Forsan Scene Local Legion Drive Session

Cash Redemption Veterans Certificates Is Discussed

In an effort to obtain 200 members by Saturday, when the Sixteenth District convention is held at Pecos, members of the William Frank Martin Post of the American Legion went to Forsan, Monday night to meet with ex-service men of the oil fields. A number of new members were obtained.

About 25 members of the local post made the trip. The meeting was in a Forsan church.

L. W. Croft, post commander, Dr. C. W. Deats, past post commander, Roy Whaley, and Robert W. Middleton, spoke regarding the work of the American Legion, nationally and locally.

Quite a bit of the discussion was centered about the proposed legislation for cash redemption of veterans service certificates. Whaley, in speaking about the position the Legionnaires have taken regarding cash payment, declared "if we had every eligible man in Howard county in the Big Spring post we would have Andrew Mellon hot about the position he has taken regarding payment of the certificates." Mellon has openly opposed the movement.

Music was furnished at the meeting by the Walter Deats' orchestra. The post trio, Dr. J. M. Barcus, M. E. Whitehead and Jack Ellis, sang several numbers.

Familiar war-time songs were sung. It was indicated at the meeting that the local post probably will take some action regarding favoring the plan to cash the certificates in the near future. Several Texas posts have passed resolutions endorsing the effort.

15 Business Men Inspect Feeding Work of 4-H Boys

Fifteen Big Spring business men inspected the feeding projects being conducted by 4-H Club boys under the direction of J. V. Bush, county agent, Monday afternoon.

The calves of Henry and Woodrow Robinson and Nellie Mae Robinson, Midway, R. L. Powell, Jr., Coahoma, Hubert and Marvin Hayworth, Coahoma, S. P. Echols, Jr., Coahoma, and Buster and Barker Caudle, Elbow, were inspected.

It was found that the projects require an average of 20 minutes a day to care for the animals properly. The average cost per calf for the 77 days was $17. The average gain was three pounds per day, per calf. Herefords are used by the club boys.

52 Towns To Have Official At Gas Meet In Lubbock

LUBBOCK, Feb. 10 (AP)—Accepting an invitation broadcast by Mayor J. J. Clements of this city, mayors and city managers of fifty-two northwest Texas cities will meet here on Friday of this week to discuss the subject of gas rates, the local executive announced here today. Every official invited has accepted the invitation.

The meeting will get underway with a luncheon Friday noon and a business session will follow at which the various officials will report on the gas controversy in their communities.

An effort will be made to secure all information possible regarding the situation, Mayor Clements said. Residents of nearly every gas-served city in northwest Texas have been active in recent weeks in an effort to bring about a change in gas rates, using bills of the past two months as a basis for their claims.

William Thornton To Play In 'Romeo and Juliet'

The Shakespeare Guild of America's repertoire company, headed by William Thornton, arrived in Big Spring this morning for their presentation of three plays at the high school auditorium under the auspices of the city schools. Twenty persons comprised the entourage which travels by automobile. A special scenery was preceded the company and an augmented stage crew had already transformed the high school stage into scenes of medieval splendor.

Tonight's performance will disclose Mr. William Thornton in his interpretation of the romantic lover in "Romeo and Juliet" supported by Ruth Neely in the role of Juliet. The special matinee scheduled for tomorrow is "The Merchant of Venice" with Mr. Thornton in the role of Shylock. The two-day stand of Shakespeare for Big Spring will be climaxed with the Shakespeare Guild's novel and original presentation of "Hamlet," greatest of all Shakespearean tragedies. Herein, Mr. Thornton enacts the role of the dashing Danish prince who upsets a kingdom to avenge the murder of his royal father. This production, like "Romeo and Juliet" is elaborately mounted and is in 14 scenes. Among the featured players in "Hamlet" are Mary England, the distinguished Shakespearean actress who will be seen as Gertrude, Queen of Denmark.

Miss Clara L. Cox of the high school faculty in charge of the presentations reports an exceptional interest in this event and large audiences are expected to greet the distinguished Mr. Thornton and his players on their first visit to Big Spring.

Mexican Children At Rotary Meet; Thomason There

Thirty-five Mexican pupils directed by Mrs. W. E. Martin, an instructor in the Mexican School, gave the major part of a program on International Relations at the Rotary Club luncheon today.

The pupils sang three verses of "America" and gave several flag drills. Other musical numbers were given by smaller groups of the children who entered the room led by a small Mexican boy carrying an American flag. Miss Elsie Carranca told in Spanish of her people's regard for Big Spring citizens. Her talk was interpreted by Scott Cotten, Mexican missionary, who spoke of his work among the Mexicans in Big Spring.

John R. Hutto, principal of the Mexican school, told of the need of a better understanding between American and Mexican peoples. He declared that the overcoming of racial prejudices could best be accomplished by the mutual understanding in racial problems.

Guests at the luncheon were: R. E. Thomason, El Paso; C. E. Shepard, Midland; B. B. McKinney, Ft. Worth; R. F. Robbins, El Paso; John R. Hutto, Mr. W. E. Martin, Miss Lois Corano, Scott Cotten, of Big Spring; Ward Merrick, Ardmore; C. L. Shaw, Chicago.

R. E. Thomason, mayor of El Paso, and congressman-elect from this district, spoke concerning the understanding of El Paso citizens of problems having to do with Mexican citizens. He told of a prejudice that he had when he went to El Paso twenty years ago and how that prejudice had been removed for a number of reasons—among them being that their lust be a great deal of good in a nationality such as the Mexican that maintained such an evidence of their love of children, flowers and music.

Mr. Thomason will go to Washington soon to take up his work.

Young Man Is Own Attorney

One Given Two-Year Sentence, Another Now On Trial

Charlie Burnside, charged by grand jury indictment with burglary, was on trial today in district court, before Judge Chas. L. Klapproth, judge of the 70th judicial district, who is hearing cases here in the absence of Judge Fritz R. Smith, who is ill.

Burnside is alleged to have been among a group of four youths who burglarized a store owned by William Cardwell, 903 East Third street.

He is handling his own case, questioning witnesses, and is expected to make a plea to the jury this afternoon. Burnside pleaded not guilty.

Lloyd Day, also charged with the Cardwell robbery, was given a two-year penitentiary sentence Monday for his participation in the burglary. He entered a plea of guilty.

Clayton McMurray, who was indicted for the burglary of the store, was given a one-year penitentiary sentence Monday afternoon on another charge. He was convicted of theft of chickens after pleading guilty. District Attorney George Mahon made a motion to dismiss the other charges. The motion had not been acted upon by Judge Klapproth this morning.

A two-year suspended sentence was given Jimmy Redman, who was indicted for forgery. He pleaded guilty to the charge as contained in the indictment.

Three Banks In City To Handle County's Funds

Three Big Spring banks will be depositories for Howard county funds this year, with one of them handling forty per cent, and two, 30 per cent each. They will pay 40 per cent of the deposits, one-half per cent less than last year.

Possibilities of the $900,000 road bond issue passing had its influence in reducing the interest rate, county officials said.

The First National Bank will be depository for school funds and will have 40 per cent of the deposits. The West Texas National and the State National will receive 30 per cent each.

Depository awards were made Monday at the regular meeting of the county commissioners.

Dr. T. M. Collins was re-elected county health officer for a two-year period. The salary of E. G. Fowler, county treasurer, was set by the county officials at $166.66 per month.

Former Head Of Orient Is Rail Witness

Says Santa Fe's Purchase Of Orient Cut Down Its Business

SAN ANGELO, Feb. 10. (AP)—Continued loss of traffic since it acquired the Orient was the theme of the Santa Fe's fight to keep the Abilene & Southern from gaining admittance into San Angelo by a 7-1/2 extension of its lines from Ballinger, at the second session of the interstate commerce commission being held in the federal building here.

E. H. Chausier, former general manager of the Orient, continued testimony showing the loss of freight revenue during 1929 and 1930 over what he called the peak year of 1928.

He told of a survey he had made of bus and truck competition. He could not say, that the buses and trucks had made any gain along the Texas & Pacific which has fought this competition with store delivery and with lower passenger fares.

He saw no future in the agricultural development of the country west of San Angelo and could see no more traffic from any source. He thought traffic in 1930 had about reached normal and would stay at about that volume.

Questioned as to the closing of Sweetwater and Clinton gateways to San Angelo traffic on the Orient and thereby forcing it to another Santa Fe line where that road would get a longer haul, he had no figures as to what this traffic amounted to. It is expected that the hearing will extend through Thursday.

I. C. Committee Seeks Dividing Pipe Lines, Refiners, Producers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10 (AP)—A drive to aid independent oil producers by divorcing pipe lines from refining and producing corporations, is to be made by the house interstate commerce committee.

The committee would begin hearings next Tuesday with a view to approving legislation to divest the big producing and refining companies of their pipe lines, in order to compel the carriers to accept petroleum from independent producers.

The house plans to begin hearings Thursday on the Capper bill to restrict importations of crude petroleum to 16,000,000 barrels annually to aid the domestic producers.

The senate republican steering committee today deferred a decision on giving the Capper bill preferred status, pending an attempt in the house to originate the legislation there.

STANDS BY SON—

Father of Youth Under Felony Charge Comes To Aid From Kansas.

A retired banker of Wellington, Kansas, is in Big Spring to aid his son, who is under grand jury indictment of burglary.

The youth, L. A. Derrington, was arrested several weeks ago after the Cunningham and Phillips Drug No. 1, Main Street, was robbed of a quantity of prescription whiskey.

At the time of the robbery Derrington was a bell boy at the Settles Hotel. He admitted burglarizing the store in a signed statement he made to County Attorney James Little.

At the time he declared he needed money for medical attention, and thought he could obtain it by selling the whiskey.

He refused to give the name or address of his parents.

His father, A. H. Derrington of Wellington, Kansas, sat with his son in district court today.

It is expected that Derrington will enter a plea of guilty to the indictment and petition a suspended sentence. He probably will go to trial after this afternoon or Wednesday.

Derrington came to Big Spring a few weeks after his son was arrested. After talking with him, he returned home. The young man has been in jail here since his arrest.

THE WATER BUCKET

Howard county, a great expanse of West Texas, as it were, is rapidly jumping to the fore in basketball circles. First the Big Spring Steers are rated far and wide to cop the district tournament, and perhaps go high—very high—in the state tournament. South of the village proper is a community by the name of Lomax. The Lomax Hornets, won the county championship last Saturday, and is rated as one of the best rural quintets around these parts. Knott, to the north, we believe, although our geography has been sadly neglected of late, can boast of a championship team, inasmuch as the girls won the South Plains tournament at Lamesa. Besides these schoolboy and schoolgirl outfits, Couden Refinery has a crack basketball unit and Spikelet Henninger to be proud of. The Couden aggregation, with Steelman and Skeeter West, has been beaten but once. The Steers turned the trick a few nights ago.

John Bode, the rather jovial at times Couden solon, informed by telephone this a. m. that the renowned Chlie Ayres wants to bring a basketball team here for a couple of frays. He desires to meet the high school and Couden teams. We doubt if he can get a game with the high school. We know he can't make expenses to this plains city.

The Lomax Hornets and the Big Spring Steers, incidentally, will probably get together after all. Friday afternoon and Saturday the district tournament is to be held at Colorado. The Hornets, Howard County champions, will clash with Snyder. If they win, and if Big Spring beats Odessa, the Hornets and the Steers will mix it in a semi-final. It is rather regretful that the two teams have not met before. A game between the Hornets and the Steers would do a lot in moulding closer relations between the urban and the rural centers. The Steers have the better team, perhaps. But they can't overshadow the Hornets when it comes to clean sportsmanship and that wonderful quality known as being good losers. And that is the main thing anyway.

Let us presume the Steers win the district title. Then, perhaps, the natives will wake up to the fact that this Howard county metropolis is a contender for state honors. Last year this department, along with the majority of fans in the city, yelled for a football winner. We admit it. And we admit it because we felt that way. The Steers are winners in the basketball line. They have a good record; they have a good team. The high school gymnasium should be packed every time the Steers play. Of course we realize they haven't played lately. If they win the district championship—and they are picked to win it in a breeze by dopesters that haven't seen them in action—they will prance into the state circles. The Steers deserve more support than they are receiving. Whether they will get it is problematical. That's a good word.

Already they have started talking about the chances the Steers have of going places next year on the gridiron. It might be said that unless a miracle or two happen, and a number of fast trotters move into this circle, the Steers won't be a winner, regardless of the coaching prowess of Obie Bristow; regardless of anything. Bristow at the present quotation, has little to build a winning combination with. He has Bill Flowers in the back-

STEERS BATTLE ODESSA
IN DISTRICT TOURNNEY

Big Spring high school Steers and Odessa will clash in the opening round of the district tournament to be held at Odessa Friday and Saturday, it was announced today by George Gentry, principal of the high school.

The Lomax Hornets, Howard county rural champions, and the Snyder Tigers will meet in the opening round also. Sweetwater and Colorado, and Roby and Blackwell were matched for opening encounters.

The Big Spring-Odessa game will be played at 3:30 p. m., and the Lomax-Snyder contest at 2:30 p. m. Friday. The Sweetwater-Colorado game will be played at 7:30 p. m. and the Roby-Blackwell tilt at 8:30 o'clock.

The winner of the Lomax-Snyder game and the Big Spring-Odessa tilt will meet at 9:30 a. m. Saturday. The winners of the Sweetwater-Colorado contest and the Roby-Blackwell game, will meet at 10:30 a. m. Saturday.

The finals of the tournament will be played at 7:30 p. m. Saturday.

NO CARS THIS YEAR FOR SOX
SAYS MR. BUSH

CHICAGO, Feb. 10 (AP)—The things members of the Chicago White Sox squad will not do during the training season will be driving automobiles.

Manager Donie Bush today placed a ban on automobiles, with the comment that he "hunted baseball players all over Texas" last year on jumps from the scene of one exhibition game to another. This year the boys will do their going and coming by rail.

Major League
Players In
Camp

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 10 (AP)—Hot Springs assumed its annual air of a baseball training camp today with the addition of two more major leaguers to the colony of ball players here for pre-conditioning.

Ray Moss, star Brooklyn Robins pitcher, and Al Simmons, heavy hitting Philadelphia Athletic outfielder, were the latest arrivals. Moss joined Sam Rice, Washington outfielder, in two rounds of golf daily as the major part of their training. Others play golf, climb mountains and take thermal baths to get in condition.

Rice said yesterday he would be joined within the next few days by five of his team mates, headed by Fred Marberry, Senator hurler.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10 (AP)—The Brooklyn Robins decided to have the pennant "bug" this year. Bill Clark, one of the most effective southpaws in the National league, is so determined to get into first class condition that he has followed the example of other baseball greats and will work out at Hot Springs. Babe Ruth and Al Simmons, among others, have done the same thing in the past.

BACK TO MEXICO
LAREDO, Texas, Feb. 9 (AP)—The total repatriation movement to Mexico through the port of Laredo during the year 1930 numbered 30,298 Mexican nationals and members of their families born in this country during their residence here who returned to Mexico to take up their future residence. The movement of "back to Mexico" still continues in 1931. 2,144 repatriates in January.

The repatriation movement during 1930 was the heaviest on record.

field, the lone lefty er. He has "Little" Coots, David Hopper, Oscar Heblson, and perhaps one or two more in the forward. There is no coach existing that can take the present 1931 material and construct a winning team out of it. Of course it is possible that a couple of Granges will adopt Big Spring as their abode. If so, the picture will change suddenly.

Rockhold, substitute forward of the Steer cagers, declares he may not graduate this year. If he doesn't he will have another year with the oval. He is a good man now. He should be better next year.

The representative of a local store (no advertising hereabouts) came around to hold a conference with us this a. m. regarding a huge merger. He desired to merge our meagre earnings with a set of golf clubs. Imagine that! He wanted us to purchase golf clubs if we intended to play golf. We would prefer to borrow golf clubs to play golf. When we borrow clubs and happen to hit where the pellet isn't and the shaft separates, we merely pass it off with "I'm sorry about that. However, if we break one of our own clubs that is a pecuniary loss. We lose that much. Besides we don't think we will be playing any more golf any time soon. After hunting three days, and parts of two nights, we've been unable to locate the ball. It is somewhere in the pasture, but it's a miniature game of hide-and-seek trying to find it. Now, we presume, someone will try to sell us a ball.

Flashes of Life

(By The Associated Press)
BERLIN—Patrons of a new amusement place land via an escalator in a lobby whence they may go to "Palm Beach," "Venice," "The Island of Bali" or "A Prohibition Bar in New York." The last named is the most popular. There are rough brick walls. Casks serve as seats. When sliding doors on closets containing liquor are closed one can observe the sign "Drug Store" and shelf bottles containing such labels as "sod. chlor," "Tinct. Opil," etc.

FOOCHOW, China—The bridge of the ten thousand ages, one of the wonders of old Cathay and the delight of tourists, is losing some of its beauty in modernization. Formerly only a dozen feet wide, it was only large enough for pedestrians. It is being made 20 feet wide so autos can use it to cross the Min river. It was built about 1300.

WASHINGTON—Senator Fess is asking congress to put George Washington's face on quarters because of Washington's 200th birthday next year.

NEW YORK—A fire that has burned 25 feet underground for 18 years has come to light. It was found in excavations for new buildings on Riker's Island in Long Island Sound, an island made by the dumping of refuse by the city. Over the fire two crops of vegetables have been grown annually. There never is snow on the island in contrast to some of its neighbors.

SEBASTOPOL—Huge stone coffins containing the remains of men who inhabited Crimea during the bronze age have been found by an expedition of the Russian Academy of Science which has been excavating along the coast of the Black Sea.

Diana Fishwick Prepares For
Tourney

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Feb. 10 (AP)—Miss Diana Fishwick, British woman golf champion, is taking some lessons from Johnny Farrell, former national open champion, here prior to her invasion of Florida tournaments.

Already Johnny has shown the English girl a neat trick about playing to the green. As most British golfers do, Miss Fishwick usually plays a pitch and roll shot to the green but that is not so successful in Florida because of the sandy soil.

A full pitch with plenty of back spin is the desired way to get on the carpet on golf courses in this state, and in her first game in America, Miss Fishwick picked up this knock nicely.

She and seven or eight other British women stars are here practicing for the opening of the first tournament at Palm Beach next week.

HOW often have you heard, "I'll have to change oil early this time because of high speed driving"? It was quite the customary thing, until Conoco Germ-Processed Oil came along.

Now an all-day drive at a 60-mile speed brings no oil worries. You know that Germ-Processed oil won't thin out at high speeds; know, too, that it actually reduces motor operating temperatures because of the added "oiliness" produced by the Germ Process. The proof... at the Indianapolis and Altoona races at speeds up to 120 miles an hour and in numberless individual tests... is history.

Now, your own experience will add to the weight of the proof. You need Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil in this day of high speed motors and high speed driving. You'll find it at the sign of the Conoco Red Triangle... the proper grade for your car at 35¢ a quart.

Shakespeare Plays Begin Tonight

Editorial

This week we celebrate the birthday of our Civil War president, Abraham Lincoln. It cannot be doubted that during the past few years this American idol has grown even deeper into the heart of the nation. Each year sees many books dealing with both the truth and the myth surrounding the life of Honest Abe. Issue from the press of the land, some to reach peaks of the best sellers, others to experience short and comparatively uneventful lives, but all to show figures in the profits column of the publisher's ledger. The fact that every publishing house in the country has a Lincoln biography on its list is proof of this fact.

There are sufficient reasons why Lincoln should be the peer among the presidents of the United States. In the first place, his log cabin origin and experience as a rail splitter and a country lawyer identify him closely with the ideal American politician, for it is a democratic sentiment that every boy is a potential president. His only rival for the honor is the first president of the republic, and Washington's laurels rest much on his record as a general and the fact that he was the first to hold the office.

The memory of Lincoln was undoubtedly a great factor in healing the wounds of a divided nation. The North did not extend that he belonged to her alone. In every state of the union since 1865 the school boys have knelt at the shrine of the great emancipator.

"SUCCESS"

One must "think" success to really be successful and must not let his thoughts make him feel and maintain defeat. Don't begin to think "Well, what's the use?" and keep on going down. No truly great man was successful in everything from the first. To ascend to the heights of success, you must first prepare and serve an apprenticeship. We are here in Big Spring high to learn any, and the best way is to be improved with our mistakes so truly that we shall profit by them in the future. So if you analyze yourself and find that you are thinking defeat, try to change over to thinking you are going to be even a greater success than you were a failure, for, "as the mind thinketh so a man is." Think well of yourself and proclaim it to the world, not in loud words but in great deeds. Do not think because you start out wrong you have no chance. Maybe it will surprise you on doing much greater things than the person who started out right. Your thoughts make a great deal of difference in your results, and you know that some defeats are only installments to victory.

Today I was weary, discouraged, depressed; from the cup of defeat I was drinking; When a still silent voice whispered close to my ear "Perhaps it's the way you are thinking." The lives that we live are proof of our thoughts. In our minds are vast treasures untold. We either succeed, or go down to despair. Because of the thoughts that we hold. There's a saying quite old, but yet very true "Thas as a man thinks in his heart, will he do." For 'tis true thoughts are things, and we hold the key. Our thinking determines what our lives will be.

—Mary S. Statler.

Everyone who lives, though he does not always realize it, is constantly making shadows. Life is a series of lights—glaring lights, soft lights, cheerful lights, dingy lights, colored lights—and people are continually falling under their rays. The shadows that are formed vary. They depend, not only upon the type of light that is shining, but also upon the object under the light.

There is a story that a great art exhibition there was found among a display of vases one that was considered too crude to be shown among the finer creations. Indeed at first glance it appeared devoid of all artistic qualities. It was laid aside. All day long the throng came to admire the more famous display. But late in the afternoon, when the sun had begun to lower there shown through a hole in the wall, a few magic rays of light. They fell on the rejected life vase, and behold! in a strange contrast with the plain top of the table, there fell a shadow of such beauty and sublime distinction as to attract the reverential gaze of art worshippers who would not have noticed it a few hours before. Overnight it became famous as "the vase with a shadow," and noted artists came from everywhere to study it and learn what wonderful qualities it possessed that it might have such a distinction. As time went on, it became recognized as a supreme work of art.

Just as the vase became recognized as an artistic creation, every one becomes known for his character.

A great deal of the opinions people possess of one another come from the impressions they receive. The impressions people make are their shadows. They are shadows created by a light of the conditions faced in life and the characters that face them. Over the light, human beings have little control, but they can shape their lives so that the impressions will be of beauty, and it is the life as it is lived every day that composes such a character. It probably took many, many days, or even weeks to create the vase. It is the work of one's entire lifetime to reach a worthy standard.

Great Casts to Appear Before High School Auditorium Crowds In Three Outstanding Dramas

"Advance preparations for the presentation to Big Spring audiences of the Shakespeare Guild in three plays are practically complete," Miss Clara Cox, head of the high school English department, stated early today.

The party was due to arrive here sometime during the morning, and plans have been made to unload the scenery from the carrying trucks upon their arrival.

Tickets will be on sale at Collins Bros. Drug Store in the Petroleum Building and at Cunningham and Phillips Drug Store on Main street during the day, and they may be obtained at the door for each performance.

The program for "The Merchant of Venice," the play to be presented at the Wednesday matinee, together with the casts of characters for the other two plays follow:

The Shakespeare Guild of America presents the young American actor, William Thornton, and his company in "The Merchant of Venice," by William Shakespeare, Wednesday 3:00 p. m. Entire production created and supervised by Mr. Thornton; play directed by Richard Kean.

Inasmuch as Shakespeare wrote without the use of a curtain, many of his scenes are bound so closely together that any appreciable interval destroys the continuity of action. For that reason, Mr. Thornton has arranged to make the intermissions between acts and scenes of a minimum duration. When the wait does not exceed a half a minute, lights will be kept down in the auditorium, in order to maintain flow of action. Where there is a change in the dramatic progress of the play the lights will be raised and the wait will be longer.

Steer vs Wolf Predicted For Final Contest

For one time Big Spring, was lucky in drawing for a place in the district tournament, not that it would have made any difference for the Steers would have gone on to the finals anyway.

From the schedule the dope would seem to show Lomax and Big Spring meeting in the semi-finals and Colorado and Roby in the other half of the semi-finals. Lomax should beat Snyder if the team will show the same form that it has on several occasions during the season. Colorado and Roby should not have very much trouble with their games nor should Big Spring. Friday morning there at 9:30 o'clock will probably come the long looked-for Steer-Hornet game. We feel sure the Steers can win over the Hornets. The semi-final game between Roby and Colorado will be a good game although Colorado will be favored to win on the home court unless Roby happens to get their tail Achilles into play. Then the final game will be the best and will probably be played between the Steers and the Wolves. The Steers will have a hard time defeating Colorado again on the latter's court. The Wolves will be out for fresh beef and now is when the win or loss counts toward a championship team.

Rev. Bailey Talks Before Students

Rev. W. G. Bailey, pastor of the First Methodist church spoke to the student body of Big Spring high school in the regular assembly period on Monday, February 9. He brought a message of a life of service to others, putting God first, others second, and self third. Using the story of the good Samaritan as basic story, Rev. Bailey said that things that others passed up and could see no good in, to some might prove to be a thing worth while and a good cause for one's attention and time.

Midland Teams Win In Typing Contest

The high school typewriting teams motored to Midland Thursday afternoon, February 5 for a practice contest.

The first team composed of Polly Webb, Louise Hayes and R. V. Jones made an average of 27 words a minute. The Midland first team with Alice Buchanan and Marie Hill made an average of 43 words per minute.

Jake Pickle, Emma Jo Graves and Mary Petty were on the Big Spring second team and made an average of 20 words per minute. The Midland second team, composed of Lloyd McKinney, Ida Beth Cowan and Zonelle Post, made an average of 32 words a minute.

Current Event Club Has Very Unusual Meet

The Current Event History Club met last Tuesday afternoon in High school and after business matters had been discussed, the program was turned over to Miss Clara Cox. The program for the afternoon's entertainment was based on "Customs of the Indian and Spanish People."

The first number was a characteristic Indian drill, performed by some pupils of Mrs. Weathers. Mrs. L. S. McDowell gave a most interesting talk on Indian life as she had observed it on a reservation in Arizona. After her talk, Mrs. McDowell gave an Indian picture and basket to the high school museum. Next Mrs. B. F. Willis told some of her childhood experiences with Indians when she lived near Fort Worth. The experiences were quite hair-raising. "The Indian Love Call" was played on a portable phonograph, as a postlude to the Indian part of the program.

The Spanish program was begun with the reading of a Spanish story, "Capercuta Encarnada," by Carmen Compton. Those of the audience who were a little at loss as to the meaning of the story that Carmen read so fluently were surprised to know that it was "Little Red Riding Hood."

One of the most interesting talks of the afternoon's entertainment was Mrs. Cotten's account of her life in Cuba. She lived in that beautiful land fourteen years, working as a teacher and when she finished her talk, the members of the audience felt as though they could very easily "love Cuba" just as Mrs. Cotten said she did. Closing this program Miss Cox played the phonograph record of "La Paloma." Four of the girls of the Food class served hot tamales and crackers to those present as refreshments.

On exhibition for the members and visitors to see was some work from Miss Verda Ruth Graham's Spanish classes, also some pictures of Cuba that Mrs. Cotten brought.

The Current Event History Club invites everyone to attend their meetings, according to J. H. Smith president.

Next month the program will center around Texas Independence day.

The Current Event History Club also is sponsoring the movement for a high school museum, which was started by Mrs. Mary E. Bum pass. A great deal of time and work has been devoted to this collection by Mrs. Bum pass in arousing the interest of the general public in order to receive articles, either by way of gifts or loans, for the museum.

A few unusual things that have been contributed are: trophy cups that have been won by students of the schools of Howard county, track cups, debating cups, and one trophy cup won in the two years by the Latin class of B.S.H.S.

There are various and sundry coins in the collection representing the mediums of exchange during the different stages of U. S. history. Indian money, consisting principally of bits of birch bark; Republic of Texas coins; Confederate money and old United States money. A violin over two-hundred years old was contributed by Richard Harr. Of course, the violin shows its age but it is one of the museum's rarest treasures. A woven grass cloth from the Belgian Congo was contributed by the museum.

KITTY'S KRAZY KUTUPS CHALK GREAT RECORD

To Miss Kitty Wingo's home room goes the distinction of being the first home room to have a one hundred per cent average for having pictures made for the annual. The annual sales were also one hundred per cent in that room. As a courtesy from the El Rodeo staff, this home room will be given a picture show theatre party.

Their first home room meeting was held on January 30, 1931. They elected the following officers: president, Gene Dubberly; vice president, Melva Gene Handley; secretary, Vera Debenport; treasurer, Carmen Compton; reporter, E. P. Driver; program committee: Zillah Mae Ford, Elizabeth Edwards, Ray Phillips, Mary Petty; program chairman, Dorothy Driver; social chairman, Edythe Ford; social committee, Pauline Melton, Jennie Corine Rogers, Dorothy Vandergriff; parliamentarian, Rosemary Duff.

Mary Gene Dubberly was elected vice-president of the Seniors last term. Delbert Rogers, who was named president, graduated at mid-term. Gene has lived in Big Spring all of her life, and is well known and well liked. She is a member of the following clubs: Choral club, H.L.K.A.H., I.K.K.A.H., and F.J.N., and she is a leader of the pep squad. She likes to read fiction, especially that written by Kathleen Norris. Browning wins her favor as a poet, and Mr. Ford as a maker of cars. Her favorite dish is—onions.

Fred Martin has done well considering that he was cheated in the beginning, being born in 1913. Of all the subjects to which he is exposed, he thinks he would choose "Math" if by any miracle he should consider studying one. Of the sports he likes football best. He enjoys reading nothing deeper than the comic strip of the sports. His motto is "Estudia much todos los noches." He is a member of the "B" Association and "H-Y." He is president of the Junior class.

Frederick Koberg, otherwise known as "Rick," is president of the Sophs. Has a reputation as a hard worker. He is a brunette, fifteen years young, and five feet eight and one half inches short. He claims to be overweight. He is an enthusiastic football fan. With algebra, Latin, English and history, to choose from, he singles Latin out as his favorite subject. Caesar is his favorite character in history. He has a secret ambition.

Mack Austin, a distinctive blonde and a Fish, has begun his high school, and probably his life, as a president of his class. Science and math receive his special attention. Likes to read fiction that contains adventure. He rides in a sport model Chrysler. His particular weakness is remaining after school.

Week's Calendar For High School

Many Important Historical Things Occurred In February

Even though February is the shortest month in the year, it is by no means the least important. In this month many important things have happened, and there are at least twenty-eight days in which may be done the things historians like to record, if one will. Many wage earners really profit by the shortened month; they receive the same check that would take them two or three days longer to earn in any other of the twelve months in our calendar year.

In their chronological order these events of American have occurred in the part—during the month of February: George Washington, "the Father of Our Country," was born February 22, 1732. Abraham Lincoln, "The Great Emancipator," was born February 12, 1809. First railroad charter granted to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, February 27, 1827. Thomas A. Edison, inventor of the electric light and other important inventions, born February 11, 1847. The battleship Maine was destroyed in Havana harbor on February 15, 1898, and this was one of the immediate causes of the Spanish-American war. Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh was born February 4, 1902. Woodrow Wilson died on February 3, 1924.

Prof. Boyle's Career Forms Interest To Folk In School

NOTE: This is the first of a series of features concerning the personal histories of interesting faculty members in the public school system. "The Wheel" proposes to carry a story of the same nature in each edition.—The Editor.

The beneficial power has given the world varying possibilities. No two men are predestined for the same place in life. Thousands of people are living in this civilization never the basic things in life. As a usual thing only those dealing with plant and animal life can appreciate nature in a mechanical age.

Frank Boyle, popular head of the local science department, is among those identified with the latter.

Mr. Boyle was born in Caddo Mills, Texas, in 1905. His Scotch-Irish parents were of the hard-working middle-class. Until nine years of age when the family moved to Roston, Texas, he lived as the usual energetic, playful American boy. At Roston he began his school education, going through the tenth grade there. Subsequently he entered Burleson College Academy, and at the comparatively youthful age of sixteen years completed his high school education. In the fall of 1921 he entered Baylor university, continuing his education as studiously as ever. After his graduation from Baylor in 1925, he came to Big Spring. Except for a short while devoted to farming Mr. Boyle has spent all his time since then in instructing at the local high school. Although a most skilled scientist, Mr. Boyle has announced his intention of becoming an M.D. in the near future.

If one chances upon Mr. Boyle at work in his laboratory, he may be surprised to see just what the instructor in science is doing. Mr. Boyle has boiled water in paper containers; he has made novelty

Local Students Make Great Record During First College Year

Reports have begun to come in from students who have gone off to some college. These reports have a better standing than any that have been received in previous years.

One outstanding report was that of Reta Debenport, last year's valedictorian of Big Spring High School.

She is a freshman in the University of Texas and made an average of five As and one B. "Perhaps it is not fair to judge a school by its best pupils," Mr. Gentry said, "but neither would it be fair to judge them by their worst pupils. All in all, the group of ex-students attending college this year has done credit to Big Spring High."

$30,000,000 IN SPECIAL TAXES: YOU SHARE IN THIS BILL

Buyers of fire insurance indirectly but actually contribute a vast sum—approximately $30,000,000 annually—through taxes, most of which are of a special nature, additional to the regular taxes borne by insurance companies in common with other lines of industry.

The original purpose of special taxes upon insurance was to maintain state supervision, but such supervision uses but four cents of each dollar. The balance goes into the general funds of the states.

These special taxes and the taxes upon property which insurance companies pay in common with all other owners of property are factors in the cost of fire insurance.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States says:

"... Special State Taxes now levied on Policyholders through insurance companies should not be considered as a source of general revenue, but should be reduced to the total in each state which will adequately support such state's departmental supervision..."

Our Huge Population

EVERYONE is familiar with the custom of saying "Greater Dallas" or "Greater Houston" when referring to a city's population.

Prosperous Uncle Sam, as Atlanta learned to her sorrow, insists that municipalities stick to their city limits in reckoning population. At lanta laid claim to considerable surrounding territory and thereby temporarily shouldered Houston out of the picture as the South's second city; but when it was found that down Houston securely held second place to New Orleans' first.

An Associated Press correspondent has figured out that if Uncle Sam would get real liberal with cities and permit them to include all their metropolitan areas in the census count, the United States State would have fifteen cities of more than a million, instead of only five. Thus Boston would come in with 1,955,000 instead of 781,000, New York's four boroughs would be split into as many cities each with more than a million population, and Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Cleveland, Baltimore and San Francisco would join the million class. A net work of New Jersey communities opposite Manhattan would be able to show a population of 2,000,000.

These cities and their suburbs are essentially one. In many instances the dividing line is purely imaginary. It is impossible, from a physical standpoint, to see where the city ends and the suburb begins.
Yet Uncle Sam makes a distinction
in counting noses—and many a potential city of a million or more must be content with something less than that magical figure.

A nation with fifteen cities containing more than a million population each would be something else
to the world to gaze at.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

Making Jobs

Philadelphia Public Ledger:

For the relief of the unemployed is not being paid out in dollars. On the contrary, the committee for unemployment relief has been amazingly successful in creating, not merely finding jobs for those who need them. Work has been given to these of the idle who have climbed dependent upon them, and of these there are at present fully 6,000 men earning from $3 to $4 a day for three days a week, and as many more will be provided for by March if the committee is given the funds to enable it to carry on the constructive policy. Mr. Horatio Gates Lloyd, general chairman of the relief work, points out that the present crisis is the most distressing in years, and that with hundreds of persons actually facing starvation the community cannot afford to withhold the funds required.

It ought to be more generally understood that the relief work is so systematized and coordinated with the operations of the permanent relief agencies of the city that only those found to be actually in need are being helped, and that creating work for the unemployed the utmost care has been taken against destructive competition with other workers. Most of the "made" jobs are in connection with public improvements and with the care of the streets and highways. That nearly 6,000 jobs have been brought into existence in this way and that more will be made when the funds are provided is due altogether to the vision of the committee and its volunteer assistants and to the professional relief agencies which are co-operating with such remarkable success. A service of this importance ought not to be compelled to plead for the money needed to carry it on as long as the need exists.

Children's Appetites—II
Irregular feeding habits, and eating in a rush and hurry, may also be responsible for the lack of appetite in children.

A careful study of the feeding habits of this type of child will often reveal that the child eats at all hours, partaking every now and then of sweets, biscuits and the like.

Such irregular feeding habits do not, of course, make for a well coordinated digestive process. They are also liable in time to give rise to dyspepsia. The correction of this fault depends largely upon the mother, who must institute a very strictly observed feeding routine.

It may be wise to have a separate meal time for younger children,
the meal being supervised by mother or some responsible elder.

Lack of appetite is often an expression of the child's disturbed emotional state. This is particularly liable to be the case where the parents are over-anxious about its welfare.

Not infrequently anorexia in these cases is associated with enuresis, or bed-wetting, and with spasmodic vomiting. While this latter type of case is usually complicated and difficult to handle, it may be ameliorated, if not remedi-ated by the suppression on the part of the parent of manifest anxiety.

It is of little use in these cases to insist, threaten or cajole the child into eating. Not infrequently the child is eager to secure just this extra attention. Wholesome neglect, reinforced by normal hunger, will often suffice to make a
"naughty" child eat well.

The emotional disturbance of the child suffering from anorexia may arise out of the excessive demands made upon it by hard school work
and by extra-curricular activities, particularly in children of the
"high strung" type.

HOLLYWOOD—Those two new contracts of Ruth Chatterton and William Powell, giving them each a million dollars in three years, netted the agents who handled the deals a mere $200,000. All the gold in these hazy hills is not in front of the cameras.

Another whisper of the "com-mick" rack of the music, Victor Schertzinger may make a picture based on his one-time best-selling "Marcheta." And there will be songs, several of them,
in De Sylva-Brown-Henderson's production for Gloria Swanson.

Dorothy Lee is turning down stardom to continue as a featured player until she "feels ready for headlining."

She is to play with Knute Rockne, the big football man, in a college feature.

HOLLYWOOD!
For years Rowland Brown, a chubby young man with mild blue eyes, a determined jaw and a wind-milling haircut, barked his knuckles rapping on the doors of story editors in Hollywood studios.

Eventually a studio accepted his story, "The Doorway to Hell." A few days after the picture opened on Hollywood boulevard, another studio lured him as a writer.

A week later he was made a director.
"Three months ago," he says, "they couldn't let me through the gate. Now I couldn't begin to write all the stories I have orders for.
But if the first picture I direct in a flop I'll be right on the outside again, looking in."

GRACEFULLY
Charlie Farrell, still on the brighter side of 30, is "ting gray
and he's not going to do anything about it. The curly-haired screen lover from Cape Cod is finding a number of silver threads among the brown.

"When I have to start painting my hair or any other part of me in order to remain an actor, I'll quit,"
he says.

Farrell also refuses to use make-up to cover a scar on his chin. As a boy he fell and struck his chin
on a piece of broken glass—the scar doesn't come from a screen battle or social fluff.

"Cheri Babi," the story which was purchased as a vehicle for the late Lon Chaney, and later considered for Wallace Beery, is to be played by—guess who? John Gilbert, "one other." There'll be some changes made to conform to the Gilbert style.

Masked Longing

BY HOWARD HOCKEY A ROMANCE OF RADIO

SYNOPSIS: Aileen Gray, becomes "Mademoiselle Masque," mystery singer of radio, when an injury to her face ends her stage career. Dwight Channing, artist, makes her a porcelain mask to cover her scars. Because of these scars, she tries to forget her love
for Jimmy Crane, press agent.

Arnold Kronberg, movie magnate, is making advances to Aileen's sister Vivienne when a masked woman shoots him.
Suspecting it was Aileen, he threatens to accuse Vivienne of the attack unless she incriminates her sister. A telegram states her sister, "Adriana," hints
the sender was Kronberg's assailant and threatens to throw the blame on Aileen if necessary.

Kronberg requests "Mademoiselle Masque" to sing at the opening of his new theater. Channing severely lectures Vivienne for getting into trouble with Kron-berg. When she defies him, he suddenly takes her in his arms.

Chapter 27
A COUNCIL OF WAR
VIVienne felt Channing crushing her to him. His kisses burned her lips. She knew that she was sleepless in this battle with him.

Once again Vivienne realized she had brought this on herself. Why that her instinctive struggle stopped. She closed her eyes and her body relaxed in his fierce embrace. Had she the courage she boasted? Had she lied to Channing
—or was she lying to herself?

Suddenly he thrust her away—
as though their contact permitted
her thoughts to flow into Channing's mind. But he did not releas-
her. His grip on her arm was firm.

Only his voice was changed as he spoke—and it was a different light that burned in his narrowed eyes.
"Is that what you wanted?" he demanded contemptuously.

"I thought you wouldn't like it. But it seems almost impossible to teach you any sense."

Vivienne stared at him—utterly mystified. That was not what she had expected, and she did not know how to accept him.

"Now, see here," he went on calmly. "You've come to the end of your fool rope. If only for your sister's sake, you're going to toe the mark. So far you haven't done much harm to anyone but yourself.
But we've none of us any assurance that you won't involve us all in a nasty snarl. Unless Crane and I stick by you, you'll go to trial
as sure as you live, if Kronberg does as he's likely to do—and I shouldn't blame him. From now on you're unanswerable to me. Don't think I don't mean it. Unless you play the game as I tell you—well,
just try to beat me and see!"

Sullen, and staring fixedly at the road ahead of them, Vivienne sat in silence all the way to New York. After the ultimatum Channing had delivered behind the abandoned barn, he had not spoken either. He would have paid more attention to a Pekinese cat the seat beside him. He wound the car in and out through the heavy traffic,
with a dexterous hand, puffing contentedly at his pipe with the air of a man who has made up his mind and is quite at peace.

Not until they were out of the tube, on the Manhattan side, did he make a stop. Then he ran up beside a hot-dog stand and stepped out on the pavement. "Eat!" he asked, but Vivienne gave him a look of scorn. So he left her waiting there while he munched a sausage roll and telephoned Klein's office. Then, without divulging tural Welcome to our city. Only that fatted calves ain't appropriate for daughters, I suppose, we'd have one here this minute. How about some Scotch?"

"It was a bit cold driving over," Channing accepted as Vivienne ignored the producer's garrulosity and noddod to Jimmy Crane.

"Hey, Sadie! Where's the corkscrew?" Klein called to his secretary. "All right. Close the door.
I'm in conference, understand?"

"Shall I tell them—the rest—about Kronberg?" Channing asked Vivienne. She shrugged and he did so briefly. "Under the circumstances, I thought that Viv had best be here."

"Sure," said Klein. "Four minds
"Alleen!" Vivienne sprang up.
"What—where is she now?"

"Always wait for your cue, kid!"
Klein beamed indulgently. "According to schedule, she's feedin' tea to the head of a home for cripples and the Big Perfume Poppa. By the way, Jimmy, you missed a bet. Why didn't you think o' Miss Santa Claus givin' presents to them cripples? Or are you givin' Gluck the goods and passin' 'em stage-money?"

"Speaking of Santa Claus," said Crane, "just what's the answer to this?" He had dropped in at the Ambassador to get the Christmas card.

"Adriana again?" asked Channing. "I wonder if Kronberg couldn't tell us who the goddess is."

"I imagine he could make a guess," Jimmy agreed with him.
"Just the same I doubt if he's sure.
Unless my theory's completely wet,
that's what he went to question Vivienne and Alleen. I think what the man is trying to do is make sure before he acts. He wants to find out about Alleen and either
pin it on her, or be satisfied that she's not the girl and go after someone else. What are you going to do Vivienne? About answering him, I mean?"

With a defiant glance at Channing, she said she did not know.
"What would all of you suggest?"
"That you answer nothing—for the present anyway," Channing took her up. Then he turned to Crane.
"Is Kronberg still at the Ambassador?"

"No," said Jimmy. "I asked, just
now. He registered this morning and checked out this afternoon."

"That would suggest that he found out whatever he wished to know."

"Where do you get that bright idea?" Klein asked disgustedly. "Even I'd have the sense to leave after I'd showed my hand. Hasn't he fixed it so both of the girls practically have to answer him or admit what he already thinks? Now, take this theater business. He offers Alleen and Vivienne both a personal appearance. Ain't it natural to jump at the bait? If they don't, then what's the answer? And the fact that Channing high-hats the guy don't help matters any."

"Alleen can claim that Gluck won't let her," Jimmy reminded
him. "And Channing hasn't admitted that Vivienne is his model."

"A lot of good that does. Kron-berg knows it—and what does he care for Gluck? Besides, he'd say yes in a minute, and Kronberg knows he would. Now you take it from me—and it's true—if they don't show up at his opening, he'll be wise that they're scared."

"You mean that you want us to?"
asked Vivienne, visibly uneasy.

"You know that Dwight changed the features on the proscenium can-vase before he acts. He wants to find out about Alleen and either
pin it on her, or be satisfied that
she's not the girl and go after some-

(Time Is Central Standard)
NEW YORK, Feb. 10 (AP)—Two reception points are to be used on Thursday to make THW two radio addresses by Pope Pius XI available to American broadcast listeners.

At both places will be special short wave receiving equipment tuned to the new Vatican City station, HVJ, over which the Pope is to speak. These receivers will be connected to the chain headquarters, from where signals will be fed into the networks for redistribution.

The National Broadcasting Company will use the RCA experimental station at Riverhead, L. I., to pick up the 19.84 transmission of HVJ. A special wire line will be sent out to the chain.

While plans of the Columbia Broadcasting system have not been definitely announced, it is understood its receiving post is to be the American Radio Relay League headquarters at Hartford, Conn. A wire line to New York will link the chain and the receiver. It is also said that the plans include arrangements with A. T. and T. for duplicate receiving facilities. According to present arrangements the broadcast is expected to start at 9:30 a. m. and continue until 11 or later, during which time the Pope will speak about 9:45 in dedicating HVJ and about 10:10 before the Vatican Academy. He is to talk in Latin, with translations being read by announcers in several languages.

Delay Caused In Suit For Damages By Court

Delay in the trial of a damage suit filed several months ago by M. M. Denton against the Big Spring Refining Co., was caused in district court this morning when a motion by the defense counsel to quash citations was sustained by Judge Charles L. Klapproth.

Denton seeks $4,000 actual and $5,000 penal damages. It is alleged that oil from the refinery ruined a water tank and field belonging to Denton.

Mexican Children To Be Introduced To Toothbrushes

Commencing with tomorrow morning's recess, the children of the Mexican school will have a tooth brush drill twice daily until the close of school. The only exceptions will be bad weather when the children can not get out of doors. The drills will be held at the morning and afternoon recesses.

This is a part of the work of the Howard County Health Council. The first dental clinic ever held at the school was held last week at which Dr. Chas. Deats, agent, a morning extracting 60 decayed teeth from the mouths of 39 children. Mrs. Showalter, public health nurse, said that the mouths of the children were discovered to be in very bad condition.

Cooperating with Dr. Deats and the Health Council is the Lions Service Club of the city, which has furnished enough toothbrushes to provide for the 130 children in this school.

The women of the town were asked to donate empty mayonnaise glasses for the children and some of them were very generous; but the full number has not yet been collected. Any woman who can part with whatever empty 8-ounce (24-inch size) mayonnaise jars she has, will do a kind deed if she will bring them to the club house.

Mrs. R. L. Owen: Another article of much interest is the original mine claim and container of a mine near the Diablo Mountains in Hudspeth County, which was filed in 1888. Bits of ore, rock formations, fossilized trees and shells, and samples of oil from wells in the western part of Texas are also found in the museum. A small reproduction of Charles Lindbergh's plane, "The Spirit of St. Louis," was made and given to the museum by Jack Lee. It represents time and tedious work and is a nice contribution.

High School To Make Way For Rural Teams

The Big Spring public schools are going to exercise their option in regard to participating in the City-County Interscholastic League. Any school can do this if it has not less than 2000 pupils and not more than 4,000.

Mr. Gentry, principal, does not think it fair for the high school to participate in the City-County League because it puts the rural schools at a disadvantage. This City-County Interscholastic League included boys' basketball, debate, declamation, tennis, extemporaneous speech, track, music memory, and essay-writing. In not taking part in these events in the City-County League, the Big Spring high school enables the rural schools to have a chance to go to the district. Lomax won the county meet in boys' basketball here Saturday and for that reason will attend the district meet at Colorado Friday and Saturday.

This is a great opportunity for them and Mr. Gentry thinks it the best thing for Big Spring high to exercise their option.

Valentine's Day Originated With Bishop in A.D. 270

On February 14, in the year A. D. 270, a Roman Catholic bishop was martyred at Rome. This day has long been celebrated in a manner not at all serious, by Catholics and Protestants alike.

Several explanations are given for the familiar custom of sending anonymous love tokens, cards of greeting, and for the various social activities connected with that day. Some say that Saint Valentine was accustomed to go around from house to house, leaving food on the doorstep of the poor, and that the custom of sending Valentine greetings developed from that.

Another explanation connects the modern celebration of the day with the observation of the Roman festival Lupercalia, which occurred on February 15. At this time, so the story goes, each of the young men celebrating the festival drew from a box the name of a lady to whom he was faithful for the ensuing year. It is supposed that this custom is the origin of some of the sentimental features of Saint Valentine's Day.

Lomax Captures County's Title

The Lomax Hornets captured the county championship for boys Saturday night by defeating the Forsan five by the topheavy score of 40-15. Forsan was handicapped by an injury to Richard LeFevre, six-foot plus center and star looping-er. Ledbetter, McGinnis, and Gilly were outstanding on the Lomax team.

The Junior girls championship was won by Forsan when they pushed ahead of Coahoma—the fourth and took the championship by a score of 14-11.

Tabulated scores for the county meet are as follows: Boys: Forsan 50, Moore 3; Elbow 30, Coahoma 16; Forsan 17, Coah.ma 18; Soash for-fitted to Knott; 14-14, Knott 38; Lomax 36, Knott 10; Forsan 15, Lomax 40.

Girls: Lomax 4, Forsan 22; Elbow 10, Forsan 27; Knott 28, Soash 5, their tuition.

W.C.T.U. To Meet Tomorrow Afternoon For Temporary Talk

The W.C.T.U. will meet tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Methodist church parlors. The members will discuss plans for cooperating with the recently organized Big Spring society for support of the eighteenth amendment. The discussion will deal with the problem of getting out the dry vote.

Baptist Revival Drives Good Crowds and Fine Congregational Singing

The attendance at the evangelistic services at the First Baptist church has been very good, reports the pastor, Mr. R. E. Day. At the Sunday morning service there were eight additions to the church. The Monday evening's meeting was well attended. Mr. B. B. McKeeney is here now and is conducting inspiring music.

he had been unusually useful for them in the county he came here from. Thousands of dollars have been spent by the Chamber to work for the agricultural interests of the county.

The city was badly in need of a hotel when he came here. He led negotiations that caused construction of the Crawford, an accomplishment that placed the city on a firm basis as a center of activities for oil men.

Aside from more spectacular efforts he has worked continuously from the office in serving tens of thousands of local and visiting people who called for information, or assistance of many kinds.

Accomplishments

Another of the outstanding accomplishments of the Chamber of Commerce which resulted largely from his energetic work for more than a year was establishment of Big Spring as the West Texas base for all mail and passenger service—a victory won after neighboring cities had fought just as hard for the designation. This occurred about two years after establishment of the Big Spring airport, which has become the most busy one in West Texas.

The board of directors last night passed a motion accepting the resignation with regrets, naming a committee to draw up resolutions of endorsement to him.

Mrs. Gordon Phillips, who has been Mr. Watson's assistant practically ever since he has been here, will be in charge of the office until Mr. Watson's successor is appointed.

Mr. Watson must leave as quickly as possible, at least by March 1. The board told him they would be perfectly willing for him to leave before then if he felt his interests demanded it.

A Significant Fact

Wherever industries thrive and payrolls grow, you will invariably find enthusiastic and wholehearted acclaim of such industries' products by the community that is fortunate enough to harbor such essential assets.

The demonstrated fact that Big Spring people recognized an obligation to and actually patronized, preferentially, products of home industry, manufacturing enterprises would be drawn to Big Spring with magnetic force.

Marriage of Ada Lingo to New York Man, Yesterday, Announced By Her Family

Wed In New York City; Will Return There To Live After Honeymoon in Montreal, Says Telegram

Mrs. A. M. Evans received a telegram yesterday announcing the marriage of her granddaughter, Miss Ada Lingo, to Charles Trabue Hatcher, in New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Hatcher are spending their honeymoon in Montreal. They will live in New York City.

Mr. Hatcher is a graduate of the University of Virginia. He is head of the cable department of the United Electric Light and Power Company of New York.

Miss Lingo is the daughter of D. C. Lingo, of Houston. She was reared by her grandmother, Mrs. Evans, and her uncle R. L. Price of this city. She obtained her pre-college schooling in Big Spring, where she was regarded as one of the brightest students ever graduated from the high school.

She graduated from C.I.A. and studied a year at the University of Missouri where she received her master's degree in journalism.

Her record there secured her a position with the J. Walter Thompson Advertising Agency in New York City, one of the largest in the country. She worked in the statistical department until an emergency operation for appendicitis brought her back on a hurried visit to Big Spring. After the operation she spent almost a year here recuperating. She handled the women's news for the Big Spring Herald during her stay.

She resigned from the Herald to go back to New York at the insistence of the agency who wanted her to return to her old job. She and Clara Hood Rugel, fashionist of the Dallas News and a friend of the family, went to New York together. Mrs. Rugel was to be her attendant at her wedding, but an attack of influenza made it necessary to postpone the wedding and Mrs. Rugel had to return to Dallas.

Mr. Hatcher visited Miss Lingo last summer.
