Warnings Are Being Issued In Flood Area

Collapse Of Flood-Weakened Buildings And Spread Of An Epidemic Feared; Two More Lives Are Lost

(By The Associated Press)

CINCINNATI, O., March 22.—The flood menace of the Ohio river moved downstream from here tonight, while authorities in localities up the river took steps to combat the hazards that follow in the wake of high waters.

Possible collapse of flood-weakened buildings in areas where the waters retreated today was deemed by authorities the greatest present danger, and warnings were given here and in several other cities to beware of such structures.

Epidemics Fought

Precaution also was taken to prevent any epidemics of disease. In Dayton, Ky., across the river from Cincinnati, school children were given large doses of cod liver oil to increase their resistance.

Meanwhile the flood waters ebbed away here, and although slowly, brought cheer to Cincinnati and to other communities more than a hundred miles upstream. In that area, the Ohio generally marked time, held back by the great volume of water that bogged in the tri-state area of Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana. From the latter district downstream the situation was one of increasing distress.

Takes More Lives

It will be another week, the weather bureau said, before the worst of the flood is felt in southern Indiana, Kentucky and Illinois.

As it retreated in the upstream area, the Ohio and its tributaries snatched two more lives today. Near Portsmouth, O., Louin Mitchell, 15, feared his skiff would sink in a turbulent creek and grabbed at a dangling wire. It was a power line and the shock killed him instantly.

At Zanesville, O., Mrs. Caroline Heinle, 65, was found drowned in a backwater. These deaths put the known toll of the flood at 12 lives, in addition to unestimated damage to property.

Senate Defers Final Vote On Bank Bill Until Today

WASHINGTON, Mar. 22. (AP) — After rejecting a proposal to loosen security requirements for Reconstruction Corporation bank loans, the senate today deferred until tomorrow a final vote on a bill to permit federal reserve loans to state banks and trust companies not members of the reserve system.

The measure, which has passed the house and is before the senate with some added provisions, was not considered until late in the day after a three-hour recess had been taken at the request of Senator McNary, of Oregon, the Republican leader, to permit printing of the text. This was done to facilitate debate.

Death Of Fiance Is Not Blamed To Aviator; State Contends Defendant Threw Woman From Hotel Window

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, March 22. — H. M. Edwards, 37, Reno, Nevada, aviator, was acquitted of charges of murder for the death of his fiance, Miss Ivy Young, actress, by a jury here this afternoon.

The verdict of acquittal was returned after the jury had been out four hours.

Edwards was charged with murder in connection with the fatal plunge of Miss Young from his hotel room on February 19. The actress fell seven stories to her death. The state contended Edwards either pushed or threw his fiance, who was registered in the hotel as his wife, from the hotel window. The defense contended Miss Young fell accidentally.

Roosevelt Confers With Some Congressional Leaders And Favorable Comment Is Made On New Legislation

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Enactment of the Roosevelt plans for employment of a conservation corps was predicted by congressional leaders late tonight after a lengthy conference with President Roosevelt at the White House.

Mr. Roosevelt talked over his plan with the congressional leaders more than two hours during the evening and with few exceptions they said upon their departure the bill would go through without substantial amendments early next week.

Tells His Wishes

In a give-and-take discussion with the members of congress the president was described as telling them in simple language what he wanted and what he expected. The net result was a prediction the bill for employment of 250,000 men by mid-summer on reforestation and other projects would go through next week.

Chairman Connery of the house labor committee raised an issue over the proposed wage to be paid the members of the corps. He call-

Old And Modern Hair Dress Vie In Beauty Scrap

By PAUL HARPER
Central Press Correspondent

NEW YORK, March 22. — What is blond perfection?

Does it naturally follow that the "most beautiful blond" must possess long wavy tresses filled with golden lights and tints?

Or may she wear her flaxen ringlets coiled tightly over her ears in a boyish bob and still be eligible for the title?

Broadway desires to know.

Both Hold Title

The question of bobbed blonds acquired New York's attention recently when beautiful Betty Real and alluring Emily Fabian, each representing diametrically different schools of hair dress, were discovered to possess at the same time the title of "most beautiful blond of Broadway's night clubs."

Betty Real is vivacious, bubbling over with youthful sprightliness and charm. And she has long, undulating hair that shimmers down over her slim shoulders.

Tall And Stately

Emily Fabian is tall, sophisticated and stately. She is swankily mysterious, soft-spoken and reserved in her actions. She wears her blond tresses combed tightly against her well-shaped head and not a single errant curl ever falls below her arms. And she, too, has been judged New York's most beautiful blond.

The question, therefore, resolves

Abstract For Property Mailed Montgomery Ward & Co., For Approval; Plans Received On New Structure

Abstract for the Temple Ellis building property at Texas avenue and Broadway has been sent to Montgomery Ward & company for approval, indicating the deal by which the merchandising company is to purchase the site is nearing completion.

Plans Released

First information regarding plans for the building which Montgomery Ward is planning to erect were released yesterday. The structure will have 34,500 square feet of floor space, making it the largest building of its type this side of Fort Worth, Mayor Clements said.

The building, which will utilize basement and walls now at the site, will be three full stories, and will have a basement and a mezzanine floor. Floor plans already have been received here.

Bill Legalizing Amber Brew And Wine Becomes A Law As President Roosevelt Places Signature Wednesday

To Seek Ruling

Federal Officers Prepare To Enforce Provisions Of New Law; Early Morning Parties April 7 May Be Staged

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 22.—With smiles, the Roosevelt administration today formally authorized sale of beer.

The bill legalizing both the amber brew and also wine of 3.2 per cent alcoholic content became law with the signature of President Roosevelt at 2 p. m.

"And I hope you got the smile at the end," he remarked to photographers who recorded the signing in the cabinet room at the White House executive office.

Garner Wears Grin

Wearing a broad grin himself an hour earlier, Vice President Garner had affixed his signature to the legislation to send it from congress to the White House.

Fifteen days hence—or after midnight on April 6—the beer may be sold in the 14 states permitting it. The midnight hour applies to the eastern time belt. Sales may begin at 9 o'clock that night on the Pacific coast, for instance.

But the prohibitionists already were at work tonight on plans to halt the beer flow by court action. Some were considering seeking an injunction. Others were preparing to speed the case to the supreme court for a ruling whether it violated the constitutional mandate against sale of intoxicating beverages.

Officers Are Busy

Federal officers charged with administration of the new law were just as busy to make sure of its enforcement. They ruled the new beverage must be kept within the breweries or on the premises until the midnight hour has struck April 6. Trucks may then go their way

Farm Holiday Group Planned

Statewide Meeting In Texas Probably Will Be Called At Austin Tuesday For Formation Of Association

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, March 22.—A meeting will be called at Austin, probably on Tuesday of next week, to organize the Texas Farmers' holiday association, which will be affiliated with the national organization, it was announced here today.

George W. Armstrong of Fort Worth, independent candidate for governor last November, was named chairman of a committee appointed at a meeting here today with authority to call the statewide meeting at Austin. L. T. Mayhugh of Running Water, and L. Gough of Amarillo were appointed on the committee with Armstrong. They will write a proposed constitution and by-laws.

Milo Reno, of Des Moines, Iowa, president of the national group, explained the purpose of the organization in a short address here today. He said the organization had its origin in Iowa more than a year ago, and that it proposed to check mortgage foreclosures "until farmers begin receiving a fair return for their produce."

Shaw Pops Out With New Idea

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, March 22.—Now Charles Gray Shaw tells what he thinks of jig-saw puzzle fans.

It will be recalled that Shaw, philosophy professor at New York university, was the one who caused a storm when he said in 1931 something about whistlers being morons.

"The jig-saw, like the cross-word puzzle," he declared today, "is a self-imposed intelligence test, by which the puzzler wishes to assure himself that he is not in the moron class.

"Such tests, on a smaller scale, are used in determining degrees of imbecility."

House Passes Farm Bill To Senate Floor

Fourth Display Of Roosevelt Strength Seen Wednesday As New Remedy For Farm Ills Is Given Big Vote

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 22. — A fourth giant display of Roosevelt strength today sped through the house to a more doubtful senate future, a new remedy for farming ills.

Two days of debate bristling with criticism of the drastic farm-aid plan mustered only 98 opposition votes when the roll was called on a bill virtually identical with that sent from the White House last week.

Power Authorized

The measure would confer upon Secretary Wallace unprecedented powers to deal with the farm situation. Under its terms he could apply any of several methods of controlling surpluses and reducing acreages, including features of the domestic allotment plan, rental of lands to retire them from production and the Smith plan of reducing cotton plantings by giving in exchange options on government-owned cotton.

While the house chamber echoed with debate it was made known that within the week the administration would have ready its second step in the farm field—a plan for refinancing agriculture and home mortgages at lower rates of interest and amortization.

Robinson Has Plan

Senator Robinson of Arkansas the Democratic leader, said he planned to have this new administration plan attached to the relief bill in the senate. Although this would require further consideration of the present bill by the house, it is calculated to save time in enacting the whole program.

In the senate, hundreds of amendments to the relief bill were in preparation to back the many demands for revision. Nevertheless, the Democratic leaders were confident of getting the measure through in a form acceptable to Mr. Roosevelt.

Entirely New Plan Of World Trade Looming

American Tariff Doors Would Be Opened In Return For A Like Breach By Other Countries Of World

Strong Opposition

Decision Means Embarkation Upon A New Tariff Policy From That Pursued By The U. S. Since 1909

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 22. — The administration will seek from the present special session of congress a free hand for President Roosevelt to open American tariff doors in return for compensating breaches in foreign tariff walls by means of reciprocal treaties.

This announcement, with its far-reaching bearing upon world trade and possibly upon war debts, was made definitely today by the state department.

To Reduce Rates

The legislation will be pressed as soon as emergency measures encompassed in President Roosevelt's program have been enacted. The power to reduce tariff rates on a give-and-take basis is hoped for by the administration in time to permit the making of the first of the proposed commercial treaties in advance of the world economic conference scheduled for London this summer.

The decision means embarkation upon an entirely new tariff policy from that pursued since 1909 when provisions for reciprocity were repealed.

Following Platform

In seeking to place the power to negotiate recoprocal agreements in the hands of the executive, the administration feels it is moving toward the practical execution of the Democratic platform which provided for "reciprocal tariff agreements with other nations."

Already this grant of broad tariff powers to the president has been proposed on Capitol Hill with Representative Lewis of Maryland, a Democratic leader of the house ways and means committee which normally draws up tariff bills, advocating it as a means of expediting such agreements.

Opposition Looming

At the same time there are plenty of signs such a proposal may encounter strong opposition.

With the proposed power in his hands, President Roosevelt would

Miraculous Change In United States Is Described By British Statesman

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, March 22.—"An almost miraculous change," has occurred in the United States since the inauguration of President Roosevelt, Chancellor of the Exchequer Neville Chamberlain said in the house of commons tonight.

Mr. Chamberlain referred to economic conditions throughout the world as well as in the United States, and his remarks were optimistic.

"Looking over the world," he said, "one can see indications that the industrial situation is likely to improve within the next few months."

Recent improvements in the United States, he asserted, has been reflected on this side of the ocean.

"A few weeks ago," he told the house, "anyone looking at the situation in the United States could have done so only with a feeling of gravest anxiety. Today, thanks to the initiative, courage and wisdom of the president, a change has taken place which is almost miraculous.

"Confidence has been largely restored. People who have withdrawn their money from the banks are bringing their hoardings back. A new sense of con-

Needle Club Parties Predominate In Society For Mid-Week In Cit

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE BEAN WILSON
Avalanche Woman's Editor

WITH ALL of our talk about helping the cotton farmer along because he happens to be one of the mainstays of this section, it was left up to a group of girls in Gilbert, Minn., to inaugurate something that might help if it becomes universal. Two hundred and fifty high school girls in one town formed a "Cotton Stocking club" with the proviso that all members are prohibited from wearing hose of any other material while attending classes.

Such clubs, formed throughout the South, might bring out cotton stockings with all of the benefits of the rayon and silk hose we now wear and at the same time help this cotton consumption along a bit.

THE COTTON SEASON

BY THE WAY, the cotton dress season is at hand. There may have been a day when people had to be urged to wear cotton in the summer time but that day has passed. Women have tried silks for summer wear and found that they are anything but comfortable in the heat. Linens have advantages, if one is adept at pressing morning, noon and night. But when it comes down to some real hot weather comfort, cotton is hard to beat. And, nowadays, the cotton materials are as pretty as one could wish.

This column would urge the wearing of more cotton this summer were the author not confident that that is an unnecessary bit of work. It seems fairly certain that the cotton wearing will be continued through the season.

NEW FADS AND STYLES

Almost anything can be used for trimming on your summer wardrobe—anything from telephone wire to bits of wood or pieces of cotton rope. At least, that is the advice from stylists, who are the ones starting all of these fads.

Novel knick-knacks of leather nickel and cotton are good for spring street and sports clothing according to Adelaide Kerr, who writes about styles in Paris for the Associated Press. She tells us, too, that telephone wire is being employed to make gadgets such as belts and necklaces.

The copper coils are twisted and formed into trinkets that look well on brown or dark blue costumes.

From Paris there is more news of what to wear and when. Cotton is widely used for sports suits, frocks and summer evening frocks, while linen also plays an important role, we are told. Coat dresses, designed along simple lines with high necklines and plain sleeves, appear in varied fabrics ranging from wool to shantung.

The waistline is slightly lower in most of the models, being placed at a point an inch or two below the natural line.

Bodices are generally simple in effect, while skirts, with hemliner about ten inches from the ground are slightly fuller.

One of the new things for spring, it seems, will be printed shantung hats, designed like sailors with low crowns and narrow brims, and most of them are worn with tailored suits having blouses of printed shantung to match the hats.

SENSIBLE HINT

SCREEN actresses are frequently asked for beauty hints, which by the way, are usually sent out by press agents who may or may not consult the actresses. For no particular reason, I have read a lot of these hints with the result that I had just about lost faith in ever running across a sensible one.

The other day such a hint was attributed to Jessie Ralph and it met the requirements that I have been seeking. Introducing her statement by saying that she has no beauty and therefore no beauty secrets, the actress adds "but let me make a few suggestions to the girls of today—that they drink plenty of water instead of cocktails if they wish to keep their complexions. And if they have rosy cheeks and bright eyes, why disguise them with mascara and rouge? Live normally — that is my plea to the girls of 1933."

Of course, that, too, may be the brain child of the press agent. But it is advice that might be profitably followed by all of these girls who hang on every word and action of their cinema idols.

GINGER ROGERS

By NEA Service

HOLLYWOOD. — Checks and prints bob up in increasing numbers at every kind of social gathering in Hollywood these days.

Ginger Rogers wears a frilly blue and white checked organdie party dress, with rows and rows of ruffles below the elbow on the long puffed sleeves, and more rows and rows of ruffles about the bottom of the long skirt. It's a young, flattering dress and Ginger looks grand in it.

At the Brown Derby the other day, Mary Astor wore a new spring printed silk dress to lunch, gray and white formalised floral print with short sleeves and a knife-pleated yoke. Her felt hat and slippers were gray, too.

At a dinner party Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon gave at the Biltmore Hotel, Billie Dove wore a lovely evening gown of printed crepe in bright green, red, gold, white and black and her belt and bracelets were multi-colored stones to match the colors of her dress. Bebe was a glamorous hostess in silver cloth gown, backless but with covered shoulders. Carmen Pantages (Mrs. John Considine, jr.), there with her brother, Lloyd, wore deep red velvet with crinkly crepe flowers in wreaths on her shoulders.

Dancing in the Roosevelt Blossom Room, Lona Andre wore a gray silk crepe with an indefinite shadow design in red and with a cluster of red velvet flowers from the neck to the waist in front. Also a short red velvet jacket with puff sleeves.

Hedda Hopper, lunching at the Ambassador, wore a blue and white checked, knitted suit, and a white beret type hat cocked over her right eye.

Set Up Similar To That Used Before Pro Law Planned To Secure Full Tax

WASHINGTON, March 22. (AP)—A set up quite similar to that used before prohibition will be utilized by federal authorities to make certain that Uncle Sam gets his full tax on the new beer.

As described today it will operate as follows:

Giant measuring vats, some holding as much as 5,000 gallons will be set up in each plant with one pipe for in-take and another for outlet. The outlet will be locked by government inspector.

When the brewer wishes to bottle, the calibrated vat will be filled to the point desired and revenue collectors will take the tax. Then the outlet pipe will be opened by the inspector, who will at the same time lock the in-take.

Kegs will have the revenue stamp placed squarely over the bung hole, so that destruction will be necessary to pour out the beer.

To insure that the beer does not exceed the legal 3.2 per cent alcoholic content, an instrument called an "embullometer" will be used.

Dr. James M. Doran, chief of the bureau of industrial alcohol pointed out, water boils at about 100 degrees centigrade and alcohol at 78 degrees. The embullometer will register the boiling point of the beverage, which if legal, will be just a few notches below 100 degrees.

In addition to this test, occasional laboratory samples will be taken and the inspector will have a complete inventory of the brewery supplies so he can judge the amount of the various ingredients used to produce fermentation.

Banker Holds Faith In FDR

Walter S. Posey Is Confident That Banking Situation Is Promising; Faith In The New Deal Is Shown

Lubbock Rotary club members at Hotel Lubbock yesterday heard Walter S. Posey, First National bank vice-president, express great faith and confidence in the banking situation.

Reviewing the days of the World war when the world experienced its greatest era of speculation, Mr. Posey said efforts to turn securities into cash and the hoarding of cash and currency brought on the recent banking difficulty.

"Looked Hopeless"

"It looked hopeless," he said, "but fortunately for you and me and the people of the United States, a man had just entered the White House who was courageous enough to act and act quickly. He believed in a new deal and immediately set out to bring it about. He closed all the banks in the country and then went to congress with a request for laws to protect our banking system and the banks that were 100 per cent sound.

"After the bubble burst in 1929, we read of bank failure and bank failure all over the country as the result of people drawing out their funds," Mr. Posey continued. "There was a vicious circle. People withdrew their deposits and the banks were forced to press their loans and that further lowered prices and caused a weakening of confidence. Even the strongest banks in the nation got so they wouldn't make loans because they were threatened with runs.

"But now, the people are assured of protection for their funds. They know that the banks opened are sound banks and adjudged so by the treasury department. And like Carter Glass said on the floor of the senate the other day, 'All the rotten banks will be closed like they should have been long ago.'"

Mr. Posey explained briefly regulations of the emergency banking act which call for $10,000 fine and ten years in prison for violations and reorganization of the personnel of banks if their business is not conducted properly.

Preceeding Mr. Posey's talk, Clarence Whiteside and Boone Jenkins made classification talks on nursery work and telegraph service respectively.

Stony Wall of Plainview extended an invitation to an inter-city meeting to be held there next Tuesday night and Mrs. R. L. Clinkscales and Miss Geraldine Roberts made announceemnts of the approaching P.-T. A. benefit play.

At the close of the program, J. A. Rix answered a roll call of the club, giving each member's name and classification.

M. B. Hilburn was chairman of the day's program and presided.

Federal Control Of Oil Is Urged

DALLAS, March 22 (AP)—Edward T. Moore, president of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association, today urged federal control of the oil industry.

He said he believed the step would have to be taken "if we are to have relief from the present disorganized state of the oil industry. Some of the major companies, no doubt, would oppose such a step."

Moore expressed belief that the next week would "tell the tale" as to the fate of proration with the changes "about fifty-fifty" that efforts to control production would be abandoned.

Although opposed to government ownership of the oil industry, he said the government should control it under some proration or other plan "that would conserve our oil for defense and our national needs."

Acuff Studes Win In Debate

Loser In Recent Contest Which Was Contested Is Winner In Match Over Shallowater Here On Wednesday

Acuff boys' debate team, loser in a recent contest which was successfully protested, defeated Shallowater's boy debaters in a second debate at junior high school yesterday.

The Acuff boys will meet Idalou boys in the county Interscholastic League final in room T203 of Texas Technological college building at 11 a. m. Friday. Shallowater girls will meet the Slaton team in finals in that division at 10 a. m. Friday in room T205, H. D. Bentley, director of debate said.

Acuff's protest, based on a technicality in procedure of the first debate with Shallowater, was upheld by the county executive committee and by the state committee.

In debates at junior high school Tuesday, Idalou boys defeated Slaton, and Slaton girls defeated Idalou.

The county Interscholastic League meet will begin Friday morning at 9 o'clock with a general assembly meeting in the First Baptist church. Literary events will be conducted Friday, and track and field contests will be held Saturday, beginning at 9 a. m., at Matador field.

John Brown of Harpers Ferry fame and Jesse Grant, father of U. S. Grant, were fellow apprentices in the Hudson, Ohio, tannery of Owen Brown.

"Swimming" of the Head

From Constipation

"I used to suffer from spells of swimming in the head," writes Mrs. Carrie Brown, of Meridian, Miss. "Everything would go 'round and 'round. When I stood upon my feet, I would be almost blind with dizziness. My stomach was upset. These spells, I believe, came from constipation. I suffered torture from the effects.

"My mother had taken Thedford's Black-Draught for a long time, and she suggested to me that I try it. While I was feeling so bad, I took half a teaspoonful, put it in some water and took it. I found it was just the thing to relieve the suffering from constipation. Now I always keep it in my house. I take it whenever I need a laxative.

"I have used Black-Draught in my home now for twelve years, and feel it is a great help in keeping my family in a healthy condition."

SALLY LEARNS A SMARTER WAY TO THRIFT

SAVES MONEY... YET SERVES BETTER COFFEE THAN EVER BEFORE

EXPECT A SURPRISE WHEN YOU MAKE THIS TEST

—You'll Learn Something Not One Person In 50 Knows About Coffee

Now you can prove beyond all dispute, that you can enjoy the luxury of the finest coffee, and still practice thrift and economy. Here's all you do:

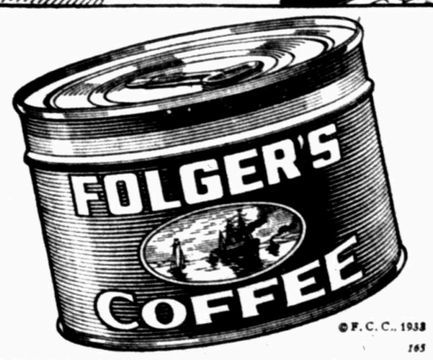

Get a can of Folger's today. Tomorrow morning make coffee your regular way. BUT—use ¼ less of Folger's than any other kind. For example, in making 8 cups, use only 6 tablespoons of Folger's, instead of 8. (Or whatever proportions you've been using, simply reduce ¼ with Folger's.)

Then taste the coffee. Note that even with the reduced amount used, it's richer, more flavory. Folger's goes so much farther and lasts so much longer, that it actually costs no more—perhaps even less to use—than cheap, paper-package coffee.

This is because Folger's is not simply another "brand," but an entirely different kind of coffee. It contains the rare mountain coffees of Central America. Coffees of twice the richness—twice the flavor—that experts concede are not duplicated anywhere else in the world.

Make this test now. And if it doesn't prove all we say here, simply return the can to your grocer and get your money back. We'll pay him. That's fair, isn't it?

Lubbock Takes Triangular Meet; Noble Kizer Signed For Tech School

Westerners In Large Victory Over 2 Teams

Crosbyton Rates Second Best With Slaton Trailing Third In Three-Cornered Meet On Texas Tech Field

Sweeping down the runway and around the oval for five first places in the track events and performing in the field for five top places the Lubbock High school Westerners buried the Slaton and Crosbyton thinly clads under an avalanche of points to win their triangular meet here yesterday, 92 1-3 to 43 1-3 to 26 1-3.

The Westerners lost in the one-mile run, the 220-yard dash, the 220-yard low hurdles and the shot put. Mercer of Slaton came from behind after trailing more than three laps to beat Lubbock's Graham Stanfill by a length in the gruelling one-mile run. It was Graham's first defeat this year. He led the slim Slaton youth nearly four times around the track, but a sensational finish put Mercer ahead almost at the final turn. The time was 4 minutes, 59.4 seconds.

Mays of Crosbyton charged in barely ahead of Joe Nelson of Lubbock to win the 220-yard dash in 24.7 seconds.

"Big Shot" Janes, Lubbock's weight man, fell far behind in the shot putting event, Stockton of Crosbyton taking first with a heave of 43 feet, 1 inch.

Johnson Wins Low Hurdles

Johnson of Slaton did a nice finish to nose out Hicks of Lubbock in the low hurdles, and the time was 28.2 seconds.

Crosbyton took second place in the meet, leaving third to Slaton, whose team put in a last-minute appearance and had little time to warm up for any events.

Lubbock's Rufus Ryan was the only athlete to cop two first places alone. He also ran in the winning relay team, and finished with 12 1-4 points for the day's work.

Mays And Blackwood

Mays and Blackwood of Crosbyton were outstanding performers for their school, and Johnson, Mercer and Todd scored for Slaton.

The Westerners go to Amarillo Friday to engage the Sandies and the Pampa Harvesters in a triangular meet. Lubbock's only home defeat of the season was at the hands of Amarillo. The score was 50 to 50, the same score by which the Sandies defeated Pampa last week.

Dalton Blagg, star broad jumper for Lubbock, was not in yesterday's meet due to illness. Coach Weldon Chapman expressed hope that Blagg would be able to make the Amarillo trip this week.

The summaries:

120-yard high hurdles — Blackwell of Lubbock, first; Stone of Lubbock, second; Blackwood of Crosbyton, third and Hunt of Lubbock, fourth; time, 18.6 seconds.

100-yard dash—Ryon of Lubbock, first; Nichols of Slaton, second; Johnson of Slaton, third, and Mays of Crosbyton, fourth; time, 10.8 seconds.

880-yard run — D. Chapman of Lubbock, first; W. Chapman of Lubbock, second; Dobkins of Slaton, third, and Green of Lubbock fourth; time, 2 minutes, 16.8 seconds.

220-yard low hurdles—Johnson of Slaton, first; Hicks of Lubbock, second; Ray Hale of Lubbock, third and Jones of Slaton, fourth; time, 28.2 seconds.

Curtain Falls On Holdout Act; Babe And Jake Agree On $52,000 Contract

Promises Broken As Parley Ends With A Compromise

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 22. (AP)—The curtain has fallen on baseball's annual hold-out act, starring George Herman Ruth. The Babe has agreed to sign a one year contract with the New York Yankees—for $52,000.

Unsuccessful in his demand for $80,000 in answer to Colonel Jacob Ruppert's $50,000 offer, Ruth effected a compromise contract which saw his salary drop below its level of 1923-1926 when he received $52,500.

To Be In Lineup

Actual signing of the contract will be delayed several days but the Babe will take his place in right field in the Yankee lineup for the exhibition game with the Boston Braves here Friday. It will be Ruth's first game of the season, for although he has taken his practice chores along with the others, he's refused to play in exhibitions and has spent his time fishing and golfing.

Today's conference was short and snappy. Ruth reduced his compromise figure made last Saturday of $55,000 to $52,000 and Colonel Ruppert, the owner of the Yankees, promptly agreed. The long salary controversy ended in Ruth's penthouse apartment here.

Paid $75,000 last season, Ruth balked early in the winter when he received a contract calling for $50,000—a one-third slash. He announced he would sign for $62,500—or quit baseball. His first conference with Colonel Ruppert saw the big slugger chop his figure down to $60,000. Until today Ruppert had stood solidly behind his original offer.

His 20th Season

Ruth is 39 years old and in his twentieth big league season. He lost his clouting honors last year to Jimmie Foxx of the Athletics but had a good year and was a hero of the World Series.

He's a few pounds overweight now, but otherwise appears to be in good condition and expects to get down to playing weight without difficulty.

MEDWICK'S HOMER HELPS CARDS

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 22. (AP)—A home run by Joe Medwick, Texas League recruit, plus mid-season pitching by Dizzy Dean and Tex Carleton gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 3 to 2 victory over the New York Yanks in the final game of their home and home spring exhibition series today.

Medwick cracked out his circuit drive off Lefty Gomez in the fourth to put the Cards out in front. The Yankies tied the count in the fifth, but St. Louis put over the winning run in their half of the ninth, a fumble by Crosetti, a sacrifice by Pepper and Charlie Wilsons single sending Allen across the plate.

DODGERS TAKE 2-1 WIN

MIAMI, Fla., March 22. (AP)—Johnny Fredericks single in the thirteenth inning broke up the Brooklyn-Buffalo exhibition baseball game today and gave the Dodgers a 2 to 1 victory.

FOXX SLUGS, A'S WIN

FT. MYERS, Fla., March 22. (AP)—Jimmy Foxx's three hits today were largely responsible for the Philadelphia Athletics 7 to 6 triumph over the Cincinnati Reds.

Back at his first base post after a two-day's absence with a bruised shoulder, the big league home run king cracked out a single, a double and a triple. Left Fielder Lou Finney also contributed a three bagger.

TULSA OILERS IN CAMP

ADA, Okla., March 22. (AP)—Skipper Art Grigg's Tulsa Oilers played a few innings at their Texas League camp here this afternoon. It was the first time the oilers had listened to the calling of balls and strikes.

A crew of 32 was on the field, but Skipper Griggs said he was not ready to say when he would begin thinning out the ranks to league limits.

The veteran Andy Bednar, Western league leader last year, was given the hot spot in pre-season talk of which the crop of pitchers would start the first game, which will be played against Fort Worth at Tulsa about April 11.

MARTY WARNS RED SOX

SARASOTA, Fla., March 22. (AP)—After warning his players their batting would have to show immediate improvement or they would be released, Manager Marty McManus today sent his Boston Red Sox squad through a full nine-innings practice game. McManus' team collected 11 hits but was beaten, 10-5, by the nine led by Bob Fothergill.

GALVESTON REGULARS WIN

GALVESTON, March 22. (AP)—The Buccaneers Regulars defeated the Yannigans 7-2 in a seven inning intra-camp game here today in the second contest of a series that started with a 20-1 victory for the regulars Monday.

Beau Bell, Charlie English and Fabian hit doubles and Jack Mealy hit for three bases for the winners.

Chief Moore, big Indian right hander worked the first three innings against the Yannigans without allowing a man to reach first and a rookie right hander, Freddie Croft, allowed them only one hit in the final four frames.

OKLAHOMA INDIANS WORKOUT

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 22 (AP)—In their first general workout, the Oklahoma Indians went through a variety of exercises today under the critical eye of Manager Fred Luderus.

"Sock" Johnson and Luther "Red" Harvel rattled the boards in batting practice and five hurlers were given the once-over. They were Lefty Holmes, Vernon Kennedy, Ralp Moreu, and two righthanders from last season's team, Harry Matuzak and Merle Taylor.

Two more regulars, Jimmy Summers and Herman Cholcher, reported ahead of scheduled time leaving only three veterans to report. They are Tom Holley second base Howard Moore, third base, and Emil Theiler, third base.

EXPORTERS GO 12 INNINGS

BEAUMONT, March 22. (AP)—In a twelve inning session which went that far simply because the exercise was needed the Exporter regulars defeated the Yannigans 8 to 1 today, a homer by King Fisher, burly rookie catcher, providing the only Yannigan run.

Tomorrow the Yannigan squad goes to Rayne, La., while the regulars take on a local semi-pro team in Stuart Stadium.

INDIANS OUTPITCH PELICANS

NEW ORLEANS, March 22. (AP)—The Cleveland Indians defeated the New Orleans Pelicans today in a pitching duel, 3 to 2, making it four out of five for the tribe in their exhibition series.

The Indians made all of their six hits and the resultant runs off Lefty Lee, Pelican southpaw.

MUSTANGS TAKE LESSON

DALLAS, March 22. (AP)—The Dallas Steers gave the Southern Methodist university Mustangs a baseball lesson in a spring practice game here this afternoon, trimming the Collegians 22 to 1. The teams expected to meet again tomorrow.

Manager Happ Morse lent McAdams, Minogue and Tietje to the Mustangs.

Hutchinson, Simmons and Erickson worked for the Texas Leaguers. Simmons, a young right-hander recommended by Roy Leslie, showed the best form, holding the Mustangs to two hits in five innings.

Only two members of the Steer squad, Rip Radcliff, outfielder, and Zeke Bonura, first sacker, have not signed contracts for the season. Manager Bob Tarleton announced today he would take drastic steps to bring about an agreement immediately.

RICK FERRELL ARRIVES

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Mar. 22.—Rick Ferrell, the Browns holdout catcher, arrived here unexpectedly this afternoon from his home in Guilford, N. C.

Ferrell said he is mainly displeased with the salary offered him by the Browns and would welcome a trade to a club which might be willing to pay him more salary. The Browns offered him $6,000 and it was raised to $10,000.

Owner Phil Ball and Manager Bill Killefer were out in the bay looking for a sailfish when Ferrell arrived and a conference was delayed for a while.

FRISCH SEEKS AGREEMENT

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 22. (AP)—Sam Breadon, president of the St. Louis Cardinals, said today Frank Frisch was on his way to Florida for a conference on his 1933 contract.

Breadon said, "we are going to hold a conference and we expect to reach a satisfactory agreement.

What Will A's Do Without Al, Mule And Jim?

Did Connie Break Up Championship Team For Fun? New Men May Give Him Another For 1933 Campaign

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

The first game of the 1932 World Series was over, and the baseball writers, typewriters in hand, trudged wearily into headquarters.

"Connie Mack," came the announcement, "has sold Al Simmons, Mule Haas, and Jimmy Dykes to the White Sox for $100,000."

To a man they set their machines down. Through every mind ran the same thought, came the same memory, of the White Elephants of 1910, 1911, 1913, and 1914 of the sale of Chief Bender, Eddie Plank, Jack Combs, as a start in the dissolution of one of the greatest baseball organizations of all time.

Opinions were unanimous.

"Connie Mack is breaking up another great championship team."

It has taken most of the winter to break down that first opinion and realize the Philadelphia Athletics today may be potentially as strong as the championship A's of 1929, 1930 and 1931.

It won't look the same at all, with the mighty Simmons gone from his knockout spot in the lineup, with the peppery Jimmy Dykes out of the infield, and the veteran strategists, Eddie Collins and Kid Gleason, gone from Connie Mack's side on the bench. Gleason died during the winter, and the Red Sox took Collins as their new front office manager.

Te Athletic lineup this year combines youth, power, and experience. The changes naturally appear most strikingly in the outfield, where three young men who may some day make Philadelphia forget even the clouting prowess of Al Simmons, are roaming wild and free.

Reading from left to right, the youngsters are Lou Finney, Roger Cramer and Ed Coleman, all graduates of the Pacific Coast league. Connie has produced another sensational youngster, also from the A's farm team in Portland, in Frank Higgins, a big rangy fellow who can hit and field.

Eric McNair, developed similarly by Mack, proved an outstanding shortstop last year. Max Bishop still is a fine second baseman, a crack lead-off man. There is no better first baseman than 25-year-old, apple-cheeked Jimmy Foxx, .364 hitter, who may surpass Babe Ruth's home run record this year. Jimmy hit 58 last season.

Lefty Grove, George Earnshaw, and Rube Walberg still are the pitching "big three" of the majors and this season they will have added support from Freitas, a southpaw who won ten straight after reporting late last summer; Leroy McHaffey, constantly threatening to become a star; Burly Gowell Claset, southpaw from Montreal in the International league; Jim Peterson, former Pennsylvania husky; and Merrit Cain of Baltimore.

Mickey Cochran may no longer be the greatest catcher in baseball, a title now claimed for Bill Dickey of the Yankees but he still rates second place. Ed Madjeski, a hard-hitting youngster, will spell him when necessary.

Popular Coach To Teach Here

Meet Noble Kizer, Purdue university coach who will teach the Notre Dame system of football at the third annual Texas Tech coaching school. (See story at right).

Waggoner's Texas Colt Wins Second Money Purse Of Year

NEW YORK, March 22. (AP)—W. T. Waggoner, owner of the Three D's stock farm of Texas, sent out his Kentucky Derby and Preakness eligibles, Strideaway, for the second time this winter today. The 3-year-old son of Phalaros lost little time in winning his second purse, defeating a smart band of his age over one and one-sixteenth miles at the fair grounds, New Orleans.

Quoted at the prohibitive odds of 40 cents on the dollar, the Texas colt took the lead at the quarter-mile post and was never seriously menaced. He galloped across the Whitney's Gyro. Mrs. M. Eckman's finish line a length in front of C. V. Kilmore was third in the field of five.

Jockey A. Beck was astride Strideaway to complete a double, having previously scored in the fourth event with Ante Bellum. Tony Pascuma also was up on two winners—Desner in the opening race and Contraband in the third.

Miss Orcutt Leads 8 Women Golfers In Pinehurst Play

PINEHURST, N. C., March 22. (AP) Paced by Miss Maureen Orcutt, Englewood, N. J., the defending champion, eight golfers, including several of the younger stars, advanced today to the second round of the 31st north and south tournament for women.

The New Jersey star blasted Mrs. Gail Maxwell, Springlake, N. J., out of the tournament with an 8 and 6 victory. She won the medal in yesterday's qualifying round.

The other tournament favorite Mrs. Opal S. Hill, Kansas City, defeated Mrs. J. W. Hoopes, Kennet Square, Pa., 6 and 5.

BILOXI, Miss., Mar. 22. (AP)—Cliff Bolton, the rookie catcher upon whom Manager Joe Cronin is depending heavily this year, smacked out a homer with the bases loaded in the third inning of a game with the Atlanta club today and just about clinched the Washington Senator's 9 to 4 victory.

Bolton caught half the game and made no errors.

Purdue Mentor To Show Notre Dame 'System'

Former Stellar Performer For Knute Rockne To Lecture On Irish Style Of Football At Tech Coaching School

The fourth of a string of "all-American" coaches who will teach their favorite systems of football at the third annual Texas Tech coaching school was announced yesterday as having come to terms.

He is Noble Kizer, head coach of football at Purdue university, whose famous Boilermakers of the Big Ten conference need no introduction to followers of football gossip.

Three Other "Greats"

Harry Kipke of Michigan, Bernie Bierman of Minnesota, Andy Kerr of Colgate and Noble Kizer of Purdue are the men who will sign football diplomas at the end of the school, which comes about, after a two weeks course, on August 13.

Kizer, who learned his football under that peerless coach, Knute Rockne, at Notre Dame, will concentrate his activities here on the Irish system and promoters of the school believe that there are few coaches today capable of showing the famous system with more ability than Kizer.

All-American At Notre Dame

The Boilermaker coach first gained national recognition as one of the "seven mules" who made way for Rockne's "four horsemen" of 1924. Next year he went to Purdue as understudy and assistant to Jimmy Phelan, who was a principal figure in Tech's first coaching school in 1930. Phelan went to the University of Washington in 1930, and Kizer assumed the generalship at Purdue.

Boilermaker teams in the last three years have won 24 and lost 4 games in the Big Ten conference. The team tied with Michigan for the conference championship 1 n 1931.

Kizer is a former team mate of Rip Miller, Navy coach, who attended the second Tech school last year, and who has signified intention of returning this year. Kizer also is Miller's brother-in-law.

Finely Balanced Staff

With Kipke teaching the short punt system, Bierman the single wing-back, Kerr the double wing-back and Kizer the Notre Dame style of football, the Tech school staff will be balanced by purveyors of information on the four most popular styles of football known in the country.

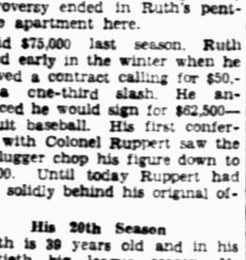

In the opinion of Coach Pete Cawthon of Texas Tech, there could be no better balanced staff of instructors for a coaching school, since the teachings will cover every important phase of modern offensive and defensive football.

Seventh Inning Rally Gives Giants 6-5 Win Over Pirates

LOS ANGELES, March 22. (AP)—A four-run rally in the last half of the seventh inning gave the New York Giants a six to five victory today over Pittsburgh in an exhibition baseball game here.

The score had been tied at two-all until the seventh, when the Pirates engaged in a scoring spree and put across three runs, only to be outdone by the slugging New Yorkers.

Hughie Critz, after doubling, scored on Manager Bill Terry's single to centerfield and Terry, in turn, was scored by Mel Ott's double to center field. Ott came in when John Ryan, young shortstop singled and Gus Mancuso sent across the winning run by singling and scoring Ryan.

Al Smith Declares That He Was Not In On Corporation

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—Former Governor Alfred E. Smith testified in federal court today that he never had been associated with or in any way interested in the affairs of the National Diversified corporation.

The former governor, wearing his brown derby, appeared at the federal building as a witness in the trial of Otto E. Goebel, Hollywood producer, and others for alleged mail fraud in connection with sale of National Diversified stock.

The defendants are charged with having told investors that Smith and other prominent Catholic laymen, as well as clergymen, were interested in the project.

MARKET REPORTS

Stocks

WALL STREET REPORT

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—Stocks failed to hold a midday rally today, but their afternoon dip found resistance much stronger than in the previous market and final prices were mostly above the lows.

A few industrial leaders finished higher and the market's average loss was six-tenths of a point against .4 points on Tuesday.

An advance in United States government bonds and less insistent pressure against light and power company shares were among the day's developments on the stock exchange. Rail equities, however, softened during the afternoon; that group, incidentally, has undergone a smaller percentage of reaction from last week's top than either utilities or industrials.

Offerings of rails had a depressing effect. The close, however, was on a mild recovery nevertheless, utility stocks averaged into new low ground for the year.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, March 22. (AP)—Cotton was more active today, fluctuating erratically with stocks and grains, but the trend was toward higher levels and the close was 5 to 10 points net up. Trade demand was a supporting factor and there was also buying from sources which expressed belief that the new farm relief bill would stimulate prices.

Liverpool cables came in about as due. Private cables said that market declined on New York and Bombay selling with a limited offtake. Manchester reported more inquiry for cloth from the far east but bids too low and a fair South American business.

May rallied 10 points to a new high at 6.38 while later months duplicated their earlier highs at 6.44 for July and 6.46 for October or 10 to 14 points above the previous close.

In early afternoon the market reacted to 6.17 for May and 6.32 for July, new lows for the day 11 to 12 points below the highsand 1 point below the previous close. In the late trading, however, prices rallied 6 points from the lowest on covering and some recovery in stocks. May closed at 6.23, July at 6.38 both 5 points net higher, and October at 6.59, or 7 points up.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow 3 to 3 penny points up.

Port receipts 9,029, for week 46,245, for season 7,421,268, last season 9,037,318. Exports 27,880, for week 65,165, for season 3,943,835, last season 6,522,760. Port stock 4,374,181, last year 4,508,891. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 102,432, last year 152,639. Spot sales at southern markets 4,867, last year 8,733.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, March 22. (AP)—The decline in cotton was checked today when trade buying reappeared at the levels precailing before the market closed on March 3, and about 77 to 95 points under the highs of last Thursday.

Pressure of liquidation was less active despite easiness of stocks and grains, and fluctuations were confined to a rather narrow range. May contracts fluctuated between 6.20 and 6.30, closing at 6.26 with the general market closing steady at net advances of 2 to 8 points.

The opening was 6 to 10 points higher in sympathy with relatively steady Liverpool cables and on buying by brokers with cooperative connections, trade houses and the continent. Fluctuations for the day were confined to a range of 7 to 11 points.

March contracts sold off from 6.25@6.18 and October from 6.63@6.55 with final prices up about 3 to 7 points from the lowest. Purchases or spot cotton from the continent were reported in the south.

Liverpool cables reported that the market there had declined under overnight New York and Bombay selling as well as outside liquidation with offtake limited. Manchester reported more eastern inquiry and fair business from South America but with offers low. Exports today 27,527 making 6,041,985 so far this season. U. S. port stocks 4,421,891.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, March 22. (AP)—Staggered by almost complete disappearance of purchase orders, wheat fell today to more than 6 cents a bushel under its recent high point.

Practically three quarters of the gain was wiped out which wheat values had scored after resumption of business following the end of the bank holiday period. Attention of traders centered on the administration agricultural bill at Washington, and news about every other subject was nearly ignored.

Wheat closed weak, at the day's bottom level, 1 to 1 1-2 cents under yesterday's finish, corn 1-4 to 1-2 down, oats a shade to 1-4 off, and provisions unchanged to 20 cents lower.

Dallas Cyclones Advance To Semi-Finals In Cage Joust

WICHITA, Kas., Mar. 22. (AP) — The Golden Cyclones from Dallas advanced to the semi-final round of the women's A. A. U. national basketball tournament here tonight by defeating Eldorado, Ark., 40-32.

The Texans met unexpected resistance in the second half after having a lead of 24-10 at the half-time intermission.

Alberta Williams, Dallas center and tournament veteran, was the scoring leader with eight field goals and Marjorie Patterson of Eldorado was a close second with 15 points, 12 of them from the free throw line.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22. (AP) Chicago's Cubs continued their winning streak in exhibition games here by defeating the San Francisco Missions, 6-5, today but the National League champions received a scare by being blanked for seven innings.

L. M. Drown Host To Visitors At Quality Meat Show Which Opens Today; Sterling Evans Is Toastmaster

Forty persons, connected with the Lubbock Quality Meat show, were guests last night of L. M. Drown, manager of the Hilton hotel, at the second annual banquet given by Mr. Drown to extension service workers. It was held in the Chimayo room at 7 o'clock.

FONSECA SHIFTS LINEUP

PASADENA, Calif., March 22. (AP) Lew Fonseca juggled the Chicago White Sox outfield about today to fill the place of George (Mule) Haas, whose ankle injury may keep him out of action for more than a week.

Side Glances At The Crowd Here For Meat Show

HALE COUNTY EXHIBITS

Mrs. Julia Kelley, a Lubbock county woman who made good as a home demonstration agent in Hale county, is here with a group of her women. She has entered 53 exhibits in the canned meats contest. The Hale county entries include 30 hogs and eight calves, 28 hams and 22 bacons.

REPRESENT CLUB

Hazel Brock and Louise Wild, of the County Wide club, will represent the Hale county 4-H club girls in the meat canning team demonstration today. The girls are from a club that has seven communities in it and the sessions are held in Plainview.

TO VISIT FEEDING PENS

Ray Dickson, genial superintendent of the Spur state experiment station, lived up to his reputation as an organizer. Dickson, within an hour after his arrival in Lubbock Wednesday afternoon, had organized a party of G. W. Barnes and B. C. Langley to visit the Hearst feeding pens at Brownfield.

CALVES ARE BROUGHT

C. B. Middleton, vocational teacher at Spur, brought over some calves for the show. W. P. Neaves, one of the farmers of Dickens county who is interested in boys and beeves, came with his son Fred, a winner in the county show.

BETTER THAN DAD

Doug Pounds, Acuff, who superintends the pig show at the South Plains fairs, is general "flunky" for his son who has some pigs at the show. "I'm one of the farmers who have a son that raises better pigs than Dad does," says Doug.

HANDLE THE WORK

Lubbock county farm women are handling the "yard work" of the canned meat judging. They cut open the cans, take care of the contents not inspected for prize honors and in fact do any and all jobs necessary. In the groups Wednesday were: Mrs. V. L. Cade, Mrs. E. R. Slater, Mrs. S. V. Johnson and

QUITE A REPUTATION

J. D. Tinsley, Santa Fe agricultural agent, is making a reputation as a ham judge. At the recent Hale county fair, Mr. Tinsley was drafted as judge of the hams by Walter Evans, county agent. The ham Mr. Tinsley selected for first, placed fourth in the hardest competition of any show in the state.

THE LUBBOCK TEAM

Anna Lee Johnson and Louise Slater, Union, comprise the Lubbock county meat canning demonstration team. They were chosen from among the teams of all clubs in the county.

The Quality Meat Show

BEGINNING today and continuing through tomorrow is the Third Annual Quality Meat show, sponsored by the Board of City Development and the Panhandle-South Plains fair association. Largest of its kind in the Southwest, the show is playing an important role in the training of farm boys and girls for their future vocations.

Aided by the extension service of the A&M College of Texas and by the agricultural school of Texas Technological college, the show is held primarily to lend impetus to the finishing of beef on the South Plains through the use of South Plains feed. It also lends encouragement to the efforts of stockbreeders and raisers to improve the quality of Plains beef—and, in so doing serves an economic need.

Boys and girls of 4-H clubs and vocational agriculture classes are given a valuable background through the staging of the show and, to boot, get small bonuses over the market price of the calves when they are sold.

The Quality Meat show, while not in the least spectacular, makes never-the-less a necessary contribution to the cause of improving farm conditions in this area.

COUNTERFEITING ACTIVITIES

Hard times bring a tidal wave of crime and, among other things, cause an increase in counterfeiting. As efficient as the federal government's agents are in spotting and prosecuting counterfeiters, there were probably more of them operating in this county last year than at any time in many, many moons.

Two weeks ago, as America struggled along without any banks and numerous communities resorted to the use of scrip, counterfeiting of the temporary money was noted in several quarters.

Doubtless there are thousands of dollars in bogus scrip there and yonder—much of which will be spotted when finally cashed in and much of which will not.

YOUNG ROOSEVELT'S DECISION

Elliott Roosevelt, son of the president, recently soared across Texas in a passenger plane, landed at Tucson seeking work. He quit his New York advertising job because "too many people were relying on my pull in Washington to help their cause along."

Of course, young Mr. Rosevelt is not in serious straights; he'll get along; he'll get a job; he's in no danger of starving.

Yet never-the-less we can't help but admire his action in quitting his New York post rather than act as a cat's paw for the scheming. And we're glad he's come west to make his stake.

If he is anything like his father, he'll do well in the west; he'll make a good citizen.

The west needs youngsters of the spunk and courage of Elliott Roosevelt, who declines to commercialize his family's position.

We respect his judgment more than we do that of his sister, who will lend herself to commercialized radio broadcasts—an honorable work, to be sure, but one which she probably could not gain entrance to were she plain Maggie Glutz, of Reading, Pa.

SMART JOB SEEKER

America's jobless have used all kinds of methods in an effort to find work but O. O. McIntyre, the columnist, apparently has found the champion.

Strolling along the sidewalks of New York recently, Mr. McIntyre, who incidentally has been jobless himself on many occasions prior to becoming famous, was stopped by a young man who handed him a box of safety matches. On the outside of the packet was the sentence: "Do you have a job for Ralph Neaves, Jr.?" On the inside of the flap was a description of the applicant's work record.

"Many people", comments Mr. McIntyre, "are going to think of Mr. Neaves when they hear of a job."

We hope Mr. McIntyre is right. There should be a job somewhere for so resourceful a young man.

But even if we worked out a perfect scheme to manage mankind, it probably wouldn't work on womankind.

One of the amenities we liked, back home in the old times, was waving at a train.

The endurance in these endurance contests seems to be all on the part of the public.

Times have changed. So have a lot of congressmen.

Another one closed for repairs is Easy Street.

Jobless Defy Depression

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Representative Marion A. Zioncheck of Seattle says his home city has been the most successful in defying the depression.

"Seattle's jobless, as they multiplied, had the luck," explains the congressman, "to possess efficient leadership, notably in Editor Carl Branin of the Vanguard, a rather radical paper, who, sensing the prospect of a long period of business and industrial stagnation, undertook to organize its victims.

Seattle

"His plan was to maintain the independence of his followers; to preserve the working, fighting spirit in them; to hold families together; to assure them, of course, the three essentials—shelter, food and clothing.

Group Welfare

"For convenience and in the interest of cohesion, he assembled them, as far as possible. Recognizing how the acceptance of individual charity saps self-respect, these folk refused to deal with welfare agencies except collectively. They did accept some aid, but as a group.

"The settlement grew. It reached 14,000 heads of families—a population of 65,000.

"Among these colonists, most trades and professions were and still are represented—lumbermen, fishermen, carpenters, masons, mechanics, barbers, physicians, dentists, architects, lawyers; yes, and a few men who, three or four years ago, could have written checks in at least six figures.

"Work is partly co-operative; in part there is an exchange of services.

"The community has its own commissaries. For what they supply, the barber clips hair a specified number of hours daily; the doctor visits patients; the lawyer defends the colonists' interests before the city council, or in court occasionally.

Other Services

"Several tumbledown houses have been acquired and rebuilt. Shoes are cobbled into serviceability. Wornout clothes are made wearable.

"A demand existed for fenceposts on neighmoring farms and cutover timber land has been cleared to supply them, in exchange for agricultural products. Fuel has come from the same source. Also several old mines have been reopened. The fishermen have done well. Canning on a considerable scale has been developed. At first there was a shortage of glass jars, and a committee reclaimed dozens of them from nearby cemeteries.

"Incidentally, the colony has elected three members to the Seattle board of aldermen.

"And no doubt I am indebted to it for my seat in congress."

Bitter Enemies

Having tasted this sort of independence, do the colonists like it, despite its hardships? Or will they return to more orthodox ways of living at the earliest opportunity?

Why, it may seem odd," said the representative, "but the enterprise has bitter enemies. Many critics complain that it has created a dangerous political power. A vigorous effort is being made to break it up; to put the colonists on a basis of individual charity—a few dollars each from the community chest, per family.

"Whether or not it will survive this attack is problematic."

WILL NEW BEER SATISFY?

Budget-balancers refer publicly to the coming three-and-a-fraction per cent beer in terms of no doubt whatever that it will produce at least $150,000,000 yearly in revenue.

They admit confidentially that they have not much idea what it will produce.

That there will be a rush for it, when first it is put on the market, they really do believe. But it is pretty light beer, and the drinking public has been educated in recent years to mighty potent beverages. Will "robust appetites", as former Attorney General George W. Wickersham described them, find so low an alcoholic content satisfying?

Budget-balancers devoutly hope so.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

BURNING STEEL:

Scrap steel, in the form of mill line shoe turnings, had been piled up in the storage yard of the United States Electric Steel Company at Connellsville, Pa., and when 1500 tons of it accumulated officials decided to transfer the scrap to another plant. The job was scheduled to commence in January 1918, on a very cold day, and loaders built a fire near the edge of the pile. On the following morning the fire department was called out to extinguish the blaze which had spread over the entire pile, but many days' effort were fruitless. It burned for six months.

The steel, of a common forging analysis, contained about .40 to .50 carbon, which when combined with oxygen, maintained combustion. When the carbon was entirely consumed, the steel had been converted to its original base—iron oxide.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

SHEILA SHANE, dancer, refuses to marry DICK STANLEY, son of wealthy parents, who is in New York trying to learn to write plays. Sheila's idea of marriage is a cozy little home far from Broadway. Although she has spent all her life on the stage she would be glad to leave the theater.

She secures a part in a road show and in a little midwestern city meets JERRY WYMAN, who seems to be a hard working young man with little money. Sheila does not know Jerry's father owns the factory where he works. For a time Jerry is attentive and Sheila falls in love with him. Soon his affection seems to cool. He writes infrequently and this makes Sheila unhappy.

Back in New York, she gets a job in a fashionable night club. She sees Jerry there with some friends. He tells her he has tried to call her but she does not believe this and refuses to make an engagement with him.

She joints another road company and after several months they play in Jerry's home town. Each day she hopes to hear from him but no word comes. Finally she telephones to him. Jerry agrees to come to see her after the matinee performance. At first he is casual, then becomes the affectionate suitor again. He promises to come to see her the following Wednesday in a nearby town.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXIV

The company arrived in Burton next morning. Sheila found the little cafe where she and Jappy had eaten their meals on last year's routing. She remembered that in Burton Jappy had lost a signet ring, a precious possession, and a stagehand had found it. The two girls had discovered a dressmaker there to remodel some of their frocks.

Sunday, the first day in town, dragged interminably. There was no Sunday performance and Sheila did not venture out of her hotel room except for a walk in the late afternoon. She gave herself a shampoo and a manicure. She wrote a long letter to Jappy, out of a job now, and enclosed a bill.

Monday was uneventful. Preparations for the evening show kept the company busy. The performance passed without a hitch.

"You're looking fine tonight," the comedian told Sheila the next evening. "I believe you've fallen in love."

"Something like that."

"Girlie, what is like that?"

Fifteen minutes after the final curtain Sheila was back in her room at the hotel. The clock in its little green leather case on the dressing table pointed to 11:30. Almost any time now the telephone might ring. Jerry had said he would telephone Tuesday after the performance.

Sheila undressed, bathed, brushed her hair and slipped into pajamas. The telephone stood beside the bed and, throwing herself down on the pillow, she watched it, gleaming, black and silent.

A wonderful thing—a telephone! Through its medium she would soon, in spite of the miles between them, hear Jerry's voice. She could imagine him smiling at her, thrill to the tenderness of his tone. If only the call would come!

The other members of the company were having a party somewhere. Maybe the telephone operator thought Sheila was with them and would not put the call through.

Sheila took down the receiver and instantly the operator's voice responded, "Number, please?"

Sheila said, "This is Miss Shayne. If there is a message for me I'll be here in my room."

"Yes, Miss Shayne."

Some explanation seemed necessary. Feeling rather foolish, Sheila continued, "I had planned to remain later at the theater. I thought perhaps someone might have asked you to transfer a call."

"If there's a call I'll ring you, Miss Shayne."

Well, the operator had probably encountered anxious guests over the wire before. "You'll ring me right away?" Sheila urged.

"Of course, Miss Shayne. I'll see that the message reaches you."

Sheila put down the telephone. Fifteen minutes passed without interruption. She decided to try to read but the magazine she selected proved uninteresting. Why did magazine stories always turn out well when life was so unkind? Why didn't Jerry call?

The hands of the clock pointed to 12 o'clock now. Maybe if she counted off the seconds they would pass more quickly. Maybe if she had something to eat, occupied herself at something like arranging the dresser drawers, time would go more quickly.

Taking up the telephone again, Sheila asked for room service and ordered milk toast and tea sent up. It occurred to her that Jerry might have been on the wire while she was giving the order. Well, that would be all right. She did not want him to guess how anxious she was. When the telephone did ring she would count 10 before she took down the receiver. She would make her voice sound casual.

"That's right—you did say you'd call!" She would say that to Jerry and pretend to be surprised.

The little clock ticked away for another quarter of an hour. Then there was a light knock at the door. Springing to open it, Sheila confronted the waiter, a carefully laid table swung from his shoulder. She

Letters To The Editor

L. C. Robertson Writes Again In Favor Of Prohibition

Editor, The Avalanche: Question, What is done? In obedience to the state and national platforms of the Democratic party an effort is being made to nullify the 18th amendment to our national constitution. The first obstacle that has been in the way has been swept aside in the removal of the Volstead act, so as to admit beer.

This seeming inoffensive legislation (with a velvet glove) is offered to quiet our fears for the time being, claiming that it has been so neutralized to destroy the effect of intoxication; and further, it will put millions of dollars into the federal treasury. These claims have been agitated ever since the 18th amendment went into effect, and especially for the last two years. The Republican party which has been in power until recently was charged with delinquency in handling this perplexing question—(and here it is admitted that the last administration was somewhat delinquent in its mode of handling this iniquitous traffic) but left it in the hands of its most intense partisans, passing by the cries of untold millions of destitute women and children that once was heard in this fair land of ours and will be repeated again, if the highest tribunal, the Supreme court decides in favor of nullification.

Yes, the world is fast to notice that the so-called Democracy of these United States stands for the sake of balancing the budget with money wrung from the toil of women and children whose supposed husbands and fathers will spend their last cent in satisfying a debauched appetite to "balance the budget." But I know that the religious element of our country stands almost in solid phalanx against this imposition though for the time being they seem to go down in defeat. But in the dim future there looms a vision. There will arise a "Joshua" that will cleanse the 'temple' of filthiness, cast out this demon of destruction.

I am pained to see the apathy exhibited on the part of the religious forces of our country, standing paralyzed while this satanic incubus is fastening its tenacles in the vitals of our body politic. Occasionally a voice here and there calling to arms against this common foe. But no concentrated action that will match this menace that stalks abroad undisguised with an effrontery that defies any restraint.

How come "the budget" to be unbalanced? Was it caused from loss of revenue that would have accrued to this government from the sale of intoxicating beverages? Or was it not rather on account of millions of "parasites" preying on the bounty produced by the toil and sweat of an unsuspecting public?

Then again, take the automobile manufacturers of the world. Two billions of dollars are spent every seven years for these vehicles the world over when not more than one dollar in a hundred is returned to the purchaser! How long at this rate will it take to drain the world of its money resources? These vehicles create no market for our surplus both in grain and meat animals. Mother Earth furnished their wants in gas and oils. Europe, being impoverished affords us no market for our surplus supplies. And our money spent for auto luxuries, and other luxuries, has produced the sad results now confronting us. And our wise statesmen have cogitated the wise expedient of forcing us with our limited means to go into the business of buying and selling intoxicating beverages so as to "balance the budget."

Respectfully,
L. C. Robertson,
Lubbock, Texas.

Brady Planning July 4 Jubilee

BRADY, March 22 (AP)—Brady's annual three-day July jubilee and race meet will be held July 3, 4 and 5 this year with, perhaps, some added features.

For the past seven years the citizens of Brady and McCulloch county have staged this three-day party.

The July jubilee centers around a race meet and rodeo on each afternoon of the fiesta. Thoroughbreds from the leading stables in Texas and adjoining states have made the Brady races one of the outstanding turf classics in the state. The race gate must provide not only the money for the purses but also for a large part of the other expenses since no admission is charged to the 45-acre picnic ground.

A mammoth free barbecue will be given on the concluding day of the festivities. Eleven thousand people were fed last year.

FARM HOME DESTROYED

FLOYDADA, (Special) — A farm home, windmill, tank and tower, owned by Dr. A. W. Cranfill, Sweetwater and occupied by Willie Hulsey, was destroyed by fire recently. Artists Can't Decide

Not whether Emily is more entrancing than Betty or vice versa—that would be a choice far too difficult to undertake.

Artists and photographers—usually the court of last appeals in matters of feminine pulchritude—are divided in this case.

It remains, however, that the girls—who dance in Broadway cabarets—are wholly different in style of coiffure, in personality and in individuality. And they're both "New York's Most Beautiful Blonds"!

Tariff Power To Be Sought

Roosevelt To Ask Congress To Grant Power To Open Doors To Foreign Trade In Return For Like Concessions

be in a position to make tariff dickers with any nation. One of the first countries which might be considered, probably would be Great Britain. The departure of that nation from free trade late in 1931 was keenly felt by American exporters, who now have called to official attention that British tariffs can be changed to some extent by a board with similar powers to those sought for President Roosevelt.

Canada and Mexico also provide a fertile field for such agreements, in view of the administration.

Relation Is Seen

While the American government in diplomatic discussions soon to begin in preparation for the economic conference will emphasize in general the need for removal of excessive tariffs and exchange restrictions and will "play down" the war debts, a distinct relation between the debts and tariffs is seen by officials.

Much of the argument of the debtor nations for revision has been based on the plea the United States was making it impossible for them to pay by raising tariff walls which prevented sale of their goods here in exchange for the dollars needed to pay the debt.

Much of the force of this argument will be lost, it was pointed out at the state department, if the debtor nations are enabled to enter American markets more extensively in return for opening their markets to the goods of this country.

Officials said if a readjustment of the debts can be found which would be beneficial alike to the creditor and debtor there will be no argument about it.

ed for a rate of $50 a month for single men and $80 a month for married men, with a thirty-hour week.

Stands On Scale

The president was said by some to have indicated approval of the 30 hours a week but to have stood fast on the $30 a month wage scale, pointing out that with food and subsistence this amounted to approximately $2 a day.

Connery said as he left, "I still cannot support the bill in its present form."

"I offered my compromises and there was not even an indication of an inclination to accept them," he asserted.

Objection Voiced

Connery objected also, to the use of the word "select" in the bill, with reference to conservation corps employes, adding under that word "the president could go out on the street and pick up any man he wanted who was unemployed and force him to work in a labor camp for a year."

"I wanted to insert a provision providing for a 30-day voluntary enrollment period, but that wasn't looked upon favorably," Connery said.

Senator Walsh of Massachusetts, chairman of the senate labor committee, said "there is no doubt that the bill will be enacted substantially as recommended next week."

"The president feels that the wage scale in the bill is equivalent to $2 a day," said Walsh. "He showed very great enthusiasm for the project. His heart is set on the undertaking as one of a number that will produce employment for the people."

Sinus Trouble Reported Here

Two Local Specialists State That Trouble Is Prevalent Since Flu; Changing Temperatures Blamed

Sinus trouble, one of the after-effects of the flu, has been more prevalent here this winter than is usually the case, according to reports of two local specialists, Dr. Robert T. Canon and Dr. Frank B. Malone.

"The higher and drier altitudes probably have more cases of sinus trouble than do the warmer sections," Dr. Malone, of Lubbock Sanitarium, explained. "You might say one of the causes in this section is the great and sudden changes in temperature. I have seen changes of 60 degrees in just a short time."

Fewer Cases On Coast

Dr. Malone explained that there are probably fewer cases along the warm, southern coasts. In the north and especially along the north Atlantic coast, there are more cases than in most other sections. "Denver and the northwest probably have more cases than we do down this way," he added. "There have been more than the average number of cases following theflue epidemic several months ago."

At West Texas hospital Dr. Canon said there had been more cases this winter than usual. "Probably followed the flu," he explained. "I find sinus trouble everywhere I go and I have been pretty much all over. There are more cases some places than other.

Change Of Climate Helps

"Down on the coast, for example, the doctors send their cases to Denver for treatment. In Denver physicians frequently send a patient to the coast. A change of climate will do as much as anything else sometimes."

Both physicians expressed the opinion that the increased number of cases in Lubbock and over the South Plains this winter could be traced directly to the epidemic of flu that followed the extremely warm fall.

Democrats Receive Credit For Return Of Beer

T. H. Cullen — President Roosevelt — President Wilson

Opponents of prohibition are heaping credit upon the Democrats for bringing about the return of beer. Not only is the Democrat in the White House, President Roosevelt, hailed for speeding the legalization of beer, through his recent message to Congress, but a Democratic Congress and a Democrat, Representative T. H. Cullen of New York, whose beer bill overwhelmingly passed the house of representatives, likewise are receiving credit from anti-prohibitionists. And it was the late President Wilson, the last Democrat in the White House, who vetoed the Volstead act outlawing beer in October, 1919. Congress, in that same month, passed the bill over his veto.

Cotton Center School Head Will Take Office At Jayton

PLAINVIEW, March 22 (Special) G. A. Lowrey, for the past three years superintendent of the Cotton Center consolidated school south and west of here, has been elected superintendent of the Jayton school system, it is announced.

Lowrey went to Cotton Center from Liberty, north of here, where he had been for six years. His new location is the county seat of Kent county and has a population of around 1,000. There is a strong sentiment for consolidation and it was this factor that decided Mr. Lowrey to make the change.

In the three years at Cotton Center Lowrey built up a school with a four-year high school course and 19 credits of affiliation with the state system and membership in the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary schools.

C. N. Kennon, formerly superintendent at Gizard, Texas, will succeed Lowrey.

SPOTLIGHT

H. W. COOLEY

stared in amazement, then understood.

"Put it down there," Sheila said, smiling.

Taking a coin from her purse, she gave it to the man, scribbling her name at the foot of the bill he proffered. Tea and toast with a little silver pitcher of hot milk. If she ate slowly, drank the tea in sips, it would help the time to pass. why, oh why, didn't JeJrry's call come?

Twelve-thirty arrived and then one o'clock. The telephone maintained its sulen silence. Sheila remembered then that Jerry had said he might not call her. He said that he would be sure to come Wednesday whether he talked to her again or not. That was it. He was coming anyhow. More than likely he had been delayed, thought that a message would disturb her, and decided not to call.

She snapped out the light and nestled beneath the soft down quilt. If she were to drop off to sleep would she hear the telephone ring? Better not chance it. Sheila turned on the light, arose and moved about the room. Finally she sat down at the little desk.

She would write letters. But to whom? Not to Jappy because she had sent her a note on Sunday. Not to Myrt. There was nothing she could say to Myrt in such a mood. Besides Myrt owed her two letters. she must write to someone, though. Must keep herself busy.

Suddenly Sheila drew a sheet of paper toward her. "Dear Dick," she began, "How is the second act coming?"

JERRY WYMAN did not telephone nor did he appear at the theater the following evening. Sheila tried desperately to conceal the hurt in her heart. She reproached herself for her foolishness, worked harder, made every effort to forget.

The tour continued with good weeks and bad. The weeks stretched into months and still Sheila did not hear from Jerry. There was no way she could have heard from him because he would not know how to reach her.

The company reached the middlewest, circled and headed toward New York again. Then the bookings were cut short and presently they were back there.

On the first day in Manhattan Sheila met Jappy tripping along 46th street. Jappy said that Tommy Sloan was holding a try-out at the Halcyon Club. Did Sheila want to come along?

"I'm resting," Sheila smiled. "Going to look around soon, though."

"I didn't think you'd be interested in this job," Jappy admitted. "Just wanted to do Tommy a good turn."

"Then take the job yourself."

Jappy laughed a little bitterly at this. "Sure. If I get the chance!"

They walked along together past the tiny shops, the laundries, intermingled with garish doors of night clubs, silent and gloomy at mid-day.

"How was the boy friend of last year?" asked Jappy idly. "The one who gave you such a rush in Spencer?"

"You mean Jerry Wyman?".

"That's the one. You know I thought he was really serious. For a while I thought you were serious about him, too."

Jappy's level eyes were on her friend. Sheila carefully shifted her gaze and looked across the street.

"Jerry was a nice boy," she answered finally.

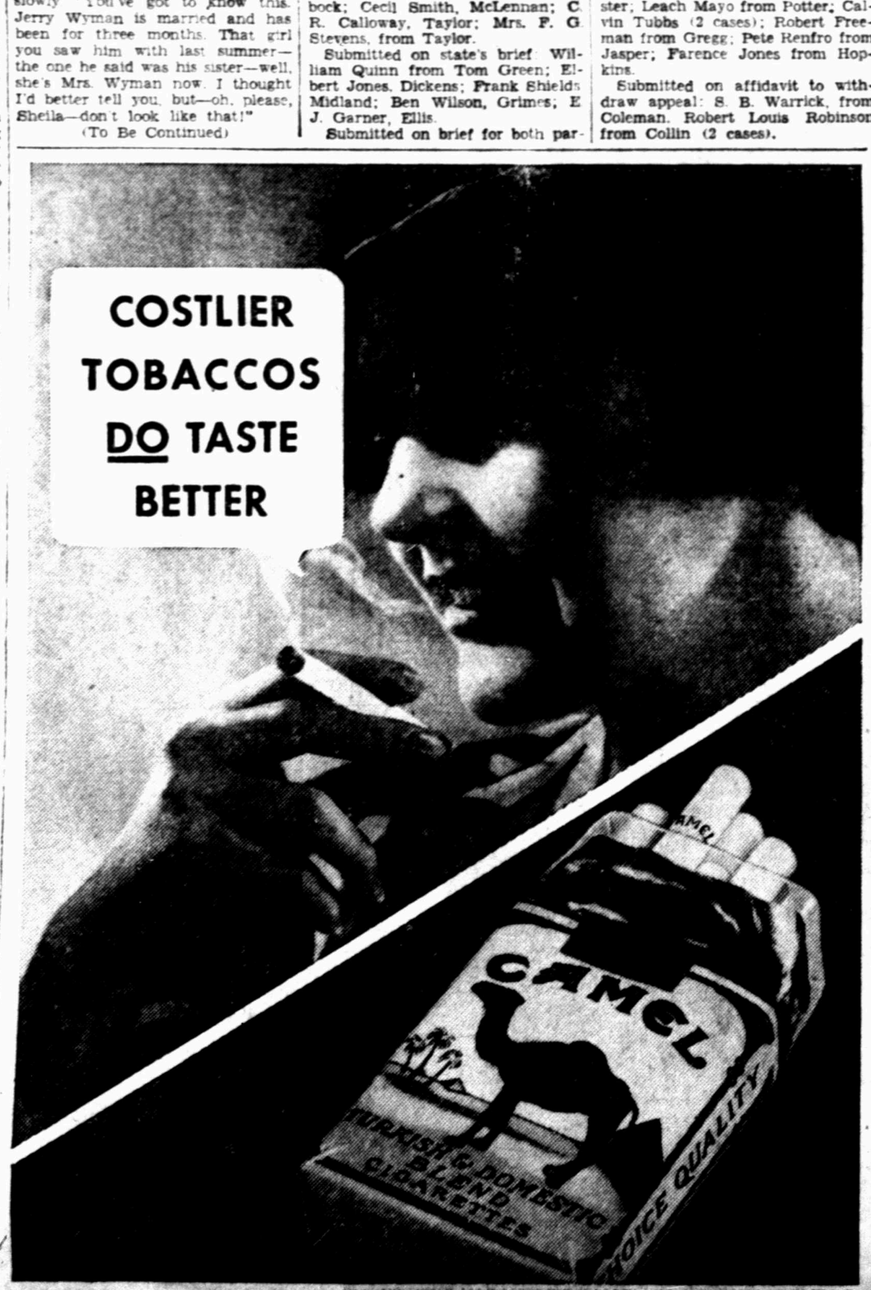

They walked on. Presently Jappy's hand closed over the other girl's. Their eyes did not meet but their steps timed together perfectly.

"Let's go inside here, Sheila." Jappy indicated a coffee shop just ahead. "I've got something to tell you, honey, before someone else does."

She drew the other girl after her into a tiny shop and ordered coffee for two.

"Listen, Sheila," Jappy began slowly. "You've got to know this. Jerry Wyman is married and has been for three months. That girl you saw him with last summer—the one he said was his sister—well, she's Mrs. Wyman now. I thought I'd better tell you, but—oh, please, Sheila—don't look like that!"

Yours Truly

ALL the world despises an anonymous letter—and its writer. We have no respect for, or confidence in the man who side-steps responsibility by refusing to sign his name to what he writes.

But did you ever think that unknown merchandise is anonymous? Nobody to vouch for it. No name signed.

Notice the advertisements in this paper. There in bold print are the names of those who stake their reputations—who stake your good-will towards them—on the truth of what they have put in type.

The maker of advertised goods realizes that he might fool you once—but never the second time. He knows his success is dependent upon your continued confidence in what he says in the advertisements.

Read the advertisements with confidence. They tell truths that you should know.
