Teen charged with burglary of home

17-year-old allegedly crashed car, ran through streets in underwear while high on LSD

By James Cannon
Staff Writer

A Midland teen remained in custody Friday after being arrested for allegedly crashing a car into a construction trailer while high on LSD, running through the streets in his boxer shorts and breaking into a woman's house in search of something to drink.

Hunter McLane Standard, 17, was arrested around 9:30 p.m. Thursday in the 2600 block of West Noel Avenue after police received multiple reports of a naked man running through traffic. Standard was charged with a second-degree felony of burglary of a habitation and misdemeanor charges of resisting arrest and driving while intoxicated.

A 16-year-old with Standard also was arrested. Police reported he also was high on LSD and was completely naked running through traffic. Because of the 16-year-old's status as a minor, officials will not make his identity or charges public.

When officers arrived at West Noel Avenue, according to reports, they observed one naked man and one man dressed only in boxer shorts. The man in boxer shorts was later identified as Standard. Officers said the teens were "very combative" when confronted, and even engaged police officers in a "lengthy fight" before the pair were taken into custody, according to Standard's affidavit of probable cause.

While in custody, Standard told officers about his drug-induced adventure. He told officers he was driving a silver Mazda 6 before officers' arrival. A neighbor and two contractors said the same vehicle drove through a parked work trailer. Several people were in and around the trailer when Standard, allegedly high on LSD, crashed into it, according to the arresting officers.

Standard reportedly fled the scene of the accident and hid in his garage in the 2600 block of West Noel Avenue for a short period of time. He and the minor eventually reemerged and began "running in and out of traffic," according to the arrest report.

But before officers arrived on scene to investigate the accident or the reports of the naked man, Standard, still wearing nothing but boxer shorts, allegedly broke into a minister's house in the 2800 block of Emerson Drive, raiding the cabinets for something to drink.

A young child in the residence immediately told his mother, Anne-Marie Rogers, that a strange man was in the house. Rogers said she

ALL ABOUT LITERACY

Need to Read project puts books in hands of all first-graders

First-grade students outside Bowie Elementary wave to the Wells Fargo stagecoach as Wells Fargo, Midland Need to Read and the Midland Reporter Telegram deliver books to all Midland County first-grade students.

From staff reports

Cheers and squeals of excitement were heard outside Bowie Elementary on Friday morning as a stagecoach carrying books pulled up in front of the school.

The school's first-grade students were so excited to see three classmates and Principal Stacey Wheeler climb out of the stagecoach and distribute copies of "I Love School!" to every first-grade student.

As part of Midland Need to Read's Project Literacy 2011, employees from Wells Fargo and the Midland Reporter-Telegram delivered books to first-grade students at schools across Midland County.

After the stagecoach's arrival, MISD Superintendent Ryder Warren read to the first-grade students in the school's library.

One student proclaimed, "This is the best day of my life!" while others were curious why the superintendent took only three students in the stagecoach.

Wells Fargo Community Banking President David O'Neil said partnering with the schools to promote reading is important.

"Literacy drives learning and when children love to read, they'll continue to learn throughout life," O'Neil said.

Wheeler said the book donation is something worthwhile and special.

"First-graders are beginning readers and not all students have books at home," Wheeler said. "Having a book to call their own gives them ownership."

The I-20 Wildlife Preserve and Jenna Welch Nature Study broke ground Friday to build a 5.4-mile trail around the wetland area.

I-20 Wildlife Preserve officials break ground

By Kathleen Thurber
Staff Writer

With a coyote perched in the distance and plans for the 3.4-mile trail propped up nearby, board members with the I-20 Wildlife Preserve and Jenna Welch Nature Study Center said they're grateful to be breaking ground.

"Right now is phase two, and we're finally under way," said Elaine Magruder, president of the board of directors.

Speaking to city staff, board members and others from the community during a ground breaking ceremony Friday, Magruder said without the donors and volunteers who've taken interest in the project, it wouldn't have come to fruition.

"Thank you all so much for your support," she said.

The nonprofit organization was awarded earlier this year a $1 million matching grant from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. With the $2 million, phase II of the project will be completed. Construction is slated to start this month and be completed in April.

Along with a 3.4-mile trail around the wetland area, Magruder said they will construct a hawk observation tower in the northeast corner of the preserve, boardwalks to allow visitors a closer look at the lake and low marshes and eight bird blinds to allow for bird watching.

"We've made it all ADA. Even the hawk tower will be accessible by wheelchair," Magruder said.

Nathan Knowles, preserve land manager, said they've been able to host tours this summer even without precipitation to fill the wetlands to their normal levels. During the ground breaking ceremony, onlookers stood on a plot of grass typically covered by water.

The most recent rain filled the north lake, Knowles said, and the lower water levels elsewhere actually will make construction of the boardwalks easier.

Magruder said the nonprofit will host student and adult tours throughout the construction process. In addition to protecting the unique West Texas environment that exists in and around the wetlands, Magruder said they hope to use the trail system and the future study center to provide education.

On Friday, Magruder said she also started fundraising for some additional amenities they hope to offer near the trail. If the about $600,000 is raised, they'll add a pavilion with restrooms, a parking lot and fencing around the preserve during the second phase, she said.

Don and Joann Merritt, Midland naturalists and longtime supporters of the wetlands initiative, said they first started spending time at the trail in the 1990s.

In those days, Don Merritt said he would mow out his own pathways so they could traverse the property. Having a dedicated trail with bird blinds and boardwalks will be more than they'd ever imagined at that time, he said.

"It's great," Merritt said. "It's certainly going to be different from what we've seen."

Lawsuits filed by workers who floated days in Gulf

Associated Press

HOUSTON — Two oil workers who survived days floating on a life raft in the Gulf of Mexico after they evacuated their disabled vessel during a tropical storm have filed lawsuits claiming the workers were abandoned by another ship that could have taken them to safety.

The family of a third worker who died during the ordeal has also sued. The three men were among 10 oil workers on a liftboat in the Bay of Campeche who had to abandon the vessel on Sept. 8 after it was crippled by Tropical Storm Nate.

The workers' attorney, Francis Spagnoletti, said Friday that the men all suffered a harrowing ordeal that could have been prevented. Among other things, Spagnoletti said the workers had to float in shark-infested waters and drink their own urine.

The lawsuits were filed earlier this week in federal court in Galveston.

R&B singer Vesta Williams found dead in California

Associated Press

EL SEGUNDO, Calif. — Big-voiced R&B diva Vesta Williams, perhaps best-known for her 1980s hits "Don't Blow A Good Thing" and "Congratulations," has been found dead of a possible drug overdose in a Southern California hotel room, coroner's investigators said Friday. She was 53.

Williams was found dead at 6:15 p.m. Thursday in an El Segundo hotel room, Los Angeles County coroner's Capt. John Kades said.

An autopsy will determine the cause of death. A toxicology examination will take six weeks to be completed, Kades said.

Born Mary Vesta Williams on Dec. 1, 1957, to a disc jockey in Coshocton, Ohio, she had hits with "Once Bitten Twice Shy," "Sweet, Sweet Love" and the torch song "Congratulations," where she emotionally bids goodbye to her ex, about to marry someone else, on his wedding day.

Williams also appeared in movies and on television.

She was a saloon singer in the Mario Van Peebles movie "Posse," and she had a recurring role on the television situation comedy "Sister, Sister," playing actress Jackee Harry's best friend Monica.

Harry tweeted her condolences: "...just received truly devastating news: R&B great, and my friend of many yrs, Vesta Williams (@vesta4u), has passed away. #RIPVesta"

Williams diminutive frame belied her powerful, soulful pipes. Her initial success in the music industry came as a background singer for artists ranging from Chaka Khan, Anita Baker and Sting. But she would eventually establish her career with release of her first album, "Vesta," in 1986.

Over the years, she had hits including "Once Bitten Twice Shy," "Sweet, Sweet Love" and her signature torch song "Congratulations."

Williams continued to make albums, and was a regular performer on the concert circuit.

She was supposed to perform at the 21st annual "DIVAS Simply Singing!" in Los Angeles next month, put on Ralph. The Oct. 22 show will now pay tribute to her and another late soul singer, Teena Marie.

Arson charge against homeless man dropped

Associated Press

DALLAS — Charges were dropped Friday against a homeless man who was accused of leaving a campfire unattended and sparking an April wildfire that destroyed 11 homes in southwest Austin.

A state district judge dismissed the arson charge against Michael Bernard Weathers after Travis County prosecutors said there wasn't enough evidence to pursue the hastily filed case. Weathers, 60, was released from jail July 14 after prosecutors worked with local nonprofit agencies to find him housing and a job.

"The right thing happened," Assistant District Attorney Buddy Meyer said. "The right result occurred."

Meyer said the district attorney's office consulted with arson investigators and firefighters on the scene of the April 17 blaze, and concluded that something else could have started the blaze. Austin fire officials told the Austin American-Statesman that they stood by their decision to charge Weathers within hours of the fire.

The Oak Hill fire, which also damaged 10 homes, began in an undeveloped, wooded area with walking and biking trails that also was home to several homeless encampments. Any number of people could have haphazardly tossed a discarded cigarette onto the parched land and sparked the inferno, Meyer said.

"I feel very good," Weathers told the Associaetd Press on Friday. "I didn't do it. I didn't have anything to do with starting that fire. ... They're all related to the same nasty drought."

> "I didn't have anything to do with starting that fire. ... They're all related to the same nasty drought."
> — MICHAEL BERNARD WEATHERS
> Was accused of starting a wildfire

Weathers said that when he awoke the morning the blaze started, he boiled enough water to make a cup of coffee at a campsite and a few hours later walked to a nearby convenience store to buy some beer. That afternoon, as he sat in his car reading the newspaper, he saw firefighters running past him into the woods.

He said he followed them to see if he could help, knowing there were big houses downwind. He said he had met many area homeowners who walked their dogs or rode their horses in the area. When he realized there wasn't much he could do, he returned to his car. The battery was dead, but everything he owned was inside the vehicle, so he couldn't leave or abandon it.

Weathers' court-appointed attorney, Nate Stark, said it wasn't clear where the fire began, but because Weathers remained when others fled and helped firefighters pull hoses, he became a suspect after admitting he had left a fire site unattended six hours earlier.

Stark said his client began living in his car when he could no longer earn enough to afford his apartment. Stark said Weathers was upset that he was held in jail for 90 days, but acknowledged that it was unlikely he could have been released sooner because he did not have a permanent address. Stark lauded the prosecutors for working to make sure justice was done.

Austin fire officials said their investigators found Weathers standing about 30 feet from the flames soon after it flared out of control with his hair, eyebrows and sideburns singed, according to an arrest affidavit. Weathers said Friday that the campfire flared up while he was heating coffee.

"As far as the DA dropping the charges, I have no control over that process," Assistant Fire Chief Richard Davis told the newspaper.

Smoke fill post office

Midland Fire Department Battalion Chief Vince Hancock, left, assesses the situation at a smoke-filled U.S. Postal Service Office on Airpark Road around 8 p.m. Friday. Evidence suggests the blower motor on the roof-top air conditioning unit blew out, causing smoke to spread throughout the post office, Hancock said. No damage was done to the building or mail. A person dropping off mail alerted emergency responders to the smoke. No one was inside the building when the motor blew out.

Ex-police officer sentenced

Associated Press

HOUSTON — A former Houston police officer has been sentenced to 20 years in prison after admitting he stole more than $656,000 from his union to pay gambling debts.

Forty-six-year-old Matthew Calley pleaded guilty in March to two felony counts of theft and misappropriations of funds.

Prosecutors said he stole the money while serving on the board of the Houston Police Officers Association.

Oct. 6 lecture at MC canceled; new speaker sought

By Meredith Moriak
Staff Writer

Because of unrest in Egypt, Zahi Hawass' Oct. 6 lecture at Midland College has been canceled.

The Egyptian archaeologist, former Minister of State for Antiquities Affairs and subject of the reality TV show "Chasing Mummies" will not be allowed to leave Egypt.

He was scheduled to speak as part of the college's Davidson Distinguished Lecture Series.

"He went to the Egyptian government to try and get permission to come to Texas and they would not allow him to come out of the country," said Rebecca Bell, dean of community relations and special events.

Committee members are working to schedule another archeologist or anthropologist to lecture in October and have a good list of speakers, Bell said.

"We will bring someone in who will have interesting information to share," Bell said.

Bell said she expects a new fall speaker to be announced within a week.

Spring lecturer, Fareed Zakaria, a foreign policy adviser, columnist and television host, is scheduled to speak at 7 p.m. April 24.

Bell said everyone who had reserved tickets to the free event was notified of the cancellation Friday.

For more information, call Bell at 685-4556 or email rbell@midland.edu.

Traffic accident causes power loss in north Midland

From staff reports

A traffic accident at the intersection of Midland Drive and Wadley Avenue Friday caused power outages and traffic congestion throughout most of morning and early afternoon.

The accident occurred around 6 a.m. when a driver fell asleep at the wheel and struck a power pole.

The driver had minor injuries and was taken to the Midland Memorial Hospital for treatment, said Tasa Watts, Midland police's public information officer.

Midland police immediately notified Oncor about the downed pole. Power was out in select locations around the intersection for most of the morning.

Today in history

Today is Saturday, Sept. 24, the 267th day of 2011. There are 98 days left in the year.

On this date:

In 1869, thousands of businessmen were ruined in a Wall Street panic known as "Black Friday" after financiers Jay Gould and James Fisk attempted to corner the gold market.

In 1948, Mildred Gillars, accused of being Nazi wartime radio propagandist "Axis Sally," pleaded not guilty in Washington, D.C., to charges of treason. (Gillars, later convicted, ended up serving 12 years in prison.)

In 1976, former hostage Patricia Hearst was sentenced to seven years in prison for her part in a 1974 bank robbery in San Francisco carried out by the Symbionese Liberation Army. (Hearst was released after 22 months after receiving clemency from President Jimmy Carter.)

Ten years ago: President George W. Bush ordered a freeze on the assets of 27 people and organizations with suspected links to terrorism, including Islamic militant Osama bin Laden, and urged other nations to do likewise.

Today's birthdays: News anchor Lou Dobbs is 66. Actress-writer Nia Vardalos is 49.

Hospital drug shortages can be deadly, costly

By Linda A. Johnson
Associated Press

TRENTON, N.J. — A drug for dangerously high blood pressure, normally priced at $25.90 per dose, offered to hospitals for $1,200. Fifteen deaths in 15 months blamed on shortages of life-saving medications.

A growing crisis in the availability of drugs for chemotherapy, infections and other serious ailments is endangering patients and forcing hospitals to buy from secondary suppliers at huge markups because they can't get the medications any other way.

An Associated Press review of industry reports and interviews with nearly two dozen experts found the shortages — mainly of injected generic drugs that ordinarily are cheap — have delayed surgeries and cancer treatments, left patients in unnecessary pain and caused hospitals to give less effective treatments. That's resulted in complications and longer hospital stays.

Just over half of the 549 U.S. hospitals responding to a survey this summer by the Institute for Safe Medication Practices, a patient safety group, said they had purchased one or more prescription drugs from so-called "gray market vendors" — companies other than their normal wholesalers.

Most also said they've had to do so more often of late, and 7 percent reported side effects or other problems with those drugs.

Hospital pharmacists "are really looking at this as a crisis. They are scrambling to find drugs," said Joseph Hill of the American Society of Health-System Pharmacists.

At a hearing Friday before the health subcommittee of the House Energy and Commerce Committee, hospital officials and other experts testified that the worsening shortages are preventing them from giving many patients the best care and are driving up costs.

"Considering the nation's budget crisis and our skyrocketing health care bill, these markups are nothing more than profiteering at the expense of patients and providers who are struggling to afford vital medicines," said Mike Alkire, chief operating officer of Premier Healthcare Alliance, a group that helps U.S. hospitals and other health providers improve their patient care and finances.

The shortages could cost hospitals at least $415 million a year, he said, citing data from health care providers across the nation. So far, hospitals have been absorbing the extra costs, but they'll soon have to start passing them on to insurers and patients, according to the American Hospital Association.

The scarcity of mainstay cancer drugs is not only hurting patients but is halting or disrupting clinical studies of potential new treatments, said Dr. Robert S. DiPaola, director of the Cancer Institute of New Jersey.

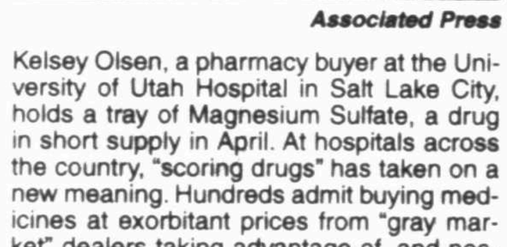
"The drug shortages of today can have a ripple effect on the availability of new drugs and treatment combinations tomorrow," he told the committee.

On Monday, the Food and Drug Administration is holding a meeting with medical and consumer groups, researchers and industry representatives to discuss the shortages and strategies to fight them.

The FDA says the primary cause of the shortages is production shutdowns because of manufacturing problems, such as contamination and metal particles that get into medicine.

Other reasons include theft of prescription drugs from warehouses or during shipment, as well as the "gray market" vendors who buy scarce drugs from small regional wholesalers, pharmacies or other sources and then sell them to hospitals at many times the normal price. These sellers may not be licensed, authorized distributors.

In addition, many companies have stopped making generic injected drugs because the profit margins are slim. Producing them is far more expensive than stamping out pills, and it takes about three weeks to produce a batch. Making things worse, companies don't have to notify customers or the FDA that they've stopped making a medicine. That means neither FDA nor competitors can fill the gap in time.



Associated Press

Kelsey Olsen, a pharmacy buyer at the University of Utah Hospital in Salt Lake City, holds a tray of Magnesium Sulfate, a drug in short supply in April. At hospitals across the country, "scoring drugs" has taken on a new meaning. Hundreds admit buying medicines at exorbitant prices from "gray market" dealers taking advantage of, and possibly exacerbating, a record shortage of life-saving prescription medicines.

Only a half-dozen companies make the vast majority of injected generics. Even if other companies wanted to begin making a drug in short supply, they're discouraged by the lengthy, expensive process of setting up new manufacturing lines and getting FDA approval.

Hospitals that buy scarce medicines from the "gray market" are taking a gamble.

The drugs may be stolen and hospitals can't always tell whether a medicine was properly refrigerated — as required for many injectable drugs — or whether it's past the expiration date, said Michael R. Cohen, a pharmacist and president of the institute. The active ingredient might have degraded and the drug might not work well or could even harm the patient, he said.

Cohen attributes at least 15 recent deaths to drug shortages, either because the right drug wasn't available or because of dosing errors or other problems in administering or preparing alternative medications. But many deaths and injuries go unreported, he said.

In the worst known case, Alabama's public health department this spring reported nine deaths and 10 patients harmed due to bacterial contamination of a hand-mixed batch of liquid nutrition given via feeding tubes because the sterile pre-mixed liquid wasn't available.

So far this year, 210 drugs have been added to the list of those in short supply, one less than the total for all of last year, according to the University of Utah Drug Information Service, which tracks the shortages. That's triple the roughly 70 a year from 2003 to 2006, when shortages began to climb steadily.

"The shortages aren't resolving. They're piling up on top of existing ones," said Erin Fox, a pharmacist who manages the service. She said at least 55 drugs from shortages before this year are still unavailable or scarce.

The average price markup on drugs sold by secondary distributors was 650 percent, according to an Aug. 16 report by the Premier Healthcare Alliance. The figure is based on an analysis of 636 unsolicited sales offers that were faxed and emailed to hospitals from secondary distributors in April and May.

Virtually every offer was for at least double the normal price, the survey found. The drugs with the highest markups were for critically ill patients needing anesthesia or other medicines for surgery or for emergency care, cancer, infectious diseases and pain management.

In an extreme case, one vendor was offering a generic beta blocker for dangerously high blood pressure, normally priced at $25.90 per dose, for $1,200.

The FDA says it must uphold quality standards but also works hard to prevent shortages.

also are being held without bond. Detention hearings for those five have been set for 1:30 p.m. Oct. 4 in Counts' court.

All six men are being charged with federal counts of conspiracy to possess marijuana with the intent to distribute and importation of marijuana.

In a criminal complaint filed Wednesday, a special agent with the Department of Homeland Security stated that Border Patrol officers were monitoring traffic along Interstate 20 Tuesday morning in Ector County when they attempted to pull over Baeza to do an immigration check on the vehicle and its occupants. Baeza failed to stop, and officers with the Department of Public Safety and the Ector County Sheriff's Office were called to assist in the pursuit.

The vehicle was stopped at the intersection of G and 16th Streets in Odessa.

DPS Trooper John Barton told the Reporter-Telegram on Tuesday that Baeza was driving west in an eastbound lane and forced multiple cars off the road. A trooper finally ended the chase by firing three shots at the vehicle's right rear tire.

Authorities said they found 207 pounds of marijuana in five handmade backpacks in the vehicle's rear cargo area along with $6,355 in cash.

Baeza is a U.S. citizen but the other men in the car were undocumented, the criminal complaint stated.

Baeza told authorities that he was offered $3,000 to drive to Marathon and take five men along with the marijuana to Odessa. Patino-Moreno stated that he obtained the marijuana in Mexico and carried it into the United States before Baeza picked him up. He told authorities that he was not paid for carrying the drugs but that his payment would be transportation to Odessa.

Garcia-Renteria told officials that he also obtained the drugs in Mexico but was promised $2,000 to carry it into the United States. Corrales-Perez also was promised $2,000, but authorities said he previously was convicted of an aggravated felony and was barred from entering or attempting to enter the United States for the rest of his life.

Mendivil-Perez stated to officers that he was promised to be paid but was never told how much. Authorities said Carmona-Olivas requested an attorney upon his arrest and declined to be interviewed. A criminal complaint filed stated that he had been previously barred from entering the United States for 10 years and was in violation of that when arrested Tuesday.

retrieved a gun and went to the kitchen to confront the man.

"He kept saying there was a cat and dog," Rogers told the Reporter-Telegram on Friday evening. "He looked so stoned."

When Rogers approached Standard, she said he kept repeating that she could wave that gun all she wanted but that he just needed to use the telephone to call his mother. She tricked Standard into leaving the house with the promise of using her telephone, but once Standard was outside, Rogers promptly locked the door and called the police and then her husband.

Only Standard reportedly entered her house. Rogers said the minor, still naked, was in the street at the time of the break-in.

Rogers said once she was aware of Standard's level of intoxication, her motherly instincts kicked in and she lost all fear.

Rogers added her kids were shaken up by the events. Once the police were on scene and Standard and the minor were in custody, she said Standard's stepfather apologized to her, saying that maybe this will be a wake-up call for Standard to change his behavior.

Rogers said she reminded her children after the incident never to try drugs, not even once, because it can ruin their lives.

Standard and the minor's level of intoxication and violence toward officers forced police to place restraints on the pair before being transported to the Midland County Central Detention Center.

Standard remained in jail as of press time Friday night on a $12,000 bond. If convicted of the second-degree felony, he could serve up to 20 years in prison.

Amarillo company recalls meat

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Amarillo-based Palo Duro Meat is recalling 40,000 pounds of frozen ground beef products that may be contaminated with E. coli.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture said the product was produced Sept. 9 and shipped to two warehouses in Georgia for distribution to institutions that include six Georgia school districts associated with the National School Lunch Program.

Victim in grizzly attack was shot by friend

BILLINGS — Authorities say a hunter attacked by a grizzly in a Montana forest was killed not by the bear, but by a gunshot fired by a companion trying to save him.

Lincoln County Sheriff Roby Bowe said Friday that 39-year-old Steve Stevenson, of Winnemucca, Nev., died of a single gunshot wound to the chest.

The shot was fired by 20-year-old Ty Bell, also of Winnemucca, as he attempted to stop the bear's attack.

Bell had earlier shot and wounded what he thought was a black bear during a Sept. 16 hunting trip along the Montana-Idaho border. The two men tracked the wounded grizzly into thick cover, where it apparently turned on Stevenson.

Judge tosses 7 WTC lawsuit

A federal judge has tossed out a lawsuit over the destruction of a third New York building in the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks, saying the "strange, improbable" events could not be foreseen.

Judge Alvin Hellerstein issued an order late Friday ending a lawsuit brought by the Consolidated Edison Co. of New York Inc. against Citigroup Inc. and a company created by Larry Silverstein.

Oklahoma lawmakers eye protection of bird's habitat

Associated Press

OKLAHOMA CITY — Oklahoma must act quickly to protect the habitat of the lesser prairie chicken in western Oklahoma to have any chance of keeping the bird from being listed as a threatened or endangered species, a state Senate leader said Friday.

Sen. Mike Shulz, the co-chairman of the Endangered Species and Economic Development Task Force, said he's convinced it's not too late to keep the stocky, ground dwelling bird off the list.

"I wouldn't say that we're too late, but I'd say we certainly need to get on the stick," said Shulz, R-Altus.

Many lawmakers, particularly those in western Oklahoma, are concerned the potential listing of the lesser prairie chicken could harm the burgeoning wind energy industry. Representatives of the transportation, utility and oil and natural gas industries also have voiced concern about how the bird's listing could be detrimental to their growth in western Oklahoma.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service is conducting a study to determine if the bird should be listed under the Endangered Species Act. Its natural habitat is prairie grasslands in New Mexico, Colorado, Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

"We are going to be very proactive, and we intend to get those numbers up so there's no need to put this species on the list," said Garry Sherrer, Oklahoma's secretary of the environment.

Sherrer has formally requested a 24-month extension to the Wildlife Service's timeline for determining the bird's status, but Dan Ashe, the newly confirmed director of the federal agency, has indicated that granting an extension could be difficult.

The most important steps Oklahoma could take is to improve the native grasslands that make up the bird's natural habitat, said Steve Sherrod, executive director of the University of Oklahoma's George Miksch Sutton Avian Research Center.

Perry faces increased criticism from both sides

Associated Press

EXETER, N.H. — Republicans in early voting states, once excited about the Texas governor's presidential bid, are openly questioning the strength of his candidacy. High expectations have been met by the sudden national scrutiny that comes with the front-runner bull's-eye.

Perry is leading national polls, but he is also facing intensifying criticism from the right and left. Some Republicans in Iowa and New Hampshire are expressing doubts, especially after debates in which rivals raised questions about his record on immigration, public health and Social Security.

One national immigration group said Perry is finished. Conservatives are slamming his support of education benefits for illegal immigrants.

The campaign dismisses the criticism. After all, supporters say, he entered the presidential race just six weeks ago.

Things looked rosier then. Perry arrived to great fanfare and seemed poised to steal significant support from his top rival, former Massachusetts Gov. Mitt Romney. Many influential GOP activists saw Perry, with his executive experience and good jobs record, as an attractive alternative to Romney, who has struggled to win over conservatives who make up a sizeable portion of the party base.

Since then, the Texan has campaigned repeatedly in New Hampshire and Iowa, states that host the nation's first presidential voting contests in roughly four months.

And unaligned Republicans in those states — including some who backed Romney four years ago and are looking for an alternative — have watched Perry closely this month to see if the early buzz would become lasting campaign strength. But his debate performances, including bobbled attempts Thursday night in Florida at painting Romney as a flip-flopper, did not impress some influential activists.

"Perry has been doing damage to himself over the last couple weeks," said Jamie Burnett, a New Hampshire-based Republican who led Romney's political operation here four years ago but is unaligned this year. "Perry's on shaky ground, but I'm not willing to say there's no path to victory. But he's definitely not in the place he was during the first two weeks of his campaign."

In Thursday night's debate, Perry went after Romney. But it didn't always go smoothly.

"I think Americans just don't know sometimes which Mitt Romney they're dealing with," Perry said then. "Is it the Mitt Romney that was on the side of — against the Second Amendment before he was for the Second Amendment? Was it — was before — he was before the social programs from the standpoint of — he was for standing up for Roe versus Wade before he was against first — Roe versus Wade?"

He also suggested that those who oppose Texas' immigration law are heartless and he gave a wobbly response to a question on Pakistan, making him seem unprepared.

"The guy just isn't ready for prime time. It's not the issues themselves. It's how he handles them," said Doug Gross, a Des Moines lawyer who was Romney's Iowa co-chairman in 2008 but isn't backing any one candidate yet this year. "He doesn't look like a president."

Falling satellite slows down; Earth strike delayed

CAPE CANAVERAL — A 6-ton NASA satellite on a collision course with Earth clung to space Friday, apparently flipping position in its ever-lower orbit and stalling its death plunge.

The old research spacecraft was targeted to crash through the atmosphere sometime Friday night or early today, putting the U.S. back in the potential crosshairs, although most of the satellite should burn up during re-entry.

"It just doesn't want to come down," said Jonathan McDowell of the Harvard-Smithsonian Center for Astrophysics.

McDowell said the satellite's delayed demise demonstrates how unreliable predictions can be. That said, "the best guess is that it will still splash in the ocean, just because there's more ocean out there."

Feds: 4 alleged mob figures in custody

PROVIDENCE — Federal agents on Friday said they have put a major dent in the ranks of the New England mafia after arresting four of its alleged members and associates, including a capo accused of continuing to shake down Providence-area strip clubs following the arrest of a reputed former boss in January.

Alleged New England La Cosa Nostra capo Edward "Eddy" Lato, 64, alleged "made" member Alfred "Chippy" Scivola, 70, and accused mob associates Raymond "Scarface" Jenkins, 47, and Albino "Albi" Folcarelli, 53, were arrested Friday in Rhode Island. All four were ordered held without bail at separate court appearances.

They are charged in a superseding second indictment tied to the January arrest of alleged former boss Luigi "Baby Shacks" Manocchio, 83, who is accused with others of shaking down Providence-area strip clubs beginning in the mid-1980s for at least $2 million. The indictment includes new allegations about Manocchio's role in the extortion plot of establishments including the Satin Doll, the Foxy Lady, Desire and Cadillac Lounge.

3 officers shot, wounded in standoff

LAKE CITY — Authorities say three Lake City police officers were shot and wounded by an armed man who barricaded himself inside a home.

Police said the situation began shortly after noon Friday when officers responded to a domestic violence incident at the home. As officers were setting up a perimeter, authorities said the man came out of the house and opened fire. Three officers were hit, and the man ran back inside the house.

Obama lets states opt out of federal school rules

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Nearly everyone agrees the fix needs fixing. The No Child Left Behind law that was supposed to improve American education has left schools grumbling at being labeled "failures," state officials fuming and complaints everywhere about required testing.

But President Barack Obama's response on Friday — he's allowing states to opt out — is starting a new round of heated arguments.

There are questions about whether letting states bypass unpopular proficiency standards will help the nation's schoolchildren. And, even as states clamor to use the new waiver option, some lawmakers say Obama is inserting politics in what had been a bipartisan approach to education.

At the White House, the president said he was acting only because Congress wouldn't. He decried the state of U.S. education and called the "No Child" law — a signature legacy of President George W. Bush's presidency — an admirable but flawed effort that ended up hurting students instead of helping them.

Obama's announcement could fundamentally affect the education of tens of millions of children. It will allow states to scrap a key requirement that all children show they are proficient in reading and math by 2014 — if those states meet conditions such as imposing their own standards to prepare students for college and careers and setting evaluation standards for teachers and principals.

Kids will still have to take yearly tests in math and reading, although the administration says the emphasis will be more on measuring growth over time.

The impact on school kids could vary greatly depending on how states choose to reward or punish individual schools. Under No Child Left Behind, children who attend schools deemed failures after a set period of time are eligible for extra tutoring and school choice. Under the president's plan, it's up to states granted waivers to decide if they will use those same remedies.

A majority of states are expected to apply for waivers, which would be given to those that qualify early next year.

State officials have long complained that if they had more flexibility, they could implement positive changes. Now, they will have to step up and prove it.

Palestinians submit UN statehood bid; Quartet wants deadlines

Associated Press

UNITED NATIONS — The Palestinian leader took his people's quest for independence to the heart of world diplomacy Friday, seeking U.N. recognition of Palestine and sidestepping negotiations that have foundered for nearly two decades under the weight of inflexibility, violence and failure of will.

The bid to win recognition of a state in the West Bank, Gaza Strip and east Jerusalem — submitted over the objections of the U.S. — laid bare the deep sense of Palestinian exasperation after 44 years of Israeli occupation.

After Abbas submitted his formal application, international mediators called on Israel and the Palestinians to return to long-stalled negotiations and reach an agreement no later than next year. The Quartet — the U.S., European Union, U.N. and Russia — urged both parties to draw up an agenda for peace talks within a month and produce comprehensive proposals on territory and security within three months.

U.S. Secretary of State Hillary Rodham Clinton said the proposal "represents the firm conviction of the international community that a just and lasting peace can only come through negotiations between the parties."

The Quartet statement was radically different from what diplomats had been hoping to draft since it became clear that Abbas would not back down. U.S. and European officials had been trying to craft a statement that would outline parameters of the negotiations, including a reference to borders being based on the 1967 lines and affirm Israel's identity as a Jewish state.

Instead, the Quartet focused on proposing deadlines.

World sympathy for the Palestinian cause was evident from the thunderous applause that greeted Abbas as he mounted the dais in the General Assembly hall to deliver a speech that laid out his grievances against the Israeli occupation and why he felt compelled to take his appeal directly to the U.N.

In a scathing denunciation of Israel's settlement policy, Abbas declared negotiations with Israel "will be meaningless" as long as it continues building on lands the Palestinians claim. He went so far as to warn that his government could collapse if the construction persists.

Bulldogs rally from 21 down to beat Bobcats

By Jonathan Hull
Sports Writer

SAN ANGELO — For a quarter and a half, Midland High had everything going against it.

San Angelo Central stormed the field with a lot of emotion, playing before a large homecoming crowd at San Angelo Stadium, and went up by three touchdowns early in the second quarter. But the Bulldogs proved resilient, bounced back and got big plays at the most opportune moments for a 35-28 victory.

"This wasn't just another win for us," MHS second cornerback Brandon Williams said. "To go down like we did and come back, we won a war (against Central)."

catch on a 27-yard TD pass from Logan Sawyer to pull the Bobcats (3-2) even, Midland High (5-0) took over at its own 28 with 4:24 to play in the game.

After six straight runs that moved the Bulldogs to the Central 31, senior quarterback Tanner Culp used a play-action pass and rolled out to his right with all day to throw. Culp was able to wait for senior receiver Donavon Lee to run all the way across the field and break away from the Central coverage. Culp hit Lee in stride at the 15. Lee turned up the field and finished off the 31-yard game-winning scoring play with a strong stiff arm at the 1 with 1:18 left on the clock.

Central never advanced the ball past their own 30 on its final possession as MHS senior linebacker Brandon Wright tipped a pass incomplete on fourth-and-6 to seal the victory.

"Central came out with a great game plan and really surprised us with some things," Midland High coach Craig Yenzer said. "I'm very proud of the way our kids responded and the adjustments our coaches made. But we can make all the adjustments we want on the sidelines. It's the players who have to execute them and they did that (Friday)."

Using a passing attack taken straight from the playbook of former Texas Tech coach Mike Leach, the Bobcats had Midland High over-

Lee scores two special teams TDs to beat Tascosa

Darian Long was devastated after he muffed a punt in Lee territory in the second quarter of a scoreless game against Amarillo Tascosa on Friday.

But Long made up for his miscue in the second half, scoring on a 54-yard punt return and 4-yard run in the fourth quarter to help Lee pull away from Tascosa in a 27-3 homecoming win at Grande Communications Stadium.

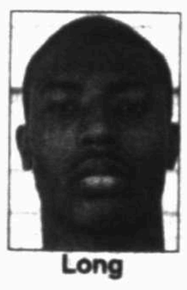
"It was heartbreaking," Long said of his early fumble. "But I knew that I had to come back the next series and play better"

Long's punt return was the second of two special teams touchdowns by the Rebels, who scored 20 unanswered points in the second half to get the win.



Long

"That was a big momentum shift," Long said of the two scores. "We're doing well on special teams — can't ask for more."

The first half was one that neither team will remember fondly as they combined for four turnovers and 10 penalties for 91 yards.

Along with Long's muffed punt, Lee fumbled in Tascosa (2-3) territory and squandered an impressive drive that started at its own 1-yard line by losing 3 yards on first and goal from the 8, then false starting two plays later, leading to a missed 30-yard field that left the game scoreless.

"We turned the ball over, we did about everything we could do wrong from penalties to everything else," Lee head coach James Morton said. "There was nobody, especially myself that was pleased with the way our first half had gone."

Ruiz's TD lifts Coahoma over Stanton

By Oscar LeRoy
Sports Writer

COAHOMA — Coahoma coach Trey Gardner knew his team had missed an opportunity when it blocked a punt in Stanton territory late in the third quarter and didn't score.

But the Bulldogs got their second chance late in the fourth quarter when a shanked punt by the Buffaloes gave Coahoma excellent field position at the Stanton 36. This time, the Bulldogs cashed in on the special teams miscue when Tanner Ruiz scored on a 9-yard run with 1:58 remaining in the game to lift Coahoma to a come-from-behind 20-16 victory over rival Stanton in the District 2-2A Division II opener for both teams at Bulldog Stadium.

"I was telling the kids that since I got here, that's the first time we've won a close ballgame," Gardner said. "Last year we either lost or we blew people out. I'm not pleased with all of our play. Obviously, there are some things we have to clean up, but they fought when they had to."

Added Ruiz, "We could have quit, like some teams in the past, but we stayed with it and played hard. I'm proud of (the team)."

Coahoma had to battle from a 16-7 deficit early in the fourth quarter when Taylor Spinks scored on a 2-yard run. But Stanton failed to make it a 10-point game when the extra point try was blocked, which was yet another big special teams play by the Bulldogs.

Rangers opportunistic in win over Sweetwater

By Jeff Wilson
MRT Correspondent

Shad Hanna wasn't sure if he wanted to be opportunistic, good or just a little bit lucky. Friday night against Sweetwater, his Greenwood Rangers were all of the above.

Greenwood forced five turnovers, quarterback Kam Williams accounted for 332 yards of total offense and Jacob Armitage made the play of the game as the Rangers held off the Mustangs 28-26 in a wild non-district game.

Rangers 28
Mustangs.....26

"This is just a huge win for us," said Hanna, who is in his second year as the Rangers' head coach, said. "The kids fought to the very end."

They had to in this one.

After jumping out to a quick 14-0 lead, the Rangers turned a pair of first-quarter turnovers into touchdowns, and then Greenwood hung on as Sweetwater mounted its comeback. Tied at 14 at halftime, Greenwood seemingly put the game away with another pair of scores in the third and fourth quarters only to watch the Mustangs rally with a pair of fourth-quarter touchdowns of their own.

The final Sweetwater score came as time expired but the Mustangs' 2-point conversion try, which would have sent the game into overtime, failed as Armitage tipped quarterback Taylor Jones' pass, forcing it to fall incomplete.

"The kids made all the plays when they needed too," Hanna said. "We played our tails off and we are turning into a pretty good football team."

That much seemed obvious from the start.

Williams, who was starting for the first time since being injured two weeks ago, completed 13 of 31 passes for 231 yards, including scoring strikes of 36 yards to Hunter Rose and 20 yards to Colin Sullivan. The junior also rushed for 101 yards and scored twice.

And while the Rangers were moving the ball offensively, its defense was setting the offense up nicely. Greenwood turned two first-quarter turnovers into 14 points and ended up scoring three times after Mustang miscues. But it almost wasn't enough.

Sweetwater rallied to tie the game at halftime and then overcame a second 14-point deficit with a pair of scores in the fourth quarter. A missed extra point put the Mustangs down eight with eight minutes to play and that played a huge role in the game's outcome.

MCS to square off against Big Spring

By Len Hayward
Sports Editor

If there is one thing the Midland Christian and Big Spring football teams are expecting in today's game at Grande Communications it's some good, old fashioned hard-hitting and physical football.

The Steers and Mustangs have played a number of games in a row to start the season that featured physical play, including both teams coming off contests against perennial power Monahans.

Both teams are again expecting another physical contest at 7 p.m. today at Grande Communications Stadium, and players who will play along the line of scrimmage are ready for the role they will likely play.

Coaches like to use the cliché that games are decided along the offensive and defensive fronts, and for both squads their play up front is considered a strength. How both front lines play tonight will be a major determining factor in tonight's game.

"I think it's going to be a really good matchup," said Midland Christian senior offensive tackle and defensive tackle Payton Ray. "They've got some pretty physical guys, and I think that we are going to have to come out and be physical too."

Ray and the rest of his offensive line mates spent much of the bye week working to become a more cohesive and consistent unit.

Midland Christian coach Greg McClendon said his offensive front wasn't staying on their blocks long enough, and that was emphasized this week during practice.

The Mustangs (1-2) do have one of the area's best athletes in Christian Whigham running behind them, and Ray admitted having him back there has turned some likely losses of yards into gains.

But Ray also said that the players on the offensive front realized that they had to keep working to get better and not make Whigham work so much.

"We saw the guys before us and they made this look easy," Ray said. "We stepped in there and then we realized that you have to work harder than what they may have shown. Thank God we did have Christian getting 4 and 5 yards a carry even when we weren't staying on our blocks. Now, though, we are staying on our blocks."

This week, though, the Mustangs' front line will be facing possibly one of its toughest challenges of the season against a Big Spring front seven that is the team's strength.

The Steers are 0-4, but even with that record, Big Spring junior linebacker Max Pappajohn said that his squad will continue to play physical and match the Mustangs' style.

"Midland Christian, they are always a big team, and just like everyone knows Big Spring is always physical," said Pappajohn, who has 41 total tackles in four games this season. "It's just going to be another one of those games that we have to step up and be more physical."

Sandies running back Cole Sanchez rushed for 120 yards on 14 carries while quarterback Gabe Rodriguez added 109 yards through the air for the Sandies' offense.

Lady Dawgs continue rolling, beat Central

From staff reports

SAN ANGELO — The Midland High volleyball team dispatched San Angelo Central in three games, 25-19, 25-20, 25-20 as the Lady Bulldogs wind down the first half of the District 3-5A schedule.

Midland High now has at least a two-game lead on the rest of the district as it improved to 24-14 overall and 5-0 in league play this season. Central fell to 18-11 and 3-2.

Alexa Griggs, who had 10 kills in Tuesday's victory against Abilene High, had 12 in Friday's match against the Lady Bobcats.

Also, the Lady Bulldogs had another stellar game serving as they recorded a total of 13 service aces during the three-game match. Freshman Channing Burleson led the way with four aces as Leigh Collyer and Claire Behrmann each had three.

"We served really aggressively, which kept (Central) from being able to run the offense they are capable of running with their height," Midland High coach Terri McColloch said. "(Collyer) did a great job of running the offense and keeping the ball away from their big blockers. Alexa had a big offensive game — she had the best matchup and Leigh delivered the ball to her."

McColloch also praised the play of Abbey Grimes and Riley Downing during the match as well.

Midland High will take Tuesday off before completing the first half of the 3-5A season on Sept. 30 as it will host rival Lee at 6 p.m. at home.

RANGERS

From 1B

Sweetwater converted its last chance to extend the game by driving 51 yards in 43 seconds, scoring on the final play of regulation when Jones hit Willie Norman in the back of the end zone. But the two-point try failed when Armitage raced in and tipped Jones' pass to the turf.

With the win, Greenwood moved to 3-2 on the year while Sweetwater fell to 3-2.

LEE

the first half were a goal line stand that culminated in quarterback Thomas McIlraith getting stuffed for no gain on 4th and goal at the one, and Talor Nunez's only completion of the game, a 30-yard toss to Cole Edwards for a 7-3 lead with 4:40 left in the half.

Long set up that drive with an interception at the Tascosa 32, the second of three Lee picks on the night.

Yet halftime didn't seem to help Lee at first as it went three and out on its first drive of the third quarter.

But on Tascosa's first series, Skyler Estrella blocked a punt, which Luke Stice caught off the ricochet and returned 30 yards for a touchdown and a 14-3 lead.

Then early in the fourth, Long fielded a punt just inside Tascosa territory, found a seam, then juked the punter to go untouched for his first touchdown of the night.

His second came on a direct snap that he took in from 4 yards out, putting Lee up 27-3 with 4:49 to play.

Long agreed with Morton that Lee has a lot of room to improve on its performance but was happy that his defense, which sacked McIlraith four times, and special teams were able to help out.

"It was good," Long said. "We're finally special again."

Well, almost.

"If we'd have covered kickoffs better," Morton said, "I think we could've called them special again."

BULLDOGS

whelmed early and were comfortably ahead 21-0 with 9:37 to play in the second quarter. It was the first time since the season opener against Amarillo High the Bulldogs had trailed in a game.

However, Midland High needed 44 seconds to cut the deficit to a single score courtesy of back-to-back TD runs by senior tailback Jacoby Webster. Webster first capped a seven-play, 65-yard drive with a 4-yard TD run, then after the Midland High defense forced Central to quickly go three-and-out, Webster cut the Bobcats lead to 21-14. The senior running back took a handoff off left tackle and turned it into a 48-yard TD.

The end of the first half was simply a precursor for the rest of the game as the Bulldogs depended on Webster and their big offensive line to take over in the second half.

"They came out and got real physical with us in the second half," Central coach Brent Davis noted. "You can't blame them for that. That's just smart football on their part. I thought we came in with a good game plan and we executed it. They made the adjustments and we couldn't score with them in the second half."

After the Bulldogs opened the second half with a six-play, 69-yard scoring drive that culminated in a 6-yard TD run by Culp that tied the game, Webster scored his third TD of the night as he broke away from a defender after running a wheel route up the right sideline out of the backfield. Culp hit Webster in stride for a 46-yard TD that gave the Bulldogs their first lead of the game, 28-21, with 6:29 remaining in the third quarter.

Webster finished the night with 200 rushing yards on 30 carries and also added 51 receiving yards on four catches.

COAHOMA

From 1B

Coahoma answered that score on the ensuing drive as it went 67 yards on 13 plays, culminating with a 15-yard touchdown pass from Ruiz to Aaron Acevedo on fourth-and-7 to pull within 16-14 with 6:54 remaining in the game.

That's when Coahoma's defense stepped up and held the Buffaloes to zero yards on Stanton's ensuing possession. With Stanton punting from its own 34, Andres Chavez felt some pressure and the punt sailed just two yards and out of bounds to give the Bulldogs great field position.

"That hurt us," Stanton coach John Peterson said. "You can't give a team like Coahoma that kind of field position and not expect them to cash in."

But Stanton's defense almost held the Bulldogs as Coahoma faced a fourth-and-2 from the SHS 28-yard line. However, Ruiz kept the drive alive with a 16-yard run for the first down at the Coahoma 12. Two plays later, Ruiz weaved his way past defenders and then muscled his way into the end zone for the go-ahead score.

"That was really big," Ruiz said. "I knew I had to score. The guys weren't going to let me down and I wasn't going to let them down, so I knew I was going to get in."

Even though Ruiz finished with 29 yards rushing and 29 yards passing, Gardner said his junior quarterback rose to the occasion.

"We've had a hard time getting out in the edges because everybody game plans for him getting out on the edge. I would too," Gardner said. "Right there at the end when we had to have him, he stepped up."

In a game that was dictated by the defenses, it was only fitting that the game ended on a defensive play as Cage Miller picked off an Andres Chavez pass in Bulldog territory with 24 seconds remaining to seal the victory for the Bulldogs, who improved to 2-3 and 1-0 in district play.

"It was probably one of our better defensive performances (this year)," Gardner said. "We had struggled on the defensive side of the ball. They stepped up when they had to tonight."

For the Buffaloes (2-3, 0-1) this will be a bitter pill to swallow as they led at the half 10-7 and had a lead early in the fourth quarter.

"We're proud of all our kids," Peterson said. "Offensively and defensively, they fought tonight and gave it everything they had. The ball just didn't go their way. We'll regroup for next week."

Players to watch: Abilene High, RB Paxton Grayer (5-10, 185, Sr.), RB Marcell Porter (5-6, 150, Jr.), LB Shaq Sims (5-8, 180, Sr.), OL Lorenzo Martinez (5-10, 255, Sr.), DL Tyler Cagle (5-10, 190, Sr.), QB Evin Abbe (6-1, 190, Jr.), WR Keevan Lucas (5-9, 165, Jr.); Longview, Eric Hawkins (5-11, 172, Sr.), RB Deontre Wilson (6-1, 220, Sr.), DB Jordan Burton (6-1, 190, Sr.), WR Donterius Jackson (6-0, 175, Sr.), RB Tory White (5-10, 180, Jr.).

Key injuries: None reported.

Notes & Quotes: For a second straight season there's no doubt Abilene High has played the toughest non-district schedule in District 3-5A. Longview rounds out the Eagles' non-district schedule and might be the best team they have seen during this run, which includes Euless Trinity. "You'd like to look up and see someone not so talented next on your schedule, but that's not the case," Abilene High coach Steve Warren said. ... Longview defeated Abilene High in an overtime thriller last year, 32-31. Longview was a state semifinalist last season, coming up a point shy of advancing to the state title game in a 28-27 loss to Denton Guyer. But as good as Longview was in 2010, Warren is even more impressed with the Lobos this season. "They're even better this year," Warren acknowledged. "Athletically we don't even match up. It's not even close. They're very much like Euless Trinity. They have size and good speed everywhere." ... Among Longview's top players is receiver Eric Hawkins, who has given a verbal commitment to Arkansas.

Next: Abilene High at Odessa High, 7:30 p.m. Oct. 7, Ratliff Stadium; Longview at Mesquite, 7:30 p.m. Oct. 7, E.H. Hanby Stadium, Mesquite.

National Hunting and Fishing Day

Join us in a nationwide celebration:
Hunt. Shoot. Fish.

Top Five Hunting and Fishing Tips

1. Always point the muzzle in a safe direction. Do not point a firearm or bow at anything you do not intend to shoot. Control the direction of the muzzle at all times. Never rest a muzzle on your toe or foot. Keep your finger out of the trigger guard until the instant you are ready to fire. Always keep the safety on until ready to fire; however, the safety should never be a substitute for safe firearm handling.

2. Trust every firearm or bow with the same respect you would show a loaded gun or nocked arrow. Every time you pick up a firearm, the first thing you do is check to see if it is loaded. Be sure the chamber and magazine are empty and that the action is open until ready to be fired. If you do not understand how to determine if it is loaded, do not accept the firearm until someone has safely shown you that it is unloaded. Read your instruction manual carefully before you handle new firearms or bows.

3. Be sure of your target and what is in front of and beyond your target. Before you pull the trigger you must properly identify game animals. Until your target is fully visible and in good light, do not even raise your scope to see it. Use binoculars! Know what is in front of and behind your target. Determine that you have a safe backstop or background. Since you do not know what is on the other side, never take a shot at any animals on top of ridges or hillsides. Know how far bullets, arrows and pellets can travel. Never shoot at flat, hard surfaces, such as water, rocks or steel because of ricochets.

4. Unload firearms and unstring conventional bows when not in use. Leave actions open, and store sporting arms in cases when traveling toand from shooting areas. Take bolts out or break down shotguns if necessary. Know how your equipment operates. Store and transport firearms and ammunition separately and under lock and key. Store firearms and bows in cool, dry places. Use gun or trigger locks and guards when not in use.

5. Handle the firearms, arrows and ammunition carefully. Avoid horseplay with firearms. Never climb a fence, a tree or a ladder with a loaded firearm or bow and arrows. Never jump a ditch or cross difficult terrain with a loaded firearm or nocked arrows. Never look or look down the barrel from the muzzle end. Be sure the only ammunition you carry correctly matches the gauge or caliber you are shooting. Always carry arrows in a protected cover or quiver. Learn the proper carries. Try to use the two-hand carry whenever possible because it affords you the best muzzle control. Always carry handguns with hammers over an empty chamber or cylinder. If you fall, be sure to disassemble the gun and check the barrel from the breech end for obstructions. Carry a field cleaning kit.

A flow of moisture from the Gulf of Mexico and the Atlantic Ocean will prolong the rounds of heavy rain and thunderstorms along the East Coast. A blocking pattern with the jet stream will keep high pressure off the Atlantic Coast and a storm over the Midwest. Where the downpours repeat or linger, there is the risk of flash, urban and small-stream flooding. The cumulative effect of current and prior rainfall could bring some rivers out of their banks. Isolated downpours will move over the Midwest, bringing damp, cool air.

Daughter's 3rd pregnancy crosses the line for parents

DEAR ABBY

Write Dear Abby at www.DearAbby.com or P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, CA 90069. Her column is distributed by Universal Press Syndicate.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter "Bree" has just announced that she's pregnant with her third child. Her other children are 1 and 2. My wife and I are in our 60s and provide child care three days a week, while the other grandma baby-sits for two days. We also pay for preschool and swimming lessons, as well as cook dinner for them on the days when we baby-sit.

Bree and her husband do not earn enough money to support even one child. We know we'll be expected to finance college for the children. When we agreed to help out, we asked them to promise they would not have more than two kids. This third one will cause us to use up our savings, increase our child care responsibilities and take us into our 80s to continue helping. Is it wrong to feel used? I am very depressed over this. — OVERWHELMED IN SAN DIEGO

DEAR OVERWHELMED: Your depression is understandable. If you don't draw the line now by telling your daughter you can't handle baby-sitting three small children and this wasn't part of the bargain, she may hand you a fourth or fifth to take care of.

You should not sacrifice your retirement savings in order to finance your grandchildren's education. There are other options than your paying for it. The responsibilities you have assumed were not yours in the first place. If you don't insist your daughter and son-in-law stand on their own two feet, you will wind up old, broke, and living on Social Security with nothing to supplement it because your savings will be gone.

DEAR ABBY: My fiance, "Johnny," and I have been together for four years and engaged for 16 months. Our wedding is in a few months. Until recently, Johnny didn't have access to a car. That means for the past four years I have done all the driving, including visiting him at school two hours from my home every three to four weeks.

It didn't bother me because it was out of Johnny's control; his money went to pay for his education. However, because he has a car now, I feel it's reasonable to ask that he do most — though not all — of the driving. We live in the same town now and our homes are a mile apart.

Johnny seems to take offense at the suggestion and acts as if I am "punishing" him. I'm not, but I'm tired of driving all the time and would like a break now that he can give me one. What do you think? — AT THE WHEEL AGAINST MY WILL

DEAR AT THE WHEEL: Johnny has grown accustomed to, and spoiled by, the chauffeur service you have provided. That he should assume responsibility for his share of the driving now that he has a car of his own is not an onerous request.

Although you have been together four years, the two of you need to have a talk and work this out. And because you have been apart for the years he has been in school, I also recommend that you schedule premarital counseling before the wedding — in case there are any other "differences of opinion" that need to be worked out.

DEAR ABBY: I'll be 40 this year and I'm experiencing a midlife crisis. I have been married for 19 years, but realized several months ago that I haven't been happy in years.

I want to make some changes in my life, but I'm insecure about going it alone after so many years. I have been feeling a strong need to be on my own for a while to explore my passions and options. Any advice on how to explain this to my husband? — IN FLUX IN PENNSYLVANIA

DEAR IN FLUX: Before you throw away a marriage of nearly 20 years, please discuss this with a licensed therapist. Your therapist can help you decide what to do. While you may tell your husband this isn't about him — it's about you — he is sure to take the news very personally. And once you have separated in order to explore your passions and options, he will do the same, and it may not be possible to "go home" again.

JACQUELINE BIGAR'S STARS

The stars show the kind of day you'll have: 5-dynamic; 4-positive; 3-average; 2-so-so; 1-difficult

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Saturday, Sept. 24, 2011:

This year, you often decide to go for the concerns of the majority rather than your own needs. You can do that only so much. Resentment could bubble up, indicating you are giving too much. You, too, need nurturing. Take especially good care of yourself, as you might be prone to fatigue, the flu and bone problems. If you are single, your popularity can only grow. First decide if you want to get tied down or if you would rather date. Then decide what type of relationship you might want. If you are attached, share more of your life with your sweetie. That sharing allows greater warmth and security. LEO enjoys partying with you.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) ★★★★★ Be spontaneous, yet be willing to indulge a partner who might not be as upbeat. Make plans that allow you to visit with others but at the same time permit you to relax. Try a movie or a baseball game. Others will go along. Tonight: Let your imagination be the source of plans.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) ★★★ Let others wind down. You also might take a page out of their book. You might want to slip in a nap or indulge a favorite hobby. Listen to a loved one who needs to share some thoughts. This person might feel misunderstood. Tonight: Entertain at home.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) ★★★★★ Your intellect saves the day. Ask for help if you don't know how to handle a confusing situation that could involve the law, a foreigner or someone at a distance. Clear out a misunderstanding as quickly as possible. Tonight: Out and about.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) ★★ You don't need to pick up the tab for everyone around you. You could be stressed out and wondering what would be the best way to handle a difficult domestic situation. Tonight: Your treat.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 22) ★★★★ Whether it is you or someone else, somebody drags you down. Don't allow negativity in. Get together with family and/or a loved one. The reason is irrelevant for the most part — you are going for the togetherness. Tonight: Beam in what you want.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) ★★★ If you feel like vanishing, do. Don't even try to be social, because you need some downtime. If you do go out, you might feel like a square peg in a round hole. Indulge yourself as you would others. Tonight: Shhh.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) ★★★★★ Listen to what is shared among your associates. You might not be sure of the best way to go. A dear friend or loved one urges you to join him or her. If you do, you could let go of the indecision. Tonight: Surrounded by favorite people.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) ★★★★ Whether you decide to drop by the office, visit with an older friend or invite friends over, it seems as if you are saddled with responsibilities. You really enjoy yourself with a change of pace and catching up on news. Tonight: Could go until the wee hours.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) ★★★★ Keep reaching out for someone at a distance. How you see a situation could change when you come in closer. A message or call could be vague and perhaps confusing. Ask for clarification. Tonight: Try a new adventure.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) ★★★★ Let a partner or friend make the decisions without you being a back-seat driver. You could be much more vague than you would like to be about a money matter. The information you are receiving also could be less than clear. Tonight: Someone else wants to treat. Let him or her.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) ★★★★★ Others are still dominant. Know that you cannot fight city hall, no matter what you do. Let others make the call, knowing your time will come. Even if you are not sure you will enjoy yourself, you will. Tonight: Follow another's lead.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) ★★★ Take some much-needed personal time to do something you have been thinking about, whether it is getting a haircut, going to an art show or even joining a gym. Remember, you don't always have to answer to others. Tonight: Just don't push.

Neinas takes reins of fractured Big 12

By Jim Vertuno
Associated Press

Needing someone strong and savvy to mend the Big 12, the league has turned to a former Big Eight commissioner who also helped usher in the era of college football as big business.

Chuck Neinas, who is known across the college landscape as a smart consensus builder, will take over the Big 12 as interim commissioner on Oct. 3. The Big 12 dumped former commissioner Dan Beebe on Thursday in a mutual agreement after the conference nearly fell apart for the second time in 15 months.

The 79-year-old Neinas said he is going to the Big 12 to work, not just sit around until his successor is picked. He is not going to be considered a candidate for the permanent job.

"I am not a caretaker. My mission is to bring the conference closer together and move forward and make progress in all areas," Neinas told the Associated Press on Friday, adding he expects to be on the job six months or longer.

Neinas

Neinas was Big Eight commissioner from 1971 to 1980. He left for the College Football Association, a confederation of schools that fought to take control of TV rights away from the NCAA. Oklahoma and Georgia had sued the NCAA over the issue and federal courts ruled in favor of the schools, putting them in charge of negotiating television contracts that are now valued in the billions.

"They've hired me to be the commissioner. I'll act like a commissioner," Neinas said when asked if he'd have a diminished voice because of his interim status.

"I might be there for the interim, but if you look at my record, I'm not afraid to make decisions."

TV rights are also at the center of the Big 12's attempt to patch itself back together.

The nine remaining schools — Texas A&M is planning to leave in 2012 — have agreed in principle to give their TV rights to the conference for the next six years. That would essentially handcuff the schools to the Big 12 by making them leave behind their TV rights and money if they break away or are poached by another league.

No contracts have been signed, and the proposal needs approval of at least some school governing boards around the Big 12.

"If the institutions take this step, then there's no question. They're basically locked in for that period of time," Neinas said.

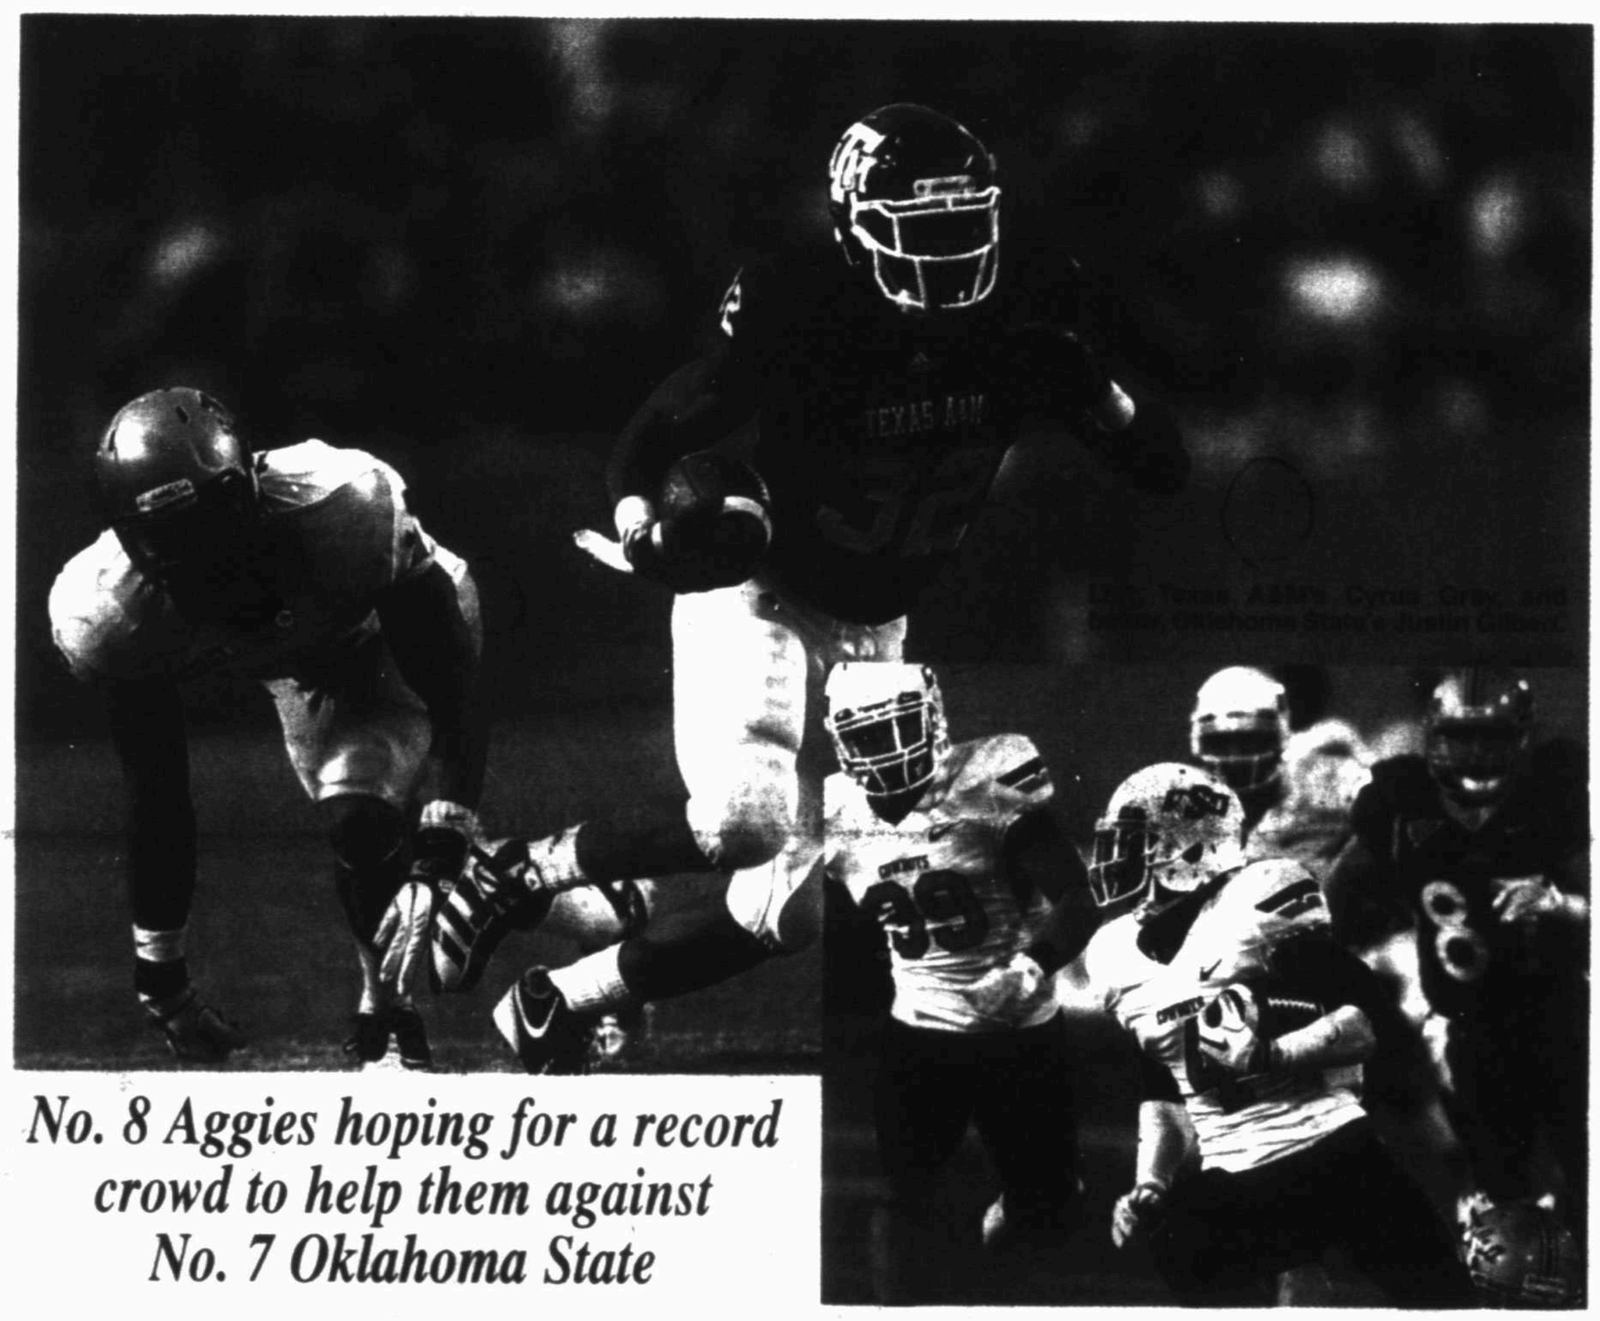
Major anticipation



No. 8 Aggies hoping for a record crowd to help them against No. 7 Oklahoma State

By Kristie Rieken
Associated Press

No. 7 Oklahoma State at No. 8 Texas A&M

- When: 2:30 p.m. today
- Where: Kyle Field, College Station
- TV: ABC

COLLEGE STATION — When No. 7 Oklahoma State meets eighth-ranked Texas A&M today, it will be the first Top 10 matchup at Kyle Field since 1975.

Texas A&M coach Mike Sherman couldn't believe it had been that long.

"That's news to me," he said. "That seems like it's a little long of a wait obviously."

After such an extended drought, the high stakes game featuring a pair of powerful offenses, who are combining for almost 1,100 yards a game is sure to be shootout. Right?

Not so fast, says Sherman.

"Whenever you say that, you always put a whammy on the game," he said. "It'll be a defensive struggle, you watch. The defense will take over whenever you say that. I would say both defenses will rise to the occasion."

One thing the Aggies know they can count on is a sellout crowd. Texas A&M had more than 86,000 fans at each of its first two games and expects an even larger — and louder — crowd this time.

The Aggies are hoping to surpass the record crowd of 90,079 that packed the stadium for last year's 9-6 win over Nebraska.

"I think back to last year's Nebraska game. That's my absolute anticipation for what's going to happen this week," Aggies defensive coordinator Tim DeRuyter said. "Just the feel of our first two games, when we're playing two non-conference opponents that in years past people thought hohum, and we had unbelievable crowds. This being our first league game, I fully anticipate it's going to be one of those. I get goose bumps just thinking about it."

Oklahoma State's coaching staff is working to get the team ready for the noise, but Cowboys' receiver Tracy Moore said, "There's not a whole lot we can do to prepare for an environment like this."

Cowboys' defensive coordinator Bill Young agreed.

"That's a heck of a place to play, there's no doubt about it," he said. "They march the Corps in there and their crowd gets behind the team. It's a tough place and we have to get ready for some noise."

The Cowboys have won three in a row against Texas A&M and six straight overall on the road, but have never won consecutive games in College Station. Both teams were undefeated last year when they opened Big 12 play against one another.

The Cowboys got a 38-35 win last season largely because of five turnovers by A&M quarterback Jerrod Johnson, including an interception in the last seconds that led to the winning field goal.

That was the start of a three-game losing streak which spurred Sherman into benching the mistake-prone Johnson, a senior, in favor of Ryan Tannehill.

After Johnson's performance against them last year, the Cowboys see the obvious difference with Tannehill in charge.

Top-ranked Sooners seeking redemptions against Missouri

By Jeff Latzke
Associated Press

Missouri at No. 1 Oklahoma

- When: 7 p.m. today
- Where: Owen Field, Norman, Okla.
- TV: FX

NORMAN — The rush onto the field was a long hoped-for release for Missouri fans, a celebration of a monumental upset after so much heartache over the years — and so much recently against Oklahoma.

The Sooners haven't forgotten.

All-American Ryan Broyles remembers being surrounded by smack-talking fans as he tried to get off of Faurot Field a year ago following the 36-27 loss that knocked Oklahoma from atop the BCS standings and damaged its national championship hopes.

"It's just not a good deal at all," Broyles said.

Coach Bob Stoops says he doesn't want his Sooners (2-0) — again ranked No. 1, this time in the polls — focused on revenge when they host Missouri (2-1) on Saturday night.

"Revenge doesn't win," Stoops said. "We got embarrassed the way we played and the way they beat us that we want to play better."

Still, he and his coaches did take time this week to show players the video of the Tigers' jubilant fans. Make no mistake: the Sooners want to get even.

"You're going against a team that beat you last year, prevented you from going to the national championship, and then they still think they have another chance to beat you again," defensive back Tony Jefferson said. "It gives you more of wanting to win this game."

Jerrell Jackson, who had nine catches for 139 yards and the go-ahead touchdown in the fourth quarter last season, provided some bulletin-board material earlier this week by saying he saw "nothing tough" about beating the Sooners in Norman for the first time since 1966. Oklahoma has a current 37-game winning streak at home, the longest in the nation.

But it's not as though Oklahoma needed any more motivation.

"I'm pretty sure they're not going to forget that loss. That pretty much hurt their season," Jackson said. "We understand how they feel because we had a few losses like that."

Beating Oklahoma for the first time in eight tries, and only the second time in 20 meetings, isn't enough to satisfy the Tigers.

"Nothing from that game is going to motivate us to play this game, because we should already be motivated," Jackson said. "They're No. 1 again. That motivates us to go into their house and play them and beat them on their own turf."

THIS WEEKEND'S COLLEGE FOOTBALL GAMES

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texas/Big 12

NO. 1 OKLAHOMA (2-0) VS. MISSOURI (3-1), 7 P.M. (FX)

LINE: Oklahoma by 21.
SERIES RECORD: Oklahoma leads 66-24-5.

WHAT'S AT STAKE: Oklahoma is seeking redemption for a 36-27 loss at Missouri last October. The Sooners were first in the BCS standings at the time and haven't shaken the memory of Tigers fans rushing the field in celebration. Missouri can break a 17-game losing streak in Norman that dates back to 1966.

KEY MATCHUP: Oklahoma pressure vs. Missouri offensive line. The Sooners sacked Florida State's quarterbacks six times in a 23-13 win last week in a top 5 showdown. The Tigers are hoping to get center Travis Ruth back in the starting lineup after he had been limited by an Achilles tendon injury, allowing Jayson Palmgren to move back to his usual guard position.

PLAYERS TO WATCH

Oklahoma: LB Travis Lewis. The defensive captain returned three weeks early from a broken toe and tied for the team lead last week with eight tackles.

Missouri: WR Jerrell Jackson. He had nine catches for 139 yards and scored the go-ahead touchdown in last year's upset, then provided the Sooners some bulletin-board material this week by saying "there ain't nothing tough about them to me."

NO. 7 OKLAHOMA STATE (3-0) AT NO. 8 TEXAS A&M (2-0), 2:30 P.M.(ABC)

LINE: Texas A&M by 4.
SERIES RECORD: Texas A&M leads 17-9.

WHAT'S AT STAKE: It's the first meeting between top 10 teams at Kyle Field since No. 2 Texas A&M beat No. 5 Texas 20-10 in 1975. Texas A&M's seniors are motivated to get their first win against the Cowboys as Oklahoma State enters the game on a three-game series winning streak. The winner will have a leg up in the ultra-competitive Big 12 conference that includes top-ranked Oklahoma as well as No. 17 Baylor and 19th-ranked Texas.

KEY MATCHUP: Texas A&M RBs Cyrus Gray and Christine Michael vs. Oklahoma State run defense. The pair have combined for 349 yards rushing in Texas A&M's first two games, and the Cowboys allowed 365 yards rushing in a 59-33 win over Tulsa last week. Gray has scored four touchdowns and has run for at least 100 yards in each of his last nine games, dating back to last year.

PLAYERS TO WATCH

Oklahoma State: WR Justin Blackmon. The junior has 329 yards receiving and three touchdowns this season and is averaging 12.2 yards a catch. He had 10 receptions for 127 yards and a score in last year's 38-35 win over the Aggies.

Texas A&M: WR Jeff Fuller. He has 11 receptions for 131 yards this season despite being slowed by a nagging hamstring injury. He said he's almost 100 percent this week and is hoping to contribute more against the Cowboys. He had two touchdown catches in last year's loss to Oklahoma State.

NO. 17 BAYLOR (2-0) VS. RICE (1-1), 6 P.M. (FOX SPORTS SOUTHWEST)

LINE: Baylor by 20 1/2.
SERIES RECORD: Baylor leads 46-30-2.

WHAT'S AT STAKE: Baylor goes for its first 3-0 start since 2005 in its last non-conference game. The Bears have won five in a row against the former Southwest Conference rival, including both games since their last SWC meeting in 1995. Rested Rice hasn't played since its home-opening win over Purdue two weeks ago; that was its first win over a team from an automatic BCS-qualifying conference since 2001.

KEY MATCHUP: Rice's defensive line vs. Baylor's offensive line. The Owls have some depth and experience along their defensive front, which must put some pressure on the Baylor offense to try to slow down Bears quarterback Robert Griffin and running back Terrance Ganaway, whose 200 yards the first two games have been somewhat overshadowed.

PLAYERS TO WATCH

Rice: DE Scott Solomon. He's getting back in the groove after missing the 2010 season because of injury. Solomon had two sacks and 3 1/2 tackles for losses against Purdue. He has 11 tackles through the first two games.

Baylor: QB Robert Griffin III. He's been almost flawless. Through two games (actually only seven quarters after last week's lightning-shortened game), Griffin is 41-of-49 passing for 454 yards. He has as many touchdowns as incompletions (eight) with no interceptions. He has 18 runs for 116 yards and a 15-yard catch. In non-conference games in his career, Griffin has thrown for 3,138 yards with 14 TDs and two interceptions.

NO. 18 SOUTH FLORIDA (3-0) VS. UTEP (2-1), 6 P.M.

LINE: South Florida by 29.
SERIES RECORD: First meeting.
WHAT'S AT STAKE: It's South Florida's final tuneup for the Bulls' Big East opener at Pittsburgh. Coach Skip Holtz would like to build an early lead and continue to give meaningful playing time to inexperienced backups who could play important roles once the team gets into its conference schedule.

KEY MATCHUP: USF QB B.J. Daniels vs. UTEP secondary. Daniels is coming off a 382-yard, four-touchdown passing performance during a 70-17 rout of Florida A&M. He will pose a huge challenge for a secondary featuring one senior, two juniors and a freshman. The Miners also will be tested by USF's improved running game, featuring Darrell Scott and Demetris Murray.

PLAYERS TO WATCH

UTEP: QB Jay Hall. The Miners have played three games and started three different quarterbacks. Freshman Hall led last week's victory over New Mexico State, overcoming a slow start to complete 3 of 4 passes for 59 yards in the fourth quarter of a 16-10 victory.

South Florida: RB Darrell Scott. The 240-pound transfer from Colorado rushed for a career-best 146 yards against FAMU. He had three TDs rushing and also turned a screen pass into an 84-yard scoring reception.

NO. 20 TCU (2-1) VS. PORTLAND STATE (2-0), 1 P.M.

LINE: None.
SERIES RECORD: First meeting.
WHAT'S AT STAKE: TCU has won a school-record 21 consecutive home games since 2007 after its win over Louisiana-Monroe last week. With rival SMU next and a trip to San Diego State after that, the Horned Frogs need four full quarters on offense and defense against Portland State, which has lost seven consecutive games to FBS teams since beating New Mexico in 2006.

KEY MATCHUP: Portland State's pistol offense vs. TCU defense. The Vikings are third among FCS teams with 512 total yards per game, 348 rushing and 164 passing. After leading the NCAA in total defense the past three seasons, the Frogs still are trying to get on track this season. They gave up 189 yards in the first quarter last week against Louisiana-Monroe, which then gained only 125 more yards the rest of the game.

PLAYERS TO WATCH

Portland State: RB Cory McCaffrey. He flourished last season when he was moved from receiver to his high school position at running back. McCaffrey already has rushed for 291 yards and seven touchdowns this season. He had all four Vikings touchdowns last week.

TCU: WR Josh Boyce. The sophomore has a team-high 21 catches for 306 yards and two touchdowns. Boyce is on a record-setting pace and the only receiver on the team with more than six catches.

GEORGIA STATE (1-2) AT HOUSTON (3-0), 7 P.M. (CSS)

LINE: None.

SERIES RECORD: First meeting.
WHAT'S AT STAKE: Houston quarterback Case Keenum continues to chase several NCAA records and should have a big day against the lower-division Bulldogs. Keenum needs 327 passing yards to eclipse BYU's Ty Detmer (15,031) for third on the all-time list. Keenum has 117 career touchdown passes, tied with Hawaii's Tim Chang for fourth all-time. The Cougars are seeking their first 4-0 start since 2008.

KEY MATCHUP: Houston offense vs. Georgia State defense. With Keenum healthy again, the Cougars have regained their 2009 form, leading the nation in passing offense (408 yards per game). Keenum may get to rest his arm against the Bulldogs, who are allowing 223 rushing yards per game. Houston's trio of running backs — Bryce Beall, Michael Hayes and Charles Sims — has rushed for more than 100 yards in each of the first three games.

PLAYERS TO WATCH

Houston: Keenum needs only 4 yards total offense to pass Texas Tech's Graham Harrell (15,996) and move into third alltime. Keenum leads the NCAA in total offense (382.7 yards per game) this season.

Georgia State: WR Albert Wilson. The sophomore is the Bulldogs' leading receiver with 13 catches for 284 yards. He also returns kicks and averages 185 allpurpose yards per game to rank eighth nationally in the Football Championship Subdivision.

NEVADA (1-1) AT TEXAS TECH (2-0), 6 P.M.

LINE: Texas Tech by 20.
SERIES RECORD: Texas Tech leads 1-0.

LAST MEETING: 2008, Texas Tech 35-19.

WHAT'S AT STAKE: Nevada has one win in a four-game road stretch and would have a difficult welcome home Oct. 8 if the Wolf Pack doesn't snag at least two wins. They travel to No. 4 Boise State next week. Texas Tech, which had an early bye two weeks ago, has its final tuneup before Big 12 play begins.

KEY MATCHUP: Nevada's run game vs. Texas Tech defense. Led by RBs Mike Ball and Stefphon Jefferson, Nevada is No. 7 in the nation in rushing (272 yards per game). The Red Raiders' run defense made strides in last week's 59-13 win over New Mexico, giving up only 109 rushing yards after Texas State rolled up 256 yards in their opener. They are giving up 20 more yards per game this year (182.5) than last.

PLAYERS TO WATCH

Nevada: RB Mike Ball rushed for 124 yards and two touchdowns on 29 carries in Nevada's 17-14 win at San Jose State. He is ranked 21st nationally in rushing (111.5 yards per game).

Texas Tech: QB Seth Doege set an NCAA record for completion percentage on at least 40 attempts, going 40 of 44 (90.9 percent) for 401 yards against New Mexico. And he did that in just three quarters. He had more TD passes (five) than incompletions.

SMU (2-1, 1-0 C-USA) AT MEMPHIS (1-2, 0-0), 11 A.M.

LINE: SMU by 22.
SERIES RECORD: Memphis leads 3-0
LAST MEETING: 2008, Memphis 31-26

WHAT'S AT STAKE: SMU enters as a heavy favorite for its first win against Memphis, and could get that win at the Liberty Bowl, where four years ago the Mustangs lost 55-52 in triple overtime in the longest game in school history. Memphis snapped an 11-game losing streak with a 27-6 win over Austin Peay last weekend but needs a quality win after going 3-21 the past two seasons.

KEY MATCHUP: SMU QBs/RB vs. Memphis defense. The Mustangs had 416 passing yards between J.J. McDermott and Kyle Padron in last week's 40-7 win over Northwestern State, and RB Zach Line had a school-record five rushing touchdowns. Line is tied for the national lead with eight rushing TDs. The Memphis defense is in turmoil after last week's firing of defensive coordinator Jay Hopson. The Tigers are allowing 541 yards per game.

PLAYERS TO WATCH

SMU: DE Margus Hunt has blocked four kicks this year and is now third in NCAA history with 14 career blocks. He has at least one block in each of the three games this year.

Memphis: QB Taylor Reed, a freshman, threw for 332 yards against Austin Peay, his second career start. He had three touchdowns, including a 93-yarder to RB Billy Foster.

INDIANA (1-2) AT NORTH TEXAS (0-3), 6 P.M.

LINE: Indiana by 6 1/2.
SERIES RECORD: First meeting
WHAT'S AT STAKE: Indiana, coming off its first win for coach Kevin Wilson, plays outside its home state for the first time in final tuneup for Big Ten play. The Mean Green play a Big Ten opponent for the first time and are the only team in the country whose first three opponents are all now 3-0.

KEY MATCHUP: The still-emerging offense for Wilson, the former offensive coordinator at Oklahoma, against a North Texas defense that has allowed at least 41 points in every game. The Hoosiers have averaged 417 total yards a game (169 rushing, 248 passing) with consecutive 30-point games.

PLAYERS TO WATCH

Indiana: D'Angelo Roberts last week became the first true freshman RB for Indiana to run for 100 yards since BenJarvus Green-Ellis in 2003. Roberts had 102 yards vs. South Carolina State.

North Texas: Brelan Chancellor has been getting a lot of chances and leads the nation in all-purpose yardage, averaging 227 a game. Chancellor has 556 kick return yards through three games, more than halfway to his school-record 923 set last season as a freshman.

AGGIES

From 1C

"They cut down on their turnovers. They had a ton of turnovers with their previous quarterback," Young said. "Not all of them were his fault; some of it was bad luck. But Tannehill is an excellent quarterback, he throws the ball well, moves around the pocket, and they've got a great group of receivers and running backs to help him out."

DeRuyter joked that preparing for Oklahoma State's offense is "not fun at all." He said the process is made easier by his defense practicing against Texas A&M's first team offense in practice.

"They go up tempo, very similar to what Oklahoma State does," DeRuyter said of the Aggies. "We've got some weapons to go against to kind of compare to what they have. Getting the chance to compete against our guys, if we can have success against our guys we have the confidence we can effectively compete against a team like them."

Of course the opposite is also true, and Oklahoma State cornerback Devin Hedgepeth said competing against star receiver Justin Blackmon in practice each day will have him ready to deal with Texas A&M's Jeff Fuller.

"It's great preparation," Hedgepeth said. "Justin has the size and speed, so basically any receiver we need to prepare for, Justin is a great preparation."

The Cowboys are happy to have an afternoon kickoff against the Aggies after their scheduled night game last week against Tulsa didn't start until 12:16 a.m. and ended at 3:35 a.m. because of thunderstorms.

They've rested up since that 59-33 win and are looking forward to what could be the last conference meeting with Texas A&M. The Aggies are likely to be in the Southeastern Conference next season.

"Kyle Field is obviously a fun place to play, and it's just exciting to start Big 12 play," quarterback Brandon Weeden said. "Also, the fact that A&M might not be in our conference anymore adds another element to the whole deal."

BIG 12

From 1C

"During the period of time, hopefully they could solidify the situation, and that would help fortify the foundation of the conference.

"That would be my assessment, but you're talking to someone who is still getting his feet wet on the job."

There seemed to be a disconnect after a Thursday night conference call between Big 12 school leaders. Missouri chancellor Brady Deaton said the members would "pursue" giving their media rights to the conference, while Oklahoma president David Boren talked as though the agreement had already been reached.

Neinas said Deaton informed him "he has some curators that are new and they are interested in discussing a bunch of things, but I do believe that in the end it will be resolved."

Neinas said you have to be concerned about the doubts surrounding Missouri, but he believes the Big 12 would still be viable with the other eight schools and could seek other ways to strengthen the league.

He said he believes Missouri will stay and Texas A&M will leave after receiving conditional acceptance to the Southeastern Conference requiring all legal issues be resolved first. But he hasn't given up hope on keeping all 10 members together.

"I think their history belongs in the Big 12," Neinas said. "They're from the Southwest Conference; they're in the state of Texas. That's where they were born and bred. That's where they should stay."

Beyond his business acumen, Neinas said it's his job to help mend hurt feelings in a league where he has many long relationships.

"I would like to see the same kind of atmosphere that we had in the Big Eight. It was family," Neinas said.

Ask the Guys

Dear Classified Guys,
I must admit. I am a peckrat. So when the car could barely fit into the garage, I knew I had to do something. That's when I made a deal with my 13 and 14-year-old sons. I told them that if they cleaned out the garage and had a yard sale, I would give them the money. I figured they'd make enough for a new bike or a video game. I never expected them to make almost $1500 on the sale. Not only did they overprice everything, but they became little sales demons. People bought almost everything. Now what do I do? I can't set them loose with that kind of money. Any ideas?

Cash: First, you might want to make sure you still have your car in the garage. Considering their new-found talents, you never know.

Carry: It sounds like your children may have a successful future in sales. Maybe you discovered a way for them to pay for college.

Cash: Your intentions were great. Getting children involved in the yard sale process can be a great experience for them. Not only does it motivate them to help clean out the garage, but it's also a great way to teach them about the value of a dollar.

Carry: Or in their case, the value of $1500.

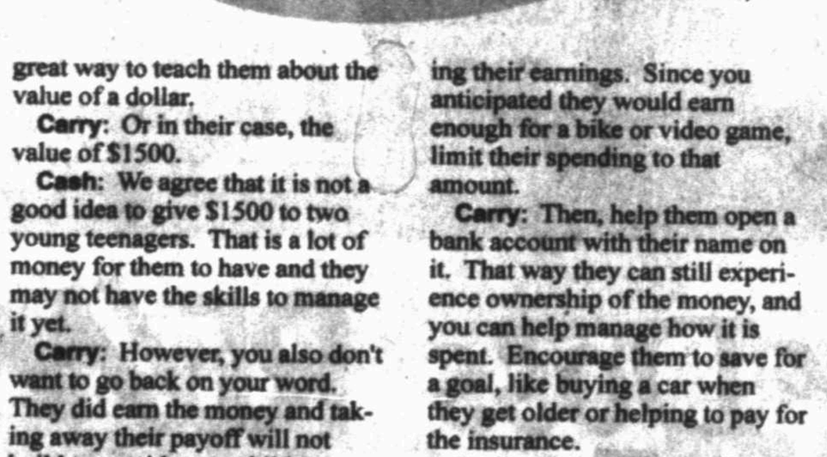
Cash: We agree that it is not a good idea to give $1500 to two young teenagers. That is a lot of money for them to have and they may not have the skills to manage it yet.

Carry: However, you also don't want to go back on your word. They did earn the money and taking away their payoff will not build trust with your children.

Cash: The best approach would be to commend them on a job well done and help them with managing their earnings. Since you anticipated they would earn enough for a bike or video game, limit their spending to that amount.

Carry: Then, help them open a bank account with their name on it. That way they can still experience ownership of the money, and you can help manage how it is spent. Encourage them to save for a goal, like buying a car when they get older or helping to pay for the insurance.

Cash: And considering how successful they were with the garage, maybe you should have them work on the attic!



Fast Facts

Cashing In

Since most schools don't offer a course in personal finance, children are left to learn how to handle money from their parents. Recent studies show that American teenagers spend more than $100 every week. Those spending habits may not be preparing them for the future. The number of consumers under age 25 that file for bankruptcy has increased significantly in recent years. Maybe we could all use a course in money managment.

Money Tree

As the saying goes, "money doesn't grow on trees." However in 2005, one man found out that a tree could have a credit card. Fed up with receiving credit card applications, a California man signed up "Never Waste a Tree" for a card in hopes it would signal the company to stop sending applications. To his surprise, the company mailed him a card made out to the fictitious name, "Never Waste Tree". Although he cut up the card, it seems almost anything these days can have a credit line.

Priced to sell

My teenage son is quite the prankster. Late one Friday night, he gathered a bunch of junk from around the neighborhood and put it on my neighbor's lawn. Then he posted a sign out front that said, "Yard Sale."

Sure enough, at 7:00 am there were people knocking on my neighbor's door waiting for the sale to open. He was so annoyed that he called our house and left an angry message. When I arrived home that day, I immediately went over to apologize for my son's behavior.

"I can't believe my son put all that junk on your lawn," I apologized.

"That's quite alright," my neighbor replied rather calmly. "It turns out I made $200."

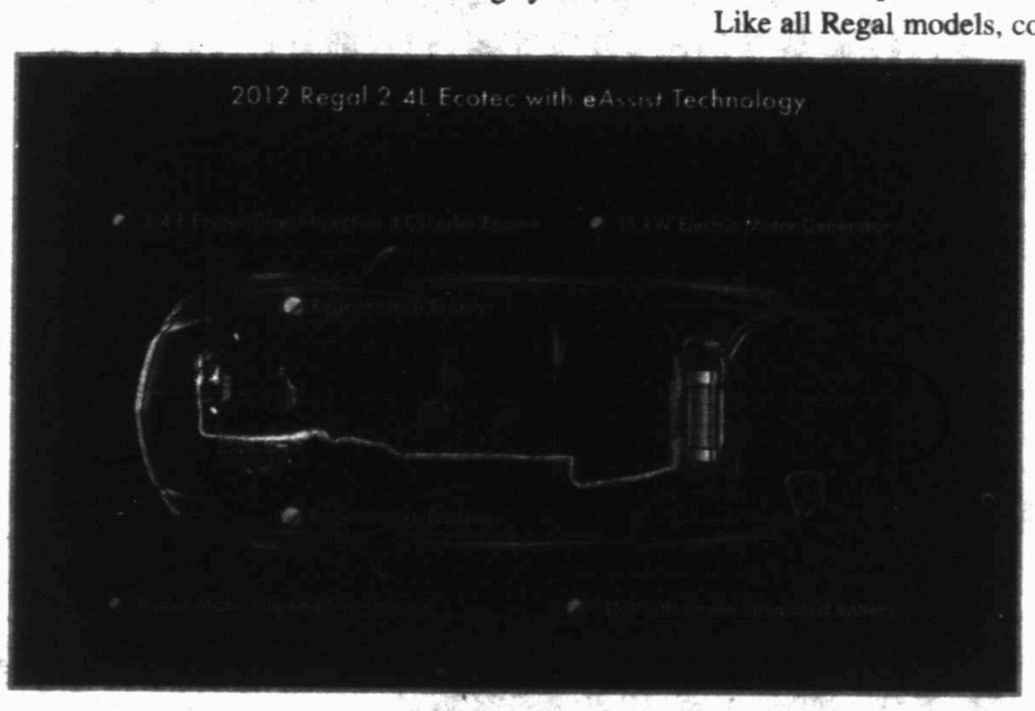
Hybrid economy: affordable price: 2012 Buick Regal eAssist sedan

First Look

By Ken Chester, Jr.
Motor News Media Corporation

Boasting Hybrid-level fuel economy at a more affordable price, Buick has introduced available "Light electrification" technology on the four-cylinder Ecotec-equipped Regal sedan. Delivering a more than 25-percent improvement over the standard four-cylinder/six-speed powertrain, the Regal with eAssist features: a state-of-the-art lithium-ion battery system, electric motor-generator, regenerative braking capability, next-generation six-speed transmission with Driver Shift Control, lightweight 17-inch alloy wheels and tires with lower rolling resistance, improved underbody aerodynamics for efficiency, and a driver-selectable mode for the air conditioning system to improve fuel economy.



In addition, an ECO gauge continuously responds to driver behavior to encourage greater driving efficiency. A Powerflow readout in the color infotainment screen or driver information center shows the flow of energy through the eAssist system. Mated to Regal's 2.4L Ecotec direct injection four-cylinder engine and next-generation Hydra-Matic 6T40 six-speed automatic transmission, the eAssist system uses power stored in the lithium-ion battery to provide needed electrical boost in various driving situations, optimizing engine and transmission operation.

As a result, the Buick Regal sedan with available eAssist™ fuel-saving technology gives customers the best of both worlds: a premium, no-apologies driving experience and fuel economy of 25 city/36 highway.

The Buick Regal eAssist benefits from a rigid body structure that supports more precise suspension tuning and a quieter ride. Global development of Regal sedan's chassis and structural systems which delivers the handling and dynamics of a luxury import sport sedan and the quiet, refined ride expected of a Buick.

Like all Regal models, control hardware for the eAssist consists of an independent MacPherson strut-type front suspension, a four-link independent rear suspension, electric rack-and-pinion power steering and optimized four-wheel disc brakes. The latest-generation electronic stability control (StabiliTrak), anti-lock brake system (ABS) and traction control system (TCS) are standard. A hill-assist system captures brake pressure to help the driver more comfortably accelerate from a stop on a moderate or steep grade when the engine is in shut-down mode.

New for 2012, a late availability standard Buick IntelliLink system uses Bluetooth or USB to connect the driver's smart phone to a high-resolution, full-color touch screen display radio that enables streaming stereo audio from the phone through services like PANDORA® Internet Radio and Stitcher SmartRadio®
