Prize Pig Meets Pampered Pup

Keto, tiny Chihuahua, didn't find the portly porker at the Howard County Pig Show as interesting as did Keto's young owner, Dero Shaw, Knott. Keto, instead of expressing interest at being presented to the pig, displayed eagerness to get away from there.

Youngsters Entering Prize Porkers In Annual Show Here

Members of Howard County 4-H clubs and FFA chapters were bringing their prize pigs to the Howard County fair grounds today for the 18th Annual Howard County FFA-4-H Club pig show.

Herb Heibig, county farm agent, said that 75 animals will be entered in the show. Some of the youngsters are showing more than one animal so about 60 boys and girls will take part in the show. The entry deadline was Wednesday.

Youngsters will spend the afternoon and early evening getting prize porkers in shape for the judging which will begin at 9 a.m. Thursday.

Ribbons await the winners, along with prize money, and a trophy will go to the best pig of the show. Judge for the show will be Euel Liner, Lubbock, widely known swine breeder.

Thursday at 7:30 p.m. the big auction sale swings into action at the Howard County fair barns. Dub Bryant is to weild the hammer.

Big Spring Junior Chamber of Commerce is sponsor of the show. A committee has been working some weeks lining up buyers to bid on the pigs which are sold.

The general public is urged to attend and take part in the auction.

County Judge, Treasurer Are Slain At Courthouse

CALDWELL, Tex. (AP)—Burleson County Judge Ed Bravenec, 51, and County Treasurer Joe Dan Philp, 47, were killed today in a shooting in the judge's offices. There were no witnesses.

Bravenec died almost instantly while Philp died while undergoing an operation in a Temple, Tex., hospital.

The shooting took place at midmorning in the judge's offices on the second story of the courthouse.

Judge Bravenec suffered three shots in the chest, while the bullet which proved fatal to Philp struck his temple.

Deputy Sheriff Edward Ward said that as far as he knew the two men had not had any known disagreements.

Philp had spent some time recently in a hospital after a heart attack.

Ward said that indications in the office were that Philp fired the shots.

Deputy Sheriff Milton Lewis said: "At this time we assume it was murder and suicide but we have no witnesses to the shooting and must make a thorough investigation before a verdict is rendered."

The treasurer is the brother of Sheriff Reid Philp who was placed under sedation at his home.

Ward said he believed the weapon belonged to the treasurer, although that had not been pinpointed.

The weapon was a .22-caliber Italian-made pistol.

The deputy said that he saw no evidence of a struggle in the offices of the judge.

Judge Bravenec was near the doorway which led from his secretary's office to his private office.

The pistol was on the floor.

Both men were married and have children.

Ward said the offices were blood-spattered.

County Clerk John Toupal, 49, said he was the first on the scene —his office is across the hall from the judge.

Toupal said the judge's secretary, Maxiene Marek, ran into his office and said the judge had been shot, although she apparently was not a witness to the shooting.

Toupal said he called the sheriff's office and then started toward the judge's office and heard two more shots.

Judge Bravenec had been in office seven years—1947 through 1950 and again from 1959 to the present.

$100,000 Added To Webb Payroll

Approval of the new military pay increase bill was good news to some 2,800 Big Springers, all stationed at Webb AFB.

The bill will add $102,268 to the local payroll, which currently totals about $900,000 per month. The increase will put the base payroll above a million dollars per month.

The breakdown by rank, of military personnel at Webb, (with Students and tenant personnel included) is:

Colonels, 5, lieutenant colonels, 12; majors, 30; captains, 167; first lieutenants, 157; second lieutenants, 314; warrant officers, 10; chief master sergeants, 12; senior master sergeants, 24; master sergeants, 62; technical sergeants, 172; staff sergeants, 429; airmen 1.C., 433; airmen 2.C., 559; airmen 3.C., 395; airmen basic, 10.

Bums Thump Yanks, 5-2

NEW YORK (AP)—Left-hander Sandy Koufax' record-setting 15 strikeouts and a four-run second inning highlighted by John Roseboro's homer carried the Los Angeles Dodgers over the New York Yankees 5-2 today in the opening game of the 1963 World Series.

Koufax allowed six hits in beating the favored defending world champions before a packed house of 69,000 at Yankee Stadium, while the Dodgers batted series veteran Whitey Ford liberally in the early going.

Koufax' strikeout total was one over tne previous series record set by Carl Erskine of the Dodgers against the Yankees exactly 10-years ago—Oct. 2, 1953. The star southpaw, a 25-game winner during the regular season, did not allow a base runner until Elston Howard's single with two out in the fifth and blanked the Yankees until Tom Tresh's two-run homer in the eighth.

Koufax hit the strikeout record by fanning the final batter, pinch hitter Harry Bright.

The Dodgers whacked Ford for four hits in their big second inning, which was capped by Roseboro's three-run homer. Former Yankee Bill Skowron singled in the first Dodger run, and drove in their final run with a single in the third inning.

The Series continues here Thursday with left-handers Al Downing of the Yankees and Johnny Podres of the Dodgers scheduled to pitch.

Former Resident Killed In Okinawa

Word has been received here of the death of Mary Greene, wife of Capt. James E. Greene, at Kadena, Okinawa, Sept. 23. She was killed in an automobile accident at Kadena.

Capt. and Mrs. Greene were stationed at Webb Air Force Base until the fall of 1961, when he was sent to Okinawa. She served here as president of the Webb Officers Wives Club and was active in many organizations both at the base and in Big Spring.

Survivors include her husband and three children, Catherine Ann, Tommy and Susan, of Kadena.

Byrd Slates Tax Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Harry F. Byrd of the Senate Finance Committee says he may open public hearings next week on President Kennedy's tax-cut bill.

Indications are, however, that lengthy committee deliberations and a decision to seek Senate action first on controversial civil rights legislation will delay final congressional action until early next year.

Senate Democratic leaders made plain Tuesday they planned to bring the civil rights bill up for a Senate vote before the tax-cut measure which was passed last week in the House.

FILIBUSTER

The civil rights bill is expected to touch off a battle that almost certainly will include a lengthy Southern filibuster against the bill. Thus even if the Senate Finance Committee moves quickly on the tax bill, the Senate would be unable to consider it until it disposes of civil rights.

Byrd, a Virginia Democrat, said Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon would be leadoff witness at the tax bill hearings. His announcement came Tuesday after his committee voted 11 to 4 against a move by Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., to speed up hearings.

"It's a very unfortunate decision," Douglas said. "In effect, we will have no tax bill this year."

Own Mob Set Up Murder, Says Valachi

WASHINGTON (AP) — Joseph Valachi testified today that a New York underworld boss of more than 30 years ago was slain in a doublecross plotted by some of his own lieutenants.

The death of Giuseppi Massaria, alias Joe the Boss, was set up by "Charles Lucky, Vito Genovese and Ciro Terranova," Valachi told the Senate investigations subcommittee. "They were the important ones."

New York police records show that Massaria was shot in the back and the head while sitting in a restaurant at 2715 West 15 St. in the Coney Island section on the afternoon of April 15, 1931.

Lt. Ralph Salerno of the New York Police Department testified the case is still listed in the active file. He said the police record shows the killers escaped and are unknown.

TRIGGER MAN

The early part of Valachi's third day of testimony was largely spent in trying to pin down the identity of Girolamo Santuccio, alias Bobby Doyle, the man he named Tuesday as the trigger man in three 1930 mob killings.

Looking at photographs, Valachi and Lt. John Roach of the Hartford, Conn., police agreed that this individual is a man Roach said now lives in Hartford.

"He hangs around the streets and has no visible means of support," Roach said.

In Hartford, Police Chief John J. Kerrigan said Santuccio had been idle recently, but ran a pizza restaurant until about three months ago.

Valachi had testified Tuesday that Santuccio, or Doyle, lived in Stamford, Conn., in 1960 and was in juke box and other businesses.

He told the senators today that was a slip of the tongue — that he meant to say Hartford.

RIVAL GANG

When Valachi got down to telling about Massaria's slaying, he said that at the time he belonged to a rival gang known as the Maranzano group, and it was waging war with the Masseria group.

But Valachi said it wasn't his group but Masseria's own underings who gunned Massaria down.

Valachi said "there was peace" between the two mobs after Masseria's murder.

Racial Violence Probe Continues

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A third white man has been arrested and over 100 sticks of dynamite were found hidden in a wooded area in the continuing investigation of racial bombings.

John W. Hall, 36, of urban Gardendale, was charged with illegal possession of dynamite Tuesday. He posted bond—set at $300—shortly afterwards.

Robert E. Chambliss, 59, who was arrested Sunday by state investigators, also was free on $300 bond on the same charge. Chambliss posted bond shortly after a habeas corpus hearing in circuit court.

Charles Cagle, 22, of Birmingham, who was arrested with Chambliss Sunday, remained in jail on an open charge pending a habeas corpus hearing today.

WOODED AREA

Col. Al Lingo, commander of the State Highway Patrol, said Tuesday night that state investigators found 133 sticks of dynamite in a wooden crate and two and a half sticks lying nearby in a wooded area in North Birmingham, just outside the city limits. He hailed the discovery as significant in the investigation of bombings.

"We are stepping in the right direction. We are making progress."

The Rev. Fred Shuttlesworth, former Birmingham minister and president of the Alabama Christian Movement for Human Rights, charged that the investigation appeared to be "a sham on the part of law agencies, in an effort to soothe the national conscience and placate Negroes."

Shuttlesworth issued a statement criticizing the investigation shortly after a circuit court jury — which included one Negro — found him guilty of parading without a permit on Good Friday and fined him $75.

ADDED TO TERM

Judge George Lewis Bailes added a term of 90 days to the fine. Shuttlesworth's attorneys appealed the sentence and he was released under $2,500 bond.

Shuttlesworth noted that his bond was $2,500 while that of the men charged with possession of dynamite was $300.

"Where are the FBI and the federal experts brought in — and what part did they play in this? Is this the best the nation can expect of the combined efficient forces of the federal, state and local law agencies?" Shuttlesworth asked.

He warned that "the cup of the Negro's patience runneth over." He did not explain the statement, but it was noted that the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who delivered a four-point ultimatum on Negro demands to Birmingham white leaders this past weekend, said that the decision on resumption of demonstrations would be up to Shuttlesworth and his organization.

Presidential advisors Kenneth C. Royall and Earl Blaik planned another round of conferences with white and Negro leaders today.

Jolly Robber Is Captured

FORT WORTH (AP) — Police captured a 25-year-old ex-convict Tuesday night and said the arrest ended the reign of Fort Worth's "jolly robber."

Acting on a tip, a dozen policemen descended on a north side home and arrested William Wade, who admitted to officers and newsmen that he held up four supermarkets Monday night. Officers recovered $4,260.

At one store he sacked groceries for 15 minutes after cleaning out the safe.

"This is all on the house, folks," he told startled customers, jovially waving them through the checkout line.

He ordered the manager of another store to remain in the building and do nothing for five minutes. He returned a few minutes later, still smiling, "to see if you're following instructions."

At a third supermarket the telephone rang while the holdup was in process. The gunman answered and told the caller, "Okay, okay." He then shouted to a clerk in the store:

"Hey, Elbert, your wife says to bring home a loaf of bread and a can of tuna!"

Wade also admitted 10 other robberies here in the past five months.

Police confiscated a .45 revolver and a woman's overnight bag filled with stacks of money at the home of his sister where he was arrested.

Highway To Open

Highway 80's east business route in Big Spring will be opened to traffic around noon Thursday, according to M. C. Winters Inc., contractor on the job.

TODAY IN STANTON

Suit Contesting Returns Of Election May Be Filed

STANTON — A civil suit to contest the election returns of Stanton's Sept. 10 referendum on Urban Renewal and the election of four new city council members, was reported ready for filing today.

Unconfirmed reports were that the suit would be filed with Mrs. Doris Stephenson, county-district court clerk, sometime Wednesday.

This report was heard by the city council at its meeting Tuesday night and, as a result, the council decided not to call a special election to name a new mayor and one councilman until Oct. 8.

S. W. Wheeler, mayor, and Sam Martin, a member of council, resigned their seats recently and the council, at its Tuesday night session, had intended to call a special election to fill these two vacancies. However, the four council members left on the board are also working on a pro tempore basis —all have resigned subject to their replacement by duly elected successors.

At the election Sept. 10, four successors were named. However, charges of voting irregularities arose and the ballots were impounded by the court. Such impounding, according to attorneys, is to preserve the record of the election until a decision on whether a contest suit is to be prosecuted. Deadline for filing such a suit expires Oct. 10.

Meantime, under the wording of the order impounding the ballots, the outcome of the election could be decided by a canvass under the eyes of the court.

The regular session of the Martin County grand jury opens Monday. It is not known if the grand jury will dig into the election tangle. And, provided the civil suit contesting the election is filed, it is doubtful if any such action will be undertaken.

However, in the opinion of lawyers, if the contest is not filed within the specified deadline, the court will be free after Oct. 10 to release the ballots.

If they are released, the council, sitting as a canvassing board, will canvass the election and the outcome will be determined.

Two More UF Divisions Launch Campaigns Today

Two more United Fund Divisions kicked off campaigns today, the Federal Employes, under Weldon Bryant, and the State Employes, under Dr. Preston Harrison.

The first group of public employes, County Division, completed its effort in one day and showed a $200 increase over gifts last year with 100 per cent participation.

A benefit slow-pitch softball game at Webb AFB added $28.40 to the campaign Tuesday. A 13-run burst in the fifth inning was more than enough as the NCO's defeated the Officers 20-7.

Before fans settled in their seats, Marv Lease slapped a double to center and Jim Fluey doubled him home for the first score. Two outs later, Fluey scored to give the NCO's a 2-0 lead. A three-base knock to the left-center field fence by Col. Howard J. Withycombe scored two runners in the bottom of the first inning to knot the score at 2-2.

WELDON BRYANT

DR. PRESTON HARRISON

John Wainwright, NCO's manager, opened the fifth frame with a home run that cleared the left field fence and bounced across the street. Minutes later, an even dozen runs came across the plate.

Col. Withycombe pitched the first five innings for the Officers, giving up all 20 NCO runs. Harry Tofpi, NCO's pitcher, worked the first four innings and was tagged for five runs

Capt. Seebo pitched the last two innings for the officers while Paul Haney gave up two runs in the three innings he worked. Seebo had a home run for the Officers in the bottom of the sixth.

The United Fund has a goal of almost $105,000 this year to provide support to 13 local youth guidance and welfare organizations.

UNITED FUND

Girl Scouts Reach 800

More than 800 girls and 85 adult leader are included in the operation of 40 Girl Scout units in the Big Spring area, according to Mrs. Larson Lloyd.

The girls are of four groups, divided according to age and advancement. They are Brownies, Junior Girl Scouts, Cadet Girl Scouts, and Senior Girl Scouts. Units are organized in Big Spring, Lamesa, Garden City, Stanton, and Coahoma.

All these girls and leaders benefit as one of the agencies covered in the United Fund campaign.

A part of the funds go to the administration of the district, but a large portion goes for the annual Girl Scout Day Camp held in Big Spring. A school for training leaders is being conducted at present to provide for the enlargement of the Girl Scout program in the district.

McNamara Likely To Miss On Key Viet Nam Answers

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara probably found no final answer in South Viet Nam to two important questions.

He probably didn't learn how to get President Ngo Dinh Diem to do what the United States thinks must be done to win the war against the Communist Viet Cong. Or what would happen if Diem were overthrown.

But McNamara left for Washington Tuesday with a massive report that should help President Kennedy make one crucial decision — whether the Communists can be defeated if the United States continues to support Diem's authoritarian and increasingly unpopular regime.

SHOWMANSHIP

The defense secretary probably had much of the information he got here before he left Washington last week. One highly placed, sympathetic diplomat described McNamara's trip as "a piece of necessary showmanship" for the benefit of a U.S. Congress increasingly hostile to the American commitment in South Viet Nam.

McNamara did not look under every bush and tree as one phrase-conscious aide predicted he would. He covered more than 2,000 miles in his swing through major war zones. He questioned 53 of the 86 American corps, division, regimental, and sector advisers, 25 of the 28 Vietnamese corps and division commanders and the province chiefs, as well as several hundred other Americans and Vietnamese.

PRIVATE VIEWS

In some areas he did not have an opportunity to talk to the Americans privately but their private views were probably gleaned by members of his team who were quietly busy while he was in the spotlight.

McNamara conferred with Diem for three hours, and the president is believed to have done most of the talking. The visit probably was too brief to get across more than an impression of U.S. displeasure with Diem's repressive tactics.

The palace dinner that followed lasted only two hours and 15 minutes, a record in brevity for such occasions here.

Most of McNamara's briefings were behind closed doors but his report will probably follow the line of previous observations of American officers on the scene. An intelligent guess can be made on its main points.

On the basis of recommendation available before he arrived, McNamara will probably recommend no increase in the force of 15,000 U.S. military men in Viet Nam and no increase in the current $1.5 million daily in U.S. aid.

He may suggest, on purely military grounds, a modest cut in American personnel or U.S. aid in line with known U.S. and Vietnamese suggestions.

MORE AIRCRAFT

He may recommend an increase in fighter aircraft and the workhorse helicopters which have become practically indispensable to military operations against the Communist guerrillas.

McNamara may tell President Kennedy that if U.S. aid were suddenly cut off, Vietnamese forces would have sufficient supplies to operate—after a fashion and with much less mobility—for 6 to 12 months.

Petroleum supplies would dry up in a matter of weeks in some areas and within six months in others. Communications, primarily American run, would fold abruptly. Vietnamese ground forces would lose the mobility American helicopters have given them.

McNamara saw no evidence Diem had instituted any reforms —such as President Kennedy has been suggesting—since the secretary visited Viet Nam 16 months ago.

BECOME DANGEROUS

He will probably report the political-religious crisis sparked by Buddhist suicides and demonstrations has not had an appreciable effect on the morale of government troops so far, but if the ruthless political tactics continue the situation could become dangerous.

The widespread hostility Diem's harsh methods have aroused in the cities was apparent to all. The effect of the Buddhist crisis was much less marked in the countryside, where the yardstick of loyalty is a full rice bowl, protection from Communist terror, government bombing and shelling, or corruption.

McNamara will probably report the Viet Cong is being pushed back in the central highlands and northern provinces.

But the best he will be able to say about the crucial Communist-infested southern delta and the area around Saigon is that the Communists have been stopped.

118TH DISTRICT

Court's Docket Is Sliced By Three

Seventeen new divorce suits were filed in 118th District Court during September, but the month ended with three less cases on file than on the first of the month.

Seven cases were dismissed during the month and 13 were handled by the court. Twelve of these were granted and one petition was denied.

There were 267 divorce cases pending Sept. 1 and 264 Sept. 30. One new annulment case was filed, bringing the pending total to 11. None were disposed of in the month.

Tax suits on file, were unchanged, Fern Cox, district court clerk, reported. There are 157 such suits pending in the court.

Other types of civil cases on file at the end of the month totaled 458, representing an increase of nine over the total at the start of the month. There were 29 new cases filed in September. Twenty cases were removed from the docket — nine being dismissals. Four jury cases were tried and seven were handled by the court without a jury.

There were 52 criminal cases on file when the month began. Two cases were disposed of without a jury during the month, lowering the number to 50.

Across the board, the number of cases on file in Cox's office was five greater when the month ended. Forty-seven new suits were filed in the civil division and 42 were removed from the docket either by dismissal or trial. There were 935 on hand when the month began and 940 when it ended.

Two appealed cases of the 118th District Court have not been ruled on by the appellate court.

No Rush On To Pay Poll Tax

Taxes were being paid at the office of the county tax assessor-collector today but the demand for poll tax receipts was anything but heavy.

At noon, the office had issued only two poll tax receipts. Several requests for exemption certificates had been filled by the office.

Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, county tax assessor-collector, has suggested that taxpayers delay paying poll taxes until after the special election Nov. 9. That election may amend the Texas Constitution to abolish payment of poll tax as a qualification for voting.

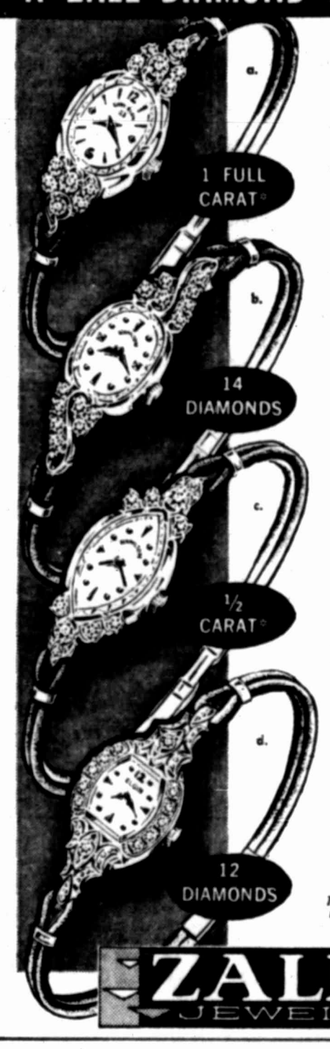

If the poll tax remains on the Texas agenda of laws after the election, Mrs. LeFevre points out, there will be ample time to pay the tax before the Jan. 31 deadline. If the poll tax election amendment is adopted, then a new system of registration will become operative and voters will only register. Instead of paying $1.75 for a poll tax, they will pay a registration fee of 25 cents.

Marshall Rejects Police, Fire Raise

BONNEVILLE CONVERTIBLE
Four models in the Bonneville series

Pontiacs On Sale Here Thursday

Pontiac Motor Division's regular series lineup for 1964 has been completely restyled, yet retains the Pontiac identity. The Catalina, Star Chief and Bonneville models appear longer, lower and wider without any significant change in exterior dimensions.

The new models go on display here Thursday at City Pontiac Co., 504 E. 3rd.

Continuing a highly successful formula that combines rich styling simplicity with outstanding performance, the 1964 Pontiacs are more graceful, distinctive and appealing than ever before.

Catalina models and the Grand Prix sports coupe have a 120-inch wheelbase while the Star Chief and Bonneville models have a 123-inch wheelbase. All station wagon models have a 119-inch wheelbase. All 1964 Pontiacs are one inch longer overall. The Catalina and Grand Prix measure 213 inches while the Star Chief and Bonneville series are 220 inches. Station wagons are 213.8 inches long.

MODEL LINEUP

The Catalina, Pontiac's volume series, is available in seven models—two and four-door sedans, two and four-door hardtops, six and nine-passenger Safari station wagons and a convertible.

A four-door hardtop and a four-door sedan are offered in the Star Chief series.

The Bonneville is available in four models — two and four-door hardtops, a six-passenger station wagon and a convertible.

Pontiac's prestige sports coupe, the Grand Prix, has been restyled and again will be available as Pontiac's entry in the luxury car field.

"Fresh exterior styling features Pontiac's exclusive divided grille, vertical twin headlamps, moderate use of chrome trim and elegant interior appointments, elevate our 1964 cars to new levels of customer appeal," said E. M. Estes, General Motors vice president and Pontiac general manager, in announcing his division's new models.

Enhancing the low profile and wide track theme are the massive but graceful front and rear bumpers that blend smoothly with the body work.

Pontiac's traditionally durable and luxurious interiors have new colors and patterns in the latest fabrics of nylon, vinyl and leather. To satisfy every taste, a full range of color combinations is available and nylon blend loop pile carpet flooring covering is found in every model.

Bonneville four-door hardtop models are available with a new optional Brougham interior. This special interior provides the ultimate in luxurious appointments, styling and comfort. Offered in black only, Brougham seat cushions and backs are entirely covered with rich nylon blend cloth. Biscuited insert panels are accented with deeply embedded cloth covered buttons and folding center arm rests are features of both front and rear seats.

Deeply-padded doors with a carpet covered lower area, custom hardware, and a fully padded instrument panel with electric clock and walnut wood inlays are among the many standard features of the Bonneville models. Bonneville convertible seats, including the optional bucket seats, are finished in genuine leather on seat cushions and backs in prime surface pleated panels.

Bonneville station wagon interiors are trimmed in expanded vinyl. Load areas are richly carpeted and have bright skid strips over the carpet for added durability and high quality appearance.

'2 PLUS 2'

Catalina sports coupe and convertible models are available with Pontiac's new appearance option "2 Plus 2," which includes bucket seats, all vinyl trim, floor console, premium fuel two-barrel engine, deluxe wheel discs and wood inlays on steering wheel spokes and instrument panel. The "2 Plus 2" name plate appears on the inside of the doors, on the front fenders and on the lower right side of the deck lid. On Catalina sports coupes, the special trim option provides bright metal drip moldings. The name "2 Plus 2" has reference to two passengers in front and two in the rear.

Fifteen exterior paint finishes are offered for every Pontiac model and are available in single or two-tone combinations.

In addition to new styling, the 1964 Pontiac offers significant improvements in suspension, engines, drive train, accessories, safety items and maintenance.

The choice of Pontiac V-8 engines range from 215 to 370 horsepower and each one is specially engineered to mate with either three and four-speed synchromesh, or automatic transmission. For the more economy-minded, Pontiac continues to offer a regular-fuel engine with low axle ratios and a choice of either synchromesh or automatic transmission.

New Pontiac accessories for 1964 provide added safety, convenience and comfort. The six-way power tilt front seat has been redesigned to include a greater range of adjustment. In addition to fore and aft movement, the front and rear of the seat can be raised or lowered by means of power driven jack screws. The result is unlimited seat positions for full vision driving and greater comfort.

Pontiac's new speed-control device, Electro-Cruise, automatically reduces driving fatigue and annoying leg cramp on lengthy trips by maintaining constant car speed up hill, down hill, or on the level. With this practical accessory, the driver just steers and enjoys foot-on-the-floor comfort while concentrating on the highway.

Other new accessories include a back window defogger, removable luggage carrier for sedan models and roof or deck mounted ski racks.

Oil Production Shows Decrease

TULSA (AP) — U. S. oil production dropped last week, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

The journal showed average daily production last week of 7,516,930 barrels, down 15,191 from the previous week.

Oklahoma output averaged 557,700 barrels daily, down 16,050 a day. Colorado was off 1,000 to 101,000.

Arkansas produced 75,875, Louisiana 1,428,900, New Mexico 303,200 and Texas 2,611,000.

"BROTHER SAUL"

"And Ananias went his way, and entered into the house; and putting his hands on him said, Brother Saul, the Lord, even Jesus, that appeared unto thee in the way as thou camest, hath sent me, that thou mightest receive thy sight, and be filled with the Holy Ghost."

Some folk think that because Ananias called him "Brother," he was already a brother in Christ, although unbaptized at the time.

But we must be consistent. In Acts 2:29 Peter called the unconverted Jews who were guilty of murdering Christ "Men and brethren." The context shows they were lost. This no one denies. Yet they were Peter's brethren.

They were not Peter's brethren in Christ; but in the Jewish race they were his brothers.

The same was true of Saul of Tarsus and Ananias. They were brother-Jews. The unbaptized Saul was not a Christian. See Mark 16:16; Acts 2:38; Acts 22:16; I Pet. 3:21.

Tito Arrives Thursday For Mexico Visit

MEXICO CITY (AP)—President Josip Broz Tito of Yugoslavia will arrive Thursday for a 14-day visit in Mexico.

He will spend six days resting at Acapulco. In releasing the official program, Mexico's ministry of foreign relations said Tito also will spend two days in Merida, four in Mexico City and two in Guadalajara.

Tito's plane will land at the international airport of Merida, on the Yucatan Peninsula. In an official reception at the airport, Secretary of Education and Mrs. Jaime Torres Bodet will represent President and Mrs. Adolfo Lopez Mateos.

The visiting president then will drive to the archaeological center of Uxmal, 50 miles from Merida. He will spend the night at a typical old hacienda converted into a luxury hotel.

Friday Tito will inspect the centuries-old remains of the Mayan city of Uxmal, ride back to the Merida airport and fly to Mexico City.

President and Mrs. Lopez Mateos, the entire cabinet and diplomatic corps will be at the Mexico City airport to welcome Tito and his party.

After a ride through downtown Mexico City in an open car, the two presidents will go to the official presidential residence of Los Pinos, where Tito and his party will be lodged.

Cool Hangs Over Texas

By The Associated Press

Texas weather dawdled in a pleasant rut Wednesday.

Skies remained cloudless and temperatures mild. The Weather Bureau said a weak cool front originally expected by late in the day won't start pushing into the Texas Panhandle until Thursday.

Except for a possibility of a weekend shower or two in North Central and Northeast Texas, no moisture was in prospect. Long range forecasts, covering the period through next Monday, called for temperatures from a few degrees below normal to a few degrees above.

Hurricane Flora, a big and dangerous storm, was centered 330 miles southwest of San Juan, Puerto Rico, in early morning. There still was no indication whether it might boil into the Gulf of Mexico and menace the Texas coast.

Tuesday's slightly warmer weather brought top temperatures ranging from 92 degrees at Presidio down to 77 at Galveston.

DEAR ABBY

Some Like 'Em, Some Don't

DEAR ABBY: I am one waitress who always waits on teen-agers right away because I want to get rid of them. They are surly, and all they leave behind is a messy table.

DOESN'T LIKE TEENS

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Put me down as a waitress who enjoys waiting on teen-agers. I find that, like any other minority group, they behave extra nice because they do not want to reflect unfavorably on the group they represent. Give me teen-agers any time!

LIKES TEEN-AGERS

• • •

DEAR ABBY: My partner and I own a small diner near a high school. We had so much trouble with the kids stealing things and breaking up the place that we put a sign in our window, "WE DO NOT SOLICIT TEEN-AGE BUSINESS." A committee of parents came in and told us we were breaking the law to discriminate that way. We took down the sign and invited a few of the committee to come in and watch through the kitchen door, which had a glass window in it. After they saw what went on they told us to go ahead and put the sign back up.

PREFERS ADULTS

• • •

DEAR ABBY: For my part I hope I never have to wait on the teen-age crowd again. For one year I waited on tables where a lot of teen-agers hung out and I have had enough of them, thank you. They order a cup of coffee and expect you to keep it filled for an hour. They hold on to one booth no matter how many people are waiting to sit down. And when they leave, their table and the floor around it are a disgrace. Dozens of paper napkins, cigarette butts and spilled sugar. And they leave only an empty bottle of ketchup on the table.

SICK OF KIDS

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I don't mind having one or even two teen-agers in my drug store. But when three or more come in together, they spell trouble, and I never take my eye off them until they are out the door.

PROPRIETOR

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I run a hamburger joint and I couldn't stay in business without the kids. I love them. There are good and bad, but I found out if you treat them right they will treat you right, too. So what if they do make a little noise? I'd rather have them in here yelling and screaming than to have some old pusses who open their mouths only to complain about something. Kids don't gripe if the service is a little slow. And I've never known a teen-ager to send anything back to the kitchen.

NO COMPLAINTS

• • •

DEAR ABBY: It is strange that when teen-agers come into my place during the daytime, dressed in Bermudas and jeans, they act rowdy and eat like pigs! But these same teen-agers come in at night, dressed up in suits and pretty dresses, and they behave like ladies and gentlemen. I like to serve them in the evenings, but not during the day!

DAILY GUIDE — Some complex situation may be brewing now; elements of glamor, illusively covered to tempt the unwary. Propaganda can be especially cunningly offered as idealistic unselfishness. Disillusionment can follow quickly by the end of the week.

Some scandal could be brought to light; reality could come with a jolt. The weather could furnish some of the difficulties of this week, with storms at sea a possibility.

Be alert to hidden matters; watch your change, the traffic lights, and your own and your associates' motives. Discount rumor or gossip.

Scorpios can have a strong creative push; Taureans need to watch the other fellow for sleight-of-hand tricks; Leos look to affairs at home base; Aquarians to career.

Librans watch finances; Arians gamble with luck if they played their cards right this year; Capricorns watch emotional situation with so-called friends; Cancerians have romantic, glamorous social contacts.

Virgos in emotional turmoil; Geminians watch health; Sagittarians have behind-the-scene reactions; Pisces seek inspiration.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, LIBRA! Watch finances carefully today. Some emotional disturbance likely. You can express yourself better after the 11th than now. Some hidden dsiturbances may be stirred up next summer, affecting either health or your work or working conditions.

Keep patiently in the background at this time. Now you have the advantage of receiving favors through others. It is a good time for marriage or alliances of any kind, so go ahead.

After April the good fortune will be in joint funds, security and savings. Avoid social difficulties or complications with loved ones over finances this week.

Surprise To Zoo

ST. PAUL (AP)—Surprised officials of the Como Park Zoo reported the zoo's first birth of a gibbon ape.

"We had no idea," said foreman Richard Dean.

He said the birth, extremely rare in captivity, was discovered by a keeper.

Exception Made For Early Plane

TOKYO (AP)—A new rule prohibiting takeoffs and landings between 11 p.m. and 6 a.m. at Tokyo International Airport was declared in effect today as a concession to people who complained of their sleep being disturbed.

All went well until 4:55 a.m. when Pan American World Airways Flight 845 out of Los Angeles got in more than two hours head of schedule.

An airport official said permission to land was granted because this was the first day. Pan Am apologized.

A Devotional For The Day

"What of the man who hears these words of mine and does not act upon them? He is like a man who was foolish enough to build his house on sand. The rain came down, the floods rose, the wind blew, and beat upon that house; down it fell with a great crash." (Matthew 7:27-27. NEB.)

PRAYER: O Lord, help us to look to Christ, Thy Son, as the foundation upon which to build our lives. We pray that our attitudes and acts may say for each of us, "On Christ, the solid Rock, I stand." In His name. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

Wanted: More Texas Industry

The Texas economy now enjoys greater stability than the national economy in recession resistance. But that stability is a mixed blessing, as it reflects a lag in manufacturing industries. Though sensitive to national economic fluctuations, these industries are indispensable to achieving full employment for a rapidly growing population and per capita income at least matching the national average.

This conclusion emerges from statistical surveys of this state's economic progress, particularly the 1963 Chartbook of Texas Business Research of the University of Texas. Bureau statistician Francis B. May notes the stability: "When the Texas business activity index is compared with the peaks and troughs (three since 1953) of the business cycle of the United States, it becomes readily apparent that the Texas economy is in a better position to withstand economic downturns than is the national economy . . . since Texas has relatively fewer highly cyclical types of industries."

Texas business activity, per capita income and nonfarm employment have grown steadily since 1950, though less rapidly since 1957, and there are no signs here of a down-turn in 1964 such as the Kennedy administration tax - cut advocates warn is a possibility nationally. But the disconcerting fact is that the rise in Texas' per capita income has been lagging behind the national figure since 1950. Texas per capita income was $152 less than the national average in 1950; in 1962 it was $353 less, according to the latest U.S. Department of Commerce report.

Many factors account for that lag, but the main one is the statewide need for more manufacturing industry. Texas is expected to have 14 million population by 1977, and the Texas Industrial Commission in "Goals for Texans" foresees that industrial employment will increase faster —from 488,250 to 802,250—than population over the same period.

Even realizing that optimistic forecast of the industrialization rate may not be good enough, however, to boost Texas per capita income past the national average. That should be the goal, and to reach it will require vigorous state and local promotion of Texas economic opportunities. Economic stability is a dubious state asset if it remains below and behind the economic growth and progress of the rest of the nation.

SOMETHING IS HAPPENING TO US!

Two Kinds Of Courage

"Why is it that some men who show high courage on the field of battle prove to be, after they come home, incapable of showing the same courage in facing the responsibilities of citizenship?"

The question was put, off-handedly, to a newsman in a Southwestern courtroom by a judge who had just completed a trial. He had sentenced to state prison one of the heroes of World War II, a man we shall designate here only as "John X."

John had come home with a Silver Star, a Purple Heart and three Bronze Stars. In the Battle of the Bulge he had raced across an open field under fire to drag a wounded lieutenant to safety. In another action he had himself been wounded. Yet since his discharge in 1945 John has spent 15 years in prison. He has done time for breaking jail and violating parole after being sentenced for crimes. Now he goes up for a few more years.

The judge's question is a good one. Why do men react in such a manner? But there is another query which also may need an answer: What is wrong with our peacetime set-up that it cannot bring out the good qualities inspired in men by combat?

WASHINGTON (AP) — A great American success story is being celebrated here this week.

It's the 75th anniversary of the National Geographic, a magazine that many Americans have grown up with in their homes. Many others have whiled away apprehensive time reading it in doctors' offices.

The miracle of this success is that a slim, scholarly publication that started weakly in October 1888 has grown today to be a giant in circulation (3,535,000), fat with advertising, and with never a compromise on principles or goals. The magazine goes to members of the National Geographic Society and is not sold on newsstands.

It's dismaying to think how many magazines once sturdy and flourishing, have folded their pages and silently stolen away.

IN RECENT years alone, Collier's, with a huge and growing circulation, went out of business. The Saturday Evening Post, a true giant of the decades, has admittedly been losing money heavily. Coronet, the Woman's Home Companion, and the American Magazine are no more.

Going back further, the Literary Digest, the Pathfinder, the Review of Reviews, McClure's, Scribner's and the Century are just a few once-popular but now vanished contemporaries of the Geographic.

THE MAN credited with being the mast builder of the National Geographic Society and its magazine is Gilbert Hovey Grosvenor who, from 1899 to 1954, edited 660 issues of the magazine with more than 3,300 articles.

In a reminiscent narrative that features the diamond anniversary issue this month—the largest in the magazine's history—Dr. Grosvenor, now chairman of the society's Board of Trustees, tells of the early struggles and the advances through the years.

For example, even in the first, short - money days, Grosvenor laid down a policy that still holds —there would be no advertising of liquor, beer, wine, tobacco or patent medicines.

AS ASHBEL Ross wrote in Scribner's 25 years ago:

"Dr. Grosvenor once said that he would take his readers around the world and that he would take them first class.

"He has done it and, most remarkable of all, he has done it without letting his fireside travelers have a drink, a smoke or a bicarbonate of soda."

More positively, he took everything into his field of operations.

Agreement To Come Down To Earth

WASHINGTON — Maybe it's time to stop moon-gazing and re-explore the earth. This could be done by using some of the $40 billion which the administration wants to spend over the next few years in trying to achieve a landing on the moon. Much of the rapidly growing population throughout the world could be moved to sparsely settled parts of the globe with such funds. Plainly, many billions of dollars could be more beneficially used on the ground than by ventures 240,000 miles up in outer space.

A LARGE PART of the earth's surface is uninhabited, but population is growing in other areas at a rapid pace. Vast regions—like northern Russia, and Canada, as well as Alaska, and huge fertile areas in South America and Africa which lie practically unoccupied—could be developed to take care of bigger populations. Today, for instance in Argentina and Paraguay, half the population lives in one-fortieth of the territory of these two nations.

Some desert lands in Australia and the Middle East could be utilized also if science can find a way to de-salt water cheaply and effectively. This appears to be one of the most urgent projects of the century. Yet the United States government has spent only $30 million on the whole project. The President warned Congress last year that the water needs of the American people will nearly double by 1980 and will triple by the year 2000. The supply of natural water will be grossly inadequate in a few years.

CERTAINLY there are many problems on earth which are far more in need of attention than an expedition to the moon. In another 36 years, there will be seven billion people in the world—or more than double today's figure. In the United States alone, many children alive today will be part of a population if 322 million by the turn of the century—36 years hence—as compared with 190 million today. An idea of how rapidly the growth has been is to recall that in 1900 the figure was 76 million.

As population increases all over the globe, pressures will grow for aid of all kinds, and a restless, turbulent world could come into being, especially if not enough food is being produced.

Famine and disease used to check population growth, and sometimes millions of people died from both causes. But the decline in the deaths through epidemics presents a different story today. In Ceylon, for example, the mortality rate was cut 40 per cent in one year by spraying the island with DDT in an antimalarial campaign.

THE REAL difficulty arises in the distribution of the population. Immigration is bound to become a pressing issue in many countries. From the years 1820 to 1955, about 34 million immigrants came to this country from Europe. But this number is equal now to only about a single year's population growth in Asia.

The problem of Red China, with its 700 million people, is a challenging one. A relatively small number of persons control the government and the day may not be far distant when an uprising of the people, due to food shortages, may leave that country in a state of anarchy. This could bring about serious threats of population movement across the present border to India and Pakistan as well as the Soviet Union.

THE FOOD AND Agricultural Organization of the United Nations recently stated that a child born in the Far East today faces starvation or severe hunger. Lack of foods is the paramount problem leading to social upheavals.

As a way out, there has been much discussion of birth control. But, even assuming the acceptance of such methods, population growth is not likely to be materially reduced in the most backward areas of the globe, where the increases today are largest in percentages.

AN AUSTRALIAN economist, Colin Clark, estimates the world can support 10 to 15 billion people in the immediate future if lands are properly cultivated and conserved, and this is the number of people that authorities on population growth say will be reached on the earth within the next 50 years or so.

SO THERE ARE on earth plenty of urgent problems on which public funds could be utilized far more beneficially for mankind than on the $40 - billion mission to the moon. It might serve a constructive purpose if, instead of our inviting the Russians to join us in a journey to the moon, both governments would agree to give up the project altogether and help feed millions of impoverished human beings.

Middle-Age Milestones

NEW YORK (AP) — How can you tell whether you are middle-aged?

This point is puzzling to many who have heard that the harvest years are the best years, but aren't quite sure whether they themselves have reached this landmark of living.

Actually, however, there is little doubt about it once you really do reach middle age. You're there for sure if—

You feel too old for touch football but too young for croquet.

Your scalp gets sunburned higher up than it used to, and it takes you less time in the morning to comb your hair.

While reading the evening newspaper, you reach down more often to pat your old dog—and hope he won't insist on taking you for a walk.

Every new joke you hear reminds you of an old joke that seems funnier. In fact, anything that happens reminds you of something that happened earlier—and was better.

It comes as a big surprise that Stan Musial is retiring from baseball. Why it seems like only yesterday he was a kid just breaking into the game.

Everybody in the house seems to be engaged in a conspiracy to leave the lights turned on and run up your electricity bills.

The only time you really sleep well is while listening to an after dinner speech.

You no longer have to attend P-TA meetings—and kind of miss them.

Most of your old friends either are going to the hospital for an operation or recuperating from one. You spend more money buying get-well cards than going to night clubs.

You wonder why the younger generation has never been able to produce another poet like good old Edgar Guest.

The girls who ride on the buddy seats of motorcycles are prettier than any who'll go for a spin with you in a rented Cadillac.

It bores you to death to see a problem play at the theater. All you want is a front-row seat at a cheerful musical comedy with a snappy chorus line.

You think your neighbor's high school son is spoiled because he isn't interested in digging crabgrass out of your lawn for four bits an hour. Why, at his age you'd have been glad to do it for half that kind of money.

On election days you get up early so you can be the first to vote against any candidate who wants to reform anything—because you're cynically certain that no politician will ever carry out a promise.

You have no vices left. . .but your chief remaining delights are the bad habits your doctor tells you it is now time to break.

That's middle age—the harvest time!

VD Also A Teen-Age Problem

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a 14-year-old girl who wants to know more about venereal disease. I have read about it in the library, but I don't understand why it apparently only happens to unmarried people. I asked my mother and she wouldn't tell me. My counselor in school is a man, so I couldn't ask him.—A. R.

Well, I'm a man, too—but maybe I can answer your question.

Venereal disease, like others, isn't limited to people who are, or aren't, married. For all practical purposes, it is transmitted either by sexual intimacy or, in some cases, it is congenital, meaning that a baby gets it because a parent has the disease.

And a married couple, neither of which has the disease and remains faithful to each other, won't get it—or, to be more precise—their chance of contracting it is so small that we can virtually ignore the possibility.

Veneral disease is largely spread by those who are sexually promiscuous. Much of the trouble—and this is cause for great concern—is traced to youngsters of high school age. If this shocks you, all I can say is that it shocks me, too. But it is so.

If this "pool of disease" has become so strong among teenagers, it is time we began speaking plain facts to them.

I don't know what you may have read in the library, but it is my suspicion that your idea about venereal disease happening "only to unmarried people" came from something written by somebody who was trying to be nice and polite or "delicate" who took it for granted (or pretended to) that all married people behave in ideal fashion.

They don't. A promiscuous high school girl may get married but that doesn't mean she automatically becomes moral and faithful. She is what she is.

However, I don't mean that a girl (or boy) may be promiscuous in the teens and not, presently, learn that morality isn't just an arbitrary "rule," but is the result of sound reason.

Fidelity and good character in general are important for many reasons other than the risk of venereal disease, but I am speaking in medical terms, in terms of preventing disease, because that is what you asked me about.

Have I made the answer clear? I hope so—because the more that girls (and boys) of 14 understand this, the less venereal disease we are going to have among those of 16, 17, 18 and older.

Dear Dr. Molner: I enclose a stamped, self - addressed envelope and 20 cents in coin for your booklet, "How to Heal Peptic Ulcers and Keep Them Healed." I have a duodenal ulcer, but I presume the treatment for it is the same.—P. W. M.

A duodenal ulcer is one in the duodenum, or first portion of the small bowel just beyond the stomach. Gastric ulcers are in the stomach proper. Both, however, are "peptic ulcers."

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: I am deeply concerned about my daughter. Her husband likes to tickle her until she is on the verge of tears. She is losing weight constantly. Could this have any bearing? She eats well but is usually under tension.—MRS. W. M. T.

If the practice is upsetting enough to be an emotional factor, it could contribute to loss of weight, but there isn't anything in particular about tickling that would do so directly.

If your daughter dislikes the tickling, she should ask her husband seriously to stop it. If he doesn't — well wives from time immemorial have found plenty of ways to make their wishes emphatic. His urge to tickle may be a sadistic trait.

Attention all women! For the Pre - Menstrual Blues," write to Dr. Molner in care of The Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover handling. This pamphlet may help you!

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Billy Graham

I listen to your sermons on the radio and noticed that in most of them you speak of sin in the heart. Why?

P.W.

Because sin is in every heart and because it is man's greatest problem. I have recently made a study of what Jesus had to say about the source of the evil things we do and think. He tells us it is not what is without a man which hurts him, rather it is the sin within which gives its expression in impurity, lying, murder, jealousy, hatred, pride, and many other ugly things. He makes it very plain that these things spring from the evil which is inherent in the heart.

Jesus is much like a good doctor who first of all makes a proper diagnosis, then proceeds to give the medicine or the treatment designed to cure the disease. He tells us that our trouble is sin and He spells out what the manifestations of sin are. Then, He tells us what the cure is. It was because of this terrible thing, called sin, that God had to send His Son into the world to redeem it. I am not preaching about this because I enjoy it. But, the Gospel message must include God's own diagnosis—and His cure.

That Sense Of Well-Being

Pullman service on two of the four Texas and Pacific passenger trains serving our town has been discontinued, another evidence of the erosion of modern trends on the transportation habits of the nation. The T&P dropped $76,000 on operation of sleepers on these particular trains last year, and who can sleep that off?

MY FIRST BRUSH with a Pullman opened up a whole new world. For years I had watched those long black trains pull into the station, with Pullman coaches standing silent with mysteriously drawn curtains. Young bucks going off to shcool, however, took the chair cars, bought the loan of a pillow, tried to let down the backs or bridge the gaps between seats. Sleep was sort of fitful and bumpy, and I supposed you dreamed mostly of the day when you could stretch out and relax in one of those wonderful Pullmans.

THEN CAME THE depression days and fares were cut so low that you could hardly afford not to ride the Pullman. A friend and I teamed on reserving a lower berth. We giggled worse than a couple of girls as we went through all sorts of contortions of trying to disrobe in the berth, stacking stuff in the little hammock and on the foot board. My but it was wonderful to feel those sheets and the warmth of those blankets while the muffled clickety-clack of the wheels filtered through a pillow. This was, I thought, real living—and it was.

MY NEXT GREAT adventure came when I got my first upper. That lower seemed like a ball park in comparison, but once ensconced the feeling of well being was the same except for a sense of captivity. You could slide out of the berth, but always it took the porter's little stool to get you back. Once I rode through the edge of the Rockies in an upper while the engineer tried to make up several hours of lost time. My heart wasn't in the highlands, but my stomach was.

ONCE, ONLY ONCE, we acquired a drawing room, and this was the ultimate. Here was privacy, comfort and room to maneuver. Carriers put on roomettes to meet the needs of singles wanting these same qualities, and this was almost as good. It took a few trips to master the mysteries of folding lavoratories, hideaway toilets, etc., and the secure latching of the let-down bed. I couldn't get one to hold fast on one trip, and I spent the night with a sense of sleeping on a diving board.

THERE WERE a legion of stories about Pullman passengers. I remember of one man telling of a riotous weekend in Juarez and dim memory of getting aboard his Pullman. Thoroughly anaesthetized, he slept well into the next morning, finally sticking his head out of the curtains to find every other berth made up. He was marooned in an island and looking like Old Nick himself. He took the pledge after that.

THERE IS NO feeling, however, quite like rolling out of your comfortable berth, rested and relaxed, getting a good shave, and then strolling casually into the diner for a piping breakfast and that superlative coffee. The only pleasure to top it is to be a college boy and smuggle out one of those signs which reads: "Quiet is requested for those who have retired." What a trophy that made for the dormitory wall!

That Red (Ah Ha!) Cabbage

There has never been a moment when I wasn't ready, with fool-hardiness aforethought, to fight City Hall, the best two falls out of three and never mind the odds.

Combat ready as I am in the good fight against billboards, lettuce in sandwiches, catsup on French-fried potatoes and other marks of the beast, nonetheless I do feel that my life will be even more rugged in the future since Madison Avenue has thrown down the gauntlet.

THE RED CABBAGE combine, a sinister group of farm interests, has just hired an advertising agency to con the American people into believing that red cabbage is an edible vegetable. Edible, that is, by human beings.

It is true that in one or two of its cooked forms, particularly when teamed with apples or other neutralizing agents that kill its primary flavor, red cabbage can be eaten, but just barely. Like the eggplant, another spurious vegetable, it is better when cooked with a lot of expensive ingredients that completely conceal the original taste.

THE FINEST RECIPE for red cabbage in my experience is in an old 19th Century cook book that says: 'Take a red cabbage, walk to the barn and feed it to the nearest cow, if you don't mind how the milk tastes later."

If there are those in the audience who want to take a red cabbage and go to the trouble of camouflaging it with chestnuts, white wine, seedless raisins and apples, well and good. I must feel for them the same tolerance as for those misguided persons who live under the misapprehension that Brussels sprouts are fit for human consumption.

HOWEVER, it is my conviction that millions of Americans are awaiting a champion who will join the fight to keep raw red cabbage out of salads. Within the past decade, raw red cabbage has been slyly sneaked into the cabbage bowl from coast to coast.

It has come to pass, in many a restaurant, that the mixed green salad is now half red cabbage, a serious situation that flatly contradicts the name of the salad in the first place.

ONE REASON the three - hour - for - luncheon club has grown with such rapidity throughout the nation is not the Business Man's Blue Plate Martini Special but red cabbage in the salad. It is estimated that the man-hours lost in picking red cabbage out of mixed green salad in the past 10 years would have sent a man to the moon and back, built a more perfect Union and rid the country of crab grass.

Go into any restaurant. Study the diners. And you will discover that this nation is not drinking itself under the table, but working its fingers to the bone trying to separate the red cabbage from the chicory. That fact accounts for men who return to the office after luncheon too exhausted to do more than flip paper clips into the wastebasket.

TAKE RED CABBAGE out of the green salads of America, and this country will regain the time and strength to get the economy off dead center and start moving again. As a nation, we cannot expect to rise to the heights while our men and women must expend their energies extracting from a green salad the red cabbage that shouldn't be there in the first place.

Time is money, and who knows but this red cabbage infiltration may be a subtle Communist plot to squander our substance in futility?

Americans, arise! Write your Congressman, demanding legislation prohibiting red cabbage in green salads. You have only your indigestion to lose.

Surgery A La Mode

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Under blue-bulbed lighting from National Geographic cameras in the gallery—an unprecedented procedure—the Senate looked more like a medical school surgery room than the famous legislative chamber of unvarying ritual and firm traditions. The roll call on the Nuclear Treaty was over in something under ten minutes by the clock which faces the Press Gallery and the presiding officer.

WITH A FULL attendance of distinguished and curious visitors, with only one ailing Senator not answering his name, with solemnity and an almost visible shrug of fatalism, the 88th Senate of the United States ratified the agreement for partial nuclear disarmament by the deceptive score of 80 to 19. There was no way in the count to register the reluctance and misgivings of close to 20 Senators who voted in the affirmative. But the records of the hearings before three combined Senate committees, and the Congressional Record of 12 days in debate, will be there for the historians to ponder.

THE ANALOGY to the operating room holds good. The Senate was like a respected old surgeon who had been asked to perform a fashionable appendectomy upon a wealthy society lady who wanted to keep up with the times. The surgeon saw no need for the operation. He didn't expect that it would improve the health or lengthen the life of the would-be patient. He wasn't impressed to read in the papers that close to 100 beldames and debutantes from other lands had voluntarily gone under the knife. He looked upon surgery a la mode as a form of tribal tattooing. Everybody, y'know, was wearing abdominal scars this season.

THE OLD SURGEON demurred, but he let himself be persuaded against his will. The lady's personal physician had referred the case, asking the surgeon's pro forma consent but not his advice. The lady was enjoying the personal dramatics of it all. The best people in town, it seemed, anticipated the event, assumed that it would take place and applauded its approaching consummation. The patient would feel no pain. She would be under expert hands. She would emerge with a mark that would make her a member of the jet set—or something. Henceforth, she could hold up her head among her international peers and could toss her chin in defiant superiority at the unspeakable French and the uncouth Chinese who were holdouts.

THE OLD SURGEON — the Upper Body, as called by some—tried to duck the responsibility. He got Dr. Teller to advise against the operation. He got General Schriever and General Power to disapprove it in toto. He got General LeMay to disapprove it in part. He got Senator Stennis to release an adverse report by the Preparedness Subcommittee. He got Senator Russell to add a "preamble" which stated, in effect, "this time—but never again." He got Sen. Goldwater, whom Columnist Walter Lippmann had just called an "ambitious politician," to say that he'd oppose the treaty even if it meant the "political suicide" of his career.

THE SURGEON — that is, the Senate —ringed himself with one reason after another against doing this thing—but then did it, anyhow, under duress.

It was a neat incision on the body politic. A small extraction of sovereignty and security. There was no pain. It was all over in less than six hundred seconds that will never come again.

Vacation In Bay

ALAMEDA, Calif. (AP)—A family started a vacation cruise to Hawaii—and sailed to nowhere.

Hank Simonsen, a Walnut Creek businessman, piloted his 55-foot vessel out the Golden Gate with his wife and their children.

A huge swell loosened four 50-gallon gasoline drums, and one rolled overboard.

After the deck damage was repaired, there were troubles with the electrical logging instruments and the binnacle.

With vacation time gone, the family returned home.

Connally, Oilmen To Ask Tighter Control On Imports

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Gov. John Connally and Texas independent operators plan separate appeals to Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall for tighter oil import controls.

Connally was leaving for Washington today to tell Udall about what he described as urgent need for stabilization of imports.

E. Bruce Street, new president of the Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Owners Association, also has been asked to confer with Udall, whose department administers the mandatory program to control oil imports.

A resolution adopted by the association's executive committee Tuesday asked Street to discuss with the secretary a hearing to determine whether the program is meeting its objectives.

Street told the trade group earlier that stabilization of imports will be his No. 1 goal.

Texas oil has lost markets to other states and to natural gas but stabilization of imports would strengthen the lagging economy of the state's petroleum industry, Connally said at the same gathering.

"I do not know whether we can get Secretary Udall to agree with us entirely but I am sure we are going to get his personal attention and he will hear our story," Connally said.

Before adjourning Tuesday, TIPRO delegates authorized the drafting of legislation to require the pooling of small tract oil and gas leases for operational purposes.

This means two or more such proposals possibly will go before the Texas Legislature in 1967. A similar bill is being drafted by a group of major and independent operators, the State-wide Committee on Equitable Development of Texas Oil and Gas Resources.

TIGHT PANTS FOIL HOLDUP

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — A pair of too-tight pants foiled an attempted holdup.

Ethel Lambouths told police a bearded man walked into the variety store where she clerks Tuesday and asked about an article in the window.

As she turned her back, the man said, "Don't turn around." Mrs. Lambouths whirled in surprise and saw the man fumbling with his pants pocket, apparently trying to draw out a gun.

Mrs. Lambouths hustled him out the door.

Fischers Look Forward To Bringing Quints Home

ABERDEEN, S.D (AP) — The Andrew Fischer family is looking forward to bringing the famed quintuplets home in the near future, their family doctor says.

Dr. James Berbos, who delivered the premature babies on Sept. 14, said Tuesday night he expects the four girls and a boy to leave St. Luke's hospital one at a time as their weights improve.

The doctor said premature infants usually are released from the hospital when they reach 5½ pounds. This would mean, he indicated, that James Andrew, the only boy, would be the first to join his four other sisters and a brother in the nine-room rural home the Fischers occupy.

James Andrew weighed in Sunday at 4 pounds, 9 ounces, a gain of 12 ounces in nine days. His four sisters all weigh less but are reported thriving.

Yarborough Invited

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., said Tuesday he has accepted a White House invitation to accompany President Kennedy on a trip to Texas late in November.

KC Too Tight For Hoodlums, Says Its Chief

KANSAS CITY (AP)— A policeman in Texas says Kansas City gangsters are commuting there to commit crimes. Kansas City's chief of police retorts: That's because they're frustrated in Kansas City.

Detective Capt. H. V. Hickman of Houston started the debate in a speech at Fort Worth.

Said Hickman: Kansas City hoodlums have chartered planes for their forays, rented cars for holdups and returned home by plane.

Kansas City Chief Clarence Kelley felt obliged to reply. He said: "For many years we have been aware of the fact Kansas City has a number of thieves who apparently have no visible source of income other than their stealing operations. . . .

"These suspects are, to a great extent, discouraged from committing crimes in Kansas City for fear of detection. On occasion they leave town, and when we learn of their destination we advise the area to be visited."

Hickman said he considered Kansas City hoods responsible for every big cash loss in Houston since 1960.

Said Kelley:

"We are interested in catching crooks, no matter where they might be.

"No request for information about Kansas City hoodlums has come to us from Houston for at least the past 18 months.

"Perhaps some of our unsavory characters have gone to Texas cities to commit crimes. We feel they undoubtedly go somewhere."

Estes House Mine—Lawyer

EL PASO (AP) — Jack Bryant, Abilene lawyer, says he owns the $50,000 home in which Billie Sol Estes and his family now live.

Bryant testified in bankruptcy court Tuesday that Estes, free under bond while he appeals convictions on fraud and swindling charges, leases the dwelling in Abilene from him.

The lawyer said an unidentified Negro handed him a $5,000 cash fee at about the same time Bryant was making a $5,000 down payment on the Abilene house. Estes and his family moved there from Pecos in August.

Bryant and Estes were summoned here for questioning about how Estes, since he has been adjudged bankrupt, was able to take over a $50,000 home. Estes did not testify.

Bryant said he purchased the place from Horace Wooten, Abilene real estate man, at Estes' suggestion after Wooten would not accept a note from Estes. He said Estes is expected to pay $870 a month to the former owner and $350 a month rent for five years.

This Apple Tree Growing Pennies

OLATHE, Kan. (AP)—Just try telling Mrs. William Mikel that money doesn't grow on trees.

Mrs. Mikel took the apple to the office of the Olathe Daily News, where staff members cut open the rest of the apple and found a second penny.

Pickle Makes Race Official

AUSTIN (AP)—J. J. Pickle made it official Monday by paying his $500 filing fee as a candidate for Congress from the 10th District in a special election Nov. 9.

The other announced candidate, state Rep. Jack Ritter Jr., has not paid his fee.

The seat is being vacated by Rep. Homer Thornberry, D-Tex. He has resigned, effective Dec. 20, to become federal judge in El Paso.

Coin Machine Sales Taxable, Court Says

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Supreme Court ruled today that vending machine operators selling items costing less than 25 cents must pay the state sales tax on the money they make.

The decision, which two justices disagreed with, means the state treasury keeps about $16 million in revenue collected from the tax.

The court held that the state can collect the 2 per cent tax on sales of less than 25 cents even though the purchaser gets the items tax-free.

Four vending machine companies brought the suit. They contended they should not have to pay tax on the items which they can't collect a tax.

The high court opinion reversed decisions by two lower courts.

The companies are required to "absorb the tax only because they have elected to sell items at a retail price less than the price provided for collectibility from the consumer," the opinion said.

Justices Clyde Smith and Joe Greenhill disagreed with the decision, saying the court was not following all of the language in the sales tax law, but singling out one provision providing for tax to be paid on gross receipts.

The tax law says the state will collect the tax on gross receipts of retailers, but it also sets up a bracket system of collection where the first tax is a penny on a 25-cent sale.

Under the bracket system, for each additional 50 cents after 25 cents, another penny tax is added.

The state argued that the bracket system based on trial and error of other states, works on the law of averages. Where on some items a seller will collect more than 2 per cent tax, but on the others he will collect less, with it averaging out to about 2 per cent.

The last legislature amended the 1961 tax to make it clear that the tax is on gross receipts.

The lawmakers, however, exempted vending machines, newspapers, and merchants who have a majority of sales of less than 25 cents.

Rebels Manning Cannon In Algeria Civil Revolt

ALGIERS (AP)—Berber mutineers manned cannon on Algerian mountain ridges today, vowing to defy President Ahmed Ben Bella even at the cost of civil war. Ben Bella forces announced plans to arm vigilante committees to fight, if necessary with loyal Army troops.

The announcement was made by Hadj Ben Alla, chief organizer of Ben Bella's ruling Front of National Liberation (FLN).

"The vigilante committees will safeguard the revolution and fight against counterrevolution," Ben Alla said.

"If necessary they can fight alongside our Djounouds (soldiers)," Ben Alla said. "They will be formed in every town, every village."

Meanwhile, government troops threw a ring of roadblocks around the dissident Kabylie area in an effort to isolate the rebels.

Col. Mohand ou el Hadj, military commander of the anti-Ben Bella uprising, told newsmen he would like to avoid a clash but would not hesitate to fire if fired on.

Little Interest In CD Course

Only a handful of citizens outside the teaching profession showed up Tuesday for the first of six training sessions in survival of nuclear attack or natural disaster, Sebron B. Williams, assistant superintendent of the Big Spring Independent School District, said today.

All 452 school employes are attending the classes and a separate section was originally slated to take care of members of the public who desired the instruction, but the lack of interest has caused cancellation of that class. The few who showed up Tuesday were incorporated into classes being held for school personnel at the various schools.

The school is conducting the class under the sponsorship of the Texas Education Agency and the Department of Civil Defense. Teachers, all of whom have had special training as Civil Defense instructors, are heading the classes.

Classes will be held from 4-6 p.m. at the various schools, except Kentwood, Oct. 3, 8, 10, 15 and 17. They consist of 30 minutes of regular classroom instruction, one hour of instruction via television originating in Lubbock and another 30 minutes of classroom instruction. On Oct. 15 the TV portion will originate in Big Spring.

Tuesday's class took up the need for Civil Defense and effects of nuclear weapons. Thursday, the group will study nuclear radiation and defense against it.

Dominican's New Leaders Plea For U.S. Acceptance

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Leaders in the Dominican Republic say the country will be bankrupt in three months if the United States and other American nations do not accept the regime that ousted President Juan Bosch.

"From a psychological point of view, maybe we'll last only one month," a high-level government official said in an interview. "Public opinion will deterioriate if we fail to get diplomatic recognition and you might see an uprising inside 30 days. Then we'd get a military dictatorship or a Communist takeover."

Officials in the provisional government, businessmen and foreign diplomats, agree that the Dominican future rests in U.S. hands. No one consented to be quoted by name.

INVITED BACK

Dr. Jose Antonio Bonilla Atiles, ambassador-designate to the United States, flew to Washington on Tuesday in an attempt to get the Dominican Republic invited back into the family of Western Hemisphere nations and win restoration of $50 million a year in U.S. aid.

Government and business leaders attributed the dismal outlook primarily to the cutoff of substantial private investment funds and U.S. aid programs after the military coup a week ago.

They cited these other factors: The government has barely enough money to keep it running until Dec. 31.

Unemployment in a labor force of about 450,000 has roughly doubled in the last year and stands at 30 per cent. Tourist traffic dropped sharply after the coup.

The military force and national police are a heavy drain on the economy. A reduction of the men in uniform would mean greater unemployment.

INCENTIVE LOW

Dr. Warren Bilkey, an economist on leave from the University of Notre Dame while working as an adviser to the Dominican government, said an investment incentive law is sorely needed.

Dominican experts trace the dire financial situation to the Trujillo dictatorship. But they say the situation became worse during Bosch's seven-month rule.

"Bosch surrounded himself with incompetents," said an auto dealer.

A businessman said Angel Miolan, president of Bosch's Dominican Revolutionary party and director of the big sugar-mill complex at Haina, "sent a bunch of incompetents to Haina and they nearly ruined our sugar industry."

Sugar is the top Dominican industry.

Miolan and two other leaders of the ousted Bosch regime arrived in Miami, Fla., Tuesday, vowing to return to power.

Civilian observers are keeping a close eye on Elias Wessin y Wessin, regarded as the country's most powerful military man.

Wessin, a colonel who was promoted to brigadier general a day after the coup, said he is interested solely in the welfare of his country and in fighting communism.

Bosch's Dominican party is agitating for a general strike. University students with a vociferous group of leftists are believed capable of causing trouble at any time.

Bosch flew to San Juan, Puerto Rico, from Guadeloupe in the French West Indies Tuesday night. Seven members of his cabinet accompanied him into exile.

Bosch said his ouster was "a tragic experience for Latin America."

POSSIBLE DEALS

Rusk, Gromyko To Talk East-West Issues Tonight

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Secretary of State Dean Rusk talks over possible deals with Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko tonight in the only strictly U.S.-Soviet meeting scheduled in current East-West discussions.

The dinner meeting at the headquarters of the Soviet U.N. mission gave Rusk his first opportunity here to raise a host of Washington-Moscow issues, including the presence of Soviet troops in Cuba.

Rusk also was expected to inquire into (1) a variety of possible Soviet - American accords, ranging from trade to space cooperation, and (2) the Soviet position on disarmament and political questions posed in the wake of the limited nuclear test-ban treaty.

British Foreign Secretary Lord Home conducted the West's first deep probe into the second group of questions in a two-hour lunch at Gromyko's quarters Tuesday.

British sources said neither side gave any ground, though the atmosphere was cordial and Gromyko seemed to want to continue East-West contacts.

Gromyko was said to have restated Soviet proposals for a nonaggression pact, observer posts to guard against surprise attack, a reduction of forces in Germany, a ban on atomic weapons in central Europe and cutbacks in defense budgets.

Lord Home was reported to have presented familiar Western positions on these questions. On Berlin, the two were as far apart as usual.

Rusk, Home and Gromyko are scheduled for a second and final three-man parley Thursday night before Home leaves the U.N. General Assembly session. Gromyko is slated to visit Washington later.

Request For Zone Change Is Approved

The zoning and planning commission Tuesday approved a request by Tom and Garner McAdams for a zone change from 1F-2 (single family) to R (retail).

Property affected is located at the southwest and southeast corner of Marcy Drive and Muleshoe Lane. The southwest corner is a three and one-half acre tract; the southeast corner is a two and one-half acre tract.

The McAdams were represented at the meeting by an attorney, and they also spoke on their own behalf. Omar Jones, owner of the adjoining property, told the commission he favored the change.

Points brought out by those requesting the change: (1) property on both sides of the affected property is zoned for commercial business; and, (2) there are no specific plans for development of the property.

Commissioners, in accordance with a new city ordinance setting terms of the members, drew lots to decide the lengths of the various terms.

Terms now are: Horace Reagan, chairman, five years; Shelby Read, 5; Brown Rogers and George Elliott, 4; J. W. Little and Dewey Martin, 3; J. D. Jones and Joe Jackson, 2; and Wendal Parks, 1.

A recommendation that the chairman vote only in the event of ties also was approved.

Burk Submits Low Bid On Fire Stations

Leon Burk Construction Company, San Angelo, submitted the apparent low bid of $79,102 Tuesday as bids for the construction of two new fire stations in Big Spring were opened and tabulated. The bids will be considered by city commissioners at 7 p.m. Tuesday at City Hall.

The San Angelo firm's bid was only $218 lower than a bid of $79,320 submitted by E. D. Snoddy Construction Company, Midland.

Some $170,000 is available to the city for constructing and equipping the two new fire stations, according to Larry Crow, city manager.

The last fire station built in Big Spring — at NE 8th and Main Streets — cost $41,000 and was completed in November, 1956. The station at 11th and Birdwell was completed in July of the same year at a cost of $53,000.

Other bids tabulated Tuesday were: R. E. Collier, $86,958; Cecil McDonald, $84,930; Suggs Construction Co., $83,178; T. E. Shelburne & Son of Snyder, $80,885; Ray Dunlap, $79,820; J. W. Little, $79,543, and J. D. Jones, $79,524.

RAMBLER AMERICAN
Trim lines for sporty look

RAMBLER CLASSIC
Two-door hardtop new this year

New Rambler Line At McDonald Motor

American Motors announced new and broadened 1964 Rambler Classic, Ambassador and American lines.

Styling refinements, new hardtop models and new convenience options are prominent among the advances in both the Classic line and the Ambassador luxury line.

With the company's lowest-priced Rambler, the drastically changed 1964 American, the company has now introduced three distinct lines of 1964 compact cars that completely span the market for the popular car type.

Thomas A. Coupe, vice president of automotive sales, said:

"The compacts definitely emerged with full stature during the past model year and now offer the motorist the things he can get in other cars, plus lower relative price and the special advantages of trim design.

COMPACT APPEAL

"The extension and broadening of compact appeal for 1964 confirms the rising popularity of these cars. We expect their sales volume to be boosted by the newest Ramblers as well as by the growing influence of the compact idea throughout the industry."

The 1964 Classics, Ambassadors and Americans go on display at McDonald Motor Co., 206 Johnson, Thursday.

"The 1964 Ambassador 990-H hardtop is the most luxurious car ever offered by American Motors," Coupe stated. "Its smart, sports-type styling will appeal to all age groups, and its performance is comparable to the best."

The 990-H includes as standard equipment a 270 horsepower V-8 engine, front and simulated rear bucket seats with folding center arm rests, a floor console between the front seats, chrome ceiling bows, and many luxury appointments associated with the prestige car field.

The company's top-selling Classic line boasts a new luxury two-door hardtop in the 770 series, available as a Six or V-8. The new hardtops feature a "fastback" roof which flows at a rakish angle into the body. Hardtops are 1.2 inches lower than sedan models.

A new optional feature on the Ambassador 990 is a bucket seat combination with a special between-seat cushion which permits a third person in the front. This combination also has a folding armrest for added comfort of the driver and passenger. A console replaces the center cushion if desired.

Classic interiors have been newly styled for greater luxury and both wide and slim bucket seats with floor consoles are offered.

Both the Classic and Ambassador feature new grilles which impart a more massive appearance. The grille design is of spaced bars on a horizontal plane.

The Ambassador line is concentrated in 990 four-door sedans, five-door two-seat station wagons, two-door hardtops and the 990-H two-door hardtop. An optional third seat is available for the station wagons.

Similar body styles are available in the Rambler Classic line, plus two-door sedans. Each body style is available as a 550, 660 or 770. The new two-door Classic hardtop is available only as a 770.

The standard Ambassador engine on all models except the 270-horsepower 990-H hardtop is a 250-horsepower V-8. The 270-horsepower engine is optional on other Ambassador models.

The standard Classic six-cylinder engine develops 127 horsepower, with a 138 - horsepower option available. The cast iron block is standard with an aluminum block engine optional.

The Classic V-8 engine which became a popular option in the 1963 models continues to be offered in 1964. It is rated at 198-horsepower with a displacement of 287 cubic inches. This option includes a V-8 drive-line and other heavier mechanical components.

The 1964 Rambler American is wholly transformed in appearance, with its first complete body change since the series was introduced in 1950. Its overall length has been increased from 173 to 177 inches, with all of the added inches going into greater passenger comfort and more usable space and none into overhanging sheet metal.

New American features include a new body of advanced single-unit construction; curved glass side windows; a seven - fold increase in galvanized metal for greater rust resistance; new front suspension; 33,000 mile or three year lubrication intervals; new Power-Guard "24" battery with intercell construction for quicker starting and longer life, and many other features to improve operating convenience, durability and comfort.

THE NEW LOOK

Styling of the American is all-new with a longer, lower silhouette. Actual length has been increased only 4.2 inches, but that increase, along with a slight reduction in height and width, gives the appearance of much greater length. Trim, clean-cut lines provide a youthful, sporty look.

A modified "step-down" floor design permitted an over-all reduction in height ranging from 1½ inches on sedans to 3 inches on convertibles and at the same time improved interior headroom.

Fourteen - inch tires are used to compliment the low - profile styling. Fifteen - inch tires are optional.

MODELS AND COLORS

The 1964 American is offered in 10 models.

American 220 and 330 models include two and four-door sedans and four-door station wagons; 440 models include two-door convertibles and hardtops and four-door sedans, and the 440-H is a two-door hardtop.

Two-door station wagons and the 440 two-door sedan and four-door station wagon have been discontinued.

Eleven new colors are among the 14 baked - enamel finishes which are standard for all Americans. In addition, a total of 42 two-tone color combinations are offered as an option.

Three six-cylinder engines and six transmissions are available on 1964 Americans.

An L-head engine which develops 90 horsepower is standard on the 220 and 330 models. A 125-horsepower overhead valve engine is standard on the 440 models and optional on the 220 and 330 models. The 440-H hardtop has a standard 138-horsepower overhead valve engine which is optional on all other models.

Communists Patiently Wait For Deterioration In Italy

ROME (AP)—Italy is traveling a rocky road, both politically and economically. A resurgent Communist party is waiting patiently on the sidelines to take advantage of the situation.

For the present the party and its experienced leaders seem content to watch deteriorating conditions and save their big guns—strikes and riots—for the future.

With summer vacations over, the so-called stopgap government of Premier Giuseppe Leone has announced a semi-austerity program providing for cutbacks in government spending, reduction of imports, higher taxes on luxury items and other measures.

Said Leone in a recent speech: "We do not deny, or ignore, that current problems are heavy and serious." He went on to exhort Italians not to lose faith in the government or the economy.

LEFT IN TURMOIL

Italian politics was left in a turmoil by the 14-month, left-leaning government of Amintore Fanfani. The government was defeated last April in an election in which the Communists made an astonishing showing. The Reds polled 25 per cent of the vote.

Fanfani's Christian Democrats, who have governed Italy since World War II and once could count on half the voters, polled only 38 per cent. The rest of the ballots were split among six other parties.

During the same 14 months Italy's economic boom began to falter. Prices have been spiraling upward for months.

Some Italians, and foreign observers, blame circumstances as much as Fanfani for these price rises and other problems. Full employment; for the first time in Italy's history, and general prosperity have had inflationary effects.

RECENT SPEECH

Whatever the cause, politicians have taken little notice until Leone's recent speech.

Instead they have been debating the merits and demerits of Fanfani's experimental "opening to the left," the ideological formula under which he ran the government with the support of the country's bright pink Socialist party.

The formula in general and Fanfani's nationalization of the power industry in particular are widely blamed both for inflation and for a stock market dive that cut values of Italian stocks by 37 per cent since Fanfani took office.

Shares of Montecantini Chemicals and Pirelli Rubber, two of Italy's major industrial complexes, lost half their values in the period. The stock of Olivetti, manufacturers of business machines, lost 74 per cent of its paper value.

This has been going on during the same period in which U.S. stocks have reached record highs.

COST OF LIVING

Other signs of the country's growing economic plight:

—A steady rise in the cost of living index.

—A Flight of investment capital. Nobody has figures on this, but businessmen agree that cautious investors, both foreign and Italian, have been shifting capital out of the country.

—Budget Minister Giuseppe Medici announced recently that Italy's balance of payments deficit reached 454 billion lire—$750 million—in 1963's first seven months. Tourism will help offset this deficit, but there are signs this is beginning to slack off as a result of high prices.

The Leone government was formed as a post-election stopgap to handle routine business until various parties, particularly the Christian Democrats and Socialists, could settle internal disputes and form some sort of working coalition.

Five months after the elections, the internal disputes are no nearer solution and efforts to resolve them are exhausting politicians who should be attending to national rather than party problems.

The major exception is the Communist party. It stands solidly behind veteran Palmiro Togliatti, undivided by the Chinese-Soviet feud, and ready to make the most of the growing crisis.

1,000-Year-Old Body Unearthed

CODY, Wyo. (AP)—The well-preserved body of a man thought to be more than 1,000 years old has been found by scientists in a cave near Cody, in northwestern Wyoming.

Dr. Harold McCracken, director of the Buffalo Bill Historical Center here, said the mummified body was wrapped in a tanned skin of a mountain sheep. He estimated the man lived about 678, more than eight centuries before Columbus landed in America.

Cattle Have Better Buses, Says Prober

SALINAS, Calif. (AP) — "The average labor bus is one degree less safe than those used for the transportation of sheep and cattle," in the opinion of Democratic state assemblyman Edward Gaffney of San Francisco.

Gaffney's interim subcommittee on industrial safety concluded a two-day hearing Tuesday at Salinas, near the place where 32 Mexican farm workers died as a result of the railroad crossing collision Sept. 17 when a freight train plowed into a converted truck being used as a bus.

"I'm not seeking comfort for these men," Gaffney said. "I want safety. I want them to be able to look out and yell to the driver like school children can."

The converted truck had rows of parallel benches on the bed.

Frequent Runner Takes Off Again

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — City Councilman Hugh Tudor is running for mayor—again—and he says it probably will be his last race, win or lose.

This not only is Tudor's fifth attempt to win the mayor's office, it also is his 25th campaign for public office—all the way up to Congress. He ran for City Council 10 times before he finally was successful last year. That was the first time he ever won an election.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Ferenc Nagy, the premier who was kicked out of Hungary by the Communists in 1947, says the West should try and get along with the country's Red government.

Nagy, in Pittsburgh to speak at Carnegie Institute of Technology, told newsmen he would continue his efforts to keep the issue of Hungarian freedom before the world.

CADILLAC FOR 1964
Series 62, four-window sedan

McEwen To Show New Cadillac Line

New standards of performance, comfort and convenience are coupled with unmistakable Cadillac styling in the 11 models that make up the 1964 line up.

The performance gains result from a new engine and a new transmission, while the comfort and convenience story for 1964 is highlighted by the first fully automatic year around conditioning system ever offered in an automobile.

The new Cadillac line will be on display in Big Spring at McEwen Motor Co., 403 Scurry, beginning Thursday.

The 11 models, one less than last year, are realigned into three series: three models are in the Sixty-Two series; four models, including the convertible, are in the de Ville series; and four models in the Fleetwood series. The short-deck sedan is discontinued.

Overall length is increased one-half inch to 223.5 inches on nine models and 243.8 inches on the Seventy-Five Sedan and Limousine. Other exterior and interior dimensions remain unchanged.

One high performance V-8 engine is standard in all models. Displacement is 429 cubic inches, a boost of 10 per cent, and horsepower is up from 325 to 340.

Two automatic transmissions are offered in 1964 — the Hydra-Matic and the new Turbo Hydra-Matic.

The Hydra-Matic is modified to adapt to the high performance engine and is offered in the Sixty-Two series and the Seventy-Five Sedan and Limousine.

The Turbo Hydra-Matic, introduced this year in the de Ville series, the Sixty Special Sedan and the Eldorado Convertible, is a Hydra-Matic transmission in which a torque converter replaces one of the geared ratios.

An industry first in the areas of comfort and convenience is Cadillac's new Comfort Control, a completely automatic heating and air conditioning system. The driver merely sets a dial thermostat on the instrument panel and Comfort Control does the rest, supplying cooled or warmed conditioned air at the temperature specified.

Front and rear styling changes reflect the appearance of greater size and breadth while the low profile, long and unbroken, is accented by lowered Cadillac tail fins.

A choice of 16 colors is available. And five glamour colors in the new high luster firemist paint are offered at no extra cost on the Eldorado Convertible, and as an extra - cost option on other models.

Inside the 1964 Cadillac 124 combinations of interiors are offered including a new perforated leather available at no extra cost in the Coupe de Ville, four-window Sedan de Ville and Sixty Special Sedan. Padded roofs are optional on the four-window Sedan de Ville and Seventy-Five Sedan and Limousine as well as the Coupe de Ville and Sixty Special Sedan.

An automatic headlamp and tail lamp control called Twilight Sentinel is a new option which includes a time delay action allowing the driver up to ninety seconds to get into the house before car lights turn off.

The automatic headlamp dimmer, relocated to the front fender from the instrument panel, a power window de-activator switch and seat belt retractors for outboard front seats round out the 1964 accessory group. Front belts become standard equipment on January 1, 1964.

WASHINGTON TODAY

House Passes Bill For Corregidor Memorial

WASHINGTON, (AP) — In the news from Washington:

CORREGIDOR MEMORIAL: The House has passed and sent to the Senate a bill authorizing expenditure of $1.5 million as the U.S. share in making the Philippine island of Corregidor a World War II memorial.

House approval Tuesday was by voice vote.

Under the bill, the Philippines would put up a similar amount and would maintain the memorial. The island was the scene of one of the opening battles in World War II.

DOMINICAN DEBATE: Three Democratic senators have demanded that the State Department permanently withhold recognition from the military junta that last week overthrew President Juan Bosch of the Dominican Republic.

The three, Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, Wayne Morse of Oregon and Ernest Gruening of Alaska, also urged withholding of military aid to the new regime.

A brief shouting match was set off when Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, entered the debate to question Morse's review of the situation.

Declaring that "we were quick to recognize the Castro regime in Cuba when it was proved Communist," Lausche asked where were protests then.

"The senator from Ohio doesn't know what he is talking about," said Morse, who added that he made speeches at the time denouncing Castro.

Earlier, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee decided to investigate Morse's claim he had reports that U.S. business interests in the Dominican Republic overthrew the Bosch regime.

TROOPS TO STAY: An authoritative source says the Kennedy administration has decided to leave the 3,500-man 3rd Armored Cavalry Regiment in Germany.

Plans to return the regiment were revealed several weeks ago as part of a plan to cut back U.S. troop levels in Germany to the number on duty before the 1961 Berlin crisis. Some 22,000 of the 40,000 extra troops sent to Europe at that time have been withdrawn.

Once-Poor Libya Now Rolling In Oil Money

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP)—The desert kingdom of Libya, once the Arab world's poor cousin, now has so much money it doesn't want to talk about it.

The official estimate of oil royalties this year, $64.4 million, is far short of the mark, financial sources say.

"Furthermore," one banker said, "the government has asked the oil companies to publish only official petroleum ministry figures."

The actual oil revenue, including taxes and other payments, will be $120 million or more, experts predict.

The government's reticence is understandable. It has an embarrassment of problems to accompany the riches.

The discovery of oil rudely pushed Libya's 1.2 million essentially illiterate people into an inhospitable world before they were even conscious of being a nation.

King Idriss I, a tribal and religious leader, gained independence for Libya in 1952, because he was acceptable to the otherwise divided provinces of Tripolitania, Cyrenaica and Fezzan which occupied 1,500 miles of Mediterranean coastline and an area twice-larger than France.

Supported by Western subsidies, mostly British, he ruled through a docile parliament and a series of prime ministers who intrigued to hold office and did little more.

Oil concessions were granted in 1955 without much thought—Italy had found nothing during its long occupation. Within two years the first big field was found and others followed.

The promised riches spurred the king to start construction of a new capital at Beida to replace the co-capitals of Tripoli and Beghazi. The project has absorbed $30 million, is ill-planned, is unpopular and is more or less typical of planning since.

Farmers and Bedouins poured to the cities so fast agricultural exports dropped 75 per cent in five years—to a skimpy $2.8 million yearly. Getting them back to the land, which must support most of Libya's people regardless of oil, is a difficult and unpopular chore which the government is handling gingerly.

In Tripoli oil-financed, Western-style housing is going up rapidly for government workers, Western oil employes and Libyans riding the boom. In shantytowns around the city 70,000 onetime desert people drink tea, skimp out a living and ponder Allah's ways.

"This is becoming a completely artificial country," one pessimist remarked. "A skilled worker can get three to four times what he's worth. The others think this is normal and won't work for less."

Efforts to channel oil income to meet these problems have been erratic. A 5-year economic plan has been three years in the making.

The only real political question is "what will happen when the king dies?" His official age is given as 73, but he is thought to be older.

He has appointed able, Sorbonne-trained Mohieddine Fekini, 40, as prime minister and is giving him more support than any predecessor enjoyed.

Fekini, a professor turned diplomat who was Libya's ambassador in Washington, is out to raise Libya's international reputation and obtain an efficient government at home. In six months he has pushed a revamped economic plan and arranged trade agreements with the Soviet Union and several satellites.

Fekini's recent trip to Algeria and Morocco was obviously designed to counter the influence of his eastern neighbor, Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser, the most popular Arab figure in Libya.

Nasser undoubtedly would like to bring Libya within his orbit. Aware, however, of the respect which King Idriss commands, Nasser has refrained from lumping him with other enemies such as King Hussein of Jordan.

Few believe that Nasser's restraint will continue beyond the lifespan of the king.

Both American oil companies with big stakes here—Oasis and Esso—have training programs to bring in as many Libyans as possible as quickly as possible. In time this may have a stabilizing effect, but for the present few people in Libya understand the complexities of oil.

The nominal successor to the king is his nephew, Crown Prince Hassan, 35, who has thus far stood in the king's shadow and shows no signs of gathering any personal following.

CAPT. STANLEY P. BALLOU

CWO CHARLES W. BURKS

Three Webb Officers Retire, 71 Years Accumulated Service

Three men who have accumulated more than 71 years of service with the United States Armed Forces Monday terminated their service careers at Webb Air Force Base.

Two of the men are native Texans. Maj. Earle W. Brokaw, base accounting and finance officer, who was born in Houston, ended his military career with 21 years of service. CWO Charles W. Burks, a native of Randolph before it became Randolph Field, retired with 26 years of duty. He was commander of the 420th Field Training Detachment.

The third officer to bring his career to an end Monday was Capt. Stanley P. Ballou, administrative officer of the Maintenance and Supply Group. He had more than 24 years of active duty.

Maj. Brokaw came to Webb in June, 1961 from Naha AFB, Okinawa as comptroller, a post he held for a year become becoming accounting and finance officer. The family has made Big Spring home and plans to remain here after he retires. Mrs. Brokaw teaches at Goliad Junior High.

Maj. Brokaw has spent seven years on overseas duty, serving in England, Hawaii, Korea and at Okinawa. He received his high school diploma at San Jacinto High in Houston in 1933 and graduated from the University of Houston in 1941. He has received the Distinguished Flying Cross Medal, the American Medal with seven Oak Leaf Clusters and a Commendation Ribbon.

A native of Mulberry, Fla., Capt. Ballou came to Webb in August, 1956 from Nouasseur, Morocco, where he was a detachment commander of the Eighth Air Postal Squadron. Big Spring is now the permanent home of the Ballous.

The captain completed high school in Watseka, Ill., in 1939, and entered the service in September of that year. He began his military career as an enlisted man, being discharged in June of 1951 at Chanute AFB, Ill., as a Master Sergeant with almost 12 years of service. The next day he was recalled with a commission and has served as an officer since.

Of all his military service, CWO Burks spent only three years overseas, a tour in Ramstein, Germany, from 1952 to 1955.

During his military career, he has received the Good Conduct Medal, the German Occupation Medal, the American Defense and the American Theater Medals.

He graduated from high school at the I.O.O.F. Home in Corsicana, and entered the service shortly afterward.

Jackie Arrives On Greek Visit

ATHENS (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy, wife of the U.S. president, arrived, today aboard a TWA jet airliner to begin a 15-day autumn vacation in Greece.

Her sister, Princess Lee Radziwill, awaited her at the airport with U.S. Ambassador Henry R. Labouisse.

Mrs. Kennedy and her sister kissed as the U.S. First Lady stepped from the plane ramp. Then they left in a U.S. embassy car for a 15-mile drive to Mrs. Kennedy's rented vacation villa at Cavouri on the Saronic Gulf.

A special berth was set up for Mrs Kennedy for the transatlantic flight. It was the first time TWA had provided a berth for a passenger on one of its superjets, which make the flight in about seven hours. Officials said special permission had to be obtained from the Federal Aviation Agency in Washington.

Secret Service men traveling with Mrs. Kennedy said she asked for oxygen on the trip. They said she was not ill, just very tired, and that the altitude had affected her.

She first gave signs of discomfort on the one hour and 25 minute flight from Rome to Athens. A stewardess said Mrs. Kennedy used only a small amount. Oxygen often is given to overcome fatigue.

Germany To Sell Wheat To Russia

BONN, Germany (AP) — West German firms will export about $18 million worth of wheat flour to the Soviet Union, well-informed sources said today, despite Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's open disapproval of helping Moscow out of its bread shortage.

The quantity is relatively small —250,000 tons, compared with the 6.8 million tons the Soviets have bought from Canada and the 1.8 million tons from Australia. The price is reported to be about $71 a ton, with delivery by March.

Discrimination 'Inventory' Ordered For Military Units

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department has ordered the armed services to take an exhaustive inventory of any racial discrimination in transportation, education, public accommodations, housing and other facets of life near military bases.

The Associated Press learned today that Assistant Secretary of Defense Norman Paul sent the order for an "off-base equal opportunity inventory" on Sept. 24. He set a Nov. 8 deadline for replies.

"The basic objective is to obtain necessary information for the formulation of future policy," the Pentagon said.

It declined to make public Paul's memorandum to the services on grounds it is an "official working paper."

INVENTORY FORM

However, the department did furnish a copy of a three-page inventory form to be filled out by each base command.

The form listed 17 separate major questions and topics Paul wants covered.

It was not said how base commanders would collect the material. Presumably, military personnel will be sent out to make on-the-spot checks in communities surrounding the bases.

This newest action in a series of Pentagon moves aimed at easing discrimination against Negro servicemen appeared likely to meet strong criticism from Southern members of Congress.

The questionnaire delves, among other things, into local customs and laws and local law enforcement questions.

Two of the instructions are phrased this way:

LOCAL CUSTOMS

1. "Briefly describe any local customs or laws which prevent or are enforced in a manner which discourage voluntary off-base association by white and Negro military personnel and their dependents when traveling in private automobiles, using public sidewalks or visiting each other's residences."

2. "Is the treatment accorded Negro military personnel by the local police in any way different from that accorded white military personnel? If so, specify."

Under public transportation heading, Paul told base commanders to:

—"Describe kind of commercial transportation service to base, whether or where integrated, whether bus service in town is integrated, whether seating policy for military personnel and their dependents differs from that applicable to other riders, plus other facts necessary to a full understanding of actual practices."

IN TERMINALS

— "Describe seating arrangement in bus, airline and railroad terminals, and where separate waiting rooms are maintained, actual practices followed with respect to (1) military groups and (2) individual military members and their dependents."

In exploring education around bases, the Pentagon directive asks commanders to describe facilities used by military personnel, indicating which are integrated.

Other questions:

"Are local educational institutions willing to conduct on-base integrated classes for service personnel?"

"Briefly describe the extent of integration in the public schools attended by dependent children. State whether those who live off base are subject to the same school assignment policies applicable to those living on base but attending off-base schools."

SCHOOL BUSES

"Do white and Negro military dependent children travel in separate school buses? Explain if the answer is affirmative."

Housing is covered in only one question:

"Do white and Negro personnel have equal opportunity for adequate housing off base? If not, give a brief description of the existing conditions."

Commanders were asked to describe segregation practices, if any affecting military personnel and their families in use of such publicly owned or controlled properties as parks, libraries, golf courses and tennis courts.

Similar information was asked in connection with private recreation facilities, such as theaters, bowling alleys and taverns.

A separate instruction covered restaurants, lunch counters, hotels and motels.

Big Money TV Show Is Folded

NEW YORK (AP) — The "100 Grand" television quiz show which offered a top prize of $100,000 in cash, has been canceled by the American Broadcasting Co. after three performances.

Executive Producer Robert Stivers said after the cancelation Tuesday:

"The public looked, they weren't interested and they voted no."

On the show, amateur experts in various fields pitted their knowledge against professional authorities.

During the three-week run—one of the shortest in television network history—"100 Grand" gave out $20,000 in cash and $5,550 in savings bonds. No contestant came near the top prize.

Sheriff Obliges Vociferous Visitor

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP) — When Donald R. Prince, 29, kept yelling through a barred window at prisoners of the county jail, Deputy Sheriff John Tomicich helped him out—or, rather, in.

He jailed Prince for the night.

'64 Jet-smooth Luxury CHEVROLET

'64 Chevrolet Impala Sport Sedan

Besides looks, ride and power - what's so special about it?

(it's so reasonably priced)

Kind of leaves the high-priced cars some explaining to do, wouldn't you say?

Long and luxurious—with a clean fresh-christened look that almost makes you feel somebody should be breaking a champagne bottle over its prow.

Richer roomy interiors with subtle new blendings of colors and fabrics. Like the ultra-soft vinyl upholstery in the new Impala Super Sport Series. And the foam-cushioned front and rear seats and door-to-door carpeting, now standard in all models including the Biscaynes.

A choice of seven engines, no less, with output all the way up (say when!) to 425 hp.*

And a choice of four quiet, smooth transmissions—ranging from automatic* to 4-speed Synchro-Mesh*—to go with them.

And with it all, the opulent feel of that Jet-smooth ride—something some of the expensive makes would dearly love to claim for themselves.

Matter of fact, the most important and noticeable difference between this beautiful new 1964 Chevrolet and the high-priced cars is the price itself.

Let your Chevrolet dealer show you how much luxury that reasonable Chevrolet price now buys.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

by Heloise Cruse

Dear Heloise:

Just how does one keep the little space on top of our kitchen cabinets clean? It's so high that I seldom see it. Recently I got on a cleaning jag and what a mess I found.

Fanatic

• • •

HELOISE

Dear "Don't be":

Never leave this shelf uncovered. Whether your cabinets are wooden or metal. Waxed paper is cheap! Once the shelf is clean, tear off a long sheet or two of the waxed paper and after "sprinkling" your cabinet with a bit of water so the paper will hold down and not slip or wetting the paper slightly . . . cover the shelf quickly.

I then sprinkle a few more drops of water and add a second sheet of waxed paper so that it will stick and the next time I am in that fanatical mood all I have to do is remove the top paper. One can also use the synthetic bags which come from the dry cleaners. They are free and adhere beautifully.

Sure gets dirty near the ceiling, eh?

Don't get upset. Join our coffee klatch. Save your energy for other things.

Love,
Heloise

• • •

Dear Heloise:

One of your top suggestions of the year was to put old blankets under the foam rubber cushions on our sofas, chairs, etc.

I had a chesterfield chair that was driving me crazy. This had been recovered with a foam rubber cushion. It never stayed in place. I was forever moving it, which took time and was awkward . . . Then the "top" suggestion came in about putting an old blanket under it, and it has been under the cushion ever since. It never slides any more.

Dear Heloise:

In my work, I must have clean and nice looking hands. After umpteen tries with different products, even scouring powder which has bleach, I finally tried your clear vinegar . . .

I poured pure vinegar on a wash cloth and rubbed my hands several times and then took the wash cloth and wiped them off good to see what I could accomplish, and do you know what?

All the stains came off! May I thank you for telling us about vinegar? I have used it and found it successful. After using the vinegar, I just wash my hands with soap and water and rinse them thoroughly.

Rose M. Scheffel

Dear Heloise:

I use our car brush (which attaches to our garden hose) to wash my windows and screens. It sure saves lots of time, washes the residue off thoroughly and makes a quick job of it. Try it!

Dear Heloise:

I use runny jellies and jams to baste my roast chicken, turkey and baked hams. It certainly is different and there is no waste at all. Really perks up the foul.

P. Takara

• • •

Dear Heloise:

Why don't they put thick catsup and thicker salad dressings in large-mouthed bottles so that we wives can take a spoon and dip in the bottle and remove just so much . . .

Mrs. S. M. C.

• • •

Dear Heloise:

I remove decals and transfers by cutting a piece of paper towel a little larger than the decal (or transfer), saturating it completely with vinegar and placing it over the decal. The vinegar will make the paper towel adhere to the surface.

Leave this on for a few hours. One will have to re-saturate the towel every 15 or 20 minutes . . . according to the type of decal or what it is adhered to . . .

Remove the vinegar paper and just peel the decal off. One might have to scrape around the edges with their fingernail to get it started. This works not only on cabinets but is just great for getting off those stubborn, sticky stickers on your automobile windshield!

Two Major Catastrophes Jar Khrushchev At Peak Of Power

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev, well along in his 70th year, finds himself today probably at the peak of his power and at the bottom of his luck.

Two major catastrophes in one year would mean the end of a chief executive in many another country.

He has seen his cherished Communist camp break in two, with the biggest population on the other side.

He is faced with perhaps the worst crop year in his Soviet Union since World War II, despite glowing promises that things were getting better and the outlook was secure.

CITIZENS TOLD

Soviet readers knew today how bad their wheat crop was. Khrushchev told them in a speech published five days after it was delivered.

For the first time, he told his people he had to buy 6.8 million tons of wheat from Canada and another 1.8 million tons from Australia. He didn't say how much it had cost in that Soviet commodity even more scarce than wheat — foreign money. But abroad it was calculated at more than $500 million, and probably nearer $700 million.

RAISE MONEY

Tons of Soviet gold have been dumped on the Western market to raise the money. Those details were not published here.

That the two crises have caused much head-shaking among the Soviet people can be surmised from the amount of press effort expended to defend the government's position.

Daily articles blame the Chinese for the break in the Communist camp. The shock is felt throughout the country. It traces back to a greater shock, the denunciation of Stalin. That shock is still felt here, and is still reflected in the press and in speeches by party leaders.

ALWAYS RIGHT

Out of destalinization grew the Chinese crisis that clearly has shaken the confidence of many a Soviet citizen who had been led to believe that Soviet Communist party leadership was always right. The Chinese have said it isn't all right, and these accusations have been published in the Soviet press because they could hardly be hidden any longer.

Then came the wheat crisis. Just how bad it is may not be known for some time. In his speech Khrushchev went to great pains to explain that it was dirty weather that did it—a bad winter, followed by a late spring and a dry summer.

BETTER LIFE

He told what remedies had been decided upon—a massive increase in fertilizer production and more money spent on irrigation. To Soviet citizens long waiting for more money to be spent on a better life, the revelation of a cruel crop shortage comes as a painful shock.

In addition to the grain that has to be bought, the premier said another three or four billion rubles must be spent building fertilizer plants during the next several years.

A report is going about that an increase in the price of bread may come next. In the Soviet Union bread is half of each meal. A price boost won't go down well.

Red Ink Common For Nations Today

EDITOR'S NOTE — The U.S. balance of payments deficit is unique in many respects. But Sam Dawson, AP business news analyst, in this third of five article on the problem, says that other nations can get into the same trouble, and have.

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP—You hear a lot today about red-ink bookkeeping in U.S. accounts with the rest of the world. And you ask why just the United States? Why aren't other nations also having deficit problems affecting their currency and their credit standings?

The answer is: Some nations do have balance of payments troubles, and have them bad; Other nations (like Britain) have them off and on; and most of the rest suffered after World War II even worse than the United States is today but have pulled from deficit to surplus as the United States slipped.

BIG AMBITIONS

Underdeveloped countries usually are dependent on loans and grants from others to balance their payments with the rest of the world. This is especially true of those with big ambitions — the ones who want to grow industrially at jet speed. Aiding them has helped push the United States further into the red.

Industrial countries like Britain have periodic payment problems when their exports slump or their consumer taste for imports gets too rich.

France, West Germany and other European countries went through rough years after the war. West Germany built up to her present affluence by austerity. France belatedly cured its inflationary sprees that caused the franc to be devalued more than once when the rest of the world lost confidence in it. Now a new inflation is starting and France is taking sharp corrective measures.

TRADE DEFICIT

Canada has a commercial trade deficit of $1.4 billion with the United States, largely offset by $1.2 billion a year in investments by Americans. It now is proposing to curb U.S. imports while protesting U.S. efforts to stem the investment outflow.

The unique thing about the U.S. deficit of payments today is that it isn't in any of the classic forms.

Usually deficits arise from imports topping exports (as in postwar Europe while it was importing all it could to build up its industrial facilities for domestic use and finally for the exports that make it prosperous).

But in the United States exports go right along topping imports.

Today the Yankee dollar, for all its problems, isn't shunned. It doesn't buy as much in goods and services as it once did. But most foreigners are willing to hold onto most of the dollars they get-up to a point. And it's that point American and other financial authorities worry about.

If the U.S. balance of payments says out of kilter too long and others get the idea the dollar might become shaky, most countries would switch from dollar reserves to demanding gold.

Tomorrow: Defenses of our gold we could take in a crisis.

The bidding:

Opening lead: Seven of ♠

South found himself virtually stampeded by his opponent into a slam contract in today's hand. Once there, however, he gave a very good account of himself.

When East barged into four spades over North's one-diamond bid, South found himself confronted with a most irksome as well as awkward predicament. There was just no bidding room left to him to conduct any sort of investigation. Not wishing to be talked out of what he considered his rightful heritage, he seized the bull by the horns and jumped to six clubs.

West opened the seven of spades which declarer won with the ace. North's heart holding was not exactly what South had hoped to find, and the one diamond sluff which was available did not offer much comfort, either. On the surface, it appeared that he must find the king of hearts favorably located in order to make his slam. Since it was not necessary to take the finesse immediately, declarer resolved to exhaust all other possibilities first.

The ten of clubs was led and overtaken by North's jack to draw trump. Next a small diamond was led from dummy in the hope that East might be caught unaware. No honor appeared, however, and South ruffed in his hand. The four of clubs was led over to the five and dummy's last spade was ruffed away.

The deuce of clubs was overtaken by the trey and a small heart was played. When East followed with the four, declarer covered with the six. West was obliged to win the trick with the nine of hearts. He saw that, if he came back with a diamond, it would provide South with a free finesse of dummy's queen. Rather than present his opponent with two discards, West returned a heart in the hope that his partner had an honor in the suit. South won the trick with the queen, cashed the ace, and trumped his last heart in dummy.

Observe that, had East been able to put up a high spot card when the heart was led from dummy, South would still have been able to try the finesse against the king as a final resort.

Penn State, Middies Favored In Contests

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The trouble in making the weekly college football selections is that not enough of the teams believe what they read. There were 14 such non-conformists last week but 40 others saw the light for a .741 average.

This week's picks:

Alabama over Vanderbilt: Joe Namath, Mike Fracchia & Co., should win this one while concentrating on the outcome of the World Series game.

Texas over Oklahoma State: The Longhorns want this one.

Northwestern over Illinois: Illinois is on the up-grade but so is Tom Myers, the Northwestern quarterback who already is regarded by many as the best in the land.

Navy over Michigan: Another game in which the quarterback may be the decisive factor. In this contest the person is Roger Staubach, the scrambling director of the Navy offense.

George Tech over Louisiana State: This could easily go the other way, especially because it is being played in the Tigers' lair.

Southern California over Michigan State: They moved this game from Saturday afternoon to Friday night so that there would be no conflict with the World Series game. The irate Trojans will move the Big Tenners just as easily.

Pittsburgh over California: Fred Mazurek is the answer to Chancellor Litchfield's suggestion to Coach Michelosen that the Panthers should play a more daring and entertaining type of football.

Mississippi over Houston: Without too much trouble.

Duke over Maryland: The game highlights the Tobacco Festival and the nation's television screens.

Penn State over Rice: Penn State has almost as much power and a lot more finesse than a year ago when it was the East's best.

Ohio State over Indiana: The Buckeye line is too potent.

Arkansas over Texas Christian: The point is that Arkansas lost by a point last weekend and will be out for revenge.

Missouri over Idaho: Almost a waltz.

Skipping over the others in a hurry:

Friday night

Boston College over Detroit, the Citadel over George Washington, Miami over Tulane.

Saturday

EAST: Colgate over Boston University, Princeton over Columbia, Cornell over Lehigh, Delaware over Gettysburg, Harvard over Rutgers, Dartmouth over Pennsylvania, Syracuse over Holy Cross, Villanova over Buffalo and Yale over Brown.

MIDWEST: Xavier (Ohio) over Cincinnati, Colorado over Kansas State, Minnesota over Army, Purdue over Notre Dame, Memphis State over Tulsa, Miami (Ohio) over Western Michigan.

SOUTHWEST: Air Force over Southern Methodist, Texas A&M over Texas Tech, New Mexico State over Texas Western, West Texas State over North Texas State.

Pressure Is Heavy On Series Players

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Pounds of extra World Series pressure weighed heavily on the shoulders of opening game pitchers Whitey Ford of New York and Sandy Koufax of Los Angeles today because of unusual importance attached to the first game of the 1963 postseason classic.

Most experts agree pitching will be more of a dominating factor in this Series than in any interleague October clash since World War II. They point to the comparatively light team batting averages, .252 for the Yankees to .251 for the Dodgers, and the presence of only three .300 hitters—Tommy Davis, Maury Wills and Mickey Mantle—in the line-ups.

A contributory factor is the determination of both managers to stick with three starting pitchers regardless of the length of the series. This means that should the series go seven games, as have all since 1955 except the 1959 and 1961 series, Ford and Koufax will probably face each other three times.

Thus the winner of the first Ford-Koufax duel — before some 70,000 at Yankee Stadium—would have a vast psychological as well as an actual edge.

The odds favored Ford at 6-5, with the Yankees a 7½-to-5 favorite to gain their seventh triumph in eight World Series meetings with the Dodgers. The perennial American League champions have a 20-7 record in Series play, compared to 2-8 for the Dodgers.

It was only the second World Series start for Koufax, 27, who dropped a heart-breaking 1-0 decision to the Chicago White Sox in 1959. Ford, on the other hand, was appearing in his 10th World Series, making his 20th start and pitching his seventh opener, all records. The veteran southpaw, seven years older than Koufax, was seeking his 11th Series victory.

Each went through spectacular 1963 seasons. Koufax won 25 of 30 decisions, including 11 shutouts and shattered his own National League strikeout record with 306. Ford won 24 while losing eight to bring his lifetime total to 199 victories.

Both clubs presented predominantly right - handed line-ups against the left-handed slants of Ford and Koufax.

The only southpaw swingers, aside from Ford, in the Yankee batting order, were shortstop Tony Kubek, first baseman Joe Pepitone and right fielder Roger Maris. Switch hitters Mickey Mantle and Tommy Tresh naturally batted right-handed.

At a late hour Tuesday night, Manager Walter Alston of the Dodgers had just about decided to keep Ken McMullen, the injured rookie third baseman, on the bench, playing Dick Tracewski at second and switching Jim Gilliam to third. McMullen pulled a hamstring muscle in his right leg last week.

"McMullen has improved a great deal," Alston said, "but I'd hate to play him in the opener and perhaps lose him for the rest of the Series."

Alston promoted Willie Davis, the hottest hitting Dodger in September, from seventh to third spot in the batting order, behind Maury Wills and Gilliam with Tommy Davis, the National League's leading hitter, in the cleanup spot.

Bill Skowron, the ex-Yankee, was at first base, batting sixth behind the right-handed hitting Frank Howard. He was followed by Tracewski, John Roseboro and Koufax.

The Yankees had the same lineup that played all season when Mantle and Maris were in there. Mickey batted fourth behind Tresh and in front of Maris. Kubek and Bobby Richardson batted one, two with Elston Howard, Pepitone, Clete Boyer and Ford comprising the bottom half of the order.

Mantle Slated For Surgery

NEW YORK (AP)—It's "fairly definite" that Mickey Mantle, the New York Yankees' $100,000-a-year outfielder who has undergone operations ranging from his toes to his tonsils, will be forced into still another rite after the World Series.

Official confirmation of the need for an operation on Mantle—for removal of loose cartilage in his left leg—came from Dr. Sidney Gaynor, only hours before the 31-year-old slugger was scheduled to lead the Yankees onto the field for the Series' opener against the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"I think the need for an operation is fairly definite," said Gaynor, the Yankees team physician. "The way the leg has acted this year, an operation is called for."

Asked if that meant an operation was an absolute necessity, Gaynor elaborated.

"It's a free country and nobody has to have an operation," he said, "but I think the leg bothered Mantle enough this year, so he shouldn't take any chances. He might not be able to play a full year on it, the way it is now."

Dr. Gaynor said that if Mantle underwent surgery immediately after the Series, he would have three months in which to recuperate before spring training and "we would expect him to be back in top physical condition by then."

Mantle, who has undergone a series of operations during an injury-plagued 13-year major league career, discussed the damaged leg in the Yankee dressing room before taking his final workout.

"If it doesn't get any better, it'll have to be operated on," admitted Mantle. "It's been getting stronger day by day, but as it stands now, we think it's going to be operated on."

Mantle's latest bout with the scalpel dates from a June 5 game in Baltimore when he crashed into the center field fence chasing a fly hit by Brooks Robinsin, caught his spikes in the wire fence and twisted his left foot as he fell.

A preliminary diagnosis revealed only a fractured foot, but later examinations showed the more serious torn cartilage. That has been largely responsible for Mantle's appearance in only 65 games this season.

Trojan Loss Couldn't Be Blamed On Damon Bame

NEW YORK (AP)—It was hotter than blazes in Memorial Coliseum at Los Angeles last Saturday where Oklahoma regained national prominence in college football by upsetting Southern California 17-12.

But the 105-degree temperature didn't faze Damon Bame, Southern Cal's All-America guard. The Trojans' first defeat in 13 games couldn't be traced to him. His outstanding performance earned him the nod today as the Lineman of The Week by The Associated Press.

Bame turned in a superb game, one of the best defensive games in USC records. He made five unassisted tackles, nine aided tackles and got assists on 12 others. Coach John McKay could have used some more Bames.

Jimmy Jones of Wisconsin and Lee Sampson of New Mexico State both ends, were high up in the voting by sports writers and broadcasters in the weekly AP poll.

Jones caught six passes for 100 yards and made the key play in Wisconsin's winning drive in the closing minutes against Notre Dame. He made a circus catch with one hand good for 16 yards and a first down on the ND 15. The Badgers went on to win 14-9.

Sampson was an offensive and defensive terror against Arizona State. He romped 80 yards for a touchdown on the old end-around play and gained 15 yards on the same play on another occasion.

Big Weekend Awaiting Local Football Buffs

Any way you look at it, this has to be one of the biggest weekends in the history of Big Spring home football.

The Big Spring Steers, who went through a rugged workout Tuesday, are trying to get ready for the Friday night invasion of the mighty Wichita Falls Coyotes.

The Big Spring B team is honing its game for a Saturday afternoon engagement here with the Abilene High reserves.

Three other games are on tap here, all for Thursday evening.

Runnels Junior High's seventh graders oppose Sweetwater at 5 p.m. Eighth graders of the two schools square away at 6:30 p.m. The ninth grade teams of the same schools have it out in a 7:30 p.m. engagement.

All three of the junior high school games will take place in the old stadium at Tenth and State Streets.

Both the Steer and B games will be unreeled in Memorial Stadium, located on the HCJC campus.

The Friday night game with Wichita Falls could produce a record home crowd, if the weather is good.

Both elevens are undefeated. Wichita Falls is one of the most successful teams in the history of Texas Interscholastic League football, having won state championships on five occasions—in 1941, 1949, 1950, 1958 and 1961. The Coyotes were also runnersup in 1959 and again the following year.

The Coyotes, coached by Hunter Kirkpatrick, will be one of the few single wing teams ever to play in the local stadium.

Wichita Falls will be making its first appearance in history here.

Big Spring's B team will be seeking its third win of the year in Saturday's 2 p.m. game with Abilene. The Shorthorns have defeated Snyder, 6-2, and Sweetwater, 28-6, and have lost to San Angelo, 12-6.

Gary Earhart, Rey Navarette, Bobby Griffin and Wayne Nail scored touchdowns for the Shorthorns in last week's game with Sweetwater while Tony Saracho and Nail added two extra points each.

Friday night's game with Wichita Falls winds up pre-conference play for Big Spring. The Steers visit Odessa next week for a joust with Odessa High.

PAT WASHBURN'S Sports Round Table

DON ROBBINS, Big Spring head football coach, talking about this Friday's game with the undefeated Wichita Falls Coyotes:

"We're looking for a win in this game, but it's going to be tough and we look for a close score. Wichita Falls has been state champs many times in the past — 1949, 1950, 1958, 1961 — and in 1959 and 1960 they were finalists and lost in the championship game. They're undefeated this year. With a record like that you've got to expect them to be tough.

BILL VEECK

"Their backfield will be big, strong, with a lot of hustle and they'll pack a lot of power and drive. All four of their backs are real fine and they make up the backbone of the Wichita Falls team. They're the key to their success — if they don't go, the Coyotes don't go. They're all seniors — in fact, the whole starting unit for the Coyotes are seniors. Up there they have such good clubs year after year that it takes a kid until he's a senior before he can make the starting unit.

"At tailback will be Mike McBride, 185; running in the fullback slot will be Pat Alexander, 190; the blocking back will be Mike McBroom, 170, and at Wingback will be Jimmy Powers, 185. They're all fine boys.

"Their line will be quick and hit you real well but they won't be big like Wichita Falls' lines have been in the past. And that's surprising because a big forward wall has always been a trademark of their football.

"They'll use a single-wing attack which is very unusual —in fact, they're the only team that we play during the year that uses it. Come to think of it, they're one of the few teams in the country that use it. It's something rare, you don't see it very often. They'll be balanced toward the right.

"We'll be working defensively this week on how to stop their single-wing and offensively on how to keep possession of the football so that they can't score. That'll be the secret to our winning. We won't have any lineup changes — we'll go with the same boys we used in the last game. All the boys have a real good attitude and no one is overconfident. Wichita Falls is good and they know it."

The Steers have a good chance of going into district play undefeated . . .

• • • •

JOHN CARMICHAEL, Chicago sportswriter, reminiscing about the days when BILL VEECK, Cleveland Indians general manager, was the most colorful thing on the diamond:

"The incident is repeated here simply to show that when Veeck took steps, they were apt to be of seven-league proportions. In them, or with them, he lifted the Indians to a pennant (1948) after 28 frustrating years and they beat the Braves four out of six games, despite a 1-0 defeat for BOB FELLER who pitched a two-hitter in the opener at old Braves field.

"Veeck hired a special train to take his victorious team, plus the usual reporters and surplus of officials, back to Cleveland. Among the riders was ROGER HORNSBY, then "covering" the Series for The Daily News (Chicago). Inadvertently, the Rajah was assigned an upper berth. He sat up all night in a chair. 'I'm no busher,' he explained to the man who had flubbed the accommodations assignment . . .

"People were going through the car squirting champagne at one another like it was water. Veeck had to buy all the players new suits and their wives new dresses. Whenever Bill wanted to talk to somebody who wouldn't listen, he'd kick 'em on the shins with his wooden leg. Players were giving one another creamed spinach shampoos and playing catch with ice cream balls.

"When Veeck found out that certain folks wanted to get off along the line and go home, he told the conductor: 'This is my train. I hired it and paid for it. Everybody goes to Cleveland . . .' and everybody did, where a mammoth parade tied up the city for three hours. Veeck's hospitality tab at the now extinct Hollenden Hotel in Cleveland was $48,000 for three days . . ."

Coyote Single Wing Is Hard To Defense

Delnor Poss, who scouted Wichita Falls twice, told members of the Quarterback Club Tuesday night that the Coyotes were tougher this year than they were in 1962, at which time they beat Big Spring by the score of 47-6.

The Steers play host to the Coyotes Friday night at 8 o'clock.

Poss said Big Spring's job of getting ready for the District 4-AAAA power was complicated by the fact that Wichita Falls ran off the Single Wing formation between 60 and 70 per cent of the time.

The Steers see such a team only once a year, at the most, working primarily to halt teams working off variations of the T formations.

Despite the complexity of the task, Steer coaches expressed optimism about the game, however. R. C. Moore arose to remark that he was sure the Steers were going to carry the fight to the enemy and do themselves proud Friday night.

Poss has seen the Coyotes play twice this season—against Amarillo and Odessa. Wichita Falls, which opened with a 27-6 success at the expense of Pampa, beat Amarillo, 13-0, and Odessa, 20-6.

"The thing that impressed me most is the versatility of their backs," he remarked. "They have good speed and agility.

The Coyotes are prone to make use of a tricky reverse play, in which they have gained an average of 12.5 yards per try. They have failed to score this season with the play but have set up several touchdowns with it.

They are likely to employ the maneuver about four times a game, Poss remarked. They rarely pass, the scout revealed, preferring to run the ball most of the time.

They have thrown the ball only 24 times in three games, 15 times off the single wing and on nine occasions while running off the T.

When long yardage is needed, Poss stated, they try tricky reverses or will take to the air.

Mike McBride will do most of the passing for the Coyotes and Poss said he regarded him as just a boy of ordinary talents in that phase of the game. Pat Alexander, 190-pound senior, will occasionally heave the ball for the Coyotes, too.

Sixty per cent of the Coyotes' play has gone to the right side, the Steer scout said.

Of the Coyotes' talent for running back punts, Poss stated:

"I shudder every time anyone kicks to them. They set up a good wall and their backs are dangerous if the defense gets spread out.

"Their punter (Mike McBride) is averaging about 40 yards a kick," he continued, "and you don't run a kick back on them because they're almost always there when you catch it."

The statistics the Big Spring scouts have compiled on the Wichita Falls' attack are interesting. The Coyotes have run 94 plays in three games from the single wing, picking up a net of 438 yards for a 4.5-yard average.

From the T, they have run 42 plays for 237 yards and a 5.6-yard average pickup.

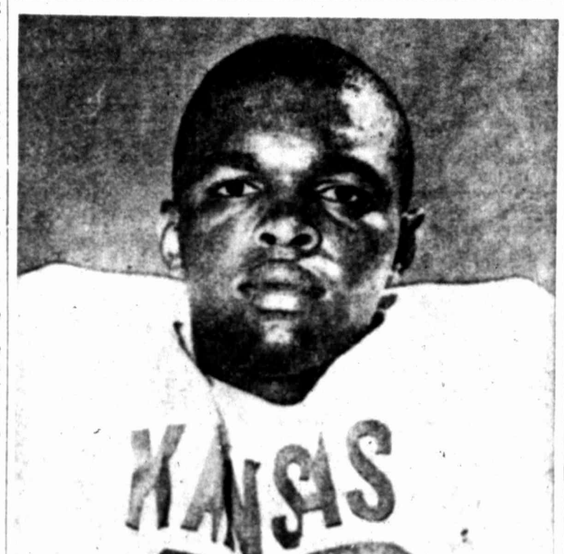

Left end Jack Pennington has been singled out as one of the best pass receivers for the Coyotes. He has good speed and is used principally on quick opener plays. Larry Cleveland, left guard, and middle line backer Ted Stuart are regarded as the best linemen Wichita Falls has.

Poss also remarked:

"I think their backs are quite a bit better than Snyder's. There's not one that is outstanding like Leslie Brown is, but they're all good. On pass defense, they're not caught out of position much."

Only a little more than one half of the films on the Big Spring-Snyder game were screened for the benefit of the estimated 60 persons on hand for the QBC conclave. A camera foulup prevented the cameraman from screening most of the first half of play.

Coaches of the two junior high schools gave rundowns on what their teams did last week and future opponents.

SAN ANTONIO (AP)— Hezzie Carson of San Angelo and H. R. Pipkin of Fort Worth were expected to put on one of the hottest matches today in the State Senior Golf Tournament.

Another feature match pitted defending champion Raymond Marshall of Lubbock and J. H. Wallace of Wichita Falls.

Marshall defeated John Kubitz 3 and 2 and Carson downed C. H. Chadwell 2 and 1 in Tuesday's first round.

Pipkin won 1 up in 20 holes over Al Jones of Harlingen. Wallace beat Chuck Shaeffer 2 up.

Match play continues until the semifinals, but the championship places will be determined by an 18-hole medal round Friday.

Penn Leader In Offense

NEW YORK (AP)—There's a distinct Ivy League tinge in the first set of team football statistics issued this season by the NCAA Service Bureau.

After just one game each, Pennsylvania is the national major college leader in total offense, rushing offense and scoring. Princeton leads in total defense and rushing defense and Cornell in punting.

Rutgers, a favorite playmate of the Ivies, is tops in forward pass defense and Columbia, Harvard, Dartmouth and Yale are among the leaders in various team statistical departments. The non-Ivy leader in forward passing offense is Southern Methodist.

Leaders among the major teams that have been out twice are Navy in total offense and forward passing, Navy and Air Force tied in scoring, Georgia Tech in total defense and rushing defense and The Citadel in pass defense.

Army's place at the top is in field goal kicking, where there has been some record production so far this fall. The Cadets have kicked three to tie for the lead with Texas Tech, Georgia Tech and Texas Christian. In 118 major college games so far, 41 teams have kicked 59 field goals, four ahead of the record for that number of games.

Limited TV Set For Big Battle

DALLAS (AP)— The Southwest Conference has announced that the Texas-Oklahoma football game Oct. 12 will be televised in the Dallas area by Station KRLD, Dallas affiliate of CBS, on Channel 4.

Although the game to be played in the Cotton Bowl is not on the NCAA TV schedule, "the sell-out exception provision" to the rules permits the telecast, KRLD-TV said.

The rule states sellout games may be televised in home areas of the participating teams and the city where the game is played if there is no other college game being played at the same time within a 12-mile radius.

Smith, Schichtle Honored In MVC

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Bobby Smith of North Texas State, an outstanding runner, and Henry Schichtle of Wichita, an all-around threat, were named backs-of-the-week by Missouri Valley Conference sports writers today.

Smith, a 190-pound senior halfback from Corpus Christi, Tex., carried the ball 122 yards in nine efforts as North Texas mauled Louisville 26-6. That pushed his two-game rushing total to 217 yards in 21 carries.

Schichtle completed 10 of 16 passes for 175 yards and a touchdown in Wichita's 22-16 loss to Boston College, scored himself on a one-yard keeper play, kicked the extra point and booted a 25-yard field goal.

Golf Association Meets Thursday

A business meeting for members of the Big Spring Golf Association will be conducted in the Chamber of Commerce offices starting at 7 p.m. Thursday.

Officers are urging all members affiliated with the organization to be in attendance, since plans for the fall and winter months will be firmed up.

PRO-AM SET AT WEBB

A pro-am will be held at the Webb AFB golf links Friday and all area linksters are eligible to compete.

Play will begin at 9 a.m. and the last foursome is due to get off the first tee no later than 1:30 p.m.

Entry fees will be $4 for amateurs and $5 for pros. Merchandise awards will go to winning amateurs while the pros will compete for money.

A similar meet was scheduled earlier this year at Webb but was called off due to inclement weather.

Officials Ask Valley Airport For Harlingen

BROWNSVILLE (AP) — Harlingen officials asked Tuesday that a regional airport for the Lower Rio Grande Valley be located in their city.

Mayor Mike Hodes of Harlingen was a witness as a Civil Aeronautics board hearing entered its second week. Thomas Wrenn of Washington, D. C., is the hearing examiner.

Hodes and Harlingen Chamber of Commerce manager Pledger Cate said the city would raise "whatever it takes to provide" facilities for a regional airport.

Hodes acknowledged that Harlingen has a bonding capacity of up to $2 million and the city had been economically depressed since deactivation of Harlingen Air Force Base.

"The whole valley was hurt by that deactivation," he said.

The Harlingen mayor also said that if neighboring Brownsville builds jet landing strips as it has proposed, the entire valley would benefit. He stressed, however, the central location of Harlingen in the area.

A Trans-Texas Airways official, M. S. King, testified that his airline provided efficient service for the Valley through McAllen and Harlingen airports. Trans-Texas opposes the regional airport idea.

The cities of McAllen and Brownsville aiso oppose the regional concept and want the status quo maintained.

A petition from the McAllen Chamber of Commerce asking that McAllen be allowed to keep its present airport and air service was expected to be presented at the hearing today. It was reported to bear 13,000 signatures.

Ancient Israel Town Uncovered

BEERSHEBA, Israel (AP)—The remains of a 3,500-year-old fortified town in the Negev Desert have been discovered by R. A. Mitchell of Berkeley, Calif., executive director of the Institute for Mediterranean Studies, and Ruth Amiram of the Israel Antiquities Department.

The ancient town, dating back to the Hyksos period—about 1650 to 1580 B.C.—is in the lower area of the Philistine plain along the eastern Mediterranean coast. In addition to defense installations, it includes a number of houses.
