CURT B. BECK
...likes Cubs

He Works With Pampa's Scouts

By FRED M. PARKER
Pampa News Staff Writer

A person whose interest lies in helping the young boys of the community is Curt B. Beck, administrative assistant to the Director of Research and Development for Cabot Carbon Co.

Beck is Cub Master of Pack 14, holding that job for the past four years. He has been active in Cub Scout work in Pampa for the past nine years, serving in several capacities.

He spends about two evenings a week in meetings on cub work. One night is spent in the Pack 14 meeting and the other with various committees, training groups, or parents.

He stated that he liked scouting work and likes to work with the boys.

Beck is Chairman of the Panhandle Plains Section of the American Chemical Society. The section is composed of most all chemists in the Panhandle.

He is also Secretary of the Texas and Oklahoma Section of American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

Beck is second vice president of the Community Concert Association. He is also presentation chairman. This means that he is responsible for the obtaining of all the equipment needed by the performers and the proper placing of it on the stage.

As an example of some of his work resulting from this duty, remember the Robert Shaw Coral presentation? He had seen that risers were built but when the director arrived a few hours before the show he stated that they were too small and they had to be completely rebuilt and the stage curtains had to be removed at the last minute.

Johnson To Wield Influence

WASHINGTON, (UP)—An important home state political victory insured Monday that Senate majority leader Lyndon B. Johnson will wield a major and moderating influence at the Democratic national convention.

Johnson's political stock surged as a result of the success his forces had Saturday in wresting control of the state Democratic delegation and its big 56-vote bloc from Gov. Allan Shivers. Shivers, a staunch states' rights advocate, refused to support the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee and helped swing Texas to President Eisenhower.

Johnson now is virtually assured of being named Texas' favorite son candidate for the presidential nomination, and his victory will lend new strength to supporters who want the full convention to accept him as a dark horse candidate in the event of a convention deadlock.

Johnson's bid is not considered serious, however, because, as a victim of a heart attack, his nomination would rob the Democrats of the health issue they plan to use against President Eisenhower.

His Texas victory is no insurance against a southern bolt, but it will serve as a restraining factor. Johnson already has made closer unity between northern and southern senators a major goal in his work as Senate majority leader.

Maryland Republicans and Democrats voted in primaries Monday. President Eisenhower was expected to win the state's 24 Republican national convention votes and Sen. Estes Kefauver of the 18 Maryland votes at the Democratic convention. Maryland realists were choosing in such case between Mr. Eisenhower and an unstructured delegation and between Sen. Kefauver and an unstructured delegation.

Election Will Not Be Contested

Jack Perry, member of the Gray County Legal Control Council, Monday reported that the wets will not contest Saturday's prohibition election.

Perry, who Saturday night told The News the wets would contest the election because of the closeness of the vote and the manner in which the petition calling for an election was presented to the County Commissioners' Court, said this morning that the wet forces were content with the election.

He reported, however, that the wets might contest the election in Carson County, which voted dry. Carson County went dry by a vote of 961 to 929.

Comment on the local option election was running high on both sides Monday with the wets satisfied and the dries taking the attitude that a battle had been lost but not the war.

Saturday's indication that the election would be contested by the wets, the victors, came as no surprise to some observers, who thought that such a move would "lock" the decision for the wets.

Several of the voters in Gray county reported to the polls with poll tax receipts which indicated

Rebels In Attacks In Algeria

ALGIERS—(UP)—Algerian rebels launched a series of coordinated attacks against European farms in west Algeria Monday. First reports said 20 Europeans were massacred.

Authorities announced that strong rebel commando groups struck during the night against Farmstead in the Guard, Beni-Saf, Turgot and the Ain-Temouchent region in the western sector of the Oran department.

This is along the Moroccan border where the French have charged the Moroccans with letting arms pass into Algeria for the rebels.

Gray County Conventions Are Set

The Democratic and Republican County Conventions will be held tomorrow afternoon to elect delegates to the state convention and to elect permanent county chairmen, temporary chairmen, and secretaries.

The Democrats will meet in the county court room at 2 p.m. to go on record as supporting either Governor Shivers or Senate Majority leader Lyndon B. Johnson as the leader of the Texas Delegation to the national convention. They will elect a slate of delegates to represent the county, discuss the unit rule, and hear resolutions from the floor.

Saturday, the Democrats supported Johnson over Shivers in Precinct conventions by a count of 61 votes to 30, based on incomplete returns. At least 27 Democratic delegates are unstructured. Returns were filed with County Clerk Charlie Thur this morning, but no official tabulation had been made by Jimmy Thompson, Gray County Democratic chairman.

No returns had been filed this morning by Republicans, although they held at least one precinct convention, in Precinct 10, Saturday afternoon.

The Republicans will meet at 2 p.m. tomorrow in the City Commission Room to elect their delegates. George B. Cree, Jr., County Republican chairman, earlier said that the GOP delegates to the state convention would go unstructured.

He loves to cook and specializes in unusual dishes.

He reports that his main hobby other than working with boys, is photography. He specializes in 35 mm. and has slides that he has taken throughout the U.S., Mexico, and in England during the eight months he spent at the Cabot plant in England.

Curt is a member of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church and is also active in the work of the church. He teaches Sunday school and for the past three years has been a delegate to the District Convocation.

In his spare time, when he can find it, he studies Spanish. He is interested in foreign languages, having taught himself French by using recordings.

An unusual thing about Curt is his height. He is six feet, eight inches tall. Because of his height he is a member of the Amarillo Tip Toppers Club. To be eligible for membership in this group, the men must be over 4'2" and the women over 5'10".

He also added that he likes to play golf.

New Airplane Is Announced

WASHINGTON—(UP)—The Air Force has a new plane which flies at 10-mile altitudes "as a matter of routine." The plane may prove valuable in detecting Russian nuclear tests.

Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, director of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, disclosed the plane's development Sunday in announcing a new assault on the problems of high-altitude flight.

Dryden said that while only a few military planes now operate above 50,000 feet, such altitudes will be routine for the jet passenger transports and military combat planes of the future.

He said the new research program was made possible by development of the Air Force plane, dubbed the Lockheed U-2.

The plane, which has a big wing to give it necessary "lift" in the thin air, is powered by a J-47 jet engine and has a speed of about 500 miles an hour.

Tension Is Still High In Mid-East

UNITED NATIONS—(UP)—Series of small incidents kept tension alive in the Middle East Monday despite the apparent success of UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's peace mission.

Israel charged that Egyptian troops twice violated the cease fire agreement near Nirim in the southern end of the Gaza Strip Monday. An Israeli military spokesman said the Egyptians fired across the truce line at workers in one incident, but there were no casualties. He said about 10 Egyptian soldiers penetrated 300 yards into Israeli territory in the same area about an hour later, but withdrew when an Israeli patrol appeared.

Israel announced that Jordanian infiltrators blew up a house three miles inside Israeli territory and said the tracks led across the Jordanian frontier.

An Israeli army spokesman reported that shots were fired Sunday night at a police vehicle traveling a country road well inside the Israeli borders. No casualties were reported.

Potsdam Meeting Files Available

By DONALD J. GONZALES
WASHINGTON—(UP)—State Department historians preparing a special report on the controversial World War II Potsdam conference now have access to former President Truman's personal files.

The historians have been in Kansas City — Mr. Truman's home town — examining the papers and making photographed copies of some, it was learned.

Mr. Truman promised department officials about a year ago that they could examine documents in his possession after he had completed work on his memoirs.

Delay in Publishing

The State Department originally planned to publish early this year reports on the 1945 conference between Mr. Truman, former British Prime Ministers Winston Churchill and Clement Attlee and the late Russian Premier Joseph Stalin.

However, it now appears the document will not be published for many months and possibly not until next year. It was understood that part of the delay may have been caused by the additional work involved in clearing the Truman papers with the heads of the other governments involved.

Some Republican members of Congress have made no secret of the fact that they would like to see the report issued before the November elections.

Shivers Up Hornet's Nest

State Department publication of the Yalta conference papers in March, 1955, stirred up a political hornet's nest. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was called before Congress to explain how the Yalta papers had "leaked" and later made public generally.

Publication of the Potsdam report could renew the row, especially if the historians speak up their work and the document is made public before the presidential and congressional elections.

At Potsdam, the Big Three reached understandings on treatment of defeated Germany, war criminals, conclusion of peace treaties, establishment of a council of foreign ministers, revised Allied control procedures over Romania, Bulgaria and Hungary.

Burglars Hit Four Pampa Firms

Burglars were active in Pampa over the week end as they broke into one eating establishment and three service stations.

Police officers on patrol discovered the break-in at the D. V. Burton Tire Co., 901 S. Barnes, at 4 a.m. Monday. Entry had been obtained to the building by prying the front door open with a bar. Nothing was reported missing.

At 4:38 a.m. the officers discovered a break-in at Ogden and Sons Cuyler Street Service, 300 N. Cuyler. A window pane in the door to the wash rack had been broken and the door opened. After a check by store employees, the report made to the police station indicated that nothing had been taken.

The third of the service stations broken into was the Frank Dial Tire Co., 300 W. Brown. The burglary was discovered when the firm opened for business Monday morning.

Entry was gained by breaking the burglars rolled three U. S. in the south side of the building, out a window in an overhead door Royal Nylon, 1000 x 20, 12 ply truck tires out the door, according to Chief of Police Jim Conner, who made the investigation.

Apparently one of the three tires bounced out of the burglary vehicle, as it was found to the south of the gas pumps of the firm. No other items were reported missing.

The fourth burglary occurred at the O. and Z. Dining Room, 306 N. Cuyler. It was reported to the local police department when the firm opened Monday morning.

Entry to the building was obtained by forcing open a south window to the building. The management reported that nothing was taken by the burglars.

Rhubarbs Are Expected In County Conventions

AUSTIN—(UP)—Rhubarbs were expected in some of the 254 county conventions Tuesday, but there seemed little doubt that Senate majority leader Lyndon Johnson had won clear-cut control of the state's delegation to the national Democratic convention.

Johnson's sweeping victories in the majority of the more than 5,000 local precinct conventions held throughout Texas Saturday boosted the senator's stock as a possible dark horse presidential nominee.

Gov. Allan Shivers conceded Sunday, about 12 hours after Johnson claimed victory, that he had lost the better fight to command Texas' 56 votes at the national convention.

Blames Union Labor

The governor said "the Johnson forces" had won a decisive victory because of "the effectively organized forces of union labor."

Johnson's headquarters in Austin claimed a total of 1,406 votes out of 1,896 in the state, and said Shivers got 341. A Johnson aide predicted the senate majority leader would have more than 1,600 votes by final tabulations.

Thus Johnson would have plenty of precinct delegates by which to control the county conventions over the state Tuesday.

First Defeat For Shivers

The conventions Saturday marked the first political defeat for Shivers, who has been governor seven years and who led the state into the Republican fold four years ago. Shivers is not seeking re-election this year.

Johnson carried a majority of precincts in most of the state's big cities, including Houston, San Antonio, El Paso and Fort Worth. Shivers' forces led, however, in Dallas.

Both sides staged walkouts and held rump conventions in scattered precincts over the state. In the cases of such disputed precincts, it is the usual practice for both factions to seek recognition at the county conventions, leaving it to the majority at these parleys to decide which delegation is in the right.

Capitol Hill Roundup

WASHINGTON—(UP)—Foreign aid chief John H. Hollister went before the Senate Foreign Relations committee Monday to plead for the administration's $4.9 billion foreign aid program.

Hollister, head of the International Cooperation Administration, was the first witness as the committee got down to specific facts and figures in detailed consideration of the foreign aid program.

President Eisenhower has called the program part of a "national insurance policy" against further Communist aggression. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles opened the Senate hearings last Monday with a plea for approval of the full amount of funds.

Hollister said in a television interview Sunday "a fight will be made" in Congress for Mr. Eisenhower's request. He said he thinks the program will pass if the administration presents it "fairly."

Committee Chairman Walter F. George (D-Ga.) said the Senate hearings would run all week. Similar hearings are underway before the House Foreign Affairs committee with witnesses from the general public scheduled to testify.

Other developments:

FERM

The Senate Agriculture committee met to consider procedure for handling the House farm bill. The House authorized President Eisenhower's $1.2 billion soil bank but rejected his plan to give farmers advance payments this year for land they promise to take out of surplus crop production next year. Committee Chairman Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) described the prepayment plan as "pure political soap."

CHOTNER

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said the Senate Permanent Investigating subcommittee so far has "passed over too lightly" the connection between Murray M. Chotner, Vice President Richard M. Nixon's 1952 campaign manager, and White House official Maxwell Rabb and former presidential aide Charles Willis Humphrey suggested the subcommittee "invite" the two White House aides to testify in the case.

CIVIL RIGHTS

Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) said forcing school integration on the South "overnight" would result in bloodshed. He said white and Negro leaders in the South can solve the integration problem if they are "not agitated" by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored people and other "intruders from the North."

DEFENSE

Rep. George H. Mahon (D-Tex.), chairman of the House Appropriations subcommittee which drafted the military appropriations bill, said the $3.6 billion defense bill "is enough to put up a strong position of strength that will deter Russia."

Infant Is Born Dead Here

Famous Make-Up Man Takes Lid Off Hollywood Secrets

EDITOR'S NOTE — Aline Mosby is on vacation. In this third of a series on do-it-yourself glamour, make-up king Bud Westmore of the famous Westmore studio make-up clan gives tips on cosmetics).

By BUD WESTMORE
HOLLYWOOD — UP — For 20 years my family has managed to keep the production of glamour on the screen a top-secret operation. With the approval of Universal-International and my brother, I'm going to tear the lid off hitherto restricted beauty information and give you gals some beauty secrets stolen from the stars.

The eyes are the key to beauty and no trick is easier to use in that connection than the "soot secret." We utilized it most effectively on Julie Adams in "Away All Boats" to achieve more subtlety. All you do is hold a match flame close under an old saucer or jar top, roll an artists brush (No.00) in the soot and apply lightly.

This eliminates harshness of line, is non-injurious and smears proof.

One of our family's pet peevs, described in the Westmore Beauty Book, is "Creeping Lips." Avoid lipstick creep into those fine lines which border the upper and lower lip first by blotting lipstick, then spreading to the mouth, patting powder lightly on the lips and removing excess with powder brush or cotton.

Retrace all but the outside edge with the lip brush. This trick I use for Martha Hyer's love scenes with Rock Hudson in "Battle Hymn" and it's just as good to keep the boy friend from getting measured in more private demonstrations.

The "pipe cleaner gimmick" is a favorite of Debbie Reynolds. A pipe cleaner dipped in vasoline and drawn lightly through the eyelids highlights eye shadow.

Debbie also uses it to separate lashes after applying mascara.

Mascara, incidentally, is incorrectly applied by nine out of ten women. Consistency is important. Dip the brush slightly and rub it in mascara for a paste-like consistency and brush lengthwise following the hair growth.

For thin lashes apply a second coat. Do not rub or scrub, and never use saliva because of potential eye infection. Witch hazel is a good substitute for water to dampen the mascara.

And those dolls, are a few of today's secrets, not hitherto released.

Red Cross Annual Meet Set Tuesday

The annual meeting of Pampa's Red Cross Chapter, Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in Lovett Memorial Library, will honor all past chapter chairmen of the organization since it was organized.

In observance of the 75th anniversary of the American Red Cross, Mrs. Jack Foster will comment on the history of the organization, and outline the history of the Pampa Chapter from January, 1918, to the present time.

Mrs. H. O. Darby and Mrs. Sam B. Cook will be in charge of refreshments.

The three executive secretaries of the Pampa Chapter, since it was organized — Mrs. J. B. White, Mrs. Paul Rogers, and Mrs. F. W. Libby Shotwell — will be honored at the affair.

The new class of Gray Ladies will be capped and will receive 100-hour service bars.

All past chapter chairmen are urged to attend.

Shackelford Rites Set

SKELLYTOWN — (Special) — Jack Evans Shackelford, 58, died at Cheyenne, Okla., Saturday at 9 p.m. He was stricken with a heart attack while shopping in town, and was taken to the hospital, where he lived only a few hours.

Mr. Shackelford has been associated with the Santa Fe railway for the past 27 years. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Gordon Shackelford; three daughters, Mrs. Maxine Price, Friona, Mrs. Jerry Hanna, Skellytown, and Mrs. Nina Jo Woods, Mesa, Ariz.; and one son, Ronnie J. of Oklahoma City.

Funeral services will be held at the Cheyenne First Baptist church at 10 a.m. Tuesday. Graveside services will be held at Fairview Cemetery, Pampa, at 3 p.m. Tuesday.

Dog Restraint Urged For Now

AUSTIN, May 5 — Pet owners were urged by the Executive Secretary of the Game and Fish Commission to restrain their dogs in wildlife areas, especially for the next few months while deer are bearing their young and while nesting birds need protection.

He said the Commission has been receiving "many complaints" about dogs running deer, many of them heavy with fawn, particularly in the wooded areas of the state.

The Executive Secretary pointed out that "it is natural for most dogs to want to roam around at all times of the year but they are most harmful in the spring and summer wildlife procreation period." He suggested the canines be restrained either in yards of buildings or be tied up.

Texas law provides no particular penalty for dogs' depredations but some states have laws calling for both fines and jail terms for permitting pooches to prowl around prey on wild game.

Elimination Bout Set

NEW YORK — UP — International Boxing Club promoter James D. Norris tentatively has scheduled a heavyweight elimination bout between second-ranked Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson and fifth-ranked Floyd Patterson for Madison Square Garden in June or July. # RED CROSS NEWS

By RONALD WATERS

Public Information Chairman

Word has been received that one of the national workers, Miss Martha Henderson, died suddenly, April 12, at her family's home in Atlantic, Io. Martha, as she was called by those who worked with her, made several trips to Pampa and Amarillo. She was a valued member of Red Cross and will be missed by the Red Cross family. These words from St. Francis of Assisi, remind us of Martha's service to others, "It is in giving that we receive. . . It is in dying that we are born to eternal life."

The Cancer Cabinet is located in the Red Cross office. This week, Mrs. DeLea Vicars, who is in charge of the work through the Christian Woman's Fellowship, of the First Christian Church, made 11 packages with each package containing 24 bandages. They also made 16 bed pads. Bandages are scarce and are issued free to any cancer patient that has a need of them. Mrs. H. O. Darby and Mrs. C. E. Jeffries with Mrs. Libby Shotwell make up the Service Group for the Cancer Society.

You are invited to attend the annual meeting of the American Red Cross Chapter, Tuesday evening at 7:30 in the Lovett Library. This is the 75th anniversary and you are invited to come and help celebrate. The Lefors High School choral group will furnish the music for the evening. There will be a film "Your Red Cross Reports 1955." New officers will be elected and a new class of Gray Ladies will receive their caps. Please plan to attend this important meeting.

Have you noticed the "Picture of the Week" in Lovett Library and in the window of the City Shoe Shop, 110 W. Foster? Every two weeks a new picture is placed in these attractive frames and the pictures tell the Red Cross story. This picture is a true story of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lecoq, Jr., of East Peoria, Ill.

Each Valentine's Day, Mr. and Mrs. Lecoq donate a pint of blood to the Peoria/Regional Red Cross Blood Center. It is their way of helping the Red Cross Blood program.

Pampa has many fine people that give their blood through our local Blood Bank at Highland General Hospital. Pampa Chapter has a blood file of those that have given blood during the Bloodmobile visit to Pampa in 1952-53. The First Christian Church also has a blood file for their members and have helped Red Cross many times in cases of emergencies for local hospitals. Be assured that there is no charge for giving this blood and when it is given to a person, they only pay the administrative costs through the hospitals.

Mrs. J. M. Turner, Rev. Dick Crews, and Jim Dean (moved from Pampa) have served three years on Red Cross Board as Red Cross Directors. They have been faithful members and have attended the board meetings for three years.

Three new members will be elected to take their places at the annual meeting. Dr. Carl Lang, Mrs. D. E. Williams and H. V. McCorkle will serve one more year as directors, and Dr. Charles Brauchle, Norman Henry and Frank L. Stallings will serve two more years as directors of Pampa Chapter. All of these members serve as volunteers.

Sergeant To Face Court Martial

By JOHN M. COURIC

WASHINGTON, May 7 — UP — Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon, the Marine Corps drill instructor who led six of his men to watery deaths during a night training march, will face a general court martial trial for involuntary manslaughter sometime later this month.

Secretary of the Navy Charles S. Thomas Saturday set the trial date for May 14 or as soon thereafter as practicable. A Marine spokesman at Parris Island, S. C., where the trial will be held, said the date will be put back because the 68 surviving members of the death march will be on 10 days boot leave at that time. They return May 20.

Many of the recruits are expected to recount the fearful night of April 8 when McKeon ordered training Platoon 71 out of its barracks and led it into the South Carolina coastal swamps on an unauthorized disciplinary march.

Six of the recruits drowned in the swirling water of Robbin Creek into which McKeon led them with the warning, the Marine Corps said, that "those who cannot swim will drown and those who can will be eaten by sharks."

Thomas set the court martial after McKeon's attorneys challenged the Marine Corps' right to do so. The Marine Corps is part of the Navy.

A Marine court of inquiry charged, in findings made public Tuesday, that the assistant drill instructor was "under the influence" of vodka when he took the platoon on the unauthorized disciplinary march.

In addition to manslaughter, McKeon is charged with cruelty to recruits, drinking in his barracks, and drinking while on duty and in the presence of a recruit.

If convicted on all the charges and specifications, he could receive up to 10 years in prison.

Reds Say Ship Is Strafed

LONDON, May 7 — UP — The Communist Chinese radio said Saturday that Nationalist Chinese jet planes bombed and strafed a British freighter which was stranded off the Chinese mainland.

A Radio Peiping broadcast heard here said eight American-built F-84 Sabrejets of the Nationalist Air Force attacked the freighter "Nigelock" Friday.

The radio did not mention damage or casualties. It said the vessel was "stranded" near the mouth of the Min River in the Fukien coastal area directly opposite Formosa and the Nationalist chain of offshore islands.

According to the broadcast, Nationalist jets flew 27 sorties along the coast and one was damaged by Communist anti-aircraft fire from the mainland.

Lloyds Registry lists a 96-ton freighter "Nigelock" out of Hong Kong, flying the British flag and owned by Wharlock, Marden and Co., Ltd. There was no company spokesman available in London for comment.

Bindweed Eradicator Comes In

County Agent Ralph Thomas announced today that the two cars of sodium chlorate that were recently ordered for the eradication of bindweed have been received.

Unloading and distribution of the sodium chlorate will begin Tuesday morning. Over 80 Gray County farmers will use the 94,000 lbs. of the soil sterilant ordered by them to control the bindweed on their farms.

Included in the shipment is 23,000 lbs. that was ordered by the Gray County Commissioners Court for the control of bindweeds along the right-of-way on county roads.

Sodium chlorate has been found to be the only sure method of controlling the bindweed. It has been used in Gray County for several years.

Farm Loan Stockholders Have Meeting

Grainger McIlhany, state representative of the 87th district, spoke on separate ownership of mineral rights in land and the proposed legislation concerning taxation of sub-surface minerals at the Annual Stockholders meeting of the National Farm Loan Association of Pampa Saturday noon, in Recreation Park.

McIlhany explained the resolution submitted by the stockholders of the Federal Land Bank of Houston.

The resolution declares that it is beneficial to provide legislation that would make provisions for a limitation run against the title to sub-surface minerals after a period of 12 years when oil, gas or other minerals are not being produced, and where the owners of the mineral interest were not rendering and paying taxes on the interest.

The board of directors named four officers for the coming year. J. B. Talley of Miami was re-elected president, W. B. Jackson was elected vice president, E. L. Henderson was re-elected to serve as secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Lora Dunn was re-elected as assistant secretary-treasurer. G. G. Frasier of Canadian was outgoing vice-president.

Talley and Jackson were re-elected directors for another term, along with O. G. Forgy. Other directors are Frasier, and J. L. Andrews of McLean.

Choirs Hold Festival

The Choral Department of Pampa Schools presented the annual Choral Spring Festival, with choruses from the elementary schools, junior and senior high schools, in the field house Friday at 8 p.m.

The fifth and sixth grade students, in a combined choir, sang a selection of six songs. The combined elementary choruses, the ninth grade choir, combined Junior high choirs, high school girls chorus, A Cappella Choir, and combined high school and ninth grade choirs, also sang numbers.

"Let There Be Music", sung by the combined choruses, introduced the festival.

Conductors were: Mrs. M. Roy Sullivan, Miss Leola Vincent, Mrs. Flaudie Gallman, Miss Jo Moody, Mrs. Joe Page, Mrs. Jim Webb, Miss Eloise Lane, Bob Hamilton and Bob Irby. The accompanists were Mrs. Fay Delis Adams, Miss Eloise Lane, Miss Sheila Lemmons, Miss Gale Howard and Miss Linda Skewes.

On the average, a rattlesnake has two, not one, rattles for each year of its age.

Malcolm Brown and Ramona Hudgins furnished piano and organ music. John Goff played a flute solo. Betty Lou Hogsett sang two solos. Lois Schneider gave a twirling demonstration with her baton. Jo Ann Jones sang two solos, and Judy Neagle accompanied the singers and Brown. The Kings Caroles, with Dawn Boyd of Texas Tech substituting for Ruth Mounce, sang several selections.

May I Have Your Gasoline Business?

I Offer You 6.1¢ More Value Per Gallon At No Increase In Price...

WITH NEW Keotane* FORMULA

6.1¢ makes other premium gasoline expensive to use;
6.1¢ makes any regular gasoline expensive to use;
6.1¢ makes any "cut-rate" gasoline expensive to use.

If you thought another gasoline was worth even one, two, or three cents a gallon more than the gasoline you've been buying at the same price, wouldn't you consider switching? Of course you would. And that's exactly why we are asking you to make your next tankful Skelly Supreme, the gasoline that actually gives you over six cents extra value per gallon—at no extra cost per gallon!

How can Skelly Supreme Gasoline give you over 6¢ worth of extra value you can't get in any other gasoline? The answer is Keotane, a product of more than 10 years of research and testing by Skelly Engineers.

In Skelly Supreme Gasoline, Keotane boosts your car's power and mileage by dissolving sticky gum in vital carburetor and combustion areas.

Gum is Like A Glue

Gum is the "glue" that holds carbon and lead deposits in combustion chambers. As carbon and lead build up, horsepower, pep, and gasoline economy go down.

Others have attempted to neutralize carbon and lead deposits, but Skelly actually reduces them with Keotane, by dissolving the glue-like gum that holds these deposits. And, without gum to stick to, carbon and lead go out the exhaust.

The action of Keotane is so different from any previously known gasoline formulation that Skelly has filed patent application for its use.

Full strength, Keotane dissolves glue-like gum quickly, yet won't harm metal. Injected into Skelly Supreme Gasoline, Keotane removes gum-stuck carbon and lead as you drive. Some cars may reach their peak results in 1,000 miles. Others may take 8,000. A few, perhaps, longer. But once you reach peak results, you will hold at that level as long as you continue to use Skelly Supreme Gasoline with Keotane.

Tests Prove Keotane Benefits:

In actual dynamometer tests, engines run on Skelly Supreme Gasoline with Keotane were compared against engines run on Skelly Supreme without Keotane. The result? Based on Southwest

Estimated Extra Value Per Gallon To You, Of Skelly Supreme Gasoline With Keotane:

(Based on average current premium gasoline prices in the Midwest)

12.7% average gain in mileage . . . . .	3.5¢
3 octane points extra performance effect . . . . .	1.0¢
14.6% more horsepower output (h.p. saved or added) . . . . .	.5¢
Less gum and cleaner carburetors, faster starts with fewer sputters, longer life for batteries . . . . .	.5¢
Estimated extra value per gallon to you . . . . .	6.1¢

The extra values shown above are conservative estimates by our engineers. They are not figured against inferior premium gasolines or regular grade gasolines, but against Skelly Supreme Gasoline, the best top-octane premium gasoline previously made.

Research Institute data, engines run on Skelly Supreme with Keotane averaged:

- 12.7% gain in mileage.
- The performance effect of 3 more octane points.
- 14.6% more h. p. output.

1. More mileage: If you get just the average increase of 12.7%, that's about one extra mile of driving in every eight. Isn't this, alone, reason enough to switch to Skelly Supreme Gasoline with Keotane?

2. More octane: Many new cars often start to "ping" after 5,000 to 8,000 miles, because carbon and lead deposits have increased the octane requirement. Test cars using Keotane showed an octane "appetite" 3.1 points lower, on the average, than cars using the same fuel without Keotane.

3. More horsepower: By keeping new engines clean, new car horsepower is saved. By cleaning up older engines, much horsepower can be regained. Test cars which used Keotane averaged 14.6% more horsepower output at all speeds tested.

Important in Stop-Go Driving
"Stop-go" driving builds up not only more carbon, but also more carburetor gum. Carburetor gum causes stalling, sputtering, choking, rough idling, and improper functioning of automatic chokes. By dissolving gum, Keotane helps solve these problems.

(Note: First proof of the effect of Keotane that you may notice will be the slightly faster idling of your engine. That's because Keotane has dissolved gum that collects in carburetor jets. This means that Keotane is cleaning out your entire carburetor. Later, you may want to have your carburetor adjusted to take advantage of its increased efficiency.)

Think it over. Shouldn't you be getting the extra benefits that only Skelly Supreme Gasoline with Keotane can give you?

Ask your Skellyman for illustrated folder on Keotane. Then fill up with Skelly Supreme—the gasoline that gives you over 6¢ extra value per gallon, at no extra cost per gallon.

GROWN-UP DRIVERS SHOULD KNOW—

"Careless driving is deadly KID STUFF!"

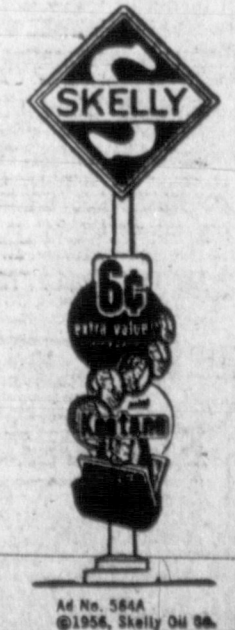

Saying "Children should be more careful" is the saddest kind of Kid Stuff. It's adults to help children stay safe! Drivers who don't must be ruled off the highways.

New The Skelly Supreme POWER PAIR IS EVEN MORE POWERFUL!

In all tests, Skelly Supreme Motor Oil was used. Team up Skelly Supreme Motor Oil and Skelly Supreme Gasoline with new Keotane formula. This famous "Power Pair" is guaranteed to give you more power—and more miles—per dollar than any other combination of premium gasoline and motor oil.

Supreme Court Dodges

A little more than a year ago the Supreme Court of Texas heard oral arguments on a case involving the state's "right to work" law.

That is the law that says a man has as much right not to join a union as he has to join.

So far no decision has been handed down. The judges said that in as much as somewhat similar case from Nebraska was before the U. S. Supreme Court they would wait until that one was decided before taking care of Texas.

To a layman this is a somewhat ridiculous situation.

The Texas Supreme Court is charged with the duty of deciding whether Texas laws conflict with the Texas Constitution. It has been fiddling with that job in this case for more than a year, part of the time on the excuse that it wants to see what the U. S. Supreme Court has to say about a case that is parallel only in a minor way.

Last Thursday the U. S. Supreme Court started to hear arguments on the Nebraska case. Eight other states and five national organizations have petitioned to be allowed to intervene in support of the "right to work" law.

Texas Attorney General John Ben Shepperd will present the argument for Texas. The other states are New Mexico, Virginia, South Carolina, Utah, South Dakota, Mississippi and Florida. Organizations seeking to intervene are the American Farm Bureau Federation, the National Chamber of Commerce, the National Association of Manufacturers, the Southern Industrial Council and the National Right-to-Work Committee.

The hearing of arguments in this case can be expected to take considerable time.

So if the Texas Supreme Court would just quit dodging the issue and hand down a decision on the Texas case there is still plenty of time for the higher court to consider the Texas decision and its reasoning in arriving at a ruling on the Nebraska case.

Since the unions are fighting the "right to work" laws, the Texas court by procrastinating is laying itself open to the same charge that has been placed repeatedly against the U. S. Supreme Court justices: namely that they return their decisions too often on political grounds rather than on the law.

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR F. JORDAN, M. D.

There are certainly a good many people who have trouble with recurrent boils.

Q — For the last year or more my son who is 13 years old has had his boils break out on his arms and fingers. He is tired and develops a thirst. Have you any suggestions? — A. K.

A — In the presence of a problem of this sort, it is well to make a complete examination for the presence of some weakening disease which might be responsible for the boils. There is the possibility of a clue in the letter in the reference to thirst. Diabetes is sometimes responsible for recurring boils as well as for thirst and your son should certainly be examined for this as well as for other possibilities. Where no general disease can be found recurring boils offers quite a problem. The possibility of treatment with one of the antibiotics should perhaps be considered under such circumstances.

Q — For a great many years my body temperature has never gone over 97 or much below this at any time of day. I have been fairly well but am 80 years old. Should this be a matter of concern? — L. D.

A — The proof of the pudding is in the eating. If you are 80 and have been in good health it certainly would seem unwise to give a moment's worry to a body temperature of 97. In fact, it would seem wiser to stop taking your temperature.

Q — Not long ago you wrote an article on prostate infection and prostate gland trouble but the doctor said it could be treated. I have prostate gland trouble but the doctors say the best thing to do is to have an operation. — H. I.

A — The prostate is a male sex gland which can become infected. This treatment is usually medical. However, in the middle or later years of life, some men develop an enlargement of this gland which interferes with the free flow of urine and causes other complications. Probably you have mixed these two things up. The treatment for the latter is surgical and medicines cannot be expected to shrink an enlarged prostate to normal size.

Q — Do you think Vitamin E capsules would be of any value for an underactive pituitary gland? — Mrs. A. P.

A — I should doubt it very much.

Q — Is there an immunizing medicine for pneumonia? If so, for how long a period is it effective? — C. O.

A — I assume this question refers to lobar pneumonia caused by a germ known as the pneumococcus. Up to the time of the discovery of sulfonamides and penicillin, extensive efforts were made to develop a vaccine or method of creating active immunity to pneumonia. Since pneumonia can be treated so effectively now, however, these efforts have become less strenuous. A vaccine is available but I doubt that it is widely used.

Q — Do all forms of colitis turn to cancer later? — R. B.

A — Probably none of them do. It is, of course, possible for a person to have colitis and later develop cancer.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

Afraid Of Liberty

I recently had lunch with one of the editors of Freedom Newspapers. Naturally the question of liberty and a limited government came up. Then the editor made this remark: "The trouble is that too many people are afraid of liberty."

Of course, if a party is afraid of liberty he does not want liberty. Many people think liberty means a license or special privilege or chaos. However, if liberty means the absence of aggressive force or the threats of same, as it most certainly does, then no one needs be afraid of liberty.

Promotes Civilization

Liberty is what promotes civilization, and if we do as Voltaire said, define our terms, we would define civilization as being a process of setting men free from the aggressive force of other men. In other words, under liberty a man has a perfect right to develop his faculties and his property in the way that will give him the most happiness, provided he respects every other individual's right to do the same.

Evidences of Fear Of Liberty

Protective tariffs are an evidence of the fear of liberty. That means that those who believe in protective tariff erroneously believe that other persons producing wealth will injure them. They seem to want to have a monopoly on producing certain things.

Competition might hurt a man who wants a monopoly but it doesn't hurt a person who believes in competition. So these people who believe in protective tariffs are afraid of liberty and they go to the government to get the government to pass laws to protect them from foreign competition.

The people who believe in immigration quotas are afraid of liberty. They erroneously believe that there is a limited amount of work to be done and if we let too many foreigners in real wages will be reduced or there will not be enough jobs for all people to be employed and these idle people will have to be taken care of. What they do not see is that the foreigners who are permitted to enter the country are also purchasers of what our citizens produce to the extent that the foreigners produce wealth.

And they also seem to fail to see that our wants are unlimited and these wants are only satisfied by applying labor to natural resources. And the more we divide labor in producing wealth, the higher our standard of living can be. They do not seem to see that if there were only 100 people in the U.S.A. their standard of living would be very low.

Nor do they seem to see that protective tariffs and immigration quotas are bound to lead to envy, hate and wars and thus greatly reduce production of the comforts of life. They are bound to lead to wars because when you put people in a given territory with limited natural resources and penalize them for trading with the rest of the world, they naturally object to this and as soon as they get enough power they are willing to go to war to stop it.

Besides, the nation that so restricts these people by tariffs and immigration quotas degrades their own character or are under a moral obligation to help them because of this restriction, just the same as a man who fences in livestock is morally obliged to see that they are supplied with water and food and shelter.

The man who believes in government schools is afraid of liberty. He is afraid that people will not get an education unless the state uses aggressive force to make people pay for schooling and the pupils attend a school.

The man who believes in minimum wages is afraid of liberty. The man who believes in the 40-hour week is afraid of liberty.

The man who believes in collective bargaining and strikes is afraid of liberty.

The man who believes in Social Security is afraid of liberty. He is afraid that other people are not as smart as he is and they will not have sense enough to provide for their own wants or will not be wise enough to see that somebody wants to help them when they are in need.

The man who believes in drafting soldiers is afraid of liberty. He is afraid that others are not as patriotic as he professes to be and will not be willing to defend their country.

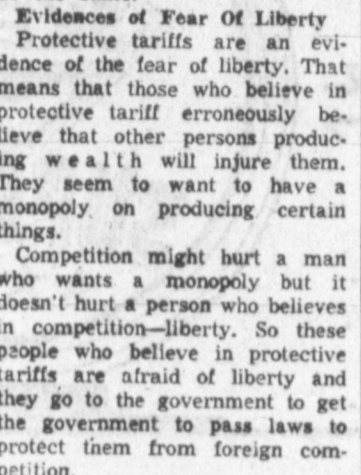

People who believe in farm subsidies are afraid of liberty. They think the customer is not a good guide as to what he wants produced so he can buy it.

Result of these people being afraid of liberty has caused law after law to be passed that restricts man's liberty and production and goodwill and happiness. Our trouble is that too many of us are afraid of liberty.

THE MILLERS VILIFIED FOR FIGHTING REDS

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, May 7 — Mrs. Lucille Miller and her husband, Manuel, of Bethel, Vt., began fighting Communists in their leafy summer retreat in 1950. Like Martin Dies, Joe McCarthy, Pat McCarran, Parnell Thomas and others in and out of Congress, they have been vilified and put to torture although the truth of their alarm about Reds in the green mountains was soon established. Many Reds and fellow travelers of the Washington bureaucracy were spotted and named. A chain of outposts like the beer drops of prohibition and the stations of the underground railway of slavery days was exposed, with professors sprinkled through the New England mountains. The facts of this situation have been verified and printed and will not be restated here.

The great importance of this dramatic struggle of two law-abiding Yankee Americans lies in the fact that the federal courts and the department of justice persecuted them, and most of the papers of Vermont and New Hampshire applauded the persecution, although their sufferings are a plain warning to all of us that we, too, may fare likewise.

Mrs. Miller was locked up in two lunatic asylums and in one jail, described by one of its female jailers as a horrible place, in an outrageous attempt by the United States Court, acting under an untested federal law, to dispose of an embarrassing criminal charge against her by a finding of insanity, now admitted to have been false.

Ernest W. Gibson, the judge in the Federal District Court of Vermont, had been attacked by the Millers beginning when he was governor. It is not alleged that Gibson ever has been a Communist, but the Millers claimed that he was friendly to a strong political element which was more hostile to patriotic red-baiters than to actual Reds. The Republican politicians of Vermont and New Hampshire are hardly distinguishable from New Deal Democrats. The Millers put it up to Gibson to disqualify himself, but he refused and passed sentence on both of them.

Lucille is now on probation for five years with a warning that she will go to prison unless she takes good care of her children. There never was the slightest criticism of her maternal conduct and the subject was not before the court. So it is none of Gibson's business who takes care of the children. Nevertheless, he presumed to put into the record an insinuation that she might not have been a good mother in battling Reds and opposing the peacetime draft law on constitutional grounds.

Manuel got a year and a day and a fine of $1,000 for standing with a rifle at a window of their home and threatening to shoot the marshals and state troopers who had come with orders which they refused to obey to Lucille, to seize her and transport her all the way to St. Elizabeth's Hospital, a foul, dangerous firetrap in Washington, D.C., for an indefinite time, perhaps even for life, at the pleasure of the Attorney General. The federal law permitting such commitments has been upheld by circuit court of appeal but never has Lucille was arrested on an indictment on Feb. 23, 1955. But notwithstanding her demand for a prompt trial which the constitution guarantees, Louise G. Whitcomb, the U.S. attorney, asked Gibson to send her to a private lunatic asylum for observation. Whitcomb is not a doctor, but under federal law his mere "thought" that Lucille was deranged justified Gibson in signing a commitment. Whitcomb based his "thought" on certain writings of Mrs. Miller, which was not set forth, however. After more than three weeks in the private asylum, she was returned to court. Gibson had not designated any particular "expert" to determine whether she was sound or deranged, but two psychiatrists did find her insane. Had they failed to find her insane they would have discredited the U.S. Attorney. Of course, the institution and the psychiatrists all got fees from the U.S. Treasury.

Lucille again demanded a prompt trial, but on April 18, last year, Gibson ordered her into St. Elizabeth's. She barricaded with 12 bombs tossed indoors by the marshals and troopers which damaged their carpets, bedding, furniture and food. Miller did not fire a shot and it is absurd to take seriously the charge that he "attacked" the government's "forces" with his rifle.

Although the "evidence" or lunacy consisted of excerpts from her writings, Gibson finally admitted in her actual trial under the indictment that Lucille was a brilliant writer. But, he plaintively observed, she wrote thoughts and charges which were offensive to him. His words were these: "You are a woman with an obviously good mind; I might even say I think you have in one sense of the word a brilliant mind, but you also have a great instability of mind. The tragedy to me is that you chose not to use your great talents in a good way, to influence people or to write, as you do write, to write things that I think would do a great deal of good."

The Millers have appealed and will be heard in New York. Although their should be a celebrated case, it is almost wholly ignored and some newspapers have called them screwballs and nuts.

Auto Firms May Test Anti-Trust Law

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The economic expansion and profits of the more successful segments of the automobile industry — namely, the "Big Three" of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler — may soon subject the Antitrust Laws to the most severe strain and overhauling in their 65-year history.

Although this problem of market saturation began to attract Attorney General Herbert G. Brownell, Jr.'s concern more than two years ago, he has taken no steps to correct what he then regarded as a "dangerous situation." Meanwhile, it has become so threatening that several Congressional Committees have demanded action, including a new look at legislation against monopolies.

First-quarter reports reveal huge profits for the three dominant firms, even though sales have fallen below 1953's record year. The two principal independents — American Motors and Studebaker-Packard — are operating deep in the red.

In fact, Studebaker-Packard has been unable to obtain new financing because of its dubious prospects. Both of the smaller firms are not able to keep their heads above water against the competition of their more powerful competitors.

When Brownell first discussed this problem several years ago, the "Big Three" controlled only about 85 per cent of the market. He described the situation as a "monopoly," even though it had been acquired without any violation of the law.

The A.G., however, did not test this strange and strained interpretation of the Antitrust Acts for several reasons. The most compelling, obviously, was political. Prosecution of a legally and naturally acquired supremacy would have toppled Harry S. Truman's attempted seizure of the steel industry, which was denounced and blocked by the Courts.

It would have been completely out of character for the conservative, businessmen's Administration at Washington.

Brownell's other reason for inaction was economic. In an effort to meet their rivals on more equal terms, the four independents merged into the two companies named above. The Attorney General apparently hoped that the one-sided situation would correct itself through operation of natural forces. It may be that he was also uncertain of the validity of his interpretation of the statutes.

On the contrary, conditions have gone from bad to worse. As of today, largely because of Chrysler's gains, the "Big Three" now sell about 95 per cent of the cars on the road, or 10 per cent more than they did when Brownell first became worried.

As a result of these developments Capitol Hill has become interested — in fact, excited. As the O'Mohoney and Monroney investigating groups learned, the independents' plight has had adverse effects on both production and retail levels, with political repercussions. Factory employees are losing their jobs or working only part-time. Dealers are closing out once profitable agencies.

The staff of a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee on Monopoly has agreed with Brownell's earlier viewpoint. After a month's study of the auto industry, it found the Antitrust Laws to be "inadequate" because they can be invoked only as a last resort.

But, as Brownell concedes, the "Big Three" have not engaged in illegal activities.

Thus, in any revision or reconsideration of this legislation, Congress will have to decide whether the size or profits of an industry, should subject it to prosecution or partial liquidation. And the test would also have to apply to many other industries besides auto — steel, aluminum, aircraft, telephones, railroad equipment, shipbuilding, radio, television, etc.

In a government suit against the du Pont interests the Courts held that mere bigness should not be penalized. But times and conditions are changing as a result of the constant acceleration and concentration of American industry.

When Brownell first discussed this problem several years ago, the "Big Three" controlled only about 85 per cent of the market. He described the situation as a "monopoly," even though it had been acquired without any violation of the law.

Cowboy's Fault If Women Rule

By HENRY McLEMORE

If ever American men become completely dominated by their womenfolk and are forced to yield their position as the stronger sex, who do you think will be largely to blame?

The answer is — the cowboy.

Yes, that strong, silent hero of song and story and movie; that hard-riding, hard-fighting, straight-shooting cuss of a cowboy.

Not a boy grows up without dreaming of becoming a cowboy. The bunkhouse runs wild ahead of the White House in most youngsters' dreams. The cowboy of fiction is his ideal and this, I tell you, could eventually lead to the roping of the American male.

In reality, the cowboy is the softest touch a girl ever goggled her eyes at. In a woman's hands he has no more resistance than a tumbledweed, and wears out more saddles tearing 'round to fulfill their wishes than he does rounding up strays.

Just listen to cowboy music if you don't believe me. I just heard days and nights of it on my radio during an automobile trip through two or three Western states.

The cowboy is a beggar for love, if ever there was one. No Calcutta mendicant ever pleaded for a rupee more earnestly than the cowboy does for female affection. He'll crawl from the corral to the ranchhouse, across dry river beds, over frozen mountains, and through cactus beds, for a single tender word from his beloved.

Worse still is the cowboy's behavior if his love isn't reciprocated. If after all this discomfort his girl gives him the brushoff, he doesn't shake her by the neck, or tell her to get lost. No, not at all. The dismissal serves only to bring out all the worm there is in him. After grovelling at her feet for a while and staring at her with eyes bigger than those of any calf on the Lazy Bar Running J. ranch, he dejectedly mounts his horse and rides off.

If some cowboy friend doesn't stop him, the chances are that he will ride off to the Great North where and either freeze, starve, die of thirst, or sing himself to death in a walling, coyote-like voice.

Not one in a million cowboys pull themselves together and carry on after being thrown over by a girl. They don't go back to the ranch and attend to their job. The few who do go back aren't worth five cents a week. They flop down on their bunk and start singing of the dreadful thing that has happened to them. It's a wonder the foreman doesn't go out and put an end to their misery.

It could be, of course, that cowboys are the worst lovers in the world, and that this accounts for the terrible time they have in winning their suits. Perhaps they talk too much about strays, rustlers, horse thieves, branding, and other phases of their business, and not enough about the girl they are wooing.

There comes a time when a woman wants to hear about herself. This is true of all women, even those calicoed dolls who step out of stage coaches. The cowboy would probably do better if he greeted a girl by saying something such as "Slater, you are the best looking tomato that has hit Deadman's Gulch in ten years, and I'm putting my brand on you right now, whether you like it or not."

If I were a cowboy, I'd sure try it.

The CRACKER BARREL

Well sir, it looks like we're heading 'back to the golden age of prosperity. Not prosperity for you and me. Prosperity for the milk cost graders and deep freeze chiselers of Washington. It ain't quite here yet, but it's on its way. It was revealed the other day that Harry Truman's old footlocker, John Maragon, who was found guilty of perjury in 1951, was put back of the government payroll. They had to fire a man named Ralph Scalzo to make room for him. Scalzo was a disabled veteran who had served three years for his country in the army. Maragon had served 19 months for his political party in the penitentiary. So the Democratic majority didn't have much doubt about who deserved to be rewarded.

THE INCREASING INTEREST IN BEAUTIFUL tablecloths for dining is an added reason these days for giving special attention to your silver. The beauty and grace of the long tablecloth can make dining a very special event, and there is nothing like the gleam of silver to add the finishing touches. According to the Jewelry Industry Council, it is a mistake if you have lovely silver not to use it for any and all occasions because, far from "wearing out," your silver will probably outlive you and will improve its good looks with regular use.

THE FORMAL DINNER is the ideal opportunity for you to show off your table at its best. Satiny damask, fine linen or lace is a splendid background for your prettiest china, crystal, silver bowls, candlesticks, salts and peppers and flat silver. For more informal dining, the buffet has become probably the most popular. The Council suggests that you have small tables laid with silver and linen, ready for your guests once they have served themselves at the buffet. Not only is the method far more convenient and comfortable than balancing a plate on one's knee, but it also gives you a chance to set three or more attractive tables instead of just one, using a variety of colors and interesting decorations.

The revival of the full tablecloth — particularly the subdued, drip-dry variety — has inspired a return to dimmerime elegance for just the family, as well. Many a homemaker has discovered that setting her table with shining silver, a handsome tablecloth and candlelight creates an atmosphere for youngsters that is a distinct inducement to good manners, as compared with school cafeteria lunches and casual TV suppers.

Holland's well scrubbed delft blue color — lay the room in which white walls are teamed with a rich delft blue rug. This cool color scheme provides good contrast for the Early American cherry furniture which includes colonial bed, desk and a bookcase. Piquant note is the ladder-back, rush-seated desk chair.

Designed especially for the Dutch-touched room are the bed-spread and cafe curtains ensemble in a stylized blue and white flower pattern derived from Holland's famed delftware.

Lamb Chop Grill Is A "Meal-In-Itself"

Here's a lamb chop grill that's practically an entire meal and ready in just a few minutes. Broil 1-inch chops 2 inches from heat until well browned. Turn. In the meantime, peel an equal number of ripe bananas and wrap each with bacon, fastening with wooden picks. Cut tomatoes in half and sprinkle with grated cheese. Place both on rack with chops. Turn bananas to broil bacon evenly. When browned, season chops on second side and serve broiler meal immediately.

upper ones, covering the top third of the window, remain closed, while the lower ones are left open to show off those cafe curtains which appear in many of the old Dutch paintings.

A white porcelain lamp with white shade, a delftware picture plate, small delftware jar and a pewter mug are finishing touches. Bright tulips in white pots are set at the window and reproductions of famous Dutch paintings decorate the walls.

IT'S CURTAIN TIME! Time for those gay cafe curtains you make yourself. . . and Seventeen magazine offers three piggy-bank ideas to start you cutting and stitching with toweling, fish net or felt.

Pretty dish towels, for instance, can travel from towel rod to curtain rod in a few easy steps. Join two towels together for each panel (four in all for one window); attach brass rings or silver oblong clips; and hang on the rod. Striped toweling with fringed edges is particularly adaptable.

Straight from Davy Jones locker are cafe curtains fashioned from a fish net fabric. Cut the net to the window measurements, allowing extra yardage for fullness. Frame the curtain with a decorative lace bought by the yard. Make loops (or hangings) of the same tape, attach at curtain heading and hang on rod.

No need for needle and thread when you make cafe curtains of felt. Cut fabric to fit windows, again allowing for fullness. Cut deep, even scallops across the top, using a saucer as guide. Attach decorative clips and slip on rod. Clips eliminate sewing brass or bone rings to the felt.

Most women, if they had their choice, wouldn't have a second Baby until the first could walk. Managing two non-walkers is difficult. But there are seats that clamp on to a carriage for an older Baby to ride on.

Strollers for twins come either double-sized or two clamped together along the sides. The three-Baby model has two side by side and an upper berth for the last one. There are only a few.

A tiny tricycle, with solid, rather than spoked, wheels is an inexpensive investment for the Baby who's bored with his kiddie car. An older toddler may prefer a larger bike, with blocks attached to the pedals.

How many umbrellas can you cram in one bathtub on a bad day? Why not get an umbrella stand? Today, they're snappy. There are models that have a metal frame and a washable sailcloth bag hanging inside. It's colorful and light.

Four brothers tell about their 100 years with the telephone company

by Don Davis,
Telephone News Reporter

In this day of people constantly on the move, it's refreshing to note four brothers who have worked for the same company a total of 100 years. But that's the story of the Brandenburg brothers and the telephone company.

It all started with Les—at 52 he's the oldest of the four—who joined the company in 1923. Brother Leon followed suit in 1929, Sam in 1935 and "kid" brother Bud a year later.

WAITED FOR OPPORTUNITY
What was the big attraction? To a man, the Brandenburgs say they were impressed by the people they knew who worked for the telephone company, the up-to-date working conditions and the company's "up-from-the-ranks" promotion policy. Apparently, the only thing needed was the opportunity. When it came, they jumped at the chance. Sam Brandenburg recalls that maybe he was too anxious. "I showed up for work a day before I was scheduled to start," he says, smiling.

ENTHUSIASM GROWS
The brothers seem to be more enthusiastic about their work now than when they started with the company—if that's possible. Listening to the Brandenburgs talk at length about the advantages of working for the telephone company, you can appreciate just how proud they are of their "outfit." Seems that their enthusiasm grows through the years. Les and Leon belong to the company's Pioneer organization, made up of employees with 21 or more years of service. Sam and Bud are looking forward to joining the Pioneers, soon.

The Brandenburg brothers talk to Don Davis about their telephone careers. Les Brandenburg (left) is the oldest in point of service. He joined the company in 1923, was followed by brothers Leon (1929), Bud (1936), and Sam (1935).

THE OLD DAYS
The Brandenburgs like to reminisce about the old days now and then, talk about the changes that have taken place in telephone service. It's pretty tough to top Les, though. After all, he's the old-timer of the group. The brothers spend a lot of their spare time together, too. They own their own homes, located within a few blocks of each other. At the slightest excuse, the entire family—wives, children and grandchildren—get together. The brothers even played on the same baseball team when they were youngsters.

EYEING A RECORD
As for the future—the four brothers say that will have to take care of itself. But, they are looking to the grand total of 175 years of telephone service they'll have by the time young Bud retires. Then, there's the chance of more Brandenburgs on the company roster in the years to come. After all, the youngsters at home are hearing some mighty fine things about the place where their dads and uncles work.

Kentucky Derby Proves Old Adage

TODAY'S SPORT PARADE BY OSCAR FRALEY NEW YORK UP—The Kentucky Derby has proved again that the adage "like father, like son" is no idle chatter.

Steve Brooks, who rode Ponder to victory seven years ago, summed it up when he congratulated Dave Erb, Needles' pilot.

Needles Has Chance To Be Ninth Triple Crown Winner

Needles, the 82nd Kentucky Derby winner, had a great chance Monday to become the ninth triple crown winner in the history of the American turf.

Dodgers To Send Loes To Orioles

NEW YORK UP—The Brooklyn Dodgers have secured all necessary waivers on pitcher Billy Loes and will send him to the Baltimore Orioles shortly, it was learned Monday.

The Dodgers, who had been hoping that Loes' ailing right arm would respond to treatment, finally have given up hope, according to a trusted source, but Paul Richards of the Orioles is willing to gamble.

Texans In Win Over Oilers, 8-6

EL PASO — The Pampa Oilers, after starting off like a house afire, fell before the El Paso Texans Sunday afternoon in El Paso, 8 to 6.

The Oilers got three runs in the first inning but faded in the later innings, getting two runs in the seventh and one in the ninth.

Table with columns: Team, W, L, Pct, GB. Lists stats for El Paso and Pampa Oilers.

El Paso, Hobbs In Tie For 1st

El Paso and Hobbs remained tied Monday for first place in the Southwestern League after each won in a night of wild scoring games.

El Paso won over Pampa, 8-6, in the only game that could be considered a close one. Scores were lopsided in all others.

Hobbs trounced Plainview, 18-5, and Carlsbad beat Ballinger, 15-11, in two games where 16 pitchers were used.

Souchak, Bolt Lead PGAers

PORT WORTH UP—Barreled Mike Souchak and Tommy Bolt, champion and runner-up in the rich Colonial National Invitation golf tournament, led a highly favored U. S. team against the Canadians Monday in the fifth annual international PGA match.

And, if the host American squad follows the pace its members set in the Colonial medal play affair, all signs pointed toward a fifth straight walk-over victory over their PGA cousins from north of the border.

For, with Souchak's powerful par 280 winning total and Bolt's hair-breadth 281 also-ran figure, the aggregate medal score of the six Americans who competed in Monday's three four-ball matches was 47 strokes better than that of the Canadians.

Both teams competed in the $25,000 Colonial tourney and only Stan Leonard, the Canadian veteran from Le Chute, Ont., was able to make any appreciable inroads into the fat prize package.

Leonard closed with a 36-35-71 and a 288 that left him tied with George Bayer of Cincinnati, Ohio, for fourth place and $1,700 each.

Souchak, "playing the percentages," and stroking the ball to near perfection with his booming drives and precision irons that left him easy two-putt greens, picked up $5,000 and took over the official PGA money winning lead with $12,859 in a big jump from sixth place.

Bolt, who yielded his third round lead to Souchak on Sunday's front nine and then almost caught massive Mike at the final hole when a six iron from 150 yards out lipped the cup for what would have been a tying eagle. Instead, the ball trickled on and Bolt had to be satisfied with a birdie and $3,000.

Gardner Dickinson Jr. of Panama City, Fla., wedged into third place at 285 ahead of Bayer and Leonard and collected $2,050, while Ben Hogan of Fort Worth, Jimmy Demaret of Klamath Lake, N. Y., Bo Wininger of Oklahoma City and Peter Thomson of Melbourne, Australia, finished at 287 and got $1,187.50 each.

Souchak was paired with U. S. team captain Cary Middlecott (296) in the day's feature cup match against Canadian captain Al Balding (294) and Gordon Brydson (299).

Bolt went off in the first four some with Gene Litterer (290) against Bill Mahwinney (299) and Murray Tucker (299). While sandwiched in between was Doug Ford (291) and Ted Kroil (295) of the U. S. against Bill Kerr (308) and Leonard.

Nine points were at stake Monday under the best-ball scoring system that awards one point for each nine holes and one for each match. Singles play will be run off Tuesday with the pairings to be announced after the four-ball play.

Yankees Trimming Key Contenders

By UNITED PRESS The New York Yankees are up to an old trick that pays off pennants — they're knocking off the key contenders themselves.

The Yankees, who claim they started the "do it yourself" fed 20 years ago, showed the season's largest crowd Sunday why they're the perennial American League champions by handing the Chicago White Sox a pair of 4 to 0 setbacks. In the process, the Yankees extended their first-place lead to 2 1-2 games and the White Sox string of scoreless innings to 20.

It was the first meeting of the season between the flag rivals and the 49,016 fans saw the Yankees completely outclass the White Sox. Earlier in the season, the Yankees took four of five games from the pennant-minded Boston Red Sox and now they're pointing for the Cleveland Indians.

Ed (Whitey) Ford breezed to his fourth straight victory with an eight-hitter in the first game and then southpaw Rip Coleman and veteran relief specialist Jim Konstanty collaborated in another eight-hit performance in the nightcap. The shutouts were the first by Yankee pitchers this year.

Berra smashes homer. Yogi Berra hit his eighth homer and Hank Bauer his sixth to spark the Yankees' 12-hit attack in the first game, while shortstop Gil McDougald walloped a key second-inning triple in the second game. Jack Harshman and Harry Byrd suffered the defeats for the White Sox, who have lost five of their last six games to drop back to the .500-mark.

The Kansas City Athletics pounded out 28 hits to beat the Washington Senators 10 to 7 and the Baltimore Orioles downed the Detroit Tigers 6 to 2 and 4 to 3. Cleveland at Boston was rained out.

Harry Simpson drove in four runs with a homer and triple to lead the Athletics' 13-hit attack in the opener while Gus Zernial hit two homers and Johnny Groth and Hector Lopez one each in the nightcap. Relief pitchers Bill Harrington and Ed Burtch picked up the decisions.

Relief pitcher George Zuverink finished both games for the Orioles, whose double win dropped the Tigers into the cellar. Gus Triandos' three-run homer was the big blow for the Orioles in the first game and an error by shortstop Harvey Kuenn led to their winning run in the second game.

In the National League, those hard-hitting Cincinnati Redlegs climbed to within 20 points of first place when they clubbed the Philadelphia Phillies 10 to 2 and 11 to 9. The Redlegs have won four straight and 10 of their last 11. What's more, they've hammered out the astonishing total of 34 moher in 18 games.

The Redlegs hit five round-trippers Sunday. Ted Kluszewski and Gus Bell homering in each game and Frank Robinson walloping a homer, triple and double in the first game. The hapless Phillies now have dropped five straight and nine of their last 11.

Dusty Rhodes singled home the winning run in the ninth inning as the New York Giants scored a 6 to 4 victory after Stan Musial's eighth inning homer won the opener for the St. Louis Cardinals by the same score. Ron Kline pitched a six hitter to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 2 to 1 victory over the Chicago Cubs and the teams played a 6 to 6 tie in a second game halted after seven innings by darkness.

Whitey Ford, who pitched an eight-hitter for his fourth straight victory for the Yankees.

Field, Track Stars Honored LOS ANGELES UP—Martin Sheridan, shot and discus champion from 1904 to 1908, Alma Richards, national decathlon champion prior to World War I, and marathon runner Clarence De Mar have been elected to the track and field Hall of Fame by the Helms Athletic Foundation.

Also elected were Coaches Stephen J. Farrell, University of Michigan, and Fred Tottel, Rhode Island State.

Chicago Rooter Is Ousted

CHICAGO UP—A 13-year-old Chicago Cubs rooter let his feelings get the best of him Sunday.

Sitting behind the Pittsburgh dugout, he became so upset when outfielder Frank Thomas poked a home run in the sixth inning of the nightcap to give the Pirates a 6 to 5 lead, he let fly with a "tuffy apple" that struck the surprised Thomas in the face.

Thomas was unhurt, but the boy was ushered out of the park.

Mothers Defined

For MOTHERS are:

"No blocks of marble do mothers round into statues; no canvases do they adorn with glowing colors; no books do they write with scholarly taste; no music do they compose with strains; no platitudes do they occupy with persuasive speech; yet they are all these and more because they are God's disciples of the unexplored and unexpressed.

As sculptors, they chisel the veined marble of flesh and blood into loving, breathing statues; as artists they paint the colors of righteousness on undying souls; as authors, they write the literature of Godliness on the hearts of their sons.

As musicians, they sing the white song of chastity into the souls of their daughters; as orators, their lives speak so eloquently of the invisible things of God, that after quitting the world, they being dead, speak on from their places of eternity." Notre Dame Bulletin.

Hi-Fi Is Winning Many New Friends

By PRESTON MCGRAW
United Press Staff Correspondent
High fidelity is winning thousands of new friends every year in the Southwest. But Charles (Red) Lucas, who travels four states for various equipment manufacturers, thinks it may be two or three years away from the popularity it has gained on the East and West Coasts.

On the coasts, hi-fi's popularity is hard to believe. For instance, Lucas went to the hi-fi fair in Los Angeles in February. The fair was open a total of 19 hours in three days. The promoters of the fair charged each person who came in 50 cents to keep out those with no real interest, who would merely clutter up the place.

In 19 hours more than 50,000 persons attended the fair. Crowds were so heavy that about as much as fans could do was pass by the equipment without having much of a chance to really hear any of it.

Goes All Way
Lucas went whole-hog in the hi-fi business last January. For 13 years before that, he was an engineer for a Dallas radio station and had dabbled in hi-fi on the side.

He now travels Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Arkansas with hi-fi lines. He thinks Houston is the "hottest" city in the four states, hi-fi wise.

"Many persons in Houston, who got started in hi-fi modestly, are getting rid of what they had at first and investing in top grade components," he said.

Lucas doesn't think hi-fi is as popular in the Dallas-Fort Worth area as it is in Houston. But Dallas-Fort Worth fans have an advantage over most of the others in that they have three hi-fi FM stations.

Two of these are experimenting with stereophonic broadcasting, by using FM and AM stations simultaneously.

Lucas says that there is gossip in the trade that a West Coast hi-fi broadcaster wants to put another hi-fi FM station in Dallas and that a hi-fi cabinet manufacturer is thinking about setting up in Fort Worth.

He finds wide interest in stereophonic sound in San Antonio. One retailer there sells nothing but stereophonic tapes. New Orleans is also buying thousands of hi-fi rigs and one retailer there operates a hi-fi FM station.

New Orleans was possibly the first city in this part of the country to scent the possibilities of hi-fi, but broadcasters found themselves ahead of listeners.

Opposite Situations
Six or seven years ago WWL was broadcasting complete performances of live operas on FM, but eventually closed the station as a liability. In a reverse situation, Lucas reports, a hi-fi dealer in Austin opened an FM station because of the demands of audiophiles and programs good music daily, beginning at 3 p. m.

Lucas finds a growing demand for hi-fi in Oklahoma. Tulsa has three hi-fi retail outlets.

It also is catching on widely at Lawton. The reason for this, Lucas says, is soldiers who transfer to Fort Sill after getting used to hi-fi on the East and West Coasts. Groups of them go together and buy rigs for NCO and officers clubs.

Hi-fi outlets have been opened recently in Midland and Abilene, Tex. Their owners used to operate camera or record shops, but sell so much hi-fi equipment now that Lucas thinks they could operate without their original lines, if they wanted to.

NEW D.A.R. HEAD—Mrs. Frederic A. Groves was elected president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution at its recent 66th Continental Congress in Washington. The youthful grandmother from Cape Girardeau, Mo., becomes the 22nd D.A.R. president.

Housewife's Desire In Housing Studies

WASHINGTON, May 4—UP—Government housing agencies and later private industry—soon will have for the first time a fairly complete idea of what the American housewife wants in her house.

That information is being assembled from suggestions made during the Women's Housing Congress held here last month under the sponsorship of the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

Information was gathered from the 108 ladies. When it is organized, the government's housing agencies—particularly the federal housing administration—will know much more about building from the consumer standpoint.

Until now, most information available on housing came from architects, builders and other experts in the field.

The homemaker information comes at a particularly opportune time for FHA.

That agency, which runs the government's home mortgage insurance program, is revising and consolidating its so-called "minimum property requirements" as a master guide for FHA operations. This will for the first time give all of the minimum standards in construction, quality and location to guide field offices in insuring home mortgages. Since the agency began operations in 1935 such standards have been contained in as many as 26 separate books covering various parts of the country.

Originally, the revision and compilation was to have been finished last month, but it turned out to be a bigger job than anticipated.

The delay, officials say, is not because of the Women's Housing Congress. Now the task force working on the revision is anxious to look over the ladies' suggestions and ideas.

The congress featured ideas on holding down costs while putting in more features of importance to the housewife.

At first the ladies' wishes outran their economy, but by whit-ting down a little here and a little there, they were able to fit their proposals to the $10,000-$15,000 price range. This bracket straddles the anticipated average price of homes this year.

Among the items sacrificed were garages, separate dining rooms, dens and utility rooms. They insisted, however, on three bedrooms, one-and-one-half bathrooms, plenty of closet and storage space and a family room.

Police Group to Meet
VIENNA, May 5—UP—The International Criminal Police Commission—top organization of "interpol"—will hold its annual congress here next month with delegates from 55 nations.

Acid-Throwing Victim Goes Blind

NEW YORK —UP— The New York Daily Mirror ran a banner headline Saturday about its labor columnist but he never will be able to read it. The headline said: "Victor Riesel Totally Blind."

Doctors said Friday night that the labor writer, attacked a month ago by a thug who hurled burning acid in his face, has irrevocably lost the sight of both eyes. They said he took the bitter news stoically.

Top specialists have been fighting for the past month to save Riesel's eyes and had hopes he would see again, if only partially. The announcement ended the hope.

"The cumulative degenerative processes, stemming from the deep and severe acid burns in his eyes, proved impossible to overcome," it said.

"The concentration of sulphuric acid thrown into Mr. Riesel's eyes was so strong that it destroyed the tissues of the eyelids and eyeballs, corroded the tissues surrounding the cornea and degenerated the blood vessels feeding nourishment to the cornea," Dr. Girolamo Bonaccollo said.

Riesel, 41 and father of two children, had made a radio broadcast shortly before the early morning attack in which he lambasted labor racketeers, frequent targets of his syndicated column.

He had gone to Lindy's on Broadway for a snack after the broadcast and had just left the restaurant with his assistant, Miss Betty Nevins, when the thug struck. The attacker, described as a "nice-looking young man," walked up to Riesel and tossed the contents of a small bottle in the columnist's face.
