Pandering Advertising Law

Mail patrons offended by pandering advertisements can now take steps to curb such mail, Postmaster Westbrook said today in announcing plans for administering a new law which gives each family the right to decide if an ad is "erotically arousing or sexually provocative."

When an advertisement sent through the mails is offensive on these grounds, a postal patron can now ask the post office to direct the mailer to send no more mail to him and to remove immediately the patron's name from all mailing lists he owns, controls or rents.

To assist patrons, the Post Office Department has published a brief pamphlet — How You Can Curb Pandering Advertisements — which is now available at the local post office. In addition to explaining how the law works, the pocket-size leaflet contains a form letter one can use when sending his complaint to the post office.

The pamphlet explains that when a patron receives an advertisement which is, in his opinion, pandering, he must send the ad, its envelope and the form letter, or one which includes its language, to his post office with the words, "Request for prohibitory order" on the face of the envelope.

If a mailer does not strike a complainant's name from this mailing list, and the patron receives a second mailing 30 days after the firm has received the prohibitory order, he may bring the matter to the attention of the postmaster issuing the initial order by writing him an enclosing the second pandering ad with its envelope. If the mailer still fails to respect the order, the Postmaster General may ask the Attorney General to apply for a Federal Court order directing compliance. Failure to observe the order may be punishable by a fine or imprisonment.

Austin. — Gov. John Connally has accepted invitations of supporters to actively seek designation as Texas' favorite son Democratic presidential candidate.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough also has been urged by anti-Connally and pro-Robert Kennedy and pro-Eugene McCarthy forces to make a fight against the governor in precinct conventions for the favorite son role. Although critical of Connally, Yarborough has not responded to the call.

Labor leaders were among those pushing Yarborough as favorite son, but AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education failed to place its stamp of approval on this recommendation. COPE administrative committee opposed commitment of the Texas delegation to Connally as favorite son, and recommended Yarborough for vice president.

Issue may set off a major fight in precinct conventions May 4, only place where the average Texas voter will have anything to say about the choice of a presidential nominee.

COURTS SPEAK — Law enforcement officers are sweating out the potential far-reaching effect of a new federal court decision here declaring Texas' disturbing-the-peace law unconstitutional.

Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin will file a motion for rehearing and take his appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court if necessary. He called the decision by a three-judge federal panel in the case which originated with Vietnam war protesters displaying signs during a speech by President Johnson in Killen "a tremendous blow to law enforcement."

Federal judges stayed their mandate pending an opportunity of the state legislature to redefine "disturbance" offense within their guidelines.

They concluded that the existing law, providing fines up to $200, is "impermissible and unconstitutional."

Martin said if the decision stands, police will find it "exceedingly difficult to maintain law and order in various communities of our state."

Actually, charges against the anti-Vietnam group had been dropped before the hearing because the alleged offense occurred on federal property. Therefore, the state maintains that the court had no authority to test the statute's constitutionality. Martin says dismissal of the original charges rendered the federal court case moot.

Further, Attorney General argues, Texas law prohibits specific actions which are breaches of peace and do not fall within prior decisions of the U. S. Supreme Court which invalidated some disturbance statutes.

In another federal court case, a San Antonio mother of six sued to collect aid-to-dependent - children, though she did not meet the state's one-year residency requirement. She maintained that, since 76 per cent of the welfare money for that purpose came from the federal government, she was entitled to benefits.

Again, a three-judge panel agreed with the plaintiff in a decision that could extend to all welfare, since federal money is everywhere. Attorney General Martin indicated he will appeal this decision to the U. S. Supreme Court.

The State Degree of Achievement is the highest honor which can be bestowed upon an FHA member. To obtain the degree the member must work toward goals which will enable her to show growth as an individual, a member of her home, school, community and FHA chapter, and as an interpreter of the homemaker program. TEACHER PAY RAISE PLAN — Governor's Committee on Public School Education will recommend "large and substantial" teacher pay raises with built-in cost-of-living escalation plans, Chairman Leon Jaworski says.

Jaworski indicated the Committee also will recommend (by August 31 deadline) free public kindergartens, summer schooling, expanded vocational training, new course programming, tax equalization among districts and school district organization.

Committee will hold a public hearing here April 26 to preview some of its findings in areas of enrollment projections for the next decade, school dropout study, analysis of school courses and service offerings, evaluation of Texas Test for Educational Development and results of an adult and teacher opinion poll.

Jaworski also announced that the Committee contracted with a Dallas company to produce a filmed version of its report and recommendations to the Legislature in January, 1969.

VETS LAND POLICY CHANGED — New veterans land policies have been ordered to limit veterans' purchase to no more than 10 per cent of any one subdivision.

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler said interest in the revived program — through which qualified veterans can buy land on long-term, low-interest rate arrangement — has been "overwhelming" but too many applications have been coming in on sub-divisions.

"We cannot spend all our money in a few isolated areas," said Sadler in announcing new restrictions. "We have large subdivisions that have put prices on their land far above market value in the area. All veterans (should have) a chance to buy throughout the state and not spend our money in a few large subdivisions."

NEW FORMULAS — Coordinating Board, Texas Colleges and Universities has adopted new formula rates for submission to the Legislature for the state fiscal years 1970-71.

Board also approved a second election for creation of a junior-college district in Jefferson County, adopted criteria for the creation of such districts, approved a uniform financial reporting system for junior colleges and okayed a $50,000 research project by the University of Houston on continuing education.

It's YOU (not a FLUE)

who decides where a flameless electric water heater goes.

Why should you let an old fashioned flue dictate to you where you put your water heater? Choose a flameless electric water heater that needs no flue or ventilation and the choice is yours. Put it where you want it, not where it has to go. In a linen closet, kitchen cabinet . . . wherever it is most convenient for you. You can place it closest to points of greatest hot water use and eliminate long heat-wasting pipe runs. An electric water heater gives you abundant hot water because the immersed heating elements heat the water, not the tank. And, because it's flameless, it is noiseless, clean and safe. You have a choice in models, shapes and sizes, too. See your dealer or call our office for information.
