MURRAY GIVES ULTIMATUM TO STATE

TO ISSUE EXECUTIVE ORDER IF PRICES ARE BELOW $1

(By The Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 28.—Governor Murray issued an ultimatum to the oil industry today that if oil prices are not increased to $1 per barrel by Saturday night he will sign an executive order shutting down all but stripper wells in Oklahoma.

Murray said he would enforce the order if necessary by military authority.

"The oil should be more than $1 a barrel," he said. "But we will give them a chance to raise to that figure. If they do not then I'll issue my executive order and shut down everything that is now under proration."

Schools Suffer

The state and schools are getting nothing in the way of taxes from oil at the present price—a top of 50 cents a barrel—the governor said.

"We can't let this go on, depleting our resources and getting no taxes from them," he added.

Production at present low prices constitutes waste, the governor said. "The state won't try to raise the price," he said. "We'll simply shut them down due to economic waste and if their storage is depleted in six or eight months and prices go to $2 a barrel because they need the oil, that's just a result which we hope will be obtained."

"Bootlegging" Hinted

Murray charged that not all oil production from the Oklahoma City field had been reported. He believes, he said, that "bootlegging" is going on and that probably five million barrels of oil has been taken from the field in the last month.

Three large companies do not want to close their wells but are now draining other leases in the area, Murray said.

Replying to allegations that such a shutdown would be in effect interference with interstate commerce the governor said there could be no interstate commerce of oil until the petroleum has been brought to the surface and he pro-

OIL FIRE PUT OUT TODAY

FLAMING WELL NEAR KILGORE SNUFFED BY B. F. DELONG

(By The Associated Press)

KILGORE, July 28.—B. F. DeLong, veteran oil fire fighter, extinguished the flaming Thorpe No. 1 Butts well early today by closing the gate valve with a special pipe device.

The well caught fire last night when a tank exploded.

Saw Husband Burn

Clyde Erskine, 41, was fatally burned when a falling timber pinned him to the ground as he fled from the flames. His wife saw him make three attempts to escape. She tried to rush to his aid when she heard him crying for assistance, but was held back.

Ray Griffin, 21, of Corsicana, and M. D. Tomlinson, 34, were severely burned. They were in a serious condition at a Kilgore hospital.

Clad in an asbestos suit and sprayed by streams of water, DeLong searched the fire zone last night for other workers whom he thought might have been trapped by the flames, but found none.

L. C. Thorpe, owner of the well, estimated losses at $20,000. The well was brought in yesterday morning.

ROBBERY SOLUTION NEAR

HOLDS GERMAN CRISIS ONLY TEMPORARY

RAMSAY MACDONALD IN CONFERENCE WITH HINDENBURG

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, July 28—Germany's economic difficulties are largely temporary, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald told correspondents today, and to a great extent are psychological.

The country's industrial position is fundamentally sound, he said, and as soon as the proper psychological foundation can be laid the nation may expect to overcome the present acute distress.

Call On Hindenburg

He and Arthur Henderson, the British foreign secretary, received the press immediately after an informal call on President Von Hindenburg whom they found in excellent health.

They talked with the president mostly about the services to both countries of the late Dr. Gustav Stnamer, ambassador to London, but they also discussed the general situation in Germany.

At the beginning of the interview with the correspondents, Mr. Macdonald discouraged any tendency to expect concrete results in the way of new credits from this visit, but he emphasized the immense importance of the psychological factor in the German crisis.

The function of statesmen, he said, is to effect a general change of atmosphere, to get the nations into a new psychological relation. With this foundation laid, experts in the fields of finance, disarmament, and other international issues may build their own permanent structures.

Will Take Time

Both statesmen and experts cooperate in their efforts to restore financial stability, revive the world's

Hordes Of Grasshoppers Play Havoc With Crops; Science Backed To Wall

RAVAGING INSECTS MOVE RELENTLESSLY OVER FIVE STATES AS MILITANT FARMERS AND SCIENTISTS SEEK TO STEM THE TIDE

(By Associated Press)

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 28—Science, apparently with its back to the wall, was fighting today to stem the tide of hordes of creeping, hopping and flying grasshoppers, which are playing havoc with the crops of Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, North and South Dakota.

At Des Moines, the Iowa capital, plans were being made for a meeting of entomologists and agricultural leaders to devise means of combating the hordes of insects which have moved relentlessly across the Missouri river eastward. At the same time Iowa state officials sought an appropriation of $50,000 to fight the plague.

Meanwhile, militant farmers, armed with poison mixtures, returned to the fight. In some Minnesota counties the situation was so bad that other farm activities were suspended to leave the farmers free to war against the pests which have penetrated fields, pastures and orchards, leaving the mvirtually bare of green vegetation and harvestable crops.

More than 150,000 acres in Kittson and Marshall counties in northwest Minnesota have been nearly erased from the harvest picture. Polk county is estimated to have suffered a fifty per cent loss in grain crops. In a dozen adjacent counties the defense fight goes on with local infestations reported in more than half of the counties in the state. These include corn, potato, onions as well as grain growing areas.

A. A. Ruggles, state entomologist, who is directing state efforts to assist the farmers, said that unless weather conditions shift from hot and dry, that destruction will continue for many weeks and extend

FIVE CHARGED IN BURGLARY AT TAHOKA

WHOLESALE LOOTING OF WAREHOUSE IS CHARGED TODAY

(Special To The Journal)

TAHOKA, July 28—Solution of the wholesale robbery more than a month ago of a Phillips Petroleum company warehouse at O'Donnell was believed near today with filing of charges here against five men. Two of the four suspects arrested also face arson charges at Lubbock.

Two real estate dealers, M. A. ("Al") Scott of O'Donnell and C. L. Dickson of Tahoka, were charged with arson in Justice of the Peace H. K. Porter's court at Lubbock in connection with burning in late May of a Slaton residence.

Burglary Charged

Burglary charges were filed against Scott and Dickson, in connection with looting of the warehouse. Three hundred forty gallons of lubricating oil and 2,300 gallons of gasoline were taken about June 12, Lynn county authorities said. Oliver Todd, Tahoka farmer, was charged with receiving and concealing stolen property in the case. Todd allegedly owned the house the two realtors are accused of burning.

A charge of conspiracy to defraud was entered against W. H. Veazy, Phillips Petroleum company agent at O'Donnell, who was arrested there this morning. He posted bond of $1,500 before noon.

Dickson was arrested here and was released Monday night in bail of $2,000 on the burglary charge and $1,500 on the Lubbock county arson count. Scott was taken into custody here yesterday morning and

BOARDMAN AND POLANDO OFF FOR TURKEY

HERNDON, PANGBORN TAKE OFF ON HOP AROUND WORLD

(By The Associated Press)

FLOYD BENNETT AIRPORT, NEW YORK, July 28—Two powerful monoplanes took off within 18 minutes of each other on non-stop trans-Atlantic flights today.

The Bellanca monoplane "Cape Cod" manned by Russell Boardman of Boston and John Polando of Linn, Mass., rolled down the 4,100 foot runway at exactly 4 a. m. Central Standard time and skimmed away at an altitude of not more than 60 feet until it was lost to sight. They are heading for Istanbul, Turkey, about 5,500 miles away.

World Hop Begins

The second plane to take off was that of Hugh Herndon, jr., former Princeton student, and Clyde Pangborn, veteran circus flier. They rolled away at 4:18 a. m. Central Standard time, on an intended flight around the world with Moscow, 5,400 miles away, as their first objective.

Weather conditions across the entire Atlantic were described as ideal for the flights by Dr. James S. Kimball, government meteorologist and unofficial starter.

For the first time since the Byrd flight, Dr. Kimball arrived at the field to see the takeoffs of both planes. Another visitor was Guiseppe Bellanca, designer of the two planes.

Has Great Weight

Field officials feared the Boardman-Polando plane might meet with difficulties because of its great weight. It carried 718 gallons of gasoline and 25-gallons of oil, sufficient fuel to keep it going 7,000 miles if necessary. It is propelled by a 300-horsepower Wright engine.

This plane has yellow wings with black trimmings, and a black and yellow fuselage with the words "Cape Cod" painted in blue. Its number is "NR-761-W."

They hope to eclipse the present long-distance record set by Coste and Le Brix, who flew 4,912 miles non-stop.

Herndon and Pangborn's red monoplane has 500-horse powered motor and is capable of cruising at 125 miles an hour. It carries 350 gallons of gasoline, enough to

The distributing companies named are the Guthrie Gas Service and the Community Natural gas. The petition alleges that a rate of 20 cents a hundred cubic feet, a basis of $2 a thousand feet for the first 600 feet and 75 cents a thousand for the next 19,400 feet was being charg-

DEATH TOLL MOUNTS TO SIXTY-THREE IN INTENSE HEAT WAVE AS RESIDENTS FLEE IMPERIAL VALLEY AND ARIZONA

DENY MOVE TO END PROBE

MOTION TO CLOSE OIL INVESTIGATION IS TABLED TODAY

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, July 28—The Texas senate today tabled, subject to call, a resolution by Senator W. A. Williamson of San Antonio, that would have closed its investigation of the oil industry tomorrow. Senator Williamson did not oppose the tabling, when he learned a previous resolution would have the effect he sought, but denounced the inquiry as a "farce comedy."

"I am of the opinion," he called out, "and I know others are of the opinion this farce comedy has gone far enough. We were called here to pass legislation (to conserve oil) not for speechmaking. We are already laughing stocks as it stands now. I think I never have been ridiculed quite so much as I was Sunday at home."

This was the fifteenth day of the thirty-day special session of the legislature.

LONDON, July 28. (AP)—Secretary of State Stimson arrived here today from Berlin, admitted he had had "a fine trip" and wouldn't discuss the details of his conversations with the German ministers and President Paul Von Hindenburg.

HOOVERS RETURN

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—President and Mrs. Hoover returned to the White House early today after spending the last three days and four nights at their Rapidan camp.

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, July 28.—Residents fled today from the heat-stricken Imperial valley and Arizona points as the toll from the southwest's most prolonged heat wave in years mounted to 63 deaths.

Along the roads at the base of Majestic San Gorgonio mountain, which lifts its snow capped peak slightly more than two miles above the sweltering Great American desert, hundreds of automobiles moved to the cooler coastal areas and mountain resorts so their occupants might find relief.

Population Reduced

Forty of the heat deaths occurred in Imperial Valley, which is noted for the richness of its soil and, for the greater part, lies below sea level. The population had been reduced to those who of necessity must remain in the heat-ridden area.

The exodus continued despite hope the heat wave was nearing its end. During the night, torrential rains visited the mountain areas of southern California. The weather, as if by irony, left San Gorgonio mountain covered with snow. The peak usually is barren at this time of the year.

In addition to the 40 deaths in Imperial valley, where a 25 day average had been 108 degrees, other points reported the following deaths: Phoenix, Ariz., 14; Needles, Cal., 6; Taft, Cal., 2; and Las Vegas, Nevada, 1.

Needles reported a temperature of 120 degrees Thursday, and it had been but a few degrees less than that in the days following. Taft, located in the San Joaquin valley, yesterday reported a temperature of 118 degrees.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., July 28. (AP)—The three months visit of the king and queen of Siam to the United States was near its end today as preparations were made at Ophir hall for their departure this afternoon.

There, under the protection of local and state police and secret service operatives they will board a special train for Quebec, Canada, on the first leg of their journey homeward.

ABDICATION IS IN DOUBT

ALFONSO RETIREMENT IN FAVOR OF SON DENIED TODAY

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Aug. 28—Lord Londonderry, speaking in behalf of former King Alfonso of Spain, today denied a report in the Daily Express that he had abdicated his right to the Spanish throne in favor of his third son, Don Juan de Bourbon.

At the Spanish embassy the only statement issued said: "We know nothing officially."

Met By Father

The boy, who has been a cadet at the naval school at Dartmouth since the royal family left Spain came to London today, travelling third class with a number of his schoolmates, and was met at Paddington station by his father.

The Daily Express said that former King Alfonso formally abdicated last week in favor of Don Juan.

The step was taken, a Madrid dispatch to the newspaper declared, because Alfonso believed that the election which resulted in his overthrow three months ago was a rebuke to himself and not to the monarchy. Therefore he stepped down that the cause might be revived.

Don Juan, who is 17, is described as a quiet, intelligent youth who looks much like his father.

HUNTSVILLE, July 28 (AP)—First to pay the death penalty under the habitual criminal law in Texas was Will Jenkins, 46, negro, executed in state prison here shortly after midnight.

Jenkins, entering the death chamber with a smile, told spectators he would meet them in the hereafter. To newspapermen he said, "you have been writing about my sinful 46 years. Now tell them how I died."

The negro was convicted in Houston last October for criminal assault on a negress. He had previously served two penitentiary sentences for burglary and one term for an assault.

CHURCH WILL NO LONGER BE HOME FOR CLARENCE; OUSTED BY COURT

(By The Associated Press)

WAUKEGAN, Ill., July 28.—Church will no longer be home for Clarence Spiering.

His long fight to retain the Hickory Corners Methodist Episcopal church near Antioch, Ill., his home, ended yesterday when Circuit Judge Ralph J. Dady issued a writ of restitution commanding Spiering and his family to vacate the premises.

Spiering moved into the church last January with his wife, children and pet dog, when his own home across the street burned down. He claimed that because the church had been abandoned the property reverted in title to his mother, who originally owned part of the land. On one occasion the trustees attempted to hold services but were forced to abandon the plan when they were confronted with a big sign on the front of the church announcing that one of Spiering's children had the mumps.

Following the court's decision, Spiering's attorney, Charles E. Jack said his client would move out immediately, but would sue the trustees for the title of the church and land. Spiering has already sued three of the trustees for $10,000, charging malicious prosecution.

Oklahoma Bridge War Is Nearing Heart Of State

(By The Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 28.—Maneuvers in the Oklahoma war against toll bridges moved nearer the heart of the state today as Sam R. Hawks, chairman of the state highway commission, prepared to lay before Governor Murray plans for construction of a temporary free bridge paralleling a toll span across the South Canadian river between Lexington and Purcell.

The move came shortly after the governor extended his Red River martial law area to include the approach to the free bridge which parallels a toll span south of Durant, Okla., and simultaneously with a written protest from Lew H. Wentz, Republican commission member and political opponent of Governor Murray.

Wentz recalled that tolls were being collected at the Purcell span only under federal supervision with the understanding that money is to be refunded in event the state wins a fight for control of the existing bridge.

The state has contended that the toll bridge owners' franchise of 20 years has expired and the structure automatically reverted to the state. An appeal to federal courts is pending and Wentz asserted his belief state's attorneys could obtain final hearing by September and end the controversy.

Meanwhile, along the Red river, where Murray personally led his armed forces during the week end, national guardsmen remained posted at both the Red River Bridge company's toll span and the free bridge nearby, as visible evidence of the governor's determination to keep the non-pay structure open to traffic. He has indicated he does not care if the toll bridge is open as long as the free span remains available to the public.

Martial law was declared in vicinity of the free bridge yesterday. Murray said, upon receipt of information toll bridge owners might attempt to have the free bridge closed by federal courts.

DR. MYERS

Doctor Myers' Daily Column On Child Welfare

BY GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

YOUTH OF TODAY

Many letters come to me from high school and college students, also from other young men and women. They carry in them such a tone of sincerity, and so many of them write to tell me that my personal reply had helped them, that I am finding a peculiar satisfaction in answering their letters. Most do not care to have me print their letters in th's column, when, of course, I don't.

Many write about personality fears, telling of their discomfort at meeting with groups of others, their inability to converse freely and to feel at ease in company. With them I have a deal of sympathy, for I still have my own troubles, and some very painful memories of my adolescent days.

Some have written to tell me how they think they are misunderstood by their parents, some about their distress over the unhappy way in which their parents get along together.

Not a few have written about the choice of a vacation, whether they should go to college or not, to what kind of college they should go, and an occasional very serious letter comes from a young man or woman about to be married. A goodly number also come from young people, particularly boys, for advice on ways of ridding themselves of some undesirable personal habit.

All these letters are answered personally and sympathetically.

* * *

I want my adolescent readers to know that I believe in the youth of today and do not share the pessimism of them who think the young folk are going to the devil. Young people express themselves more freely and openly, are more frank than their parents were at the same age. But youth is pretty generally thoughtful. To any one who has wide human syympathy none is more appealing than the boys and girls, the men and women of high school and college age.

* * *

I should like to receive more letters from my adolescent readers. Have you some worries about which you never felt free to talk over even with your parents? Have you some doubts about whether you should plan to go to college? Perhaps you are just entering senior high school and have no definite plans ahead.

Now is the time to think about your plan for life. Some reader may have failed in his sophomore or junior or senior year at high school. Now is not the time to give up. With all the unemployment, why add yourself to this restless army?

Any student able to enter high school can learn something of profit by repeating a year if he tries. Maybe you barely got through your freshman year at college and are doubtful whether you should return. If your health is good, go back and try a little harder. Work out a more systematic program. Count it an opportunity.

Have you developed good habits of work? Do you day dream a great deal? Have you cultivated a number of wholesome friends? Do you have good reading habits? Did it ever occur to you that happiness lies ahead only for those who cultivate habits of effort and self-denials?

Well, I must not preach to you. You have had too much of that already. But if you have a question which you think I might be able to answer, send it on, in care of this paper.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Two pamphlets by Dr. Myers may be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin for each, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Garry C. Myers, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1433 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are "Punishments and Rewards," and "Fear."

Meeting Her Bronze Twin

Shown at a London, Eng., exhibition under the title of "The Optimist," the piece of sculpture above, by Mr. E. Whitney-Smith, was visited by Miss Sara Dover after whom the statue was modeled. One can immediately see how faithfully the sculpture has reproduced the features of the model. Miss Dover's complacent demeanor and apparently cheerful outlook on life is obvious in both the subject and the finished bit of sculpture.

ADD a scarf of roman stripes to your all-white costume if you'd make it distinctive.

Joan Crawford did it as pictured, and made same doubly noticeable by looping it over one side only and catching it into the belt. Narrow cuffs of the striped material on the three-quarter-length sleeves, and a band on her small white hat, carry out the trimming idea.

Mrs. O. W. Scott has returned from a visit with her mother in Fayetteville, Ark. Her son, T. Q. Scott, met her in Dallas on Sunday and they returned to Lubbock Monday.

Federated Clubs Committee Discusses Detailed Plans For State Convention

Meeting late Monday afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce, members of the local entertainment committee for the Texas Federation of Women's clubs discussed detailed plans for the state convention November 9-12 in Lubbock.

Mrs. William Dingus, chairman, who conferred with the state president, Mrs. R. F. Lindsay, of Mt. Pleasant, in Fort Worth last week reported on their conference and outlined fully the part that Lubbock women will have in the convention program. The central committee is composed of delegates from various federated clubs in Lubbock.

Monday, the opening date of the convention, will be Lubbock's day to extend hospitalities, Mrs. Dingus informed the committee. However, local women will act as hostess for luncheons and dinners, and Lubbock women will have charge of transportation, finance, hospitality and such committees. Lubbock is to present a pageant, "Texas Under Six Flags," on the evening of November 11 at a patriotic dinner program and Miss Ruth Pirtle will be in charge of this event.

Club Presidents Help

There will be a board luncheon on the opening day of the convention and the City Federation of Women's clubs, of which Mrs. A. T. Biggers is president, will act as the hostess group. Presidents of the seven federated clubs here will preside at tables for the dinner on November 11, sharing their places as hostesses with representatives of the seven districts in the state organization.

Chairmen of committees are to be appointed during this week and hostesses will be named for the meals. This group, with the central committee, is to meet at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Hilton hotel to hear more detailed plans for the state convention. All committees are to be announced in the Avalanche-Journal next Sunday according to present plans.

General sessions of the State Federation meeting will be held in First Methodist church and the Hilton hotel will be headquarters, Mrs. Dingus announced upon her return from Fort Worth where she conferred with Mrs. Lindsay and other members of the state executive board.

One feature of the convention that is expected to draw considerable interest will be a chuck wagon dinner on one evening. This occasion is expected to be given to the delegates some of the atmosphere of the old west. Lubbock women are to have a tea for the visitors on one afternoon. Breakfasts will be another feature and will give small groups an opportunity to meet together informally.

Mrs. H. D. Woods Has Church Meeting

A program on "Customs in Korea" was studied Monday afternoon at a meeting of Circle 5, First Presbyterian Woman's auxiliary, in the home of Mrs. H. D. Woods.

Mrs. W. T. Hester was leader of the lesson and was assisted in her presentation by Mrs. A. F. Schofield and Mrs. C. J. Henson. Mrs. J. S. Johnson led the devotional.

Others who attended were Mesdames S. C. Wilson, R. H. Moore, Guion Gregg, E. A. Watson, T. J. Rutledge, Hampden Spiller and H. H. Timmons.

TWELVE-YEAR-OLD BOY EXPLORER TO CROSS NORTHLAND ALL BY HIMSELF

Hartley de Gerald, 12, is setting out alone to travel across Canada to the edge of the Arctic sea. Map shows his route.

CHICAGO, (AP)—Hartley de Gerald, aged 12, is going north for the summer—all by himself.

It's not hay fever, nor susceptibility to heat that sends this lad to Arctic climes. It's a natural bent for exploring far away places. He's just going to "look around."

A camera, binoculars and notebook are the principal items in the boy's equipment for his journey, which will take him into barren country where the MacKenzie river empties into the Arctic sea, near the Alaskan-Canadian border.

Hartley is leaving here July 11, going by train to Winnipeg, then to Edmonton, then Waterway, a small trading post. Thereafter he will proceed northward in the Athabasca and MacKenzie rivers in Hudson Bay company supply boats.

His route will cover 1,100 miles on the MacKenzie alone.

John de Gerald, Hartley's father and a south side bank vice-president, is unworried. The boy has been making similar solo trips since he was eight years old.

Last summer he went to South America.

ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF COMMERCE THINKS U. S. DEPRESSION NEAR END

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Dr Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce, believes the United States in climbing out of the depression and making progress toward preventing future business declines.

"We are obviously coming out of the depression now," Dr. Klein said, "and at the same time we are seeing the basis laid for an enduring stable prosperity that will resist another unbalance."

Statistics Needed

Stressing the need for accurate statistics and their correct interpretation, he said "better knowledge as to all phases of the intricate operation of industry, wider distribution of ascertained facts, and institution of effective research into economic factors will make for business stability."

The commerce department's newly revised survey of current business was held up as a splendid guide for business, but the speaker said additional figures always will be demanded.

Statistics were needed, he said, showing how stocks of finished goods were running, the fluctuations in the total of real estate and personal credits extended in the country, unemployment, and what new forms of transportation were doing to the business fabric.

Too Much Guesswork

"Our whole trouble in this slump," he asserted, "originated largely in the fact that we had too much guess work. Too much easygoing playing hunches. And so I do not believe it possible to overrate the importance of these new statistical studies to American enterprise.

"During the last ten years, American business has been making a fine and at least partially successful struggle to develop and apply scientific methods to its own conduct. The art of business management is still surrounded by much mystery, but nevertheless there has been a tremendous evolution of system experiences in this field."

—SEIBERLING—

The Tire of the Hour ... The Most Nearly PUNCTURE PROOF and BURST PROOF TIRE Ever Made

This announcement must be considered as totally different from that to which the public is accustomed, because here the tire itself tells at a glance the truth of its own story as does no other tire in existence. This truthful story is direct and definite—not a general assertion or a vague verbalism.

Unsupported claims may well be confusing—but there is nothing confusing or vague or misleading, or untruthful, about the plain visible structural proof which the new Triple Tread air-cooled Seiberling Tire offers immediately to the eye, and proves at once in performance.

If there could be doubt after the eye of the buyer has furnished its own indisputable evidence—that doubt is dissolved by the overwhelming proof offered by the competitive test with the best brand tires of the six leading competitors as shown below.

The FACTS and the TIRE tell the WHOLE STORY

The finest tires of the six recognized leading makes were pitted against the Seiberling Air Cooled Triple Tread Tire . . . Paced at 60 to 70 miles an hour, shifts of drivers speeded to average more than 900 miles each day.

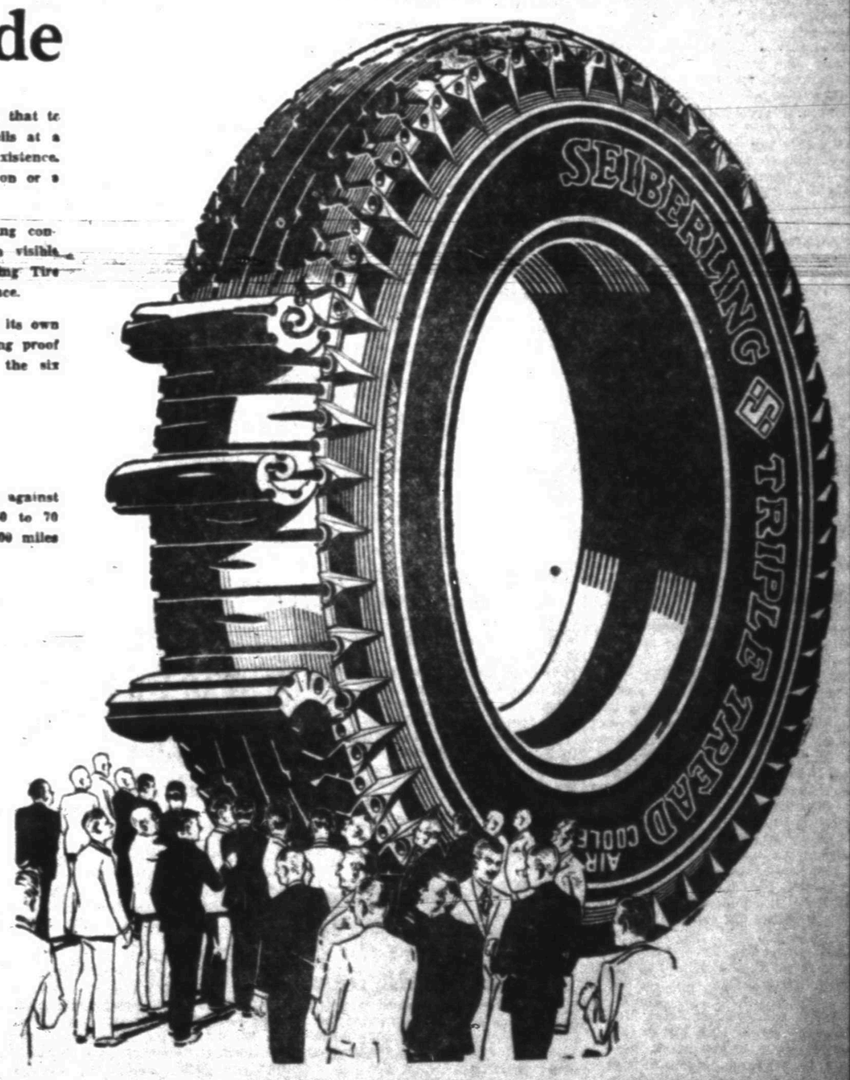

Air pressures of all tires were maintained exactly equal, tires were rotated daily so that each received the same trial. The test was run continuously, day after day, week after week, until all tires were completely worn to the fabric.

	1. Anti-Skid Mileage	2. Total Mileage (3 treads—all anti-skid)
Seiberling Triple Tread Air Cooled	55,145	55,145
Competitor "A"	16,852	31,038
Competitor "B"	16,729	30,674

HUBBERS WILL MEET SOUTHLAND TEAM UNDER LIGHTS TONIGHT

HOUSTON IS TWO UP ON EXPORTERS

Collier Parris

SPYING ON SPORTS

Readers and fans remember something of the South Plains baseball league last year and also something of a certain club from Southland, one of the strongest teams in the circuit. Southland is moving to Lubbock today and its baseball club will meet the Hubbers at Merrill Park at 8:30 o'clock.

* * *

If Southland brings the same team which played in the league last summer the game tonight will be well worth going to see. And there's a game scheduled for tomorrow night that promises to bring out the crowd. The Tahoka Bulldogs will return and try to make it two straight over the Hubbers. Last time they were here the locals dropped their first home game in a month, but witnesses were present who'll admit getting their money's worth.

* * *

"Delicate Del" Morgan was ushered into local surroundings Sunday to the tune of the usual inharmonious music of the anvil chorus. We mentioned his arrival yesterday but space and time did not permit a justifiable account of the "great" one's return. He's one of those lucky fellows who gets a vacation and enough wages to permit a trip to Calif. He sports a nice tan but not nearly so tannish as some of the boys who have been working at the campus during his vacation. He will be back in the lineup tonight with the Hubbers, the organization of which he is a manager.

* * *

The Tech coaches are mighty busy this week putting on the final touches of preparation for the coaching school which opens Monday, and they cannot be bothered by pokey-nose reporters. We snuck around and close enough to see that much preparing was being done. The gymnasium is being "remodeled" into a display and classroom that will see much activity during the next two weeks. Pete Cawthon and Dutchey Smith have done exceptionally well, so far, and their work will not stop when the visiting coaches come in. They will be assistants to Wallace Wade and Jimmy Phelan during the course of the school and their athletes who are summering here will come in for their share of work on the field in actual demonstrations.

* * *

Our informant at Tek, Mister Ed Young, tells us of a special entertainment feature that will be ballyhooed as a heavyweight fight on one of the nights of the school. Local boys or boys who were once local but who have been graduated to professional ranks in other points, will stage the bout which will be held at Merrill Park in an improvised ring as part of the all men's fun night planned for the visiting coaches.

* * *

Sid Knowles, former Tech football captain and now coach at Bowie High school, El Paso, will tangle with George Gilkerson, star of the Davis-Elkins (West Virginia) football team, in the fight, scheduled for ten rounds. Gilkerson is a former Westerner star—kid buddy of Cy Leland, etc.—and is the brother of Miss Johnnie Gilkerson, girls gymnasium class instructor at Texas Tek. The lads, who will weigh in at about 190 pounds, have been working out almost daily at the Tek gym and, the informant says, are looking like prize fighters. (Shh—don't tell the officers) "Knowles is noted," our operative tells us, "as being a mighty tough hombre and his ring work indicates he really knows his stuff. Gilkerson is another tough egg and when turned loose in the ring with Knowles it sure means a battle."

* * *

(Note: This Knowles-Gilkerson bout will be major league compared to the Frizz-li-Simmons, etc. fights of last spring. Your operative.)

* * *

This reporter remembers coming out two weeks ago with a long line of pretty good stuff, even if it was not all original with us, about baseball umpires, referees, starters, etc. Since then we have seen a couple of games in which the umpiring was not altogether up to par and during certain moments we were sorry we had printed that column of compliments. An umpire's job is a tough one, we admit, but in the two games mentioned the umps made more than their just quota of errors. They made more in fact, than did all of the 18 players on the field, and that is just a bit wild. A poor umps can well nigh ruin what might be a good ball game.

* * *

We're not turning John McGraw by any means, but in this unorganized league we'd suggest that the managers of the various clubs have a thought to the game officials. Our personal nomination for the best all-around umpire seen on the local diamond this year is Eli Henley, the rotund one who has officiated at more games than any other one man.

MERRILL PARK TO BE SCENE OF BATTLE

TAHOKA BULLDOGS TO MEET LUBBOCK IN GAME WEDNESDAY

The Merrill Park lights will be turned on tonight at 8:30 to shed illumination upon the Lubbock Hubbers and the Southland Sluggers in what promises to be a good game. Lefty Gregory, one of the standout hurlers of the South Plains League last summer and the man who tossed the Southland team to a last half pennant, will appear in the Southland lineup.

Tomorrow night finds the Tahoka Bulldogs back in town anxious for another crack at the Hubbers who went down, 4 to 2, last week. The Hubbers and the Hubber fans are also anxious for the battle. Willis Knight will be on Lubbock's mound and, according to him, that is "sumpin'."

Borger Comes Next

The Phillips club of Borger, the team to hand Lubbock it's first defeat in the ill-fortuned Amarillo tournament, is coming to Lubbock Saturday for a two-game stand Saturday night and Sunday afternoon, according to a telegram received last night by Manager Waller of the Hubbers. Since the Amarillo meeting, the Hubbers have longed for a chance at vengeance and take the coming of the Oilers as a great chance to prove their superiority.

The return of Del Morgan, one of the team managers, who has been vacationing in California, has strengthened the Hubbers considerably and first base and one of the hitting positions will be in capable hands from now on. Lawrence "Shorty" France, sensational little shortstop, and Raymond "Evo" Marshall, outstanding outfielder of the Plains, are expected to return to the Hubber fold within the next week or so.

Sun Beau To Carry 128 Pounds Weight

CHICAGO July 28 (AP)—Sun Beau, Will's Sharpe Kilmer's handicap star, must carry to weight of 128 pounds in the $25,000 added Arlington handicap Saturday when he attempts to surpass the money-winning record of Gallant Fox.

The assignment of the big load to Sun Beau probably will cause owners of lesser stars to make a try for the big purse and it was indicated today that 15 might start. If that many face the barrier the mile and a quarter race will be worth $26,850, with $21,850 to the winner. A victory for Sun Beau would give the Kilmer six year old a total of $234,850, well beyond Gallant Fox' winnings of $328,165.

Newspaper Club Downs Utilities

BIG CROWD ATTENDS PLAYOFF OF CITY LEAGUE RACE

Before a grandstand full of cheering rooters, divided against itself but still standing when the game was over, the Avalanche-Journal baseball team defeated the Texas Utilities outfit, 9 to 3, in the first game of the sawoff for first half honors in the City League race.

Indeed, the crowd would have done credit to a game between professionals and it stuck and yelled and yowled while Manager Ed Hambright of the newspaper gang hurled his own game, struck out sixteen batsmen and gave up six bingles to turn in a par-shattering card. Only once did he show any weakness in his course and that when a foursome teed off in order for line drives to hole out for a birdie two in the seventh chukker. At all other times, save for a couple of two-baggers in the fifth, the first hits scored off him, he was master of the game, shutting out the charges of Chase in order for the first four innings.

Galey On Mound

Hack Galey, hurling for the Utilities, turned in a neat performance up to the seventh inning, after being touched for a brace of bingles in the first for as many runs, but in the seventh he weakened to let the bases get full with no outs and Hambright singled to drive in a run. Another came in on Vinzant's long knock to center, but Vinny was out. In the eighth it was too bad the bat went around the newspaper boys tallied five times.

The first of the ninth saw Hambright strike out two and Knight get one at first to end the rather fast game.

In a regular scheduled game earlier in the day, the Texas Utilities team defeated the Rainbows, 9 to 2, in a pitchers duel between Blackie Hilliard for the losers and Howard Allen for the TUCO butch.

SCHAAF WILL GET BETTER CHANCES

The Boston youngster has been matched by Promoter Jimmy Johnston for a 15-round bout with the big Argentine clouter, Victorio Campolo, at Ebbets field, Brooklyn, Aug. 26.

Schaaf, in whose contract Jack Sharkey owns a half interest, has been coming along in the last few months at a pace alarming to other heavyweight contenders. He has run up a string of four successive knockout victories, two of them over the portly Bostonian, Jimmy Maloney.

Two Damage Suits Are Filed By Girl

LOS ANGELES, July 28 (AP)—Suits asking $100,000 for breach of promise and $6,000 for breach of contract were filed today by Sally McGowan, scenario writer, against John P. McGowan, motion picture director, and Meteor Pictures Productions.

BUFFALOES WIN WILD SCRAMBLE FOR RUNS AND HITS TO TAKE LEAD IN PLAYOFF SERIES

FIRST HALF PENNANT ISSUE TO BE SETTLED AUGUST 12 AND 13; MISCUES FIGURE IN HOUSTON'S 14 TO 11 VICTORY MONDAY

BY BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

In a wild scramble for runs and hits, the Houston Buffaloes went two up on the Beaumont Exporters Monday night in the first-half playoff with a 14 to 11 verdict. In the three games, Houston won the first, the second was a 14-inning tie and Houston won the third. The concluding chapter of the first half pennant issue will get the spotlight on August 12 and 13 when the final two games will be played. The winner of three games will play the second-half leaders for the championship.

Miscues Has Fling

There was little fine playing in last night's game. It started as a free hitting rampage and continued that way with Beaumont collecting 19 hits off the pitching of George Washington Payne and Tex Carleton; while Houston hammered Hamlin, Green, Hollerson and Goldstein for fifteen hits. And not to be shadowed by runs and hits, old man miscue had his fling, the Exporters committing five errors against three for Houston.

It was a game of big scoring innings. Houston scored four runs in the first and second respectively, and five tallies in the fourth. Beaumont made a grand effort to overtake the Buffaloes with a four run stampede in the first of the ninth.

Houston's three-run margin can be found in the big fourth. With the bases loaded, Tom Carey hit to Taylor, Beaumont shortstop, who threw home to catch Carey Selph, but Selph, a former football star, went tearing into the base with such force that he knocked Catcher Larbeer loose from the ball, the pellet going one way and the catcher the other. Before the Exporters could locate the ball and get their bearings, Peel and Sturdy had scored along with Selph and it was these three runs that won the ball game.

Cats Down Steers

The Dallas steers, who have been going great guns after the second half championship, hit a stumbling block at Fort Worth where the Cats won the series final 4 to 2. Leon Chagnon turned in a steady pitching performance for Fort Worth, holding the Steers to five hits. Elton Langford, Dallas leftfielder, secured three of his team's five hits to run his consecutive game hitting streak to 20. Grady Adkins started for Hap Morse's battling second place crew, but was relieved in the seventh by Gerald Mallet, a Beaumont cast-off. The Cats pecked eight hits off the two Dallas flingers, Baker leading the offense with two hits.

In the only other league game, the Galveston Buccaneers stepped out of their cellar position long enough to give the San Antonio Indians a 2 to 1 jolt. McGhee, Galveston's new 19-year-old first sacker established himself as a hero when he hit a Texas leaguer in the last of the ninth inning, scoring two runs for the Buccaneers' victory. Lefty Stein limited Galveston to five hits. Preacher Thurman gave San Antonio six hits.

PIRATES ASSUME THEIR CUSTOMARY LATE-SEASON ROLE—TROUBLE MAKERS FOR REST OF THE NATIONAL LEAGUE

BY HERBERT W. BARKER,
Associated Press Sports Writer

Going nowhere in particular themselves, Jewel Ens' Pittsburgh Pirates apparently have decided to assume their customary late-season role—trouble-makers for the rest of the National league.

Year after year the Pirates meekly submit to a general cuffing around for the first two or three months of the season. Then when they're so deeply submerged in the second division a pennant is next to impossible they turn on their tormentors, particularly those clubs that top them in the standings.

Giants Walloped

Just a month ago the Pirates had won 23 games and lost 38 for an average of .377. Since then they have so far forgotten themselves as to win 19 games out of 29 for the quite respectable percentage of .655. They won their fifth straight victory yesterday, walloping the third place New York Giants, 8 to 6, although outhit, 14 to 10.

The second place Chicago Cubs fell to a point eight and one-half games removed from the St. Louis Cardinals when they accepted a 7-6 beating from the Phillies. Home runs by Buzz Arlett and Pinky Whitney, each with a man on base furnished the Phils with a lead the Cubs couldn't overcome.

Standings Unchanged

The American league situation remained unchanged as the Philadelphia Athletics nosed out the St. Louis Browns, 5 to 4 on Eric McNair's tenth inning home run. Rube Walberg chalked up his 16th victory of the year although he had little edge on George Blaeholder who struck out nine men.

The Washington Senators won a free-hitting game from Cleveland, 11-7, Joe Kuhel's two doubles and a single driving in three Senator runs.

Babe Ruth's 27th homer failed to save the New York Yankees from an 8-7 beating by the Chicago White Sox in the first game of a double header but 17 assorted singles, doubles and triples gave them the nightcap, 12-3.

The Boston Red Sox bunched seven hits for eight runs in the fourth inning to wallop Detroit, 13-4.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY
NEA Service Writer

"Vegetable dinners" and "vegetable plates" offer one of the most satisfactory means of adding variety to summer menus. Served once or twice a week they make an agreeable change from the usual meat and potato meal.

Although vegetables are available in great abundance ingenuity and imagination are needed to make a vegetable dinner really interesting. Try to include at least three, or better four vegetables in the combination. The wider the variety the easier the plate is to prepare.

SISTER MARY

Given this variety of vegetables, the selection becomes an important factor. Keep in mind the desirability of contrast. Contrast in color as well as flavor and texture determines the choice of vegetables. Careful planning in this respect makes for most attractive and appetizing meals.

Cooked Different Ways

Contrast also enters into the method of cooking and serving vegetables. If one vegetable is served plain with butter, let another be creamed, a third grilled or broiled and a fourth served in a croquette, timbale or fritter.

While all vegetables contain at least a trace of protein it is not enough to keep up the balance in the body between the giving out and the intake of energy, and is of poorer quality and less value than that found in other sources. For this reason, it is well to include a protein food known to be of high quality. Nuts, eggs, cheese and milk can be added to vegetable plates in such a way that the proper balance is maintained.

Toasted cheese sandwiches are an example of an easy way to add protein. The crispness of the toast provides a pleasing contrast of texture with the softness of vegetables.

Milk is another effective means of increasing the protein content of a vegetable meal. As a beverage, in the dessert or in a sauce over the vegetables, you will find milk convenient to use in numerous ways.

Calories in Desserts

Eggs can be hard cooked and used as a garnish, or they can be poached and served with a creamed vegetable on toast. Desserts made with milk and eggs also take care of the protein calories.

Stuffed vegetables such as tomatoes and peppers can be the means of furnishing protein if the stuffing is chosen with care. Peanuts are cheap and a rich source of protein. They combine well with nearly all vegetables.

Very often the garnishings add food value as well as beauty to the plate. Sliced eggs, grated cheese, toast points and croutons furnish calories. Parsley, watercress, radishes and celery add minerals and in the case of radishes and celery contribute a raw crisp vegetable.

MONDAY'S MENU

LUNCHEON—Cauliflower in cheese sauce (baked), broiled tomatoes, celery, apple and green pepper salad, iced chocolate, crisp cookies.

DINNER—Cold sliced roast lamb, currant jelly, peppers stuffed with lima beans and sweet corn and baked salad of mixed greens with French dressing, mint sherbet, chocolate brownies, milk, coffee.

Chinese fried noodles, Saratoga or lattice potatoes, shoe-string potatoes and crisp bread-stuffs can be used when crisp raw vegetables are not included.

Suggested Combinations

These combinations undoubtedly will suggest others to you:

Stuffed baked tomatoes, creamed green peas, buttered cauliflower, lattice potatoes.

Spinach timbales with mushroom sauce, carrot marbles glace, French fried onions, toast points, radishes and celery.

Corn on the cob, lima beans in cream, broccoli with lemon butter, broiled tomatoes, toasted cheese sandwiches.

Buttered chard or beet greens on toast with poached egg, fried eggplant, baked onions, pickled beets.

Stuffed baked peppers, fried summer squash, diced beets in orange sauce, Saratoga potatoes, stuffed celery.

Sweet potato and walnut croquettes, creamed kohlrabi, baked carrots and peas, watercress, toasted crackers, radishes.

VEGETABLE BASE

Creamed dishes in summer time should use vegetables instead of toast as a base. Try par-boiling spinach and using it under creamed fish.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton
(FIRST BY NEA SERVICE, INC.)

LITTLE children of three or four need other children to play with. It is a mistake to keep them apart for purely physical reasons. Just be careful that they are not near other children who have any sign of illness, or illness at home. Otherwise the benefits they obtain from mixing far outweigh the risks they run from a hygienic point of view.

Why should children learn to play with other children when they are in their very earliest years? Why not wait until they are five or six before allowing them to mingle with groups? Of course I am speaking here of the single child, of whom there are so many now.

In the days of large families, and today in the home where there are several children, the problem of group play largely settles itself. But as for the solitary child needing company the reason is simple enough.

The Age of Exploration

It is during the fourth year that the child discovers he is a real person. Before that his eyes were mostly turned out. Things interested him because they were new—he had never seen them before. So many things to see, to try, to listen to, to discover. He was an explorer.

If only we could go on that way—keeping ourselves apart from feelings, so many feelings that tear us this way and that! Why cannot we remain as we were in those early years before we learned to interpret things in terms of ourselves? If you think the tiny child selfish, and he is in an elemental way almost animalistic, compare him to himself a few years later. It is in his third or fourth year that he begins to turn his eyes inward, more or less, and depends on his own feelings and reactions for pleasure.

Of course there is a difference in children. Some continue the less personal view while more sensitive children learn emotional extremes quite early. The first type is likely to be selfish from a sort of heartlessness; the latter because he suffers so easily.

Learn Fair Play

Here we have the key. Children should have group play early so that they may learn the habit of unselfishness. If they are of the less emotional type they will discover that it pays to be generous or at least fair in order to keep friends. If they are sensitive they learn that sporting game of forgetting oneself in learning to be interested in other people. It works both ways.

Plainly they learn to adjust themselves to the ideals of the group, and it is good for them. The group should be right, that is for us to see to; nice children of about the same age. They can be different from one another, but the group should contain nobody to dominate the others too much or to make them unhappy. An older person may be near to supervise, but too much interference is unwise.

It is amazing how much a child will develop in a few hours of group play daily.

Just Among Us Girls!

Past Affairs Mar Happiness, Virginia Lee Informs Girls

BY VIRGINIA LEE

GIRLS, GIRLS, how am I going to get it across to you that illicit love affairs with men, and especially with married men, leave you with nothing but heartache and a sense of guilt?

You are the ones who suffer, not the man. These affairs seldom last, and after they are over you cannot go with clean, decent young chaps with clear consciences. You must always be wondering what they would say "if they knew." And debating whether it's best to tell or to let the boy friend find it out for himself, and what will happen if he does find out.

Virginia Lee

Such things simply don't pay. You can't be a "free soul"—which usually means doing what you please when you please and how. The really free souls are those who have learned to master their passions and are therefore not driven by them into wrecking their lives.

I have letters here from two girls who are suffering from and regretting their pasts. They are typical of those who have thrown conventions to the winds and found, too late, that "freedom" does not bring happiness.

FRISCO: No use marrying this man whom you once cared for but now no longer love and would not be happy with. The only honest thing to do is to tell him that you cannot do it.

I cannot feel that you should be held responsible for his morals. You are so much younger than he, and while, as you realize, you were also to blame for your affair with him, he should have shielded you from himself. He would have if he had really loved you better than himself. Of course his unhappiness at the time is an extenuating circumstance.

It's all sad and unsatisfactory—your whole story—but marrying him, as he wishes you to, won't set it right.

As to telling the present boy friend about this affair, that's up to you. Your youth at the time it happened should plead with him to forgive you, if you decide that your conscience won't let you keep still about it. How would you feel if this boy you now like had had a like affair with a girl? Would you want to know about it or not? And could you overlook it? Maybe these questions will give you some clue to the way he may feel about it.

* * *

WORRIED SICK: The only thing you can do now is to keep on being a good girl and convince the boy friends that you are the kind they think. Their attitude is the natural result of your escapade.

"DEAR MISS V. LEE: I am 13 years old and am considered pretty if I wasn't so fat. People are always saying, 'Isn't she growing fat?' I hate to be fat. Please help me. Tell me isn't there some way to get thinner? RUDDIE."

I couldn't make out your signature so made it Ruddie. I hope you recognize your letter. I suggest that you are too fond of sweets, are you not? That is supposing you are in good health. Do you exercise a good deal? Run, jump, dance, etc.?

A girl of your age would have to be careful if she dieted, as she must have enough milk, eggs, meat, vegetables, etc., to keep her in good health.

Try cutting out candy, sugar over cereals and fruits, cake and pie, and see if it won't help. Have enough to eat, but don't eat until you feel too full. Exercise well, so as to keep your flesh solid, and don't worry about the matter. It is much better for a girl of your age to be a little too stout than too thin. Keep your health, that is the principal thing.

JELLY SALADS

If you get into the habit of using jelly salads, you can use up bits of chicken, vegetables or fruit in a most enticing manner. The purchase of a few attractive individual molds also goes a long way toward whipping lagging appetites into shape.

Wife Preservers

Use steel wool and a good soap to remove particles of food from the frying pan or sausepan, never a knife.

You can help your legs to beauty via the make-up route, if you are earnest about wanting them to be attractive.

Many a youngster in her late teens or early twenties has learned the effect of a little rouge on knees. Others who have fat knees have learned that if a bit of rouge cleverly rubbed in vertically on each side of the knee caps tends to make knees look slenderer.

You can do wonders to your legs for everyday purposes when you wear sheer chiffon stockings and every blemish shows up.

Rouge is the biggest help to slenderizing legs under chiffon hosiery. A couple of vertical lines of rouge, softly blended into the leg on each side o fthe shin bone leg on each side of the shin bone calf makes the leg look much slenderer.

Applies To Ankles, Too

Thick angles can be slenderized by this line of rouge extended down the foot a short distance. The rouge itself does not show under chiffon, but the effect does, in a satisfactory way.

Older women who have prominent veins in the foot, especially in the ankle and on the instep, should skillfully apply powder base or liquid powder to them.

This is a marvelous cover-up. Do it just before you don your hose. Use the cream powder base with your fingers, applying it the length and breadth of your veins. Then either use liquid powder, which sticks much better than dry powder, or dust your legs over with complexion powder, not ordinary bath powder.

Blemishes on the legs, such as scars, moles, or birthmarks, often can be covered up in the same manner so that they do not show in the least under chiffon hose.

You may never have given your legs one single make-up thought. It is your own loss if you haven't. For you will be surprised how much you can improve them.

"SWEET" PEAS

If peas grow a bit tasteless and still you love them and want to eat them, use from a teaspoonful to a tablespoonful of sugar in the cooking water. Even sweet corn can be cooked with some sugar in the water.

Two tons of rose leaves are required to make an ounce of attar of roses.

Thought For Today

For I the Lord love judgment, I hate robbery for burnt offering; and I will direct their work in truth, and I will make an everlasting covenant of them.—Isaiah 61:8.

* * *

We neither know nor judge ourselves; God alone judges and knows us.—Wilkie Collins.

Old Rogue

A railroad grade crossing in Texas claimed the life the other day of another of the human links connecting the present day with its lost frontier epoch. An Indian known as Old Roque, having attained the ripe old age of 100, was killed by a passenger train near El Paso.

Old Roque belonged to a bygone era. He was one of Geronimo's band of Apaches, who harried the southwest in the old days until tough General Nelson Miles crushed them in 1886. Thereafter Old Roque became a "good Indian," herding sheep on the Texas plains and, in the last years of his life, making bows and arrows for the white children of El Paso and teaching them archery and woodcraft.

All in all, the old chap's life spanned great events. He was born when Texas was a part of Mexico, and he kept on taking white men's scalps and burning homesteads for a whole decade after Custer went down at the Little Big Horn; and in his old age he became the friendly counsellor of white children, a survival in 20th century civilization direct from the stone age.

It was strange that he should be killed by a railroad train—this old warrior who had donned war paint so many times and had faced the rifles of frontiersmen and the horsement of the United States army. Strange—and yet rather fitting.

For the railroad more than anything else, ended the reign of the red man in the old west. When the first iron horse puffed across the plains, the Indian was done for. A few bloody years of protest remained, but the end was inevitable.

An Indian warrior ought to die in battle. Failing that, however, wasn't it right that this old fighter should die under the wheels of the mechanical monster that ended the reign of his tribesmen on the treeless plains?

The Railroads

If you are wondering why the railroads want a 15 per cent increase in freight rates, you might consider the testimony recently given the Interstate Commerce Commission by J. J. Pelley, president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad.

The depression has caused such a terrific slump in freight revenues, Mr. Pelley explained, that nearly 500,000 railroad workers have been laid off. Unless relief of some kind is forthcoming in the near future, he added a good many railroad workers now employed will join the 500,000 jobless ones.

Whether the rate increase would directly help these unemployed workers is a question. Their plight probably won't improve until freight traffic picks up. But the mere fact that they have been laid off testifies to the way the depression has hit the railroads.

Reduced Wages

President William Green of the American Federation of Labor, joined by Senator Wagner of New York, appeals to Washington for a general industrial conference to maintain existing wage levels.

Despite the lip service that has been given the no-wage-reduction slogan, industry as a whole has cut wages sharply in the past year. The loss to the workers in 1930 has been estimated at $8,000,000,000. In countless cases where rates have not been reduced men have been put on part-time work, and the effect is the same.

As President Green points out, laboring men these days are saving what they earn and are refusing to spend a cent more than they have to. That fact in itself goes a long way to explain the slump in consumer-demand for manufactured articles. Any further wage cuts will only accentuate it.

That Girl on Broadway says doctors and lawyers use big words to keep their patients and clients from knowing that they're stumped, too.

* * *

ALTHOUGH he has never turned his hand to such an effort, The Plainsman is of the opinion that it would be a hard job to improve on the Ten Commandments. Recent publicity accorded the 'ten rules of conduct', as prescribed by Mahatma Gandhi, indicates all over again that the commandments most of us pretend to follow are sufficient within themselves.

* * *

From time to time somebody hops up with a set of commandments—rules of living, perhaps, they are better called.

But when you sift them down and cull them out you'll find they're the same Ten Commandments handed down to Moses — the commandments which cover every phase of human character despite their brevity.

* * *

FREELY admitting that "St. Gandhi's" commandments are commendable, they are little less than a repetition of those Christians have been hearing and reading all their lives. Many wise men have pondered over the Ten Commandments during the generations they have been known and none of them have been able to improve any on the original outlay.

They seem to cover the subject with a finality which should be reassuring to those who embrace them in theory as well as in fact.

* * *

That Man on Avenue Q says a fellow never really grasps the full meaning of 'moratorium' until his banker says, courteously, "We'll be glad to extend your note."

* * *

Who remembers, just a year ago the multitude standing patiently in line awaiting the opportunity to knock a golf ball through a stovepipe?

* * *

DIRECTORS of Amarillo's Community chest are already pondering a problem which is certain to bob up in Lubbock before many more moons. They are trying to decide what agencies, other than those charitable, will be included in the annual drive for funds—which is just around the corner.

* * *

In Amarillo, as in Lubbock, there are two definite opinions.

One group feels that a Community chest is not a Community chest if it does not serve all publically supported organizations—charitable as well as non-charitable.

The other group, seeing only charity's side, contends that the non-charitable organizations should handle their own finances—particularly in times like these.

* * *

WITHOUT laying claims to being a seer, The Plainsman has an individual view of the coming fall and winter which may or may not be correct. Further, he sees in the offing a considerable difference in opinion concerning the Lubbock Community chest and what it should or should not cover.

* * *

This column's opinion is that there will be considerable money loose in the land throughout the fall months. A large crop, even though it brings a short price, is virtually certain and much of the money thus realized will be turned over to the payment of debts, bills, salaries, interest and whatnot. Also a considerable portion will be spent in the purchasing of necessities and luxuries held off during the past few months.

It is further this column's opinion that the winter months, starting with January or February, are likely to be 'tight.' Unless the country as a whole makes a "right-about-face" there will be more unemployment, therefore more work for charity institutions.

* * *

NEVER thoroughly understood by the general public, the Community chest in Lubbock will likely face tough sledding in its 1931 drive. It is to be hoped that chest directors will be able to solve the problem to the satisfaction of the majority and that opposing camps may be reasonable in their demands.

It's going to take a lot of thought a lot of work and no small sum of money to care for conditions in the winter months if present times hold on. This year will be a poor one for all agencies to refuse to pull together.

* * *

The Kansas City Star offered food for thought when it mentioned that a nation, able to proffer millions to keep Germany going, should also be able to hold surplus wheat off the market long enough to give the farmer a chance to pay expenses.

* * *

IN THIS day of weeping, wailing and general pessimism it is cheering to note that this year's crop of immigrants will total around 50,000. Add to that the fact that 20,000 former immigrants are turning back to their native lands and we note that but 30,000 foreign born are joining us during the present twelve-month.

* * *

It hasn't been so long ago that immigrants were sweeping in at a million a year. Since 1881 immigrants have exceeded 500,000 in 23 of the years and in six different years passed the million mark.

Whacking the total down to 50,000, we think, is a commendable measure.

* * *

TO BE sure, many immigrants make good citizens. The Plainsman can think of several foreign-born residents of Lubbock who are decidedly good additions to the community. But times have changed, the nation has a large enough population and the era has come when the immigrant is not essential to the extension of the nation. The country can now be better served by making better citizens out of those of us who are here, than by turning our efforts to further assimilation.

WASHINGTON, July 28—Investigators for the Nye campaign funds committee are still gathering ammunition for use against Bishop James Cannon and if the Bishop has no more luck than most others who have tried to thwart the committee he is likely to run into more trouble than ever.

DUTCHER

Cannon has disputed the committee's right to make him tell what he did with $65,000 or more which he received for his anti-Smith activities in Virginia in the 1928 campaign and his secretary, Miss Ada Burroughs, declined to answer any questions when placed on the witness stand. The committee felt that it shouldn't bring any contempt proceedings without the bishop's appearance, so it plans to call them both after its full evidence is assembled and it makes its own record in the Cannon case by putting on its own witnesses.

The Cannon investigation has proceeded under the Glass resolution which provided that it might go back into 1928 campaign expenditures in any case where a complaint was filed. Congressman Tinkham of Massachusetts filed a complaint charging violation of the corrupt practices act.

August Hearing

In September the bishop would become immune from prosecution in case evidence of improper handling of funds were developed. Nye is expected to call the committee in for the Cannon hearing in August. Private assurances from the committee have been that the bishop would not be permitted to defy it as he did the Caraway lobby committee when he walked out on it.

Meanwhile, it is interesting to note that this committee has left a rather ruinous trail in those states where politicians and contributors tried to conceal information wanted—or seemed to try.

In Nebraska Mr. George W. Norris expected to call the committee against the senator of the same name—and Victor Seymour, the Republican politician who engineered the trick, have been reindicted for perjury on the basis of their testimony. After the revelations Seymour had to quit as chief of the Republican western senatorial campaign and Norris had to move to another grocery store.

Executive Director Robert H. Lucas of the Republican National Committee apparently lost his prospects of becoming national chairman because the Nye committee made him admit his connection with the plot to defeat Senator Norris. Walter Head, who financed a straw vote to determine if Norris could be licked, has resigned as chairman of directors of the Omaha National bank. W. M. Stebbins, who would have benefitted by the Grocer Norris trick and gave the grocer a bond, took a bad primary licking and Farm Board Member Sam McKelvie, a secret anti-Norris contributor, has been threatened with prosecution.

In Four Other States

Members of the committee feel that their investigation was fought tooth and nail in Tennessee and the political faction which it aimed at there has been taking some bad socks. Rogers Caldwell and Colonel Luke Lea, who said they had had nothing to do with the senatorial primary, have been indicted in connection with the great crash of the Lea-Caldwell enterprise in the south.

When the Nye committee entered Illinois it seemed that Mrs. Ruth Hannah McCormick had an edge on J. Ham Lewis in the senatorial fight. Mrs. McCormick put detectives on Nye's trail, defied the committee and charged it with wire tapping and burglary. After the committee left she suffered one of the most crushing defeats in political history.

In Pennsylvania the committee encountered the famous Vare machine and what information it got from the source was obtained only with picks and crowbars. Gifford Pinchot, who co-operated with Nye, was nominated and elected governor. The machine crowd lost 17,000 appointive jobs, which is as big a disaster as can happen to any machine unless it has 18,000 jobs to lose.

The investigation of John Bankhead's victory over Tom Heflin in Alabama, begun by the Nye committee and now being carried on by the Hastings committee, also encountered obstacles. Widespread irregularities have been shown which may well cause trouble for someone after the Nye and Hastings committee have reported to the Senate.

Diet and Health

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D., Author of "THE HUMAN BODY"

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets and six articles by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin for each pamphlet and 2 cents in coin for each article with a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendening in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1439 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Reducing and Gaining." "Feminine Hygiene." "Indigestion and Constipation." "The Care of the Hair and Skin." "Infant Feeding." and "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes." The articles are: "Normal Diet." "List of Books for Mothers." "Bed Wetting." "Diet of the Expectant Mother." "Ear Troubles" and "Tuberculosis."

INFANT'S PROPORTIONS

THE PROPORTIONS of an infant are not the same as those of an adult. The head is relatively very large. It is about a quarter the length of the entire body. An adult so fashioned would be a ridiculous sight such like those guies with huge paper mache heads worn on coast days in European countries and occasionally seen in the news reels. Compared to the infant's head proportions as one-fourth the entire height of the body, the adult's head is one-seventh.

Dr. Clendening

The baby's chest is very much smaller in proportion to the head and abdomen than the adult's. At birth the head has a larger circumference than the chest, but by the end of the first year they should be the same, and after that the chest should always be greater in circumference than the head.

The head, however, in spite of its relatively large size at birth, grows rapidly after the first few years of life. It grows on the average of five inches in circumference the first year and then an inch the second and third years after which it does not grow more than an inch and a half up to 13 or 14 years, after which no growth at all occurs.

In actual figures the circumference of the head is about 13 inches at birth, 18 inches at one year, 19 inches at two years and 20 1-2 inches at three years, 21 at five years, and 21 1-2 at thirteen years.

This rapid early growth and subsequent retardation is natural enough when you remember what happens to the bony skull in those periods. The "soft spots" on the baby's head allow for the growth and expansion of the skull. The lines where the skull bones join, of which the soft spots are crossroads, are made of soft cartilaginous tissue early in life and grow rapidly to accommodate the brain growth. There are two soft spots, called fontanelles. The small one at the back of the skull is closed up with bone during the second or third month of life. The larger one forward does not close until between the fifteenth and twentieth months of life. If the large fontanelle does not close by the twentieth month it is a sign of rickets, and should call for expert examination and treatment.

By the twentieth month the cartilage along the jointure lines of the skull bones is replaced by bone, and the skull and the contained brain grows then only very slowly until adult life.

The internal structure of the brain, however, becomes more complex with bewildering rapidity in that time. Reflex paths are opened up and cell connections formed for life. At no other equal period of life does an individual learn so much. He learns to decide from which side sounds are coming, to turn his sight upside down to connect things with words, to control the emunctories, to take hold of an object with his hand, to know what is what to eat, to control the legs for walking—and ten thousand other things that make him the most interesting person in the world. Mussolini and Bobby Jones are dumbbells beside a year-old baby, measured in the total amount of thinking and learning they do.

A complete reel of the talkie film "All Quiet on the Western Front" has been presented to the city of Belfast, Ireland, to be kept as an historical record.

SWAN

In New York With Gilbert Swan

NEW YORK, July 28.—Odds and ends, but chiefly odds—In an old-country cafe on East 30th street, the Turkish gents play backgammon according to a recipe taught some 2000 years ago. And the moderns who drop in for dinner comment on "the up-to-dateness of these people."—

And a place that effects Algerian trimmings has corned-beef hash as its specialty.—

There's a swinging-door spot on the East Side where three old-fashioned brewmasters still turn out "musty" ale. — Which, if you haven't been reading your old English tales in late years, means that it is slightly soured—On the walls of this place hang original programs of Harrigan and Hart's "Mulligan Guards."—

Keen's chop house has one of the largest collections of clay pipes to be found on this side of the Atlantic. Old-timers have pipes reserved for them and make regular visits for a puff at the good old long-stemmed clay variety.

The longest barefisted fight in history was staged in a saloon on Cherry street—"Of course, that's when the boys were really tough."—And George Washington once had a dwelling in the same stresse—So did John Hancock, who is frequently recalled by persons signing some document.—

Union Square is credited with being the cradle of the movies, starting in a penny arcade—With a gent named Zukor taking tickets—And the most colorful old bookstores in this land are parked on Fourth avenue in the Union Square neighborhood—Those expensive studios in Washington Mews and MacDougal Alley were all stables in the rich Washington Square folk in the early days.—There are people in Grove street who seem to know that Thomas Paine lived and died there.

And there's at least one farmhouse in the big town—It's the historic Dykeman place and dates back to the Revolution—It's a museum now.—

If it makes any difference to you where famous folk once lived, it isn't hard to find the one-time habitats of such persons as Lafayette, Captain Kidd, Washington Irving, Mark Twain, Aaron Burr, Theodore Roosevelt, William Cullen Bryant, Peter Cooper, John Jacob Astor and Poe.

The Bowern still has an old-time "mile marker" by which distance to the city hall was once figured.—Although but 50 feet wide, the Bush Terminal building rises almost 500 feet above the street and is credited with taking up less room than any other structure of its size.—

And it was none other than the elder Willie Vanderbilt who made the famous Cleopatra's needle a tourist attraction in Manhattan.—It cost him $100,000 to get it here from Egypt, but that was in 1881.—Today they'd probably fly it over.—

It's still against the rules to carry a camera in Central Park, which never fails to astonish newcomers.—And is ridiculous.—

A lot of people who seem to be visiting the famous Grant tomb on Riverside drive are actually getting a peep at the "gingko" tree which grows near it, and which is the only gingko you're likely to see in these parts.—

The government did $18,000,000 worth of business in candles last year, according to a statistic. Maybe it's because so many people are burning them at both ends.

Cartoonists at any rate have the presence to represent Old Man World with lines across his face.

An automobile was driven by rockets in Berlin recently. This is probably more desirable than the usual run of back-seat explosions.

And to think that the Reich, but for a letter, might be rich.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Before the girls left, one said, "Say, how would you like to swim today? This is a very lovely beach, with sandy bottom, too! There is a bathhouse down the shore and they have lots of suits in store. If you'll just ask, they'll gladly rent a suit to each of you.

"We'll get our suits and join you soon. We must go in before it's noon 'cause after eating we can't swim for 'bout an hour or so." The Travel Man then to the bunch said, "I think that's a dandy hunch. Now everybody hurry. In the water we will go."

It wasn't long till everyone was having a heap of fun. One of the girls to Clowny cried, "Come on, let's have a race. We'll swim along from yonder stake and see what good time we can make." And when the race was over, Clowny was in second place.

"Say! You're real good," he loudly cried. "I must admit I really tried, but I was fairly beaten. You were much too fast for me. And then the girl said, "Well, 'twas fun and I was just the lucky one. Perhaps 'twas 'cause there's not a deep when I'm not in a sea."

By this time everyone had had enough of swimming. They were glad to get into their clothes again. The girls then said, "Goodby," and went upon their merry way. Said Coppy, "We've had fun today. And there is still more fun in store. A fisherman I spy."

Up to the fisherman they went and shortly found his time was spent in spearing great big turtles. Scouty asked, "What are they for?" The man replied, "For soup, my son." And catching them is heaps of fun. I'm trying to get a second one. My first one's on the shore."

LOONS REPORTED ON OVERNMENT-OWNED PANAMA PROPERTY

ASHINGTON, July 28. (AP)—

Hoover Halts Their Vacation

Chairman James C. Stone of federal farm board, and son, James, Jr., were starting a vacation when President Hoover found Stone at a Traverse City, Mich., hotel and called him back to Washington. He frowned and went back, his son smiled and went on. Stone indicated that he might return for the national cherry festival, in July, an annual affair. His board is the financial backer of Michigan's cherry-grower co-operative.

DAILY MARKETS

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

An interval of mild strength in the morning was short lived, and gains of a point or two were reduced by midday.

U. S. Steel held about steady, moving over a narrow range. Allied Chemical, Atchison, Eastman and Safeway made extreme gains of about 2 points during the morning rise, and such issues as American Telephone, Standard of N. J., Union Carbide, Kroger and Penney got up a point or so.

Auburn was again a soft spot, losing 4 points. Childs dropped 2 points to a new low, and Case sold off a point.

Call money renewed at 1 1-2 per cent.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, July 28 (AP)—Cotton opened steady today, 8 to 11 points lower in response to lower Liverpool cables than expected and on continued favorable crop and weather advices from the south.

The selling, however, was not of large volume and price changes were narrow following the opening decline and offers were quite well taken by the trade and shorts. The rally in the market late on Monday which was believed to have disclosed a firm technical position seemed to discourage renewed aggressive selling. December contracts declined to 9.05 with the general list showing net losses of 6 to 9 points at the end of the first half hour.

Liverpool cables reported the market steady early on continental buying but said there was a later reaction under liquidation and hedge selling. There was an improvement in cloth sales to south America and Africa, the cables said.

The market continued its sagging tendency later in the morning under further liquidation and local selling promoted by the favorable weather outlook, especially in the eastern belt where the forecast was for fair conditions. Although selling was not particularly aggressive there was a limited demand and December contracts sold off from 9.10 to 8.99 with the general market showing net losses of about 13 to 16 points at midday.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, July 28 (AP)—Cotton opened quiet and rather easier today as Liverpool cables were worse than due. First trades showed losses of 6 to 8 points and the market continued to rule easy after the start. October trading down to 8.83 and December to 9.08, or 8 points below yesterday's close.

Later in the first hour the market was somewhat steadier and recovered five points on covering by shorts who feared the weekly weather summary due tomorrow would prove unfavorable owing to the excessive rains of the past week in most parts of the belt.

At the end of the first hour the market was steady and within a point of the highs.

The market became more active as the morning progressed and prices eased off steadily under pressure of selling induced by generally favorable crop accounts. There was also some hedge selling and short selling by ring traders.

October eased to 8.70 and December broke through the nine cent line to 8.93, down 20 to 21 points from yesterday's close.

Near mid-session the market was a shade steadier on a little covering by satisfied shorts, price rallying four points from the lows.

Opening unchanged to 1-4 cent up, corn soon underwent a general sag. Wheat started unchanged to 5-8 off and later declined all around.

Follies Girl Dies After Yacht Blast

NEW YORK, July 28. (AP)—Broadway today mourned Miss Helen Walsh, beautiful 21-year-old follies girl who died at a hospital in Greenport, L. I., yesterday from burns received when an explosion destroyed Harry Richman's yacht Sunday.

A few moments after she died, Richman clowned and sang to a follies audience, unaware that the girl, whom he risked his life to save had succumbed. He was not told of it until after the show.

CONFIDENCE IN GOVERNMENT

MONTERO, BLANQUIER ARE IN CONTROL OF CHILE AFFAIRS

SANTIAGO, Chile, July 28 (AP)—That popular combination—Juan Esteben Montero and Pedro Blanquier—were again in charge of the government of Chile today, and foreign business interests indicated they had complete confidence in them.

Their first task was to straighten out the confused financial situation, with its problems of local banking, foreign exchange and foreign debts.

Held Best Choice

A survey of foreign business interests showed unanimous opinion that Montero as acting president and Blanquier as finance minister were the best men to handle Chile's emergency.

Americans have a stake of slightly less than $1,000,000,000 in the nation, and the British, with large interests, also are vitally concerned. Americans control the principal products, nitrate and copper, on which the government depends for a large part of its revenue.

A survey indicated that foreign interests were firm believers in the future of Chile, regardless of the temporary moratorium in the foreign debt. Montero and Blanquier will continue that moratorium, probably for the balance of this year and will deposit pesos in the central bank as guarantee of the payment of interest later.

Freedom Advocated

Montero, professor of law at the University of Chile and a firm advocate of freedom for the people, took over the government from Pedro Opazo yesterday after Opazo had been acting president only a few hours, in succession to Carlos Ibanez, who fled the country after a three-days' public uprising.

Montero and Blanquier won popular acclaim by their program of economy, instituted when they were members of an Ibanez cabinet just before the overthrow of the former president. That program will again be put into effect.

As vice-president and acting president, Montero will serve as head of the state for 60 days, and then elections will be held.

IBANEZ TO BUENOS AIRES

BUENOS AIRES, July 28 (AP)—Former President Carlos Ibanez of Chile was on his way to Buenos Aires today from Mendoza, just over the border from Chile, where he stopped last night in his flight from Santiago.

When he arrived in Mendoza he was greeted by local authorities, the Chilean consul, numerous countrymen and newspaper correspondents.

Ibanez said he resolved to leave Chile to avoid further bloodshed. He will stay in Buenos Aires several days until he decides in which city in Europe he will reside in the future, he explained.

The ex-president appeared in good health, revealed no depression and conversed affably.

GRASSHOPPERS

into a far wider zone. Just now weather conditions for the "hoppers" are ideal, he said.

Bran, molasses and poisons are combined to form the ammunition of the defense. All sorts of farm machines have been equipped hurriedly with improvised fittings to scatter the mixture in fields. Grasshoppers, tempted by the molasses, die within 24 hours after samp'e; the bran. Their fellows, who follow an instinct to feed upon the first unfortunates, reap their reward much quicker.

Millions are killed, Ruggles said, but millions arise to take their places advancing to the green fields ahead. Some areas regarded free of the pests at sundown have been swarming with them the following noon.

Motorists in infested areas find it necessary to place cloths over radiators to prevent the "hoppers" from stopping air circulation.

GAS COMPANY

ed in this county to offset a loss sustained by the Guthrie Gas service at Guthrie, where the rate is 43 cents a thousand.

The Guthrie Gas service recently lowered its rate at Guthrie to 43 cents in a franchise fight with the Western Service company, Oklahoma City, which was granted a franchise recently for 45 cents and voluntarily lowered the price to 44 cents.

Mandamus action by the Guthrie company in the state supreme court is pending against Mayor H. T. Anderson of Guthrie and City Clerk Edna Austin in connection with the failure of city officials to call an election after filing of a franchise election petition.

Hoover Nomination Forecast By Moses

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—Renomination of President Hoover by the Republicans was predicted today by Senator Moses, Republican of New Hampshire.

"It is not in the cards for anyone to take the nomination away from President Hoover," was the only comment the senator would make on the political situation upon his return to the capital.

DE PRIEST TO TALK

DALLAS, July 28 (AP)—Congressman Oscar De Priest, Chicago negro, arrived here today to give an address tonight on the subject of citizenship. He was to speak under the auspices of the Century club, a negro organizaton.

House, who was Woodrow Wilson's personal advisor, is back in politics, aiding in the movement to secure the Democratic presidential nomination for Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York. Friends of Colonel House are said to have received letters from him urging their support of Governor Roosevelt in next year's campaign.

CAPONE'S DAY OF RECKONING NEAR

CHICAGO, July 28 (AP)—Alphonse Capone's day of reckoning with the government is close at hand.

There has been considerable conjecture as to what length of term the gang chief will receive when he comes before Federal Judge Wilkerson on Thursday of this week, but one thing appeared certain and that was that he won't fly in an airplane to the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kans.

United States Marshal H. C. W. Laubenheimer said the government had rejected an offer from an airways company to transport all prisoners to Leavenworth by plane, beginning with Capone.

Capone is to be sentenced on his pleas of guilty to charges of violating the income tax law and for conspiracy to break the prohibition act. Meanwhile he has been enjoying a final splurge of freedom at Benton Harbor, Mich.

Fred Henley, 20, is not expected to recover from internal injuries received in the crash. W. B. Nichols, driver of the car, Elvis Nichols, Lloyd Benson and A. T. Babineaux all were expected to recover from cuts and bruises.

AUCTION FIRST BALE

NO ACTION TAKEN ON DERBY OFFER

If Lubbock is a control stop for the national sweepstakes handicap air derby, Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and municipal airport authorities don't know anything about it.

Lubbock was listed as a day-stop in the western half of the air race from Santa Monica, Cal., to Cleveland, Ohio, in an announcement at Cleveland by Clifford Henderson, managing director of the national air races at Cleveland.

A proposal to make Lubbock a control point was received by the chamber of commerce several days ago, but Henderson did not make an expected appearance here and authorities here had not accepted the offer, chamber authorities said.

City commission last week refused to permit collection of admission fees at the airport if contestants in the derby should stop here.

Control points announced last night were: Calexico, Cal., overnight; Phoenix, Ariz., midday; Tucson, day; Douglas, overnight; Dennison, N. M., day; Roswell, day; Lubbock, day; Amarillo, overnight; Enid, Okla., day and Bartlesville, Okla., overnight, half-way point.

Lindbergh said he did not expect to take off from the Anacostia river, where his trim black airplane is moored near the naval air station, until about noon today, if then. All night the pontoon equipped craft was guarded by bluejackets as it rolled in the rays of a strong searchlight.

To Take Rations

Complete emergency equipment is carried on the plane. Besides the luggage including fur coats for the cold arctic air the Lindberghs will find in northern Canada and Alaska, the aircraft has blankets, a stove and emergency rations neatly packed in its graceful fuselage.

Business District Threatened By Fire

SAN ANTONIO, July 28 (AP)—The entire business district of Somerset, 18 miles from here, was threatened by fire early today when three small residences in the center of the town burned.

Quick action on the part of the San Antonio fire department in sending a pumper to aid the bucket brigade which was waging a futile fight against the flames probably prevented a heavy loss.

FLIERS LIKE LUBBOCK

Doctor and Mrs. Britton, who on municipal airport's register gave their address as "Michigan," liked Lubbock so well when they landed here June 12 that they stopped at the port again Saturday en route home from Los Angeles. They had expressed surprise at proportions and modernity of the Lubbock flying field and hangar. Both are pilots. They also visited the downtown section when vacationing en route to the Pacific coast.

TO PROBE SLAYING

CORPUS CHRISTI, July 28 (AP)—District Attorney D. S. Purl announced today that a special session of Willacy county criminal court would be called to allow grand jury investigation into the slaying of two officers at Raymondville Sunday. The regular term would not open until August 17.

Hope For Record

Although their plane has a slower cruising speed than the "Winnie Mae," Herndon and Pangborn hope to beat the round-the-world record by flying longer distances. They have dual controls.

Their monoplane is orange-red hued and its number is "NR-795-W."

Herndon was educated at Princeton and learned flying in France. He had been refused a license in this country because of color-blindness. He will act as navigator on the trip, having studied under Capt. Lewis Yancey. Herndon's mother is Mrs. Dixon Boardman, society woman of Park avenue. Herndon's secret marriage was revealed a week ago.

Pangborn his flying mate, was the first airman to fly a plane upside down. His record shows more than 1,200 hours in the air. He is from Wenatchee, Wash.

Boardman is from Boston. He is 33 years old and has been flying since he was 23. His co-pilot, Polando, is 27, married, and works for the East Coast Aircraft, Boston. His home is in Lynn, Mass.

Todd was arrested July 18. He is free in $1,500 bail. Another suspect is sought in the warehouse robbery. Lynn county authorities indicated.

The arson complaints against Scott and Dickson were signed by Tom Abel, chief of police at Slaton. The Lynn county attorney's office and sheriff's department aided Lubbock county officers in investigating the fire.

Insurance Paid

The Slaton residence, owned by Todd, was destroyed by fire at about 10 o'clock at night two months ago, Vaughn E. Wilson, Lubbock county attorney, said. An insurance company paid Todd $1,200 as a result of the loss, Wilson said.

Scott and Dickson were alleged to have managed negotiations by which the property was transferred to Todd about two weeks before the blaze, the Lubbock county attorney said.

NEW TECH MILITARY SCIENCE HEAD HAS GOOD RECORD

The army record of Col. Charles A. Davis, new head of the military science department at Texas Technological college for the 1931-32 year, is an excellent one, college authorities said.

Col. Davis was a private in the infantry from January 1, 1890 until January 1, 1893. From April 30, 1894 until April 23, 1898, he was sergeant in the infantry. That year he became a first lieutenant and was raised to the rank of captain on March 30, 1900, serving in that capacity until July 1, 1903.

From June 24, 1911 to December 31, 1913, he was a major in the infantry. His rank was captain from 1913 until August 4, 1917.

He transferred to the cavalry in 1917 and was ranked as a captain until June 2, 1920.

On May 4, 1922 he became a captain in the field artillery being promoted to the rank of major on January 28, 1923. He was made lieutenant colonel on June 25, 1923, and a colonel in field artillery on December 2, 1925.

He will have complete charge of the Tech military units in the absence of Capt. H. E. Killin who has been granted a leave of absence.

INJUNCTION IS SOUGHT HERE

LAUNDRY ATTEMPTS TO RESTRAIN FORMER COMPANY WORKER

To restrain W. R. Roberson, a former employe, from soliciting business from customers of the Lubbock Laundry company, O. W. McLeod and C. R. Simmons, owners, yesterday filed application for an injunction in ninety-ninth district court.

Judge Clark M. Mullican set hearing on the injunction pleas for 10 o'clock Friday morning.

The plaintiffs alleged that Roberson signed an agreement March 24, 1931, when he went to work for the laundry company, agreeing not to solicit laundry and dry cleaning work from any of his old customers for a period of two years after he should terminate his connection with the plaintiff company.

Had Quit Concern

Quitting the Lubbock Laundry company on his own initiative on May 18, of this year, Roberson has since been engaged in soliciting trade for the Howard Laundry, in violation of the agreement he signed at the time he went to work for the plaintiff concern, the petition recites.

Kitten With Two Noses And Three Eyes Found Here

The body of a kitten having two noses, two mouths and three eyes was found yesterday by C. R. Blake, employe of the Ran Smith dairy. Blake discovered the freak characteristics when he prepared to dispose of the body.

The cat was born Thursday and lived four days. Blake took the body to a local taxidermist for mounting, and expects to keep the mounted freak.

Mexican At Quanah Is Not Wanted Here

Sheriff Wade Hardy returned yesterday from Quanah and said a Mexican arrested in Red river bottoms of Hardeman county was not Higinio Baiza, who escaped from city jail here with eight other felony prisoners.

The sheriff went to Quanah identify the prisoner. He said he was convinced the suspect held by Hardeman county officers was not Baiza.

LUBBOCK BOYS CRY AS SENTENCES TO TRAINING SCHOOL PRONOUNCED HERE

Tears running down their cheeks, a 13-year-old and a 14-year-old boy yesterday stood before County Judge E. L. Pitts in juvenile court and were sentenced to an indefinite period in the state training school for boys. The sentences were for the boys' parts in theft of cigarets from a railway freight car at Slaton two weeks ago.

"You boys have the privilege of setting your own sentences," the county judge said. "When you get the right slant on life and show that you intend to make good citizens of yourselves, you will be released. It may be a month or it may be until you are 21 years of age, that depends upon you."

The older boy thanked the judge and told him that he thought that it was the right thing for the court to do.

"If it only breaks me of smoking, it will be worthwhile," he said.

The younger boy burst into tears, ran to his mother, who was sitting in the courtroom and hid his face on her bosom.

The youths told Judge Pitts of numerous petty thefts in which they had been involved during the last two years. Both had been assessed suspended sentences in a neighboring state. The older boy said he "borrowed" an automobile when he was 12 years old and got into trouble over it.

GRAIN ANALYST CLUB BLAMES EFFORT TO WITHHOLD SURPLUS FROM MARKET FOR PRESENT WORLD WHEAT PROBLEM

CHICAGO, July 28 (AP)—The grain market analyst club, numbering the leading grain statisticians and crop experts as its members, blamed steadily increasing supplies and efforts to withhold the surplus from the market for the present world wheat situation.

The analysis, released yesterday, said that wheat had very little value, except for human food, and "a surplus beyond human consumptive capacity means a cumulative unwanted surplus that forces price concessions."

Continuing, the analysis said:

Surplus Growing

"Efforts to attribute responsibility for the present low wheat prices to market manipulation, short selling or Russian dumping, break down entirely in the face of a tremendous and growing world surplus of wheat in comparison with world requirements. This surplus represents the patriotic effort to stimulate wheat production in North America, Argentina, and Australia during the World war, to fill the void left by the withdrawal of Russia from the field of world supply.

"The acreage added in these countries for that purpose has been retained even after Russia returned to the position of the greatest wheat producer in the world, and it is this excessive acreage coupled with above-normal acre yields in the last few years that has produced the world surplus of wheat."

The world wheat supplies have been increasing more rapidly annually, during the last five years, than could be absorbed at prevailing prices, the report continued. In the first five years of the decade, from 1920 to 1925, world available supplies averaged 3,525,000,000 bushels per year, and consumption 3,220,000,000.

In the second half of the decade from 1925 to 1930 supplies averaged 4,000,000,000 bushels yearly, and consumption 3,365,000,000 bushels annually, the analysts said. Last year available supplies were 4,365,000,000 bushels and consumption about 3,765,000,000 bushels.

"In other words, surpluses were steadily increasing," the report continued.

"Efforts, either by individual cooperation like the Canadian pools, or governmental operations like the Federal Farm board, or state efforts in Australia to to temporarily hold the surplus off the market, only make the situation worse in the end, through holding out the hope of securing profitable prices and encouraging a continued excess of acreage and excessive production.

"The prestige of the government, backed by hundreds of millions of dollars, cannot overturn the immutable law of supply and demand, and such efforts continued, only to serve to waste the taxpayers' money and to make the situation worse by encouraging the creation of a further surplus when it is the existence of that surplus which is the fundamental cause of the trouble."

DRY OFFICER AND NEGRO ARE SLAIN

FORT WORTH, July 28 (AP)—Raymond L. Ezzell, 30, prohibition agent, and an unidentified negro were killed last night in a pistol fight.

Ezzell, with J. W. Boyd, companion agent, was waiting for the negro to drive into an alley with a load of liquor. As the negro arrived Ezzell walked to the side of the automobile. The negro began firing, wounding Ezzell in the hand. Ezzell and the negro then fired fatal bullets simultaneously, according to Boyd, who was on the side of the automobile opposite Ezzell.

Ezzell had been a federal prohibition agent nearly a year.

CLEAR WAY FOR INDICTMENT

OBJECTIONS IN LEA CONSPIRACY CASE SWEPT ASIDE

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 28. (AP)—Sweeping aside technical objections, Justice William L. Cook of the state supreme court yesterday cleared the way for a conspiracy indictment against Col. Luke Lea and Luke Lea, jr., to be submitted to the county grand jury despite the regular prosecutor's refusal to act.

The justice's opinion upheld the action of Criminal Judge Charles Gilbert in dispossessing District Attorney General Richard M. Atkinson as prosecutor in this case and appointing Seth Walker in his stead. Atkinson's petition for writs to set aside Judge Gilbert's order and to remove the matter to the supreme court for a hearing were denied.

"Probably Guilty"

Judge Gilbert, declaring the Leas were "probably guilty" of conspiracy in connection with the collapsed Liberty Bank and Trust company, directed Atkinson to prosecute them in his official capacity and to file an indictment with the grand jury for its consideration.

Atkinson declined to comply, saying repeated efforts by him to obtain evidence in support of a conspiracy charge had been unsuccessful and contending it was within the discretion of the attorney general alone whether to file indictments. The court replaced him in this case by appointing Walker as attorney general pro tem, and Atkinson challenged Gilbert's authority "to interfere with and control the attorney general's discretion."

MURRAY FLAYS HIGH COSTS

PRICE WAR LOOMS ON ICE AND BREAD IN OKLAHOMA

OKLAOMA CITY, July 28 (AP)—Governor W. H. Murray's assault on the high cost of living, already extended to sale of prison-made ice, may bring about manufacture of bread at the McAlester penitentiary.

At the request of the governor, Warden Sam Brown has compiled figures on the cost of making bread at the prison. Last July 4 Murray told state bakers they had 30 days to reduce their scale, and suggested he might organize cooperative bakeries.

Inquiry Made

A complete inquiry, said the governor, has been made into bread making methods and expenses and the information will be available when the time comes to act.

The prison, under orders of the chief executive, was selling convict-made ice at its dock today for 30 cents per 100 pounds and plans were under way to deliver it at the same price, competing with a 60 ce scale prevailing in McAlester.

Price-War Looms

Murray said inquiries would pressed into rates for ice, te phones, gas and electricity and th the price "war" might be extend to other retail lines.

"We are going to fight it our w —not their way," he said.

Organized bakers have told t governor they are not maki money anyway but Murray sa they had admitted bread could made more cheaply by employme of more hand labor.

"They'd just as well agree to co down on prices and hire more m instead of stirring up their bre by machinery," he said.

About 40 per cent of the ice co panies, said Murray, have voluntaily reduced prices "but the bigge ones have not yet come down."
