded a staff of 65 servants. Now, at age 72, at left, she is seeking a job as a maid in Paris. Her husband, King Khedive Hilmi II, was dethroned and she has since been living in different countries. She hopes to return to Philadelphia, where she was born May Torok.

LOVE BLOOMS IN 70'S—Mrs. Ida M. Drake Kelley, 73, planted a happy kiss on the cheek of her new husband, James F. Kelley, 78, after their recent marriage in Cedar Rapids, Ia. The newlyweds revealed that they plan to take a honeymoon trip into South Dakota "in the summer, when it warms up a little."

PUTTING OUT BEST SELLER—The only Scottish firm publishing the Holy Bible owns the rotary press, above, which turns out 256 pages of the world's best seller in one operation. The press, located in Glasgow, is an economic aid to the British, for the Bible is one of Great Britain's export items, with the U. S. being the best customer.

DOUBLING UP—Russell, at left, and Ralph Logan, six-year-old twins of Houston, Tex., found their double persuasion ineffective against the double stubbornness of these twin donkeys. The boys needn't be too surprised at their failure, for they were up against a special pair. The owner of the animals stated they are the only twin donkeys in Texas and probably the nation.

THE COMPLAINT has come in from old-timers, who knew their stars, that certain players must soon be taken into the Big Hall, or be left out for good. There are many names on the list that Bob Quinn has ready for consideration. Many of these will never get in as they lived and played too long ago to be recalled by most of today's voters. But certainly in this list such names as Al Harry Simmons and Chief Charles Albert Bender shouldn't be overlooked.

Al Simmons' lifetime big-league average was around .334, among the highest in the game. This was over a long period of time. Simmons has known years at .392, .390 and .384, up in Ty Cobb's figures.

Al Simmons was the greatest outfielder Connie Mack ever had on his nine pennant-winning teams. He was a great ballplayer, with a clean personal record.

In the case of Bender, the Chipewa Chief, he was one of the great pitchers of the game.

Many years ago, before Lefty Grove came along, Connie Mack told me that he would rather have Bender pitch a million-dollar game than any pitcher he had ever had on his team. The Chief was a great competitor. I knew him as far back as 1905, the year he shut out the Giants in a world series game.

Simmons and Bender certainly belong. So does Bill Dickey, one of the game's greatest catchers, coupled with Mickey Cochrane at the top.

Among those still playing who will have to be taken in later are Joe DiMaggio, Stan Musial and Ted Williams. There may be others, but these three are certain to get strong support. And what about Hank Greenberg? Or Dizzy Dean?

However, Bob Quinn, now master of the Hall, is worried over many others he believes should be considered before time runs out. There is a definite movement under way to place the name of the late Dr. Hyland of St. Louis on the honorable mention list. Dr. Hyland gave a big part of a fine career to ball-players and he is sure to get stout backing in this line.

A Tough Query

"Why is it," a fan asks, "that we had better hitting with the old and deader ball than we have with the lively or rabbit ball? Check back on this. You'll find that before the livelier ball came in, the game had a long list of .400 hitters. I mean

AROUND THE HOUSE

To prevent unpleasant odors when boiling fish or shellfish, place a stalk of celery in the pan during cooking.

Sausage patties or links, fried to crispness add appeal.

Corn and canned tomatoes placed in pimiento halves or green peppers are a choice, but budget-wise accompaniment to a steak dinner.

Bake your eggs in cream: add one to two tablespoons of thick cream for each individual baking dish; break in egg; bake slowly for 15 to 18 minutes.

Give poached eggs a new pedestal. Dip round, shredded wheat biscuits in hot water quickly, just to soften. Drain, dot with butter and top with hot poached egg.

Poached eggs served on toasted buns or home-made biscuits are a nice variation of an old theme.

MARASCHINO DEVIL'S FOOD CAKE
Snowdrifts Quick-Method Recipe
Sift together into a large bowl:
2 cups sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups sugar
Add: 1/2 cup Snowdrift
1/2 cup butter/milk
1/2 cup maraschino cherry juice
Mix enough to dampen flour. Beat 2 minutes. If by hand, count beating time only. With electric mixer use "low speed." Scrape bowl often; scrape beaters after 2 minutes.
Add: 2 eggs
3 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted and cooled
Beat 1 minute, fold in:
1/2 cup chopped maraschino cherries, dusted with flour
Bake in 2 greased 8-inch layer pans, lined with plain paper in slow oven (325° F.) about 35 minutes. Cool. Frost with:
FONDANT ICING: Cream 2 tbs. Snowdrift with 3 tbs. butter; add 1/2 tsp. salt. Add alternately 3 cups sifted confectioners' sugar with 1/4 cup milk or cream. When smooth, add 1 tsp. vanilla. Frost cake. Decorations: 1/2 sq. chocolate, melted; 4 chopped maraschino cherries; make alternate designs with chocolate and bits of cherry (see picture).

Cahow, Believed Extinct Since 1625, Is Caught

NEW YORK—The cahow bird, believed extinct for 326 years, has been rediscovered. He has just been in hiding from people and rats these past three hundred years.

Dr. Robert Cushman Murphy, chairman of the department of birds of the American Museum of Natural History, discovered the bird after a perilous 15-day trek over small islands off Bermuda. He caught five and took their pictures as proof of their existence.

The bird has been widely believed to be extinct since 1625, when a famine struck the islands and settlers killed them by the wagon-load for food.

Tells of Capture
Mr. Murphy told reporters how he rediscovered the cahow, accompanied by his wife and two ornithologists.

"I had do" quite a bit of work in petrels, the bird family to which the cahow belongs. I had long suspected the existence of the cahow. I got in touch with Louis L. Mowbray, curator of the Bermuda aquarium, who said he suspected the same thing and would be glad to help us look for one."

Murphy and his wife, Grace, flew to Bermuda. Using a diesel-powered launch, they probed the washed coasts of many islands looking for the cahow.

It was dangerous work. The waters around the islands are full of reefs. The coasts rise steeply out of the water. High waves churn dangerously all around the sheer coral ledges.

Finally, five days after the expedition began, Murphy wrote a note of victory in his diary: "Jan. 28, Cahows! Bermuda..."

Three hundred years hadn't changed the habits of the cahow. It still nested in deep burrows of limestone rock—some as deep as 11 feet.

Cahow Is Ugly
"Using a bamboo pole equipped with a noose, Mowbray succeeded in fishing out the first cahow," Murphy said. "At this point, the cahow was photographed for the first time in history."

If the cahow was once inhibited by zealous hunters, it has lost all fear of man during its long absence. One was picked up and passed from hand to hand. The bird stood the inspection well. "Apparently he was quite unafraid of the presence of human beings," Murphy said.

The bird, it appeared, could well have hidden away all these years because of self-consciousness. It isn't very pretty, or else it just doesn't photograph well. Its photograph looks like a bad combination of penguin, owl, parrot, and jaybird.

Dr. Murphy described the rediscovery of the cahow as "most exciting" to the scientific world.

Cable Car Stalls Over 600 Foot Chasm; Twenty Saved

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil—Augusto Goncalves, an electrician, risked his life to save 20 fellow passengers from a stalled cable car that dangled 650 feet above a mountain chasm for more than seven hours.

Goncalves slid down a rope from the car after it stalled when one of its two cable tracks broke.

He then rigged up an emergency hand-powered car which he propelled out 900 feet along the unbroken cable and rescued those remaining in the car four at a time. He made a total of five trips while thousands watched from the ground fearing the remaining cable might snap.

The passengers said panic rolled through the car as it suddenly swayed dangerously and halted when the car was halfway across the chasm between Urica and Sugar Loaf mountains.

The railway runs on two cables from the ground to Urica mountain and then to the top of Sugar Loaf, a 1,000 foot peak at the entrance to Guanabara bay. The line gives passengers a spectacular view of Rio de Janeiro and its harbor.

'Germany's Patrick Henry' Rallies Both East and West

BERLIN, Germany—Germans on both sides—east and west—were stirred recently when Hermann Joseph Flade, 18, defied a Communist death sentence with Patrick Henry sentiments.

"I love my freedom more than my life," young Flade told a Communist court in Russian controlled Dresden.

Flade, a Catholic from Bavaria, was tried as an "enemy of the state" for distributing leaflets last fall urging votes against the Communist controlled "national front" ticket, the only slate permitted in the east zone election. While being arrested Flade knifed a policeman, now back on duty.

Communist faithful packed the courtroom and a public address system carried his words outside the building.

Flade admitted that he handed out anti-Communist pamphlets, asserting that he opposed the Communist system and that he thought his action was part of the democratic system. The chagrined prosecutor flipped off the loud-speakers and the court imposed the death sentence.

Gandy Store's Booby Trap Wounds Boy Customer, 13

GARY, Ind.—A booby trap rigged up by a gandy store operator seriously wounded a 13-year-old Gary boy and a policeman recently.

The boy, Burl Wade, was shot in the chest. The policeman, William Sneed, in the hand.

Willie White, operator of the store, told police he rigged up the trap after his store was burglarized. A .38 caliber revolver was mounted on a metal bracket fixed to the inside of the door and set to fire the moment the screen door was opened a few inches.

The boy had gone to the confectionery to buy some candy. When he opened the screen door he was shot.

Officers feared for a while that a gunman had gone berserk in the store. It wasn't until they fired shot's at it, threw tear gas bombs, and accidentally set the store on fire that they discovered it was empty.

Indiana law forbids booby traps.

Prisoner Works Two Years and Tunnels 70 Feet to Freedom

BALTIMORE—One of the most sensational escapes in American penal history was carried out successfully recently by Joseph Holmes, a Baltimore Negro serving 20 years for burglary in the Maryland state penitentiary.

During pre-dawn darkness he crawled through a narrow, 70-foot tunnel that took him two years to dig.

Warden Edwin T. Swenson said, "It's the most fantastic escape I've ever heard of." He said it must have taken Holmes at least two years to burrow to freedom.

Swenson gave this version of the break: Holmes loosened a piece of square slate, about two feet square, and bored through 10 inches of concrete before he reached dirt.

Then he burrowed at a downward angle for 10 feet, then leveled off under the massive stone wall and a dry moat, and then dug 30 feet up.

The tunnel emerged in a grassy plot with only a 7-foot fence between the opening and freedom. It was only a short stroll from there to his mother's home.

Near the middle of the tunnel was a small "room" about 3 feet wide and 6 feet high, formed by fresh water seeping into the small area. The sides were matted with odd pieces of clothing, apparently to prevent a cave-in.

Swenson estimated that Holmes clawed out the tons of dirt with bits of scrap iron, carried the dirt in his clothing back to his cell, then flushed it down the toilet.

Holmes, known as the "dinner-time burglar," was in his 10th year of the 20-year sentence. He had been in and out of prison since he was sixteen.

Colorful San Francisco Hotel Celebrates Birthday
SAN FRANCISCO, Calif.—The Palace hotel, once the wonder of the western world with 800 rooms and 9,000 cuspidors, recently celebrated its 75th birthday.

Built at a cost of five million dollars in 1875, the famed hostelry has a history of its own, as gaudy as the flamboyant era of the Barbary coast which once characterized San Francisco.

The first structure was destroyed in the San Francisco fire. It was rebuilt almost immediately.

The Palace now has 2,000 beds, 200 chefs in its kitchen and the same grand manner which attracted three generations of royalty and debutantes.

British Jet Spans Atlantic in 4 Hours and 40 Minutes
GANDER, New Foundland—The fastest crossing of the Atlantic in history—4 hours and 40 minutes—was made recently by a British twin-jet bomber. But the bomber's time was slower than the sun.

Strong head winds slowed the bomber which has a speed rated at better than 600 miles an hour. The sun made the swing in 3 1/2 hours—600 miles an hour.

The first jet aircraft ever to fly the Atlantic without refueling, the plane beat the best previous west-east record by 30 minutes. It is a possible addition to the U.S. air force.

The pilot, A. E. Callard, said he flew at an altitude of eight miles or more part of the way and averaged around 530 miles an hour for the first hour and a half. Heavy winds then cut down his speed.

Named the Canberra, the plane is the world's first jet bomber, and will be exhaustively studied by U.S. air force experts as part of the exchange of military information among Britain, the United States, and Canada.

The plane is 65 1/2 feet long and has a wing span of 64 feet. It has a pressurized cabin for high-altitude flight. Its maximum speed and ceiling are military secrets.

'Germany's Patrick Henry' Rallies Both East and West
BERLIN, Germany—Germans on both sides—east and west—were stirred recently when Hermann Joseph Flade, 18, defied a Communist death sentence with Patrick Henry sentiments.

"I love my freedom more than my life," young Flade told a Communist court in Russian controlled Dresden.

Flade, a Catholic from Bavaria, was tried as an "enemy of the state" for distributing leaflets last fall urging votes against the Communist controlled "national front" ticket, the only slate permitted in the east zone election. While being arrested Flade knifed a policeman, now back on duty.

Communist faithful packed the courtroom and a public address system carried his words outside the building.

Flade admitted that he handed out anti-Communist pamphlets, asserting that he opposed the Communist system and that he thought his action was part of the democratic system. The chagrined prosecutor flipped off the loud-speakers and the court imposed the death sentence.

Gandy Store's Booby Trap Wounds Boy Customer, 13
GARY, Ind.—A booby trap rigged up by a gandy store operator seriously wounded a 13-year-old Gary boy and a policeman recently.

The boy, Burl Wade, was shot in the chest. The policeman, William Sneed, in the hand.

Willie White, operator of the store, told police he rigged up the trap after his store was burglarized. A .38 caliber revolver was mounted on a metal bracket fixed to the inside of the door and set to fire the moment the screen door was opened a few inches.

The boy had gone to the confectionery to buy some candy. When he opened the screen door he was shot.

Officers feared for a while that a gunman had gone berserk in the store. It wasn't until they fired shot's at it, threw tear gas bombs, and accidentally set the store on fire that they discovered it was empty.

Indiana law forbids booby traps.

IT'S NOT A MINUTE too early to start thinking of menus for picnic type suppers because one of these warm evenings you might just want to pick up your dinner and carry it out to the back porch.

In fact, if you're planning a picnic supper, morning and afternoon are the best times. You'll have the time to plan a picnic supper.

Some main dishes and salads can be chilling while the temperatures climb. Another way to do it is to have the fixings for a quick supper right on the pantry shelf.

To make a good supper platter, canned meats may be utilized, along with assorted breads, mustard, catsup and pickle relish. With this serve a beverage and fruit or berries in season.

Main dish meats and hearty salads are another good answer to the picnic supper served picnic style. Meats like chicken, ham or corned beef are excellent beginnings. Add plenty of vegetables, and then round out the menu with rolls heated at the last minute and a cool dessert or cake bread in the cool of morning.

IF YOU LIKE a very hearty, but cool supper, nice enough for guests, you'll enjoy this veal masked with mayonnaise. Served on a platter with potato halves filled with cottage cheese, buttered green beans, whole wheat bread and butter sandwiches, sherbet and cookies, nothing could be nicer for a porch and picnic supper!

Veal Masked with Mayonnaise (Serves 6-8)
1 breast of veal (4-5 pounds)
1 large onion, sliced
2 teaspoons salt
1 stalk celery
6 cups boiling water
1 envelope plain gelatin
3 tablespoons cold water
1 cup mayonnaise

Place veal breast, onion, salt, pepper, celery and boiling water in large kettle. Bring to a boil. Cover and simmer gently for 2 1/2 hours or until meat is tender. Drain, reserve liquid. Remove meat from bones and cut in coarse pieces. Strain liquid and reduce to 1/2 cup by boiling uncovered. Pack meat in small mixing bowl and add liquid. Let stand until cold. Cover with waxed paper and chill overnight under a heavy weight. Turn out on flat plate. Soak gelatin in cold water for 5 minutes. Dissolve over boiling water. Add slowly to mayonnaise, stirring constantly. Pour mixture over veal, spreading with spatula to coat meat on all sides. Garnish with slices of stuffed olive and watercress. Chill until serving time. Cut in wedges.

Peppery Beef Rounds (Serves 8)
4 pounds boneless brisket of beef
1 1/2 teaspoons peppercorns
1 1/2 teaspoons ground allspice
3/4 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons fine dry bread crumbs
1 teaspoon garlic salt
1 onion, sliced

Have butcher pound brisket flat. Wipe meat with damp cloth and place on board. Score meat lengthwise and crosswise with a heavy knife on both sides. Place peppercorns and crush with small hammer or mallet. Sprinkle meat with crushed pepper, salt, allspice, crumbs and garlic salt. Roll meat tightly lengthwise. Cut in two crosswise pieces. Tie firmly with string. Place in heavy kettle; add onion and cover with hot water. Cover and simmer for 4 hours until tender. Cool in broth. Chill, then cut in thin slices.

NEW AND different "burgers" that offer a treat in eating are these made mainly of tuna fish, cheese and ripe olives. They're easy to mix and make inside, then cart to the potch for supper:

Tuna Burgers (Serves 6)
1/2 cup ripe olives
1 1/2-ounce can tuna fish
1 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup diced American cheese
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 teaspoon grated onion
1/2 teaspoon salt
6 hamburger buns

Butter
Cut olives from pits into large pieces. Flake tuna fish coarsely. Blend lightly together the olives, celery, cheese, mayonnaise, onion and salt. Cut buns in half and hold low out center. Butter inside and fill with tuna mixture. Replace tops. Place in deep pan and cover closely. Bake in a moderate (350°) oven for 15 to 20 minutes or until heated through.

Put plenty of parsley in your next batch of creamed chicken for a green color note. Serve on boiled rice. This is easy as well as good. Dip your fish fillets in flour before frying in butter. Add some bacon or salt pork while cooking and don't forget to serve with lemon and tartar sauce.

Poach halved apricots in their own syrup and let cool. Fill two or three of the halves with vanilla ice cream and set them on a large macaroon. Serve with apricot syrup and flavored whipped cream.

LYNN SAYS:
Here are Food Combinations Well Worth Trying
Ever have two vegetables left and wonder if they can be used together? Lima beans team with corn kernels and a bit of cream; lima beans will also go together with string beans and a bit of melted butter and lemon juice.

Chilly and crisp is this salad that alternates very thin slices of salted cucumber with thinly sliced onion rings and lettuce hearts. French dressing is indicated.

When only a few drops of lemon juice are needed, puncture the skin of the lemon with a fork and gently squeeze out the amount of juice needed. This eliminates the waste that occurs when a lemon is cut, as it keeps the remaining lemon juice fresh.

When eggs are scarce, a medium-sized grated raw potato may be substituted for the egg usually used in a meat loaf. The potato will bind the mixture together just as the egg does.

Leftover vegetables can be perked up if they're served with browned butter to which a few bread crumbs have been added.

HADACOL BRINGS RELIEF TO FOLKS SUFFERING STOMACH DISTRESS

Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn, Bloating When Due To Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin Deficiencies

Guy H. Housley, 641 14th St., San Diego, Calif.: "I am 40 years of age and have had a chronic heartburn, 'sour risings' after meals because my system lacks about it. Before I started taking HADACOL, I got a very nervous stomach and couldn't eat. So I heard about HADACOL. I got a bottle to try and began to feel better and could eat anything I wanted to. I feel so much better now. I am always telling my friends how HADACOL has helped me. And I just can't think of enough to say about HADACOL, and what it has done for me. I am 28 years old and a steady user of HADACOL. I have been taking HADACOL for about a year."

Mrs. W. H. Morton, Route 1, Murfreesboro, Tenn.: "HADACOL has helped me. I feel so much better now. I am always telling my friends how HADACOL has helped me. And I just can't think of enough to say about HADACOL, and what it has done for me. I am 28 years old and a steady user of HADACOL. I have been taking HADACOL for about a year."

Mrs. John A. Feight, Jr., of Route 1, Bedford, Pennsylvania: "Anything I ate made my stomach ache and churn all night. My food never seemed to get digested and therefore I would wake frequently in the night with pains. I would be nervous and think over the nerve-racking experiences. Every little thing irritated me. I couldn't stand children around me. They made me nervous. I would holler at my two-year-old daughter, Vickie, for nothing at all. Since taking HADACOL, all my nausea and nervousness have passed away. All I can say for HADACOL is that it's made me see that this is a beautiful world after all. I'm 20 years old and am a housewife. I really do feel as great as I look in the photograph."

Here is Wonderful News For You Folks Who Suffer From Stomach Disturbances (indigestion, gas, heartburn, "sour risings" after meals) because your system lacks about it. Before I started taking HADACOL, I got a very nervous stomach and couldn't eat. So I heard about HADACOL. I got a bottle to try and began to feel better and could eat anything I wanted to. I am 28 years old and a steady user of HADACOL. I have been taking HADACOL for about a year."

How HADACOL Works
HADACOL not only supplies weak, run-down, deficient systems with extra quantities of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin but also beneficial amounts of Calcium and Phosphorus—elements so necessary to help maintain good health.

And these Vitamins and Minerals come in special liquid form so that they can be easily and quickly absorbed and assimilated in the blood—ready to go right to work at once. HADACOL helps build up the hemoglobin content of your blood (when Iron is needed) to carry these elements throughout your body.

Start taking HADACOL at once. HADACOL costs only a small amount a day. Trial size bottle, $1.25. Large family economy size, $3.50. Sold on a strict money-back guarantee. If your dealer does not sell HADACOL, order direct from The LeBlanc Corporation, Lafayette, Louisiana.

Put plenty of parsley in your next batch of creamed chicken for a green color note. Serve on boiled rice. This is easy as well as good. Dip your fish fillets in flour before frying in butter. Add some bacon or salt pork while cooking and don't forget to serve with lemon and tartar sauce.

Mrs. Minnie McCormick, Rt. 1, Wetmore, Ala.: "I am glad to tell you that HADACOL has done for me. After taking one bottle of HADACOL, I went to work in the field, chopping cotton, doing all my housework, milking, washing and ironing. I have taken several bottles of HADACOL now. I can't ever praise HADACOL enough to cover all it has done for me when I had no appetite at all. Now I eat anything and have a good appetite and nothing bothers me. I never do without HADACOL now. My friends noticed my change, and now they are also HADACOL users, too. My 77-year-old daddy uses HADACOL and I want to say thanks to HADACOL and to the makers of HADACOL."

Questions and Answers

Q. I am about to be discharged from the Navy, and I would like to know what to do in order to keep my National Service Life Insurance in force.

A. These suggestions should be helpful: (1) in order to avoid any chance of lapse, send VA your first remittance within 31 days after discharge; (2) give your full name, service number, policy number and complete permanent address; (3) pay by check or money order the same amount of insurance in force, and (4) pay premiums regularly each month. Don't wait for an official receipt, for there may be some delay initially in acknowledging your remittance.

Q. I already have changed GI Bill fields of training twice, and I'd like to make a third change. May I do so?

A. VA will approve a third change of fields of study only if you can establish a need for a short, intensive course which will prepare you for employment in a critical occupation for which there is a shortage of skilled workers.

Q. I am now drawing retirement pay from the armed forces as a retired officer. Do I consider that as income in determining whether I am eligible for a death pension as the result of the death of my son?

A. Yes. Retirement pay received directly from a service department is considered as reportable income.

Q. My wife served in the WAC during the war and recently passed away. Am I entitled to death pension payments from VA?

A. No. Under present laws a widower is not entitled to death pension benefits, but surviving children may be entitled.

JURY SERVICE EXCUSES NIXED—Jury Service Month will be co-sponsored, in May, by the Texas Press Association and the American Citizenship Committee of the State Bar of Texas. Discussing the project with Fred Massengill, Jr., Terrell Tribune publisher and president of the press association, are Earnest E. Sanders, left, Fort Worth attorney, and Secretary of State John Ben Shepperd, right. Shepperd is chairman of the American Citizenship Committee and Sanders in chairman of the bar's Jury Service Month sub-committee. Prime objective of the program is that no Texan will ask to be excused from jury service during the month of May. The press association and the bar are inviting churches and civic organizations to participate, by urging their members to take renewed interest in preserving our system of free courts by willingly accepting jury service. Many civic clubs will have Jury Service Month programs with lawyers as speakers.

There Is a Church You Should Know

SALVATION AND CHURCH MEMBERSHIP

- One Cannot Be "In Christ" Without Being "In the Church"; A. Christ is the Head, The Church is His Body, Christians are members (Col. 1:18; Eph. 1:21-23; 1 Cor. 12:27). One cannot be joined to the head without being a member of the Body which is the Church.
- Christ is King, The Church is His Kingdom (1 Tim. 6:15; Col. 1:13). One cannot be a subject of the king without being a citizen of His Kingdom.
- Christ is the Bridegroom, The Church is His Bride (Eph. 5:23-32). The two are one. One cannot be related to Christ, therefore, without being equally related to the Church. A child belongs by the same birth to both the family of his father and mother. (John 3:3-5).
- To be in Christ is to be in His Body, which is the Church.
 - In Christ Jesus, made nigh by blood. (Eph. 2:13).
 - In one Body, Reconciled, by Cross. (Eph. 2:16).
 - To be in Christ, therefore, is to be in His Body, and to be in His Body is to be in His Church.
